Sewage treatment plant

City officials accused of selling 'bill of goods'

By JAMES WERRELL
City officials have been accused of selling the public "a bill of goods" in regard to improvements to the local sewage treatment plant, said City Manager Don Davis.
Davis first became aware of the accusations during a meeting, Thursday morning, with Councilman Larry Miller. Miller informed Davis that petitions were being circulated calling for a referendum on the issue of whether to go ahead with the city's plans to finance improvements at the plant.
"That was the first time I had heard anything about a petition," said Davis. "From what I can gather, the problem is two-fold."
The city manager said that the initial objection being made is that the plans for plant improvement are "over-designed"; the specifications exceed what the state requires to meet its standards.
"The other issue is that the public and the city council have been sold a bill of goods, that they were led to believe that the specs were designed only to meet state requirements.

Some people believe this is subterfuge," said Davis.
The bid made by Belco Corporation of Dallas included a list of items called deductible alternatives which the city has an option to drop from the final plans. If these alternative improvements were dropped, cost of the total project would also drop by approximately $366,000.
Davis admitted today that the bid tabulation and formulation were never formally presented to the council, and that council members may not have been properly appraised of their options in the matter.
"I now maintain that this should have been done, and I take full responsibility for it. I should have gone to the council, and said, 'Here is the bid,'" said Davis.
Davis further explained, however, that formal council approval is required before the final bid can be awarded. Regulations set down by the Economic Development Administration forbid the awarding of a bid of this nature before local funds are available to pay for it.
"The bid would have required approval by the council at one time or another anyway," said Davis. "I also want to stress that our option to drop the deductible alternatives is still open," he added.

Is the plan "over-designed"?
"I really don't think so," said Davis. "The state is non-specific about how we meet the standards, and most, if not all, of these improvements will be necessary to meet those improvements."
The state requires that the water leaving the sewer plant have no more than 20 parts-per-million suspended solids or 20 parts-per-million biochemical oxygen demand. The city has a great deal of leeway in the method it chooses to achieve this, said Davis.
The plan currently being considered has been approved by state officials, including the option to drop the deductible alternatives.
Could the city make further cuts in the plan and still meet state requirements?
"I don't know. That would probably require the opinion of an engineer."

Funding by United Way an issue

'Where else can young people go for info?'

By ANDREA COHEN
The 14-year-old girl who the president of the local Eagle Forum chapter said went to the Planned Parenthood office to ask for information and was handed a birth control method, was, in reality, a 16-year-old who underwent a partial examination for a medical problem and had been a previous patient.
At their monthly meeting last week, the members of Eagle Forum were told the girl went to Planned Parenthood for the first time, asked for information and was given a supply of contraceptive foam and condoms without her requesting them. Nelda Reagan, president of the local chapter of Eagle Forum, had requested the girl go to Planned Parenthood to get information.
The Big Spring Herald has learned the girl went to Planned Parenthood one day last week and was told to return on Thursday.
Thursdays are one of two days a week the nurse practitioner is at the local Planned Parenthood giving medical examinations.
The girl was given a partial examination for her medical problem. She had previously been given another type of birth control method which she does not take at the present time and was given the contraceptives as an interim method.
The information was confirmed by an official of the Permian Basin Planned Parenthood.
"If the patient is there for medical reasons or birth control then she is given foam and condoms together for effectiveness," the official said.
According to the girl, she never asked for the foam and condoms. During her examination she was asked what method of contraception she wanted. The girl said she told them she did not want any type and was handed the foam and condoms to use "until she was ready to come back for one." She said she did not know what the foam was and had not been counseled on its use. The girl had been given a birth control method previously.

According to Mrs. Reagan, she did not know the girl had been a previous patient nor that she received a partial examination last week. "What I told the members of Eagle Forum, I honestly thought was true," she said.
Mrs. Reagan said she would like to see United Way withdraw their funding of Planned Parenthood.
"We are concerned that some people in the community are not happy," says Johnnie Lou Avery, publicity director for the United Way. "It causes the board members to be concerned. The campaign is not having problems. The arguments haven't been detrimental to have affected the campaign. But it has made the board members stop and look at the process of selecting agencies and meeting the needs of the community."
The speaker at last week's Eagle Forum meeting, Clydene Thomas, vice president of the Lubbock Eagle Forum, showed a film called "About Sex." Mrs. Thomas said the film was removed from the film library of the Dallas Planned Parenthood this year because of much opposition.
According to an area supervisor of the Life Planning Health Services, in Dallas the film was pulled from the library in late 1977 when Right to Life persons were objecting to the film.
"We decided to withdraw it from the film library," says Sara Hays. It is not used in the clinics or for educational purposes.
The Dallas Planned Parenthood is now called Life Planning Health Services. According to Ms. Hays, the name was changed at the beginning of this year for funding purposes.
Life Planning Health Services is not funded by the United Way. When the Planned Parenthood was first formed as an agency in 1966, they took the option of being funded by United Way for a 10 year period. In 1976, when the option came up for renewal, Planned Parenthood chose not to continue being funded by the United Way.
"The decision to remove the film from our library had nothing to do with funding by United Way because we weren't being funded by them," says Ms. Hays.

Clydene Thomas says that "Planned Parenthood sounds like a place a couple would go for family planning. But it's not that way. Don't get me wrong. That does happen. But they do so many other things that are objectionable."
"With what they're doing, I'd like to get rid of them," she continued. "But it's hard because it's government funded."
Her objections to Planned Parenthood include their stand on abortion and some of the material they distribute.
One type of literature that both Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Reagan object to are comic books, explaining different aspects of sex education.
The books are published by Dr. Sol Gordon of Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y. Dr. Gordon teaches Human Sexuality at the school and is a noted sex educator. The comic books are not available in Big Spring.
"It makes sex look like a joke," says Mrs. Reagan. "What is educational about them?"

"The comic books are printed for teenagers and pre-teenagers who don't read or never open a book, but will read comic books," Dr. Gordon said in a telephone interview.
"They are not designed for intellectual or literate kids. Those are the teenagers who are candidates for exploitation and unwanted pregnancy."
"In my judgment the comic books are highly moral," he continued. "They not only give information, but they encourage a responsible attitude toward sexuality. The technique of using comic books may not please people but young people do read them."
"The main purpose is to discourage sexual exploitation."
Asked why Planned Parenthood is so highly recommended in his literature, he said, "Where else would young people go for information? They can't go to the family doctor because their parents will know and it's too expensive. Even though Planned Parenthood charges a fee, they will never turn anyone away because they are poor or don't have money."
Mrs. Reagan and Mrs. Thomas also object to a publication called "Our Bodies, Ourselves," a 374 page book designed for women explaining human sexuality. The book is written by Boston Women's Health Book Collective.

The book, according to Mrs. Reagan is morally degrading. "One chapter was written by lesbians which goes against the teachings of the Bible. I also don't like their stand on the abortion issue."
The book is used by Planned Parenthood. The sections on abortion complications, women's diseases, breast cancer, vaginal discharges, venereal disease and pregnancy alternatives are given to many of the patients to read.

