At Dora Roberts Rehab Center

No shortage of courage, love

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a seven-part series on some special people who receive help in a variety of forms from the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

By CARLA WALKER

With help from the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Michael, who would barely scoot on his belly at 20 months, is learning to walk with braces.

Ginger's two doctors wouldn't refer her to the DRRC, so her parents, Roger and Mary Atkinson took her to a Midland doctor to get the referral. Cerebral Palsy, resulting from the umbilical cord wrapping around her neck at birth and restricting blood supply to her brain, had limited the amount of motor control she had over her muscles.

"The doctors here didn't think even therapy could help Ginger, but we wanted to at least try," said Mrs. Atkinson. "She was 22 months old, still very wobbly when she sat up, and using only her arms to crawl. She started at the Rehab, and was walking at two years old—only two months after she began therapy."

That was over five years ago, and Ginger is now walking, running and loving her first grade class at Jack and Jill.

Michael, at almost three years, is beginning to walk "with his arms."

"The brace holds Michael's lower body straight and allows him to walk with the crutches, pulling his legs forward with his upper torso," said Michael's therapist, Kaki Morton.

Michael was born with Spina Bifida, or "open spine" as it is frequently termed.

It was only after he started treatment at the DRRC that Michael began to use his legs at all.

"Kaki showed us what to do, and Angela (Michael's older sister) and I would work at home," said Michael's mother, Mrs. J.E. (Rhonda) Bissent. "I'd hold his seat up, and Angela would crawl beside him so he could try to imitate her."

Michael learned to crawl that way, and soon afterward, was fitted with the long leg braces.

"This is better than we could ever have hoped," said Mrs. Bissent. "Michael was very wobbly when he sat alone before he started coming here; it's wonderful to see him walking now."

For Ginger, walking is also a part of therapy, but what she works toward is a smoother gait, stronger muscles and better balance.

In addition to the physical therapy, Ginger is taking speech therapy with

Voice vote speeds bill to Senate

More money for county roads

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — House members voted Saturday in favor of letting Texas counties have an additional $9 million to $18 million from motor vehicle registration fees for road construction and maintenance.

The voice vote sent the bill to the Senate.

Efforts by Rep. Buck Florence, D-Hughes Springs, to increase the amount failed.

The bill by Rep. Lee Jackson, R-Dallas, would replace the county road grant program with a new funding system, based on the motor vehicle registration fees collected by county clerks.

The current limit of $175,000 a year that a county can retain from the fees would remain in effect through 1980. In 1981 the maximum would be increased to all of the first $200,000 collected plus one-half percent of subsequent fees. Later the limit would gradually increase to the first $300,000, plus one percent of additional fees in 1985 and future years.

The funds could be used only for road construction and maintenance.

The loss to the state would have to be made up from general revenues.

In another action Saturday, the House debated but put off a decision on a bill to remove the authority of county commissioners to act as a county board of tax equalization.

Action was postponed until Monday after protests from Rep. John Wilson, D-LaGrange and others. They said it was unfair to elected county officials to make them ineligible.

Rep. Robert Bush, D-Sherman, said the bill followed a proposed constitutional amendment already approved by the House and Senate. If approved by voters in 1980 setting up single countywide appraisal of property, and making county commissioner ineligible for boards of equalization.

The House also approved Saturday a new list of state holidays that allows one personal holiday to state employees in addition to 13 official state-wide days off. It makes June 19, Emancipation Day, an official holiday. It also lumps the Abraham Lincoln and George Washington birthdays on the same day and celebrates Lyndon B. Johnson's birthday on Labor day. The bill goes to the Senate.

Another bill sent to the Senate would allow the governor to approve, on recommendation of state prison officials, a furlough for any worthwhile purpose for prison inmates. Currently furloughs are allowed only for illness and deaths of close family members.

The Senate will get to act on a House-approved bill allowing marijuana to be used in treatment of cancer and glaucoma. The use would be under the Department of Health.

Tentative House approval was given, 64-52, to the creation of a University of Texas medical school at Tyler.

State National Bank employees will hold open house today

Officers, directors and employees of the State National Bank, which made its third move recently since opening 70 years ago, will greet the public in an open house in the new structure at 901 Main Street from 2 to 5 p.m., today.

The bank mailed out some invitations but John Currie, bank president, wanted it emphasized that everyone has an invitation to attend and be shown through the new building.

Currie said directors of the bank first started thinking in terms of moving to the new location several years ago, after Malone-Hogan departed the site to relocate near Big Spring State Park.

The structure, in fact, first housed the Malone-Hogan Clinic.

Refreshments will be served to visitors throughout the afternoon.

Included in today's Herald is a special section devoted to the bank and its personnel. Look for it.

'Killer Bees' evade arrest

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Their Senate colleagues chastised them Saturday as "deserters" immorally violating their constitutional oaths.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby called them "fugitives of the law."

But the missing state senators known as the "Killer Bees" say they will remain at their hideout indefinitely to stop passage of a "rigged" 1980 presidential primary measure.

One absentee not with the 11 others reportedly has taken refuge in a Catholic church in San Juan, Texas, some 12 miles from a courthouse where he eluded state troopers Friday. But a priest at the church said Saturday the senator was not there.

The "dutiful" 19 senators — minus some with excused absences — convened briefly Saturday morning and criticized the "fugitives." After dismissing them indefinitely, Hobby questioned the effectiveness of state troopers and Texas Rangers sent to hunt down and arrest the absentees.

"The effort has not been very impressive," the Senate's presiding officer said at 10 a.m., 24-hours after the search. "It's 12 prominent senators of the state they've failed to find."

Sgt. Charlie Russell of the Texas Department of Public Safety said a car linked to Sen. Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg, was found at 1:30 a.m. Saturday parked within a church compound.

Russell said officers were observing the church law of sanctuary and had no plans to enter the church building and adjoining retreat grounds.

Hobby said the car sighted was registered to U.S. District Judge Reynaldo G. Garza of Brownsville "who is supposed to be at the same retreat that Senator Longoria is at."

But Moses Vela, a Harlingen attorney who also attended the retreat, said Longoria was not there.

Other Democratic senators who boycotted a Friday Senate session were:

Chet Brooks of Pasadena, Ron Clower of Garland, Lloyd Doggett of Austin, Gene Jones of Houston, Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio, Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, Bill Patman of Ganado, Carl Parker of Fort Arthur, A.R. "Babe" Schwartz of Galveston, Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi and Bob Vale of San Antonio.

Russell said an estimated 30 troopers and Texas Rangers checked friends, relatives and local hangouts in the member's home districts overnight but found no leads. If arrested, the absentees would not be charged with a criminal violation.

Two absentees phoned separate Capitol news offices after the group issued a joint statement Friday afternoon.

"We will be out for the weekend unless there is some indication that the leadership of the Senate is ready to get down to the people's business," Doggett said.

"The pending business is Senate Bill 1149, which is itself a sham, ... a gimmick way to get up this presidential primary bill," he added.

"We are ready on an instant's notice to return to the productive work of the Senate on all bills, but not for the purpose of carrying out a backroom deal on a so-called preferential presidential primary bill," said Schwartz.

By staying away, the 12 deprive the Senate of its required two-thirds, or 21 members, for a quorum. Unless two

Gospel Sing Night Starlight Special

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce's Starlight Specials will kick off a thirteenth season tonight with a Gospel Sing Night at the City Park Amphitheatre.

The program consists of four gospel singing groups. David Scott is directing it. The program is sponsored by Crestview Baptist Church in conjunction with the church's homecoming. Former members of the church will be in town for meetings throughout the weekend to be held in their honor.

