Military officials oppose SALT II

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 1,500 retired generals and admirals urged rejection of the SALT II treaty in a letter delivered today to the Senate by a former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he sought the views of retired military officers because "active duty military leaders are not permitted to flatly oppose SALT II."

The letter charged that the strategic arms limitation treaty gives the Soviet Union a heavy advantage and that the United States would not be able to detect possible Soviet cheating.

"As military professionals, and with all due respect for our more circumscribed colleagues still bound by their active service, we strongly urge you to reject SALT II as injurious to the security interests of the United States and its allies," said the letter signed by 1,678 retired officers.

It was presented as the committee resumed its hearings on the pact after a day's delay for closed-door briefings on the presence of 2,000 to 3,000 Soviet troops in Cuba.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, the committee's chairman, served notice Wednesday that "there is no likelihood whatever the Senate would ratify the SALT II treaty as long as Russian combat troops remain stationed in Cuba."

Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, ranking committee Republican, declined to join in Church's statement, saying, "At this particular moment, predictions would be very hazardous."

Moorer's letter was signed by such well-known treaty foes as Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, who with Moorer was a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in the early 1970s; Maj. Gen. John Singlaub, who was relieved of his South Korean command after criticizing the administration's troop withdrawal policy; Lt. Gen. Daniel Graham, former head of the Defense Intelligence Agency; and Maj. Gen. George Keegan, former chief of Air Force intelligence. Moore was testifying as a leader of the pro-defense Coalition for Peace through Strength.

Active duty military officers are generally expected to support administration policies, but are free to express their personal views when asked in congressional appearances.

The current members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff earlier this summer characterized the treaty as a "modest but useful step" in arms limitation, but said "none of us is titally at ease with all the provisions of the agreement."

Eugene Rostow, of the Committee on the Present Danger and another SALT critic, testified that the treaty would hinder U.S. efforts to maintain military equality with the Soviet Union.

In announcing the resumption of hearings, Church left no doubt he would try to use the treaty as a lever to force removal of the Soviet troops in Cuba.

He said resumption of the hearings "does not commit the committee to any given action on the treaty, nor does it commit the committee to any particular timetable."

But Prensa Latina, in the first official reaction to the reports, stopped short of denying the troops' presence.

MAKING THE PUBLIC AWARE — An estimated 100 people met at the YMCA Tuesday evening for a "Back the Steers Poster Painting Party," a program sponsored by the Sports Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. Dick Helms is chairman of the committee. Clubs and organizations involved in the program include the Key Club, the cheerleaders, the Big Spring YMCA Tri-Hi-Y, Meistersingers, high school band and the Steer football players. Banners like the ones displayed here, urging support of the Steers, are going up around town. Holding the banner, from the left, are Brad Small, KK Griffin, Sandy Nelson and Dick Helms.

What medicare provides

By WILLIAM STEIF

Why is your Medicare benefit so valuable? Just read on.

Here are the chief things you get under Medicare hospital insurance:

- + Up to 90 days of in-patient care in each "benefit period."
- A benefit period is how your hospital-insurance use is measured. Your first benefit period starts the first time you're in a hospital, under Medicare. After you've been out of a hospital or nursing home 60 days, your second benefit period can start. You get an unlimited number of benefit periods.
- You pay the first $144 of your first 60 days in a hospital, then $36 daily for the 61st through 90th days. All the rest is paid by Medicare.
- + A "reserve" of 60 extra in-patient days if you're confined to a hospital for more than 90 days at one stretch. Each such day you use reduces permanently the total number of days left in this reserve. Hospital insurance covers all but $72 of each reserve day.
- So, if you're hospitalized 100 straight days, your total cost is $1,944 — $144 plus $1,080 (30 times $36) plus $720 (10 times $72). Without insurance, that much hospitalization today would run at least $20,000.
- + Up to 100 days of care per benefit period in a skilled nursing home that participates in Medicare. Hospital insurance pays for the first 20 days in these homes and all but $18 a day for the next 80 days, subject to some limitations.

- + Up to 100 visits by a home health agency representative to your home in one benefit period, again subject to certain limitations.
- In a hospital, Medicare covers the cost of semi-private room (two to four beds), regular nursing service, special-care units (such as intensive care after surgery), drugs, appliances and other equipment and services normally furnished to hospital or nursing-home patients.
- At home during convalescence, Medicare can cover the cost of part-time skilled nursing care, physical therapy and some other items. But it does not cover the cost of drugs at home.
- Also not covered in a hospital are doctors' fees, private-duty nurses and such conveniences as a telephone or television.
- But Medicare medical insurance — which cost $8.20 a month for the year ending June 30, 1979 — covers 80 percent of your "reasonable" charges for doctors and out-patient medical services.
- In certain special instances, Medicare's medical insurance will pay 100 percent of reasonable charges. In the hospital, for instance, it will pay all radiologists' and pathologists' fees, whether or not you've already laid out the $60 annual deductible.

Two pep rallies due to spark 'Stuff the Stadium' campaign

The "Stuff the Stadium" campaign which has been under way for days here builds in intensity with a giant downtown pep rally at 5 o'clock this evening and climaxes Friday with another rally at 2:30 p.m., Friday.

Cheerleaders and drill teams of the local high school mass on the east side of the courthouse at 5 p.m., today. Big Spring High School coaches will be in attendance and will offer short talks to the gathering.

The Big Spring High School football team, seeking to end a losing streak which has extended back to the 1977 season, will be hosting the Andrews Mustangs in Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m., Friday.

As many adults as possible are being asked to attend a 2:30 p.m., rally on the downtown parking lot at Second and Main Streets (immediately north of The Record Shop). A motorcade will form there and wind its way to Blankenship Field on the high school complex where the pre-game emotional buildup will erupt.

Coupons on a color television set have been sold by local merchants and friends of the school for weeks now. The coupons, priced at $3 each, can be exchanged for Andrews game tickets. The television set will be given away at the game, with the stipulation that the holder of the winning ticket must be present to qualify for the prize.

Local merchants are donating prizes which will be awarded during the half time of each home game this year.

Advance ticket sales for the Andrews game have been good, although season tickets have been lagging. An estimated 400 season tickets have been sold, according to the schools' assistant business manager, Don Green.

Andrews will be here in force. School officials there ordered 500 reserve seats and as many tickets for students.

The Evening Lions' Club will get into the spirit of the occasion by staging its annual barbecue in the High School Cafeteria from 5 to 8 p.m., Friday. Tickets for the barbecue sell for $3.50 each and will be available at the door. The Lions ordinarily sell hundreds of tickets for the barbecue. They use the proceeds to support club charities.

In October 1949, the City of Big Spring Centennial Pageant was held in the Amphitheater. This program included a beard growing contest, covered wagons, pioneers and real Indian dances. One arch on the South wall had to be removed in order to place the wagons and other large props on the stage. At the close of the pageant, the arch was built by the City Public Works Department. The facility is still used.

15. Comanche Trail Golf Course, Comanche Trail Park; point of interest; City owned, it is one of the most beautiful 18 hole golf courses in west Texas.

16. City Overnight Camping Site, Comanche Trail Park; point of interest; The overnight camping park was born in 1964 when campers asked Johnny Hohansen, the city park superintendent, for permission to use the city park for camping. Big Spring was one of the first cities to provide camping facilities for travel-worn campers. A restroom-shower facility was built at the center of an oval, fenced-in area. Electrical outlets were provided. Thousands of campers have used the free facility throughout the years and have expressed their appreciation by letters to the city fathers.

Clay, is still plugging away. Today, it ranks as a marginal well but in its moment of glory it was the fuse that ignited an oil boom and changed the destiny of Big Spring and Howard County.

24. Ross City-Ghost Town; established in 1926 during oil boom.

25. Otis Chalk Ranch; Pioneer Ranchers land with eight standing derricks on 80 acres around homestead.

Soash was given the commission in 1910 to sell off part of the historic Slaughter Long S Ranch, he centered his activity near the headquarters in northern Howard County, carefully platted a town site replete with parks, schools, city hall, power plant, etc. and set the pattern by constructing a concrete — wall bank building. Then he imported prospective buyers from the midwest and sold his bargain priced land rapidly. Unfortunately, right after the settlers arrived, severe drought set in and most of them eventually gave up and returned to their former homes. Only the old bank hulk and rattlesnakes remain today to preside over

Police beat Burglars' banquet spoiled

Big Spring police spoiled a banquet for local burglars, 11:40 p.m. Wednesday.

Intruders broke into the Big Spring Produce Company, Northeast Second and Austin, late Wednesday night, causing $33 worth of damage to the building. Once inside, they lifted three boxes of chicken, three boxes of shrimp and two turkeys.

Their "fowl" play, however, was stopped short by a squad of local patrolmen and detectives. All the produce was recovered. Two suspects were arrested at the scene.

Charged with burglary are Rafael Rodriguez, 25, 805 Willia, and a male juvenile. Bond for Rodriguez was set at $15,000 by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin, and the youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Jean Ann Reeves, 507 1/2 E. 17th, was accosted in her home and dragged across several neighbors' yards, 9:45 p.m. Wednesday. According to reports, a large man unknown to Ms. Reeves walked into her home, struck her, and then dragged her out of the home and across several neighborhood front lawns.

Ms. Reeves was spotted running back toward her home by patrolling Officer Roy Osborne. Before Osborne could size up the situation, the assailant had made his getaway.

A total of 11 eight track tapes were stolen from a car belonging to Richard Christie, 1736 Purdue, while the car was parked at the Big Spring Federal Building, Tuesday night. The tapes were valued at $99.

Another car, this one belonging to David Larson, 1403 Robin, was broken into while parked in a lot at 1905 Wason, Wednesday night. Stolen was a 20 gauge shotgun, for which a value has not been estimated.

Burglars cut through a screen to get inside the home of Izora McClesky, 1407 Aylford, Wednesday morning. Stolen were 50 blank checks and a gold watch. Loss was estimated at $100.

Steven Schooler, 2611 Carol, was treated at Malone-Hogan Clinic and released after a freak accident that occurred 3:07 p.m. Wednesday at the corner of 11th and Johnson. According to reports, the left front door of Schooler's car flew open, and without stopping he tried to close it.

With his attention on the door, Schooler lost control of his car, and it hit the front porch of the home of Cecilia Adams, 1017 Johnson.

Dorma Lee Fierro, 1301 Johnson, was admitted to Medical Arts Hospital in good condition, but with multiple contusions, following a collision at 10th and Douglas, 6:45 a.m. today. A pickup driven south on Douglas by Michael Lockhart, 2911 West Highway 80, collided with a car driven west on 10th by Eusebio M. Fierro, 1301 Johnson.

Ms. Fierro was a passenger in the front seat of the car. No one else was injured in the accident.

One other mishap was reported Wednesday. Vehicles driven by Hijinio Moreno, 100 N.E. 10th, and Albert Garcia, 505 N.W. 8th, collided at Third and Owens, 2:49 p.m.

ONE INJURED — Dorma Lee Fierro, 1301 Johnson, was bruised over much of her body in an accident involving this car and a pickup at the intersection of 10th and Douglas, 6:45 a.m. today. The car was driven by Eusebio M. Fierro, 1301 Johnson, and the truck was driven by Michael W. Lockhart, 2911 West Highway 80. Ms. Fierro is listed in good condition at Medical Arts Hospital.

Sears announces voluntary repair program of TV sets

Sears, Roebuck and Co., in cooperation with the Consumer Product Safety Commission, today announced a voluntary repair program to correct a potential fire problem in 21,000 19-inch portable color television sets.

The sets were sold under Sears name from 1973 through 1975 at about $490. They can be identified by one of the following model numbers, which are located on the back of the cabinet: 564.4199300, 564.41991300, 564.41991301, 564.41991302 or 564.41991303. No other TV sets are involved.

The company said the sets contain an electrical resistor which may overheat, resulting in a fire that could spread to other combustible materials. Sears has received reports of five fires in the TV sets from consumers. No injuries were involved.

Owners of sets with these model numbers should contact their local Sears store or service center to arrange for repairs. There will be no charge to the owner.

Open heart surgery poses big risk for Misty Dawn Bowers

The outlook is improving for Misty Dawn Bowers. She was born with a double heart defect eight months ago to John A. and Susie Bowers of Big Spring.

Misty, who has undergone two heart failures in her short life, is under the supervision of the Texas Children's Hospital in Houston and the Texas Tech Medical Center in Lubbock.

Misty recently returned from a checkup in Houston and, according to her mother, will undergo open heart surgery in about five months if her condition remains stable until then.

The surgery will be a major risk for Misty, who will be about 13 months old by then, but will give her a better chance for life than she now has. The surgery has been postponed until Misty passes her first birthday because, according to her doctors, the older she is, the higher the success rate.

Though the Texas Crippled Children's Fund will pay for most of Misty's surgery, Misty's condition has resulted in a financial hardship for the family. She constantly requires medical attention locally and expensive medications. Despite Misty's need for constant supervision, Misty's mother works to try to pay Misty's medical bills.

