

Skylab lands in Indian ocean

WASHINGTON (AP) — Skylab, a ghost ship with a proud tradition, plummeted back to Earth like a flaming meteor today. Trackers said tons of molten debris fell into the Indian Ocean and that some pieces may have hit Australia.

"We have no reports of damage or injury," said Richard G. Smith, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration task force monitoring the death of Skylab.

"I can't confirm it, but it appears that some of the pieces did overfly Australia," Smith said. Asked if any of the pieces could have landed on the continent, he replied: "Yes, absolutely, it's a possibility...."

"We have reports of hot debris in the sky from several western Australian points," Smith said. "We were surprised when we heard some of the pieces were sighted and might have fallen in southwest Australia."

About 20 tons of fiery metal were scattered over 3,700 miles of the Indian Ocean, the North American Air Defense Command reported.

NORAD said the largest pieces of Skylab apparently hit at the front of the 100-mile wide corridor about 200 miles from the southwestern Australia city of Perth.

NASA said it received reports that the flaming laboratory was seen plunging through the sky from several points in southwestern Australia, including Perth, Kalgoorlie, Esperance and Albany.

It was nighttime there, which made the flaming pieces clearly visible in the atmosphere.

Sightings of 20 to 50 pieces were reported from Perth at 12:33 a.m. Thursday (12:33 p.m. EDT).

A space agency spokesman said a tracking station at Ascension Island in the south Atlantic off central Africa confirmed at 12:07 p.m. EDT that Skylab's solar panels were ripped loose by the thickening atmosphere at a height of 69 miles.

"The solar panels folded like a little duck's wings," said Bob Kapustka, an electrical engineer at NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

"The panels broke loose but were still attached to Skylab by power cables," Kapustka said. "We were getting telemetry because of the cables, but no sunlight on the panels. We could see the temperature increasing."

About 500 pieces of the 77.5 ton spacecraft, including a 5,100-pound airlock shroud and a 3,900-pound lead safe which protected film from radiation, had been expected to strike the Earth.

The Skylab debris entered the atmosphere several thousand miles farther into the Indian Ocean than NORAD had predicted in its final forecast about 90 minutes before re-entry.

NORAD had predicted the pieces would fall in an area ranging from the south Atlantic Ocean into the Indian Ocean.

Skylab sent its last signal at 12:11 p.m. EDT. The signal was picked up at the Ascension Island tracking station.

The space ship began its final plunge after the space agency sent it into a tumble to steer it away from North America.

