Kennedy movement gains chairwoman as new supporter

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Democratic National Committeewoman Billie Carr, saying Americans have "lost hope" in President Carter, has joined the growing movement to draft Sen. Edward Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"This has not been an easy decision," Ms. Carr, the leader of liberal Texas Democrats, said Wednesday by phone from Houston.

"I have the utmost respect for President Carter. I feel he has made some important contributions to our country. I also hoped he could be a two-term president," she added.

"However, I feel it is time to face facts. Support of the president is at an all-time low. People have lost hope. It would take a major miracle for the president to get re-elected to a second term," said Ms. Carr.

The addition of Ms. Carr and her followers gives added strength to the grass roots Kennedy organizations that have sprouted across Texas in the past six weeks.

Kennedy organizations, registered with the Federal Election Commission, have been formed in San Antonio, Dallas and El Paso to urge the Massachusetts senator to challenge Carter for the 1980 Democratic nomination. Similar organizations are forming in Austin and Houston.

Members of the State Democratic Committee who lead the Dallas and San Antonio groups say they are attempting to secure thousands of signatures on petitions urging Kennedy to run.

The groups also plan to begin constructing a campaign organization, working at the precinct level to pinpoint supporters and secure delegates to the 1980 state and national conventions.

State Democratic Committeeman Richard Solo, cochairman of the Texas for Kennedy-North Texas group in Dallas, said that if Kennedy becomes a formal candidate the organizations would then be turned over to his campaign leaders and serve as the foundation for Kennedy's Texas campaign organization.

Kennedy has given indications in the past month that he might become an official candidate.

Ms. Carr said Wednesday she became convinced Kennedy would run after his family recently agreed to his candidacy. Although she acknowledged that she is a longtime Kennedy supporter, Ms. Carr said she planned to support Carter for a second term and didn't think Kennedy would run.

"I've had two problems with a Draft Kennedy program," she said. "First, I have never felt a candidate for public office should have to be drafted. I like candidates to make their own decisions. Second, I hesitated because of a keen sensitivity and respect for his family's concerns and feelings."

Texas John White, the Carter-appointed Democratic national chairman, had said such a Kennedy-Carter fight would split the party and elect a Republican president. But he backed off those statements Tuesday, saying that the competition "doesn't have to" split the party.

Ms. Carr agreed, saying, "I don't intend to get in a name-calling, bloody battle. I can support President Carter's reelection if he's nominated again. I don't think there will be a falling out."

Champions in barrow division exhibited by Peughs of Knott

Tammy Peugh, Knott, 4-H member, was the exhibitor of the grand champion barrow at the Howard County Fair with a 254-pound heavy-weight Crossbred barrow.

Folks might remember Tammy from last year's county fair when her exhibit, a heavy-weight Duroc, took reserve champion.

Another Peugh, Tammy's brother Danny, Knott 4-H member, took the reserve champ of the show title this year for his 252-pound heavy-weight Duroc.

Danny won the championship of the Duroc class with his first-placing heavy-weight. Reserve champ of the Duroc class was a 247-pound heavy-weight exhibited by FFA member David Garver. His entry placed second in the heavy-weight class.

Danny also won the reserve champ with a lightweight Crossbred in the Crossbred division. The same entry that won Tammy grand champ of show honors took the champion of the Crossbred division and first place in heavyweight Crossbred.

In Purebreds, Lathey Williams of Forsan 4-H, won the championship and a first place ribbon in heavy-weight. Reserve champ in that division was Greg Reussel, Big Spring FFA, with a second-placing heavy-weight Purebred.

