MAINTENANCE WORK NEARLY COMPLETE — The giant crane seen here supports a cab which enables men to work on the catcracker at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company's local refinery. Such maintenance takes place periodically on the equipment, which likely will be back in operation Friday.

Sharp drop in beef prices

Wholesale prices up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices rose a modest 0.4 percent in May — the smallest increase in nine months — with a sharp drop in beef prices getting much of the credit, the government said today.

The May increase was a marked turnaround from the 0.9 percent wholesale price rise in April, together with increases of 1 percent or more in the first three months of the year.

The Labor Department report offered further proof that the nation's economy has begun to slow, which might help ease the high rate of inflation so far this year.

Wholesale food prices fell 1.3 percent in May, the largest drop since February 1976. Beef prices at wholesale fell nearly 7 percent, the first decline after five consecutive months of large increases.

"It's bound to have some effect at the retail level," said John Early, chief of the Labor Department's division of industrial prices. "Most food changes pass through very rapidly."

At the same time, however, the wholesale prices of consumer goods other than food rose 1 percent in May.

Early blamed the continuing increase on rapidly rising gasoline and fuel oil prices. Gasoline prices went up 5.2 percent in May, for an increase of nearly 12 percent in the past three months. Fuel oil was up 5.4 percent, or more than 18 percent since February.

Government economists had been predicting the slowdown in food prices. The rising petroleum prices are blamed on a worldwide shortage and rapidly escalating charges for crude oil from producing nations.

Wholesale price changes are included in the Producer Price Index, which reports prices at three levels: the wholesale or finished goods level, when goods are ready for sale to the final user; the intermediate level, where they have received some processing, and the crude level, where goods have not yet received any processing.

The Producer Price Index stood at 212.4 in May, meaning that goods that cost $100 at the wholesale level in the 1967 base period cost $212.40 last month.

The index last month was 10 percent ahead of a year ago, the Labor Department said.

May statistics indicate that prices rose 1 percent at the intermediate level and 0.8 percent at the crude level.

The government has been eager to see prices at both wholesale and retail levels start dropping from current rates which, if continued, would put inflation over 10 percent for the year.

Higher prices have made it more difficult for the government to convince wage earners and businesses to abide by President Carter's voluntary wage and price guidelines.

Memos from Feazelle, Spannaus studied

By JAMES WERRELL

Where has all the equipment from the Big Spring Industrial Park gone?

In a May 24 memo from former Industrial Park Manager Harry Spannaus to city officials and city council members, he states that "various listed properties identified have been purchased by the City of Big Spring, however, I am unable to determine which or whose actual account paid for such properties."

Spannaus further states that if the equipment was paid for with Industrial Park funds, then rental should be paid to the park to replace those funds. If the equipment was purchased with money from the city's general fund, then no rental charge is necessary.

But how was the equipment paid for?

Spannaus states that on May 23 he was told by City Finance Director Tom Ferguson that all properties had been paid for from the general fund. Spannaus, then stated in the memo that on May 24 he produced records that showed that $8,000 was taken from the Industrial Park account to pay for a portion of the properties.

"Now that I am receiving conflicting statements and positions, I have no way to determine which account paid for which and what properties. I am unable to accurately charge a fair rental price for such properties," according to the memo.

The memo also included a list of 18 city departments, the number of industrial park properties used by them, the acquisition cost of the properties and an estimated monthly rental charge for each. According to Spannaus, a copy of the list has been requested by Bill Howard, chief of Airports District Office in Albuquerque, N.M.

Howard has also requested verification that all rents due, retroactive to Jan. 1, have been paid to the Industrial Park.

In an attempt to answer some of the questions posed by Spannaus' memo, another was issued by Paul Feazelle, acting city manager, on Monday. In his memo, Feazelle lists a number of payments made from the general fund to the industrial park fund not noted in Spannaus' memo.

"A check on the city's general fund, dated Sept. 30, 1977, for $12,150 was issued for equipment bought by the city from the Base Exchange, Runway Inn, Prairie Pantry and Four Seasons buildings. Much of this equipment was sold at the first auction, but funds received were placed in the industrial park fund," stated Feazelle's memo.

Feazelle's list also includes payments of $5,380 for rental of three industrial park buildings; a payment of $20,000 from the general fund to cover the purchase of the contents of the Officer's Club; a payment of $15,000 from the general fund for operating expenses at the park; and a loan of $5,000 for hangars at the park.

"It is my contention that equipment bought and paid for by the city should be made available to the various departments having a genuine need without cost. If a need for certain equipment in use by a city department arises in the industrial park, the city manager can make a determination as to priority," wrote Feazelle.

He also states that contributions should be made from the industrial park fund for a variety of services provided by departments in the city. These include: police protection; fire protection; administration; city attorney consultation; work by the finance department, city council, personnel department and switchboard operators; and data processing.

In addition, Feazelle asks that funds from the industrial park account be used to cover expenses borne by other city departments which should be reimbursed. These include fees for: sewage and garbage collection; interest on funds transferred from the general fund to the park fund; cost of a city vehicle used by the industrial park; rental of the community center for an October conference; rental of three buildings during 1977; and electrical work done by city electricians.

All of this information has been submitted to city officials and the Big Spring City Council. It will be the task of the council to review it, and, within the next few weeks, determine what action should be taken.

As a primary move to resolve any dispute which might exist, Feazelle has asked that the agenda of Tuesday's regular council meeting include consideration of setting a fair monthly rental rate for vehicles and all other property in the industrial park.

Probe of possible corruption in police department sought

More than 20 members of the local chapter of the International Brotherhood of Police Officers voted Wednesday to request an investigation of possible corruption within the Big Spring Police Department.

Texas IBPO Council Joe Gilbreath today confirmed that a confidential vote taken by the local chapter tallied over 20 officers in favor of requesting the investigation, with one officer voting against the motion. Further polling of chapter members not present at the Wednesday meeting will take place today, said Gilbreath.

"I assume that this is a situation where the local is asking the International to look into the possibility of an investigation. The next step for me is to just sit and see what is requested," said Gilbreath, who will remain in Big Spring through Friday.

When asked whether the investigation would be restricted to a specific area of the department, Gilbreath replied that "anyone and everyone might be implicated."

"Individually, over a period of time, officers have expressed a desire to go forward with potentially incriminating information. But without Civil Service, these officers' jobs would obviously be in jeopardy," he said.

Gilbreath also stated that any discussion of the nature of the incriminating information would be premature at this time.

Five oil firms apparently violated price guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's anti-inflation council charged today that five oil firms apparently violated government price guidelines and that United Airlines' new labor contract probably broke the wage standard.

In its first major complaint over wages, the Council on Wage and Price Stability said United's contract with the International Association of Machinists, reached after a costly 55-day strike, was in "probable non-compliance" with the government's voluntary 7 percent wage guideline.

The five oil firms cited for "probable non-compliance" with the price standards are: Getty Oil of Los Angeles; The Charter Co. of Jacksonville, Fla.; Time Oil Co. of Seattle; National Cooperative Refinery Association of McPherson, Kan., and the Corpus Christi, Texas, refinery of Champlin Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Union Pacific.

There was no immediate comment from the companies.

Today's action indicated that the administration intends to fight for compliance with its voluntary wage-price guidelines despite a recent setback in federal court, mounting union opposition and a stubbornly high inflation rate.

So far, the council has ruled definitively that only two firms have violated the price standard: Amerasia Hess Corp., an oil company, and the cement division of Ideal Basic Industries.

Gas explosion sparks evacuation

JAY, Fla. (AP) — An explosion ripped a butane gas storage tank near the Jay oil fields in the tip of Florida's Panhandle this morning, forcing the evacuation of nearby residents, authorities said.

"We have not confirmed that there are fatalities but we believe there will be fatalities," said Sgt. Paul Pridden of the Santa Rosa County Sheriff's office.

Pridgen said a butane tank at the Empire Gas Co. exploded shortly before 9 a.m.

Missing equipment mystery

Spannaus further states that if the equipment was paid for with Industrial Park funds, then rental should be paid to the park to replace those funds. If the equipment was purchased with money from the city's general fund, then no rental charge is necessary.

But how was the equipment paid for?

Spannaus states that on May 23 he was told by City Finance Director Tom Ferguson that all properties had been paid for from the general fund. Spannaus, then stated in the memo that on May 24 he produced records that showed that $8,000 was taken from the Industrial Park account to pay for a portion of the properties.

