No resolution for Palestinians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will not sponsor any resolution in the United Nations Security Council supporting Palestinian "rights" and is prepared to use its veto power to block any such measure, special Mideast envoy Robert Strauss said today.

In a television interview, Strauss said he and other senior advisers unanimously recommended to President Carter on Tuesday that the U.S. position be against passing a new resolution now because of the "hesitation" he found in both Israel and Egypt during recent talks.

Strauss said he expected Carter to endorse the recommendation "that we not go forward" with a resolution. The president, taking a vacation cruise on the Mississippi River, has not announced his decision.

If such a resolution is introduced in the Security Council debate that begins Thursday, the U. S. response will be "negative," Strauss said on NBC-TV's "Today" program.

In the council, the United States has the power, through its veto, to kill any modification of the longstanding U.N. resolutions affirming Israel's right to exist within defensible orders and deal with the Palestinian issue strictly as a refugee problem.

While reaffirming those resolutions, a U.N. committee's draft resolution scheduled for debate Thursday would have the council "affirm...that the Palestinian people should be enabled to exercise its inalienable rights of self-determination, national independence and sovereignty in Palestine."

The recommendation to Carter came after a nearly two-hour strategy meeting at the White House Tuesday chaired by Vice President Walter F. Mondale. Besides Strauss, the other participants include secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Following the meeting, three sources told The Associated Press that the United States would initially seek a postponement of a Security Council vote on the Palestinian issue until mid-September.

But if pro-Palestinian forces insist on an immediate showdown, the sources said, the United States would consider involving its veto power, a move that runs the risk of upsetting Saudi Arabia and other Arab governments.

By mid-September, Sadat and Begin will have met again and Strauss will have completed another Mideast trip, one that might take him to Jordan and Saudi Arabia, as well as to Egypt and Israel.

The U.S. approach to the debate had initially been to promote a resolution supporting Palestinian "rights" without defining them or supporting statehood.

MIDDLE EAST STRATEGY PLAN — Robert Strauss, left, President Carter's special Mideast negotiator and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance get together prior to meeting with reporters Tuesday at the White House to report on their meeting concerning the situation in the Middle East and how they will plan American strategy for the U.N. debate on the Palestinian issue.

U.S. sells fuel to Iran

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter said today he "personally approved" the export to oil-rich Iran of $47 million in kerosene and diesel fuel. The sale came at a time when the United States is experiencing shortages of the petroleum products.

Commerce Department licenses for the export of the products were issued Aug. 3, Commerce Department spokesman David Jewell said.

Asked about the sale during a town meeting in Burlington, Iowa, Carter said he "personally approved" it on a one-time basis because riots in Iran had interrupted that country's supply of kerosene, which is widely used by Iranians in their homes.

He said the amount involved equals only about one-fiftieth of the amount of oil that the United States imports from Iran in a single month.

Jay Vivari, a Department of Energy spokesman, said the decision to export the fuel — some of which also can be used as heating oil — was endorsed by the departments of State, Defense and Energy.

He declined to comment further, saying that "this is directly being treated as a Commerce action."

The situation was first reported by Oil Daily, a Washington-based industry publication.

Oil Daily said in today's editions that the sale was handled by Amerada Hess, the New York-based oil refining and marketing firm.

Carl Tursi, an Amerada Hess spokesman, could not immediately be reached for comment.

The sale price of the oil products was reported by the Oil Daily to be about 55 cents per gallon, or considerably below the prevailing 67 cents to 72 cents per gallon rate.

At the lower price, close to 2 million gallons of the fuel could be involved, industry sources said.

One government source, who asked that his name not be used, said the decision to sell the petroleum products had been made "at the highest levels of the Energy Department and White House." He declined to say whether President Carter had been consulted.

Oil has been in short supply worldwide, in part because of lingering effects of the three-month shutdown of the Iranian oil industry that accompanied the overthrow of the Shah of Iran.

Iran, a member of the Middle East oil-producing cartel, has been exporting less than 3 million barrels a day of crude in recent weeks, considerably below the level when the shah was in power.

Ambassador, Jewish leaders rebuff caucus

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Israel's ambassador and New York Jewish leaders rebuffed the campaign by Andrew Young's black caucus to get Israel to negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

"We have nothing to negotiate with the PLO except our own demise... and this is something we refuse to do," Ambassador Yehuda Z. Blum told reporters after meeting Tuesday with the Rev. Joseph Lowery and other leaders of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Blum said because of the PLO's declared aim of destroying the Jewish state "the PLO will under no circumstances be a negotiating partner" for Israel, and that it was because of this position that the PLO was excluded from the Camp David talks that produced the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty.

Howard Squadron, speaking for the Anti-Defamation League, the American Jewish Committee and the American Jewish League, said after meeting with the SCLC that the Jewish organizations had a "fundamental disagreement about the wisdom and consequence of the SCLC meeting with the PLO."

Lowery, the president of the SCLC, and other leaders of the organization met Monday with the PLO's U.N. observer, Zehdi Labib Terzi, and expressed "support for the human rights of all Palestinians, including the right of self-determination involving among other things their homeland." They also urged the PLO to recognize "the nationhood of Israel."

Despite the Israeli rebuff, the SCLC's board chairman, the Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy, said the organization would continue its campaign to "open the channels of communications" between Israel and the Palestinians.

They began their campaign after Young, a member of the SCLC staff for 10 years, resigned a week ago as America's U.N. ambassador because he held an unauthorized meeting with Terzi and tried to pass it off as a casual, unplanned social encounter.

Blum said he told the SCLC leaders "they should have waited until they saw me before they made a statement on the issue."

He said Lowery and the others "are less knowledgeable than the parties involved in the Middle East." He said Lowery's call for "reconciliation" between Israel and the PLO "reflects a misconception on his part of the PLO's true nature" that "could discourage the ongoing peace process."

Another black civil rights leader, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, met with Jewish leaders in Chicago and said the U.S. government should "stand unequivocally for Israel's security." But he said the United States should also begin talks with the Palestinians to advance peace in the Middle East.

Administration lauded for keeping costs down

Revised HC budget approved

The revised budget for the 1979-80 Howard College school year was approved by trustees at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday.

Expenditures will be up about three per cent over last year but property owners will be paying the same tax rate they did last year. The extra money needed to operate the school will be taken out of reserves.

The school administration was lauded by members of the board for keeping costs down. The tax rate will be 70 cents per $100 evaluation.

The approved budget for the year totals $2,281,485.

Resignation of three members of the college staff were accepted and the appointment of six new instructors was announced by Dr. Chaires Hays, college president, and approved by the board.

Those resigning were Ken Sprinkle, head of the Fine Arts Department, who is accepting employment with General Dynamics in Fort Worth; John Marder, Journalism instructor, who was added to the Kilgore College Staff; and Charlotte Greene, nurse instructor, who received a commission from the U.S. Army and is going on active duty.

Joining the staff are Arthur Casteller, head of the Music Department; Stephen Lacy, who will teach Journalism; Cynthia Hays, assigned to the Nursing course; Mark Adams, Student Activities, a recent graduate of Texas Tech; David Partlow Public Information; and Ann Duncan, assistant financial aids officer and secretary to the dean of students.

Casteller comes here from Lufkin and formerly was with Angelina College. Lacy formerly resided in Grand Prairie and was on the staff of the Grand Prairie Paper. Ms. Hays was associated with Hall-Bennett Hospital here. Partlow was assistant managing editor of the Athens, Tex., newspaper. Ms. Duncan formerly was employed at Webb AFB and is coming out of temporary retirement.

The firm of Rob and Sons was awarded a contract to install a refrigerated air conditioning system on a bid of $34,500. Among seven other firms contacted, only two entered bids. They were Johnson Construction, $35,512; and H. C. Rowden, $43,200.

Caldwell Electric also won a bid to install a transformer at the school. The firm agreed to undertake the job for $3,100. Other firms bidding on the jobs were Southwest Electric Supply, $4,050; and Cain Electric, $4,900.

Dr. Hays offered trustees a report on a 7,000 mile tour a college delegation made recently to examine facilities and programs of schools dedicated to the education of the deaf. Howard College is seeking government application is approved, the campus would be located on the site of the old Webb AFB.

"We are going to need lots of help if we get the school," Dr. Hays told the board, mentioning city and county officials, State Rep. Mike Ezzell, State Sen. Ray Farabee and U.S. Cong. Charles Stenholm among those whose cooperation would be sought in campaigning for the school.

It was announced that the school, for the first time, would benefit from a cotton crop which has been grown on land in Martin County obtained from the government. The income would be plowed back into investments on the proper. Hays also said that water could be made available to the acreage for stock feeding.

In his report to the trustees, Dr. Hays also said the job of installing irrigation pipe on campus was on target and about half completed.

It was revealed that an estimated 30 inmates at the new federal minimum security camp here had signed to take college courses, some of which will be offered on campus and others in the compound. Several other inmates will be bussed to Odessa to undertake study at UTPB.

Several representatives of the VOTE organization were present to initiate inquiries about the college budget and its availability to the public, enrollment records, financial records and claims that some college credits were not transferable to senior colleges.

Tech student becomes fifth murder victim in Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A Texas Tech graduate student became the fifth murder victim in five days here when he was sexually abused and beaten to death at his home.

The latest victim, 31-year-old Claude Ventry Bridges, was found lying on the floor of his home Tuesday by a professor concerned because Bridges had missed an oral test on his dissertation to receive his doctorate in education.

Preliminary autopsy reports showed Bridges' larynx was crushed. Furniture was overturned in his house, and he was found clad only in his underwear.

Bridges' wife, Mary Louise, was out of town.

Late Monday, police found Paul Raymond Benton, 74, lying face down at his home with his throat cut ear to ear. Benton, a landlord, died at a local hospital shortly after he arrived.

Police briefly questioned a former tenant of Benton's, but released him.

The board barely had enough members for a quorum. Other trustees present included Dr. P.W. Malone, Buddy Barr and Dr. Charles Warren.

The VOTE publication also suggested that there was a conflict of interest on the parts of Dr. Charles Warren, a member of the board; Dr. Hays; Dr. Bobby Wright, school vice president; and Mike Bruner, school business manager, in the sale of ice used in concessions stands by a corporation called "Spring City Ice Company."

Dr. Hays said the college had never purchased ice from the corporation.

The board barely had enough members for a quorum. Other trustees present included Dr. P.W. Malone, Buddy Barr and Dr. Charles Warren.

Teenager working on pole injured

A 19-year-old Big Spring man was injured this morning while working on a pole at the football field in Coahoma.

Shaffer Ambulance received a call at 10 a.m. that Travis Jones, 506 E. 15th, had fallen from a pole. He was transferred to Malone-Hogan Hospital with possible head injuries.

No other information was available at press time.

Focalpoint

Action /reaction: Teacher's wages

Q. How much an hour do teachers make and how many days a year do they work?

A. Regular classroom teachers work 183 days a year. This is mandated by the state. Though teachers officially work from 8:15 a.m. to 4 p.m. this figure is misleading because of the work done at home. But using an average of 7 1/2 hours a day and the daily wages of a beginning teacher, $49.01, the hourly wage would come to $6.53 and hour.

Calendar: Spring Dance Club

TODAY

The Spring Dance Club meets at the Eagle Lodge, 703 W. 3rd, at 7:30 p.m. There will be a live band and guests and senior citizens are welcome. Registration for Howard College evening students, 6-8:30 p.m.

THURSDAY

Registration of sophomore students at Howard College, 1 to 4 p.m. High school college style registration for freshmen and sophomores is today. Freshmen register from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sophomores register from 8 a.m. to 12 noon.

An organizational meeting of the Eagle Forum will be at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room at 7:30 p.m. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Goliad Student and Parent Orientation, 7:30 p.m., Goliad Gym.

Tops on TV: 'Betrayal'

A couple of fine actors highlight two made-for-TV movies featured on the small tube tonight. Rip Torn stars with Lesley Ann Warren in "Betrayal" airing at 8 p.m. on NBC. He plays a psychiatrist who allegedly lures her into a sexual relationship during therapy. At the same time, Michael Moriarty stars in "The Deadliest Season" on CBS. This one's about a hockey player who has to re-evaluate his principles after a tragic accident.

Car dealers might envy this record

Some automobile dealers might envy the record achieved by one individual who tried a Herald "people's ad" to sell a 1972 Dodge Polara.

The ad cited "low mileage, good condition" as credentials of the vehicle. A prospective buyer contacted the seller the first day the ad appeared and acquired possession of it.

For quick results, call 263-7331 and talk to one of the Herald's friendly sales people about an ad. If you have trouble wording it, they'll be glad to help.

Publisher, editor answer questions

"Should editorials be clearly identified as such?" "Should editorials be signed?" "Shouldn't the Herald occasionally print recipes for persons who are on sugar-free diets?"

Those were a few of the questions asked during Tuesday night's meeting of the Herald citizens Advisory Board. Members convened in the Conference Room at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce office.

The questions were directed to Publisher Tom Watson and Editor Tommy Hart. Some newspapers clearly identify editorials as such. Others elect not to sacrifice the space which would be needed to mark them for the readers.

Practically all newspapers refrain from signing editorials, operating on the theory that the stance taken by the writer is that of the paper itself.

Registration begins Thursday at college

Registration for the Fall semester at Howard College is scheduled from 1-4 p.m. Thursday, for sophomore students and from 8-noon and 1-4 p.m. Friday, Aug. 24, for freshmen students.

Evangelist Police beat well-heard Activity proves costly

A good-sized crowd gathered at the Comanche Trail Park Amphitheater Tuesday night to hear television evangelist Phil Arms deliver a message on "The Sex Obsession."

The Rev. Arms is conducting the week-long, area-wide crusade that is being sponsored here by the Big Spring Baptist Association. In a dynamic presentation, Arms charged that "America is given to sex obsession today to the point that God is going to withdraw from our society as he has in past civilizations and give us over to our sins and their results."

Gospel musicians Eddie and Alice Smith of Dallas are singing and directing the congregational singing and the crusade choir. Suzanne Arms, wife of evangelist Arms, is involved in the crusade as a pianist and soloist.

The crusade services are at 7:30 p.m. nightly through Thursday. The public is invited.

Nurseries for small children are available at both the Hillcrest and East Fourth Baptist Churches. In case of rain, the crusade will be conducted at Baptist Temple Church, 400 11th Place.

Indian parliament ready for return of Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's president dissolved the lower house of Parliament today in preparation for elections expected to return former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi to power after the collapse of two governments in less than a month.

Official sources said the balloting will take place in the first week of December. The official campaign period will start sometime in November, they said.

Mrs. Gandhi's faction of the old Congress Party, the Indira Congress, is expected to emerge from the voting as the biggest party in Parliament, paving the way for her return to power less than three years after she was voted out of office.

Deaths

J. Williams Mrs. R.C. (Jewell) Williams, 76, died at 9:20 p.m., Tuesday in a local hospital. She had been ill a month.

Services will be at 3:30 p.m., Thursday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, with the Rev. William H. Hatler, Broadview Baptist Church, Lubbock, officiating. Burial will be in Mount Olive Memorial Park.

She was born Nov. 10, 1902, in Poetry (Kaufman County), Tex. She married R.C. Williams Oct. 21, 1925, in Edgewood, Tex.

She was a member of Baptist Temple Church. She was a member of the Big Spring Chapter 67 Order of Eastern Star, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Ladies Auxiliary of GIA and had been active in PTA in years gone. At one time, she was a PTA president.

Only three incidents of major criminal activity were reported Tuesday but all proved expensive. Jimmy Ray Smith, 808 Edwards, told police that a resident of his rent house at 1502-A Virginia left town with more than a suitcase.

The Rev. Arms is conducting the week-long, area-wide crusade that is being sponsored here by the Big Spring Baptist Association. Vandals tossed an empty whiskey bottle through the large plate glass window at Wacker's General Store, sometime between 6 and 8:30 a.m. Tuesday. Damage was estimated at $500.

Two passengers in a New Mexico car were treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital and released Tuesday night. Angela and John Byrd, Clovis, N.M., were passengers in a car driven by Janie Byrd, also of Clovis, when the auto was involved in an accident at Edwards and Gregg, 7:47 p.m. Tuesday.

Acquisition of Furr's capital stock and the immediate infusion of a minimum of $20 million of additional capital to fund creditor payments and to accelerate rehabilitation of Furr's as a credit-worthy concern.

All secured and priority claims, which include either wages earned within 90 days before Furr's filed under Chapter XI of the Bankruptcy Act or taxes, will be paid in full immediately and in cash after the plan is confirmed. Furr's attorney Henry Simon Jr., said SDC had allotted $7.5 million for these claims.

