Fishermen file $155 million suit

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston attorney has filed a $155 million lawsuit on behalf of a group of fishermen who claim they have lost money because of a giant oil spill that swept from Mexico into Texas waters. Joe Jamail, who has won millions of dollars in damages for clients during the past few years, named the defendants in the federal court class action as PEMEX, the Mexican oil monopoly, and SEDCO, a firm founded by Texas Gov. Bill Clements. Jamail told The Associated Press, "Since the governor of this state has refused to represent the people of Texas, somebody had to. I filed the suit to force some people's hands and, by God, I think, I know, we can win a judgment."

Spillage from Ixtoc I, a PEMEX oil well in the Bay of Campeche, has stained more than 100 miles of Texas beaches and sent oil slicks over a wide area where Gulf of Mexico fishermen harvest shrimp, oysters and crab. The well has pumped more than 2 million barrels of oil into the Gulf since it ruptured in early June. Efforts still are underway to seal the runaway well.

Clements, Texas' first Republican governor in more than 100 years, placed his interest in SEDCO in trust and disassociated himself from the multi-million dollar firm before his election.

The Dallas-based company had leased an offshore rig to the Mexican government. It was this rig that collapsed. PEMEX officials refused to comment on the oil suit.

Clements is in Moscow on a sight-seeing tour and not available for comment.

Gil Clements, the governor's son and chief officer of SEDCO, said, "I can't say I am surprised by a lawsuit being filed. I am surprised that anyone thinks they can document any damages against us."

Jamail said, "I am representing this group of fishermen who have suffered the million-dollar losses in just the past year. This will increase as their losses increase, and I expect the owners of hotels and motels and others along the affected beach areas to eventually join in this action."

"We have a right to sue these people for the loss by the victims of the oil spill. Just think what this oil spill has done to parts of Texas," he said.

The Houston attorney said he has discussed this case with Texas Attorney General Mark White and added, "I think he understands the situation."

In Austin, White said, "We have not seen the petition. However, we will be filing an appropriate response to the suit next week."

During the past few months, Clements and White have been at odds over whether legal action should be taken against the Mexican government for the oil spillage.

The governor has said, "There is no foundation for any statement that SEDCO is responsible for the blowout, or that the equipment was defective."

He also said it would be a mistake to attempt to force the Mexican government to pay damages for the spillage until all of the facts in the case are known.

White has suggested that a lawsuit be filed against Mexico, and said, "I think SEDCO has been less than candid with the attorney general and the people of Texas."

30 counties declared disaster areas

Carter inspects South today

By The Associated Press

President Carter flew South today to personally inspect the suffering cities of the Gulf Coast while the remnants of Hurricane Frederic dumped heavy rains west of the Appalachians, causing flooding in some areas.

Cutting normal red tape, the White House on Thursday designated 30 counties ravaged by Hurricane Frederic in Mississippi, Alabama and Florida as disaster areas.

Presidential press secretary Jody Powell said the recovery of the Gulf Coast "is going to take years."

Frederic left six confirmed dead and two others missing and presumed dead on the Gulf Coast and property damage so extensive officials were reluctant to make estimates.

But Florida Gov. Bob Graham said he feared the damage toll from the latest tropical devastation might surpass the $95 million racked up by David there.

The 300-year-old port city of Mobile suffered the brunt of the storm Thursday, along with Pascagoula, Miss., and Pensacola, Fla.

Driving rains from what was left of Frederic — little more than a low pressure system — swept north to New York today sending streams over their banks in western rush hour traffic in Buffalo.

New York and backing up morning

The storm, which already had pelted parts of Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia and western Pennsylvania with heavy rains, had dumped more than 5 inches of rain on Buffalo, N.Y., by 9 a.m., forcing the closing of all schools in the state's second largest city. Many suburban schools also closed.

Some roads in Buffalo were flooded, stacking up traffic jams several miles long.

Heavy rains in northwestern Pennsylvania this morning caved in the roof of the municipal bus station in Erie, Pa. No injuries were reported but five buses were damaged.

For driver convicted of manslaughter

Jury recommends six-year sentence

COLORADO CITY, Texas (AP) — A state district court jury has recommended William Clarence Dixon spend six years in prison, after convicting him of involuntary manslaughter in a collision between a school bus and Dixon's oilfield equipment truck that killed four students.

The jury recommended the punishment late Thursday, after convicting Dixon on the charge Wednesday, after four hours of deliberation.

Dixon was indicted on charges he caused the four deaths Dec. 8, 1978, by failing to stop at a stop sign near Roby at a rural West Texas intersection.

As Judge Weldon Kirk prepared to read the sentence, Dixon sat at the defense table, eyes closed and hands folded as though in prayer.

Dixon showed no emotion after he heard the verdict, but glanced at his wife Pam who appeared to be fighting tears.

Kirk set Sept. 28 as the date for formal sentencing, and Dixon has ten days to ask for a new trial.

Dixon's truck hit a bus carrying the boys' and girls' McCaulley High School basketball team to a tournament.

Four students were dead at the scene and another died three weeks later. In addition, 20 people — including Dixon — were injured.

Authorities originally had charged Dixon with three counts of manslaughter but two of them were dropped, without explanation, during the trial.

Before retiring to discuss punishment, the jurors heard attorneys haggle over whether adverse driving records could be admitted during the punishment arguments.

At one point, the judge sent the jury out of the room while defense attorneys argued with prosecutors over the admissibility of Dixon's driving record.

A Department of Public Safety trooper testified he ticketed Dixon for driving 18 mph over the speed limit in Sept., 1978. The defense tried to keep the ticket from being admitted.

Defense attorney Malcolm Schulz of Abilene had wanted to call 31 character witnesses during the punishment phase, but Kirk limited him to 15.

Results of probe may put local police before grand jury

Results of the district attorney's investigation into the Big Spring Police Department may be presented to the grand jury which convenes here Oct. 2.

The D.A.'s office has been investigating accusations against city departments since the city council invited information or evidence of misconduct earlier this summer.

"It is the intention of the D.A.'s office at this time to present the results of its investigation to the grand jury," District Attorney Rick Hamby said today.

Information that will be presented was not revealed by Hamby. The purpose of the grand jury is to clear as well as indict individuals.

In response to radio reports that the F.B.I. is involved in an investigation of the police department, Hamby said he did not know.

City council to hold special meeting Tuesday

A new city councilman may be chosen at a special meeting, 9 a.m. Tuesday.

The Big Spring City Council and city officials will meet in closed session, Tuesday, to choose a replacement for Councilman John Massey, who resigned his post Monday. All council members will have the opportunity to submit names of those they think should be appointed, and the final choice will be determined by a vote among the members.

In that same meeting, in open session, council members will consider an appointment to the Joint Tax Appraisal Board.

New constitution may strip all power from whites in Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — Ian Smith and other white Zimbabwe Rhodesian leaders today objected to a British-proposed constitution that would strip them of almost all their remaining power in that war-torn country, a senior source at the peace conference said.

The 15-page proposal was to be debated for the first time in formal session with the opposing delegation of the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance when the 5-day-old conference resumes later today.

The whites' objections to the British draft spring mainly from their belief that Muzorewa, whose government is not recognized internationally, should extract recognition from the British and an end to trade embargoes in return for a new constitution. They said the white ministers acknowledge that Muzorewa will have to end some of the special powers the white minority has under the current constitution. Whites, who ruled for almost nine decades until Muzorewa took office last June, make up only 3 percent of the country's 7 million people. But Muzorewa's government depends on the white-led armed forces to defend it against the guerrillas and on white expertise to run the strained economy.

Some grades posing problems

Attendance lower in local schools

By DON WOODS
Attendance at Big Spring Public Schools is still lower than school officials had anticipated, said Assistant Superintendent of Personnel Harold Bentley at Thursday night's school board meeting.
"We have some problems in some grades," he said. The first grade level received teacher cutbacks, but attendance turned out to be higher than officials had anticipated.
Bentley said some first grade classes were smaller than they should be and some were larger.
The number of students in the first grade in the seven elementary schools is 400 this month. The number of first grade students was higher than in any other grade in the district, except for ninth grade which had 409.
College Heights, Lakeview and Washington Elementary Schools were the worst hit in attendance drop-off.
Overall attendance is 202 students less than it was this time last year.
In other action, school officials passed a measure formalizing complaint procedures for the district's Title I program for educationally deprived students. The measure complies with a recently passed federal law requiring the procedures.
Without compliance the district's 1979-1980 Title I application would not be approved. Title I funds finance an expensive computer at Goliad used by students.
The procedure will resolve complaints made by parents, parent advisory councils, and teachers alleging violations of Title I, if the existing procedures don't resolve them.
Pee Wee Football and the YMCA requested use of Blankenship field for upcoming football programs. They have agreed to pay costs of operating the field during the games.
Trustees decided to grant the request providing all participants sign waivers of liability. The administration is working with their insurance agent to get general liability insurance on facilities which could be rented to non-school groups.
School Trustee Bob West