The Crestview choir will present five numbers. Two other groups from the church, the Shepherds 8 and the Complete 7, will also present Gospel pieces. The Complete 7 has recorded two albums and toured throughout West Texas and New Mexico.

A guest group from Dallas will also perform. The group is called the Dennis Irwin Family Singers.

absentees are found, the Senate can do nothing.

The legislative session ends May 29. Unless the state's 1980-81 budget and school finance bills are passed, a special lawmaking session would be needed.

Doggett said two senators promised that the pending bill would not be used as a vehicle to establish a March 1980 presidential primary separate from general party primaries in May.

However, after the bill was approved for debate, Hobby gave the word it would be used in the House to pass the controversial primary proposal, Doggett added.

Critics claim the Hobby-backed measure would allow crossover voting by conservative Democrats eager to vote for former Texas Gov. John Connally in the Republican presidential primary. Democrats then could vote three months later for conservative incumbents.

TEXAS LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR ORDERS SENATORS ARRESTED — Texas' Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, president of the State Senate, reads a newspaper in a deserted senate chamber Saturday. Hobby ordered twelve state senators who boycotted a senate session arrested and brought to the senate chamber. Hobby termed the missing senators "killer bees" and said "these senators are deliberately avoiding duties they were elected to perform."

SLOW AND PAINSTAKING BUT DETERMINED TO IMPROVE HER HANDWRITING
 ...an occupational therapist could be a big help for Ginger

Marcia Wilkerson. "The difference in the Ginger of today and the Ginger that she would have been without the Rehab's help is unimaginable," said Mrs. Atkinson. "She still talks slow, but she is improving and she no longer needs the special shoes she had to wear for awhile."

"She is very independent; she wants to do everything for herself, and Kaki and Marcia are helping her to be able to," said Mrs. Atkinson, who works part-time at the Rehab now.

"Ginger loves to read and just adores school," her mother said with pride. "She is at the top of her class in everything but handwriting."

Work with fine motor skills — like handwriting — is something that an occupational therapist would do with Ginger.

"We are hoping the Center will soon be able to hire an OT," said Mrs. Atkinson. "The OT would help her improve the painstaking way she writes and later, teach her to use a typewriter that she could take to school with her."

"Skills for daily living like opening doors, and things that require fine finger coordination are hard for Ginger to develop," explained the seven-year-old's mother. "That is where an OT would help a lot of kids like Ginger, but the Center just hasn't been able to afford to hire one."

It is hoped that funds will soon be available to provide a number of other services for the patients of the DRRRC, which operates, to a large degree on donations, since most of the patients pay only what they can afford—not what the therapy costs.

There is no shortage of funds to continue the present services, but only to add more. And, above all else, there is no shortage of courage and love.

Imogene Fryar, victim of a stroke which partially paralyzed her, expressed a gratitude for the center common among the patients; without realizing it, she also revealed her own personal courage.

"You can't pretend all is well; you've got to accept it and make the best of the problem," said Mrs. Fryar. "But, it's a lot easier when there is someone who cares, listening and lending a helping hand. I might have given up if not for the Rehab."

State holidays voted

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — House members approved Saturday a new list of state holidays that will celebrate the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington on the same day and force Lyndon B. Johnson to share the same day with Labor Day.

The measure, which goes back to the Senate, would give state employees a personal holiday to be taken at any time in addition to the 13 official holidays. Any statewide election day is a legal holiday also.

It also makes June 19, Emancipation Day, an official state holiday.

Rep. Lance Lalor, D-Houston, said the personal holiday could be used for ethnic holidays or religious observances.

The official state holidays are Jan. 1; Jan. 19, Confederate Heroes Day in honor of Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee and others; the third Monday in February in honor of Lincoln and Washington; March 2, Texas Independence Day; April 21, San Jacinto Day; last Monday in May, Memorial Day; June 19, Emancipation Day; July 4; first Monday in September as Johnson and Labor Day; Oct. 12, Columbus Day; Nov. 11, Veterans Day; fourth Thursday in November, Thanksgiving, and Dec. 25.

United pact hinted

DENVER (AP) — United Airlines and its striking machinists Saturday reached a tentative agreement that would end the longest strike in the history of United, the nation's largest air carrier.

But the tentative pact to end the 50-day-old walkout, which came after 11 days of intensive bargaining here, did not settle the question of how soon United would resume operations.

The airline already has canceled all flights through May 26 and a United spokesman said there were no plans to reschedule any of those flights even if rank-and-file union members ratify the tentative accord before then.

"I don't see it coming that soon," said the spokesman, Don Cannalte. "We haven't made the decision yet" whether to extend flight cancellations beyond May 26, he said.

Roloff 'war' flares

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — The state wants to throw Lester Roloff back into jail and a local grand jury wants to know about an unreported butcher knife attack at one of the evangelist's youth homes.

"I little knew the war was going to break out," Roloff told a Thursday night prayer meeting here after a quick trip to Austin to pay $33,000 he owed the state.

As the "war" flared on two fronts, Roloff preached to his followers about "boldness" and "confidence."

"I just can't find anything to complain about," he told them boldly and confidently.

Roloff's long-simmering feud with the state flared anew last week when Texas Attorney General Mark White filed a civil contempt suit alleging Roloff refused to allow state inspectors into the homes.

Andrews man flips his car

Mickey Seal, 19, Andrews, rolled his late model Subaru at 11:45 p.m. Friday 12 miles west of Big Spring. He was treated and released at Malone-Hogan Hospital with scratches and bruises.

Seal told Highway Patrolman Dean Richardson he went to sleep at the wheel and overcorrected when he found himself in the median. When the car's wheels came back on to the pavement the Subaru rolled on its side and slid. The car then rolled several times across the east bound lanes and the service road coming to rest between the service road and a railroad track.

State GOP leaders elect new chairman

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Chester Upham, elected Saturday as state Republican chairman, hinted that a Democratic Texas congressman may switch to the GOP side in 1980.

Upham, elected without opposition by the State Republican Executive Committee, would not identify the U.S. representative. But he said the switchover likely would occur if the state holds same-day presidential primaries.

Claiming that conservative Democratic congressman are "facing stiff liberal opposition," Upham said running as a Republican might be the answer for candidates depending on conservative voters.

"Texas voters cannot be classed as anything but conservative," Upham said. "The one-day primary will cause many Democrats to come into our party."

Texas Republicans — who have adopted a state party rule calling for a presidential primary to be held on the same day as the regular 1980 party primary — will challenge any separate-day primary law in court, Upham said.

The new state chairman replaced Ray Barnhart, who resigned April 26 following Senate confirmation of his appointment to the Texas Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

Upham, president of the Texas Producers and Royalty Owners Association, was Gov. Bill Clements' choice to succeed Barnhart.

Upham said Clements "never has given me any indication that he would sign a bill" containing a separate-day presidential primary fought by Republicans and liberal Democrats. But he hedged when asked if Clements would definitely veto such a measure.

Upham said he will attempt to head off a party split between the supporters of the presidential bids of John Connally and George Bush.

Registrar at college

Red Lewis is retiring

By TOMMY HART
Registrar L.L. (Red) Lewis, who brought Howard College national recognition and respect as a track and field mentor, is packing it in as a school employee.

When Lewis' decision to retire was formally announced by school president Charley Hays at a board of trustee meeting last week, the popular Lewis was identified as "the best registrar in the entire Southwest."

Accolades are nothing new to the redhead. He did so well as a double-duty football player for Hardin-Simmons University immediately prior to WW II, he was offered a contract with the New York Giants of the NFL. A center on offense and linebacker on defense on Cowboy teams that lost only one game in two seasons, Lewis clocked more combat time than did the immortal Clyde (Bulldog) Turner, who played the same positions.

