

'The state views child support as an alternative to welfare'

Dear Dad: Pay, flee or go to jail

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a three-part series about the state's answer to the problem of child support evasion.

By EILEEN McGUIRE
An official count in the spring of 1978 revealed that 225,000 kids in Texas were being supported with state welfare.

Most of them were members of a household from which one parent, usually the father, was absent. All were members of households that could not afford its children. In most cases, the absent parent was contributing little or nothing to the support of the children.

The number of Texas children supported with AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children) might be substantially larger if not for a program, headed in this area by Mark Hoover, an attorney with the Human Resources Department in Midland, that attempts to enforce court-ordered child support payments.

Hoover is Regional Director of Child Support Enforcement, a state service that costs taxpayers nothing. The service is not only self-supporting, but actually puts money back into the state.

He describes the service as "preventative welfare." His job is to help clients and the state locate absent parents, establish the paternity of illegitimate-born children, and enforce child support. Any person, on welfare or self-supporting with any size income, may use the service for an initial investment of $20.

Though services are not limited to AFDC families, most of Hoover's clients are single mothers in financial trouble who have been referred to him by county welfare offices in 22 Texas counties, including Howard.

In welfare-referred cases, his job is to get the client off of welfare or to repay the state for welfare support by making the absent parent pay. In non-welfare cases, his job is to prevent a family from ever having to go on welfare, also by making the absent parent pay.

"The purpose of the program is to reduce the cost of state welfare," Hoover stated. "The state views child support as an alternative to welfare."

Actions taken by Child Support Enforcement to stop child support evaders are authorized by federal law. In welfare cases, utilization of the program, which is monitored by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, is mandatory.

INEFFECTIVE ANSWER — Parents who default on child support payments may pay, flee or go to jail. If they flee, there's a good chance they'll be found again and again through inter-state cooperation. If they still refuse to pay, the only alternative is jail which doesn't solve the problem since they can't pay from behind bars. Despite unpleasant alternatives, non-support continues to be a big problem in Texas.

Aiding victims of WF tornado

Craftsmen at Berkley working overtime to provide housing

Craftsmen at Berkley Mobile Homes Inc. here are working 10 hours a day, seven days a week to provide housing for victims of the Wichita Falls tornado.

The company has received a contract from the federal government to produce 180 homes for disaster victims, said Berkley manager Howard Piquet. The entire project calls for the production of 2,000 homes in five weeks by companies in states from Minnesota to Florida at a cost of $20 million.

Berkley now has 200 employees at work on the project, which is the largest single order in the company's history. Production has risen from three to seven homes a day.

The homes are delivered to officials with the General Services Administration in Wichita Falls, which is the site of Lanchart Industries, Berkley's corporate office.

The GSA in turn allows homeless citizens to use the residences free of charge with an option to buy later.

Ordinarily, said Piquet, shipping that many homes would entail a great deal of red tape. In this case, however, provisions of the National Disaster Relief Act have made shipping much easier.

It's final day for nominations

Today is the final day for nominations for the June 7 Zales-Herald Youth Achievement Banquet, which will be held starting at 6:30 p.m., at the Big Spring Country Club.

Only senior students at four area high schools — Big Spring, Coahoma, Sands and Forsan — are eligible for invitation to the banquet and only then if the person who nominates them fills out a form appearing in The Herald.

Nominated thus far have been: Van Martin Gaskins, David Ray Mosley, Nathan Zant, Scott Davidson and Jill Floyd, all of Sands.

School to be held on Memorial Day

Big Spring Public Schools will be in session Monday, according to Superintendent Lynn Hise.

Classes will also meet at Immaculate Heart of Mary School. St. Mary's Episcopal School, Jack & Jill Kindergarten, First Grade, and Big Spring Christian Academy will not meet Monday as their schools are closed today.

Bank employees will not be working so you may pick up your mail at the back door of the post office if you can't wait until Tuesday.

City, state and federal government offices will be closed in observance of Memorial Day. Bank employees will also have the day off.

School and Day Care Center will make an exception this year and stay open on Memorial Day since the school is also open. The day care center will accept drop-ins, age 2 and up, on a space-available basis.

Mail will not be delivered on Monday, but several postal clerks will be working so you may pick up your mail at the back door of the post office if you can't wait until Tuesday.

City, state and federal government offices will be closed in observance of Memorial Day. Bank employees will also have the day off.

Spenklink executed

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — Convicted murderer John A. Spenklink was put to death in Florida's electric chair today, clenching his left fist as 2,250 volts of electricity shot through his body. He was pronounced dead at 10:18 a.m.

Spenklink, 30, became the first man executed in the United States since Gary Mark Gilmore willingly faced a firing squad in Utah on January 17, 1977. Before that, no executions had been carried out in this country since 1967.

Spenklink was executed in a drab beige death room at the Florida State Prison. He received the first jolt of electricity at 10:13 a.m.

After the first surge, which singed the skin on his right calf, sending smoke into the death chamber, Spenklink received two more jolts of electricity.

A doctor was then called to check his heart at 10:14 a.m. The doctor looked at prison superintendent David Brierton, stepped back and waited two more minutes, when he again checked Spenklink's heart with a stethoscope and again stepped back. Finally at 10:18, he made a third check, lifted the death hood to look at Spenklink's eyes, and checked his pulse. Spenklink was dead.

State Rep. Andy Johnson of Jacksonville, an official witness, said: "There is no need for it. It is unchristian, it is barbaric. We saw a man sizzle today."

The Rev. Tom Feamtser, an Episcopal priest who witnessed the death, said "It amazed me as I stood there. I was looking at the backs of the heads of the witnesses. I thought, 'God almighty, how could somebody want to witness something as barbaric as this.'"

The condemned man had lost his last hope of reprieve four minutes before the scheduled 10 a.m. execution when the Supreme Court in Washington voted 6-2 to deny a stay. Lawyers for Spenklink had presented a petition for a stay to the court clerk at 7 a.m.

After Spenklink had received the first electrical charge and while he was still strapped in the death chair, Feamtser, who had visited the condemned man for two years, asked those in the witness room to pray for the dying man "in the name of God."

Also present in the witness room was Spenklink's attorney, David Kendall of Washington. Kendall remained silent and stared with a fixed gaze at Spenklink in the death chair.

The execution, which was to have begun promptly at 10 a.m. was inexplicably delayed until 10:11, when the venetian blinds separating official and media witnesses from the electric chair were opened, showing Spenklink already strapped in the huge oaken death chair.

He was wearing a white gown rolled up at the sleeves and blue pants. A towel was placed under his chin.

A leather harness was placed around his head, over his chin and his arms, chest, legs and ankles were secured to the chair with wide leather straps.

Spenklink was not allowed a traditional last statement — contrary to promises from prison officials who had said he would make a final speech.

Spenklink was fastened so securely in the head harness that he could not open his mouth and stared impassively at the 32 persons who witnessed the execution on the other side of the glass partition.

About a minute after the blinds were drawn, a black hood was lowered over Spenklink's face. Several attendants inside the death room stepped back from the death chair and the first jolt of electricity was delivered.

Shortly after Spenklink received the first electrical charge his hands began to curl and blacken. He moved only slightly during the entire five minute ordeal and once he had been pronounced dead the blinds dropped, covering the death room again.

In the hours before his death, Spenklink received final visits by his family and his minister.

The 10 a.m. execution deadline was set early today after a panel of three judges from the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans removed a stay imposed by an Atlanta member of the appellate court, effective at 9:30 a.m. EDT.

Spenklink's sister, Carol Myers, and his fiancée, Carlotta Key of Jacksonville, visited the condemned man about 5:30 a.m. They were allowed one hug, then they chatted across a table, the prisoner in handcuffs.

"He's hanging in there," his sister said later, breaking down in tears. "He's got faith. He's strong."

Spenklink's death sentence was imposed for the 1973 murder of Joseph Syzmankiewicz. Drifters and career criminals, the two men met on a Nebraska highway and formed an alliance that ended in death in a Tallahassee, Fla., motel room.

SHARED RESPONSIBILITY — Attorney Mark Hoover says that children are the mutual responsibility of both parents. In too many cases, however, when the family splits up, the children become the sole responsibility of only one parent—usually the mother. Supporting the children is often an overwhelming burden that she is not equipped to handle alone.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Memorial Day

Q. Why in the heck do the kids have to go to school on Memorial Day? Why couldn't they attend Tuesday and Wednesday during the last week of school instead of Monday and Tuesday?

A. Superintendent of Schools Lynn Hise says that the school calendar is made up a year in advance and cannot be changed at this late date. The school year officially ends May 30, on the traditional Memorial Day, but school children will have that day off. He said that if children did have Monday off, many might not come back for the last two days of school.

Tops on TV: 'Hot Rod' trouble

Tonight's ABC movie may be a drag, but for the right reasons. "Hot Rod" will premiere at 8 o'clock. It deals with a top-notch hot rodder who gets into trouble when he enters a small-town race, only to find that the local hero has been guaranteed a win. Western fans shouldn't miss a classic of the genre airing at 10:30 p.m. on ABC. Yul Brynner and a host of others star in "The Magnificent Seven," which features one of the best shoot-em-ups of all time.

Single mothers: A long road

(Continued from page 1) enforcement program, a state may lose five percent of its federal funds," said Hoover.

He said that when the program was incorporated nationwide in 1977, Texas was already well ahead of the game. Leading the way for other states, Texas had already established its program in 1973.

Hoover's office is currently handling 6,000 to 7,000 cases, mostly welfare. The staff, in addition to Hoover, consists of one other attorney, two collection officers and four secretaries.

"We receive no legislative appropriation," he said. "It's a self-funded state program with a 'make money' purpose just like a business. We try to work for the best interest of the children."

Enforcing child support for legitimate children is not an easy matter. Enforcing it for illegitimate children is even more difficult. He explained how the program works in a "simple" case, where the children of a single-parent household are the legal dependents of an absent father. The children's parents may be separated, divorced, or never married but paternity has already been established in court.

The first step is to locate the absent parent. If he doesn't want to be found, the process becomes complicated.

"Each case is assigned to one of our two collection officers," Hoover explained. "He reviews the case and determines the need to locate an individual. He gets as much information from the applicant as he can that might be helpful in locating the parent."

If the missing parent cannot be located in the immediate area, the case may be referred to an agency called State Parent Locate in Austin which attempts a statewide locate. The agency will attempt to find the individual through the driver's license bureau, the employment commission and other state agencies.

If the statewide search fails to produce the missing father, the case may then be referred to a federal parent locate service in Washington, D.C. which may refer to social security records and IRS records for the purpose of obtaining an address only.

Knowing the address of the absent parent or the address of his employment is necessary, Hoover said, in order to take legal steps to obtain support for the individual's child.

Once the person has been located, court action is filed and the papers are served on him. If the parents are separated, Hoover will file for support. If the parents are divorced, he will file an enforcement action to collect the support that the individual was ordered to pay at the time of the divorce. If the parents are unmarried, Hoover will file a paternity suit.

In a non-welfare case, the cost of Hoover's services and court costs are recovered at the end of the case, but only if the attempt to make the absent parent pay child support is successful. "The client pays a $20 flat application fee in the beginning," he said. "This is all she pays out of her own pocket. A condition of eligibility for the service, however, is that she sign an automatic assignment proposal. It is a legal document."

The proposal authorizes the deduction of 25 percent of each support payment until court costs and other expenses are paid.