said of Pee Wee Football, "This program has a large amount of participation and I hope we can support it."
Pee Wee leaguers had been using the district owned practice field east of Memorial Stadium.
The Pee Wee group wanted Blankenship each Saturday at 1 p.m. Sept. 22 through Nov. 10, YMCA wants it for Tuesday and Thursday nights.
A total of 16 new employees were approved. A total of six resignations were accepted.
Bentley said only one position is now open. The position is speech therapist, which requires special certification. No applications have been accepted.
The law firm of Brown, Bancroft and Miller that had been handling the district's delinquent taxes has dissolved.
Three attorneys have expressed an interest in the contract. The district would pay 15 percent of the collections made.
The board moved to invite all attorneys in Big Spring to present proposals for the Sept. 27 meeting.
Trustees also approved the suspensions of two students for the remainder of the fall quarter. The suspensions required board approval because they were longer than 10 days. The parents of the two, whose names were not released, were notified of appeal procedures, but no action was taken.
District travel policy was amended to concur with recently raised state allowances. Personal car mileage will be reimbursed at 20 cents per mile and daily allowance will be $40 a day.
For trips when overnights stays are not made, meals will be reimbursed at a rate of $2.25 for breakfast, $3.50 for lunch and $4.50 for dinner.
Under the instructional section of the budget, $34,000 is allowed for travel. Under athletics approximately $30,000 is budgeted for travel.
"Our travel is down considerably from what it was in the last few years," said Bentley.
Early dismissals were approved for Sept. 14, Oct. 5 and Nov. 16. The district needs buses back earlier to transport football players to out of town games.
Periodically during the year there will be early dismissal dates for committee work in completing the Southern Association Accreditation Self Regulation.
Overall, Bentley called the beginning of school this year, "One of the better openings we've had."
He added that there had been very few problems with overcrowding or bus problems.

Tax Appraisal Board okays 1980 budget

The Tax Appraisal Board, made up of representatives of nine Howard County taxing entities, approved their $912,524 budget for the coming fiscal year at their regular meeting Wednesday.
The portion of the budget contributed by each agency is determined by the number of parcels of land the agency has.
The county and Howard College pay, by far, the biggest part of the budget, according to Tax Assessor and Collector Zirah Bednar. The two agencies handled 2,701 parcels last year, she said.
The amount paid by each agency will be determined on a parcel basis until Jan. 1, 1980. The amount allocated to each agency will then be determined by the amount of taxes levied by each agency since Oct. 1, 1978.

In gambling meccas, criminals thrive

Those who have developed an itch for gambling are prone to argue that (1) adults should be able to choose the way they spend their money; (2) if they don't risk it here they will travel across state lines to seek out the gambling meccas; and (3) all of life is a gamble.

THOSE WHO DECRY the threat of wagering on the swiftness of a horse or the roll of the dice say that all temptations should be removed from people who have obligations to kith and kin, not to mention their creditors.

The anti-gambling forces often overlook another point — the fact that the all-out efforts of communities like Las Vegas and Jersey City to project a pristine image can't eliminate the fact that where big bucks are concerned organized crime gets involved. In a recent edition, the Wall Street Journal focused attention on the fact that, despite all the licensing and supervisory authorities, Las Vegas have been infiltrated by the lawless breed.

Four men were convicted this year in Detroit on federal charges that they illegally concealed partial ownership of the Alladin Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas by criminal figures.

Even now, the Organized Crime Strike Force of the U.S. Justice Department is conducting a probe of alleged irregularities of a similar nature at the Tropicana, the Riviera and at Agent Corp., which owns the Stardust and the Fremont, all in Nevada's Sin City. In Atlantic City, there have already been charges — not yet resolved — that Resorts International Inc., the biggest operation there, is tainted by underworld affiliations.

The truth of the matter is, despite vows by local and state officials that they will keep the gambling operations free of involvement with the criminals, they find it next to impossible to keep the mob at a distance.

ONE OF THE REASONS Al Capone prospered as long as he did in Chicago was because he felt those elected officials who ran the city "needed" him. They didn't want true reform and were willing to negotiate behind the scenes with him to see that the people had a chance to satisfy their human appetites.

Organized crime is attracted to gambling, much as a bear is to honey. Its people reason they deserve a piece of the action. The attraction is magnetic and enduring and no law forbidding such a relationship has been able to keep the crooks away.

There is an enormous amount of gambling goes on in this state, especially when football season arrives. It is true the state doesn't collect any taxes from such operations, but the state's practice of winking at such action may be better, all things considered, than having the mob move in and roll up its sleeves, awaiting a chance to get its piece of the pie.

Stuck in ironic quagmire

Around the rim

James Werrell

There was no shouting or screaming when the group of 10 men and women walked into City Hall to ask that funding be continued for the Big Spring Detox Center.

Instead, there was a quiet affirmation of what everyone there already knew: the center, for the last six or so years, had provided effective, humane assistance to a group of people who had nowhere else to go.

THE DETOX CENTER is a no-frills operation. But the people who have gone there were not interested in frills. They needed a place to sleep, a hot meal and understanding, and they got all three at the center.

When Ed Mitchell helped to organize that center in the early '70s, he had a singular mission: to save human lives.

I talked with him last year just after he had received a laudatory letter from a detox unit in another city that had used Big Spring's as a model. As we talked, he showed me more letters of praise, some from out-of-state programs, and others, the important ones, from past patients.

"I got the idea that we needed a detox center after talking with some deputies down at the jail. They told me that if things went on like they were, someone was going to die after getting picked up for being drunk," he told me.

NO ONE HAS DIED, probably thanks to Mitchell, and thinking back on this conversation made me sad as the group of 10 walked quietly from council chambers, having been told that the center could no longer be funded.

This is not an indictment of the actions of the City Council. The city is struggling with a budget balance that, by the end of the next fiscal year, will amount to little more than pocket change.

Services must be cut. But unless the Detox Center can make it as a non-profit corporation, it will fold. And the day, the hour, that happens, Big Spring's should begin to ask where the line will be drawn.

THIS COMMUNITY is stuck in an ironic quagmire. One of its biggest selling points is its low tax structure. But if taxes are too low to support its public services, then what will Big Spring become?

What is a community if not a sum total of its museums, libraries, parks, health centers, sports facilities, theaters, law enforcement agencies, schools, programs for children and all the other things for which our tax dollars are spent?

Let us continue to tighten our belts, but let us also continue to count the notches so that we don't strangle ourselves in the process.

Leak from court

It is the most obstinately ignored development in contemporary politics that President Carter has been authorized to supplement the existing federal judiciary by 150 new district court judges. This means increasing the size of the federal judiciary by 30 percent. Inasmuch as federal judges are much given to making laws these days rather than merely interpreting them, we are faced with something akin to giving the president the authority to appoint 30 new senators, the difference, the more obvious differences apart, being that senators have to refresh their mandate every six years, while judges go on and on, not only in their opinions, but on the bench.

THE POLITICIZATION of the courts, most especially at the Supreme Court level, is hotly debated, and in his famous book, "Government by Judiciary," Professor Raoul Berger has issued the most recent challenge to the Supreme Court's disposition to take the law into its own hands and simply change the law into what the court thinks it should be. Now a most vexing aspect of judicial protocol is that it is extremely hard to interrogate a member of the court. Supreme Court members greatly prefer asseverating to arguing. Such arguing as they do, they do only among themselves, in their written opinions, often contentious, sometimes even bitchy.

In 13 years I have interrogated 750 men and women in public life, including presidents, prime ministers, legislators, union chiefs, poets and candlestick makers. And not one judge, notwithstanding if what the judges say more often than not decides the crucial issues of our time.

It is refreshing to read an extraordinarily candid interview by Associate Justice Lewis Powell of the Supreme Court, given to Professor Harry Clor of Kenyon College, and published in the Summer issue of the Kenyon College Alumni Bulletin. Professor Clor comes right out and asks, "Do you think that judicial statesmanship, to the extent that there is such a thing, consists primarily of insight into the needs or demands of the times or into the changing conditions to which constitutional clauses are to be applied?"

The answer of Justice Powell begins by acknowledging the Court's insularity from the democratic process. "It's well to bear in mind that the Court is composed of judges who are elected for life. We, therefore, are not directly responsible to the people in any political sense."

THAT'S BOTH GOOD and bad, says Powell. "Yet our independence does give the Court a freedom to make decisions that perhaps are necessary for our society, decisions that the legislative branch may be reluctant to make. The classic case that comes to mind is Brown vs. Board of Education. The Congress had adequate authority under the Constitution to enact the sort of legislation that has been adopted since Brown."

"But it was the Supreme Court that finally decided in 1954 that segregation in our society must come to an end."

Another example: "It also was the Supreme Court that made the difficult decision, one the Congress apparently did not want to make, to lower the voting age to 18. There was nothing in the Constitution that could have suggested that result. In the simplest of terms, the Court decided that when young people were being drafted and asked to go to war and risk their lives at age 18, the time had come to extend to them the right to participate as citizens in the decisions that affected them so seriously."

