

Fugitive shot in Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A fugitive wanted in Houston on charges of armed robbery and murdering a policeman was killed today by New Orleans police.

Police Spokesman Gus Krinke identified the dead man as Wilbert Kelly, 27, of New Orleans. He said Kelly tried to shoot it out with detectives who found him hiding in an apartment closet.

The Houston charges were the latest filed against Kelly, but Krinke said Kelly also was wanted here on two murder charges, plus armed robbery.

Krinke said John Selva, 29, of New Orleans, who also was charged in the July 30 Houston incident, was located first and, after being picked up without resistance, told detectives where to find Kelly.

Officers who went to an apartment occupied by Thelma Simpson said she insisted no one else was there but that Kelly was found in the closet. He pointed a pistol at police who ordered him to come out, officers said.

Kelly was shot by Detectives Charles Albright and Tom Woodall, Krinke said, and Ms. Simpson was arrested and booked on a charge of harboring a fugitive.

Kelly had been sought in connection with the slaying of Carol Bruno, 21, and Paul Pierce, 26, who were found shot to death last May 7 in a car in New Orleans in what investigators termed a drug-related killing.

HOME CRASH PAINS — Wanda Gilbert, catcher from the Western Henrico team from outside Richmond, Va., lies on the ground following a collision with an Abilene South runner at home plate during their game this morning. Gilbert was taken to the hospital via ambulance for treatment. Action occurred in the second inning of a game in the Girls National Softball Tournament, which is being held at the Roy Anderson Complex today, Friday and Saturday. Action continues tonight, with both Division III and Division IV games at 6:00 and 8:00. The Big Spring All-Stars, who lost to Midland 4-3 in 11 innings this morning, will face the loser of the Abilene-Western Henrico tilt at 8:00 p.m. The public is urged to attend the exciting action.

$5,000 mark not far away

The Big Spring campaign shepherded by Howard County Ministerial Association is climbing slowly toward the $5,000 mark.

Less than $300 was contributed toward the campaign during the 24-hour period ending at noon today.

The sum now stands at $4,743. The objective is $12,000, which would assure the alliance of maintaining Bible chairs in at least two and perhaps three of the county's high schools the coming school year.

Checks should be made out to the Bible Fund and forwarded either to Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of the Big Spring First Baptist Church; or to The Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring.

City construction declines in July

Construction in the city dropped during July, compared to the same month last year.

Construction during July totaled $125,166, compared to $304,408 for July of 1978. The total construction for the year so far is also well below that for the same period last year.

Total for the year-to-date is $2,509,624, compared to $5,480,576.25 for 1978.

Construction for the month included no major new projects, and consisted mainly of residential remodeling or additions. Only three of 36 projects totaled over $10,000; the largest of which was a commercial remodeling at 907 Scurry estimated at $35,000.

Ad finds home for collies

A woman desirous of giving some puppies good homes chose the Herald's "people ads" section to accomplish the undertaking.

"To give away — three female border collies. Two nine weeks old, one eight months old, with shots," is the way she worded the ad.

Within 30 minutes after the paper was printed, the dogs had been placed. Happily, the subscriber for the ad called to ask that it be taken out of the paper.

Whether you want to buy, sell or shop, the most successful way to do it is through a Herald want-ad. The telephone number is 263-7331.

15 to 20 pounds of marijuana

Officers harvest bumper pot crop

By EILEEN MCGUIRE
The Big Spring Mayor Crime Task Force and the Howard County Sheriff's Department literally harvested 15 to 20 pounds of marijuana from a field outside of Big Spring Wednesday night.

The field, located about five miles northeast of Big Spring, had been under observation for several weeks by the Task Force, according to Detective David Spilman.

The presence of hoes and other gardening equipment led detectives to believe that someone would return to the field to harvest the crop. Some of the plants were six-foot tall, said Spilman.

"We sat on it as long as we could," Capt. Jimmie McCain said today. "There were signs that the field had been in use for some time. There were stalks two to two-and-a-half inches in diameter that had been cut."

McCain said that the plants were found growing in five to six-foot square patches that had been cleared in the underbrush. The patches were scattered over five to six acres of land.

He said that police officials had been alerted to the field by an unidentified informant.

New fire burns homes in Idaho

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Battleweary firefighters in six Western states have gotten their first break from searing weather that has turned forests into giant stands of kindling, but a new fire in Idaho has burned two homes and forced 50 families to flee.

Temperatures dropped and humidity rose Wednesday, allowing 6,000 firefighters — half of the nation's federal firefighting force — to gain some ground on more than a dozen fires raging out of control in the West.

"We had a real good day today," John Gumert, information officer at the Boise Interagency Fire Center, said Wednesday. "We didn't lose any ground on any major fire."

The National Weather Service, however, is predicting more fair skies over the fire areas today. And Bob Bjornsen, Forest Service director for the fire center, said the outlook "is very grim" for the next 10 days.