Ninety days after the sale is confirmed, according to the plan, unsecured claims of $20,000 or less and larger claims voluntarily reduced to $2,000 will be paid in full. Also within that 90-day period, the plan calls for a cash payment of up to 36 percent of Furr's remaining unsecured claims, will another cash payment of up to 9 percent on those claims to follow in six months.

The balance of the unsecured claims is expected to be paid in six annual installments in varying percentages, Simon said. Furr's supermarket in Big Spring is a part of the chain.

Riverboat campaign lands today

ABOARD THE DELTA QUEEN (AP) — President Carter's Mississippi riverboat campaign for his energy program was putting ashore today in Burlington, Iowa, where 7,000 "town meeting" tickets were snapped up three hours after they were offered, first-come, first-served.

"People lined up as many as 500 at a time" when the tickets were offered by the White House advance team at 9 a.m. Saturday, said Peggy McCormally of Burlington, whose husband, John, publishes the Hawk Eye — touted as the first newspaper to support Carter's 1976 presidential bid. By noon, folks from Burlington and nearby towns in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri had cleaned out the supply, she said.

On Tuesday, the fourth-day of his seven-day cruise, Carter spent 41 minutes as host of a radio talk show in Davenport, Iowa. The "call-in" format was reversed for the guest host, as Carter dialled 13 persons pre-selected by the League of Women Voters from 1,000 applicants.

His questioners were all friendly and generous with their praise.

Cindy Wolf, "just a little person," asked what she could do as an individual to improve America.

The president, after suggesting several ways to save energy, told her: "You can inventory your life ... and use your own initiative, instead of waiting for a public official, even a president, to tell you and others what must be done."

Another listener, confused, asked, "Who is this?"

"My name is Jimmy Carter," the guest host said.

The woman's question: "How do you like Davenport?"

Carter's answer: "Davenport is one of my favorite places."

In response to another question, the president denied he is thinking about importing nuclear wastes from other countries for storage in the United States.

From Davenport, Carter traveled across the river to Moline, Ill., where he toured a John Deere farm implement plant and watched a demonstration of a "biomass converter," which the company is trying to perfect.

The machine, bigger than a house trailer, burns chopped corncobs in a special furnace, producing a low-grade combination of flammable gases used to help power a 212-horsepower diesel engine that, in turn, powers a 100-kilowatt electrical generator.

Carter, who asserted his campaigning is on behalf of his energy program rather than for his own re-election, said the experimental machine represents the sort of private initiative needed to develop alternatives to imported oil.

Drum corp finals in Alabama attracts 26 Big Springers

Big Spring High School band director Steve Waggoner and 25 other Big Springers went to the Drum Corp International finals in Birmingham, Ala., last weekend. Waggoner said he and the other Big Spring band directors wanted to educate themselves about the newest developments in drum and bugle corps shows. Waggoner said Big Spring band directors get some of their ideas for shows from the contest. The trip enthralls the students and directors, he said.

The Big Spring high school band uses the same style as drum and bugle corps, including rifle and flag drill teams. The corps marching in the contests were composed of drums and two-valve bugles of all sizes.

Around 16 of those going were band students. "It's easier for them to see than to try to tell them," said Waggoner.

Though the contest started Wednesday the group didn't leave until Friday morning. They watched the 12 corps in the finals compete on Saturday and flew home on Sunday. The contest was won by the Blue Devils from California.

Vocational nursing class Graduation ceremonies will be held Friday

Graduation ceremonies for the 1979 vocational nursing class will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Howard College auditorium, according to Ramona Harris, director of vocational nursing at Howard College.

Twenty-three students are slated to receive their certificates of completion and school pins. Brian J. Caplan, M.D. of Malone and Hogan Clinic, will give the commencement address.

Dr. Bobby Wright, vice president for instruction, will be in charge of the program. Invocation and benediction will be given by Dr. Lee Butler, chaplain at Big Spring State Hospital.

Graduating students will be presented their certificates by Dr. Wright, and school pins will be given by Ramona Harris, R.N.; June Hutchings, R.N.; and Jean Morris, R.N.

Candidates for graduation include Carolyn Baker, Melanie Beeson, Tonya Boyd, Helen Chapman, Jena Clark, Melinda Cox, Rita Franco, Mary Ann Garcia, Jane Gilmore, Lori Hartfield and Debra Jones.

Other candidates include Linda King, Beth Kizer, Sandra Magers, Kathy Mase, Nikki Matthis, Susan Nixon, Cheryl Anne Reed, Toni Rodriguez, Opal Stull, Janice Wagner, Rita White and Louise Williams.

Weather Storms uproot trees, damage roofs Tuesday

By the Associated Press

Thunderstorms were noted throughout Texas late Tuesday and early today as storm lines, some producing heavy rain and strong winds, rolled through the north-eastern and north central portions of the state.

Heavy storms, accompanied by gusty winds and hail, ripped through portions of West Texas Tuesday, uprooting trees and damaging roofs.

A tornado ripped the roof of a house in Stephens County before returning to the clouds. No injuries were reported.

Gusty winds that heavily damaged roofs and scattered debris were reported Tuesday in the West Texas communities of Eastland, Ranger, Morton Valley, Olden, Coleman and Camp Colorado.

Other thunderstorms were reported along the Rio Grande from Del Rio to Laredo.

Skies were generally fair outside the thunderstorm areas.

Heat doesn't relent during September

Most residents of this state are cognizant of the fact that the calendar says fall officially begins Sept. 23, but they are also aware the calendar lies.

The Texas heat hangs around a lot longer. The nights cool off in late September but the sun bears down during September and sometimes through much of October.

A TEXAS A&M University expert, State Climatologist Dr. John Griffiths, warns that heart exhaustion and heat stroke will remain a threat until temperatures abate toward the end of next month.

The peak of the summer heat is now upon us. The extreme warmth seems more oppressive still when showers fall, as they did in the Big Spring area earlier this week, because the humidity rises.

Although it is not often fatal, heat stroke and exhaustion are of major concern to senior citizens who comprise over half of all heat-related deaths.

The best preventive step, aside from using common sense measures such as avoiding mid-day exposure, is to drink plenty of liquids and increase the intake of salty foods. So says Dr. Elvin Smith, associate dean of medicine at Texas A&M.

Persons with kidney and heart problems, however, should consult their physicians before taking this step.

Smith, who is an officer of the state-level American Heart Association, cautioned that salt tablets should be considered only in case of heavy exertion and that heavy exercise should be limited to the cooler parts of the day.

THE NUMBER of persons who died from heart-related causes between 1975 and 1977 might surprise you — the toll reached 600 nationwide. Two-thirds were men and more than half were over age 55.

While those over 60 face a threat,

Smith said infants wrapped too heavily during the summer could also suffer from heat stress.

Heat exhaustion, also known as prostration or collapse, differs from heat stroke in that it involves fainting with profuse sweating.

In heat stroke, which is a complete breakdown of the body's natural cooling system, sweating is absent. Heat stroke can be fatal if not attended promptly.

Any person found unconscious and not sweating during hot days should be taken immediately to an emergency room. Dousing with cold water or ice en route is also helpful, according to the A&M scientist.

It's not fair

Around the rim

Robbi Crow

It isn't fair!

It just isn't fair!

A man puts in his eight hours a day at work, comes home, takes his shoes off in the living room, his socks off in the bedroom and his shirt off in the kitchen; grabs a bag of Doritos and a Dr. Pepper, proceeds back to the living room, turns on the television and plops down in his favorite recliner, that his wife got him for Christmas.

YOU MIGHT as well hang an 'out of order' sign around his neck because it's for sure he's not going to budge for anything short of the house catching on fire (unless it's to get up and get another Dr. Pepper and another bag of Doritos during a commercial break on a Star Trek rerun).

"Honey, the baby's crying and I've got my arms elbow-deep in a bowl of raw hamburger meat and tomato paste making a meatloaf. Would you please see about her?"

No answer. "Dear, the phone's ringing and I just cut my myself with the knife while chopping up the onions for the meatloaf. Would you please answer it?"

No answer. "Darling, there's a man in the kitchen with a gun and he's coming right at me?"

Maybe, just maybe, with a statement like that, the wife will get some sort of reaction.

"Okay, whatever you say." "For all he knows, she could have been shot, raped and kidnapped. He wouldn't even know she was gone until commercial time again when he goes back to the kitchen to get more Dr Pepper and Doritos. Then his main concern would probably be, "Why isn't dinner ready yet?"

"Well, you see sweetheart, I was kidnapped and I really haven't had time to fix it."

"Well hurry up, I'm hungry," he says with a mouth full of Doritos. Boy, wouldn't it be nice if women could come home from work, lie down on the couch with some Doritos, a Tab and watch the "Dick Van Dyke Show" and let the husband worry about the baby, meatloaf and kidnappers?

NOWADAYS, MOST women work because they have to. Sure, some may say their working because they want to; it gives them a sense of value and importance, but believe me, with gas peaking at $1 per gallon, that reason is only secondary.

Anyway, the point is, a woman must put in her first set of eight hours from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., but that's only the beginning (and probably the easiest part of her day).

You see, when she gets home, there's the breakfast dishes to clean up at 5 p.m. left to from 7:30 a.m. Then, supper must be cooked, the dishes washed and the kid's have to be bathed.

Now when everyone's asleep, baby in his crib, the wild indians in their bunk beds and good ole dad's sawing logs in his favorite recliner, that's when it's time for the wife to catch up on her washing (which is a week behind), sew the hem back in her daughter's dress which she ripped out playing jump rope at school; and finish crocheting that baby blanket intended for a friend who just had a baby (2 years ago).

Well, the way I look at it, if we're going to help make the living by working eight hours a day, sometime six and seven days a week, it wouldn't hurt members of the opposite sex to do a little broom pushing, dust mopping and dishwashing.

Right ladies? So men, out of those favorite recliners, turn off that TV, put on your aprons and get busy! It's the maid's day off today!

Andy Young envoi

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Concerning the departure of Andrew Young, a few observations:

1) What he actually did — namely, talk with the PLO — ought not to be considered a capital offense. Indeed it strains the imagination, in modern circumstances, to suppose that one would decline to talk to a representative of an organization merely because that organization was guilty of murdering schoolchildren. The Israelis engaged in systematic terrorism in order to midwife the state of Israel, and no one shrinks from shaking the hand of Mr. Begin merely because of his active association with the Irgun. The Algerians expanded the standard encyclopedia of torture in pressing their case against France during the revolution, and are everywhere treated with deference.

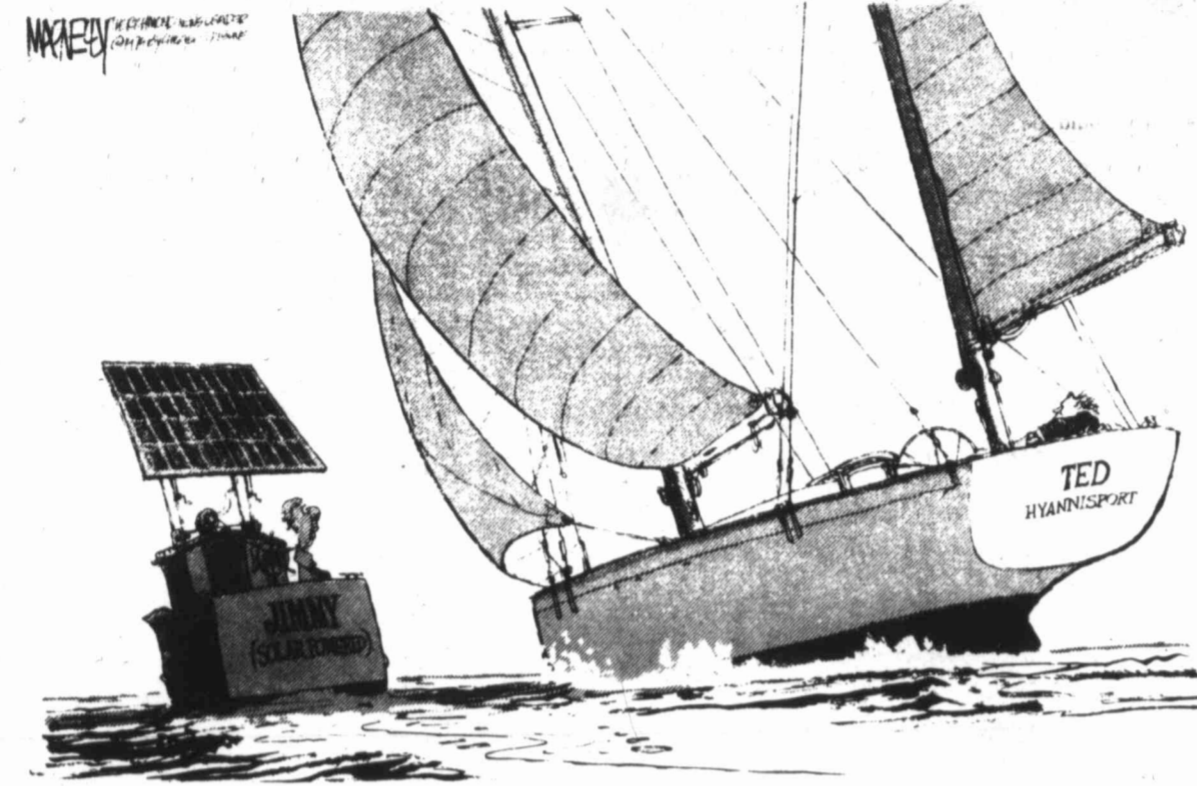

IT IS WORTH noting, in passing, that what makes the difference is whether revolutions succeed, not the means by which they achieve success. If George Washington had been caught by the British he would (quite properly) have been hanged as a traitor. Instead he is the Father of his Country, and his name is invoked on the 200th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence with reverence by the great-great-great-granddaughter of the man who could have hanged him.

If Arafat succeeds in midwiving a Palestinian state somewhere in the Mideast, he will show up at all the social functions in Washington and the U.N., and he will banter as casually with the prime minister of Israel as the prime minister of Israel nowadays banter with the president of Egypt, whom he was denouncing not so long ago in accents indistinguishable from those used against Arafat.

2) Timing is, of course, the great qualifier. Timing, and latent strength. I asked Gen. Seignious, our chief representative in the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and therefore the principal advocate of Salt II, whether, mutatis mutandis, he'd have urged a SALT II accord with Adolph Hitler, and his diplomatic but entirely evasive reply was that Adolph Hitler didn't have atom bombs, which is a circumlocution for saying: Yes, we would have dealt with Hitler. Because SALT II is not, said Gen. Seignious, based on any trust of the Russians, no more would SALT II have been based on any faith in Hitler. So that the diplomatic question is properly described as: Under what circumstances does it become useful to negotiate with the PLO? And: Is it possible to arrange these circumstances so as to get you some concessions going in?

Henry Kissinger, in his forthcoming book, recounts with astonishing detail the humiliations he endured at the hands of the North Vietnamese negotiators at all those supersecret meetings in Paris, concerning which he would have been expected to lie if Newsweek or whoever had got wind of them. Those negotiations were taking place at a time when the North Vietnamese were gleefully killing 500 Americans per week. Nixon's objective was to put an end to the war. Andrew Young's objective — there can be no reason not to take his word for it — was to flush out an impasse.

3) CHANCE DIPLOMATIC encounters sometime have interesting extemporaneous consequences. It wasn't long after the Bay of Pigs that Richard Goodwin, acting as special representative to President John F. Kennedy at an OAS meeting, found himself at a diplomatic reception in South America where, lo and behold, Che Guevara was also present, and before long the two fell into conversation, and the diplomatic headlines throughout the world exploded with the piquancy of it all.

Comedian's nose 'lives' as symbol

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Over the past several years my husband's nose has become red and he has started looking like the comedian W.C. Fields. It also drips almost constantly during the day. His doctor diagnosed the condition as acne rosacea. He claims it cannot be cured, but can be controlled with medicine. He has been using antibiotics for six months with little improvement. Do you have any suggestions? — Mrs. C.B.M.

The late comedian's nose lives on as the symbol of a problem that plagues many. There is swelling and often localized areas of infection. The condition is known medically as rhinophyma. Networks of tiny blood vessels may be seen in the skin. It is most common in men.

Alcohol is not the cause, but over-indulgence in this beverage, as well as in tea, coffee and highly-seasoned foods can certainly aggravate the condition, which they may or may not have for Mr. Fields. Other factors can be involved, as gland problems or vitamin deficiencies. The W.C. Fields nose is certainly not a universal sign of an alcoholic.