"This may sound like a lot," Hoover said, "but in return she gets some regular support that had previously been denied to her. And 75 percent of something is better than 100 percent of nothing."

Hoover said that the first attempts to collect full or partial costs of the service from the absent parent. If his attempt fails, the cost is deducted from the child support payments only until the services are paid for. "The beauty of this, he said, "is that we only collect if the child support is paid. No charges are made directly to her except for the initial application fee."

"Also, there are no all-in-advance fees like she would pay if she went to a privately practicing attorney. It's an alternative to the problems and cost that she might incur with a legal service."

Payment of child support in a welfare case is handled differently. If the client is to receive less child support than the AFDC that she has been collecting, then the child support is retained by the state for partial reimbursement. If the child support awarded is more than her public assistant grant, then the child support replaces welfare.

"The absent parents who can support their families do, while those who can't, help," Hoover summarized.

When the family goes off of welfare, he said, all child support then goes to the family. Once a support order has been entered, Hoover and his staff take measures to prevent the absent parent from discontinuing support. The office monitors collection to make sure that the support payments continue on a regular basis. If payments stop, they find out why.

"We know all the stories—I was layed off, I'm disabled and so on..." Hoover also know the questions.

"When a man stops making child support payments because he says he can't find work, I want to know how he is still able to take care of himself. He may not be working, but he's getting money from somewhere."

If the non-supporter is unemployed, he is required to regularly report employment efforts. If the support defaulter attempts to flee the state, Hoover has a Uniform Reciprocal Support Act at his disposal.

"The act applies to all 50 states," he said. "If the man moves out of Texas, we may send the child support judgment to the state that now has jurisdiction over him."

With the state and national parent locate services and the reciprocal support act, he said, "absent parents can no longer escape child support. Their choice is to accept the inevitable or flee again."

Despite the tools that Child Support Enforcement has at its disposal, there are still problems.

"Right now, there are $17 million worth of court orders to pay the state for welfare reimbursement, but only $6 to $7 million is being paid because of difficulties in collecting it."

"There are laws protecting the individuals that aren't paying. We can't garnish wages and there is no system that provides for an employee to authorize a voluntary assignment of his wages for child support payments. We have to rely on the individual."

"If he defaults, the only recourse available to us is to cite him for contempt of court. He will either make arrangements to repay the withheld support or he will be jailed and fined which doesn't solve the problem because he can't pay child support from a jail cell."

"A better deal would be a voluntary wage assignment program. The man would request the deductions and we would collect them from the employer. This method has been highly successful in other states."

Another problem in collecting child support in Texas, he said, is that the defaulter, employed or unemployed, is allowed a $15,000 to $30,000 personal property exemption. He may refuse to pay child support, alleging that he can't afford to pay, yet he is permitted to retain up to $30,000 in assets before the state can seize any property in lieu of child support.

He said that if child support enforcement is to be effective, then counties and states are going to have to join efforts and cooperate in enforcing what he says is a basic responsibility.

"Each parent has the duty of support. The vast majority of single-parent households are women and children. The father has a duty to help support those children according to his ability to pay."

"We've got a good start with this program," he said. "But the Texas system needs updating in order to make the program more effective. Family laws are not uniform from one area of the state to another. We need to approach this problem of non-support on a statewide basis."

He felt that the best way to achieve that end would be through a state congressional committee.

"It is my future hope that through committee, a more uniform application of the laws throughout Texas will be possible," he concluded. "Family law starts here."

Enforcing child support for legitimate children is difficult. Enforcing it for illegitimate children is even harder. Laws designed to protect innocent men also protect the guilty, says Mark Hoover in Part III.

Grand jury recommends trial as adults

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A Nueces County grand jury has asked the county attorney to study possible adult certification of five juvenile girls who admitted stabbing another girl at one of evangelist Lester Roloff's child care homes. Such certification could result in their standing trial as adults.

The panel's actions followed more than two hours of testimony Thursday by Roloff. However, the fundamentalist preacher declined to speak to newsmen before or after his appearance before grand jurors.

The grand jury cannot indict the girls because they were all minors at the time of the attack, said Nueces County Attorney Mike Westergren.

If juvenile authorities certify the girls as adults, the matter will be returned to the grand jury for possible indictments in the stabbing of Misty Hardman of Kansas, a former resident of the Rebekah Home for Girls.

The stabbing, which went unreported at the time, was publicized in a recent article in the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, which interviewed the girls. Roloff said he didn't report the stabbing because the girls found Christ immediately after the incident and he feared that publicity would cause the home to be closed.

Police beat Cold cuts caper cleared

The manager of the Giant Food Store, 611 Lamesa Highway, was almost clobbered with some cold cuts, 3 p.m. Thursday.

According to reports, manager Rusty Hull, 2003 Morrison, tried to detain two local women who were walking out of his store with 24 1/2 pounds of various cuts of meat. The younger of the two women bit Hull on the left forearm, and tried to hit him with a 12-ounce package of ground beef.

Luckily police arrived, and arrested the women. Both face charges of theft, and the younger may be charged with assault.

An acetylene torch, its trailer and two fuel tanks were stolen from the back yard at the home of George Current, 3622 Hamilton, early this week. Loss was estimated at $350.

Thieves stole four wheel covers from a 1979 Pontiac Trans Am parked on the lot of the Pollard Chevrolet Dealership, 1501 E. 4th, this week. Owners later discovered two of the wheel covers in a ditch near the used car building, but the two others valued at $50 are still missing.

A thief also ripped off a large bottle of water from Joe Allen's front porch, 1221 E. 16th, 4:10 p.m. Thursday. Loss was estimated at $5.

Two mishaps were reported Thursday. Vehicles driven by Jimmie Barrier, Gail Route, and Teresa Gonzales, 400 N.W. 11th, collided on the South Service Road of IS 20 and Highway 350, 7:25 p.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to Jimmy Fortune, 1200 Nolan, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at 400 Westover, 8:28 p.m.

Probationers required to enroll in course at HC

The 118th District Court is writing alcohol-related probationers that have begun since May 1 a new condition that requires probationers to attend a course entitled "Drinking and Driving." The condition is imposed on felony probationers and transfer misdemeanor cases from other counties.

The course is a collective effort of the probation office and the continuing education department of Howard College. Frank Martinez, adult probation officer, said 10 probationers would attend the first course and that if it worked well other probationers would be required to attend future courses.

The course will deal with the "social, personal and physical dimensions of drinking and driving," according to Cheri Sparks, director of the continuing education program. She said the course is not geared strictly to alcoholics and that family of probationers could benefit by attending.

The course will be held June 14, 21 and 28 at Howard College from 6 to 9:30 p.m. in the Horace Garrett library. The public is invited.

Dr. Charles D. Hays, president of Howard College and chairman of the Rodeo Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, said today that for the first time since the late 1960s, the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo will again name a queen for the event, which is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. performances, June 20 through 23.

A trophy, a scholarship to Howard College, and an opportunity to appear with outstanding entertainers and ride in the June 20 parade will be awarded the young woman judged tops in horsemanship, poise, personality and dress.

Eligible to enter are single women from the area, ages 16 to 24. A sponsor is not mandatory but each contestant will be asked to be responsible for her own mount, travel and accommodations.

Unger, Grice circulating petition

A group of citizens headed by J. Walter Unger and Walter Grice are planning to circulate a petition for an enclosed fishing dock, which would be located near the spillway at Moss Creek Lake and would be suitable for year-round use.

The fishhouse would be reserved primarily for use by senior citizens and handicapped persons, including those confined to wheel chairs. A small fee would be exacted from people who fish within the enclosure.

Big Spring Rodeo Queen contestants are scheduled to meet the judges at a luncheon, Wednesday, June 20, and will go from the luncheon to the rodeo arena where they will be judged on their horsemanship skills.

The queen will be crowned in ceremonies during the Friday evening performance of the rodeo and will reign until the same time next year when her successor will be named.

Young women interested in entering are asked to call Claudene Floyd, office manager of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, (915) 263-7841. Cut-off date for entries is June 13. All entries are requested to submit a black and white photograph along with a resume.

Names of judges will be announced at a later date.

BSISD board members hear presentation at special session

A presentation on the Policy Reference Manual, a service of the Texas Association of School Boards, was heard by Big Spring School Board members at a special meeting Thursday evening.

The service offers 20 manuals, three yearly update packets that reflect current state legislative actions and localization of the packets to meet the needs of the individual school districts. Initial cost of the service will be approximately $3,500 with the option localization service costing about $100 a year.

Any changes that occur in state law that would be immediately instituted would be made known to the school districts by the TASB. The service, which also includes delivery of the materials and staff access, would be renewable on a yearly basis every Sept. 1 at a cost of $250.

Kathy Williams, TASB representative, made the presentation. Coahoma and Stanton school districts use the service. Their cost is lower than that for BSISD because they are smaller districts and have less policies and fewer manuals, Ms. Williams said.

Trustees will wait until the next regular business meeting to take action on the service.

Posse stops for ice cream

By MICKIE DICKSON

The Bexar County Sheriff's Posse stopped in Comanche Trail Park here Thursday for ice cream on their way to the 1979 Special Olympics State Track and Field Meet in Austin, May 28, 29 and 30.

Each year since 1973 this group of dedicated men ride horseback non-stop, 24 hours a day for five days preceding the Special Olympics, carrying the Special Olympics flag and torch, two at a time, to the opening ceremonies of the meet.

Leader of the Sheriff's Posse Jim Coleman said, "When we started doing this in 1973 only 1,400 children participated in the Special Olympics. This year there will be about 3,450 participants."

The posse makes a stop at each State School on the trail and asks the teachers what they need, if anything, to get their severely handicapped and retarded students to Austin. If money is needed, the city puts on a fund-raising dinner or other event and the Sheriff's Posse participates, making speeches, etc. to help raise the necessary funds.

This year the Sheriff's Posse started their trail in Lubbock where a young lady lit the torch Wednesday morning. This same torch will be carried all the way to Austin and used by the same young lady to light the big Olympic torch which will officially start the Special Olympics Track and Field Meet Monday at 6 p.m.

The Special Olympics program has an ultimate goal to create opportunities for sports training and athletic competition for all mentally handicapped citizens.

Recent scientific research has shown that physical activities, sports and competitive athletics are a major means of reaching the mentally handicapped. It is an area where they can succeed and start building a positive self-image, gaining confidence and self-mastery as well as physical development. As an individual improves their performance in the gymnasium and on the playing field, they also improve their performance in the classroom, at home and eventually on the job.

The Special Olympics motto is, "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt."

Coleman says that many of the civic groups along the trail help them to promote the Special Olympics. The Texas Association for Retarded Citizens, the Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis, Optimists, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Teens Aid the Retarded and many others are active and involved with the cause.

Special Olympics on a local and district, as well as the state level, have provided the participants with opportunities to improve their field and track skills for the big meet in Austin.

Voters may agree with 6-year term idea

President Jimmy Carter might be surprised to learn how the rank-and-file in the country agree with his suggestion that presidents be limited to one-six year term in office.

Carter, of course, didn't originate the idea. It has been discussed for many years. Nothing much has come of the proposal, however. If the change is made, it will come about through a constitutional amendment approved by three-fourths of the legislatures in the 50 states.

THE PRESIDENT'S basic reason for support of the proposal is sound: Carter thinks that an incumbent president wouldn't have to dilute his work and take on added burdens by having to stew about reelection.

