Israeli forces storm Lebanon; peace wanted

SARAFAND, Lebanon (AP) — More than 150 Israeli commandos stormed ashore behind a barrage from missile boats and helicopter gunships and fought a savage, two-hour battle with guerrilla defenders at a Palestinian coastal base in southern Lebanon before pulling out, guerrilla commanders and local authorities reported today.

The attack, involving machine guns, grenades and armor-piercing rockets, came as Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin offered to meet with Jordan's King Hussein for peace talks and an Israeli Cabinet committee endorsed Begin's plan for Palestinian autonomy despite Defense Minister Ezer Weizman's opposition.

Guerrilla commanders in this Palestinian-controlled town said the fighting occurred Thursday night in guerrilla-held areas between the towns of Insariyeh and Adloun overlooking southern Lebanon's Mediterranean highway 21 miles north of the Israeli frontier. The scene was two miles south of Sarafand and 40 miles south of Beirut.

The Israeli command in Tel Aviv said the commandos blew up a Palestinian training camp near Adloun, destroyed buildings and ammunition stockpiles, killed an undisclosed number of guerrillas, and that all of the attackers returned safely.

The guerrillas reported a Palestinian and a Lebanese were wounded and said "many" Israelis were killed or wounded and evacuated by helicopter.

The raid was made two days after a Palestinian terrorist bomb killed two teen-age boys and injured 32 other persons in the northern Israeli town of Tiberias, on the shore of the Sea of Galilee.

The Palestine Liberation Organization claimed responsibility for the Tiberias bombing, but the Israeli army statement made no mention of the raid being retaliatory. Instead, military sources said the base was used by the Syrian-backed Saiga guerrilla organization. Saiga is one of the eight guerrilla armies under the PLO umbrella.

Begin offered to talk peace with Hussein in an interview today on Armed Forces Radio.

'I'm going to start going to church'

Pilot tells story of captivity

RIOHACHA, Colombia (AP) — Texas pilot Roy McLemore says he was certain his kidnapers were going to kill him, but God saved him and he's ready for church after being robbed, shot at and held nine days in the broiling desert and seven more in a house full of screaming kids.

McLemore wept after he escaped from the house in the northern Colombian town of Maicao and jumped into an army jeep.

"I've never been a religious man," he said, "but I think I'm going to start going to church."

McLemore's escape Tuesday didn't mean the end of his problems. He was put in a steaming, fly-infested jail in this waterfront hangout for Colombian dope smugglers and charged with illegally entering the country's airspace. His copilot, Houston fireman William Spradley, is hospitalized with a bullet in the back and faces the same charge.

McLemore was interviewed Thursday by The Associated Press in the back of a pickup truck while being taken from an army base to the jail. This was his story:

He and Spradley, who flies in his spare time to make extra money, were en route from Miami to Venezuela April 29 to pick up some oil-drilling bits when engine trouble forced them to land on Colombia's Guajira Peninsula.

Tons of marijuana are flown out daily to the United States from desert airstrips on the peninsula, and rival gangs there frequently shoot American pilots if they land at the wrong airstrip and rob them of the thousands of dollars in cash they carry to pay for the drug.

"People came from every direction, grabbing our billfolds, watches, and things out of the plane, too, even the spare oil. They were like starving people who find some meat."

"Bill and I jumped into one of the trucks these people had and took off. I was driving and two other trucks were chasing us. Ours got bogged down and one of the men ran up to Bill's side and fired four shots—bam, bam, bam, bam. Bill got hit. There was blood all over the place. Then they pulled us out and threw us down on the sand. Bill's blood was all over me so I guess they thought they had shot me, too, but I wasn't hit. Anyway they drove off and left us there to die, they thought."

They lay in the desert for 30 or 45 minutes when they saw vehicle lights approaching.

"I thought it was them coming back to finish the job. I thought we were goners for sure. These people got out and stood around us jabbering for maybe half an hour and it finally dawned on me that they weren't the same people."

The people were Indians, and McLemore used the few words of Spanish he knew trying to get Spradley to a hospital. The Indians loaded the wounded man into the back of a pickup truck and took him to a clinic in a village about two hours way. Then they took McLemore to "a hut, a little shack made out of sticks. They gave me water and put up a hammock for me that night."

"The next day three tough-looking characters showed up and in some broken English told me they wanted to know who in the United States they could call to demand a ransom. Then they took me to another shack about an hour and a half away and stuck me in a goat-killing pen with nothing but cactus around as far as you could see."

McLemore said he was there nine days. Whenever his two guards heard one of the army helicopters that make regular trips over the desert "they would whip out their guns and make me run into cactus and hide as long as half an hour. I got cactus spines into me all over, and God, it was hot."

But McLemore said in general he was treated and fed well. His captors brought him ice water from a nearby shack, cold soft drinks, cans of meat, crackers, bread and cigarettes.

"Then some men came and gave me back everything from my billfold except the money," he went on. "There was a blank check of mine and they made me sign it for $100,000."

Court awards $10.5 million to Karen Silkwood estate

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A federal court jury today awarded the Karen Silkwood estate $10.5 million in damages in connection with the plutonium contamination suit against Kerr-McGee Corp.

The jury awarded $505,000 in actual damages and $10 million in punitive damages.

District Court Judge Frank G. This had ordered the courtroom sealed when the jury returned this morning after sending word that it had reached a verdict.

The jurors had resumed deliberations this morning just under two hours before they reached the verdict. On Thursday, they asked a question that touched off heated in-chambers debate, then decided to work through the evening. But they retired without announcing a decision and returned to the jury room shortly after 9 a.m. today.

The three-man, three-woman jury passed a note to the judge Thursday that said: "In instruction number 18, what does physical injury mean?"

Several witnesses during the 10-week trial testified Miss Silkwood told them she felt she was dying. Her survivors are suing the Kerr-McGee Corp., alleging negligence in connection with her contamination with plutonium from the company's nuclear fuel plant, where she worked as a lab technician.

Kerr-McGee claims Miss Silkwood stole the plutonium and contaminated herself, probably while attempting to spike her urine samples to embarrass the company. She died in a Nov. 13, 1974, car crash.

Action/reaction: Deposit refunds

Q. Several years ago, the city passed a resolution to refund all water deposits. How many years ago was it and when can I expect payment?

A. The resolution was passed in 1974, says City Finance Director Tom Ferguson. He said that the city has been refunding deposits over the past six months by zone. There are five zones, he stated, and the refunding is now nearing the bottom of the list for residents in the fifth zone. He also said that not all water deposits will be refunded. They'll be refunded only to customers with good payment records. If you missed more than two payments in the last year, you will also miss your refund.

Mr. Gerightsir took the time to help an ugly, fat, dirty, unwanted child

Nita working to touch another 'in a cage of glass'

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth of a seven-part series on some special people who receive help in a variety of forms from the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

By CARLA WALKER

"Thru the pale gold mist of time I go, back to the time when I was young. Looking back thru that golden haze, I remember a small dark-eyed, silent little girl who stood by the side of the road, watching the world go by.

"She was like a wild bird, who trapped in a cage of glass, hurls itself against the panes, longing to be free. Her cage of glass was the frozen barrier of silence, thru which she could not reach to the world which lay beyond locked behind that wall of glass, in bitter silence, how she longed to be a part of that glittering world on the other side. To share with others, the feelings that lay locked deep inside of her.

"When along came a friend, a teacher, who gave her the key to unlock the door. The key was the priceless gift of language. Oh, beautiful gift. How wonderful to use the words of life. Words, like every color in the rainbow, to describe how you feel. To communicate and share a point of view. To have her words float thru the air and say, 'I have felt the sadness of grief, I am truly happy, with dismay I feel a touch of fear, I want to be your friend, I love you.' To have her words reach out to others.

So much time has gone past since that day, when I began to learn how to talk. It never fails to overwhelm me, this priceless gift of speech and the joy of sharing other's point of view.

"I only wish that there really was a way back thru that golden mist of time. For, back I would go, if only for a minute, to touch that wonderful friend and say, Thank you, Mr. Gerightsir, I love you!"

To touch another "in a cage of glass" as Mr. Gerightsir touched her is Nita Tarbot's reason for working. The poem above was written by Nita, in sign language translated to English.

"I never knew Mr. Gerightsir's first name, and I never got to thank him," said Nita of the man who discovered her deafness at age eight, and taught her to say her first word—"ball"—at the age of 10. She now teaches at a Midland school for the deaf and volunteers to teach American Sign Language classes at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

"I was classified as mentally retarded, because I responded to the vibrations when they tested my hearing," she said. "I sensed the adult wanted a response, and he took the response to mean that I heard the sound."

Nita volunteers her time, and the DRRC gives the use of the facility each Tuesday evening from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. for the classes, one of several services offered by the Rehab to meet a specific need.

Among the other services are contract physical therapy services to the Lamesa hospital, home-bound or nursing home-bound treatments and supportive learning programs for preschool and school-age children.

Anita Morales takes care of much of the work at Lamesa, which is principally an extension of the same type of therapy done at the Rehab center. The in-home and nursing home work, however, is of a special nature, and requires much effort from Anita—physically and emotionally.

"Of the patients that can't come to the center, I have three in nursing homes and two home-bound," said Anita. "Two of them are Multiple Sclerosis patients."

"With all the home-bound, we work to keep them as independent as possible, emotionally and physically," Anita explained. "At the nursing homes, we combat not only the physical problems—stroke or whatever—but also the emotional reaction of depression, anger and resentment that is not certain, but at least common with nursing home patients."

"They are away from home, and they resent the illness or reason for it. Away from familiar surroundings, and with less interaction with people, negative feelings sometimes result," Anita explained.

Because of that, physical therapy isn't the only purpose of Anita's visits. "Take Jo Ann Potter, for example," Anita said. "There are both physiological and psychological reasons for standing. Not only does it give her exercise, but it helps her feeling of independence."

"Sometimes, we sit and talk; that can be more necessary than exercise," Anita said. "We think of things to laugh about, and sometimes we cry a little. She is in a wheelchair from MS and is gradually losing fine motor control in the muscles of her hands and legs. She gets discouraged sometimes, but she never quits trying and working."

"The first 25 years of my life were wonderful; I am thankful that I had that much," said Jo Ann. "At age 27, they diagnosed MS, and physically, I have been steadily losing use of my legs. The therapy helps me to keep what I have longer, but there is no cure; they don't even know the cause."

But Jo Ann, at 40, refuses to give up. "When I get blue, I realize I've still got 32 teeth, and if nothing else, I do have my smile," she said.

Anita says that the relationships with the home-bound aren't just patient-therapist.

"I've become very close friends with them all," said Anita. "One lady who lives alone at home gives me little gifts and sometimes has hot tea and cake waiting when I get there."

"The toughest thing for the ones at home and in the nursing homes is attitude," Anita asserted. "Sometimes it seems so much easier to curl up and pretend the world doesn't exist. Why work, and for what reason, especially if the therapy is painful. That is why just sitting and talking sometimes accomplishes more than therapy. We keep on the look-out for things to laugh about."

Another group that laughs a lot is Marcia Wilkerson's pre-schoolers. "For one reason or another, they just didn't begin talking as soon or as much as they should, so the class is designed to stimulate them."

Gary Mears, Clarence Yanez and Michael Bissent all participate in a class where talking about toys—or any subject that two-to-three year old kids will talk about, is the order of business.

"None of them have a serious speech problem, they just need some boosting," said Marcia. "Gary has had a buildup of fluid in his ears that may have been the problem—he couldn't imitate sounds if he wasn't hearing them."

"Tubes to drain the fluid were surgically put in Gary's ears, and now he seems to be hearing and talking much more," said Gary's mother, Bonnie Mears.

Clarence's mother, Mrs. Lupe Yanez, says Clarence has just been happily silent, as far as talking. "Maybe he hasn't needed to tell us things, because we take care of him all the time, but we hope he'll start talking more with the others," she said.

For the older kids who are having slight problems at school, the Rehab Center started, in January a special tutoring-reinforcement program with Carla Warrington working with the kids.

"There are five of the kids who, for a physical or psychological reason, have had a little difficulty with school," Carla explained.

"When they come in, I work with both problem areas and strong areas of learning. That way, it is supportive, and helps the child build self-esteem and confidence in his own abilities by emphasizing his strengths."

"I work with both teacher and parent to get everybody pulling the same direction, to support both and in the end, help the child," she explained. "It is really exciting to watch the child's attitude change from one of failure to an 'I can succeed, and I am worthwhile' outlook."

Getting parent and child together is also part of what Nita Tarbot does—particularly if the child is deaf. "I teach sign (ASL) for a very important reason: so that people can communicate with the deaf. Until you are personally locked in a deaf world, unable to communicate, you can not realize just what deafness means," said Nita.

"I have struggled all my life to be equal—to be normal; to learn what the average person knows," she said. "Hearing people absorb from the world around them new words, new sensations. I do not have the benefit of that one sense."

"I don't want anyone to read this and think—'poor Nita,' because I am luckier than many people, both deaf and hearing," Nita asserted. "I just have to make up for the lack of exposure to the hearing world by reading more and working to learn in different ways."

Nita learned to talk by feeling the vibrations of her teacher's throat and trying to match them. She has been tested at the University of California at Los Angeles for her sensitivity of touch.

