HOUSE MOVING — Yes, that was a house moving down Gregg Street this morning. The new owner has decided to transfer the house to Ackerly and restore it. According to one official the Gregg Street route was decided on because power lines are set higher than on other streets. But crews were lowering street signal lights anyway so the house could continue its journey. The house once belonged to the late Frank Poole, early day Big Spring grocer.

If Senate rejects SALT II

New negotiations 'impossible'

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko declared today "it would be impossible to reopen negotiations" if the U.S. Senate refuses to ratify the just-signed SALT II arms limitation treaty. But he also said the pact can be verified, and that the Soviets will abide by it and urged doubting senators to support it.

At a news conference, Gromyko switched from Russian to English to underscore his point for Americans. It was the first flat statement by the Soviets that they would not return to the bargaining table if the treaty is not ratified.

Gen. Haig not harmed in explosion

CASTEAU, Belgium (AP) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig, the NATO military commander, escaped unharmed today from a powerful explosion that injured three of his guards and damaged his car as he was driving from his home in Obourg to his office in Casteau, an official source said. A motorcyclist was reported arrested not far from the site.

"I tell you frankly it is impossible to resume negotiations," he said, his voice rising. "It would be end of negotiations — end."

"No matter what amendments would be made, it would be impossible to reopen negotiations. Fantastic situation."

Addressing one issue that especially troubles the U.S. Senate as it prepares to debate the treaty, Gromyko said the pact is adequately verifiable, and that in any case the Soviet Union will not violate its terms.

"It is not our habit to violate international treaties and agreements," he said, again speaking in Russian. "The sides have agreed in principle ... that the verification must be carried out by national means. Each side has enough of these, and the American side knows this well."

"If some in America are not sure of this, we can suggest they go to knowledgeable sources in the administration and they will learn, yes, the United States has enough national means of verification." It will be seen that the treaty equally answers the interests of the United States and the Soviet Union.

Welfare director retires

By EILEEN MCGUIRE
For 18 years, Ruby Phillips has been lending a hand to Howard County's poor as director of the Howard County Welfare Program. Today, she announced her resignation.

Mrs. Phillips, who was chosen from among 43 applicants for the job back in 1961, says she is retiring partly due to her husband's illness. She is married to Tom Phillips, a retired farmer.

"One of the assurances I gave the board and county executives of that time (Judge Carpenter, Ralph White, L.J. Davidson, Rufus Stallings and Joe Hayden)," she says in her resignation, "was that I would do my best to conduct a dignified, humane, middle of the road, professional public Welfare Administration — free of political interference — concerned for the rights and needs of poor people, but careful and concerned also for the costs to the County... I believe that I have kept my promises."

The county welfare office serves the people of Howard County in a variety of ways, Mrs. Phillips stated. It provides transportation, for example, for patients who must travel long distances for special treatment.

Transportation is currently being provided for local patients of M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston.

John Sealey Hospital in Galveston and the T.B. sanatorium in San Antonio. Patients are also transported from the county to receive treatments at the Lubbock Hospital and for T.B. x-rays in Odessa.

The county welfare program also pays $50 per day for hospital costs of local charity patients in local and other hospitals.

The welfare program assists families in need by issuing purchase orders for groceries and clothing. It helps supply medication to the indigent and occasionally will pay a needy family's rent and utilities.

There are also a dozen families in the county on a milk program, funded by Mrs. Phillips's office.

The office places county foster children in county foster homes and at the current time is assisting with the support of 15 county orphans in orphanages.

"Three of them have graduated from high school now," Mrs. Phillips said with pride. "One is going on to college and the other two are starting in jobs."

Mrs. Phillips stated that the county program only assists people "where there's no other way."

The program is not a supplement to state welfare assistance. In fact, she said, "If a person is state assisted, we won't touch it (the case)."

Originally from San Diego, Calif., Mrs. Phillips graduated from high school at age 14. "We only had 11 grades back then," she said.

She then worked for five years before entering college.

She studied elementary education and minored in English for two years at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview and then worked as a cosmetologist before coming to Big Spring.

In 1950, she and her husband built the Golden West Motel. In 1956, they sold the Golden West and bought

Carter, Ohira discuss world energy problems

TOKYO (AP) — President Carter, his wife and daughter both stricken with a stomach virus, discussed new ideas for dealing with the world energy problem today with Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira.

Carter and Ohira publicly described U.S.-Japanese relations as uniquely close, but apparently reached no agreement on energy in their nearly two-hour private meeting today.

American sources, who asked not to be identified, said the two made no attempt to forge a common front.

The sources said the two hope instead to reach a consensus on proposals when they get together Thursday for a two-day economic summit with the leaders of France, Britain, West Germany, Canada and Italy.

The U.S. officials said Carter and Ohira spent more than half their time talking about energy and its impact on poor nations.

They also talked about ways to ease the plight of thousands of refugees fleeing Vietnam, and they agreed to set up a consultative group of American and Japanese businessmen and financiers to present recommendations on long-term solutions to economic frictions between the two nations.

Carter and Ohira both said the United States and Japan have the closest relations in history of any two nations so different in culture and background.

Carter went so far as to say the two peoples didn't act toward each other like nations at all, but "almost like members of one extended family."

Carter and Ohira made their remarks during an exchange of toasts following a business session and a formal luncheon today.

Earlier, Carter was welcomed in regal fashion by Emperor Hirohito.

Carter seemed quite vigorous, jogging and swimming before the start of official functions.

He later paid an afternoon visit to the Meiji shrine, and wrote in the guest book: "Jimmy Carter — for peace and friendship among all people."

But wife Rosalynn and daughter Amy, 11, cancelled public appearances because of a stomach virus. After sleeping much of the afternoon, they were reported to be feeling better and Mrs. Carter attended the emperor's banquet in the evening.

They apparently caught the virus in Washington from Carter's daughter-in-law Judy and two grandchildren, who had been visiting at the White House.

The relatives "were suffering from a similar virus when the Carters left for Japan on Saturday morning," said Mrs. Carter's press secretary Mary Hoyt.

At the luncheon, Ohira said no two nations so different had ever enjoyed "an interchange of so great scope and substance" as the United States and Japan.

New violence erupts in trucking protest

By The Associated Press

New violence erupted on the nation's highways today in the independent truckers' protest, but in some areas drivers began dismantling the blockades that have squeezed food and fuel supplies.

A trucker was wounded by snipers near Huntington, W. Va., early today. State police said the driver, Kenneth Fullen, suffered a facial wound. Nearby, a group of men stopped another truck and shattered its windows. Authorities said the driver was not injured.

The streets of Levittown, Pa., were cleared of debris and parked cars today after a protest against high fuel prices and short fuel supplies turned into a two-day melee in which more than 180 persons were arrested and dozens were injured.

But in Michigan, Tennessee, Arizona and other areas, officials said fuel stations that had been blocked by the truckers were open again.

However, Bob Evans of the Utah Independent Truckers Association claimed today that some truck stop blockades were ended because "there's no sense blocking them anymore because they're out of fuel."

The Levittown protest began Saturday as truckers and 1,000 motorists angered by the closing of a gas station blocked an intersection.

The violence flared again Sunday as teenagers swelled the ranks of protesters who moved from one intersection to another.

More than 80 people were treated for injuries, including some police officers who had moved, with dogs and billy clubs, to clear blocked streets Sunday. One man was treated for a gunshot wound in his arm, storefront windows were smashed and two service stations vandalized.

Firefighters battling a blaze in an abandoned car were pelted with rocks and beer cans. Isolated groups of protesters lobbed rocks at police into the night, but police said calm was restored early today.

"They just all turned animal," said one officer.

Troopers said truckers, whose protest of high fuel prices, speed and weight limits has been marred by violence since it began more than two weeks ago, were not behind the violence.

"There are truckers involved, but it isn't truckers who are doing it," said State Police Sgt. Stanley Farnish.

In eastern Tennessee, authorities said a sniper using a highpower rifle wounded a truck driver late Sunday. The driver was reported in good condition at a Greenville-area hospital.

Action / reaction: Digging deeper

Q. Why do the newspapers and TV newscasters continue to predict higher prices for gasoline? They tried their best to raise gasoline prices to $1 a gallon in 1974 but were unsuccessful. If they would stick to news reporting instead of insisting that prices go up we would all be better off. Remember what the newspapers and TV media did to coffee prices a few years ago?

A. Employees of newspapers and TV stations are consumers, like everyone else. Does it make sense to deliberately drive the price of anything up, when you yourself have to start digging deeper to pay the costs? The news media merely reports what is going on in the market place, they have no role in the decision making.