"Now that I am receiving conflicting statements and positions, I have no way to determine which account paid for which and what properties. I am unable to accurately charge a fair rental price for such properties," according to the memo.

The memo also included a list of 18 city departments, the number of industrial park properties used by them, the acquisition cost of the properties and an estimated monthly rental charge for each. According to Spannaus, a copy of the list has been requested by Bill Howard, chief of Airports District Office in Albuquerque, N.M.

Howard has also requested verification that all rents due, retroactive to Jan. 1, have been paid to the Industrial Park.

Bond election look expected

During Tuesday's regular meeting of the Big Spring City Council, members will discuss various options open to the city for financing improvements of the city's water and sewer plant and a variety of other civic projects.

Because one of the options is a citywide bond election, some question arose about the propriety of such a discussion without prior public notice.

"The city attorney (Elliott Mitchell) has checked into this, and there is nothing improper about this discussion. No action will be taken at Tuesday's meeting, one way or the other, so no notice is required," said Paul Feazelle, acting city manager.

Feazelle assured, however, that when the council does decide to take action on the financing of the projects, a public hearing will be called, and all community input will be considered.

Bill prohibiting newsroom searches inked by Clements

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements signed into law today a bill prohibiting evidentiary searches of newspaper and broadcast station offices.

"I think you are all well aware of what the bill is about," Clements told his weekly news conference before signing the measure.

The new law prevents law enforcement officers from searching a news office if there is no evidence reporters and other employees are involved in criminal activity.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled last year that police could search a news office for evidence of a crime even though the office's only connection with any criminal activity was through its news coverage.

Youth Achievement Banquet to be at Country Club tonight

Sixteen graduates of four area high schools, their parents and school administrators have a dinner date at 6:30 o'clock this evening at the Big Spring Country Club.

They gather for the annual Zale's-Herald Youth Achievement Banquet. Highlight of the evening comes when the outstanding students of Big Spring, Forsan, Sands and Coahoma are announced.

All students attending receive a gift and a certificate, courtesy of Zale's Jewelers. In addition, the outstanding student at each of the four schools will be awarded special gifts.

Chief speaker of the evening will again be Tumbleweed Smith (Bob Lewis), who has made his mark on a radio show that is piped into 73 areas of the state. Smith has a treasurehouse of stories about Texas and Texans, probably unmatched anywhere. He has developed a style that keeps him in demand as an after-dinner speaker.

Master of ceremonies for the program will be Tom Watson, publisher-president of the Big Spring Herald.

Students who are eligible to attend tonight's banquet include: Cynthia Ann Cowan, James Robert Griffin, Kevin McLaughlin and Mary

Action/reaction: Babysitting fees

Q. What is the minimum wage for babysitting? My daughter was paid only $2 after babysitting four hours for two kids.

A. As far as we know, casual babysitting is an unregulated business. Minimum wage does not apply, but common decency should. Your daughter was taken advantage of. Rates vary, but the average minimum is around 75 cents an hour for one child and an additional 25 cents an hour for each additional child. Your daughter can talk to her friends to see what they charge. A way to avoid a future "swindle" is for your daughter to decide what she's worth and then discuss her rates with the parents before she accepts the job. When payment is agreed upon in advance, she'll no longer have to depend on generosity for services already rendered.

BSISD financing improves

By STEVE MCGONIGLE
Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — School finance bills are to school administrators what candy stores are to sweet-toothed kids: you can never get enough goodies out of them.

The recently passed financing package is no exception. Although it pumps an extra $988 million into education over the next two years, not all school officials are satisfied.

Some are concerned about the legislature's decision to designate a portion of the extra funding as reimbursement for school revenues lost through implementation of the 1978 Tax Relief Amendment.

Critics call the plan "a shell game" that robs school districts of the extra program funds needed to keep pace with inflation.

Charles Matthews, executive director of the Texas Association of School Administrators, predicts 75 percent of the state's 1,080 school districts will have to raise taxes or cut back on programs.

"We're not enthusiastic about that at all," he says.

Matthews' assessment is disputed by the Texas Education Agency, which insists tax increases will not be necessary if school funds are managed properly.

"They (school officials) are going to have to really look at every dollar they spend," says Raymon Bynum, TEA associate commissioner for finance.

Bynum says the pressure will be on free-spending districts to either economize their programs or face irate taxpayers.

There is a mellower tone to the squawking over school finance this year. At the same time administrators carp about the dollars they are due, they also note the dispersal system is the fairest the legislature has devised.

For the first time, education experts say, a higher percentage of state aid will flow to property-poor school districts that need help the most.

The plan is to narrow the spending disparities that have threatened to send the state's financing system into court for an overhaul.

Big Spring Independent School District received a total of $2.2 million in new school aid and tax relief funds. After deducting $46,800 in anticipated losses from tax exemptions, BSISD is left with a net gain of $1.6 million to pay its bills for the next two years.

BSISD receives an extra $614,800 in so-called equalization aid, about one third of all the new state school aid it is due under the Finance Bill.

Other West Texas school districts receiving large equalization increases include Lamesa ISD ($340,200); and San Angelo ISD ($1.3 million).

This generosity does not extend to school districts with more than $100,000 of property wealth per student. Stanton, Forsan, Coahoma, Colorado City and Westbrook will get no equalization aid.

The wealth that prevents Borden County ISD from qualifying for state school aid also leaves it short of covering its revenue losses.

The end result for BSISD is direct refunding of only 50 percent of the anticipated revenue losses. The rest comes through additional operating funds in the Finance Bill.

Sterling City ISD gets 80 cents on the dollar and Lamesa ISD 60 cents.

In comparison, school districts in Colorado City, Westbrook, Garden City, Forsan, Coahoma, Sands, Stanton and Grady qualify for only 45 percent reimbursement, the minimum provided.

Forsan ISD's local costs will increase $107,200 over the next two years while Borden County and Grady ISD will see their local share rise more than $80,000.

Among the lucky districts which will have to come up with less matching money are Big Spring (down $209,100), Lamesa (down $155,100) and Colorado City (down $44,400).

Other area schools include:

Stanton: $181,800 in new state aid; $21,500 in direct reimbursement; $47,900 in revenue losses; $154,800 in net aid gain.

Colorado City: $339,500 in new aid; $62,500 reimbursement; $138,800 revenue loss; $263,200 net gain.

Forsan: $70,700 in new aid; $7,600 reimbursement; $16,800 revenue loss; $61,500 net gain.

Borden County: No state aid; $2,300 reimbursement; $4,000 revenue loss; $1,700 net loss.

Grady: $36,800 in new aid; $450 reimbursement; $1,000 revenue loss; $36,000 net gain.

Sterling City: $37,900 in new aid; $163,000 reimbursement; $183,000 revenue loss; $18,600 net gain.

Lamesa: $1 million in new aid; $336,000 reimbursement; $561,700 revenue loss; $793,000 net gain.

Garden City: $50,400 in new aid; $3,200 reimbursement; $46,500 net gain.

Coahoma: $146,200 in new aid; $13,400 reimbursement; $29,800 revenue loss; $129,800 net gain.

Westbrook: $127,000 in new aid; $1,400 reimbursement; $3,200 revenue loss; $125,200 net gain.

Damages to Colorado City streets pegged at $160,000

COLORADO CITY — Damages to Colorado City streets, buried beneath swirling flood waters Monday night, have been estimated by the city to be $160,000, according to City Manager Ray Mason.

Further estimates include $25,000 damage to the sewer system and $5,000 to water lines. The cost of replacing two bridges, washed out during the flooding, has not been estimated.

Mason stated that all water service had been completely restored by late Wednesday.

He said that an evaluation of damages to homes was begun Wednesday. So far, 50 homes have been reported to have incurred damages. "Damage reports are still coming in," he stated.

Lamesa given second ten-year term in pen

LAMESA — A Lamesa man already convicted of a vengeance killing was given a second ten-year term in prison in a case heard here Tuesday.

He is Cipriano DeLeon Vasquez, 44, convicted of aggravated assault following the May 13 shooting death of another Lamesa man and the wounding of his son.

Vincente Vasquez Sr., 78, (no relation to Cipriano) was pronounced dead at the scene at 11:30 p.m., May 13. His son, Vincente Jr., 22, was wounded in the incident.

District Judge George

Hansard sentenced Cipriano to not less than two nor more than ten years on the assault charge. The sentences will run concurrently.

The shooting apparently was revenge for the loss of about $700 that Cipriano had reported taken from him several weeks ago. Although the Vasquez men were not accused of taking the money, Cipriano seemed to think they knew something about it.