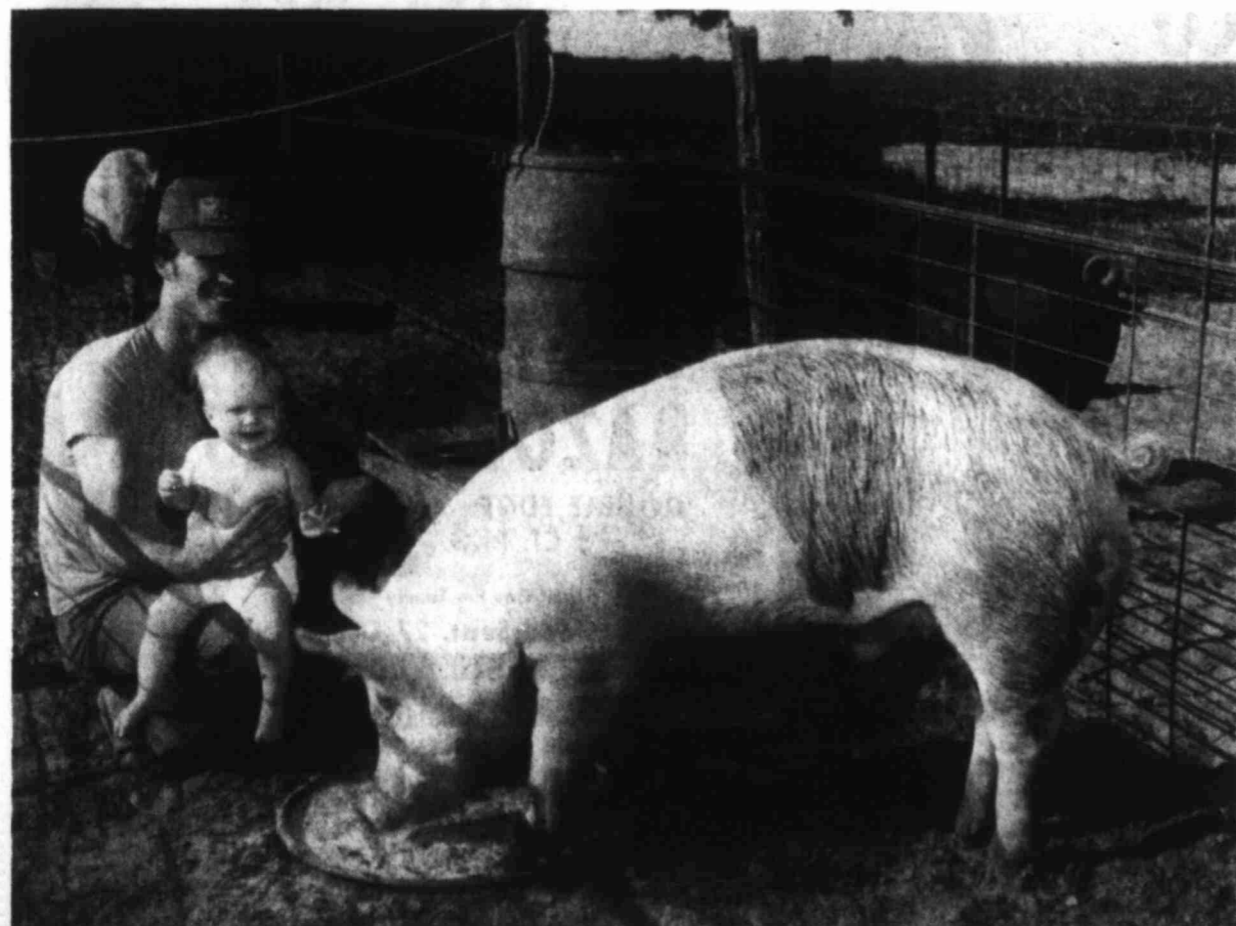

Other first-place winners in Purebred were Mike Crenshaw, Lucky Acres 4-H, lightweight, and Wesley Beauchamp, Big Spring FFA, medium weight.

A first place honor went to Laurie Daniels, 4-H, for a medium weight entry in Crossbred.

First place winners in the Duroc division included Dawn Underwood, Gayhill 4-H, lightweight, and Tammy Peugh, medium weight.

The Showmanship winner of the barrow show was Danny Peugh.

Tammy and Danny Peugh leave Knott Friday to enter some of their barrows in the county fair in Lubbock. They may also enter the state fair in Dallas.

BEST BARROW — This 254-pound Crossbred swine won three awards for its breeder, Tammy Peugh, at the Howard County Fair. The barrow took first place and champ honors in the heavy-weight Crossbred class and won Grand Champion of the Barrow Show. Observing the champ is Tammy's brother-in-law, Kenneth Schuelke of Knott, and his daughter, 7-month-old Tarah. Tammy's brother, Danny Peugh, took a number of high placings at the show, also, including Reserve Champion of the Show and Showmanship.

FLOOD STAGE — Buffalo Bayou was running bank full as it made its way around downtown Houston late Wednesday night after the steady rains of three days. Many of the streets that cross the bayou coming into downtown were flooded. See related story on page 4B.

California firefighters battle nature

Fire singes ends of Ventura

A 20,000-acre fire singed the city limits of Ventura as hundreds of firefighters battling hot weather and erratic winds struggled to quell at least 16 blazes consuming 90,000 acres of California brush and timber.

Since Saturday, at least 50 homes have been destroyed or damaged by the fires, which have been fanned by hot weather and erratic winds, running up damage and firefighting costs into the millions of dollars.

However, state fire meteorologists, who work full-time on fire weather predictions, are forecasting a gradual increase in sea breezes that could bring down temperatures to the lower 80s in the Los Angeles basin by the weekend and provide relief from low inland humidity.

Howard College School of Nursing not on probation

Contrary to some reports, the Howard College School of Nursing has not been placed on probation by the State Board of Nursing, HC President Charles Hays said Wednesday.

The stories emanated from the fact that only 52 per cent of the Howard College students who took Registered Nursing exams offered by the state

Kenneth Hahn, chairman of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, saying "one more fire and we're in big trouble," declared his county a disaster area Wednesday and suggested that supervisors in Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties do the same.

"My people have just about had it," said U.S. Forest Service spokesman Dave Blaine of the firefighters who have come from as far as Maine to help control the flames.

Hundreds of people in the Ventura area fled their homes Wednesday when that blaze, which began Tuesday, came within two miles of the city limits. Fire department officials said later the city of 64,800 was in no danger and only a barn was destroyed before fire fighters beat back the blaze.

"It was quite a sight to see — the fire coming up toward the town," said Ventura County Fire Capt. Dick Perry. "It was like a wall of flames."

Meanwhile, a half-dozen houses were in ashes near Goleta, in Santa Barbara County 100 miles northwest of Los Angeles, after a 4,000-acre fire roared through Eagle Canyon and into the Los Padres National Forest.

Fires also burned across 41,000 acres in the Angeles National Forest above Los Angeles, including 3,000 acres north of Claremont in eastern Los Angeles County.

In Northern California, 6,800 acres of forest burned near Placerville, 50 miles northeast of Sacramento, and 3,000 acres went up in flames in Plumas County, 100 miles northeast of Sacramento.

Officials said the end was in sight in the Los Angeles National Forest fire which has charred 31,000 acres.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Rock retainer

Q. If the city is already complaining about their lack of money, why are they building a rock retainer wall on the property of Ex-County Commissioner Simon Terrazas?

A. Assistant City Manager Bill Brown said the wall is being built as part of an agreement with Terrazas in exchange for property required in the right-of-way for the 11th Place extension. The wall was necessary because in the construction of the extension a cliff was cut into Terrazas' property that would, in the event of a rain, deposit dirt on his driveway.

Calendar: Charity tennis

THURSDAY

Organizational meeting for parents of Indian Guides and Indian Princesses who were unable to make the last meeting, 7 p.m. at the YMCA. Anyone interested in the father-son, father-daughter activities welcome to come.