This single factor is more important to good government and our national life than would seem apparent. A less than objective chief executive also could make important decisions not always based on what is best for the country, but rather on how it would affect his chances to be returned to office.

Too, it should be remembered that when incumbent presidents are seeking reelection, they must turn over a lot of work to a special cadre of high-octane 'salesmen' who often include well known national figures. This unit, as was the case in Richard Nixon's CREEP (Committee to Reelect the President) answers to no one and occasionally gets so carried away with its goal that it is sometimes less than honest. That very thing happened with Nixon's platoon in 1972 and eventually led to Watergate and all of its attendant scandal.

PERHAPS THE IDEA shouldn't be limited to presidents alone, perhaps it could apply to all people who occupy national office. Certainly if members of the Senate and the House were not pre-occupied with the task of trying to get elected again, many might vote very differently on legislation that is vital to the nation.

The time limit on their offices would also bring about radical changes in the seniority system. Up to now members of both houses have become deeply entrenched in public office and have come to exercise such power that they can bottle up good legislation that does not serve their political ambitions.

If the nation adopted a six-year term for all national politicians, the motivation for seeking office — in many instances — might be greatly changed.

For the articles

Around the rim

James Werrell

Of course, there are plenty of subjects to write about: Inflation, gas rationing, Salt II, my cat.

But somehow, with the warm arms of summer gently taking me in their embrace, my mind wanders to more important issues.

I am certain, for example, that although it is less revealing, a one-piece bathing suit can be just as sexy on a woman as a bikini. Perhaps it is the allure of the unseen, that hint of mystery that allows for creative meanderings of the mind's eye.

Why is it that everybody who reads "Playboy" does so because of the informative articles, the excellent fiction and the uproarious jokes and cartoons? I'm waiting for some guy to say, "Why do I read 'Playboy'?" Because I like to look at pictures of naked women. You don't see any Atlantic Monthlys lying around here, do you?

That doesn't apply to me, of course. I really do read "Playboy" for the articles. Really! Oh, I might glance at the pictures, but...

THEN, ON THE other hand, perhaps it is because the women who look great in one-piece bathing suits would also look great in a gunny sack.

That hint-of-mystery jazz was always a favorite with ministers and youth guidance counselors who had the unfortunate responsibility of trying to drum a sense of moral rectitude among a bunch of libidinous teenagers. The lectures were prepared with words such as "responsibility," "self-control" and "guilt."

In my case, the lectures were held in the basement of a church, and the slow dances that followed there were the big draw.

I never bought the hint-of-mystery part anyway, and could often be found with a friend "reading" "Playboy" magazines that his older brother had brought home from college. After all, Hugh Hefner made a fortunate dispensing with that hint of mystery, and who was I to knock capitalism?

DESPITE THE fact that he has managed to make a lot of money, I have never been able to take Hugh Hefner too seriously. I know he would also be billed as a champion of human rights, and the guru of a healthful sexual permissiveness, but that has always made me feel like a privileged insider on an in-joke.

Come on Hugh, you can tell all those other people that your bunnies are just social workers with tails, but you and I know what you're up to. What's wrong with being the Prince of the Pimp; Pharaoh of the Foldout?

Hefner's PR elicits the same skepticism from me as do those nudists who claim that all they do is play volleyball.

But that's another Rim, and the summer breezes continue to beckon. It is time to consider more important issues. Like whether tight-fitting jeans are any competition for a low-cut evening gown.

Endorsement pay

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — At Jimmy Carter's Baptist church in Washington, the collection plate isn't passed until after the sermon is delivered. Our born-again president followed the same procedure during his 1976 campaign when he was seeking endorsement from black ministers in the San Francisco Bay Area.

According to documents obtained by our associate Dale Van Atta, Carter's campaign staff decided that $1,000 payments to five black "ministerial alliances" might encourage the clerics to endorse Carter from the pulpit. But the clerical groups weren't paid until they had publicly given their endorsements.

The surprising story was confirmed in a statement signed by Robert J. Lipschutz, Carter's campaign treasurer and now White House counsel.

ACCORDING TO the documents, Carter staff aides met with several San Francisco area black ministers in the spring of 1976 to discuss possible support for the former Georgia governor. Some of the ministers said they wanted to support Carter. Rev. Andy Young visited a number of church groups on May 8 to line up the hoped-for support.

While traveling with Young four days later to open up Carter's Sacramento headquarters, campaign staffers discussed "the most effective way of setting up a campaign organization in the black community." Knowing that California Gov. Jerry Brown had locked up most of the state's black elected officials, the Carter people tentatively decided to attempt to maximize the support recently voted by the ministers.

After a week's debate, the staff decided to "disburse $1,000 to each of five ministerial alliances," which would "spend the money on political organization in their areas." But the "quid" was to come only after the "quo" of endorsement.

As Lipschutz's statement reported: "On May 21 Gov. Carter was campaigning in Northern California and attended a press conference, one segment of which was devoted to a public endorsement by the ministers... On the same day, five checks were written on the campaign's Northern California account," payable to the alliances.

The five were the Richmond Interdenominational Alliance, the Hunters Point Baptist Ministers Conference, the Mount Zion District Association and the Baptists Ministers Unions of San Francisco and Oakland.

LIPSHUTZ'S STATEMENT said the intention was that the money be used by the ministers to "organize meetings in churches... arrange gatherings... distribute literature... and encourage clergy to use their pulpits to support Gov. Carter."

Lipschutz's astonishingly frank admission of the attempt to buy support from God's earthly representatives was buttressed by a statement from one black cleric to the effect that he expected to be paid for his endorsement of a presidential candidate. And he said he did not think the request "untoward" — though he didn't want his identify known.

To the credit of the clergymen involved, four of the five alliances returned the Carter "offerings."

The one group that did accept the $1,000 check, the Richmond Interdenominational Alliance, was the subject of a perfunctory investigation by the Federal Election Commission. Though they claimed to have expended their "best efforts," the FEC was unable to reach the organization to get an accounting of the $1,000 contribution.

Despite the possibility of an election rule violation, the commission voted in mid-1978 to drop the matter. An FEC source suggested that the amount was too inconsequential to "cause trouble."

Curiously, in the general audit of Carter's campaign finances, a random sampling of expenditures picked out one of the $1,000 checks for further investigation. But the contribution remains undocumented because, according to the audit files, the only explanation was that the purpose of the payment was a "ministers' conference."

In campaign investigations, as in churches, an essential ingredient is faith.

CHILES VS. CALIFANO: The Senate's relations with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are getting progressively worse, largely because of what some senators feel is the department's cavalier attitude toward Congress.

The Senate Subcommittee on Aging is particularly incensed at the attitude of HEW Secretary Joe Califano and his minions. Committee Chairman Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., recently held his stack at an assistant HEW secretary, who had been called to explain why a report on medical care for the elderly was not only unresponsive but seven months late.

CHILES ASKED the official if he had worked on the tardy report, and the answer was no. Outraged, Chiles refused to let the assistant secretary read the prepared testimony he had brought with him. The senator told him curtly to come back when he could produce someone who had actually worked on the report.

Another member of the Senate Subcommittee on Aging, Sen. William Cohen, R-Me., is about to introduce a resolution rejecting the report on alternatives to institutionalized nursing care for the elderly. It's the first time in history that such an embarrassing resolution will have been introduced — a measure of the Senate's displeasure with "Broadway Joe" Califano and his bureaucrats.

Feelings fanned by dramatization

A poll was taken in West Germany recently and 63 per cent of the people asked said they approved of the 1944 plot to assassinate Adolf Hitler.

The poll was timed to follow the showing of the television dramatization of "Holocaust," a film which showed some of the Nazi outrages against the Jews. The figure compared with 49 per cent who said they favored the assassination plot prior to the showing of the film.

There was no change in one issue projected by the poll: A steady 30 per cent of the respondents said they thought Nazism was a good idea that went bad. The more things change, the more they remain the same.

Portillo, Rip

William F. Buckley, Jr.

It was humiliating enough to hear the words with which President Nixon festooned the totalitarian regime of Mao Tse-tung during the China visit in 1972, and one did well to wince at the effusive cordiality shown by a president sworn to uphold the Bill of Rights toward a regime that celebrates the elimination of every human liberty. But — the power brokers will tell you, and verily they are men of affairs — the United States needed a liaison with China, and so an appropriately oleaginous rhetorical mode was in order. But why does Mexico need Cuba?

One is not even aware that President Jose Lopez Portillo is a cigar smoker; but even if he is, surely he could have managed to get Cuban cigars without referring to Castro as a "liberator" of his people? Sugar? Sugar is one of the few things Mexico is practically self-sufficient in.

WHAT ELSE does Cuba export? Mostly people. Ten per cent of the Cuban people have reacted to the "dignity" Lopez Portillo announced that Castro brought to his people by fleeing Cuba. Leaving Cuba without their property, leaving behind, often, members of their families; rather than bear the oppressions of life under Castro. It is not easy to think of another country ten per cent of whose population has left, often risking their lives in creaky old sailboats in order to cross the Cuban most to liberty.

But Lopez Portillo hardly needs more people. Approximately ten per cent of the Mexican population has crossed the Mexican border into the United States — not to escape oppression, in any normal sense of the word, but to seek a better life, with economic opportunity provided by the freedoms Castro went to Mexico to excoriate. The President of Mexico, who a few weeks ago was publicly rude to the President of the United States, addressed the President of Cuba by saying, "It is a privilege for me, as president of my country, to salute you and receive you." It is hard to know just what to make of this. If Lopez Portillo was making realpolitik, then we must suppose that Cuba has got hold of something truly intimidating. What? A nuclear arsenal? This has been alleged, though not proved: we do, of course, know that the bombs brought into Cuba by Khrushchev in 1962 would easily have reached Mexico City.

But in the absence of power politics, what is Lopez Portillo up to? One must suppose that it is humiliating to a man who disapproves of torturing people, who disapproves of holding huge numbers of men in concentration camps, of denying any liberty whatever to his people — publicly to praise the work of one of the two or three most finished totalitarians of the century? When Qaddafi defended Colonel Amin — right to the end — Qaddafi embarrassed most of the civilized world. But he was dismissed, and has long since been dismissed, as a fanatic of sorts, whose international adventures are never quite predictable.

UGANDA HAS NOW been liberated from Amin, but the traces of Amin's bloody work are everywhere. I warrant that Fidel Castro could match Amin atrocity-for-atrocity. Over a period of 20 years Fidel Castro has easily kept up with the premier oppressors of the century. As between Amin and Castro, however, there is simply no questioning the relative moral superiority of Amin. Because Amin was simply a loudish, depraved, sadist, about whom one can develop sentiments of the kind we feel about Jack the Ripper or Caligula.

Fidel Castro is far worse — in that he rationalizes what he does.

New psoriasis treatment being tried

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I'm a victim of psoriasis and have it badly on my hips and legs. I have not been helped by my doctors. My latest doctor is giving me a cream diprosone to use three times a day. It's not doing any good. I cannot wear a dress because of the appearance. You are my last resort. I would appreciate any new information you have on this problem, which I assume many others have. — Mrs. J.B.