Her score was among the highest recorded, on her sense of touch, and at one time, she told a doctor that her daughter, Kristi, had something wrong in the chest because when Kristi breathed, it "felt like dry leaves." As it turned out, Kristi had pneumonia, which doctors diagnose by a sound of rustling leaves when the patient breathes.

Nita and her husband, Bob, have three children, Davey, 18, Kristi, 15 and Teddy, 13. Nita has, thanks to help and her own determination, had a "near-normal" life, and adjusted well to her handicap. She talks smoothly and well, an unusual accomplishment for anyone who became deaf before they began to talk, and is a skilled lip-reader.

"There is a drive in me that won't let me quit trying, won't let me be completely satisfied," said Nita. "I see that in some of the kids at the Rehab Center, and in the kids I teach."

"Someone—Mr. Gerightsir—took the time to help an ugly, fat, dirty, unwanted child. He gave me incentive, he opened up the whole world for me. I want to see others have that same chance," Nita said emphatically. "I never got to thank Mr. Gerightsir, but maybe I can repay him by helping someone else. I have to try."

Through the special services, the Rehab Center meets the needs of many handicapped children and adults. Michael Bissent and Ginger Atkinson go to the Center, and have improved as a result. They need some help, however, the Rehab can't provide right now. For their story, see the final part of the series Sunday.

The shooting occurred last Sunday at 11:30 p.m., at the elder Vasquez's home. Vicente Vasquez Jr., who was also shot, is listed in serious condition at Lubbock Methodist Hospital.

Tip should have talked of other things

The Irish have a reputation for spreading blarney. If that is the case, one who does the race proud is Rep. Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill Jr., Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives.

O'Neill, who his peers insist is well suited for his job, is like a lot of the rest of us. Sometimes he doesn't know when to shut up.

Normally a bluff, outgoing type, long on bonhomie and not overly impressed with his lofty position, O'Neill let his sentiments get away with him in a recent talk before a banquet crowd in Dublin.

O'NEILL TOOK Great Britain to the woodshed, allowing as how England, over the years had used Northern Ireland as a 'political football.'

The British usually keep their aplomb but they went on the attack after hearing what O'Neill had to say. Conservative leader Margaret Thatcher, destined to be named prime minister, denied that Britain had ever so used Ulster. Spokesmen for England's Labor Party echoed Mrs. Thatcher's sentiments.

"Indeed," said Laborite Shirley Williams, "The Irish-American community has very little idea of the truth of the situation in Northern Ireland." Down through the years, Great Britain has suffered a great many grievous wounds over the apparently hopeless situations in Northern Ireland. A political football is something one tries to use to one's advantage. There is no way England could have capitalized on Northern Ireland's woes.

THE POLITICAL climax is such that it defies the kind of simple solutions that O'Neill seems to envision. If the truth were known, most Britons would be glad to rid themselves of Northern Ireland and its problems for once and for all.

Until the status of Ulster's Protestant majority (which would become a minority in any reunified Ireland) can be guaranteed, a pull-out of British troops isn't considered possible.

To suggest that there is an easy way out which has been overlooked is to oversimplify the issue to a dangerous degree.

O'Neill should have talked about other things, like the pride many Americans take in their Irish heritage and the fact that we make far more of St. Patrick's Day than do the Micks. O'Neill punted, alright, but out of bounds.

Perfect interview

Around the rim

James Werrell

Last night I dreamed I was involved in the perfect interview.

Every reporter dreams of the perfect interview with a public official, highly placed, who is candid, honest and interesting. There's no such thing, but we can dream can't we?

Public Official: I am . . . Me: Who?

PO: JOHN DOE, highly placed public official, veteran of all the major wars, lover of most of the world's wealthiest and most influential women, confident of presidents, ex-professional quarterback, guardian of state secrets, spy, movie director, aspirant for king, nuclear physicist, raconteur and rake. And I will tell you anything you want to know, on the record of course . . .

Me: Why? PO: . . . Because I just loooove reporters! And I love to talk, and provide you with juicy, coherent, sensible, witty, frank, incisive and, of course, on-the-record quotes. Why, you might call me John "First Amendment" Doe. I am not fond of libel lawyers, and I couldn't care diddly about those silly new rulings handed down by the Supreme Court.

My life is an open book. I have access to privileged material compiled by the CIA, FBI and every special interest group in the country, and I want more than anything to hand it over to you.

I have documented proof that Ronald Reagan dyes his hair; that Jimmy Carter had an affair with Jerry Brown when Jerry was in the seminary; that the Dallas Cowboys accepted a bribe from Idi Amin to throw the Superbowl; and that India is planning a nuclear attack on Miami at exactly . . .

Me: When? PO: Four o'clock tomorrow afternoon. I plan to be lunching with the Pope in Vatican City at the time.

STEVEN SPIELBERG, by the way, has asked me to star in his new film, "Close Encounters Of The Groping King." I will play opposite Sophia Loren, Jane Fonda, Cheryl Tiegs, Farrah Fawcett-Majors, Linda Lovelace, Ethel Kennedy, Suzanne Summers and a Marilyn Monroe look-alike I discovered on the coast. They're all past mistresses of mine.

Oh, and mentioning Suzanne Summers, did you know she has this kinky thing for reporters. All you have to do is call this number which is . . . Me: What?

PO: Toll free. Call any time, day or night. I'll give it to you after the interview.

You know, you look like a bright kid. I have a few positions open for an enterprising young man such as yourself: Prince of Barbados, official lounge lizard at my club in Monte Carlo, wine taster at my Bordeaux estate. If you're interested, we could discuss it over lunch.

Just let me ring my pilot to draw up a flight plan to . . . Me: Where?

PO: . . . This wonderful little place in the south of Spain. Put away your wallet, this one's on me.

Pushover for fems

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's well-cultivated reputation for single-handedly achieving impossible feats of diplomatic legerdemain earned him the sobriquet-comic German accent deserved comparison with Superman is still a matter of conjecture. But one thing has been made clear from secret documents: Like the comic-strip hero, Kissinger was a pushover for the Lois Lanes of the world. Whether from high hopes or low male chauvinism, Kissinger was repeatedly caught off guard by female journalists.

A year after he claimed to have been "anguished" over the Christmas-1972 bombing of Hanoi, he made the damaging admission to Flora Lewis of the New York Times that he had actually wanted to bomb event more, but "the president wouldn't let me."

ANOTHER DISTAFF reporter who outwitted the urbane professor was Sally Quinn of The Washington Post. She would bump into him at Washington parties and after a few minutes of wily, womanly buttering up, Kissinger would be lulled into saying something ridiculous — which would promptly appear in the Post to the secretary's discomfiture.

Kissinger eventually grew gun-shy of Quinn, and firmly refused her request for an "indepth" interview. "I wouldn't let Sally Quinn interview me," he confided to a foreign diplomat in 1976. "She is vicious. I don't know anyone who has survived being interviewed by her. I know her socially, but I don't talk to her."

Alas for Dr. K., he had already learned to his sorrow the perils of a clever woman reporter — Oriana Fallaci. He later ruefully described the taped interview he gave the Italian journalist in 1972 as the "stupidest thing" he had ever done.

While this self-assessment may be open to question, there's no doubt the Fallaci interview, with its "lone cowboy" reference, didn't exactly enhance Kissinger's reputation, either among world leaders or the public at large.

ALTHOUGH HE WAS aware of Fallaci's reputation as a tough interviewer — even Quinn warned him — Kissinger evidently thought he could handle her with no trouble. "Why I agreed to it, I'll never know," he later moaned to reporters.

Actually, he did know. According to a secret transcript, Kissinger told a friend three years after the Fallaci interview, "She really got me in trouble. The only reason I agreed to an interview was that I saw a picture of her in a book and she looked attractive, so I wanted to meet her."

Even that turned to sour grapes. Fallaci, he told his friends, "is a dumpy little girl, totally unattractive."

Reached by our associate Dale Van Atta by phone in Milan, Fallaci was surprised to learn how she had been granted the famous interview. "It's unbelievable," she said. "Were our lives in the hands of such an individual who accepted to see a journalist because of a photo?" Kissinger had told her, she said, that he agreed because of her interview with North Vietnamese Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap.

As for the ex-secretary's un diplomatic description of her, Fallaci said smoothly: "Forget the painful words Dr. Kissinger uses in judging my physical appearance. Being judged unattractive by such a tasteless man is a relief. Besides, it is difficult to discuss my stature, which is short, as short as Dr. Kissinger, with the difference that I am very thin and he is very fat."

Informed that Kissinger told his friends it would have been all right if Fallaci "had described me as a combination of Charles de Gaulle and Disraeli," she confessed that "it never occurred to me . . . out of respect for de Gaulle or Disraeli." They would, she said, "turn in their graves."

Explained Fallaci: "I described Dr. Kissinger as a cowboy because this was the way he described himself. If I were a cowboy, I would be very offended."

Footnote: At this writing, Kissinger is traveling overseas and cannot be reached for comment.

LLAR DIPLOMACY: Dollar diplomacy is not dead. The Carter administration recently wrote off $10 million the Thai government had agreed to pay for munitions left behind when American forces were withdrawn from Thailand. A State Department official explained that it would have cost more to ship the material back home than to let the Thais have it — and technological advances have made the stuff worthless to our troops anyway. But another source told us the main purpose of the gift was to cement our ties to the Thais.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: "Broadway Joe" Califano, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, added insult to injury when he delivered a report on home health care to the Senate Committee on Aging seven months late. It was addressed to "The Hon. Frank Church, Chairman, Special Committee on Aging, House of Representatives." Not only is Church a senator, he hasn't been chairman of the Senate committee for four months. A member of the committee, Sen. Peter Domenici, R-N.M., commented that the covering letter was "indicative of the sloppy and inefficient way the whole report was hand ed."

Privacy vs prurience

William F. Buckley, Jr.,

At the instance of the Sentry Insurance Company, the Louis Harris group conducted a poll on the question of privacy. It transpires that there is wide public concern over successive assaults on privacy; that a substantial body of Americans would like to see the right to privacy elevated to equality with such other articulated rights as those catalogued in the Bill of Rights.

THE PARADOX, of course, is that at the same time that we are clamoring for greater privacy, the "freedom" of the press gets wider and wider acclaim. The two freedoms are of course, at the margin, antagonistic: even as, at the margin, freedom of the press contends with the right to a fair trial, and the 5th Amendment right to decline to give witness against oneself contends against the Sixth Amendment right to compel testimony.

Consider, for instance, the matter of Richard Nixon's tapes.

As matters now stand, the courts have ruled that presidential materials belong to the government, except those materials that are personal in nature. Mr. Nixon, while continuing to contest the ruling in the matter of the official papers, persuaded the Supreme Court that those of his papers and tapes that dealt with personal questions were his property. But the court left it to government officials to make the decision as to which materials are private, which official.

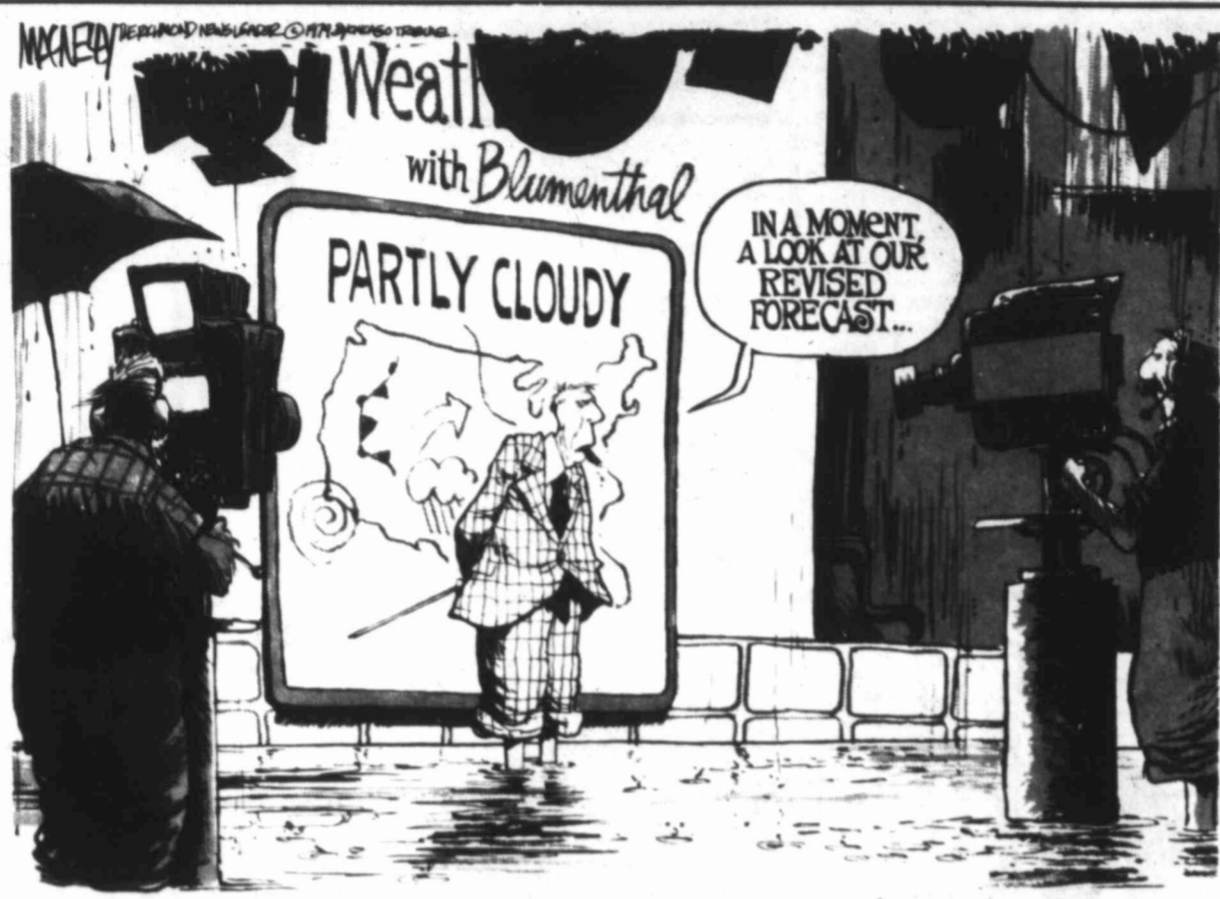

Nixon has now filed an affidavit asserting that all those tapes that begin with the stock opening, "Memorandum for the private file — not to be transcribed," are personal, demanding that auditors upon hearing that code phrase, remove their earphones, and return the tapes thus introduced back to Mr. Nixon. The Nixon affidavit alleges about the recorded diaries that "they reflected my innermost thoughts and feelings regarding a wide range of events and personalities. Often done at the end of the day, they recorded my personal emotions and reactions."

