MEETS WITH URBAN LEAGUE — First Lady Rosalynn Carter greets participants at National Urban League conference in Chicago Sunday. She is escorted by Urban League President Vernon Jordan.

Focus of attention shifts to proposed energy board

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, whose reshaping of his White House staff is expected to consume less of his time than his Cabinet shakeup, is likely to return to work this week on energy issues.

"Now that the Cabinet-level changes have been made, there will be additional focusing of the president's attention on the Energy Mobilization Board and the Energy Security Corp.," White House press secretary Jody Powell said Sunday.

Proposals to establish the board, intended to cut through red tape to speed up development of energy projects, and to create the energy corporation, to finance energy development, were sent to Congress last week. The Senate Energy Committee tentatively agreed Saturday to support the mobilization board.

While he has completed the firings that shook his Cabinet last week, the president is still looking for a new secretary of housing and urban development, a new Federal Reserve Board chairman and a new transportation secretary.

Some of the changes he is contemplating in his White House staff, although unlikely to add any new faces to the inner circle of advisers, may be revealed this week, Powell said.

And Hamilton Jordan, Carter's

newly named chief of staff, said today that the president intends to widen "the circle of persons inside and outside government that will give him advice."

In an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" program, Jordan was questioned about the number of Georgians advising Carter.

"The shakeup is not over..." Jordan replied. "It is not an unusual thing for a president to have people in the White House around him from their home state."

He added that the "influence of the Georgians on the staff — myself included — has been greatly exaggerated. My new responsibilities as chief of staff have been greatly exaggerated. I will not stand between the president and his Cabinet. I will not be the boss of the Cabinet. I will try to work to manage in a better way the affairs of the White House."

In another interview today, presidential troubleshooter Robert Strauss said Washingtonians have overreacted to the Cabinet changes because the capital is "a company town."

"We haven't kept it in perspective as well as the people across America have," Strauss said on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" show. "The president said all along that he was going to restructure his government."

Carter, in a meeting with several reporters Saturday, made clear that he wants to see some stability returned to White House operations, after nearly three weeks of uncertainty. It was also made clear that Carter knows what changes he thinks should be made to strengthen the staff and increase the diversity of his advisers.

Reporters also learned that the overriding theme in the Cabinet shakeup was loyalty, a point stressed Sunday by Jordan, who said on NBC's "Meet the Press."

"Once the president makes a decision on policy or a piece of legislation, it is the responsibility of people in government to support that action or leave the government."

Carter clearly felt that Joseph A. Califano Jr., whom he fired as secretary of health, education and welfare, had been working at cross-purposes to presidential goals.

It was understood that the president expects his Cabinet members to be team players and that if he had made an error in the past, he felt it was in waiting as long as he did to use dismissals to make his clear.

It was also understood that Carter was dissatisfied with Califano's record on Capitol Hill, where the president feels the HEW secretary was unable to achieve legislative success for programs in his area.

But a member of House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill's staff said that "with (House) members, Joe Califano got along fine. They all liked him." The staff member asked not to be named.

Carter made his views known to reporters under ground rules that he not be quoted directly.

First Lady in Harlingen

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — First Lady Rosalynn Carter, greeted by a warm reception on a hot morning along the Rio Grande, today toured a federally funded health clinic that provides medical care for thousands of South Texas poor people.

The stop was the first on Mrs. Carter's Texas tour that also will take her to Fort Worth and Dallas.

Mrs. Carter was shuttled from her motel to Su Clinica Familiar in a mobile health care unit operated by the clinic. A crowd of about 300 and a Mexican mariachi band greeted the first lady's entourage.

After a brief hand-shaking and photo-taking sessions outside the clinic she was escorted in for a tour of the multi-service facility.

The morning tour was to conclude with the presentation of an award to Mrs. Carter for her support of similar programs.

Francisco G. Gonzalez, director of the clinic, said the facility now has an active load of 45,000 patients. The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, provides the facility with $2.5 million a year. Two of the clinic's three buildings are provided at no cost by the local Catholic diocese.

"Anyone who wants to be served must be served," Gonzalez said. But he acknowledged that the majority of the patients comes from the low-income communities in this border area.

He said most of the patients pay less than 10 percent of the actual cost of their treatment.

The fees are based on the patient's income.

The clinic, founded in 1971 as a locally funded facility, has drawn criticism from local physicians who claim it is no economical. While Gonzalez said many area doctors have worked with the program, the director said there has been some resentment.

"I guess maybe we take some of their business away. But most of that business is not paying business," he said.

Gonzalez added that the clinic is "somewhat the last resort" for many of the patients.

But some local doctors claim it would be more efficient to send the poverty patients to private doctors rather than funding the separate facility. Those doctors believe the federal money could be used for direct payment to physicians.