One heart catharization alone, one expense that the family has had to pay, is $1,000. Misty faces another catharization in three months.

"I want to tell everyone who donated to her fund, thank you," Mrs. Bowers said Wednesday.

To date, $405 has been deposited in the Misty Dawn Bowers Fund at Security State Bank. One deposit was a $100 donation.

The fund is being used to pay Misty's local medical expenses.

Dalhart farmer hopes to find 'roots' in Czechoslovakia

Rare-Hanks Austin Bureau PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — Carrol Chaloupka hopes to use the Texas agricultural tour of Eastern Europe as a sort of Czech-style "Roots."

Chaloupka, a Dalhart farmer and president of the Texas Farm Bureau, wants to find out if he has relatives living near Prague, but that job may be difficult.

All he knows is that his great grandfather came from Lthomysl and his great grandmother from Castolovice, two villages about 90 miles east of Prague.

Even this information is second hand, however, coming from Chaloupka's American born father, Glen. The father lives in Iowa and has never been to Czechoslovakia, but he remembers hearing his parents talk about their old home after they sailed to America in 1840.

Glen Chaloupka, 79, is sketchy about details, but a valuable clue to the grandparents' origins — some old records — was hidden in a family table that had been sold. The purchaser found the document and called the Chaloupkas.

"I'm going to make every effort to find them if they are still there," Carrol Chaloupka said upon arrival in Prague Wednesday.

But his chances appear slim. He previously had contacted the U.S. embassy about his goal. "They said it would be difficult, that Chaloupka in Czechoslovakia is like the names Jones in America," he said.

His biggest problem may be time.

Chaloupka and his wife,

Dorothy, are members of an agriculture-oriented tour of Eastern Europe led by Gov. and Mrs. Bill Clements.

The tour's goal is to make contact to help export of Texas agricultural products to the Soviet Union and other East European countries.

The 37 participants — including two who joined the trip in Prague Wednesday — are on a fast-paced schedule.

They will be in Prague only until Saturday morning and have a full schedule, including a day-long visit to a Czech collective farm Friday.

"It will be hard, but I'm going to try," Chaloupka said.

Local pledges to fight MD exceed $4,450

Big Spring and area residents pledged more money than ever before to aid in research to find a cure for Muscular Dystrophy during the annual Jerry Lewis Telethon.

Local pledges were $4,450.34, almost 2 1/2 times the amount donated last year, with another $382.67 being turned in by individuals and groups that collected door-to-door.

It was also a record year in the Permian Basin, with over $90,000 raised to combat the illness, which is really several different but similar diseases.

Nationally, the telethon raised over $30 million, the highest figure ever, and Jerry Lewis stated at the end of the 21 1/2 hour show that a cure is imminent. "I hope to never see you again...under these conditions," he said, as he tearfully left the stage.

Local Chairman Mike

Faulkner, president of the sponsoring organization — the Big Spring Jaycees, expressed his gratitude to the 14 bleary-eyed volunteers who answered phones and took pledges. "We had an operator for every phone the whole time, thanks to their dedication," he said.

Those who worked locally included Robert Spiller, assistant chairman, Connie Edgemon, Vee Miller, Jane Ray, Ray Don Myers, Rona McElroy, Helen Spiller, Thelma Rains, Sherrie Bordofske, Sue Balios, Sandra Logback, Peggy Payne, Jinger Jones, Jeff Jones and Maria Faulkner.

Winchell's Donuts contributed an assortment of donuts and rolls to help the volunteers through the long night and McDonald's fed the troops two meals. Phones were set up in the offices of KWAB-TV, Channel 4.

New discoveries made in animal studies

Long time pet owners are sure their dogs and cats can understand every word they say, and many are prone to try and establish a dialogue with their animals at every opportunity.

Dogs and cats, let it be added, acquire lots of savvy if they expect to hang around a household long. They act as if they're comprehending what is being said to them.

ACCORDING TO A paper prepared by International Wildlife Magazine, animals fascinate humans because they perform hundreds of acts that bipeds just don't understand.

Just recently, however, the science of animal behavior has been finding explanations for wildlife antics that have puzzled man since Aristotle first studied birds and bees in the Fourth Century B.C.

The study of wildlife, according to the magazine, is also becoming more closely linked with the study of human behavior.

Why do wolves howl? Contrary to popular belief, it's not because they're lonely. Wolves are highly social creatures with one of the most complex communications systems in the animal kingdom. The howling is a pack's way of keeping in touch at night or when the visibility is poor.

Howling also serves as a mechanism for keeping different packs away from each other, according to the publication. Rather than fight other packs, they howl. A bird's "song" is a succession of musical notes repeated in a recognizable pattern. Of the world's 8,600 or so species, nearly half are songbirds, and it usually the male of the species that does the singing.

THEIR SONGS, WHICH young birds must learn from adults, are closely connected to nesting and mating. Birds use their melodies to define their nesting territories and woo their mates. Aside from all these practical reasons, some researchers now believe that birds, like people, sing just for the sheer joy of it.

Monkeys communicate with each other by making faces, according to the magazine. Raccoons don't really wash their food — they employ what looks like a scrubbing motion to probe and sift a stream bed.

All 15 species of the world's cranes dance the same dance to reinforce the union of a male and female. Animals fight when mates or territory are at stake. Few fatalities ever result when two creatures of the same species battle it out. One can usually escape from the other without major injury.

The science of animal behavior is admittedly still an infant discipline. Animals, on the other hand, are a lot farther advanced in their study of man. Most of the don't like what they see because they stay in perpetual retreat.

Cooperation needed

Around the rim

Eileen McGuire

Modern cars bring modern troubles. There was a fire Tuesday that all but destroyed a Sand Springs man's home, and with it, his family's dream to remodel their investment into a home made just for them. They'd been working on it for three years.

Despite some problems on the way, the Coahoma Fire Department made it to the fire to join Sand Springs Fire Department's efforts to salvage part of the man's dream. The tragedy could have easily turned into a double tragedy.

motorists are required by law to yield right of way to all emergency vehicles displaying or sounding emergency equipment — flashing lights or siren or both.

If the emergency vehicle is behind of head of you, even if you are on the opposite side of the road, you are required to pull over, out of the way, and stop. If you are at an intersection, even if the emergency vehicle has the stop sign or red light, you are required to stop.

FAILURE TO comply is a misdemeanor and by law can result in a penalty of anywhere from $5 to $200. The fine is set according to the circumstances, says Warrant Officer Melvin Daratt with the Big Spring Police Department.

According to Coahoma Fire Marshal Kenneth Lawhorn, the new yield signs on service roads present a new problem for emergency vehicles. Though motorists exiting or entering the freeway now have the right of way, they, too, will have to be on the lookout for an emergency vehicle and be prepared to give right of way.

There is a traffic danger everytime a fire, major accident or police emergency arises. There's also a danger in not getting there in time. A fire can destroy a home in a matter of minutes. But what the fire departments are more concerned about is that someone might be in the home.

According to Womack, "Every second you can save is worth it if you can save someone's life. We're not worried about property; we're worried about lives. You can replace property; you can't replace lives."

How fast help arrives depends on a large part to how much cooperation the public gives. In a way, we're all involved in saving lives.

Bugging Andy Young

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — One of the parts of the Andy Young saga that hasn't been delved into is who bugged his conversation with the PLO U.N. observer. As part of the counter-espionage game, intelligence organizations, including the CIA, have denied their people had anything to do with it.

But we all know there were probably four or five bugs in the Kuwaiti U.N. ambassador's apartment where the meeting took place.

THE BUGGING of U.N. ambassadors is standard operating procedure for spooks operating in the New York area. As a matter of fact, the real status of a U.N. member country is determined by how much trouble foreign agents will take to install the sophisticated listening equipment.

There is even a pecking order for U.N. nations based on who is interested in what their ambassadors have to say.

The major powers such as the U.S.S.R., U.S., People's Republic of China, Japan, France and Great Britain rate at least five bugs. The other Western and Eastern bloc countries four. Third World powers with oil, three bugs. Third World powers without oil could be entitled to one, or no bugs, depending how much trouble their governments are causing their neighbors.

There are exceptions, such as Cuba. Although it is a small power it is entitled to five bugs. Pakistan had only been allotted two bugs until it was revealed that she was developing an atom bomb.

THE PLACEMENT of these bugs in U.N. ambassadors' apartments is subject to negotiation between the various intelligence services. Most agencies prefer to plant their bugs in an ambassador's bedroom on the theory that he might say more there than he would in his living room or dining room. But if you put too many bugs in the bedroom, it's very hard to pick up conversations and the quality of the voices becomes weakened.

So trade-offs are made. The Soviets, for example, will agree to allow the CIA to bug the Indian ambassador's bedroom, and the CIA in return will give the KGB bugging rights to the French ambassador's mattress. Because the price of sophisticated equipment has become so expensive, many spook organizations have bugging exchanges. Zambia, who can only afford to bug one embassy at a time, will turn over its Ethiopian tape to Tanzania, and Tanzania will then give Zambia the one tape it has on Nigeria.

Some intelligence agents trade their bugging conversations of embassies as if they were baseball cards. They'll let out word that they have an intimate conversation between the ambassador of Saudi Arabia and the head of a large oil company. They might trade it for a dialogue between the U.N. West German ambassador and the foreign minister of Turkey. A hot tape compromising a U.N. ambassador with a girl he met at Studio 54 could be worth a dozen tapes disclosing where Poland stands on the SALT II Treaty.

The entire U.N. intelligence community was badly shaken by the Andy Young incident. The original suspicion was that the Israelis had leaked the PLO conversation, but the Israeli service proved their bug had been planted in the Kuwaiti ambassador's bathroom behind one of the gold faucets. Since the Kuwaiti ambassador's wife was running her bath at the time, the Israelis said they had come up with nothing. Egypt's bug, according to her agents, was in the ambassador's clothes closet, and the Japanese had theirs in the kitchen TV set.

Tests provide ranges within normal

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I recently got my doctor's report in the mail. The term "normal limits" confuses me. Specifically, it said that my blood sugar, liver and kidney function tests were all within "normal limits." I've never heard of normal limits before. Will you explain? — J.R.

Because humans vary so widely in such things as diet, weight and numerous other lifestyle factors, laboratories have not been able to individualize tests with great precision. Therefore, each test has a range of normal values. These values vary with the test and also with the laboratory doing it.

Arbitrary ranges of normal values are arrived at. A test result within these ranges is said to be "within normal limits." For example, blood sugar levels may vary between a low of 70 and a high of 110. Any value between these "normal limit extremes" is considered normal. The figures refer to milligrams-percent in the blood, but you need not concern yourself with that.

The fact that your level is within normal limits should ease any concern you have about blood sugar. The same applies to tests that measure liver and kidney function. They, too, showed you are normal. Later on should any problems arise involving those organs or the blood sugar then it would be more important to know whether "within normal limits" meant "normal high" or "normal low."

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please, please settle this for us. Is trichomonas a venereal disease or isn't it? — Mrs. P.G.N.

It can be a "venereal disease" but doesn't have to be. Confusing? Yes, because trichomonas organisms may appear without one having had sexual intercourse or may be passed on through sexual contact from male to female and vice versa. That's why both partners are treated at once if one has the disease.

Usually the VD distinction is subjective. If you give your husband a cold by kissing him that is OK. If some other woman gives him the cold the same way, that is bad. For a discussion of vaginal complaints see the booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment." Send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am on a special diet that includes lecithin. What role does lecithin play in this diet? Does it benefit anyone with clogged arteries due to cholesterol deposits? Is it possible to unclog arteries? — M.S.

Lecithin will not unclog arteries. The only way to do that is with surgery in selective cases and in certain large arteries. The body is able to make all the lecithin it needs. It is of no help as a supplement.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a woman in my 70s and noticed the last week or two that my urine has had a yellowish color, usually in the morning. I have no pain, do not take any medication of any kind, only aspirins for a headache or for my arthritis, then not often. Could it be caused by something in the drinking water, coffee, something I eat or is it something to do with old age? Is it serious? — F.B.B.

I presume you mean that the urine color is a change from normal for you. Even deeply yellow urine can be normal, but it can result from dehydration (loss of fluids), drugs, or foodstuffs.

The color itself is not significant, but a sudden change that persists can be and you should be examined if this is the case, or if you have other signs such as burning, increased or decreased urination, or frequency of voiding. A simple urinalysis, especially an early morning urine "clean catch," would help answer the questions you ask.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am miserable with hives and thought maybe you could help me. This is the third year in succession that I have had this trouble and my diet is usually about the same, except for a small amount of strawberries. Just one dish, and a week later I started with the hives, the same as in other years. The hives seem to stay with me through the summer. I will watch for your answer. — L.A.K.

