

ROOF COLLAPSED — Nearly all of the roof of the 17,000-seat Kemper Arena in downtown Kansas City collapsed Monday night during a severe thunderstorm that dumped three inches of rain on the area in less than an hour and was accompanied by 70 mph winds. The arena, the site of the 1976 Republican National Convention, was not in use at the time of the collapse.

Pope Paul demands recognition of rights

CZESTOCHOWA, Poland (AP) — Pope John Paul II demanded today that Poland's Communist government recognize the rights and beliefs of Christians although their view of the world is "diametrically opposed" to Marxism. It was the most powerful political statement the pontiff has made in the four days he has been in his homeland.

In a speech prepared for delivery to a closed meeting of Poland's Roman Catholic bishops, the pope described religious freedom as a fundamental human right and declared that guarantees of religious freedom in Poland's constitution and other documents are meaningful only if they consider "the real needs of the church."

The pope asserted the church's readiness to enter into a dialogue with the government for normalization of church-state relations.

He said "authentic dialogue must respect the convictions of believers, insure all the rights of citizens and also the normal conditions for the activity of the church as a religious community to which the vast majority of Poles belong."

"We are aware that this dialogue cannot be easy because it takes place between two concepts of the world which are diametrically opposed, but it must be possible and effective if the good of individuals and the nation demands it."

The text of the speech was released to journalists early today but was withdrawn soon after without explanation. A Vatican spokesman said later that the pope wanted bishops to hear it first before the speech was made public.

Before meeting with the bishops the pope celebrated an open-air Mass for thousands of Polish nuns and said that even "the biggest enemy of the church" could not help but appreciate their dedication.

Poles began gathering at dawn on the hillside below the country's most revered shrine and by the time the Mass began, the crowd had swelled to several hundred thousand.

The pontiff beginning the fourth day of his return to his communist homeland, looked at the rows of black-gowned nuns and told them their calling was an "exceptional treasure" for the Roman Catholic Church.

He recalled a visit he had once made to a home for sick children in his home town of Wadowice and said even "the biggest enemy of the church would never forget the dedication of the nuns."

The pope also recalled his trip to Mexico in January saying his meeting with nuns there "sank deeply into my memory and heart."

A large number of Poland's 24,000 nuns traveled to this western Polish city from all over the country for the Mass at the Jasna Gora Monastery.

The pope also was to meet with Poland's bishops today.

A half-million of his countrymen and women dropped to their knees on a dusty hillside Monday as the pope raised the Communion host during an outdoor Mass at Poland's most revered Catholic shrine.

Appeal of former Big Spring basketball coach dismissed

The 261st District Court of Travis County has dismissed the appeal made by former Big Spring High School basketball coach that he be reinstated to the Big Spring school faculty.

In finding for the defendants in the suit, the State Board of Education and the Big Spring ISD, the court said that the petitioner did not file a motion for rehearing with the State Board of Education within the required 15 days after the entry of the Order of the State Board of Education Jan. 13, 1979, and had not filed for such a motion for a rehearing as of May 2, thereby making the order of Jan. 13 by the board a final order.

The court thus ruled, in effect, that it does not have jurisdiction to hear Griffin's claim and that its decision is final and non-appealable.

The order was signed by Pete Loury, presiding judge.

Officers will appeal

Charges leveled against local task force team

By JAMES WERRELL

Both members of Big Spring's Major Crime Task Force are back in patrolmen's uniforms following charges that they "were not doing the job expected of them," said Police Chief Stanley Bogard.

The transfer represents a demotion for John Burson, who had been a member of the task force since late last year. Task force member Gilbert Limon had been placed in that position on a probationary status, and the move will not affect his salary.

"In my opinion, and in the opinion of their immediate supervisor (Capt. Jim McCain), they were not doing the job we expected them to," said Bogard. "They are good officers, and capable of doing a better job."

According to McCain, monthly reports from the task force claim that 64 cases have been worked and cleared by the force since the beginning of this year.

"A review of the cases in our files show that only 24 cases were actually worked and cleared," said McCain. "Of these, several were made by patrolmen. The majority of the cases are misdemeanors," he added.

McCain also charged that nine cases of possession of drugs had to be dismissed during March of this year "because of lack of followup by the task force."

Both Burson and Limon have requested the assistance of Joe Gilbreath, Texas counsel for the International Brotherhood of Police Officers (IBPO) stationed in Austin.

Gilbreath was in Big Spring this morning to meet with the officers, and to begin preliminary appeal proceedings this afternoon.

"When and if all the appeal channels are exhausted, we will take this thing to court," said the attorney.

Gilbreath countered the department's charges, saying that both Burson and Limon had received inadequate training and supervision.

"They were asked to undertake specialized responsibilities without any training. Also their supervisor was out of town for the overwhelming majority of the time that they held their posts," he said.

McCain spent from Jan. 1 until April 1 of this year at a Police Command and Management School at the Southwest Legal Institute in Dallas.

The major thrust of the appeal, said Gilbreath, will be to give both officers an opportunity to present their cases, and to "clear their names."

Does either wish to be reinstated as a task force member?

"No," said Gilbreath.

The attorney said that he will also produce testimony from former task force member Mike Kelly stating that the two officers "have done a better job than their predecessors." Kelly left the police department earlier this year to take a job as security officer with the Missouri-Pacific Railroad in Dallas.

Burson is the current local IBPO chapter president, and was active in organizing the chapter here. He has also been involved recently in a petition drive to have Civil Service standards applied to the Big Spring Police Department.

Could this demotion have been in retaliation for these actions?

"Hell no!" said Bogard. "If this had been retaliation, it would have occurred a long time ago when all this union business started."

Bogard was equally adamant about the drive for Civil Service standards: "That doesn't bother me one bit. The decision is strictly up to the people of this city."

Bogard is concerned, however, with the future funding of the Major Crime Task Force here.

"The force is partially funded by a federal grant, and if we can't produce cases, we can't tell them we are doing a good job, and funding may be in jeopardy," he said.

Bogard explained that he will have to ask for a renewal of the grant in August. The force is now funded with 85 percent federal money and 15 percent city money. This will be reduced this year to a 75 percent federal share, with gradual phasing out of all federal funding over a five-year period if the program is warranted.

The chief explained that the program will be continued this year "with the hope that we can justify its existence by August." Former Detective David Spilman, and former Patrolman Mike Eggleston will replace the Burson-Limon team.

Archbishop will resign

LONDON (AP) — The archbishop of Canterbury, Donald Coggan, announced today that he plans to resign next year.

The archbishop, spiritual head of the Church of England and the worldwide Anglican Communion with about 65 million members, will be 70 in October.

He offered his resignation to Queen Elizabeth II and it was accepted.

The archbishop, just back from a 14-day tour of East European countries where he preached to packed congregations, plans to retire Jan. 26, 1980.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's office announced simultaneously that Coggan is to be made a life peer when his resignation takes effect, entitling him to sit in the House of Lords.

A Church of England statement said: "This is his personal decision. He is in his 70th year and his predecessor (Michael Ramsey) retired at the same age."

Coggan surprisingly did not reveal his decision at a morning news conference called to discuss his trip to Eastern Europe.

Action/reaction: Lay that poison down

Q. I have lived for two years in a home near the high school and my yard has been overrun with cats the whole time. I have looked around for live traps and even poison to get rid of them, but have had no success. These cats are driving me crazy. What can I do?

A. If you continue to try to poison them, you may be in for a bigger problem than too many cats. According to Assistant City Manager Bill Brown, poisoning animals is against the law. He suggests that you call the animal warden, 263-8311, and request the use of a cat trap. The city has up to 15 of them that are loaned out on an availability basis. You will bait and operate the trap yourself and when you've snared one of the felines, the city will empty the trap for you. You'll get rid of the cats and the cats will go to the animal shelter where, hopefully, they'll snare an owner.

Colorado City has 9 inches

Heavy rains swell area lakes

A nine-inch deluge of rain that fell in Colorado City Monday night is expected to swell Lake Spence by two to three feet, Colorado River Municipal Water District officials said.

As a result of this increase, officials said, the water supply in the Big Spring area will improve in quality and quantity.

The rise in the lake is expected to be measured sometime tonight.

Fifteen miles north of Lake Spence, the Colorado River has swollen to 11 feet deep. Nine miles from the lake the river is only six inches deep.

Rains measuring 5.3 inches in the area north of Luther is expected to raise the water level of Lake J.B. Thomas by as much as three feet.

The pump station four miles northwest of Lake J.B. Thomas Dam measured 1.3 inches of rain. At the dam, .4 of an inch was reported.

In the immediate Big Spring area, the east side of town received one half of an inch and the CRMWD pump station on the north side of town measured .2 of an inch of rain.

Elsewhere in the area 1.9 inches was reported four miles northeast of Ackerly; in Ackerly, .2 of an inch was received.

Robert Lee reported .7 of an inch and Coahoma reported .4 of an inch.

Knott and Lamesa reported that a half of an inch of rain fell in each of their communities.

Several areas reported no rain Monday night. Those areas were north and west of Ackerly, Forsan and Elbow. The experiment farm's weather station's official rain measurement for the year is 3.83 inches. The average yearly rainfall by June 5, for Big Spring, is 7.06 inches.

Water service restored today in Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — Water Service in Colorado City was restored before daybreak here today, after floodwaters burst the city's main line.

An estimated ten persons living in isolated low areas west of town had to leave their homes temporarily and two bridges were washed out on the south side of town, causing the temporary closure of thoroughfares, but damage was said to be minimal.

It was first feared that Colorado City would have to do without its water service for several days. The high water, however, quickly receded and went on down the Colorado River toward Lake Spence.

All personnel of the Colorado City Police Department and the Mitchell County Sheriff's Office were ordered to duty to aid in possible rescue and maintenance operations.

The Colorado City radio station, KVMC, was off the air for a short time. Some street damage occurred along Pine in the north part of town.

Some farmers within the immediate vicinity of Colorado City will have to replant. Lake Colorado City caught about 2.4 feet of water but is still far below the spillway level.

The Newcomer's Handcraft Club will meet at 1806 Morrison to work on the Decorating with Gold Leaf Project for June at 9:30 a.m.

The Well Baby Clinic at the West Side Community Center will be held

AN AVIATION FACT OF LIFE — Metal fatigue first drew public attention in the 1950s when the first commercial jetliner, Britain's deHavilland Comet, second from top, had a series of crashes. But every American-built commercial jetliner now in service, has been subject to airworthiness directives with roughly about one quarter of these ADs being for metal fatigue. Among those for which ADs were issued were, the McDonnell Douglas DC-10, top; Boeing 707, third from top; Lockheed L-1011; and Boeing 747, bottom.

Structure faults: aviation fact of life

WASHINGTON (AP) — The DC-10 that crashed in Chicago taking 274 lives was not alone in having cracks or metal fatigue.

An Associated Press check of Federal Aviation Administration records shows the problems of cracks and other structural faults were around before the jet age. They are a fact of life in aviation.

Every American-built commercial jetliner has been subject to "airworthiness directives" — or ADs — government orders for maintenance checks or repairs. Many ADs — roughly one in four for most planes — order checks of specific metal parts for cracks. Such an FAA directive last week grounded DC-10s for checks of engine supports. Some of the same planes were grounded again Monday after the FAA learned of additional problems.

"There's not an airplane in the world, civil or military, that doesn't have metal fatigue eventually," said Fred Farrar, an FAA public affairs official. "You know metal fatigue is going to occur. So you keep watching, and then you put out the AD."

Farrar cited the noticeable flexing of an airliner's wings in flight, a sight that often frightens neophyte fliers. Like a paper clip that is bent back and forth, he said, each movement of the wing contributes to a slight weakening of the structure.

"But better that it bend than break," Farrar said.