SATURDAY

DIABETES SCREENING — Several months ago, the Medicine Shoppe conducted a two-day diabetes screening for area citizens. The free screening was such a success, the Medicine Shoppe has operated a booth along with the Texas Nurses Association doing free

Diabetics to benefit

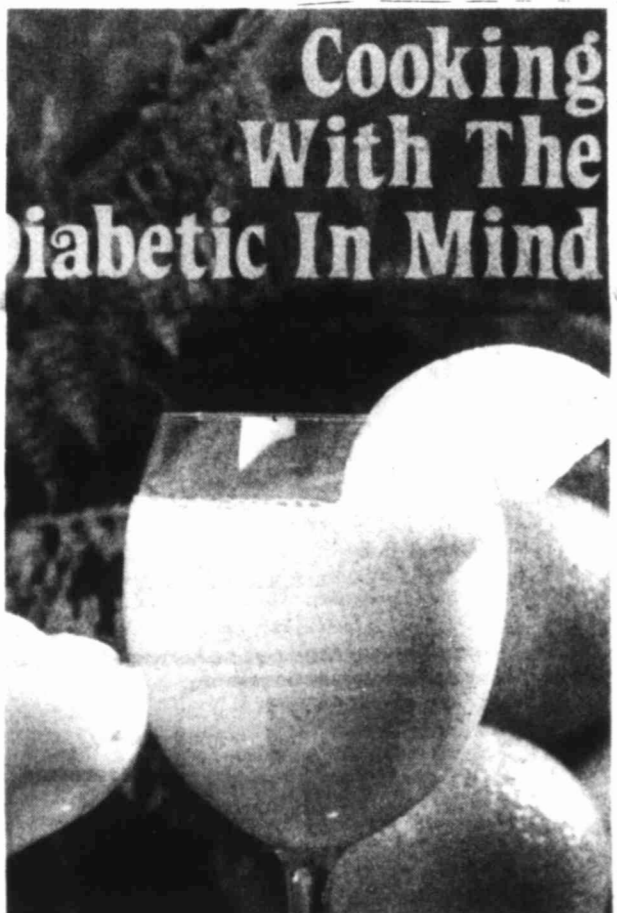

Plans being made to begin a local chapter of the NDA

By ROBBI CROW
Family News Editor

Although Clint Hollomon, pharmacist at the Medicine Shoppe, doesn't know the answer, he's not going to wait around to find out.

interest and concern," said the pharmacist, "we will attempt to organize one here."

Itself and it reveals research being conducted in hopes of finding a cure for the disease.

COOKING WITH DIABETIC IN MIND — A diet for diabetics is not 'special.' Essentially, it is nothing more than a sound, well-balanced diet that can be used by every member of the family. Try these recipes created with the diabetic in mind by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

"If we can get up enough energy. As this abnormal condition develops, a person may lose weight rapidly, feel weak and tired, be constantly hungry and thirsty and urinate more often than usual. These symptoms, however, are not always present. The majority of diabetics are overweight and over 40 when they develop diabetes. Many of them show no symptoms.

"Another advantage," continued Hollomon, "is that diabetics would learn new ways in which to take care of themselves by attending the local meetings. Many of them don't know what to do."

Diabetes is characterized by higher-than-normal amounts of glucose in the blood (hyperglycemia) and the presence of glucose in the urine (glucosuria).

"I helped form a diabetes organization in Las Vegas, Nev.," said Hollomon. "We began with 22 members and in one year we had over 200."

Several months ago, the Medicine Shoppe conducted a two-day diabetes screening for Big Spring citizens at which time 291 people were screened.

"Since we felt like there were many people who wanted to get the diabetes screening at that time but are unable to for one reason or another," stated the hopeful diabetes chapter organizer, "we've had a booth at the fair since Monday for those that missed the chance to be screened previously."

Hollomon believes there are many advantages in beginning an NDA chapter here. He says it automatically affiliates club members with the national organization from which they receive a monthly newsletter full of new recipes for diabetics, pointers on what diabetics should do to take care of

The booth will be open from 4-10 p.m. tonight and Friday night. On Saturday, the booth will be in operation from the opening of the fair until 10 p.m.

The Medicine Shoppe is jointly sponsoring the booth with the Texas Nurses Association.

According to Hollomon, the procedure of screening for diabetes is simple.

"All it consists of is a simple finger prick and a drop of blood placed on a small chemically-treated piece of paper called a dextrostick.

"In one minute, the nurse will compare the color on the stick to a chart. By comparison, they can tell the percentage of glucose in the blood. It's real simple and takes all of two minutes," he explained.

He concluded in stating "It will be to the benefit of everyone to go and take this simple diabetes screening."

Anyone interested in the formation of a local chapter of the National Diabetes Association can contact Hollomon at the Medicine Shoppe at 263-7316.

Worried about dad hitting the bottle

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and a little worried about my father who is in his middle 40s. He is a great father and has an excellent job but here is the problem.

Every night without fail, he pours himself a drink of hard liquor and then he usually has one or two more. He never gets drunk, but he never misses a night. Could he have a problem of concern or am I worrying over nothing? — Allisa, Fullerton, Calif.

Allisa: Your father does have a drinking problem but it is not up to me to say how serious it is or if it will become worse.

It appears that your father thinks he needs these drinks to unwind. Go to him and ask him to cut down his intake. Tell him you love him and don't want him to ruin his health.

Who knows. He might just take your advice.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 16 and have a 17-year-old boyfriend. He tells me that he loves me.

He is a very nice boy but I'm too young to be talking about being in love. I tell him I like him but not that I love him. My mom says that I'm nuts and a dummy if I love him for not telling him I love him. She says that he is too good to let get away. I'm confused. — Nancy, Elyvia, Ohio

Nancy: You are doing the right thing. Don't be pushed into something that you don't feel comfortable with. Mother should know better than to say that to you.

Dr. Wallace: Please help. My "friend" asks very personal questions that are none of her business.