50,000th REFUGEE — The 50,000th refugee to depart Thailand for the United States since 1975, Monick Souvannakhily of Laos, holds her daughters hand enroute to boarding a plane at Bangkok airport today. The 29-year-old former nurse said she will meet her husband, a former captain in the Laotian army, in Texas. A refugee official, right, holds a list of those departing for the United States.

For seal coating

Streets may be prioritized

An ordinance that City Manager Don Davis says represents a compromise between what citizens want and what the business community can live with will be presented to the city council at a regular meeting, 9 a.m. Tuesday in the City Council Room.

The ordinance, long in the making, would amend the city's unenforceable truck traffic ordinance. The base of the ordinance, according to Davis, was borrowed from a combination of Midland's and Odessa's ordinances.

Davis said today that he feels the ordinance will satisfy citizens without penalizing industry and businesses.

The city council will also further plans for the seal coating program, which is set to begin on Wasson Road Aug. 6. The starting date has been delayed until that time, Davis said, because the city and county crews are currently repairing roadways that were damaged by heavy rains last week.

The council will consider a list of streets designated as priorities for seal coating. The list encompasses a total of 170 blocks of city streets, in addition to Wasson, but a shortage of available funds would allow only about 63 blocks to be seal coated unless more funds are made available.

Priority recommendations from Assistant City Manager Bill Brown include Lancaster, from 1st to 23rd Street; East 2nd, from Donley to Birdwell; Birdwell Lane, from FM 700 to East 25th; Birdwell Lane, from East 3rd to N. Monticello; East 25th, from Birdwell Lane to Larry Drive; Allendale, from Birdwell Lane to Cindy Lane; and East 24th, from Lynn Drive to Arroyo.

Other streets on the list would be seal coated as more funds are made available. Possible sources of additional funding will also be discussed.

Other items on the agenda include:

- Presentation of 25-year service award to Doris Smith with the police department and five-year award to Don Hamilton with the fire department.
- Consideration of approval of City Council minutes for special meeting of July 17.
- A request by John Bennett, on behalf of the Halfway House, for the city to match a county grant to relieve a financial crisis of the House.
- Consideration of second and final reading of ordinance amending electrical ordinance.

—Consideration of awarding bids for water and sewer treatment chemicals.

—Vouchers.

—City Manager's report.

Tabled items include consideration of increasing the monthly car allowance for the police department detectives using their own vehicles.

AJRA rodeo slated here

The Rodeo Bowl here will be the scene this week of the annual American Junior Rodeo Association rodeo.

The nightly event starts Wednesday and continues through Saturday. Adult tickets sell for $2 each while children under 12 can gain admission for $1.

The rodeo is sponsored annually by the Howard County 4-H Club.

Competition will involve roping events, bareback bronc riding, barrel racing, goat tying, bull riding and goat sacking. The latter event will be for children ten years of age and younger.

Upwards to 375 youths from all over Texas are expected to take part in the rodeo. This will be the 34th annual junior rodeo staged here.

Focalpoint

Action / reaction: Leave 'em?

Q. What is the law concerning cars involved in traffic accidents? Do you have to leave them where they are following the wreck, or can they be moved?

A. Texas law says that if someone is killed or injured in a wreck, cars should be left where they are until the investigation by authorities is completed. If the only damage is to the vehicles, the law merely says that you should stop at the scene "or as close as possible without obstructing traffic more than necessary." Should the accident occur on a metropolitan freeway, if no one is hurt, and if the cars are driveable, the law says you must move your vehicle as soon as possible off the main lanes, ramps, shoulders, medians and adjacent areas, so as to minimize interference with the freeway traffic.

Calendar: Bible School

TODAY
College Park Church of God, 603 Tulane, begins a week-long Vacation Bible School with classes held 9-11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday.

TUESDAY
The Big Spring Lung Association will meet at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, 306 W. 3rd, at 8 p.m. Dr. Sam Sepuya will be guest speaker. Public is invited.

WEDNESDAY
The Howard County Library will have a Field Fair to the Heritage Museum, 10:15 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Tops on TV: Burton film

The best bet on TV is probably the well-advertised "Anne Of The Thousand Days". Richard Burton stars as King Henry VIII in the 8 p.m. NBC movie. Genevieve Bujold plays Anne Boleyn, who loses her heart and head to the king. The relationship between the brain and nervous system is explored on the PBS series, "The Body Human", 7 p.m.

Inside: Opposition mounts

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS conducted interviews with "average Americans" and found that opposition to Carter and his recent policies and firings is growing. See page 8-A.

"QUIET BOXES" are being used as time out therapy for severely mentally retarded and mentally handicapped children, but the method draws lots of fire. See page 4-B.

Cloud haze may be broken by Claudette

By The Associated Press

Clouds covered the rim of Texas today, from the Red River Valley westward through the Panhandle, southward to the Big Bend, along the Rio Grande Valley and upward along the Gulf Coast.