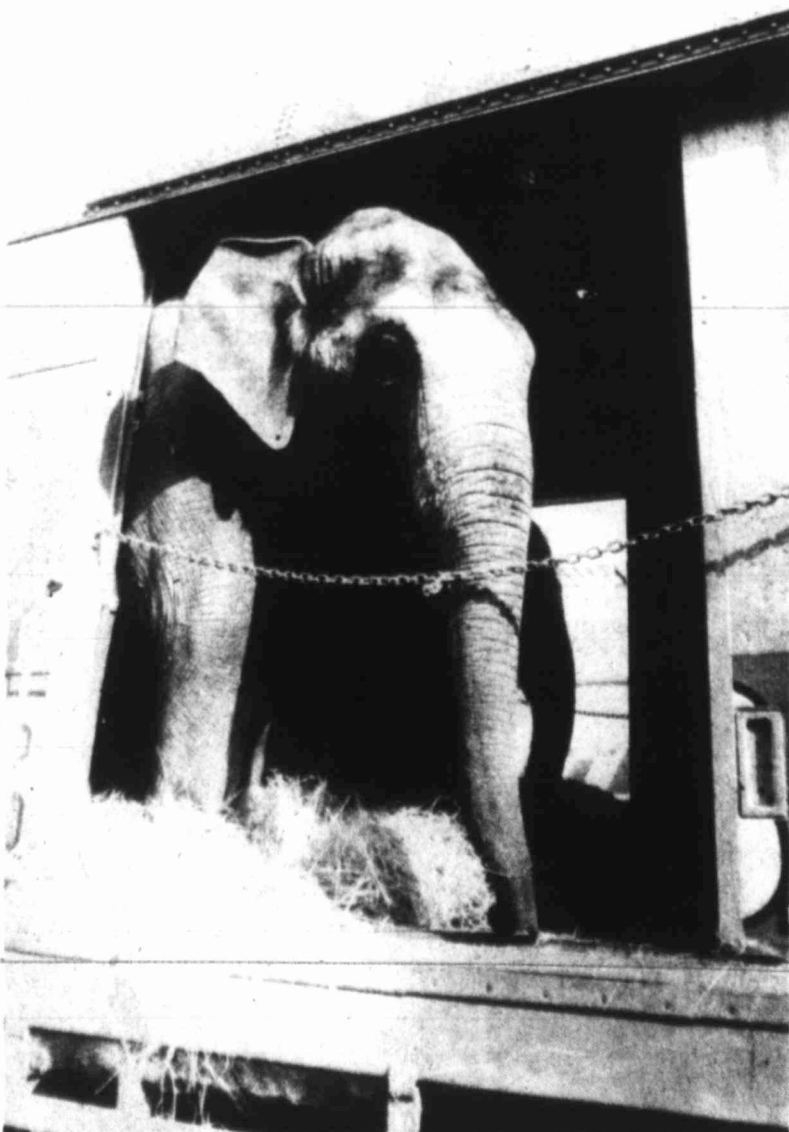

A new fire that broke out just after noon Wednesday in northern Idaho burned at least two homes near Bonners Ferry, a town of 1,900, and forced the evacuation of 50 families.

There were no immediate reports of injury from the fire, which was estimated to cover 600 acres.

The sheriff's office was called in Wednesday since the offense was outside of the city limits. About 7 p.m., Det. Mike Eggleston and Sheriff Deputy Bill Shankles began the harvest. The plants were pulled up and taken to the sheriff's office, said Spilman.

"Only the district judge can destroy the plants," he said.

Spilman declined to reveal the identity of the owner or owners of the field. No arrests have been made, but the investigation continues.

'SO THIS IS BIG SPRING' — One of the many elephants on tour with Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus looks out on Big Spring as the circus set up in Abilene Wednesday for two performances and can be seen in Midland this evening. The pachyderm, which came from a species noted for its long memory, looked as if it recognized somebody standing alongside the train.

Inflation continues rapid pace in July

WASHINGTON (AP) — After three months of moderation, wholesale prices shot up 1.1 percent in July, resuming the fast inflationary pace that prevailed at the start of the year, the government said today.

The Labor Department laid much of the blame on rapidly rising energy prices.

The wholesale price of home heating oil rose 9 percent from June to July. The same rate would more than double current prices by mid-1980. Gasoline prices went up 3.9 percent in July.

The rapidly rising energy prices pushed the cost of all non-food items in the department's wholesale price index up 1.4 percent.

Wholesale prices had risen a modest 0.5 percent in June.

July's 1.1 percent rate, which would produce an annual rate of more than 10 percent if continued for 12 months, was comparable to price increases of 1 percent or more from December 1978 through last March.

"Energy prices are still going quite strong," said John Early, chief of the Labor Department's division of industrial prices. "But finished goods other than energy and food were up 0.8 percent. The price increases were pervasive."

Early said the effects of four months of moderation in wholesale food prices have begun to appear at grocery store checkout counters. The Carter administration, however, has opened a campaign to make sure that consumers — and not the profits of food processors and distributors — benefit from the slackening in food prices.

The Labor Department's wholesale figures reflect prices for food and other products ready for the retail market. The index, formally known as the Producer Price Index, also measures price changes for items with some processing and for items with no processing, such as raw materials.

The index for finished goods stood at 215.8 in July, 10.1 percent ahead of July 1978. The index figure means that goods that cost $100 in the 1967 base period cost $215.80 last month.

Goods at the intermediate level, those with some processing, rose 1.9 percent last month, the largest increase since October 1974, Early said. Higher-priced animal feeds pushed the food component up 6.7 percent in July.

At the same time, crude goods rose 1.8 percent. Rapid increases in animal feed costs again were blamed.

On Wednesday, the Council on Wage and Price Stability criticized food industry middlemen — processors, wholesalers and retailers — for large increases in their markups in the second quarter of this year.

The increases mean thousands of dollars to Americans, who pay for the markups.

Israel government ailing

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin is ailing and so is his government.

Israel is at odds with its closest ally, the United States, on vital issues of Middle East policy. And the Begin government has been further shaken by criticism from Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan who is skeptical of the government's ability to carry on.

Seldom has the governing coalition appeared so besieged from within and without as the Begin government after two years in power.

Sources close to Begin, 66, who is recuperating at home from the effects of a minor stroke three weeks ago, admit he is thinking of pushing for Cabinet changes when he returns to his office early next week.

But juggling a Cabinet in Israel's intricate coalition politics is not solely the decision of the prime minister and there is no certainty Begin can carry out his wish to give the government a refurbished image without bringing on a crisis that could cause the government to fall.

The disarray is surprising in view of Begin's strong-willed personality and his pledge when he came to power that he would clamp down on Cabinet discipline.

That discipline cracked when Dayan aired his grievances to mass-circulation newspapers last Tuesday.

The government's failure to curb an annual inflation rate headed toward 100 percent, its lack of economic direction and its reliance on foreign aid made Israel seem on the verge of bankruptcy and easy prey to foreign political pressures, Dayan charged.

This image of weakness, which Dayan said belied Israel's real strength and determination on vital issues, was behind what he called a "real change in U.S. policy."

Despite denials from the U.S. State Department that the Carter administration was moving toward recognition of the Palestine Liberation Organization, Dayan accused the United States of succumbing to Saudi Arabian oil pressure on the Palestinian question.

Israel fears the United States wants to bolster the Palestinians through a new United Nations Security Council resolution. A dispute over United Nations supervision of the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty remains unresolved.

Dayan also was critical, without being specific, of Israel's management of the talks with Egypt and the United States on Palestinian autonomy.

Highs through Friday 90s most sections except upper 80s mountains and near 102 Big Bend valleys. Lows tonight upper 50s mountains 60s north to mid 70s south.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Chance of showers and thunderstorms mainly north and mountains Saturday and most all sections the first of the week. No important change in temperatures. Highs from the upper 80s mountains and near 90s Panhandle to about 102 in the lowlands of the Big Bend. Lows 60s north and 70s south except 50s mountains.

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm weather is expected in the forecast period, today until Friday, for most of the nation. Cooler readings are expected for the upper Great Lakes and New England. Showers are forecast for western New England.

Gasoline supplies adequate; more service stations open

By The Associated Press
Texas motorists this weekend should find more service stations in operation than at any time since early May.

The American Automobile Association's Texas Division reports such an optimistic outlook in its latest survey on gasoline availability.

This week's AAA survey indicates more stations will be open on Saturday night and on Sunday than at any time since the spring start of the gasoline crunch.

Here is this weekend's anticipated availability:
AMARILLO — 36 stations surveyed, 58 percent closing by 8 p.m. weeknights, 36 percent closing by 6 p.m. Saturday, and 61 percent closing on Sunday.