The answer's simple. Any time you want a big case of hives eat a small dish of strawberries.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is at the same time vital to human life. For a copy of his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly," write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What does the Bible mean when it says that Satan is the one who is in control of this world? — D.T.S.

DEAR D.T.S.: The Bible tells us that God is in control of the whole universe because He is its creator and He is sovereign. "The heavens are thine, the earth also is thine: as for the world and the fulness thereof, thou hast founded them" (Psalms 89:11).

However, the Bible also tells us that Satan has some degree of control or power over the world. I know it may be difficult for us to understand how God can be Lord of all, and yet also allow Satan to work in this world. But whether we can fully understand it or not, the Bible says Satan is real and is very much at work in this world. He furthermore is ruler of a host of evil spiritual forces which are at work seeking to block God's will. The Bible tells us, "For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms" (Ephesians 6:12, New International Version). Satan is the implacable, unceasing enemy of God and all that is good. Don't ever forget that the Bible calls him our "adversary" (1 Peter 5:8), a "deceiver" (Revelation 12:9) and a liar (John 8:44). But you should remember two things about Satan. Remember first of all that he has been defeated by Christ. Through His death and resurrection, death and hell and Satan were defeated. For that reason, if you have given your life to Christ you need not fear Satan. Also, remember that some day Satan will be banished forever (Revelation 20:10).

In the meantime, resist Satan and his temptations. "Put on the full armor of God so that you can take your stand against the devil's schemes" (Ephesians 6:11, NIV). Learn to trust God every day for the strength you need to stay close to God and away from Satan. The Holy Spirit has been given for that purpose and, as we turn to God, He will help us fight the evil one.

Probe starts

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — This may turn out to be a red-letter day in Argentina, where an estimated 20,000 persons have been murdered, tortured and illegally detained — or have simply disappeared — since Jorge Rafael Videla seized power in 1976.

Today the International Human Rights Commission is scheduled to begin an investigation of the Videla dictatorship's treatment of its political opponents.

Our own investigation, based on interviews with intelligence sources and examination of secret State Department reports, indicates that Argentina stands as one of the world's most flagrant violators of human rights since the mad dictator of Uganda, Idi Amin, was driven out of power.

WE REPORTED earlier how the Videla regime, hoping to improve its faltering reputation, hired a high-powered Madison Avenue public relations firm, Burson-Marsteller, to brighten its image. In a $1.2 million proposal, the New York image-molders recommended an extensive campaign to influence the media and produce favorable publicity for Videla's government.

Reliable sources have told our associates Joe Spear and Gary Cohn that Videla's henchmen have been pressuring Argentine editors and publishers to testify before the U.S. Congress on the "improvement" of human rights in Argentina. These sources say the pressure includes implied threats against those who decline to sing the Videla regime's praises.

The goal of this p.r. campaign is to counteract congressional criticism, particularly that of Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, according to the respected Council on Hemispheric Affairs (COHA).

But a recent State Department report presents a stark, totally different picture of Argentina today, a picture unvarnished by the softening glow of Madison Avenue hype. "The Argentine government continues to kill, torture and imprison innocent people," the secret report states. "And the basic institutions of repression, including secret prisons and an impotent judiciary, remain unaffected."

UNFORTUNATELY, the Videla regime has its defenders within the State Department, as a secret memorandum of last March shows. Patricia Derian, assistant secretary for human rights, vehemently opposed U.S. support for a $96 million World Bank loan to Videla for railroad improvements. Her opposition was based on Argentina's disgraceful record of repression under Videla.

But John Bushnell, deputy assistant secretary for Latin America, argued for U.S. support of the loan request, or at least an abstention from voting on the loan application. State's Latin American bureau is notorious for its support of right-wing dictators south of the border, no matter how blatant their violations of human rights may be.

The Latin American bureau, consciously or unconsciously echoing Videla's Madison Avenue-suggested pitch, argued that there has been a decline in torture of the regime's opponents. Derian disagreed. "Torture remains routine in interrogation," she noted in the secret memo. "There are no reports sustaining the statement of a decline in torture."

"Videla has still not even begun to fulfill his repeated promise to us of a general accounting for the disappeared to their families, and, according to our post reporting, the government will continue to stonewall on this issue. Also, it should be noted that attorneys continue to be threatened and harassed in their efforts to defend all political prisoners."

BUSHNELL ARGUED that a U.S. vote against the railroad loan might lead Videla to ignore promises he had made to clean up his act. To its discredit, the State Department chose to go along with the dictator coddlers of the Latin American bureau. The United States abstained from voting on the loan request, which thereupon was approved.

NUCLEAR SHOWDOWN: The Friends of the Earth (FOE) are unrelenting enemies of nuclear power, and have brought a suit that could virtually shut down the nuclear industry in the United States by stopping the great bulk of uranium exploration and mining in this country.

FOE zeroed in on a uranium producer — Gulf Oil — once before, presenting evidence to a congressional subcommittee that Gulf was an active participant in an international cartel to fix and control prices of the nuclear fuel. But the stakes are so high in the present controversy that, despite the embarrassment of the price-fixing expose, Gulf has joined five other oil companies to intervene in the FOE suit even though they aren't being sued directly.

What FOE asks in its lawsuit is a ban on further uranium mining in the San Juan Basin of New Mexico and the Powder River Basin in Wyoming — areas that constitute more than 80 percent of the U.S. uranium reserves.

Dear Editor: My car caught on fire early Sunday morning. Me and my baby got out alright and walked to a farmhouse and called the police.

A fireman told me it took 30 minutes to get the firetruck started and they had to pull it with a fireman's pickup. My car was destroyed. The firetruck was from the Jonesboro station. What if an emergency comes up where people's lives are at stake and a firetruck is needed? My car was 11 miles west of Big Spring.

Something really needs to be done about this. They either need new trucks or the old ones worked on.

It's ridiculous. I can't understand a thing like this. I'm from Andrews and don't read the Herald much, only when I can get a copy that my mother might have brought over. But I really think this is a problem that needs prompt attention.

U.S. League of Savings changing top management

A shift in top management posts at the United States League of Savings Associations has been announced by League President Joseph T. Benedict.

Benedict announced that Norman Strunk, League executive vice president since 1950 and chief executive officer since 1952, has asked to retire from those responsibilities effective next Jan. 1.

Strunk will then become Senior Counselor to the League, working with the League officers and staff in various writing, legislative and consulting assignments.

To replace Strunk, Benedict said, the League's Executive Committee has elected William B. O'Connell as executive vice president. O'Connell currently serves as senior public affairs advisor and public relations counsel.

The Strunk years have been one of enormous growth and progress for the savings and loan business. Since 1950, assets of the business have grown from $17 billion to approximately $560 billion. The League's 4,468 member institutions account for more than 99 per cent of the business' total assets.

Headquartered in Chicago and with a 40 person office in Washington, D.C., the League and its affiliate organizations employ 425 people. O'Connell will divide his time between the Chicago and Washington offices.

"It has been a great privilege and opportunity for me to serve as chief executive officer of an organization like the U.S. League," said Strunk. "However, I have felt for some time that, after 27 years in such a position and at the age of 63, it was time to retire while I am still in good health."

"I also am able to turn the affairs of this office over to a most competent successor at a time when the League itself is in excellent condition with an extremely well-qualified staff, and at a time as well when the business is in a sound condition and generally well off."

Strunk said that in addition to his new duties as Senior Counselor to the League, he looks forward to serving as the Secretary-General of the International Union of Building Societies and Savings Associations and will establish an office for the International Union in downtown Chicago. Two years ago, the U.S. League assumed responsibility for the headquarters operation on a rotation basis with the Building Societies Association of Great Britain.

Benedict pointed out that O'Connell, the League's new executive vice president, has been Strunk's senior and closest advisor for nearly 30 years.

O'Connell, 56, has been associated with the League since 1948, when a public relations firm he had organized a year earlier gained the League as a client. Two years ago the title of senior public affairs advisor was added to that of public relations counsel. He has had the primary responsibility for developing the League's extensive public affairs and public relations program and has been deeply involved in the development of League government relations policies and programs.

With Strunk, O'Connell has been the principal liaison on savings and loan legislative and regulatory matters between the League's Chicago headquarters and its Washington office, and he long has worked closely with the League officers, Board of Directors and Executive Committee.

After Army service during World War II, O'Connell became a reporter and later an assistant financial editor for the Chicago Daily News.

Since 1965 O'Connell also has been executive secretary and treasurer of the Federal Savings and Loan Council of Illinois, a trade group of federally chartered associations in Illinois. He will relinquish this post.

Tornado training Texas State Guard to improve skills Sunday

A very necessary exercise will take place here Sunday when members of the Texas State Guard gather to rehearse the roles they would take in event a tornado or a similar natural disaster should strike the area.

The scene will include men and women in military uniforms moving about the city and the former Webb AFB in particular. Those people will be wearing the uniforms of the 403d Military Police Battalion of the Texas State Guard.

The guardsmen will be involved in an Emergency Disaster Training Exercise ordered by the Commanding General of the State Guard, MG William O. Green.

The Guard will be devoting an afternoon toward improving its skills providing effective and timely military support to civil authorities in times of disaster.

Guardsmen will be simulating support for Big Spring Civil Defense Director W.D. Berry in the aftermath of a tornado strike on the old air base housing unit.

They will be providing crowd and traffic control, light search and rescue operations, evacuation of injured, treatment at a first aid station and emergency communications.

The exercise will start with a briefing at the National Guard Armory at 1 p.m. It will then move to the field for two hours of work and return to the Armory at 4 p.m. for an hour's critique.

Civil agencies of Big Spring will also be involved in the exercise.

In reality, the program will include team roping and barrel racing as well as individual roping.

Competition will be conducted under the same rules as last year, when 28 calf ropers and 30 team ropers competed.

A trophy saddle will be awarded, as will three belt buckles.

Entries must be certified by Saturday, Sept. 15, with the Driver Insurance Agency 3-6484 or with Robert Ragan 3-6921.

Entry fee for the calf roping event will be $20 while team ropers will pay $15 per man. Those competing in the barrel racing will pay $20 to qualify.

Medical first improves

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jessie Thomas, the first person to have part of her lower spine replaced with a piece of metal, continues to improve after surgery and doctors are calling the operation a success.

"The doctors are very optimistic," said Louise White, a spokeswoman for the University of Maryland, where the operation was performed. She said doctors hope to have the 33-year-old Mrs. Thomas out of bed and into a body cast within two weeks.

In a 19-hour operation Friday, a metal prosthesis was implanted in Mrs. Thomas' spine to replace four vertebrae removed when doctors removed a large, malignant bone tumor.

Rare engravings stolen

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — An assistant art professor at the University of Minnesota used a sharp instrument to remove 51 rare photo engravings, worth $5,000, from books at a library at the school's Minneapolis campus, police allege.

Joseph Wilfred Bordreau, 35, was charged last week in Hennepin County District Court with aggravated criminal damage to property and theft of more than $150 in connection with the May 23 incident.

The complaint alleges Bordreau, who teaches at the school's Duluth campus, used a false identification card to check out three volumes of books containing the rare photo plates.

Earthquake unnoticed

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — There were no reports of damage and none of the usual calls to sheriff's deputies when a mild earthquake shook the Thousand Oaks-Westlake area.

The Wednesday quake in this Los Angeles suburb measured 3.6 on the Richter scale. It was centered 16 miles southeast of Oxnard.

Most residents apparently didn't feel the quake. "We feel them occasionally, but even if we don't, we get lots of calls and we haven't even had a one," said a spokeswoman for the Ventura County sheriff's department in Thousand Oaks.

Delaware rationing ends

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Delaware residents will no longer have to check their license plates before buying gasoline — the odd-even gas rationing plan imposed during June fuel crunch is being scrapped.

Gov. Pierre du Pont IV said Wednesday the state's minimum purchase requirement — at least $5 of gasoline for four cylinder cars and $7 for larger vehicles — would remain in effect until gasoline supplies improve.

Delaware's Energy Office anticipates that September gasoline allocations will be at least 95 percent of September 1978 deliveries — the highest since the summer began.

Membership drive meeting for horse buffs scheduled

Howard County 4-H Clubs have organized a new Youth Horse Project group along with the Howard County Youth Horsemen.

A membership drive meeting is slated for Monday at 7 p.m. at the Howard County Fair Barns. Everyone in Howard County who may be interested in learning about horses and horsemanship is urged to attend and join this educational and recreational 4-H Horse Project group.

Activities available through membership are county horse shows, play days and training opportunities, 4-H youth horse shows for youths from 9 years to 19 years of age, and district, state and national 4-H horse shows and competition.

If you own a horse, want to, or would want to learn about them this is the group to belong to. Howard County 4-H Horse Project Group is coordinated by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas A&M University. This year's leaders consist of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Tubb and Mr. and Mrs. O.F. Carper plus many other involved horse enthusiasts. Extension Agents helping with programs are Don Richardson and Andy Vestal.