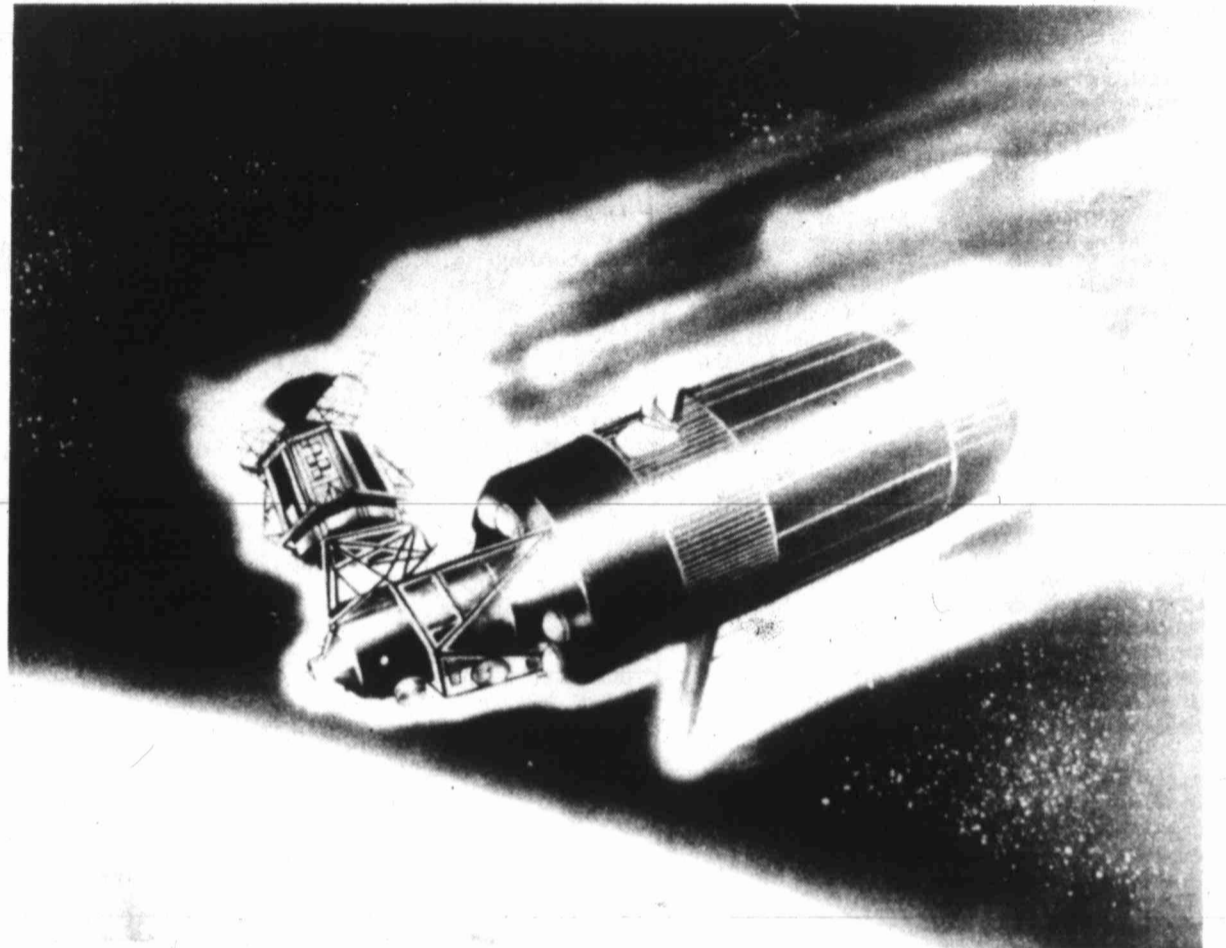

In a final prediction of a long vigil, trackers forecast at 11:25 a.m. EDT that Skylab would plunge back into the atmosphere between 12:01 p.m. EDT and 12:53 p.m. EDT.

The mid-point, or most probable landing period, was at 12:27 p.m. EDT, in the south Atlantic Ocean, off the coast of southern Africa.

Falling there, its debris would scatter over a 3,700-mile track that would extend into the Indian Ocean.

The announcement came as Skylab was on the last of the 34,981 orbits it has logged since it was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., six years ago.

The Skylab control center reported that the spacecraft had dropped below orbital speed and "is indeed on its re-entry."

SKYLAB BEGINS FINAL PLUNGE — Artist's conception shows the Skylab space station streaming in incandescent gas as it begins to burn after re-entry today.

Estes guilty on two counts

DALLAS (AP) — A jury today found paroled swindler Billie Sol Estes guilty on two of five counts dealing with an alleged scheme to bilk leasing companies of $500,000 in a phony oil field steam cleaning operation and on conspiracy to conceal his assets from the Internal Revenue Service.

Co-defendant Raymond K. Horton was found guilty of one count of conspiring to conceal assets.

The eight-woman, four-man jury found Estes innocent on one count of violating interstate commerce laws dealing with the scheme to defraud the leasing companies and two counts of mail fraud.

These five counts were covered in two indictments.

The jury deadlocked, however, on five counts of a third indictment involving the steam cleaners. The vote was 8-3 for acquittal.

U.S. District Judge Robert Hill ordered the panel back into deliberations to try and reach a verdict on the third indictment, even though the jurors said they did not feel they could arrive at a verdict.

The convictions will stand if the jury cannot decide the other issues, the judge said.

Estes faces a maximum 15 years in prison and fines up to $20,000 on the counts for which he was found guilty. Horton faces five years and $10,000.

Both defendants stared straight ahead as the verdicts were read at 11:55 a.m. Both were emotionless.

Estes' wife and daughters began crying.

Estes' lawyer, G. Brockette Irwin, first offered no comment but on leaving, turned and said, "This is just Round One, though, I assure you."

Horton then called Estes over to him. They shook hands and talked briefly.

Estes, acting very friendly and composed, said, "I don't have any comment at this time."

Estes could get an additional 45 years and $50,000 in fines if convicted on the other five counts.

The jury had indicated Tuesday it might not be able to reach a verdict on all 10 counts involving the two men.

The jurors deliberated almost 29 hours over a seven-day span, taking the weekend off. They returned at 8 a.m. Wednesday, a hour earlier than usual, to resume deliberations.

Judge Hill had told jurors it was possible to return a partial verdict.

Rabid fox killed in Big Spring

By EILEEN MCGUIRE

A case of rabies has been confirmed in Big Spring.

According to Assistant City Manager Paul Feazelle, a fox picked up July 2 by Code Enforcement was reported by the State Health Department Monday to have been carrying the dreaded disease.

The fox, said Feazelle, was discovered in a yard just inside of the city limits on the south side of town.

It had apparently wandered into the city limits from what Feazelle said was an undeveloped area beyond the housing. He declined to disclose the exact location, saying that he did not want to cause an undue panic.

He said that persons living in that area had been told that rabid fox was found there.

Code Enforcement had caught the animal, said Feazelle with the aid of a tranquilizer gun. The fox subsequently died and was turned over to the State Health Department for laboratory tests.

"I personally feel that it is one isolated case," said Feazelle, adding that the fox had not been in contact with any people or domestic animals to his knowledge.

"But we do want to urge people to have their pets vaccinated."

Rabies, according to Chief Inspector Dewey Byers, is a virus and can be contracted without coming into contact with a rabid animal.

A rabies vaccination can be obtained for pets for about $5 at local veterinarian clinics.

Children should also be warned not to approach unfamiliar animals, particularly wild animals.

"We are watching the area closely," said Feazelle, who noted that the confirmed rabies was the first case in Big Spring that he knew of in about a year.

Stated Byers, rabies is turning from a vague fear into a clear danger and the governmental bureaucracy is having organizational and manpower problems in dealing with the threat.

Coahoma Fire Department receives new rescue tool

Howard County commissioners have approved the purchase of a Porto Power rescue tool for the Coahoma Volunteer Fire Department, which Fire Marshal Kenneth Lawhon says will help make the department the best and most efficiently operated fire-fighting agency in the county.