We have known each other for five months and she says that I am her best friend.

I'd like to end this "friendship" but I don't know how to because this girl is very sensitive and besides, I don't want to hurt her feelings. — Lorale, Joliet, Ill.

Lorale: No task like this is easy and for sure there will be hurt feelings. The best thing is to be open and honest. Tell your friend that you just don't have enough in common to be best friends, but don't tell her her faults. If she calls, tell her you are busy and don't feel sorry for her — she will make new friends.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and have been seeing this guy for about four months. Last week he left for the Army and said that he wants to marry me when he gets out in four years.

I do love him but four years is a long time to wait. What should I do? — Sandra, Alameda, Calif.

Sandra: It would be very foolish to be true to this guy while he serves four years in the military. Tell him to date other girls and that you will date other guys and that you both can discuss marriage whenever he has his discharge in his hand.

For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent stamped, large self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace in care of this newspaper.

Recipes created with the diabetic's diet in mind

In a booklet recently published by the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA), five guidelines are listed that should be followed in order to regulate diabetes successfully.

- They include:
1. Staying on a prescribed diet.
 2. Taking prescribed medication as directed.
 3. Testing urine to monitor blood sugar.
 4. Exercising daily.
 5. Visiting the doctor regularly.

TDA reveals that diet prescription is one of the most important considerations in managing diabetes. The diabetic diet is a sound, well-balanced diet that can be used by every member of the family.

New and tasty recipes are continually being developed to fit the needs of the diabetic diet.

Below are several delicious recipes created with the diabetic in mind you'll want to try whether you're a diabetic or not.

HAMBURGER RICE BAKE

- 1 pound ground beef, very lean
- 2 large onions, sliced
- 1 large green pepper, chopped
- 1 (16 oz.) can tomatoes
- 1/2 cup regular rice, uncooked
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder

Saute beef, onion and green pepper until brown. Drain off fat. Place beef, onion, and pepper in a 1-quart casserole. Stir in tomatoes; rice and seasonings. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 1 hour. Yield: 4 servings. (1 serving equal two vegetables, 1/2 bread, four lean meats, two fats exchange).

OKRA CREOLE
1 cup okra, thinly sliced
1 cup celery, chopped
1/4 cup green pepper, chopped
1/4 cup onion, chopped
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 1/4 cup tomatoes, chopped
Garlic salt to taste
Heat oil in saucepan. Saute okra, green pepper and onion. Stir in chopped tomatoes. Cover and simmer 1 hour. Yield: 4 1/2 cup servings. (1 serving equal two vegetables, 1 fat exchange).

TEXAS COLE SLAW IN ORANGE CUPS

- 3 oranges
- 1 1/2 cup cabbage, shredded
- 1 tablespoon onion, chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg (optional)
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash celery seed
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1/4 cup salad dressing
- Cut oranges in half and remove pulp. Reserve orange cups. Cut pulp into small pieces, discarding seeds and any loose membrane. Combine with all other ingredients and mix lightly. Chill. Fill orange cups with 1/2 cup of slaw. (Orange cup rims may be cut into scallops for decorative effect. Also bottom of orange cup may be grated slightly to provide a light garnish for the cole slaw.) Yield: 6 servings. (1 serving equal 1/2 vegetable, 1/2 fruit, 1 fat exchange).

STUFFED PEACHES

- 1/2 cup cottage cheese, 2 percent fat or less
- 1/4 cup unsweetened pineapple, diced
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
- 2 fresh peaches, halved
- Lettuce

Mix together cottage

cheese, pineapple and lemon juice. Fill peach halves with cheese mixture. Serve peaches on a bed of lettuce. Yield: 2 servings. (1 serving equal 1 1/4 fruit, 1 lean meat exchange).

TURKEY SALAD WITH CANTALOUPE
3 cups cooked turkey, skinned and diced
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup celery, chopped
1/2 cup onion, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 (2 ounce) jar pimiento, drained
1/4 cup salad dressing
1 1/2 small cantaloupes, cut into eighths

Combine all ingredients except cantaloupes and mix well. Cover and chill. To serve, make circle of two slices of cantaloupe and spoon turkey salad into center. Yield: 6 servings. (1 serving equal 1/2 vegetable, 1 fruit, 2 lean meats, 1 fat exchange).

TEXAS BROILED GRAPEFRUIT

- 1 grapefruit, halved
- 1 teaspoon margarine
- 1 teaspoon brown sugar
- twin
- Dash cinnamon
- Loosen sections of grapefruit. Spread each half with half of butter, brown sugar twin and cinnamon. Place under broiler until grapefruit begins to bubble. Serve hot. Yield: 2 servings. (1 serving equal 1/2 fruit, 1 fat exchange).

BARBECUE SAUCE

- 1 cup tomato juice
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 clove garlic
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon dehydrated onion
- 2 teaspoons brown sugar
- twin

Combine ingredients and heat in saucepan 30 minutes. Yield: 1 1/2 cups. Note: Sauce is excellent on chicken or steak.

Combine ingredients and heat in saucepan 30 minutes. Yield: 1 1/2 cups. Note: Sauce is excellent on chicken or steak.

CURRIED CHICKEN AND RICE

- 2 broiler-fryer breasts, skinned
- 4 broiler-fryer legs, skinned
- 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, divided
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon margarine
- 1/2 cup onion, minced
- 1/2 cup green pepper, minced
- 1 cup celery, diced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1/2 teaspoon leaf thyme, crumbled
- 1 (10 ounce) can tomatoes, coarsely chopped with liquid
- 1/2 cup dried raisins
- 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
- 2 tablespoons parsley, chopped
- 2 cups rice, cooked

Pat chicken parts dry with paper towel and sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon salt and all pepper over parts. Melt margarine in large skillet and brown chicken pieces on both sides. Remove and reserve.