According to statistics from the National Psoriasis Foundation 2 to 4 percent of the population has psoriasis. The problem, as you probably know, is rapid growth of the cells of the outer skin. Normal skin cells mature and shed in about a month. With psoriasis the process takes only from six to eight days, and the skin cells never really do mature but form scales instead (plaques). Psoriasis has plagued mankind since ancient times. The traditional treatment for many years has been tar and ultraviolet light. Many variations of this have been tried. For example, newer drugs help by making the skin more sensitive to ultraviolet light. Other drugs have been tried to slow down cell growth. Cortisone in plastic wraps have helped some patients. Your Diprosone (betamethasone dipropionate) is one of the newer steroid drugs being tried.

Research continues, thanks in part to efforts of the National Psoriasis Foundation. That organization has been immensely helpful to many psoriasis patients, in researching new treatments, offering tips and providing general information about the problem. You can write them at the following address: 6415 SW Canyon Ct., Suite 200, Portland, Ore. 97221. The first time the foundation's address was given here they got 2,000 letters in one day, indicating both the extent of the problem and just how serious patients are in wanting to know more about it. As a matter of fact, the total mail response was so high they moved into new larger quarters. They didn't mind.

To answer the most often asked question about psoriasis — no, it is not contagious.

Dear Dr. Ruble: When I was 17 I had pelvic inflammatory disease. I was in a hospital for a week. My doctor told me then that if I had trouble having a baby later on that would be the reason. But recently I heard of another woman who had pelvic inflammatory disease, only it was called "gonorrhea." I have been on the Pill for four years, but I have the nagging idea that I am sterile. I have had Pap smears since but was not told I had "P.I.D." — or whatever they call it. Please unconfuse me. — K.M.

1. Gonorrhea causes pelvic inflammation.

2. Not all pelvic inflammation is gonorrhea.

Your guess is as good as mine as to what you had when you were 17. Was your doctor sparing you the unpleasant word "gonorrhea"? I doubt it. Doctors usually tell patients if they have a venereal disease. The reason is there's a partner involved who needs the same information.

Early treatment cures gonorrhea. The question remaining is what, if any, damage was done? If tubes were infected, they might be blocked and you would be infertile.

My advice? Forget "P.I.D." or gonorrhea, or "whatever it was." Have a thorough pelvic examination. Special tests will tell the state of your pelvic organs. Go back to the doctor who treated you years ago and ask him the question you asked me. His records should "unconfuse" you.

Dear Dr. Ruble: My mouth and throat got so dry, especially at night to the point where it hurts when I swallow. What can one do? — H.E.

You tell me very little. A good point to begin is with a room humidifier. An arid environment can be troublesome, especially for elderly folks. The hot dry air of winter, mouth breathing, medication and other medical problems can be involved.

Vaginitis can strike any woman at any time in her life. You can read about the causes — and cures — for this troublesome complaint in the booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Allment." To get a copy, write to Dr. Ruble, in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Editor: I wish to express my appreciation to all the members of the Big Spring City Council and Chamber of Commerce. The support given to the Big Spring Arson Division has been overwhelming. Their backing and enthusiasm will most certainly make arson clearance rates a reality.

As with any crime prevention agency, the support of the community is a must for its success. Once again, my thanks and my complete devotion are offered to these and all Citizens of Big Spring.

Ricky Womack Arson Investigator City of Big Spring

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: How do you know when the Lord is speaking to you and how do you tell what He wants you to do? — T.B.

DEAR T.B.: Each of us needs the guidance of God in our lives. Yet it is all too easy to neglect His leading, or else to misread what He wants us to do.

The first step in knowing what God wants us to do, I believe, is to be sure in our hearts that we are willing to do His will. It may seem illogical — and it is — but all too often we can pray for God to show us His will, when we really have no intention of carrying it out unless it happens to coincide with what we were planning to do all along. Why should God show us His will when we are not willing to do it? (He may still reveal it, of course, so that we will be without excuse if we disobey Him. But we must never assume He will show us if we are not willing to be shown.)

Then we need to remember that He has already revealed His will to us in the Bible. The Bible is God's Word and it tells us much about the will of God for our lives. "Thy word is truth," the Bible says (John 17:17). If you do not know the Word of God, you will not really be able to know fully the will of God for your life. But if you understand its principles and seek to apply them to your life, then you will know what it means to live according to the will of God.

As we face decisions about everyday problems we will want to ask God to guide us. How does He do this? In some situations He may guide us through our circumstances. He will place us in a situation where doors will close and others will open as we seek His will. Also, God may use other more mature Christians to help us as we seek their advice. Finally, we may sense an inner prompting as the Holy Spirit guides us.

Never forget God's promise: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths" (Proverbs 3:5-6).

Diploma recall

MITCHELL, S.D. (AP) — About 200 of the 277 seniors who graduated from the high school in Mitchell, South Dakota, will have to give back their diplomas — at least temporarily.

It wasn't until the diplomas were handed out Wednesday that some students found they had just graduated from Mitchell High School in Mitchell, North Dakota.

The school principal said he expects the diplomas to be replaced by the company that supplied them.

Maximo, come home

BAY-CITY, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Zoo wants more than a hand in the hunt for Maximo's remains — it wants the whole gorilla back.

When the 538-pound gorilla died, the zoo planned to entomb Maximo as a skeletal exhibit in the Great Ape House. But anthropologists wanted an anatomical look at the ape. So, the Bay City Times reports, a former zoo director agreed to lend Maximo for a few days.

Four years later, Joe Morgan, new deputy director, learned that much of Maximo was scattered around the country. And he started a search.

It turned out there was a hand and an arm at Detroit's Wayne State University, a leg in Massachusetts and an unidentified limb in St. Louis. The head has been reported to be at both Michigan State and the University of Michigan.

Maximo died from a bacterial infection and pneumonia. He and his mate were such favorites that they were given television privileges.

Sorry, no feathers

BOSTON (AP) — Got a hankering for a red light bulb or some body lotion? The U.S. attorney's office may have just the thing.

The office is preparing to sell massage tables, bubble bath crystals and 17 red lightbulbs seized from massage parlors in three New England states under a racketeering law.

Also on the list are a jet spray machine, pillows, combs, mirrors, instant cameras, a dart set, baby powder and lots of towels.

The supplies probably will be auctioned this summer, says Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard Glosky. The owners were convicted of plotting to muscle their way into control of a network of massage parlors.

Glosky said he was disappointed that no feathers appeared on the itemized list published this week in a Boston newspaper.

Self-taught artist to show work here

Fort Worth native David Brownlow, a self-taught artist who has painted since childhood, has received over 40 prizes and awards. His work, along with over 20 other artists will be displayed at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday from 7-10:30 p.m. for the Champagne Art Benefit.

Although Brownlow has taught painting at the Fort Worth Art Museum, he says he acquired his own art education from public library books. Having painted full time since 1957, Brownlow is listed in "Art in America" as outstanding.

His work is represented in the permanent collections of the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, The Fort Worth Art Museum, The Beaumont Art Museum, The Worcester Art Museum, Massachusetts, and The Junior Service League of Longview, Nicholson Memorial Library.

Brownlow attempts to combine his feelings of the subject, with a semi-realistic view of the topic being presented. His attempts, which are prized by art collectors throughout Texas, have brought him state and national attention.

Anyone interested in purchasing tickets, $15 per person and $25 per couple, may do so by contacting Jan Morgan at 263-1062.

Bill prohibiting evidentiary searches sent to governor

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Legislators sent to the governor Thursday a measure that would prohibit police from using evidentiary search warrants in offices of a newspaper, magazine or broadcast station.

Senators on Thursday passed the bill by Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, 28-1. The only opposition was from Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas.

Representatives earlier approved the measure, 108-12.

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, who sponsored the measure in the Senate, said it would prevent law enforcement officers from searching news office if there was no evidence reporters and other employees were involved in criminal action.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled last year that police could search a news media office for "evidence" of a crime even though the office's only connection with any criminal activity was through its news coverage.

In its decision, the court said that the state could adopt special protections for the freedom of the press. Jones said his bill fit that category.

Since the court's ruling, Connecticut, Nebraska and New Jersey also have passed such laws.

Rep. Temple hires political pros to raise funds for state campaign

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Frustrated by his six years as a member of the Texas House of Representatives, Rep. Arthur D. (Buddy) Temple III of Diboll is looking to expand his activities in state government.

Temple has hired the political consulting firm of Jack Martin and John Rogers to raise funds for a campaign against Railroad Commission Chairman John Poerner.

Poerner could not be reached for comment and hasn't announced his plans. But he is expected to seek reelection.

Bill Wright of Houston has been designated as Temple's campaign treasurer. Wright, former assistant to Gov. Dolph Briscoe, currently runs an office for independent oil operators Jack Warren and Allen King.

Martin and Rogers orchestrated John Hill's unsuccessful 1978 campaign for the governorship. Martin and Wright both worked on Uniformity tax on property bill squeaks through

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Wayne Peveto's crusade for greater uniformity in property taxation was at its final hurdle today, but it was a formidable one.

His third and latest effort, nicknamed "Grandson of Peveto," squeaked through the House Thursday, 65-63.

Its next stop is the Senate, which must decide whether to approve changes made by the House in the bill that senators approved earlier in the legislation session.

Last session, it was the Senate that stopped the bill's progress after Peveto, D-Orange, nursed it through the House.

Senate approval of the changes would send the bill to Gov. Bill Clements, who has endorsed its key provisions.

The principal House amendment on which senators must decide inserted in the bill several provisions — also contained in other legislation — implementing parts of the 1978 Tax Relief Amendment.

Peveto said they amount to nothing more than provisions already accepted by a House-Senate conference committee.

Major provisions of the booklength bill would:

- Establish one office per county to appraise taxable property for all cities and taxing districts, including school districts.
- Wipe out the 10 cents per $100 state property tax by setting its assessment ratio at .0001 percent of market value of real estate. This is so low, Peveto said, that the tax would produce only $25,000 in revenue per year, compared with about $50 million now.

Sure, one of these days I'll be marching out in cap and gown with a diploma in my hand to take my place in that world of ours. Lots of things I'll be needing then besides a degree.

I'll need what they call character! And a sense of values! I'll need ethical principles, moral standards. A deep awareness of the meaning of duty, of honesty, of integrity. And on the way to all of these I'll need to discover a Faith by which to live.

There are strong churches in our community, with fine programs of religious education. I think my parents expect to start me in Sunday School. But I have yet commenced. My most important beginning hasn't begun. Please Dad! Please Mom! Think about my commencement.

St. Paul celebrates 50th year

St. Paul Lutheran Church will mark its 50th anniversary Sunday with a special 10:40 a.m. service.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Carl Heckmann, Executive Director of Church Development for the Texas District of the Lutheran Church. He will conduct the special anniversary services and will speak about his job of gathering funds to start new mission churches in the district.

Prior to receiving his current appointment, Heckmann served as president of the district for 15 years. He has also served as Executive Director of Stewardship for the district.

Part of a family of ministers, Heckmann served as a pastor of the Lutheran Church for a number of years.

The anniversary of the church is also a special anniversary for some of its congregation who are charter members. They include Walter and Evelyn Pachall, Mrs. Alma Foster and Reinhold Weinkauff. Another long-time member is Albert Hohertz who has been attending ever since he moved to Big Spring in 1938. There will be a potluck lunch at noon.

Anti-abortion sentiments increasing

CHICAGO (AP) — Survey data indicate resistance to abortion is increasing, reports the National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago.

It finds that the percentage of the population approving abortions for unmarried mothers dropped from 50 percent in 1977 to 41 percent in 1978, while those approving abortion for married women who want no more children dropped from 47 percent in 1977 to 40 percent in 1978.