Total cost of the tool, which comes complete with a lift, was $1,248. The jaws of the tool will separate automobile doors with the force of five tons.

Lawhon, whose job it is to offer a complete training course to 27 firepersons, said the Porto Power will prove invaluable in the department's campaign to reduce the time of getting accident victims out of wrecked vehicles and to hospitals.

In the last 12 months, members of the Coahoma VFD have been called to the scene of traffic accidents where eight civilians were injured and four were killed.

In one major wreck in the Coahoma area last year, Coahoma firemen had to use wreckers to pull damaged vehicles apart in order to get to people trapped inside. In that particular mishap, which occurred Nov. 18, three persons died and three more were injured.

Lawhon said he was very grateful for the purchase of the rescue tool by the commissioners. The Coahoma Fire Department has been trying to raise $7,295 for the purchase of essential equipment. Among items still needed by the department are ten fire coats, each with a price tag of $90; ten fire hats costing $40 each and ten pairs of boots, which carry a price tag of $50 each.

High on the priority list, too, is a smoke ejector, which costs $475.

Eventually, the Coahoma Fire Department hopes to have on inventory such items as two Scott Air area last year, Coahoma firemen had unit with aspirator ($435); an electronic siren ($375); a hose clamp ($225); a generator ($900); and a first aid trauma kit ($235).

Lawhon reminds that the department needs all the items to meet key credit requirements under the State Board of Insurance regulations.

Other equipment like salvage covers, portable fire extinguishers, back packs to fight grass fires in places where a truck cannot go, two-way radios and hose, nozzles and fittings would be welcomed by the department.

The department receives $2,000 a year from the county and anywhere from $200 to $500 annually in donations from the public. Most of that goes for fuel, repairs and salaries. The volunteer firemen receive $3 per fire and $2 per drill.

The volunteers take their training the first and third Monday of each month, from 7 to 9 p.m. The sessions total up to four hours a month.

The new equipment, which weighs about 50 pounds, will be kept at the Coahoma Fire Station.

RESCUE TOOL IS POWERFUL. Holding it is Kenneth Lawhon.

Action/reaction: Most efficient

Q. What is the most efficient way to teach young people to drive a car? I was taught by friends and learned through a system of trial and error.

A. We recommend high-school training courses, which teach fuel-saving driving techniques that can reduce gas consumption by ten per cent. High school training vehicles also tend to get "more instruction-per-gallon" than the family car.

Tops on TV: Take your pick

If you insist on television, tonight you won't miss anything regardless of what channel you turn to. To avoid reruns, stick with channel 7. A half-an-hour worth of a May-December romance begins at 7 p.m., followed by "Good Times" and the 8 p.m. CBS comedy movie, "Rendezvous Hotel".

Hurricane type winds kill two, injure four

By The Associated Press
Hurricane force winds ripped through portions of Central Texas late Tuesday, killing two men and injuring four others when a building collapsed at Round Rock.

But it appeared that Texas would miss most of Hurricane Bob as it churned towards the Louisiana coast during the pre-dawn hours. The hurricane was to make landfall on the Louisiana coast early today.

The hurricane force winds at Round Rock came from a late afternoon thunderstorm, one of several that roared through Central Texas late Tuesday. There was no official wind measuring device at Round Rock, but at Lake Travis, 15 miles away, winds were measured at 80 mph.

Killed at Round Rock were James Louis Rodriguez, 19, of Manor, Texas, and Larry Trent Moore, 30, of Georgetown, Texas.

Three houses were damaged and one car apparently was overturned and burst into flames as the high winds raked Round Rock. Hall was also reported as the thunderstorms moved through the Round Rock area.

Those thunderstorms moved off the Texas coast during the pre-dawn hours today. The heaviest rainfall was at Palacios and Victoria where about .75 of an inch fell.

Forecasts called for scattered showers and thunderstorms over the Panhandle and in Southeast Texas today. The remainder of the state was to have clear to partly cloudy skies and continued warm temperatures.

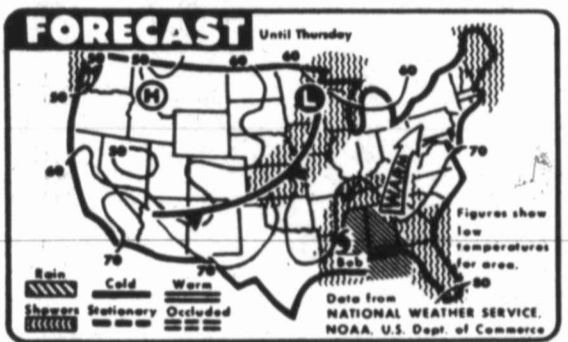

Highs were to be mostly in the 90s with readings in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas expected to approach 108.

Skies were mostly clear early today with only the coast area reporting cloudy skies.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 50s in the mountains to near 80 at Laredo. Most of the state had readings in the 60s and 70s.

WEATHER FORECAST
WEST TEXAS - Fair through Thursday except scattered thunderstorms Panhandle tonight. Highs middle 90s Panhandle and mountains to near 108 along Rio Grande. Lows middle 60s northwest to middle 70s extreme south except near 60 mountains.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS - Partly cloudy Friday through Sunday. Chance of thunderstorms mainly north Friday... most sections Saturday and in the south Sunday. Not quite as hot at the end of the week.