Add to skillet onion, green pepper, celery, and garlic. Cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Add curry powder and thyme and cook 1 minute. Add tomatoes and liquid and 1 teaspoon salt. Return chicken pieces to skillet; cover and bring to a boil.

Simmer 15 minutes or until chicken is tender. (Add water if necessary). Transfer chicken to serving platter. Add raisins to sauce in skillet and cook 1 to 2 minutes. Pour sauce over chicken pieces. Sprinkle sauce. Serve over rice. Yield: 4 servings. (1 serving equal two vegetables, 1 fruit, four lean meats, 1 fat exchange).

Federal judge voids
Marvin Webster case

NEW YORK (AP) — Lonnie Shelton and Vinnie Johnson are professional basketball players without a team.
A federal judge has voided a National Basketball Association compensation award given to the Seattle SuperSonics last year for the loss of center Marvin Webster.
Judge Robert L. Carter of the Southern District of New York ruled that NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien was excessive in his compensation to the Sonics in the New York Knicks' signing of Webster. O'Brien said he was "appalled" at Judge Carter's ruling and announced that he has directed the league's counsel "to determine the NBA's right of appeal."
Larry Fleisher, head of the NBA Players Association, which took the matter to court, said, in his opinion, Shelton would be returned to the Knicks along with the $450,000 and "Vinnie Johnson, the player Seattle drafted with the draft choice it was awarded."
"I'm not going to waste my time thinking about what could happen," Shelton said. "I have no control over the situation. I'm going to continue to work out."
"I hope they (the Knicks and Sonics) can settle the difference with money and not have to bother with the personal life of the players."
Carter, however, refused to comment on the status of the two players and the money.
"I did not indicate (in the ruling) that the Knickerbockers owed Seattle no compensation," the judge said. "I set aside the award on the grounds that it exceeded the value of the player. In other words, Seattle was more than compensated for the loss of Webster."
The decision is expected to affect O'Brien's latest compensation award. The commissioner on Tuesday awarded the Portland Trail Blazers two players and a draft choice plus the choice of Randy Smith or a draft choice and $350,000 from San Diego. The compensation was for the Clippers' signing of former Portland center Bill Walton as a free agent.

Players might challenge compensation order

SAN DIEGO (AP) — San Diego Clippers Kermit Washington, Kevin Kunnert and Randy Smith, part of a record compensation awarded to the Portland Trail Blazers, plan to defy a ruling by National Basketball Association Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien, a San Diego newspaper reported today.
According to The San Diego Union, the players were informed by the NBA Players' Association there is "more than a chance" that the union will test the decision in court.
The three were awarded to Portland Tuesday as compensation for the loss of All-Pro center Bill Walton, who signed with San Diego as a free agent last spring.
Washington and Kunnert were to join the Trail Blazers tonight in Minnesota for an exhibition game. Meantime, the Clippers had until 5 p.m. EST today to inform O'Brien's office whether they would keep Smith, a veteran guard, or pay Portland $350,000 as well as turn over their 1982 first round draft choice.
Attorneys for the three players told the newspaper they anticipate pursuit of a temporary restraining order against execution of the compensation award.
Larry Fleisher, executive director of the players' association, indicated that the matter would be challenged in court after learning a federal judge overturned the Marvin Webster compensation award earlier in the day.

COMPENSATION AWARD — In the largest compensation award in National Basketball Association history, Commissioner Larry O'Brien, left, awarded three players and a first-round draft choice to the Portland Trail Blazers on Tuesday as payment for the signing of veteran free agent center Bill Walton, right, by the San Diego Clippers. The players awarded to Portland are Randy Smith, second from left, Kevin Kunnert, third from left, and Kermit Washington, second from right. Kunnert and Washington, however, have indicated that they might defy O'Brien's decision and go to court.

666 people during Olympic games total 2.4 million

Total USOC budget is 25 million

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Some 528 athletes and another 138 staff members will comprise the United States entourage to the 1980 Summer Olympic Games in Moscow, a U.S. Olympic Committee spokesman says.
The cost of sending those 666 persons is estimated at $2.4 million, which includes transportation, processing and housing.
"We'll be able to cover that cost through our fund-raising efforts," Mike Moran, assistant director of communications for the USOC, said Wednesday.
Moran said the USOC quadrennial fund-raising campaign for the period from 1976-80 had reached $20.2 million by the end of August, and another $9 million was expected from corporate participation.
Donations generally aren't earmarked for a specific event or Olympic function.
The USOC has a total budget of $25,750,000 for the four-year period, which includes the cost of the Moscow Games and an estimated $950,000 for the Winter Games in Lake Placid. Not included in that budget figure is the cost of staging the National Sports Festival and operating the USOC training centers.
"Our main concerns now are in paying for the Festival and the training centers," Moran said. "All our other expenses appear to be covered."
Moran explained that the 138 staffers who will go to Moscow include coaches, managers, team physicians and "a very few U.S. Olympic House people — maybe a half dozen from the headquarters here in Colorado Springs."
He emphasized that all nonathletes will serve in some administrative capacity, such as coordinating press services, transportation, housing, tickets or food.
The American entourage will assemble and be processed somewhere in West Germany about two weeks prior to the start of the Moscow Games, Moran said, and the athletes and staff then will go to Moscow in shifts depending on the schedule of athletic events.
He said the exact site and date of the assembling and processing hasn't yet been determined.
In addition to the athletes and staff, an estimated 20,000 to 22,000 American spectators are expected to travel to Moscow.