HSU played such national powerhouses as San Francisco University, Catholic University and Loyola of Los Angeles, among others. HSU officials passed up a Sun Bowl bid during Lewis' second season there, hoping to get a Cotton Bowl offer but Texas Tech went instead.

Lewis, who grew up in Decatur and attended Decatur Baptist College (now Dallas Baptist) before transferring to Hardin-Simmons, performed with such Cowboy greats as Owen last almost four years. He recalls having pulled guard duty at Hemet AFB, armed only with a baseball bat.

Lewis later was transferred to Ellington Field, near Houston, and from there to Kelly AFB in San Antonio where he completed Navigation School. He was commissioned a second lieutenant early in 1942. He transferred to Hondo AFB, Texas, where he was an instructor in navigation for two years. He was moved to San Marcos before he transferred to the Air Transport Command, assigned to Love Field in Dallas. He ferried planes to India, Africa and England.

He was poised to go to Russia to a unit assigned to bomb Japan when the Soviets changed their minds. Ultimately, he was discharged in 1946, at which time he held the rank of major.

Red took a coaching job at Edcouch-Elisa near Edinburg for one year after donning multi again. From there, he went to Decatur Baptist for a coaching and teaching job, remaining five years. He moved to Cisco College, coaching football, basketball and track for three years before he moved here in September 1955 after hiring on as a math teacher at Howard College.

Dr. W.A. (Tony) Hunt, then president of HC, talked Lewis into coaching track in 1967, a job he held until he was promoted to the position of registrar in 1968.

Lewis' track teams won national titles in 1961, 1962, 1963 and 1967. He says the Hawks had probably their best team in 1964, when they lost the crown to Phoenix, Arizona, by two points.

Lewis specialized in coaching crack relay teams, the kind that set enduring national records. Some of his premier athletes here included quartermiler Steve Langham (best in the nation), sprinter A.J. Williams, quarter miler Bruce Teagarden, sprint Terry Williams, hurdlers Tommy Wise and Kenneth Windham, discus throwers Mike Hill and Gary Walker and sprinters Dean Cheatham, Bill Argo, Herman Robinson and Don Carter plus all-around performers like Lynwood Wright, Jimmy Jasper, Robert Lindsey, Joe Tighe, Claude Crouch and John Perry.

At one time, Lewis served as president of the National Junior College Track Association and, with two others, wrote the association's constitution and by-laws. He worked like a beaver the six years Howard College hosted the National JC Track and Field Meet.

Lewis is a member of the Goodnight, Harry Burris, Moon Mullins, Scat Russell, Murray Evans, Dave Parker, Longjohn Treadway, Wilford Moore and Jug Bennett, as well as Turner. Ed Sprinkle was a freshman at the Abilene school when Lewis was a senior.

Lewis graduated from HSU in 1941 and coached at Melvin for a time but Europe's "gathering storm" was looming more ominously. He took his military physical in early June and ultimately went into the Army Air Force in November, shortly before Pearl Harbor was bombed. He was in California when the naval base in Hawaii, detonating a war that was to Texas State Teachers Association, the NEA and the Texas Association of Admissions Officers and Registrars.

A widower with a remarkable talent for building things (he and Dr. Marshall Box once planned and built a house here), Lewis is the father of Sue Tottenham, whose husband, Terry, is a lawyer employed by the Leon Jaworski firm in Houston. An ex-pharmacist, Sue is now concentrating on the job of raising two children, Leslie Jo, age 7, and Dana Elizabeth 4.

Red is keeping his options open for the future. He'd like to visit the Far East again some day, seeing the areas like Japan which once had been badly scarred by war. He's had offers to go into business, with assurances he could set his own pace.

He must be one of the most modest men who ever lived. He's climbed a lot of mountains in his time but one would never know it by talking to him. Would he do it all over again? Could Man O'War run?

Bullets rally by Spurs to advance to NBA finals

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — When the chips were down, Bobby Dandridge knew it was up to him to make the shot that would enable the Washington Bullets to defend their NBA championship against the Seattle SuperSonics.

"It makes you feel good that you are capable of shooting that shot," said Dandridge after the Bullets defeated the San Antonio Spurs 107-105 Friday night to win the best-of-seven Eastern Conference final series 4-3.

"I was working for the best possible shot. I knew they would try to double me if I went back into the center so I just put it up."

Dandridge, the Bullets' high scorer with 37 points, hit a 12-foot jumper from the right base line with just eight seconds left to lift Washington into the championship round against Seattle, the same team the Bullets defeated for the title in seven games a year ago.

The best-of-seven championship series opens Sunday in the Capital Centre, with Game 2 here Thursday. The following two games will be played in Seattle May 27 and May 29.

"It's a shame either team had to lose that thing," said Washington Coach Dick Motta, whose club rallied from a 10-point fourth-quarter deficit. "They played this series good enough to win. This may have been two of my most difficult weeks in basketball."

However, San Antonio Coach Doug Moe, as he did on Wednesday night, blasted the referees, particularly John Vanak.

"We had it and they took it away from us," he said of the referees. "The calls he (Vanak) made stole the game from us. Vanak gave them the game. Calls you just don't make, he was making for them. They took the heart out of us."

Motta said it was tough mentally being down in the series 3-1 and "in the back of your mind you know you're the better basketball team."

In winning, Washington became only the third team in the NBA's 33-year history to overcome a 3-1 deficit to win a seven-game series. The others were Boston in 1968 and Los Angeles in 1970.

Asked about the final Dandridge shot, Motta said, "Bobby had the ball and we told the rest of the guys to get out of the way. It was just what we had been doing all year long."

(AP WIREPHOTO) BULLETS IN VICTORY — Washington Bullets Greg Ballard, 42, holds a blocked San Antonio Spurs basket attempt in the final second of the seventh game of the Eastern Conference Finals at Capital Centre in Landover, Md., Friday giving the Bullets the series. Elvin Hayes, 11, who blocked the basket attempt by Spurs James Silas that would have tied the game runs to meet jumping teammate Tom Henderson. The Bullets won 107-105.

Sonics visit Bullets today

SEATTLE (AP) — Sam Schulman, Seattle's No. 1 basketball fan, is getting another chance to win the world championship that slipped from his SuperSonics' grasp a year ago.

From his courtside seat, Schulman, the Sonics' president and principal owner, experienced the elation of victory and the depression of defeat as Seattle battled the Washington Bullets in the final, frantic moments in Game 7 of last year's National Basketball Association championship series.

acquired from the Knicks as part of the compensation to Seattle for Webster, was moved into Sikma's old spot.

The team regrouped and developed into one of the best in the league.

The high point of the season came Thursday night when the Sonics edged the Phoenix Suns 114-110 to win their second straight Western Conference title and another shot at the world championship.

Several of the Sonics said they were going to be glued to the television set Friday night to watch the Eastern Conference championship game between the Bullets and the San Antonio Spurs, which the Bullets won in the last few seconds, 107-105.

However, San Antonio still had time for another shot. Elvin Hayes, who had 25 points and seven blocked shots, rejected a short jumper by the Spurs' James Silas. The ball went to Larry Kenon but Dandridge stole it as the clock ran out.

"San Antonio usually goes to Silas on the last play, especially when Gervin is hot," said Dandridge, who guarded Gervin the last seven minutes. "I just fronted Gervin and tried to keep the ball away from him."

Gervin, who scored 42 points even though he was shut out in the first quarter, said simply: "It's summertime for me. It's all over. Go talk to the winners."

SWC wins tri-conference meet

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — By the time it was all over, you could count the fans in the vast 80,000-seat Memorial Stadium.