WEATHER FORECAST - Hurricane Bob is expected to bring rain and showers by Thursday morning over a wide area of the Gulf and north to the Ohio Valley. Showers are also expected from Kansas to the upper Great Lakes and for New England. Temperatures are expected to be warm across most of the nation.

Independent gasoline dealers plan strike in protest of policies

By The Associated Press
Some independent Pennsylvania and Delaware gasoline dealers say they're shutting down their pumps Thursday to protest federal fuel allocation and pricing policies, but dealers in other states say a shutdown is premature.

The Pennsylvania-Delaware Service Station Dealers Association voted Tuesday to strike indefinitely and spokesmen predicted 60 to 80 percent of Pennsylvania's 8,100 gas stations would close.

However, members of the Keystone Service Station Dealers Association in northeastern portions of the state voted unanimously Tuesday night not to join the shutdown.

"Local residents have been hurt enough by the oil companies and their greedy raises," said James Summa of Dunmore, president of the Keystone association with 200 member dealers in 17 counties.

The New Jersey Gasoline Retailers Association is announcing today whether it will urge a shutdown.

Independents service station operators claim the present federal allocation system favors stations owned by big oil companies and they want it changed. They are also pressing for permission to raise their profits to keep up with inflation.

The Pennsylvania and Delaware dealers voted to strike despite a plea by Gene Eidenberg, chief of staff to White House special assistant Jack Watson, that they hold off four or five days. On June 27, Watson persuaded independents to stay open while a new allocation formula was studied.

"You gave us absolutely nothing. Our backs are against the wall. The dealers can't put up with it anymore," association president Rudy Molnar, told Eidenberg by phone before the vote.

Elsewhere, dealers report that no shutdown was planned, or that they are waiting to see what happens Monday, when the federal Department of Energy is expected to announce permissible increases in dealers' profits.

Public Notice

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will begin at 9 a.m. on July 24, 1979, in the offices of the Texas Public Utility Commission in Austin, Texas, on a proposal by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to make certain changes in the format of selected Texas telephone directories.

The principal proposed changes are:

(1) to separate business and residential listings in the white pages, with residential surnames listed once in boldface type followed by the alphabetical listing of the individuals' given names in regular type; and (2) to add, in addition to the "white pages" business and residential listings, a third set of "blue pages" listing the numbers of selected governmental and public service agencies.

Inquiries may be addressed to the Texas Public Utility Commission, 7800 Shoel Creek Blvd., Austin, Texas 78757.

Providing Medical Treatment for Vets

PROMOTING AN IDEA — The Veterans Administration Medical Center (above) has extended its theme another year. It is "VA — May I help you? An unending dedication to Sensitivity." The local facility served a broad area of West Texas and one county in New Mexico, adding millions of dollars to the Big Spring economy.

KEEPS EQUIPMENT BUSY — Alphonso Mendez performs one of about 700 tests he conducts a day on this analyzer at the VA Medical Center here.

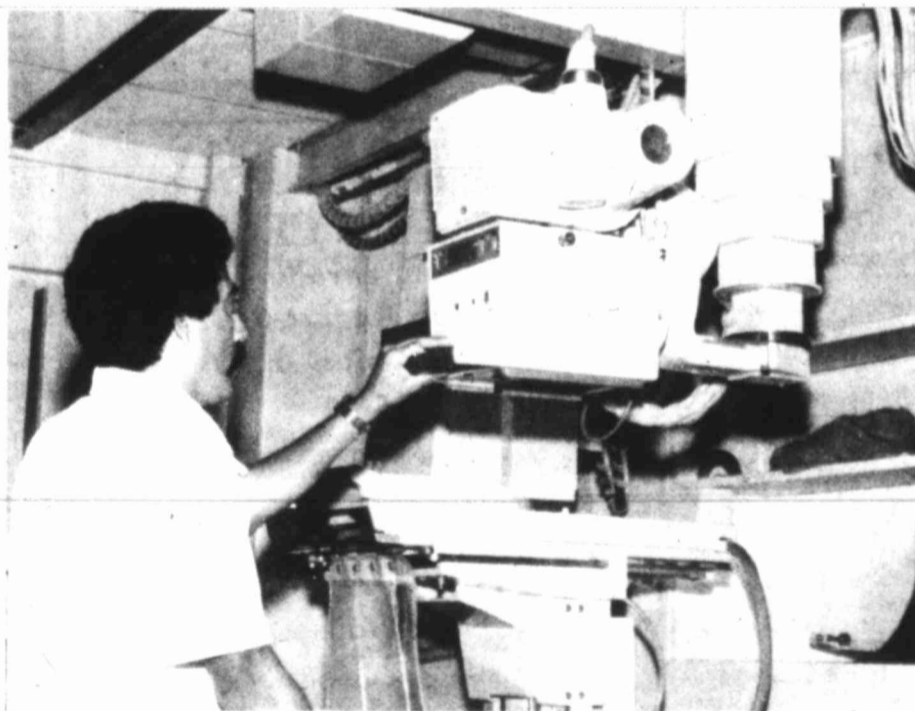

COMFORTING A KINSMAN — An attentive Gloria Smith comforts her grandfather, John D. Smith Sr., a patient at the VA Medical Center here.