YOUNG IDEAS

A newsman strikes back... and back

Add to the list of America's great journalists, alongside Joseph Pulitzer, James Gordon Bennett and Hildy Johnson, the name Will McDonough of the Boston Globe. Will McDonough, in the performance of his sacred duty, which is covering the New England Patriots, two Sunday's ago punched out a professional football player who had threatened to bury him.
It is fitting that this historic blow for freedom was struck in the environs of Lexington, where American patriots of another time decided to take a stand against bullying and oppression. Will McDonough will take it even further. He will take it to court, suing not only Raymond DeWayne Clayborn, cornerback, but the New England Patriots and the National Football League, as well.
"Let us see just who is responsible for what has been going on," says this latest defender of The First Amendment. What Will McDonough means is this:
Too long have professional athletes been getting away with intimidation of newspapermen. Too long have the spineless owners of teams, and their representatives, covered their eyes, like the see-no-evil monkey, to the explosive situation. Too long have the heads of leagues, when informed by newsmen of abuses and threats, smilingly said, "we'll see what we can do," and done nothing.
Will McDonough's action is not an indictment of all athletes; not even the majority. It is a stand taken against what Chuck Noll of the Steelers a few years ago called "the criminal element."
There are lots of good guys on the fields and in the lockerrooms, guys like Harold Jackson, around whom Will McDonough and other newsmen huddled after Sunday's game, asking about the three passes he had caught for three touchdowns against the Jets.
At a nearby locker, quite alone, was Raymond Clayborn, announcing to nobody in particular: "Any emeff who comes near my locker today is gonna git buried!"
Nobody had gone near Raymond Clayborn nor his locker for some while because he had made it quite clear he didn't care to talk to newsmen.
Here is what happened in the ensuing hectic moments, as best as I can reconstruct it. (Will McDonough said he would rather not give a blow-by-blow inasmuch as the thing likely will wind up in the courts):
Raymond Clayborn went to the trainer's room, briefly and returned to his locker, repeating for the benefit of those who had not heard him, that he would bury any emeff who came near his locker.
Suddenly, a TV reporter on the fringe of the group surrounding Harold Jackson, a rather older man, was pushed into the crowd, causing Harold Jackson to say to Raymond Clayborn, "Hey, man, what you doing?"

When they meet Big Spring Friday night
Strength is Snyder's big asset

The Big Spring Steers opponent tomorrow night, the Snyder Tigers, are a physical team that relies on a big interior to help control the line of scrimmage.
"Their strength is their strength," Coach Ron Logback said earlier this week, in regard to a question about the pros and cons of the Snyder team.
The defensive line of the Tigers have proven to be especially tough in their first two games, a 13-0 loss to Midland Lee and a 14-13 win over Monahans. It is led by a trio of 225-pounders in tackles Morris Anderson and Tony Degrate, and defensive end Sam Willis. All three were starters in last year's 20-14 win over Big Spring.
They limited the Lee Rebels to less than 170 total yards in their loss, but were victims of turnovers and

Punishing rains move eastward from Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Four days of rain that punished the Texas coastal area at times with hurricane-force winds moved on to the east today after swollen bayous and creeks forced several thousand persons from their homes.

An estimated 3,000 were evacuated in the Houston area alone as the long downpour produced major flooding problems a third time in less than two months. Swollen bayous that crisscross the flat coastal plains began to fall quickly once the heavy deluge ended early today.

"Most major bayous are falling and we have sunshine here at the office," said Jim Green, assistant Harris County flood control director.

Cypress Creek to the north of Houston still had not crested, however, and civil defense officials at 8:30 a.m. made another appeal for flat-bottom boats for use in any additional evacuations that might become necessary.

Green said Cypress Creek was still on the rise.

"The rate of rise is tapering off but the lower end of the creek is experiencing higher water than during Hurricane Carla in 1961," he said.

The American Red Cross reported an estimated 1,700 persons spent Wednesday night in 32 shelters in a six-county area. By mid-morning, however, the number of shelters had been reduced to 28.

Among those at the shelter at Houston's St. Benedict Catholic Church was Maria Contreras, who said it was the fifth time in five years for flood waters to force her from her home.

"It usually happens in June or July but this year it was in September," she said.

Harris County Deputy Sheriff Frank Balcone estimated that 3,000 persons had to be evacuated from their homes in the county.

Harris County assistant Civil Defense director John Caswell said "We've had more widespread flooding, more requests rescues and opened more shelters than at any time I know of."

Red Cross spokesman Bill Baron of Harris County said 600 persons were in seven emergency shelters in the county early today. He said he did not know how many persons were in the shelters in other counties, but he said the Red Cross has 12 shelters in Brazoria County, 11 in Galveston County, 2 in Matagorda County and one each in Wharton and Fort Bend counties.

Some freeways, including Interstate 10 East, had been blocked by high water in the early morning but all had been reopened by the time the morning traffic peak began to develop.

Swollen bayous that cut through the nation's fifth largest city began to drop rapidly once the heavy downpours that climaxed four days of rain moved on to the east.

Jim Green of the flood control district said Brays Bayou that cuts across the south side had dropped 5 feet in about five hours and Buffalo Bayou flanking the downtown area on the north had dropped 2 feet.

Green expressed concern, however, about Cypress Creek, some 25 miles north of the downtown area. He said a developing flow from the upper watershed could cause problems in the lower reaches the next few days.

Houston public schools shut down early Wednesday afternoon and remained closed today.

The evacuations ranged from the southwest to the northeast to the city's deep southeast corner where residents of the Scarsdale and Sagemont additions experienced their second major flood in less than two months. An estimated 15,000 in the metropolitan area were forced from their homes the last week of July when remnants of tropical storm Claudette dumped up to 25 inches of rain.

At least 300 Corpus Christi residents and several hundred other area residents were driven from their homes Wednesday by flooding, and water several feet deep was reported in houses and vehicles in parts of the city.

Aransas Pass was drenched by 13 inches of rain Wednesday and Corpus Christi reported eight inches.

Winds gusted up to 86 miles per hour — hurricane force winds are 74 mph or more — as police used high-rise buses to evacuate people.