One eagle-eye from the press box said there were 52. Whatever the number of diehard fans left at the end of the unique tri-conference meet Friday night, Cleburne Price's brainstorm fell on some rocky ground.

The track and field meet was competitive as the Southwest Conference surprised the Western Athletic Conference, 198 to 189, with the Southeastern Conference a distance third at 164.

But there were only some 500 fans in Memorial Stadium at the start of the meet. It was final exam week at the University of Texas, and people simply didn't come. The track meet took a red ink bath.

"I'm disappointed," admitted meet director Price who said earlier in the week. "If not the greatest this will be one of the greatest meets ever held in this part of the country."

It would have taken an estimated 4,000 paying fans for the meet to break even because Price paid lodging, meal and travel money to the contestants.

Also, the meet was missing some big names like Auburn sprint king Harvey Glance who decided not to come. Even Rich Edwards of Houston, the SWC 100-meter king, declined to run in his specialty.

The participants, who got watches for first place and travel bags for second, loved the meet.

"I really like the concept of this meet," said Texas-El Paso's Jerome Deal.

Lopez loves the attention

'I've gotten so spoiled'

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Nancy Lopez loves all the attention she gets on the women's golf tour — and dreads the day it might end.

"It's fun when you're winning," she says. "I think about the girls that don't win and that must be tough. I think about the day that might happen to me. People are very important to me. If I'm not winning, I still want the people to ask for my autograph."

Nancy might be the only golfer who gets writer's cramp playing a round of golf.

"I love to sign autographs," she said before the start of today's $100,000 LPGA tournament at the Upper Montclair Country Club. "But it's tough to walk and sign at the same time. My back hurts."

Lopez' meteoric rise to prominence stood the golf world on its ear last summer as the personable 22-year-old reeled off a record-setting five straight victories on her way to nine triumphs in her rookie year. Her omnipresent smile, good looks and obvious talent gave the women's game a much-needed shot in the arm.

"It's hard to understand people making a big deal out of you," Lopez conceded. "I never thought I was a big deal. But I love the attention. When the people stop asking for autographs, then I'll worry."

"I've gotten so spoiled from it, I don't know if I can be a normal person anymore," she laughed. "I think the fans respond a lot easier to me than before — it's like they know me."

Lopez is off to a quick start again this year, capturing three of the seven tournaments she's entered, pocketing $88,475. Goals are not something Nancy sets for herself, although she said — smiling, of course — that it would be nice to be the first woman golfer to break the $200,000 barrier.

It won't be easy, because Lopez, who became Mrs. Tim Melton in January, plans to compete in just 21 tournaments this year.

"Because I have to defend nine titles, it's made it kind of tough for me," she said. "And I want to have children but I don't want to wait 10 years. I feel my marriage is more important but my golf life is pulling me. I'm fighting that right now."

Lopez says she enjoys playing housewife as much as she enjoys playing golf.

"I love being around the house. My husband works from three until midnight and I feel like I have to stay up to meet him. And that's not me. I like to go to bed early and get up early," she said.

Seattle's first appearance in the finals. The Sonics lost the game 105-99, and Schulman had to wonder if his team would ever get that far in the playoffs again.

Seattle's prospects for this season were dimmed last summer, when Marvin Webster, the Sonics' 7-foot-1 center who was a key in the club's race through the playoffs, defected to the New York Knicks.

Then, his replacement, 6-10 second-year pro Tom LaGarde, was lost early this season because of knee surgery.

But Coach Lenny Wilkens moved power forward Jack Sikma to center and 6-8, 245-pound Lonnie Shelton, Seattle plays Game 1 of the NBA final series Sunday on Washington's home court.

The Sonics needed a pair of Sikma free throws with two seconds remaining to beat the Suns Thursday night and win the best-of-seven series 4-3.

Seattle led 100-85 with 6:04 left but the Suns whittled the margin to just two points before it was over. The close finish was partly Wilkens' fault.

Wilkens replaced his front line players with 20 seconds left and a 112-104 lead to accord them an ovation from the Kingdom crowd of 37,552.

Rex Scofield takes Central baseball post

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo Central athletic Director Jimmie Keeling announced the signing of basketball coach Rick Harvey and baseball coach Rex Scofield.

Harvey, an Angelo State graduate, coached with Keeling at Lamar and also served stints at Wylie and Tom Bean.

Scofield coached for nine years in the Big Spring system before joining Keeling's staff at Lamar Consolidated last year. He was an assistant to Tommy Collins in Big Spring, and was the head baseball coach at Lamar the past year. His team won the second half of district play, but lost in the district playoff.

Scofield will assist with the football program.

Tari Ann Moon signs with Hawk Queens

Tari Ann Moon, a 5'9" senior from Tomball High School, has signed a letter of intent to play basketball for the Howard College Hawk Queens.

Moon is the third recruit for Coach Don Stevens this year, joining Jill Floyd of Sands and Kelly Lyons of Safford, Arizona. Stevens was pleased to sign Moon, as she will complement the rebounding of Lyons and the all-around play of Floyd.

"Tari possesses a great shooting touch," Stevens said. "Her enthusiastic play will be contagious as a crowd pleaser. I feel that her contributions will insure another successful season."

Tari Ann was unanimously selected to the All-District Team in both her junior and senior years. She averaged 25 points per game as a junior and 21 this year.

She was also active in the school. Moon was a member of the National Honor Society, as well as being President of the Student Council.

Longhorns dominate All-SWC baseball squad

By The Associated Press

The University of Texas dominated The Associated Press 1979 All-Southwest Conference baseball team much as the NCAA playoff-bound Longhorns did the regular season and the post-season tournament.

The Longhorns, who rolled to a 22-2 regular season mark and swept through the tournament without a loss, were guided flawlessly by Coach Cliff Gustafson, who was named the SWC Coach of the Year.

Texas pitcher Jerry Don Gleaton, who was 6-0 in the regular season with a 0.95 earned run average, was named The Player of the Year.

Arkansas ace Steve Krueger, who was 7-0 with a 1.15 ERA during the SWC season, was named The Newcomer of the Year.

The other pitcher on the three-man staff was Ricky Wright of Texas, who was 5-2 with a 1.26 ERA for the year, just nipping teammate Keith Creel, the All-Tournament MVP.

Ronn Reynolds of Arkansas, who hit .381 with 19 RBIs and three homers, was the All-league catcher and batterymate for the illustrious mound staff.

The other infield positions on the mythical team included Terry Salazar of Texas, who collected a league-high 23 RBIs with a

.286 average and only one error afield at first base; second sacker Johnny Ray of Arkansas, a .316 hitter with only five errors; third baseman Fritz Connally of Baylor, a .342 hitter; shortstop Ron Gardenhire of Texas, a .304 hitter with only five errors; plus utility infielder Ed Wallace of Arkansas, a .400 hitter.

The outfielders included Larry Selby of Texas Tech, a .381 slugger with 17 RBIs;

Joe Bruno of Texas, who hit .334; Jay Beard of Houston, a .347 hitter; and utility outfielder Shelton McMath of Texas A&M, a .300 hitter.

The designated hitter is Luke Prestridge of Baylor, who hit .352.

PREFERS SPORTS TO POLITICS — Bob Mathias, the 48-year-old former Olympic decathlon champion and four term Congressman speaks at a New York press conference Tuesday where it was announced that Burger King pledged $2 million to implement the U.S. Olympic training program. Mathias serves as the executive director of the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo., and now with politics in his past, has committed himself to his first love-sports.