People with the problem should avoid extremes of temperature (hot or cold) also the substances mentioned above. Antibiotics (tetracycline) are used to treat any infection present, and hydrocortisone may control the skin symptoms. Dilated blood vessels can be treated with electrolysis. Others have resorted to dermabrasion (sanding), or electrosurgery to remove excess tissue. The dripping you mention is not related to the rhinophyma. Could mean an allergy, though.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In December of 1977, I was hospitalized for a kidney stone. I passed the stone, so I didn't need the surgery. After the doctor analyzed the stone he told me to cut down on dairy products and put me on hydrochlorothiazide. I took this diuretic for nine months, then cut it out because I felt its disadvantages outweighed its advantages. Now my doctor insists that I begin using the diuretic again. I prefer not to take drugs unnecessarily. Why is a diuretic given for treatment of kidney stones? I am 23. — I.G.

Hydrochlorothiazide is a standard medicine for prevention of certain calcium stones. Dairy products, especially milk (because of its vitamin D content) may contribute to the calcium problem, hence the restriction. The diuretic (water pill) helps the body get rid of excess calcium in the urine. You should follow your doctor's instructions with regard to diet and medicine. Both are necessary. You are lucky to have this problem diagnosed and treated at such a young age.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I'm 27 years old and my feet are the cause of much agony. The left foot consists of a corn on the little toe, a callous under the foot and one under the big toe. My right foot consists of a corn on the little toe and the one next to it. I also have a dark and discolored toe. My feet constantly ache and are quite repulsive looking. I cannot participate in sports. While reading your column I notice you have material on the care of feet. If you think it can help me, please write back. — Mrs. J.B.

No reading on earth is going to help you. Your feet are a disaster area and you need a thorough examination by an orthopedist or foot specialist. Most foot problems stem from improper shoes or improper foot use. Such problems don't usually arise until a later age. Toodle off to a specialist to see what needs to be done. Take a good look at your shoes.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I'm a frisbie freak and I fly for hours every day in the summer. Is it possible to get tendonitis from this? — N.D.

Certainly. You can call this "frisbie elbow." The treatment is the same as with any tendonitis — rest of the joint,

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am interested in Jesus' words to the thief on the cross in Luke 23:43 "And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise." Is paradise the same thing as heaven? — S.B.C.

DEAR S.B.C.: Yes, it is another term of heaven. It especially seems to be a term which stresses the glory and bliss of heaven, as well as its security. The term, incidentally, had originally been used in ancient Persia to speak of the walled garden of the king — a garden beautiful and secure. As Jesus speaks to the thief on the cross — a man who is in the midst of great misery — He tells him that all the pain and unhappiness of this world will soon be replaced by the joy of heaven.

The term "paradise" is used two other times in the New Testament. In both instances it clearly refers to heaven itself. In 2 Corinthians 12:4 Paul speaks about an experience God heat, anti-inflammation medicine, or, if the inflammation is great, cortisone injection. Rest and heat usually do the job. Happy flying. Try the other arm while resting your dominant side.

There's an old saying — if your feet hurt, you hurt all over. Dr. Donohue's booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet," shows you how to avoid and take care of foot problems. To get your copy, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What do you think of lecithin? Is it true that the product can aid those who had atherosclerosis? I had a nutrition course while in school and one of the lectures was about lecithin and its effects on atherosclerosis. Do you think that my father, who has had a bypass operation, would be helped by lecithin? — S.J.F.

No matter where you heard it, it is not true that lecithin will help avoid heart or artery problems. The health food industry has convinced a lot of customers that it will lower blood cholesterol, preventing plaques (atherosclerosis) and, hence, heart attacks and strokes. These claims are completely unfounded on the basis of medical research.

Lecithin is not an essential part of a diet in humans. Your body makes all you or your father needs. The lecithin will not harm him, but it is not medically helpful.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

granted to him. It was a vision of paradise, or heaven, and he tells us that it was, "inexpressible" — far greater than anything we could ever imagine. In Revelation 2:7 the promise of life in paradise is given to those who are faithful to Christ. Once again paradise is a term for heaven, for it is in heaven that the tree of life will be found (cf. Rev. 22:2).

The greatest hope of the Christian is the hope of eternal life in heaven with God. I am convinced we cannot begin to imagine all that God has for us in eternity, but we know it is wonderful. "No eye has seen, no ear has heard, no mind has conceived what God has prepared for those who love him" (1 Corinthians 2:9, NIV).

How can we be sure we are going to heaven? You and I will go to heaven the same way the thief on the cross did — by God's grace in Jesus Christ. Like the thief, you can trust Christ for your salvation, and you can know that some day you will go to be with Him throughout all eternity.

Daily nightmares

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's solution to the Vietnam war was to replace American soldiers with quantities of modern weaponry, which would in theory enable the South Vietnamese to defend themselves without U.S. troops.

In practice, of course, the theory failed miserably. And when our puppets in Saigon collapsed, some $5 billion worth of U.S. armaments fell into the hands of the North Vietnamese victors, leaving them with one of the largest arsenals in the world.

This potential for international mischief was a nightmare for U.S. policymakers, as we have learned from secret documents and interviews with officials who were in power at the time. Would the Vietnamese communists turn their deadly booty over to other revolutionary forces or terrorist groups unable to purchase weapons through other channels?

IT WAS NO idle worry; that much was made clear by an inventory of captured armaments the Central Intelligence Agency compiled shortly after the fall of Saigon in the spring of 1975. The wealth of military equipment turned over to the South Vietnamese by the Pentagon — and subsequently lost to the communists — included 1,100 aircraft, 400 naval vessels, 50,000 motor vehicles and millions of small arms and ammunition.

While the CIA tried to keep tabs on the whereabouts of the captured hardware, officials in Washington frantically tried to decide what to do if Hanoi started peddling the lethal bonanza on the world market.

"A number of countries in Southeast Asia, the Middle East and Africa are reportedly interested in obtaining the U.S. equipment," one CIA report warned. "The Nigerians are said to be interested in F-5s, helicopters, 105-mm. howitzers and M-16 rifles." Libya was also interested in the purchase of M-16s. One CIA report noted the presence of a landing craft loaded with U.S. howitzers tied up in Haiphong harbor, apparently ready for shipment.

"There were fairly hard indications that Hanoi was thinking of turning it into hard cash," a State Department official said of the captured armaments.

What were the U.S. options? "We would have bought the stuff ourselves if they wanted to sell it," one high-level planner told our associate Peter Grant. "But we were very worried that Hanoi would fund every insurgency in Asia."

If it seemed likely that insurgents or terrorists might wind up with the U.S. munitions, the source said, "we would have taken pretty stringent measures" to prevent the transfer. The options that were considered, we were told, included the use of military force.

Another possibility was purchase of the U.S. arms by friendly governments. Brent Scowcroft, National Security Council director, suggested that this might be a development to be encouraged as a way of keeping the arms out of unfriendly hands, according to the confidential transcript of a meeting of top officials in the Ford administration.

William Clements, then-deputy defense secretary, pointed out the one trump card the United States held. "The North Vietnamese are going to have a considerable amount of difficulty selling this equipment unless there is some assurance of spare parts from us," he said, according to the transcript.

Clements and Scowcroft thought it might be a good thing to encourage friendly governments to buy the captured arms. But Morton Abramowitz, deputy assistant defense secretary for East Asian affairs, raised an objection:

"If the president gets asked at a news conference about supplying spare parts to a country which has purchased these captured weapons from us," he said, "it is a public relations question. Politically he would have to say no."

IN THE END, Jerry Ford's advisers decided that the best course would be to discourage purchase of the captured arms and to give no assurances of spare-parts supply. As it turned out, the options never had to be called into play; the North Vietnamese decided to hang onto most of the arms themselves. We'll report what happened to some of the booty in a future column.

SOUND OFF: Q. Why can't the government turn over some of its huge surplus of sugar for the production of gasohol? — Ronald Scioneaux, Vacherie, La.

A. As a matter of fact, Publiker Industries of Greenwich, Conn., has already offered to exchange alcohol fuel for raw sugar. This would save millions and reduce oil consumption. The offer is entangled somewhere in the red tape at the Agriculture Department. Discouraged over the delay, Publiker resubmitted the offer to the Energy Department. So far, the company hasn't even received a response. There seems to be no problem that the bureaucrats cannot prolong. Apparently, they would rather study problems than solve them.

Q. Please check into the use of jeeps by the Postal Service. The city letter carrier should be put back on his feet. — John J. McGuire, retired letter carrier, Buffalo, N.Y.

A. In city traffic, jeep mail not only is costly but slow. Every one-cent rise in gasoline prices costs the Postal Service a whopping $3 million. To save on money and fuel, the Postal Service has already promised to put thousands of carriers back on their feet. Mailmen often can deliver the mail faster on foot than in jeeps stalled in heavy traffic.

Q. Is it true convicted criminals can draw government salaries while they serve time in prison? — John Kearns, Springfield, Ohio.

A. True. Uncle Sam regards inmates as an underprivileged minority. They are, therefore, eligible for federal, earn-while-you-learn pay. They can collect limited paychecks as long as they're learning new skills.

Brinks truck one of victims

More armed robberies in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten more New York banks have been hit by armed robbers, and gunmen pulled off a $2 million heist while police were declaring war against the daring daylight raids with the formation of a 30-man shotgun squad.

Within four hours Tuesday, robbers attempted to hold up 10 banks in Manhattan, the Bronx and Queens, raising to 120 the number of bank jobs in the city since Aug. 1. The old August record was 84 in 1977.

In another holdup, three skmask hooded gunmen using a fish delivery truck scooped up money bags being loaded into a Brink's armored truck at the Chase Manhattan Bank's main headquarters in the city's Financial District.

They took two hostages, a Brink's security guard and a restaurant employee, who later were released unharmed.

Brink's offered a $100,000 reward.

Tuesday's bank robbery total was three short of the city record for robberies in one day — 13, set July 27. Authorities say there have been 575 bank robberies in New York so far this year.

"There is a sense on the street that it's open season on banks. We have to turn that around," said Police Commissioner Robert McGuire, who promised to commit "a substantial amount of our resources" to the burgeoning bank robbery problem.

attempted robberies Tuesday. There were no injuries reported in any of the holdups.

Authorities blame the soaring bank robbery statistics on a variety of factors, including excess publicity, inflation and what McGuire labeled "cafeteria-style" banking — no bars in front of bank tellers and often no armed guard in the bank.

John Robert James of the Risk Insurance Management Society said banks are not insured against small robberies, so most try to minimize their losses.

"You're not looking to pay out a large amount and at the same time, you're not looking to jeopardize your employees or customers," he said. "You want to get them (robbers) in and out with a minimum of trouble."

Bank robberies have been on the upswing nationally, and the FBI projects a 13 percent increase this year. But in New York City bank robberies were up 27.3 percent in the first seven months of the year.

SCENE OF THE CRIME — This is the scene of the Brinks armored truck robbery Tuesday at Chase Manhattan Bank's main headquarters in New York's financial district. The truck, left, was loaded with 49 bags containing a reported $2,018,000, and was held up while two of the three guards were collecting money from the bank. Three ski-masked gunmen took 43 of the bags containing an estimated $2 million. Two men were arrested in

Paving, grant to draw action

COAHOMA — The Coahoma City Council will discuss street paving at its regular meeting Thursday, 7:30 p.m., in the City Hall.

Bob Taylor, project director of a state grant that has been approved for the purchase of equipment for the Coahoma Police Department, will give the council an update on the progress of the grant.

Taylor said the grant was approved three weeks ago. The new equipment has not yet been secured, he said.

Other items on the agenda include:

- Fire department.
- Animal ordinance;
- Building permit ordinance;
- Firemen's pension commissioner;
- Buddy Anderson's water and sewer.

Probe of sharp increase in bread prices sought

ODESSA — The Odessa Central Labor Union has asked the National AFL-CIO to request the Administration in Washington for an investigation of the sharp increase in the price of bread, it has been announced by D.L. Willis, president of the Central Labor Union.

"The price of a loaf of white 20 ounce bread at the beginning of our monitoring period June of '79, was 55 cents per loaf for the brand name Mrs. Baird. The price today (Aug. 22) has risen to 76 cents, with rises on other loaves.

"We believe that this is an unconscionable gouge of the consumers in the Midland, Texas, area. We also believe that if a similar situation is occurring in other areas in the nation, that it should be investigated.

"We urge and request that the National AFL-CIO call upon the appropriate agency of the government to investigate the reason for the sudden price increase of bread in the market place."

The request was made in a mailogram sent to President George Meany of the AFL-CIO as follows:

"Within the last 3 weeks a national new item appeared on the network on one of the TV stations in this area. This news report showed wheat piled upon the ground with a statement "a bumper crop of wheat with a surplus is expected by our Nation this year.

Jan Whittington awarded $1,200 scholarship

Jan Lea Whittington, a 1979 graduate of Big Spring High School, has been awarded a $1,200 Permian Honor scholarship from the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation.

Whittington earned eligibility for the scholarship by placing first in the 1978 and 1979 state meet prose reading contests. She was a member of the National Honor Society, French Club, National Forensic League, newspaper staff and Texas Forensic Association. She is listed in Who's Who Among American Youth, and was selected "Best Interpreter" in 1977 and 1978, and "Best Actress" in 1976 and 1977.

Whittington plans to attend Odessa College and major in journalism.

The Permian Honor group provided funds for five of the grants, awarded by TILF on the basis of participation in UIL literary and academic contests, and other school-community achievements.

"Jan was among the outstanding Texas high school graduates of 1979," said Dr. Rhea Williams, TILF secretary. "She compiled a remarkable record of academic and extracurricular success and we're proud to have her as a Permian Honor scholar."

Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders place halts on 'art dealers'

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders have won two court battles protecting their image.

Does Dallas. The Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans upheld the suit involving the poster sale and the Second U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York upheld a ruling barring distribution of the film.

Both decisions involved only preliminary court orders. The issues will be resolved in federal court trials.

The courts upheld two suits Monday filed by the cheerleader's organization, one to ban the sale of a poster featuring five former Cowboy cheerleaders with their halter tops untied and one barring distribution of the X-rated film, "Debbie

Heat doesn't relent during September

Most residents of this state are cognizant of the fact that the calendar says fall officially begins Sept. 23, but they are also aware of the calendar lies.

The Texas heat hangs around a lot longer. The nights cool off in late September but the sun bears down during September and sometimes through much of October.

A TEXAS A&M University expert, State Climatologist Dr. John Griffiths, warns that heart exhaustion and heat stroke will remain a threat until temperatures abate toward the end of next month.

The peak of the summer heat is now upon us. The extreme warmth seems more oppressive still when showers fall, as they did in the Big Spring area earlier this week, because the humidity rises.

Although it is not often fatal, heat stroke and exhaustion are of major concern to senior citizens who comprise over half the of all heat-related deaths.

The best preventive step, aside from using common sense measures such as avoiding mid-day exposure; is to drink plenty of liquids and increase the intake of salty foods. So says Dr. Elvin Smith, associate dean of medicine at Texas A&M.

Persons with kidney and heart

problems, however, should consult their physicians before taking this step.

Smith, who is an officer of the state-level American Heart Association, cautioned that salt tablets should be considered only in case of heavy exertion and that heavy exercise should be limited to the cooler parts of the day.

THE NUMBER of persons who died from heart-related causes between 1975 and 1977 might surprise you — the toll reached 600 nationwide. Two-thirds were men and more than half were over age 55.

While those over 60 face a threat,

Smith said infants wrapped too heavily during the summer could also suffer from heat stress.

Heat exhaustion, also known as prostration or collapse, differs from heat stroke in that it involves fainting with profuse sweating.

In heat stroke, which is a complete breakdown of the body's natural cooling system, sweating is absent. Heat stroke can be fatal if not attended promptly.

Any person found unconscious and not sweating during hot days should be taken immediately to an emergency room. Dousing with cold water or ice en route is also helpful, according to the A&M scientist.

Andy Young envoi

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Concerning the departure of Andrew Young, a few observations:

1) What he actually did — namely, talk with the PLO — ought not to be considered a capital offense. Indeed it strains the imagination, in modern circumstances, to suppose that one would decline to talk to a representative of an organization merely because that organization was guilty of murdering schoolchildren. The Israelis engaged in systematic terrorism in order to midwife the state of Israel, and no one shrinks from shaking the hand of Mr. Begin merely because of his active association with the Irgun. The Algerians expanded the standard encyclopedia of torture in pressing their case against France during the revolution, and are everywhere treated with deference.