LAB SUPERVISOR — Bill Bell demonstrates this hematology instrument at the Big Spring VA Medical Center, where 45 to 50 tests a day are conducted. Bill is lab supervisor at the facility.

Gunmen take hostage in Carlsbad Caverns

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Some 100 tourists detained for nearly six hours in Carlsbad Caverns Tuesday when four gunmen commandeered the lunchroom and took a National Park worker hostage weren't told exactly why they couldn't leave.

But they knew there was something wrong. Two of the tourists said the three Rangers supervising the group trapped in the "Big Room" of the cave told them only that there was an emergency in the lunchroom. There were indications, however, that the situation was serious.

"My husband left one time because he wanted to find out exactly what was going on," said Irene Duran of El Paso, Texas. "One of the Rangers followed him and asked him to come back because he was endangering the group."

"The Ranger told him we made a deal and wanted everybody to stay together, so he came back," Mrs. Duran said.

Park officials said the tourists were in the "Big Room" when Dennis Mark, 39, Riesel, Texas, and Odessa, Texas, residents David Kuczynski, 28, Eugene Hiram Meroney, 31, and William Charles Lovejoy, 28, took 24-year-old Linda Phillips of Chattanooga, Tenn., hostage and barricaded themselves in the cavern lunchroom at 3:20 p.m.

There were only two exits from which the tourists could have left the cave — by elevator or the cave's mouth. The lunchroom is adjacent to the elevators so that exit route was cut off.

The trail leading from the "Big Room" to the surface at the mouth of the cave passes near the lunchroom and park officials said anyone using it could have been spotted by the gunmen. Rangers evacuated one man from the "Big Room" by using the trail because he told them he had a heart condition that could be aggravated by claustrophobia.

The rest of the group was brought out after the gunmen surrendered at 9 p.m. One woman, who became ill, had to be carried out by stretcher. The woman was not identified but park officials described her as an epilepsy victim. They said she was admitted to Guadalupe Medical Center in Carlsbad for grand mal seizure and was reported in stable condition.

Sightseers walking into the cave on the trail when the takeover occurred were turned back by Rangers.

Mrs. Duran said the group in the "Big Room" was under a lot of stress even though they were not aware of the exact problem. "Nobody panicked, but you could tell that everybody was nervous," she said. "A lot of people were smoking, despite the no smoking rules."

Her husband said the group tried to ease the tension in various ways.

"There was a card game going on," he said. "It was really nice. We even tried to make jokes."

Mrs. Duran said members of the group praised the Rangers after the incident. "They did a super job of keeping everybody calm and collected," she said.

(AP WIREPHOTO) SENTENCED FOR TAX EVASION — Singer Chuck Berry smokes a cigarette as he leaves Los Angeles Federal Court Tuesday after he was sentenced to 120 days in prison and 1,000 hours of community service work after pleading guilty to evading federal taxes of about $200,000 in 1973.

Chuck Berry going to jail once more

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The aging rock 'n' roll idol heard his sentence pronounced, choked back sobs and said: "I'm sorry. It shall never happen again." Chuck Berry was going to jail again.

Berry, a founding father of rock 'n' roll, was sentenced Tuesday to 120 days in prison and 1,000 hours of community service — primarily concerts for the underprivileged — on his guilty plea to charges of tax evasion.

U.S. District Judge Harry Pregerson suspended a potential three year sentence. He gave the singer-guitarist 30 days to get his affairs in order before reporting to the federal prison farm at Lompoc Aug. 10.

Berry, 52, author of such 1950s hits as "Back In The U.S.A.," "Sweet Little Sixteen," and "Maybellene," pleaded guilty last month to a charge of evading taxes on a portion of his income in 1973. The musician's attorney, Bruce Hochman, said he expected Berry to pay more than $150,000 in penalties.

Berry, wearing a conservative gray three-piece suit, broke down and wept as he stood before Pregerson and spoke of his aged parents, asking for leniency in their interest.

"It's impossible to hide the results of this from my parents. They are very old," he said. "I seem to get publicity on all the wrong things."

As he fought for censure, Berry told the judge: "I am pretty good at holding my own in front of many, many people. But it's this office here that causes me to choke up a little bit."

"I will do and I can do and I would be happy to do benevolent work to entertain, particularly young folks," he said, adding he hopes to launch a program to dissuade teen-agers from drug use.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Kathleen March urged a stiff sentence for Berry, saying he refused to admit the full extent of his crime.

"He's still denying, still minimizing, still offering excuses," Ms. March said. "This man has $2.6 million in net worth. The motive was not need. It was greed."

Ms. March noted this was not Berry's first brush with the law. In 1960, Berry was convicted by a federal jury of a Mann Act violation for transporting a 14-year-old Indian girl from El Paso, Texas, to his native St. Louis for immoral purposes.

He was sentenced to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine, but the term was reduced to three years by a U.S. court of appeals.

He was released in 1964 and rebuilt his career with such hits as "Nadine" and "No Particular Place to Go."

Berry told reporters his latest album, "Rock It," is scheduled to be released today.

The singer said he requested a change of venue to Los Angeles from St. Louis because he felt he could not receive fair treatment in the city where he was convicted in 1960.