Gov. Clements is likely to settle for half loaf

By SCOTT CARPENTER and JIM DAVIS
 Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Even with his massive budget cuts, the massive Gov. Bill Clements can hope for is half a loaf in making good his campaign pledge to return $1 billion to Texas taxpayers.

The Comptroller's office has been working for days trying to figure out how much will be available for tax cutting when Clements calls a special session.

The best estimate is that Clements' trimming of $252.4 million from the appropriations bill really is $146 million if you count only what can be used to relieve taxes.

The remainder is federal or dedicated money that can't be returned to Texans.

Coupled with the $350 million the legislature didn't spend of the funds available that makes $496 million a special session could return.

Such a massive reduction in taxes would get Clements more than half-way to his $1 billion goal, since the legislature already reduced the state ad valorem tax levy by an estimated $100 million.

It is presumed generally that Clements will let the special session consider tax relief, although he has not said so specifically.

The big question is the form the tax relief will take. While Clements has talked about two or three ways to relieve taxes, he has never blessed a specific proposal.

The most likely method would use state tax revenues to replace reduced local property taxes.

Proponents say local property taxes have escalated to unbearable levels while other state taxes have remained at static. If tax relief is, granted, they argue, it should be to property owners who have borne the brunt of increased tax rates.

There is strong opposition to further property tax relief, mainly from urban legislators representing large numbers of blacks and Mexican-Americans.

They argue that property taxes received all the relief of the tax relief amendment adopted last year.

Additional relief, they say, should come by reducing a tax all Texans pay, such as the sales tax.

But they would really like to see the extra $496 million spent on increased services for the poor and underprivileged.

They have no real hope that Clements will allow a special session to consider that suggestion. That would force him to renege on his promised tax relief.

Two of three former Democratic state representatives on Clements' lobby team left the state payroll just after Clements announced his appropriations bill veto.

Hilary Doran returned to his Del Rio businesses and Don Cavness to his Austin insurance business.

Both say they'll be back to lobby for Clements' proposals during any special session.

Jim Kaster, who headed the team, remains on the governor's staff.

No smoking at corporation

DENVER (AP) — The Johns-Manville Corp., citing a link between asbestos and lung cancer, says it will begin a modified no-smoking program at its corporate headquarters.

Although the headquarters houses only administrative offices, many employees working there have been exposed to asbestos dust during past years of employment. The firm manufactures insulation products.

Under the program, the firm will prohibit smoking in elevators, restrooms, conference rooms and other areas and will offer a program to help smokers kick the habit. The firm said evidence has shown that smokers exposed to excessive amounts of asbestos have 92 times the risk of developing lung cancer as other smokers.

Gambling casinos visited

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Resorts International, with a monopoly on East Coast casino gambling for more than a year, is getting company.

But the company won't be staying at the Resorts International hotel. Caesars World, Inc. opens its $100 million Boardwalk Regency casino Tuesday. Resorts International took a $60 million gamble when it opened in May 1978, but the bet has paid off. The casino took in $220.2 million in its first year. Although Caesars officials say federal law prevents them from revealing their win projections, one executive said privately the casino could average $1 million a day.

Police powers curtailed?

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois General Assembly has passed legislation aimed at curtailing police powers to search newsrooms and reporters' homes.

Final approval came Sunday as the House voted 129-5 to agree to a Senate amendment to the measure, drafted in response to a recent U.S. Supreme Court opinion upholding a police search of a West Coast newspaper. The bill would allow warrants for police to search a newsroom or reporter's home only if there is probable cause to believe a reporter has committed or is committing a crime or may remove or destroy evidence of a crime.

DOE blasted by Farabee

AUSTIN — State Senator Ray Farabee blasted Washington for its lack of any National Energy Program saying "Stat government does not set energy policy, but somehow the Department of Energy (DOE) expects state and local governments to enforce their piecemeal plans."

"Until we have a coherent National Energy Plan, we will be living from one crisis to the next. It is unfair to expect state or local governments to carry out something which the federal government can neither explain, understand nor administer," Farabee stated to the Lions Club in Wichita Falls this week.

Although there are no simple answers to the energy problem according to Farabee, he outlined four points which he stated we must address: (1) a clear-cut National Energy Policy;

On the light side

Just a simple ceremony

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Marcella Monk and Dudley Flake, intent on a small wedding but not wanting to offend anyone, wound up with 26 ushers, 26 bridesmaids and three separate receptions.

"It started small," said the new Mrs. Flake, a New Haven school teacher. "But some of our very close friends got offended, so we just added everyone else."

As a result, along with the usual maid of honor, best man and ring bearer, there were the 26 bridesmaids, 26 ushers, four junior ushers and five flower girls Saturday at Trinity Church.

Where businessmen shed...

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — In the woods where Henry David Thoreau fled to escape the cares of the world, businessmen are seeking sanctuary where they can shed their city tensions — and their clothes.

"You won't mind?" asked an engineer as he shed slacks and shirt during a recent lunch hour interview at Pankatasset Pond.

The man, who identified himself only as John, is one of about a half dozen local professionals who escape during lunch to the leafy-green, sunsplashed area to dunk, naked, into the cool, clean pond.

"Thoreau used to come here. People come here and create a bubble of paradise. It's a place where people open up," John said.

Just a few miles from Walden Pond, made famous by Thoreau's diaries, the area known as Punk Hill is under the jurisdiction of the Concord Department of Natural Resources. Town officials say they get some complaints, but have done little to keep the sunbathers away.

"The town feels it's inappropriate but there's not any specific regulation against it," said conservation officer Ted Watt.

Still flying after...

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A Glendale, Calif., man has won the world's largest slot machine jackpot — $285,000 — on a progressive dollar machine at the Flamingo Hilton Hotel.

Brian Flattery won the prize Saturday night, Flamingo spokesman Paul Burt said Sunday.

Flattery, 31, who manages a Beneficial Finance Co. office in Hollywood, was here for a weekend vacation with his wife, Deanna.

"I went straight up in the air. I'm not sure I'm down yet," said Flattery. He said he would invest the winnings in his firm.

Houston residents comply with odd-even rationing

HOUSTON (AP) — Odd numbered license plates definitely were in the vast majority today as populous Harris County began its first gasoline rationing since World War II.

Spot checks across sprawling Houston showed long lines at service stations that were open with most motorists apparently observing the start of the odd-even day system for purchases.

Most stations were closed, however, during the early morning traffic rush, many of them having already depleted their June allocations. On Memorial Drive, just west of the downtown area, only two of six stations in a three-block area were open.

Lines ranged up to three blocks on the near west side, while from 50 to 80 cars were reported in lines on the north side and in the southwest.

Glenn Nielsen, president of the Lone Star Service Station Association, said it probably will take a few days for the rationing system to become fully effective.

He said the rationing plan starting today in Houston and the Dallas-Fort Worth area under orders from Gov. Bill Clements should help solve the long line problem but will not solve the fuel shortage problem.

Two from here on honor roll

Dr. Miles Anderson, vice president for academic affairs at North Texas State University, has released the spring semester honor roll which lists 1,368 NTSU students.

Of the 15,981 students enrolled at NTSU in the spring semester, some 314 were listed on the 4.0 (or all "A") honor roll and 1,054 were named to the 3.5 listing, which includes those students whose grade average was midway between an "A" and a "B."

Among those named to the 3.5 honor roll were two students from Big Spring, Lorrie Jolen Bynum and Julie Clare Gatts.

Miss Bynum is the daughter of W.A. Bynum, Route 2, Big Spring, and Miss Gatts is the daughter of Mrs. Anne M. Glorig, 601 Scott Drive, Big Spring.

Sailor visits Mombasa, Kenya

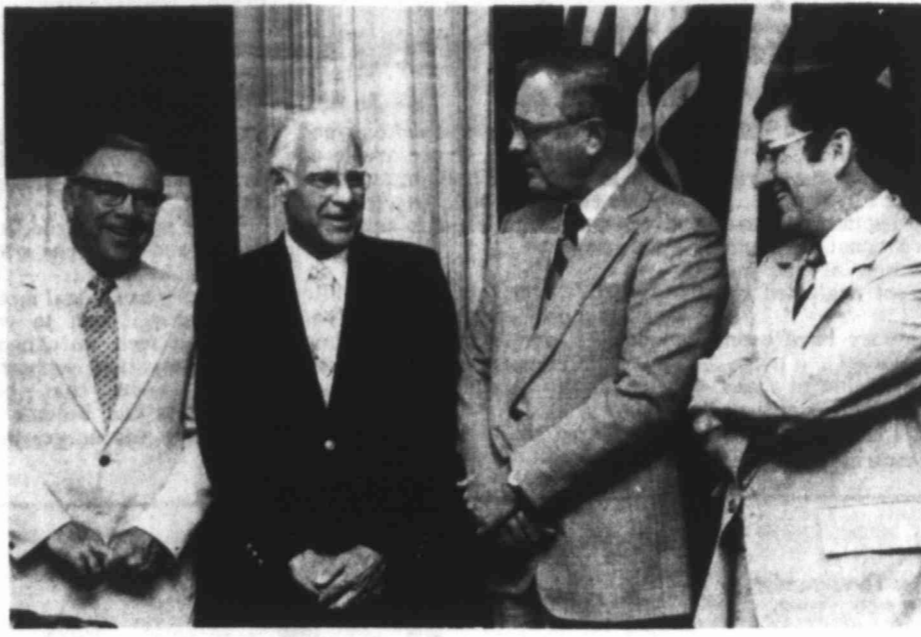

Navy Firearm Recruit Robert L. Goodwin, son of Robert G. and Marge Goodwin of 2507 Ann Drive, Big Spring, Tex., recently visited the East African city of Mombasa in the Republic of Kenya.