The clouds brought scattered thunderstorms throughout the day, some of them locally heavy with strong, gusty winds. Early morning haze and fog again covered several parts of north and south Texas, with visibility reduced as low as two miles in some cases.

The possible approach of tropical depression Claudette with the likelihood of stronger winds could end the air stagnation and lessen the haze.

At last report, Claudette remained more than 250 miles southeast of Galveston threatening to intensify and move northward.

Forecasters were prepared to issue gale warnings for parts of the Texas and Louisiana Gulf Coast.

Temperatures were moderate under the cloud cover, but some stations with sunshine recorded readings into the upper 90s, and late afternoon highs along the Big Bend were expected to reach into the 100s.

WEATHER FORECAST — Partly cloudy with hot afternoons through Tuesday. Widely scattered mainly afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms Panhandle and south. Highs through Tuesday mostly in the 90s except near 102 Big Bend Valleys. Lows tonight upper 60s to mid 70s except low 60s mountains.

EXTENDED FORECAST — WEST TEXAS — Clear to partly cloudy with little temperature change. Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms Wednesday and Thursday. Lows 60s north and mountains to mid 70s. Big Bend. Highs near 90 north to near 102 Big Bend.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are expected in the forecast period, today until Tuesday morning, from the central Gulf Coast to southern Michigan. Western half of the nation is expected to be sunny. Warm weather is forecast for most areas.

Ways to beat the heat

By The Associated Press

Whew!

Millions of Americans are searching for ways to keep cool this summer as energy conservation measures boost temperatures in offices and other buildings.

Medical and meteorological experts say there are certain basic rules to follow: Wear loose clothing, for example. Drink plenty of water. Try to slow down.

But the experts also say that keeping comfortable is a psychological as well as a physical problem.

"Seventy-eight degrees (the level required in most non-residential buildings) is not all that hot," said Frank Chappell of the American Medical Association. "You might be a little uncomfortable, but most of the discomfort is going to be in your mind."

There are arguments about who feels worse — men or women. Do iced drinks make you feel cooler than hot ones? Should you take a cold shower or a steaming bath?

"I don't think sex has much to do with it," said Chappell. Lifestyle is more important than gender. You will be less affected by an increase in temperature if you are used to working outside in hot weather than if you spend your days in an air-conditioned office.

Chappell also said it "doesn't make a bit of difference" whether you drink your coffee iced or hot. The main thing is to replace your body fluids.

You will feel better if you sweat — as long as the sweat evaporates. That's because evaporation requires energy, in the form of heat. Too much sweating can be bad, however, because your body can lose necessary salt, creating a chemical imbalance. Salt tablets are generally recommended, however, only for athletes or others who cannot avoid the exertion that brings on heavy sweating. They should be avoided by anyone who has a heart condition or is on a salt-restricted diet. If you have any doubts, ask your doctor.

Heat brings danger as well as discomfort. According to the weather service, nearly 200 persons die from summer heat and too much sun in a normal year. The death toll in years where there are heat waves rises sharply. In 1952, for example, 1,401 persons died as a result of what is officially listed as "excessive heat."

There is no formal definition of a heat wave. "You get a heat wave when temperatures are above normal for an extended period of time — three, five, seven days or more," said Mike Mogil of the National Weather Service.

Like comfort, however, heat waves are relative. "If you go to Arizona, they'll run temperatures in the 100s, but those people are used to extended periods like that during the summer. If the temperature in New York City were to get 10 degrees above normal for three days, literally, the world would come to an end. The mortality rate would go up..."

Government pledges no execution

Extradition of Somoza sought

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Nicaragua's revolutionary government is going to request the extradition of dictator Anastasio Somoza to face trial for war crimes, but it says there will be no wholesale execution of his supporters like those after the revolution in Iran.

There will be "no death penalty in Nicaragua and no executions ordered by the courts," the new chief justice of the Supreme Court, Roberto Arguelo Hurtado, told reporters Sunday.

"It is possible there may be excesses including executions before we can get regular courts organized," said Arguelo. "But they will only be personal vendettas or just plain hate between people and any executions will not be authorized."

The chief justice said his court would appoint new judges for the lower courts as soon as possible. Until that is done, he said, justice is being administered by three-member military-civilian tribunals authorized to maintain public order and try persons accused of civil and war crimes.

"Later each of their sentences will be reviewed to determine if they should stand or go to a higher court," Arguelo said.

One of the five members of the junta heading the government, Sergio Ramirez Mercado, told a news conference the government was going to ask the United States for Somoza's extradition and was preparing the charges against him.

He said the ousted dictator, who fled to an estate he owns in Miami Beach and is now yachting in the Caribbean, was "responsible for the destruction and the deaths of thousands of Nicaraguans." He also accused the deposed president and his associates of taking "every last cent out of the national bank reserves." And he said Somoza is plotting to return to Nicaragua with an army.