Highway 80 Tennis in full swing today

The Figure Seven Tennis Center is hosting the Annual Highway 80 Tennis Tournament that travels through West Texas during the summer months. Club pro Leroy Walker has had 400 entries in the affair, and over 250 people are participating in the three-day tournament.

Age groups range from 12-year olds to the adult classification. There is competition in singles and doubles, plus mixed doubles, in each age group. Players from as far away as Houston are competing in the Big Spring stop. Other cities represented include Wichita Falls, San Antonio, Albuquerque, El Paso, Austin, Lubbock, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa and other surrounding towns. Semifinals were in progress today, with most of the finals action slated for Thursday.

RECEIVING INSTRUCTIONS — A group of girls at the Howard College Camp of Champs listen as Forsan Coach Ronny Taylor, one of the many outstanding instructors assisting HC Coach Harold Wilder, gives a tip to Norma Walker. The girls camp is a one-week affair, with a boys camp scheduled next week.

Six leave Cowboy training camp

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — One day of double practices in pads was enough to convince six free agent rookies they should head for the showers at the Dallas Cowboy training camp here.

Leaving camp were Kevin Hill, a wide receiver from Texas-El Paso; Marschell Brumfield, a running back from Youngstown State; Frank Foxx, a running back from Tennessee; Stan Mitchell, a running back from Eastern Kentucky; John Schramm, an offensive lineman from Arizona; and Fred Snell, a linebacker from Houston.

Three other players probably will be out of practice for a while from injuries sustained on the field Monday.

Knight could face legal problems

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — It could take up to 90 days to resolve Bobby Knight's complex legal predicament which stems from his run-in with a policeman last Sunday.

By then, though, it's likely Knight's escapades, the overwhelming performances of his talented basketball players and the entire VIII Pan American Games will be little more than a small footnote in history.

Once again Tuesday, the highlight of the activities at these hemispheric Olympics was Knight's continuing saga. A judge was expected to hear today a sworn deposition from Knight's legal counsel here, Patrick Sullivan, who also represents the U.S. Olympic Committee, accusing Hato Rey precinct policeman Jose de Silva with assault and battery, violation of Knight's civil rights, humiliation in front of his team and incarceration without charges.

De Silva, in his deposition, is accusing Knight of assault and battery. De Silva entered his formal accusation as an individual, not a police force member.

Under this island Commonwealth's complex legal system, the judge decides if there is probable cause for charges. If not, the matter is dropped. Otherwise, the charges are formalized and sent to a higher court for possible action that could take up to 90 days.

Knight apparently became involved in an argument with the policeman over use of a practice facility. Knight said at a press conference Tuesday morning that he shoved the policeman after the officer, gesturing, poked Knight in the eye.

The policeman responded by handcuffing Knight and putting him behind bars for a few minutes until USOC Director Col. Don Miller arrived at the precinct and orchestrated Knight's release.

Until Knight's extraordinary press conference Tuesday, the USOC had insisted the matter was closed and finished.

Knight's players were unaware of developments until Monday. Knight said he didn't want to burden them with it because "the kids are here to play basketball."

That they have been doing quite well. The Americans moved within two victories of a gold medal in the sport with a 101-83 shellacking of Cuba, which was unquestionably the sports highlight of Tuesday's light slate.

JUST FRIENDS — U.S. Pan American Games basketball coach Bobby Knight walks down court with the referee and pats him on the back during Cuba-U.S.A. basketball in San Juan on Tuesday. The U.S. squad won 101-83.

TWEEN 12 and 20

She's captivated by a foxy guy

By Robert Wallace, Ed.

Dear Wallace: I am a 13-year-old with a problem. You see, there is this guy I like and I'm almost positive he likes me. But he hasn't said so or asked me anything.

I don't know what to do. Should I make the first move or just wait?

He is really a nice guy. He is sweet, cute, foxy and very neat. — Mary Ann, San Antonio, Texas

Mary Ann: If this guy is half as great as you say he is, he is a real winner. You don't say what his age is, however. If he's your age, you could invite him to a church or neighborhood function. Or bide your time till school starts again and get tickets to a sock hop or athletic event and ask Foxy if he'd like to be your escort.

If he's more than two years older than you, you know that I don't approve. Then I suggest looking for someone with the same qualifications, but nearer your age.

Dr. Wallace: I bought a record by Elton John at a local record shop but when I got home the cover was all right but the record was Elton John singing different songs. In fact, it was a record I already had.

When I took it back to the store, the saleslady said it was impossible to have happened and suggested that maybe I was trying to pull a fast one.

I earn my money by doing yard work for neighbors and I don't have enough money to buy it again. What can I do to convince the saleslady that the wrong Elton John record was in the right cover? — Jose, El Centro, Calif.

Dear Jose: Teens have tremendous purchasing power. It's too bad that some retailers don't recognize this and treat teen customers the way they would adults.

Have Mom or Dad return to the store with you and talk to the manager. This should work, but if it doesn't, invest 15 cents in a stamp and write to the record company and explain the situation to them.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 16-year-old girl who is in love with a 23-year-old guy. He wants to get married now but I want to finish high school and go to college first.

My boyfriend said he would not wait around for me. You see, I'm not very popular and I'm afraid I'll never find anyone else. Please give me your answer. — Patricia, Elizabethtown, Ky.