He is a crewmember aboard the fast combat ship USS Camden, homeported in Bremerton, Wash.

During the visit, Camden personnel presented "Project Handclasp" material (including textbooks, medical supplies, seeds and fertilizer) to the Mombasa Provincial commission as part of the Navy's "People to People" program. The Camden's primary mission is supply replenishment in support of the Midway task group in the Indian Ocean.

The Camden is 793 feet long, displaces 53,600 tons and carries a crew of 600 officers and enlisted men. She is designed to provide rapid replenishment of petroleum, munitions, provisions and supplies for other fleet ships while at sea.

Goodwin joined the Navy in September 1977.

Bored youth not trying very hard

"Where did you go?"
"Nowhere."
"What did you do?"
"Nothing."

That seems to be a favored form of introductory conversation between two or more young people after school ends, when they suddenly find themselves with a lot of time on their hands.

IF THEY CAN'T entertain themselves other than collapsing in front of the TV set for the succession of soap operas that come across the screen, they're not trying very hard. The thought of work might offend them, though all children should have chores to do around the house.

The city of Big Spring may not have an organized recreational program like some communities around the nation but it has not neglected its youth.

Great sums of money have been spent to build golf courses and tennis courts which are available to those who care to avail themselves of such facilities.

The city has cooperated in the construction of several softball and baseball diamonds. Those are to be found in all areas of the community. If private enterprise built the parks, the city steps in with offers to help keep them going.

THERE ARE ALSO a public swimming pool, used by thousands of youngsters every summer, a wading pool for the moppets and hike and bike trails for the energetic and the adventurous.

Big Spring has a better municipal park than most cities this size. One of the reasons is the availability of a giant slide provided by a local service organization. It has proved to be very popular.

There are also barbecue pits, picnic tables and pavilions which old and young alike can use.

The city has a dual motive in doing everything it can to entertain its youth. It feels an obligation to the community that support it but officials know that bored kids sometimes can become destructive kids, so it encourages them to stay busy.

New Woman

Around the rim

Andrea Cohen

Are you a New Woman? If you keep up with the latest fashion magazines that question is not hard to answer.

The New Woman, whether single or married, is independent, has a $25,000 a year position and is living a career girl life in the better part of Manhattan. She lives in a renovated townhouse which she has lovingly restored to its present beauty. She is talented enough to strip her own walls and lay her own tile, but successful enough to hire that decorator who can find that perfect antique. She has the wardrobe that mixes and matches just right and never but never buys the yellow and purple striped blouse that is a great buy but just would not fit in with anything.

The Single New Woman is having Ted for dinner tonight and Paul for drinks tomorrow night, but her biggest problem is she cannot remember which one likes the Rose' and which one enjoys the white champagne.

The Married New Woman has 1.7 children who are always dressed just right, who have manners at the dinner table, never complain, never nag mother for the sugary lemonade but wait to be offered that nutritious glass of milk. Bedtime is special for mother when she takes her size seven figure, marches into their bedroom which is perfectly coordinated by that same decorator and spends her quality time with them, never losing her patience and always, but always smiling.

She is the woman who comes home from work, greets her cooperative, Robert Redford look-alike husband, puts the children to bed and then with no effort at all, whips up a little dinner party for 12, not forgetting to use the tablecloth she embroidered herself and her best stemware which she uses so often, they do not have to be hand-washed before the table is set.

THE NEW WOMAN of today wears her clothes well, never has to wear the girly dress with that chic little dress from Paris the designer sent to her (the New Woman is just too busy after all to go flying to Paris to get it herself) and always, but always knows how much jewelry to wear and always has coordinating shoes.

The New Woman does not worry about a budget. She never has to decide whether this week's paycheck will be invested in a broom or a mop.

The New Woman takes it with a grain of salt when the toilet bowl stops up and three inches of water suspiciously accumulates all over the bathroom floor. But then again, does the New Woman use a toilet bowl?

The New Woman never, but never, worries about ring around the collar, whiter than white or a wax glow finish because she is so organized these things miraculously happen in her house automatically.

The New Woman would not dream of serving her children and husband anything but the most balanced meal, with just the right amount of vegetables, fresh of course, never from the freezer, with just the right amount of color and she never, but never serves on Tupperware or paper dishes. How gosh!

Her garbage never accumulates, her light switches never have fingerprints looking her in the eye, there is never a dirty ashtray and there is never a dirty dish in the sink.

Are you a New Woman?
I am not, and probably never will be, never, but never.

'Dear Artie' column

Art Buchwald

Dear Artie: My husband came home at 10 o'clock last night, tired and worn out. I asked him where he had been, and he said he had had drinks with an airline stewardess in a cocktail lounge. I think he's lying. I believe he was out cruising for gas and found some. He gave me a cock-and-bull story about the airline stewardess because he knew that if I found out about the gas I'd ask to use his car. What should I do? — Big Bertha

DEAR BERTHA: It sounds to me as if your suspicions may be correct. The old "drinks with an airline stewardess" alibi is used by every husband during a gasoline crisis. My advice to you is to search his pants pockets and his wallet for a credit card receipt from a gas station. If you find one, confront him with it, and tell him he either lets you use his automobile or you will speak to your lawyer. If, on the other hand, you find a receipt from the cocktail lounge, apologize for thinking the worst about him, which was that he got a full tank of gas and did not tell you about it. — A.B.

Dear Artie: I am in love with a young, handsome, wealthy boy from one of the best families in town. He has a beautiful Lincoln-Continental and a 60-foot diesel engine yacht. He wants to marry me in the worst way. But my parents want me to marry a fat, stupid service station attendant who works three blocks from our house. They say I have to think of my future, and their future as well. They also said a nice girl doesn't marry someone with a Lincoln-Continental any more. What should I do? — Tearful Anne