No doubt there is somebody out there who will oppose Mr. Nixon's affidavit, it being a national obsession to oppose anything Nixon contends such persons would have difficulty in associating themselves convincingly with advocates of privacy. That is an easy division. Nobody has yet said the public is entitled to read Richard Nixon's love letters, not even John Sirica.

But how does one handle the more difficult question of the "official" papers? The other day, Dr. Herman Kahn of the Hudson Institute, commenting on the Harris findings, said he had one or two conversations with Nixon during his presidency, which now he knows were recorded. "What right do other people have to hear my conversations with President Nixon?" I would answer: None at all. It was wrong of Mr. Nixon to record those conversations, but his doing so ought not to result in the violation of the privacy of Herman Kahn — or, for that matter, of Richard Nixon.

IT IS APPARENTLY a settled question that a search for evidence that might establish that a felony had been committed, or that a president had been guilty of impeachable behavior, makes tapes probably containing evidence relevant to a judicial inquiry subpoenaable. But what about the others?

Last spring, in his resonant Commencement Address at Harvard, Solzhenitsyn spoke rather mysteriously about the public's "right to know." What did he mean? The reference was to the national mania to know everything about everybody.

Eosinophilic fasciitis: 'New ailment'

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I've written before and hoped you'd get around to giving me answers about eosinophilic fasciitis. I guess it must be new. My son's was diagnosed a year ago. He has severe hand swelling and is on Prednisone. I'd like it described in plain language. Does it only affect hands? Is there a cure? What's the cause? — Mrs. B.M.

Sorry for the delay. I try to field questions about more common ailments. This one is "new" only in the sense that it was recently described by doctors treating similar problems. You won't find it in the usual lay medical books. Only a few cases have been confirmed, but I tell you what I know.

Eosinophils are certain body cells (which we can, and are able to identify) with a substance called "eosin." Fascia is special tissue found around muscles and body organs. With eosinophilic fasciitis there are more of the tell tale cells in the blood than normal, and there is thickening and hardening of the fascia tissue. We don't know why this occurs. Patients experience pain from heavy activity, like prolonged lifting or jogging. Skin becomes thickened in the extremities — arms, hands, legs, elbows, etc. Organs can get affected. A few cases identified to date have been in patients being treated for scleroderma or other muscle ailments.

The good news is that cortisone-like medicine (as your son's Prednisone) appears to give effective relief of symptoms. Generally, the same treatment used in arthritis control seems effective. Aspirin alone, along with rest and physical therapy, has been effective. There's not enough experience with eosinophilic fasciitis to tell, but from what information we have the long-term outlook seems good, especially if organs are not affected.

Your son's sharp-eyed physician is to be complimented on diagnosing this.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Very often when I urinate I get a strong medicinal-smelling odor. Do you know of any cause for this? I am 62 and in good health. When I had my last physical examination, I forgot to mention this to my doctor. I would like some answers. — Mrs. A.D. You don't mention any particular odor, but I assume you mean a strong, ammonia smell. This can be caused by a high intake of concentrated protein food, like meat. Combined with a low liquid intake, this can cause a strong odor in urine, especially if it stands any length of time. Foods like asparagus can also cause it, as can heavy doses of B vitamins. The vitamins would also cause a darker colored urine. Various medicines can create the odor. There's a long list of them.

No cause for concern if any of these factors are involved. Next time you see your doctor, arm yourself with a checklist of questions to ask. Time in the waiting room would not be wasted if folks did this.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am 13 years old and I have white specks on my fingernails. Do you have any idea what causes this and if there is anything I can do about it? — Miss J.W.

As nails grow outward to the tip of the finger, the newest growth appears as a white band at the base. As the nail grows further outward it hardens and the whiteness disappears (almost always, anyway). Any injury, even a very minor bump, that occurs in the growing portion results in a white spot later on in the hardened nail.

The white spots in rare cases indicate an infection, but in general are harmless. They do not tell the number of sweethearts you have, the times you have fibbed (each speck representing a "white" lie) or how rich you will be. They require no treatment and disappear as new nails grow out.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Are pinworms caused by eating too much candy? — D.S.

No. You get it by ingesting the tiny eggs — hand to mouth being the commonest route.

Dear Dr. Ruble: How can you answer questions on such a wide assortment of medical problems? — H.S.

Two secrets: access to a splendid medical library and to wonderful consultants. I fill in-between.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Can one have shingles without having the blisters? — H.S.

Yes. The common sign is multiple small fluid-filled beads of blisters, often around the waist. There may be just areas of reddening in cases where the blister stages do not develop.

Of all the problems pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the most common. To learn about the newest treatments, write to Dr. Ruble for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest — Pinworm," care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am concerned because my daughter's school teaches evolution as if it were a fact. My husband says I shouldn't be concerned about this.

What do you think? — Mrs. A.A. DEAR MRS. A.S.: I suspect this is generally true in many public schools today. It is unfortunate for several reasons. For on thing, I know many able biologists who readily admit that evolution is only a theory, and that it is unscientific to treat it as fact. Also, the issue raises particular problems for a Christian.

The theory of evolution suggests that life as we now see it has evolved over many millions of years from simple to complex forms through a process of gradual change. Although it is not always stated in the schoolroom, evolution says that this process "just happened" — that there was no divine purpose or plan behind it. (Some, I should point out, try to combine evolution with belief in God, saying God may have used millions of years to bring life to its present form.)

This is the basic disagreement the Christian has with evolution — the idea that life is an accident. The Bible could not be clearer: "In the beginning God created the heaven and earth" (Genesis 1:1). We are not here by chance. We are here because God placed us here. That does not mean the Bible gives us every detail about the process by which God put life on this planet. But we must resist anything which makes humanity less than God's creature, created in His image.

You will want to be sure your daughter understands the Bible's teaching about the origin of the world and life. You should also know that some staunch evolutionists deny such Christian beliefs as the reality of sin and man's need of redemption through Christ. They may suggest that humanity can take control of its own future, and make it evolve the way they want it to go. But the Bible tells us that the human heart is selfish and incapable of solving the deepest problems apart from God.

You may also want to talk with others about this, including your pastor. In some areas parents have been successful in having school boards insist that evolution be taught as theory, not fact, and that creationist views be given a fair hearing also.

New signal light will be in effect soon

Motorists should be on the lookout for a new traffic signal in the city this weekend. According to city officials, a new signal will begin operating, 10 a.m. Sunday, at the corner of 10th and Gregg.

4-H State Congress to be held in Houston

Senior 4-H members, ages 15-19, will meet for their annual State Congress at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel in Houston, July 19-22. Theme of this year's Congress is "4-H and Energy: Partners for Progress."

The youth will participate in a number of tours to gain first-hand knowledge of energy developments. The tours will include solar plants, some of the world's largest petroleum refineries, the Houston Light and Power Company multi-million dollar control center and the N.A.S.A. Johnson Space Center.

Participants will also have the opportunity to view a multitude of exhibits and displays on energy production, conversion and use. Delegates will develop workshop settings to be used in future 4-H energy programs in their own clubs and communities.

The Texas 4-H Congress will also provide delegates with an opportunity to view Texas history by touring the San Jacinto Monument and the Battleship Texas. Time out will also be taken for relaxation and fun at Astroworld and the nearby Gulf Coast.

"Attending the 4-H Congress will be a tremendous learning experience," says Linda Fuchs, assistant county agent. "This is just one example of many opportunities which can be gained through 4-H work."

Any youth between ages 9 and 19, regardless of race, color, religion or national origin, may become 4-H members. To join, visit the Extension Office, located in the basement of the courthouse, and fill out an enrollment card. That's all there is to it.

Tumbleweed Smith earns radio award Lt. Gov. Hobby orders arrest of 12 senators

Tumbleweed Smith (Bob Lewis) of Big Spring, whose voice is heard on 72 radio stations, is the recipient of the 1979 Texas Forestry Association Journalism Award for the radio category.

"Tumbleweed Smith was given his name by the forest of West Texas," stated TFA President Bill Hammock as he presented the award at the spring meeting in Austin recently. "Tumbleweeds grow in about the same profusion there as pines grow in East Texas. Tumbleweeds blow around the landscape and contribute to it on the way, so does Tumbleweed Smith."

"Tumbleweed blows into East Texas once or twice a year, looking for something to tell the audience on his three-score-plus radio station syndication."

"This past year, stories included the Texas Forestry Museum and a smattering of the programs TFA carries out, such as the Woodlands Trails," continued Hammock. "He went to College Station to do some stories on other aspects of forestry and the programs were a fine example of Tumbleweed Smith's ability as an interviewer."

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby ordered the arrest today of 12 senators who failed to show up for a morning Senate session, apparently to halt action on several controversial bills. Kelly Arnold, Senate sergeant-at-arms, gave Department of Public Safety officers the home addresses of missing senators. "Check every office in the Senate," he told assistant sergeants. "Then we'll discharge the DPS and Texas Rangers to get those members that are outside the Capitol."

Pay raises for Stanton school personnel voted

STANTON — The Stanton school board has approved pay raises for teachers, coaches and other school personnel, which, a spokesman said, "was necessary if we are to compete with other school districts in this area and keep and acquire good, competent people."

The raises will cost the school district an extra $80,000 annually but the raises probably can be implemented without an increase in taxes.

New coaching bonuses approved were $4,000 for the athletic director, $3,000 for the head basketball coach, $2,500 each for the high school assistants and head junior high coach and $2,000 for junior high assistants.

The teachers' increase, which was not approved unanimously, goes from $500 to $1,500 annually.

The superintendent of schools will get a bonus boost from $2,000 to $3,500 annually. Principals go from $1,000 to $2,200, the business manager from zero to $2,200; the counselor from $500 to $1,700; and the special services administrator from $750 to $1,700.

Administrative secretaries, principal's secretaries and teacher's aides, which have not previously received bonuses, will also benefit up to $700 annually.

Spring concert booked Tuesday

COLORADO CITY — Students from the choral departments of Colorado Middle School and Colorado High School will be featured in a spring concert starting at 7:30 p.m., here Tuesday in the high school auditorium.

Advance adult tickets are available for 75 cents each. Students can gain admission for 50 cents each. At the door, tickets will be $1 for adults.

Lamesa hospital experiences declining patient load woes

LAMESA — Board members of Medical Arts Hospital are warning of problems facing the hospital in coming years, problems caused by a declining patient load.

The patient load has decreased consistently over the past decade. During the last two weeks, the hospital hit an all-time low with only ten patients.

When Dr. John Puckett returned to work, the patient load jumped to 25 but that is still considered low.

Elwood Freeman, speaking for the board, said that if the patient load keeps declining the hospital won't be able to pay its way.

The hospital has spent upwards to $80,000 during the last four years to comply with HEW regulations, mandatory under the law but questioned by board members as being beneficial to the facility.

Fails to post $10,500 bail

Willie Ray Myles, 18, was transferred from the city to the county jail Thursday, 2:50 p.m., where he is being retained in lieu of $10,500 bond.

Myles has been charged with a felony theft of over $200 and under $10,000. He has also been charged with issuance of a bad check.

A bond of $7,500 was set on the felony charge and another bond of $3,000 was set on the misdemeanor. Bonds were set by Justices of the Peace Bob West and Lewis Heflin.

Hobbs voters turned down bond issue

HOBBS, N.M. — For the first time in the history of the Hobbs Independent School District, voters have turned down a bond issue.

The electorate beat by a 61-vote margin Tuesday a proposal to provide $6 million which would have been used to construct a new elementary school and finance renovation and remodeling on other schools. A total of 1,282 voters cast ballots against the proposal while 1,221 voted for it.

A two-mill levy, money from which will be used for roofing and insulation at many schools, was approved, 1,218 to 1,215.

Less than a fourth of the eligible voters went to the polls.