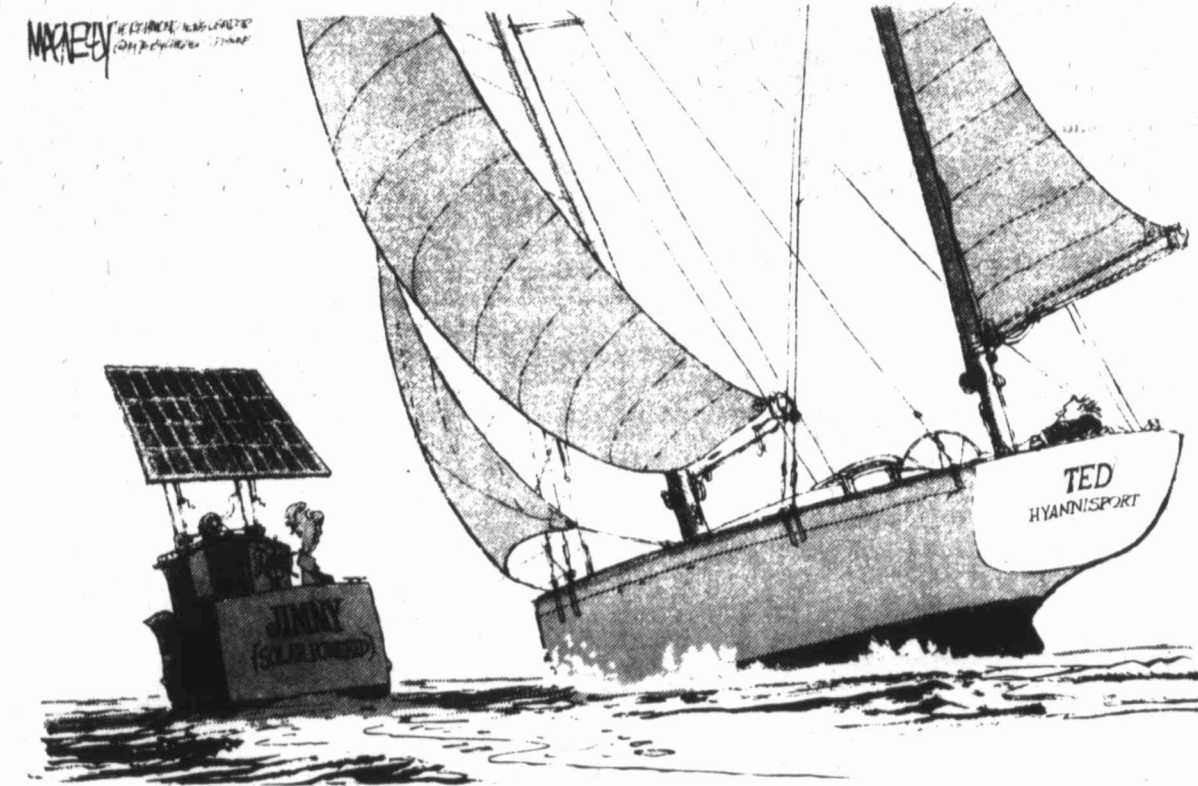

IT IS WORTH noting, in passing, that what makes the difference is whether revolutions succeed, not the means by which they achieve success. If George Washington had been caught by the British he would (quite properly) have been hanged as a traitor. Instead he is the Father of his Country, and his name is invoked on the 200th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence with reverence by the great-great-great-granddaughter of the man who could have hanged him.

If Arafat succeeds in midwiving a Palestinian state somewhere in the Mideast, he will show up at all the social functions in Washington and the U.N., and he will banter as casually with the prime minister of Israel as the prime minister of Israel nowadays banter with the president of Egypt, whom he was denouncing not so long ago in accents indistinguishable from those used against Arafat.

2) Timing is, of course, the great qualifier. Timing, and latent strength. I asked Gen. Seignious, our chief representative in the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and therefore the principal advocate of Salt II, whether, mutatis mutandis, he'd have urged a SALT II accord with Adolph Hitler, and his diplomatic but entirely evasive reply was that Adolph Hitler didn't have atom bombs, which is a circumlocution for saying: Yes, we would have dealt with Hitler. Because SALT II is not, said Gen. Seignious, based on any trust of the Russians, no more would SALT II have been based on any faith in Hitler. So that the diplomatic question is properly described as: Under what circumstances does it become useful to negotiate with the PLO? And: Is it possible to arrange these circumstances so as to get you some concessions going in?

Henry Kissinger, in his forthcoming book, recounts with astonishing detail the humiliations he endured at the hands of the North Vietnamese negotiators at all those supersecret meetings in Paris, concerning which he would have been expected to lie if Newsweek or whoever had got wind of them. Those negotiations were taking place at a time when the North Vietnamese were gleefully killing 500 Americans per week. Nixon's objective was to put an end to the war. Andrew Young's objective — there can be no reason not to take his word for it — was to flush out an impasse.

3) CHANCE DIPLOMATIC encounters sometime have interesting extemporaneous consequences. It wasn't long after the Bay of Pigs that Richard Goodwin, acting as special representative to President John F. Kennedy at an OAS meeting, found himself at a diplomatic reception in South America where, lo and behold, Che Guevara was also present, and before long the two fell into conversation, and the diplomatic headlines throughout the world exploded with the piquancy of it all.

Comedian's nose 'lives' as symbol

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Over the past several years my husband's nose has become red and he has started looking like the comedian W.C. Fields. It also drips almost constantly during the day. His doctor diagnosed the condition as acne rosacea. He claims it cannot be cured, but can be controlled with medicine. He has been using antibiotics for six months with little improvement. Do you have any suggestions? — Mrs. C.B.M.

The late comedian's nose lives on as the symbol of a problem that plagues many. There is swelling and often localized areas of infection. The condition is known medically as rhinophyma. Networks of tiny blood vessels may be seen in the skin. It is most common in men.

Alcohol is not the cause, but over-indulgence in this beverage, as well as in tea, coffee and highly-seasoned foods can certainly aggravate the condition, which they may or may not have for Mr. Fields. Other factors can be involved, as gland problems or vitamin deficiencies. The W.C. Fields nose is certainly not a universal sign of an alcoholic.

People with the problem should avoid extremes of temperature (hot or cold) also the substances mentioned above. Antibiotics (tetracycline) are used to treat any infection present, and hydrocortisone may control the skin symptoms. Dilated blood vessels can be treated with electrolysis. Others have resorted to dermabrasion (sanding), or electrosurgery to remove excess tissue. The dripping you mention is not related to the rhinophyma. Could mean an allergy, though.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In December of 1977, I was hospitalized for a kidney stone. I passed the stone, so I didn't need the surgery. After the doctor analyzed the stone he told me to cut down on dairy products and put me on hydrochlorothiazide. I took this diuretic for nine months, then cut it out because I felt its disadvantages outweighed its advantages. Now my doctor insists that I begin using the diuretic again. I prefer not to take drugs unnecessarily. Why is a diuretic given for treatment of kidney stones? I am 23. — I.G.

Hydrochlorothiazide is a standard

medicine for prevention of certain calcium stones. Dairy products, especially milk (because of its vitamin D content) may contribute to the calcium problem, hence the restriction. The diuretic (water pill) helps the body get rid of excess calcium in the urine. You should follow your doctor's instructions with regard to diet and medicine. Both are necessary. You are lucky to have this problem diagnosed and treated at such a young age.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I'm 27 years old and my feet are the cause of much agony. The left foot consists of a corn on the little toe, a callous under the foot and one under the big toe. My right foot consists of a corn on the little toe and the one next to it. I also have a dark and discolored toe. My feet constantly ache and are quite repulsive looking. I cannot participate in sports. While reading your column I notice you have material on the care of feet. If you think it can help me, please write back. — Mrs. J.B.

No reading on earth is going to help you. Your feet are a disaster area and you need a thorough examination by an orthopedist or foot specialist. Most foot problems stem from improper shoes or improper foot use. Such problems don't usually arise until a later age. Toddle off to a specialist to see what needs to be done. Take a good look at your shoes.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I'm a frisbie freak and I fly for hours every day in the summer. Is it possible to get tendonitis from this? — N.D.

Certainly. You can call this "frisbie elbow." The treatment is the same as with any tendonitis — rest of the joint.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am interested in Jesus' words to the thief on the cross in Luke 23:43 "And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise." Is paradise the same thing as heaven? — S.B.C.

DEAR S.B.C.: Yes, it is another term of heaven. It especially seems to be a term which stresses the glory and bliss of heaven, as well as its security. The term, incidentally, had originally been used in ancient Persia to speak of the walled garden of the king — a garden beautiful and secure. As Jesus speaks to the thief on the cross — a man who is in the midst of great misery — He tells him that all the pain and unhappiness of this world will soon be replaced by the joy of heaven.

The term "paradise" is used two other times in the New Testament. In both instances it clearly refers to heaven itself. In 2 Corinthians 12:4 Paul speaks about an experience God granted to him. It was a vision of paradise, or heaven, and he tells us that it was "inexpressible" — far greater than anything we could ever imagine. In Revelation 2:7 the promise of life in paradise is given to those who are faithful to Christ. Once again paradise is a term for heaven, for it is in heaven that the tree of life will be found (cf. Rev. 22:2).

The greatest hope of the Christian is the hope of eternal life in heaven with God. I am convinced we cannot begin to imagine all that God has for us in eternity, but we know it is wonderful. "No eye has seen, no ear has heard, no mind has conceived what God has prepared for those who love Him" (1 Corinthians 2:9, NIV).

How can we be sure we are going to heaven? You and I will go to heaven the same way the thief on the cross did — by God's grace in Jesus Christ. Like the thief, you can trust Christ for your salvation, and you can know that some day you will go to be with Him throughout all eternity.

Lecithin is not an essential part of a diet in humans. Your body makes all you or your father needs. The lecithin will not harm him, but it is not medically helpful.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

It's not fair

Around the rim

Robbi Crow

It isn't fair!
It just isn't fair!
A man puts in his eight hours a day at work, comes home, takes his shoes off in the living room, his socks off in the bedroom and his shirt off in the kitchen; grabs a bag of Doritos and a Dr. Pepper, proceeds back to the living room, turns on the television and plops down in his favorite recliner, that his wife got him for Christmas.

YOU MIGHT as well hang an 'out of order' sign around his neck because it's for sure he's not going to budge for anything short of the house catching on fire (unless it's to get up and get another Dr. Pepper and another bag of Doritos during a commercial break on a Star Trek rerun).

"Honey, the baby's crying and I've got my arms elbow-deep in a bowl of raw hamburger meat and tomato paste making a meatloaf. Would you please see about her?"

No answer.
"Dear, the phone's ringing and I just cut my myself with the knife while chopping up the onions for the meatloaf. Would you please answer it?"

No answer.
"Darling, there's a man in the kitchen with a gun and he's coming right at me!"

Maybe, just maybe, with a statement like that, the wife will get some sort of reaction.

"Okay, whatever you say."
For all he knows, she could have been shot, raped and kidnapped. He wouldn't even know she was gone until commercial time again when he goes back to the kitchen to get more Dr. Pepper and Doritos. Then his main concern would probably be, "Why isn't dinner ready yet?"

"Well, you see sweetheart, I was kidnapped and I really haven't had time to fix it."

"Well hurry up, I'm hungry," he says with a mouth full of Doritos.

"Boy, wouldn't it be nice if women could come home from work, lie down on the couch with some Doritos, a Tab and watch the "Dick Van Dyke Show" and let the husband worry about the baby, meatloaf and kidnappers?"

NOWADAYS, MOST women work because they have to. Sure, some may say their working because they "want to"; it gives them a sense of value and importance, but believe me, with gas peaking at $1 per gallon, that reason is only secondary.

Anyway, the point is, a woman must put in her first set of eight hours from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., but that's only the beginning (and probably the easiest part of her day).

You see, when she gets home, there's the breakfast dishes to clean up at 5 p.m. left to from 7:30 a.m. Then, supper must be cooked, the dishes washed and the kid's have to be bathed.

Now when everyone's asleep, baby in his crib, the wild Indians in their bunk beds and good ole dad's sawing logs in his favorite recliner, that's when it's time for the wife to catch up on her washing (which is a week behind), sew the hem back in her daughter's dress which she ripped out playing jump rope at school; and finish crocheting that baby blanket intended for a friend who just had a baby (2 years ago).

Well, the way I look at it, if we're going to help make the living by working eight hours a day, sometime six and seven days a week, it wouldn't hurt members of the opposite sex to do a little broom pushing, dust mopping and dishwashing.

Right ladies?
So men, out of those favorite recliners, turn off that TV, put on your aprons and get busy!

It's the maid's day off today!

Daily nightmares

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's solution to the Vietnam war was to replace American soldiers with quantities of modern weaponry, which would in theory enable the South Vietnamese to defend themselves without U.S. troops.

In practice, of course, the theory failed miserably. And when our puppets in Saigon collapsed, some $5 billion worth of U.S. armaments fell into the hands of the North Vietnamese victors, leaving them with one of the largest arsenals in the world.

This potential for international mischief was a nightmare for U.S. policymakers, as we have learned from secret documents and interviews with officials who were in power at the time. Would the Vietnamese communists turn their deadly booty over to other revolutionary forces or terrorist groups unable to purchase weapons through other channels?

IT WAS NO idle worry; that much was made clear by an inventory of captured armaments the Central Intelligence Agency compiled shortly after the fall of Saigon in the spring of 1975. The wealth of military equipment turned over to the South Vietnamese by the Pentagon — and subsequently lost to the communists — included 1,100 aircraft, 400 naval vessels, 50,000 motor vehicles and millions of small arms and ammunition.

While the CIA tried to keep tabs on the whereabouts of the captured hardware, officials in Washington frantically tried to decide what to do if Hanoi started peddling the lethal bonanza on the world market.

"A number of countries in Southeast Asia, the Middle East and Africa are reportedly interested in obtaining the U.S. equipment," one CIA report warned. "The Nigerians are said to be interested in F-5s, helicopters, 105-mm. howitzers and M-16 rifles." Libya was also interested in the purchase of M-16s. One CIA report noted the presence of a landing craft loaded with U.S. howitzers tied up in Haiphong harbor, apparently ready for shipment.

There were fairly hard indications that Hanoi was thinking of turning it into hard cash," a State Department official said of the captured armaments.

What were the U.S. options? "We would have bought the stuff ourselves if they wanted to sell it," one high-level planner told our associate Peter Grant. "But we were very worried that Hanoi would fund every insurgency in Asia."

If it seemed likely that insurgents or terrorists might wind up with the U.S. munitions, the source said, "we would have taken pretty stringent measures" to prevent the transfer. The options that were considered, we were told, included the use of military force.

Another possibility was purchase of the U.S. arms by friendly governments. Brent Scowcroft, National Security Council director, suggested that this might be a development to be encouraged as a way of keeping the arms out of unfriendly hands, according to the confidential transcript of a meeting of top officials in the Ford administration.

William Clements, then-deputy defense secretary, pointed out the one trump card the United States held: "The North Vietnamese are going to have a considerable amount of difficulty selling this equipment unless there is some assurance of spare parts from us," he said, according to the transcript.

Clements and Scowcroft thought it might be a good thing to encourage friendly governments to buy the captured arms. But Morton Abramowitz, deputy assistant defense secretary for East Asian affairs, raised an objection:

"If the president gets asked at a news conference about supplying spare parts to a country which has purchased these captured weapons... (he'd have to say no. It is a public relations question. Politically he would have to say no."

IN THE END, Jerry Ford's advisers decided that the best course would be to discourage purchase of the captured arms and to give no assurances of spare-parts supply. As it turned out, the options never had to be called into play; the North Vietnamese decided to hang onto most of the arms themselves. We'll report what happened to some of the booty in a future column.

SOUND OFF: Q. Why can't the government turn over some of its huge surplus of sugar for the production of gasohol? — Ronald Scioneaux, Vacherie, La.

A. As a matter of fact, Publiker Industries of Greenwich, Conn., has already offered to exchange alcohol fuel for raw sugar. This would save millions and reduce oil consumption. The offer is entangled somewhere in the red tape at the Agriculture Department. Discouraged over the delay, Publiker resubmitted the offer to the Energy Department. So far, the company hasn't even received a response. There seems to be no problem that the bureaucrats cannot prolong. Apparently, they would rather study problems than solve them.

Q. Please check into the use of jeeps by the Postal Service. The city letter carrier should be put back on his feet. — John J. McGuire, retired letter carrier, Buffalo, N.Y.

A. In city traffic, jeep mail not only is costly but slow. Every one-cent rise in gasoline prices costs the Postal Service a whopping $3 million. To save on money and fuel, the Postal Service has already promised to put thousands of carriers back on their feet. Mailmen often can deliver the mail faster on foot than in jeeps stalled in heavy traffic.