Metal fatigue first drew attention in the 1950s, when the first commercial jetliner — Britain's de Havilland Comet — had a series of unexplained crashes, some fatal. It was discovered that a misaligned bolt near a window flexed and eventually failed, resulting in explosive decompression.

The crashes destroyed confidence in the plane and in effect ended its commercial service, though the problem had been found.

Most ADs deal with less urgent matters, however, and the situations they point out generally are considered as the inevitable problems of highly complicated machinery rather than a life-threatening hazard.

For example, a total of 129 ADs had been issued as of mid-May on the first U.S. commercial jet, the Boeing 707, which began service in 1958, and on the nearly identical Boeing 720. Of the 129 ADs, 49 covered possible cracks in metal parts, particularly wing surfaces.

Twelve of the ADs were considered important enough for airlines to be alerted by telegram. Those ranged from possible control obstructions to a 1962 warning that lint and moisture accumulating behind lavatory outlets for electric razors could pose a fire hazard.

But a high number of ADs does not necessarily mean a lack of safety, Farrar said, adding: "The number of ADs issued shows the system works," with most issued early as a new plane's problems are found.

For example, 99 of the Boeing 707-720's total ADs were issued through 1969; only 30 have been issued in the 1970s.

Ironically, the DC-10, a tri-engine, long-range transport in service since 1971, has among the fewest ADs. Only 43 have been issued in the past eight years, with only one requiring a check for cracks — in the mechanism that extends the wing flaps.

The Associated Press check of airworthiness directives covered the Boeing 707-720, 737, 747, and the McDonnell Douglas DC-8, DC-9 and DC-10, and the Lockheed L-1011 — the bulk of domestic airliners. Here are the results for aircraft other than the DC-10:

—Boeing 707-720, a four-engine long-range transport introduced in 1958. ADs: 129. Those requiring checks for cracks: 49, including 17 for the wing skin or structure; 11 for various control surfaces; 8 for the horizontal stabilizer; 7 for the landing gear and associated structures; and 2 for engine mountings.

—Boeing 727, a three-engine medium-range transport introduced in 1964. ADs: 70. Requiring checks for cracks: 24, including 11 for the landing gear and surrounding structure and 4 each for the horizontal stabilizer and various control surfaces.

—Boeing 737, a twin-engine, short-range aircraft delivered to airlines in 1967. ADs: 27. Requiring checks for cracks: 7, including 4 for control surfaces and 1 each for the wing structure, landing gear and airframe.

—Boeing 747, a four-engine wide-body, long-range jumbo jet introduced in 1970. ADs: 39. Requiring checks for cracks: 10, including 6 for the fuselage and 4 for control surfaces.

—Lockheed L-1011, a widebody, tri-engine, long-range transport in service since 1972. ADs: 32. Requiring checks for cracks: 3. Includes 1 each for an engine duct assembly, cargo door and landing gear.

—McDonnell Douglas DC-8, a four-engine, long-range transport introduced in 1959, now out of production. ADs: 55. Those requiring checks for cracks: 14. Includes 6 for engine wing mounts, 5 for various control surfaces and 3 for landing gear.

—McDonnell Douglas DC-9, a twin-engine, short-to-medium-range transport in service since 1965. ADs: 43. Those requiring checks for cracks: 12. Includes 4 for engine mounts, 3 for fuselage, 3 for various control surfaces and 2 for landing gear.

ADs often are prompted by bulletins issued by manufacturers and monitored by FAA engineers. But unlike the bulletins, the directives carry the force of law. Also, he said, the FAA receives reports of problems found by airline mechanics and may issue a directive before a manufacturer is fully aware of the problem.

Airline mechanics, who are FAA-licensed, must follow a government inspection schedule and report problems to supervisors and the FAA.

A component subject to stress or wear in, in theory, on a schedule that calls for replacement long before it could cause trouble.

But the Air Line Pilots Association argues that the system is not as fool-proof as it should be, partly because the FAA is too lenient and has a "protective attitude" toward the airline industry.

The pilots' union sees a conflict in the FAA's dual mission to promote air safety and to "encourage and foster" civil aviation.

FBI continues search for judge's assassin

Three more sketches may be released

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — FBI officials say they plan to release at least one and possibly three more composite sketches of persons witnesses have told them were near U.S. District Judge John Wood's townhouse the morning the judge was assassinated.

The FBI released composite sketches last Friday of two white men in their late 20s or 30s whom witnesses had said were in the "immediate vicinity" May 29 when a sniper cut down Wood with a single shot to the spine.

Daniel Shaffer, the assistant director of the investigation, said Friday of the first two composites, "We're not saying these people are connected to the case in any way, but we're not saying they're not either."

FBI Special Agent Manuel Marquez said Monday the FBI has not yet found those two men. He also said there could be as many as three more sketches issued today or later this week, but refused to say whether those pictured in the drawings were women or men.

"They are also not necessarily suspects, as such, but we just want to find out who they are and what they were doing there," said Marquez.

It had been reported Saturday that a man carrying a rifle and a walkie-talkie was seen near Wood's townhouse several days before the assassination.

A San Antonio photographer, who was carrying a walkie talkie and a monopod camera stand May 26 while in the area taking pictures, voluntarily went to the FBI on Monday in case he had been mistaken for a man with a rifle.

Marquez said the FBI "appreciates the photographer coming forward and clarifying his presence on Saturday."

He added, however, "We are still looking into that aspect of the case," refusing to elaborate further on what aspects might interest the investigators.

Wood, 63, known as "Maximum John" for his stiff sentences in drug cases, was killed by a .343-caliber bullet, usually fired from a high-powered deer rifle.

It was the second time in seven months a Western District of Texas official involved in West Texas narcotics smuggling cases has been ambushed.

Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr escaped serious injury Nov. 21 when his car was riddled with bullets.

Federal officials have refused to say whether they believe the two assaults are connected. Both Kerr and U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd have said they believe Wood's slaying is connected to drug traffickers feeling the heat of the West Texas crackdown.

A source close to the investigation was quoted Sunday as saying investigators had found no "tangible" evidence to link the assaults.

The sketches released last Friday showed one man with brownish long hair, glasses and a mustache and the other clean-shaven with medium length light hair and glasses.

More members of Bandidos motorcycle gang arrested

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Several members of the Bandidos motorcycle club have been arrested, and the FBI says it is intensifying its search in Lubbock for another member of the group.

Guns, knives and drugs were seized in a raid Sunday night of a 38-year-old San Antonio member of the Bandidos, and Bexar County officials said it is part of a crackdown that has netted several members of the gang.

The FBI confirmed Monday that its agents are searching in Lubbock for a Bandido member wanted by federal officials in San Antonio, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal said today in a copyright story.

"The FBI has been looking for the man since almost a week prior to the assassination last week of a federal judge in San Antonio," said Bernie Brown, the FBI's special agent in charge at Lubbock.

"He has been in Lubbock. No doubt about it," said Brown, who added that the FBI feels the man is still in or around the city. He said the suspect is not a member of the Lubbock Bandido chapter.

San Antonio and El Paso are looking into alleged multi-million dollar interstate narcotics trafficking and the Nov. 21 attempted assassination here of Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr.

Both panels have heard testimony from Bandidos leaders and a former member of the Bandidos has been identified by an FBI agent in a court hearing as a "prime suspect" in the Kerr attack.

Bexar County Sheriff Rudy Garza said Monday that the Sunday night raid on the residence of Luis Barrera Bonilla, 38, was not connected to the federal investigations or the intense manhunt for the assassin of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

"They would have made this raid whether he was a Bandido or not," said Garza.

Wood, 63, known for his stiff sentences in drug cases, was killed by a sniper May 29.

Bonilla was charged with possession of methamphetamine and possession of stolen property. He was released on bonds totaling $15,000 set by Night Magistrate Mary Elizabeth Ladd.

A 20-year-old woman arrested in the raid was charged with possession of marijuana.

Garza said authorities found two rifles, eight pistols, knives and a variety of ammunition. Neither of the rifles was a .343-caliber, the type of bullet the FBI said was used to kill Wood.

Also discovered, Garza said, was about 25 pounds of marijuana and a quantity of hashish and methamphetamine.

Estimated tax installment due

The second installment of estimated federal tax payments on 1979 income is due June 15, the Internal Revenue Service said.

This installment should be paid using declaration-voucher number 2 found in the Form 1040-ES package.

Taxpayers whose anticipated income changed during 1979 may have to file an amended declaration. Space is provided in the estimated tax package to compute an amended estimate, the IRS said.

For more detailed information, IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," is available free from local IRS offices. Supplies of the Form 1040-ES package also can be obtained at these locations.

Characteristics play big role in credit availability

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you've ever been denied credit despite a steady income and a good record, you might blame all the people who share your ZIP code.

On the other hand, you may not have been with your employer long enough — or maybe too long. Or perhaps you would have been better off leaving blank the "time at current address" space on the credit application.

Under such a credit-scoring system, whether a person gets a credit card depends not on his own bill-paying record but on whether he has the characteristics of those who in the past have paid their bills on time.

If, for example, a merchant finds that a large number of people who are lumberjacks or who have a certain ZIP code have a bad bill-paying record, being a lumberjack or living in such an area might make it more difficult for an applicant to get credit.

Amid accusations that such ZIP-coding of credit applications results in racial discrimination, the Senate Banking subcommittee on consumer affairs opened hearings Monday on credit-scoring. The panel heard a Detroit woman tell how she and her husband had been denied a Mobil Oil credit card in 1977 because of living in the wrong place and having the wrong occupation.

The woman, Aileen Selick, earns $34,000 a year as assistant to the city superintendent of schools. Her husband, Isaac Selick, is a retired policeman who earns $17,000 as a security officer and private detective.

She said she was never able to determine which occupation Mobil considered uncreditworthy. However, she added, Mobil did concede the fact the Selicks live in an aging section of inner-city Detroit weighed against them.

Mobil's action, Ms. Selick told the subcommittee, "says that we are not trustworthy; we have been discredited." Mobil since has stopped using ZIP codes in determining who gets credit.

The subcommittee is considering a bill that would make it illegal to discriminate against credit-card applicants on the basis of place of residence.

Gail S. Rubino, speaking for the National Retail Merchants Association, told the panel that the bill is unnecessary. At present, she said, "no applicant can be rejected or approved solely because of his or her place of residence. It is the applicant's total score which dictates the creditor's decision."

Nick Ferrante of Los Angeles, representing the American Bankers Association, said the scoring system results in fewer errors, more credit and better treatment for those who apply for credit for the first time.

Under the "judgmental" system, in which a merchant or bank decides whether to grant credit by subjectively evaluating an applicant's record, a young couple with no history of borrowing might be denied, Ferrante said. Under the scoring system, however, that fact might not even be considered.

The scoring system awards credit to each applicant who scores enough points. Points are awarded on such factors as the total, but not type, of income; age of automobile; ZIP code and the age difference between spouses.

Dixon manslaughter trial is postponed

COLORADO CITY — Postponed until another case can be disposed of, the manslaughter trial of a truck driver whose vehicle collided with a McCauley school bus last December likely will get under way in a matter of days.

Originally, William Clarence Dixon was to have gone on trial in 32nd District Court here Monday. The case had been moved from Roby on a change of venue.

Five persons were killed in the Dec. 8 collision. Twenty-two others, including Dixon, suffered injuries. The bus was en route to a basketball tournament when the accident occurred.

Sixteen lawsuits totaling $4 million have been filed in connection with the accident.

Defendants in the suit are Dixon and his employer, Cardinal Survey Co., Odessa.

Dixon, it was disclosed, was convicted on 13 traffic violations in the four years prior to the accident.

Dorothy Garrett Award goes to Wanda Brewer

Wanda Brewer, a member of the graduating class of 1979 of the Howard College Associate Degree Nursing Program, was recently honored as the third annual recipient of the Dorothy Garrett "Outstanding Student" Award.