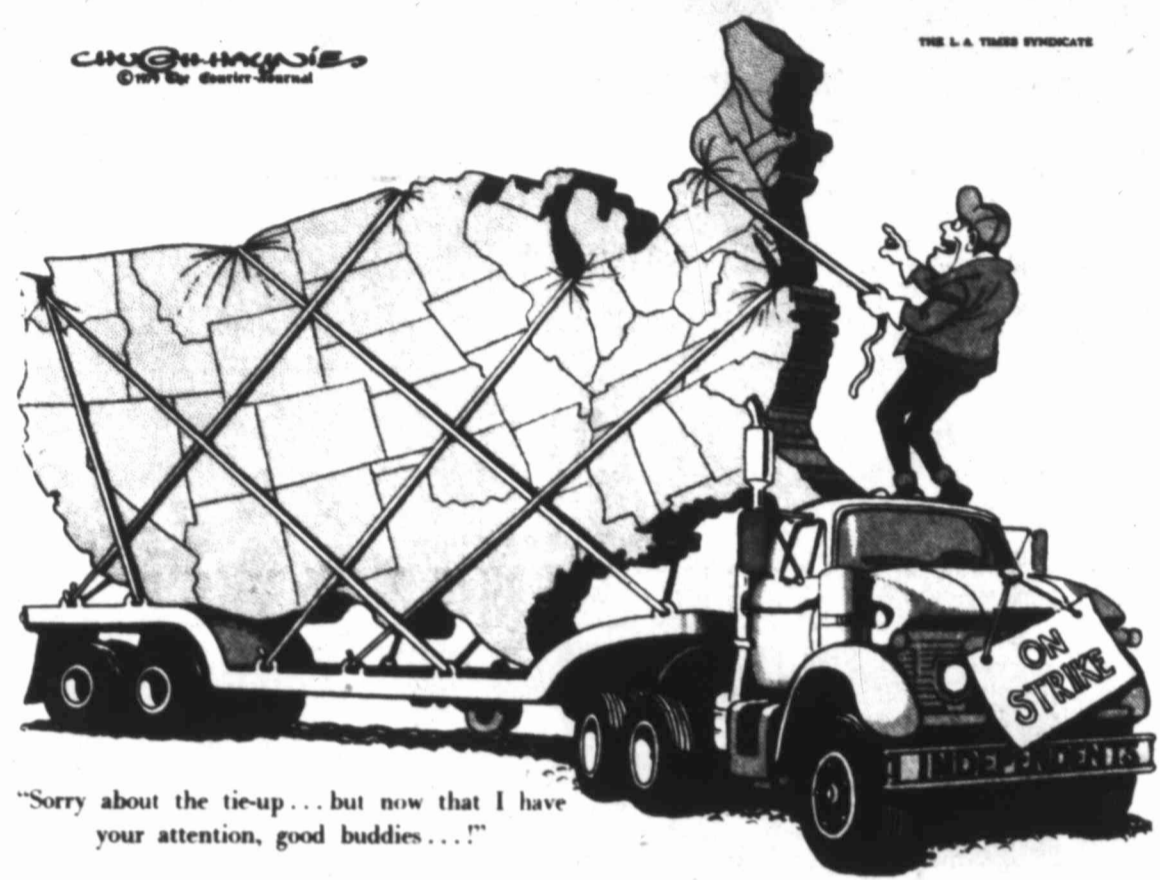

DEAR ANNIE: I'm afraid your parents are right. You'd be making a big mistake if you married a rich boy just because you loved him when could supply your fuel needs for the rest of your life. Very few girls have a chance to marry a service station attendant, and you should be grateful to your parents for finding one for you. Tell your rich boyfriend to get lost. — A.B.

Dear Artie: I am a bachelor and I like to have a good time. The other day I was waiting in a long for gas and this good-looking chick with distress on her face drove slowly by. She winked, and I let her jump the line in front of me. We got to talking and she gave me the impression that after we filled up we'd go out and have a good time. But as soon as she got her 10 gallons of premium she just sped off and left me stuck at the pump. What do you think of this kind of girl? — Woeful Willie

Dear Willie: I've received hundreds of letters from men who have had the same experience. There seem to be a lot of girls like that and there's a name for them — gas teasers. They'll do anything to get in front of you, and then they get all the fuel they want they act as if they don't know you exist. I hope this is a lesson to you. The next time you let a girl crash in front of you, ask her if you can hold on to her driver's license. If she refuses, you'll know she's just playing you for a chump. — A.B.

Dear Artie: My boyfriend uses leaded gasoline in his car, and I use unleaded in mine. He doesn't want to get serious because he says mixed marriages don't work. What do you think? — Soulful Sarah

Dear Sarah: They can work but it's not easy. As long as you respect the other person's fuel needs, love will prevail. Many mixed marriages wind up with one of the parties being catalytically converted. — A.B.

"Sorry about the tie-up... but now that I have your attention, good buddies..."

Arteries begin to harden at 25

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I don't understand hardening of the arteries. What are the symptoms of it? What part of the body is susceptible? Is the condition reversible? Please write about this in plain language. — F.I.

Let's give it its proper name — arteriosclerosis, a thickening, hardening and loss of elasticity of the arteries. These vessels spread out in intricate networks to serve every square inch of the body. Because of this they are on the "high pressure" half of the circulation system. A similar network of veins collects blood and returns it to the heart and lungs. Veins get less of a workout, hence are not subject to hardening.

It's not surprising that arteries may begin to show wear and tear after the first 25 years of use. They all harden to some degree. The secret is to minimize this and keep them supple. Staying active, eating properly, and avoiding tension and high blood pressure are cornerstones of artery health.

The symptoms of hardening vary with the particular vessel and the degree of hardening. If it is one leading to the brain, temporary loss of consciousness, or numbness, and tingling in the part of the body served can be expected. There may be temporary loss of speech — in fact any of those little pre-stroke signs you've seen mentioned here as "TIAs" (transient ischemic attacks) can occur. The common denominator is a lack of oxygen to an area. If it is to the heart, expect chest pain (angina), or even a heart attack (infarction). If it's a leg artery, expect calf pain on exercise and cessation of pain when stopping.

Diagnosis is relatively simple for the large arteries, such as those in the neck, legs, or abdomen, not so easy for lesser ones. The doctor listens to the sound of blood pulsing through. You can't reverse hardening.

Dear Dr. Ruble: My husband has sinus trouble. I have flowers in the house. He was told that flowers cause sinus humidifier isn't working. I think that is the cause of the trouble. What would you blame — dry air or my flowers? We are in our 70's. — Mrs. M.R.

I cannot tell what you mean by "sinus trouble" — a vague term at best. For some it's a catch-all to describe anything from a sniffle to a mild headache. It is true, nevertheless, that allergy can contribute to "sinus trouble" by which I mean swelling and pain. It's also true that the culprit can be any of the pollens from weeds and certain plants. Plants that spread their pollen through the airborne route are the usual sources. But flowering plants pollinated by insects (the rose, for example) are not. A dry atmosphere can aggravate sinus inflammation.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Just answer this yes or no. Can a person who continually gorges on sweets all his life develop diabetes? — Mrs. C.A.

My best answer has to be "not necessarily." It's the sugar in the blood that counts. For most, the pancreas produces sufficient insulin to keep blood sugar in balance, even among sweets gorgers. But read on. If a person develops obesity from sweets gorging (which he probably will) then diabetes can result. There is a definite link between some forms of diabetes and obesity. In any event, it's never wise to overdo sweets.

Dear Dr. Ruble: From 4:30 in the afternoon until I go to bed I scratch my stomach, back and legs. I can't stand it. I went to a skin specialist and he told me I take too many baths. I am 61 and my health is good — T.S.

To frequent bathing or showering can cause itching by removing too much of the natural oils of the skin. Avoid detergent type soaps, cut down on your baths, use bath oils, and dry lightly.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Can a person with epilepsy travel by air? — J.J.

Persons with well-controlled epilepsy can usually fly at altitudes of 10,000 feet or less without difficulties. At higher levels in unpressurized planes they may have seizures. It's best to let the physician rule on this.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Ruble's booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to Dr. Ruble in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

One shortage has led to another

The short supply of gasoline has led to another shortage — of coins.

The Federal Reserve reports the situation is particularly tight on the West Coast, where the sudden surge in use of public transportation has increased demand for pocket change to feed turnstiles and ticket-vending machines.

Particularly scarce are quarters. For the multitudes of us in all parts of the country who have been contending with shortages of income thanks to inflation, that list could be extended to include nickels and dimes and...

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have never cheated on my wife, but I'll have to admit I have thought about it a lot. I have just changed jobs and am going to be traveling a great deal, and I know the temptations will be greater. What advice do you have? — W.B.

DEAR W.B.: I am thankful you have remained faithful to your wife, but I am concerned about the temptations you may face in the future and your ability to withstand them.

The most important thing I can tell you is that you need to place your life in the hands of Jesus Christ as Lord and Ruler. Your letter suggests that you are perhaps not really committed to Christ, and you need to make this clear in your own mind. God created you and sent His Son to redeem you from sin. He wants to direct you and give you a new depth to living if you will turn your life over to Him. He also wants to give you a new love for your wife, as well as a new sense of responsibility to your marriage. God has given her to you.

If you give your life to Christ, it means you will do everything you can to please Him and obey Him. This will add a new dimension to your marriage, since now Christ will be in it and you should do everything you can to strengthen your marriage. Frankly, it is going to be difficult if you are traveling frequently, but it means you must spend as much time as possible with your family when you are home and do all you can to help your love grow and deepen. A deep love between you and your wife — a love which grows and is centered in Christ — will be a major step in keeping you away from immorality.

Then be clear that unfaithfulness to your wife is a sin, and very serious in the eyes of God. One of the Ten Commandments spoke clearly: "Thou shalt not commit adultery" (Exodus 20:14).

Flee from temptation. At the first thought of unfaithfulness, turn to God and ask Him to help you remove that thought. Avoid situations which could lead to sin. The Bible says: "Flee to evil desires of youth, and pursue righteousness, faith, love and peace" (2 Timothy 2:22, New International Version). Follow that command.

WASHINGTON — Japan, the only nation that has actually suffered atomic bombing, has an absolute ban on the presence of nuclear weapons within its borders. It's an understandable attitude, considering the destruction of Hiroshima and Nagasaki by the only nuclear devices ever triggered in anger.

The Japanese have tried to enforce this ban on the United States military bases in their country. But a top-secret document makes it clear that the United States maintained nuclear weapons at its bases on Okinawa some 20 years after the U.S.-Japanese peace treaty, and may have kept them there after turning the island back to the Japanese in 1972. It is possible that we continue to do so to this day.