AUSTIN — 15 stations, 87 percent closing weeknights, and 80 percent closing by 6 p.m. Saturday and on Sunday. The AAA reports this is a dramatic change, however, in that 93 percent of the surveyed stations last week were closing weeknights and 87 percent did not operate Saturday night.

BEAUMONT-PORT ARTHUR — 17 stations, 47 percent closing weeknights, 41 percent closing Saturday night, and 35 percent closing on Sunday.

CORPUS CHRISTI — 20 stations, 65 percent closing weeknights and 50 percent closing Saturday night and on Sunday.

DALLAS-FORT WORTH — 78 stations, 94 percent closing weeknights compared with 96 percent last week, 79 percent closing Saturday night compared with 92 percent a week ago, and 67 percent closing on Sunday, down from 68 percent.

EL PASO — 30 stations, 67 percent closing weeknights and on Sunday and 30 percent closing Saturday night.

WACO — 14 stations, 50 percent closing weeknights, 29 percent Saturday night, and 36 percent Sunday.

HOUSTON — 52 stations, 88 percent closing weeknights and on Saturday night, down from 92 and 91 percent a week ago; no change in the 75 percent closing Sunday.

MCALLEN — 22 stations, 64 percent closing weeknights, 14 percent

Saturday night, 68 percent Sunday.

MIDLAND-ODESSA — 15 stations, 47 percent closing weeknights and on Sunday, 27 percent closing Saturday night.

SAN ANTONIO — 40 stations, 70 percent closing weeknights, 65 percent Saturday night, 75 percent Sunday.

MISCELLANEOUS — 76 stations, 74 percent closing weeknights, 65 percent Saturday night, and 75 percent on Sunday.

The Tyler Chamber of Commerce said there is "plenty of gas, no problem" in that East Texas city.

The AAA said many of the miscellaneous stations are on Interstate highways with about one-fourth operating weeknights, one-half Saturday night and one-third Sunday.

Good availability was reported at these highway locations:

Interstate 10 — Van Horn, Fort Stockton, Schulenberg, Flatonia, Winnie, Orange.

Interstate 20 — Colorado City, Pecos.

Interstate 27 — Lubbock.

Interstate 45 — Madisonville.

East Texas 59 — Lufkin.

Others — Aransas Pass, Rusk.

Others — Aransas P, Rockport, Brownwood, Memphis, Big Bend, South Padre Island, San Benito, Uvalde.

Rains dull demand for CRMWD water

The self-same rains which produced runoff into Lakes J.B. Thomas and E.V. Spence also dulled demand during July, according to production reports from the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Delivery of 1,706,832,213 gallons of water to various customers was down 22.67 percent from July a year ago. However, at the end of July the two lakes had caught about 50,000 acre feet so far this year, the best showing since 1976 and 10,000 acre feet better than the past two years combined.

Through seven months, the district has delivered 9,689,745,361 gallons of water, or 13.93 percent less than the same period in 1978. Of this, 7,828,293,200 gallons went to municipal customers, off 10 percent. July deliveries to the cities amounted to 1,536,338,000 gallons, a decline of 17.78 percent over July last year because of the showers.

July pumping to oil companies and industrial customers amounted to 170,494,213 gallons, a decline of 49.68 percent. The big difference, however, was that whereas Texas Electric Service Company had received 15,000,000 gallons for its Ward County generating plant in July 1978, it had been cut off by the district this July in order to conserve supplies for the cities. For the seven months, oil company deliveries reached 1,861,452,161 gallons, or down 27.21 percent. The companies have been cut off from surface water supplies.

Municipal deliveries for July included: Odessa 713,612,000 gallons, down 19.06 percent; Big Spring 282,354,000 gallons, down 16.43 percent; Snyder 111,776,000 gallons, down 19.23 percent; Stanton 13,935,000 gallons, down 4.73 percent; Midland 414,661,000 gallons, down 1.73 percent. Neither Robert Lee nor San Angelo took any water from the district in July.

More small city parks are wanted

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Parks and Wildlife Department survey of 3,020 Texans showed they want more small city parks and local recreation programs and protection of the state's scenic rivers and streams.

The survey was taken in preparing a proposed outdoor recreation plan for 1980. The plan is updated every five years.

Swimming was the top-ranked outdoor activity among city dwellers who responded to the survey and ranked third in rural areas, where fishing and picnicking rated one-two. Walking for pleasure was the second most popular activity in the cities.

"A clear majority agreed that there should be more recreation areas along rivers and streams and that pollution is a problem in Texas' streams," the department said.

"Most respondents also viewed pollution of Gulf Coast waters as a problem and an overwhelming majority felt automobile traffic should be controlled on beaches when many people are present," the department said.

Obscenity law redefined in Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — After Sept. 1 it will be up to local communities to decide how many adult bookstores and X-rated movie houses they will allow.

"It's according to what the local community standards are and what local prosecutors want," said Rep. Ralph Wallace III, D-Houston, author of the new law redefining obscenity in Texas.

"It's absurd to think that this bill would cover Playboy magazine. We are after the hardcore-like stuff," Wallace said Wednesday.

"This bill was aimed at X-rated movies," said Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eules, the co-sponsor, "but I'm not concerned if some of the operators of these R-rated movies think it affects them. Maybe they should be X-rated."

The law change passed unnoticed by many in the final days of the 1979 Legislature.

Wallace said there was only a voice vote in the House, and the bill passed unanimously in the Senate.

Meier said there was no discussion in the Senate, probably because he distributed packets of materials in the senators' private lounge showing exactly what type of materials would be outlawed by the redefinition.

The sponsors stressed it will still be up to county and district attorneys to bring charges and push prosecution under the new law. This determination was made some time ago by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The new law attempts to redefine obscenity to make it easier for local prosecutors to obtain convictions, the sponsors said. There have been few convictions under the present law.

"It does nothing but track the New York statute and other states where it is working successfully," Wallace said.

The old law said "obscene means having as a whole a dominant theme that appeals to the prurient interest of the average persons applying contemporary standards."

Meier said local prosecutors have had little luck in showing the "dominant theme" in court and "the average person has no prurient interests."

The new law says "obscenity means material or a performance that the average person, applying contemporary community standards, would tend as taken as a whole appeals to the prurient interest in sex."

The new law also outlaws description of "the ultimate sex act, normal or perverted, actual or simulated, inducing sexual intercourse, sodomy and sexual bestiality." It prohibits representations of "masturbation, excretory functions, lewd exhibitions of genitals male or female genitals in the state of sexual stimulation."

The bill also increases penalties for violations.

Under the old bill the punishment could be from a $1,000 fine or 180 days imprisonment up to $2,000 and one year in jail for wholesalers of pornographic material.