Cecil Palmer, chief meteorologist for the National Weather System in Alvin, said Wednesday that his office was keeping close tabs on the storm's steady, but slow drift toward Houston, where some area residents already have been forced to flee from rising waters.

The county sheriff's department marine division was using boats to evacuate those who wanted to leave from Scarsdale, a subdivision in southeast Harris County hard hit when heavy rain drenched the area during Tropical Storm Claudette July 26-27.

"We have more Houston streets flooded than I've ever seen before," Caswell said Wednesday evening.

Houston already had received more than four inches of rain by Wednesday night, and some areas had eight inches within a 24-hour period.

Other subdivisions that experienced flooding included Sagemont, Sage Meadows, Kirkmont and Kirkwood.

Tides along the Gulf Coast were three to four feet higher than normal Wednesday, closing state highway 87 between High Island and Sabine Pass.

Heavy rain was falling across much of East Texas early today.

Spotlight on Hispanics

CELEBRATING NATIONAL HISPANIC HERITAGE WEEK — Mr. and Mrs. Garlond E. Evers (seated) sample food offered by Frank Martinez during a buffet luncheon at the local Veterans' Administration Medical Center recently. The luncheon focused attention on National Hispanic Heritage Week. Evers is director of the medical center. An estimated 200 persons attended the luncheon.

government entities to help note the contributions of Hispanics from the earliest days of our nation's history as explorers, settlers and now as leaders in all segments of our society.

WORKING MEMBERS OF COMMUNITY — Ruben Figueroa (left), personnel officer at the Federal Minimum Security Camp here, and Frank Martinez, Howard County Adult Probation Officer, are two men of Mexican-American lineage who have become very visible in the community.

FEEDING IS SERIOUS BUSINESS — Garlond Evers (standing) and Rachel Perez observe closely the feeding techniques of Margarita Jimenez, who is enticing little Lee Jimenez III to eat during a recent National Hispanic Heritage Week luncheon at the local VA Medical Center. 'Why all the attention?' Lee seems to be asking.

Prosecutors in Davis murder solicitation trial rest case

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors have rested their murder solicitation case against millionaire Cullen Davis, paving the way for defense attorneys to begin their tale of conspiracy and elaborate subterfuge.

Defense attorneys would not say who their first witness would be, but subpoenaed Davis' ex-wife, Priscilla, late Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Davis was the first defense witness to take the stand at an earlier murder-for-hire trial in Houston.

That proceeding ended in a mistrial when jurors deadlocked 8-4 for conviction. Davis is accused of concocting a scheme to buy the murder of his divorcee, Joe Eidson.

Davis contends he was the victim of an elaborate frame devised by his ex-wife, former Fort Worth karate instructor Pat Burleson and key prosecution witness David McCrory.

At 12:18 p.m. Wednesday, prosecutor Jack Strickland announced suddenly that "the state rests its case."

Judge Gordon Gray later denied a routine motion by defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes for an instructed verdict of innocent and adjourned.

Over the last five and a half weeks, prosecutors have woven their case against Davis through the testimony of eight witnesses.

Strickland, however, hinted that there may be more surprises in store from the state.

"Anybody who thinks this case is over is in for a nasty surprise," he said.

The state took only three weeks to present its case in Houston, and the length of Strickland's case renewed speculation that this trial could last until Christmas.

Davis, 45, told reporters the state's case "is in shambles."

"I'm just glad they finally stopped," he said.

Among the state's witnesses were four FBI agents, an FBI photographer, a former district attorney's investigator, the purported victim, Eidson, and McCrory, a former Davis buddy-turned-informant.

McCrory was on the stand 11 days, seven under grueling cross-examination. Through McCrory, prosecutors introduced two tape recordings of meetings where mass murder was discussed.

The meticulous cross-examination was designed to chip away at McCrory's credibility. Haynes later characterized McCrory's testimony as full of "misstatements, errors or out-and-out lies."

"Our witnesses will be more probative and will offer clear proof of conspiracy we attempted to prove at Houston," said defense lawyer Steve Sumner.

"We're going to present a much better-organized defense... there will be some similarities and some surprises," he said.

"This is just more of the defense for all seasons," Strickland quipped. "All things come to those who wait. And there is plenty of time... plenty of time."

"Traditionally, a mistrial works in favor of the defense," he continued. "But in this case, it imposes a hell of a lot of restraints on the defense, too. If they think their witnesses can get up on the stand and play fast and loose with the truth, they're going to be reminded of their previous testimony."

"It's an age-old rule of tit-for-tat."

Woman sues salon for damage to hair

A Big Spring woman, Mollie Osborne, has filed suit against the La Contessa Beauty Shop for damaging her hair.

La Contessa owner Gary Don Carey denied that his operator, Delores Cornish, had damaged Mrs. Osborne's hair. He said she is still under his employ.

In the suit filed Tuesday, Mrs. Osborne's attorney said she had been going to the shop for about a year. She went to have her hair redyed and fixed Oct. 27, 1978.

Mrs. Cornish mixed a solution and applied it. The hair allegedly turned black immediately and Mrs. Osborne complained that it wasn't the right color. She was told the hair would turn red when the process was completed.

Shortly thereafter, her hair allegedly had turned black with a greenish tint. The operator applied a bleach and began to massage Mrs. Osborne's scalp. The bleach allegedly burned her scalp and discolored her hair.

She was allegedly told that her hair wasn't green but in the process of turning red. Later, the hair "turned blackish green, became brittle and was generally ruined."

She was told it would take a year for it to return to its natural body, luster and color.

Mrs. Osborne, however, said that she has had to wear a wig since the incident and that her hair hasn't returned to its original state.

The suit alleges that the operator failed to mix the solution properly and test it on part of the hair before applying it to her hair.

The suit also alleges that the operator should have been warned about the dangers of using the bleach and the plaintiff should have warned.