The chief justice said members of the national guard who have taken refuge in Red Cross centers would be given safe conduct out of the country if they are cleared of war crimes charges.

"Each case will be reviewed to determine if any are guilty of war crimes," he said.

Texans in Washington

Bentsen favors Duncan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, is applying the announcement that fellow Texan Charles W. Duncan Jr. will be the new head of the Department of Energy.

Charles Duncan has been a close personal friend for many years. "He is a man of high ability and total integrity, an excellent choice for a difficult job," Bentsen said.

Duncan, the deputy secretary of defense, was chairman of the board of Houston's Rotan Mosle Financial Corp., before coming to the Pentagon in 1977.

He was president of the Coca-Cola Co. before accepting the Houston position in 1974.

One of the more widely circulated quotes of the week came from Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, who exclaimed after the first round of Cabinet firings: "Good grief! They're cutting down the biggest trees and keeping the monkeys."

Wilson referred specifically to the dismissals Thursday of HEW Secretary Joseph Califano and Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal.

Wilson, a supporter of the deposed Nicaraguan regime, was not pleased to see former President Anastasio Somoza leave the country.

"I'm convinced that it's going to be a Marxist state," the Lufkin Democrat said. He predicted that the military governments in Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador would fail to Marxists as a result.

Bentsen put in a bid this week to exempt independent producers from the proposed windfall profits tax. The exemption would apply to the first 3,000 barrels a day that an independent produces.

"The evidence is clear. These independent producers are reinvesting everything they earn and then borrowing more money on top of that to explore for oil and gas," the senator said. "I am deeply concerned that imposing the House version of the windfall profits tax on independent producers might discourage desperately needed new exploration."

Bentsen is a member of the Senate Finance Committee presently studying the House proposal.

Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, introduced a bill Friday to give tax breaks for production of synthetic fuels, solar and wind energy, diesel, alcohol fuels and unleaded gasoline.

"If we can create a real incentive for private industry, then we will have accomplished something toward solving the energy crisis," the Lubbock congressman said.

The bill would allow companies to depreciate refinery and other facilities over five years.

"Not only will this give us increased fuel supplies, but it will build up additional tax bases in communities which otherwise would not happen without this type of incentive," Hance said.

An ensemble company from the Houston Ballet scheduled three weekend performances at the Carter Barron Amphitheater, operated in Washington by the National Park Service.

The Texas congressional delegation was invited to a backstage reception Saturday night.

Ben Stevenson, the ballet company's director, may have enjoyed the Houston Ballet's Washington debut more than anyone. He was artistic director of the National Ballet in Washington before it folded.

Delbert McClinton, a Fort Worth native, brought his rolling blues music to a Washington nightclub Wednesday and Thursday and drew enthusiastic responses from local critics.

The Washington Star said: "Delbert McClinton's version of Southern blues reminds the listener of a raunchy sensual visit to a steamy Texas bar. McClinton, a little known but rising member of the group of Texas honky-tonkers who blur the lines between blues, country and soul, last night turned the cool Cellar Door into a little piece of the Lone Star State."

The Washington Post's critic wrote: "Delbert McClinton is the Ty Cobb of Texas beer-bar R&B. He has taken a generally hit-or-miss field and run over the opposition roughshod — spikes up — producing a far more sophisticated idiom in the process."

THEN IT WAS, NOW IT'S NOT — Gay, 10, and Erik Rasmussen, 9, stand atop their pool filled with mud by the flood of last Friday as their parents prepare to clean up Saturday in Rancho Mirage, Calif. It was a grueling weekend for hundreds of desert residents who began clearing away tons of mud left in their homes by the worst storm ever to hit the area.

WITH TOMMY WHATLEY SHEPPARD FUNERAL HOME

SHOULD I BRING MY CHILD TO THE FUNERAL?

Just as with adults, children need to express their feelings of grief. To deny your child this emotional outlet is to handicap his natural, maturing development. Children can cope with death better than you may expect.

A child's emotional resiliency is truly remarkable and often under-rated. With adequate preparation, a child may attend the funeral and will be all the better for it. But the child must be told what to expect at the funeral. If he or she understands what is happening, there's a better feeling during and after the ceremonies.

Do not force the child to attend, though. If the youngster often tends to be hysterical, keep him home and have him join the family later. Each child may react differently, but if you anticipate any problems, feel free to discuss this with us fully at your convenience.

Your questions and comments on this and other subjects are welcome — in private or publicly through this column.

Merit Changes Smoking.

'Enriched Flavor' cigarette sparks whole new taste era in low tar smoking.

Not too long ago, smokers believed that if a cigarette had less tar, it had less taste too. Low tar cigarettes simply didn't taste very good.