Under the new bill, the penalties range from $2,000 fines as a misdemeanor to $5,000 fines and two to 10 years as a felony.

Wallace said a special seminar will be held in October at the Criminal Justice Center at Sam Houston State University in Houston to acquaint prosecutors and law enforcement officers with the new law and how to enforce it.

WATER IN THE DESERT — Fish and lilly-filled ponds lie near the administration building at Living Desert State Park in Carlsbad. The Spanish-style entry building is the gateway to large cacti displays and a zoo filled with birds and animals from North American deserts and mountain areas.

Three parks in Carlsbad area continue to attract visitors

CARLSBAD, N.M. — A trio of parks in the Carlsbad area continues to attract Southwesterners, gasoline situation or not. The area is located in the heart of the southwest, an easy day's trip from Houston, Phoenix or Denver.

The parks are unique in that they offer a mixture ranging from mountains to caves to a desert garden, all within a few miles of Carlsbad.

In Carlsbad itself, Living Desert State Park contains exhibits of over 1,000 cacti and has perhaps the most complete collection of desert animals in the nation. The park was opened in 1971 at a cost of $2.5 million.

From a Spanish-style entry building, the visitor winds his way along paved paths bordered with rare and common cacti to animal exhibits containing American bison, or buffalo, antelope, bear, otter, prairie dogs, javalina and coyotes, to name a few.

In another building, visitors see a sight that gives most people goosebumps: it's a collection of reptiles drawn from North American deserts. Included are many varieties of rattlesnakes, lizards and Gila monsters.

The park's bird exhibit is popular. It was designed so visitors may stroll beside cages containing birds found in both desert and mountain terrain.

Carlsbad Caverns National Park is open every day of the year and over 800,000 people visit the park each year. It offers a safe and easy peek at one of the largest and most beautiful caves in the world.

Two recent improvements at the Caverns include new high-speed elevators, which whisk visitors from the surface administration building down to the underground lunchroom, and the lunchroom itself, which was remodeled.

Opened to the public in 1972, Guadalupe Mountains National Park is a breathtaking combination of mountain, canyon and forest jammed into 77,500 acres of desert. It is located 45 minutes from Carlsbad on the highway to El Paso.

Guadalupe Peak, at 8,751 feet the highest point in Texas, is located in the park. From the peak, the terrain slopes north in a "V"-shaped panorama of conifer forests and deep-cut canyons. McKittrick Canyon contains a rushing stream and is home to both broad-leaved and conifer trees, cactus and succulents.

Carlsbad itself is famous for its hospitality and its modern hotels, motels and restaurants. Most offer live entertainment in the evenings.

Visitors also are drawn to Lake Carlsbad Recreation Area, which contains the largest lake within any city in New Mexico. The city also boasts two standard golf courses and a lighted par-three municipal layout.

Presidents Park, the banks of Lake Carlsbad, is a theme amusement park with an old-fashioned carousel, double-decked river boat and a mile-long miniature steam locomotive train ride.

Sore jaws may be end result of social drinking

BOSTON (AP) — Like morning-after headaches, sore jaws may be a hazard of social drinking, says a doctor who theorizes that cocktails cause people to grind their teeth in their sleep.

Nighttime gnashing of teeth is called bruxism, and a Boston doctor has noticed that it seems to happen when people go to bed after having a few drinks.

Dr. Ernest Hartmann of Boston State Hospital said he kept track of the teeth grinding habits of two men and two women for up to a year.

"All could be considered at least moderate social drinkers, with an average intake of one to four drinks per day," he wrote in a letter in today's New England Journal of Medicine.

"In each patient, episodes of bruxism, as reported by the bed partner, are closely related to alcohol intake," he noted.

Hartmann said that about 10 percent of the population grind their teeth at night, and this can cause serious damage to teeth and gums.

Another suit filed to halt Stacy Dam

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Lake Travis Improvement Association has filed suit to halt the construction of Stacy Dam on the Colorado River near Ballinger in West Texas.

Austin and the Lower Colorado River Authority have filed similar suits. The improvement association contends a May 25 order of the Texas Water Commission authorizing construction of the dam was unlawful because commissioner Dorsey Hardeman participated in the deliberations.

Hardeman, a former state senator from San Angelo, represented San Angelo before the commission in a previous matter involving the proposed dam.

Construction of the dam and reservoir is expected to benefit San Angelo and several other West Texas cities.

On the light side

A real rare bird

NEW YORK (AP) — After a long pregnancy, a concave-casqued hornbill at the Bronx zoo has given birth to a chick — the first of its species ever born in this country.

The sex of the newcomer is yet to be determined. But it has white eyes like its mother. So, unless they turn to red like the father's, it is assumed the chick is a female.

A communique trilling news of the singular birth said that the only other zoo in the world known to have reared a chick of the species is in Singapore.

Concave-casqued hornbills are native to the forests of India, Malaysia and Sumatra. Their plumage is black, white and yellow, and they have enormous pale orange bills, leaving them among the more unfortunate-looking flying species.

The male hornbill initiates courtship by presenting gifts of food to a prospective mate. After she enters a nest cavity in a tree, it is walled up with fruit and mud, except for a small hole through which the expectant male passes food to the mother-to-be.

The female remains inside the nest for three to four months, during which the male feeds her and, later, the chick as well. On the fifth month, presumably, the old man rests.

Needling bachelors

BURNABY, British Columbia (AP) — For a while, it appeared that it might be easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for two bachelors from Burnaby to enter the Albee Sewing Center.

But thanks to a ruling by the British Columbia government's human rights board, David Rogers and Danny Brown are on their way toward breaking the sex barrier in the center's sewing class.

Rogers, 28, said he and Brown, 29, were advised Wednesday in a letter from the board that they could enroll in the formerly all-woman class in this Vancouver suburb.

When they tried to enroll earlier this year, the two men were turned away on the grounds that their presence would disrupt instruction. As compensation, they were offered a course in mending. Instead, they took their complaint to the human rights branch.

Rogers, a mechanic who has been working as a restaurant headwaiter, said he and Brown, a security guard, expect a lot of needling from their classmates when the lessons start in September.

"But I'm just interested in learning how to sew," he said. "We are both divorced and as I am a very independent kind of person, I want to learn how to sew."

Veto funds for heart program 'just a mistake'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements vetoed $300,000 for a South Texas children's heart program — reportedly after he had promised to let it through — and a staffer says it was just a mistake.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, told the Austin American-Statesman Clements endorsed the program in April and specifically promised not to veto the legislative appropriation.

Clements, however, included the item among several hundred million dollars' worth of vetoes. He said it had not been requested by the state health department and added, "it is unclear how this project would relate to the existing programs of the agency."

Jim Kaster of the governor's staff was asked if the governor's office had blundered, and he replied, "Yep."