Cipriano was arrested hours after the incident just over the Dawson-Terry county line.

Texas legislators watching out for selves

Split primaries failing to win Ezzell's support

By JACKIE CALMES Copyright 1979, Harris-Hanks Communications, Inc. Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Although the 1979 Legislature has been called "the lobby session," the special interests behind the most virulent battle were not bankers, auto dealers or real estate agents...

Under his bill, Texas could have voted in a GOP presidential primary next March and switched to the Democratic general primary in July.

Instead, due to the Bees' sting, a single primary will be held next May. (The state Republican party will have a presidential primary; Democrats apparently will not.)

So conservative Democratic voters will have to choose between voting for same-day primary, several their own party primary, or for presidential candidates — notably former Texas Gov. John Connally — in the GOP primary.

"I'll be very frank," Jones said. "Many of the people who have been my supporters, historically, have also been supporters of John Connally."

"Many of them have told me they don't think it's fair that they can't vote for both of us."

Creighton, too, predicted he would lose supporters to a GOP ticket fielding "attractive, vote-getting folks like (Ronald) Reagan, (George) Bush and Connally."

And Moore — the Senate's most senior member after 30 years — conceded, "Sure, I have friends who'll vote in the Republican primary."

because there's going to be a same-day primary." Creighton, an 18-year veteran, predicted his upcoming race "will be the usual tough one," with a challenger well-financed by "the liberal and labor crowd."

"I've always won, and I'll win again," he said. Although the primary drama played in the Senate, the 131 House members were not disinterested parties.

But, Truan added, because of the Killer Bee episode, Hobby was "hurt politically. If there's anyone who came out with egg on his face, it's him."

Sen. Babe Schwartz of Galveston, also a Bee, agreed that Hobby gambled and lost. "He had a substantial commitment to the concept of a dual primary to his political friends in the party, and to a number of conservative elected officials who have a very, very intense fear that the Republican primary is going to be so attractive to conservative Democrats that the Republicans will build a party around it," Schwartz said.

"It's a legitimate fear. But it's not a fear that I share." But a third bee, Sen. Carl Parker of Port Arthur, said of Hobby, "I sincerely believe that at the outset, he thought it (dual primaries)

Hobby's opponents add that the lieutenant governor also was plotting his own political future by pushing split primaries. "There is no secret about the fact he wants to be governor," Sen. Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi, one of the Bees, said. "And there is no doubt he is delivering to the conservative power structure that really has no allegiance to the (Democratic) party."

But, Truan added, because of the Killer Bee episode, Hobby was "hurt politically. If there's anyone who came out with egg on his face, it's him."

Sen. Babe Schwartz of Galveston, also a Bee, agreed that Hobby gambled and lost. "He had a substantial commitment to the concept of a dual primary to his political friends in the party, and to a number of conservative elected officials who have a very, very intense fear that the Republican primary is going to be so attractive to conservative Democrats that the Republicans will build a party around it," Schwartz said.

"It's a legitimate fear. But it's not a fear that I share." But a third bee, Sen. Carl Parker of Port Arthur, said of Hobby, "I sincerely believe that at the outset, he thought it (dual primaries) was a good idea." By the end of the session, however, finding himself the heavy in the killer bees imbroglio, Hobby stubbornly supported the bill under pressure from conservative senators and to show his strength, Parker said.

But Ogg said he and Hobby were concerned that Texas assume "its rightful impact" on presidential candidate selection. They wanted Texas — as a producer of food, fiber and fuel — to compete for candidates' political promises with northeastern "user states," such as New Hampshire, which have early primaries.

The potential economic returns justify the estimates $5 million cost of a separate March primary, Ogg said. Opponents scoff at that selfless rationale for split primaries. "The bottom line is the continued domination of the Senate by the so-called rural Mafia," Sen. Bob Vale of San Antonio, one of the Bees, said.

Supposing such a Mafia exists, the dons are Hobby in the Senate and Speaker Billy Clayton in the House. "In order to control the legislature," Truan said, "Hobby and Clayton must continue to have a legislature dominated by persons of their own rural, conservative mentality." That is most important for the 1981 legislature, which will draw a new map of legislative districts based on population changes reflected in the 1980 census.

Whether the new lines favor conservatives or liberals, city or country dwellers, will depend largely on who wields the pen.

Vale, a Mexican-American, confidently predicts the legislature of the 80s will gain "increasingly more women, blacks, Chicanos and urban dwellers."

"The fight is for survival," he said, "and the conservative majority is becoming extinct."

"He was a very mysterious person," said Greer. Higgs is described as 6 feet tall, 200 pounds, with glasses and dark hair.

Higgs' father, asked why he thought his son might disappear, theorized, "He was under an extreme amount of pressure. His wife had been in the hospital. It could have very well been that he went over the edge."

Dad didn't think son was slain

Reports of sergeant's death highly exaggerated

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Air Force Staff Sgt. Wilmer W. Higgs Jr. mysteriously disappeared New Year's Eve 1977 from the all-night gas station where he moonlighted. About $120 was missing from the cash register; blood stains were on the floor.

They found his car a few days later, partially submerged in the San Antonio River south of downtown. The keys were in the ignition and police said it appeared to have been driven or pushed into the water. There were signs of a struggle.

It looked for all the world like a robbery-homicide. A statewide search was mounted, dozens of Higgs' fellow servicemen searched for his body in the brush near the river and Exxon offered a $1,000 reward.

No trace was ever found. The Air Force declared the Lackland Air Force Base marksmanship instructor "officially deceased" Jan. 20, 1978. A memorial service was held for him four months later in Vidor. Air Force death benefits and insurance money were paid.

That is not, however, the end of the story. Local and federal authorities said Wednesday they have located the 33-year-old Higgs living in the Galveston area. The FBI says Higgs has lived and worked in Southeast Texas for the past 18 months, posing in at least two jobs as "Johnny Newman."

If the Air Force sergeant is indeed alive, he faces possible theft charges in the station robbery and will be classified as a deserter. San Antonio police and Lackland officials said Wednesday.

Military authorities must also determine if fraud was involved in connection with the undetermined amount of death benefits and insurance money his wife, Carolyn, later received.

"There is no question at all in my mind, from what we have determined, that Higgs is alive. I'm convinced of it," said the FBI agent who began the investigation in Southeast Texas about two months ago. The agent asked to remain anonymous.

Roberson. The station owner must decide, Roberson said, whether to press those charges. The agent said the U.S. Attorney's office in San Antonio initially ruled that there was no federal violation falling under its jurisdiction and turned the case over to the Department of Defense and the San Antonio police. Roberson said local police know the man is near Galveston, where he is reportedly working as a carpenter, and plan to apprehend him if charges are filed.

Military authorities are also looking into the case and will apprehend him if he is declared a deserter. "If he's found alive, he would be classified as a deserter," said Lackland spokesman Joe McAnally.

Higgs' wife and the couple's two daughters lived in the Vidor-Beaumont area during the time the FBI report said Higgs was working in the vicinity, apartment managers said. Higgs' father, W.W. Higgs Sr., who also lives in Vidor, confirmed that.

Mrs. Higgs, who an apartment manager said moved to Hawaii last Aug. 31, said Wednesday when contacted by phone about the reports, "I found out this morning, but I am just too upset right now to talk about it. I have no comment to make."

She refused further comment to other questions and then hung up. In Vidor, Higgs' father, W.W. Higgs Sr., said, "I'm extremely happy. Frankly, I never felt he was dead. I never had given up on him. If the law has found him, I would certainly like to know where he is."

Higgs was asked three times if he had seen his son since the disappearance. He answered each time, "No sir." He was asked if his daughter-in-law had any contact with his son during that time and replied, "If she has, I'm not aware of it."

He said his daughter-in-law received death benefits and insurance from the Air Force, but did not know how much. Higgs, who had been in the Air Force since 1965, made about $750 per month, officials estimated.

Air Force officials said the benefits, which usually are about $3,000, were paid, but added that they were unable immediately to determine the total. Vidor police records show that a man named Wilmer W. Higgs Jr., matching the description of the missing sergeant "right down the line," was issued a traffic ticket there June 4, 1978, said Vidor Police Lt. Sam Kittrell. The FBI contacted Vidor police three weeks ago about the ticket, said Kittrell.

Roberson said FBI reports showed Higgs worked for Brown & Root Construction Co. at the South Texas Nuclear Project near Bay City for several months after his disappearance, apparently using the alias "Johnny Newman." Brown & Root confirmed that a man by that name worked for them there until last Aug. 11.