THE TELLTALE document, which raises anew the question of U.S. credibility, is a National Security Decision Memorandum dated May 28, 1969, and signed by Henry Kissinger as director of the National Security Council. It indicated that the nuclear weapons issue — one of great concern in Japan — could be used as a bargaining chip in the pending negotiations over the return of Okinawa to Japanese sovereignty.

Kissinger wrote that the United States should be stressing "our desire to retain nuclear weapons on Okinawa but indicating that the president is prepared to consider, at the final stages of negotiations, withdrawal of weapons while retaining emergency storage and transit rights, if other elements of the Okinawa agreement are satisfactory."

Obviously, one cannot "retain" or "consider withdrawal" of nuclear weapons that are not already in place.

Under law, U.S. officials are forbidden to discuss deployment of our nuclear arsenal. So it is impossible to determine for the record whether the nuclear weapons admittedly present on Okinawa in 1969 were, in fact, retained or withdrawn.

A government official pointed out that prior to Okinawa's return to Japan in 1972, the island was legally under American sovereignty. "If we wanted to keep nuclear weapons there, we wouldn't have to ask a third party," the official told our associate Tom Rosenstiel.

DESPITE THE clear implication of the Kissinger memo that President Nixon considered it "essential" to keep at least limited rights to have nuclear weapons on Okinawa, the president assured the Japanese prime minister five months later that the return of the island "would be carried out in a manner consistent with the policy of the Japanese government."

Japanese government was nearly toppled and President Ford almost had to cancel a trip to Japan.

Under the U.S.-Japanese security treaty, "major changes in the deployment into Japan of U.S. armed forces, equipment and the use of facilities... shall be subject to the prior consultation of Japan." This restriction was designed, in part, to keep nuclear weapons out of Japan.

But there is a loophole. Such "prior consultation" has never taken place, a Japanese official told us. This might — or might not — indicate that nuclear weapons are no longer kept on Okinawa. Would maintaining the status quo before the return of Okinawa constitute "major changes"? Would it constitute "deployment into Japan" if the nuclear weapons were already on Okinawa?

Another secret report suggests that American analysts do not comprehend the depth of Japan's aversion to nuclear weapons. If they came to feel threatened by Chinese nuclear capability, or if either North or South Korea acquired nuclear weapons, the Japanese might be more inclined to accept nuclear armament themselves, the analysis states. A Japanese official assured us that it is "inconceivable" that Japan will ever lift its nuclear weapons ban.

Footnote: According to the "eyes only" minutes of President Carter's Cabinet meeting of April 23, Carter described Prime Minister Ohira as "an eloquent, competent and self-assured man" and expressed "confidence" in him. The president rated their private discussions as "one of the best diplomatic exchanges we've ever had" since taking office.

It remains to be seen whether Ohira reciprocates this feeling when he learns how much less than candid the U.S. has been on the nuclear weapons ban.

RANDROPS KEEP FALLING: If Washington is for the birds, as some people claim, it's not the fault of the National Park Service. The Smokey Bears have been trying everything they can to keep winged intruders out of such popular tourist attractions as the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials.

To keep pigeons from roosting on the ledges above Honest Abe's head and giving visitors unwanted souvenirs of the memorial, the park service has installed a device that emits ultrasonic shrieks every few seconds. So far the pigeons have proved unflappable.

Over at the Jefferson Memorial, the park service first tried stinking the pigeons away with 400 pounds of mothballs. The birds welcomed the refreshing change in Washington's polluted air. Rubber snakes were tried next. The pigeons remained undaunted. Finally, the park service ran electrified wire along the overhead ledges. That seems to be working.

Footnote: About those tiny black specks on the lofty ceiling of the Lincoln Memorial: Don't blame the cleaning crew. The specks are bats, hanging there, asleep. No one has figured out how to get rid of the harmless critters.

She Ought to Split Or Gett Off the Pot

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem in our office building that no one knows how to handle. Ours is a rather small building; only three floors and maybe 24 tenants, so nearly everybody in the building knows each other.

There is a ladies' room on each floor, but one young woman who works on the third floor comes down to two to smoke pot in our restroom on her lunch hour. The smell is terrible and clings to our clothes if we're in there for very long. Also, she ties up the stall for quite a long time, and during the lunch hour a lot of women want to use the facilities. Apparently no one has made any attempt to put a stop to this because they don't want to get her in trouble. It's bad enough that she smokes the stuff, but why can't she use the restroom on her own floor?

If you have any idea how we can solve this problem, please let us know.

INCONVENIENCED
DEAR IN: Your complaint is valid, so tell the girl flat out to please use the restroom on HER floor . . . and, furthermore, remind her that smoking pot is illegal, and she's asking for trouble if she doesn't stay off the grass!

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago, I had a couple to my home for dinner. The man works with my husband. Yesterday I discovered that a silver and turquoise ring was missing. It's not valuable, but it has sentimental value because my grandmother gave it to me.

I suspect the woman took it. It was in the jewelry box on my dressing table, and she lay down in my bedroom for a while. I couldn't have lost or mislaid it—I never wear it. (The band is almost worn through.)

I don't know what to do about it. I don't want to ruin our friendship, but I really want the ring back.

I can't avoid meeting this woman. Our husbands work together and we see each other at business functions. What should I do?

STUMPED
DEAR STUMPED: One thing you should not do is accuse the woman of taking your ring. (Regardless of how strongly you suspect her, you could be wrong.)

If I were you, I would forget it.

DEAR ABBY: I simply had to respond to your reply to BUDDY IN BELOIT, who asked how to say no to a girl without making a fool of himself. Your reply was absolutely perfect.

When I was in high school I would have fallen head over heels for a young man who had enough integrity and conviction to tell me firmly, "We have gone as far as we are going—for the good of both of us."

Guys who want everything you've got are a dime a dozen—even with inflation; but most women are turned on by someone who is in control of himself and doesn't feel the need to apologize for it.

I dated a man like that in college and was so impressed with those qualities in him that we're celebrating our fifth wedding anniversary soon!

K.C. READER
DEAR ABBY: Do you want to do the hospital volunteers of the world a big favor? Please tell your readers that mail addressed to Buzz Jackson, Skip Jones or Tootsie Brown will probably not be delivered to patients in the hospital.

Nicknames are not recorded on hospital records. The patients are registered under their LEGAL names (first, middle and last). We have no idea who Liz, Red, Corky or Junior are.

Yesterday I looked for an "Al" Johnson and found none. I did find a Henry Alvin Johnson, however. I later learned that the patient always called himself "Al" so he wouldn't be confused with his father who was called Henry.

So, please, Abby, print this. I could cry every time I see a stack of mail that can't be delivered because it is addressed improperly. And wouldn't you know they don't put a return address on the envelope, either!

FRUSTRATED IN PHOENIX
DEAR FRUSTRATED: I'll pass the word. I hope it helps. Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tween 12 and 20 — Should girl accept weekend invitation?

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Peggy, 17, who lives in Hagerstown, Md., wants to spend the weekend with her boyfriend and his family. Bernie Bubman, 16, from Elyria, Ohio, and Lona Starr, 17, who lives in Dubuque, Iowa, will add their thoughts to mine.

Dr. Wallace: I will be 17 next week and my boyfriend's parents have asked me to spend the weekend with them on a camping outing. My parents think this is "improper."

Do you feel that I should be allowed to go? I really want to. — Peggy

Peggy: While I don't necessarily believe that it is improper, I do feel that your boyfriend's parents should have contacted your parents first to ask their permission. The possibility exists that your family may have something in mind for celebrating your birthday.

If I were your father, I would ask that you not go.

Hi, Peggy: I think your boyfriend's parents are out of line, asking you to spend a weekend with them when it is your birthday. Your birthday should be celebrated at your home with your family there.

Of course, your boyfriend should be there — that is, if he is not camping. — Bernie

Hello, Peggy: Wow! I really think your boyfriend's parents are rude and totally improper. I go steady but I would never think of leaving my family on my birthday. Also my moral standards are such that I would not spend a weekend with my boyfriend even if his parents were there.

Your boyfriend's parents owe your parents an apology. Be smart and stay home. — Lona

'This summer, I'm taking more of a vacation and less of a trip . . . IN TEXAS!'

On TV, I hang out in "Carter Country." But in real life, I hail from Fredericksburg, Texas. Just down the road a piece from Luckenbach.

This ol' gas shortage got me thinking about where to go for my vacation this year. Know what I decided?

To stay right here in Texas. There's plenty of things to do in my own back yard. And I can do most of 'em on a tank of gas or less.

When's the last time you took in Astroworld or Six Flags? How 'bout the Alamo or Big Bend? The piney woods? A dude ranch? Spanish missions and other historical sights? Or a weekend camping at your favorite lake?

I'll bet you can put together a heckuva list in no time flat.