"I think there were so many vetoes that the governor didn't catch one, to be honest," Kaster told the American-Statesman. "They had reams of that stuff, and I just think he missed it."

Truan said the money was needed to replace federal and private funding for the program to diagnose children with heart defects. The governor's staff is now trying to find $300,000. Kaster said $50,000 a year has been committed from the Texas Department of Community Affairs, which is controlled by the governor. "We've got $100,000 a year to come up with," Kaster said.

Cost of having baby climbs to $2,000 for the first week

If you want to be a parent, it's going to cost you. According to a newly-released Health Insurance Institute study of costs in some 30 major American cities, the average cost of having a baby runs conservatively about $2,200. And that's only through the first week and only if it is a normal delivery and there are no complications. But assuming all goes well, your biggest outlay will be for the hospital stay itself. Your bill, based on an average hospital stay of 3.3 days and including labor room, delivery room, and pharmacy and laboratory charges, will be about $900.

Add $550 for other medical costs including surgical charges, anesthesia, and pediatrician's care. Finally, based on data from the U.S. Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, and a major infants' clothing manufacturer, the Institute says the cost of the "essential" items in an infant's layette should be about $750. This includes baby's wardrobe, bath and nursery items, a crib, mattress, carriage, feeding equipment, vitamins, diapers and the like. Other items such as out-of-hospital prescription drugs, a maternity wardrobe and the proud father's cigars, have not been tallied in.

The Good News Still, the overall picture may not be as costly to you as it seems.

- By BOBBINIX CIDER POT-ROAST BAKED APPLES PAIRED FOR AUTUMN PLEASER
- Autumn's color extravaganza comes earlier to garden and grocery than to woodlands. Supplies of many bright fruits and vegetables are swelling to peak production.
- To take culinary advantage of these in-season treats, couple them with meat, suggests Reba Staggs, home economist with the National Live Stock and Meat Board. This Cider Pot-Roast with stuffed apples provides an appetizing example.
- Cider Pot-Roast
4 to 5-pound boneless chuck or rump pot-roast
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger

- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 cup apple cider or apple juice
1 can (1 pound 7 oz.) sweet potatoes, drained and mashed
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 baking apples, cored
3/4 cup currant jelly
Flour for gravy, if desired
Combine flour, 1 tablespoon salt, pepper and ginger. Dredge meat in seasoned flour, brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add 1/2 cup apple cider or juice. Cover tightly and bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) 3 to 4 hours or until meat is tender.
- Mix sweet potatoes with brown sugar butter or margarine and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Spoon potato mixture into cored apples. Mix 1/2 cup apple cider or juice with currant jelly. Pour over apples. Bake in a slow oven 50 minutes or until apples are done. Remove meat to heated platter, arranging apples around it. Thicken cooking liquids with flour, if desired.
- ITALIAN FLAIR ACCENTS THIS BEEF BLADE POT-ROAST WITH TOMATOES, OREGANO, GARLIC OLIVES AND MUSHROOMS
- Your budget may not permit a trip to all the countries you'd like, but imaginatively you can always travel by means of culinary adventure.
- Take Italy, for instance. Famous for its seasonings such as tomatoes, garlic, mushrooms, stuffed olives and green pepper, this country yields inspiration for many entrees. All of these can be starred with good, American beef pot-roast, declares Reba Staggs, meat expert for the National Live Stock and Meat Board.
- Start with one three to four-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast. Dredge this meat with three tablespoons of flour which has been mixed with one and one-half teaspoons salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Brown the meat slowly on both sides in three tablespoons lard or drippings. Pour off drippings.
- To the browned steak, add one-half cup of slice onion and one (16-oz.) can tomatoes, one (4-oz.) can mushrooms, drained, three tablespoons chopped green pepper, one-half cup sliced stuffed olives and one-eighth teaspoon garlic salt.
- Cover the meat tightly and cook very slowly on top of the range, three to three one-half hours or until tender.

'TWEEN 12 and 20 — Teens agree — Lose the louse

By Robert Wallace, Ed.

Sandra, 16, from Everett, Wash., is confused about which boy to go with. Stan Arnold, 16, who lives in Oklahoma City, Okla., and Tish Gordon, 16, who hails from Santa Rosa, Calif., will share their ideas concerning Sandra's dilemma. Welcome!

Dr. Wallace: I dated Jim for over two years and I got pregnant about six months ago. I had an abortion because he wanted me to.

We broke up and he is now dating another girl (he has gotten her pregnant, too) and I'm dating another guy whom I like very much. Jim called the other night and wants to see me again and I think I'd like to because I think I really love him. I told my new boyfriend about Jim's call and he said he did not want me to date Jim again or he would shove off.

Please give me advice and I'd like to hear what your teen guest writers have to say. Please hurry. — Sandra, Everett, Wash.

Sandra: Jim seems to have little regard or respect for any girl that he is dating. I think he is a loser. Hopefully you are a wiser young lady now than when you were dating Jim.

Tell him thanks for calling, but ask him not to call again. — Dr. Wallace.

Hi Sandra: It seems that Jim has but one thing on his mind — sex. Even then, he appears to be too stupid to take the proper precautions. I dislike abortion but it might have been better for you to have had one than for this guy to have become a father.

It will be interesting to see what his new girlfriend does about her delicate situation. — Stan, Oklahoma City.

Hello Sandra: Actually you gave me a very easy problem to solve. Jim is a macho louse. Tell him to get lost and that you never want to see or hear from him again. My dear, all this guy wants is self-satisfaction. He will take it from any girl who will give it to him.

Stay with your new fellow and tell him you told Jim to "bug off." — Tish, Santa Rosa, Calif.

If you would like to be a guest teen writer, please write to me in care of this newspaper stating your sex and age. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dog Owners: No Parking!

DEAR ABBY: I am a volunteer with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. So far this summer we have had several cases of pets who were overcome by heat prostration after having been left in automobiles parked in the hot sun.

A few years ago you had a terrific piece in your column about this problem. I am enclosing it. Would you please consider a rerun?

EILEEN R. IN DOVER, DEL.

DEAR EILEEN: You're doggone right I will!

DEAR PET OWNERS: With summer here, please do not take your pet along for the ride and leave him locked in a parked car while you run errands and shop.

When the temperature is 85 degrees outside, the temperature inside a parked car (even with the windows slightly open) will reach 102 degrees within 10 minutes. And in 30 minutes it will reach 120 degrees!

The normal body temperature of a dog is approximately 102 degrees, and it can withstand approximately 108 degrees for a very short time before suffering irreparable brain damage or death.

If you must leave your pet locked in a parked car—leave him home!

P.S. My pet consultant says, "NEVER park a car in the sun—even with the windows open—if a pet is inside."

