City receives $282,689 in sales tax rebates

With a slight increase for the month, Big Spring's sales tax allocation for the year has well surpassed the total for this time last year.

The city's April rebate totaled $24,949, up slightly from $24,069.93 for the same month last year. The rebate for the year-to-date totals $282,689.24, compared to $273,088.57 for the same period in 1978.

Rebates for area cities varied, with only one, Colorado City, receiving more in April than during the same month last year. Colorado City's increase was from $3,245.25 to $4,971.01.

Lamesa's rebate dropped from $10,196.90 to $6,628.17. Stanton received nothing for the month, compared to $1,057.25 for April 1978, and Coahoma received nothing either month.

State Comptroller / Bob

Bullock said rebates to Texas cities of the one-percent optional sales tax are running about 10 per cent higher this year over the same period last year.

Bullock announced that Texas cities during the first four months of 1979 have received a total of $150.3 million, compared to receipts of $135.5 million during the same period last year.

Bullock said the April allocation of the one-percent city sales tax for more than 900 Texas cities will be $15 million, compared to a 1978 statewide allocation of $13.8 million for the month.

Dallas will get a check for $1.5 million, up from $1.5 million in April of 1978.

Fort Worth's check this month will total $635,062, compared to a payment of $451,380 for the same period last year.

Houston will receive $3.4 million in rebates this month, compared to a $3 million monthly payment last year.

San Antonio's rebate for this month will be $862,506, up from $731,287 during the same month in 1978.

Bullock also announced that the San Antonio Metropolitan Transit Authority would receive a $630,010 payment and Houston's MTA payment for May would be $4.1 million.

The MTA taxes are collected along with city and state sales taxes by merchants and other permit holders in Houston and San Antonio and are rebated monthly by the Comptroller's office along with the optional city sales tax.

HONORARY 4-HERS AFTER 25 YEARS OF SUPPORTING PROGRAM
Gail Earls makes presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Loy Acuff

Loy, Helen Acuff are honored at 4-H picnic

Mr. and Mrs. Loy Acuff, prominent Hereford cattle ranchers from Howard County, were honored at the annual 4-H Picnic last week.

The Acuffs have strengthened the 4-H programs through their 25 years of support including the $100 award each year at the Livestock Show. The Howard County 4-H'ers, friends of 4-H and 4-H Adult leaders, acting on behalf of the many people involved in the 4-H program for the past 25 years, presented them with a plaque making Mr. and Mrs. Acuff honorary 4-H members of the Howard County 4-H Clubs.

Following the picnic which was held at the Howard County Fair Barns, the 4-H'ers held an Achievement Day and announced highlights of the 4-H activities in agriculture and home economics for 1978-79. 4-H'ers have been involved in camping, stock shows, contests and more from the El Paso Stock Show all the way east to Washington D.C. with the 4-H National Heritage Tour.

The Howard County 4-H adult leaders held their annual meeting after the picnic and election of new officers was held.

Repps Guitart will serve as president; Charles Phillips, vice president; and Virginia Allen, secretary.

A financial report was given by Repps Guitart and dates were set for the 4-H (AJRA) Junior Rodeo.

A brief social for Bruce Griffith was held at the end of the picnic. A silver tray was presented to Bruce and his wife Lucy along with a bucket full of money and a cake, for his years as County Extension Agent in Howard County. Griffith is now with the First National Bank of Big Spring.

Dog which bit jogger is being sought here

Big Springer Tim Haley will face a series of painful rabies shots unless he can locate the dog that bit him, 7 p.m. Tuesday.

According to Haley, he was jogging in the area of Goliad Junior High School when he passed a woman jogger in her mid-twenties, wearing a green jogging suit, and accompanied by her two dogs. One of the canines, a mixed breed that looked like a cross between a Shepherd and a Collie, sunk its teeth into Haley.

The victim is seeking no legal action, he assured, but just wishes to find out if the dog is up-to-date on its shots.

The owner, or friends who may know who she is, should contact the Big Spring Police Department immediately.

Haley was scheduled to begin the shots 10:30 a.m. today, and has probably suffered one needle to the stomach already.

To head teachers' groups Dunnam, Irwin elected

Texas State Teachers Association officers and Classroom Teachers Association officers were announced at the TSTA Annual Spring Banquet Tuesday night at the high school. Superintendent Lynn Hise delivered remarks regarding how the future of teaching will be shaped by current legislation.

New officers for TSTA are: Nancy Dunnam, president; Joe Dawes, president-elect; Cathy Terrazas, secretary; and Nan Howard; treasurer.

CTA officers for 1979-1980 are: William M. Irwin, president; Marjorie Baker, president-elect; Lillian Valdes, vice-president; Carl Gooden, treasurer; and Charlotte Irwin, secretary.

"Changes in administering the schools are happening at a very rapid rate," said Hise in his address. "You see the changes. They're not the same breed of cat you had a couple of years ago."

He said the constraints on teachers are greater than ever before but mandated programs have increased, making the administrator's job even harder.

Hise listed around 20 bills pending in the state House and Senate Education Committees that would effect teaching in various degrees. He added that the committees had only two more regular meetings in this year's session.

One of the bills proposes a seven per cent increase in teacher salary added to the statutory pay step. Hise said Texas Governor Bill Clements has not said he would veto the bill but that Clements is against it. He favors a 5.1 per cent increase.

Three retired teachers were saluted at Tuesday night's banquet by Vice President for Instruction and Personnel Harold Bentley. The three are Paul Chappell, David Henkell and John Talmadge.

Water revenues running slightly behind 1978

Revenues of the Colorado River Municipal Water District are running slightly behind the first four months of 1978, but the volume of water delivered is off substantially.

Revenues have held up due to a rate adjustment at the beginning of the year, while deliveries are off due to a cold winter, cool spring and sharply curtailed sales to oil companies.

Through April revenues have aggregated $2,048,488, or $89,843 below the same time a year ago. Of the total receipts, $1,591,013 came from the cities, an increase of $419,402 or 12.1 per cent for the four months. On the other hand, income from sales to oil companies stood at $426,143, down to $195,242 for the period, or 45.7 per cent.

Recreation revenues of $29,250 were off about $3,500. Operating expenditures of $1,082,250 were up $160,770 from the same period last year, or 18.53 per cent. Contributing to this was $590,255 in electric energy, up $90,074 or 18 per cent. Labor was up some $20,000 or 15 per cent in reaching $158,892, with most notable increases in maintenance.

Administrative and general reached $170,602, up $29,000, or 20 per cent, and $14,000 of this was in bond holding charges not incurred the previous year at this point and a major insurance premium payment. Recreation expenses of $27,626 were up about $3,000.

At the end of April, billings of water to cities amounted to $3,292,896,000 gallons, down 178 million gallons. Those to oil companies totalled only 1,190,414,000 gallons, down 422 million gallons due to a complete cutoff of surface supplies to the companies. At the end of the month Lake Thomas had 8,900 acre feet in reserve, Lake Spence 106,000 acre feet.

Numerous service pins were presented by Hise and School Board President Carole Hunter. Ten-year pins were presented to Gene Adkins, John Ansen, Lil Blessingame, Marvin Britton, Fred Carillo, Nell Coats, Royce Cox, Robert DeWeese, Gene Gresham, Clarence Hawkins, Clara Hernandez, Raul Hernandez, Selma Hicks, Margaret Lloyd, Edward Loveless, Virginia Martin, Margie Pope, Imogene Rayburn, Don Robbins, Maria Elena Rosas, Gary Scarbrough, Charlene Shanks, E. J. (Bud) Smith, Jessie Utley, Fern Walton and Evelyn Zellars.