The prestigious Garrett Award was established by the ADN Advisory Committee in 1977 to recognize the top nursing graduate in each class of the Howard College program. Among the criteria used as a basis for selection of the recipient are: academic and clinical excellence, consistent participation in student and professional activities, leadership qualities, and outstanding inter-personal relationships with faculty, students, and hospital personnel.

Ms. Brewer, in addition to receiving an individual plaque, was honored by her name being engraved on a permanent plaque on display in the Horace Garrett Building. The award was formally presented at the annual Nursing Convocation by Mrs. Lettie Lee, Director of the ADN Program.

"Wanda Brewer has consistently shown excellence during her two years at Howard College," stated Mrs. Lee. "She is a worthy recipient of the award, which also honors a very gracious and generous lady, Mrs. Dorothy Garrett. Ms. Brewer has been a credit to her class, and will continue to be a credit to the Associate Degree Nursing Program throughout her nursing career."

Grave threat to mankind is voiced

Mankind certainly needs nothing else to worry about, what with the inflation rate going through the ceiling, energy supplies becoming more acute by the day and the incidence of dope addiction increasing steadily.

MOVE THOSE TO one side, however, to make room for a new matter of great concern. According to one Norman Lewis, whose article appeared recently in the London Observer, a new threat has arisen that "could ruin life on earth." Those are strong words and, from all indications, few Americans have had time to digest them.

There was a time when the interior of Brazil offered some of the wildest country in the world but the hunger for Brazil's natural resources have caused man to push inward, opening up the country especially along the Amazon River.

Mr. Lewis doesn't like what is going on in Brazil's vast Amazon River basin. The writer cautions that the stripping of the great forests along the Amazon is threatening to alter the planet's climate in devastating fashion.

Lewis isn't the first person to spot such trouble. His thesis has been discussed for years by ecologists. Americans have insisted on turning deaf ears to the problem, reasoning that what is occurring in the South American country is Brazil's business, not ours. They are, of course, wrong. Any factor that brings about a change in climate, for better or worse, affects the whole world.

Those seemingly unending forests generate enormous quantities of oxygen. This retards the buildup of carbon dioxide which industrial countries spew into the atmosphere.

"We are," Lewis quotes an expert in Brazil as saying, "threatened with possible the greatest ecological disaster in world history."

The world may not be prepared to sit up and take notice over such an impending threat, but it should.

What the scientists are worrying about today will likely become a stark reality for all mankind, too late, perhaps, to ever end the crimes against nature.

Always the first

Around the rim

Marie Homeyer

I knew that I would miss her. But I didn't know just how much that feeling of loss would be until Monday morning, Carla Walker's first day away from work.

It was a strange feeling seeing someone else come in and sit at the desk she had occupied since the first day I started working here a year ago. It just seemed that Carla should be coming in, camera on shoulder, with her bright good morning greeting. But that was not the case today and will not be again. Carla has left us for six weeks of leisure before she gets married in July. I will certainly miss her.

CARLA IS ONE of the best friends that I have, and will always be a good friend, even in Odessa. She is a kind, sympathetic person, always the first to offer a helping hand. She is also one of the best reporters that I have had the privilege to work with. She put all of herself into her work and that came out in her stories. She was willing to put out all she had to make a story the best and she usually succeeded. And, when she didn't, she was the first to admit her mistakes.

Her infinite knowledge of the happenings of the town and the people who live here never ceased to amaze me. And it was always a help when I was getting my feet on the ground last May.

From the first day that I came into the office in my country-western attire, Carla and I hit it off. She got me started in softball, and with the help of the Cuban, gave me my first experience in sailing. She introduced me to her family and I fell in love with them all after the first Wednesday dinner at her grandmother's.

IT HAS TRULY been a pleasure working beside her for the past year. I wish her the best of luck in her marriage and in her future career quests. I know that she will work as hard as her marriage as she did as a reporter — a sure sign that her future will be a bright and happy one.

Good luck, Carla. You deserve the best.

Slit skirts inflation

Art Buchwald

The bad news this week is that the slit skirt is rising at a rate twice as fast as that predicted by leading government economists.

I was sitting in Lafayette Park the other day with one of President Carter's economic advisors, watching women with slit skirts prance by, and he said, "The dressmakers and skirt manufacturers are violating the President's guidelines. He asked them to keep their slits within seven percent of the knee, but as you can see most of the slits are hovering up to the thigh."

"IT'S SICKENING," I said. "How could you people be so wrong on where the slit skirt was going?"

"We didn't put the oil crisis into the computer," he said as he stared disconsolately at a very attractive lady who wished by.

"What has the oil crisis got to do with slit skirts?"

"When people are nervous about gasoline they react by catering to the prurient interests of the opposite sex. Women are sublimating their fears about not getting enough fuel by showing a lot more of their legs than they ever showed before. They have developed a 'let's live for today' mentality, which eventually could lead to an overheating of the entire economy."

"I'm not sure I understand."

HE STARED at another lady whose skirt was open from the navel to the knees. "If the trend continues we could see a serious downturn in productivity. Look at this park. If it wasn't for the slit skirt, three-quarters of these men would be eating lunch back at their offices. The women would have no valid reason to brazenly stroll down these walks. What we're witnessing is the downfall of the American work ethic. Every inch that a skirt goes up means one million lost man-hours of work."

"I hadn't thought of it in those terms. Has the President given any consideration to jawboning?"

"The jawbone has nothing to do with it."

"Well, what about legboning then?" I suggested.

"It may come to that, but our problem is that we have to have standby skirt controls to hold over their heads. It's doubtful that we could get Congress to give them to us, because so many senators and congressmen have a vested interest in the slit skirt."

"There has to be a solution," I cried. "We can't go on like this, ogling everything that walks by. Would a recession help?"

Firm reacts well

to an emergency

The corporate image is not always good, perhaps because it does not always show the desired patience in dealing with the problems of the individual.

One firm which cannot be so faulted is Levi Strauss and Co. After the Strauss plant sustained heavy damages during the recent tornado at Wichita Falls, it was determined that it would take about six months to get the plant to operating again. No Levi Strauss employee lost his or her life but some suffered minor injuries and heavy property loss.

The firm did everything it could to keep up morale. It announced pay for all employees would continue indefinitely. Levi Strauss also has a disaster relief fund available to those employees most seriously affected by the disaster.

Despite all their difficulties, over 250 Levi Strauss employees at Wichita Falls responded to a radio request, issued by the regional production manager for assistance, after it was estimated that 50 persons were needed.

One attack not narcolepsy

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: If a person falls asleep in a bath with the water running, is that narcolepsy? This happened to me just once. What can you tell me about narcolepsy? What happens if it is not treated? — E.H.S.

Stop worrying. A single sleep attack does not mean narcolepsy. You may have been overly fatigued and succumbed to the relaxation of the moment. True narcolepsy is the frequent recurrence of unpredictable sleep episodes beyond the control of the person. It is four times more common in men than women, begins usually in late childhood or early adulthood and continues through life. If you have had subsequent episodes, then you need to be examined.

Attacks can come several in a day, but normal night-time sleep is not disturbed. In a typical attack the eyes close, the muscles relax, and the person appears to be in a deep sleep, but can be awakened by the slightest noise. I have known some to lapse into sleep while standing and speaking with a friend.

The narcoleptic should be treated with amphetamines during the daytime for obvious reasons — the danger of falling asleep at the wheel of a car, for example. Imipramine had been found helpful, but it is not to be used with amphetamines.

While this is a lifelong problem the number of attacks tend to lessen with age. Most narcoleptics live with their problem without even close friends knowing about it. There are no reliable tests, such as brainwave studies, to confirm the condition, which we know very little about. It's diagnosed strictly from a patient's history of sleep episodes. The narcoleptic is not mentally deficient or psychologically disturbed.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: Recently I've noticed my toenails have taken on a pretty bad appearance. My doctor, a general practitioner, says it's a fungus infection and I have been taking medicine by mouth for three weeks. I don't see how it has helped me. The doctor says it takes time. How long should it take? The medicine is griseofulvin. Does it take longer for toenails than for fingernails? I notice you mentioned this as a cure for fingernail fungus. — Mrs. T.V.

It's effective for both kinds of nails.

The toenails take longer because they take longer to grow out. The improvement shows in the new nail, not in the old nail, which was the one infected with the fungus. Same with fingernails. I can't say how long it will take, because this varies with individuals, but it may be many months, more than a year in some cases. You may need the medicine for four or five months, but you should be aware of side effects, including skin rashes and stomach upset. You'll find a discussion of this form of ringworm in the booklet, "Solving Your Nail Problems." If you want a copy, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: I have had my sinuses drained because I was getting terrible headaches. It worked wonders. My question is about the future. Does this mean I have to go through this expense every year or so or what? — M.E.

Can't say. Sometimes a single draining (insertion of a hollow needle and draining of the fluid) is sufficient. If you sinus trouble is chronic, you can expect the same forces to be at work and you may need to have them drained periodically. Meanwhile, you should attempt to find the source of the sinus problem — deviated septum, polyps, allergy or whatever. Newer ways to treat the underlying allergy or nose problem has eliminated the need for drainage, which usually gives only temporary relief.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: I have to question your statement that "older people get Parkinson's disease." I am 45 years old and have had it for 10 years. — B.A.B.

Parkinson's disease knows no age limits, but there is a sharp rise in the number of patients in the 60s age group. The point I was making was that the general rise in the number of Parkinson's patients is directly related to the fact that more people are living longer, hence getting it and having it diagnosed. I hope this clears up your confusion.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: I had two ectopic pregnancies, one in each tube. As of this writing I am seven and one half months pregnant with everything going good so far. My curiosity arises from a remark my doctor made: "This is a miraculous pregnancy, and should probably be reported." What do you think? — Mrs. C.P.

The miracle is that the ovum (egg) was able to get to the uterus (womb) after such serious problems in both tubes.

DEAR DR. RUBLE: I have always been self-conscious about the appearance of the backs of my hands. They have large blue veins close to the surface. Is there anything I can do about them? I am 38. — Mrs. J.R.

Nothing to do and nothing you should want to do. At your age the veins represent nothing but healthy blood circulation. You probably are light-skinned, so your veins show more prominently than in darker-skinned individuals.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Ruble's booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to Dr. Ruble in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you think drugs may make a person more susceptible to the devil? — C.R.

DEAR C.R.: It may very well be true. Drugs may make a person less alert, causing him to lower his guard. It is interesting that the word usually translated "sorcery" in the Bible is the same word from which we get the words "pharmacy" and "pharmaceutical." The reason is that sorcery was believed to be closely related to the use of drugs in some instances, and also was seen as closely related to the worship and service of Satan. In our time, the use of heavy drugs and the worship of the occult have often gone hand in hand. That is not accident — refusing God's way of life automatically exposes us to the temptations of Satan and his influence.

But there is something else to be said. When a person becomes involved with drugs, it often is because deep down inside there is a hunger for inner peace. The person may not realize it, but this is actually a hunger for God — a vacuum in the human heart which only God can fill. But whenever we substitute anything (or anyone) other than God, we have been deceived by Satan. Satan's whole effort is directed at keeping people from God, and he will use any means at his disposal to accomplish this. This can include drugs, or any number of other devices.

Satan is a liar. He promises happiness and peace of mind, but in the end all he gives is misery and slavery. The Bible says, "Submit yourselves, then, to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you" (James 4:7, New International Version). Satan is strong, but Jesus Christ is stronger. He alone can give real meaning and joy to life. Don't accept a substitute — let Christ take control of your life and let Him give you true joy and peace.

Nixon pushover

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The real culprit behind the great oil rip-off is identified in secret intelligence reports as the shah of Iran. The documents reveal that he clamored for higher oil profits to finance his dreams of glory.