Bob Mathias prefers sports to politics

Bob Mathias has done battle in two of the world's fiercest arenas — sports and politics — and he has decided that, with all its blemishes, he prefers the former.

"I never intend to get back into politics," said the strapping, 48-year-old former Olympic decathlon champion who served four terms as a Congressman from his California district.

"Politics can be very frustrating, particularly if you are on the minority side, as I was. No matter how good your ideas may be, they make no difference if you can't get them across. In our political structure, that is sometimes impossible."

Mathias, a self-described "fiscal conservative" from Tulare, Calif., was elected on a Republican ticket in 1966 and served eight years in a House dominated by Democrats.

"It's like playing football with 11 men on your side and 33 on the other side," he said. "You're always running into a stone wall."

He was in New York this week to accept a $2 million grant from a nationwide hamburger chain (Burger King) to implement the U.S. training program.

Mathias, as lean and vigorous as when he won his first decathlon title in the London Games in 1948 at age 17 and repeated at Helsinki in 1952, has recommitted himself to his first love — sports — and now is serving as executive director of the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo.

He won the Sullivan Award as the "Outstanding Amateur Athlete." He was The Associated Press' "Male Athlete of the Year" in 1952. A foreign press poll acclaimed him the world's premier sportsman. The Junior Chamber of Commerce named him one of the nation's ten outstanding young men. He was voted into the Track and Field Hall of Fame in 1974.

Mathias was defeated when his Congressional district was reappportioned — an act that is called "gerrymandering" — and he lost a large portion of his old constituency.

The former decathlon king predicted no easy path ahead for Bill Bradley, the ex-Knick basketball star now a Democratic senator from New Jersey, and Jack Kemp, the onetime football quarterback who is a Republican congressman from upstate New York, both rated political comers.

Walleye fish stocked in Moss Creek Lake

CANYON — Many lakes in northwest Texas are now receiving stockings of non-native game fish such as walleye, striped and striped hybrids, and, smallmouth bass which will fill the acres of water not used or inhabited by our native species of fish.

"The goal of 40-50 million walleye eggs is high, but a good season at lake Meredith and additional eggs from other states should fill our stocking needs," said Joe Kraai, P&WD fishery biologist.

Many lakes will or already have been stocked with walleye including: Fort Phantom Hill and Clyde lakes near Abilene; Moss Creek City lake near Big Spring; and, White River and Buffalo Springs lakes on the South Plains according to Kraai.

'Dreamer': Movie about age-old sport

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Bowlers of America, here at last is a movie that is right up your alley.

It's called "Dreamer," and it's all about — bowling. That's right. Not basketball, football, boxing, ice hockey or another of the more violent sports, but good old (7,000 years) bowling. Stone Age idlers occupied their time rolling stones at pointed rocks or sheep joints, but until 1979 no one ever produced a movie about bowling.

The 20th Century-Fox release will not make the world forget "Rocky," but it's likely to find favor among the estimated 50 million who frequent bowling alleys every week. The film's star, Tim Matheson, got some indication on a recent tour.

"I traveled in the Midwest, which is where I think the picture will probably do the best business," remarked the clean-cut actor. "Bowling means a great deal to people there. Then I went to Tucson, where I spoke to 3,500 women bowlers. You'd think I was some kind of messiah. They are so dedicated to bowling that they think it's wonderful someone would make a movie about it."

Matheson plays Harold "Dreamer" Nottingham, so nicknamed because he can think about little else but making it in the bigtime bowling league. Susan Blakely is his girlfriend who can't understand his obsession, and Jack Warden is his coach, who can. There's conflict, sort of, between these two elements of his life.

You might wonder how director Noel Nosseck evokes drama out of a large heavy ball rolling at 10 maple pins. The drama may be scant, but a sense of excitement does develop in the climactic match between Dreamer and champ Johnny Watkin, played by real-life bowling Hall of Famer Dick Weber.

Matheson had some preparation for his role, but not much. During junior high school in Burbank, he bowled in a league. "Dreamer" required him to learn skills in a hurry, and his teacher was Richard Weber Jr., who drilled Matheson on technique eight hours a day on the location in Alton, Ill. The actor's thumb became raw, just as it does in the movie.

Young Weber's instruction appears to have succeeded. Matheson seems the total pro in "Dreamer," and he bragged about his prowess:

ON THE ALERT — Mark Harmon and Angela Cartwright, young lovers, are shown in this scene from Irwin Allen's "Beyond the Poseidon Adventure" with Michael Cain and Karl Malden. The Warner Bros. release opens on Friday, May 25 at the Ritz I Theatre. It also stars Sally Field, Telly Savalas, Peter Boyle, Jack Warden, Shirley Knight, Shirley Jones and Slim Pickens. It was written for the screen by Nelson Gidding, who based it on the Paul Gallico novel. It was produced and directed by Allen.

Irwin Allen creates more screen havoc in latest film

One of the most awesome sights ever committed to film is the imposing hulk of the S.S. Poseidon lying belly-up in mid-ocean, helpless before the waves and racked by her own internal explosions.

Presiding over this chilling scene, to make sure that the famous ship's final moments are truly terrifying on-camera is Hollywood's maestro of screen chaos, Irwin Allen, producer-director of "Beyond the Poseidon Adventure."

Ever since the release of his original "Poseidon Adventure," Allen has been obsessed with the idea of completing the story about the ill-fated ship. But, much time had to go by in order to design the incredible sets, prepare the script and assemble the all-star cast which appears in the new film, portraying a totally new set of characters. In the meantime, Allen produced the box office smash, "The Towering Inferno."

By 1978, Allen was ready to fulfill the gnawing desire to finish the Poseidon saga. He handpicked a cast that includes Michael Caine, Sally Field, Telly Savalas, Peter Boyle, Jack Warden, Shirley Knight, Slim Pickens, Shirley Jones and Karl Malden.

Nelson Gidding delivered the script — adapted from the book "Beyond the Poseidon Adventure," by the late Paul Gallico — which traces the perilous exploits of two separate groups of salvagers racing each other to the ship's treasure before the vessel sinks forever into the depths of the sea.

To create the necessary typhoon-strength storms, explosions, oil fires and crashing debris that continually rack the Poseidon during its last hours, Allen selected special effects designer Howard Jensen.

"The response of people to fight calamity head on — against overwhelming odds — has always held the human imagination," is how Allen explains his intense interest in screen havoc.

And now, from the safety of a barge anchored close by the convulsing Poseidon hulk, Allen choreographs the dreadful last minutes of its calamitous "life."

Never content to stop at minor tragedies, Allen demands raging fires, fabulous explosions, and uncontrollable volumes of seawater.

Says special effects designer Jensen: "When you work for Allen, who's such a painstaking craftsman, you mustn't spare a thing. He wants it all."

"But when a movie's in your blood, like this one's in Irwin's, I guess it's all worth it."

Library has selection of books on summer fun

By CATHY McCracken

The first day of summer is June 21. That may seem like a long way off, but with the 90 degree temperature we are already having and the spring fever everybody is catching, it will be here before we know it. Families are already planning their vacations: fathers are checking out their fishing gear, mothers are finding new swimsuits for the kids, and children are tuning up their bicycles.

The Howard County Library has a good selection of books on summer activities whether you are an amateur or professional. You might check some of these books out before your vacation so that you and your child will be ready for whatever the summer may bring.

The basic facts about fishing in fresh and salt water, including equipment, casting, trolling and still fishing can be found in "Better Fishing for Boys" by Vlad Evanoff. Evanoff covers instructions on making fresh and salt-water lures and the best bait to use when fishing in these types of water. A very informative and comical story, complete with muskrats that get caught in fishing lines and skunks who ferry babies across the river, can be found in "The Fishing River" by Edythe Warner. Your youngster can read this one all by himself and find out some of the things he can expect when on a fishing trip.