Fifteen-year pins were presented to Maxine Barkley, Catherine Burchell, Virginia Chappell, Helen Gladden, Jose Hernandez, Jim Holmes, Charlotte Irwin, William Martin, Janice Rosson, Dolly Wilkins and Mildred Wright.

Twenty-year pins went to Mamie Lee Dodds, Tom Henry, Lottie Morgan, Steve Morgan, Felipe Munoz, Jane Upton and Beatrice Webb.

Twenty-five-year pins were presented to Joyce Bradley, Connie Gary, Naomi Graham, Beauna McGregor, Flora Nobles, and Bernard Rains.

Thirty-year pins went to Betty Lou Green and Colleen Slaughter.

Hawaii trip in offing for cadets

COLLEGE STATION — David Scott Sullivan of Big Spring has one more trip for the 1978-79 school year with Texas A&M University's Singing Cadets.

The widely known glee club will perform June 19-26 in Hawaii. The entourage will include 56 Singing Cadets, director Robert L. Boone and pianist-accompanist Mrs. Charlotte Ary.

Along with sunning, surfing, sight-seeing and partying, known in the 50th state as a hulu, the Singing Cadets will enter their first musical competition. The judged contest occurs during the ninth Hawaiian Festival of Music on the University of Hawaii campus. It will feature 100 organizations competing against standards, rather than other groups, in three competition sessions.

While on Oahu, the Singing Cadets also will perform for the Texas A&M club there, present two "sermons in song" in chapels at Fort Shafter and tour Pearl Harbor.

Such trips are old hat to the Texas A&M group. It has traveled 1,353 miles this year to take the Texas A&M story, through song, to Texarkana, Brazosport, Dallas, Jasper, San Antonio and points between.

In previous years, the Cadets have performed in the White House, in Romania as U. S. Ambassadors for Friendship, on national television in the "Miss Teenage America Pageant," "The Mike Douglas" and "The Ed Sullivan" shows and at national convention in Chicago's McCormick Place.

Sullivan is the son of Mrs. Mary E. Palmer of 110 18th Street and is majoring in applied mathematical sciences.

Here's why it takes fuel to make electricity.

It takes fuel to make electricity. A lot of people don't understand that, but it's true. Most of the power plants in this country require steam to generate electricity. To make steam you must boil water, and that requires a lot of heat. That's why we have to buy and burn large amounts of fuel, such as lignite coal and natural gas, every month. The steam we make with it turns the generators that make your electricity, which we distribute to you right when you need it. The fuel we use costs money, more all the time, which is why we show it separately on your bill. At Texas Electric, we want you to know what you're paying for. And to remember: it takes fuel to make electricity.

Bill to allow wiretapping in drug-related cases

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors could use evidence obtained from telephone wiretaps in drug cases under a Senate-approved measure nicknamed the "Nixon Memorial Bill" by critics.

Senators gave tentative approval, 20-11, Tuesday to the bill by Sen. Ed. Howard, D-Texas. A final vote is needed to send the proposal to the House.

"This is aimed primarily at those involved in drug trafficking in this state," Howard said. Listening devices could not be used in marijuana cases.

State law prohibits wiretapping. District attorneys or the attorney general would request wiretapping authorization under the bill. The presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals would authorize wiretapping on a case-by-case basis, Howard said.

"Is this the same bill we buried the other day, the Nixon Memorial Bill?" asked Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur. Howard switched two votes from last week, when he failed to bring the measure up for debate.

Parker argued that it would be unfair to let the criminal appellate judge authorize wiretapping.

"Suppose a person got wiretapped, got convicted and appeals to the Court of Criminal Appeals," he said. "Then the appellate judge would be called on to decide if he had done something illegal."

Howard said the nine-member court sits in panels of three and could avoid Parker's scenario.

"But they sit en banc (as a whole) if it's an important enough case," Parker answered.

District attorneys or the attorney general would have to include in their wiretapping request the name of the investigating officer, other methods used to gain information sought in the tap, the specific time for the tap, and whether phone taps had been requested earlier for the same case.

Individual police and sheriff's departments could not own monitoring equipment. All listening devices would be housed at Department of Public Safety facilities.

Parker asked how law enforcement officers and district attorneys would prove their case documentation.

Road oil contamination investigation

Three companies' records subpoenaed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shipping records of three Texas companies have been subpoenaed in connection with a congressional investigation into the alleged spreading of road oil contaminated by hazardous chemicals.

The House Commerce Committee's subcommittee on oversight and investigations will hold a hearing May 30 in Corrigan, Texas, near the site of the first complaint.

The Texas Department of Human Resources said possibly contaminated sludge from Browning-Ferris of Houston was spread on roadbeds in 15 Southeast Texas sites. Subdivision developers were able to obtain the material without cost.

"We intend to find out where the breakdown in the system occurred and why," U.S. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, subcommittee chairman, said Tuesday. "We have a serious situation here in which the public is entitled to know just what happened, how much of this activity has gone on and whether or not there may be still other 'Corrigan's' as yet undiscovered."

Subpoenas were issued Monday night to Browning-Ferris of Houston, Sonics International Inc. in Dallas and Conservation Services Inc. in Port Arthur, Texas.

"The issuance of the three subpoenas should not in any way be construed as a presumption of guilt," Eckhardt, D-Texas, said. "We feel certain the companies in question will cooperate fully."

The deadline for submitting the requested documents to the subcommittee is May 24.

Browning-Ferris supplied waste sludge used for road oil in a subdivision near Corrigan. Its chemical services division in Nederland, Texas, disposes cyanide and other substances for plants in Southeast Texas.

Eckhardt said the company's disposal systems include the acceptable deep well injection processes at a Sonics International facility in Ranger, Texas, and Conservation Services' landfill in Port Arthur.

Soviet dissident declared sane by U.S. doctors

CHICAGO (AP) — Three American psychiatrists have decided that Pyotr Grigorievich Grigorenko, the Soviet general exiled after he became one of the Soviet Union's leading dissidents, is perfectly sane despite what Soviet doctors said about him.

The American doctors reported Tuesday, at the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association, that they had reached their conclusion after examining the former general and military theorist at Harvard University and in New York City.

The psychiatrists are Dr. Alan A. Stone of Harvard, president-elect of the APA, Dr. Walter Reich of Washington, D.C., and Dr. Lawrence C. Kolb of Albany, N.Y., professor emeritus at Columbia University.

Speaking at a special session at the APA meeting, Stone said the Grigorenko case confirms some of the accusations that psychiatry is sometimes used as a tool of political repression in the Soviet Union.

He emphasized, however, that not all psychiatrists cooperate with the Soviet secret police, citing one psychiatric commission at Tashkent which disagreed with the diagnosis of psychiatrists at the Serbsky Institute of Forensic Psychiatry in Moscow.

According to the doctors, Grigorenko had asked for the examinations and given permission for the results to be publicized. The psychiatrists were aided by an interpreter, a Soviet immigrant who is a resident in psychiatry at Columbia, and they said their findings were backed up by other specialists and by psychological tests.

Stone said Andrei Snezhnevsky, considered the Soviet Union's leading psychiatrist, was advised that the Americans had found no evidence of mental illness. Stone said he responded that the Americans were unfamiliar with some aspects of Soviet life and that there are as many forms of paranoia as there are persons suffering from it.