Roberson, quoting an FBI report, said Higgs left that job and worked at another Exxon station before moving to the Galveston area. Jack Greer, owner of the station, said a "Johnny Newman" matching Higgs' description — except for a beard — worked for him as a mechanic until about five weeks ago.

What to look for in a car

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Teens: I receive many letters, especially from girls, who are buying their first used car and are asking for things to look for.

So for Nancy Collins of Vancouver, Wash., and Glenda O'Donnell of San Rafael, Calif., and all the others who wrote to me, here goes:

It might be the biggest investment you make for many years. So before you say "yes" to that new or used car, use these tips to steer you in the right direction for the best deal on wheels.

Car shop with a pro. Go with a friend or relative who knows his way around a car. Even better, take any car you're considering to a qualified mechanic.

So what if it's not raining: try out those windshield wipers. And flash the lights, buckle the seat belts, test the emergency flashers and the parking brakes. Repairs can be costly, so insist they be made before you buy.

It'll take more than a penny to buy that new car, but that's all you'll need to check out the tire tread. Insert the penny edgewise into the tread of each tire. If the tread covers the words "One Cent," the tires are usually safe and should give you several thousand miles of service.

Steer clear of cars that have been in accidents. Body repairs, which leave a rippling appearance on the metal, can hide serious damage to other parts of the car.

Turn on the engine. The ignition should idle smoothly. Now, take the car on a long test drive on a section of a highway and stretch of rough road. Test the brakes. You shouldn't hear any squealing or grinding noises, and the car should stop smoothly and not pull to one side.

Give reluctant child a choice

"Let the child who is reluctant to take medicine make some decisions about the matter as a means of persuasion," is the advice of David Rudd of the University of North Carolina Pharmacy School.

American Druggist, Rudd suggests that the child could help shake the medicine bottle, or choose whether to sit or stand while taking his medication. Above all, he cautions, "never tell a child a bad-tasting medicine will taste good."

Can't Fault Him In Fault-Finding

DEAR ABBY: I've stolen all my life. I started taking small things from my friends. I've stolen money from my mother's purse and also my father's pocket. I've even shoplifted just to get away with something. I've never been caught. I guess I've been lucky, or maybe I'm just good at it.

I'm also a terrible liar. I make up things just to get people to listen to me. I don't have any friends, and I'd like at least one. I work hard to impress people but always end up making a fool of myself.

I'd like to be a good person but I don't have the will power to do what's right. Dishonesty seems to come more natural to me. I need help before I end up in jail. So, Dear Abby, what can you do for a 15-year-old failure? I can't talk to my parents.

A NO-GOOD GUY

DEAR GUY: A guy who knows his faults as well as you know yours is no "failure" in my book.

You are fair enough to blame only yourself for your weakness, smart enough to know that you lie to attract attention, and sufficiently honest to admit you want friends and a clear conscience.

If you have a school counselor, make tracks for that office. If not, tell your parents you have some personal problems you would like to talk over with someone at the mental health clinic. Once you get the help you need, I'll bet on you.

DEAR ABBY: You wrote, "Under certain circumstances, a child CAN be darker than its darkest parent."

Abby, since there are only two parents involved, you should have used "darker" instead of "darkest." Just thought you should know.

ENGLISH BUFF

DEAR BUFF: I knew. But "darkest" somehow sounds better to my ear. Just as "put your best foot forward" should be "put your better foot forward" if one wants to be absolutely correct. However, I'll opt for putting one's best foot forward — whether I'm referring to a person or a centipede.

DEAR ABBY: I called a young lady I know and invited her to attend a sailing regatta with me on the 4th of July. It's one of the nicest affairs of the season and entails the races in the afternoon, followed by dinner and dancing at the yacht club.

Instead of saying yes or no, she asked me to call her around the 25th of June and she'd tell me then.

Abby, if she turns me down, I'll have to ask somebody else, and by then all the best girls will have been asked. Why do you think she's waiting, and what should I do?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: She could be waiting to see if she gets a better offer. Call her and tell her if she can't give you a definite "yes" now, you'd like to call somebody else. (That should take the wind out of her sails.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FAITHFUL READER IN WOBURN, MASS": From your letter I would suggest that you go into selling. (The difference between rape and romance is sometimes salesmanship.)

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet: "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Altrusa Club gathers for make-up meeting

Members who are attempting to reach the 100 percent attendance record were able to make up one meeting missed earlier in the year when the Altrusa Club of Big Spring gathered in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn May 31.

Mamie Roberts, vice president, called the meeting to order in the absence of President Bonnie Bennett. Pauline Petty presented the Altrusa Blessing and Kaye

McDaniel led the Pledge of Allegiance.

A program on the past, present and future of Altrusa was presented by Gertrude McCann. Helen Cobean gave the Altrusa Benediction.

Members will meet again June 14 at noon in the Holiday Inn Patio Room with business consisting of annual reports from the four program chairmen. This will be the last business meeting for the 1978-1979 year.

Special guests attending were the prospective bridegroom's mother, Lorraine Macklin, Big Spring, and his sister, Patsy Wingert, Midland. The honoree and Mrs. Macklin wore corsages of yellow and pink, respectively.

The refreshment table was draped with lace cloth and enhanced by a silver candelabrum featuring blue and accented with an array of multi-colored daisies.

Rebekah officers elected

Jewel Thompson, noble grand, presided Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. when the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 met in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Ninth and San Antonio.

It was revealed to the 21 members present that 44 visits to the sick were made during the past week.

Officers elected for the term July through January included Malinda Blackburn, noble grand and Gay Smith, vice grand. Sheri Wilson was elected to fill the office of recording secretary, vacated by the resignation of Mrs. Smith.

Installation of these and all officers for next term will be announced at a later date.

Lodge Deputy Lila Holland presented her school of instruction on the duties of the noble and vice grands. June Wiggins assisted Mrs. Holland by reading the duties outlined in the by-laws.

All members with June birthdays were recognized. These included Olean Melton, Mrs. Wiggins and Mrs. Thompson.

Refreshments were served by the June refreshment committee, Mattie Roberts, Sarah Griffith, Lona Crocker and Mrs. Wiggins.

Mrs. Griffith, funeral marshal, announced that all members are to wear dresses for the Memorial Ceremony which will be conducted June 12 at the next regular lodge meeting.

'A way to a man's heart is through his stomach

After the wedding, it's in to the kitchen

By ROBBIE CROW
Family News Editor

Somewhere hidden in the back of every young girl's mind is the dream of becoming a June bride.

Over the years, the month of June has gained recognition as the month of the marriage.

Maybe it's because June represents the beginning of summer — a time of warmth, brightness and cheerfulness. That, too, is the description of the radiant bride's face on her wedding day.

Whatever the reason, right now many June brides-to-be are making those last-minute preparations to secure the meaningfulness of that 'big day.'

Most couples learn of their compatibility through the various stages of dating. They learn each other's likes in music, clothes and weather, but the smart future bride is quick to learn her fellow's likes and dislikes in the breakfast, lunch and supper department.

Didn't someone once say 'a way to a man's heart is through his stomach'?

Kayla Gaskin, soon to be Mrs. Tom McDonnell, has been giving much thought to her duties as a homemaker.

"I have been collecting favorite recipes of Tom and myself, but I intend to pursue a career. Under that circumstance, my time in the kitchen will be limited."

Kayla likes to prepare unique, nutritious and fast recipes and she has discovered, while single, it is convenient to double the recipe and freeze a portion.

"This will be helpful in preparing meals for two as well," concluded Kayla.

She and McDonnell will be married June 16 in the Ackerly Methodist Church. They will reside in Dallas.

Another June bride-to-be, Tere Deel, has given quite a bit of thought as to how she'll stand up to the high cooking standards of her future husband, Chris Chaney.

"I haven't really cooked much for him so far, but I pretty well know his tastes," explained Tere.

"He isn't strictly a meat and potatoes man. He likes a variety of foods.

Miss Deel, who will marry Chaney June 30 at the First Christian Church, says she and her prospective bridegroom like the same things and she doesn't foresee any problem in meeting his standards of what a good meal should be.

"I'm not the world's best cook, but I can fix a mean hamburger pattie," Tere revealed.

"We're going to live at the Coronado Apartments after we're married. I'm going to have to get use to an electric stove," concluded Tere with some hesitation.