Q. Is it true convicted criminals can draw government salaries while they serve time in prison? — John Kearns, Springfield, Ohio.

A. True. Uncle Sam regards inmates as an underprivileged minority. They are, therefore, eligible for federal, earn-while-you-learn pay. They can collect limited paychecks as long as they're learning new skills.

More armed robberies in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten more New York banks have been hit by armed robbers, and gunmen pulled off a $2 million heist while police were declaring war against the daring daylight raids with the formation of a 30-man shotgun squad.

Within four hours Tuesday, robbers attempted to hold up 10 banks in Manhattan, the Bronx and Queens, raising to 120 the number of bank jobs in the city since Aug. 1. The old August record was 84 in 1977.

In another holdup, three skink hooded gunmen using a fish delivery truck scooped up money bags being loaded into a Brink's armored truck at the Chase Manhattan Bank's main headquarters in the city's Financial District.

They took two hostages, a Brink's security guard and a restaurant employee, who later were released unharmed.

Brink's offered a $100,000 reward.

Tuesday's bank robbery total was three short of the city record for robberies in one day — 13, set July 27. Authorities say there have been 575 bank robberies in New York so far this year.

"There is a sense on the street that it's open season on banks. We have to turn that around," said Police Commissioner Robert McGuire, who promised to commit "a substantial amount of our resources" to the burgeoning bank robbery problem.

A Police Department spokesman said a special shotgun squad probably would be on the streets in about two weeks. Meanwhile, "the entire detective division has been put on the alert," he said.

McGuire said the "apprehension" squad would consist of shotgun-armed detectives riding in unmarked vans. They would anticipate likely targets in hopes of stopping robberies in progress.

SCENE OF THE CRIME — This is the scene of the Brinks armored truck robbery Tuesday at Chase Manhattan Bank's main headquarters in New York's financial district. The truck, left, was loaded with 49 bags containing a reported $2,018,000, and was held up while two of the three guards were collecting money from the bank. Three ski-masked gunmen took 43 of the bags containing an estimated $2 million.

A police officer shot Friday while chasing a bank robber was buried Tuesday. Two other officers have been wounded this month.

Paving, grant to draw action

COAHOMA — The Coahoma City Council will discuss street paving at its regular meeting Thursday, 7:30 p.m., in the City Hall.

Bob Taylor, project director of a state grant that has been approved for the purchase of equipment for the Coahoma Police Department, will give the council an update on the progress of the grant.

Taylor said the grant was approved three weeks ago. The new equipment has not yet been secured, he said.

Other items on the agenda include:

- Fire department.
- Animal ordinance.
- Building permit ordinance.
- Firemen's pension commissioner.
- Buddy Anderson's water and sewer.

Probe of sharp increase in bread prices sought

ODESSA — The Odessa Central Labor Union has asked the National AFL-CIO to request the Administration in Washington for an investigation of the sharp increase in the price of bread, it has been announced by D.L. Willis, president of the Central Labor Union.

The price of a loaf of white 20 ounce bread at the beginning of our monitoring period June of '79, was 55 cents per loaf for the brand name Mrs. Baird. The price today (Aug. 22) has risen to 76 cents, with rises on other loaves.

The request was made in a mailogram sent to President George Meany of the AFL-CIO as follows:

"Within the last 3 weeks a national new item appeared on the network on one of the TV stations in this area. This news report showed wheat piled upon the ground with a statement "a bumper crop of wheat with a surplus is expected by our Nation this

"We believe that this is an unconscionable gouge of the consumers in the Midland, Texas, area. We also believe that if a similar situation is occurring in other areas in the nation, that it should be investigated."

"We urge and request that the National AFL-CIO call upon the appropriate agency of the government to investigate the reason for the sudden price increase of bread in the market place."

Jan Whittington awarded $1,200 scholarship

Jan Lea Whittington, a 1979 graduate of Big Spring High School, has been awarded a $1,200 Permian Honor scholarship from the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation.

The Permian Honor group provided funds for five of the grants, awarded by TILF on the basis of participation in UIL literary and academic contests, and other school-community achievements.

"Jan was among the outstanding Texas high school graduates of 1979," said Dr. Rhea Williams, TILF secretary. "She compiled a remarkable record of academic and extracurricular success and we're proud to have her as a Permian Honor scholar."

Whittington earned eligibility for the scholarship by placing first in the 1978 and 1979 state meet prose reading contests. She was a member of the National Honor Society, French Club, National Forensic League, newspaper staff and Texas Forensic Association. She is listed in Who's Who Among American Youth, and was selected "Best Interpreter" in 1977 and 1978, and "Best Actress" in 1976 and 1977.

Whittington plans to attend Odessa College and major in journalism.

Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders place halters on 'art dealers'

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders have won two court battles protecting their image.

The courts upheld two suits Monday filed by the cheerleader's organization, one to ban the sale of a poster featuring five former Cowboy cheerleaders with their halter tops untied and one barring distribution of the X-rated film, "Debbie

Does Dallas."

The Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans upheld the suit involving the poster sale and the Second U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York upheld a ruling barring distribution of the film.

Both decisions involved only preliminary court orders. The issues will be resolved in federal court trials.

Bicycle Safety, Identification Seminar scheduled Saturday

The Crime Prevention Unit of the Big Spring Police Department will hold a Bicycle Safety and Identification Seminar Saturday.

A 15-minute bicycle safety film will be shown in the Municipal Court room every hour on the hour from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

For people who bring bicycles, officers will be on hand to engrave their parents' Texas Driver's License number on them. This will be done on the back ramp of the police station.

Parents are urged to bring their children to view this film and have their bicycles engraved.

Anyone having questions can contact Sgt. Richard Doane, Big Spring Police Department Crime Prevention unit at 263-8311 ext. 45.

Defense measures destroying port's economy

PORT MANSFIELD, Texas (AP) — It's not the massive Mexican oil spill destroying the economy of this tiny fishing village. It's the defense against that spill.

Remote Port Mansfield, which sits on the scenic, but environmentally delicate Laguna Madre, depends on the shrimpers, deep sea charter boats and the offshore rig supply boats that can only reach the gulf nine miles across the lagoon through a 200-foot-wide man-made cut in Padre Island.

But the Coast Guard cut off the channel Aug. 6 with anti-oil booms as part of their efforts to prevent the oil from seeping into the lush lagoons and destroying vital breeding grounds.

That strategic move and subsequent national television exposure transformed Port Mansfield into a veritable ghost town overnight in what is usually a peak business period, says Glen Fisk, one of the town's 300 fulltime residents.

The Coast Guard repositioned the booms and reopened the channel, but local merchants say the damage is irreparable. It will be next summer, they say, before they can recover long — if they make the winter and if the runaway Mexican oil doesn't get into the Laguna Madre and destroy the bay fishing that attracts hundreds of tourists. "I don't think reopening the boom will have any great effect on us this year. We're pretty well shut down this year. The harm has already been done," said Fisk, whose boat repair business depends on the boats that work the gulf.

"Opening the boom won't put it back like it was. We'll have to make a comeback next year," Ernest Young, director of the Port Mansfield navigation district said as he looked out over a deserted port.

Port Mansfield's tiny population usually increases tenfold on weekends when tourists flock in on the only road to enjoy bay or deep sea fishing. Fisk's business usually increases accordingly.

The first weekend after the boom was in place, Fisk sold one 57 cent lightbulb for a small bay fishing boat. Since Aug. 6, he's sold that bulb, a case of oil and two air filters. He's gotten no new repair jobs.

"The weekends here have been like a ghost town. This is usually our peak time. We have to have the good summers to carry us through the winters. If it continues the way it's going, I won't be here next spring. Neither will a lot of other people. We can't survive like this on borrowed money," said Fisk.

The closing of the channel forced several businesses to close. The town's shrimp processing plant, which handles two million pounds of shrimp and employs up to 100 workers in the four summer months hasn't processed a single shrimp since Aug. 6.

The three motels are virtually closed. The two firms serving the offshore oil supply boats when the boats left Mansfield for a port with access to the gulf. The fuel dock sits empty, with thousands of gallons of fuel for shrimpers and charter boats languishing in the tanks.

Only the Windjammer Restaurant has been able to thrive, thanks to television crews and reporters.

"When they cut that channel, they put us out of business. There are two roads into this town, one is water and one is pavement and they shut the water one off," said Fisk.

Young said network television reports mistakenly gave the impression that the port was closed, scaring away tourists who regularly come to fish the bay.

Ironically, the fishing is outstanding in the Laguna Madre because the oil spill has chased fish northward from Mexican waters.

Before the channel was closed, up to 2,000 fishing boats went in and out of the port one weekend, said Young.

On Tuesday, local merchants talked excitedly about the possibility of a loaded shrimp boat arriving today or Friday — like small children awaiting the arrival of a riverboat.

Hundreds of shrimpers come in and out of Port Mansfield during a normal summer month.

But local citizens are not angry at the Coast Guard for closing the channel, said Young. "If oil gets into the lagoon, it would wipe out everybody on the coast. We know that. It had to be done," he said.

Young said the locals are angered by what the considered erroneous reports by network television crews and a lack of communication with the Coast Guard after the boom was in place.

The boom was scheduled to be opened at ebb tides to let in the shrimpers, but no one could determine an exact time for the opening. As a result, shrimpers took thousands of pounds of shrimp 30 miles south to Brownsville rather than risk a long wait at the Mansfield channel.

"This is the greatest disaster we've had, even worse than Hurricane Beaulah in 1968," said Young. "The storm comes in and is gone in a matter of hours. This disaster could linger for a year."

If all else fails, make dough of it

Home remedies bolster moral of Coast Guard

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Should the latest technology fail in the battle against the world's largest oil spill, the Coast Guard can always turn the oil into dough with millions of pounds of flour — that's right, flour.

Or they could simply cover hundreds of miles of Texas beaches with plastic sheeting, allowing the goo to wash onto the plastic and making cleanup a snap. No muss, no fuss.

If scientists were to find something impractical in those two plans, the Coast Guard could use the monstrous plastic sheet. That sheet would be towed out to sea and submerged so the runaway Mexican crude oil could float over it. Helicopters would then pick up the sheet and haul the oil away.

The Coast Guard has dozens of other bizarre home remedies to choose from.

Well intentioned, but woefully misinformed citizens concerned about the oil's threat to the Texas coast are sending the unusual suggestions at the rate of about 20 a day.

The usually comical proposals have thus far only served to improve the morale of Coast Guard officials forced to work 16 hours a day to battle the oil from a crippled Mexican offshore well.

But the officials listened patiently and politely to each one, because "sooner or later, we might get an idea we can use," said Lt. Ed Thompson.

One woman called from Wisconsin, chastising the Coast Guard for spending $2 million to protect the Texas coast when all they had to do was buy $2 million worth of flour and dump it on the massive slick.

That, she said, would turn it into easily retrievable dough balls.

She knows it works, she said, because she tried it one day with kitchen flour and some of her husband's refined motor oil in the garage.

"I think it's safe to say we won't be trying that method," said Coast Guard spokesman Jim McGranachan.

Two persons, one a 12-year-old boy from Fort Worth, suggested using the giant plastic sheets at sea.

"That's a little tough to do when you are talking about thousands and thousands of square miles covered by the oil," said McGranachan.

The 12-year-old also had some other ideas, one to build a floating fence around the spill and another to put a giant steel box over the runaway well some 170 feet below the water's surface.

One of the more novel suggestions was to install a fence under floating booms protecting passages into delicate lagoons and charge the fence with 200,000 volts. That is supposed to electroplate the oil into metal.

All the Coast Guard would then have to do was remove the large sheet of metal which had once been the fence.

"I don't even know where you would get 200,000 volts," said McGranachan. "I can't imagine oil hitting nets and turning into metal."

One caller from New Mexico said he had "plenty of explosives" and offered to dive to the wellhead and blow the thing shut.

"I didn't ask him how or why he got those explosives," McGranachan said.

JIMMY CHAGRA

Chagra fails to report to Nevada probationers

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — U.S. marshals were looking for convicted drug dealer Jimmy Chagra today after authorities said he failed to report to Nevada probation officials and his brother reported he fled.

A federal bench warrant was issued here after Chagra, convicted last week on charges involving drug smuggling, did not show late Tuesday for a presentencing report at Las Vegas, Nev., probation offices, said Bill Alden of the Drug Enforcement Administration.

Chagra was free on a $400,000 bond when the arrest warrant was issued. That bond was revoked Tuesday and set at $3 million, said Carl Pierce, the assistant U.S. attorney who prosecuted Chagra.

Alden said Chagra's brother, Joe, an El Paso attorney, called federal authorities in El Paso and said "his brother had fled."

Chagra was scheduled to appear here this Thursday for a hearing that could have raised his previous bond.

Chagra is scheduled to appear Sept. 5 before U.S. District Judge William Sessions, who could assess a sentence of life imprisonment without parole. The minimum penalty is 10 years without parole.

A federal court jury of eight women and four men took less than two hours last Wednesday to find Chagra guilty of organizing and managing a "Colombian Connection" cocaine and marijuana smuggling venture.

The jury found that Chagra, 34, directed at least five persons in a series of at least three violations of federal drug laws and made a "substantial income" from

State Fair of Texas to salute neighbors

The State Fair of Texas numbers its neighbors in the millions, and this year's 94th edition of America's largest annual exposition will honor visitors from across the street and across the border with "A Salute to Good Neighbors," Oct. 5-21 in Dallas.

One spotlight will focus on the exciting nation to the north, Canada. Three major exhibits will use multi-media and audience participation techniques to depict travel opportunities, architectural heritage and energy development.

From Broadway, where it continues to play capacity houses in its third year, come the warm-hearted, witty musical hit, "Annie." Based on the legendary comic strip character, Little Orphan Annie, the show combines gentle nostalgia, hummable tunes and a cast of unforgettable characters including the fabled Daddy Warbucks, and the vile-tempered villainess of the municipal orphanage, Miss Hannigan. "Annie" opens at the State Music Hall on Oct. 3 for 24 evening and matinee performances.

Producers of purebred livestock in various parts of the world will attend the Pan-American Livestock Exposition, presented during the first ten days of the fair, to inspect and purchase the finest beef and dairy cattle, sheep, swine and goats.

Other special attractions in the livestock area this year include the Texas State

Sheep Dog Trials, the popular 2-day Donkey and Mule Show and a new event, the National Miniature Horse Show, a competition for perfectly proportioned horses less than 34 inches high.

The best bronc-busters and bull-riders in the country will test their skills at the State Fair Rodeo, Oct. 6-14. The fairtime sports calendar also features Cotton Bowl football with Prairie View and Bishop meeting on Oct. 6, the annual Texas-Oklahoma gridfest already sold out for Oct. 13 and a high school triple-header scheduled on Oct. 20.

Lots of free entertainment is a tradition at the State Fair. This year's lineup offers foot-stompin' music from Fiddlin' Frenchie Burke and the Side of the Road Gang; stirring performances by the U.S. Marine Drum & Bugle Corps; the 1980 Automobile Show; nightly parades and fireworks displays; fashion shows; creative arts competition; a 3-race, arts and the spectacular Dancing Waters Show; plus "The Cowboy and His Values" at the Texas Hall of State encompassing films, photographic exhibits and folklore presentations.

Heart-stopping rides, ingenious games with fuzzy prizes and fun foods in every form and flavor will attract lively crowds to the mile-long midway throughout the 17-day exposition. The park will be open daily from 7 a.m. until midnight.

UTPB commuters urged to car pool

Big Spring residents who commute to classes at The University of Texas at the Permian Basin (UTPB) in Odessa are being encouraged to car pool this Fall.

"We are urging Big Spring students to call us here in the Office of Student Activities at 367-2259 to set up car pools," Pat Jones, director of student activities at UTPB, says. There will also be a booth set up during the Sept. 4-5 registration in Odessa for those who wish to sign up for a car pool.

An estimated 40 Big Spring students drove to Odessa during the Spring 1979 semester. "Many of our students already share rides, but we just want to encourage them to expand their groups if possible," she says.

Dr. Edwin B. Kurtz, chairman of Life Science at UTPB, is a staunch supporter of car pooling as a means of saving energy.

"If people would share rides, they could cut their gasoline bills by 75 percent or more," the UTPB professor says. He points out that if just two people would alternate driving, they could automatically cut their gasoline purchases in half. "There are also the savings on wear and tear on the auto, a decrease in pollution and less congestion on the streets and highways. Also, if four people decide to alternate driving their cars, each person will drive only one week in every four."