Christian Academy summer enrollment is now open

Enrollment for the summer session and pre-enrollment for fall are now open at the Big Spring Christian Academy. The summer session begins June 18 and continues through July 28. Hours are 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. with a mid-morning snack break. No lunch room options will be available during the summer session.

Enrollment in the summer program is not restricted to past or future enrollment in the academy. Parents who desire to have their children receive additional educational help may call Bruce Hinshaw, principal, at the academy, 267-6251.

Pre-enrollment for fall is also open. Due to the current waiting list for potential enrollment, parents of current academy students will have first priority. Enrollment thereafter will be filled on a first come, first serve basis.

The academy has recently been granted an additional 5,000 square feet of lease facility at Industrial Park, permitting an increase of the present enrollment of 65 to about 130 for the 1979-80 school year.

M.J. Mullins, administrator of the academy, invites inquiries.

Agriculture Committee members upset about release

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of the House Agriculture Committee are miffed about the release of wheat that had been stored under the government's three-year reserve program

The Agriculture Department late Wednesday announced that the farm price of wheat had risen enough so that farmers, if they choose, can pay off pricesupport loans and sell the grain on the open market. More than 400 million bushels of wheat — equal to more than 20 percent of last year's harvest — are stored under the program, which is intended to keep the grain off the market until prices go up. Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan., and others on the House committee indicated Thursday that they want an accounting by USDA of why the wheat was released at this time. Harvest of the 1979 crop will begin soon in the Southwest and will be in full swing in Kansas — the leading producer — by mid-June. The program provides that farmers can store wheat — also corn and other feed grains — under the department's loan program for as long as three years and get federal payments to help defray the storage costs. But if the market price of wheat, in the meantime, rises to 140 percent of the loan rate of $2.35 a bushel — a trigger point of $3.29 a bushel — farmers then, at their option, can pay off the loans and sell the grain for cash.

In announcing the release of stored wheat, the department said the average farm price had risen to $3.31 a bushel, two cents above the trigger point. Department officials said a full explanation of the decision to release the stored wheat is being prepared for delivery to Glickman and other members of the committee.

Another method used to figure the release of wheat is the use of the mid-month price calculated nationally at the farm level. One official, who asked not to be identified, said the decision to release the stored wheat was "very borderline" and that Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland does have discretion under the rules on whether to abide by the formula's 140 percent trigger point.

House approves raise in wheat target price

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would raise this year's target prices for wheat and feed grains by 7 percent has been approved by the House Agriculture Committee. The committee approved the measure Thursday by voice vote. Rep. Richard Kelly, R-Fla., who called the bill "unadulterated government-imposed inflation," unsuccessfully tried to secure a recorded vote.

The Carter administration opposes the bill. Under the target-price system, the Agriculture Department sets a target price that farmers should expect to receive for what they grow. If market prices are lower than the target, the government pays the farmers the difference. The cash payments are made only to growers who have cooperated with the Agriculture Department's production-control programs, already announced for this year's crops. The main wheat harvest is beginning and corn is being planted. The department did not raise income-protection rates for farmers this year. A record 1978 corn crop had added to surpluses. In major central markets, wheat prices this month have averaged between $3.65 and $3.85 a bushel. The farm price of wheat averaged $2.98 nationwide in April. Last month, farmers got an average of $2.24 a bushel for their 1978 corn. English said he chose the 7 percent figure because President Carter used it for his voluntary anti-inflation wage and price guidelines. Farmers "need this catch-up increase... just as other Americans need more to live on this year," English said.

Scattered showers move to Oklahoma

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast for most of Texas today. Thunderstorms moved across the Texas Panhandle and into Western Oklahoma during the night. Although rainfall amounts were not immediately available, the National Weather Service said heavy showers fell east of Amarillo during the night. The only shower activity in the state during the pre-dawn hours today was in the Guadalupe Mountains of Southwest Texas. Highs today were expected to range from the middle 70s in the Panhandle to the 80s in Northeast Texas to the 90s in South Texas. Early morning temperatures ranged from the 50s in the mountains of Southwest Texas and in northern sections of the Panhandle to the 70s in South Texas. Extremes ranged from 53 at Dalhart to 71 at San Antonio.

Collapsed oil rig underwent many repairs

HOUSTON (AP) — The ill-fated Ranger I oil drilling platform underwent extensive repair before it was taken into the Gulf of Mexico, where it collapsed May 10, apparently taking the lives of eight of the 34 workmen aboard, a driller has testified.

James W. Sasser, 27, of Bogie Chitto, Miss., told a Coast Guard board of inquiry Thursday the rig was in a Mobile, Ala., drydock from Feb. 15 to April 24, and underwent more repair later at Fouchon, La.

He said all three legs were cut off and worked on at Mobile, and the stern leg of the three-legged jack-up platform was cut off twice.

Witnesses testified earlier it was the collapse of the stern leg that sent the rig to the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico 12 miles south of Galveston. Six of the 34 men on board still are missing. Two bodies have been found.

Sasser told the board he was sitting on his bunk several hours before the rig's collapse when it "dropped down about a foot all at once."

He said a toolpusher and a Mitchell Energy Offshore Corp. official told him a wedge on the rig's No. 2 leg had shifted, causing the jar, and that everything was all right.

Sasser, describing what happened after the rig collapsed, told the board he was in the galley when "the floor just went away from me. I couldn't understand why it left."

"I tried to grab a table, a chair, the milk machine and couldn't touch anything as the water rose up over my waist. Nobody said anything. I guess everybody was stunned."

Sasser said he squirmed through a window that had been knocked out over the mess table, grabbed a staircase and climbed to the heliport, "where people were running crazily around everywhere looking for life jackets and anything that would float."

"They were scared and I was scared. I thought I was fixing to die."

Sasser grabbed a life jacket moments before he was washed off the rig by a wave. A tugboat picked him up.

A man alone in a field... making the field ready for spring planting... perhaps is closer to God than he realizes.

The field didn't "just happen." The earth didn't "just happen." Those fruit trees, laden with blossoms, didn't choose to bloom just because they wanted to look pretty.

Stop and think about it. In the natural order of life, little is left to chance. There is a precision about the very rotation of the earth itself. There is a miracle embedded in each blade of grass.

All about us is the unmistakable evidence of Creation, by a Master Hand. The man in the field is, in some ways, closer to this creation than many of us, yet he too may very well be unaware of it. We can all capture or recapture this awareness by going to church regularly.

Free showing Sunday

Holocaust survivor's story told on film

A new color motion picture honoring the life of Corrie Ten Boom, survivor of the holocaust, will be presented to the public at First Assembly of God Church, 4th and Lancaster, Sunday.

No admission will be charged for the 6 p.m. showing of the World Wide Pictures-produced "Corrie: The Lives She's Touched."

Filmed in Denver before a live audience of more than 2,000 persons gathered to pay tribute to Corrie's ministry of love and compassion, the movie shares in great detail the events that have taken place in her life.

During World War II, Corrie and her family, residents of Haarlem, Holland, became involved in the Dutch Underground following the invasion of their homeland by Hitler's Nazi forces.

They are credited with saving the lives of scores of Jews, by hiding them in a secret room in their home and by arranging safe passage out of the country. For their effort, they were arrested in a surprise raid, and sent to prison.

Corrie was sent to Ravensbruck Concentration Camp and is the lone survivor of the immediate family.

Corrie's story has been shared with millions around the world through the book and motion picture "The Hiding Place," a 1975 World Wide Pictures release, which has been dubbed into several foreign languages and has been well received in England, Holland, West Germany and the Far East.

"Corrie: The Lives She's Touched" is hosted by Cliff Barrows of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Team and features a number of surprise guests from Corrie's past, including her nephew, Peter van Woerden, who, as a youth, was also involved in the work of the Underground, and Diet Ehrlich, who was in the concentration camp with Corrie.

Other guests on the program included Jeannette Clift, the actress who portrayed Corrie in "The Hiding Place," and Tom Claus, an American Indian Chief who inducted Corrie into his tribe as an honorary member.

Music is featured throughout the one-hour program by Evie Tornquist, George Beverly Shea, the Bill Gaither Trio, and Tedd Smith, pianist and composer of the film score for "The Hiding Place."

The Rev. W. Randall Ball, pastor of First Assembly of God Church, invites all to attend.

Baptists have close brush with new church

Members of Hillcrest Baptist Church continued their second week of "The great Paint-off" this week.

The congregation of Rev. Phillip McClendon has been taking turns volunteering days to get its new church at 2000 FM 700 into shape for the first service there, June 3.

"We're painting, carpeting, doing everything," McClendon said. The remodeling adds up to between $10,000 and $15,000, he estimated.

Part of that amount went for 40 gallons of paint, 25 of which are now on the walls.

An increase in church membership prompted the purchase of the larger church. Currently, services are still being conducted at 2105 Lancaster. Because of the increased number of worshippers, two Sunday morning services are being conducted, 8:30 and 11:30.

When the church moves to its new location, service hours will return to its previous times with Sunday School at 9:45 a.m., Sunday worship at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., and Wednesday worship at 7:30 p.m.

According to church member-painter Tobbie Smith, the painting endeavor "is a lot of fun... and a lot of work."

"And you don't have to be a member of the church to participate," she added. "Everybody's welcome!"

Kenya missionary shares experiences

The Rev. Jimmy L. Beggs, an Assemblies of God missionary to Kenya, will be a guest speaker at Bethel Assembly of God Church, six miles west of Ackerly on FM 2002, tonight.

The Rev. L.D. Hinson, pastor of the church, invites the public to attend the 7:30 p.m. missions rally.

During their last term of missionary service, Beggs and his wife Mary were active in Bible school teaching and in the Theological Education by Extension (TEE) program, which provides training by mail for pastors and Christian workers.

Beggs also served as the general superintendent of the Assemblies of God in Kenya. Mrs. Beggs was the national director of the women's auxiliary groups.

Before their ministry in Kenya, the Beggses war and trouble that is sweeping Africa. God is allowing Kenya's churches to experience growth. Their stability and maturity will be a basis for African missionary activities in the future.

REV. JIMMY L. BEGGS ministered for seven years in evangelism and teaching in Tanzania.

Prior to their missionary ministry, the couple pastored in Morton. To prepare for their ministerial careers, they attended Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie where Beggs earned a B.A. degree.

During this special missions rally, the Rev. and Mrs. Beggs will be emphasizing the importance of prayer support for missionaries from Christians and church groups in America. They will also present the need for missionary recruits.

Crestview Baptist has homecoming

A two-day double celebration will be highlighted with inspirational preaching and singing at Crestview Baptist Church this weekend.

Special guests will be the Rev. Evan Leon Westbury of Lancaster and the Irwin Family Singers, Dennis and Betty Irwin, of Mesquite.

The three will be featured in services at 7 p.m. Saturday and at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday.

Also on Sunday, there will be a noon meal at the church.

Stephens invites everyone to join in on the celebration. A free nursery will be provided.

Recording artists to sing here

A Farthing's Worth

Upon approaching the Peary Gates a recently departed car sign that read, "Entrance Requirement: 1,000 Points". When Peter appeared, the new arrival asked, "What's this mean?" Peter replied, "Well, why do you feel you should let us in?"

"Oh," the man enthused, "I was a Christian for over thirty years. I had perfect Sunday School attendance for fourteen of those years."

"Wonderful," said Peter, "That's worth one point."

"The man grinned, "Well, I taught a class for twelve years, and I filled most of the time."

"Fine," said Peter, "Now you only need 997 points."

"The man gazed again. "I served on the building committee and the finance committee."

"Now you need only 996 points," responded Peter.

"The man was getting heavily. "I lived a good life," he stated, "I was an honest businessman and a good neighbor. I gave up drinking and foul language."

"Very good," responded Peter, "Now all you need is 995 points."

"The man's face mirrored humility and despair. "Your entrance requirements are pretty stiff. I just don't see how anybody could make it without the grace of God!"

"Ah," said Peter, "That's worth 995 points!"

Going to heaven is not a matter of being good enough or doing enough good things. It's a matter of trusting in the grace of God. That grace is available only through Jesus. That's why Christians aren't necessarily better than anyone else. They're just saved by grace through faith in Jesus Christ.

Mexico oil reserves estimate was too high

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 40 billion barrels of oil Mexico has claimed to hold in proved reserves is far too high an estimate, the Los Angeles Times quoted petroleum experts as saying in today's edition. Numerous petroleum experts in Mexico City and the United States said Mexico has large quantities of oil, but not nearly as much as Mexican officials have estimated, the paper reported. One key source said the figure may be half what the Mexican government has estimated. James W. Watson, senior vice president of DeGolyer and MacNaughton, the U.S. firm hired by Mexico to certify its oil discoveries, said Mexico's proved oil reserves are well below 20 billion barrels. "We've reminded (the Mexican government) over and over about the danger of losing credibility," Watson said. "We've been trying to hold them back." Watson, who has been in charge of certifying Mexico's oil and natural gas reserves for Pemex, Mexico's national petroleum company, vowed to "set the record straight" in any future Department of Energy hearings in Washington on the purchase of Mexican natural gas by U.S. companies.