DEAR ABBY: I have a strange problem. Should I be the matron of honor at my ex-husband's wedding?

I know the woman he's marrying (slightly) but we're really not all that close. I neither like nor dislike her. I still can't figure out why she asked me.

My husband has asked our two children, ages 5 and 9, to be in the wedding party, so, of course, they will be there. I am not carrying the torch for my ex, but I have no desire to attend this wedding.

How should I handle it? I don't want to make up any lies.

EX-WIFE WITH NO REGRETS

DEAR EX: Why lie? Decline with thanks. It's not necessary to explain why.

DEAR ABBY: Did a letter in your column ever ring a bell with us?

Upon retiring and moving to San Diego several years ago, we started to hear from acquaintances from our home state. They said, "We've heard so much about San Diego—we'd love to come out and spend a week or so with you—seeing the sights and enjoying the weather."

Here's how we handled it: We'd write back saying, "We're so happy you're planning to come to San Diego. When you get here and get settled, be sure to give us a ring. We'd love to get together for a drink."

You'd be surprised at the number of people who wrote back to say, "We've changed our plans... we'll take a rain-check."

We enjoy guests, but not the type who invite themselves.

Battered parents—a quirk or a trend

By CY BRICKFIELD

In a society which, during the last few years, has finally begun to cope with the dual horrors of child abuse and battered wives, there is still a special sense of outrage and repugnance reserved for incidents in which elderly parents are abused physically by their middle-aged children—and a curious hesitancy to confront the reality of this growing problem.

Perhaps this is because the practices of parents (or teachers) spanking their children and of husbands doing whatever is considered necessary to control their wives have long histories of being condoned by society. It is only in relatively recent years that these beliefs have been challenged openly and successfully.

On the other hand, respect for one's parents—especially when they have grown old—is a longstanding tradition. Since we are, after all, literally commanded to honor them, the spectre of battered parents—with wounds inflicted by their own adult children—is extremely difficult to accept. Yet, if we are to have any hope of coping with this latest horror of contemporary life, we must face up to its existence.

"It may well be that the 1980s will herald the public awareness of the battered aged—elderly parents who reside with, are dependent on, and battered by their adult, caretaking children," predicts Suzanne K. Steinmetz, the University of Delaware professor who first called a Congressional committee's attention to this ugly phenomenon just about a year ago.

Although a brief report of Dr. Steinmetz's testimony received reasonably widespread exposure, there was no public outcry of indignation. Most people probably read the news story, shook their heads in a gesture of disbelief and resignation, and then went on about their business, thankful that they were neither a parent nor child involved in such a situation.

Consequently, little is known about the exact dimensions of this emerging problem. We don't know, for instance, whether the battering of elderly parents is a temporary social quirk typical of these troubled times or a long-term trend with profoundly frightening implications for the future. We also don't know much about the socio-cultural and economic backgrounds of the battered parents, or even how many elderly parents are abused each year. All we know for sure, at this point, is that it happens.

"The battered elderly," explains Steinmetz, "often refuse to report the abuse for fear of retaliation, lack of alternative shelter, or fear of the unknown."

"Besides," comments Dr. Eloise Rathbone-McCuan of St. Louis' Washington University, "think of the stigma. What parents would want other people to know that their children beat them?"

What emerges from the case studies cited by her and Steinmetz is a series of tragic situations in which both parent and child are victims—frequently of circumstances with which neither can cope.

For the most part, battered parents tend to be those who are no longer capable of fending for themselves. Unable to function on their own, they are essentially forced to move in with one of their children, an arrangement which neither they nor their children really want, and which results in more stress than either can handle.

"Each family," observes Steinmetz, "has only a limited amount of resources or capacities to deal with stress. The bottom line is that, if you increase the stress on family members without adding supports to help them cope with it, you increase the likelihood of violence because a person and a family can handle only so much."

As the human lifespan continues to lengthen, we are going to see rapidly increasing numbers of middle-aged and older people growing old along with their elderly parents. While this can be a joyous experience for all concerned, it can also provide the potential for kinds of conflicts which, unless quickly defused, can explode into violence.

"Intensive family counseling at the time an aged parent rejoins the family is often necessary," suggests Michael Briley in the first major magazine article to be published about the problems of battered parents and their troubled children. "Clearly, family members caring for the aged need help. Many middle class families are unaware of such community resources (as day-care centers, home health services, etc.) because, unlike the poor, they have not been 'plugged in' to the social service system in the past."

That Briley's article should appear in Dynamic Years, a journal whose readers are the mostly middle-aged members of Action for Independent Maturity, is in itself a significantly hopeful omen for the future.

Busing called waste

By CHARLES STENHOLM
17th Dist. Congressman

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Twenty-five years ago the U.S. Supreme Court issued one of its most famous decisions in the Brown v. Board of Education case. The Court stated that American public schools should be desegregated "with all deliberate speed." The underlying purpose for this decision was the recognition that every American has a fundamental right to a decent education and an opportunity to be productive and successful.

It is my firm belief that a country that is based on the principle that "all men are created equal" should not use race as a basis in determining a man's character or his potential worth to society. Every person should have an equal opportunity for an education or a job. If we wish to attack racism, we must eliminate race as a standard for determining anything.

In an effort to make up for past discrimination to minorities, we have tried many programs. Several proposals have met with some degree of success while others have been miserable failures and sometimes even made the problem worse. Over the past several years the Judicial Branch has initiated a policy of busing school children "to achieve a racial balance."

This program has been controversial since its inception and has been opposed by the vast majority of both blacks and whites. Busing advocates have defended this policy on grounds that the transportation of students would rectify unjust policies of racial isolation without unnecessary additional injury to the public welfare.

Most reasonable people would agree that this has not occurred.

Busing stimulates the flight of whites to suburbs outside the economic reach of most minorities. The evidence shows no measurable improvement in the quality of education available to minorities and some indicators suggest it has lowered the standards of education available to all children. Our busing experience shows little contribution to racial harmony and, in fact, has produced strains and divisions in many cities. Also busing is a needless expenditure of funds, energy, and time. This extra time needed to bus students would be better spent in the classroom and these funds should be used for improved facilities instead of unnecessary transportation.

On July 24 I supported a Constitutional Amendment to ban forced busing. I was concerned over this important issue being considered by way of a proposed Constitutional Amendment. Certainly, it could have opened the door for many other single issue groups. I did honestly have reservations about solving this problem in this manner. The fact remained, however, that any number of other legislative approaches had been attempted over the past years and, for the most part, had received little consideration by the Judiciary Committee.

The most expedient means remaining for bringing this to the Members was by way of a Discharge Petition, and I did sign Discharge Petition Number 1 for this purpose. Though it did fail, I believe it necessary to continue to search for better alternatives. Education is a local concern and should not be subject to the heavy hand of the Judiciary or the Federal Government. The teachers and administrators in the individual communities should make decisions on school policy and not a Federal District Judge. Local people know best how to educate all of our students.