Kurtz estimates that the average Big Spring commuter-student drives about 60 miles one-way to the Odessa campus, or about 120 miles for the round trip. It would average about seven and one-half gallons of gasoline to travel the 120 miles. "Therefore," he adds, "for every person who would ride with another person, that would save seven and one-half gallons per day. Multiply that by four people in one car and it would save an estimated 22 and one-half gallons of gasoline per day — an impressive savings."

House--filled with memories, memorabilia

STORIED RESIDENCE — The Potton House, located at Second and Gregg Streets, has become one of Big Spring's most famous landmarks. The house has been restored with the help of public funds and private donations and is open for tours. The windmill pictured in front of the house here is, in reality, across the street and, of course, is not visible. Here, photographer Danny Valdes catches the magnificence of the Victorian house, which has been in existence for 78 years.

ALCOVE, ONE OF THREE — Children's toys, reference books and an old movie projector have been placed in this alcove of the Potton House, which is now open for tours. This recess is one of three at the 78-year-old residence located at Second and Gregg Streets.

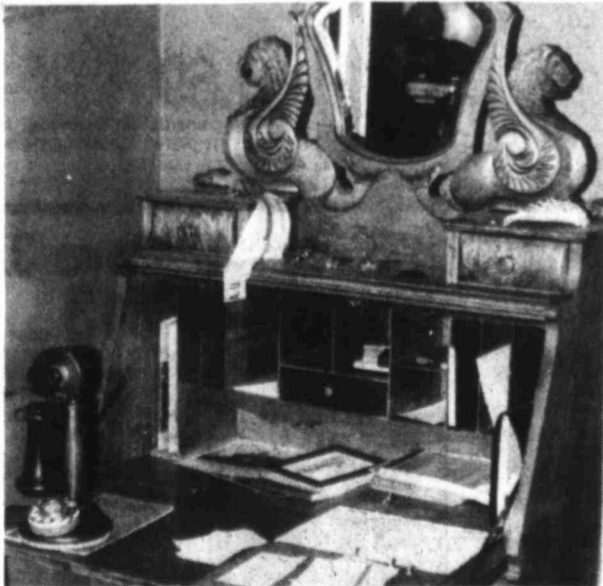

Photos by Danny Valdes

RECOGNIZED BY TEXAS HISTORICAL COMMISSION — This official historical medallion was presented to the City of Big Spring by the Texas Historical Commission. It is located immediately in front of the Potton House at Second and Gregg Streets. Recorded as a Texas historical landmark, the Potton House was entered in the National Register of Historic Places in 1975.

METHOD OF CONVEYANCE — Families of substance were recognized by the kind of buggies they maintained eight and nine decades ago. This old rig, which can be found in the barn back of the Potton House, was not owned by the Joseph Pottons but the Pottons had one like it. Polly Mays, who took a leading role in restoration of the house, stands beside the buggy.

RECORDS DEPARTMENT — The families of three generations ago certainly led more orderly lives than the people of today. Many maintained their records in secretaries like the one above, which can be found in the Potton House. This particular piece was loaned to the Howard County Historical Committee by Kenneth Orr. It was built about 1905. The telephone is solid brass, with a leather base. Appointments on the desk include a 1909 Big Spring City Director and a 1936 telephone directory. The desk is solid oak.

ESPECIALLY FOR THE KIDS — This fold-down desk, which can be found in the Potton House, was often used by grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Potton. Symbols used to teach the children of the household can be seen at the top of the desk. The children could use the outer surface of the desk as a chalkboard when it was folded up. The carriage containing a teddy bear, the toy gun in the toddler's chair and the duck were old toys brought into the house for the children. Among the Potton grandchildren still living in this area are Mrs. Loy Acuff, Mrs. Everett Lomax and Joe Hayden.

MEMORABILIA — Prominently displayed in one of the bedrooms at the Potton House are toys and children's books which helped keep the grandchildren of Joseph Potton entertained. Some of the playthings were stored away in this old trunk, which used to be a very necessary part of all frontier households.

ABC building up steam for powerful fall start

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1979-80 prime-time season is still a month away, but ABC seems to be building up steam for a powerful start.

Last season's front-running network listed 16 of the 20 highest-rated programs in the week ending Aug. 19, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. show, and won the prime-time ratings race for the fourth time in a row.

ABC and CBS exchanged first place several times in the early part of the summer, until the last week in July. ABC has been No. 1 since then, with "Three's Company," the popular situation comedy, the most-watched show three times in the last four weeks.

And, as in the past, ABC seems to score with nearly everything it tries. "Detective School," which wasn't even on the network's fall schedule until last week, was No. 5 in the latest ratings. Carol Burnett, until recently a prominent member of the CBS stable, was a hit in her first appearance for ABC, as star of "Carol Burnett and Friends." The show, the premiere for a four-week series, was No. 25.

ABC's rating for the week was 16.1, its highest since the first week in June. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 16.1 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to ABC.

CBS was second with a rating of 14, and NBC third — for the 11th week in a row, at 13.5.

The rating for "Three's Company" was 25.9. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, 25.9 percent saw at least part of the program.

CBS had the No. 2 and No. 4 programs, "WKRP in Cincinnati" and "M-A-S-H," while NBC's best, "Diff'rent Strokes," was 28th.

Two of the three network newsmagazines scored. CBS' "60 Minutes," with a segment on the dispute involving actress Vanessa Redgrave and a concentration camp survivor, was 12th, while ABC's "20-20" ranked 18th. "Prime Time Sunday" on NBC was No. 47.

CBS listed three of the week's five least-watched programs, including two new situation comedies, "Hanging In" in 57th place and "Dorothy" in 58th. A news special, "Sunday Morning Tonight" was 59th, "Project U.F.O." on NBC 60th and an "ABC News Closeup," "Battleground Washington: Politics of Pressure," 61st.

Public comment asked for cotton programs

Public comment is being sought regarding proposals for the 1980 uplands cotton and extra long staple (ELS) cotton programs, according to Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

The public has until Oct. 15 to submit recommendations concerning the provisions of the programs. Comment is being sought on the following:

- Marketing quota and allotment for ELS cotton;
- Loan level and payment rate for ELS (minimum required by law is 65 percent of parity);
- Whether a seed cotton loan program should be offered and, if so, what the loan level should be;
- Specifications for bale packaging materials;
- Resale policy for cotton owned by the Commodity

Credit Corporation; —Premiums, discounts and location differentials for the upland and ELS loan rates.

The Department of Agriculture is required to announce the ELS marketing quota and allotment by Oct. 15 and the upland loan rate by Nov. 1. There is no deadline for announcing the ELS loan level and payment rate.

Prior to making these determinations, the secretary will consider any written recommendations received by the Director, Production Adjustment Division, USDA ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C., 20013.

Comments will be available for public inspection during normal business hours in room 3630 of the department's South building. The request for comments will appear in the Federal Register Aug. 14.

USDA proposes amendments to beef referendum rules

WASHINGTON — Proposed amendments providing for confidentiality in voting and making the conduct of a beef referendum more efficient and less time consuming were announced Aug. 9 by Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Under the Beef Research and Information Act, beef producers may vote to authorize the federal government to withhold a fixed amount from each cattle sale to be used for research and promotional purposes.

Under an amendment to the Act passed last year, the number of producers needed to approve such an order was reduced from two-thirds to a majority of producers voting in a referendum. The proposed amendments to the regulations are to reflect this change in the law.

The proposed changes provide for: (1) voting by secret ballot; (2) reducing the registration and voting periods from 12 days to 4 days; (3) reducing the time allowed for challenging a producer's eligibility to register and vote; and (4) reducing the time for the county ASCS executive director to make a determination on the challenges.

The proposed amendments in no way obligate the Secretary of Agriculture to hold a referendum.

The amendments appeared in the Federal Register Aug. 7.

Written comments must be received no later than Oct. 9 and may be sent to the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

For further information, contact Robert Cook, Emergency and Indemnity Programs Division, ASCS, USDA, room 4095-S building, Washington, D.C. 20013. Phone: (202) 447-7997.

Cotton warehousemen would be allowed to make one cut

WASHINGTON — Under proposals made Aug. 9 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, cotton warehousemen would only be allowed to make one cut on each side of a bale of cotton when gathering samples.

Warehousemen would also be encouraged to draw two samples from the same bale if a second sample is needed.

According to Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the proposals are being made to prevent removal of excessive quantities of loose cotton and also prevent contamination of the bale as a result of numerous exposed sample holes, as well as improve the appearance and saleability of U.S. cotton in both domestic and export markets.

Fitzgerald said the appearance of U.S. cotton bales has been severely criticized in world markets.

The proposed amendments would take effect with the 1980 crop.

The department is seeking comments on the proposal, which appeared in the Aug. 10 Federal Register.

Evening Lions Club will stage barbecue prior to football game

As per custom, the Evening Lions Club will set a table featuring barbecue for people who are planning to see the first Big Spring High School football game this fall.

Tickets for the event, priced at $3.50, will be on sale at the pep rally in the amphitheater here Friday night. The meal will be served in the High School Cafeteria from 5 to 8 p.m., Friday, Sept. 7.

The Steers launch play that night against the Andrews Mustangs.

Comer, Kern stop Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — If everything is relative, then it's all right for Steve Comer to talk about his fastball even though it doesn't look like one to the Baltimore Orioles.

"I threw about 70 percent fastballs," Comer said after he continued his mastery over the Orioles and pitched the Texas Rangers to a 2-1 victory Tuesday night, backed by Jim Kern's relief help and homers by Buddy Bell and Richie Zisk.

"He calls them fastballs, but we call them slowballs," Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said of pitches sometimes clocked below 70 miles an hour on the radar gun. "Whatever it is, don't sell the man short."

Since Comer came to the major leagues last season, the undrafted 25-year-old right-hander has held the Orioles to 20 hits and two earned runs in 33 innings. His current 13-8 record includes a 3-0 mark against Baltimore.

Comer allowed only five hits, including a run-scoring single in the fourth inning by Doug DeCinces before being replaced by Kern in the eighth.

Kern, in his 56th relief appearance, recorded his 21st save by fanning DeCinces with two runners in scoring position. Ken Singleton had walked with two outs and advanced to third on third baseman Bell's two-base overthrow on a grounder by Eddie Murray.

"I wanted to stay in,"

Comer said, "but Pat (Manager Pat Corrales) told me he needed a strikeout and I had used up my three. DeCinces had hit me hard, anyway."

So in came Kern with his genuine blazer and fanned three of the four batters he faced.

"I thought I could overpower DeCinces," Kern said. "After he'd been timing Steve's offspeed stuff all night, I thought I could run a 95 mile-an-hour 'gasser' by him."

"I don't have any secret against Baltimore," Comer said. "Milwaukee has the same kind of power-hitting, free-swinging club, and I'm 0-3 against them."

Weaver gave Comer high praise by comparing him with Mike Cuellar, the former Baltimore ace.

"He's tricky like Mike used to be," Weaver said. "Guys sit on the bench wondering why they never get any runs off him, but they never do."

"The big thing is, he kept us in the park," Weaver said, but then added: "No, he didn't, Mickey Rivers did."

Rivers leaped high above the center field fence in the second inning to rob Pat Kelly of a home run.

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Even the fabled Babe Zaharias failed to dominate women's golf to the extent that Nancy Lopez now rules the game, said Louise Suggs, the latest member of the World Golf Hall of Fame.

Suggs, along with turn-of-the-century player Walter J. Travis, were inducted into the Hall of Fame in ceremonies Tuesday night.

"Babe didn't win all that many tournaments," said Louise, a contemporary of the famed Zaharias.

"Of course, there weren't that many tournaments to be won at the time. But I don't think she beat me but once. She didn't put an umbrella over the tour the way Nancy is doing."

"Of course, I'm glad to see the exposure, the television coverage, the women's game is getting because of Nancy."

Louise Suggs gains induction to World Golf Hall of Fame

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Even the fabled Babe Zaharias failed to dominate women's golf to the extent that Nancy Lopez now rules the game, said Louise Suggs, the latest member of the World Golf Hall of Fame.

Suggs, along with turn-of-the-century player Walter J. Travis, were inducted into the Hall of Fame in ceremonies Tuesday night.

"Babe didn't win all that many tournaments," said Louise, a contemporary of the famed Zaharias.

"Of course, there weren't that many tournaments to be won at the time. But I don't think she beat me but once. She didn't put an umbrella over the tour the way Nancy is doing."

"Of course, I'm glad to see the exposure, the television coverage, the women's game is getting because of Nancy."

"But, in a way, I'm sorry to see it, too. It puts so much pressure on her. And it puts pressure on the other girls, too. And there are a lot of good women players out there.

"In a way it's like with Babe and me. She was so flamboyant, she put pressure on me. She was all fire and fall back and flail at it and grunt. But she was spectacular."

"I wouldn't jump up on that table there and do a hula, but if she had to do it to gain attention, she would."

"I don't think I ever got the recognition I deserved because of her."

"Course, I never had any trouble with Babe. She just spoke her mind and I'd speak mine and we'd go our own way. I didn't want to mess with her because I didn't want to have to contend with George," (professional wrestler George Zaharias,) Babe's husband.

Travis was born in Australia, came to the United States as a small boy and didn't take up golf until the age of 35. Two years later he reached the semifinals of the U.S. Amateur.

Duane Thomas still hoping to play

DALLAS (AP) — Former Dallas Cowboy star Duane Thomas shrugs off speculation that his release from the Green Bay Packers signals an end to his comeback try in the National Football League.

He says he wants to run, if not in Green Bay — he'll try somewhere else.

"I've lost time. I have not lost my ability," Thomas said Tuesday from his home in Dallas.

"My morale is still high, my spirits are still high and I'm still looking forward and eager to play this year," said Thomas. "My attorney is working on that, contacting other teams."

The 32-year-old Thomas was the Cowboys' No. 1 draft pick in 1970. During his years in Dallas, the often controversial running back dazzled fans with a slashing style that helped the Cowboys to reach Super Bowls V and VI.

But the once-celebrated West Texas State star has not played during a regular season since his 1975 appearance with the now-defunct World Football League Hawaiians.

"Green Bay had decided to go with younger players. If a team makes up its mind there is nothing I can do. I have done all that I can do," said Thomas.

In NFC East

Depth makes Dallas favorite

DALLAS (AP) — There is a swing of power in the National Conference Eastern Division, but it's not at the top where the Dallas Cowboys' title flag remains firmly implanted.

Charlie Waters will be out for the regular season with a knee injury and Tony Dorsett may be hobbling around on a broken toe but Coach Tom Landry somehow prevails.

"Tom likes it when the going gets gritty," says a front office worker. "He really has his game face on now."

The Cowboys, who have made the playoffs 12 out of the last 13 years good for five tickets to the Super Bowl, are deep enough for two National Football League teams.

What team can put a five-year veteran like Randy Hughes at strong safety for Waters? Or trot out a 14-year vet like Preston Pearson for Dorsett?

What team can lose Ed (Too Tall) Jones and Jethro Pugh to retirement and still have athletes like Larry Cole, Dave Stalls and Larry Bethea to count on?

If there is an heir apparent in the NFC East, it could be the young Philadelphia Eagles, who made the playoffs as a wild card team last year, losing to the Atlanta Falcons.

But Eagle Coach Dick Vermeil figures Philadelphia is still three or four years away from the Super Bowl.

The Eagle rise comes as Washington washes out its "Over-The-Hill" gang, Bud Wilkinson tries to rebuild at St. Louis, and Ray Perkins takes over a struggling New York Giant team.

The Eagles still don't have the offense to match the Cowboys, who were No. 1 in the NFL last year with quarterback Roger Staubach leading the league in touchdown passes.

Fullback Mike Hogan and reserve running back Jim Betterson were lost in the offseason to the Eagles when they were charged with violations of cocaine possession laws. Vermeil is hoping for young Cleveland Franklin, third-year vet Larry Barnes or Billy Campbell to come through.

St. Louis was shocked by the death of tight end J.V. Cain in training camp and the Cardinals have dedicated the season to him.

Rookie running backs Otis Anderson and Theotis Brown should bolster Coach Bud Wilkinson's ground game.

The Redskins were a revolving door in the off-season as Coach Jack Pardee decimated "The Over-the-Hill" gang except for defensive lineman Diron Talbert.

"They just couldn't do the things they used to do," says Pardee in disposing of quarterback Billy Kilmer, safety Jake Scott, linebacker Chris Hanburger, defensive end Ron McDole, defensive tackle Bill Brundige and others.

The Giants had their share of tragedy in the off-season when defensive end Troy Archer was killed in an automobile accident.

Quarterback is a big problem for Perkins, who must choose between rookie Phil Simms of Morehead State and Joe Pisarcik.