Pemex hired the Dallas firm in 1976, not only to certify its petroleum discoveries, but to get the credibility it desperately needed to borrow funds from international banking concerns. The Mexican government has also indicated potential reserves may be as high as 200 billion barrels, but petroleum experts and government officials said those estimates are grossly in error, the paper reported. A.A. Meyerhoff, of Tulsa, Okla., one of the world's leading geologists, said the estimate of 200 billion barrels was "utter nonsense." Francisco Vinierra, former exploration manager for Pemex, said of the 200 billion estimate: "It's impossible. I know the geology of Mexico and it's not there." Watson claimed Pemex has misled the public by including Mexico's natural gas figures in the oil reserve totals, even though natural gas cannot be refined into oil or gasoline. In addition, Watson said, "their proven reserves very likely include their probable reserves. It's their interpretation of the ground rules, not ours."

'These are prosperous days' The cow dissected -- by price

CHAMBERLAIN, S.D. (AP) — Half a dozen people will try to make a profit on a baby calf in its 18-month life, from birth to the super-market meat counter. A full-grown steer provides meat and by-products valued at about $1,150, out of which must come the costs of feeding, transporting and processing it — along with hoped-for profit at each step. The president of one large meat packing company claims he is losing money on beef, and supermarkets say they are only breaking even on it. But these are prosperous days for the rancher. "I would not apologize for the price of meat," said Bob Healey, a Chamberlain rancher. "Cattle are just getting to the level where they should be. Ranchers have to have profit incentive or we'll just say to hell with it." Many ranchers called it quits five years ago when prices were low. Drought in the next three years decimated feed supplies and more ranchers sold off their herds. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates beef supplies will be far below demand for at least two years. But ranchers make the most money these days on a calf, investing about $360 until the day it leaves its mother's side. At prices earlier this week, they stand to make about $80 a head at that stage. Here are Healey's costs to raise one weaned calf: Yearly taxes, interest and depreciation on one cow, $99.52; feed, $193.00; breeding and veterinary services $22.00; marketing and transportation $10.00; buildings and equipment, $10.95; and $25 for his labor at $5 an hour for a total of $360.47. "I'd need 81 cents a pound for a 440-pound calf to break even — figuring a 100 percent calf crop. And you can't count on every cow having a calf or all of them living," he said. On Monday, calves sold for about $1 a pound. Healey's calf sells for $440 to another rancher called a backgrounder, who spends $80 to raise the animal to 650 pounds. And he can sell it to a feedlot for $559, turning a $39 profit. The feeder spends $147 fattening the steer to 1,000-pound market weight and sells it for about $715, making $9 a head. Jim Woster of the Sioux Falls Stockyards, the nation's third largest livestock market, said the high beef demand is profitable for the rancher but low supply hurts the processor. "Feeders want to point the finger at the packer and say, 'Boy! they're really raking it in,'" Woster said. "But really, they're losing money on cattle kills to the point that some of them are closing down." John Morrell and Co., one of the five largest meat packers in the nation, has no plans to close down. But its president, Donald Slotkin, said the cattle operation is losing money. "The farmer is making a lot of money on his cattle right now with low prices for feed grain and record high prices for cattle. But at the time we need the cattle the most to meet consumer demand, they're holding cattle back for breeding," Slotkin said. Morrell's kills cattle at 10 of its 17 plants nationwide with the slaughter rate down 60 percent in recent weeks. "We don't project our-

House risks veto; keeps State Bar

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Openly risking a veto, the House has tentatively approved a bill preserving the State Bar of Texas in essentially its present form, including mandatory membership by all lawyers. The bill advanced, 118-17, on Thursday. Final passage was expected today. That would return the bill to the Senate for action on changes made by the House. But House members overwhelmingly voted, in effect, to ignore Gov. Bill Clements' threat to veto the bill if it failed to do two things: —Force the bar to put its money in the state treasury, where it could be spent only as appropriated by the Legislature. —Make the bar an agency of the executive branch, with a nine-member board of directors entirely appointed by the governor. If the bill does not become law, the bar would go out of business as a state agency in 1980. It probably could continue as a voluntary association. Some believe the Texas Supreme Court can re-establish it as it now exists and require all lawyers to belong. Rep. W.S. Healy, D-Paducah, tried to compel the bar to deposit its members' 665-a-year dues in the treasury. His amendment was trounced, 101-39. "There has been criticism of the salary of the executive director, his expense accounts in the saloons of Texas, his transportation," Healy said. Former executive director H.C. Pittman made $54,000 a year, plus an expense account and a Lincoln Continental. When Tom Hanna replaced him last year, the bar said the salary would be smaller and the fringe benefits less elaborate. The House also refused, 112-23, to enable the governor to appoint the bar's directors, who now are elected by lawyers. An amendment by Rep. Fred Head, D-Troup, repealing the requirement that attorneys belong to the bar was tabled, 111-25. "I belong to the bar association and I will continue to belong to it but I don't think I should have to. ... If you believe in the right-to-work law, you'll vote 'no' on the motion to table," Head said.

Home and Garden

SWIMMING POOL FENCES — Happiness is knowing children and their pets are safe within the confines of a yard fenced with natural wood. Wood fencing offers a large selection of styles for screening sights and sounds as well as providing protection and security. The wood can be of cedar, redwood or pressure treated pine and can be stained in a variety of colors or left to weather to warm natural shades.

Fences add beauty, safety to backyard swimming pools

Whether or not local codes require it, nearly all swimming pool owners agree a fence is an indispensable asset to the backyard pool environment. Homeowners who prize their pool as a center of family recreation and a place for entertaining guests particularly value the privacy offered by a backyard fence.

Family members charged with maintaining the pool appreciate the fence's function as a screen for airborne debris, and nearly all pool owners consider their fence as an attractive and valuable addition to the home landscape. But the overriding consideration in fencing a home pool is safety.

A fence is no substitute for constant supervision when children are near the pool, and a pool cover is the best protection when a pool is not in use. Still, a properly designed fence can provide a formidable deterrent to children and animals when adults are not around.

John Vidrine, president of the International Fence Industry Association says "Careful planning should go into the design and construction of a fence that is to be safety feature of a home swimming pool."

"Unless there are no toddlers and everyone who lives in the house knows how to swim," says Vidrine, "there should be a fence around all four sides of the pool, so that anyone leaving the house must take the additional step of opening a gate to enter the pool area."

National herb garden constructed at capital

By EARL ARONSO
A national herb garden is being constructed on the grounds of the National Arboretum in Washington, D.C. The necessary $400,000 is in hand, one half presented by the Herb Society of America and the other half by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The society's check, recently presented by its president, Mrs. A. Sumner Gambee, to Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, represents private donations the society collected under provisions of the 1977 National Arboretum Gift Act. Congress approved the matching $200,000.

The garden is the climax of eight years of planning for what will be the largest designed herb garden in the world, covering two acres. Completion is expected in nine months.

The garden will contain an intricate arrangement of specialty plants. One area will have plants used for medicinals, flavorings, essential oils, dyes and teas. Another section will display plants of historical value, ranging from collections used in Roman and medieval times to herbs of American Indians and those brought to America by colonial settlers.

A fragrance garden will feature species roses of non-hybrid types, and fragile "sweet" plants such as rosemarys, lemon verbena and heliotrope.

In a special 25 x 50 foot herb-knot garden, plant masses will be arranged to resemble interwoven chains, with all the traditional elegance of formal herb gardens.

There will be many areas where visitors may stop for observation, study or rest in the shade. The entire garden, which will have changes in elevation and trellises, will be accessible by wheelchair. Plantings will be loosely arranged to provide a transition from the man-made to the natural, a meadow. Surrounding the herb garden will be large shrubs commonly associated with herb gardens, including witch hazels, spice bush, bayberry and dyer's greenwood, and small herbal trees such as linden and sassafras.

The Arboretum, occupying 44 acres, conducts research on trees, shrubs and other plant life and makes available to the public a wide range of educational programs.

Guide book on flowers

A guide for native American plants is "Wild-flower Perennials for Your Garden," by Bebe Miles (Hawthorne Books). This detailed book, which will help provide years of bloom, is well illustrated. It gives advice on where and how to obtain some native plants, on preparation of the garden, and on pests and diseases.

Arboretum Director John Creech says the new garden "will help people understand the long history of herbs in the world. Persons from every ethnic group will be able to learn something of their heritage by observing and reading about plants that helped create and sustain their cultures."

The Herb Society awarded a scholarship grant to help with the complex task of coordinating proper arrangements of plant categories.

Fill property without great cost

Growing from cuttings best way

Growing from cuttings is one way to fill your property with flowering plants and shrubs without spending a lot of money. Nursery stock is costly, so it makes sense to root your own plants — mounds of azaleas, fragrant roses, colorful forsythia, even your own living fence. Privet hedges are easy to grow from clippings. So is coleus, English ivy, geraniums and a wealth of other annual and perennial shrubbery.

Everyone wants a fertile garden, but not everyone has a green thumb. Science can offer a helping hand, though, especially when it comes to growing from cuttings.

Mixing rooting media and filling pots is time-consuming. There's a lot of guesswork involved, too. But peat cubes eliminate that time and guesswork, and make the rooting of cuttings simple for amateur and veteran gardeners alike.

Kys-Kube Growing Blocks provide the answer. Self-contained, sterile cubes, composed of peat, vermiculite and fibers, insure good drainage and stability — the keys to rapid formation of a root system.

For example, geraniums root easily and fast in Kys-Kube blocks at any time of year. These growing blocks are manufactured by Keyes Fibre, Montvale, New Jersey. Plain cuttings, slips or calloused cuttings can be used.

Simply take a cutting from your favorite plant (snap off a stem that is turgid rather than use a knife which may spread bacteria) and stick the cutting in a saturated Kys-Kube pre-formed hole. Make the hole large if stems are extra-thick. Pinch or dibble the growing medium together around the cutting.

For the first few days after the cuttings are planted, mist them occasionally. Be sure not to overdo misting, however! The amount and period of misting will vary with the temperature and humidity.

Cuttings should stand up unwilted after two or three days. At warm temperatures, callous tissues will form rapidly, and rooting should begin in 7 to 10 days. When roots start, the plant can be fertilized. As soon as the first roots grow out of the Kys-Kube block, the cutting and cube can be potted — the sooner, the better. Shock of transplanting is virtually eliminated because the entire unit is planted.

What makes these wonders of science — peat growing blocks — so important? For one thing, they're biodegradable and they add humus to the soil when they decompose.

Transplanting shock to the new, tender plant is reduced because the fragile roots are not disturbed.

The blocks also contain scientifically-determined amounts of fertilizer. Once the seed or cutting is inserted in the pre-punched hole and the opening is pressed shut, all that remains for the gardener is to make sure the cube doesn't dry out. Plants respond by flourishing.

Kys-Kube growing blocks also include a wetting agent, applied during manufacturing, which makes the blocks more wettable, for fast and thorough moisture take-up. The tapered cube with its wide base allows plenty of room for roots to develop and prevents the plant from tipping. The sturdy plastic growing trays in which they are packed have plenty of structural strength for handling and the ribbed bottoms and drainage holes keep the blocks from resting in water.

Try a few cuttings this year. Your property will be the better for it.

Tarkenton's heir, Tommy Kramer, draws a queen and is on his way

With Fran Tarkenton's retirement, Tommy Kramer now is one of the favorites for the Vikings QB job. The following is the second in a two part story concerning what could be considered one of the ironic points in Kramer's career, and the downfall of one of his college competitors. It's something that can make you wonder.

In the first part on Wednesday, Kramer's high school and first two years of his college career were talked about. In the spring of his sophomore year, he was challenged by a black quarterback named Claude Reed on an even basis throughout spring training and through two-a-days. Finally, after failing to reach a decision on who to start, then Rice University Head Coach Al Conover announced that a draw between Kramer and Reed would determine the starter for the opening game between Rice and the University of Houston. The rest is history and is recreated here.

After Thursday afternoon's light workout prior to the U of H game, Conover called the team together for his normally unusual post practice speech. He related to us that he still couldn't make a judgment in starting Reed or Kramer. He was fully assured that both could do the job, and felt good about that. He then ended the short discourse by announcing that before the Friday afternoon team meeting, the duo of QB hopefuls would meet in his office and draw cards for the starting job on Saturday night in the intense rivalry.

I laughed, as did many others, until we realized that Big Al Conover was serious. Still, I guess I couldn't blame him. Besides, it was just another in a long-line of his clever publicity stunts.

You don't have to be a great quarterback to draw cards on a one time shot, but you had to bet on Kramer at this point. TK was a very sharp card player. He had been accused in many team poker and boo-ray games of conspiring to signals with a couple of others, but that was all in fun and a few dollars. You couldn't catch him, and besides, this time it would be just a one card cut.

The next afternoon, the suit-out squad met in the team film room for customary meeting to discuss travel arrangements, pre-game meal time, etc.

Entering the room accompanied by a few Houston sportswriters, Conover walked to the podium and made the following announcement in a very matter of fact manner: "Tommy, Claude and I met in my room after lunch. I bought a pack of cards on the way here this morning and opened them in the presence of both, so nobody can say that they were marked. After shuffling, the two then drew cards. Tommy drew a queen and Claude drew a seven. Tommy Kramer will start tomorrow night."

There was a hushed murmur throughout the room. Both Kramer and Reed didn't show much expression, although you received the vibes that Claude was disturbed inside. There were the facetious statements such as: "That...Kramer, he's hell with cards." Still, Conover assured everyone that should TK not move the club, Reed would be inserted.