Even Tom Sawyer had warts 'cure'

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please, what is the latest on vitamin E treatment for warts? I am sure there are many people plagued by these unsightly, bothersome things on the hands. A doctor burned out five on my thumb. Within a year they were back. I have used other compounds, but within two weeks they started growing back. I am desperate. I would even try the black cat in the graveyard remedy if I could remember how it goes. — Mrs. J.M.

Warts are caused by a virus that infects the skin. You can transfer this virus from one wart to another area of your body, where a second will grow. You are correct on both counts. They are unsightly and many people do have them, about 7-10 percent of the population, or 14 to 20 million in the U.S. alone.

I don't know the latest on vitamin E therapy, but I suppose we can add treatment of warts to the long list of conditions for which that substance is being used. I doubt it will help.

There are many, more conventional remedies, but generally, when there are many "remedies" for any condition, none really is the answer. Freezing with liquid nitrogen, removal with an electric current, and several chemicals, such as trichloroacetic acid or salicylic acid and lactic acid, all are used. The doctor is the best judge of which treatment is best based on the type of wart and its location.

Take heart. In two out of three cases the warts go away in two years. The "black cat" idea might work, but I'm as much in the dark about the technique as you are. Tom Sawyer favored "spunkwater."

Your druggist might be able to make some for you, but it would probably come high and be about as effective as vitamin E.

P.S. Don't take Tom Sawyer or me seriously about "spunkwater," folks.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please tell me about plain petroleum vaseline. Two of my friends swear by it. They say taking a teaspoon of it every night they prevent coughing and colds in general. Is there any such medicinal value in vaseline taken internally? — Mrs. W.O.

Vaseline is a product of petroleum, a solid form of mineral oil, which is a distillate of crude oil.

It is intended for external use and there are very few products that are "reversible" in use. In this case there is no harm since the vaseline is not absorbed. The only side effect might be a mild laxative action, just as with the mineral oil.

The dangers from chronic use of either of these preparations (oil or jelly) is lipid pneumonia and interference with the absorption of lipids (fats) and the fat soluble vitamins (A, D and E). Neither the vaseline nor the liquid oil will prevent coughs or colds.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What is a calorie? I'm confused. — M.W.

You and a lot of other people, if my mail is an indicator.

First of all, don't look for a calorie. You'll never see one. They are invisible, like a degree of temperature or a thought. A calorie is just one of man's handy measurements. Nutritionally, it is the amount of potential energy in a given amount of food, whether carbohydrate, fat, or protein. Specifically, one calorie is the amount of food energy needed to raise a kilogram of water one degree centigrade. Thus if you ate and utilized a 100-calorie candy bar you would release enough energy to raise the temperature of a kilogram of water 100 degrees centigrade.

Fats have roughly twice the energy potential of proteins or carbohydrates. A gram of fat produces about nine calories of energy as it is "burned" by the body, a gram of carbohydrate four, and a gram of protein about the same.

The trouble is that not all calories are used up as energy. So they get stored as body weight — fat. That's why you have to cut down on food (total calories) to lose weight.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Who knows, better than the Russians?

The Soviet publication, New Times, printed a story recently to the effect that the C.I.A. has agents placed in United Nations, activities in two supposed cases of neutrality, Geneva and Vienna.

No less than 30 of the 44 members of the American U.N. mission in the Swiss city are agency personnel, according to the weekly news periodical.

As for Vienna, the charge is that the headquarters of the International Atomic Energy Agency has been thoroughly bugged with proceedings monitored from the U.S. embassy.

Allegation of agent infiltration, electronic eavesdropping and other forms of playing games by special rules are par for the course of international power relations and usually are dismissed with little or no comment.

Suffice to say, it takes one to know one.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why should I commit my life to Christ and let Him take control of it? I am getting along fine without Him. I don't see any reason to turn to Christ now. Maybe when I'm old and about ready to die it will be worthwhile. — C.O.

DEAR C.O.: There are many millions of Christians who, if they could talk with you right now, would tell you that being a Christian is the most worthwhile life you can imagine. Your life may seem to be happy right now, but with Christ your life would be even happier.

The Bible tells us, "Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation" (2 Corinthians 6:2). Why does it tell us this? I believe there are several reasons. For one thing, as I have already suggested, being a Christian is not just something we do so we will go to heaven when we die, although that is certainly an important part of our salvation. Being a Christian involves living with Christ every day and seeking to serve Him every day. It is exciting to be able to get up every morning and know that God is with you and wants to direct you that day! Jesus said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10).

Remember also that life is uncertain. Yes, we all believe that somehow we will never have accidents or sudden illness. But if you are honest in your heart and mind you know that life can be snuffed out in a moment, before you have time to repent and turn to Christ. How tragic it would be if you swapped a few hours of temporary pleasure on this earth for an eternity of hell, separated from the presence of God.

The Bible tells us it is dangerous to turn our backs on God, because our hearts can become calloused and hardened toward God. "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near" (Isaiah 55:6). Turn to Christ now, and you will be glad you did.

Coke benefits

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter believes things go better with Coke.

As governor of Georgia, he made free use of Coca-Cola's corporate jet. Coke executives contributed to his presidential campaign and sponsored fund-raisers for him.

After he moved into the White House, the new president summarily banished Pepsi Cola and installed Coca-Cola as the executive thirst quencher.

BUT COCA-COLA received more substantial benefits. With White House blessings, the company made a deal with China to bring Cokes onto the Chinese mainland. Coca-Cola got the soft-drink concessions at the 1980 Olympic Games in Moscow. And it ended a 50-year ban against Cokes in Portugal.

Last year, the Carter administration succeeded in blocking legislation that would have raised the tariffs on imported sugar. This held down sugar prices while most other commodities were soaring into orbit.

A victory for the everyday consumer? In a modest way, yes. But it was an even bigger victory for Coca-Cola. For the company is the nation's biggest sugar consumer.

The Atlanta-based soft-drink colossus was a leader of the three-year battle against the sugar tariff increase. Coca-Cola's chief purchaser, John Mount, was quoted as threatening to "call in a few chits and have the president veto the farm bill" which contained the sugar price increase.

Mount told us he can't remember making such a statement. But there is no question that the company held the "chits," or IOUs, that had Carter in its debt.

Now we have uncovered evidence that the president intervened personally to block higher price supports for sugar. The evidence is contained in the secret Cabinet minutes for Sept. 25, 1978. The copies were distributed to Cabinet members with the request that "no copies or distribution be made and that they be kept for your eyes only."

It emerged as another victory for Coca-Cola worth millions to its stockholders, although the White House vigorously denied any "Coke connection."

Again last month, Jimmy Carter bailed out a Coca-Cola company. And again, the White House denied any ulterior intentions.

The parent company has close financial ties to the independent Coca-Cola Bottling Company of New York. This company owns the Mississippi riverboat, The Delta Queen.

It was a floating white elephant, with hundreds of unsold cabins until the president gave it nationwide publicity last month by sailing down the Mississippi in the Delta Queen.

Bob Mosier, president of the Coca-Cola owned Delta Queen Corporation, acknowledged that the operation had been losing millions of dollars every year. But after the Carter trip, the old riverboat was deluged with reservations. Coke officials expect the investment to show a profit for the first time since they acquired the steamship line in 1976.

Mosier wouldn't estimate how much the publicity was worth, except to admit it was "very significant." He conceded that, "It is pretty difficult to buy three minutes of advertising during network news on all networks," not to mention front-page pictures and headlines.

Carter's riverboat adventure brought immediate results. Several Delta Queen officials said the phones "have been ringing off the hook" since the trip. Jim Rooney, who handles the Delta Queen's advertising account, told our reporter Sally Denton the steamboat's "sales should be increased for several years to come, since the boat was exposed to people all around the world who had never heard of it before. You just can't that kind of publicity."

Coke spokesmen insist the trip was "entirely the president's idea." But no one would say who made the arrangements between the White House and Coca-Cola. The White House press office refused to say. Delta Queen officials were no help. And the company's Cincinnati attorney just said flatly he didn't want to discuss it.

Footnote: A number of Carter cohorts had ties with Coca-Cola before he brought them into the government.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

It is very ironic that as we watch television's portrayal of the slaughter of six million innocent people in The Holocaust, we ask ourselves, "Could this happen here?" This question is moot, since it already has happened here. There are direct historical parallels between the Nazi slaughter of the Jews and our own acceptance of the killing of two million unborn children every year by the means of legalized abortion.

Just as the Nazis assured the German citizenry that the "final solution" was in the best interests of the Jews, so today Planned Parenthood assures us that it is being compassionate and kind in promoting abortion as a means of birth control, and that anyone who protests is cruel, heartless, and behind the times. One is reminded of Christian ministers and priests in Germany who supported Jewish rights, and who were thus sent off to concentration camps with the Jews.