National Geographic: The Desert

Larry Shaw, Knott farmer, is featured in magazine

Pictures of Larry Shaw, who farms 2,000 acres in the Knott community of Howard County, decorate two pages of the November edition of National Geographic magazine, which is now reaching subscribers.
The pictures featuring Shaw and his family constitute part of a major article the magazine undertook entitled "The Desert."
Shaw (who expects to make a banner cotton crop on his land this year) is quoted by National Geographic as saying:
"We've got to live on faith. If we don't get the rain, we don't make it."
The magazine also took note of the fact that the blowing sand had covered up a cemetery (in the Knott vicinity) which Larry helped excavate. The long-lost grave of an infant brother is in the cemetery but Shaw was never able to find it.

"Throughout America's Great Plains the arrival of the cowboy and his cattle in the mid-19th century, along with poor farming techniques practiced by homesteaders, denuded millions of acres," the National Geographic article stated. "The legacy of overuse blew in with the winds of the drought-stricken 1930s, creating a catastrophic dust bowl. Today a different crisis faces the nation's arid West — the depletion of limited ground water at an alarming rate. A resident of Phoenix, Ariz., for example, uses an average of 150 gallons of water a day, compared with less than four gallons for an inhabitant of rural African lands."

The 53-page article deals with man's ceaseless fight to stay the desert all over the world and, overall, paints a rather gloomy picture of man's chances to hold the arable land he now has.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Population guess

Q. What will Big Spring's new population be in the 1980 census?
A. That would be strictly a guess on anybody's part. One could use utility connections to figure the estimated head count but some insist all utility connections are not being counted. The optimists say the city's population will exceed 30,000. The pessimists insist it will be far short of that. Let's just wait and see what the census takers come up with.

Tops on TV: 'Great Performances'

Prime-time viewers will be forced to choose between the absurd and the maudlin, tonight. At 7 o'clock, ABC will present "Battle Of The Network Stars." Not too taxing on the brain, but maybe good for a little jiggly entertainment. At 8 o'clock, NBC will air the weeper "The Other Side Of The Mountain, Part II." Those who saw the first installment may want to check to see what happens to skier Jill Kinmont as she recovers further from her tragic accident and copes with true love. The best viewing of the night is PBS's "Great Performances" at 10 o'clock. A short story by John Cheever is enacted by a couple of very competent stars.

Herald ad sells house fast like

The owner of a house who put it on the market recently by advertising in the Herald got so much response thought about putting a "sold" sign up in his yard in order to keep people from contacting him about the property.
The ad advertising the house ran only one day. The following day, he had the ad run again with the word "sold" on it.
When he called for his refund, he told the sales girl that was "fast work."

City manager assumes responsibility

Is renovation 'over-designed'?

This question is at least part of the motivation for the petition drive. If five percent of the city's registered voters sign the petition, a referendum may be called to vote for or against the proposed improvement plan. Davis is worried about the ramifications of such an election. "I am very concerned that people be fully aware of what they are doing if they sign such a petition," he said. If such an election were called, said Davis, the city would lose the price extension granted by Belco. The company has agreed to maintain its current bid until Dec. 16 to give the city a chance to come up with funds for the project. "If an election is called, we will lose that extension, and have to rebid the project. I have been told by some people in the construction business that costs are rising by about 1.5 percent a month," said Davis. He estimated that rebidding the project would take approximately five months, with a potential added cost to the city of $225,000.

"If the board buys the bonds, the city will pay about 5.5 percent interest. If we go to the open market we will be paying 7.5 or maybe even 8 percent interest," said Davis. "This would mean an added cost of between $350,000 and $700,000." The city manager scheduled an afternoon meeting with Big Springers who have expressed concern over the issue. "I hope to find out who is circulating the petition, and find out what I can do to correct this thing," concluded Davis.

Sex education hassle flares

The book is also available at the Howard County Library. Another objection Mrs. Thomas has is the type of sex education taught in the schools. "I don't understand why 12 years of touching and feeling has to be taught," she said at the Eagles Forum meeting. "What ever happened to a basic course in plumbing?" "We define sex education as understanding of love and caring of another person," says Dr. Gordon. "It's responsible decision making and equality in sexuality. The main function is the elevation of self esteem. "It has nothing to do with touching and feeling which the opposition has made up. Facts about reproduction is only one small aspect of sex education." Dr. Gordon says he opposes teenagers having sexual intercourse. "They are too young and not ready for sexual involvement. It should be limited to adults who can handle sex. "But no teenager has ever asked my consent. If they're not going to pay attention to me, then I encourage them to use birth control to avoid a pregnancy." Lynn Hise, superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School District says there is no curriculum on sex education in the Big Spring schools. "It's part of health classes and home economics and some in life science and biology classes," he said.

Another airline joins in SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — Hughes Airwest has joined United Airlines and American Airlines in the coupon-inducement game and travelers could save up to $180 on their next flights. The carrier, which flies between 45 cities in 12 states in the West, Midwest, Mexico and Canada, announced the program Thursday. 'Kissing bandit' picked up

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police say a 26-year-old man was picked up after several of the women looked over a selection of photographs and pointed him out as the "kissing bandit" who pulled a gun on them and demanded a kiss. Eb Simmons was booked Thursday on three counts of aggravated assault and three counts of aggravated battery and held in lieu of $37,500 bond, police said. Police said officers also arrested a second man accused of breaking into a home and kissing a woman who bit his tongue and spat him out. He was identified as John Lee Harris, 25, and was booked on a charge of aggravated burglary.

First black justice

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Louisiana Supreme Court has a new member today — Jesse N. Stone Jr., the first black justice in the history of the court. Stone, president of Southern University, was appointed Thursday to an interim term on the court. The former dean of Southern's law school will serve through the November-December work cycle of the high court, which ends on Dec. 20. He fills in for Justice Albert Tate Jr., who resigned after he was appointed to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. Tate's permanent replacement is Judge Jack Crozier Watson, now a member of the state 3rd Circuit Court of Appeal in Lake Charles.

Poster war underway

NEW YORK (AP) — A poster war is underway in the Big Apple and the street-wise card sharks whose stock and trade is a sidewalk game called "Three Card Monte" are, for once, the marks. Police and civic leaders launched their campaign Thursday, claiming the card game bilk suckers out of millions of dollars a year. A thousand posters warning tourists and New Yorkers about the game were distributed in Times Square and other areas warning: "Don't Get Ripped Off, Get Wise! Sidewalk Card Games Are Frauds. You Can't Win!"