The intra-city University of Houston versus Rice rivalry is always an intense affair, no matter what the records of the foes are. There always are a few outspoken individuals on both teams that make some boast in the week of the game about who will do what to who, but the card draw overshadowed anybody's mouth on this occasion.

After both sides exchanged punts, Rice return man Gary Cox returned a Houston punt 70 yards for a score. On the Cougars next possession, the UH quarterback fumbled, with Rice recovering only 33 yards from paydirt. Kramer engineered the team in, with all of the yardage coming on the ground.

Rice added another touchdown midway in the second stanza on an 88-yard interception return. Finally, Kramer directed a 60-yard scoring drive in the final minutes of the half to give us a comfortable 28-0 halftime lead.

The score would make it appear that Kramer had been extremely hot in the first half, but it was actually the defense and the kicking game that had done the most damage.

Rice played very conservatively in the second half in order to keep the ball away from the always explosive Houston attack. In fact, Kramer attempted only nine passes in the game, completing five. It was a very effective performance, but one that was made very safe by the supporting cast. Reed did not play, as Conover did not want to upset the flow of the game.

Kramer was thereby installed by Conover as the number one signal caller, with Reed, the week before alternating at number one, on the second team.

Two weeks later, Kramer was somewhat battered, and Reed was given a starting chance against LSU, the team he had played so well against the year before.

But LSU controlled the first half of this game, using the running of Terry Robiske and Charles Alexander, plus a terrific pass rush on Reed, to take a 13-0 lead. Unlike the Houston game, the defense and kicking game did not put the offense into an easy position to score.

Late in the third stanza, Kramer replaced a harassed Reed. TK directed two scoring marches, but Rice fell short by a 16-13 count. Naturally, Kramer was installed back into the number one position, as the coaching staff could now justify Reed's second team status after the game.

Kramer continued to play the remainder of the year. Reed entered for one series against Texas after the outcome was no longer in doubt, and threw a scoring pass. But that was the extent of his playing time, after battling Kramer for so long before the card draw.

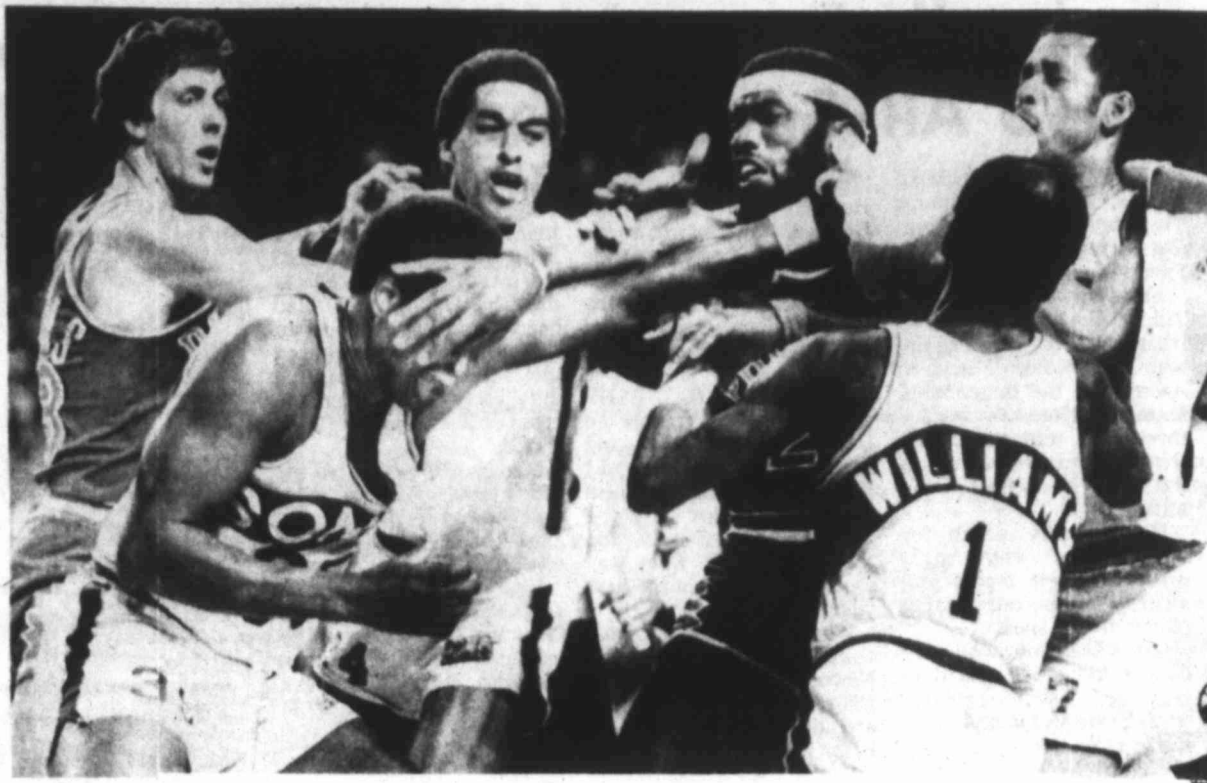

Late in the season, Rice was to take its 3-6 record to TCU. TCU was 0-10 at the time, and in the process of a 20-game losing skein. Oddsmakers had Rice as a two-touchdown favorite.

But we had led a great A&M team 14-13 the week before, only to lose in the fourth quarter to at that time the second ranked team in the nation. Rice was totally emotionally drained.

On Thursday before the game, Reed informed Conover that he would not make the trip. He felt degraded that he had been overlooked after working for so long, and felt that if he hadn't been needed up to this point, that he surely wouldn't be needed against such a team as TCU. Conover was at this time losing control of the team, and this did nothing to help his spirits.

A flat Rice team fell behind TCU. To complicate matters, Kramer suffered a separated shoulder on his throwing arm just before half-time. Two freshmen QBs were tried, but both so scared that they were lucky to complete a handoff. A fired up TCU team held a 28-7 lead.

BREAK IT UP — Phoenix and Seattle players try to stop the Sonics' Paul Silas (head down) and the Suns' Garfield Heard (in headband) from fighting Thursday night during NBA action. The Sonics won the game, 114-110, and the Western Conference championship, four games to three.

Sonics nudge Suns Advance to NBA finals

SEATTLE (AP) — Power, poise, balance, a good bench and luck.

The Phoenix Suns agree that Seattle has all those ingredients and that's why the SuperSonics are in the National Basketball Association finals — and not the Suns.

"It just shows you it takes more than one or two men to make a basketball team. If you have 11 men playing in harmony, you can be successful," said a happy Seattle forward John Johnson after the Sonics edged the Suns 114-110 Thursday night to win their second straight Western Conference title.

The triumph gave the Sonics a 4-3 edge in the best-of-seven series and sends them into the NBA final series against the winner of tonight's Eastern Conference championship game between the defending champion Washington Bullets and the San Antonio Spurs.

In their first appearance in the championship finals last season, the Sonics lost to the Bullets in seven games.

It took a pair of Jack Sikma free throws with two seconds remaining Thursday night to preserve Seattle's win in the rugged and emotional series finale before a Kingdom crowd of 37,552 — the second biggest in NBA playoff history.

"Wow, what a nightmare that would have been if we lost it," said Sikma, the Sonics' 6-foot-11, second-year center who finished with a game and career-high 33 points and 11 rebounds.

Sikma was referring to a seemingly insurmountable 100-85 Sonic lead with 6:04 left in the game that dwindled to just two points before it was over.

An 8-0 Suns run cut

Seattle's lead to 105-101 with 2:07 to play. Dennis Johnson followed with seven straight free throws for a 112-104 Sonic cushion with just 20 seconds left.

Walter Davis hit a basket for Phoenix and then stole the ball from Sonic reserve Joe Hassett and fed Paul Westphal for a jumper with eight seconds left. Another Seattle reserve, Wally Walker, lost the next possession, again to Davis. Westphal scored again to cut the lead to two points and was fouled by Walker.

Westphal had two chances to make one shot. He intentionally banged his first shot off the backboard, and then missed the second again on purpose hoping a Sun player would grab the rebound. But Sikma came up with the carom and was fouled by Don Buse.

Sikma, with three chances to make two shots, missed the first but sank the other two.

"You're still in the ball game until the game is over," said Phoenix Coach John MacLeod. "The free throw situation was to hit the backboard, then hit the rim on the second one and hope we could get it back and make a shot."

"Our options were very limited. Seattle played well, you have to give them credit," said MacLeod, who last coached the Sun into the NBA finals in 1976 when they lost to Boston.

"They're strong, physical, have good balance and their center can score."

One of the tell-tale signs in the series, rebounding, again went to the Sonics, this time 48-33.

"I think power has prevailed," said Phoenix center Alvan Adams, who returned to the lineup

Black - Gold spring game tonight

When the Big Spring Steers divide tonight for the annual Black and Gold spring game, Head Coach Ron Logback will just be an interested observer.

Logback split the coaching staff into two groups earlier in the week. The two sides then staged a one on one draft for the talent in the Steer camp, with alternating choices. He is hoping that the staff divided the squad equally, but in an affair of this kind nobody knows for sure until the action begins.

The reason for the coaching split is to let the assistants take a more active part in running their own game plans. Logback feels that the team has accomplished everything that they set out to do at the beginning of spring drills, and wants to know how they will perform in a game type situation. "We need to look good," Logback stated yesterday, "but we are awfully thing after dividing our squad into two teams. Effort is the main thing in this game."

This year's version of the Bovines appears to be smaller than last year's squad, but much quicker. For this reason, the team has implemented the Houston Veer into their attack. Logback expects the team to use this version of an offense about 75 per cent of the team, with drop back passes and power sweeps also being put into effect. Speaking of the offense, Logback stated,

"We are trying to become a total option football team, both passing and running. We have also put a drop back passing game into the plan, something that we did not have time to do last year."

Tonight's affair will be somewhat long, lasting eight quarters. The first unit's will battle in a normal 12 minute quarter, then the remaining stanzas will be run in 12 minute segments in which the clock will not stop. In this way, team members will have a chance to catch their wind between series.

The Steers have gone through the spring relatively free from injuries. Eugene Kayser, a junior to be, suffered a knee injury and had to undergo the knife.

The game will be held in Memorial Stadium, with proceeds probably going to the Booster Club in order to help pay for the debt incurred by last night's All-Sports Banquet. This will be the final chance for local fans to see the team in an organized fashion before they begin playing next fall.

Canadiens dump Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Rangers, wandering a championship desert for 39 years, hoped Madison Square Garden would be their oasis. They would feast on the cheers of the home fans and quench their thirst with a tie-breaking victory in Game Three of the National Hockey League's playoff final.

Instead, the Montreal Canadiens allowed them one tasteless bite of dried bread. They chopped down the Rangers' shade; they shot four bullets into New York's canteen, winning a 4-1 game that wasn't that close and taking a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series which continues here Saturday.

How expensive was the draw?

Without much of a choice, Kramer played. It was one of the guttiest efforts that I've ever seen. But even though he threw for nearly 300 yards and three scores, the zip that he lost in the shoulder separation allowed TCU to intercept five passes, the final in the Horned Frog end zone to stop a go ahead Rice drive. TCU won, 28-21. For most members of the team, it was probably, the most embarrassing loss of our lives. With Reed there, however, the outcome would have been different. But his patience lasted one week too short.

The final game was a meaningless contest versus Baylor. Neither team was faring that well, and both squads played as if they were more concerned with the season ending parties that would take place after the game.

Reed was healthy, and Kramer was in no condition to play. But Conover, a proud man, would not allow a performer to walk out on him one week and then have a chance to redeem himself the next.

Much to the chagrin of the team, Kramer played the contest to its entirety. It was totally unnecessary and unwise to risk such a talent in a needless situation, but that is what occurred.

Early in the fourth stanza, a vocal group of Rice supporters began to chant "We want Reed, we want Reed." It was the senior classified Reed's last game, but Conover would not send him in. He finally acknowledged the chant by making an obscene gesture to the crowd. Conover was humiliated, but so were Reed and the injured Kramer.

In less than a month, Conover resigned for what he called a business offer too good to refuse. It most definitely was, and was originated by some very unhappy alumni.

Homer Rice was hired as the new head coach at Rice. He was a passing genius, and Kramer made them both look great.

Kramer had no serious competition this time around, and it seemed to help his performance. TK had a marvelous senior season, leading the nation in total offense, passing and completions per game. To top it off, Kramer was named a Consensus All-American, and justified it by winning a car for his MVP effort in the Senior Bowl game.

In the following May draft, the Minnesota Vikings drafted him in the first round. Bud Grant explained to TK on draft day that he was picked with the thought of being the person groomed to replace Tarkenton upon his retirement. Kramer was flattered, but still felt deserving.

Kramer signed a lucrative three-year contract. He received a substantial bonus, a base salary for his first three years, plus numerous incentive clauses. Included in the clauses are his performance in moving the Vikings offensively, passing stats, etc. One clause has a certain amount for each start in this three year period. I won't reveal the amount, but if he were to start every game in 1979, it will be in excess of seventy five thousand dollars. His pact could fluctuate between $240,000 to $550,000 over the three-year period.

Meanwhile, Claude Reed, the QB that battled Kramer so evenly before the card draw, has shifted from job to job. He married, and at one time last year had to moonlight to make ends meet.