Then along came MERIT and a whole new taste idea called 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And in three short years, smoking changed:

1. No other new cigarette in the last 20 years has attracted so many smokers as quickly as MERIT!
2. MERIT has swept past over 50 other brands in record time.
3. MERIT is continuing to attract high tar smokers—the most taste-conscious smokers of all!

It's clear: MERIT taste is changing attitudes toward low tar smoking.

When He's Alone, He's With a Bum

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of nine boys. Their father is dead. Rudy, 23, is my oldest. He married Agnes, a 15-year-old girl, because she said he got her pregnant. Their baby is 2 now and is the picture of the fellow Agnes went with before Rudy married her.

Their marriage is on the rocks because she is pregnant by a sailor she met when she went to visit her mother in Seal. Rudy won't take her back because he's in love with a 21-year-old girl who has two babies and is expecting a third by a fellow who isn't her husband although she's still married.

Rudy gets unemployment. He runs all night and lies around my house all day. He gets real crazy. I never know if he's on drugs or just drunk. All right, so much for Rudy. Judy is my 20-year-old. He got a 17-year-old girl pregnant but won't marry her because he says he's not ready to settle down yet.

Abby, I've been a church-going Christian woman and a good mother and I don't know how I could have turned out kids like these. If they hang around the younger boys, they will be a mess, too. Please help me.

A MOTHER WHO FAILED

DEAR MOTHER: Don't feel guilty. If you've been a good mother, you haven't failed, your kids have. Let the older boys know they can't lie around your house all day. Your problems are too heavy to carry alone. You need to talk to an understanding, supportive person. Your clergyman is ready when you are.

DEAR ABBY: When would you say a person has reached middle age?

FORTY AND CURIOUS

DEAR FORTY: When he (or she) climbs out of the bathtub and is glad to find the full-length mirror all steamed up!

DEAR ABBY: I have a lazy teen-age daughter who has to be reminded over and over again to write thank you notes for gifts she receives at Christmas, her birthday and, more recently, for her high school graduation. Now she has a new cop-out. She thanks people for their gifts by telephone. Her grandparents live 1,500 miles away and so do most of her aunts and uncles, so the calls aren't exactly free. She says she will pay for the calls herself, but so far I haven't seen a penny.

Her father was furious when she told us she was planning to thank everyone for her graduation gifts by phone, but we both agreed it would be better than not thanking them at all. Daughter argues that a phone call is much more personal and gives her a chance to ask how they are and to tell them what she is doing, how the family is, etc.

Do you think a telephoned thanks is proper?

MOTHER OF A TEEN

DEAR MOTHER: A written thanks is better. But a phone call is better than no thanks at all.

TWEEN 12 and 20

'Leaving the nest'

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Joan, 19, from Santa Barbara, Calif., wants to move out of the family house but her parents are putting up a fuss.

Carl Berger, 18, from Fort Smith, Ark., and Franny Fallon, 18, who lives in Springfield, Ohio, will add a little teen wisdom to Joan's problem.

Welcome.

Dr. Wallace: What does one do when she is 19 and her parents are throwing a tantrum because she is planning to move out of the house?

Two girlfriends and I are planning to get an apartment together. The other girls received permission, but my parents went into a rage when I mentioned the fact I wanted to move out. It is not as if I'm an only child. I have two younger sisters and a brother living at home. I have a full-time job (secretary) and attend junior college part-time.

I love and respect my parents very much.

They have been good to me, and it bothers me to know I will hurt them if I decide to move. Can you offer any help? — Joan Joan: Having a child leave home, especially the first one, is a very trying time for most parents. Don't make the move sound permanent. Tell your parents it will be on a trial basis only.

and if it doesn't work out that you will return home (you might).

Have your future roommates meet your parents, and have your folks see your apartment before you move in. When and if you do move, visit your family as often as possible. After you're settled, have your parents for dinner.

Hi Joan: I'm 18, just graduated from high school, and share our first apartment with two buddies. Believe me, being a guy made no difference. My parents were dead set against the move.

Only when our minister had a talk with Mom and Dad did they finally admit that we were not going to live a sinful and decadent life. Some kids are ready to move out of the home when they are 18. Others are satisfied staying at home well into their 20s.

If you want to move, do it. — Carl

Hi Joan: Most parents never want to see their kids leave the "nest" and feel crushed when they do.

But they get over it very quickly.

My advice to you is to move out. After all, if it doesn't work out, your parents will always welcome you back home. (You hope.) — Franny

Gold Star Mothers' Convention attended

The monthly meeting of the Gold Star Mothers was held in the home of Mrs. A.W. Moody, 1514 Tucson R., on Thursday morning.

Mrs. Truett Thomas and Mrs. Huey Rogers gave delegate reports on the 42nd National American Gold Star Mothers Convention held in Hot Springs, Ark., July 8-12.