Fowler fails to post bond

Bonds totaling $15,500 have been set on Scott Fowler, 20, Travel Inn, who was arrested Wednesday by local police on suspicion of auto burglaries. Fowler and a male juvenile were arrested after Kenneth Taylor, 504 State, and Beulah Burns, 611 Steakley, reported to police Wednesday that items had been stolen from their cars while parked at the Broadway Tavern. Witnesses had reported

Carbon plant closure to 'hurt' Seagraves

SEAGRAVES — The economy of Seagraves is bound to suffer from the closure of the Columbian Chemicals Co. carbon black plant here, but the president of the Chamber of Commerce hesitates to what the extent of the effect will be. "It's certainly not going to help," said Wayne Cornett. "But we've weathered things like this before, and we'll continue to try to bring new industry to the city. "Although nothing has been confirmed, there is a good possibility of an industrial-type business coming in, but we just have to wait and see." The plant, a subsidiary of Cities Service Co. in Tulsa, was closed Oct. 19. Columbian officials said the decision to close the plant resulted from a combination of adverse economic factors. Officials also said that the capital investment required to modernize the plant, which was built in the early 1940s, could not be justified

Sixteen voters cast ballots in county

As of closing hours Thursday, a total of 14 absentee votes had been cast in Tuesday's amendments election. Eleven of those 14 were cast by Howard County voters at the Howard County Clerk's Office. Three mailed out ballots were returned. This morning, two more votes were cast bringing the total so far to 16. Statewide, voter turnout is expected to be light Tuesday when voters decide the fate of three proposed state constitutional amendments. One amendment, if passed, will give the Commissioner of Agriculture the authority to provide for, issue and sell general state obligation bonds of up to $10

Team of medical specialists will staff emergency room

Effective this weekend, a team of emergency medical physicians will take over the emergency room at Malone-Hogan Hospital, from Saturday noon until 6 a.m. on Monday. Physicians from Malone & Hogan Clinic will continue to cover the trauma unit during the week, hospital administrator Norman Knox announced today. Reason for the change is to relieve clinic physicians of the weekend responsibility, and to provide full emergency room coverage for the heavy load that typically comes through a hospital emergency room on weekends. Administrator Knox said that hospitals in the area are turning to this type of coverage for the same reasons. "Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, as well as hospitals in Midland and Odessa are utilizing this new concept of staffing in their emergency rooms," he noted. The physicians who will be staffing the unit are specialists in handling trauma cases, and are well known for their commitment to providing superior emergency room care, while being cost conscious and aware of patient needs. "Probably 20 percent of our admissions come through the emergency room," Knox said. And weekends are the heaviest, he added. Knox noted that the emergency room is the public window of any hospital. By staffing it with these specialist physicians, the hospital hopes to offer even better services to the community. The physicians are members of the Emergency Medicine Management Systems of Dallas.

More evidence will be heard by Howard County Grand Jury

More evidence will be submitted to the Howard County Grand Jury when it meets Monday to continue deliberations on alleged offenses of the Big Spring Police Department. Assistant Director Attorney Don Richard said today that the Monday grand jury is a continuation of the October grand jury which had requested additional information about the police department from the D.A.'s office. The grand jury recessed Oct. 4 to give District Attorney Rick Hamby time to gather additional evidence. The nature of the evidence has not been revealed. Special Investigator Buster McCartney has said in the past that a grand jury can clear as well as indict an individual. Currently, half goes to the state. In the 1978-79 fiscal year, $1,640 in filing fees was collected by the Howard County Clerk's Office for notary bonds. The third resolution provides for legislative review of state agency rules. Opponents and supporters of this amendment are both citing separation of powers in their arguments. Clements and other opponents say the legislature is intruding in the executive branch while supporters say that state bureaucracy has usurped a legislative function by issuing countless rules that have effect of law. Currently, only the House and Senate committees can advise on the new rules of state agencies.

Trio on way to Huntsville

Three Howard County prisoners were transferred to the Texas Department of Corrections this morning, to begin their sentences. Isidro Quinones, 19, Silver Saddle No. 15, was sentenced to five years in TDC when probation was revoked Oct. 26. Quinones was arrested Oct. 17 by Big Spring police and charged with driving while intoxicated. Richard Marquez, 42, 705 N. Douglas, was indicted by the grand jury Oct. 5 on a charge of burglary. He entered a guilty plea on Oct. 12 and was sentenced to four years in TDC. David Mesker's appeal of a conviction on a charge of delivery of marijuana failed. Mesker, 30, 1812 Main, was sentenced to five years in TDC by a jury of his peers.

One more lesson to teach

NEW YORK (AP) - Brother Joseph Charles Fox often spoke of Karen Anne Quinlan, his religious superior recalls, always firm in his belief that the comatose woman's parents had the right to let her die.
 Now the 83-year-old Fox is himself lying in a coma, and his superior and longtime friend, the Rev. Philip Eichner, is asking a court to allow him to exercise that same right.
 But the action steps beyond the Quinlan case, says the priest. The belief of Brother Fox is the teaching of the Roman Catholic church. Eichner views the request for permission to unplug Fox's respirator as an opportunity for a "clarification of church teachings."
 Eichner is head of the 40-member Marianist community that runs Chaminade High School in Mineola on Long Island. Marianists, members of the Society of Mary, are a Catholic teaching order numbering 2,200 world-wide.
 Illuminating the moral and ethical principals of the church is a natural outgrowth of the order's role as educators, said Eichner.
 "This is a very real question and it touches almost every family in the United States," he said of Fox's situation.
 Families daily are facing life and death issues and the church's position - that persons are not held to extraordinary, heroic means to prolong life - applies to countless medical situations including treatment for diseases such as cancer, he said.
 "This is called the positive aspect of the Fifth Commandment, Thou Shalt Not Kill, involving the reasonable care of your life," said Eichner. A person is not obligated to take measures to prolong life that would present a grave burden on himself or others, he explained.
 For example, he said, a patient needn't undergo a prohibitively expensive cancer operation that would briefly extend his or her life.
 "This is not mercy killing," Eichner stressed. He said the distinction is that mercy killing is a direct act to end a life; the other is an indirect act or decision, not to prolong life.
 But the priest said making such decisions often is complicated in a society that attaches more importance to life on earth than an afterlife and surrounds death with a sense of guilt.
 As a religious community, the Marianists decided to confront the issue when Fox slipped into a coma on Oct. 2 at Nassau Hospital. Fox suffered cardiac arrest while undergoing a hernia operation.

 "He was a marvelous image for the community of how to grow old gracefully," said Eichner of his friend.
 The two men had met decades before when Eichner was just entering the order and Fox was his prefect. When Fox retired to Chaminade in 1970 after teaching at Marianist schools around the world, the roles were reversed - Eichner was the superior at Chaminade.
 Fox became the community's patriarch and, despite an eye ailment that left him nearly blind, he cooked the brothers' meals and raised flowers in a roof garden.
 When doctors told Eichner the comatose Fox was in a "permanent vegetative state," Eichner asked hospital authorities to remove the respirator. They refused to do so without a court order.
 The Rev. Richard McCormick contends such cases should never have to go to court. McCormick directs the Kennedy Center of Ethics at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., and advised the Quinlans' lawyers.
 In the 1976 landmark Quinlan decision, the New Jersey Supreme Court ruled that life-support systems could be removed from comatose patients who had no reasonable chance of recovering to a cognitive or sapient state.