Martha Trevino's future husband, Troy Hester, hasn't been accustomed to very fancy cooking lately since most of the time he does his own. In fact, having Martha cook for him after they're married should prove to be somewhat of an improvement no matter what she prepares.

"I consider myself a pretty good cook and when I have the time, I like to make dishes that are different from everyday meals."

Time will play an important factor on Martha's cooking since she plans to pursue a career as well as attend college.

June bride Martha Trevino will become Mrs. Troy Hester, June 9 in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The couple will live in Odessa.

All three girls have been collecting recipes to try on their new husbands. Here are a few of their favorites. Try them and see what you think.

- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1/2-8 ounce box lasagne noodles

PERSONAL TOUCHES — Martha Trevino, who will marry Troy Hester June 9 in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, looks over some things she will take to her new home in Odessa where the couple will reside. Martha says she enjoys cooking different meals that require much time and care.

- dried Parmesan cheese
- paprika
- Bring 3 quarts water to rapid boil. Add salt and oil. Add lasagne noodles, one at a time and continue boiling for 6 minutes. Drain, reserving 1 cup liquid to use later. Lightly brown meat, onion, and garlic in skillet. Add tomato paste, liquid reserved from noodles, salt and pepper. Stir until smooth; simmer 10 minutes. Mix cottage cheese and well beaten eggs.

Grease two-quart casserole. Line casserole with noodles. Cover noodles with the meat and tomato mixture and lay thin slices of mozzarella cheese over this. Spread cottage cheese and egg mixture over Mozzarella. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and

- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon garlic, salt or clove
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 can (8 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces (drained)
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounce) condensed cream of chicken soup
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 2 cups hot noodles
- Snipped parsley
- In large skillet, cook and stir ground beef and onion (butter until onion is tender.)

Stir in flour, salt, garlic, pepper and mushrooms. Cook 5 minutes stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in soup. Simmer uncovered 10 minutes. Stir in sour cream. Heat through. Serve over noodles. Sprinkle with parsley.

Tere Deel's HAMBURGER STROGANOFF

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 medium onion, chopped (1/2 cup)
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine

- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon garlic, salt or clove
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 can (8 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces (drained)
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounce) condensed cream of chicken soup
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 2 cups hot noodles
- Snipped parsley
- In large skillet, cook and stir ground beef and onion (butter until onion is tender.)

Stir in flour, salt, garlic, pepper and mushrooms. Cook 5 minutes stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in soup. Simmer uncovered 10 minutes. Stir in sour cream. Heat through. Serve over noodles. Sprinkle with parsley.

Martha Trevino's MEXICAN CHEF SALAD

- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 1/2 8-ounce can ranch style beans
- 1/2 head lettuce

- 2 tomatoes
- 1 avocado
- 1/2 chopped onion
- grated cheddar cheese
- 1/2 bag Doritos
- French or thousand island dressing
- Brown meat. Add drained beans and simmer for 10 minutes. Prepare lettuce, tomatoes, avocado, and onion as for a regular salad. Grate cheese for salad according to taste. Mix meat and beans with salad and add Doritos (broken into small pieces). Add dressing according to taste. Line salad with remaining Doritos.

Kayla Gaskin's SOUTHERN CHOCOLATE CAKE

Prepare a small chocolate cake mix (9 ounce) using instructions on box. Bake on oblong cake pan for 20 minutes.

- 8 ounces cream cheese
- 4 ounces instant chocolate pudding
- whipped cream (1 carton)
- 2 cups milk (divided)
- 2-4 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2-4 tablespoons slivered almonds

Place cream cheese in large mixing bowl. Gradually add 1 cup milk. Add pudding mix and 1 cup milk. Beat until smooth. Spread evenly on cake. Combine sugar, whipping cream and vanilla. Spread whipping cream mixture over pudding layer. Sprinkle with almonds. Chill.

Tere Deel's COCONUT CREAM PIE

- Crust:
- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1-3rd cup plus 1 tablespoon shortening
- 2 tablespoons water
- Meringue:
- 2 egg whites (1/4 cup)
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

- 1/4 cup sugar
- Filling:
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- 2 egg yolks
- 2 teaspoons butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 cup coconut

Separate dry ingredients, then gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and comes to a rolling boil throughout. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat. Beat egg yolks, slightly and gradually. Stir at least 1/2 of hot mixture into egg yolks. Blend egg yolk mixture into remaining 1/2 of hot mixture in the sauce pan. To prevent mixture from thinning out after it is cooled, again heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Then boil 1 minute longer. Remove saucepan from heat, blend in butter, vanilla and coconut. Pour hot filling immediately into baked pie shell. Top at once with meringue with the egg whites left from filling.

Martha Trevino's BROCCOLI AND RICE CASSEROLE

- 2 cups cooked (or 1 cup raw) rice
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 1 package (frozen) chopped broccoli
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 small jar (8 ounce) cheese spread
- Saute onions in small amount of butter; add broccoli. Mix all ingredients in a buttered casserole dish. Cover and bake in oven at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes. Add rice to onions and broccoli and cover for a few minutes before mixing in cheese.

(PHOTO BY DANNY VALDES)

HOPE CHEST — All the contents of Tere Deel's chest will soon be put to use after she and Chris Chaney are married June 30 in the First Christian Church. Tere claims her future husband's eating tastes will be easy to please since he likes just about everything.

Arkansas loses first game

UT eliminated from Series

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Is a free-swinging slugfest tough on a baseball coach? Just ask Fullerton State's Augie Garrido. That was a 12 Rolaids game," Garrido said after his team outlasted Arkansas 13-10 Wednesday night in the College World Series. The 27-hit game, highlighted by five home Winslow honored by Big 8

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri tight end Kellen Winslow was named Big Eight Conference athlete of the year for 1978-79 by a panel of sports writers, athletic administrators and the Greater Kansas City Sports Commission.

Del Harris to be named Houston Rocket coach

HOUSTON (AP) — George Maloof, new owner of the National Basketball Association Houston Rockets, says Del Harris will "do a helluva job" as head coach of the Rockets. Harris, an assistant coach under Rocket head coach Tom Nissalke the past three years, will be introduced at a news conference today as the new head coach.

Harris had said he was offered the job last month in a visit with Maloof at Albuquerque, N.M., but Harris did not accept the offer immediately. "The talent is there for him to work with," Maloof said of Harris, who reportedly received a one-year verbal commitment to direct the Rockets.

Prior to joining the Rockets, Harris was an assistant coach at the University of Utah and was an assistant to Nissalke with the Utah Stars in the American Basketball Association.

Maloof said he hoped to clear up the general manager position soon. Nissalke has been offered the position but has not accepted. Present general manager Ray Patterson also could keep the job.

Harris is a 1959 graduate of Milligan (Tenn.) College. He compiled a 79-36 record as a high school coach and later served nine years at Earlham (Ind.) College, finishing with a 175-70 record.

Tempers flaring for the Belmont

Ronnie Franklin, Angel Cordero have fisticuffs

NEW YORK (AP) — Jockey Ronnie Franklin was to explain to the stewards at Belmont Park today why he fought with rival jockey Angel Cordero. But while Franklin's brash action may result in punishment, it won't keep him from riding Spectacular Bid Saturday in the Belmont Stakes.

Cordero also is to appear before the stewards before today's racing program. But since the Belmont horses were to be entered today under New York's 48-hour rule, the jockeys cannot be affected as far as the Belmont Stakes is concerned.

Franklin is fortunate the incident will not affect his Belmont status, a race in which Spectacular Bid — winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness — is the odds-on favorite to win the Triple Crown.

"No horse is unbeatable," said trainer Loren Retzke, who has twice chased Spectacular Bid with Golden Act. "Secretariat got beat. That proves it."

The great Secretariat lost five times. But he sure didn't lose in the 1973 Belmont Stakes, winning in a record 2:24 by a record 31 lengths to become the first triple Crown winner in 25 years. Spectacular Bid has lost twice but his third defeat is not expected to come in the 1 1/2-mile Belmont Saturday. Instead the $200,000-added classic is expected to be his 13th straight victory and make him the third Triple Crown winner in three years.

Entries were to be made today, and among those expected to be named to oppose Bid are three colts who tried him in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness — Golden Act, third and second in the Derby and Preakness, respectively; General Assembly, second and fifth, respectively; and Screen King, sixth and third, respectively.

Post time for the 111th Belmont is 5:38 p.m. EDT. The proceedings will be televised by CBS from 5 p.m. - 6 p.m.