Both Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Rogers participated in the Memorial Service as well as other services. Mrs. Thomas was elected secretary-treasurer of the Past National Officers' organization.

Mrs. Herbert Smith reported on the Morning

Coffee at the Veterans Medical Center on Wednesday, July 18. She was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Moody. Plans were completed for the garage sale to be held July 27 and 28 at 1608 Osage. All Chapter Mothers will be sharing in this project for their money raising project.

Community Service report showed 19 trays of food and 12 vases of flowers given to friends and shut-ins, 31 errands for others and $85 donation to charity causes.

The next meeting will be Sept. 20 in the home of Mrs. E.L. Perkins, 803 East 12th St.

NARVRE has pot luck supper

The National Association of Retired and Veteran Railway Employees met at the Kentwood Older Adult Center, July 19, 6:30 p.m. for a pot luck supper followed by the regular meeting. R.W. Cagle, president, presided.

A memorial service was held honoring the memory of members who passed away during the past year. Those honored were H.W. McCannless, J.C. Pierce, Mrs. D.B. Armistead, Mrs. T.P. Harrison, L.S. Bonner and W.A. Cobb.

W.C. Cole reported that due to an oversight, the State Tax Exempt bill recently passed in Austin, exempted only the retirees that were drawing social security and not senior citizens who were drawing other retirement revenue. Hostess for the evening were Mrs. W.J. Goodson, Mrs. Alva Porch and Mrs. W.N. Wood.

The next meeting will be Aug. 16, with a pot luck supper at 6:30 p.m. and the business meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Confidence in Carter lowers

'Average Americans' speak out

By The Associated Press
One week after President Carter told Americans the nation suffers a "crisis of confidence," some members of Congress and political figures say they are not so confident of his leadership.

Within days of Carter's address on the nation's energy and inflation problems, Energy Secretary James Schlesinger and Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal were out of office — two of the five Cabinet officers fired or allowed to resign in a major administration shakeup.

But what did some of the "average Americans" — people like those the president consulted before he spoke and acted — think?

The Associated Press asked seven Americans what they thought of the president's speech. A week later, the AP went back to six of those people — one man was on vacation — and asked what they thought of Jimmy Carter now.

A Coal Miner
CHESAPEAKE, W. Va. (AP) — Coal miner Grant McGuire says President Carter stopped cleaning house too soon. "I think we need to clean house at the White House all the way from the doorkeeper to the head honcho," he said.

McGuire, 52, a miner for 33 years and a lifelong Democrat, had said he was encouraged by the president's decision to limit oil imports. But now he's discouraged. The president has said little about his plans for coal and has endorsed nuclear power.

A Retired Businessman
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — "I think this business with the Cabinet is strictly a political move to show his strength," said Marriott Nadler, 69, who retired here from New Jersey in 1975.

The president, Nadler said, is trying to show people he can be strong because he has been criticized for weakness. But he gives Carter low marks for the effort, particularly his decision to name Hamilton Jordan the White House chief of staff.

A Gasoline Dealer
WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "What's showing now is his inability to be president, the pressures are bringing it out," said Charles Matties, past president of the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers.

Matties said he thinks the president's Cabinet changes were designed to weed out independent thinkers, and he called the appointment of Hamilton Jordan as chief of staff "an insult to the nation."

A Missouri Farmer
OSAGE CITY, Mo. (AP) — Jim Hofmann was initially pleased with the president's energy-inflation speech, but now he's having second thoughts — particularly about an Energy Mobilization Board that Carter proposed to speedup energy programs.

"I guess the one thing that didn't hit me that night was he is getting the government deeper into the energy problem," said the Osage County farmer who raises cattle, corn and alfalfa on a 500 acre spread. "I'm a little disappointed that the government isn't turning this over more to private industry."

An Oil Executive
LOS ANGELES — "Carter talks about image and confidence, things like that, when the real problem is substance," said David Button, manager of economic planning and policy for the Getty Oil Co.

The president, he said, lacks substance. And what is "incredible" Button said, is that Carter asked for advice at Camp David, acted on the advice, then fired many people who gave him that advice.

A Baptist Theologian
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — The Rev. Kenneth Cauten says the Cabinet shakeup was "a jarring note that created some disharmony" with Carter's energy message.

Cauten, an American Baptist theologian at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, said after the speech that Carter "was right in seeing the problem of energy in the larger context of a crisis of spirit... That was one of the more important things about the speech, and needed saying."

SOLAR CAR GOES CROSS-COUNTRY — Ken Eacrett, 41, and his solar-powered car depart from Santa Monica, Calif. Pier, starting a cross-country trip Saturday due to end in Washington, D.C. at the White House Sept. 21. The car draws energy from sun through solar panel on top of the vehicle. The maximum speed of the car is about 25 mph.