Kennedy takes dunk

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and 19 adolescent traveling companions continued their vacation tour of western Massachusetts today after he took a dunk in Pontoosac Lake.

Seemingly oblivious to the debate over whether he could, should or would run for president, the Massachusetts Democrat on Wednesday deftly piloted a sail boat on the lake in Pittsfield.

Later, he hopped into a canoe with two young girls, one of them the late Robert F. Kennedy's 10-year-old daughter, Rory. About six feet from the dock, the canoe tipped over, dumping Kennedy and the others into the lake.

"Let's take another crack at it, Rory," said Kennedy, laughing as he pulled himself out of the water.

Governor to test machine

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Gov. Ella Grasso will be tooling around Connecticut in an electric car for one week this month.

Mrs. Grasso said Wednesday the General Electric Co. has agreed to loan her one of its Centennial Electrics for eight days beginning Tuesday. She said she will be able to judge for herself how effective an electric car would be for general use.

Ray won't be supporter

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Don't count Gov. Dixy Lee Ray's voice among the clamor for a presidential bid by Sen. Edward Kennedy.

"There is nothing under the blue heaven that would induce me to vote for Sen. Kennedy, ever," the Democratic governor said Wednesday.

The governor made her remarks at a news conference in Vancouver, where she was to visit a fair and deliver a speech on international trade.

Citizenship stripped

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — Paraguay reacted to allegations that it harbors accused Nazi war criminal Josef Mengele by stripping him of his citizenship.

The supreme court ruled Wednesday that Mengele invalidated the naturalized citizenship he obtained Nov. 27, 1959, by an "unjustified absence from the country" since 1960.

Mengele is wanted for the murder of 400,000 Jews at Poland's Auschwitz concentration camp during World War II, when he was a doctor there. Unofficial reports say the "Angel of Death" of Auschwitz was here in 1959 and 1960 selling farm machinery for a West German manufacturer.

Rumors that he was hiding in the jungles of this South American country were the theme of the movie "The Boys From Brazil."

Jury selection for Davis Chief, two cops trial may finish today resign in Rotan

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Jury selection could be completed today in the murder solicitation trial of millionaire Cullen Davis, prosecution and defense attorneys said Wednesday.

State District Judge Gordon Gray said prosecution testimony against the Fort Worth industrialist will begin Monday if defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes approves two additional members of the jury panel today.

At the close of Wednesday's proceedings, 30 prospective jurors had been selected for possible service. After a panel of 32 is seated, prosecution and defense attorneys each will strike 10 names. The remaining 12 will hear the case.

Davis is accused of trying to arrange the contract murder of State District Judge Joe Eidson, who was presiding over Davis' lengthy divorce proceeding against Priscilla Davis.

Eidson, who was not harmed, cooperated with authorities in an investigation which led to Davis' arrest last August. The couple later was granted a divorce by another judge. Davis' first trial — moved to Houston on a change of venue from Fort Worth — ended with a hung jury. A conviction on the charge carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

ROTAN — Three men of Rotan's four-man police force, including chief Charles LeFever, have resigned, citing conflicts with the city council.

Others who quit were patrolmen Johnny Curtis and Doug Cronburg. Patrolman John Singer is the only man left on the force.

Girl sentenced to 2 consecutive 15-year terms

BELTON, Texas (AP) — A state district judge said he could see no reason to "consider any form of leniency" while sentencing a 16-year-old girl to 30 years in prison for the murders of her mother and a female companion.

State District Judge C.W. Duncan Jr. sentenced Zina Denker to two consecutive 15-year prison terms Wednesday.

Miss Denker had testified that her mother made several homosexual advances to her prior to the January slayings.

Defense lawyers had argued for leniency saying that the girl's emotional instability was due in large part to her mother's homosexuality.

Two teen-age boys pleaded guilty to actually killing the women, but the judge held that Miss Denker persuaded them to commit the slayings.

Jurors that convicted her last month and recommended a sentence of 15 years on each count.

Her mother, Judith Hyatt, 38, and a companion Sheila Johnson, 30, were abducted from their trailer house early on the morning of Jan. 30. They were taken to a lake southeast of Killeen, where they were shot in the back with a shotgun.

Stanley David Boyens, 16, of Austin had pleaded guilty to both murders and was sentenced to 40 years in prison. He testified that Miss Denker convinced him during a night of sex to kill her mother.

Boyens and Miss Denker were certified as adults for the trial.

Another co-defendant, Michael Alan White, 17, of Austin pleaded guilty to Mrs. Johnson's murder and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

White said Mrs. Johnson was still alive after being shot so he hit her on the head with a rock. An autopsy showed she drowned.

Shrimpers concerned about regulations

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — As a threatening patch of Mexican oil floats dangerously near the coast, some South Texas shrimpers say the drifting crude is not their biggest worry.

"Me personally, I'm more worried about them," Joe Gayman said as he gazed toward federal inspectors.

"I would like to know what rules we are playing by," commercial fisherman Pat Pace asked the federal officials.

About 150 shrimpers gathered in a hotel meeting room here Wednesday night to talk about the spill that threatens their industry. Ralph Rayburn, executive director of the Texas Shrimp Association, said the state's shrimpers last year brought in $140 million worth of catch. The Brownsville fleet brought in about $36 million.

But now the shrimpers and fishermen are concerned that overzealous federal inspectors may unnecessarily keep parts of the catch from the consumers.

Victor Casper of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration insisted that the inspectors will play fair. Casper said the inspectors will be intensified as the oil drifts near the shore.

"But there will be no action taken until a significant and very detectable odor and flavor to the shrimp is noticed," Casper said.

Hector Herrera of the Texas Health Department also said inspection efforts will be increased. Herrera said his agency will try to work with the shrimpers to make sure the only good quality shrimp gets through.

Julius Collins, president of the association, said the Angelo books major musical

Students of the Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, will present a 2½-hour major musical, "Saturday's Warrior", free to the public at the City Hall Auditorium in San Angelo, Friday and Saturday.

The musical has been performed all over the United States. Performances will be 7:30 p.m. Friday, and 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The production is sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Woman nabbed on theft count

Dee La Velle Evans, Apartment 48 Sandra Gale Apartments, was arrested, transferred and released from county jail Tuesday. She was arrested Tuesday on suspicion of theft over $200 and under $1,000. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin at $3,500.

shrimpers can prevent problems with the inspectors.

"We have to bring good stuff in. If you see tar on it, you just throw it away," he said.

Rayburn said the spill could put a crushing end to what already has been a slow year in the Gulf.