Summertime is always swimtime, and water safety is one of the most important factors when your child is around any body of water. "The Complete Book of Swimming" by Dr. James Counsilman is aimed at swimmers at every level, from the very beginning through competitive. "No Pushing, No Ducking" by Barbara Rinkoff follows two children as they learn the hazards in and on the water. It gives basic rules, not only for swimming safety, but for boating safety as well. If your child has hopes of trying out for the swim team next year and wants to use the summer as practice time, "Better Swimming and Diving for Boys and Girls" by George Sullivan shows how to train for and participate successfully in swimming races and diving competitions. Do not depend on these books to teach you or your child how to swim, but lessons from a certified teacher plus these books will help you to be more learned on the subject.

With all the excellent camping areas available, more and more families are turning to this inexpensive way of relaxing during vacation time. A beautiful book from the National Geographic Society called "Camping Adventure" by William Gray, shows different activities you can enjoy while camping out. It also has pictures of what you should take with you right down to the soap, toothpaste, and toothbrush. "The Boys Book of Backyard Camping" by Allan McFarlan covers basic camping skills in the backyard, nearby park, vacant lot, or playground. It tells you all about shelters and tents, knot-tying, first-aid, campout food, out-door games, and a backyard campers code. After your child reads this, his summer can never be boring.

If your children got a bicycle for Christmas and are finding out that the nice weather finally came so they could ride it, check out some of our books on bicycling for "How-to" guidelines. Charles Coombs' "Bicycling" explains the care, maintenance, home repair and safe riding of bicycles. If you just haven't gotten down to buying that much promised set of wheels yet, Coombs describes the many types of bicycles and gives tips on what the prospective buyer should be looking for. "About a Bicycle for Linda" by Eugene Baker presents an easy reader format in case your young one wants to learn on his own.

These are just a few of the books available on many summer activities in your library, and cover only four things you and your child could be interested in. Come down to the library before your vacation and get a head start on just about everything your child will want to know.

Farm — Texas farmers making up for lost time

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas farmers are making up for lost time as drier fields and warmer soil temperatures are finally allowing them to plant spring crops, says Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cultivating is moving ahead in the Coastal Bend in fields that have dried out sufficiently. Sprigging of new Coastal bermudagrass pastures is moving ahead rapidly as weather permits.

About half of the cotton acreage in the Coastal Bend and southward is squaring, with fleahoppers and boll weevils reported heavy in Extension District 12, Pfannstiel said. Sorghum crops are beginning to head in that area, and corn also is progressing rapidly.

The hay harvest is moving ahead as fields dry out in south, central and eastern counties, with good yield potentials.

The onion harvest is about complete in the Rio Grande Valley, and harvesting of peppers and cantaloupes should begin there within the next 10 days. Disease damage is increasing in cantaloupe and honeydew melon fields due to the weather. The Coastal Bend cucumber harvest has been slowed by rains, while home gardens and farm gardens are beginning to produce a variety of vegetables.

The season's first peaches are expected to be harvested in Gillespie County within the next two weeks, and elsewhere peaches are making rapid progress. Pecans appear to be setting a good crop in most areas. Spraying to control the costly pecan nut casebearer has started in some counties.

Throughout the state, livestock are in good to excellent condition as the calving season nears an end. Except for some counties in west and southwest Texas, most ranges are in above-average condition.

Reports from district Extension agents showed these conditions:

PANHANDLE: Some counties remain short of moisture. Planting of cotton and some sorghum is under way. Wheat is about 50 percent headed, and alfalfa is blooming. Cool weather has slowed growth of corn. Ranges are improving.

SOUTH PLAINS: Rain is needed prior to planting in dryland areas, although good subsoil moisture is present. Cotton is being planted on irrigated land, about 60 percent complete in northern counties. Corn planting is virtually complete; first alfalfa cutting under way. Wheat, sugar beets look good.

ROLLING PLAINS: Rain is needed for maximum wheat production and pasture improvement. Major cotton planting should begin after May 20, the crop's uniform planting date. Weeds are heavy in native pastures. Hybrid sudan is growing well, with some army worm damage.

Corn and vegetables are progressing.

NORTH CENTRAL: Army worms are heavy in wheat, and insects are damaging some oats. Greenbugs and aphids are showing up in sorghum and some cotton is being replanted.

NORTHEAST: Crops and ranges need sunshine. Hay is growing well, with some counties already cutting and baling. Insects have damaged some tomatoes. Pecans are blooming and the peach crop is setting. Fertilization of pastures continues as a major activity, along with spraying of fruit trees, soil preparation and planting.

FAR WEST: All counties need rain. Cotton planting continues and is nearly complete in some areas, while sorghum planting varies according to available moisture. Small grains are ripening; alfalfa is being cut for hay and pelleting. Sheep shearing continues. Despite dry ranges, livestock continue in good condition.

WEST CENTRAL: Sorghum planting is under way and cotton planting is just beginning in most areas. Planting of both crops is 90 percent complete in Schleicher County. Callahan County has a record wheat crop. Planting of hay is in full swing. Weeds are a major problem on ranges.

CENTRAL: Many fields remain too wet for farmers to resume cotton planting, which is running behind schedule due to prolonged

Rehab center has come a long way

Champagne, art combine at benefit

By ROBBIE CROW
Family News Editor

"Big Spring is extremely fortunate to have the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center," exclaimed Mrs. Kent (Jan) Morgan, chairman for this year's Champagne Art Benefit.

Over 20 accomplished artists from across the country will display their work May 26 from 7-10:30 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club. The event will benefit the local rehab center.

Co-chairing the show are Mrs. Toots Mansfield and Mrs. Gary Turner.

Such renown names including H.C. Zachry, Boyd Graham, Marianne Caroselli, Gary Myers and Terry S. Gilbreth will be represented at the Champagne Art Benefit along with many of their artistic and creative works.

One of the few men in the nation who can bring the ancient and delicate art of glass engraving to life is Artist Boyd Graham of Abilene, Tex.

According to various critics who have viewed his work, his intricate pieces are fashioned on commission in a masterful effort, making them collectors items — heirlooms with the prestige of fine paintings.

A wide variety of representations, including prisms, which reflect their captured patterns in three dimensions; elegant vases, bowls, and other glassware; and even free form pieces, are all encompassed in the art transformed with diamond-tooled precision.

The skill is practiced by few today. As a professional artist of 25 years, Graham has also won prizes in art exhibitions for his watercolor creations. He has shown his work in the Abilene Fine Arts Museum as well as other exhibitions.

Graham, who has studied art under Olin Travis and Thomas Stell in Dallas, is married and has two sons.

It has been said that every once in a while, a unique talent comes along and Terry Gilbreth is one such gifted person. His imagination and creative abilities lift him far above the average and explain why his work is enjoying such demand and prestige.

Gilbreth has this priceless talent along with being a skilled craftsman who does his own casting, emphasizing detail and authenticity. His work is collected among many.

In an effort to let the viewer of her work feel the chill of the snow, the hardships the pioneers endured and the warmth of a glowing sky, Marianne Caroselli has devoted all her artistic ability to recreating on canvas, some of the quiet times of the old west.

She and her husband along with their four children left the hustle and bustle of New Jersey in 1972 to start a new life in Texas, building their own home on a small ranch in the hills surrounding San Marcos.

Many western artifacts, and photographs of her own horses which she uses as models for her paintings, enhance her studio.

Mrs. Caroselli received her degree at the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Art in New Jersey. She has since taken various other art courses and has won many awards for her efforts.