The shah's agitation and the Nixon administration's acquiescence, according to the documents, led to the devastating oil price increases of October 1973, and January 1974. The Western world still hasn't recovered from the economic impact.

Saudi Arabia, whose rulers feared a backlash against the oil cartel, tried to stop the price rise. The Saudis appealed to the Nixon administration to help persuade the shah to listen to reason.

AS LATE AS July 1974, after the extortionary increases had already been imposed on the world, the Saudis offered to sell their oil at public auction to force prices back down. Yet unaccountably, President Richard Nixon and his foreign policy whiz, Henry Kissinger, never used their tremendous influence with the shah to stop the ruinous oil gouge.

The result was reported on Aug. 30, 1974, by the Central Intelligence Agency: "Riyadh called off an oil auction that would have lowered the price of oil." The Saudis were unwilling to stand alone against the other oil-selling nations. As the CIA explained in a top-secret dispatch: "The Saudis are unlikely to risk political isolation and a breakup of OPEC."

From Riyadh, American Ambassador James Akins reported that Saudi oil minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani had complained to him about Kissinger's strange reluctance to intervene with the shah. Yamani alleged that Kissinger "is speaking about lower oil prices but in secret doing everything possible to jack them up."

In a secret "memorandum for the file," the ambassador revealed: "The Saudis had urged us on numerous occasions to put pressure on the shah to cooperate with Saudi Arabia and reduce the oil prices. Yet we had refused to do this."

KISSINGER EXPLAINED to us that he was aware of the Saudis' offer but doubted their sincerity. "My belief was," he said, "that the Saudis did not want to get prices down but wanted to place the onus for the price rise upon the shah."

Yet intelligence documents, including intercepted messages, strongly indicated that the Saudis meant what they were saying. These secret reports should have been available to Kissinger.

On the eve of the 1975 oil ministers' meeting, for example, the Central Intelligence Agency reported: "Saudi Arabia and Iran apparently remain seriously divided on the issue of an OPEC oil price rise in the fourth quarter."

"The Saudis may attempt to thwart an increase at the OPEC conference on September 24, although we believe other members will try to work out a compromise.

"Ambassador Akins was informed by Saudi oil minister Yamani on Wednesday that Riyadh had decided it must hold the line against any price increase. Yamani said he told the shah's adviser, Amouzegar, that if Iran insists on a large price increase, the Saudis would sell at current prices and sharply increase production, even at the risk of splitting OPEC.

"Reports from several reliable sources and recent intercepted messages," the CIA stressed, "add credibility to Yamani's statements." By this time, the shah had already succeeded in quadrupling oil prices, but he still wasn't satisfied. His sales had declined in 1975, and his revenue wasn't keeping up with his spending.

REPORTED THE CIA on Sept. 28, 1975: "Iran is a leading proponent of an OPEC price rise and is generally thought to favor a jump of 15 to 20 percent. Saudi Oil Minister Yamani reportedly has counseled King Khalid and Prince Fahd against an increase at this time."

However, the CIA cautioned: "The Saudis could prevent an OPEC price increase, but they are unlikely to accept the political costs of such a move."

The shah lobbied with other oil governments, meanwhile, to drive up prices. Reported the CIA two days later: "The shah's adviser, Amouzegar, met with Venezuelan President Perez in Caracas earlier this week to line up support for a price rise."

"Perez suggested that Amouzegar, along with the petroleum ministers of Venezuela and Algeria, try to convince the Saudis to change their position on the price issue."

On Sept. 5, a National Intelligence Bulletin reported: "Iranian Minister Amouzegar apparently has found that while most OPEC countries share Iran's desire for a price rise, few cartel members are willing to go as high as the 15 to 20 percent range advocated by the shah."

In the end, a compromise was reached, and the oil cartel adopted a 10 percent increase. But it was the shah, once again, who led the agitation for higher oil prices.

This raises the mystifying question: Why didn't Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger restrain the shah, since they had the political muscle to do it?

SPOTLESS SHOW: After all the hoopla, music and criticism directed at the nuclear industry, federal government officials breathed easier the day after the huge May 6 rally by anti-nuclear groups on the Capitol mall. Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

The big mouthed toothy character in Sunday's Mailbag who wants to know why the police cannot patrol his area 24 hours a day is, in my opinion, a lame brain. That is a very good depiction of some people who think that the police have nothing more to do than station themselves near-by just for the explicit purpose of watching assigned houses.

I think that we have plenty of police, when at full strength, to do a good job if only the citizenry just give them the support that they should. There is a very good example (in Newark, N.J.) of what can be achieved when there are really concerned citizens who apply themselves to a job that needs doing. If we had a group as concerned as those in Ward 8, Newark, N.J. I think that the crime rate here in Big Spring would be reduced by as much as 50 percent. They reduced their's by 75 percent.

I am sure there are enough concerned citizens here in Big Spring to man a similar unit if we had a strong leader who knew what to do and when. Ward 8 in Newark has such a leader. Surely we of Big Spring have a man equally competent for handling such a task. The question is "WHO IS IT?" J. Walter Unger 1004 Birdwell Lane

Ag department employees incensed about procedures

PLAGUE CLOSES CAMP — A sign at the entrance to Silent Valley camp, near Banning, Calif., notifies visitors that it is closed. The campground was closed when a 15-year-old boy contracted bubonic plague after visiting the camp, some 90 miles east of Los Angeles. Riverside County health officials have launched an attack against the ground squirrels, and the plague-infected fleas they are believed to carry, in the area.

Health officials hunting plague-infected squirrels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ground squirrels — and the plague-infected fleas they are believed to carry — are being hunted by health officials who have set traps in the hills east of Los Angeles.

The effort began in Riverside County when a 15-year-old boy was stricken with bubonic plague after visiting a campground near Idyllwild, some 90 miles east of Los Angeles.

A similar effort is under way in Los Angeles County, where health officials worry that a recent plague case means the disease is nearing the densely populated metropolitan area.

With modern treatment, it's unlikely Los Angeles is poised on the edge of a catastrophic epidemic, said Dr. Shirley Fannin, chief of Los Angeles County's acute communicable disease control division. But plague could be a major health problem when it comes so near the 12 million residents of the sprawling metropolitan area.

Magy, who is directing the Idyllwild attack, said plague can be controlled by controlling the carriers. He said state and county health officials are trapping ground squirrels near the campground to test the animals and their fleas for plague.

If plague bacteria are confirmed in the area, he said, the squirrels and their burrows will be dusted with insecticide. The squirrels will be lured into dusting traps — lengths of pipe with grain in the middle and flea-killing dust piled at either end.

"Once we've got the fleas under control," Magy said, "we'll ask the (state) Agriculture Department to go in and eliminate the ground squirrels. We can't eliminate them all, of course, but they should be reduced to a minimum. Without the rodents, you're not going to have plague."

Officials say the end of California's once-active squirrel suppression program may explain a recent spurt in plague cases.

The last major outbreak in the United States killed 33 people in Los Angeles in 1924. A few cases are still reported each year, most in California, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado. About one fourth are fatal.

It's not likely ever to be completely eradicated, "but we can keep ahead of it," said biologist Harvey Magy of the state health department.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Professional employees of the Agriculture Department are incensed by the administration's shuffling of various agencies and responsibilities that are related to historic federal and state extension functions.

A spirited letter-writing campaign has been started to inform state officials and others, including powerful members of Congress. Traditionalists maintain that the cooperative efforts between USDA and state governments, particularly land-grant universities, have served farmers and consumers well by being a major influence on research and technological advances on the farm.

But the Carter administration has mounted what the traditionalists see as a threat to the structure by reorganizing agencies within the department so that, in their view, research and education have become obscured and diminished.

Letters have been sent to all state extension directors, state experiment station directors and others to outline the situation. A copy of the form letter was made available Monday by the Organization of Professional Employees of the Department of Agriculture.

The 50-year-old organization, which serves as a lobbying and watchdog unit for professional employees, also plans a similar

"but much stronger" letter to Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, a long-time USDA budget watcher, said Walter John, executive director of the employees group.

John recently testified on Capitol Hill against an administration general reorganization plan that would have stripped the Forest Service from USDA and put it into a greatly expanded Interior Department.

The administration subsequently dropped that blueprint. The letter sent to state officials said the partnership of the department with them "is approaching a shambles in many of its traditional cooperative efforts" and that agencies such as the Cooperative State Research Service, the Extension Service and the Agricultural Research Service "no longer enjoy the stature and prestige" they had before.

Another similarity with last season was the inventory level of fertilizer in April, Wheeler said Monday. "Although April-ending inventories were 12 per cent less than a year ago, levels for this month in both 1978 and 1979 were generally above levels typical for most products in April," he said.

"With wet weather in many areas preventing field operations, fertilizer application in April was severely curtailed both years," said Edwin M. Wheeler, institute president.

"Domestic disappearance in April 1979 of all products as a group was within 1 per cent of April 1978."

However, Wheeler said that for the entire 10 months of the fertilizer year that began last July 1, total disappearance of fertilizer was up 3 percent from 1977-78.

Another similarity with last season was the inventory level of fertilizer in April, Wheeler said Monday. "Although April-ending inventories were 12 per cent less than a year ago, levels for this month in both 1978 and 1979 were generally above levels typical for most products in April," he said.

Petroleum engineering pay sliced by inflation

Petroleum engineering, one of the highest paid professions in the U.S., has fallen victim to the old nemesis, inflation.

A survey compiled by the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME states the salary for the petroleum engineer has risen 29 percent, from $2,298 a month to $2,951 since the survey began in 1975. But this healthy increase evaporates when compared to the U.S. inflation rate, which has spiraled 28 percent over the past four years, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The petroleum engineer is the person mainly involved in the drilling and producing of oil and gas. He works to achieve maximum recovery of oil and gas from a petroleum reservoir by determining and developing the best and most efficient drilling methods. The employment of petroleum engineers is expected to grow faster than the average of all occupations during the 1980s, by reason of the country's efforts to attain energy self-sufficiency.

The petroleum engineer in a management position recorded the most significant salary increase. This has been true since the survey began in 1975, with management salaries rising 34 percent. Positions in marketing matched the inflation rate of 28 percent, while engineering rose 26 percent, research and development 20 percent, and education only with a 14 percent salary increase.

About 4,000 of the more than 30,000 SPE members responded to the questionnaire.

Woolworth reports statewide products buys top $50 million

A record $50,906,000 worth of Texas products were purchased by the F.W. Woolworth Co. during 1978, the company's South Central regional office announced.

Rolland C. Ladd, regional vice president of Woolworth which is observing its 100th Anniversary, explained that the products came from small and large Texas companies that employ thousands of persons in manufacturing and distribution.

The dollar total does not include perishable food and horticultural items that the company purchases for its stores from local sources, he said.

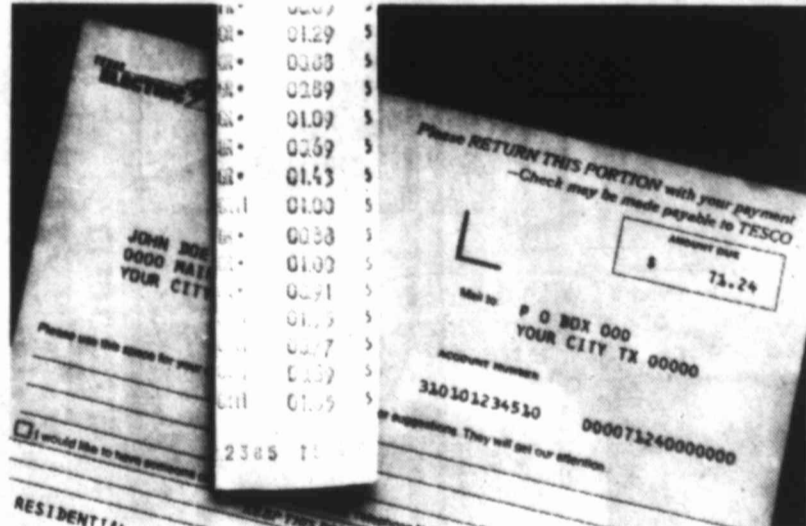

"The products purchased were sold in the 44

Woolworth and 41 Woolco Department stores located in various sections of Texas and in some or all of the 1,458 Woolworth stores located in the United States, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands and the 274 Woolco stores in the U.S.