NOMINATION HEARING — Former Mayor of Portland, Ore., Neil Godschmidt, who has been nominated by President Carter to be the new Secretary of Transportation, appears before the Senate Commerce Committee which is holding nomination hearings Wednesday in Washington.

Father Joe moved political mountains

By SCOTT CARPENTER and JIM DAVIS
 Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — One man working from the heart can move mountains, not by picking up stones, but by shoving the boulders.
 Father Joe Znotas, now a Catholic priest from Boston, brought an awareness to Austin Mexican-Americans that they can bring about healthy change by working within the political system.
 Father Joe first learned of the Mexican-American problems while in a seminary. His roommate was Lonnie Reyes, now an Austin minister.
 Father Joe knew how to use but not be abused by politicians. He organized his Mexican-American church members and told them from the pulpit how to vote.
 As a result he had tremendous influence with local politicians.
 He was a modifying influence on the radicals and brought hope for real change to those numbed by years of frustration.
 The result was a revolution in Austin politics.

Father Joe died last week at age 46. Anglos, Blacks, Mexican-Americans, radicals, moderates, conservatives all attended his funeral.
 He taught Mexican-Americans that they could bring down the walls of bigotry through use of political power.

Tryouts for tackle football set Saturday

On Saturday, Sept. 8, tryouts will be held for 3rd and 4th grade students wishing to play tackle football at 11 a.m. at the High School practice field, followed by team weigh-ins, after all players have been assigned to team teams.
 The basic rules for this year's football are all designed to provide the maximum safety to each participant, — there is a weight limit for ball carriers, all equipment must be approved for play, mouth pieces are a must.
 As in all "Y" programs volunteers are the backbone of this program and we are always in need of volunteers. If you wish to participate as a coach, assistant or official, contact the YMCA at 267-8234.

The reason for their power is simple, Mexican-Americans comprise one-fourth of the state's possible voters.
 If they turn out to vote, as they did in 1976 for President Carter, their candidate usually wins.
 If they don't, as they didn't in 1978 for either Bob Krueger or John Hill, their candidate loses.
 But even when successful in turning out the vote, Mexican-Americans haven't shown their real strength.
 In the past, language barriers and gerrymandered district lines diluted their vote.
 Those days seemingly are gone, with federal laws and court orders to ensure bilingual ballots and fair apportionment of voters.

The U.S. Census determines minority representation at local, state and national levels. Mexican-Americans have always been undercounted, partly due to the lack of bilingual census takers and a reluctance of Mexican-Americans to fill out government forms.
 California plans to work with the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund and others to ensure census takers accurately count Mexican-Americans there.
 Proper counting only will help to ensure Mexican-Americans get their fair share of city council, county commissioner, legislative and congressional places.
 To have their impact felt in presidential and statewide races, Mexican-Americans will have to vote.

No longer will Mexican-Americans be happy to get one stone moved here and another there. Now they can see that by getting together and using their power, the boulders can be moved.

Two West Texas oilmen face sentencing today

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Two West Texas oilmen convicted of conspiring to smuggle and distribute 960 pounds of Mexican marijuana are scheduled to be sentenced by a federal judge here Sept. 26.
 Jurors deliberated about four hours Tuesday night before convicting John R. Dorr of Pecos and his associate, John Grant Passmore on three drug counts each.
 The two men remained free on bond pending sentencing.
 Prosecutors said Dorr was motivated by "pure, simple greed." But defense attorneys insisted he was farmed by the prosecution's key witness, former Fort Worth police officer turned informant Terry Wayne Fagan.
 Prosecutors said Dorr and Passmore conspired with Fagan and six others to smuggle the marijuana into the United States from Mexico.
 Fagan became a federal informant after he was arrested in Roswell, N.M., with a plane loaded with the illegal weed. Defense attorneys attacked his credibility, claiming he implicated the defendants to save himself.
 Prosecutors also introduced testimony in efforts to prove Dorr paid $190,000 to buy an airplane Fagan wrecked in an aborted smuggling mission to the Mexican coastal resort town of Mazatlan.
 The government claimed Dorr paid for Fagan's legal services after a second mission ended with Fagan's Roswell arrest and later made monthly payments to Fagan to "take the fall."

Prosecutors also said Dorr paid Passmore $18,000 to buy marijuana in Mexico. Fagan and other undicted co-conspirators testified Dorr was the "money man" in the alleged far-flung operation.

MIA's---let us not forget

CHARLES W. STENHOLM, M.C.
 17th District, Texas
WASHINGTON, D.C. — After World War II the confidence of Americans seemed almost unlimited. We had defeated the Axis powers and then, through the Marshall Plan, rebuilt most of Western Europe. We could do all this and at the same time provide prosperity for our own citizens. People all over the world were beginning to predict that the next 100 years would be an "American Century."

Congressman
Charles W. Stenholm
 Congressional Comment

Looking back on this era, it is hard to imagine that confidence in our leaders and ourselves is at such a low ebb. Few people are talking about extending America's power and influence and no one is using the phrase "American Century." The present situation is, in a large part, due to our Country's involvement in the Vietnam War. This conflict shattered the belief in our ability to find pragmatic solutions to difficult problems.
 It has shaken the concept of ourselves as a Nation. Now there is a pervasive sense among Americans that we ought to put Vietnam behind us and get on with the business of the world. This attitude neither does justice to ourselves or to the people who fought and died in this conflict. If we sweep the issue under the rug, the lump will show.

One of the legacies of Vietnam that we must continue to confront is the MIA question. Uncovering the fate of these American servicemen and civilians listed as missing must remain important to the United States. We cannot lose sight of the sacrifice these men and their families have made.

This Country should be ever mindful of the pain and uncertainty which shrouds the lives of the families and friends of those still listed as missing. The Vietnam conflict is still very much alive in the hearts and minds of these people and we must not forget them.

It has been over six years since the signing of the Paris accords and we still have not received a full accounting of the over 2500 MIA's. Very little has been done to convince the Vietnam government that we will not forget the issue.

The President's MIA commission was told by the Defense Department that it is reasonable to assume the Hanoi regime can provide information on over 1,000 of the missing servicemen. But the Administration has applied little pressure to receive this data.

The communist governments of Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia have repeatedly sought economic assistance from the United States. They claim that we owe them "reparation" payments. Though they seek our aid, they have done little to provide information about MIA's. It is callous and cruel to use this knowledge as a pawn in an international chess game.

We must not allow the issues of the present to bury the problems of the past. If we are going to revitalize our confidence as a Nation, we should not suppress the difficulties of our recent history. The MIA question still remains unresolved — let us not forget.

Another program in conjunction with the Gra "Y" leagues, is the cheerleading department. Girls or boys in grades one through six will now have a chance to attend a cheerleading clinic and be assigned to squads. The clinic is Saturday, Sept. 8 from 19 a.m. until 2 p.m. Each cheerleader must participate in the clinic in order to be on a squad.
 During the clinic, Big Spring High School cheerleaders will be teaching new yells learned at the NCAAA Cheerleading camp. They will also teach chants, jumps and stunts. Each girl should wear shorts and rubber-soled shoes.
 After the clinic, squad members will be contacted by phone for further information. Each squad will have one sponsor. Uniforms are not mandatory, but will be left up to each squad. Colors for the uniforms will depend on teams color.

Cheerleaders for the Gra "Y" soccer league will be for 1st and 2nd graders. There is no flag football for these grades.
 The Gra "Y" Tackle Football teams will need cheerleaders who are in grades three and four. If two or more girls are interested in cheerleading on the same squad, they should let the head judge know before leaving the clinic. Cost is $5 for Y-members and $10 for non-members. Each girl will receive a YMCA Cheerleading patch, to be worn at games. Each girl need to bring a sack lunch on Saturday. Today, Sept. 6 at 6:30 p.m. is an organizational-parents meeting. Everyone is urged to attend.

REFLECTING ON A NEW YEAR — School bus driver Harriet Birtcher is reflected in a fender mirror as she reads her bus for the first day of school today. About 35,000 students in the 78,000-pupil district will be bused under a court-ordered desegregation plan for the first time this week.

On the light side

Pig was barking, honest
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — If you can believe a rabbit hisses, swims and attacks unsuspecting presidents, why not a pig that barks?
 Buffalo police officers James Donohue and Albin Karszcak thought they had found just that recently when they responded to a routine barking dog complaint.
 "It's not a barking dog...it's a pig," radioed Donohue to his dispatcher.
 A second look revealed otherwise, however. The porker-pretender turned out to be a pit bull — a breed of canine that somewhat resembles a pig, but whose bite is lots worse than its, er, oink.

Beware of the buffalo

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Score it buffalo 1, glider 0.
 An angry bison tore up the glider of an Air Force Academy cadet who set his craft down in a pasture during a soaring meet last weekend.
 Cadet Paul Fulton landed his sailplane in the pasture after a flight from the academy's airfield. Fulton radioed his crew and started dismantling the plane for loading on a trailer.
 About the time the crew showed up so did the buffalo, one of a private herd. After bashing the glider about, the beast turned on the crew's car. Two holes and a broken tail light later, it apparently tired of the sport and ambled off across the field.
 There were no injuries, except to the car and the glider, which was repaired overnight and entered in the final day of competition.

Post time in Virginia City

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev. (AP) — Each year about this time, members of the International Order of Camel Jockeys swap their work-a-day attire for more appropriate desert garb and go chasing through this famed mining town and out across the badlands.
 It's all part of the annual celebration that includes mock gun fights in the streets, hot air balloons and even an appearance by "Nevada's largest gopher snake."
 And this year, the three-day bash has a new feature: turtle races.
 For those who don't care to risk the winding mountain roads that lead into Virginia City this weekend, an NBC "Real People" television crew is filming the scene for a show later this year, "The Gopher Snake."
 The camel races have been run here since 1960. A century ago, camels hauled salt to booming silver mines. Now the modern-day rerun draws thousands of tourists.

Teens share thoughts about blind dates

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Becky, 17, from Huntsville, Ala., has second thoughts about going on a blind date and would like to hear what the guest writers have to say. Enter Mitch Otto, 18, from Nashua, N.H., and Olivia Oshewski, 18, who lives in Valparaiso, Ind. Welcome!

Dr. Wallace: My best friend, Janet, is trying to line me up with a blind date. The guy is a college buddy of Janet's boyfriend. There is no chance to see or talk to him before the date so I'm really leery.

Janet thinks he is cute and she said she heard he is a nice guy. I've never been on a blind date before. I'd appreciate your thoughts and those of your guest writers.—Becky, Huntsville, Ala.

Becky: Many times a blind date can be a wonderful experience. Other times the experience can be very strained. If it's a double date with Janet and her boyfriend, I'd go, but if it's just you and your date—no.

Hi Becky: I went on a blind date only once. My cousin needed an escort for one of her girlfriends, and I was nominated. It was the worst date I have ever had. The girl was rude and stupid, and compared to her, Miss Piggy had a much better shape and was better looking. So, my dear Becky, if I were you, I'd only go out with guys that I could size up first.—Mitch, Nashua, N.H.

Hello Becky: I've never been on a blind date and I don't think that I would enjoy it regardless of how nice the guy was.

It seems that it would be very uncomfortable to spend an evening with a guy you have never seen before.

I would tell Janet, if I were you, to find someone else to baby-sit this guy.—Olivia, Valparaiso, Ind.

If you would like to be a teen guest writer, please write to me, in care of this newspaper, stating your sex and age.

WRITES STORY OF HUSBAND'S BATTLE AGAINST CANCER—Kathryn Morgan Ryan, picture recently during an interview, tells of her painful task of sorting through her husband's collection of tapes and notes that he kept in regards to his battle with cancer, and the book she wrote about his fight for life. Her husband, Cornelius Ryan, authored "The Longest Day," "The Last Battle," and "A Bridge Too Far."

For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 38-cent stamped, large envelope to Dr. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

Altrusans to celebrate World Literacy Day

The Big Spring Altrusa Club will meet Saturday at 8 a.m. for breakfast at Herman's Restaurant to commemorate World Literacy Day as proclaimed by the United Nations and locally by Mayor Wade Choate.

Mayor Choate asks the citizens of the community to join with him in paying tribute to the hundreds of thousands of people in the world who spend much of their time teaching the young and the old the invaluable tools of reading and writing.

The Altrusa program will be on 'ways and means' the Literacy problem can be met.

Officers of the club are Mamie Roberts, president; Doris Guy, vice president; Neva Green, corresponding secretary; Kip Bracy, recording secretary; Johnnie Winhan, treasurer and Bonnie Bennett, immediate past president. Directors are Oneita Hardy and Marianne Gilbert.

Altrusa's image in the Literacy program by assisting with monies used by the Big Spring Independent School District. The third grade level will benefit through this gift.

Other assistance than money is needed and any club or individual can get information by calling the Big Spring Public School Office.

The Altrusa Club of Big Spring meets the second and fourth Thursday each month in the Patio room of Holiday Inn at noon.