Cowboys cut Washington, Dennison

Waters out for 1979

DALLAS (AP) — Charlie Waters probably didn't even think about it as he hobbled around in a walking cast that surrounds his torn-up knee.

But the sidelined All-Pro safety is responsible for some lucky player's football future with the Dallas Cowboys.

The Dallas roster is down to 50 after Tuesday's cuts. There will be another cut before the final roster is set.

Tuesday, Coach Tom Landry decided that Waters would be out for the entire year, opening up a spot on the team for someone else — whoever it may be.

Only hours before announcing that Waters would sit out the current campaign, Landry said, "The decision on Waters hasn't been made yet. It's my decision ... mine and Dr. Marvin Knight's."

Landry whose imaginative offenses, some how spring from a never-ending, conservative mind, had given a hint as to what he might do. "The conservative thing to do would be to put him (Waters) off for a year," Landry said.

The decision on Waters was just one item on Landry's worry list as Saturday's final preseason contest loomed against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Super Bowl rematch will be played minus Waters and running back Tony Dorsett, who's out with a broken toe. There was some good news at running back. Scott Laidlaw's hamstring troubles have cleared up enough for a return to action.

Backup quarterback and punter Danny White will be there, but only as a punter, thanks to a broken thumb. Landry cut punter Duane Carrell Tuesday, saying that White would be able to kick but would not be ready to steer the team for several weeks.

The Cowboys made three more cuts Tuesday afternoon: linebacker Gary Cobb, a ninth-round draft pick, cornerback Mark Washington and running back Doug Dennison.

Earlier, the Cowboys waived free agent rookie wide receiver Chris DeFrance of Arizona State and rookie lineman Ralph DeLoach of California.

Waters' backup, Randy Hughes, had clear fluid drained from an old knee injury Monday and was listed as "questionable" for Saturday's game. If Hughes isn't able to go, Bennie Barnes would shift to free safety from his cornerback slot.

Mets take weird win over Astros

In their wild and woolly, daffy and wacky history, only the New York Mets could prove that a baseball game isn't over even AFTER the last out.

There have been some weird happenings in the Mets' 19-year history and they have won and lost games in some strange ways, but never before have they had to go through a do-over to end a ballgame. Suffice to say that Doug Flynn drove in three runs with a single and double and Pete Falcone pitched a 4-hitter Tuesday night — as the right, it was really a four-hitter — as the Mets defeated the Houston Astros 5-0.

Falcone's toughest chore was recording the final out. The fun started when Houston's Jeff Leonard fouled a ball into the stands. Right fielder Dan Norman, who had given chase, was slow returning to his position so umpire Doug Harvey called time but Falcone released the next pitch anyway and Leonard fled out to center fielder Lee Mazzilli.

Or so it seemed. Harvey ruled that time was out and sent Leonard back to the plate. Two pitches later he singled to center.

Or so it seemed. The Mets had no first baseman on the field since Ed Kranepool had gone to the clubhouse thinking the game was over.

New York Manager Joe Torre argued that the rules call for all fielders other than the catcher to be in fair territory for a play to count. The umpires agreed and the Jeff Leonard Hour continued.

But first a word from Houston Manager Bill Virdon, who claimed that if Kranepool was not in position the intervening pitches to Leonard shouldn't count. Again the umpires agreed, but Virdon said he was playing the game under protest.

Two pitches later Leonard hit another fly ball which left fielder Joel Youngblood caught to officially end the game.

Mariners defeat Blue Jays

Tom Paciorek drove in six runs with a homer and triple in Seattle's victory over Toronto. Paciorek hit a three-run shot in the fifth after Toronto first baseman Craig Kusick bobbled Dan Meyer's two-out grounder. In the sixth, Paciorek drilled a bases-loaded triple to help make a winner out of reliever John Monaghan, 6-4.

Seaver wins 10th straight

Pinch-hitter Heity Cruz' infield single drove in the winning run in the seventh inning and gave Tom Seaver his 10th consecutive triumph as Cincinnati snapped Montreal's five-game winning streak. Dan Drissen led off the seventh with a single, stole second and went to third on an infield out before Cruz, batting for Seaver, chopped an infield hit on which third baseman Larry Parrish was unable to make a play.

Seaver, who allowed a gametying two-run homer to Rusty Staub in the top of the seventh, struck out two Expos to pass Jim Bunning for fifth place on the all-time list with 2,856.

Chicken, Goose lead Yankees

Fred Stanley's three-run homer capped a five-run, ninth-inning rally that powered New York past Kansas City. Stanley's shot off loser Paul Splittorff, 12-13, followed Roy White's two-run single that erased a 2-1 Kansas City lead and made a winner out of reliever Rich Gossage, 2-2.

"I was looking for a pitch over the plate," said White of his game-winning hit. "The key in that situation is don't swing at a bad pitch."

Indians outscore Angels

Cliff Johnson drove in four runs with a homer and a single to lead Cleveland over California. Paul Reuschel, 1-0, who pitched 42-3 innings of relief, picked up the victory as the Indians broke a five-game losing streak.

Cleveland trailed 3-1 after four innings but rallied with five runs in the fifth with the help of Johnson's three-run homer off Dave Frost, 12-8. Johnson later had a run-scoring single in a three-run seventh.

Dodgers snap Cubs streak

Ron Cey's three-run homer followed by a solo blast from Dusty Baker and powered Don Sutton and the Dodgers to a 4-2 victory that snapped Chicago's six-game winning streak. Sutton notched six strikeouts to become the 15th pitcher in major league history to reach 2,500 strikeouts.

Sutton reached his strikeout milestone despite being checked by the umpires in the sixth inning for possible use of a foreign substance on the ball.

Brewers sweep White Sox

Buck Martinez slammed a pair of RBI singles, leading Milwaukee over Chicago in the first game of their double-header. Winner Lary Sorensen, 14-12, needed relief help in the ninth from Bill Castro, who recorded his fifth save.

Sixto Lezcano lined a two-run homer and an RBI double, and Paul Molitor had four hits and three runs batted in, leading Milwaukee's victory in the nightcap.

Padres nip Cardinals

Paul Dade opened the San Diego 11th with a double, beat the throw to third on a sacrifice and scored the winning run on Kurt Bevacqua's single as the Padres ended a seven-game losing streak. Dade was batting for winner Bob Shirley, who allowed six hits in 10 innings. The Padres tied the score in the ninth when Ozzie Smith singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Dave Winfield.

A's overpower Tigers

Rookie right-hander Brian Kingman fired a three-hitter and Jeff Newman belted a three-run homer as Oakland crushed Detroit.

Kingman, 4-4, struck out a career-high seven batters and posted his third straight victory as the A's won for the fifth time in the last six games.

Matthews shot sinks Phils

Gary Matthews hit his 25th home run of the season in the seventh inning to break a tie and give rookie Larry Bradford his first major league victory. The Phillies had tied the score with three runs in the sixth. Atlanta took a 3-0 lead in the first inning, which Matthews started with a single and Barry Bonnell capped with a two-run double.

Giants bomb Pirates

Jack Clark's tie-breaking three-run homer highlighted a four-run sixth inning and Dennis Littlejohn hit his first major league homer in the ninth as San Francisco ended a six-game losing streak. Giants pitcher Bob Knepper, who scattered six hits, including Dave Parker's first-inning homer, started the sixth-inning rally with a single, only San Francisco's second hit off Bruce Kison.

Knight to skip trial in Puerto Rico

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Trial in absentia "is an acceptable procedure in Puerto Rico," says the attorney for Indiana University basketball coach Bobby Knight, charged with assaulting a San Juan policeman.

Knight, the U.S. coach in last month's Pan American Games, has decided not to attend his own trial, scheduled to begin today, said attorney Clarence Doninger.

Instead, Knight was to be represented by Puerto Rican counsel.

The 38-year-old coach was involved in a fracas with a policeman who intervened during an argument over who had the right to a basketball court during a practice session. Knight filed a counter-charge against the policeman, but that was dismissed.

If convicted, Knight could draw six months in jail and a $500 fine.

There had been much speculation whether Knight would show up for the trial, and Doninger said the Indiana coach had considered four alternatives.

The first was to stand trial and bring witnesses on his behalf, Doninger said.

"But there was a cost factor involved, with witnesses all over the country. It would be very expensive to have them there," he said.

Midland whips Amarillo, 7-3

Ty Waller's run-scoring single in the 12th inning lifted the Arkansas Travelers to a 3-2 Texas League baseball victory Tuesday over the Tulsa Drillers.

In other Texas League action, Midland defeated Amarillo 7-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before dropping the nightcap to the Gold Sox 6-3. Jackson rebounded from a 1-0 loss in the first game of a doubleheader against Shreveport to edge the Captains 4-3. El Paso defeated San Antonio 3-2 in a single contest.

Arkansas reliever Ray Searage, 9-3, was the winning pitcher. Searage and starter Len Strelitz limited Tulsa to nine hits. Stan Jakubowski, 2-1, suffered the loss.

Tulsa scored both of its runs in the first inning. Midland left fielder Eric Grandy put the Cubs ahead to stay in the first game against the Gold Sox with a solo homer in the fifth inning. Bill Early went the distance for Midland to push his record to 11-6. Former Texas A&M pitcher Mark Thurmond, 2-5, took the loss.

VA health care controversial

Commander criticizes Carter

HOUSTON (AP) — National Commander Jack Carey, in an angry outburst, criticized President Carter for his failure to address delegates to the American Legion 61st national convention here.

"We don't know how come he couldn't take a little time out from his trip down the river," said Carey, who earlier had accused the President and his administration of being anti-veteran.

"We are deeply disappointed."

Carey's impromptu attack on the president Tuesday came during the time on the program originally allotted for the president's speech and generated applause from many of the 2,999 delegates and thousands of spectators.

The outburst also followed a speech by Max Cleland, the head of the Veterans Administration and the lone White House envoy.

Carey also clashed with Cleland, over health care for veterans, in a prepared speech he delivered to open the convention.

The 172-hospital network administered by the VA is improving its care, Cleland said.

But Carey said the system is deteriorating through budget cuts and personnel losses.

After the contradictory speeches, a top Legion staffer explained the rift.

"We're in conflict (with Cleland) and have been that way about a year," said Tom Schneiders, assistant director of the National Veteran Affairs and Rehabilitation Department.

"They're playing with figures."

The numbers game involves 7,000 employees in the medical centers, explained Schneiders and Robert E. Lyngh, director of the rehabilitation department.

About a month ago, the administration recommended cutting 7,000 employees, Lyngh said. Then the American Legion persuaded Congress to refinance 3,800 of them, he said.

"The administration is going to try to take credit for it," he said.

The Legion, which has about 2.6 million members, is not happy with that or with some of Cleland's other plans.

The VA director said twice as many patients, and three times as many outpatients — a total of 18.93 million — were treated this year compared with 10 years ago.

About 20,000 fewer beds were filled, Cleland said, by using more outpatient care and shorter hospital stays.

"We're saying there are more veterans who need hospital care," Lyngh said. World War II vets are an average of 59 years old now, he explained, and are increasingly coming to VA hospitals with "catastrophic" diseases such as cancer and heart attacks.

Stage set for most damaging trial testimony

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors have set the stage to play the first of several hours of tapes — the most damaging evidence the state has against millionaire Cullen Davis, being tried here on murder conspiracy charges.

Dallas-based FBI agent Jerry Hubbell laid the foundation for the introduction of the tapes Tuesday, demonstrating the $3,000 body microphone used to record meetings between Davis and informant David McCrory on Aug. 18 and Aug. 20, 1978.

McCrory, Davis' one-time pool shooting buddy, is the state's star witness in its second attempt to convict the industrialist.

McCrory went to the FBI just over a year ago, claiming Davis had ordered him to hire the murders of State District Judge Joe Eidson and others.

Hubbell testified he strapped a body recorder to McCrory and secretly taped McCrory's meetings with Davis. To demonstrate the use of the recorder — which is about the size of a sardine can — Hubbell taped it to the left calf of assistant Tarrant County District Attorney John Bankston.

The lanky, silver-haired FBI sound technician also showed jurors how the microphone wires were strung under McCrory's "tight Levis" and taped to his chest underneath his knit pullover.

The technical demonstration was a prelude to playing tapes, which depict Davis and McCrory discussing mass murder.

FBI agent Ron Jannings testified earlier this week that McCrory quoted "price tags" for four persons Davis allegedly ordered slain.

Jannings said the list included a $200,000 contract on Davis' ex-wife, Priscilla; $500,000 for his younger brother, Bill Davis; and $80,000 each for Eidson and Judge Tom Cave.

Davis contends he was framed by McCrory, Priscilla and former Fort Worth karate instructor Pat Burleson.

The 45-year-old industrial heir testified at his first trial on the murder-for-hire charges that he was the intended victim of a murder's plot.

A Houston jury deadlocked 8-4 for conviction in that first trial which ended in a mistrial last January.

BUETTNERIA HOWARDENSES

Extinct amphibian remains found at Lake J.B. Thomas

Numerous remaining bones of the extinct Buettneria howardenses, an amphibian that lived in the streams and ponds of Howard County 200 million years ago, were found by 15 members of the Big Spring Prospectors Club when they ventured to Lake J.B. Thomas Aug. 18 on a field trip.

The creature became extinct in the Triassic Period of the Mesozoic Era, just as dinosaurs were beginning to appear on the scene. It comes from the broad and thick-skulled group, the Stegocephalians (meaning roofed head), which grew to lengths of 15 feet. The head was covered with bony plates.

Today, the fossilized teeth and bones of the Buettneria howardenses can be found in the Triassic redbed and sandstone and sandy shale in the Lake J.B. Thomas area.

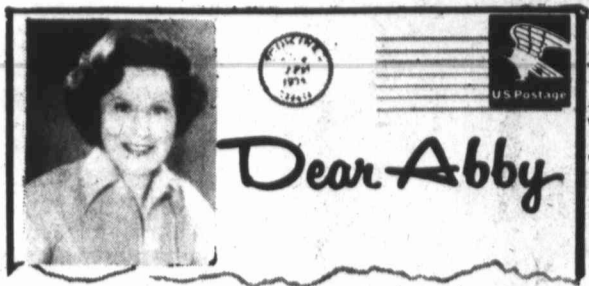

According to Lois Mitchell, Prospectors Club member, some of the bones are suitable for polishing and looks somewhat like polished dinosaur bone.

"The teeth range in size from 1/4 of an inch to 1 inch long," she concluded.

In charge of the hunt was Field Trip Chairman John Walls. Members left the clubhouse at 606 E. Third at 7:30 a.m. and began hunting fossils at 8:30 a.m.

Members enjoyed a picnic lunch in between hunts.

Dear Abby

She Lives in Fear Of Neighbor Hoods

DEAR ABBY: I live in a rough neighborhood. In the past year I've had my purse snatched six times. I put up a fight the last time and was hit over the head and had to go to the hospital to get 12 stitches in my head.

I also received 11 indecent propositions. I can't figure it out because I'm 47, overweight and just an ordinary-looking housewife. I hardly ever wear makeup, and I dress up only for church on Sundays.

Three women in my neighborhood have been raped in the past month and I'm scared that I may be next. I am thinking of carrying a butcher knife in my purse for protection.

Will you please consult an expert and find out if I can be put in jail for trying to protect my purse, my honor and my life.

SCARED

DEAR ABBY: You don't say where you live, but yours is a good question. I advise you to get in touch with your local police or sheriff's office and ask them what kind of weapon (if any) a citizen is permitted to carry in order to protect life, limb and pocketbook. The laws differ from state to state.

DEAR ABBY: When I go to a fast-food place, I find my own seat, pay the cashier, carry my own food to the table, and dispose of the debris in the waste receptacle, so I do not tip.

But when I go to a restaurant and someone takes my order, serves my food and brings me my check, I tip 15 percent of the bill.

My question: What would you consider a reasonable tip for a semi-service place when I stand in line to place my order, pay the cashier and find my own table, but the waitress brings the food, pours my iced tea and clears the table?

ED IN SOUTH CAROLINA

DEAR ED: I'd leave a 15 percent tip. That will make up for the cheapskates who leave nothing.

DEAR ABBY: I am one of six, and we've always been a very close family. We're all married now, and have families of our own.

Seven years ago our mother died. Dad died a year later. We all contributed equally to the upkeep of their graves, but I haven't been to the cemetery since we put up Dad's headstone. I've headed out toward the cemetery many times, but a terrible depression comes over me and I turn back.

My brothers and sisters go often. They say it makes them feel good. Well, maybe I'm an oddball but it tears me apart to look at their graves, so I don't go. I was a good son, so I don't have any guilt about how I treated my parents when they were living, but I do feel guilty when someone in the family asks me if I've been to the cemetery to visit the folks lately.