Before the Nazis began their direct slaughter of the Jews, they promoted abortion for Jewish women, but would not allow it for other German women. Why should they want the women they despised to have such a noble and liberating right? In 1975, the West German Supreme Court ruled that abortion would be unconstitutional under the West German constitution. In making its decision the West German court rejected the legality of abortion precisely because of the Nazi experience. The Court stated that its decision could be explained "as a reaction to the 'destruction of life unworthy of life,' to the 'final solution,' and 'liquidations' which were carried out as measures of state by the Nazis." (9 J. Marshall Jour. Prac and Proc 551, 637.) This opinion followed by two years the United States Supreme Court decision that declared that "the word 'person' does not include the unborn." (Roe vs. Wade, 1973).

Today, those of us who oppose legalized abortion, federal funding of Planned Parenthood, and United Way funding of Planned Parenthood, find ourselves in much the same position as those who tried to cry "Stop!" in Germany in 1935. We are derided as cranks who are hopelessly myopic in our values. There is no need, dear reader, to ask if it could happen here, it has happened here.

Telephone calls aid in discovery of boy genius

DESOTO, Texas (AP) — Three disjointed, emotional, pre-dawn telephone calls led to the recovery of a missing 16-year-old student genius who had been feared dead because of his involvement in a strange intellectual game.

"We agree this is the most bizarre case we've ever been involved with," private detective William Dear said Thursday, after he located James Dallas Egbert III at an undisclosed location and put him under a doctor's care.

Dear said he was hired by the boy's family five days after the Aug. 15 disappearance to find their son, a Michigan State University computer science student with an IQ measured at 145.

Egbert had last been seen in the cafeteria at the university dormitory where he lived.

Authorities feared Egbert became lost and died in a maze of winding steam tunnels beneath the campus while acting out an intellectual game called "Dungeons and Dragons."

Police found a note in his room saying he wished to be cremated "should my body be found."

"We crawled through tunnels after tunnels, we climbed through holes and crevices we didn't even think existed," said Dear, who added authorities were never convinced Egbert wrote the note. And he said the fantasy game played no part in the disappearance.

Dear said he was unable to develop any concrete leads into Egbert's whereabouts until he got three early morning phone calls within a 30-minute span Thursday.

"I was able to talk to the boy. He was crying intermittently and a man in the background was telling him 'Cool it, man, cool it.' Then later this (Thursday) afternoon I was able to make arrangements to pick up the boy," said Dear.

The detective said no kidnapping was involved in the disappearance. However, he refused to say if the boy had been held against his will.

"The boy's been through a tremendous ordeal," Dear told a news conference at his home in this Dallas suburb late Thursday night. "We hope that this thing will end fairly quickly so the boy can get well and regain a normal life."

The detective said Egbert appeared to be in good physical shape except for minor cuts on his chin and elbow.

"The boy's alive," said Dear. "As far as his mental condition, that's up to a doctor to determine. We have agreed not to expose where the boy is or any details involved in the boy's activities at this time."

Dear said he and his agents also spent three days aloft in a helicopter around the MSU campus, trying to see if a map found in the boy's dorm room could be a clue to his location.

"We had astrologers and all sorts of people looking at that map, trying to make some sense out of it, but nothing worked," Dear said.

When the boy was located, the detective said an individual — he declined to identify — asked for a written guarantee from Dear that there would be no prosecution in the case. Dear said he did not accede to the request and instead made other arrangements to pick up the boy.

However, he added there would be no charges filed by him or the family, and explained there are no criminal statutes that would apply to the situation.

IT STILL RUNS — Manchester auctioneer William Handley says he still drives his 1924 Ford Model T speedster about 250 miles a week. He says he gets "27 or 28" miles per gallon. He is shown here leaving Concord, N.H., for a drive to Vermont.

Sen. Talmadge facing censure or condemnation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee, trying to decide what disciplinary action to recommend against Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, reportedly has narrowed its choices to two words — censure or condemnation.

The Ethics Committee was meeting in a closed session again today to discuss the issue.

Censure is considered a harsh punishment by the Senate. Only seven members have been censured in its history.

Condemnation, a compromise word floated by the committee in hopes of gaining a unanimous vote on the punishment recommendation, is considered slightly less harsh than censure but stronger than a reprimand.

However, if past precedent is any indication, a condemnation decision by the full Senate against the veteran Georgia Democrat still could go down in Senate records as a censure.

Only one senator, the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis., has previously been condemned. And that action is listed in Senate records as a censure.

Whatever word is decided upon, the punishment carries no loss of privileges or committee position unless the resolution presented for Senate approval specifies so. Public disgrace is generally the only penalty intended in such cases.

Talmadge, one of the most influential figures in Congress, is accused of five violations of Senate rules. The most serious alleged violations are that the Georgia Democrat diverted campaign contributions to his own use and that he overcharged the Senate for his official expenses.

Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Agriculture

Committee, has denied all the allegations but does concede that he should have exercised better oversight of the way his staff handled office finances.

Sources said Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., the committee chairman, had two resolutions prepared prior to today's meeting. The sources said one resolution used the word condemnation and the other declared the senator should be censured.

Stevenson had stated publicly earlier that he would prefer a unanimous decision on the recommended punishment. Sources said he believes Talmadge's allies could use any disagreement among committee members to argue against the recommended punishment when the full Senate takes up the question of punishment.

Symbol of YESTERDAY

What varied stories this ancient span could reveal if only it were capable — exciting tales of the Civil War... of enchanting lovers' trysts beneath its tall arched roof. And, gloomy stories, too, like the despondent old man who snuffed out his life by plunging from its edge into the swift waters of the creek below.

Yes, this weatherbeaten structure has survived the years. It has endured. And, God willing, it will stand for perhaps another generation — a unique symbol of yesterday.

The Church and this sturdy bridge have a great deal in common. The Church has withstood the test of time because nothing has yet been discovered to supplant the profound peace and serenity it supplies. The Church will endure for all time — after the picturesque old covered bridge is only a memory.

Public hearing held today in San Angelo for base closing

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — About 20 U.S. Air Force officers were in this West Texas city today to hold a public hearing concerning the proposed closing of Goodfellow Air Force Base.

The hearing, requested by U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler, R-Kerrville, is said to be only the second such hearing the U.S. Air Force has ever held concerning the proposed closing of a base.

The Air Force announced earlier that the base was to be closed out beginning in 1980 with the facility to be completely phased out by 1984.

An organization called the City Blitz Committee planned to present a 15-page position paper at the hearing today. A committee spokesman says the position paper challenges evidence used by the Air Force in a study on the economic impact the base closing would have on San Angelo and Tom Green County.

The meeting was to be held in a bank meeting room.

Researches study beetle that can kill

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Researchers at Texas A&M are studying a beetle that eats flesh with the lust of a shark and can strip a dead animal down to the bare bones.

"I know that sounds ghoulish," said biologist Bob Murray. "But if it weren't for insects like these, the health hazard to humans would be substantially higher."

The sharp-pinchered bug is called a Dermestid, and Murray, who specializes in taxonomy — the science of arranging animals into groups and families — says several species live in the United States.

Murray said Dermestids, which range in size from a pea to a paper clip, are used in A&M's Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences Department to clean the flesh off animal bones so the bones can be used in research.

"They'll clean everything off — that's for sure," Murray said.

Two gunmen holdup armored van in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Two gunmen dressed as construction workers held up an armored van near a North Dallas supermarket today and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash, police said. No one was hurt.

Police said the two robbers, armed with automatic pistols, entered the truck about 7:15 a.m. and drove off with the two guards. The truck and the guards were left near a service station in the same shopping center, and the robbers fled in a blue and silver Blazer, police said.

Clergy smites T.V.

NEW YORK (AP) — When movies or television shows allude to religious faith these days, it's usually in ridicule, bluntly or subtly. Clergy ordinarily are depicted as hypocrites, con men or simpletons. And the word, "God," is used mostly for smirks and cursing.

But a new movie has come along mocking religion so blatantly that it has aroused outcries from Christians and Jews, including one of the churches' most sophisticated film specialists, Robert E. A. Lee.

"The film is about a contemporary of Jesus, a man named Brian of Nazareth, who is mistaken for the Messiah. Parallels to biblical incidents are used to suggest that anyone, even someone as inept and reluctant as Brian, could be hailed as Savior.

The film, says Rabbi Abraham B. Hecht, head of the Rabbinical Alliance of America, is a "vicious attack upon Judaism and the Bible and a cruel mockery of the religious feelings of Christians."

Warner Bros., distributor of the film, "The Life of Brian," made by the British Monty Python comedy group, says the public has flocked to it and it is meant to entertain, not to offend beliefs.

Service honors Air Force cadets

Recently St. Paul Lutheran Church had a special guests four cadets from the United States Air Force Academy.

The visitors were Richard Randall of Big Spring, a senior at U.S.A.F.A.; Bill Peterson, Cannon A.F.B., N.M., a senior; Scott Thompson of Geneva, N.Y., a senior; and Marty Waugh of Manchester, Md., a junior.