World Literacy Day is aimed at increasing awareness of the global literacy problem, marking the day in 1965 when the World Congress of Ministers of Education on the Eradication of illiteracy opened in Tehran, Iran. The UNESCO proclaimed Sept. 8 as World Literacy Day in Nov., 1966, and encouraged national celebrations by member state.

Worldwide attention has been focused on literacy through two international prizes, the Mohammad Reza Pahlavi Prize worth $5,000 and the Nadezhda K. Krupskaya Prize with 5,000 rubles, presented to persons and institutions which have accomplished meritorious work in the field of literacy.

Ten Pahlavi prizes and Krupskaya prizes have been awarded, six to Africa, six to Asia and four to Latin America and one to the Arab states.

These two prizes were withheld in 1977 to dramatize the urgency for doing better. Statistics for 1977 indicated that 758 million people were illiterate, or 26 million more than three years before.

The increase was especially alarming because the illiteracy rate had decreased from 44 percent in 1950 to 34 percent in 1970. UNESCO officials maintain that literacy action is not progressing as desired especially in countries which are in need of it.

As Altrusans contribute their resources to the struggles against illiteracy, World Literacy Day will become a date to commemorate, a date for publicizing what is being done in the community and for gaining the support of area residents.

The Altrusa Club of Big Spring is expanding

A wide range of activities in a growing number of member states has brought the issue of the elimination of illiteracy to the people through folklore festivals, literacy demonstration classes, traditional dances, sports competitions and exhibition, round table and panel discussions and essay competition.

The News media has played an important role in awakening public interest in literacy work. Activities have centered with a silver candelabrum arrangement of white chrysanthemums and peach carnations. Crystal appointments were used.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Bob Carlile, Mrs. Fred Phillips, Mrs. Preston Adams, Mrs. Byron Smith, Mrs. Harry Wood, Mrs. Bill Draper, Mrs. Noel Hull, Mrs. Rose Callihan, Mrs. Gorman Rainey and Mrs. Don Adams.

The hostess gift was an electric fry-pan.

The couple plan to be married Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. in College Baptist Church with Rev. Jim Turner officiating. They will reside in Elk City, Okla.

Dear Abby

She Confesses To an Allergy

DEAR ABBY: You had something in your column about people who were allergic to fragrances. Well, that's my problem. Only I am not allergic to all fragrances, just one. When I go to confession, as soon as the priest's cologne or after-shave hits me, I become nauseated. I tell you, I nearly pass out.

Abby, it's not easy to tell a priest what to do, so how do I solve this problem?

NAUSEATED ON SUNDAY

DEAR NAUSEATED: Tell your priest that you have an unusual "confession." Then confess your allergy to his fragrance, and pray for ablation for him—and abolution for you!

DEAR ABBY: I must comment on a letter signed GRACE. When she complained to a friend that she couldn't find a dress she wanted to buy, she was told not to worry because at her age (70) nobody cared what she wore anyway.

I cannot let that go unchallenged. My mother-in-law is 91 and I wish you could see how she dresses! She wears good-looking, beautifully made clothes that are becoming to her. She begins her day by grooming herself in the morning and putting on pretty lingerie. She says just because nobody sees it is no reason for her not to wear what she likes. She puts on a fresh, lovely dress every day whether she's at home alone or planning to go somewhere. She lives alone and keeps a large house in excellent order, too.

Whenever I see an older woman who is beautifully dressed I never fail to tell her how nice she looks whether I know her or not. It is always so much appreciated.

ELLEN IN PA.

DEAR ELLEN: Thanks for a delightful letter. I've committed your last paragraph to memory and will henceforth follow your generous example. (P.S. And why not tell a well-groomed elderly man how nice HE looks, too.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle a slight dispute between my husband and me?

We live in a quiet, residential, middle-class area of one-family homes. My husband and I both work. He prefers mowing our lawn as early as possible on the weekend.

I think we should wait until 11 a.m. Our lawn mower is a noisy electric job.

M.W. IN BAYSIDE, N.Y.

DEAR M.: I'm with you. A "quiet, residential neighborhood" doesn't need a noisy lawnmower going at 7 or 8 a.m. on a Sunday morning.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PARENTS WHO ARE SENDING THEIR CHILDREN OFF TO BOARDING SCHOOL OR COLLEGE FOR THE FIRST TIME: Don't bombard your child with "miss you" calls. Allow him (or her) to develop independence and grow up. Don't encourage your child to come home if he's lonesome at first. Sticking it out and overcoming his loneliness will help him to grow and mature socially and emotionally.

Soviet force slipped in during Vietnam war, administration execs say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union apparently slipped its first ground combat elements into Cuba about 10 years ago while U.S. attention was focused on the Vietnam war, according to administration officials.

Much of the U.S. intelligence effort had shifted to Southeast Asia and concern about Cuba had ebbed when signs of a possible Soviet command structure were first detected there in the late 1960s, said the officials, who asked not to be named.

There was some feeling among intelligence specialists then that the command structure might be in Cuba to oversee what was described to Congress as a "substantial number" of Soviet military advisers, technicians and instructors, these officials said.

Since there was no significant buildup of Russian military personnel after that, officials said, intelligence authorities apparently decided there was no cause for alarm.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance said Wednesday the intelligence community has concluded that a Soviet combat brigade of 2,000 to 3,000 men has been in Cuba since at least the mid-1970s and that elements may have been there since the early 1970s or even before that.

Other officials said the first evidence of a command structure appeared in 1968 or 1969.

But former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said Wednesday he knew of no Soviet combat troops in organized units in Cuba during the Nixon and Ford administrations.

"Had we known, we would have taken an extremely dim view of the situation, since we consistently opposed Soviet activities in Cuba," he told CBS News.

But the commentary by Prensa Latina stopped short of denying the troops were stationed on the island nation.

(AP LASERPHOTO) LOOKING FOR A HOME — Keith Roark of Decatur, Ga., who has been blind for 10 years, is looking for a home for his seeing-eye dog, Lottie, because she, too, is losing her sight. Roark is spending $1,200 to visit families in Tucson, Las Vegas and San Antonio to see which will give Lottie the best home. Rick and Christi Johnson of Tucson are among the families Roark has picked as finalists to take Lottie into their home.

Despite poor home attendance

Astros maintain slim lead with 10th inning triumph

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros are in the middle of their first real pennant race in 10 years, but a casual observer wouldn't be able to tell by looking at the recent attendance.

The sixth smallest crowd of the season, just 12,592 loyalists, watched Houston take a 4-3, 10th-inning victory over San Diego Wednesday when loser John D'Acquisto served up a two-out, bases-loaded walk to Enos Cabell.

The Astros have drawn more than 1.65 million to the Astrodome this season, but only 103,447 saw the six games in this home stand, an average of just 17,241.

The poor attendance perturbs the management and angers some players, but other Astros say the lack of fans doesn't concern them.

"I don't care if the fans come or not," said third baseman Enos Cabell, "All I'm worried about is winning."

All-Star relief pitcher Joe Sambito said he couldn't understand why Houstonians wouldn't come to see the Astros play even when they were facing a non-contender like San Diego.

"They should be coming to see us, not the team we're playing," he said.

Houston general manager Tal Smith said he was surprised and disappointed by the lack of support in the final stretch.

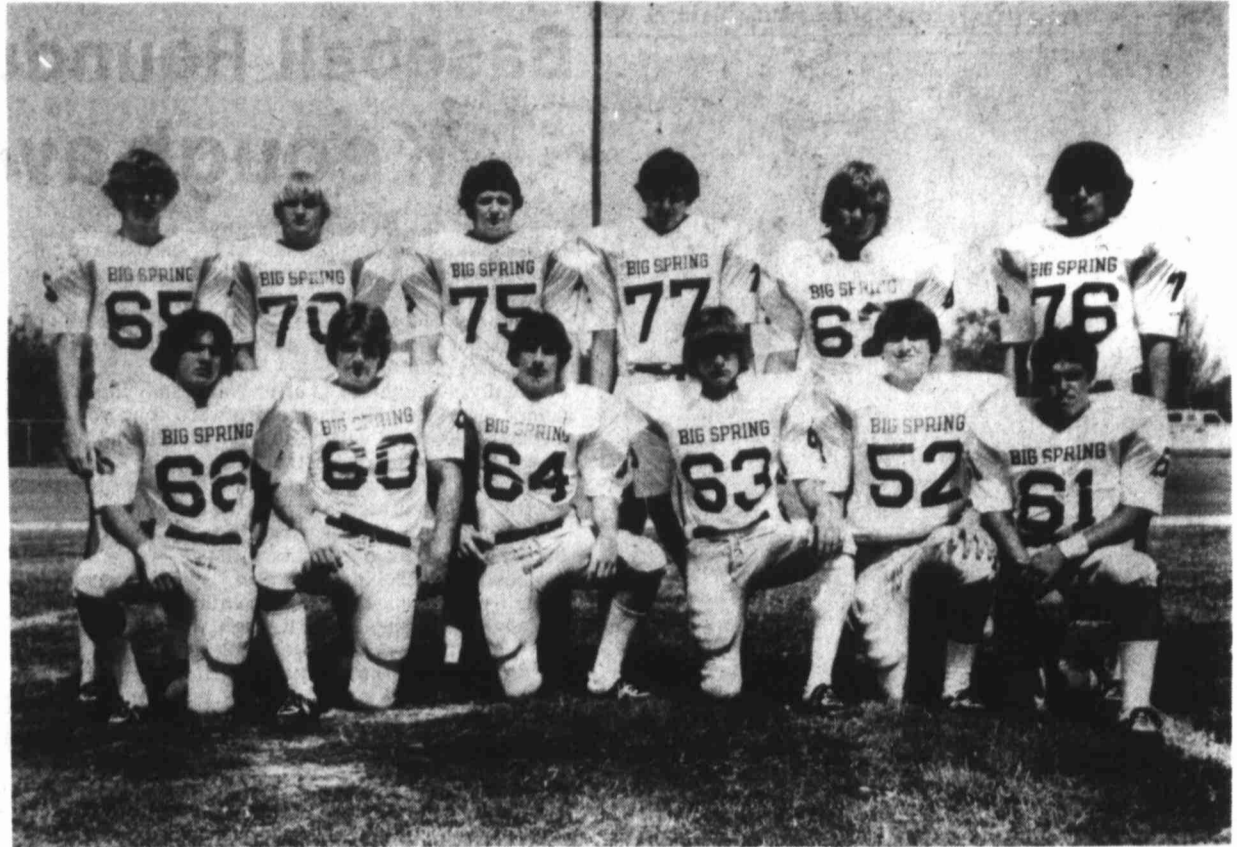

"I'm sure it's disappointing to the players," he said. "The interest and enthusiasm has waned and it should be building. This should be a fever pitch, the countdown."

Those fans that stayed for the finish of Wednesday night's 3-hour, 36-minute marathon saw the Astros hang onto their slim, 1/2-game lead over second-place Cincinnati in the National League West with the win.

Winfield singled and moved to third on a two-out base hit by Fahey. But pinch-hitter Joe Wilhelm flied out to end the inning.

The Astros sent pitcher Joe Sambito to the plate in the bottom of the 10th, and he promptly drew a walk, then moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Cesar Cedeno.

Craig Reynolds flied to right, but Terry Puhl was walked intentionally and Jeff Leonard ran the count to 3-and-2 before taking the fourth ball to load the bases for Cabell, who then watched D'Acquisto throw four straight balls.

Tanner's revenge ousts Bjorn Borg

From US Open Tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — The setting couldn't have been more dramatic.

Lightning flashed in the distance. Jets flew through the fog overhead with booming regularity. Raindrops fell intermittently and a near-capacity National Tennis Center crowd roared with each shot. And lurking just a few miles away was a tropical storm.

It was Roscoe Tanner's rockets, those serves that can travel at better than 150 mph. It was Bjorn Borg's Swedish thunderbolts, at times traveling faster than Tanner's cannonballs.

And it was so much more, for this was the new Tanner, the model that covers the court like a rain squall, volleys with precision and constantly applies pressure.

And it was the old Borg, the unflappable No. 1 seed and four-time Wimbledon champion in quest of the tennis Grand Slam, digging deep, deeper into his impressive arsenal.

At the end, when Borg's backhand service return was wide, the fifth-seeded Tanner clenched his fists skyward. Hurricane Roscoe had struck Flushing Meadows.

Tanner, who lost a thrilling five-set final to Borg at Wimbledon, won perhaps the biggest match of his career Wednesday in the U.S. Open. His 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 7-6 quarterfinal victory was accomplished with the aid of 11 aces, 17 service winners and Tanner's unfaltering confidence.

"I found out right away what I did could work," said Tanner, who until Wimbledon had never reached the final in a major tournament. "It gave me confidence. "I served well when I was in trouble and that's what it came down to. That and being lucky."