 McCormick maintains that hundreds of life-support systems are removed daily across the country without publicity or court action.
 Eichner attributed the hospital's decision to New York state's lack of a definition of death and a fear of legal repercussions.
 Such fear stems from an inability to adapt moral standards to advances in medical technology, according to Alice Mehling, director of the Society For the Right to Die. The national organization has become increasingly involved in legislation addressing some of the dilemmas raised by life support systems.
 Ten states have enacted "right-to-die" laws since 1976, enabling people to sign documents declining life-prolonging measures.

Pioneer Corporation increases dividend

AMARILLO - An increase in the quarterly dividend paid on common stock and the appointments of a new chairman, vice chairman and director have been announced by the board of directors of Pioneer Corporation (NYSE).
 Directors increased the dividend from 24 cents per share to 29 cents per share, payable Dec. 4, 1979, to shareholders of record Nov. 23, 1979.
 K.B. Watson, president and chief executive officer, was appointed chairman of the board to fill the vacancy resulting from the decision of C.I. Wall to not stand for re-election and to resign effective Dec. 31, 1979. Watson is a director.
 E.S. Morris, senior vice president and a director, was appointed board vice chairman. Filling the vacancy on the nine-member board will be C. David Culver, newly appointed executive vice president of Pioneer Corporation who formerly was a vice president and assistant to the president.
 Regular elections of the directors will be held in April, 1980, at the annual stockholders meeting.

stock shares were split two for one at a special stockholders meeting held September 25.
 The increase in earnings for the third quarter 1979 is principally attributed to increased earnings from Pioneer's two oil and gas producing subsidiaries - Amarillo Oil Company and Pioneer Production Corporation.
 Natural gas production from Pioneer's interest in joint venture offshore exploration came on stream during the summer months and, for the first time, is included in revenue figures. Pioneer Production Corporation also is a 10 percent participant in a group intending to bid at OCS Sale 58-A scheduled for November.

Consolidated net income reported at the directors meeting was $20,133,585 for the quarter ending September 30, 1979, compared with $8,540,432 for the same period of 1978. For the first nine months of 1979, consolidated net income was $48,615,541 compared with $29,320,191 for the same period of 1978.
 Third quarter earnings per share are $1.09 on 18,388,153 average shares outstanding, compared with 46 cents on the split shares for the same quarter of 1978. For the first nine months of 1979, per share earnings are $2.65 compared with $1.58 on the split shares for the first nine months of 1978. (Common

Hauling up drawbridge on press doesn't help

It's all the fault of those nosy reporters and the abrasive questions they ask. Sooner or later, all presidents get testy about holding press conferences. Jimmy Carter is no exception. Early on, Carter was quite candid with the press.

He made liberal use of the press conference — an institution which had fallen into disrepair under a chary Richard Nixon and was used with some restraint by Gerald Ford. Time was when Mr. Carter would subject himself to confrontations with the White House press corps as often as twice a month.

In that phase of his presidency, he had lots of opportunity to talk about his glorious promises and hadn't been in office long enough to have executed any of them.

Now it turns out that the president is only human. As his political fortunes have taken a downward trend, so have the frequency of his press conferences. Over the last couple of months, he has staged no fewer than four 'town meetings' — in which he fields questions from slightly awed citizens who are not likely to feed him any real zingers. During that time, however, he has seen fit to hold only one press conference.

It is, of course, entirely understandable that Mr. Carter, in his present time of trouble, would be a little reluctant to present himself before the seasoned barracudas of Washington's press. His No. One aide, Hamilton Jordan, has been accused of some rather inexcusable indiscretions. His brother Billy has been firming up friendships with the Libyan crowd and invariably emerges from such contacts with egg on his face.

Back in 1976, however, when Mr. Carter was making all those promises about being open, candid and approachable, he gave no hint that such a policy would change in the event of hard times.

Most Americans are inclined to sympathize with the president. Many of his woes are not of his own making. Still more stem from his penchant for taking on too much, for attempting to mount grandiose schemes without doing the necessary groundwork. It is universally agreed that he is a decent, well-intended man trying his best to perform the toughest job in the world.

Hauling up the drawbridge on the press corps, however, is not a sound response to his present dilemma. Rather, he should take on the press — indeed, challenge the press. Any football coach will tell you a good offense is the best defense.

If a reporter asks him a loaded, malicious question, he should not hesitate to fling that question right back in the face of his petitioner.

We can't say for sure but we are inclined to believe that many Americans would rather see Jimmy Carter mix it up with his detractors than see him retreat behind a human wall of aides and advisors.

Idea paid off

Around the rim

James Werrell

My Halloween costume wasn't the greatest, but it was good enough to win third place and a can of vampire blood at one of the parties I went to. I was edged out by Superman and The Bat, but I felt pretty good about it nonetheless. After all, it isn't an easy thing to turn yourself into Thor, Norse God of Thunder.

"Do you have anything resembling unscured reindeer skins?" I asked the lady in the fabric department the night before the party.

SHE GAVE ME a weird look, and pointed to some baby blue, imitation-fur toilet seat covers. I decided instead to become the first Norseman to ward off the cold north wind with a thin covering of polyester.

If I got the urge to rape and pillage, I reasoned, I could call it a seizure suit. My outfit's crowning glory was a cap designed by my wife that turned me into a presentably horny Viking warrior.

My wife, the Dutch Tulip Vendor, and I attended the party with Superman (the one who took second prize) and his wife, the Semi-Wicked Witch of the Southwest.

As we walked into their house, Superman was standing before the mirror, saying: "My tights are blue; my cape is scarlet; and my 'S' is bright red."

I have to admit, the costume his wife had whipped up was a wonder to behold. It was no half-S-ed venture.

During our ramblings, we ran into beaucoups of weirdos. We found one friend who had dressed as a vodka martini. Despite the fact that he looked more like a Mai-Tai, he still lent new credence to the old saying, "Let's get out of these wet clothes and into a dry martini."

Another buddy, who shall remain nameless, was attired in, among other things, a mask that completely covered his face. He spent the evening pinching Little Miss Muffets on their tuffets.

"Sure, they hit me, but it doesn't really hurt. And they don't have any idea who I am. I wish they'd have Halloween every two weeks," he told me before wading back into the crowd.

The mere mention of Halloween elicited the tale from another friend of his favorite costume. He had once attended a party as a certain notorious, Cowboy wide receiver (and part-time pass maker). My friend dispensed with the usual football regalia, and wore only a trench coat.

He would be right at home with another pal, from Cincinnati, who attended a Halloween party as Ray Milland in "Lost Weekend." This was pretty much in-character to begin with, but the host became a little perturbed when my friend tried to trade him a typewriter for a shot of Scotch.

My favorite costume is one that David Niven, the actor, took credit for in his book "Bring On The Empty Horses." He and a friend attended a party dressed as a goat, with his friend acting as the head, and Niven as the other end.

It was thus Niven's duty to toss black olives from the back of his costume onto the ballroom floor.

Barring anything that brilliant, I was perfectly satisfied to spend the evening as Thor. At least I could rest easy in the knowledge that if I were to fall on the field of valor, a Valkyrie would sweep me away to Valhalla for another helping of mead.

Masquerade uncovered

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The outrageous profits posted by the big oil companies last week — ranging up to an almost unbelievable 191 percent increase over last year — have dramatically stripped the mask of sweet reasonableness from Big Oil.