According to the doctors, in his homeland the general had been deemed to suffer from chronic paranoia which at times reached psychotic proportions, and had twice been placed in prison mental hospitals for the criminally insane.

The doctors said Grigorenko was stripped of his army commission and lost his status as a delegate to the Communist Party after calling for democratization of party rules. He also lost his army pension and was reduced, at age 58, to working as a porter and longshoreman.

In late 1977, he came to the United States on a six-month visa to get a prostate operation and visit a stepson living in New York.

In March 1978, while he was in the United States, the Soviet Union revoked his citizenship. He sought, and obtained, political asylum from immigration officials in New York.

The American doctors said they questioned Grigorenko about his motivations to criticize the Soviet Union, and he responded: "During my life, in my faithful service to communism, I caused a lot of damage to my people, and I wanted, at least in my remaining days, to repair it."

Born in the Ukraine in 1907 and brought up in the Orthodox religion, he told them: "I always considered the inner impulse to serve as a vocation inspired — instilled in my soul — by God."

ARDUOUS WORK — Gene Perry (left) and Buttons Moore talk over a problem before plowing a cotton field near Lomax. Most of the farming operations in the Lomax area is dry-land, which means farmers depend on help from the rain rather than irrigation to bring their crops along. In a good year, Howard County farms often produce over 90,000 bales.

WORK CLOSE TO LAND — Carlos Prado, Rufina Noyola, and Manuel Prado do a little repair on a farm implement before it is again put to work. The three work for Neil Fryar in the Lomax community.

BOOKKEEPER — Geraldine Posey keeps the books for the Lomax gin. Without her, things could get hectic in a hurry around the gin. Here, Geraldine checks a scale to make sure it's working.

Writers with problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Ring Lardner Jr. says Sinclair Lewis and F. Scott Fitzgerald were among the first alcoholics he remembers meeting as a boy, but he's met quite a few writers with the disease since.

His father — a famed journalist and short story writer — was an alcoholic, and Lardner himself, a successful screenwriter and novelist, also battled the disease.

"Creation is often very frustrating, and people often seek some sort of respite from that frustration," Lardner said Tuesday at a news conference to announce a book entitled "Having Been There." The book contains 18 short stories about alcoholism and its effects.

Lardner wrote the forward, and Allan Luks, director of the New York City affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism, collected the stories from 513 submitted by writers around the country.

Attorney wants more

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Lee Marvin should be ordered to pay lawyers' expenses in Michelle Triola Marvin's landmark property rights trial, her attorney says.

Marvin Mitchelson, who estimates the fees total $500,000, told Superior Court on Tuesday that Marvin never tried to settle the case out of court and thus was responsible for the litigation.

Miss Marvin was awarded $104,000 for "rehabilitation purposes" but the court rejected her claim that the couple had an implied contract to share assets.

Ford cuts back travel

RAÑCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — The fuel crunch has caused former President Gerald Ford to cut back on travel, but Secret Service agents are easing his way to a full gas tank, a Ford spokesman says.

"He obviously doesn't have a normal situation," Ford spokesman Bob Barrett said Tuesday of the former Republican president. "We have just cut back our trips to Los Angeles. The one time that we took a trip down there (since the gas crisis), the instructions to the Secret Service were to make arrangements for gas ahead of time."

Evangelist cuts down

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Evangelist Oral Roberts says he is cutting back on some of his duties at Oral Roberts University to have more time for his ministry.

"I'm a preacher first and last," he said. Roberts, founder and only president of the school, said he plans an "orderly transition" that will give more authority to the board of regents. He will remain as head of the 14-year-old university.

Roberts, 61, said one effect of the reorganization will be an increased role for his 30-year-old son, Robert.

Lopsided Senate votes puts pressure on Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lopsided Senate vote declaring that Rhodesia's recent elections were fair and open is increasing pressure on President Carter to lift trade sanctions and give the new regime de facto recognition.

The Senate made its judgment Tuesday in a 75-19 roll call on a resolution urging Carter to lift the sanctions within 10 days of the installation of a government headed by black Methodist Bishop Abel Muzorewa, the prime minister-designate.

Supporters of Rhodesia's "internal settlement" regime hailed the vote as a clear victory despite its non-binding nature. They said it sends Carter an unmistakable signal.

Others called the action premature and said it is a "step backward" which will anger the nations of Black Africa.

Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Africa, said he believes no House action is likely until Carter decides whether Rhodesia has met conditions set by last year's Case-Javits amendment.

That amendment requires Carter to determine whether Rhodesia has installed a government chosen by free and fair elections open to all political and population groups.

Carter has promised to act by June 15, about two weeks after the scheduled transfer of power in Rhodesia.

Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., sponsor of the resolution urging Carter to lift sanctions, said the fact that 75 percent of the Senate voted for it proves it is more than symbolic.

"It is a signal, but it is also a threat because, frankly, if the new government is not recognized by the end of June, we are going to vote again and mandate it," he said.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., sponsored a move to lift sanctions immediately but said he was delighted with the eventual outcome.

"Succinctly, the message that the president of the United States got was, 'Do it!'" Helms said.

He said British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher also got a signal from the Senate, a signal he said she was waiting for.

"There is no question Mrs. Thatcher is ready to go" to extend British recognition to the new regime, Helms said.

In another development involving economic sanctions Tuesday, Carter announced he was clearing the way for resumed trade with Uganda, where Idi Amin has been ousted as dictator.

Carter said that Uganda, under a new government, "is no longer committing a consistent pattern of gross violations of human rights."

Housing strong despite slide

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's housing industry faces a slide this year but remains strong and resilient, according to an industry publication.

A survey indicated most housing markets in the U.S. will come through the downturn in relatively good shape, says Housing magazine. Only New York State and the Far West, particularly California, are expected to suffer severe setbacks, according to the study.

House falls short on referendum bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — With over two dozen members absent, the House has fallen short of approving a proposal to give voters the right to propose, pass and repeal laws by plebiscite.

An 89-33 vote Tuesday night kept the initiative and referendum proposal alive, but was shy of the 100 votes required for constitutional amendments.

The roll call indicated 27 House members were not present for the vote on one of the top issues of the legislative session that ends at midnight May 28.

Even if the House eventually approves the measure, its chances in the Senate — at least in its present form — are seen as poor.

Rep. Carlisle Smith, D-Grand Prairie, the sponsor, said the measure probably goes too far for Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, who opposes initiative and referendum and holds the key to its approval or disapproval by the Senate.

"I can't tell you the lieutenant governor can accept anything that will mean anything," Smith said. But Smith added that he believed Hobby "could position himself" to accept the House measure.

Gov. Bill Clements says he would call the Legislature back in special session if they fail to submit an initiative and referendum proposal to the voters.

The measure that gained a House majority would enable voters to initiate new laws or constitutional amendments and recommend repeal of existing laws by referendum.

Groups wishing to propose a law would have 270 days to collect signatures of 15 percent of the voters — including 15 percent in each of at least 50 counties. If their petition drive succeeded, the proposition would go on the next general election ballot. If a majority of those voting approved the proposition, it would go to the Legislature.

The Legislature would have to act. If legislators defeated a bill initiated by the voters, the measure again would go before the voters, who could pass it into law despite the Legislature's opposition.

If the Legislature changed the proposal before passing it, the voters would choose between the original and the revised version of the bill, and their choice would become law.

Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, attempted to substitute direct initiative and referendum proposal that would bypass the Legislature.

More hot temperatures forecast for Texas

By the Associated Press

Another day of warm temperatures — with some rain — was in the offering for Texans today.

The National Weather Service said temperatures would hit the 80s and 90s across the state and possibly pass the century mark in the Big Bend.

Tuesday's highs were about that. Presidio was Texas' hottest spot with its high of 97.

Winds across the state were southerly to southeasterly this morning, with wind speeds very light over the eastern sections, but expected to get up to 15 and 20 mph in portions of West Texas.

The weather service said thunderstorms were expected to develop tonight in portions of Northwest Texas.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Continued warm with a chance of afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms Friday through Sunday. Highs in the 80s north to 90s south except near 103 Big Bend. Lows in the 50s. Potholes and mountains to 60s and low 70s south.

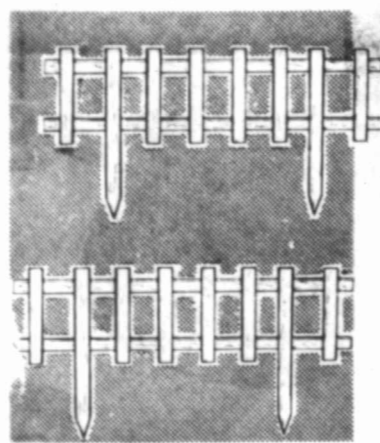

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Mostly cloudy and warm southwest with chance of showers or thunderstorms through Thursday. Fair over most other sections becoming partly cloudy with widely scattered showers or thunderstorms through Thursday. No important temperature changes.

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm weather is expected in the forecast period for most of the country. Cool weather is forecast for the Northwest and Northeast. A band of showers is forecast from the Southwest to the northern Plains.

Credit cards key to no recession

NEW YORK (AP) — Those plastic credit cards in your pocket have done more this year than simply make it easier to buy things. They have played a major role — some would say the key role — in keeping the economy out of a recession.

At the beginning of the year, many economists thought a recession would have developed by now. A key reason was that consumer debt, already at record levels, was considered unlikely to keep expanding.

But it has. And that has kept the economy growing faster than many economists expected, thereby at least postponing the recession.

Inflation, and fears it will continue, are playing a role in the expansion of consumer debt. Consumers are buying now on the theory that prices will be higher next month.

"They are turning their worthless paper money into durable assets," said Michael K. Evans of Chase Econometrics, one of the economists who had expected consumer spending to slow.

But another reason for the decline is that, despite higher interest rates charged to businesses, credit is not harder to get for consumers. Nor, in many cases, is it more expensive.

Much consumer borrowing is through credit cards, on which the interest rate has long been 12 percent to 18 percent, mostly the higher figure. The prime rate charged to corporate borrowers has risen from 7 3/4 percent to 11 3/4 percent since the beginning of 1978, but consumers are paying the same rate they always were.

What is more, credit is easier to get now than it was during the last tight money spell. Many more banks allow consumers to automatically get loans by overdrawing their checking accounts. They might have given loans in the past, but now the consumer doesn't even have to face the trauma of walking into the bank to fill out an application.

Unfortunately, most economists see a continuing boom in the economy as a bad thing, arguing that it will eventually lead to a more serious recession. The Carter administration is hoping for a "soft landing," in which the economy slows but does not fall into recession.

House turns down new protections

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — House members have turned down two attempts to give consumers new protections against auto dealers, while voting to extend the life of the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission.

The bill continuing the commission, which licenses new car dealers, advanced Tuesday on a voice vote and must be considered once more before it can go to the Senate.

The commission will go out of existence next year unless the Legislature and Gov. Bill Clements approve the bill.

House members eliminated, 72-61, a section that would prohibit a governor from appointing to the commission anyone who had contributed $1,000 or more to his campaign.

Rep. Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio, said it was "embarrassing" to impose such a restriction when every governor swears he has not promised any office to any supporter or contributor.

Rep. Lance Lalor, D-Houston, the sponsor, said the restriction resulted from testimony to the Sunset Advisory Commission.

He said the commission was told some state occupational licensing boards were packed with "pals of the governor" who were out of touch with both the regulated occupations and the public.

House members also rejected, 107-25, an amendment requiring dealers to give customers 30 days' notice before repossessing cars and to seize the autos only between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

"It's unconscionable to take your car late at night while you are asleep," said Rep. Jerry Benedict, D-Angleton, author of the amendment.

"Basically it means repossessions are not going to take place at all," Lalor said of the amendment.

The bill requires that two of the six commission members represent the public at large instead of new car dealers. It also requires quarterly status reports to consumers on the complaints they have filed.

Dealers would have to inform customers in writing of their right to complain to the commission if warranty work is not done properly.

Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, failed, 42-92, to add an amendment prohibiting new car dealers from requiring used car customers to waive their implied warranty that a car is serviceable.

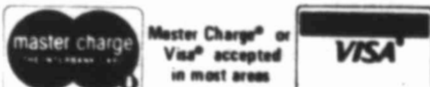

Rep. Lynn Nabers, D-Brownwood, accused Uher of trying to "create a double standard" in used car sales, a strict one for new car dealers and none at all for used car lots.

"If this amendment didn't do something and didn't protect the little guy, there wouldn't be any opposition to it," Uher said.

NBC hits all-time low in ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — It was NBC's plight in a nutshell: the struggling network's highest-rated show, a two-hour "CHiPs" special, 26th in the ratings, six of the week's seven lowest-rated programs.

In fact, NBC's rating for the week of May 13 was the lowest for the network since 1978-79 programming began in September. And though the prime-time season is over, the networks often look to summer reruns to establish potential hits.

ABC, as usual, listed the majority of the A.C. Nielsen Co.'s 10 most-watched shows — seven — and that distribution contributed to a rating for the network of 17.6. CBS was second at 16.7 and NBC third at 12.9 — NBC's first week with a rating lower than 13.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 17.6 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to ABC.

ABC found success in episodes of regular series that had not been aired previously, and in specials. Clustered near the top were first-run installments of "Laverne and Shirley" and "Three's Company," with back-to-back Monday night specials, "Battle of the Network Stars" in fourth place, and "Playboy's 25th Anniversary Show" in fifth.

CBS was the interloper, with a special of its own, "Strangers," starring Bette Davis and Gena Rowlands. It was No. 3 in the ratings.

CBS had the only other non-ABC programs in the Top 10, No. 9 "60 Minutes" and a rerun of "Barnaby Jones" in 10th place.

The rating for No. 1 "Laverne and Shirley" was 25.8. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, just over a quarter watched at least part of the episode.

NBC's problem was as much at the bottom as it was at the top of the ratings. Six of the week's seven lowest-rated shows were on the struggling network, including No. 52 "Real People," "Presenting Susan Anton" 53rd, a Monday showing of "Whodunnit?" 54th, "Greatest Heroes of the Bible" 55th, a Thursday version of "Whodunnit?" 57th and "Hizzoner," 58th. The exception was ABC's "Osmond Family Show" in 56th place.