"Purchases in Texas are expected to increase during 1979 because of Woolworth's continuing program of expansion and an anticipated increase in consumer spending," he said.

Woolworth employs approximately 5,850 persons in its Texas operations and last year paid the state $16,900,000 in taxes. The company has 3,038 shareholders throughout the state.

Inflation affects your electric bill even more than your grocery bill.

Every time you go to the grocery store you can see what inflation's doing to your food bill. But because you don't buy electricity by the can, you probably don't realize how inflation affects the cost of electricity.

Fuel costs are up, particularly natural gas. Equipment costs are up. Power lines, transformers and poles cost us more every day. Just like milk costs you more every day.

The millions of dollars we must borrow to build plants to ensure your electricity needs in the future are costing us more.

The cost of building these plants is higher, too, because of inflation. And because of the time and money it takes to comply with an ever-increasing number of government regulations. The longer it takes to build, the more inflation takes its toll.

Inflation, overregulation and rising fuel costs are all making your electricity cost you more. But by using electricity wisely you can do your part in keeping that cost down in your home.

At Texas Electric, we want you to know what you're paying for.

Marcy students present program

Mrs. Myrtle True, Americanism Chairman, reported on the May 7 program presented by her daughter and Marcy Elementary students as the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary met Monday at 7 p.m. in the VFW Hall.

Commander Clara Lewis presided at this regular meeting, with Margaret Caldwell, adjutant, calling the roll.

Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodd and 17 of her fifth grade honor students from Marcy School, presented the May 7 program to the auxiliary and guests, the Gold Star Mothers and Joe Rouleau, director of volunteer services of the Veterans Administration Medical Center. Each of the children was presented a patriotic pen, and Mrs. Dodd was given a corsage and a certificate of appreciation for her outstanding work the past year. Approximately 80 persons attended the program.

Nelda Burkhart, chairman of the V.A. Medical Center reported that Iris Phillips, Doris McCann, Katie Spivey, Clara Lewis, Connie Manuel, Alice Rhone and Delores Scott, served coffee and cake to 80 patients May 5.

Elsie Dreher, Linda Luna, Nelda Burkhart and Myrtle True volunteered to furnish 12 dozen cookies to the Big Spring State Hospital patients this summer.

Gertrude McCann, community services chairman, presented Easter Seal Certificates of Appreciation to Lois Ferguson, Linda Luna, Margaret Barnett, Margaret Gephins, Elsie Dreher, Delores Scott, Clara Lewis, Gladys Miller, Gertrude McCann and Rosie Ramirez, who helped with the Easter Seal Telethon.

Commander Lewis reported that the auxiliary remembered the veterans birthdays at Parkview Manor Nursing Home with gifts and a birthday cake.

Jack and Katie Spivey were given special recognition for donating a new D.A.V.A. altar cloth to the auxiliary.

Memorial Day Activities were completed for services throughout the day in Big Spring on May 29.

Officers were elected by acclamation for 1979-80 as follows: Nelda Burkhart, commander; Delores Scott, senior vice commander; Gertrude McCann, junior vice commander; Myrtle True, chaplain; Linda Luna, sergeant of arms; Clara Lewis, treasurer, and Katie Spivey, State executive chairman. These officers will be installed June 11.

The auxiliary hosted a covered dish dinner in honor of comrade M.H. (Jack) Spivey for outstanding service to the ladies auxiliary.

Marriage rates decrease

Although tabulations have not been completed, a Statistical Bulletin indicates the expectation that the number of marriages recorded for 1978 will be close to 2,240,000 and the number of divorces may exceed 1,120,000.

In 1977, the marriage rate was highest in Nevada, followed by South Carolina, Oklahoma, Idaho and Wyoming. The lowest rate was registered in the District of Columbia, followed by Massachusetts, California and New York.

In addition to the increasing postponement of marriage, the decline in the remarriage rates of divorced men and women has contributed to the decrease in marriage rates, the Bulletin states.

'Deafness most devastating handicap'

Computer tests sleeping infants

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — A computer built by volunteers tests sleeping infants here to insure they won't spend a life isolated by deafness.

Dr. Philip Peltzman, the program's creator, hopes it will help in early diagnosis of deafness since an infant's auditory system is almost fully developed at birth. It is believed a language code is developed between 8 and 12 months after birth.

"Deafness is the most devastating of all handicaps," says Dan Patterson of Atlanta, national director of the Infant Hearing Assessment Program.

"Hearing is a basic sensory learning tool. If a baby cannot hear, it has probably missed the opportunity to acquire language instinctively," Patterson said after studying the system at Visalia's Kaweah-Delta hospital, one of just three pilot programs in the nation. The others are at hospitals in Southern California and the San Francisco Bay Area.

"Nationwide, we have just been letting deaf children slip through our fingers," says Peltzman, a researcher at the University of California, San Francisco.

Peltzman's "minicomputer" was designed by a Pacific Telephone Co. engineer, refined by Bell Laboratories' volunteers and built by the Telephone Pioneers, a club of retired telephone-company employees.

Kaweah-Delta was chosen for one of the tests because of its neonatal-care unit, its rural population in Central California, high birth rate and enthusiasm of the local Sierra-Pacific Telephone Pioneers.

The testing process begins when babies leave the hospital. Their parents are given questionnaires pertaining to family history of deafness or hearing impairment, infant responses to certain audio stimuli, whether the mother underwent long hours of labor or had to be assisted in delivering the child or had German measles while pregnant.

The cards are returned to the hospital every four months until the baby is 1 year old.

Trained volunteers assess the questionnaires, and the family physician is notified if any indicate a baby may have a tendency toward a hearing impairment.

With the physician's and parents' approval, a test of the baby's hearing using Peltzman's minicomputer is ordered.

Electrodes attached to the sleeping baby's scalp carry clicks to the child's brain and the brain's responses to the clicks are fed back into the computer, recorded on tape and analyzed.

Twice His Age, She'll Be Sad About the Boy

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow with eight children. The oldest is 21 and the youngest is 10. My husband was killed a year ago and it hit me awfully hard.

Here is my problem. I'm in love. I am 40 and the kid I'm in love with is 21. (He's a friend of one of my children.) We didn't intend to get serious — it just happened, and now we have this love affair going. He moved into my house about a month ago.

I loved my husband very much, but he is gone and I need someone to love. Do you think there is any future in this love affair?

IN LOVE IN NEW MEXICO

DEAR IN: I could be wrong, but I can't see much of a future for you and your young lover. Not so much because of the vast age difference, but because of the emotional state you were in when the affair took root. Of course you need someone to love — we all do. But for your sake and his, I think the kid should move out of your house and you should move toward men your own age.

DEAR ABBY: A woman in our office is freaking us out with her humming. When she concentrates she hums one low monotonous note. This can go on continuously for as long as two hours or more without a break.

When I call her attention to the maddening distraction, she quits for a while, then resumes humming again until I could scream.

Others have told her, too. Nothing helps. Her humming has got me so crazy I sometimes can hear it when it's not there. She's a nice person otherwise, and she's old enough to be my mother, so I don't want to be rude or rough. Please help me and my co-workers.

GOING BANANAS

DEAR GOING: She has undoubtedly developed the humming habit over the years and now hums unconsciously. But habits are learned and can be unlearned, so the moment the hummingbird starts her song, remind her that she's distracting you. And keep reminding her.

DEAR ABBY: I've been thinking about the letter from L. IN DENTON, TEXAS who couldn't figure out how come his wife knew how to make love so well if she was a virgin when she was married.

Well, I, too, was a virgin when I married but my husband wasn't, and with all his previous experience, he didn't know peanuts compared to what I taught him!

I didn't learn it anywhere. I just followed my natural instincts and did whatever I felt was right. It seemed to come naturally.

I was blessed with parents who always showed affection for each other and never hid the fact that making love was a normal, healthy part of married life, so when I married it never occurred to me to hold back my sexual feelings. I just expressed them.

NEVER HAD A LESSON IN MY LIFE

CONFIDENTIAL TO "T.B. IN WASH., D.C.": A very wise Frenchman said: "Beauty is a gift. Charm must be cultivated. A beautiful woman is one I notice. A charming woman is one who notices me." We can learn a lot from the French.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 23 and my husband is 31. We've been married for two years and have no children. He has a small business and I have a full-time job. We have separate checking accounts and separate lives. He refuses to discuss his business or income with me.

He is never at home at night and I never know where he is. He stays out almost every night until the bars close, and on weekends he's never at home even in the daytime.

I got so fed up with being alone, I left him once. When I try to talk to him about our problems, it helps for a few days, then he goes back to his old ways: What should I do?

LEFT ALONE

DEAR LEFT: Nowhere in your letter do you mention "love." Why did you marry? Surely not to have separate lives. As I see it, your husband enjoys being married as long as he can live like a bachelor. If you want a real marriage, free yourself from this empty, in-name-only relationship and find a man who wants to be a full-time husband.

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (25 cent), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Tween 12 and 20

Didn't use his brain

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: My boyfriend, Darren, 18, and I (17) were watching television at my house one evening while my parents were out.

When they got home, they found a partially smoked joint in the ashtray and told Darren to forget my phone number and for him not to see me again.

Please don't tell me to forget him because he smokes marijuana. He is very ambitious and has a tremendous future ahead of him. He is very intelligent and talks about God all the time.

Please tell me what to do. I don't want to lose Darren. — Karen, Galesburg, Ill.

Dear Karen: Your boyfriend might be intelligent but he didn't use his brain when he left a partially smoked joint in your ashtray.

First of all, he shouldn't have been smoking pot in your house and when he lit up, you should have asked him to put it out.

Teens are asking for freedom and independence but mature thinking must accompany these. Neither you nor your boyfriend used mature thinking.

Have this boy call your parents and apologize. Hopefully, your parents will forgive.

Dr. Wallace: There is this guy that I really like. I'm 15 and a half and he is 17, but my mom won't let me go out with him because she says he is too old for me and that all he wants from me is sex.

I don't feel he is too old and as far as sex goes, my moral standard will not permit it.

I do see this boy behind my mother's back even though I know that it's wrong. I want to continue seeing this boy but I don't know what to do. Please help! — Stacey, Sacramento, Calif.

Dear Stacey: If you are mature, and it seems that you are, I see no reason why you should not see a 17-year-old boy. But I don't approve of seeing him against your mother's will.

Ask the aid of a trusted adult to intercede. Start with your dad, relatives, church friends or teachers. So very often, parents will listen to an outsider before they will listen to you — sad but true.

Dr. Wallace: I am 16 and very interested in hunting, fishing and most other outdoor activities. I have one drawback. My mom will not let me own a weapon of any kind. I love to fish, but hunting is much more exciting.

I have been through all the safety courses available in our area, but Mom still says, "No!" How can I get her to reconsider? — Brian, Huntsville, Ala.

Dear Brian: At your age, you probably will not change her mind. Try hunting with a close family friend or relative and have him intercede in your behalf.

Have you tried hunting with a camera? It could be an excellent alternative.

Foster homes probed by official from Austin

Social Security check key issue in local inquiry

By EILEEN McGUIRE

John Robinson with the Department of Human Resources in Austin arrived in Big Spring Monday morning to conduct an investigation into a local matter.