Following a two-mile gallop by Spectacular Bid Wednesday, trainer Bud Delp said he didn't care how many 3-year-olds were entered against his star and predicted Bid "is going to be better for this race that he ever was."

Arkansas, which tied a series record by hitting three home runs, was hurt by two plays on the basepaths. Kevin McReynolds was thrown out at home in the fourth inning when he tried to score from first on Mike Martin's double and Jeff Ash was nailed in the sixth when he tried to go from first to third on a single to left.

McReynolds, Johnny Ray and John Hennell homered for Arkansas. McReynolds, a freshman, also slapped two singles, raising his series average to .714.

Tonight's game matches teams that split four contests during the regular season. Fullerton, rated third nationally, won the Southern California Baseball Association title and eighth-rate Pepperdine was runner-up.

Both teams lost their opening games of the series, but have bounced back to win three straight. First round losers have won the series on five other occasions.

Garry Humpston stroked a two-run, tie-breaking double down the left field line in the eighth inning to lift Pepperdine past Texas. Humpston, who was 1-for-9 in the series when he stepped to the plate, connected off reliever Keith Walker and made a loser of Texas ace Jerry Don Gleaton, who suffered his first setback in 14 decisions.

Dan Hanggie and Mike Garcia swung the big bats for Fullerton. Hanggie belted a grand slam in the Titans' seven-run second inning and Garcia tagged a three-run shot in the seventh. Hanggie, who is Fullerton's No. 2 RBI man on the year with 67, has been a key player in the series because the Titans' top slugger, Tim Wallach, is batting only .235. Hanggie is hitting .375 and has driven in six runs.

"The ball I hit for the grand slam was a high slider," Hanggie said. "As for my defensive and offensive play in the series, I feel very confident. I haven't felt tight at any time."

"We can win this whole thing."

NBC to put the mike on female golfers

MASON, Ohio (AP) — National television is experimenting again with equipping Ladies Professional Golf Association players with live microphones while they play.

Don Ohlmeier, executive producer for sports for NBC-TV, says his network may use as many as three players for the final two rounds it will telecast Saturday and Sunday from the LPGA Championship tournament.

"It brings the viewer closer to the game. He can hear what the player says to her caddy about club selection, what the player's reaction is to a shot," said Ohlmeier.

Nancy Lopez, the defending LPGA champion, was to give the experiment a test run in her first round today for the $150,000 major event at the Nicklaus Golf Center.

"But even if Nancy does not like the idea personally, we may proceed with it with other players," said Ohlmeier.

The biggest opposition to the experiment — pushed by LPGA Commissioner Ray Volpe — may come from the players themselves.

Jan Stephenson has been the only player to carry a live microphone in her skirt pocket in LPGA tour history.

"It ruined my concentration," she said.

The bubbly, unflappable Lopez, the game's No. 1 money winner, isn't sure she will like the idea either.

"It's fine with me," she said before teeing off today. "But I think they'll find our women, the more talkative ones, might not have much to say when they are conscious of the mike."

Howard College signs rugged Willie Porter

WILLIE PORTER

Howard College men's basketball Coach Harold Wilder has announced the signing of Willie Porter, a powerful 6'6", 230 pounder from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Porter, a muscular inside player and rebounder, led his Wilkensburg High School team to a 21-8 record this past season. He was named to the All-Tournament team at the White Oak Tournament, Buffalo Tournament, and the Dardnell Tournament.

of the Western Pennsylvania All-Star team that played the Russian National All-Star Team in May. In that game, Porter drew much acclaim for his physical play on the backboards battling the husky Russians. Wilder didn't see the game, but did state: "A coach from the University of Pittsburgh said that the Russians were very physical, but Willie came into the game and really threw his weight around." Porter chose Howard College over a number of other jocos because of the opportunity to play immediately, and because of the mild weather during the winter.

Tech gridder Jim Wosoba dies

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Texas Tech football player Jim Wosoba died Wednesday morning after he was run over by a truck in an industrial accident in Shelby County, Ky., university officials announced. He was 20.

things like this can happen." Wosoba, a sophomore, was redshirted last season but expected to contend for the starting center's role this year. He will be buried Friday at 10 a.m. at the Middletown Christian Church in Louisville. There will be a memorial service at the Park Heights Baptist Church in his hometown of San Angelo also Friday at 10 a.m.

Wosoba was working construction near a group of loud machines when a truck backed up and ran over him.

He was an honor student at San Angelo Central High School before he attended Texas Tech where he played little for the Red Raiders during his first two seasons.

"He was the most improved offensive lineman we had this spring. He was definitely a starting candidate at center," said Dockery. "His father told me Jim told him when he came home for the summer that he had paid the price his first two years a Texas Tech and he was determined to start Sept. 8 against Southern Cal," Dockery said. He is survived by his parents, James L. Wosoba of Louisville, Ky., and Diane Taylor of San Angelo.

Astros rally past Phillies

HOUSTON (AP) — Philadelphia catcher Bob Boone, who hit a home run that gave the Phillies a two-run edge over Houston, blames himself for the hit that spelled another defeat for his slumping team. Boone said he asked reliever Ron Reed for an inside slider to pinch-hitter Denny Walling in the seventh inning, and that's exactly what he got. But Walling lifted it over the rightfield fence for a three-run homer, his first of the season. Houston scored one more time in the eighth to beat Philadelphia 4-3 Wednesday night.

Unseeded Americans advance in English grass court tourney

BECKENHAM, England (AP) — Two underrated Americans, Nick Saviano and Rick Fisher, turned in outstanding performances to upset the seeded players in a grass court tennis tournament here. Saviano topped third-seeded Vijay Amritraj of India 1-6, 6-4, 8-6, while Fisher won a 2-hour third-round match 7-6, 7-6 against No. 8-seeded Alvin Gardiner of Australia.

to hit," he said. "They know I've been on the bench seven or eight innings and probably won't be very loose." Although both sides lost the guessing game, Walling delivered the home run, scoring Jose Cruz and Art Howe who led off the inning with back-to-back singles. In the eighth, the Astros continued where they had left off. Cesar Cedeno singled, stole second and went to third on a single by Enos Cabell. Cruz hit a sharp grounder to shortstop Rudy Meoli, who flipped the ball to second baseman Bud Harrelson to force Cabell. But the play force Cedeno just enough time to slide across the plate with the winning run.

Seven Phillies lead NL All-Star voting

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven Philadelphia Phillies hold a voting edge in their position on this year's National League All-Star team, according to the first weekly voting tabulations announced today. With less than one-tenth of the expected vote tabulated, the tentative N.L. starting lineup has Pete Rose at first base; catcher Bob Boone; second baseman Manny Trillo; third baseman Mike Schmidt; shortstop Larry Bowa; outfielders Greg Luzinski, Garry Maddox, and the lone non-Phillie, Pittsburgh Pirate Dave Parker.

role the last five years, was the Most Valuable Player in last year's contest. Boone, a two-time all-star, leads Cincinnati Red Johnny Bench, 215,497-151,164. Trillo with 268,672 votes has the narrowest margin of the leaders, ahead of Dodger Dave Lopes by 32,359 votes. Bowa, a four-time all-star at shortstop leads San Diego's Ozzie Smith 337,653-148,423, while Schmidt, with a league-leading 427,640 votes is far in front of Dodger Ron Cey with 187,996.

Favored McEvoy ousted in British Amateur golf

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — "I'm jaded and overgolfed," said Peter McEvoy, Britain's top amateur. And to prove it he was ousted from the British Amateur Championship Wednesday 3 and 2 by Scotsman Ian Bradshaw, of whom few people had heard. McEvoy, a thick-set, auburn-haired Anglo-Scot, was British champion the last two years, and his departure cleared the path for any one of six Americans to take the title.

Champion Seattle places nobody Malone paces NBA All-League team

NEW YORK (AP) — No members of the NBA champion Seattle SuperSonics made the league's 1978-79 all-league teams, and some familiar names like Julius Erving and David Thompson also were missing. But the 10 players named as all-stars Wednesday aren't a bad lot to have on your side.

FIRST TEAM OF NBA ALL-LEAGUE TEAM — The NBA All-League team was announced Wednesday in New York. The first team consists of, from left: Houston center Moses Malone; San Antonio Spurs George Gervin, the league's leading scorer; Paul Westphal of the voting of 66 media members from the 22 NBA cities. Malone had 120 points, followed by Gervin with 114, Johnson with 99, Hayes with 98 and Westphal with 90. Gervin poured in 29.8 points a contest to lead the NBA in scoring for the second consecutive year. He combines with Westphal, a 24 point per game scorer, to form the all-league backcourt for the second straight season.