Major League Pirates

By The Associated Press
Two weeks ago Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher Steve Carlton won the fourth place National League game behind the Expos.

But they put a fourgame winning streak on a row. Montreal first, but with header sweep of Braves on Sunday Pirates moved to half game of the lead. The Pirates opener 5-4 on Mike Easler's two in the sixth in nearly four hours of delays.

In the night hander Jim Bibb a two-run homer of his major league and handcuffed five hits through a 32 win streak.

In all, the Pirates took about 10 hours to win.

"Hey, the day when you win," "It was a short ballpark today."

Slipping on a locker room, Bibb asked: "What are the standings?"

"Half a game replied pitcher delaria.

"No, we're not we?" Bibb asked.

Somebody the him that Montreal double-header Francisco.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JULY 24, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to consider what big plans you can make for the future and to discuss them with those who are able to give you the assistance you require. The right tact can produce the right results.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Your creative ideas are fine and should be put across as quickly as possible. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Talks with higher-ups can be beneficial at this time. Take health treatments and improve your appearance. Handle your money wisely.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have excellent ideas but will have to do some traveling to put them across. Strive for increased happiness. Sidestep a foe.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be sure you are practical in the handling of finances and property affairs at this time. Express happiness.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Go after your personal wishes in a positive way and you can gain them easily. In the evening you can have fine time with good friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Give particular attention to whatever is of a private nature, and get good results. Make plans to be more successful in the future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take steps to get information you need from friends and stop procrastinating about it. Show others you have wisdom.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An influential person can give you the backing you need for a project you have in mind. Strive for increased happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Anything of interest to you can be understood from its finest standpoints now. Be alert to an opportunity.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find more modern methods for handling an important obligation. Keep active at business during the day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good day to consult with associates and make plans for the days ahead. Show more affection to family members.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Showing appreciation to those who have been loyal and kind to you in the past is wise. Let your intuition guide you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can look at everything from its most practical aspects and therefore should have the finest education to make the most of the fine talent in this chart. Don't neglect ethical and religious training.

Eight refugees survive massacre by Vietnamese

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Eight Vietnamese refugees say Vietnamese troops massacred 85 other refugees when their crowded boat ran aground on a reef off Spratly Island in the South China Sea.

The survivors included two 15-year-old boys, two former members of the South Vietnamese air force, two fishermen, a mechanic and the owner of the boat. They reported 20 men, 20 women and 45 children were killed or drowned when they tried to escape.

The survivors said they swam about three miles to Parola Island, where they were rescued by Philippine marines.

The attack reportedly occurred on June 20-21 but did not become public knowledge until The Associated Press obtained a copy of a report by the survivors. Diplomatic sources confirmed there was an attack, but the Vietnamese Embassy claimed it had no knowledge of it.

Spratly Island, only 500 yards long by 300 yards wide, is part of a tiny island group claimed by Vietnam, China and the Philippines. It is about 400 miles east of Vietnam and nearly the same distance west of the Philippine island of Palawan, where the Vietnamese survivors are being cared for.

The survivors gave the following account in their report:

On June 18, 93 Vietnamese boarded a fishing boat from an island off Nha Trang, in southern Vietnam, to flee their country. Their voyage was uneventful until shortly after dusk on June 20 when the boat hit a reef about 150 yards off Spratly Island.

Four men with a life preserver were sent to the island along with two sick children.

One of the four men swam back to the boat and said that men speaking Vietnamese had ordered the group to come closer and then opened fire, killing the other three refugees.

Attempts to float the boat failed and at dawn "the island appeared in front of us as a small one, dotted with some coconut trees. At this point, the communists did not make any move and we innocently thought that we could come in and ask for help."

A man and his ailing mother started for shore with a life preserver but when they were halfway there the men on the island opened fire again, and "the two died in front of our eyes."

"Suddenly, one mortar shell fell right on the front part of our boat, killing 20 persons instantly and injuring many. There was panic on the boat."

Method often misunderstood

Time out for therapy

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Six-year-old Jimmy is regularly confined in an empty wooden box. It's helping to make him better.

The "quiet room," about the size of a small closet, is being used to treat some severely emotionally disturbed or retarded children.

Jimmy, which is not his real name, had a quiet room at the mental health institute where he spent a year. Now he has two — in his bedroom at home and in his classroom at a public school in Wisconsin.

He sometimes still has to spend a few minutes there, like when he flies into a tantrum instead of obeying his mother. He is always first given a chance to take a "time out," which means sitting quietly on the floor for one minute wherever his mother points.

Sometimes he just cannot or will not do that, not even for one minute. That's when he must go to the wooden chamber for two minutes.

Jimmy's quiet room at home, built to specifications of the Mendota Mental Health Institute at Madison, is six feet tall and about three feet by four feet square. It has an opening in the top for air and light but no lock. There's a clock nearby, which his mother watches.