Singing group appears at Elbow

"Cornerstone," a singing group from Amarillo, will conduct a musical worship service at Central Baptist Church at Elbow Sunday.

The artists have presented their conventional gospel music to congregations of many churches in Texas and other states. They have also recorded a record album.

A covered dish noon meal will follow the 11 a.m. service. The Rev. Bill Ballard, pastor of Central Baptist, welcomes the public.

'I don't have all the answers' Ex-drug user wants to help youth

"I used to smoke pot, drank a lot and fought all the time," said Keith Kucifer, a summer youth director, "but then I went out on a retreat in my junior year of high school and it completely turned my life around."

KEITH KUCIFER

Kucifer, a junior at Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, feels that his own experiences with adolescent pressures will help him to help others as the summer youth minister for Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Kucifer will be working with the Rev. Phillip McClendon, pastor of the church, and Bill Rogers, minister of education and youth.

His summer plans for the 50 to 60 church youth include fellowship retreats, camps, an evangelism conference in Fort Worth, choir, Bible studies, visitation, a visit to Hardin-Simmons University, a rock-a-thon, carwash, and an end-of-summer banquet.

"One thing that I like to do is counseling with kids and parents having problems," he said. "We will be moving to the new church and I'll have an office there. I'll be available to help the kids or do anything that I can. I want to be of service in any way I can."

Kucifer has earned a Certificate of License from Calvary Baptist Church at Dumas. He is majoring in sociology and minoring in speech at Hardin-Simmons and plans to make a career of youth ministry.

Kucifer, whose parents and three younger brothers live in Pampa, said that growing up was rough for him. His parents, however, were active in the church which had some influence on him. His father was a Deacon.

Women rabbis not unlawful

NEW YORK (AP) — At the request of the faculty of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, chancellor Gerson D. Cohen has postponed until 1980 action on proposals to admit women as candidates for ordination as rabbis in Conservative Judaism.

A commission set up by Cohen, after exploring the issue for a year, reported it found no reason in Jewish law barring women from the rabbinate. But the faculty — both those opposing and favoring the step — asked more time to consider the change.

AN ALTERNATIVE TO ABORTION
In a letter to the Editor of the Press Herald, Marguerite E. Ouellette of Sach, called the public's attention to a recent headline in the daily press that proclaimed "U.S. Duty to Promote Sex Education" and further quoted Commissioner Calliano as saying, "I think we have an obligation to provide a whole host of alternatives to abortion."
May we ask: What's the problem? Is this too simplistic an answer to the problem? It's biblical in its approach. It's medically sound and safe in its practice. There is no question about its moral implications.
Is it possible that this form of birth-control is no longer taught because it does not require a bureaucratic payroll, and might put too many folk out of work?
It's cheaper than any other form of birth control. It's energy saving. It's tax-free and does not require billions of dollars in federal spending. It's an any real-life involved. We might add: it also stimulates much of the danger of contracting venereal disease.

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAY 26, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day and evening when you are able to articulate very well and express yourself exactly as you wish. Take time to plan a more efficient course of action for the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A day when you can accomplish a great deal in outside activities. You can easily gain personal aims at this time.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find some new outlet that could bring you added income in the days ahead. Set up a better budget that can be easily followed.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Taking part in activities you enjoy is a sensible course of action today. Talk over the future with family members.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can easily handle confidential matters now and get fine results. Your hunches are accurate at this time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Know what is expected of you by good friends and try to please them. You can gain personal aims now if you're not discouraged.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good day to contact an influential person who can help you in career matters. Not a day for foolishly wasting time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are alert now to new opportunities that can help you get ahead in your line of endeavor. Avoid one who is hypocritical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you organize your obligations well, you can rid yourself of them more intelligently. Find a more modern system.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make plans for having more abundance in the days ahead. A better attitude with mate brings excellent results now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Doing those things that friends expect of you will bring about better relations. Take time to improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Think over how best to express your talents more efficiently and derive greater benefits from them. Be logical.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study your surroundings and make plans for improvements. A good time to engage in favorite hobby with congenials.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who is highly sensitive and will understand how to become successful by using the fine talents in this nature to advantage. A most inventive mentality here as well as one with great physical attractiveness.

Nixon selling home

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard Nixon is selling the seaside estate he had once hoped the United States government would want as an historical shrine.

Nixon acquired the 28-acre Casa Pacifica property in 1969 and used it as his Western White House. It became his refuge in 1974 when he quit the presidency.

Retired Army Col. Jack Brennan, Nixon's chief aide, said in a statement Thursday that the former president and his wife Pat will move from their 12-room Spanish-style home to a less expensive new home nearby which was recently purchased for a reported $650,000 by Miami millionaire Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo. Rebozo is a long-time friend of Nixon.

Brennan said the Nixons and manufacturer Robert Abplanalp, another long-time millionaire friend of Nixon's, had agreed to sell the estate to a group of Orange County businessmen. Abplanalp holds a major interest in the 26-acre property.

The selling price and the identities of the individual purchasers were not disclosed.

In December 1973, the Nixon family had announced its intentions to leave the San Clemente property to the government for public use.

But Brennan said Thursday that the government had shown no interest in it for an historical site, as the Nixons had hoped.

When they decided to sell the estate, Brennan said, the Nixons chose not to put it on the open market for fear it might be exploited for commercial purposes.

According to Brennan, the Nixons will be leaving the 12-room home because they are unable to afford the cost of maintaining the house and grounds, and because overseeing its care has become too burdensome for Mrs. Nixon. She suffered a stroke in July 1976.

Brennan said Nixon's new home will be one of about 50 in a private compound known as Cypress Shores.

The seaside estate, at the south edge of San Clemente, was bought by Nixon and Abplanalp in 1969 for a total $1.5 million. The property includes 26 acres, of which the Nixons personally own 4.8 acres.

At 79, She's Taking Correspondent's Course

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 79. I live in the same apartment building with a very fine gentleman. We've become very good friends. He is married but has a legal separation from his wife. She won't consent to a divorce unless he gives her a very large settlement, which he doesn't want to do as he figures he may outlive her. (She's 82 and he's 83.) I am not entirely at ease with this man since I am afraid his wife might sue me, and I have a pretty nice savings account. She's very clever and I have heard that she still watches him like a hawk. He takes me out to dinner, and I have him in for meals. We play a little cards, watch a little TV, and when it comes to romance, he is unbelievable! I think you get the picture, but I'm not looking for trouble — just companionship.

DEAR BEA: Ask your lawyer how much "companionship" the law allows a man in your neighbor's circumstances. I think I get the picture, but if you aren't careful, you could get the frame.

Wedding bells in your future? Whether your lifestyle is bridal gown or blue jeans, Abby lays it all out for you in her booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (25 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

EAGERLY AWAITING — Left to right, Julie Dudley, Karen Jones, Tracy Spence, Debbie Archer, Christy Matthews and Garry Spence are anxious, awaiting the Big Spring Country Club Splash Day which will take place tomorrow from noon until 6 p.m. A disc jockey will be on hand and everyone will be treated to ice cream. A hamburger buffet dinner will conclude the evening. All members are asked to participate.

Dirty flowers won't win a flower show

Mrs. J.F. Sanders hosted a Rosebud Garden Club luncheon at the Big Spring Country Club, May 22. The tables were decorated with lavender cosmos and pink begonias.

Plans were made to plant a flowering crabtree near the lake in Coahoma and Trail Park. The club was also a sponsor of a horticultural display booth at the Howard County Fair. Johnnie Lou Avery presided over the club's 1500 spring meeting.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH WHITE

Golden Anniversary will be celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph White will be honored Sunday at the Coahoma State Bank from 2-5 p.m. The event to be celebrated is the couple's Golden Wedding Anniversary and members of their family are hosting the reception. Ralph White and Kathryn Lay were married May 26, 1929 in the Methodist parsonage in Coahoma by the Rev. Johnson, pastor. Mrs. White is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Lay. She came to Coahoma in 1924. Mr. White, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James L. White, moved to Howard County in 1923. The couple have farmed and ranched in the Coahoma area since their marriage and reared one son, the late Wayne Thomas White. Mr. and Mrs. White are members of the Coahoma Baptist Church in which Mr. White has been a member 53 years having served as a deacon, Sunday School superintendent and teacher. He has also served as Howard County Commissioner and has worked extensively with the 4-H and FFA programs. Mrs. White has been a member of the church for 50 years having worked in the nursery and business department. The serving table will be draped with white cutwork linen cloth over gold Gables wedding bells will enhance the setting as centerpiece. Crystal and gold appointments will be used. All friends and relatives are cordially invited to attend.

Avid quilt designer receives recognition

Mrs. Ina Cowan of Munday, Tex., was the honoree at an Open House on the Don McKinney farm May 18. Mrs. Cowan shared her quilt collection with 208 guests who registered on friendship quilt blocks. She is a retired school teacher of over 40 years and has pieced and designed over 300 quilts for her own private collection.

Of the 88 quilts and afghans on display, Mrs. Cowan featured the log cabin pattern, showing the different patterns of sunshine and dark. She has never sold any of her creations, though she gives them as gifts to friends and relatives. Many charities have also received some of Mrs. Cowan's quilts.

Mrs. Don McKinney was assisted in the house party by two of Mrs. Cowan's aunts, Mrs. Ina Bob Gressett, Comanche and Mrs. Aurelia Sheedy, Coahoma. Other house party members were Mrs. R. Hughes, Midland; Mrs. H. Fryar, Mrs. P.V. Sheedy, Mrs. D. Griffith, Mrs. R. Shive, Mrs. L. Gannaway, Mrs. C. Choate, Mrs. M. Day, and Mrs. J. Barr.

Also helping were Mrs. G. Richardson, Mrs. C. Rupard, Mrs. A. Wilson, Mrs. R. Ethridge, Mrs. W. Shive, Mrs. G.L. Davis, Frances Bartlett, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. E. Garrett, Mrs. M. Dorn, Mrs. P. Allen and Mrs. P. Thomas.

Concluding the list of hostesses were Mrs. J. Harmon, Mrs. J. Cauble, Mrs. G. Mitchell, Shellie Dorr, Linda Turner, Robin Ethridge, Paula Allen and Jeanine Shive.

Special guests attending were Mearl Dingus.

Mrs. Rita Longbotham, Guyton, Okla.; and Mrs. Maxie Irland, Big Spring, all sisters of Mrs. Cowan.

The refreshment table featured a Log Cabin quilt cloth with antique jelly glasses and granite ware. A decorated log cabin quilt cake was served to guests. A centerpiece of yellow zinnias accented the table.

Mrs. Cowan was presented a quilted pattern fabric corsage. Members of the house party received butterfly corsages of similar design.

Out-of-town guests attended from Midland, Forsan, Odessa, Andrews, Comanche, Austin, Munday, Fort Worth, Baird, Knott, Abilene and Guyton, Okla.

Good grades advice

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Help! I'm a pretty good student but my grades are just a little above average. Any help you can give me will be appreciated.

Brenda, Fresno, Calif.

For you and all teens who have written about improving grades, read on! Though there are no courses in creative gradesmanship, there are ways for intelligent students to win A's. Some reputedly tough high school instructors reveal tips for "making the grade."

"Be there," says Cleveland Heights, Ohio, language teacher Ariane Vardon. "It may seem obvious, but many students think they can skip classes."