After his senior season, Reed was naturally not picked in the draft. He tried to get into a pro camp as a free agent, but his limited amount of playing time, plus the fact that he was considered a troublemaker for his act before the TCU game made all of the teams turn him away.

In Houston last year, another former Rice grinner and myself were in a Nautilus fitness center, and as we began our workout we met Reed. He joined us.

Between workout stations, Reed, massaging his throwing arm, asked me: "Hey, Scott, you still got it?"

"Got what?" I questioned, almost afraid to ask if it were something I shouldn't have.

"You know, you think you could still play?"

"Yeah, sure, I guess," I replied. "And you?"

Lifting his arm and extending it in a throwing motion, Reed smiled and said: "Yeah. You know, Scott, once you have it you never lose it. Man, I was watching Kramer on TV a couple of days ago playing, and..." His voice trailed off, as if to wonder what might have been.

There is no doubt that Tommy Kramer, with or without the card draw, is a most talented quarterback. He would have made it in the NFL whether he won the draw or not.

But what about Reed. If he had drawn a higher card on that Friday afternoon, he might still be playing. Or if the tempo of the Houston game the following night been different, so might Reed's career. No one will ever know, but it makes me wonder about fate. Some people can overcome it, but sometimes...

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Phillies 23, Cubs 22

They say you can never score enough runs in Wrigley Field, and no one knows it better today than the Chicago Cubs.

"It's unbelievable," said a weary but happy Mike Schmidt after leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a hit-happy 23-22 victory over the Cubs in a 10-inning game that tied a major league home run record. "I don't even know what the final score is — honest, I don't."

Schmidt's two homers — including the game-winning blast in the 10th — were among 11 that soared out of Chicago's notorious hitter's paradise, tying a record held by many teams.

The total of 45 runs was four shy of the major league mark of 49, ironically set by Philadelphia and Chicago on Aug. 25, 1922. Chicago won that game 26-23.

In addition, the 49 hits through the first nine innings were two shy of the major league record for hits in a regulation game by two teams. The Phillies and Cubs collected a total of 50 hits in the game, two short of the National League mark for extra innings and eight shy of the major league mark.

"After we scored seven runs in the first inning I looked over to Mick Kelleher and told him this thing could end 20-20 because we both wear a number 20," Schmidt said, grinning. "Sure, I'm tired but it's nice to be on the winning end. You have to give them credit for not giving up."

The Cubs were losing by 12 runs at one point, at 21-9, and had they come back to win, they would have broken the record for the greatest comeback in major league history.

Giants 3, Astros 0

Ed Halicki hurled a two-hitter and Larry Herndon keyed a three-run seventh inning with an RBI triple as San Francisco beat Houston.

Halicki, 4-3, walked five and did not strike out a batter as the Giants won for the fifth time in their last six games. Halicki allowed only singles by Cesar Cedeño in the fourth inning and Enos Cabell in the ninth.

Birdwell, Evans highlight BSHS All-Sports Banquet

Kathy Birdwell and Mike Evans won top honors Thursday night in the annual Big Spring High School All-Sports Banquet.

Birdwell, who will attend Tulane University next fall on a volleyball scholarship, won the Wanda Ferguson Award for the outstanding female athlete. Evans, a three-sport letterman, won the Obie Bristow Award as the top all-around male athlete.

Each varsity coach for both boys and girls presented their teams and awards for the outstanding player in each sport.

Ricky Myers won the Gamco Industries Award as the top baseball player, while Kevin McLaughlin won the Coaches Award presented by baseball boss Tommy Collins.

Coach Joe Allen presented All-District performer Peggy Calhoun the Perco Award as the outstanding girls basketball player. Candy Walker was presented the Coaches Award in this sport.

Mark Poss, an All-District 5-AAAA performer, was presented the Parks and Company Award for the outstanding basketball player at BSHS. James Magers won the Coaches Award presented by Collins for his tenacious defensive play the past year.

Girls' Coach Howard

Stewart presented Jackie Roach with the First National Bank Award as the top female golfer, while boys' Coach John Stiles presented Larry Bloskas the First National Bank Award as the best golfer on the boy's squad.

Harlen Smith, BSHS swimming coach, presented Cathy Miller the Cleveland Athletics Award as the best female swimmer, and awarded Morgan Wise the Cleveland Award as the top male swimmer. Wise was fourth in the region the past year.

Wendell Sadler, tennis coach, presented the Newcomer Award to Dawn Estes and Kip McLaughlin, and the Coaches Award to Brent Pearce.

Sadler then presented the Security State Award for the outstanding female tennis player to Mary Catherine Matthews, and the State National Award for the best male tennis player to Barry Fish.

Girl's Track Coach Barbara Moffett presented the Walker Auto Parts Award for the best trackster to freshman star Carla Jackson, who was superb in the District 5-AAAA meet, compiling 36 points.

Selena Harris, who finished a most successful season with a sixth place finish in the state long jump, was presented the Coaches Award by Moffett.

Boys' Track Coach Bill Bloskas presented the track and cross-country squads. He awarded Robert Evans the outstanding thin clad honor in the R&R Theatres Award, and also recognized the school record setting mile relay quartet and the cross country efforts of Dirk Davis.

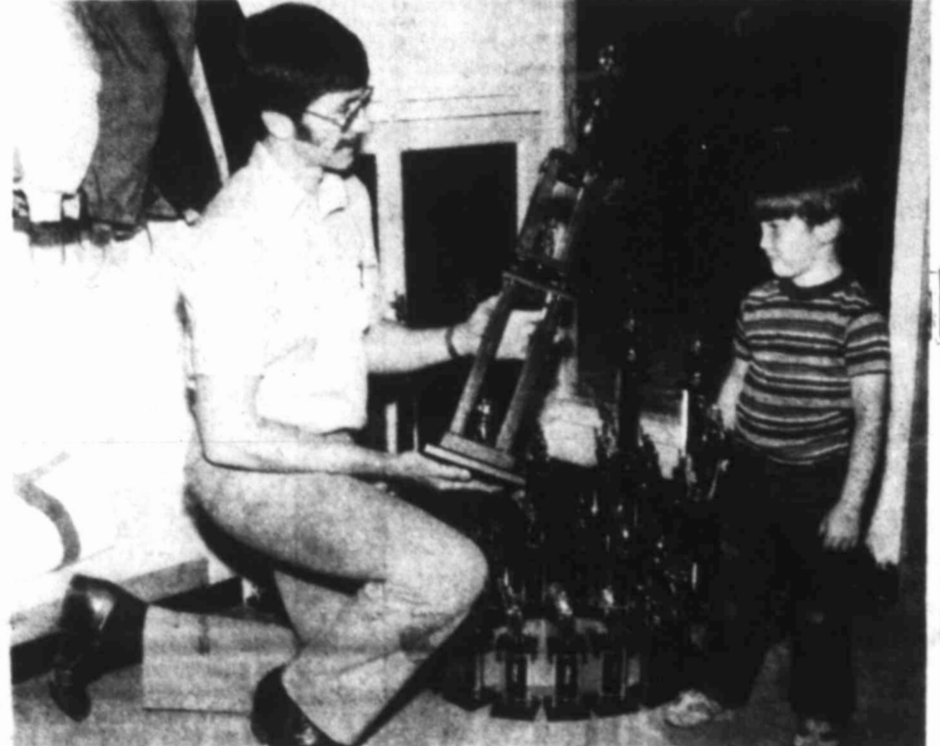

Moffett also presented the girls cross country team, and awarded Donna Dilberto for her outstanding efforts.

Birdwell and Evans were awarded the Fellowship of Christian Athletes Award by former FCA leader Bubba Strippling. Strippling is now a student at Texas A & M University.

The guest speaker for the occasion, the Reverend Greg Ricky of the Church of the Nazarene, challenged the audience to achieve greatness.

He stressed the aspects of seeking the potentiality of what God has given and using it to capacity, to learn to be disciplined from athletics and unity.

Ricky concluded his talk by challenging the athletes to learn to strive for greatness through unity. He stated that it is very easy to be ordinary, but to be great demands a person to pay the price.

Bullets, Spurs in rubber match

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — San Antonio's George Gervin, two-time NBA scoring champ, doesn't think the Washington Bullets defense caused him to have a bad night in their last meeting.

"Nobody stopped nobody," Gervin said. "We couldn't put it in the hole. It was one of those nights when my shots weren't coming. Sometimes I'll put them up and sometimes I won't."

Gervin scored only 20 points, low for him, and took only 23 shots, about 10 below his average. Wednesday night as the Spurs bowed to the Bullets 106-100 to tie the best-of-seven series at 3-3 and set up tonight's deciding game of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference finals.

After Gervin scored 42 points, including 20 in the third quarter, to spark the Spurs to a 118-102 romp in the fourth game which gave San Antonio a 3-1 series edge, Bullets Coach Dick Motta switched defensive assignments.

He put Kevin Grevey on Gervin in the last two games and Gervin has been limited to 48 points, seven below his season average.

"I believe I can play good defense," said Grevey, who is more known for his shooting. "Just because I'm a shooter, I don't get credit for it. I have the ability to play good defense."

Spectacular Bid confident for tomorrow's Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — On an outside wall at one end of Barn E at Pimlico is a blackboard labeled "Spectacular News" on which are scrawled notes about Kentucky Derby winner Spectacular Bid.

The notes on the board contain routine news. The spectacular news would be the feat of Spectacular Bid in Saturday's 104th Preakness.

"I think all of you are about as confident as I am," trainer Bud Delp, who is very confident, told a group of reporters before entering Bid for the 13-16-mile Preakness. The Bid will meet four other 3-year-olds, all of whom he beat in the 1 1/4-mile Derby and all of whom will be carrying 126 pounds.

It's hard not to be confident about the colt who has won 11 straight races, all stakes; who has won 13 of 15 starts and $958,287; who has raced at 12 different tracks and won at 10 of them; whose running style is one of versatility.

"He (Spectacular Bid) comes from all over the place," said LeRoy Jolley, trainer of General Assembly, who finished second, 2 1/4 lengths behind Bid in the Derby. "He runs from everywhere, he constantly changes his style."

Thompson leads Colonial

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A delightfully hedonistic Lee Trevino, suggesting there is no tomorrow, set out today to erase a one-shot deficit in defense of his Colonial National Invitational golf title.

If necessary, said Trevino, he would putt with a banana. Trevino's 4-under-par 66 trailed Leonard Thompson by a stroke Thursday as the tricky cross winds failed to command their normal toll on the roserimmed Trinity River course. An astounding 23 golfers bettered Colonial's par-70, and 16 others matched it on a sunny afternoon in which Trevino reeled off four straight birdies to tie Bruce Lietzke for second.

"It's unbelievable 'how crazy I am,'" confessed Trevino, admitting that he pounded himself out a new putter in a midnight workshop session at his home across the Trinity River in Dallas.

"Tomorrow, I might come out here with a banana and putt with it... golf will drive you crazy, I'll tell you. But I love it."

TAMBURITZANS

Highly talented folk artists will perform

The Tamburitza University will present their current concert production at the Civic Auditorium Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

The Tamburitza will appear here under the sponsorship of the Community Concert Association.

Each year the Tamburitza present an entirely new concert portraying the culture of the Slavic peoples of the world. The professional credits of Pittsburgh's collegiate performers extend over the United States, Canada, Europe and Latin America.

Serving as good will ambassadors for the U.S. State Department and occasionally upon invitation by foreign governments, the Tamburitza have made extended tours of Europe in 1950 and 1952, the Yugoslavia and Italy in 1962, Latin America in the summer of 1968 and Romania, Poland and the Soviet Union during the summer of 1969. Their most recent tour took place in the summer of 1972 when they made a nine week, four country tour of Czechoslovakia, France, Greece and Bulgaria.

This group of highly talented folk artists dedicated to the preservation of Slavic folk culture take their name from the musical instrument they play — the "tamburita." Using over 500 authentic costumes in each concert the Tamburitza sing in a dozen different European languages and do the dances of as many countries. The performances is an exciting spectacle of music, color and dance.

Each Tamburitan is a full-time student at Duquesne University and receives a complete scholarship in exchange for participation in the troupe. Candidates are chosen on the basis of academic achievement and proficiency as singers, dancers or instrumentalists.

Anyone not a member of the Community Concert Association will be entitled to attend the concert Saturday night by purchasing membership for next year. Memberships are $12 for adults and $6 for students.

Four concerts will be presented in Big Spring and four in Midland.

Cow Belles plan for upcoming fair

Furr's Cafeteria was the site for a meeting of the Texas Cow Belles May 8.

President Bobbie Nix called the meeting to order and plans were finalized for the "Beef for Father's Day" campaign.

A contest for King for a Day will be held with the winners receiving a beef gift certificate. More information will be available at a later date.

Members discussed plans for the upcoming fall fair. Appointed chairwomen were Mrs. Sandra Hart and Mrs. Theresa Sterling. They will gather theme material. Final arrangements will be made later.

The members were urged to remind people that brand napkins are still available.

Mrs. Mays receives appreciation gift

The Rosebud How to Grow Garden Club met May 8 at 12:30 p.m. at the historical big spring for a picnic lunch, business session, officer installation and tour of the area surrounding the spring.

Mrs. Floyd Mays conducted the tour naming and pointing out different varieties of wild flowers and birds.

Mrs. O.S. Womack presented Mrs. Mays a gift of appreciation for the many interesting programs she has given to the club.