More of a vacation. Less of a trip. Sure makes sense to this ol' country boy.

How 'bout you? Take a look outside your door. There's a whole lot of Texas there. And it's right in your own back yard.

FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS Honors—
Mrs. Jim Cauble Representative Of Our HOWARD COUNTY HERITAGE
Tuesday June 26

Mrs. Jim "Jennie" Cauble came into the world on April 26, 1888 in a house on Runnels that is no longer there.

In fact, many things have changed in Big Spring since Mrs. Cauble was a little girl. She remembers the days when most of the area was open range, and when her little sister was afraid to walk to school because of all the cattle and horses in the streets.

She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Williams, pioneer ranchers who once owned the spread that is now the Kent Morgan ranch.

She spent much of her youth at that ranch, and didn't move into Big Spring proper until her early teens. While at the ranch she was tutored by a governess, but later attended the Inkman School and the Birdwell School in town.

When her mother died, her father wanted to make sure that she and her siblings received the best of care. They were all sent to the Sisters of Mercy Convent in Stanton.

She married Jim Cauble on Dec. 26, 1909 in Big Spring. During their life together, they spent over 15 years as residents of the Elbow Community and over 30 years on a ranch in Glasscock County.

Mrs. Cauble moved back to Big Spring in 1970. The Caubles had six children, three of whom are deceased, Gladys, Kyle and Woodrow Cauble. Their daughter, Dorothy Fowler, is a resident of Big Spring.

Mrs. Cauble also has two sons, Buster Cauble, Ackerly, and Chaplain Don Cauble, Abilene. Joining the long family tree are four grandchildren and two great-granddaughters.

Mrs. Cauble is a member of the College Baptist Church. She is also a true Big Spring pioneer, and has seldom if ever missed an Old Settlers Reunion here.

"I have so many friends, relatives and stories that it must get kind of confusing," said Mrs. Cauble.

Perhaps, but she is also rich with the living heritage of Big Spring and Howard County.

Mrs. Jim Cauble will be at First Federal Tuesday, June 26. Friends and relatives are invited to come and visit with them.

INFLATION FIGHTING ideas

A Safeway service in support of suggestions from the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs

"Unit Pricing"

Unit pricing, according to the United States Office of Consumer Affairs, is one of the most useful tools available to shoppers for comparing prices and determining the most economical buy. Safeway, recognizing the benefits to customers, was one of the first chains to introduce unit pricing.

In Safeway, shelf labels show the price of an item and, breaking the price down into a basic unit, also show the price per pound, quart, ounce or other even unit of measure.

We have done the arithmetic for you. All you need to do is compare the Unit Price of brands of the same product to help determine the most economical brand and size.

FREE! Single copies of A Consumer's Shopping List of Inflation Fighting Ideas may be obtained by writing the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 6256, Pueblo, CO. 81008.

Hardcore unemployment: Shutdown aftermath

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Miros and Teresa Maszczak built a success story from the shock and fright of his being fired when Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., eliminated 4,100 jobs in 1977.

Others were not as lucky as Maszczak, who will be getting a college degree this summer. Some 1,000 who lost jobs at the plant now are classified as hard-core unemployed.

In the 21 months since Sheet & Tube's steel-making facilities were judged obsolete by its owners, the area labor force has lost 1,700 workers. That, however, is only 0.7 percent of the 235,000 listed work force in late 1977.

Unemployment for the region was 6.4 percent this spring, compared to 7.6 percent in late 1977. The state employment bureau gives this breakdown on the 4,100 who lost their jobs at Sheet & Tube: approximately 2,000 relocated; 1,000 found other work in the area; the others are the "hard-core" unemployed. "We have gained more jobs but at less pay," says Don Curry of the state employment office here. "There are fewer mill jobs so people are taking jobs in department stores, fast food restaurants and in custodial work."

The region still leans on industry for jobs. Six steel and automotive makers furnish 25 percent of the jobs for the region.

Mayor John Phillip Richley says Youngstown's economy has remained strong since the layoffs and that the press "created tear-jerker stories when the facts did not support them." But he acknowledges no major industry has moved in to take up the slack in skilled jobs.

The mills that once produced hot-and-cold-rolled steel and steel plates now are mostly idle, an industrial barrier between the cities of Struthers and Campbell, both at the southeast edge of Youngstown. United Steelworkers Union Local 2163 in Struthers lost 1,700 of its 2,900 members to the closing, and President Joe Vrable says the future is not bright. "The biggest membership we've got left is in the coke plant and if that goes then we are just about done for," Vrable says.

Richley talks of a diversified economy for the Mahoning River Valley that crosses northeast Ohio from Lake Erie to Pennsylvania. Weston Johnstone of the Chamber of Commerce says the Mahoning Valley Economic Development Corporation was set up to seek new jobs, keep present industry and help it grow.

It is backed by a $600,000 grant from the U.S. Economic Development Agency, but neither Johnstone nor Richley, who heads the corporation, name any concrete successes in the year since its founding. Both men express hope that an airplane manufacturer will locate here and create 1,600 jobs. A coalition of business and community leaders worked 18 months to reopen the mill as a steel facility, spending nearly $500,000, most of it federal money, on feasibility studies before quitting May 31. An economist notes if continued operation was feasible the mill wouldn't have closed in the first place. The parent Lykes Corp., said when it closed the plant it was obsolete and no longer profitable.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., is now managing the facility and seeking new industry to use it. Like the economic development group, it has nothing concrete, but mentions "a couple of potentially interested parties."

Dr. Edward J. Ray, head of the economics department at Ohio State University, sees no strong swing in the national economy this year. "I think that's bad for a place like Youngstown," he said. "One of the realities of any slowdown in the economy is that areas which have heavy reliance on manufacturing or industrial activity almost always experience much more severe cycles in employment and output than the rest of the economy."

Both the city of Campbell and its schools are hard hit by the Sheet & Tube cutbacks. "We've lost almost $1 million out of a $4 million school budget," says Frank Fraslino, clerk-treasurer for Campbell schools. "And that was just in personal property taxes."

The budget for the school system of 1,815 students is out $173,000 more this year which Jones & Laughlin Co. is withholding while it argues to cut taxable value of its real estate from $9 million to $6 million.

The city of Campbell has lost nearly $500,000 from a 1.5 percent city payroll tax in the time the plant has been closed.

DOUBLE PLAY — San Diego Padre first baseman Dan Griggs goes out of the path to try to block Houston Astro Rafael Landestoy's throw to first base during the 4th inning of Sunday's game in the Astrodome. Briggs' ef-orts were for naught as Landestoy made the throw in time to get Padre catcher Gene Tenace for the inning ending double play. The Astros won 4-1.

Will Reggie and Billy get back together? As the pinstripes turn

NEW YORK (AP) — It has taken less than a week for the New York Yankees to once again become a real-life soap opera, something approximating the so-called Bronx Zoo that existed from Reggie Jackson's arrival in 1977 to Billy Martin's departure last July.

Martin, cowboy boots and all, is back in the saddle, having replaced Bob Lemon — the man who replaced him. With the Yankees, it couldn't be any other way: already the twotime world champions are cloaked in controversy.

—Are the Yankees trying to trade Reggie?

—Has Reggie asked to be traded?

—Can Reggie and Billy ever co-exist?

—Is George riding to the rescue?

—Will the morrow bring the final parting, peace at last or just one more in the never-ending series of events that would make the most turbulent soap opera seem dull by comparison?

Taking the questions in order, the answers are maybe, maybe, maybe, maybe and stay tuned.

Both Jackson and Yankee officials declined to comment Sunday on reports that the sidelined slugger has asked to be traded. And General Manager Cedric Tallis said that "no players have been mentioned in any trades at this point."

Meanwhile, Martin continued to make it a point to praise Jackson, saying the Yankees "need Reggie's bat because Reggie's a great player." But Jackson, obviously choosing his words carefully, seemed down in the dumps.

Asked if Jackson had requested a trade, Tallis

Andujar wants to be noticed

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston pitcher Joaquin Andujar is happy but he is mad.

Andujar explained his feelings Sunday after he had won his fourth game in five starts, scattering seven hits and benefiting from the clutch hitting of Alan Ashby and Denny Walling in a 4-1 victory over San Diego.

Andujar is happy any time he is pitching, whether it is in relief or as a starter. He is mad because he feels his versatility has gone unnoticed by the media.

The emotional Dominican was so angry recently he took a shower wearing his uniform to avoid talking to reporters.

"As long as the team wins I don't care but I am mad because nobody realizes the job I have done," the emotional Dominican said. "I don't want publicity, I just want people to realize what I've been doing.

"I've done a good job in short relief, in long relief and as a starter. That's very hard to do. It takes a strong arm."