Phoenix Suns; Marques Johnson of Milwaukee; and Elvin Hayes of the Washington Bullets. The team, based on regular-season performance, was selected by a panel of 66 members of the media in the league's 22 cities.

LEAPING LEMON — Chet Lemon of the Chicago White Sox dives after a hit by Boston Red Sox Dwight Evans into short center field during seventh inning action Wednesday night in Boston. Lemon was unable to hang on to the ball, giving Evans a single, but Chicago won, 8-5.

Expos explosion scalps Braves Baseball Roundup

The Montreal Expos gave the Atlanta fans a run for their money — in fact, 11 runs in the fourth inning. "We just started hitting the ball," said Montreal's Tony Perez, one of three Expos to get two hits in the big inning. "He (Atlanta pitcher Phil Niekro) started getting behind and had to come in with his fastball." Ellis Valentine, who also had two hits in the inning, was delighted. "It's the second time we really exploded on them," he said. "I enjoyed every minute of it."

Spencer's hit sinks Twins

With all those big names and big mouths on the New York Yankees, Jim Spencer hardly gets a chance to get a word in edgewise — to say nothing of a game-winning hit. But he could boast Wednesday night, all right. "It's a great feeling," said Spencer after his RBI pinch single in the ninth provided the Yankees with a 3-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins. "I did my job. That's what I was up there for...it was as satisfying as it can get."

Robinson's homers stops Bums

Bill Robinson's second home run of the game, a two-run smash, capped an eighth-inning rally that lifted Pittsburgh over Los Angeles. The Dodgers had a 4-1 lead going into the bottom of the eighth with the help of home runs by Reggie Smith, Steve Garvey and Dave Lopes off Pirate starter Ed Whitson.

Blue Jays rally past Angels

Dan Ainge tripled home Alfredo Griffin in the ninth and scored on a slow roller by Roy Howell to lead Toronto over California and give Jesse Jefferson his first victory since August 8, 1978.

Kuiper's triple lifts Indians

Duane Kuiper broke a 4-4 tie with a run-scoring triple off Oakland reliever Dave Heaverlo in the eighth inning, racing Cleveland past Oakland. Gary Alexander opened the eighth with the Indians' fourth infield hit of the game and was sacrificed to second by Jim Norris.

Reuschel, Sutter blank Padres

Rick Reuschel and Bruce Sutter combined for a four-hitter and Dave Kingman continued his torrid hitting to spark Chicago over San Diego. Kingman tripled home Ted Sizemore in the first inning as Randy Jones, 5-4, absorbed the loss. The blast by Kingman, who is 9-for-20 with four homers and nine RBIs in his last five games, hit a towering drive to left field that just missed being a homer. He scored on Jerry Martin's double.

Martinez, Orioles blank Royals

Dennis Martinez allowed four hits, struck out nine and notched his eighth consecutive victory while pitching Baltimore past Kansas City. Lee May's RBI double off Paul Splittorff, 8-5, scored the first Baltimore run, Dave Skaggs' single made it 2-0 in the fifth, and Gary Roenicke rapped his 11th home run in the sixth.

Taveras boosts Mets past Reds

Frank Taveras drove in three runs and Joel Youngblood and Doug Flynn each had run-scoring doubles as New York defeated Cincinnati. Flynn and Youngblood, both ex-Reds, drove in the tying and go-ahead runs and Taveras' single plated two more in a four-run seventh inning. Dale Murray, 3-5, another ex-Red, got credit for the victory after working one inning in relief of starter Jesse Orosco.

Brewers edge Rangers

Gorman Thomas belted his 13th home run of the year and Sixto Lezcano singled home the winning run in the fifth inning, leading Milwaukee over Texas. Thomas' two-run shot temporarily tied the game 2-2 in the Brewer second. The Rangers later took a 3-2 lead before Milwaukee came back with two runs in the fifth, the last one on Lezcano's RBI single.

Horton's 300th homer keys Mariners

Willie Horton hit his 300th career home run and Larry Cox drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the sixth as Seattle beat Detroit.

'Easy' words give spellers some trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Kibitzer," "loquacious," "klystron," "officialese" and "visceral" weren't all that tough to spell for the kids at the 52nd annual National Spelling Bee.

In confident bursts of letters said quickly or in desperate, dragged-out guesses, they spelled them right.

But "freshet," "chicanery," "commisure," "soporific" and "masochist" were troublesome. They knocked contestants out of the running.

By the time Wednesday's spelling ended, the 109 original competitors — 63 girls and 46 boys from 39 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, had been whittled down to 32 — 18 girls and 14 boys — to compete today until a champion emerges, winning the $1,000 prize.

While the children, age 10 to 14, spelled before two microphones, parents tipped to the front of the hotel ballroom to photograph their offspring in the act of high concentration.

Three judges sat before the spellers, a fat dictionary at their side, ready to ring a bell for every misspelling.

In the early rounds, Harvey S. Leverenz, 13, of Madison, Wis., sealed his eyes shut and spelled "vainness."

Next time up, he shut his eyes and spelled "fourplex." He did it again to get through "cobalt" and became a crowd favorite.

But after lunch, he spelled "mimotyte" wrong — it came out "mimatite" — and he was knocked out.

Tim Combs, 13, of Vinita, Okla., was not so lucky. His thumbs stuck into his bluejean pockets, he tripped up on his first word, "psychedelic."

Rena Joy Zieve, 12, the daughter of a professor of medicine, got through "flimsiness," "terrific," "gallean," "hubbub" and "pegasus," but tripped on "masochist."

SOUGHT BY FBI — These are the composite sketches of the five men being sought by the FBI in connection with last week's assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. The two on the left were issued first, then the three on the left followed a few days later.

FBI probes threatening letter

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — FBI officials say they are investigating a letter mailed to District Attorney Bill White that threatened White and two federal prosecutors and took credit for the assassination last week of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

The letter was received in the mail by White's office on Tuesday. White turned it over to the FBI.

First Assistant District Attorney Charles Conaway said the letter mentioned White, U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd and Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr, the target of a Nov. 21 assassination attempt.

Conaway also said the unsigned, handwritten letter with a San Antonio postmark included the phrase, "Got Wood," in an obvious reference to the sniper slaying May 29 of the federal judge.

Wood, 63, known as "Maximum John" for his stiff sentences in drug cases, died from a single shot to the spine as he left his townhouse for work.

Officials in the district attorney's office said the letter was being taken seriously in light of the attacks on Kerr and Wood. FBI Special Agent Manuel Marquez said the FBI would also treat the threat seriously since it is a federal offense to send such a threat through the mail.

"We will also look into the threat as a part of the Wood investigation," he said.

Another FBI source said, however, that such letters are relatively common in a highly publicized investigation such as the Wood and Kerr assaults.

Meanwhile, Marquez said Wednesday that the FBI has yet to identify the five men pictured in composite sketches released last Friday and Tuesday. Witnesses have told the FBI that the men were seen in the area of Wood's townhouse either the morning of the slaying or an undetermined number of days before.

House Majority Leader Wright says

'Synfuel' production incentives needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A guaranteed price for synthetic fuels will prompt the private sector to start production, says House Majority Leader Jim Wright.

The Democrat from Fort Worth said Wednesday that "synfuel" production incentives are a likely centerpiece for an intensifying congressional drive toward energy solutions.

"There is a growing consensus on the need for dramatic action to increase our domestic energy supplies," he said after congressional leaders met with President Carter at a White House session.

"I am less discouraged right now than I have been in two years," Wright said.

He said the program shaping up in Congress includes proposals to guarantee a government market for up to 500,000 barrels a day of synthetic fuels, expedite a pipeline to move Alaskan oil from California to Gulf Coast refineries and authorize the president to "fast track" or grant priority status to certain energy projects.

A bill that has the approval of the House Banking Committee but has not reached the floor would allow the government to contract for up to 500,000 barrels a day at a fixed price.

"We are going to create a synthetic fuel industry," Wright said, adding that increasing the ceiling to 2 million barrels a day has been discussed.

Any synthetic fuel-biomass, from coal or shale would qualify for the price guarantees under the bill sponsored by Rep. William Moorhead, D-Pa.

Wright said the time between the decision to start a plant and the first production might be about five years.

"I think it's time to make a commitment," he said. "We need the sense that Franklin Roosevelt had in 1941 when the Japanese cut off our rubber supplies."