Joseph Hesen, who teaches chemistry in Wilmington, Del., suggests, "Look alert. Bright students look as if they know what's going on. Don't expect to get away with acting, though. Most tough teachers insist they can't be fooled all of the time!"

Don't be afraid to show your ignorance, another teacher advises. "When I find a student who's willing to make a guess that's based on some sort of reasoning, I'm tickled pink. It shows she's not sitting there being spoon-fed."

In note taking, strive for clarity, completeness — and selectivity. "It's the A students who sift out the important points and disregard trivia," declares Chet Guilmet, a history teacher in Birmingham, Mich.

Follow instructions, watch details and do more than the minimum, say teachers from New Jersey, Montana and Missouri. Also, show intellectual curiosity. A teacher in Washington, D.C., says, "My best students point out holes in theories and create their own good examples for concepts they're taught."

Finally, know your true priorities. A Maryland math teacher complains, "A real problem with kids today is that they try to do their work while watching TV."

And, warns a biology teacher from Virginia, "Don't let your social problems take up all of your energies. Save some creative drive for schoolwork!"

JOAN MCCRARY MARRON

Artist is modern day Annie Oakley

"Joan McCrary is the modern day Annie Oakley whose target is paint, brush and canvas."

That is what the Dallas Times Herald had to say of the artistic work of Joan McCrary Marron, just one of many talented and creative artists whose work will be on display Saturday evening from 7:30-10 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club.

The event, given the name Champagne Art Benefit, is a fund-raising project for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Ms. Marron's work will be among that of such renown as Gary Myers, H.C. Zachry and Boyd Graham.

Tickets are available by calling 263-1062. Price is $15 per person and $25 per couple.

Miss Swindell feted at shower

Fifty-one guests registered at the home of Mrs. Ima Dell Williams when Elizabeth Swindell, bride-elect of Matthew King, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower May 21 at 7:30 p.m.

Greeting guests were Mrs. Williams, Miss Swindell, her mother, Mrs. J.E. Swindell; grandmother, Mrs. Kathleen Swindell; the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Bettie Jane King; and his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Newborn.

The honoree, mothers and grandmothers were presented corsages of yellow and peach daisies and carnations carrying out the bride-to-be's chosen colors of peach, yellow and pale green.

Mrs. Ruth Majors and Mrs. Mary Eggleston served the guests from a table laid with floor-length pale yellow cloth accented with a yellow lace overlay. White milkglass and silver appointments were used and a centerpiece of peach roses and baby's breath enhanced by tall peach tapers in white milkglass fluted holders completed the setting.

Mrs. Lila Adkins registered guests, forming a book of "A Bit of Advice" from each one who registered.

Hostesses presented Miss Swindell a bedspread.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Betty Beasley, Mrs. Eva Churchwell, Mrs. Melva Cooper, Mrs. Theo Deel, Mrs. Letha Duke, Mrs. Wanda Jones, Mrs. Ruth Manual, Mrs. Charlotte Norman, Mrs. Maxine Shaffer, Mrs. Neva Shaffer, Mrs. Elouise Watkins and Mrs. Marceline Yeats.

Miss Swindell and King will be married June 16 at 3 p.m. in the Trinity Baptist Church. The Rev. Claude Craven will officiate.

Home and Garden

Something different and delicious this year

The 'art' of artichokes in your garden

Though many folks are unfamiliar with artichokes, these plants are among the most beautiful and versatile additions that you could make to your garden. Their decorative gray-green leaves, stately pineapple-shaped heads, and blue-purple, thistlelike flowers are pretty enough to adorn a flower bed or to be mistaken for a piece of fancy shrubbery ... and there are endless ways to cook 'em!

Artichokes (Cynara scolymus) are usually considered a vegetable, but they're actually an herb of the Compositae family, native to the Caribbean region. The plants were introduced into the United States — in Louisiana and California — by French settlers, Spanish explorers, and Italian immigrants.

Those transplanted herbs found central California particularly to their liking, and — as a result — about 90 percent of all America's commercially grown artichokes are found near Castroville, California... a town that really deserves its title of "Artichoke Capital of the World." The tasty plants thrive in this frost-free region of cool, foggy summers and light, sandy soil ... but artichokes can be cultivated in other climates, too! I know, because I've grown 'chokes in the dry, hot San Fernando Valley as well as in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada... where early and late frosts — and some heavy freezes — are common.

So, if you have rich soil, can protect the plants against freezing, and will mist the leaves to prevent dehydration, chances are that you'll produce a reasonable artichoke crop no matter where you live, and, if you do, the harvest will more than make up for your efforts!

Artichokes can be grown from seed, but this method is "chancy" at best. Although seeds might produce a good plant, they may also yield an herb that has reverted to its thistle heritage... because artichokes don't always grow true to variety.

You can avoid this problem entirely, however, if you transplant sections of rootstock (commonly called "stumps"), or use offshoots (sideshoots) taken from the base of an old plant.

And — if you have a choice — rootstock will produce better plants than offshoots will... since the stumps provide stored nutrients that immediately force new leaf and root growth. A root section of several inches in diameter and six inches or more in length can — if it's planted after spring frosts are over — give you a small crop of artichokes during the very first year.

The sucker offshoots, however — which should be dug in the spring when they're about 10 inches high — take another year or two to produce. And, even if small buds do appear on these plants the first year, they should be pinched back to build up the artichoke's strength for a more productive second season.

DELICIOUS GARDEN ADDITIONS — Artichokes are close to kin to the similarly shaped wild thistle and although they are usually grown for their edible flowerets, artichokes make an attractive addition to any garden. Artichokes are just naturally decorative, as well as delicious.

If you can't get rootstock cuttings from a friend or at your local nursery, you can order them from the following sources:

Giant Artichoke, 11241 Merritt Street, Castroville, California 95012 and California Nursery Company, Niles District, Fremont, California 94536. Prices range from $1.25 to $2.50 per root, and you'll want the variety with tender, delicious green globes. (The purple globes have beautiful flowers, but most people don't consider them worth eating.)

Artichokes need a sunny location, but — in especially hot, dry areas — the plants will do better if they receive some shade during the hottest part of the day. 'Chokes also prefer well drained, friable soil that's heavily enriched with compost and manure. Should you have heavy dirt, it's best to break up the subsoil and "lighten" it with ashes, coarse sand, peat, or grit.

After you've prepared the soil, place your plants three to four feet apart, with the stumps six to eight inches deep and the base of the new leafy shoots just above the ground.

You'll generally find that a half dozen plants will provide enough artichokes for a small family. However, a whole row along a fence would make a practical (and attractive) addition to any garden.

Be sure to keep weeds away from your new plants to prevent competition for soil nutrients, and — since artichokes like nitrogen — feed them several times a season with a mulch of manure and rich compost. Also, you must water the plants frequently and deeply, and mist the leaves any time they show signs of wilting.

Once an artichoke is established, it'll grow and produce vigorously for four or five years. After that time, however, the plant should be dug up and divided, and its rootstock replanted.

Artichokes grow to a height of three feet or more and spread to about six feet in diameter. In the spring, the plant will begin to send up shoots from its permanent crown. (A young artichoke may produce only one shoot, while older plants might send up a dozen or more.) Each individual shoot then forms a cluster of large rosette leaves, a stalk grows from the center of the leaf cluster, and several buds are formed on the elongated stalk.

These globular buds — which are really immature flower heads — contain the parts of the plant that you eat. When they reach anywhere from two to four inches in diameter (and before the individual bud leaves start to open), they should be harvested. To do this, cut the stem at a point about one-and-a-half inches below the base of the bud. (In the California fog belt, artichokes can be picked from early winter through spring. In most regions, however, the buds will not mature until late spring and early summer.)

After all the buds have been harvested from a stem, it will bend over and the leaves will show signs of dying back. When this happens, cut the stem at its base and keep removing these old bearing stalks throughout the year. New shoots will grow from the base of the old stump, and these will develop their own fruiting canes.

If your area suffers from cold winters, you should cut back all of the foliage in late November and protect the plants' crowns. I cover my artichokes with a deep pile of hay, but — in hard-freeze areas — it may be necessary to invert a box filled with mulch over the crown, and then mound soil two feet deep around and over the box. Then, when all danger of frost is past, just remove the box and the mulch, and start "feeding" the plants with a good dose of compost or manure.

The tender base of the bud leaves, the fleshy part of the flower base (the heart), and the tender stem are the edible parts of the artichoke. They can be served hot or cold, and they're delicious... whether marinated, stuffed, pickled, dipped, sauteed, pureed, souffled, dried, fried, or "souped." (Check out French and Italian cookbooks for dozens of ways to prepare this versatile herb.)

I like to serve (and eat!) artichokes as a "finger food" ... dipped in a sauce made of 1 cup of melted butter and ¼ cup of lemon juice. The succulent buds are delicious when eaten this way, and are no trouble at all to prepare.

Boston Bruins fire Coach Don Cherry

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins Coach Don Cherry, bench boss of the so-called workingman's hockey team, is jobless after a feud with his National Hockey League bosses over whether he should answer to players or the front office.

Cherry's close personal ties with the players, and his refusal to act like the brass, caused the split, as the Bruins announced Thursday the coach won't sign a new contract.

Both sides claimed money wasn't the deciding issue.

Bruins President Paul Mooney said at a news conference that the team would have raised the financial ante, but added that "philosophical differences" with Cherry made it useless. The coach was released from his contract that would have expired July 31.

"They thought I was too close to the players," Cherry said from his home. "They thought I wasn't management enough. And it's true. But that's how I won."

"But I've had a lot of different jobs in hockey and anyone who bounces around the minor leagues like I have — well, it makes you tough...You don't change your approach."

The split was finalized during a meeting Thursday between Cherry, Mooney and General Manager Harry Sinden. Cherry denied he has lined up another job.

But he added — perhaps halfseriously — "The best coach in the NHL naturally wants to keep coaching, and they should be standing in line for me."

"We made Don an offer that we felt was in line with the top five coaches in the NHL, (and) we would have been willing to increase that offer to whatever extent was reasonably necessary if, in our opinion, that would have been a determining factor," Mooney said.

BLOCKED — Washington Bullet Wes Unseld reaches to block a shot by Seattle Supersonic Paul Silas during NBA playoff action Thursday night in Landover, Md. The Sonics took the second game of the best of seven series by a score of 92-82.

Sonics use tough trapping defense to even NBA series

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Whatever kind of defense the Seattle SuperSonics were using, legal or illegal, it certainly was effective.

Badgering Washington with traps and double teaming — a tactic which some of the Bullets said merely masked an illegal zone — the SuperSonics scored a 92-82 victory Thursday night and evened the National Basketball Association's championship series at 1-1.

The next two games of the best-of-seven series will be played in Seattle, at the Kingdome on Sunday and at the Coliseum Tuesday night, with the SuperSonics now claiming the homecourt advantage.

"The key to the game was defense," said Seattle center

Jack Sikma, who had 14 points and 13 rebounds in a bruising battle with Washington's Wes Unseld. "Defense is the start of our offensive game."

"We're not a great shooting team," said guard Dennis Johnson, who had 20 points and six assists, "but our defense is first-class. We work very hard on it. As long as we have the defense working for us, we know we can win."

Johnson's theory was put to a severe test when the SuperSonics, after leading 46-33 midway through the second quarter, missed 14 consecutive shots and fell behind 56-49 early in the third period.