The four cadets had a special service in connection with the regular communion services. They gave the sermon in Scripture, testimony and song, accompanied by Annabeth

Deaths. During distribution of Holy Communion, the cadets sang "Communion Song," "Let Us Break Bread Together," and "Jesus, Gentle Lamb."

Mid-Week classes get underway at St. Paul Wednesday, 6-7:30 p.m. Classes are provided for children ages 3 through 7th grade. More information on the free classes is available by calling the church mornings, 267-7163, or the Rev. Carroll Kohl's residence, 263-2774.

The Rev. Kohl, pastor, began his first class of a 16-week study course on the Christian Faith according to Scripture, 7:30 p.m. Thursday. This class is also free to anyone interested.

The church will again sponsor a booth at the Howard County Fair, Sept. 17-22. The general theme will be "God Opens Doors." Free material will be available each day. The materials deal with Sunday school, children's activities, teenagers, family and home, and family worship.

Family devotions will be available. There will be a Bible given away each day to the person, age 12 through adulthood, whose name is drawn. This year, there will also be a drawing held daily for children under 12. Winner of the children's drawing will receive "The New Testament and Psalms."

The fair booth will be manned by members of St. Pauls, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

Religious leaders voice support of SALT treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of more than 40 mainline and evangelical religious organizations, Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish, to converged on U.S. senators Sept. 12, urging support of the SALT II accords between the U.S. and Russia to limit strategic missiles.

After breakfast at the White House with President Carter, the 175 religious leaders met with Cabinet officials and others, and later fanned out to talk with senators. The consultation is sponsored by the Religious Committee on SALT.

"Never before has the leadership of so great a diversity of American religious organizations come together to say with one voice that arms limitation — through SALT II and SALT III — must be a priority for this nation," says the Rev. William Howard, president of the National Council of Churches.

Flying evangelist lands here

The Rev. Boyce Evans, a full-time evangelist whose profile appears in "Who's Who in American Religion," will serve East Fourth Baptist Church, 401 E. 4th, in a week-long revival next week.

The revival begins Sunday and continues through Sept. 21. Services will be at noon and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday.

Evans has been in evangelism since the beginning of his ministry. During 16 years of pastoring, he worked as an evangelist pastor. During his three-year ministry at one church, 1100 people joined the membership.

Since 1965, Evans has been a full-time evangelist, first for Hardin-Simmons University and then as an independent evangelist. He has preached at more than 500 revivals and crusades throughout the United States in churches and in city-wide and area crusades where all denominations were involved.

Evans is a native Texan and a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

During World War II and the Korean conflict, he was a flying officer. He has retained his flying skill in piloting his private plane to evangelistic meetings throughout the nation. He's logged over 9,000 miles in the air.

Evans was an amateur rodeo cowboy, receiving knowledge of relating to men of all walks of life. His base of operation is in Lubbock, from where he flies his 10 place Navajo twin engine turbo plane to evangelistic meetings from coast to coast.

Evans recently earned a Doctor of Ministries Degree from Luther Baptist Seminary and an Honorary Doctor of Divinity Degree was conferred on him by Linda Vista Baptist College.

The public is invited to attend the revival meetings and hear Evans speak.

NEW YORK (AP) — Several religious organizations sent aid and relief workers into areas hit by Hurricane David.

a chartered plane. The Salvation Army dispatched emergency-disaster teams, opening feeding centers for those left homeless in Dominica and Puerto Rico.

State-funded hospice recommended for Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — TV blurbs encouraging families to check on aged relatives in nursing homes would improve the care they receive, suggests a report by a special subcommittee.

"Since nursing homes are sometimes depressing places, people often would prefer not to visit them," the report said. "One of the most effective things might be simply to have a televised awareness campaign — 'Have you visited or called your aged relative today?'"

On another issue Thursday, the chairman of the subcommittee on health services for the elderly told the staff to pursue the idea of a state-funded hospice for dying patients.

Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, also said he favored packaging drugs for nursing home patients in single doses to save possibly millions of dollars a year in wasted drugs.

the family often becomes very uncomfortable and doesn't know what to say or do — it's devastating," said Brooks.

Ms. Reutz said Holy Cross Hospital of Austin was one of three Texas applicants for federal funds to pay for a pilot hospice.

She said, however, the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare plans to fund only 30-40 hospices throughout the nation, and it has received 400 applications.

If none of the Texas applications is accepted, she said, "the committee might consider funding a pilot program in the state."

"Let's pursue that," Brooks responded.

Brooks also estimated that $2 million of the more than $4 million in unused prescription drugs that are destroyed each year in Texas could be saved through individual packaging of pills.

By law, Ms. Reutz noted, once a prescription medication has left a pharmacy it cannot be returned because it is considered contaminated after it is opened.

Nursing home residents use large quantities of prescription drugs, and when they stop taking a medication or die, the unused drugs must be destroyed, she said.

In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ we welcome you to Hillcrest Baptist Church. It is our fervent prayer that you will find our service inspiring, our people friendly, and our message life changing. As pastor, it is my privilege to extend to you an invitation to come and join us in service to our Lord.

Phillip McClendon, pastor

The subcommittee is part of the Special Committee on the Delivery of Human Services, eight citizens and four senators appointed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. Hobby says he considers it especially important.

Staffer Jan Reutz said there was so much public support for Texas' first hospice in Orange that the $30,000 used to start the hospice was raised primarily from contributions of $5 and $10.

She said a doctor is on call free-of-charge 24 hours a day, and the hospice has treated 28 terminally ill patients at a cost of $1,000 each, which is much cheaper than they could have been treated in a hospital. One of the goals of hospice care is to keep the patient at home as long as possible.

"Hospice" is a term used to describe programs created to relieve the emotional and physical suffering of dying patients. It includes counseling for the families as well as the patient.

"Once a patient is diagnosed as terminally ill,

Tween 12 and 20 — Teen only betrays self

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I've got a big problem and it probably sounds like a soap opera.

The problem started on the last day of school before summer break. My best friend and I saw this cute guy named Paul. We asked around and someone who knew him said he was rich, stuck-up and cruel, but we still wanted to meet him and we finally did.

Our source of information was wrong. He was the sweetest, nicest, foxiest guy we had ever met and we both started liking him.

One night a bunch of us went out and Paul was with us. Well, he started flirting with my girlfriend. I was very happy for her but felt sad for myself.

The next day I told my friend that she was the winner and that I would not get involved with Paul.

One night when my parents were gone and I was home alone, someone knocked on the door. Expecting my girlfriend, I was shocked when I saw the handsome boy. It was Paul. To make a long story short, after a few kisses, one thing led to another and we made love.

Now I see him every day and we spend a lot of time together just talking and doing other fun things.

I asked Paul if he liked my best friend but he said he liked her only for a friend.

Now I really feel guilty because I betrayed my best friend. I know I must tell her but I don't know what to say. Can you help me? — Lizzy, San Rafael, Calif.

Lizzy: The only person you really betrayed is yourself. If you are going to have sexual contact, at least take precautions so you do not bring an unwanted child into this world. So far as your girlfriend is concerned — say nothing.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 15-year-old girl and I'm very close to my mother who is in her late 30s. We are the best of friends. We share everything — we keep no secrets.

The problem is my mother is overweight and she thinks that my dad and the kids in our family are embarrassed by her. Mom has not always been overweight and I was wondering if this is just a "stage" in her life. — Julie, Rock Island, Ill.

Julie: The older one gets, the easier it is to be overweight. But there are many excellent programs available to help keep those extra pounds off. Encourage mom to look into one or two.

Bingoholic Is Bad Bet

DEAR ABBY: I'm 23 and happily married. My problem is my mother. She's a sick woman. Not a day goes by that she doesn't play bingo!

Abby, it is driving our family nuts. I have two younger sisters at home who complain because Mum is gone all the time. She knows where all the bingo games are, and she plays night and day. It takes all the money she has, and when she's broke, she borrows from her children.

My father left her because of this. I know it sounds outrageous, but it's the truth. You never in your life saw a woman so crazy over anything as my mother is over bingo. She hardly ever wins, but she keeps going in hopes of winning a big one.

Is there a cure for a bingo freak?

WORRIED ABOUT MUM

DEAR WORRIED: Your mother is addicted to gambling just as surely as an alcoholic is addicted to drink. But she can be helped if she truly wants to be. Urge her to call GAMBLERS ANONYMOUS. If they aren't listed in your phone book, write to P.O. Box 17173, Los Angeles, Calif. 90017.

Many compulsive gamblers have lucked out by joining this wonderful group of people who are living proof that it's possible to win back their self-respect and happy homes after having lost everything.

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago I met a nice-looking man at the shopping center. (I was fishing around in my purse for change for the parking meter and he put his own money in as a gentlemanly act.) After I finished my shopping I came back to my car and this same man was waiting for me. He reminded me of my dear, departed husband, so I offered to buy him a cup of coffee.

We really hit it off from the start. I told him I was a widow and he said he was a widower. We exchanged phone numbers. He said if I called him and a woman answered to hang up because he was living with a nosy sister and he didn't want her to know his business.