Robinson was sent by Commissioner Jerome Chapman of Austin in response to complaints of former Howard County foster parents James and Donna Van Ness that operation of their home was hampered by the local Human Resources Department.

The Van Nesses allege that they have been harassed by the local department since adopting their former foster daughter, Leann.

When told several weeks ago that Social Security benefits of a foster daughter had been transferred to the welfare department rather than continue to be sent directly to the Van Nesses, the couple destroyed their foster parent license.

The benefits for the 9-year-old girl amounted to $203 per month. The welfare department, according to Mrs. Van Ness, would have allotted the child $5.50 per day in lieu of her Social Security benefits which would have been retained by the state. The state support would have totaled $165 for a 30-day month.

The child is minimally brain damaged, and according to the Van Nesses, incurs more expenses than the state would have reimbursed them. They also allege that the child's Social Security benefits were hers, not the state's.

"A child like that needs all of her money," Mrs. Van Ness said.

After destroying their license, which was up for renewal, the Van Nesses claim that their foster children, the girl and a 9-year-old boy, were seized from the home rather than be moved gradually as is customary.

The boy was taken within a day of destroying the license and the girl was taken three days later when the Van Nesses appeared in court after being served a Writ of Habeas Corpus.

Area Child Protective Services supervisor Thomas Hoosier of Midland said the children could not be moved through normal procedures because the Van Nesses had withdrawn from the foster parent program.

The Van Nesses also contend local caseworkers have indicated that the girl will be placed in a mental institution rather than a home environment. A state psychologist is alleged to have recommended the latter.

Their attorney, Fred Coleman Jr., has filed for managing conservatorship of the child. Area Child Protection Supervisor Thomas Hoosier of Midland has said that the state has no intention of relinquishing the child to the Van Nesses.

Robinson, who works in Field Operations for the Austin Department, talked to caseworkers and Mrs. Van Ness Monday. James Van Ness is currently in Denver, Colo., for security guard training. A former Big Spring policeman, Van Ness has accepted employment at the Federal Prison in Industrial Park.

According to the Austin Department, Robinson has 20 years of experience in foster home licensing and adoptions. He is also speaking to other foster parents who have requested conferences while he is here.

The investigation began when State Senator Ray Farabee learned of the matter and contacted Commissioner Chapman.

Murder indictment made

CLEVELAND (AP) — A county grand jury has indicted Willie Williams, 45, of Cleveland, on a charge of aggravated murder in what police termed the Russian-roulette shooting death of his 9-year-old son.

Williams was held Monday pending a hearing in the May 26 death of Michael Patterson. Police charged that Williams emptied his revolver "shooting up the kitchen" of his home, then put one bullet in the gun, spun the chamber, and pulled the trigger several times, aiming at different members of his family.

Michael was shot in the head, said officials. Police could not explain the difference in names, but said Williams was the boy's father.

Babysitter saves four

KENNEWICK, Wash. (AP) — A teen-age babysitter saved four children from a burning house after a lamp cord shorted out and ignited bedding in the home, say firefighters.

One fireman was hospitalized in good condition after battling the Sunday blaze and two others received minor injuries.

Connie Freeman, 13, was babysitting at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Randy Beal for the Beals' two daughters and two sons of another couple. When a child alerted her to the fire, Miss Freeman said, she got the children out of the house and called the fire department. A damage estimate had not been determined.

Two men to stand trial

ROGERSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Two 21-year-old Rogersville men go on trial June 26 on charges of kidnapping a couple after a high school prom and raping the 17-year-old girl.

Judge James Beckner scheduled the trial for Jerry Burton and Marshall W. Price after a county grand jury returned indictments against them Monday. Each is charged with armed robbery, felonious assault with intent to commit murder, kidnapping and first-degree criminal sexual conduct.

They were arrested May 20 and held under $100,000 bond.

Dam continues to leak

SMITHVILLE, Texas (AP) — An earthen dam restraining a 10-acre lake near this central Texas town continues to leak, but officials say the chances of the dam giving way are almost nil.

"It's still leaking, but as long as we don't have rain, we think it will hold," Jay Begg of the Bastrop County Sheriff's office said Monday. The dam sprung a leak Sunday when an outflow pipe clogged.

Sheriff I.R. Hoskins said even if the dam should give way, the water would run into the Colorado River without causing any serious threat "except maybe to livestock."

Two arrested on theft raps

Nolan Michael McDaniel, 1419 E. 6th, and Kenneth Wayne Ford, Chapparral Trailer Park, No. 14, were arrested Monday on felony theft charges. McDaniel was also arrested on a criminal mischief charge.

Bond on McDaniel was set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin at $10,000 on the theft charge and $10,000 on a criminal mischief charge. Heflin set the bond on Ford at $10,000.

Both are free on bond.

A criminal mischief offense occurred at the D.E.

There will be no charge for the workshop or the seminar.

Police beat

Drugs, cash stolen

Burglars were busy in Big Spring Monday.

Intruders broke a window to gain entry at the Professional Pharmacy, 1000 Main, sometime between 4:58 and 7:30 a.m. Monday. Once inside, they loaded up a box of assorted drugs and cleaned the cash register of $20 before making their getaway. Total loss has not been estimated.

CRMWD deliveries still off

Deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District continued off during May, but the amount of decline softened considerably.

Total for the month was 1,596,942.844 gallons, 95 million below the same month last year off 5.05 percent. For the first five months of the year the total was 6,497,386,224 gallons, down 850 million gallons or 11.57 percent. The April figures had been off 10 percent and the first four months total off 13.50 percent. Indications were that more of the gap would be closed in June.

The cities used 1,311,463,000 gallons in May, only 35 million or 2.66 percent below the same month in 1978. The oil companies used 284,479,844 gallons, 49 million gallons less or down 14.70 percent. For the first five months the oil company total stood at 1,536,794,024 gallons, down 406 million gallons, or 20.88 percent. Municipal deliveries for the five months stood at 4,960,602,200, down 8.22 percent. Half of all the deliveries to oil companies

New York Daily News hit by photoengravers' strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Photoengravers struck the Daily News, the country's largest circulation daily, this morning after the breakdown of talks with the News and The New York Times.

But one of the News' negotiators, Gregory Thornton, said the strike by 64 photoengravers — who ready photographic plates used in newspapers — would not keep the News from publishing.

"We intend to print a newspaper," he said. The News has a daily circulation of 2.3 million readers, the largest in the country.

Although photoengravers at the New York Times were also negotiating for a new contract, they opted not to strike.

A total of 12 picketers began marching shortly after 7 a.m. outside the News building in midtown Manhattan and at its truck garage across the street.

Murder indictment made

CLEVELAND (AP) — A county grand jury has indicted Willie Williams, 45, of Cleveland, on a charge of aggravated murder in what police termed the Russian-roulette shooting death of his 9-year-old son.

Williams was held Monday pending a hearing in the May 26 death of Michael Patterson. Police charged that Williams emptied his revolver "shooting up the kitchen" of his home, then put one bullet in the gun, spun the chamber, and pulled the trigger several times, aiming at different members of his family.

Michael was shot in the head, said officials. Police could not explain the difference in names, but said Williams was the boy's father.

Babysitter saves four

KENNEWICK, Wash. (AP) — A teen-age babysitter saved four children from a burning house after a lamp cord shorted out and ignited bedding in the home, say firefighters.

One fireman was hospitalized in good condition after battling the Sunday blaze and two others received minor injuries.

Connie Freeman, 13, was babysitting at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Randy Beal for the Beals' two daughters and two sons of another couple. When a child alerted her to the fire, Miss Freeman said, she got the children out of the house and called the fire department. A damage estimate had not been determined.

Two men to stand trial

ROGERSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Two 21-year-old Rogersville men go on trial June 26 on charges of kidnaping a couple after a high school prom and raping the 17-year-old girl.

Judge James Beckner scheduled the trial for Jerry Burton and Marshall W. Price after a county grand jury returned indictments against them Monday. Each is charged with armed robbery, felonious assault with intent to commit murder, kidnaping and first-degree criminal sexual conduct.

They were arrested May 20 and held under $100,000 bond.

Dam continues to leak

SMITHVILLE, Texas (AP) — An earthen dam restraining a 10-acre lake near this central Texas town continues to leak, but officials say the chances of the dam giving way are almost nil.

"It's still leaking, but as long as we don't have rain, we think it will hold," Jay Begg of the Bastrop County Sheriff's office said Monday. The dam sprung a leak Sunday when an outflow pipe clogged.

Sheriff I.R. Hoskins said even if the dam should give way, the water would run into the Colorado River without causing any serious threat "except maybe to livestock."

The equipment has been recovered by Sheriff's Office deputies. Recovered were two elevators and a safety clamp.

WINDING DOWN — Houston pitcher, Randy Niemann, No. 46, hurling one against Philadelphia during the ninth inning of Monday night's game in Houston. Niemann shut out the Phillies 3-0. Niemann has been in the majors since May 18, 1979. He has won his last two starts, walking only one batter in 18 innings. This is his first major league shut out.

Astros continue torrid streak

Niemann baffles Phillies

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston pitcher Randy Niemann was not supposed to make big waves when the Astros called him up from the minors—just fill in until the ailing pitching staff got back on its feet. And despite pitching a six-hit shutout for his second straight major league victory Monday night, he still hasn't impressed Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark.

after Niemann had whittled his earned run average down to 1.72 and yielded only one walk in his last 18 on the mound. Last week, he surprised Cincinnati for his first major league victory. "Batters don't feel overpowered by him," Astros catcher Alan Ashby said of Niemann, who posted a 3-2 record and 4.02 ERA at Charleston before reporting to the Astros May 18. "When the game is over and they went 0 for four, they wonder why they didn't get a hit."

That made Mike Schmidt's triple to rightfield meaningless and boosted the Astros 2 1/2 games ahead of Cincinnati in the National League Western Division race. Houston got all the runs it needed in the fourth inning when Terry Puhl led off with a double and scored on Craig Reynolds' single. Jose Cruz then blasted a triple for the second run. Jeff Leonard doubled in the seventh and scored on Ashby's single.

Collins relinquishes baseball position

Big Spring High School is in search for a new baseball coach today, after former baseball boss Tommy Collins relinquished his duties. Collins was one of the few known coaches on the AAAA level to head two separate programs. Collins also guided the basketball program the past two years, and will reportedly stay on next year to head the roundball sport. He was unavailable for comment.

TOMMY COLLINS

Collins was the baseball coach for four seasons. The Steers were strong contenders for the District 5-AAAA championship in the first three years of Collins' regime, but costly losses to San Angelo in the last game of the year spoiled the Bovines hopes of advancing into the state playoffs on more than one occasion. This year, the Steer baseball team was picked to finish third in the District 5-AAAA pre-season poll. Big Spring fell into a slump, however, and finished in the loop cellar. Big Spring Athletic Director Ron Logback stated that the poor record of the past season was no factor in Collins relinquishing his baseball duties. "The decision for Coach Collins to coach only one sport," Logback said earlier today, "was reached last year before I took over." Logback was hired in late July after Don Robbins suddenly resigned his duties as Head Football Coach and Athletic Director. Logback said that he would begin a search for a new baseball coach immediately. Logback does not know at the present time whether the new baseball coach will be from within the present system or not. "We are looking for the best candidate possible," Logback stated, "and it might be on our staff." When it became somewhat apparent that Collins would have to give up duties in one of the sports earlier in the year, the person mentioned the most by many local athletes and athletic boosters was Rex Scofield. Scofield served as a football and baseball assistant for many years in the Big Spring system before leaving a year ago to Lamar Consolidated. But Scofield is no longer available, as he accepted the head baseball position at San Angelo Central in May.