It is the opinion of many that her determination and willingness to work hard have resulted in much success in the past few years. Her paintings have steadily increased in value and are being collected by investors throughout the United States. Her work is displayed at her own gallery, the Old Chisholm Trail in San Marcos and other leading galleries through the Southwest.

Those attending the Champagne Art Benefit will also earn the opportunity to view the work of Artist Gary Myers.

Born in Bartlesville, Okla., in 1942 of German heritage, his call to a career in art came early, thus leading to graduation from Oklahoma State Tech's School of Art at age 20. After having served as instructor and later head of the art school, Myers moved on to Oklahoma City and began a 10-year career as free-lance illustrator and art director.

In 1975, he moved to his present home in Ruidoso, N.M., where watercolors absorb the majority of his many creative efforts. Myers has shown twice in the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and is a member of the American Painters in Paris.

A recent accomplishment of Myers is a film produced at KNEW Educational TV for Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, N.M. The film will be used to demonstrate watercolor techniques by close circuit television.

H. C. Zachry is by birth and devotion a Texas artist. Painting his 'home country' has made him one of the most prominent artists in the Southwest. His work, too, will be on display at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday night.

Born in 1940, he was reared near Henrietta in the heart of north Texas ranch country.

"I was never really happy with my painting," revealed Zachry, "until I started depicting scenes of Texas — the things I know best."

These five artists are only a small representation of the creativity and artistic ability that will be witnessed by community people attending the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center benefit.

"It takes approximately $562 per day just to open the rehab center," stated Lillian Staggs, receptionist at the center. She began as a volunteer soon after its opening.

The local center began as a dream of Registered Nurse Bo Bowen and George Zachariah, president of the Easter Seals Foundation. They transported children from Big Spring who were victims of cerebral palsy to Midland for therapy.

Together, they instigated the plans for the construction of such a center in Big Spring.

All materials and labor were donated by the businesses and people of the city for the first rehab center located behind the YMCA in 1961. Equipment was donated by the Easter Seals Foundation.

Shortly after its construction, the building sank following a rain and the facility was moved back to the YMCA. Jim Thompson from Lubbock, served as the first director.

In late 1961 or early 1962, an old house was rented near the 300 block of Edwards and the center operated out of the facility until Oct. 1, 1965, at which time the Dora Roberts Foundation built the facility now located at Third and Lancaster. Horace Garrett was chairman of the foundation at that time.

The foundation gave the center to the city and county under the provision the building would always be used as a combination rehab center and public health center. Thus the city and county supply $5,000 each for maintenance and upkeep.

"The purpose of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center," continued Mrs. Staggs, "is to help victims of crippling diseases, victims of birth defects, people who have suffered strokes, or are recuperating from surgery as well as providing the needed therapy for various other disabilities and problems."

Present director is Larry Bristo who came to the center in April 1, 1978, succeeding Jack Davis who left in October, 1977. Eighteen active members make up the board with Dr. Carroll Moore, serving as chairman.

People of Big Spring and surrounding communities should be proud and thankful our town has such a beneficial and productive center.

Help the center by attending the Champagne Art Benefit. Tickets are $15 each or $25 per couple and may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Morgan at 263-1062.

Some day you or your family may need the services of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Ceremony solemnized in Episcopal church

The St. Mary's Episcopal Church was the setting of the Friday evening wedding between Celeste Moore Grenier and Robert Lee Dale Jr.

The Rev. Harland Birdwell, rector, performed the 8 p.m. ceremony before arrangements of spring flowers flanking the altar. Pew candles also enhanced the sanctuary.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Skalicky, 2700 Apache Dr., Big Spring; and John Robert Grenier, Middle Haddam, Conn. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Dale, Las Cruces, N.M.

Linda Lassiter, organist, provided the wedding music as the bride was escorted down the aisle by her step-father wearing an antebellum-style gown of white Chantilly lace and chiffon. The fitted lace bodice featured a modified Queen Anne neckline edged with a pleated ruffle. A wide band of lace accented the empire waistline. Her long Bishop sleeves of chiffon featured a V-shaped inset of lace below the shoulder, terminating in wide, lace-trimmed cuffs adorned with tiny covered buttons.

The full bouffant skirt was designed with an apron effect in front and fell to a deep flounce at the bottom. The back of the gown was styled with five deep tiers ending in a sweeping chapel-length train. She wore a matching lace mantilla headpiece which fell from a band accented by seed pearls and sequin trim.

A Flemish-style bouquet of sonia roses, peach carnations, baby's breath and English ivy intertwined with her rosary completed her bridal ensemble.

Judith Kay Steely, sister of the groom and Lisa Camille Brackeen, step-sister of the bride, both served as matrons of honor. They were attired in identical gowns of apricot chiffon featuring empire bodices and spaghetti straps. A matching caplet covered their shoulders. They wore matching hats accented with satin ribbon streamers and they carried baskets of apricot carnations, baby's breath and greenery.

The groom's brother-in-

law, Walter Ray Steely served as best man for the ceremony. Groomsman was Roy David Platte. Ronnie Barber and John Allen Brumley seated guests.

The fellowship hall of the church was the setting for a reception honoring the couple immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with peach lace cloth over white taffeta. Twin three-prong candelabras intertwined with flowers in colors of peach and white enhanced the table. The three-tier cake was of pale peach and decorated with dainty rosettes and topped with traditional wedding bells.

Silver and crystal appointments were used by those serving including Sandra Wells, and Rita Foster, both cousins of the groom; and Jo Ann Lewis. Guests were registered by Debbie Carnell who was seated at a table draped with white lace and decorated with a memory candle.

Out-of-town guests attended from Las Cruces, N.M., Kingsland, Tex., Houston, Tex., and Corpus Christi, Tex.

79, He's Still A Sexygenarian

DEAR ABBY: After 51 years of marriage, our father has left our mother! They've had their fights over the years but we never thought it would come to this.

Dad left mother for a 48-year-old nurse he met six years ago when he was in the hospital for a prostate operation.

Now that this has come out, everybody is saying they knew about dad and this nurse all along. Dad is 79 and mother is 77. Mother is so humiliated that she hasn't been out of the house since dad left.

What do you think of this mess? How can we get dad to come to his senses and come back to mother? It's the talk of the town.

DISGRACED IN LONG ISLAND
DEAR ABBY: Stay out of it. And you needn't feel "disgraced." A person can disgrace only himself.

DEAR ABBY: Do all marriages go stale after 25 years? Ours has. My husband and I don't seem to have much to talk to each other about anymore. We used to talk about our kids, but now that they're grown and gone, we're out of conversation.

I have no major complaints, Abby, but the old excitement is gone. We watch a lot of television and read, and we do have friends, but when we're alone together it's dull. We even sleep in separate bedrooms now.

Is there some way to recapture that old magic? I don't expect him to chase me around the bedroom like he did 20 years ago, but we're much too young for rocking chairs.

We still love each other, but...

THE SONG HAS ENDED
DEAR SONG: I highly recommend MARRIAGE ENCOUNTER. It's a weekend course in how to revitalize a hum marriage. It first came to my attention when several enthusiastic readers (some married over 40 years!) wrote to tell me that the experience had improved their marriages enormously!

I checked it out and found it to be a legitimate, church-sponsored program. Nothing kinky or far out. For more information, inquire at your church or synagogue.

DEAR ABBY: Among my acquaintances is a 66-year-old widow who has suddenly announced that a "distant cousin" has come from Canada to live with her.

She claims he is her age (he looks much younger) and recently lost his wife.