We started seeing each other (always at my place and during the afternoon) and we just plumb fell in love. I'm 62 and he's 66.

Suddenly I was served papers! To make a long story short, this man had been married for 42 years, his wife was suing him for divorce and she named me as the cause!

I swear I never knew this man was married. He muddled up my name in this town. How can I teach him a lesson?

TAKEN IN IN MISSOURI

DEAR TAKEN: Never mind the "lesson." This senior swinger has already graduated. Just let his wife handle the punishment.

DEAR ABBY: I am a truck-driver's wife. A few days ago my husband called me long distance to tell me that he was considering changing companies. He asked me to think about it for a few days and let him know how I felt about it.

Well, Abby, the next day he called to tell me that he had already changed jobs. Then he informed me that his new boss was a woman, and also his co-driver!

He assures me that nothing will happen between them, but he has been unfaithful before and I don't trust him. I was terribly upset with this news and I let him know it.

Do you think I'm "childish" for objecting to my husband's driving with a woman partner? He says I am. And what should I do about it?

ALABAMA WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You can't be blamed for feeling as you do. A man who would change jobs without waiting to hear his wife's opinion obviously doesn't much care what she thinks. What you should do depends upon your options.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (26 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

"This summer I studied in

Alleged drug transactions mapped out

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Lawyers for 16 persons used of smuggling 86 tons of marijuana into the United States have charted areas where alleged illicit transactions and meetings took place.

Ritchie used a map of Texas to point out areas government witnesses have identified as storing, transfer and dispersal points for international drug smuggling.

Aeronautics Commission owned some of the properties involved in the operation, witnesses said. Cauble is not charged with any crime.

Larry Dale Washington, a prosecution witness, said Thursday that marijuana was stored on a Cauble-owned ranch near Meridian in Central Texas and at another ranch in Tarrant County owned by the former commission chairman.

Washington also testified that a Cauble-owned warehouse in Houston and a Denton saloon owned by a Cauble associate also were used in the shipping and distribution of the marijuana.

Charles Noel Talkington, a Denton ranch hand who agreed to cooperate with federal authorities after pleading guilty to one drug-related count, testified Wednesday that marijuana unloaded from fishing trawlers in South East Texas was taken to Cauble-owned ranches in Meridian, Crockett and Denton.

The ranch had testified he and Willis Judge Butler, a onetime defendant who has agreed to testify for the prosecution, drove a load of marijuana from Orange to Meridian in May 1977.

Charles Elbert "Muscles" Foster directed processing and unloading of the marijuana, he testified. Talkington said Foster was his boss up until the time he disappeared shortly before last Christmas.

Hangin' Out

by Nathan Poss

Kansas City wide receiver John Thomas Smith, who formerly starred with Big Spring High School and North Texas State, scored his first touchdown in the NFL last Sunday. Smith received some great publicity when the catch and short run were shown by Howard Cosell on Monday Night Football.

Smith was on the receiving end of rookie Steve Fuller's 19-yard scoring strike at the close of the third stanza during the Chiefs comeback against Cleveland. The Chiefs rallied from a huge deficit to tie the score, then lost on a last second field goal by the undefeated Browns.

Smith will be starting Sunday when the Chiefs visit the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome.

James Coffey, who was a starter for Big Spring High School in the 1973 and 74 football seasons, will be making a kind of homecoming when he and his teammates from the University of New Mexico visit Texas Tech tomorrow night for a non-conference game.

Coffey is currently the starting strongside linebacker for the Lobos. UNM opened up with impressive wins over Louisiana Tech and Oregon State, and were the pre-season choices to win the Western Athletic Conference.

The Indiana Pacers refuse to admit that the signing of Ann Meyers was a publicity gimmick, but I can't believe it. I've seen Ann Meyers perform on the hardwoods and there's no way that she could have taken the physical pounding that other NBA players would have inflicted on her. It's a simple matter of feminine capabilities, although there is no doubt that she is a great female player.

When Indiana Coach Slick Leonard announced the news that he was releasing Meyers, he admitted that her physical capabilities were her shortcoming. "If she was six inches bigger and 40 points heavier, it would have been a different story. I personally feel that Ann did a great job from the fundamental standpoint of knowing the game of basketball," Leonard said, then added: "I wish some of our other guys were as fundamentally sound as her."

It's no doubt, however, that much of her fundamental knowledge of the game comes from her family. Brother Dave is a former All-American at UCLA who is a regular with the Milwaukee Bucks, and much of the rest of her family has been very successful in the roundball sport.

Incidentally, Ann made $50,000 for her three-day tryout.

POSSHOTS...PETE ROSE will reportedly have to make divorce payments of $3500 a week, unless he objects of a court order. Wife Carolyn filed earlier this week, asking for half of Pete's assets, plus child support and alimony. People say KAROLYN has no class, SMU-Rice game last Saturday night was a lofty 60,217. That's the largest ever to watch a season opener at SMU, and the second largest home crowd that the Mustangs have played before in over 14 years...Even though Big Spring's Tom Sorley has graduated, the University of Nebraska still has three players on their two-deep depth chart from West Texas. They are ALL-AMERICAN TIGHT END JUNIOR MILLER of Midland Lee, defensive tackle DAVID CLARK of Odessa, and safety SAMMY SIMS of Lubbock. Despite their great record, the Cornhuskers have not won an opening game since a 10-7 win over LSU in 1975. They spent the previous season as they host the Utah State Aggies.

Of the starting quarterbacks in the NFC last week, there were five first round draft choices of the total 15. Those were Atlanta's STEVE BARTKOWSKI, Chicago's MIKE PHIPPS, Minnesota's TOMMY KRAMER, New Orleans' ARCHIE MANNING, and Tampa Bay's DOUG WILLIAMS. And in another somewhat surprising stat, four of the NFC's starting field generals were overlooked in the draft, signing as free agents. KRAMER, who is the hot seat of having to replace the legendary FRAN TARKENTON at Minnesota, doesn't admit to the pressure, and knowing the coolness of TK, I doubt that he really feels any. Says Kramer: "I've always been at the top of each level I've played. (Two-time All-State at SA Lee in high school and consensus All-American at Rice). Now I'm at another level and my goal is to be on the top here. The fans like you as long as you're playing well." Concerning the talk of him replacing Tarkenton, Kramer philosophize, "That's just the way people build it up. All the people have made it a big deal, because everybody expects that. But when you've come this far, you want to play. That's what you're here for. That's the fun part of it."

TOM LANDRY, speaking of WALTER PAYTON in regards to Sunday's game: "Payton is our number one concern. If you don't stop him, he's going to run all over you. He runs through tackles as well as around them. He's incredibly strong for a guy his size." Earlier this week, Landry spoke of injuries today, as related to his playing days with the New York Giants. He was talking about the large number of hamstringing and leg pulls today. "We didn't pay that much attention to injuries. We sorta ignored them. But today we pay more attention to them, which is right. We should."

Graham leads Buick Open

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — There seems to be something about Michigan that brings out the best in David Graham's golf game.

The 33-year-old Australian won the PGA Championship at famed Oakland Hills just six weeks ago, his first major title and his first victory of any kind in three years.

Thursday Graham was back, this time for a crack at the $150,000 Buick Open at Warwick Hills Country Club, about 70 miles north of Detroit, and he fired a 4-under-par first-round 68 to tie with four others for second place behind co-leaders Cesar Samudo and Ed Dougherty who were in at 5-under 67.

"I have lot of good memories of places where I've played well," Graham said. "Memories of Oakland Hills are a treasure to me. If I get a chance, maybe Friday I'll drive there for dinner."

Dougherty had to wait out a one-hour, eight-minute rain delay before he could ram home a 12-foot birdie putt on his 18th hole to grab a share of the lead with Sanudo.

Coahoma-Stanton Garden City-Forsan highlight grid action

The annual rivalry between Coahoma and Stanton resumes tonight in Stanton, with a heated battle expected.

Class AA Coahoma, who won the game last year, is a one-point favorite in the Harris Rating System over the Class A Stanton crew.

Coahoma took a last minute come from behind 20-14 victory over Wall last week, while the Stanton Buffs were most impressive in totally dominating the ninth ranked team in Class AA in the state, Tahoka, taking a 28-14 win behind the three touchdown passes of Craig Eiland. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

In another area rivalry, the Garden City Bearkats travel to play the Forsan Buffaloes. Both clubs are still smarting from their opening night losses. Forsan dropped a 30-7 decision to Bronte, while Garden City lost to Irion County by a count of 30-0.

Forsan has dominated the series in recent years, and should again do so tonight. They are heavy favorites in the Harris Rating System.

Other area action finds Grady hosting Ira, Sands visits Wink, Klondike hosts O'Donnell, Colorado City visits Sweetwater, and Borden County hosts New Home. Grady, Wink, Klondike, Colorado City and New Home are all slight favorites.

Grady romped to a 40-22 win over Hermleigh last week, while Ira was breaking a long losing streak in a 74-26 win over Divide in six-man action.