Should I force myself to go for appearances' sake?

TORN

DEAR TORN: The time to show respect for parents is during their lifetime. If it tears you apart to visit their graves, don't feel guilty about staying away. The poorest reason to do anything is for the sake of appearances.

Tween 12 and 20

Sleeping baby sitters get some sympathy

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I was shocked when I read your recent column about the mothers who didn't want their baby sitters sleeping on the job.

Since it has only been about 10 years since I was a young teen-ager and baby-sitting was my only source of income, the plight of the baby sitter is still fresh in my mind. I usually worked about two to four times a week, often on school nights, and usually past midnight. Then, being a conscientious student, I had to be to my 7:45 a.m. class every morning.

It doesn't take too much to see that for me to get even close to eight hours of sleep, dozing "on the job" was a must! And apparently none of my employers minded, since I was asked back time and again.

I should add, though, that I was a light sleeper, and though curled up on the couch, I usually was awakened by the sound of the parents unlocking the door.

It's only fair that you hear both sides. — Leslie L. Anderson, Seattle, Wash.

Leslie: I received many such letters from mothers and baby sitters alike. Thanks for taking time to write.

Dr. Wallace: Please let me have the opportunity to share something that may be helpful to your teen readers.

When I was 17 I became involved with a guy who was 21 and became pregnant. The heartache and despair were almost more than I could bear. At 18 I sure wasn't ready to be a mother and I did not love this person. I left home and went to another city to have the baby and gave it up for adoption.

It's now eight years later and the wounds have healed. But even though I'm happily married, the scar is still present.

So many times I've wished I had been pure when I went to the marriage altar. God has forgiven me and given me a new life. Still, we suffer the consequence of our wrongdoing.

If this letter would just keep one young person from the heartache of a child out of wedlock, then it's worth its weight in gold. — Nameless, Lodi, Calif.

Nameless: Thanks for taking the time to share your experience with us. It's always better to hear from someone who has "been there."

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, Tween 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent, stamped, large self-addressed envelope, in care of this newspaper.

Lula Harper, Lillie Digby represented at reunion

Over 175 family members registered at the second annual Digby-Harper family reunion held at the Howard County Fair Barn Aug. 4-5.

Families represented were Ed and Lillie (Harper) Digby, Will and Lula (Digby) Harper, John and Bernice Digby, Zeak and Jettie (Digby) Hughes, Grover and Mamie (Digby) Griffice, Sam and Ethel (Harper) Grant, Earl and Kay Digby, Parrish and Alice (Harper) Hanson and Hub and Rosie Harper.

The two eldest members present were Lula Harper, 93 and Lillie Digby, 86.

Mrs. Harper was well represented at the reunion with four of her six children and their families attending including Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper, Kemp, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harper and Mrs. Inus Bradley, Big Spring; and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harper, Odessa.

The five generations of Harpers present were Mrs. Harper; her daughter, Mrs. Inus Bradley; her granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Jo Allen; her great-granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Frances Byrd; and Mrs. Harper's three great-great-granddaughters, Leslie, Lana and Laura Byrd.

Five of Mrs. Digby's children and their families attending included R.L. and Irene Myrick and O.T. and Nollie Teague, Big Spring; Frank and Ollie Stallcup and Elliott and Mary Lou Digby, Odessa; and Eddie and Carlene Digby, Kingsville.

Mrs. Digby also represented the eldest of five generations present including her daughter, Irene Myrick; her granddaughter, Dwanna Robertson; her great-grandson, Don Robertson; and Jeremy Robertson, her great-great-grandson.

The next reunion will be held the second weekend in June, 1980.

Auxiliary donates books to hospital

The VFW Hall on Driver Rd., was the meeting place when members of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary gathered Monday at 7:30 p.m. Commander Nelda Burkhardt presided.

Sergeant-at-arms Linda Luna led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance. Roll call was conducted by Adjutant Clara Lewis.

Veterans Administration Hospital Chairman Delores Scott reported 70 patients were served coffee and cake by Barbara Vieira, Myrtle True, Iris Phillips and herself.

Katie Spivey presented a new unit member, Wanda Croft from Barstow, Tex.

Gertrude McCann, junior vice commander, reported on community service. She reported several hundred hardback and paper back books were given to the Big Spring State Hospital, Big Spring Christian Academy and the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

Mrs. Spivey reported on the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer's Luncheon. She and Mrs. McCann also presented a fan to the auxiliary which they had selected for the meeting room.

It was voted to donate $10 to the Big Spring High School Bible Fund and to send six delegates to the spring and fall convention. A flag will be ordered for the auxiliary.

Mrs. Burkhardt and Mrs. Lewis will be hostesses for the Sept. 17 meeting.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You will be committed to a considerable number of agreements or promises you made, so be conscientious in carrying through with them. You can make considerable headway towards truly good results.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Exercise care in handling of any kind of work anywhere so there is no damage and no injuries. Encourage a spirit of cooperation between you and fellow workers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Indulge in recreations that have proved to be enjoyable in the past. Something new could prove costly and unsatisfying.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get rid of anything that is disturbing the harmony at home. Don't neglect home or property repairs, or an important business affair.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Ideal time to get into reports, contracts, correspondence. Use care on the road and avoid accidents. Socialize in the evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Pay greater attention to financial matters if you are to have more abundance in the future. Contact an expert if you need advice. Combine with your good judgment for best results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study what you must do to reach the peak of your vitality so that you accomplish a good deal. Evening is fine for being with good friends at amusements all enjoy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get the details of a private arrangement you are making and then you get good results with a project you have in mind. Use care in doing so.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use your intuition and know which contacts to make, both in personal and business life. Go after aims in a positive way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have obligations to meet that need your immediate attention. Don't let others waste your time. A credit affair can be handled well now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) New situations arise that need attention, but don't neglect to solve older affairs as well. Make new contacts who can be of assistance to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to handle responsibilities efficiently now, so get busy early. Show more affection than usual for mate, loved one.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can handle small matters with others well now, and come to real accord. Get into civic work that can be helpful to you in the future. Avoid the tendency to overextend.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to be successful early in life and will be able to do so because of the conscientiousness in this nature and the ability at neatness and precision. Love of details. Teach early to understand the principles behind every enterprise before entering into it.

Natural gas settlement may mean higher bills

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - After a five-year fight over skyrocketing natural gas prices, a settlement by Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. and its wholesale customers promises consumers higher utility bills. The Houston-based natural gas supplier and buyers representing 99.8 percent of its sales volume asked the Texas Railroad Commission on Tuesday to approve final wording of the mammoth agreement. One in four Texans likely will feel effects of the settlement since Lo-Vaca supplies virtually all of Central and South Texas and sells to electric and natural gas companies serving Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and other areas. Rates for direct customers will rise less than 1 percent if the plan takes effect, said Lo-Vaca President Bill Greehey. He could not predict new rates for customers of electric or natural gas companies that buy from Lo-Vaca. "There isn't any question that for Lo-Vaca to be a viable company the rates are going to be increased," Greehey said. Ratepayers, not big utilities like Lone Star Gas Co., should benefit from the settlement, says one consumer group spokesman. "Those are the people who paid the money to begin with," said Peggy Buchorn, executive director of Citizens for Equitable Utilities Inc. Lo-Vaca was sued for $1.6 billion in breach of contract suits after the company could not deliver gas at promised low rates. The Railroad Commission allowed the company to ignore contractual agreements and raise rates substantially. The company began cutting back supplies for residential use but the commission later said Lo-Vaca was selling low cost reserve supplies to industrial customers in a grab for profits. "There's absolutely no doubt in my mind that they're (consumers) going to get the short end of the stick. They'll be paying through the nose," said Ms. Buchorn. "There's going to be a lot of rhetoric that this is going to benefit the ratepayers because they're going to get gas. Bull."

Intruder gunned down

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) - "I meant to kill him," 83-year-old Albert Chestnut said, describing how he gunned down an armed robber who terrorized Chestnut and his wife for a second time in three weeks.

Chestnut shot and killed Charles B. Braxton, 24, a 200-pound ex-convict, who authorities say may have been involved in other recent robberies in the Lakeland area.

A 12-gauge shotgun blast to the head and neck killed Braxton instantly as he rummaged through a freezer in the Chestnuts' home, apparently looking for hidden cash, police said.

Chestnut said he had only one thing in mind as he quietly freed himself after being tied up, took the shotgun from under his bed, crept to within a few feet of the burglar and fired.

"I wasn't trying to scare him or anything," Chestnut said. "If a man comes in your home and pushes you around and treats you like a dog, then it's time to do something about it."

Police believe the same armed robber broke into the Chestnut's home three weeks earlier, bound the couple, ransacked their home and left.

Officials said Tuesday that no charges would be filed against Chestnut. "Every person has the right to protect their life, home and property," Polk County Sheriff's spokesman Steve Huley said.

The incident began when Chestnut and his 81-year-old wife, Bertha, heard a "bump" at about 5:15 a.m. Monday. Chestnut said he got up to investigate, found nothing, then returned to bed.

Minutes later, the couple was awakened by a familiar figure with the sawed-off rifle, identified by police as Braxton.

Chestnut reached for a pistol he kept under the pillow. But the burglar anticipated the move and tore the gun from Chestnut's grasp, cutting the elderly man's hand.

"Then he said, 'I'm going to have to tie you up again,' only this time I left my arms slack so when he tied us up, it would be easier to get out," Chestnut said. "He thought he was safe."

After the burglar left the couple bound in their bedroom, Chestnut struggled out of his ropes, picked up the shotgun stowed under the bed and crept up on Braxton.

"He was in the kitchen with his head in the Deep-freeze, so I took aim," Chestnut said. "When he stood up, I pulled the trigger."

Sheriff's officials said Braxton had an extensive criminal record and was recently released from a state prison where he served time on charges of breaking and entering.

Only a Band-Aid, analyst says

Health care bill in trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter considers his hospital cost control bill a centerpiece of the fight against inflation, but a private analyst suggests it would be no more than a Band-Aid.

A study published by the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research says the spiraling cost of health care is fueled in large measure by tax and insurance policies that ease the pain of a big medical bill.

Carter's cost control proposal, rejected in the last Congress, is headed for the House next month. The House Ways and Means Committee has approved it; the hospital industry and some Republicans vow to fight it; and the Senate Finance Committee has refused to consider a similar measure.

So the prospects for enactment are clouded at best. And the study by Jack A. Meyer, formerly with the Council on Wage and Price Stability, says the bill wouldn't put more than a temporary lid on soaring hospital costs anyhow.

The cost containment bill would impose mandatory price controls next year for hospitals that flunk a complicated three-phase test. In effect, there would be three sets of guidelines: national, state and hospital-by-hospital. A hospital exceeding all three would face controls unless it could convince the government it faced special circumstances.

And as Meyer noted, few hospitals would not argue that their circumstances are special. "The end result emerging from the passage of this legislation would most likely be a barrage of administrative appeals and possibly lawsuits," he says.

According to the Congressional Budget Office, the national guidelines would permit an average increase in hospital expenditures — and costs — of 11.3 percent this year. The administration had aimed for a 9.7 percent ceiling, but inflation has worsened since the program was drafted.

The idea is to get hospitals to stay within the voluntary guidelines this year lest they face mandatory limits in 1980. The budget office figures that without government action, the cost increase this year would be about 14 percent.

Meyer writes that the current proposal has so many "exclusions, exceptions and contingencies as to make it unlikely that it would have any bite."

Meyer argues that real progress will require a change in the system of incentives that now tend to push health-care spending upward. When the insurance company is going to pay anyhow, there is no pressure on the doctor, the hospital or the patient to hold down the bill.

Meyer suggests that if the government is going to do more than "paper over or postpone the problem," it has to change the system so as to create incentives for less costly health insurance and care.

Current generation's winner

Gold 'perfect investment'

NEW YORK (AP) — If the description of today's Americans as the "me generation" is indeed accurate, then gold is the perfect investment for the times.

First of all, it is a "winner." Inflation may be making a hash out of other people's finances, but if you own gold, you're staying ahead of the game.

Like many of today's other avenues toward self-improvement, gold is solitary. There's no part ownership in a larger venture, no dependency on what some hired management or elected board of directors does.

As a protest against big government and big-government spending, gold makes as clear a statement as any tax-cutting proposition on any ballot. The government can print all the excess dollars it wants, the gold bugs say, but it can't print gold.

After a decline from about $200 an ounce to just above $100 in the early days of the gold sales by the Treasury, the price of gold has tripled in the past three years, passing $300 this summer.

But the bull market in gold is somehow a joyless one. Recollections of the skyrocketing stock market in the 1960s, with all its speculative excesses and subsequent exposures of corporate chicanery, evoke images of brass bands and celebrations of prosperity.

The mood is much different now. One long-time gold bug lamented in his newsletter recently that, despite the clearcut success of his forecasts, he was still widely described as a crank.

"How could it be," he mused, "that our predictions, even after they have already come true, are still so disbelieved by certain segments of the press and the vast majority of investors?"

One possible answer is that Americans aren't used to gold, the way Europeans are supposed to be. There is a be-against-the-future aspect to gold that grates on the old all-American ideals, like growth.

If you advocate gold, in a sense you are urging an anti-social act — akin to making for the lifeboats before the other passengers find out that the ship might sink.

Gold-buyers also can be seen as contributing to the problem from which they are trying to protect themselves. Gold is, after all, a non-productive investment. It builds no factories, creates no jobs, doesn't even pay any dividends.

The gold bugs have been right in the past, and those who now predict that gold prices will go higher still may be right again.

OLETA BARNETT RETIRING
... after 23 years at Cosden

Oleta Barnett retiring as legal secretary

Mrs. W.E. (Oleta) Barnett is retiring Aug. 31 after having been employed as a secretary in the Legal Department of Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., after 23 years.

She was secretary to Joe A. Moss, vice president and general counsel of Cosden, until he was promoted to general counsel of American Petrofina, Inc., in 1971 and moved to Dallas. She continued to work in this department as secretary to Norwood Cheers, patent counsel and assistant general counsel of Cosden, and Ronald E. Watrous, attorney. Mrs. Barnett came to work for Cosden Aug. 20, 1956.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnett, married Nov. 23, 1968, live at 1409 11th Place. Before retiring when Webb AFB closed, he was manager of the parts store on the base for Mead's Auto Supply.

By her previous marriage to the late M.W. (Bill) Horne, she had two children, who have families of their own. Dr. M.W. (Bill) Horne, Jr. is a graduate of Texas A&M University, School of Veterinary Medicine, and is practicing at Pampa. He and his wife, Carolyn, have two daughters, Laura and Marci.

Mrs. Barnett's daughter, Anita, is the wife of Don Vaughn, a boiler operator at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. They have two sons, Tommy and Gary, and live at Sand Springs.

Mrs. Barnett also has two step-sons, Everett Frank Barnett, of Denver, Colo., and Graham Barnett, Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnett are members of College Baptist Church, where she is a charter member. Mrs. Barnett is a member of the local Desk & Derrick Club, having twice been its president.

Response to fuel adapters overwhelming

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An auto parts retailer here is being overwhelmed with the response from the sale of a small adapter that allows a gasoline pump nozzle to fit into unleaded gas tank filler openings.

"We've got phone call after phone call in appreciation," Terry Brown, a buyer for Ted Ward Auto Supply stores said.

The "emergency refueling adapter" is manufactured by Roller Sports Inc. of Jacksonville, Fla. Selling for $1 each, the plastic adapters fit over the end of a regular grade fuel nozzle and taper to the size of an unleaded fuel nozzle.

Roller Sports spokesmen said the adapters are for use in emergencies only, but Brown concedes many of the gadgets are probably being bought by customers fed up with paying for higher priced unleaded gasoline.

An Environmental Protection Agency spokesman in Dallas said in a telephone interview it isn't illegal for motorists to have the adapters. But, Eddie Lee said it is illegal for service station operators to allow the use of the adapters on a regular basis.

Lee said an emergency situation exists when a motorist runs out of unleaded fuel and the station he is nearest has only regular grade gasoline available.

In those cases, Lee said, leaded fuel may be used, but only enough to get to a station where unleaded is sold.

Lee said use of regular gasoline in vehicles made to run on unleaded will burn out catalytic converters and may cause longterm damage.

Bill Buffington, owner and president of Roller Sports, said in a telephone interview he has sold 1.5 million of the adapters in the past two months. He said they have been around since 1975, but really caught on during the latest fuel crunch.

Roller Sports makes 150,000 of the adapters a week, he said.