Andujar, 8-4, strong-armed the Padres Sunday despite a few shaky moments in the second and sixth innings. But his fastball was moving and that's what

Rangers, Royals tied in West

Horace Greeley would be proud of the Texas Rangers and Kansas City Royals. Both teams followed Greeley's advice to "Go West, young man," and wound up right in the middle of a pennant race.

The Rangers captured a double-header in Oakland Sunday 5-1 and 7-2 to move within two games of first-place California in the American League West. Which is exactly where the Royals are after sweeping three games from the Angels, the last one Sunday by a 5-2 score.

Texas got solid pitching from former A's John Henry Johnson, acquired earlier this month, and Doc Medich, in subduing Oakland. Johnson, 4-8, won his second straight game for the Rangers, throwing seven strong innings in the opener.

Oakland's Matt Keough has been coming away with nothing all season. He lost his ninth in a row this season and is 2-20 since making the All-Star team last year.

Medich gave up six hits in seven innings in the nightcap before Sandy Lyle and Jim Kern relieved. John Ellis hit a three-run homer for Texas in the opener and Pat Fennam did the same in the second game.

Tigers 6, Orioles 4

The Tigers snapped Dennis Martinez' 10-game winning streak as well as the Orioles nine-game string. Rusty Staub had a solo homer as well as an RBI triple that broke a 4-4 tie in the ninth. Rich Dauer had a two-run homer for Baltimore.

Red Sox 8, Blue Jays 4

Carl Yastrzemski and Fred Lynn had homers and Mike Torrez pitched a five-hitter as Boston finished a three-game sweep of Toronto.

Brewers 7, Mariners 4

Paul Molitor's 12th-inning single drove home Charlie Moore with the winning run.

Phillies 5, Expos 2

The way Larry Christenson has been pitching this year, he'd rather talk about his hitting.

Braves 4, Dodgers 2

A four-run fourth inning, sparked by seven straight singles, led Atlanta over Los Angeles. Joe Nolan's two-run hit keyed the Braves' game-breaking inning.

Reds 8, Giants 7

Ken Griffey drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning, leading Cincinnati over San Francisco. The Reds had tied the score at 7 with a four-run seventh. Dave Concepcion's double drove in the first run, two more scored on a single by Johnny Bench and Dan Drissien knocked in the final run of the frame.

Twins 4-7, White Sox 3-1

Minnesota got stellar pitching from reliever Mike Bacsik in the first game and starter Jerry Kosman in the nightcap. Dave Edwards' run-scoring single in the seventh inning of the opener provided the decisive run and Roy Smalley had three doubles to pace the Twins second-game attack.

Yankees 8, Indians 2

Lou Piniella drove in two runs, stole a base to set up another and threw out a base runner (catcher Ron Hassey) for the fourth time in five games for New York, which swept three games from Cleveland.

Royals 5, Angels 2

Kansas City rode the threehit pitching of Dennis Leonard and a two-run homer by George Brett to the victory that tightened the AL West even further. Leonard, 5-4, had missed five starts with an inflamed elbow. He was in control throughout except for a two-run homer by Willie Aikens.

Angels 4, Athletics 3

Bacsik hurled 4-3 perfect innings in relief of Darrell Jackson.

Phillies 5, Expos 2

One of baseball's hardest-hitting hurlers, Christenson belted a home run and two doubles Sunday to help the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Montreal Expos 5-2.

Doug Bair, 4-3, was the winner in relief while San Francisco reliever Dave Roberts, 0-2, took the loss.

Leewants more

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Lee Trevino, a $2 million winner with his Canadian Open victory over struggling Tom Watson, now has another goal.

"Yeah, I knew a win would put me past $2 million (in career earnings)," Trevino said after Watson's collapse had opened the gates for Lee's drive to his third Canadian national title.

"Now I'm going for $3 million. There's always a goal, always something else to try for," he said.

"I'll play hard, full-time, for another four or five years and then slack off," said Trevino, 39, who joined Jack Nicklaus as the only men in the game to go past $2 million in official winnings. The $63,000 he collected from the total purse of $350,000 pushed his career total to $2,024,563.

The victory, his first of his career, didn't come as a surprise to Trevino. But the

Affirmed wins

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Affirmed won the total respect of everyone, including the jockey trying to upset him, as he became thoroughbred racing's first $2-million horse.

Darrel McHargue, the champion rider of 1978, had Sirlid challenging the champion horse of the same year, but they lost by three-quarters of a length in a stretch duel Sunday in a time just 1-5 second off the world record in the 1 1/4-mile, $500,000 Hollywood Gold Cup.

McHargue made no excuses for Sirlid and had nothing but compliments for the winning Affirmed as he said:

"There's no way anybody is going to beat that horse. If you go with him eye and eye like I did or come from off of it, you will not beat this horse."

"I think he will go down as one of the greatest horses that ever raced. My horse ran real big, but look what happened when it counted. My horse was fresh and kept digging in, but still was no match for the winner."

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Find out what good friends will do to help you in gaining personal aims before going ahead with your original plans.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care of civic duties early in the day, then you'll have time for personal affairs later. Be logical.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A new contact can be most helpful to you in a project you are involved in. A personal wish can easily be gained at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use a different approach with your mate and establish better harmony. Sidestep one who has an eye on your assets.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Exchange views with associates and good things can result. Take no risks with your good name at this time.

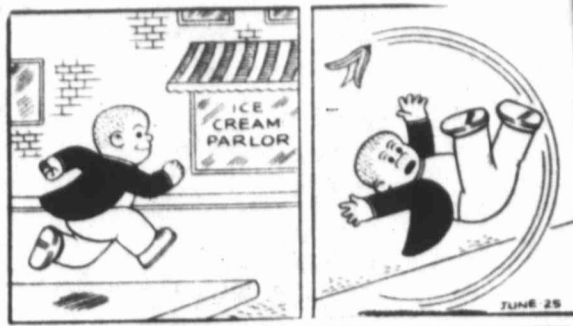

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study the data you now have and then apply it to a project you have in mind and reap the benefits in the future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Morning is fine for pursuing monetary gains since others are cooperative now. Be more willing to share with associates.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have a brilliant mind, capable of absorbing much knowledge, so be sure to give as fine an education as you can, since there is much ambition here and great success is possible. Give good spiritual training.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Mideast negotiations are reopened in Israel today

By LARRY THORSON

HERLIYA, Israel (AP) — Egypt, Israel and the United States reopened negotiations today on Palestinian autonomy as Israeli and Palestinian artillery crews exchanged fire across the Lebanese border. Lebanese officials said first reports indicated one girl was killed and five other persons were wounded by Israeli fire in southern Lebanon. On the eve of the new round of talks in this Tel Aviv suburb, it was announced that Defense Minister Ezer Weizman had quit the Israeli negotiating team. Weizman has been an outspoken critic of Prime Minister Menachem Begin's hard line toward the Palestinians of the West Bank.

Lebanese officials in the coastal city of Sidon said Israeli border gunners were blasting Palestinian guerrilla strongholds in five southern Lebanese villages. They said the shelling was continuing at mid-morning. The Israeli military command said the bombardment was in reprisal for an attack on Israel's northern Galilee area. A spokesman said Palestinian gunners fired several artillery shells over the border. No casualties were reported.

A bomb explosion in Tel Aviv Sunday morning triggered Israeli air raids in southern Lebanon Sunday afternoon in which one man was reported killed and eight wounded. The Tel Aviv blast killed two Arabs who apparently were on their way to plant the bomb when it went off prematurely.

In another development Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy arrived in Amman for talks with Jordan's King Hussein on strengthening the hardline Arab front opposed to the U.S.-sponsored Egyptian-Israeli peace process. Khadafy had met with Syrian President Hafez Assad in Damascus over the weekend. No official reason was given for Weizman's resignation from the six-man negotiating committee. It was announced Sunday, on the eve of resumption of the autonomy negotiations and came amid much press speculation that Weizman may quit the Cabinet because of differences with Begin.

The pragmatic Weizman developed the warmest relations of any Israeli leader with the Egyptian President Anwar Sadat during the 18 months of bargaining before the signing of the Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty last March in Washington.

One of the few doves in Begin's conservative government, Weizman reportedly threatened to resign several times during the peace talks because of the prime minister's doctrinaire policies. Last month, he and Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan argued against the Israeli policy drafted for talks with Egypt on autonomy for the 1.1 million Palestinians living on the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip.

Weizman and Dayan claimed the proposals were too hardline and specific to be a realistic opening position. After a lengthy Cabinet controversy, the policy was classified as a set of principles instead of a hard-and-fast position before the talks opened on May 25.

Weizman also fought the establishment of a new Jewish settlement near the West Bank city of Nablus, a center of Palestinian nationalism.