Sands opened with a 33-0 loss to Grandfalls, while Klondike ramblod to a 42-0 win over Borden County and Colorado City was losing by two touchdowns to Slaton. Sweetwater lost to powerful Breckenridge by a count of 40-7.

Hoping history repeats in a win

Steers visit Hobbs tonight

HOBBS — When the Big Spring Steers meet the Hobbs Eagles tonight in a 7:30 p.m. (New Mexico time) game, they will no doubt be hoping that history repeats itself. History in this case means a win, something that the Bovines have not done since they defeated Hobbs on this same field by a score of 7-0 in 1977.

If the winning account is to be repeated, the Steers will have to improve swiftly from last week's performance, a disappointing 40-7 loss to the quick Andrews Mustangs.

Hobbs also opened the season on a sour note, dropping a 7-0 game to Artesia when their opponents completed a 62-yard pass with less than two minutes remaining to highlight a defensive struggle.

Big Spring was a victim if its own mistakes in the opener, allowing three touchdown passes in the first half on some costly mental mistakes. The last score came after time had run out in the half, which seemed to rob the locals of the momentum that they had at the time.

McEnroe feels a letdown

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The kid wins the biggest prize of his life — one of the biggest in all of tennis — gets a day to relish it, then gets on a plane and goes back to work.

"The past few days have been kind of a let down," said 20-year-old U.S. Open champion John McEnroe as he prepared to play in today's opening matches of the U.S. series against Argentina in the American Zone final for the Davis Cup.

"It's hard to get myself up, but Davis Cup has always made my adrenaline flow."

McEnroe, in just his second Davis Cup campaign last December, led the United States to its first triumph in the international competition since 1972. He's practically a veteran now as he starts his fourth Davis Cup venture with a match against Guillermo Vilas, Argentina's top player and the sixth-ranked pro in the world.

Hobbs doesn't have the offense that Andrews did, either on the ground or in the air. In fact, they only completed one of five passes for a gain of two yards in their loss to Artesia. "If they hurt us in the air," Big Spring Coach Ron Logback stated during the week, "I am going to be very, very, disappointed."

The Eagles are primarily a tailback oriented offensive football team, geared toward the runs of 180-pound senior Mark Dilworth. Dilworth rushed for 73 of the 113 yards that Hobbs gained on the ground against Artesia. He is used mainly on the sweeps.

Others rounding out the Eagles backfield include quarterback Mike Miller, fullback Barry Woods and wingback Hub Perry. Perry could also pose a long threat on the wingback reverse, something that Andrews hurt the Steers with on more than one occasion.

The Hobbs defense was specially stingy in their opening loss. They allowed only seven first downs, and had yielded only 95 yards total offense before the last minute passing disaster.

The Hobbs front four appears to be the strength of the defensive team at this stage of the season. Two mammoth size defensive tackles, junior 250-pounder Mike Williams and senior 220-pound Kyle Minnix, made the middle tough against Artesia. The ends Jeff Poacket and Monty Carruth. Both are somewhat small but play the run effectively.

The weak point of the Hobbs defense will probably be at linebacking. Middle linebacker Keith Moreland is the leader and a very aggressive player, but does not have ample support in outside backers Chris Zielinski and Tom Hammond.

Big Spring will probably take advantage of this by using the pitches of quarterbacks Jimmy Marquez and David Coffey. The Steer signal callers did not pitch the ball to the option man once last week, something that could have opened up the Bovine attack considerably. When they do pitch, it will most likely be to Richard Evans, Terry Conway, or Bobby Earl Williams. Both Evans and Williams are sophomores, but appear to be ready for varsity action.

The Hobbs secondary is comprised of cornerbacks Hank Terry and Keith Edwards, and strong safety Jeff Blackerby and free safety Dilworth. Dilworth is an excellent open field tackler who is by the cream of the Eagles secondary.

Tonight's game remains a question mark, as both head coaches feel that the Big Spring defense is not as ragged as the 40 points that they allowed last week would indicate. Many of the Andrews points came on mental errors, but Logback is hoping that they will disappear with experience and work.

Baseball Roundup

Montreal Expos believe in luck

Whatever it is — luck, talent, clean living — that makes a winner, the Montreal Expos seem to have it. "It's not only being good, you've got to be lucky in this game too," Expos outfielder Ellis Valentine says. "We've had the talent for two years, but now we're getting the breaks to go along with it."

A big break gave Montreal a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday night and helped the Expos open up a .003 lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League East.

Trailing 3-2, pinch-hitter Rusty Staub came to bat in the bottom of the ninth with two out and the bases loaded. Cubs super-reliever Bruce Sutter was looking for save No. 36.

Staub chopped a grounder down the first-base line. It hit a seam in the carpet at Olympic Stadium and bounded away from Chicago first baseman Larry Bittner, scoring two runs.

"There are seams all over this ballpark and there's no way you can adjust quickly in a bad hop," Staub said. "We've been getting some breaks, but we're playing like anything and it sure makes you feel like this is our year."

The Expos entered the contest a half-game behind Pittsburgh but actually in first place by less than one one-hundredth of a percentage point since they had played five fewer games. The Pirates had a home game against St. Louis rained out Thursday night. Montreal now has won six in a row and 16 of 17.

Twins topple Rangers in 12th

Ken Landreaux's leadoff homer in the 12th inning off ace reliever Jim Kern triggered Minnesota past Texas. Kern, 12-5, who came on in relief of Sparky Lyle in the ninth inning, gave up Landreaux's tie-breaking homer on his second pitch of the 12th.

The Twins added two more runs on an RBI single by Bombo Rivera and a squeeze bunt by John Castino.

The Rangers rallied to tie the score at 4-4 with two outs in the bottom of the ninth on four consecutive singles, the last two RBI hits by Billy Sample and Jim Sundberg.

McKay laughing as Tampa winning

There was a time when the only thing the Tampa Bay Buccaneers had going for them was Coach John McKay's steady stream of one-liners.

They're not needed anymore — but old habits are often hard to break. So, while the Bucs, having advanced from absurdity to respectability last year, continue on toward outright contention this season, McKay will still have his little laughs.

"Lee Roy Selmon always plays excellently. It's too bad he doesn't talk more to get more notoriety. Maybe he could carry a flag and wave it when he makes a good play," McKay said of his star defensive end, who

New Oiler ready for Chiefs

HOUSTON (AP) — Jimbo Elrod was an All-American linebacker at Oklahoma, and believes he is big enough at 6-feet, 225 pounds to play the position in the National Football League.

The coaches of his first team, the Kansas City Chiefs, didn't agree, however, and he spent a lot of time on the bench.

"I complained a lot to them about not playing," said Elrod, who was signed by the Houston Oilers

Wednesday mainly as a special teams player. "If I hadn't hassled the coaches so much, I might still be there."

Elrod, a sometime starter in 1976 and 1977 who made a reputation for himself as a standout on special teams, said he told the coaches last year he should be playing outside linebacker, but they wouldn't listen.

"I felt I should be playing," he said. "I didn't play, though. After the season was over I was told I had been right all along, that I should have been given a chance to play out there."

"By then I told them I didn't want to come back, that either they trade me or I'd retire," he said.

He was swapped to St. Louis last April, but the Cardinals waived him just before the beginning of the current season.

Wolverines slight pick over Irish

Notre Dame University President Rev. Theodore Hesburgh may be seeing red, but black and blue are likely to be the primary colors Saturday when sixth-ranked Michigan hosts the ninth-ranked Fighting Irish.

Hesburgh, making a rare appearance Thursday night at a student pep rally on the Notre Dame campus, was a little disappointed that the nation's bookies had made the Irish a 6-to-7 point underdog for its season opener. And he let his feelings be known.

"Jimmy The Greek may know his percentages," Hesburgh said. "But I know Notre Dame and we're

Stanton edges Coahoma JHS

STANTON — Stanton Junior High won an eighth grade contest from Coahoma JHS, while the seventh graders at the respective schools played to a 0-0 tie.

Stanton won the eighth grade game by a score of 14-6. Chuck Stephens and Scott Mayhall enjoyed good games for the Coahoma gridders, while Jeff Dever and Mike McKinley helped stop the holes for the young Bulldogs.

In the scoreless seventh grade game, the Coahoma offense was led by the play of Bobby Henry and Robby Henry, while the Bulldog defense was led by Tommy White and Bobby Henry.

Spurs trade Green to Kansas City

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — On the eve of fall training camp, the San Antonio Spurs have traded backup center Mike Green to the Kansas City Kings for a second-round draft choice and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The Spurs, the National Basketball Association's Central Division champions for the past two seasons, open fall training camp today and begin the exhibition season a week later.

The slender, 6-foot-10 Green, who weighs a mere 200 pounds, averaged 7.5 points and 4.7 rebounds per game last year in a backup and part-time starting role behind Billy Paultz. He shot 49 percent from the field.

The Louisiana Tech product came to the Spurs in the fall of 1977 from Seattle for two second-round draft choices.

The Spurs have already been riddled inside by the losses of free agent forward Allan Bristow, a part-time starter, and forward-center Coby Dietrick.