Tanner appeared anything but lucky when, serving at 5-3 in the fourth set and after slamming his 11th ace of the match to save a break point, one of his serves hit the net and the net collapsed. A seven-minute delay followed while a new net was put in place.

"That gives you too much time to sit and think," Tanner said. "All I thought was, 'two more aces.'"

Before play resumed, Borg and Tanner were allowed a short warmup. They exchanged friendly pit-pats to loosen up, then went back to war.

Tanner immediately hit a service winner for his first match point. After a long rally, Borg hit a short lob and Tanner extended heavenward for the overhead smash that would win the match.

"When I saw it, I felt very lucky," he admitted. "After I hit it, I felt very unlucky."

"I mistimed it and overhit it," he added of the overhead, which soared into the first row of seats.

Tanner got another match point when Borg hit a backhand out but he hit a forehand into the net for deuce and Borg passed him twice to draw to 4-5.

DEJECTED BORG — Bjorn Borg looks down at the ground after losing to Roscoe Tanner in U.S. Open tennis action Wednesday. Tanner defeated Borg 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 7-6.

Baseball Roundup

Keough avoids embarrassing record

(AP LASERPHOTO)

SATISFYING SIP — Oakland A's pitcher Matt Keough takes a sip of champagne after he pitched the Oakland A's to a 6-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Wednesday night. Keough was celebrating his first win of the season after 14 straight losses. He was within one loss of setting the all-time record for most consecutive losses from the start of the season.

This may be September, but as far as Oakland pitcher Matt Keough is concerned, it's the start of a new baseball season.

"The way I look at it, I'm 1-and-0," said the tough-luck pitcher after finally gaining that hard-to-catch first victory of 1979.

Actually, Keough is 1-14 after Wednesday night's 6-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers, but you can pardon his lopsided view. The triumph allowed him to escape the dubious distinction of tying the American League record for most consecutive losses over two seasons. He had 18 before he beat the Brewers.

He had already tied the record for the worst season start by a major league pitcher with 14.

"They're all behind me now," said a euphoric Keough, celebrating the occasion with champagne.

"I never gave up," added Keough, who played in last year's All-Star Game before going sour. "If I did, I wouldn't have been able to look myself in the mirror."

Tigers 9, Indians 3

Ron LeFlore's ninth-inning triple broke a 3-3 tie and ignited a six-run rally that carried Detroit over Cleveland.

Loser Victor Cruz, 3-9, walked Alan Trammell leading off the ninth. LeFlore followed with a line drive that bounced past charging Bobby Bonds in right for a three-base hit. Pinch-hitter Al Greene walked and Steve Kemp followed with an RBI single.

Aurelio Lopez, 8-4, got the victory with three innings of shutout relief.

Pirates 7, Cardinals 5

When Darold Knowles fired a baseball wildly, St. Louis lost another ball game. But when San Francisco lost another ball game, it fired Joe Altobelli.

Knowles, who had come on in the 11th inning with the bases loaded to face John Milner, tried instead to pick Bill Robinson off first base. He hit him instead, the ball bounded away and two runners bounded across home plate, giving the Pirates a 7-5 victory over St. Louis that kept them two games ahead of Montreal in the National League East.

Reds 6, Giants 5

In Cincinnati, homers by George Foster and Ray Knight and Dan Driessen's decisive RBI-double in the seventh inning helped Fred Norman of the Reds beat San Francisco for his 100th major league triumph. Lurie then made his decision and gave Altobelli his walking papers. In 1978 Altobelli was the NL Manager of the Year — but the Giants, 80-60 and just four games out of first place a year ago at this time, are 61-79 and 18½ games off the pace now.

The job was handed to third base coach Dave Bristol, who has managed for nine seasons in the majors with Cincinnati (1966-69), Milwaukee (1970-72) and Atlanta (1976-77).

Expos 4, Cubs 3

"People are saying we've got a young team and that the pressure might make us crack," Montreal Manager Dick Williams said after the Expos stayed within two games of Pittsburgh by chalking up their ninth straight victory. Tommy Hutton's two-out single in the ninth inning drove in Dave Cash from second base to snap a 3-3 tie and hand the Cubs their sixth straight loss.

Twins 8, Royals 3

Ron Jackson drove in three runs with a triple and a single to pace Minnesota over Kansas City. Jackson tripled in the first inning to score Bob Randall from second base and put the Twins ahead 1-0. Jackson's single in the sixth knocked in two more runs. Winner Dave Goltz, 13-10, scattered 10 hits.

Angels 9, White Sox 8

Merv Rettenmund's two-out single in the seventh inning drove in two runs and rallied California over Chicago. With two out in the seventh, Angels catcher Brian Downing beat out a single and Bobby Grich walked. Larry Harlow then bounced a ball behind second base, Downing scoring from second while Grich and Harlow moved up a base on second baseman Tim Morrison's wild throw home.

Guy Hoffman was then called in from the bullpen to replace Randy Scarbery, 2-8, and after walking Rick Miller, gave up the single to Rettenmund.

Red Sox 5, Yankees 0

Butch Hobson knocked in three runs with a triple and a homer and Bob Stanley scattered seven hits as Boston broke a four-game losing streak by beating New York. Stanley, 14-9, recorded his third shutout and eighth complete game this season.

Boston reached Yankees starter Tommy John, 18-7, in the second inning for two runs on five hits, including Hobson's RBI triple. The Boston third baseman later hit a two-run homer in the eighth.

Mariners 1, Rangers 0

Rob Dressler, 1-2, and Byron McLaughlin combined for a four-hitter as Seattle beat Texas and snapped the Rangers' four-game winning streak. The Mariners picked up their run in the first inning on Willie Horton's two-out single which scored Julio Cruz. Cruz had opened the game with one of nine walks off Ferguson Jenkins, 13-12. Cruz reached second with his 40th stolen base and moved to third on a grounder.

Bass Club meets tonight

Charles Becker of San Angelo took top honors in the Big Spring Bass Club fishing tournament for August. Becker had a three string catch of six pounds, three ounces at Lake Nasworthy.

Vic Keys was second with two fish for a total of four pounds, nine ounces. Howard Stewart was third, with Jerry Dudley fourth and Donny Baker fifth. Stewart had the biggest single fish of the day, weighing four pounds, eight ounces. One member weighed in with an eleven pounder, but failed to make it to the weigh-in on time.

This month's tournament will be a one-day fish for any member of the public. It will be on Saturday, September 15 from 6:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Anyone wishing to enter should sign up with Tom Adams, Jerry Dudley or Vic Keys before the 15th. The weigh-in will be at the corner of Birdwell Lane and Farm Road 700 across from the Mity Mart at 7:00 p.m.

The next meeting for the Bass Club will be tonight at 7:20 at the Kentwood OAA Ground. Adams is giving the program on making fishing lures and repairing them.

Yeoman hoping Cougars have memories

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston Coach Bill Yeoman observed recently that as one gets older, it takes longer to forget a loss.

The veteran UH coach was talking about last January's last-second loss to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, but the theory also applies to the 1978 season opener against Memphis State.

The Cougars, who recovered from a 17-3 embarrassment against Memphis State in the season opener last year to win the Southwest Conference title, start the 1979 campaign Saturday in Los Angeles against the UCLA Bruins. But Memphis State is still on the Cougars' minds.

"The kids are ready to play, they'd better be, but I don't feel we've jelled yet," Yeoman said. "We don't want to go through anything like Memphis State again this year."

"I hope we'll be able to look on the backside of two or three games and say we're a pretty good football team."

Yeoman keeps reminding the Cougars that "99 per cent of the game is played in the head," but it may not be necessary.

"You don't have to remind me," said offensive guard

Dennis Greenawalt. "I still have nightmares about that team."

Yeoman expects Bruin quarterback Rick Bashore to test Houston's defensive secondary early in the game. The Cougar secondary was burned often last season, finishing last in the SWC in pass defense.

"I'm sure we're going to have to stop the pass before we stop the run," Yeoman said. "Rightly or wrongly, we feel we may be able to do well against the run. We've shored up in the secondary too and I think we'll do a better job of pass defense."

Houston will have basically the same personnel in the defensive backfield as last year, but they'll be better, Yeoman said.

"We've worked hard in the defensive secondary and our people are much better, concentration-wise, than we were a year ago," Yeoman said.

Yeoman will start Terald Clark and John Newhouse at the running back positions but they'll get plenty of relief from David Barrett, Allen Polk and Lonell Phea. Delrick Brown will be the quarterback.

"I've been encouraged with Delrick's performance in the last two scrimmages," Yeoman said. "Our throwing won't scare anybody at the start of the season but as time goes on we'll be a lot better."

The Bruins are coming off an 8-3-1 season, including a 10-10 tie against Arkansas in the Fiesta Bowl.

Houston defeated UCLA 17-13 in the Astrodome in 1977 in the only other meeting between the two teams. In that game, Bashore made his first start at quarterback and completed 16 of 27 passes for 245 yards and one touchdown.

Giant manager fired

Altobelli relieved from post

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Altobelli, last year's National League manager of the year, was fired early this morning as the manager of the disappointing San Francisco Giants by owner Bob Lurie, who said he "felt the club should have been a contender."

Veteran manager Dave Bristol, who was the team's third base coach, was named interim manager by Lurie and San Francisco General Manager Spec Richardson.

"There's not any one thing that brought it to a head," said Lurie, who told Altobelli he was being relieved in his hotel suite hours after the Giants lost to the Cincinnati Reds, 6-5, on Wednesday.

"I thought if we didn't win it (the National League West), we'd be close. We're disappointed. Things just kept getting worse," Lurie said.

San Francisco, picked as one of the favorites in the West this year, is in fourth place with a 61-79 record, 18½ games behind first-place Houston.

Gritty Preston plays with heart

(AP LASERPHOTO)

TOPS FOR THE BRONCOS — Dave Preston, running back for the Denver Broncos isn't one to flaunt his ability as a football player. Preston has earned a starting spot at running back for the Broncos, and after one game he's the team's leading rusher with 70 yards on 10 carries.

DENVER (AP) — Dave Preston isn't one to flaunt his ability as a football player.

"Honestly, I'm too slow and I'm too short," says the Denver Bronco running back. "I'm not big enough to run inside, or fast enough to run outside."

"I'm no Earl Campbell — I won't break six or seven tackles on a play. I'm not strong enough to block the blitzing linebacker. And I won't win any footraces either. All those things that make the ideal running back, I'm not."

With Rob Lytle still not 100 percent because of a knee injury and Otis Armstrong ailing with a bruised sternum, the 5-foot-11, 198-pound Preston is the Broncos' only healthy halfback as they entertain the Los Angeles Rams tonight in a nationally televised game — the first of three special Thursday night games this season.

"I'm very surprised to be starting this early in the year, since my goal was just to make the team again," said Preston, who was the third-to-last player drafted in 1977 and who "got caught in the numbers game" at New England before signing with Denver as a free agent in 1978.

National Football League computers, which measure an athlete's vital statistics and rate him accordingly, probably wouldn't even acknowledge Preston's existence.

"But the computer doesn't read the amount of heart, intelligence, will to win or guts a person has," Preston says. "Those intangibles are what makes the difference between a guy who can play and one who can't. I've had to adapt, to make the most of my ability."

Alaska opting out of Social Security

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Alaska's state employees — who have grumbled for years about Social Security's bite vs. its benefits in this high-cost state — will find out next week if they are getting out of the federal program.

If they do, they will be the first state-employed workers in the 50 states to do so, although state and local governments have through the years threatened to withdraw — and more and more local governments appear to be doing so.

State workers had until last Tuesday to return mailed ballots on the issue. The ballots will be counted next Monday, and if a majority of those who returned them voted to opt out, the entire force of 14,451 state employees will be out of the program on Jan. 1.

This year, 98 government bodies of various types have told the federal government they intend to withdraw from the Social Security program, Social Security Administration officials say.

That means 43,400 government workers in 16 states will drop from the program unless they change their minds by Dec. 31.

At least 147 governmental bodies around the country employing 63,035 workers have given notice they will withdraw in 1981. Since only 20,000 workers were removed from coverage in 1978, there seems to be a trend toward withdrawal, at least by small government employers.

In Alaska, the 20 city workers in Haines withdrew from the system in March. Under notice that they will withdraw unless they change their minds are 17,036 workers in eight Alaskan communities — including the workers of North Pole — Social Security officials say.

The Alaska Legislature earlier this year approved a measure calling the state employees' election. A state-run program would replace Social Security if the vote is to drop the federal program.

The election comes at a time when Congress is considering mandatory coverage for all public employees, including federal workers who rebelled against the proposal in 1977. It also coincides with a Congressional Budget Office warning that inflation and recession could seriously affect the soundness of the program, financed by contributions by employers and workers.

Alice M. Rivlin, director of the budget office, has suggested that part of Medicare, financed by Social Security, could be financed out of general tax revenues. And, Social Security Commissioner Stanford G. Ross has said "painful adjustments" are needed in how Social Security is supported and what it pays if it is to remain solvent.