Ed Rothschild of the Energy Action Educational Fund, a consumer group, said any proposal to give government support for a synthetic fuel industry should include partial government ownership.

"There is no way the government should be subsidizing this kind of technology at all unless the government runs and owns it," he said. "I think they should stand on their own two feet."

Earl Ross of the American Petroleum Institute, a producers' group, said the organization had not taken a position on the Moorhead bill. "Our basic position is that we're in favor of all synthetics," he said.

Wright said he favored government action to insure construction of the troubled Long Beach, Calif., to Midland, Texas, pipeline. He said the government should operate the finished pipeline if a purchaser from the private sector could not be found for it.

The third proposal in "the package I see shaping up" would allow the president to declare that an energy project had top priority and could not be subject to delay for any reason, Wright said.

"My interest right now is not putting a Band-aid on the wound," he said.

Farm leader works on unprecedented deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—An American farm leader is trying to work out an apparently unprecedented deal to buy oil from the militant Arab state of Libya in return for wheat, corn and farm machinery.

Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is conducting quiet negotiations with Libyan officials in an effort to ease the farmers' shortage of diesel fuel. More than 3 million American farmers are members of the federation.

If the talks succeed, farm cooperatives will import the high quality, expensive Libyan crude and sell their agricultural products to the oil-rich nation.

"What we would like to do is to develop a contract for continuing supplies," Grant said.

State Department officials said they did not think there would be any objections to the arrangement Grant is trying to work out.

"The only restriction we have is military-related sales," said one official, who asked not to be identified.

In fact, he said, "with the balance of payments deficit, we want to encourage deals."

Last year, the United States ran up a deficit of about $3.3 billion in trade with Libya, mostly because of rising oil prices.

Imports cost $3.7 billion while exports, including some food, were worth about $425 million.

Last month, the State Department, concerned about an expansion of Libya's military capability, recommended cancellation of a proposed sale of Boeing 747 jetliners to that country.

Libya is one of the most radical of the Arab states. Led by Moammar Khadafy, it is a bitter foe of Israel and Egypt.

Libya is reported to have financed terrorist raids against Israel, fought a brief border war with Egypt in July 1977 and has led Arab "rejectionists" in condemning Egyptian President Anwar Sadat for signing a peace treaty with Israel.

In deliberations of the oil cartel, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, Libya is one of the most hawkish, and Libyan oil is among the most expensive — and highest quality — in the world.

In other energy-related developments:

—The House Ways and Means Committee begins working today on President Carter's proposed "windfall profits" tax on oil revenues expected to flow to the oil companies with the lifting of price controls on U.S.-produced crude oil.

Democrats on the committee informally agreed Wednesday to tighten Carter's proposal, although they did not decide how they would do that.

—Coal could be burned more widely in industry if companies used natural gas as a clean, supplemental fuel, George H. Lawrence, president of the American Gas Association, said Wednesday.

Lawrence said if 1 trillion cubic feet of natural gas were burned annually by 1985, factories and power plants could use annually about 190 million tons of coal that would otherwise be prohibited by clean air regulations.

A helping hand given to lefties

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—What do Rod Carew, Dorothy Hamill, Gerald Ford, Peter Fonda and Jackie Morlock have in common?

All are left-handers — a minority group that Mrs. Morlock claims has been maligned and ignored for too long.

Mrs. Morlock owns and runs The Left Center, a store teeming with gadgets and tools designed to help lefties function better in a right-handed world.

The inventory includes left-handed scissors, baseball gloves and catchers mitts, an assortment of kitchen utensils including soup ladles and can openers, and watches designed to be worn on the right wrist for easy winding.

"I used to think I was just clumsy, but then I found out it was because I was using the wrong tools," said Mrs. Morlock, 45.

"Right-handed parents, friends and teachers have difficulty understanding the problems left-handers face," she added.

She opened The Left Center two years ago after she was unable to find materials to learn crochet and knitting left-handed.

The store, one of a score or so in the world catering to left-handers, also offers school supplies for left-handed children. Big sellers include rulers that read "backward" to right-handed people, notebooks that open from front to back ("so your hand doesn't rest on the spiral,") and quick-drying ball point pens.

"Left-handers tend to smear their ink because their hand rests on their writing," Mrs. Morlock explained.

About 10 percent of the population is left-handed, Mrs. Morlock said. Some left-handers have the dexterity to adjust to a world in which everything from fishing rods to power saws is designed for the right-hander, but others don't.

In past years, many parents and teachers routinely forced left-handed children to use their right hands for writing and eating. But psychologists say that switching children can cause stuttering, poor penmanship and life-long emotional problems.

Like other minority groups, left-handers are organizing to demand their rights. Mrs. Morlock is a member of Left-Handers International, a 5-year-old group that will hold its first convention in Kansas City this summer.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to avoid arguments and confrontations since a series of fixed adversities could follow and it would take a long time to righten. Take time to plan a better future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have to use care in the handling of an important business matter to gain your aims today. Strive for more harmony at home.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Associates have fixed points of view, so don't argue with them today. Avoid one who is detrimental to your progress.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan your day wisely so that you waste neither time nor energy. Go to the right sources for the information you need.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be certain to make early plans for entertainment later in the day. Put your talents to work during the daytime.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan how to add to present security by ethical and clever means. Go after your aims early in the day and get excellent results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Listen to what a business expert has to say but use own judgment in a contract matter. Don't neglect health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Avoid friends who are in a poor mood today and could give you trouble instead of consolation. Don't be forceful with others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Obey all laws and regulations that concern you and you stay out of trouble. Don't take risks of any kind today.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good day for expansion where business is concerned. Get rid of stumbling blocks in the path of your progress.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will like to study problematic matters and then make the changes or corrections that are needed. Make sure you give the finest education and training possible, since the power here is great.

Evasive, deceptive conduct charged
Longhorne resignation sought

DALLAS (AP) - The managing director of the Airline Passengers Association says he will seek a congressional investigation if Federal Aviation Administrator Langhorne Bond does not resign immediately.
 James E. Dunne II called for the resignation Wednesday, charging Bond's statements to a Washington news conference were a "continuation of the evasive and deceptive conduct on the part of the FAA commencing shortly after the disaster on Black Friday, May 25."

An American Airlines DC-10 crashed and burned on takeoff from Chicago's O'Hare International airport on that date, killing 275 persons.
 Bond could not be reached immediately for comment.
 Dunne said Bond stated Wednesday he had ordered the withdrawal of the type certificates of all series DC-10 aircraft sometime earlier in the day. He said Bond made assurances there would be a full and complete investigation of McDonnell Douglas, American Airlines and the FAA.

"Mr. Bond has ignored and repeatedly failed to fulfill this mandate," said Dunne. "If Mr. Bond does not voluntarily resign, the APA, pursuing its role of watchdog for the air traveling public, will request that Congress initiate a full-scale investigation of Mr. Bond's own role in the entire tragic DC-10 debacle."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all of you for your contributions of food, beautiful flowers, lovely cards and spiritual support during our time of sorrow. Special thanks to the doctor's and nurses at the V.A. Hospital. May God bless all of you.

Mystery date of special session to be settled

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texans already know why their state legislators will be called back to Austin. They just don't know when.
 "As you know, I am committed to calling a special session, due to failure to agree on an initiative and referendum resolution," Gov. Bill Clements told reporters about 12:30 a.m. May 29, just minutes after the 140-day regular session of the 66th Legislature ended.
 "I will announce later the date of the special session and I feel that initiative and referendum and other crucial issues will be faced and resolved."
 Since that early morning news conference, Clements has hinted wiretapping and a separate presidential primary in 1980 might be other special session subjects. All three issues failed during the regular session.

Smith's proposed constitutional amendment needed to get a two-thirds vote from each house before going to voters in 1980 for final approval. It got votes of 89-33, 84-34 and 79-59 in three House tests, all far short of the 100 votes needed. It was never tested in the Senate.
 "I really think that's the kind of legislation a governor ought to veto rather than call a special session about," Hobby said in a post-session interview. "I'm basically not in sympathy with what he plans ... It never enjoyed wide acceptance in either house."

"It's just a shame that we have to go through the pain and agony and expense of a special session," Clements said last week in San Angelo. Clements said that initiative and referendum - allowing voters to enact laws and repeal acts of the legislature - "is something the people of Texas want and I'm sure they (the legislators) will pass it."

Rep. Carlyle Smith, D-Grand Prairie, who saw his initiative and referendum go down in defeat three times in House, is optimistic also. "This is a beautiful compromise," he told the Associated Press after a