The consumer is paying $1 and more for a gallon of gas and is already goggling at heating bills twice as high as last winter's. He is in no mood to swallow the oil companies' smooth assurances that they're really not ripping us off.

THIS WILL obviously make it a lot harder for the oil lobbyists to whittle away at the windfall profits tax President Carter is trying to get through Congress — though Big Oil, with the nerve of a burglar, will just as obviously keep trying.

All but eclipsed by the "main event" is the oil moguls' quiet but intense lobbying to hang onto an even bigger windfall, the so-called Foreign Oil Tax Credit. The billions the oil companies have made from this scam since it was made available in the 1950s have come right out of the American taxpayers' pockets.

It's basically a simple operation: For every dollar of taxes the oil companies pay to a foreign government, they are excused from a dollar of income tax owed to the U.S. Treasury.

In an effort to plug this gaping loophole in the tax laws, the Treasury is in the process of tightening its regulations by redefining what are "taxes" and what are merely "royalties." The distinction is important to the oil companies, because by law, "royalties" are classed as business expenses to be deducted from gross income, and are thus worth only about half as much as a tax credit, which is taken directly off the income tax owed to Uncle Sam.

SO INDUSTRY LOBBYISTS are trying to have any payment they make to a foreign government declared a "tax" — as long as the foreign government agrees to call it that. In other words, they want to leave the definition up to Big Oil's buddies abroad.

This isn't peanuts we're talking about. In 1976, the latest year we were able to get figures for, oil and gas firms had a $22 billion income tax liability. But they wrote off $17 billion of that in foreign tax credits.

With the stakes so high, it is interesting that the General Accounting Office, assigned to make a study of the foreign tax credit, turned for guidance to — believe it or not — an oil company. A GAO official, Douglas McCullough, had a "working paper" of the agency's report to Congress leaked to an official at Tenneco named William Johnson for review.

McCullough, who used to work for Johnson at the Treasury in 1973-74, told our associate Tony Capaccio that he sent the material to Johnson because "he's a damn good economist." But Johnson told us he didn't know anything about the tax credit. So he turned the GAO working paper over to Tenneco's tax division to look at.

VESCO PROBE: Three weeks ago, Democratic National Chairman John White was grilled for two-and-a-half hours by a federal grand jury in New York that is looking into the murky connection between fugitive financier Robert Vesco and the Libyan government's efforts to get delivery on American-made transport planes embargoed by the State Department.

White was drawn into the probe after the FBI secretly photographed him with Libya's ambassador to the United Nations, Mansur Kikhia, in the rooftop bar of a Washington hotel.

The Justice Department is trying to find out if the Libyans tried — through Vesco — to offer bribes to White and Carter administration officials in hopes of freeing the planes.

In his secret testimony, White denied that any bribes had been offered, or that he knew Vesco, sources told our associate Jack Mitchell. As for Billy Carter, whose name has also surfaced in the grand jury investigation, White testified that he had met the president's bumptious brother only once, years ago, and hadn't talked to him since.

Explaining the circumstances of his rooftop rendezvous with the Libyan diplomat, White testified that the meeting had been arranged by James Day, a fellow Texan and long-time political acquaintance.

Day contacted him last spring, White testified, and they met in White's ashington office. The two Texas Democrats discussed the poor relations between the United States and Libya, but White said he couldn't recall any mention of the controversial plane deal. He did not, however, deny that Day might have brought the subject up.

A few months later, White testified, Day phoned again and insisted that he meet Kikhia for a brief drink. What White didn't realize, of course, was that the FBI had been tailing Kikhia with a camera. So while the chairman and the ambassador sipped their drinks on the rooftop terrace of the Washington Hotel — overlooking the White House grounds — FBI agents were taking it all in.

White told the grand jury that day pressed him to set up a meeting between President Carter and the Libyan ambassador. But he swore that he refused Day's importunings.

The Democratic party chief told us that he isn't the target of any further investigation.

Dear Editor: Although names of the winners in last Saturday's Turkey Walk will not be available for another three weeks, please accept my appreciation for the coverage given by the Herald and local radio stations, prior to and following the Walk.

The dollars raised for the American Heart Association as a result of the Walk will directly benefit the community for years to come.

Every time one of us undergoes successful open heart or by-pass surgery, each time an infant lives, in spite of congenital heart defect, every time one of us suffers a heart attack, and survives, we are benefitting directly from continual research, sponsored by drives such as this.

The turn-out of walkers was gratifying. We will provide the names of prize winners, as soon as we get the official list.

Important president?

Terence Smith of the New York Times ponders a well-known fact but, unhappily, gets it all wrong. President Carter, observed Mr. Smith, finds himself having to take responsibility for matters still removed from federal authority (hard though these are to find). There was, for instance, the lady at a recent town meeting who stood up and advised the president that much energy could be saved if he would cut down on the number of stop lights. The president smiled and said that he had no control over the number of stop lights. It is surprising he didn't tell the lady to take her complaints to Exxon.

THE GRANDER THEME of Mr. Smith's meditation is that we have arrived at the point where the federal government is assumed to be responsible for everything, and at the point where the government is anthropomorphized in the public mind as the president of the United States. Consider the drop in Carter's popularity — it is inverse proportion to the rise in inflation. That means, says Mr. Smith, that people tend to blame the president for inflation. Mr. Smith quotes a political science professor at Syracuse University who ought to be in another business. He said that the president of General Motors "has far more direct power over the economy when he sets the price of a new car than the president of the United States when he sets policy."

That statement is breathtaking in its ignorance and mischievous in its implications.

Assuming that the president of General Motors had the unilateral authority to raise the price of his automobiles (which he doesn't — a wealthy board of directors would pass on substantial raises), I remind the professor that he has the absolute authority to decline to buy a General Motors car and still remain quite mobile. I haven't owned a GM car (no slight intended) since 1967, and in the 12 intervening years have gaddled about without any sense of strain. There is, to begin with, a Ford or a Chrysler or an AMC available. Then there are about three dozen foreign models. And (the greatest dampener on extortionate pricing) there is the weightiest competitor of them all: the second-hand market.

BUT HERE IS what the president of the United States can do about the economy. He can appoint the members of the Federal Reserve Board. He can present to Congress a pared-down budget. He can veto spending bills. He can endorse sunset legislation for the regulatory agencies, which add so much to the cost of doing business. He can pick his own economic advisors. Gerald Ford, availing himself of such powers as these, spearheaded a drop in the inflation rate from 10 percent to 4 percent. And all that happened after OPEC had quadrupled the price of oil. The final power of the president is to mobilize public sentiment. The only mobilization President Carter is particularly interested in these days is the Cook County Machine for Carter. He proved as successful in his fight for it as he has proved in his fight against inflation.

Moreover, the people who run for president hardly deny the authority the Constitution and two generations of heliocentric Congresses have invested in the executive. When Carter ran for president, he was always criticizing President Ford for inflation. It is no where recorded that he acknowledged that the Congresses of the United States have been run by Democrats since 1955.