Six states — Colorado, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Nevada and Ohio — are now without Social Security coverage for state workers. State workers had been precluded from coverage from 1939, when the program went into effect, until 1954, when voluntary coverage was extended to public workers.

The number of public employees choosing to get into the federal program grew rapidly; today about 70 percent of the country's 12 million state and local employees now are covered by Social Security, according to the Assembly of Governmental Employees.

The decision facing Alaska's workers is irreversible — once a government withdraws from Social Security coverage of its workers, it cannot rejoin. So the decision by the state employees who vote will bind their non-voting colleagues and future state employees.

On the other hand, if a study due to be completed soon recommends mandatory, universal coverage of public employees, and Congress acts on it, employees could find themselves forced back into the system that now pays monthly benefits to 35 million Americans.

Alaska workers have complained for years about Social Security benefits and the higher cost of living here. The U.S. government recognizes the higher prices in its 25 percent cost of living differential to worker transferred to the state. Alaska pays its state workers more than other states, which means higher payroll deductions to support Social Security, workers say.

Yet, when they get the same benefits a worker in Mississippi gets — but with decreased purchasing power.

"You get 5 percent less and pay 25 percent more is what it amounts to," says Pat Murphy, executive director of the Alaska Public Employees Association.

The workers' decision is not an easy one. Their union leadership has decided against making a recommendation, though it pushed for three years for the opt-out vote.

FIRE HATS — Chris Coombs, president of Cairns and Brother of Clifton, N.J., wears the firm's latest design in firehats and holds one of the first. Coombs is a direct descendant of the brothers who bought the company from Henry T. Gratacap in 1850, who designed the classic firehat, and the hat Coombs is holding belonged to him.

Only firehat maker in fifth generation

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — What American boy, in his secret heart, has not longed to have his very own fireman's helmet?

Not some plastic toy, but the real thing: black lacquered rock-hard leather, brim curved up in front, down in back, big shield with a proud number — the hat of the hero in the third grade reader climbing down the ladder with the frightened child.

"It is quite a symbol of adventure," Chris Coombs said, "and it hasn't really changed in 143 years. The hat we make today looks pretty much like the first one made. I will show you."

He took from a cabinet a worn and weathered leather hat with the numeral "1" on the shield. Above the "1" was the name of the wearer's volunteer fire company, "Columbia;" below, the name of the wearer, "Gratacap." The first fire hat.

"Well," Coombs said, "I can't swear it is the first fire hat, but Henry T. Gratacap was the man who made the first fire hat and that was his hat. So at least it is one of the first ones made."

Chris Coombs represents the fifth generation of the only firm in America still making leather fire hats — two others sprung up briefly, and vanished, since Gratacap's day — and he regards his heritage less as a business than a sacred trust.

"As long as there are firemen who prefer leather helmets," he said, "Cairns & Brother will make them. It's our legacy."

Cairns & Brother were Jasper and Henry Cairns (or Henry and Jasper) who bought out Gratacap in 1850 and neatly avoided any top billing in their new firm's name.

Gratacap had been a New York luggage maker. Leather hats were nothing new for fire fighters, but it was Gratacap who, in 1836, fashioned the classic one that became the traditional design, known among firemen as the "New Yorker."

"Nowadays," Coombs said, "fire hats come in a variety of new materials but there are firemen who will put nothing on their heads except leather."

"We make a hat out of something called polycarbonate that costs less and tests show is a better helmet than a leather one."

"Still, about 10 percent of the nation's firemen still want leather and they include the fire departments in big cities where firefighting is most hazardous — New York, Chicago, Boston, San Francisco, Washington, Newark, Dallas. They stick to leather."

"Why? You can test until you're blue in the face but the fireman who goes into the fire is persuaded more by experience than some laboratory test. It's hard to argue with 143 years."

Alamo symbol of all wrongs, Babbitt says

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Alamo, sacred to Texans, is a reminder to Mexico of territory "plundered by overbearing gringo neighbors" and symbolizes all that's wrong between Mexico and the United States, says Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt.

In an appearance Wednesday in the Alamo City, Babbitt also repeated earlier criticisms of Texas Gov. Bill Clements for Clements' "imperialistic" attitude in recent discussions with the governors of Mexican border states.

The criticism began last June after Babbitt, a Democrat, and Clements, a Republican, took part in a conference of Mexican and American border governors.

"We must forge a new relationship based on recognition of Mexico as an equal," Babbitt told a luncheon staged in his honor by two Mexican-American groups.

"But the Alamo is a symbol of the problem in our relationship with Mexico, a sacred symbol to Texans and an extension of the American ideal. But to Mexico, it's a symbol of territory lost, a symbol plundered by overbearing gringo neighbors," he added.

Babbitt said both sides should readjust their view of such symbols.

The Arizona governor was in San Antonio, site of the famous 1836 Battle of the Alamo in the Texas Revolution, to study the city's downtown tourist development along the San Antonio River for a similar project in Phoenix. Almost half of San Antonio's estimated 800,000 residents have Spanish surnames.

Before the luncheon, Babbitt met with several Mexican-American leaders.

In a verbal jab at Clements, Babbitt said, "We must cease speaking to Mexico about energy in imperialistic terms. Instead of telling Mexico how to use American know-how in developing their oil, why not urge PEMEX (Mexico's national petroleum monopoly) to set up gas stations throughout the southwestern United States?"

"The joint approach, where we tell Mexico how to develop its oil, went out in the 1930s," added Babbitt.

While saying Clements' approach was "imperialistic," Babbitt later before reporters refused to be too critical of Clements' recent tour of Mexican border states.

"It's certainly within his rights as a citizen. The U.S. Constitution specifies that a governor has no authority to formulate foreign policy," he said.

Bell telephone may face financial danger without new rates, official says

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone's assistant treasurer says the company would be in financial danger if the Texas Public Utility Commission denies Bell's $145.2 million rate increase request. R. McRae Geschwind of St. Louis, Mo., testified Wednesday before commission examiner Phil Ricketts. The commission expects to make a decision in early November. Most of Bell's request — $105 million — consists of increases in monthly base rates of $1.55 for households and $4.65 for businesses. PUC staffers have recommended rate increases totaling $136.4 million a year, with smaller hikes in business and residential monthly bills than Bell seeks. Geschwind was cross-examined at length by Ray Besing, attorney for Microwave Communications, Inc., which competes with Bell for long distance business and also buys local service from Bell. Microwave opposes any increase for Bell. "I don't think they are entitled to a goddamned dime," Besing said in a short interview during a break in the hearing. Geschwind said in his prefilled testimony that the entire Bell system, operating under the American Telephone & Telegraph umbrella, isn't making enough money to retain its traditional attractiveness to investors. "The investment community does not see AT&T as a highyield, low-risk stock," Geschwind said. "You may disappoint an awful lot of little old ladies with that answer," Besing rejoined. Geschwind said the return to AT&T investors from Bell's Texas operations has been 0.97 percent.

Gold soars amid heavy Arab buying

LONDON (AP) — Gold soared more than $11 to a record $341.50 an ounce in Zurich today amid signs of heavy Arab buying. The dollar dropped, depressed by gold's burgeoning value. The massive overnight leap was one of the biggest single jumps in gold's year-old climb. The closing figure in Zurich Wednesday was $329.875 an ounce — the previous high.

In London, gold opened at $337.625, up $9.75 from Wednesday's close. The British pound strengthened and was pegged in morning trading at $2.2490. It cost $2.2429 to buy a pound Wednesday.

In Tokyo, the dollar closed at 220.715 yen, down from 221.725 Wednesday.

Dollar quotes elsewhere, compared to Wednesday:

Paris — 4.2310 French francs, down from 4.2465.

Frankfurt — 1.8140 Marks, down from 1.8203.

Zurich — 1.6426 Swiss francs, down from 1.6531.

Milan — 812.60 lire, down from 815.05.

Amsterdam — 1.9925 guilders, down from 1.9995.

Dealers reported indications of heavy Arab buying in what appeared to be a distinct move away from the troubled dollar.

Arab oil producers held vast amounts of dollars, the currency used in oil deals. The Arabs' gold fever is helping weaken the dollar further.

Gold has risen in value by nearly $20 this year alone — an increase of nearly 34 percent — amid spreading alarm that the energy crisis will cause worldwide recession and inflation.

However, some dealers reported that major interests now apparently have invaded the bullion market to convert hefty cash holdings into gold.

Some market sources cautioned that gold is rising so rapidly in price and the bullion market has become so volatile, that profit-taking in the next few days is inevitable and will slow down the hectic upward surge.

Lunar eclipse 'no big deal' to scientists

By The Associated Press

Mother nature treated nightwits in North America to the continent's last total lunar eclipse of this decade early today, but it didn't raise much interest in the scientific community.

At Kitt Peak Observatory near Tucson, Ariz., a spokeswoman called the 3½-hour astronomical phenomenon "no big deal."

Paul Roques, an astronomer at Griffith Observatory in Los Angeles, said the eclipse was visible "over half the world that was in darkness, except the areas near the edge where the moon may not have risen."

"A lunar eclipse is visible to at least half the earth when it occurs," Roques explained. "We got all of it, but the eclipse didn't begin for the East Coast until two hours before sunrise, and the moon was down before much of it could be seen."

"They would therefore see a copper eclipse moon framed against the dark blue sky of morning twilight," said the Kitt Peak spokeswoman, who refused to give her name.

A lunar eclipse occurs when Earth moves between the moon and the sun, casting the mother planet's shadow over the lunar surface.

The Earth's shadow first touched the moon at 2:18 a.m., PDT, Roques said. "The total phase, when the moon was completely covered, was at 3:31 a.m., the total ending at 4:17 a.m. and the moon cleared the Earth's umbra at 5:31 a.m."

The next total lunar eclipse will be visible from Los Angeles on Jan. 9, 1982, said Dr. Ed Krupp, director of the Griffith Observatory.

LILLIAN CARTER ALEXANDER GODUNOV

Fonda opens salon

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Beverly Hills, land of the beautiful people, has a new exercise salon — one that will sweat pounds off the pudgy and pour dollars into Tom Hayden's political causes.

Hayden's wife, actress Jane Fonda, opened Workout on Tuesday and said she plans to visit it often.

Some of the business profits will go toward Hayden's Campaign for Economic Democracy, a grass roots political organization. But, said Ms. Fonda: "it's my business."

Godunov here of free will

NEW YORK (AP) — Defector Alexander Godunov — whose wife spent three days trying to convince U.S. officials she was returning to Moscow of her own free will — says he has told Soviet authorities he is staying behind "by free choice."

Godunov, a former leading dancer with the Bolshoi Ballet, released a statement Wednesday after meeting with Soviet officials at their request to tell them why he defected. He said he told them his decision was "based on my desire for greater artistic possibilities."

It was not known whether the dancer and Soviet officials discussed his ballerina wife, Ludmilla Vlasova, who returned to the Soviet Union after Godunov's defection Aug. 23. Her plane was held at Kennedy International Airport for three days until she could assure U.S. officials she wanted to leave.

Miss Lillian to do battle

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — President Carter's mother is being sent into the battle of the unannounced presidential candidates — and Democrats here say that's a brilliant decision.

Lillian Carter, 81, will share a podium Sunday with California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. and Dudley Dudley, leader of the state campaign to prod Sen. Edward Kennedy into the 1980 race. Neither Brown nor Kennedy is an announced candidate.

"It could have been the first anti-Carter blood-bath of the season," said Raymond Buckley, an executive member of the state party. But he says the presence of Mrs. Carter will change that.

"New Hampshire Democrats have too much class to insult Carter with Miss Lillian there," he said Wednesday.

'Lou Grant' missed deadline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Actor Ed Asner will help the Ohio Commission on Aging correct a goof in their timing.

Asner, who stars in the "Lou Grant" television series, will remake some public service advertisements that announced a Sept. 1 deadline for poor, elderly and disabled persons to sign up for a state program subsidizing winter heating costs. The program was not approved before the Legislature recessed in July and it is expected to pass the Senate later this month.

"Mr. Grant is extremely sympathetic," Martin A. Janis, commission director, said Wednesday, adding the actor will work free and his production staff will charge only about $8,000. The original production costs were $32,000, he added.

Teacher walkouts spread to 16 states

By The Associated Press

School officials struggled to hold classes today and some strikers faced judges' return-to-work orders as walkouts by more than 32,000 teachers spread to 16 states, including Alaska.

More than 700,000 pupils nationwide enjoyed an extended vacation or showed up for classes taught by administrators, non-striker or substitutes, some paid as much as $100 a day.

One school in Daly City, Calif., a suburb of San Francisco, closed after only nine minutes Wednesday when more than 350 teachers struck the 6,600-pupil Jefferson Union High School District.