Patricia: At 16, you have plenty of time to develop your personality and gain some semblance of popularity.

Believe me, there will be other boys who will come knocking at your door.

Tell your boyfriend you are not ready for marriage at this time and that it might be six years before you are.

Big Spring PBX installs officers

Installation of the incoming officers of the Big Spring PBX Club was held at Herman's Restaurant, July 9 at 7 p.m. Jane Ray introduced the installing officer, Verdine Mize, president of the Permian Basin PBX Club.

Miss Mize used a large ship, the SS-PBX as her theme for the installation. Officers installed were Thelma Rains, president; Bonnie Barber, vice president; Jane Ray, secretary; and Ann Higgins, treasurer. Mrs. Rains appointed officers and committee chairman.

Eight new members names were submitted by the Board of Directors to the Membership, for acceptance in the organization. New members are Dene Anderson, Myna McCullough, Sandra Dyer, Joyce Phillips, Joan Blackburn, Leila Cannon, Peggy Smith, and Pat Mann.

The next meeting will be held in the Flame Room at Pioneer Natural Gas Co. A salad supper will be served. Guest speaker will be John Robert Rains from Leonard's Pharmacy. Special guests will be members of the Permian Basin PBX Club from Midland and Odessa.

A review of the International PBX Convention held in Tulsa, Okla. will be presented to the members.

GIFTED STUDENT — Audrei Polo, 12, daughter of Ms. Ginie Polo, 801 Marcy, has been accepted in the summer program for gifted children at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque, N.M. She will leave July 22 to study photography, learning everything about the 35mm camera including dark room experience. Audrei is a Herald carrier and will be a 7th grader at Forsan High School in the fall.

Mendozas announce son's birth

Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio Mendoza Jr., Oxnard, Calif., announce the birth of their first son, Ignacio, III, on May 20 at 11:58 a.m. in St. John's Hospital, Oxnard. The infant weighed 8 pounds 5 ounces and was 20 1/2 inches long at birth.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio Mendoza, Sr., 1611 E. 6th. The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Elisa Bowman, Santa Barbara, Calif. Ignacio, III's great-grandmothers are Mrs. Patricia Mendoza and Mrs. Nicolasa Morelion, both of Big Spring. His maternal great-grandmother is Aurora Camez, Santa Barbara, Calif.

Ignacio is welcomed home by his sister, Adrianna, 2 1/2 years old.

Make a fruited ice wreath for a party punch bowl using colorful canned fruit cocktail. Arrange a few sprigs of mint in the bottom of a ring mold and top with 1 1/2 cups canned fruit cocktail. Freeze solid; fill remainder of mold with water or lemonade and freeze. Unmold and float in punch bowl.

No Brotherhood In HER Brother

DEAR ABBY: I have been miserable and depressed for the last seven months—ever since my only brother wrote me out of his life.

The reason is still unbelievable. After eight years of marriage and no children, my husband and I adopted a beautiful baby girl. My brother and his wife were her godparents and seemed so happy for us.

A few months later my brother told my husband that he wanted nothing more to do with us because our baby is of a different heritage than ours. She is Mexican. We are of Swedish and Irish descent.

I could not believe it, so I phoned my brother. He hung up on me as soon as he heard my voice. We haven't spoken since. His wife, who was like a sister to me, agrees with my brother's thinking and will have nothing to do with us.

Abby, he is my only brother and we were so close. We were not raised with hate and prejudice. I cannot imagine what has come over him. In years to come, how do I explain to my child that the only aunt and uncle she has don't want to know her—or us?

My husband and I do not speak of this. I want so desperately to talk to my brother and resume friendly relations with him. What can I do to change his outlook? Or am I hoping for something that is out of reach?

BROKENHEARTED SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Your brother and his wife have shown themselves to be despicable characters, unworthy of your friendship. (Maybe they've both flipped their lids.) In any case, judging from their behavior toward you, and particularly their reason for it, I advise you to let him know that if he should ever recover from his "sickness" to let you know. In the meantime, write him off—and good riddance.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that people who don't work always choose the lunch hour to do their shopping?

Our town is not very large. The noon hour congestion around the few shopping places we have is absolutely unreal!

We working people MUST shop on our lunch hour. Parking places at that time are almost impossible to find. When we do get into the stores, we find them crowded with little old ladies and non-working mothers with small kids.

Abby, is it asking too much of those folks who have all day to shop to reschedule their shopping time?

FRUSTRATED IN RUSSELLVILLE, ARK.

DEAR FRUSTRATED: No. You have a legitimate gripe. And may I suggest that those who can do their BANKING at another time please do so?

DEAR ABBY: Over the weekend I attended a friend's wedding. When I got home, I told my mother that the best man collected money for those who wanted to dance with the bride or groom for a two-minute period. Mother thought this was cheap. She said she attended one wedding where this was done and everyone at her table thought it was disgusting. Others say this is a tradition and can benefit the couple by paying for their honeymoon hotel room, for example. I am getting married soon and would like your opinion. DEE

DEAR DEE: Unless this is an accepted custom in your social group, don't dance for dollars.