Yeah, but until then we've got a nice place to stay, and the food is fantastic....

Dinner plate wins over vitamin bottle

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Will you please settle the issue of vitamins for children? I had heard that the increase in heart attacks in younger men was due to their taking vitamins when they were children. Is that true? I believe that even if they are good eaters they need more iron and minerals. My grandchildren are great junk food eaters and pop drinkers, are extremely active, yet the little guys look tired and pale. They do not take vitamins regularly. — Mrs. J. K.

I can settle one thing right off. Heart attacks in younger men are not due to their having taken vitamins as children.

As to vitamins in general, most children in this country get enough in the food they eat, even if they are heavily into junk foods. A once-daily multivitamin would not hurt them, but it is unnecessary unless their eating habits are very bizarre.

As for iron, I don't think it should be given if there is no demonstrated need for it. Too much iron can cause as many problems as too little. This is especially true in boys and non-menstruating girls. Iron is lost in menstrual blood.

Your grandchildren ought to be learning good eating habits. If they get used to too much junk food they will carry such habits into adult life. Proper nutrition is better than vitamin supplements any day, and probably less expensive to boot.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Our four-year-old daughter was born with coarctation of the aorta. She gets annual checkups now. Our concern is all the X-raying being done and which will be needed for the next six years. Could we cut down or stop all these checkups until it's time for surgery? Is surgery the only way? — Mrs. L. F.

The aorta is the large artery through which blood is pumped from the heart to the rest of the body. Coarctation is a narrowing of this vessel a short distance from where it leaves the heart. It is usually a birth defect (one that occurred during fetal development).

The answer is surgical removal of the narrowed portion, and this is best done before the second decade of life. Yearly checkups are important.

This will show any signs indicating need for earlier surgery to avoid more permanent damage. A chest X-ray is an essential part of her examination. An annual X-ray will not hurt. In another part of your letter (not used) you mention the old wives tale about "one X-ray taking away one year of life." Nonsense!

Your daughter seems to be receiving excellent care. Her surgery, when decided on, should allow her to live a normal adult life.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I had a mammogram done two months ago and today my doctor insisted on a chest X-ray as part of my annual checkup. I explained I had the mammogram, but I got the X-ray anyway. I'm in good health and am wondering if I have been exposed to too much radiation. — W. W.

A chest X-ray and a mammogram (breast X-ray) within a two month period would not be too much radiation. However, neither need be repeated simply for a routine checkup. Repeated X-rays are advisable in cases where the physician wants to look for changes from previous X-rays.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can the "pill" cause irreversible sterilization? — N. R.

Women who have never had children may be less fertile for up to 42 months after discontinuing the pill. I have not been able to locate any evidence of a woman becoming permanently infertile because of having used it. Most women are able to conceive within a few menstrual cycles of stopping the pill.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I heard a doctor

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I wish the Bible were more interesting. It seems I fall asleep almost every time I read it. Do you have any suggestions? — S. J.

DEAR S. J.: There may be several reasons why this is happening to you. At least some of them may be very practical. However, before I discuss those, I think it is important for you to be clear about one thing: the Bible is God's Word and therefore should get our best attention. It alone can give us God's truth for our lives, and it alone has the power to change us as the Holy Spirit applies its truth to our minds and hearts. We should have the same determination as the Psalmist: "I will meditate in thy precepts, and have respect unto thy ways. I will delight myself in thy statutes: I will not forget thy word" (Psalms 119:15-16).

There are several practical suggestions you might find helpful. For example, when do you try to read the Bible? If you leave it until you are sleepy and ready to go to bed, you will probably have difficulty getting everything out of it you should. Also, I suggest you get one of the fine modern translations, especially if you are not familiar with the older English of the King James version. (Your pastor may have some recommendations.)

Get one with print you can read. Then decide in advance on a plan for reading. For example, I often suggest to people who are unfamiliar with the Bible that they take the Gospel of John and read a portion of it each day, until they are through the book. It may only be a few paragraphs, but it will help you see the full story the Gospel is telling. Don't just skip around from place to place.

Then ask yourself questions as you read. For example, ask yourself "What is the main idea of this passage? What is actually happening here, or being taught?" It might be helpful to write it down — it will keep you from being vague in your answers. Also, always ask yourself "What does this passage mean to me? Is there something new I need to know, or something I ought to do?"

As you open God's Word, always pray that God would teach you, God wants to teach you, and His spirit will teach you if you are open.

Jury deliberation in Davis retrial could begin Monday

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Lawyers say jury deliberations in the marathon murder solicitation trial of millionaire Cullen Davis could begin as early as Monday.

Lead defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes spent more than three hours Thursday trying to discredit testimony given by the prosecution's rebuttal witness, Gale Helms, 52.

Prosecutors hailed Helms' testimony Wednesday, saying it destroyed defense attorneys' theory that Davis was framed.

State attorneys repeatedly objected to Haynes' questioning, calling it repetitious and irrelevant. At one point, Haynes asked the same question three times, with different wording, and was chided by State District Judge Gordon Gray.

"I've been down that road before and I don't intend to go down it again," Gray said. "I've heard all this before."

"You haven't heard this," Haynes argued. "And I'm not going to hear it, either," Gray countered. "I'm going to sustain the objection."

Obviously frustrated,

Woman gets 75 years for beating-death

JEFFERSON, Texas (AP) — An East Texas jury assessed a Mount Pleasant woman 75 years in prison for the beating death last April of her 6-year-old stepson.

Diane Upton, 26, beat Zane Upton with a belt, threw the child against a bedpost and kicked him in the stomach so hard it ruptured his pancreas, according to testimony in the trial.

An autopsy revealed the boy drowned in his own body fluids after suffering serious internal injuries.

The jury deliberated three hours before finding the woman guilty, and spent the same amount of time deciding on a punishment recommendation Thursday.

The key state witness was 9-year-old Dana Upton, the dead child's brother. He told the court he heard his stepmother beating Zane in another room with a belt. He said he counted 15 lashes one time and 10 another time.

He said he could hear his brother making funny noises during the night and knew something was wrong. The boy died the next day and officials placed Dana Upton in a foster home after charges were filed.

A minister testified he received a telephone call from Mrs. Upton who said, "I hit him, and he's dead."

The defense tried unsuccessfully to block the minister's testimony, arguing conversations with a minister are privileged.

The defense called no witnesses during the trial, and called only Mrs. Upton and her husband during the punishment phase.

The husband broke down and cried on the stand, saying he was convinced his wife had not killed his son.

Mrs. Upton testified she remembered whipping the child, but said the whipping was not severe enough to have killed the boy. She said she could not recall how he might have suffered the injuries.

"Accidents do happen around the house," she said.

Haynes finished his cross-examination by mid-afternoon and a short time later prosecutor Jack Strickland got to his feet and said:

"Your honor, if it pleases the court, the state at this time rests its case."

The defense called three of its own rebuttal witnesses then, and got court permission to call Helms back to the stand for one more question concerning a minor portion of his testimony. Despite that, attorneys in the case said the jury could begin deliberations as early as Monday.