Here are the week's Top 10 programs:

"Laverne and Shirley" with a rating of 25.8, representing 19.2 million homes, and "Three's Company," 25.3 or 18.8 million, both ABC; Movie "Strangers," 23.7 or 17.7 million, CBS; "Battle of the Network Stars," 22.8 or 17 million, "Playboy's 25th Anniversary Show," 22.4 or 16.7 million, "Happy Days," 22.1 or 16.5 million, "Taxi," 21.5 or 16 million, and "Mork and Mindy," 21.3 or 15.9 million, all ABC, and "60 Minutes," 19.7 or 14.7 million, and "Barnaby Jones," 19.5 or 14.5 million, both CBS.

Bellringers in Vincent staying busy

Frances Barr of Vincent announced that two Bellringer workers will go house-to-house during May to collect for mental health in the Vincent Community.

Mrs. Barr is Bellringer chairperson for the May drive to benefit the Mental Health Association in Texas. Money raised by the Bellringer campaign supports such projects as the monitoring of community mental health facilities to see that they are effective and responsive and the improving of public attitudes regarding mental health, which are conducted by the volunteer agency.

The association is not a state agency and must rely on private contributions to carry on its work on behalf of the mentally ill and to promote mental health.

Since one of every six or seven Americans needs mental health care at any given moment, public support is greatly needed.

Bellringer workers collecting in Vincent are: Tanya Shafer and Thressa Sterling.

FRIED EGGS — Firefighters stand amid an estimated 100,000 eggs which were destroyed Monday when a fire gutted the Taylor Hale Egg Produce Co., Madbury, N.H., the state's largest producer of eggs.

Riots will continue if special treatment does?

HOUSTON (AP) — Tension in minority communities and violence similar to Houston's Moody Park riot one year ago will continue as long as judges give police special treatment, said a spokesman for the League of United Latin American Citizens.

"I'm not advocating more Moody Parks, but there will be more and more of that kind of thing if something isn't done," San Antonio attorney Ruben Sandoval said Tuesday. "For so long, there's been a laxity on prosecution of police officers."

His comments came during a news conference prompted by U.S. District Judge Finis Cowan's probation of five-year sentences given two fired Houston policemen for their convictions in the slaying of Randall Alan Webster.

Meanwhile, a third officer accused in the Webster case who was found innocent of all charges was ordered reinstated in his job with the Houston Police Department and awarded back pay by a state district judge.

"We have a bunch of gutless wonders on the bench," Sandoval said a day after Cowan probated the sentences of Danny H. Mays, 32, and Norval Wayne Holloway, 28. Sandoval is legal counsel for LULAC in Texas.

A jury declared them guilty April 4 of covering up the fact that Webster, 17, of Shreveport, La., was unarmed when he was shot following a police chase in southwest Houston.

The two also were convicted of lying to the grand jury that investigated the case.

Sandoval said LULAC was "appalled" at Cowan's "irresponsible" action, and compared this to the case involving officers convicted last year of violating the civil rights of Joe Campos Torres.

The three officers also were put on probation following their misdemeanor convictions in connection with Torres' drowning in Buffalo Bayou, which runs through downtown Houston.

An outcry from the Hispanic community also followed that action. The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has since agreed to consider in full a Justice Department request for stiffer penalties in the case after a three-member appeals court panel declared Sterling's action illegal.

"There is undeniably a dual system of justice, not only in this state, but throughout the United States," said Sandoval, a San Antonio attorney and legal advisor to LULAC.

Sandoval called for more careful screening of federal judgeships by the Congress.

As of Monday, 712 rigs were making hole in Texas, compared to 711 for the week before. This is up slightly from the total of a month ago which came to 702.

A year ago at this time, 872 rigs were in operation.

The National total also showed an increase for the week, rising from 1,939 to 1,954. A total of 1,939 rigs were operating nationwide on April 16, and 2,217 on May 15, 1978.

Charged in sniper incident Monday

Polygraph test may be given to teen

IRVING, Texas (AP) — A teen-ager charged in the sniper attack late Monday on three motorists may be offered a chance to take a polygraph test today to support his denial of any involvement in a similar incident last December that killed two persons.

Irving police said Tuesday they have no evidence linking Craig Franklin Foster, 18, of Irving, with the Dec. 8 sniper attacks that killed Steven Thomas Gaulden, 12, of Plano and Raymond Douglas Andrews, 43, of Arlington.

But police Capt. Joe Lowe said Foster, who denied having anything to do with the December attack, would be given a chance today to take a lie detector test about the slayings.

Foster was arrested early Tuesday by Irving police near the site of a sniper attack that occurred a short while earlier. He was charged with attempted murder and criminal mischief. Municipal Judge John Chandler set bonds totaling $76,000.

Seven taxicabs and a truck were struck by rifle fire from at least two overpasses on the major artery from Dallas to the north entrance of the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Three persons were injured, one by a bullet and the other two by flying glass, when their windshields were shattered.

Following his arrest, Foster took officers to his parents' home, where they recovered a rifle.

Police said Foster told them he was just shooting at headlights and also fired at a building in the area.

Police said the incident lasted about 15 minutes. They said the youth then took the rifle home and returned to the scene.

"I don't know why, but I'm glad he did, because we caught him," Lowe said.

The sniper only shot at cabs belonging to the Terminal Cab Co. The driver of the first cab hit, Nathaniel Lewis, was cut by flying glass. The other cabs were fired upon when they responded to Lewis' call that he had been shot at.

The driver of the truck, Kent Burnett, about 40, was treated and released after a bullet went through his pickup truck windshield and struck him in the thigh.

Blood drive is slated

ACKERLY — A big step — for a small community. But one that the people have accepted with enthusiasm.

To aid their community, the 4 County Young Homemakers will be sponsoring a blood drive next Tuesday at the Church of Christ Annex. The hours to be drawing blood will be between 9:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m.

As the need for blood increases, it becomes more evident that each human being must be responsible for his fellowman. By taking the opportunity of coming by the blood drive and donating one pint of this precious fluid — the donor will be fulfilling his or her obligation to his fellowman.

Blood cannot be manufactured or synthesized. It must come from healthy human beings between the ages of 17 through 65. Seventeen year olds wishing to donate must have a signed minor donor permit card. These cards may be obtained from the high school principal's office.

Tarkenton's heir, Tommy Kramer, once drew the cards for a QB slot

With Fran Tarkenton's retirement, Tommy Kramer now is one of two heir apparents for the Viking job. The following is a two-part story concerning what could be considered one of the ironic points in Kramer's talented career. It's something that can make you wonder about fate.

FRAN TARKENTON'S announcement last week that he is retiring from professional football will most definitely leave the NFL without one of its most exciting performers ever, but will also naturally cause the Minnesota Vikings much more concern in that they will have to find an adequate replacement.

Two quarterbacks, two-year veteran Tommy Kramer and 33-year-old Bob Lee, will apparently be in competition for the pressure cooker position that Tark's departure has caused. Whoever takes the job will no doubt be under immediate stress to produce, as the Vikings under Sir Francis have made regular playoff appearances in the 70s.

I take particular interest in the future development of the Viking situation because of Kramer. He and I were both signed to athletic scholarships to Rice University on February 13, 1973, during the spring semester of our senior year in high school.

Kramer was the most celebrated high school recruit in the state of Texas, and then Rice Owl Head Coach Al Conover was naturally ecstatic over the signature of TK. As a high school junior, Kramer led his San Antonio Lee team to an undefeated state championship. As a senior, Lee lost to Baytown Sterling in the semis of the state playoffs. Sterling lost to the great 1972 Odessa Permian team the following week in the state championship.

Kramer was a first team All-State quarterback two years, and rewrote many Texas high school passing records.