This friend says she feels much more secure with a man in the house. She owns her own home, they drive her car, and all he seems to do is drive her around and help with the household chores. She claims they share expenses, but I heard from a reliable source that her bills are still paid by HER personal check.

Her home has only two bedrooms. One she had converted into a sewing room. After her "cousin" moved in, I noticed that the sewing room is still a sewing room, which means they both share her bedroom.

When people ask if they have plans for marriage, she laughs and says, "We are cousins!"

What do you make of this setup?

FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR
DEAR NEIGHBOR: I think every 66-year-old widow should be so lucky. Now, what's YOUR problem?

Sew silk summer fashions

By JANET ROGERS
COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT
Sew with silks to create fashions for summer.

Silks come in a variety of fabrications from the beginner's best-bet, broadcloth, to delicate transparent chiffon, to the lustrous crepe de chine, to slightly nubby, sporty-looking noil.

Silk linen comes in weights from light handkerchief to heavy suiting. Many silks combined with other natural or man-made fibers produce lower-priced, washable blends.

When buying silk fabric, check the stability of the fabric. It should resist slipping and twisting. Check the drape of the fabric. It should fall naturally when hung.

Silk should have a dry "hand" (feel dry when touched). This makes it easy to work with and signifies the fabric has a rich body.

In cutting silk, follow the pattern guide. Always use sharp, long-blade shears. If using nubby or coarse-crisp silks, such as tussah, cut pieces singly. The folded fabric may stick to itself and not lay flat.

When cutting soft, slippery, lightweight silk, pin to lightweight paper for more stability. On fine silk fabrics, use a toothed tracing wheel without carbon paper.

Also, use chalk or white carbon paper rather than wax—the grease will stain the fabric. Tailor tacks can always be used. Select a natural cotton 60's thread or cotton 50's for heavier fabric.

Silk thread is acceptable for basting but not for final stitching—it is too strong. Always use a weaker thread than the fabric for final stitching so that in case of stress the thread breaks instead of fabric tearing.

Use fine silk pins to prevent pin hole markings.

Use size 11 sharp needle for fine fabric and size 13 for heavier weights.

To avoid puckering, machine tension should be loose and well-balanced. The presser foot pressure should be light.

Use 10-12 stitches per inch for fine silks and 8-10 stitches for heavier silks.

Seam finish will depend on the amount of tailoring and fabric weight.

Sheer silks, such as chiffons and georgettes, because of the fabric's transparency, should have enclosed seams such as French or flat-felled. These are used on straight or slightly curved seams only.

On heavier, unlined silks, use bound seams or a Hong Kong finish. For lightweight silks, press seam open with one-fourth inch of the raw seam edge turned under and

Her hobbies are fishing, gardening and needle work. Having no children of her own, she raised three stepsons.

Mrs. Virginia "Jennie" Cauble was born at 702 Rannels in Big Spring April 26, 1888, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Williams, early day pioneer ranchers of Howard County.

She loved living on the ranch, and always fed the 'Wet Backs' who came through. It seems that her ranch was one of their trails across the country. She fed cowboys and anyone who came to see them. She often killed rattlesnakes and varmints around the place.

Jennie moved to town after Jim, her husband passed away in 1969.

Kentwood PTA members continue busy year

Kentwood PTA members have been busy so far this year.

An October carnival raised $3,000 to buy new tables for the cafeteria. Part of the funds were also used to buy each classroom an artificial Christmas tree. Former PTA President Sharon Rotan praised Jan Sims and Shelane Roberts for organizing the carnival and raffle.

An outstanding program this year was enjoyed at the February meeting, according to Mrs. Rotan, when a panel composed of Lynn Hise, Helen Gladden, C.L. Carlile and Lois Phillips answered parents' questions concerning school policies.

Twenty-five children presented a play to Kentwood parents Tuesday night during the last PTA meeting. New officers were also installed. They are Shelane Roberts, president, Martha Bres, vice president; Darnell Small, secretary; and Winston Hamby, treasurer. The Parent Involvement Program created by Martha Bres last year was carried on this year by Chairperson Shelane Roberts. The parents have presented several programs this year including foreign languages, science projects, gardening, foreign lands, ham radio, and ocean studies. In addition to these the children have taken various field trips and learned many crafts.

Kentwood PTA members will donate gifts to children who have read 100 or more books in a reading program organized by Principal C.L. Carlile. A total of 4,656 books have been read by children in the "Rainbow Reading Club" in grades one through five. Children read an average of 35 books each. Alexia Bres had the highest number of books read with 328. All who read 100 or more will be rewarded at the end of school. They are Alexia Bres, Christy Alexander, Janene Horton, Melissa Jones, Rebecca Thompson, Shawna Adams, Terry McElyea, Deana Hamby, Niki Davis, Brian Averette, Sam Gladden and Patricia Priebe.

Martha Bres is chairperson of a Field Day which will be held May 29. The children will participate in a day of games, races and refreshments, followed by a picnic at 11:30 a.m. An assembly will begin at 1 p.m. at which time various students will be recognized and awards presented. Parents are invited.

Mrs. Rotan expresses thanks to chairmen who helped to make the PTA year successful. They are Jan Keys, hospitality chairperson; Darnell Small, yearbook; Donna Gannaway, T-shirt sale; and Glenda Anderson, membership chairperson.

DATE SET — Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Sullivan Sr., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gwendolyn Jo, Fort Worth, to Thomas Patrick Ray Jr., Fort Worth. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T.P. Ray Sr., Big Spring. The wedding will take place July 7 at the Crestview Baptist with the Rev. Jim Wilkerson of Slaton officiating.

Lipscombe named to state board

Jo Lipscombe, immediate past-president of the Malone-Hogan Hospital Volunteers, has been named to the state legislative board of the Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries.

Lipscombe will be actively involved in analyzing and formulating programs for action on legislative bills concerning hospitals.

"It was a pleasant surprise to learn of the appointment," Lipscombe said. She has been active in the local political arena, particularly during national elections, and participated in a legislative seminar that involved over 200 auxiliaries in Austin last March.

"It makes sense to me that local people have a lot to gain, in becoming involved in decision-making committees that influence the making of the laws of our land," she added.

The legislative board functions as the director of TAHA's activities relating to legislative issues affecting the hospitals of Texas, she said.

TWEEN 12 and 20 — Girl worried about draft

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I am a 16 year-old girl and am very upset with the ERA. I was only 16 years old, or so, when I first started hearing about women's lib. Until just recently, I did not care one way or the other about it.

But I cannot see their reasoning in allowing you to smoke at all. Smoking is a dirty, expensive, unhealthy habit.

Please do yourself a favor and quit!

Lately, though, with all this talk of reinstating the draft, I am greatly concerned. It seems I have no say in whether or not the ERA passes (and had no say in the matter concerning the first generation of women's libbers) and yet, I am one of the women to be drafted. — D.K., Mount Vernon, Ohio

Doctor Wallace: I would like to become an airline stewardess. I have the looks and figure requirements but I'd like eventually to get married and continue working.

Is there any chance the rule against being married will be changed? Also, could you tell me the starting salary of a stewardess and how to find a job? — Laurel, Sacramento, Calif.

Laurel: Stewardesses are now called flight attendants. Most of the restrictions once placed on the attendants are gone. They can marry, have children, and retire in their 60s.

Salaries start at around $11,000 per year. To become a flight attendant write to the airline of your choice and ask for the specifics. Each airline has its own training academy and requirements.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 13-year-old girl who is allowed to smoke in my room or the bathroom and nowhere else in the house. Do you think this is fair? I don't! — Connie, Everett, Wash.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Connie: If your parents smoke and they smoke in the living room, then you should also be allowed, but if they don't then I can see their reasoning.