Helms contradicted Davis' testimony that he and key state witness and FBI informant David McCrory had a 6 p.m. meeting on Aug. 11, during which they agreed to stage some conversations and record them, in an effort to head off a purported plot against Davis' life.

Davis testified three subsequent meetings with McCrory, at which the two discussed mass murder, were based in part on the Aug. 11 session.

It was after one of the subsequent meetings on Aug. 20 — recorded on video and audio tape by FBI agents — that Davis was arrested and charged with plotting to hire a killer.

Helms, though, testified he was with McCrory from about 4:30 p.m. until dark on Aug. 11, testing model airplane engines south of Fort Worth.

Defense lawyers played down the impact of Helms' testimony.

"We were surprised that there was not more to the state rebuttal testimony," said lawyer Steve Sumner.

But prosecutors claimed Helms' testimony destroys the foundation of the defense case, and could send Davis to prison.

"If the Aug. 11 meeting didn't occur in the first place, it raises serious questions about his (Davis') motives on Aug. 18, 19 and 20," said Strickland, saying Davis' explanation of the later meetings makes no sense without the Aug. 11 discussion to support it.

"Aug. 11 is a very, very important date," he said.

Mrs. Hill makes her official visit

Mrs. Cass Hill, second vice president of the Western District of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, made her official visit to the Modern Woman's Forum which met Oct. 26 in the home of Mrs. S.R. Nobles.

Mrs. Hill reported on the Western District Board meeting which was held Oct. 5-6 in Odessa where the program was on Federation Heritage. Presenting her part of the program on a Capsule History of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Hill stated that the Federation had its beginning April 24, 1890. The constitution was adopted with the motto "Unity in Diversity" engraved on the first membership pin in 1893. The 1957 convention adopted this as the official motto by unanimous vote.

This small banding together of existing clubs has grown into the largest organization of women volunteers in the world with 10 million members purpose of the federation is to bring into contact and unite women's clubs for mutual benefit and promotion of their common interests.

The organization's work and purpose should be germane to the objectives of the General Federation to be eligible for membership. No secret societies are accepted and the federation will not tolerate any violation of state or national law.

The next meeting will be Nov. 9 in the home of Mrs. H.M. Rowe.

TWEEN! 12 and 20 Dad puts foot down on school dances

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and need your help. I'm a sophomore and our school has all kinds of dances that are chaperoned by teachers and administrators. My problem is that my dad won't allow me to attend any of them until I'm 16. Mom would allow me to go but not my dad.

When I ask him about it he says he doesn't want to talk about it.

Whenever my friends ask me why I don't go to the dances, I am too embarrassed ed to tell them the real reason so I make up some silly excuse. What can I do to get my dad to see it my way? — Melody, Torrance, Calif.

Melody: Have your school counselor call your father and invite him and your mom to the next school dance so they can evaluate the situation for themselves. It shouldn't take over 10 minutes for them to make up their minds.

I strongly support school-sponsored functions and would hope your parents could see value in school dances. For every minus there are 10 pluses.

Dr. Wallace: I have this friend (M) who is going steady with a guy. They get along just fine except for one small problem, another girlfriend of mine (A). A is always hanging around them and she flirts with this guy. This really gets M upset.

How can I let A know she is messing up M's relationship with this boy? Don't tell me to "butt out" because M requested my help. — Nancy, Dixon, Ill.

Nancy: I'm sorry but it's up to "M" or her boyfriend to handle the problem, if indeed it is a problem. If you should say something to A about it, she might tell you to butt out.

Recital Sunday

The Piano Teachers Forum students will present a piano recital Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the Howard College Auditorium.

Students playing are Kari LaRochelle, Lori Anderson, Lisa Stabeno, Robbie Dolan, April Sultan, Melissa Torres, Debbie Lee, Debra Shortes, Rebecca Thompson, Brent Butler, Katy Thompson, Tonya Shortes, Marlainy Balisnomo, Sharla Bailey, Jami Norwood, Tess Underwood, Dianna Lefever, Darena Townsend, RaiLynn Rundell, Marguerite Weisner, Deborah Hamill, Lisa Dixon, Laura Lynn Warren, Elise Wheat and Kathy Huskey. The public is invited.

A Mother Too Many

DEAR ABBY: After my parents' divorce, mother left town, and at the age of 2 I was adopted by my mother's sister and her husband, who were in truth my aunt and uncle. They were the only parents I have even known, but I always knew that I had been adopted.

I didn't hear from my "real" mother until shortly before my marriage, when she moved back to the city where I lived.

Since my "real" mother had reunited with her family, she was invited to my wedding. When it came time to introduce everybody, to save a lot of explanations, I introduced her as my mother and my adoptive mother as my aunt because, technically, that's what they both were to me, right?

My adoptive mother was so hurt that she hasn't spoken to me since.

I realize that the damage is done and there's nothing I can do about it now, but how should I have handled this whole mess?

GUILTY

DEAR GUILTY: You should have introduced your adoptive mother as your mother because (a) legally she IS your mother and (b) she earned that name when she adopted you! And you should have introduced your "real" mother as your aunt or your mother's sister, because (a) legally that is what she is and (b) when she gave you up for adoption, she also gave up her right to be called your mother.

DEAR ABBY: How do you feel about telling a woman that she has a run in her stocking or her slip is showing? Or telling a man his zipper is open or he has a button missing?

Is it proper to point out things like that? I have mixed feelings about it. Thanks.

MIXED FEELINGS

DEAR MIXED: To tell a woman that her slip is showing, or a man that his zipper needs zipping, is a kindness since they are able to do something about it. But pointing out a missing button or a run in one's stocking is another matter. Nothing can be done about it; perhaps the person was already aware of it and hoped it wouldn't be noticed.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NO NAME IN NEW ULM, MINN.: Constantly checking up on your good-looking husband may not make him more faithful—but it will make him more careful.

State of seige declared by Bolivian stronghold

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Bolivia's new military strongman, Col. Alberto Natusch, declared a state of seige, dissolved congress and had himself named president only hours after leading a bloody coup and assuring his countrymen political freedom.

The state of seige, which suspends all constitutional guarantees, was announced late Thursday and came amid rumors that a counter-coup would be attempted. Students, unions and major political parties oppose Natusch, denouncing him as a military dictator.

Six students and workers were killed in clashes with soldiers throughout the country Thursday after Natusch seized power from President Walter Guevara's 11-week-old civilian government — Bolivia's first democratically elected one in a decade. Natusch declared himself president and named a Cabinet.

But the Bolivian congress immediately rejected Natusch as president and declared support for Guevara, who from a hiding place somewhere in La Paz, asked his countrymen to resist the Natusch rebels and reverse the coup, one of more than 200 in Brazil's 154-year history as a republic.

The country's top labor leaders called for a 48-hour general strike of businesses and workers and declared opposition to Natusch, even though the 47-year-old colonel and former commandant of the military college got declarations of support from major garrisons throughout the country.

But Gen. David Padilla, Guevara's army chief, urged the commanders to remain loyal to Guevara and then apparently went into hiding. A high-ranking army officer who still backs Guevara said many other officers also support the ousted civilian president.