Model planes to land near here today

Several local residents will be involved in the Trans America model airplane race, benefiting Muscular Dystrophy.

Planes will be landing from Fort Worth sometime today at Stuckey's Pecan Shoppe, Interstate 20 West Highway. "Pilots" will refuel planes and then fly to Odessa.

Big Spring Model Airplane Club members will begin their leg of the race Friday from Odessa. The planes will fly to El Paso and are due to arrive on Saturday.

The race will end in Las Vegas Oct. 2, where a banquet will be held with Jerry Lewis in attendance.

Martin placed on probation

Darrel Wayne Martin, 1905 Alabama, entered a guilty plea in 118th District Court Monday to burglary. He was released after being sentenced to a ten-year probation sentence.

Martin was arrested Aug. 1 and transferred to county jail Aug. 8. Bond was set at $15,000 by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin and Martin was released.

Time of responsibility, time of danger

Oil: Mexico's best investment collateral

EDITOR'S NOTE: This fourth part of a five-part series on Mexico explores the country's economy and how the discovery of vast oil deposits has meant the rebirth of the peso.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The world's bankers are lining up in Mexico City to offer almost unlimited credit to a nation that just three years ago seemed on the verge of economic collapse.

Now Mexico has what has become the best collateral in the 20th century: immense pools of oil.

"It is a time of bonanza," said a senior member of President Jose Lopez Portillo's staff. "But it is also a time of responsibility and a time of danger."

"The oil is an opportunity to develop our country. But there is also a consciousness of all the difficulties it will bring," said the aide, who asked not to be identified.

Lopez Portillo has vowed to develop the oil cautiously, scattering petrodollars like seeds to grow an economy that won't collapse when the oil is gone.

The trick is to increase production fast enough to finance ambitious projects, but not so fast that runaway inflation rips apart the economy.

The president and his nation face massive problems, most of them rooted in a prodigious birth rate that adds 800,000 workers each year to a labor pool where unemployment is already estimated at 19 percent.

An additional 20 percent earn less than the minimum wage, which varies by region from about $3 to $7 a day.

Mexico, which nationalized its petroleum 41 years ago, says it now has the world's sixth largest proven reserves, most of them discovered in the last decade.

Sold on the world market for more than $22 a barrel, oil will account for nearly 49 percent of the nation's exports this year with $3.8 billion in net income, the government says.

Lopez Portillo is limiting daily production to 2.2 million barrels, with about half available for export. Mexico is now producing about 1.6 million barrels a day.

Mexico, which already has the world's 19th largest economy with a gross domestic product last year of $91 billion, possesses vast resources of raw materials. Many are scarcely being tapped and marked for development.

Major deposits of uranium, silver, copper, iron, sulfur and other minerals are confirmed in the countryside. Forests are extensive and rich fishing areas are just off the coasts. Lovely scenic vistas, exotic cities and quaint villages are being developed for tourist dollars.

Mexico is still sorting the options, but already some results are showing.

Sales tax rebate hits $146,405

Big Spring's sales tax rebate in August was slightly larger than that for the same month last year.

Big Spring received $146,405.43 as its share of the one-percent sales tax in August. The city received $144,900.81 during August of 1978.

This brings the total so far this year to $656,005.99, well over the $628,989.23 total for the same period last year.

Area cities also fared well during this period. Coahoma received $3,656.08, compared to $3,088.74 for the previous year; Colorado City, $19,883, compared to $19,080.29; Stanton, $6,952.05, compared to $5,692.19; and Sterling

City, $3,564.59, compared to $3,379.59.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday said rebates to Texas cities set a record in the tax's 11-year history.

Bullock said more than 900 cities shared in $124.2 million during July, August and September — passing the state's previous high three-month allocation in the final quarter of 1978 by more than $6 million.

Bullock also announced that his office was sending September sales tax rebate checks totaling $73.4 million. "This month's allocations are just under the record payments of $74.9 million made in December of 1978," Bullock said.

"I think the state's strong economy and our ability to rapidly process tax returns helped to produce these peak rebates," he said.

Dallas will receive a check for $8.7 million, bringing that city's total for the year to $40.4 million, an increase of 12 percent over last year's total to date.

The city of Houston will get a check for $15.1 million, raising its yearly total to $71.7 million, up 11 percent. Fort Worth's check will be $2.9 million, making total payments this year $13.7 million, compared to payments of $12.8 million thru September of last year.

San Antonio will get $3.9 million, raising its total for the year to $18.9 million. This is a 6 percent increase over last year.

Bullock also announced that payments to the Houston and San Antonio Metropolitan Transit Authorities would exceed 15 million.

The city and MTA sales tax is collected by merchants and other sales tax permit holders along with the state sales tax and is rebated monthly to cities in which it is collected by the Comptroller's office.

Howard County program building panel meets

Thirty-six community leaders met recently at the annual meeting of the Howard County Program Building Committee at the Family's Country Kitchen Restaurant.

Chairman Jack Buchanan presided over the meeting which was composed of the memberships of the various program area committees working in planning and implementing the programs conducted through the local County Extension Service. Reports from the various committee chairmen were given, which included Buchanan in Agriculture, Janet Wolfe in Family Living, Repps Guarlar in 4-H and Youth and Charles Wegg in Aging.

Recognition Certificates were awarded to the committee members by County Extension Agents Don Richardson and Janet Rogers.

A special slide presentation on the 4-H and Youth program in Howard County along with other extension activities were presented by members of the Howard County 4-H council, Danny Peugh, Scott Robinson and Leslie Gular along with a duet leader, Mrs. Loyd Robinson, assisted by assistant County Extension Agents, Linda Fuchs and Andy Vestal.

New officers for the coming year were elected at the conclusion of the meeting. These will be chairman, Mrs. Laverne Gaskins; vice-chairman, J.E. Peugh; and secretary, Mrs. Janet Wolfe.