At this point, the Seattle defense stiffened and the SuperSonics ran off 11 straight points for a 60-56 lead. During that stretch, Washington missed five shots, had two blocked, and lost possession once on a steal.

Gus Williams scored four of his game-high 23 points during the streak, Sikma had four and John Johnson three of his 17.

"We had a little lapse in the second quarter," said John Johnson. "We've got to make them give up the ball. When Elvin Hayes or Bobby Dandridge hold the ball for 15 seconds, it's like a surgeon getting ready to operate."

Washington's two high scorers were blanked over the final 10 minutes, however, and the Bullets shot only 38 percent in the second half. Dandridge finished with 21, after going 3-for-11 from the field in the second half, and Hayes had 20.

"We didn't function well against their zone defense," said Washington Coach Dick Motta. "We are going to have to regroup and sharpen up against their zone if we are going to win this series."

Alamo City radio stations to help with Moe's fine

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Two local radio stations have begun a drive to collect $3,000 — in pennies — to pay the fine levied against San Antonio Spurs Coach Doug Moe for criticizing National Basketball Association referees.

NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien imposed the fine on Wednesday after Moe criticized the officiating in the sixth and seventh games of the Washington-San Antonio Eastern Conference semifinal playoff series.

The Spurs led the series 3-1, but lost the last three games. Moe was particularly critical of decisions made by referee John Vanak in the seventh game in Landover, Md.

Radio station KTSa has planned a "Dough for Moe" fundraiser on Saturday and station KONO is also collecting money. Spokesmen for the stations claim they'll attempt to collect 300,000 pennies.

It is believed to be the largest fine levied against an NBA coach.

Moe, vacationing in Las Vegas, said about the fine, "Yes, the fine bothers me. I'm not concerned about the money, though. What gets to me is that coaches aren't allowed to speak out when officials do a lousy job. What recourse do we have?"

Angelo Drossos, president of the Spurs, said Thursday the team will not help Moe pay the fine.

Umpires to meet tomorrow

The Big Spring Umpires Association will hold a meeting tomorrow morning at 10:30 at Family's Country Kitchen, president Rocky Viera announced.

It will be a regular meeting, with games for the upcoming week also assigned. Anyone still interested in umpiring this summer is urged to attend.

Morgan's error gives Giants win

Baseball Roundup

Giants 2, Reds 1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "How many times will you see Joe Morgan make a play like that?" asked John McNamara, manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

The play — actually the Reds' latest misplay against the San Francisco Giants — cost the Reds a ballgame Thursday night, giving the Giants their second unearned run of the game and a 2-1 victory.

The answer to McNamara's question is hardly ever. "I've made two errors this year, both against the Giants," said Morgan, who last spring set a major league baseball record for second basemen by playing 91 consecutive games without an error.

He dropped a pop fly by Jack Clark, after backing onto the outfield grass, with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning. Mike Sadek, who had doubled and moved to third on a sacrifice, scored to break a 1-1 tie.

"He slipped getting off the mark, and the wind had to bother him a little," said Giants Manager Joe Altobelli. Morgan said, "The wind had nothing to do with it. I tripped, then started stumbling and never could get my balance. I had to run on my heels, so I was bouncing. The ball hit right in the glove and bounced out."

Brewers 9, Angels 6

Ben Oglivie hit a three-run homer and Sal Bando a solo shot in Milwaukee's five-run third inning. Oglivie crashed his ninth homer of the season after a bunt single by Cecil Cooper and a pop fly by Dick Davis, which fell for a bloop double when second baseman Bobby Grich misjudged it in the wind. Bando hit his third homer one out later, stretching the lead to 7-0 and chasing loser Chris Knapp.

The Angels broke a string of 21 scoreless innings with five runs in the fifth off Milwaukee starter Moose Haas. Jerry Augustine was the winner with a strong relief job.

Rockets sale completed

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Albuquerque businessman George Maloof says he has completed negotiations to buy the Houston Rockets of the National Basketball Association.

Maloof planned to announce the deal today at a press conference in Houston.

Maloof bought the team from Houston Rockets Inc. He plans to keep the team in Houston and operate it under the corporate name of Houston Pro Basketball Co.

The sale is subject to approval of the NBA Board of Governors and the Houston City Council, which must approve a new, long-term lease with Houston Operating Co. for use of the Summit, the 15,676-seat arena where the Rockets play.

Maloof said the deal calls for him to control 12.5 percent of the lease-option with Houston Operating Co.

Ageless A.J. among Indy favorites

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — They fire up those belching, 200 mph monsters in the Indianapolis 500 Sunday and thousands of eyes will be glued on the No. 6 position on the outside of the second row.

There will sit A.J. Foyt Jr., the tough, independent, hardnosed king of the racing ovals, in his sleek Parnelli-Cosworth.

Love him or hate him, fear him or respect him, harass him or hail him, it's impossible to ignore him. Wherever motors whine and wheels turn — midjets, stocks, sports cars, the sophisticated Indy championship machines — there is old A.J., making his engines and his rivals burn.

Frustrated competitors have been waiting 10 years for A.J. to hang up his helmet. He's 44. He's won every prize there is — from the prestigious Indy 500 (a record four times) to the Le Mans Grand Prix (the first time he ever tried). He never runs out of wind — or desire.

"The guy doesn't need the money," the malcontents mutter around Gasoline Alley. "When is he going to hang it up?"

The answer: Maybe never. They'll have to cut him out of one of those crumpled metal thunderbolts.

Which brings to mind a story related by the late Bloys Britt, a Foyt biographer.

In the mid-1960s, A.J., a legend even then, showed up unannounced at a dingy racing oval in the Midwest where the feature was a $400 midget race. A.J. paid the last place starter $100 for his ride.

A buzz swept through the small crowd. The other drivers became indignant.

Foyt heard a couple of guys discussing why a driver of such stature would even stoop to such an insignificant event.

"Obsession," said one of them. "Foyt is driven by obsession."

"Obsession, hell!!" snapped A.J. "I'm driving this car. Let Obsession What's-His-Name get his own ride."

In a perilous profession, he has not been free of personal injury. In the mid-1960s at Riverside, Calif., his car lost its brakes and, rather than ram two cars ahead of him, he looped the machine over a 35-foot embankment.

Industrial slow-pitch cancelled

All Big Spring Slow-Pitch Industrial League games scheduled for tonight have been cancelled. Make-up dates have not been announced.

READY TO GO — Four-time Indianapolis 500-mile winner A.J. Foyt takes off his coat to get in his championship car for practice Thursday. Foyt will start Sunday's race on the outside of the second row. Foyt became the only man to win the Memorial Day classic four times in 1977. He finished seventh last year when Al Unser followed on his heels with his third win.

Top ranked Longhorns hosting NCAA Regional Tournament

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Top-ranked Texas, a three-time national champion, is the host team for the NCAA Central Regional Baseball Tournament, which includes Western Athletic and Southland Conference winners and at-large entry Pan American University.

The tournament opener between Brigham Young, 48-23-1, of the WAC and Lamar University, a Beaumont, Texas, team and the Southland winner, 43-14-1, was scheduled for 1:30 p.m., CDT.

No. 1 Texas, 50-6, was matched against Pan American, 52-10, of Edinburg, Texas, at 7:30 p.m., CDT.

The winner in the double elimination tournament will advance to the College World Series at Omaha, Neb., June 1-8.

"Everyone here has something to prove — we'd all like to go to Omaha," BYU Coach Gary Pullins told a news conference Friday.

Texas may have lost its apparent edge when all-SWC pitcher Rickey Wright hurt his knee so badly in an intrasquad game last Saturday he will miss the tournament. Wright had won 10 and lost 3 and was a .309 hitter.

Coach Cliff Gustafson said when Wright is "right, he can dominate a game, strike out 15 and throw a one or two-hitter against the best team in the nation. You can't replace a guy like that."

BYU enters the tournament with a team total of 90 homers, and all of its regulars are hitting .300 or higher. The attack is built around all-WAC third baseman Murphy Su'a, who is hitting .350 with 22 homers.

"He's had an awesome year with the bat and epitomizes our team," said Pullins.

Bert Bradley, a righthander with an 11-2 record, will start for BYU against Lamar, which had its season interrupted by 19 rainouts.

David C. Smith, a 6-foot-4 sophomore who threw a no-hitter against the University of Louisville and has a 0.94 earned run average, will start for Lamar, which had a winning streak of "20 or more" during the season.

"We have five guys who probably could lay claim to being our No. 1 pitcher at some time during the year," said Coach Jim Gilligan. He said two others also had no-hitters, and a third lost a hitless game when he misplayed a bunt.

Gustafson said he would probably start lefthander Jerry Don Gleaton, the SWC's player-of-the-year, against Pan American. Gleaton is 11-0 and is hitting .375 even though he has had mononucleosis.

Coach Al Ogletree's squad has a pitching staff with the best earned run average in the nation — 2.33 — seven pitchers have won at least six games. Ogletree indicated he would start a lefthander against Texas because "we've heard they give Texas problems."

FRIENDS AGAIN — Former New York Yankees manager Billy Martin, right, shakes hands with Reno sportswriter Ray Hagar after the two announced the settlement Thursday of Hagar's suit against Martin.

Hagar filed suit after being slugged by Martin during a Nov. 10 interview. Bill Myers, president and principal owner of the Reno Bighorns basketball team looks on.

Wadkins takes lead in Memorial Tourney

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — It seemed improbable, if not impossible, for Lanny Wadkins.

His second shot was buried in a bunker in front of the 17th green, a victim of the deplorable playing conditions Thursday in the Memorial Golf Tournament.

Wadkins needed a par 4 to preserve a 2-shot lead at the time. A bogey was more likely.

Instead, the stocky North Carolinian holed the 40-foot wedge shot for a 3-under-par 69, good for a 1-shot lead over king, went for 78. Masters champion Fuzzy Zoeller and U.S. Open titleholder Andy North struggled to 79s. Defending champion Jim Simons skied to an 80.

All of the players, even Nicklaus, blamed the high scoring on the conditions.

"You could see your breath," said Watson. He needs just $124 here to reach $300,000 for a third straight year. First prize is $54,000 in the $329,000 tournament.

"It was just a difficult day," said Nicklaus, still searching for his first victory of 1979.

Wadkins, who conquered the winds of Sawgrass to win the Tournament Players Championship earlier this year, is fast building a reputation as a good poor weather performer.

"No," he insisted, "I don't

Baylor signs all-stater

WACO, Texas (AP) — Kenneth Perkins, an all-state basketball player from Beaumont, has signed a letter of intent with Baylor University, officials announced Thursday.

The 6-7, 215-pound forward averaged 20 points and 16.5 rebounds a game during the 1978-79 season, said Baylor head coach Jim Haller.

Perkins was the third high school all-state basketball player to sign with the Bears.

Unknown leads Corning LPGA

CORNING, N.Y. (AP) — Susan O'Connor is a 30-year-old Californian who has not made much of a mark on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour since turning pro five years ago.

She has not won a tournament and her best finish this year was a tie for 30th in the Sahara National.

But Thursday, she was the only golfer to break par on the tough, rain-soaked, 6,203-yard Corning Golf Club Course and she held a one-stroke lead entering today's second round of the $100,000 Corning Classic, a 72-hole tournament with a first place prize of $15,000.