Spectacular Bid preparing for Saturday's Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — The list of horses mentioned as possible starters for Saturday's Belmont Stakes has grown to nine, but when the flak clears, the number probably will be closer to five or six. LeRoy Jolley, trainer of Belmont probable General Assembly, let drop Monday that he was considering entering another colt for the 111th running of the third jewel of Triple Crown racing — Sir Ivor Again.

Gallant Best, owned by Vila Sommers and trained by Frank Martin. "Gallant best will go only if it's a small field," Martin said. Heavily favored Spectacular Bid, who won the Kentucky Derby and Preakness and is seeking to become the third consecutive Triple Crown winner, worked out Monday. He went one mile over a sloppy track in 1:39. He breezed the half mile in 48.2-5, six furlongs in 1:13.2-5 and went out 1 1/4 miles in 1:52.5. "Bid went good," said Bud Delp, who trains the Hawthorn Farm colt. "He tired, but it was a tiring track."

Delp said Spectacular Bid would go out for a light gallop today, and he would give him a blowout later in the week "because he is a big eater." The 3-year-old son of Bold Bidder will be ridden by Ron Franklin. Bert Firestone's General Assembly, a son of Secretariat who was second in the Derby and fifth in the Preakness, worked a mile in 1:36.2-5 on a fast track over the weekend. He probably will be the second choice. The other more-or-less sure starters for the $200,000-added, 1 1/4-mile Belmont Stakes are Oldknow and Phipps' Golden Act, second in the Preakness and third in the Derby, and Flying Zee Stable's Screen King, third in the Preakness and sixth in the Derby.

Martin vows to return

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Martin says he will definitely return as manager of the New York Yankees for the 1980 season. Martin, appearing on the ABC-TV talk show Good Morning America, said that his visit with Yankee owner George Steinbrenner was "very good" and that he was "very satisfied" following the short meeting in the Yankee Stadium offices Monday. "I am positive I will be back," Martin said when asked about the unscheduled get-together with the man who has been at odds with Martin long before his mid-season firing and re-hiring last year. "Everything will be just like it was before. I will sign a two-year manager's contract and I will have complete control over my team. "There will be no conditions with the contract as there were some before." Martin sees no future problems with outfielder Reggie Jackson either. "Reggie's a fair guy. There should be no problems whatsoever." Martin had originally had been reported to be at Yankee Stadium just to pick up his scouting itinerary and decided at the last minute to stop in and say hello to Steinbrenner. Their meeting was described by Yankee president Al Rosen as "a friendly chat."

In College World Series Hogs eagerly awaiting Longhorns

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson summed it up well. Looking ahead to his team's showdown with conference rival Arkansas tonight in the College World Series, Gustafson cracked, "You have to wonder if anybody will want to get ahead." He had good reason to feel that way. Both teams fell behind in their first two games of the series, but rallied to win, leaving them the only undefeated entries in the tournament. That makes tonight's game crucial because the winner will have a big edge in the drive for the title. "We don't worry when we get behind," Arkansas pitcher Steve Krueger said. "Our (the pitchers') job is to hold the other team down because we know our hitters will come back." Krueger and his teammates have been looking forward to playing Texas ever since both teams qualified for the series. Texas beat Arkansas four times in five games this year, including twice in the Southwest Conference playoffs. Krueger worked the final eight innings of Arkansas' 5-4 victory over Pepperdine in the first round of the series Friday night. Afterwards, he was asked how soon he could pitch again.

"I could probably come back Tuesday," he said. "But if it was Texas, I'd pitch tomorrow. I'd be ready to play them anytime." Catcher Ronn Reynolds shares Krueger's eagerness. Following a 10-3 victory over Arizona Sunday night, Reynolds was asked which team he'd prefer to play in the third round — Texas or Mississippi State. "Texas," he said without hesitation. "They're a conference school, they beat us this year, we're really like to see them again." Texas came through with an 8-2 victory over MSU and Reynolds' wish was granted. Texas, the nation's top-rated team and the SWC champion, is 55-6. Arkansas, ranked fourth and the conference runner-up, is 48-13. Texas beat Arkansas 6-2 and 12-6 to win the SWC tourney earlier, in a three-game series at Fayetteville.

Arkansas won the opener 2-0, but Texas took the others, 3-2 and 1-0. "Our kids are looking forward to playing Texas," Arkansas Coach Norm DeBriyn said in an understatement. "They know they haven't played the best baseball against them, particularly in two games. They want to go out and play well against Texas." "In the conference playoffs, we were in a situation where we had to beat Texas A&M. It was our season. Then we had to come back two hours later and play Texas. But we have no excuses. They just beat us." Arkansas beat A&M 6-2 to stay alive in the tournament, then suffered the 12-6 loss to Texas. However, the Razorbacks were put in the NCAA playoffs as an at-large entry and won the East Regional at Tallahassee, Fla., to qualify for the series.

In arbitration case Horner, Braves both declare victories

ATLANTA (AP) — Bob Horner said he was happy, but the strain in his baby face told another story. The 21-year-old blond bomber repeated over and over that he had won — that he was happy about Monday's ruling by an arbitrator which denied his request for free agency but told the Atlanta Braves to pay him about $146,000 for 1979. Horner's eyes, however, gave him away as he discussed the six turbulent months of anticipation in the arbitration case. Finally, he put it all into perspective when asked how he really felt about the decision. "I'm happy, relieved, upset and miserable all at once," said last year's National League Rookie of the Year. "I don't know. I'll just pick up the pieces and go from here. You don't plan on this (arbitration) happening. You hope it doesn't happen but if the cards fell exactly the same way, I wouldn't change a thing. I'd do it 100 times the same way," he said. Although both sides were claiming victory, it appears that the Braves were the big winners. Atlanta lost some money, but retained their No. 1 draft choice of a year ago. Horner belted 23 home runs, drove in 63 runs and batted .266 in only 89 games. Arbitrator Raymond Goetz' decision was disclosed in a draft opinion distributed to Major League Baseball Player Relations Committee and to the Major League Players Association, which had argued the merits of the case before Goetz, a University of Kansas law professor, last month. There is no appeal for the decision. Ironically, baseball's free agent draft of high school players and college players will be held today. It was in that draft that Horner was plucked from Arizona State a year ago.

David Lipscomb wins NAIA title

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Outfielder Mike Cunningham drove in four runs and reliever Kal Koenig pitched three strong innings as local favorite David Lipscomb College defeated High Point College 5-4 Monday night to win the 23rd annual NAIA World Series.

Jackson edges Midland in Texas League play

After Neil Fiala homered in the fifth inning Monday night to score his second run of the game and give Arkansas a 3-2 lead over Amarillo, Gary Pickett hit Joe DeSa on his next pitch. DeSa didn't appreciate it. DeSa charged to the mound, began unloading on Pickett with his fists and triggered a bench-emptying melee that took umpires 15 minutes to break up. When the dust cleared, the umpires ejected DeSa and teammates Ty Waller and Fred Tisdale. In the top of the ninth, Joe Hicks rapped a bases-loaded double to score three runs and give Amarillo a 5-3 victory in the Texas League game. Tim Flannery singled, Steve Smith singled and Gary Ashby beat out a bunt to load the bases for Hicks. Arkansas scored single runs in the second and third to take a 2-0 lead before Amarillo tied it in the fourth. In other league games Monday night, Jackson beat Midland 5-4, El Paso beat Tulsa 9-8, and the San Antonio at Shreveport game was rained out. Jackson scored all its runs in the second inning, with Sergio Beltré getting two RBI singles in the inning. Brian Rosinski doubled and singled for Midland, which leads the Texas League Western Division.

Spaceman boosting Expos rocket Baseball Roundup

By The Associated Press

Some kiddier, that Bill Lee. Win one game — or a hundred — and it doesn't mean a thing, he says. "All it means," points out the cerebral left-hander of the Montreal Expos, "is that the maguay cactus blooms every 100 years." But he certainly seems to be taking life somewhat seriously now that he is in the National League — and winning. Like Monday night, when he won his sixth game this season and 100th lifetime with an 8-1 decision over the Atlanta Braves. After allowing only four hits in eight innings of work, Lee underscored his delight with new surroundings. Lee, 6-2, got all the support he needed from Gary Carter. Carter drove in three runs with a pair of run-scoring singles and his 10th homer of the season. Dave Palmer pitched the final inning for Montreal.

Dodgers edge Pirates

Rookie Rick Sutcliffe pitched a four-hitter and Joe Ferguson rapped a two-run homer to lead Los Angeles over Pittsburgh. Sutcliffe, 6-3, notched his fifth victory in his last six decisions as the Dodgers rebounded from three straight defeats over the weekend in St. Louis. Ferguson's second-inning homer off loser Jim Rooker, 2-1, included a two-out walk to Dusty Baker. It was Ferguson's eighth homer of the season.

Mets batter Seaver, Reds

Joel Youngblood hit a solo homer and scored three times as New York beat Cincinnati and Tom Seaver behind Craig Swan's six-hitter. Youngblood, who hit his homer in a three-run ninth, had scored twice earlier as the Mets got three runs off Seaver, 2-5, who went seven innings — his longest stint since injuring his back April 19. The only runs off Swan, 5-4, came on homers by Seaver and Dan Driessen.

Angels move into AL West lead

Dan Ford's tie-breaking triple in a two-run sixth inning helped the Angels turn back Toronto and move back into first place by one game over the Rangers. Bert Campaneris opened the sixth with an infield single and came home on Ford's one-out triple to center field. Don Baylor then singled Ford home to boost his league leading RBI total to 55 in 54 games. Mike Barlow, who started the second inning when Chris Knapp suffered back spasms, got his first major league win since September 1977.

Fifth inning explosion propels Red Sox rout

BOSTON (AP) — The time bomb exploded, just as slugger Jim Rice of the Boston Red Sox felt sure it would. After hitting just .233 with five homers on a 5-6 road trip, the Red Sox returned to Fenway Park with a bang Monday night, burying the Texas Rangers 13-5 with a 13-hit attack which included three homers, two triples, and a pair of doubles.

"We haven't been hitting, sure, but we knew we'd come around," said Rice, the American League's 1978 MVP. "We've been doing the same thing for the last five years, since I've been here. We go into a slump together and we come out of it together. It's not surprising. You know that sooner or later a club like ours is going to break out." Nursing a 5-3 lead, the Red Sox nailed down the victory with an eight-run fifth inning. They manhandled three Texas pitchers with a vengeance. In Texas last week, the Red Sox managed just seven runs in 31 innings while losing two of three games. "You get 'em in this park and they're a completely different team," said Texas catcher Jim Sundberg. "They're so much more aggressive at bat here they're tough to hold." "Nothing surprises me in this park," said Texas Coach Connie Ryan, filling in as manager while Pat Corrales attends the funeral of his mother on the West Coast. "We thought we could score some runs. It was 7-3 when

May's hit sinks Twins

Sometimes the idea is to get the ball anywhere but over the plate. Consider, if you will, Mike Marshall's dilemma in the bottom of the 10th inning Monday night. The Minnesota Twins reliever had Baltimore runners on second and third with two out and Lee May at the plate. He could, of course, walk him intentionally, not a bad idea considering the fact that May has averaged 88 runs batted in during his last decade in the majors. But Twins Manager Gene Mauch recommended Marshall pitch to May — carefully. Marshall, 8-5, did — but not carefully enough. May hit a single to left field, Baltimore had a 3-2 victory and the Orioles remained one game ahead of Boston in the American League East.

John earns 10th victory

Tommy John of the Yankees scattered six Royals hits and rode a seven-run sixth inning to his 10th win of the season, tops in the majors. Willie Randolph tripled with the bases loaded for the big hit in the inning. Chris Chambliss had three doubles for New York.

Oglivie, Caldwell key Brewers

Milwaukee's Ben Oglivie hit the first grand-slam homer of his career in the first inning and Mike Caldwell made the runs stand up with an eight hitter against the White Sox. It was Caldwell's third shutout and ninth complete game. Sixto Lezcano had a two-run single in the seventh.