Forcing a child into isolation in confined quarters is a procedure used across the nation in institutions and by parents and teachers of exceptional children. It strikes many people as cruel.

"Unless it's explained, (it) has the greatest potential to be misunderstood," says James Haessly, head of programs for the emotionally disturbed in Milwaukee Public Schools.

Quiet rooms should be used only in extreme cases, specialists say; children who have frequent temper tantrums when they can hurt themselves or damage things, children who are highly aggressive, hitting and biting other people, or children who are disobedient, rarely if ever following instructions.

Parents with severely-disturbed children support its use, said David Mikuleky, who has taught autistic children and does diagnostic work in the Milwaukee schools autistic program.

"They're usually so desperate they are ready to try anything," he said. "The next step is to take the child out of the home."

That was the situation with Jimmy, said his mother, who asked not to be identified.

Before he went to Mendota, Jimmy was uncontrollable. At the age of 4, he did not understand language, banged his head against the wall and showed no affection. Under observation, he had 180 temper tantrums in four hours. He was diagnosed as autistic.

"This little boy was in his own little world, period, and he did not want to be interrupted," said his mother.

Now Jimmy is different, his mother says. "He eats with a spoon and fork and does not dump things and does not throw his plate. He recognizes colors and numbers. He can put three-word sentences together. He can say 'I want something.'"

On the light side

Fastest tub in town

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) — If anybody still had doubts after last year, they're gone now: Gary Deathridge of Australia has the fastest tub in town.

Deathridge won the 13th annual Nanaimo-Vancouver bathtub race Sunday in a record one hour, 29 minutes and 30 seconds — 10 seconds faster than the record he set to win the 1978 race.

Deathridge was the first out of the Nanaimo harbor in the 34-mile race across the Strait of Georgia. He said afterward that he did not have the same problem as last year when he was boxed in by other competitors leaving Nanaimo.

About 150 to 160 bathtubs were entered in this year's race.

Judge makes the book

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — For years, many people have thought Vernon D. Hitchings Jr., Norfolk's often gruff and sometimes controversial traffic judge, was one for the book.

Now it's official.

The 1979 Guinness Book of World Records notes on page 394 that "Judge Vernon D. Hitchings of Norfolk, Va., disposed of his millionth traffic case from January 1954 to Jan. 19, 1977. Of these some 965,000 of his verdicts were unappealed or upheld on appeal."

Hitchings called the listing a singular honor and said it doesn't bother him to be lumped along with history's champion fire-eater, the world's smallest dwarf and the snake with the longest fangs.

A corny distinction

ANTIOCH, Ga. (AP) — About 1,500 people consumed 40 pounds of hot dogs, 80 pounds of hamburger, 35 gallons of cola and 6,000 ears of corn at the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department's annual "corn boiling."

But Saturday's collective gluttony paled when it got down to individual competition in the corn-eating contest.

The winner, Clark Churchwell, 18, of Cedartown, ate 22 1/2 ears in less than 30 minutes to walk away with the first-place trophy. Second place went to Weldon Edwards, 15, of Rockmart, who ate 20 1/2 ears.

Churchwell was unavailable for comment, but Edwards gave notice that he intends to win next year.

SALT II treaty faces toughest critics today

WASHINGTON (AP) — All have supported the treaty before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is continuing its hearings.

But, in appearing before the Armed Services panel, they will encounter questioning from such SALT critics as Sens. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.; John Tower, R-Texas; Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.; and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

The administration is also looking for any indications on which way the committee's chairman, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.; and Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., are leaning on the treaty. Both are regarded as among the most influential senators on defense issues.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown was to be the lead-off witness as the committee opened hearings today on the pact, which would limit American and Soviet strategic arms.

Later in the week, the panel will hear from Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance; Ambassador Ralph Earle, the chief U.S. negotiator in the talks that produced the agreement; and the uniformed services chiefs.

Showdown eminent with postal service, workers

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — The "mayor of Bolgerville" is jobless. So are the 25 residents of his town — a five-tent encampment on the grounds of the New York Bulk and Foreign Mail Center.

"Mayor" Ron Lenzo, elected by the tent-dwellers, was among the more than 200 postal workers fired July 21, 1978, for their participation in a five-day wildcat strike.

He and two dozen other former employees of the center set up the tent town on Friday — the day their unemployment compensation benefits ran out.

They named the encampment after Postmaster General William Bolger, who refused to grant amnesty to the fired strikers, and vowed to remain until they are rehired, a spokesman said.

More than 100 persons attended a barbecue at a "town" rally on Saturday.

Camp spokesman Kenneth Leiner, 26, of Jersey City, says the fired employees are being used as "a lesson" to postal workers, who are barred by law from striking.

But he believes the demonstration and growing support for the fired workers will force postal officials to grant amnesty. He says they want only to return to their jobs and will not demand back pay.