"I'm very thankful for what I've shot today, but there are still three days left and anything can happen on this course," said O'Connor.

One reason O'Connor cited for her improved play was a sore knee which she claimed improved her swing. She also said the rain actually helped her game.

A birdie on the 18th enabled O'Connor to finish with a one-under-par 69, one stroke ahead of rookie Cathy Sherk.

"This course is the kind that keeps you thinking all the time," said O'Connor, who injured her knee three weeks ago at her Palm Springs, Calif., home. The soreness has made her use her shoulders more while swinging the golf club, she said.

O'Connor gave up golf at the age of 15 and did not pick up a club until nine years later when she turned pro.

Sherk, of Colborn, Ont., said the wet course did not bother her as she finished with a par 70. But Karoly Kertzman, two strokes behind the leader, said the rain did bother her.

Lilie Bug highlights

Ruidoso Downs weekend

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — Lilie Bug, the mare who polished off the Top Deck Stakes earlier this month, returns to duty on Saturday and tries to become the first double stakes winner of the '79 meeting at Ruidoso Downs.

Lilie Bug goes in the Mr. Jet Moore Stakes, a $5,000-added dash which covers 400 yards. The mare will tote the top load of 123 pounds, with Don Knight calling the shots. She'll break from the No. 3 post.

Twelve-race programs get rolling at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. On Sunday, attention centers on the Mesalero-Apache Handicap at 6 1/2 furlongs. Three-year-olds and up will tangle in that one. The enticement is added money of $7,500.

Monday's slate will be spiced by the Memorial Day Handicap, a 5 1/2-furlong spin for three-year-olds. The added purse is $5,000. First post is 1 p.m.

Here's the way they'll step into the gate for Saturday's Mr. Jet Moore Stakes: 1 — High Bid Man, 120 (Jesse Yoakum); 2 — Oh Savannah, 114 (no rider named at entry time); 3 — Lilie Bug, 123 (Don Knight); 4 — Jolly Te, 113 (Tommy Riley); 5 — Mia Splash, 115 (Joe Ober); 6 — The First Edition, 121 (Don Roberson); 7 — Miss Win A Jet, 114 (no boy); 8 — Mighty Deck Too, 118 (no boy); 9 — Lucks Image Girl, 119 (Jackie Martin); 10 — Sister Parr, 116 (Richard Bickel).

Last year, Lilie Bug showed plenty of running ability by going to the post eight times and banging out consistent marks of 2-3-2. The work yielded an income of almost $17,000. The mare kicked off her '79 campaign with three spins in the bush-track circuit, picking up two wins and a close second (by a head) in a stakes.

Lilie Bug made her Ruidoso seasonal bow in the Top Deck Stakes on May 13, got away at just under 6-1, and closed with a big rush to win convincingly by 3/4 lengths. She earned $3,510 out of a gross purse of $5,850.

The First Edition, in with that second-high load of 121, could easily get away as the people's choice. Last time out, the colt went against the mighty Six Te in a trial for the Kansas Derby, and was just caught at the end, and lost by a nose.

Ali meets the press in London

Ali to retire as champion

LONDON (AP) — Muhammad Ali says he will retire soon, but in the meantime, the champ has flown to London to begin his "farewell tour of the world." "I am 37 years old now and that is far too old for a heavyweight," Ali told reporters at Heathrow Airport after arriving Thursday from New York. "Most other world champs retired at 33. I would be foolish to stay on any more." Ali is recognized as champion by the World Boxing Association, but not by the World Boxing Council, which recognizes Larry Holmes.

UCLA wins NCAA tennis title

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — The long and the short of it was that UCLA's Fritz Buehning and Blaine Willenborg each won their singles matches and then combined in doubles to give the Bruins their 13th NCAA team tennis title with a 5-3 victory over Trinity of Texas Thursday.

The 6-foot-6 Buehning beat Trinity's Ben McKown 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 in the No. 1 singles. After Trinity's Erick Iskersky evened the match at 1-1 when he beat Mike Harrington 7-6, 6-1, the 5-foot-7 Willenborg put UCLA back in the lead with a 3-6, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Tony Giammalva in No. 3 singles.

UCLA held a 4-2 lead going into doubles play. The Buehning-Willenborg team battled Trinity's top doubles team of John Benson and Giammalva to a 6-6 tie in the first set and then won the tie breaker 5-3 on a scorching backhand return of service by Willenborg. The Buehning-Willenborg team then coasted to a 6-1 second set victory to clinch the team title for UCLA.

In the consolation match, Stanford's No. 2 doubles team of Scott Bondurant and John Corse squeezed by Tom Cains and Mark Vines of Southern Methodist 7-5, 7-6 to capture third place by a 6-2 score.

The two teams split their six singles matches, but Stanford swept the three doubles matches. Stanford's Peter Rennert and Lloyd Bourne, who also won their singles matches, teamed up to defeat SMU's No. 1 doubles team of Jai DiLouie and Mark Turpin, 6-2, 6-2. Tim Mayotte and Jeff Arons beat SMU's Jeff Turpin and Chris Delaney 6-4, 6-3 in the No. 3 doubles match.

Meanwhile, tournament officials announced Thursday that Kevin Curren of Texas is seeded No. 1 for the individual competition which begins Friday.

UCLA's doubles team of Buehning and Willenborg was seeded No. 1 for the doubles competition.

'Montgomery Ward bill' Names in the news

killed by representatives

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The House has killed, 180-17, the "Montgomery Ward Bill" that would have let department stores sell credit insurance against everything from strokes to credit card thefts.

Montgomery Ward had sought passage of the bill and managed to lobby it through the Senate.

The bill would have enabled department stores to sell insurance that would pay a customer's bill if he died, got sick or lost income because of unemployment or a strike.

The insurance also would have paid bills run up with a lost or stolen credit card. It even would have paid for replacing a purchase that was damaged or stolen.

Rep. Bob Simpson, D-Amarillo, the sponsor, said Montgomery Ward "has indicated it would like the opportunity to offer this. ... I don't know of any other company that has indicated it wants to use it."

"I don't think we have ever dealt with anything that is so special a special interest, where it comes down to one entity that wants this piece of legislation," said Rep. Bob Maloney, R-Dallas.

He said the State Insurance Board wouldn't let Montgomery Ward sell the coverage, so the department store chain came to the Legislature.

Maloney said a customer could not buy just credit life, health and accident insurance but would have to purchase the entire package.

"It's a no-win proposition for the consumer. If a consumer wants credit life, he would have to also buy credit card insurance. If they want a part of the package they have to buy the entire package and have it put on their account and pay 1 1/2 percent a month interest on it," he said.

And, Maloney added, the insurance would be an inducement to add new purchases to one's credit account each month because "you lose your coverage if you ever pay off your Montgomery Ward charge account."

"This is a fraud!" shouted Rep. Betty Denton, D-Waco.

Simpson said a bill repealing a law — such as the one against package credit insurance — "that is not in the public interest is not special interest legislation."

He likened the coverage to homeowners insurance, which provides several kinds of coverage in one policy.

If credit life, health, property and casualty insurance were offered separately, they would cost three times as much as a package combining all of them, Simpson said.

Princess Anne in Lisbon

LISBON, (AP) — Portugal's Ribatejo cattle district came alive with displays of horsemanship and dancing skills when Princess Anne of England arrived.

Anne and her husband, Capt. Mark Phillips, watched from a peasant's cottage Thursday as dancers dressed in traditional costumes kicked up the dust outside. They fed off typical ribatejo fare — eels and pork roasted by open fires.

Later the royal couple, on the third day of their official visit, watched cowboys herd cattle over open plains before returning to Lisbon to attend a banquet given by British ambassador Lord Moran.

Agent sues Joey Travolta

NEW YORK (AP) — Joey Travolta, younger brother of actor John Travolta, has fired his agent because she failed to get his acting career off the ground, according to papers filed with the state Supreme Court.

The agent, Yvette Bikoff, filed suit Thursday demanding that Travolta keep her as his personal manager on compensate her with $200,000. Travolta severed the contract last March 11.

The agent contends the contract is still in effect, but Travolta says she did not help him earn $10,000 in the first year of the contract, as promised.

Travolta's brother, John, starred in the movies "Grease" and "Saturday Night Fever" and the television show "Welcome Back, Kotter."

Television version 'true'

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Former special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski watched an eight-hour television version of the White House Watergate scandal and pronounced it "true to the record."

"Blind Ambition" aired on CBS over four nights, depicted former Presidential Counsel John Dean's version of events leading to the downfall of President Richard Nixon.

"Historically, it's accurate. The passages from tape recordings are reported very well, adapted to the presentation well," said Jaworski in a telephone interview with the Bradenton Herald. The show concluded Wednesday.

"I would say those who haven't followed Watergate very closely and didn't have the whole picture have a very good perception now," said the 72-year-old Texas lawyer.

Is he or isn't he sleepy?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Does he or doesn't he? Sen. Alan Cranston, a California Democrat, and others say yes. But Sen. S.I. Hayakawa, a California Republican, won't say whether or not he has been falling asleep at recent policy meetings.

Cranston held a news conference Thursday to talk about other things, but was asked about reports that Hayakawa snoozed through a White House meeting on California's gasoline shortage last week.

Cranston said he'd noticed Hayakawa sleeping at a briefing two weeks ago when the strategic arms limitation talks were concluded. Cranston added that he "did not observe him carefully," but said Hayakawa "appeared to be asleep."

United Airlines will begin services Monday

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) — The 55-day strike against United Airlines, which cost the carrier an estimated $8 million a day, has ended with union approval of a new contract in time for the airline to cash in on some of the Memorial Day rush.

The vote, announced Thursday, represented overwhelming approval by a large, unspecified turnout of its 18,600 members, union officials said, but they declined to give the exact tally.

Richard Thomas, assistant district chairman of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, said the first shift of mechanics will go back to work around midnight Sunday or earlier.

United, confident of approval of the three-year pact agreed to last Saturday, had said it planned to resume partial service on Monday — including flights to Hawaii, where the strike caused a big drop in tourism.

Based on United's gross earnings of $3 billion in sales last year, the airline said, the longest strike in its history cost more than $8 million a day in sales.

United felt the full brunt of the strike because a Mutual Aid Pact, which provided financial relief for struck airlines from carriers that profited during strikes, expired last December following deregulation of the industry.

About 47,000 union and nonunion United employees lost about $300 million in wages, according to a management source. About 7,000 management personnel who worked during the strike got half-pay.

The new contract calls for a 30 percent salary increase over three years, plus fringe benefits including cost-of-living increases. The average mechanic's hourly wage will go from $10 to $13 an hour by mid-1981. The agreement also provides for higher premium pay and pensions, and a paid half-hour lunch in an 8-hour workday.

United, hoping to regain passengers lost in the strike, had applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to offer a $108 one-way fare between the East and West Coasts. That fare and a $125 night fare between San Francisco and New Jersey were approved Thursday.

United said the new fares will be restricted to five daily nonstop flights between New York and Los Angeles and a single night flight between Newark, N.J., and San Francisco.

United's regular one-way fare between New York and Los Angeles is $236. Special fares with restrictions can go as low as $216 for a midweek night flight.

In Chicago, meanwhile, the airline said passengers flying with United during the first 21 days after flights resumed would get coupons good for 50 percent discounts on future flights.

The coupons could be used between July 1 and Dec. 15 anywhere within the continental United States and on round-trip flights originating in Hawaii.