Upon his arrival at Rice, he was elevated to varsity drills in the afternoon session of the first day of two-days. A performer of immense poise on the gridiron, he was played sparingly in the first three games of the season. In Hollywood fashion, his first start in college was against a powerful Notre Dame team that eventually won the mythical national championship that year. TK was ineffective in his debut, but escaped unscathed mentally to help direct wins over highly rated Arkansas and Texas A&M as Rice called for a third place finish in the SWC.

Kramer was a starter at the beginning of his sophomore year, but was sidelined in the season opener against the University of Houston. After TK's backup failed in his only start, Conover gave the team's sentimental favorite, Claude Reed, a chance at the starting job against nationally 10th ranked LSU.

Reed, a back from Williams High School in Houston, was a caricature on the field of then Pittsburgh Steeler QB Joe Gilliam. He always produced in practice sessions, but as in the case of many athletes, the coaching staff was hesitant about using him in a game until it became absolutely necessary.

Off the field, Reed was the type of person that could mix with any type of individual. He was intelligent, full of energy, yet very laid back. If there was ever a straight head, Claude was it. If you couldn't get along with Claude, you couldn't get along with anybody.

Reed was great in his first start, leading Rice to 17 points in the first three quarters and a ten-point lead. Only a totally insane call by the offensive coordinator prevented Reed from putting the game out of reach early in the fourth stanza. LSU finally put on a furious rally in the final minutes to escape with a 17-17 tie. But Reed did prove that he most definitely could play under the pressure of a huge crowd (67,000) and a good team.

Despite that we only scored one field goal the following week in a 10-3 loss to Notre Dame in South Bend on their Homecoming, Reed controlled the ball as much as could be expected and seemingly had gained the assurance of the coaches.

But the following week, with SMU holding a 13-3 lead in the fourth quarter, still a not fully recovered Kramer was sent into the game to replace Reed. TK responded by passing for a touchdown, a two-point conversion and setting up a go ahead field goal in the final six minutes of play. Kramer then played the position the rest of the year and was as effective as could be expected with a somewhat young offense.

In the following spring, Conover stated the usual line to the team that most coaches do at this time of the year. Conover exclaimed before the first day of spring fever: "We are looking for the people that want to play and make a contribution to this team. Discount everything that has happened in the past. Everybody is even in the competition." Whether this is true or not is a different story, but the grid mentors have to say it for whatever reason.

Kramer and Reed battled evenly throughout the spring. TK was naturally listed number one at the beginning, but Claude's performance was definitely just as good. Both took turns operating the number one unit effectively. It was a very healthy situation in regard to depth.

At the conclusion of spring training, Conover announced that he would not make a decision concerning the QB position until one hopefully rose above the other in the early fall two-a-days.

Two-a-days arrived. Both reported in good condition and were sharp in the hot and humid August heat that typifies Houston at the time of the year. The coaches still could not decide who should start. As a defensive back defending against the duo in pass skeleton drills, both were frustratingly pin-point sharp in their passing. Neither was an exceptional runner, but both were adequate.

The mood of a football team toward a quarterback, and vice versa, can influence the entire performance of the group immensely. The personality of a quarterback in many instances is just as valuable as the signal caller's performance. Usually, however, good performances seem to take care of themselves.

In the case of these two, both were compatible with members of the team. The difference in their colors never seemed to play a part. As a friend of both, I subconsciously didn't cheer more for one than the other. I knew Kramer better than Reed because we both frequented the same off-campus pickup establishment occasionally, had a few more common friends and had many classes together, but it didn't sway my judgment. Fortunately, most of the people on the team were mature enough to hope that the one who finally received the nod would perform favorably.

As in any unsettled quarterback dilemma, team members began wondering what would happen as we entered the week of our first game against the University of Houston in the Astrodome. Like many others, I do not believe it is healthy for a football team to shuttle quarterbacks. There needs to be a level of consistency that one performer can ignite and maintain, and both of these had proven they were capable.

After Thursday afternoon's light workout prior to the U of H game, Conover called the team together for his normally unusual post practice speech. He related to us that he still couldn't make a judgment in starting Reed or Kramer. He was fully assured that both could do the job, and felt good about that. He then ended the short discourse by announcing that before the Friday afternoon team meeting, the duo of QB hopefuls would meet in his office and draw cards for the starting job on Saturday night in the intense rivalry. (To be continued)

RELEASED — Veteran quarterback Bill Kilmer of the Washington Redskins prepares to fire a pass October 29, 1978 in his first start of the season in game against the San Francisco 49ers in Washington, D.C. Kilmer, who led the Redskins to its only Super Bowl in 1973, has been released by Washington, the team announced Tuesday.

Spurs hope to unload Bullets tonight

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The embattled Washington Bullets, trailing upstart San Antonio 3-2 in their best-of-seven NBA Eastern Conference championship series, say there's no way the Spurs could win a seventh game Friday night in Landover, Md.

That, counters Spurs Coach Doug Moe, is "an idiot statement" because there's still the little matter of tonight's sixth game on the Spurs home court.

After the Bullets fought off the Spurs 107-103 Sunday in Landover, Washington Coach Dick Motta said, "They came up here on Cloud Nine or 10 or whatever they fly on. But Wednesday, for the first time in the series, they'll have the pressure on them. They don't want to come back here and play us in Game 7. No way they could beat us."

"That's an idiot statement," Moe scoffed. "He may be 99.9 percent sure they'll win Game 7. But I can give you a 100 percent guarantee they won't win a seventh game up there if we win Game 6."

"I want to look at the sixth game as a do-or-die situation because that's the way we need to approach it," added Moe. "We don't want to go back up there. We've got ourselves in an enviable position and we have to do everything we can possibly do to win this ballgame."

The Central Division champion Spurs won their only game ever in Landover to open the series and raced to a 3-1 lead after winning both of their games at home, 116-114 last Wednesday and 118-102 last Friday.

And as for pressure, Moe says the Spurs will never feel more than they did May 9 when they edged Philadelphia in the semifinal series to shake the disastrous 10-year playoff drought for the Dallas-San Antonio franchise.

Umps hopefully agree to return this weekend

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball umpires are expected to return to work this weekend under terms of an agreement that The Associated Press learned was reached between their union and the two leagues Tuesday.

Details of the agreement ending the dispute that has kept the regular umpires on the sidelines since spring training were presented to a joint meeting of the major leagues in Chicago today. The settlement was expected to be announced officially Thursday.

Both sides have been pressing for an end to the work stoppage and meeting almost daily for the last week. It was a marathon bargaining session that started Monday afternoon and lasted into the early morning hours of Tuesday that apparently signaled the breakthrough of the final issues.

Both the National and American Leagues denied that any final settlement had been reached but confirmed that talks were making progress.

"We still have a way to go," said American League President Lee MacPhail. I would prefer not to discuss the issues."

But MacPhail agreed that the atmosphere between the two sides has improved considerably.

"We're a lot closer than when we started," he said.

"We were sons apart then. Obviously, we've been trying to get it closed out and it's been a good faith effort on both sides. I'm hopeful, certainly more positive about this than I've been until now."

Richie Phillips, attorney for the umpires, said, "We are on the threshold of reaching a comprehensive agreement between the umpires and major league baseball which should satisfy all parties and insure labor peace for at least three years and beyond."

Canadians even series

MONTREAL (AP) — Left wing Steve Shutt of the Montreal Canadiens summed it up simply: "We could have changed uniforms with the Rangers from the first game to this," he said.