The team did manage Wednesday, however, to resign free agent All-Star forward Larry Kenon, the team's leading rebounder and second-leading scorer last season.

SMU-TCU, A&M-Baylor

Conference tilts highlight SWC play

To get things started, four paratroopers will bail out of an airplane and try to deliver the game ball to the referees on the 50-yard line.

Next, 400 high school cheerleaders from Tarrant County will lead the first cheer of the year in Amon Carter Stadium.

By this time some 3,000 youngsters will have received free T-Shirts.

Then "Frog Fever" meets "Mustang Mania."

But this Southwest Conference game Saturday night in Fort Worth needs no hype.

Texas Christian Coach F.A. Dry would tee this one up in the parking lot.

He wants to beat Southern Methodist and Coach Ron Meyer so bad he'd play in a cornfield.

Dry let his true feelings slip about Meyer and SMU during the SWC press tour, saying the game "was just about as personal as a game gets."

Dry was nettled when Meyer made some remarks a year ago about his son who played briefly for Meyer at SMU.

Both coaches, of course, have downplayed their feud this week.

"I look for TCU to be a lot like Rice in that they will be vastly improved over last year," said Meyer, diplomatically. "F.A. Dry has really done some good things to get their program back on its feet. His hard work and talent as coach is beginning to show."

Dry said "They are much more talented than last year.

SMU's running game is the best it has been since Meyer has been there."

Even the player have picked up the downplay cue.

"The players don't really pay that much attention to all of the things that are said in the press about the coaches," said SMU defensive tackle Harvey Armstrong. "It's another game as far as that goes."

SMU was an 18-point favorite with some 30,000 fans expected.

In the other SWC matchup, Texas A&M was a three-point pick over the Baylor Bears in their meeting in Waco.

On the intersectional front, Houston was a 10-point pick in a home game over Florida, Texas Tech was a 16-point choice over New Mexico in Lubbock, Arkansas was a 21-point nod over Colorado State in the Razorbacks' home opener, and Tulane was a 10-point pick over Rice at Houston.

The Shorthorns scored their only touchdown on a 25-yard run around right end in the third stanza by Todd Darden.

Neel praised the play of Terry Spears, Greg Scarborough, Donnie Tubb, Billy Brown, Terry Russell and James Walker.

UNEMPLOYED HANDS — Muhammad Ali takes test administered by Goodwill Industries to test the dexterity of his fingers in Chicago Wednesday. The champ, retired from boxing, said he was taking the test because it'd be "interesting" to see what else he might be suited for.

All 31 on board killed

Italian jetliner crashes

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP) — An Italian jetliner plowed into a mountainside early today while attempting a landing in rain and fog at nearby Cagliari airport and airline officials said all 31 Italians aboard were killed.

The plane, a DC-9 of the domestic Italian airline ATI, carried 27 passengers and a crew of four. It had taken off from the city of Alghero on the northwest coast of the Italian island in the Tyrrhenian Sea and was to land at Cagliari Elmas Airport in the south before flying on to Rome.

Authorities at the airport said the pilot, Salvatore Penacchio, 35, radioed that he was preparing to land moments before radio contact was lost and the aircraft slammed into the Sarroch mountain range.

A worker at a factory near the mountain range reported seeing a "huge mushroom" of flame rise from the slopes at about the time the plane went down. A police helicopter spotted the burning wreckage of the airliner at first light. Authorities said the helicopter pilot reported there were no signs of survivors. A rescue team, ferried to the crash site, confirmed that all aboard were dead.

There was no immediate indication what caused the crash.

It was the first serious air crash on Sardinian in more than a quarter century. In 1953 a DC-3 of Italy's national airline, Alitalia, crashed east of Cagliari, killing all 17 aboard.

Panel urges severance tax on uranium

Future belongs to nuclear power?

Panel urges severance tax on uranium

AUSTIN — Texas' past and present may have been shaped by oil and gas, but state officials apparently are convinced the future belongs to nuclear power.

A subcommittee of the Texas Energy Advisory Council, charged with devising a state policy for nuclear issues, recently unveiled a 14-page report that includes recommendations for transportation and disposal of radioactive wastes within the state, and for stepped-up research into nuclear technology.

Last week the nine-member panel took to the road, making stops in Lubbock, Austin, Houston and Dallas to get public reaction to its product.

In Austin Saturday, that reaction was largely negative, even hostile — a response perhaps not unexpected from a liberal city where anti-nuclear camps thrive.

During nine hours, 41 persons took to the microphone in a University of Texas auditorium. Only a few, including two engineering professors, expressed approval.

Dr. Dale Klein, a UT mechanical engineer, said the nuclear industry "has an extremely good record in safety. It's remarkable."

The response of Todd Samusson, representing the anti-nuclear Texas Mobilization for Survival, was more typical. "These recommendations are little more than a commercial for the nuclear industry," he said.

Like most others, Samusson was particularly galled at the committee's failure to consider health hazards of radiation.

In its report, the committee explained the omission by stating, "Even after extensive investigation over a period of decades, there is still considerable difference of opinion as to whether any significant health problems are created by low levels of radiation."

Faced with Saturday's rain of criticism, the committee repeatedly asked for specific suggestions. Critics had only one: no nukes. The communication gap extended to discussions of the costs of nuclear energy. The committee members spoke of immediate economic costs, and the critics of long-term environmental and human costs.

Among the reactions were these:

—Bill Hellums, a health physicist with the Texas Department of Health's Radiation Control Branch, suggested a new state agency — similar to the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission — to regulate the nuclear power industry. The agency would be supported by fees for licensing and inspecting nuclear plants.

—"I am neither pro (nuclear) nor con," he said. "My job is to keep people safe from nuclear radiation."

—Priscilla Ebersole, a health care counselor, said many women tell her they are afraid to have children due to increasing dangers of radioactivity.

—"What kind of world are we living in when people are afraid to leave descendants?" she asked.

—Young guitarist Bill Oliver crooned his criticism. One song's refrain: "It's our century's disgrace — the era of our waste."

—The Rev. Clifford Zirkel, a Methodist minister, older and more conservatively

Jury recommends life term for man convicted of murder

DALLAS (AP) — A Mesquite sanitation worker faces a life prison term today after a district court jury recommended that punishment following his conviction in the death of a six-year-old neighbor girl.

The jury of nine men and three women took about two hours Thursday to find James Richard Harris, 25, guilty in the June death of Trya Heath. The jury then took less than 30 minutes to set his punishment at life in prison.

Defense lawyers had asked the jurors to release Harris on probation.

The Health girl vanished from her apartment June 26.

Remains found in a shallow grave in a wooded area of Mesquite were believed to be, but never positively identified as those of the girl.

"I think he got what he deserved," said Mrs. Janis Heath, the girl's mother.

"But it wasn't enough. It won't bring my daughter back," she said.

Assistant District Attorney Kelly Loving brought tears to the eyes of many courtroom spectators during his closing arguments. He placed a picture of the girl in the courtroom for the jury to view.

"Just a few short weeks ago, Trya Heath was a living bundle of energy. She would tease her uncle and her little brother. Now all we have left are a few hair ribbons," he said, pointing to the clothing and ribbons identified by Mrs. Heath as the clothing the girl was wearing when she was last seen alive.

Defense lawyers Floyd Shumpert and Kenneth Campbell sought in their closing arguments to discredit the statement given by Harris to police following his arrest.

"Somebody is guilty of this crime because that sweet little girl was killed. But there are no eyewitnesses, and the state has not proven beyond a reasonable doubt that he (Harris) did it," said Shumpert.

Shumpert told the jurors that Mesquite and Dallas police harassed the Harris family and said that police could not be totally believed.

"You know how policemen are. They stick together, and they will always tell the same story. They do all sorts of things, including planting weapons on people," he continued.

Ozark flight attendants on strike

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ozark Air Lines flight attendants have walked off their jobs and onto picket lines, and flights through Sept. 20 were canceled as contract talks broke off early today, a union spokesman said.

Association of Flight Attendants spokesman Ken Crowley said a strike against the airline was called at 2:30 a.m. EDT today.

Ozark spokesman Bob Wilson said talks recessed shortly after picket lines went up and there was no indication when they might resume. He said flights were canceled through Sept. 20, and the strike would "impact about 2,700 other employees," including reservation agents and maintenance workers.

"We are in the process of notifying our reservation agents and customer service personnel not to report for their shifts," he said early today.

Shortly before the first midnight strike deadline, Crowley said, the union presented management negotiators with a new proposal. No details of that proposal were available.

The walkout was called, Crowley said, because "basically we tried everything we knew how to do to get the company to come to an agreement."

Union negotiators also issued a statement saying they had "expressed a willingness to continue meeting with the company in an effort to conclude an agreement and avoid a lengthy strike."

The union represents some 550 Ozark flight attendants whose last contract expired in August 1978.

Ozark operates some 190 daily flights and serves 14,000 passengers a day in 67 cities, primarily in the East and Midwest.