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 152 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Public invited to participate in church's summer festival

The public is invited to participate in the St. Thomas Catholic Church's annual Summer Festival Friday and Saturday. The church is located at 605 North Main. Tamales and coffee will be available from 11 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., Friday while dinner will be served in the parish hall from 11 a.m. until 9:40 p.m., Saturday. The tamales can be eaten on the scene or packaged to take home.

Snack bars will be open throughout the festival, featuring hamburgers, gorditos, flautas, soft drinks and snow cones. Raffle booths will be in operation and bingo will be played, according to the church pastor, the Rev. Robert Vreteau. Victor Lopez is director of the festival. Proceeds from the event will be used to support church projects.

Energy Blanks spots gas wildcat

W.C. Blanks of Midland No. 1 Choate has been spotted as a 10,000-foot gas wildcat one mile west of the Big Spring (Fusselman oil) pool of Howard County, four miles northeast of Big Spring. That pay produces at 9,189 feet. No. 1 Choate will be drilled 660 feet from south and east lines of Section 23, Block 32, T-1-N, T&P Survey. Cola Petroleum Com No. 1 Devandey has been completed in the Coahoma, North (Fusselman) Field of Howard County, three miles northeast of Coahoma. It potentialized for a daily flow of 148 barrels of 41 gravity oil, no water, through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations from 8,890 to 8,900 feet. The gas-oil ratio was 1,351-1, and the pay was acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 5,000 gallons. Total depth is 8,970 feet and 4 1/2-inch casing is set on bottom. Hole is plugged back to 8,921 feet. Location is 660 feet from south and 1,100 feet from east lines of Section 29, Block 30, T-1-N, T&P Survey.

Gas prices rise slowly in Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — The price of gasoline in Texas is still rising-but not as fast-and there's more of it. The American Automobile Association says its survey of 420 Texas service stations shows that only 4 percent of the stations are out of any grade of fuel and 2 percent are limiting customers' purchases, compared to 10 percent out of fuel and 3 percent limiting purchases last week.

The price of fuels stayed the same as last week or increased up to 1.1 cents per gallon. Last week the increases were 1.1 to 1.9 cents per gallon.

But the shortage also seems to be spreading to smaller cities and rural areas, forcing more stations to close nights or Sundays, the AAA reports.

The percentage of stations closed Sunday increased from 71 last week to 75 this week. Stations closed by 8 p.m. weekdays increased from 72 percent to 77 percent, and those closed by 6 p.m. Saturday rose from 59 percent to 61 percent.

AAA said the major week-to-week decline in Sunday gasoline availability was in the category of "miscellaneous cities," which includes smaller cities, many of which are along Interstate highways.

Last week 38 percent of the 84 stations surveyed in these cities were open Sunday; this week only 24 percent of 80 stations surveyed pump gas on Sunday.

The survey indicated that night and weekend availability of gasoline was about the same in Houston and Dallas-Fort Worth, but it declined in San Antonio.

Last week 30 percent of the Alamo City stations surveyed were open after 8 p.m. weekdays, 40 percent pumped gas after 6 p.m. Saturday, and 22 percent were open Sunday. This week the corresponding figures are 18, 30 and 20.

Despite the reduced night and weekend availability of fuel in San Antonio, its gasoline supply remains much better than the situation in Houston and D-FW.

Austin's fuel availability remains among the worst in the state, with only 7 percent of the stations surveyed pumping gas at night or on Sunday.

Weekend availability improved since last week in Beaumont-Port Arthur and declined slightly in Amarillo. Supplies in Corpus Christi improved on Sundays but got worse on weekday and Saturday nights.

Gasoline prices continued upward, but at a slower rate than in recent weeks.

Average full-service prices this week (last week's average in parentheses) are: Regular 85.0 cents per gallon (84.1); unleaded 89.0 cents (87.9); and premium 90.4 cents (89.7).

Self-service average prices are: Regular 82.4 (81.4); unleaded 86.3 (85.4); and premium 87.4 (87.4).

The average price for diesel fuel rose from 88.9 cents last week to 89.7 cents this week.

Mormon will succeed Gorham as TMRS chief

AUSTIN — The state's major retirement system for municipal employees, covering some 55,000 members, will have a new director early next year upon the retirement of its founding director after 42 years of public service. The Board of Trustees of the Texas Municipal Retirement System at its June meeting in Austin announced the retirement of Dean Gorham, who has headed TMRS for over three decades. The board appointed Jimmie L. Mormon, assistant director of TMRS, as successor.

Gorham began his public service career in 1938 as a financial administrator with the WPA. In 1943, he became the youngest city treasurer in the history of Houston, where he established that city's retirement system. He was appointed director of TMRS when the system was enacted by the Texas State Legislature in 1948.

By the end of its first year of existence, 17 municipalities had joined the system, which showed $70,000 in assets. Today 362 cities are members of the system, which has total assets of $330 million. The towns of Lampasas and Weimer were the first city members, and San Antonio is the largest Texas city to be a member of the system. TMRS recently dedicated its system-owned head-

$10,000 reward retracted

A $10,000 reward for the person contributing information leading to the arrest and prosecution of the killer or killers of Tracy and Ann Reeves will be retracted on July 15. Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said the reward will be re-evaluated at that time. Reward money has been put up by Texaco and by the Reeves family and friends. Tracy and Ann Reeves died April 27 from gunshot to the head. Their nude bodies were dumped beside a secluded road north of town.