And he was right. The Canadiens had played that badly in the opener of their National Hockey League playoff final series against the New York Rangers, and had played that well Tuesday night in winning 6-2 to tie this best-of-seven set at one victory per team.

Montreal shook off a pregame injury to goalie Michel Larocque, ignored two quick New York goals against Ken Dryden, and stormed to triumph in a manner more identified with the team which has won three consecutive Stanley Cup titles — on goals in a 7:53 span on the first period by Yvon Lambert, Guy Lafleur and Bob Gainey.

"With every Stanley Cup we win," observed Shutt, "we have more and more people against us; more and more people waiting for us to lose. Probably, those are the same people who put us out after the first game against the Rangers and had us out in the seventh game (of the semifinals) against Boston."

But both times, Montreal came back. They won that seventh game against Boston after losing three times in four games. And Tuesday, they rallied from Sunday's 4-1 loss to burst the Rangers' bubble.

"I can't recall one Canadian playing badly," said Rangers Coach Fred Shero. "We tried, but they were just very good tonight."

They were very good under some trying circumstances. Montreal Coach Scotty Bowman had decided Tuesday afternoon that Larocque — who replaced Dryden for the third period Sunday — would be his starting goaltender for the first time in the playoffs since 1974. That idea was ruined when Larocque was hit in the forehead during warmups by a shot of center Doug Risebrough.

Thus 15 minutes before the game, Dryden — who hardly worked at all in practice — was given back the starting role he has enjoyed for 109 consecutive playoff games.

David and Goliath Tournney this weekend

An estimated 40 teams and as many as 600 players and their families will converge upon Big Spring this weekend to take part in the third annual Cleveland Athletics' David and Goliath Slowpitch Softball Tournament.

Eight of the teams will play a round-robin type meet in the Open division. The winner in the other division, Class A, will be determined in a double-elimination-type tournament.

Sponsoring the tournament along with Cleveland Athletics is Kwik-Silver, a local contingent of players. Entry fee is $60 per team in the Class A division and $75 in the Open class. John Weeks, who is associated in the clothing business here with his father, is serving as director of the huge meet.

Play will get under way at 7 p.m., Friday and continue until midnight Saturday. Competition will be resumed at 7 a.m., Sunday and continue until conclusion. The last of about 96 games will be completed around 5 p.m., Sunday.

Both diamonds in the Johnny Stone complex along with a single diamond in the Roy Anderson Sports Center will be used to run off the tournament.

The teams will be competing for $1,000 in trophies. In addition, watches supplied by Zale's Jewelers and Blum's Jewelers will be awarded to the Most Valuable players.

Family Country Kitchen will also offer several free meals to someone.

Spectators will be admitted without charge to see all the games. Kwik-Silver will supply officials for the Class A tournament while four arbiters from the Big Spring Softball Officials Association will work the Open games.

Last year, 39 teams competed here. Chronally of Abilene emerged as the titlist, beating Alcor of Midland in the finals of the Open division.

Among top teams expected here are Carpet Warehouse of Odessa, Oakwood Methodist of Lubbock, Golden Life Health Spa of Midland, D & L Sports of Midland and Chickeree of Odessa. No Big Spring team will be entered in the Open division.

Concessions stands will be open throughout the tournament.

John Thomas Smith is definitely in town

John Thomas Smith, who played with the Washington Redskins and Kansas City Chiefs in the NFL last year, led a hard hitting Brock-Dibrell's Industrial League team to a 25-4 victory over Los Chicanos in action Tuesday night. The game was called after five innings.

Smith connected on five consecutive home runs over the left field fence in a somewhat unbelievable display of power. These were his only at bats in the contest.

He has signed a contract with the Chiefs for the upcoming year and will report in July to training camp.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Who needs 'friend' like these?

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I've got a really big problem and need your advice. I have four girlfriends who are always making me cry, then they pretend to be buddy-buddy. This happens time and time again, and I'm sick and tired of it.

I talked to my mother and told her what the girls do to me and she told me not to hang around with these girls and said that I have the personality to find other friends. She also told me that these girls would do it to me again and again.

Do you think my mother gave me the right advice? I will feel very "left out" without these girls. — Kim, Klamath Falls, Ore.

Kim: Amazingly, wise mothers are almost always right when they give advice, and your mom is a wise mother.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 16 and have never been treated as an equal to my brothers and sisters.

They say that I'm lazy, ugly and don't deserve anything good in life. I don't smoke, drink, or take drugs but they keep saying that "I bet you will pretty soon."

My mother has told me to get out of the house so many times that I'll be glad when I graduate from high school and I'm on my own.

All of my family is good-looking except me. I have acne and wear glasses. I'm seeing a skin doctor and will continue to until I get it cleared up, even if it takes forever.

I try to improve myself physically and mentally but my family doesn't help. Please give me your thoughts. — Allison, Windsor Ontario, Canada

Allison: All teens need to feel wanted and if they don't get it at home will seek it elsewhere. It's fortunate that this "elsewhere" has not taken you to shoddy friends and trouble.

Get involved in your place of worship and school clubs and don't force the issue at home.

Keep up the treatments for your acne. Very recently there has been a breakthrough in acne treatment.

Dr. Wallace: I'm in eighth grade and will be going into high school next September. I met a boy and we like each other very much.

My problem is that he attends a different high school than I will be attending and he wants me to get a transfer to his school. If I do, I will be leaving all of my other friends. What do you suggest? — Pam, Columbus, Ga.

Pam: Having been a high school principal, I can answer your question with "gusto!" Stay with your friends. If you and your boyfriend should have a "falling-out" it might be awfully lonesome at the other school.

Time Doesn't Heal All Old Wounds

DEAR ABBY: I was adopted as an infant. All my life I have wanted to know my natural mother. About two years ago I began my search. Fortunately, my adoptive parents willingly gave me what little information they had. With that, plus what I gathered from various other sources, I located my mother in Iowa. I was so thrilled and excited that I couldn't wait to phone her! I didn't realize what a shock it would be for her to hear from the child she had given away 32 years before.

After a brief conversation she suggested that I write to her, so I wrote immediately, telling her all about myself, my life, and how I was ready to fly to Iowa to meet her as soon as she gave the word.

A week later I received this reply — no date, no salutation and no signature:

"You now have a life that adoption made possible so count your blessings. I don't understand how you could believe that contacting me would not make trouble. I have had guilt and shame all my days — and now this whole mess has been reopened. Count your blessings. No need for further communication!"

Abby, I can understand her shame, guilt, suffering and sorrow. The entire episode involving me is like an open wound that has been festering for 32 years. Obviously she has never learned to deal with those feelings. But what about MY feelings?

Abby, my mother wasn't an innocent teenager who "got caught." She was a 27-year-old Navy nurse in World War II. I want to know who my natural father was, and all about the relationship between him and my mother. I can find out only through her.

I don't want to disrupt anybody's life. I just want the facts that I feel I have a right to know. Am I asking too much? I am not a bored, neurotic housewife. I've been happily married for 14 years and have an 11-year-old daughter and 7-year-old son. I'm active in volunteer work and have returned to college, so I'm no kook out to make trouble.

Your advice and the opinions of others who have been through this would be deeply appreciated.