Six homers spark Seattle

Seattle slugged a club-record six home runs — three-run blasts by Bruce Bochte and Ruppert Jones and solo shots by Willie Horton, John Hale, Dan Meyer and Larry Cox — and Rick Honeycutt pitched a five-hitter to turn back Detroit.

Indians edge A's in the 14th

Sid Monge kept Cleveland in the game by turning back bases-loaded threats by Oakland in the bottom of the 11th and 13th innings, and it paid off when Rick Manning of the Indians came through with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the top of the 14th to beat the A's.

Lou Brock named NL Player of the Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals, who hit 433 during the month of May, has been named National League player of the month, league President Chub Feeney announced. Brock had 29 hits in 67 at bats, nine RBI and scored 11 runs during May in one of the best starts in his career. He needs only 54 hits to become the 14th player in major league history to reach the 3,000-hit plateau. Brock also had three homers and stole three bases in May. Feeney also announced that Houston Astros right-hander Joe Niekro, who won six games without a loss in May, has been chosen the National League's pitcher of the month. Niekro, 8-2, pitched two shutouts in the month. His ERA was 1.71 during that time.

Baylor, Kern honored by American League

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielder Don Baylor of the California Angels hit .354, drove in 23 runs, and scored 21 himself to win American League player of the month honors, A.L. President Lee McPhail announced. Baylor had 8 doubles, a triple and 7 home runs while driving in two game-winning runs. He also had eight consecutive stolen bases and hit safely in 22 of the Angels' 27 games during the month. McPhail also announced that Texas Rangers relief specialist Jim Kern, who had a hand in eight of his club's 17 victories in May, was named the American League's Pitcher of the Month. Kern won four games during the month and saved an equal number, without a loss, pitching 29.2 innings. He appeared in 14 games, allowed 18 hits, three runs — two earned — struck out 31 and walked nine and had an earned run average of 0.61.

Connors, Gerulaitis advance in French Open

PARIS (AP) — Jimmy Connors defeated Manuel Orantes 4-6, 6-3, 6-1 and became the third American to reach the quarter-finals of the French Open Tennis Championships. Vitas Gerulaitis and Eddie Dibbs, who beat Wojtek Fibak 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4, were also in the last eight. Jose Higueras won a long match against Eliot Teltscher 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 1-6, 6-3. Victor Pecci crushed Harold Solomon 6-1, 6-4, 6-3. Chris Evert Lloyd, the favorite for the women's singles crown, downed Ruta Gerulaitis 6-0, 6-4 and became the only American in the women's semifinals. Her opponent, Dianne Fromholtz, upset defending champion Virginia Ruzici 6-0, 6-4.

Melodies honor Wayne

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Songs around the campfire are part of the tradition of the Old West but some of the 50 screen cowboys gathering for a television production want to dedicate their melodies to another American tradition — John Wayne.

Wayne, hospitalized with cancer, will be saluted in song on an ABC television special tonight called "When the West Was Fun." The screen cowboys requested that the show's final number be dedicated to Wayne, said producer Brad Marks.

Roy Rogers, Dale Evans and the Sons of the Pioneers will sing while the cowboys gather around a campfire. A picture of Wayne, a veteran of scores of movie westerns, will be superimposed over the scene.

Wayne is hospitalized with cancer at the UCLA Medical Center, where officials reported Monday that his condition is stable.

Humphrey immortalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and three men who crossed the Atlantic Ocean in a helium balloon may soon be immortalized on gold medallions.

The House voted Monday to authorize the striking of the medallions. The Humphrey medallion would be presented to Muriel Humphrey, wife of the late vice president and Minnesota Democrat.

Ballooning Ben Abruzzo, Maxie Anderson and Larry Newman live in New Mexico. Their 1978 flight was the first successful crossing of the Atlantic in a helium balloon.

Pre-trial hearings set

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Pre-trial hearings were scheduled for June 25 for Robin Cranston, son of U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., after he pleaded innocent to charges of trying to murder his ex-girlfriend by setting fire to her bedsheets.

Cranston, 31, was arrested Feb. 17 after 33-year-old Trudy Bekessy told police he had broken into her home. She testified at a preliminary hearing that Cranston choked and beat her and said he would kill her.

Cranston was arraigned Monday on charges of attempted murder, assault with a deadly weapon, arson and burglary. Superior Court Judge Daniel Fletcher set the trial for July 23. Cranston is free on $5,000 bond.

Royalty will make visit

TOKYO (AP) — Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko will make a goodwill visit to Romania, Bulgaria and the Netherlands in October, the Imperial Household says.

The royal couple will visit Romania and Bulgaria as the proxies of Emperor Hirohito to return the visits made in 1975 by Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu and in 1978 by Bulgarian President Todor Zhivkov, the agency said Tuesday.

The announcement said the visit to the Netherlands will be informal.

Teen points out trucker as alleged assailant

COLORADO CITY

Cross examination in the trial of Jerry Nolan Ferritor, 46, charged with the rape of a teen-age Austin hitchhiker, got under way in 32nd District Court here this morning.

The girl, now 15, Monday pointed out the Irving truck driver she says attacked her in the sleeper of a truck parked near Truck Town the night of last Jan. 6.

Following an appeal made for a ride to Dallas, made on a truck's CB radio, the girl said she was offered a ride by the man who later raped her.

She testified she was able later to leave the truck and went directly to a nearby service station where she called the police.

Ferritor was arrested a short time later. Representing the defense are two Snyder lawyers, James Clark and Alex Lefevre.

The alleged victim had testified she left home Jan. 2 "because I wasn't wanted and had hitchhiked through Colorado and Kansas before returning to Texas."

Free showing Friday of 'Ancient America'

The early American Indian was not the ignorant savage that European explorers believed him to be, says Dr. Rodney Dotson, M.D., of San Angelo.

Dotson will present a film of archeological findings piecing together the civilizations of early inhabitants of North and South America.

His presentation, "Ancient America," will be shown free of charge to the public at the Pioneer Gas Company Flame Room at 7:30 p.m., Friday.

The presentation, previously scheduled for June 1, had been delayed due to an unforeseen emergency.

The slides will include some taken by Dotson and his family while living in South American countries. They will depict the advanced knowledge of the Indians in agriculture, medicine and other areas of living.

Among the slides are pictures of hard-tempered copper surgical tools, numbered and kept on a ring like a set of keys. The slides also show a skull that had a steel plate expertly embedded and held in place with fine screws. The plate was explained to be the result of an operation for the removal of a tumor or perhaps an injury from a battleaxe.

The slides also depict new excavation sites in South America, Mexico, Central America and the United States. It has been discovered that many parts of Mexico were built upon ruins of sunken cities. The cities were discovered through a number of incidents, including a dump truck that caused a street to cave in revealing buried ruins and idols.

Dotson, who refers to facts and findings of a number of well-known archeologists and anthropologists, observes that the Indians were a well-organized government group of people with great skills and knowledge.

The presentation will be followed with another, "Ancient America Speaks," June 15, 7:30 p.m., at the Flame Room.

Bee fighter Farabee 'basically satisfied' with 1979 session

Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN - Sen. Ray Farabee looks back at the 1979 legislative session with basic satisfaction - and only a residue of anger. "Generally, it has been good," Farabee said. But he agreed there had been difficulties. The District 30 senator from Wichita Falls became angry when 12 other senators hid out to deny the Senate a quorum. The episode featuring the Killer Bess drew much attention from the press and much criticism from the remaining senators, particularly Farabee. But Farabee said he now wants to emphasize the positive aspects of the legislative and his legislative program. The senator won a choice

SEN. RAY FARABEE appointment from Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby this session: chairmanship of the Senate

Jurisprudence Committee. That led to his sponsorship of numerous bills dealing with the courts and justice. One of his bills that passed is designed to simplify the probate code and cut probate costs. In all fields, Farabee carried 63 pieces of legislation and saw 40 passed. They ranged from purely local bills to ones involving health care and disaster relief. The deadly North Texas tornado in April required legislative attention and Farabee said he is pleased with the results. The state school finance bill includes a provision on tax relief that should give an additional $3 million for Wichita Falls, Farabee said. Farabee said his principal disappointments were the failure of bills on products liability and county ordinance-making powers. He said he is pleased with his work on the Senate Finance Committee and on the conference committee that worked out differences in the House and Senate appropriations bills. "This kind of work is not dramatic," Farabee said. "But it is important from the point of fiscal responsibility."

Inmate acquitted of Girl Scout slayings dead at 35

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) - Gene Leroy Hart, the 35-year-old Cherokee Indian acquitted two months ago of the sex slayings of three Girl Scouts, collapsed in a prison exercise yard and died. Officials at Oklahoma State Prison said Hart died Monday of an apparent heart attack after more than an hour of jogging and lifting weights late Monday afternoon in 80-degree weather.

Doctors tried for 20 minutes to revive him without success and he was pronounced dead a short while later at a McAlester hospital. An autopsy was scheduled for today. The death of Hart, convicted rapist, kidnapper and burglar, prompted mixed emotions in all those connected with the 1977 Girl Scout killings, from parents to prosecutors. Sid Wise, former Mayes County district attorney who saw Hart charged with the slayings at a northeastern Oklahoma summer camp, said the death reflected "the hand of fate." "It reaffirms my belief that justice will prevail, even if you have to go higher than men and women sitting on a jury," said Wise. "The hand of fate or the Almighty steps in when the system fails." Some officials had feared the maximum security prison would try to exact vengeance despite Hart's acquittal on the murder charges March 30 after a month-long trial. Sheri Farmer of Tulsa, mother of 8-year-old Lori Lee Farmer, the youngest of the victims, said she wondered after hearing of Hart's death, "Has justice been done?" "I still think he was the one who killed Lori, but I feel shaken about his death. I feel torn," said Mrs. Farmer. Gary Pitchlynn, one of the convict's defense attorneys, said Hart's family was shocked. "After all they've been through, to be asked to face this now is more than any family should be asked to bear," Pitchlynn said. "They fought long and hard to save that man. It's a shock. We're all saddened." Hart was a fugitive from the Mayes County Jail at the time he was charged with the slayings at Camp Scott near Locust Grove. The three girls were also sexually molested, authorities said.

College of Veterinary Medicine unfurls four-year schedule

COLLEGE STATION - Texas A&M University's College of Veterinary Medicine, largest of the nation's 22, has lengthened its three-year program to four. Officials were quick to emphasize that the new four-year schedule will not increase or decrease the number of new students admitted yearly, about 138. Texas A&M produces nearly 9 percent of the nation's veterinary graduates. Number and content of courses taught will not be affected under the plan approved by Texas A&M University System regents.

other the new schedule. The two groups will then graduate in 1982 and 1983 respectively. First class to go all four years on the new schedule will be the one that enters in 1980. The switch brings the College of Veterinary Medicine calendar in line with the rest of the university for the first time since 1964, when the professional school went on a trimester, year-round program. Major change for the students, says associate dean William Bay, will be summer vacations for students except for the seniors who will stagger vacation time throughout their last year, and commencement exercises with the main student body in mid-May.

Five youths recruited for VAMA program

Five young people have been recruited so far for the Youth Volunteer Program at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Medical Center. Joseph Rouleau, Chief of Voluntary Services, said he hopes to recruit about 15 more youth volunteers by the end of June. Youths from 15 years of age and up are recruited for the annual summer program starting in May. The volunteers work in the nursing and X-ray departments and the laboratory. "We are particularly interested in young people," said Rouleau. "These people will eventually become doctors, nurses and medical personnel. Many V.A. personnel who went into medical work started as volunteers. "They learn responsibility, work ethics and what working along side professionals means. "They are our future," he said.