Mrs. Guilford Jones presided over old business and a report was given by Mrs. Womack as a delegate to Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. which was held in Odessa April 3-6. The Rosebud How to Grow Garden Club won first place on its spreadsheet report sent to state by Mrs. Jones. The club also won second place for the green yearbook at state.

The council report of the April meeting was presented by Mrs. Womack. The Council of Garden Clubs voted to have a container and hanging basket display at a booth in the County Fair, Fall of 1979.

At the Thursday meeting of the council, Mrs. Cass Hill, Planters Garden Club, was installed as president. Out-going president was Mrs. L. B. Edwards, Big Spring Garden Club.

Six flowering shrubs will be planted near the club house by council members.

Members of the How to Grow Garden Clubs are asking for donations to go toward the purchase of an African Violet Terrarium as a money-making project through May at $1 each per donation. A drawing will be held June 10 and the winner does not have to be present.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Rosebud How to Grow Club or contact Mrs. Joel Carter, 263-2890; Mrs. Jimmy Welch, 263-3624 or Mrs. Womack at 267-5126.

All proceeds will be used to plant threes, shrubs and flowers around the Dora Roberts Community Center as well as for the Litter and Beautification Projects for the City of Big Spring.

Proceeds will also go toward therapy projects for nursing homes. The terrarium will be on display at the Final Touch.

New officers installed by Mrs. Womack were Mrs. Carl Johansen, president; Mrs. Richard L. Terry, vice president; Mrs. James D. Johnston, secretary-publicity; Mrs. Jones, parliamentary; and Mrs. Womack, advisory.

How to determine ideal body weight

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I think I'm overweight. I'm 17, 5-foot-2 and weigh 120 pounds. My mom keeps telling me that I look good. How much should I really weigh? — Clara, York, Pa.

Clara: It would be very difficult to say if you are overweight but here is a rule of thumb.

First, determine your ideal body weight. Males should be 106 for the first five feet in height and six pounds for each inch after that.

Females are allowed 100 pounds for the first five feet and five pounds for each inch over that. That is for a medium frame. For a large frame, add 10 percent — for small frames, subtract 10 percent.

A person is overweight who is 20 pounds above the ideal body weight. Twenty percent above that is considered obese.

Dr. Wallace: My boyfriend and I have just broken up after four years of dating. I am a senior in high school and he is a freshman in college.

We parted because we felt we would be hindering each other socially.

Next year I will be attending college but not the same one he is. We still love each other and have talked about getting married after we graduate.

My question is do you think it is possible to get back together and marry? — Sally, Delphos, Ohio

Sally: Of course it is possible to get back together, but the longer it takes and the more people you both date, the tougher it is going to be.

It is more painful to have someone be indifferent to you than to hate you.

Virgin in Mind If Not in Body

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old high school junior. A year ago I was raped on my way to school. I believe I have dealt with the situation very well, but my problem is this: Am I still considered a virgin?

I realize that technically and physically I probably am not, but since this was done without my consent and cooperation, in another way of looking at it I'm still a virgin. (I never "gave" myself to anyone. My virginity was taken from me.) This question has bothered me a lot and I hope you can give me an answer since I respect your opinion very much. I am signing my real name, but if you print this, please sign it.

WONDERING: Putting the physical and technical aspects aside, you are as virtuous as a virgin. And you certainly may consider yourself virginal.

DEAR ABBY: I was born and raised here in this small town, so I know nearly everyone and they know me. My problem: I get an invitation to every graduation, wedding, baby shower, tea and luncheon in town. Just name the occasion that calls for a gift, and I get my notice.

Abby, I am not cheap, and I don't mind sending gifts to my friends. But how about all these acquaintances?

Right now I am swamped with "invitations." I have a good name in town and don't want to ruin it. But I refuse to be a sucker to people I hardly know. What is your advice?

NO MILLIONAIRE: DEAR NO: Every announcement and invitation is not necessarily a big broad hint for a gift. The best rule to follow is: If you would derive real pleasure out of sending a gift, send one. If you don't feel close enough to send a gift, send a card. If you feel like a "sucker," forget it.

Kindergarteners enter 200 medical posters

Show biz broke the hospital routine at Malone-Hogan Hospital May 8 and 9 with such tempo that the employee cast staged a cast party following the two-day run of their skit for Kindergarteners, "Let's Play T & A."

"It was fun," Jean Connelly, R.N., director of the skit said Wednesday, as the group relaxed in the classroom, looking over the posters that the kindergarteners had brought to the hospital.

The posters, she explained, are entries in a contest sponsored by the hospital volunteers, and the winners will be announced Sunday, Dr. P.W. Malone Day, first, second and third prizes of $50, $30, and $20 will be given to the school whose student is judged one of the 3 winners.

Over 200 posters were entered. For the past week, these posters have been displayed in over 90 business places downtown and in the shopping centers. They will be brought back to the hospital for a special showing on Sunday.

The theme for the poster contest was built around a child's interpretation of medical terms. The children chose the word, and then painted a descriptive poster explaining his or her understanding of it.

"Parents of these kindergarteners can relax... Big Spring kindergartener teachers are laying a good foundation in the arts, as well as the basics," Volunteer president Zoe Gibbs said. She added that the poster chairwoman Helen Ebling had been asked that some of the posters be framed to hang in departments around the hospital. "But we'll have to ask permission of the students. After all, this is real creativity, and as such, really belongs to the artist," she said.

Dr. Malone will announce the winners at a reception at 2 p.m. Sunday, in the hospital cafeteria. The winners will receive their winning posters framed, as a memento of the event.

The public is invited to see all posters, which will be displayed in the south walkway between the hospital and clinic from 2 to 5 p.m. this afternoon.

ART INTERPRETS MEDICAL TERMS — Operating room supervisor Carmen Phillips and director of nurses Jean Connelly, each hold one of the posters entered in Malone-Hogan Hospital's "The Child's Medical Dictionary" contest. The posters were judged by pediatricians Dr. Ray Owen and Dr. Marc Schwarz of Malone-Hogan Clinic and their wives.

TORNADO TRAUMA VICTIM — Since the April 10 tornado in Wichita Falls, owners of a Phillip's 66 gas station claim this boat-tailed grackle has spent much of its day at the station admiring his mirrored reflection in the shiny chrome pumps. The bird hops around the chrome-lined center of the pumps squawking happily as he catches different angles of his feathered profile. They say the grackle shows up each morning shortly after daybreak and continues his antics periodically throughout the day. He also might be protesting the gasoline situation.

Stranger keeps residents hoping

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — George Washington once slept here, but he might find it harder nowadays. A strange something is at large, wailing or screaming nightly a mile from the ancestral home of the Father of His Country.

For nine noisy months, the mystery creature has haunted a patch of woods surrounded by 150,000 homes near Mount Vernon, wrecking the peace and defying spotting and identification.

Local teen-agers have caught its act on tape. It goes something like: "oohkrah-ah," or "eevekgoo-ah," or even "aaooohauoa-ah-oo."

The Mount Vernon Monster, some call it. Others, Bigfoot. More guesses: hoot owls, loud frogs, a radio with a stuck button, wild boars, a prankster with a bullhorn, the ghost of George Washington, the ghost of George Washington's pigs.

"One person suggested a peacock," said George Stickman, Fairfax County game warden, who has ruled out bears, bobcats and other fauna found in the vicinity.

The peacock theory may not be too exotic. Experts at the nearby Mason Neck Wildlife Refuge said peafowl are often kept as yard pets in the South. One could have flown the coop and fluttered to Mount Vernon.

"They have a loud, penetrating cry, almost like a scream," said John Aldrich, a retired Fish and Wildlife researcher.

Mike Morgan of the National Zoo said the birds used to escape frequently when allowed to roam the grounds.

Whatever it may be, the creature is elusive as well as vocal. It has foiled police watches, flyovers by a U.S. Park Police helicopter, volunteer youth patrols and the determined efforts of warden Stickman.

"The thing seems to know when you leave the woods. Then it starts to holler," said Stickman, who staged a fruitless overnight vigil to catch the interloper.

Meanwhile, residents continue to discuss the problem at get-togethers, playing tapes and advancing theories.

Air Force declares two pilots dead

ALAMOGORDO (AP) — The Air Force has officially declared dead two fighter pilots who vanished last month during a training exercise over southern New Mexico.

A Pentagon spokesman in Washington, D.C., confirmed Thursday that the families of the pilots, missing since April 12, were told the men are "presumed dead."

The pilots were identified as Capt. Thomas Pollock, 36, of Caldwell, Idaho, and Capt. Michael Humphries, 29, of Dallas, Texas.

The two and their F-5 jets disappeared while taking part in a routine exercise at Holloman Air Force Base near Alamogordo. Both were members of the 57th Tactical Training Wing, based at Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas, Nev.

A Holloman spokesman said intensive air and ground search operations were suspended indefinitely three weeks ago with no trace of the missing men.

"We're just hoping someone comes up with some leads, either campers, hunters, fishermen, or something like that," said Maj. Vern Spohn. "Or someone may spot something from the air that we missed although that's highly unlikely. We combed that area over and over."

The air search covered a 32,000-square-mile area of southcentral New Mexico in which it is believed the planes might have gone down.

Cuban president visits Mexico

Castro blasts United States

COZUMEL, Mexico (AP) — Fidel Castro, visiting Mexico to "tighten the bonds of friendship," blasted the United States for its treatment of illegal Mexican immigrants and praised his host, President Jose Lopez Portillo, for refusing to tailor his oil policy to suit Washington.

The Cuban president said the unemployment that sends Mexicans across the U.S.-Mexican border in search of work is the result of the bitter and inevitable mutilation of the national territory and the underdevelopment imposed by the force, the arrogance and the domination of the United States in the past.

Cuba supports the demands of the Mexicans for "just, civilized and humane treatment in the United States," Castro said in a toast Thursday following his arrival on this resort island off the Yucatan coast for his first visit to Mexico since his exile here 23 years ago.

Turning to the recent discovery of vast new oil reserves in southern Mexico, he told Lopez Portillo: "We are pleased...you have clearly expressed that you do not propose to view Mexico's oil development as a part of North American oil needs but as an instrument for the development of your own country."

The Mexican leader in his toast to his visitor said that oil was one of the chief topics discussed at their first conference Thursday. There was continuing speculation that they would arrange to replace some of Cuba's oil imports from the Soviet Union with Mexican oil. But Lopez Portillo indicated the emphasis was on oil policy in general.

He said Mexico views its oil as "a vehicle to achieve peace, harmony and progress." He reviewed his proposal for a United Nations meeting in September to work out a global energy plan and said it was needed by "all poor countries who, cornered by the powerful, seek rules for reciprocal and committed order."

Castro on his arrival said he came to "tighten the bonds of friendship," not "to solicit anything material or to ask for oil or gas."

However, he was expected to discuss the possibility of increasing Cuba's exports of rum, cigars and nickel to reduce Cuba's unfavorable balance of trade with Mexico. It was $20 million last year.

Before the two presidents conclude their talks this afternoon, Castro was to do some sightseeing in the air, on land and under the water.

Mass meditation planned to keep Skylab in orbit

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — In an attempt to prove that mind can prevail over matter — not to mention the force of gravity — a group of psychokinesis adherents is planning a mass meditation to keep Skylab from falling.

An official with Florida radio station participating in the project says he hopes millions of people participate.

The mass meditation, scheduled to begin May 25 at 1 p.m. EDT, is designed to prove psychokinesis works and to keep the 85-ton satellite from plunging to Earth and causing "a lot of damage," says Chris Kilham, spokesman for the Brookline Psychoenergetics Institute, which is organizing the event.

Psychokinesis is the ability, its advocates say, to move physical objects through mental processes. "Our experiment is to see if the powers of the mind are strong enough to raise Skylab in its orbit," said Kilham. "This is a bona fide scientific experiment."

"We want people to visualize Skylab in their minds and then visualize sending their mental energy up to it and see that mental energy put it (Skylab) into a higher orbit," said Kilham.

To bolster the meditation effort, the institute enlisted help from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., radio station WFTL-AM, which is hooking up a "meditation" broadcast with at least 40 other stations across the country.

In Houston, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration seemed to take a skeptical view of the project, though he didn't seem to mind.

"I hope they can help us out," said spokesman Charles Harlan. He added, however, that the discipline of psychokinesis "is not part of our approach to science."

On the other hand, WFTL program director Mike Harvey is taking the event very seriously and has gotten psychics Uri Geller and Page Bryant to lead the meditation.

Skylab, sent aloft May 14, 1973, is expected to fall to Earth in hundreds of pieces around July 2, according to the latest NASA estimate.

NASA says most of the satellite's pieces will burn up during their plunge through the atmosphere, but about 400 will reach Earth along a path 4,000 miles long and 100 miles wide.

Scientists originally hoped to keep the space station orbiting until the early 1980s, but unanticipated atmospheric turbulence caused by solar activity increased its "drag," pulling it toward Earth sooner.

Harvey said the British Broadcasting Corp. and the Australian Broadcasting Co. have expressed interest in linking up with his station's program.

"It started as a 'tongue-and-cheek promotion,'" said Harvey, "but there have been some very respectable people who have told us that with this many people participating, anything could happen."

"It appears there will be literally millions of people participating in this," he added.