MRS. G. IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR MRS. G.: I understand your feelings and appreciate your "right" to know your natural parents, but they, too, have rights. And one of those rights is the right to be left alone if they so choose. (Many girls gave up their babies for adoption only because they were assured their identities would never be revealed.) Many natural parents would be thrilled to reunite with their children, but we cannot assume that ALL are.

I fully approve of searching for one's natural parents, but I think a go-between should make the contact and the reunion should be effected only if all parties want it.

DEAR ABBY: I have read many letters in your column from the family of the bride resenting bitterly the family of the groom paying off their social obligations by inviting all their shirt-tail relatives, friends, neighbors and business acquaintances to a wedding paid for by the bride's parents.

I recently returned from the Orient where I attended a wedding, and was informed of their solution to the wedding guest problem. Each family invites as many guests as they wish and each family PAYS for its own guests. Clever?

DENNIS THE MENACE

"I didn't TELL you about the busted window 'cause you can't keep a SECRET!"

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A number of problems can appear before you today that require a quick solution. Look at them objectively and do not do what is rash and impulsive but what is constructive and sensible. Misunderstandings can occur unless you use self-control.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you really understand what friends mean when you talk to them today. Being forceful with them could lead to trouble.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take care you do not fix a higher-up and lose favor with this person. Analyze credit position and improve it in some way. Don't take risks where health is concerned.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to run out to new outlets, but take it easy for best results. Be sure of what you are doing. Use good judgment since your hunches are not good now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't renege on a debt you have to pay. Mate may be annoyed with you, but he or she is under pressure of some sort.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Come to a better understanding with others and forget mundane duties that can be postponed for a while. Take time to handle a civic matter and derive benefits from it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are able to handle routine work efficiently now, so get an early start. Have more harmony with associates by being cooperative.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Set up appointments early with friends for the recreation you want to have later. Get into work that will bring you fine benefits.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Handle fundamental matters efficiently and get the results you want. Find the right way to make conditions at home better. Invite a dear friend to dinner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) The right day to go after the information you may need to better your position in life. Make visits you have in mind, but use diplomacy in dealing with others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can easily gain the goodwill of a bigwig who can help you to advance more quickly in your career today. Improve property by making needed repairs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are busy and need to get things done, but don't be too short and sharp with others. Take a little time to be with friends or you may lose them.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can delve into whatever has been puzzling in the past and come up with the right answers at this time. Confer with a trusted adviser. Get b—ing chores out of the way.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will understand whatever is modern in nature and should be sent to up-to-date schools so that your child can progress quickly in whatever happens to be the talent here. Teach to listen to the views of others.

Tower predicts enough support to defeat SALT

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, says opponents of the new strategic arms limitation treaty should be able to muster more than enough votes.

A total of 34 senators against the treaty with the Soviet Union would be enough to keep it from going into effect.

"I would say that the absolute optimum vote against would be 51," Tower, an opponent, said Tuesday. A more realistic estimate would be 41 or 42 against, he added.

He counted 26 Republicans solidly against ratification or leaning that way. The senator joked, however, that "all such estimates are subject to change without notice."

Tower, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, held a news conference after the panel's weekly meeting.

Five Republicans are undecided, five are leaning toward ratification and five are outright supporters, he said.

Tower estimated the highest number of Democrats opposed to the treaty to be 20.

Among his reasons for opposing the treaty were its provision allowing the Russians to maintain defense systems the United States could not develop, the "break-out" capability it would give the Soviets at the treaty's expiration and the question of verification.

He said it is virtually certain that amendments will be offered to the treaty once it is presented to the Senate. President Carter and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev are scheduled to sign SALT II next month in Vienna, Austria.

The Texas senator is the ranking Republican member of the armed services committee.

He said the committee probably will hold hearings on the military implications of SALT II as it did with the Panama Canal treaties.

El Salvador police expand roadblocks around capital

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Police expanded their roadblocks around El Salvador's capital after terrorists killed three police officers and troops killed at least two demonstrators north of the city, raising the toll to 44 dead since May 4.

Two of the policemen were guarding the South African Embassy and were killed Tuesday night when at least eight guerrillas of the left-wing Popular Liberation Forces opened fire on them, seized their rifles and escaped in two cars in a hail of bullets from other officers.

Officials said they did not know if the guerrillas planned to raid the embassy. There had been rumors of a plot to kidnap South African Ambassador Archibald Gardner Dunn, who was inside the mission during the shooting but not harmed.

The other policeman was killed in a shootout with terrorists in downtown El Salvador, and the two demonstrators were killed in a clash with police during a protest in Limon province, 18 miles north of the capital, officials said.

There were also unconfirmed reports that three other demonstrators were killed by troops when a mob tried to occupy the church in Soyapango, on the eastern outskirts of El Salvador, and that Popular Liberation Forces guerrillas shot up the Costa Rican consulate in Santa Ana, 30 miles northeast of the capital, to punish Costa Rica for its "alliance" with the military regime of President Carlos Humberto Romero.

Defense Minister Federico Castillo Yanes said late Tuesday that the government has "hundreds of proofs" that the violence stems from "a communist plot that is seeking to take over political power through assassinations, terror, occupation of embassies and kidnappings of distinguished persons."

He added that "the armed forces are fulfilling their responsibility to assure respect for the constitution and if it is necessary the government will impose a state of siege." Under a state of siege constitutional guarantees are suspended for an indefinite period.

Leftist terrorists killed five policemen in El Salvador May 4-5, and burned six persons to death May 10 when they set fire to two buses north of the capital, government officials said.

The following day police killed four high school students near the University of El Salvador. Opposition sources said the four were putting up anti-government banners, but authorities said the four fired on police, who returned fire.

The biggest toll occurred May 8 when 23 demonstrators were killed by police outside El Salvador's cathedral, where they were marching in support of leftists who occupied the church to try to force Romero's government to release jailed leaders of the Popular Revolutionary Bloc, El Salvador's big worker-peasant opposition movement. A soldier also was killed in the shooting.

Financial statements released by justices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice William H. Rehnquist are, in effect, ignoring a new federal financial disclosure law thanks to a ruling by a lower federal judge in New Orleans.

Before U.S. District Judge Robert Collins could issue his order Tuesday afternoon, however, six Supreme Court justices complied with the Ethics in Government Act by making public detailed financial statements for the first time in the court's history.

The court's ninth member, Lewis F. Powell Jr., has received permission to file his statement one month late.

Burger and Rehnquist reportedly had planned to release their financial statements about 5 p.m. EDT. But Collins' order clouded the situation.

Collins made his ruling after six federal judges from southern states charged the ethics law breached constitutional provisions for separation of powers in the federal government when applied to judges.

Collins' emergency order apparently is being obeyed by other federal judges also. Congressmen and other federal officials are required by law to report their finances. The order did not affect them.

It is likely the federal government soon will go to court in an attempt to have the order removed.

Of the six justices who filed their statements Tuesday, Potter Stewart is by far the wealthiest.

A 12-page financial disclosure by Stewart showed that in 1978 he and his wife, Mary Ann, received between $86,500 and $233,000 in income from trusts, capital gains, rents, royalties and dividends from a substantial stock portfolio.

Figures are not exact because the disclosure form indicates only ranges in which amounts fall instead of giving specific amounts.

The Stewarts total assets, listed separately, fall somewhere between $1.2 million and $2.1 million.

The new law requires all high-ranking government officials to list all sources of significant income and, within the specified ranges, the dollar amounts from those sources. It also requires listings of assets and liabilities.

The Stewarts' income figures did not include his $72,500 annual court salary.