OPEC meeting in Switzerland

By MARK POTTS

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries are gathering in Geneva for a pricing meeting that is expected to increase their base price of crude oil to at least $18 a barrel. The new base price could be even higher than $18. On the eve of the OPEC meeting, scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, an official of the Iranian finance ministry said his country supports a price of more than $20 a barrel, well in excess of the current $14.55 base.

The Iranian official, Cyrus Abraham Zadeh, did not say how much higher than $20 the price should go. But he suggested today that Saudi Arabia would have to compromise with OPEC hard-liners on prices. OPEC's base price since March has been $14.55 for a 42-gallon barrel, but the demand due to the reduction in Iranian production enabled individual members to tack on surcharges running as high as $6 a barrel.

The rush by all the OPEC nations except Saudi Arabia to profit via the individual surcharge route caused fears among some members that the cartel was losing the unity that enabled it to control world oil prices. As a result, most members seem determined to leave Geneva with a unified price.

"The pricing system should be the same for all the countries," said Oil Minister Humberto Calderon-Berti of Venezuela. "We have to find a point where all of us can come together."

Both Calderon and Kuwait's oil minister, Ali Khalifa Al-Sabah, said they expected the group would have little trouble reaching a consensus.

"I don't think it will be a difficult meeting," said Khalifa. Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia hinted a base price of $18 a barrel would be acceptable to his government. Since Saudi Arabia is OPEC's biggest producer, most analysts expect agreement on a price at or near that level.

Rumors have circulated here that Iran and some of the other more militant members might hold out for a higher price. But the Saudis' ability to hold the price down by increasing production was expected to keep the others in line.

Saudi Arabia is producing 8.5 million barrels of oil a day, about 30 percent of OPEC's total and 15 percent of the world's production.

TEXAS DRESS SHIRT — Texas Gov. Bill Clements' fashion decree for a short-sleeve and no-tie summer isn't likely to make the apparel markets of Paris of New York take notice. But it sure has made a stitcy of sense for Dallas novelty shirt designers Bruce Hardy, right, and Holly Boggess. They're trying to dress up the governor's proclamation with a different look that still keeps the cool approach.

Retirement dreams turn into financial nightmare?

By The Associated Press
 America is getting older and the growing number of people who retire each year are finding that their dreams of a life of relaxation can turn into a nightmare of financial worries.

The number of people 65 and over is expected to increase by about 33 percent between 1972 and 1990, according to the Census Bureau. That compares with an anticipated increase of 28 percent in the population as a whole and it has focused new attention on retirees.

Knowing what to expect can be the key to successful retirement. Ideally, you should start planning when still in your 40s.

For most people, retirement means a sharp drop in income. But economists at Citibank in New York point out that it also can mean a drop in spending. Income taxes are lower. Commuting expenses may disappear. Clothing needs change.

Henley lawyers not able to prevent death account

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for mass murder defendant Elmer Wayne Henley, who were unable to prevent a chilling account of a two-year sex-torture and death spree from being admitted as evidence, are banking on winning a third trial for their 23-year-old client.

Henley's second trial enters its fourth week today, with defense attorneys continuing to hammer at the theme that the youth, who was 17 when he was arrested in the Houston killings, was not properly apprised of his legal rights.

Attorney Will Gray of Houston sought to have Henley's statements given to police suppressed. But District Judge Noah Kennedy ruled them admissible, which made for some gory reading during last week's proceedings.

It found that the average U.S. working family spent 31.1 percent of its money on food, 28.2 percent on housing, 10.6 percent on transportation, 7.2 percent on medical care, 8.2 percent on clothing, 9.2 percent on personal care and other expenses and 5.5 percent on miscellaneous items like gifts.

The retired couple spent proportionally less on transportation, food, clothing and personal care, but proportionally more on housing, medical care and miscellaneous.

As a general rule, you will need approximately 70 percent of your after-tax, pre-retirement earnings to maintain your standard of living during your first year of retirement.

You will have to increase your income in successive years to cover inflation and those increases can add up quickly. Independent Action for Retirees, founded by the American Association of Retired Persons to help people plan for the future, calculated the amount of money needed by someone who retires now with an annual income of $10,000 and wants to keep pace with a 6 percent rate of inflation — relatively modest by current standards.

The experts found that by the end of the 10th year, the retiree who started with $10,000 would need nearly $18,000 just to stay even.

An AIM guide to retirement is available, at no charge, from 1909 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20049. It includes information on financial planning, housing and legal decisions.

Your two basic sources of retirement income probably will be Social Security and a pension. It is important to find out exactly what you are entitled to and what you have to do to get it. Mistakes can happen — clerical or computer errors, for example — and they can cost you money. Contact your local Social Security office to find out about benefits and write the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 545G, Pueblo, Colo. 81009, for a free copy of "Pension and Welfare Law: What You Should Know" to learn how the Employee Retirement Income Security Act protects you.

Couple at war to end abortion legalization

FORT MITCHELL, Ky. (AP) — John and Barbara Wilke are at war.

And like the more than 6,000 others who joined them at a rally in nearby Cincinnati Sunday, they are sure they are right and are going to win.

The Cincinnati couple are soldiers in the battle against legalized abortion. It was a big time for their side last week when the Right to Life organization held its national convention in Fort Mitchell. After the convention ended Sunday, more than 6,000 persons paraded through the streets to show their strength.

"It's a part of our lives," said Wilke, who has had to curtail some of his medical practice to make room for his job as president of Ohio Right to Life. "We put it aside sometimes at the dinner table, and I practice medicine part time, but the rest of our lives is pretty much the movement."

Wilke and his wife, who serve as co-chairmen of the Cincinnati group, were galvanized into what they call a "war" in 1973 when the U.S. Supreme Court said states couldn't prohibit abortions during the first three months of pregnancy.

During the convention, the group unveiled a three-year plan to gather the political strength needed to get a constitutional amendment to overturn the court decision through Congress. The amendment would then go to the states for ratification.

The amendment would prohibit abortions except where the mother's life is in danger, and also prohibit euthanasia—mercy killing. Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., has introduced the group's amendment in Congress.

"We are here to remind America of its very soul," said Hyde, at the Sunday rally.

"Isn't it grotesque that the protection an unborn baby is given is less than that given to a snail darter. A blade of grass gets more protection." The snail darter is a fish that is protected as an endangered species and the fight for its survival has stopped completion of the Tellico Dam in Tennessee.

This past year has been good for the group, says its president, Dr. Carolyn Gerster, a Scottsdale, Ariz., internist. She says the abortion issue played a part in the defeat of Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, and influenced several races in Minnesota.

Somoza rejects resignation call

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Anastasio Somoza vowed to fight on as Sandinista guerrillas captured their third major city and continued a two-week long occupation of eastern Managua's slums despite heavy aerial bombing.

Somoza told the nation Sunday he was open to initiatives from members of the Organization of American States who "have a true interest in a peaceful solution" to Nicaragua's violence. He did not mention the OAS call for his resignation, but high government sources said his speech could be read as an emphatic rejection.

The sources said Somoza told national guard commanders by short-wave radio after the OAS resolution Saturday that he had decided to "continue the fight and beat the enemy."

Shortly afterward the guard fled from Masaya, 20 miles southeast of Managua. Sandinista guerrillas showed reporters the burned-out garrison Sunday and told them rebel sharpshooters had replaced guard snipers in the towers of the adjacent cathedral.

The city was the third to come under complete Sandinista control. The rebels drove the guard out of Diriamba, 28 miles south of Managua, late Saturday and have controlled all of Leon, the nation's second largest city 57 miles northwest of Managua, for more than a week.

The rebels also have the guard bottled up in their garrisons in several other cities, including Esteli, straddling the Pan American Highway 98 miles north of Managua. Chinandega, a major city 85 miles northwest of Managua, and Matagalpa, 84 miles northeast of the capital.

With the rebel victories have come increasing reports of heavy guard casualties and some desertions. Exact figures are not available. But reliable sources said two guard captains and a lieutenant have taken refuge in the Colombian Embassy, and that Lt. Col. Constantino Mendieta Herdocia, an architect in charge of remodeling Managua's airport, had sought asylum in the Peruvian Embassy.

Informed sources said the guard has been dropping 500-pound bombs along the southern front where rebels hold up to three miles of Nicaraguan territory north of the Costa Rican border.

The sources said there has been little change in positions near the border, but the guard was flying 90 percent of its missions on the southern front and has driven back rebel attempts there to push northward with heavy artillery and aerial bombardment.

EXPLOSIONS ROCKED THE CAPITAL's eastern slums Sunday night and huge fires lit the skies, presumably touched off by 250-pound bombs dropped from helicopters for the second straight day.

Firefights that began in late afternoon continued into the night in areas of Managua including the usually quiet western sector not far from the American Embassy.