"It looks like we have a very effective strike," said Tom Fitzpatrick of the American Federation of Teachers Local 1481.

Pickets went up around the 52 public schools in the Anchorage, Alaska, area Wednesday after rejection of an offer that would bring the average salary for the 1,900 teachers to $26,979 this year. The teachers wanted a boost to $27,944.

No further negotiations are planned and classes for the district's 38,000 pupils were conducted by substitutes and volunteer teachers.

A New Jersey Superior Court judge issued an order Wednesday barring the 1,700-member Paterson Education Association from continuing its strike affecting about 26,500 pupils.

Union officials did not say if they would obey the order.

In Rutland, Vt., a judge Wednesday night ordered an end to the week-long walkout by 240 teachers in Vermont's second largest city. Teachers had no comment on the ruling, but School Board Chairman Dorothy Plue said she hoped the order would speed up settlement of the dispute over salary increases.

The Oklahoma Supreme Court refused Wednesday to tamper with a lower court order barring the Oklahoma City school board from negotiating with striking teachers. But it did order a speedy hearing on more arguments in the case, which could clear the way for the school board to ask for an injunction to get some 800 teachers back to work.

Other strikes were reported Wednesday in Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Washington.

Strikes also spread to the university level Wednesday. A walkout halted about three-fourths of Wednesday's first day of classes at Rhode Island University and a strike by clerical workers disrupted opening day for 25,000 students at Boston University.

Teachers were also off the job at Fairleigh Dickinson University in New Jersey and at two smaller colleges in the state.

Preserving the heritage of the family, the basic unit of civilization The Eagle Forum is watchful

By MICKIE DICKSON
The newly organized Eagle Forum of Big Spring is a non-partisan organization whose members are concerned about the moral directions and attacks against family, country and church. The group addresses all levels of government, local, state and federal and strives to educate and inform the public of vital issues, taking action to see them through.

Most of the group are working women by choice who want to preserve their right to choose. The Forum supports Day Care Centers but does not support government subsidized and controlled centers to "liberate women."

The Forum notifies members of certain bills coming up for ratification so they can telephone or write their representatives regarding their views and wishes. Big Spring area representative is Charles Stenholm, a conscientious family man who is concerned about the welfare of the nation.

Recently the Forum was informed about Bill No. H.R. 4040 which will require women as well as men to register to serve in the armed forces. Rep. Stenholm opposes this bill and has notified the Forum that he will vote NO when it comes up.

Bill No. H.R. 2074, sponsored by Mickey Leland, Houston, gives Gays full equality nationwide. President Carter recently appointed Jill Schropp, another avowed lesbian to the National Advisory Council on Women.

It was announced at the Texas Gay Task Force's Annual Conference on Aug. 19 that CBS will be showing a program that includes a segment on Houston's Gay Youth. The 30 minutes program is a children's version of the adult show, 60 Minutes, and is due to be aired Sept. 15.

CBS has verified this, but says that the show is tentatively scheduled for Oct. 6. The network claims that this show is done very objectively and does not advocate the gay lifestyle. However, the fact that CBS is showing this program to children is a recognition of the homosexual lifestyle and, unless they specifically say otherwise, this will come across as acceptable simply because it has been presented to children.

This show will become a regular feature and will deal with contemporary issues concerning the youth of today such as drugs, venereal disease and abortion.

To those interested in reacting to this announcement, the address is CBS — TV, 51 West 52nd St., New York, N.Y. 10019, James Rosenfield, president. The telephone is 212-975-4321.

Patricia Wald, a recent appointee to the Washington, D.C. circuit court, wrote in 1974 that age should be no barrier to rights and that runaway centers should be established for those under 16 from which no parent could remove their child without the child's consent. Ms. Wald compares childhood to slavery. Her appointment was confirmed by the senate this month and makes her a potential candidate for the U.S. supreme court.

One of the reasons the Eagle Forum opposes the International Year of the Child is that IYC supports the quality of life rather than the quantity. "IYC will be meaningful only if women gain the right to safe and free abortion on demand," is on an IYC flyer. The repeal of all abortion laws is central to this aim.

Health, Education and Welfare official Eddie Bernice Johnson made the following recommendation over Texas radio recently: Health visitors to teach mothers parenting skills, licensing of all bearers of children and removal of children from "high risk" homes. Ms. Johnson has recently been promoted in HEW.

Equal pay for equal work is already guaranteed women under the Civil Rights Act and the Equal Employment Opportunities Act, the Equal Pay Act and other Federal directives, admitted by Equal Rights Act sponsor Rep. Martha Griffiths. Therefore, ERA cannot provide equal pay for equal work. This is a smokescreen to hide the real intent of ERA. If women suffer discrimination, it is a matter of enforcement, not a lack of laws.

Teachers are already protected under the Education Act of 1972. ERA can do nothing more.

One of the goals of the National Organization for Women here in West Texas is to remove prayer and the pledge to the flag from all Parent Teacher Association meetings.

Those who support Christian Education need to be aware that the Internal Revenue Service is wanting to descend upon all christian schools. Senators Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower and Rep. Kent Hance oppose this plan.

There is much more going on, too numerous to mention here. For concerned people, the Big Spring Eagle Forum holds public meetings the last Thursday of each month with guest speakers at each meeting. The group welcomes those who may have opposing views to each meeting. The place of meeting will be announced at a later date.

Officers of the group are Nelda Reagan, president; Yvonne Kimbell, vice president; Eddie Falkner, secretary and Darnell Small, treasurer.

The purpose of the Forum is to support the Declaration of Independence and its fundamental doctrine that we owe our existence to a creator and to support the constitution of the United States.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Studying fundamental affairs wisely shows how to improve them and you gain the approval of kin also. Starting a new project could cause you to lose out on those you have already started.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Exercise care in shopping and be sure to count your money well. Try to be of assistance to a needy good friend.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Gaining the goodwill of those who have power over your affairs is wise now since you need more backing. Study your financial position and know how to improve it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make any changes that you think are wise in any sphere of your endeavor. Avoid places where people who are likely to upset you congregate. Not a good time to entertain at home now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Solve your own problems and don't confide in others so much since they can be of little help to you. Be more independent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan time for recreation that relieves tensions. Don't misjudge a friend harshly whose actions you do not understand right now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) The situation at home could be confusing early but then all clears up. Don't jump into any projects aimlessly that are without merit.

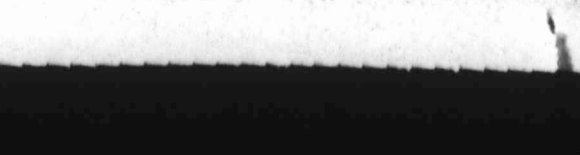

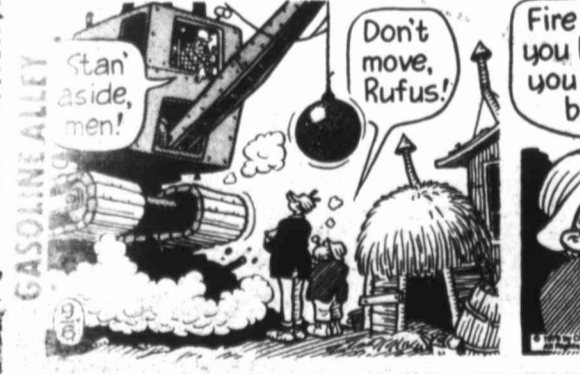

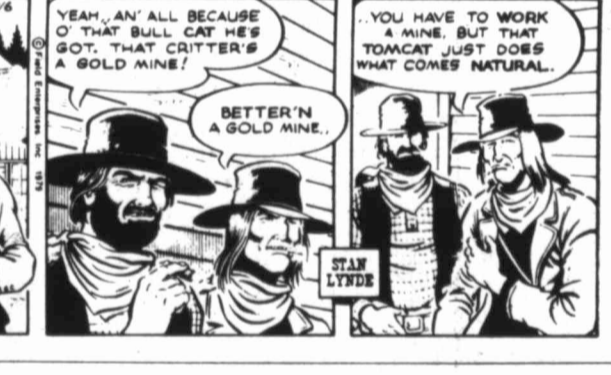

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Particular care should be taken in motion of all kinds, especially while out driving. Be careful in handling accounts and correspondence also.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be practical where financial affairs are concerned and forget wishful thinking. Build up assets instead of spending more than you can afford.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Instead of worrying about personal affairs, get busy and take care of them in a practical way. Avoid those who disturb you. Avoid long telephone calls.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will easily understand what is wrong with a situation and what to do about it. Give lessons early in philosophy and mind expression. Sports are a must here because of the fine physique.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

A.C. Nielson Co. figures

CBS has top 3 shows

NEW YORK (AP) — With the 1979-80 season a week or two away, there was something in the networks' ratings race in the week ending Sept. 2 for both ABC and CBS.

For CBS, it was the week's three highest-rated programs. For ABC, it was the next 10.

Figures from the A.C. Nielson Co. showed "M-A-S-H" as the week's most popular program, followed by "WKRP in Cincinnati" and "Lou Grant."

ABC kicks off its 1979-80 season Sept. 10, with CBS and NBC to follow a week later. All three networks have used the last several weeks to test some of their new programs. ABC, for example, took the wraps off "240-Robert," a new action-adventure series, with satisfying results — the show was No. 5 in the latest ratings.

Most shows on the schedule this time of year are reruns, but the acceptance for first-run programs is not necessarily widespread. "Facts of Life" on NBC was No. 34, a "Wonder Woman" special on CBS No. 46 and "Carol Burnett & Co." on ABC No. 48.

The rating for "M-A-S-H" was 25.3. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, just over a quarter saw at least part of the program.

ABC, with 11 of the week's Top 20 programs, had a rating for the week with a rating of 16, followed by CBS at 14.4 and NBC at 13. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 16 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to the frontrunning network.

NBC's third place finish was its 13th in a row.

CBS and ABC each had two shows among the five lowest-rated. The bottom five: No. 58 "Dorothy" on CBS, No. 59 "Prime Time Sunday" on NBC, No. 60 "Hanging In" on CBS, No. 61 "All Star Junior Pyramid" on ABC and No. 62 "Plasticman Saturday Sneak Peek" on ABC.

Organizational meeting today for special parent-child units

A unique opportunity for parents to spend time with their young children on a one-to-one basis is being provided by the Big Spring YMCA through its special parent-child clubs. Mike McCracken, Executive Director of the Y, announced today. Activities range from cookouts and craft projects to trips and games.

YMCA parent-child programs include Y-Indian Guides for fathers and their 1st thru 3rd grade sons, Y-Indian Princesses for fathers and daughters 1st thru 4th grades.

"One aspect of these programs that makes them unique is the requirement that parent and child participate together," McCracken said. "The Y offers a variety of separate programs for youngsters and adults. But a youngster can't join Y-Indian Guides, for example, unless his father does...or a male be present."

"Another aspect of the programs that make time unique is that meetings...usually once a month...are held not at the Y but in the homes of participants. "Although Y staff are always available to advise and expedite, the actual programs are developed primarily by the participants themselves," McCracken said.

Last year, parents-children participated in the two programs in Big Spring. "One of the largest of the Y's programs, more than 30,000 clubs were operating nationwide in 1978," Mike said. Interested parents who are not able to get to the Y during registration should call 267-8234. The organizational meeting will be held today at 7 p.m. at the YMCA. All should bring a towel and swimsuit.

Criminal cases in 118th District Court decrease

Criminal cases in 118th District Court decreased by 12 in August. A total of 246 cases were pending at the first of the month of August. At the end of August, 234 were pending.

A total of 13 cases were disposed of and one new case was filed.

Of the 13, eight were disposed of by pleas of guilt. Burglary, robbery and auto theft cases numbered two each disposed of by pleas of guilt. Felony DWI and theft cases numbered on each disposed of by pleas of guilt.

The other five disposed of cases were dismissed on the request of the complaining witnesses.

Four probations were granted in August, one probation was filed and one was granted. Two were committed to Texas Department of Corrections in August. Total number of years in prison assessed in August was 15.

Daughter played with assailant, mother testifies

DALLAS (AP) — The mother of a slain 6-year-old Mesquite girl testified that she was told that her daughter was "playing games" with James Richard Harris shortly before the daughter disappeared.

Harris is being tried for murder in the death of Tyra Heath, who vanished from her apartment June 26. Her remains were found several days later in a brushy area in Mesquite.

Harris, who lived with his wife and 7-year-old son a few doors from the apartment where the Heaths lived, was arrested several days after the body was found.

Janis Heath, mother of the victim, testified Wednesday that Harris' 7-year-old son told her Tyra had been "playing games" with Harris in a bedroom shortly before the girl disappeared.

A neighbor testified that he saw Harris carry a large garbage bag from his apartment to his truck the night the girl disappeared. He said he remembered the incident because Harris, a Mesquite sanitation worker, carried the bag to his truck instead of the apartment's dumpster.

Testimony was to continue today before a jury of nine men and three women.