"We're not doomsdayists, but realistically we're concerned," he said. "The shrimp industry has never been exposed to this type of threat."

Rayburn echoed federal officials' concern about inland waters. He said oil in the bays could have a 10-year effect on the shrimping industry if the spawning areas are damaged.

Steve Omberg of the National Weather Service suggested that the boats seek out cleaner waters. He said, "There's an awful lot of clean water in between."

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration is now carrying oil location reports on its marine forecasts.

The shrimpers also heard from their local congressman, U.S. Rep. Kika de la Garza, said he is impressed with the federal effort against the runaway oil.

"Everything that can be done is being done. Everything that could be done was done. But there just isn't that much expertise," he said.

The congressman was asked why U.S. officials were not allowed to help at the Bay of Campeche well site as soon as the well blew out in June.

"That's not our business," he replied.

One unsatisfied fisherman replied, "But pollution knows no borders, Mr. Congressman."

BOSTON (AP) — Despite the development of special breast X-rays and other diagnostic tools, the best way to find breast cancer is still a yearly physical exam, a study shows.
However, the researchers conclude that as women become more adept at examining themselves for breast cancer, home screening for the disease may become as effective as an annual checkup by a doctor.

Other health experts have urged that women who run a high risk of developing breast cancer should have a yearly X-ray, called a mammography.

But the latest report concludes this method is so inaccurate it is probably not worth the added doses of radiation, which some critics have said may itself cause breast cancer.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer among women. In the United States, 35,000 women are expected to die from it this year. The disease strikes nearly one out of 13 women.

About 1,000 women participated in the six-year study, conducted at St. Michael's Hospital Breast Clinic in Toronto. The research was directed by Dr. Leo J. Mahoney and published in today's New England Journal of Medicine.

The doctors found 30 new cases of breast cancer in the women, but only four of them were turned up by mammography. The rest were discovered when doctors or the women themselves found lumps in the patients' breasts.

The researchers noted that there is no evidence that early detection of breast cancer in a screening program leads to improved survival rates. Over the past 30 years, the frequency of death from breast cancer has remained virtually constant.

"If there is any advantage of early diagnosis of breast cancer, the most rewarding method of screening should be annual clinical breast examinations by physicians and less frequent mammographic examinations of women whose breasts remain clinically normal," they wrote.

Overall, the doctors discovered 128 new lumps in women's breasts, although most turned out to be benign. Of these, 66 percent were discovered by routine physical exam, 23 percent by breast self-examination and 10 percent accidentally by the patient.

However, during the last two years of the study, cancers in seven of 18 patients were identified by breast self-exams.
"It would appear that this screening method may become as useful as annual clinical breast examinations by physicians," the doctors wrote.

The women who participated in the study had a statistically higher than normal chance of developing breast cancer. They either had a previous breast cancer, a family history of the disease, a pregnancy after age 30 or a previous breast operation for a noncancerous disorder.

Terra Resources Inc., Houston, will drill a wildcat well in Howard County.
The 7,700-foot well is located 1 1/2 miles southwest of the Vealmoor, East (Canyon) field, separated by 7,520 and 7,606-foot failures, 1 1/2 miles northeast of the depleted one-well Nearco (Reef) field, separated by a 7,725-foot failure, and 12 miles north of Coahoma.

Location is 467 feet from the north and west lines of 12-31-2n-T&P.
The Vealmoor, East field produces from 7,414 feet.

The Nearco opener, Eugene E. Nearburg No. 1 W. D. Anderson Estate, drilled to 7,800 feet, was finished May 4, 1972 for 162 barrels of 46 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1,494-1, through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,691-93 feet.

The 7,725-foot failure, Fisher-Webb, Inc., No. 1 Anderson, abandoned April 7, 1978, picked the following tops on ground elevation of 2,595 feet; San Andres, 3,154 feet; Spraberry, 5,528 feet; lower Spraberry, 6,097 feet; Dean sand, 6,772 feet; Wolfcamp, 6,944 feet; and Canyon reef, 7,712 feet.

Honors roped by local posse

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse has represented Big Spring and Howard County in parades in Colorado City, Snyder, Brownfield and Lamesa recently.

The posse took second place in each of those towns, competing "against pretty stiff competition," according to Ruby Allred.

Randy Maynard, 12, rode with the posse in an Aug. 4 parade in Lamesa. Randy is the grandson of Al James and is from Lakenheath, England. It was his first parade.

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse had a trail ride recently in the Silver Heels Addition. They practiced precision riding.
The posse has an invitation to ride in Roby, east of Snyder, Aug. 23.

from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUG. 10, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is fine for combining your intuition and good judgment to make decisions on how to operate in the future. Be as cheerful as possible when in the company of outsiders.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use your intuition now and you can clear up puzzlements quickly and accurately. Follow the advice of a trusted adviser.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Come to the right decisions where personal matters are concerned. Join friendly groups and gain the data you need.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Follow through with any ideas you have about engaging in civic affairs and get good results. Take no risks in motion.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can now gain the data you need that will give you added income in the future. Don't neglect your health.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make interests you have more practical and you can become more successful. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are able to handle a partnership matter to the satisfaction of all concerned. Show mate you are generous and outgoing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study every phase of a new project you have in mind before putting it in operation. Show more understanding of co-workers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make early plans for weekend activities so that all will go smoothly for you. Strive or increased happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can handle home affairs most efficiently now, so get an early start on such. Think along more constructive lines.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to expand in career affairs and it is wise to spend this day studying just how to do so. Think objectively.

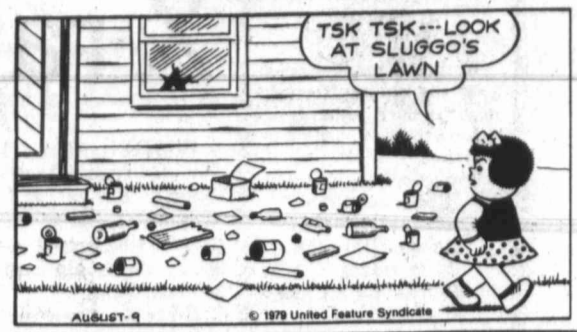

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make plans for adding to present income and start putting them across. Be careful of outsiders at this time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study every phase of your daily existence and figure out how to have greater abundance in the days ahead. Be more alert.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can get at the core of any situation and then handle it most intelligently. Give as fine an education as you can so that the success here will be heightened. Sports are important in this chart.

Two jailed in Colombia following mercy mission with Chagra in '77

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A paramedic and a flyer were jailed in Colombia with Jimmy Chagra for several weeks in 1977 following a mercy mission squelched by Colombian state police. Jeffrey Ellis, a paramedic, and Stephen Bolling, a pilot, said they were part of the crew of a chartered jet that flew Chagra into Colombia to rescue a burn victim in June 1977.