Bolivia has a $3 billion foreign debt, a 25 percent rate of inflation, an overvalued peso and a foreign trade deficit of $350 million a year. Unless the problems are solved, life for Bolivia's 5 million people with a per capita income of $380 a year is certain to get more

Aerospace engineers in short supply, big demand

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It used to be you could tell an aerospace engineer by the pink slip peeking out from behind the half-dozen pens in his shirt pocket. Now engineers are so scarce that defense firms are paying bounties to steal them from each other.

A simultaneous jump in defense and airliner business has Texas Instruments running ads in Los Angeles on the virtues of Dallas, Northrop offering $1,000 in cash for new workers and Boeing hiring overseas for the first time in a decade. The boom-or-bust aerospace business is booming again.

The Commerce Department's Bureau of Economic Analysis predicts that aerospace companies will sell $47 billion worth of missiles, planes and other defense equipment this year, a 20 percent jump over 1978. In addition, several companies are beginning new commercial airliner programs and the result is unprecedented demand for engineers and other skilled workers.

"You can run into all sorts of sticky problems," says Rockwell International's Al Bormann. "You wind up with internal squabbles over who really referred the new employee, and you also have the situation of people aggressively trying to attract one another's employees."

The personnel shortage has been exacerbated by the many engineers who left the industry for good during earlier slumps and by the declining number of college students in engineering, industry spokesmen say.

"When we're in sync with Douglas, Rockwell and Hughes, that's what causes the problems," says Dave Crowther, spokesman for Lockheed-California Co. "If it's timed so that when we're hiring, Hughes is laying off, that's beautiful. But if the needs are the same across the board, there's just not enough people to meet the demand."

"A lot of engineers who were laid off went into other fields or have gotten out of the aerospace industry and into other disciplines of engineering — construction, oil and so on," says Northrop's Greg Waskul.

Bormann estimated that there is an annual shortage of about 30,000 engineers.

"Engineering graduates have the world by the tail," he said, "and there is no immediate end in sight."

Texas gasohol plant abandoned

On the light side

Won't spent it all

AUSTIN, Texas (AH) — The president of a Kansas firm that wanted to build a $25 million gasohol plant in Texas says the company will look elsewhere while a Senate committee tries to figure out how to revive the abandoned project.

"We have been besieged by offers from just about every state in the union," said Cloud Cray, Midwest Solvents president. "Texas just didn't want us."

Cray commented at a Senate Special Committee on Gasohol hearing. The committee wants to know why the proposed Rio Grande Valley project died after apparently winning legislative and Alcoholic Beverage Commission approval.

At the heart of the issue is whether 190-proof alcohol is fit for human consumption. A top ABC official originally told Midwest the potent alcohol it planned to produce was not drinkable, but he said he was "overruled" by other staff members. The project died.

Joe Darnall, assistant ABC administrator, said he initially decided, "I could live with an interpretation that 190-200-proof alcohol — raw and straight from the still — is unfit for human consumption."

But the ABC senior staff rejected that ruling. Alan Johnson, director of hearings, testified he found a 1933 federal court decision saying such alcohol was drinkable. Midwest was notified of the change and the project was abandoned.

Committee Chairman Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg, said Attorney General Mark White will be asked to interpret the 1979 bill that the company thought cleared the way for the plant.

Cray said the project has been opposed by the Texas liquor lobby. He said the industry has an "overpowering worry" that such a facility would mean "someone outside would come in and open the door to a strong national concern controlling wholesale and retail sales in the state."

Committee members said they wanted to know if the liquor lobby got to the ABC staff before it changed the ruling. Longoria sent out an urgent call for W.S. McBeath, ABC administrator. McBeath boarded a plane in Houston but did not arrive in time to testify.

However, several staff members said they had not been contacted by lobbyists. "I am absolutely convinced there was no collusion and no pressure from the liquor industry on the administrator or the staff," Darnall said.

Longoria said McBeath would be interviewed at the next hearing.

Cray said the firm would like to resurrect the proposed Santa Rosa project, which would result in 481 new jobs for the impoverished town. The Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers Association was to work with the firm to produce gasohol — a mixture of nine parts unleaded gasoline and one part alcohol.

Cray said gasohol would be a "valuable extender" for gasoline through 1990, but he admitted the company would eventually use the alcohol for other projects.

Longoria said the committee might ask Gov. Bill Clements to allow Legislators to consider the gasohol matter at a special session.

DETROIT (AP) — Joseph Frolich has not decided how he's going to spend his million dollars, but a lot of other people already are trying to give him some ideas.

"I didn't have an idea of winning when I came in here," Frolich, 74, said after his name was drawn for the grand prize in the "Michigan 1,000" lottery drawing Thursday.

"I'm not planning on anything right now, but I've had a lot of people here telling me they could sure use some of it," he said. "I've got a wife and two lovely children and four grandchildren. We'll do something with it — I won't have any problem on that end."

Frolich was one of 10 people selected Oct. 18 in Lansing during an elimination drawing for the big lottery. While the top prize was $1,000 a week for life, Frolich is guaranteed a minimum of $1 million.

Taking it all off

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Promoter Carl Alkerton says he may have to find "out" from a hospital bed how his Queen of America's nude beauty pageant came off.

"All this strain is going to have me in a hospital yet, I hope," he said.

First, the hotel where the pageant is to be held Saturday tried unsuccessfully to back out of the deal. Then, on Thursday, Alkerton was denied a court injunction that sought to prohibit the city from enforcing a city ordinance banning public nudity.

Now, the Hollywood Police Department says it will enforce the ordinance — even if it means arresting the contestants.

Hollywood Police Chief Sam Martin says he'll wait until the pageant begins at 9 p.m., take a peek, then proceed accordingly.

"It all depends on their attitudes," Martin said when asked if he'll arrest the participants. "I would hope for people to cooperate and I would prefer to just issue citations — if I have to do anything at all."

Pageant contestants plan to appear on stage wearing, in order, evening gowns, swim suits and birthday suits.

CHAIRMAN PAT KLOTZ (C) CONFERS WITH LOCAL ARTISTS Works of Jean Hensley (L) and Alice A. Webb (R) displayed.

Artists display at credit union

The first display by two local artists were put up this morning at Citizens Federal Credit Union. The displays, which will be changed each month, will feature two members of the Big Spring Art Association. The artists selected for exhibit in November are Alice A. Webb and Jean Smith Hensley.

Webb, who says that she likes to paint realistically, doesn't object to doing semi-abstract once in a while. "I enjoy the challenge of a new technique or a new subject with an old technique," she said. She says that she enjoyed doing paintings of the old West and Indians even "before it became the thing to paint." "To paint is a lifesaving process," she continued. "It is an upper when I'm down, company if I'm lonesome, and a calmer when I'm tense. Painting will make me feel good with myself," Webb said. Even with the personal affects, Webb continues to find buyers for her works and her paintings are now placed in Alaska, New Jersey, and Texas.

Jean Smith Hensley, better known as Jose, is the second artist to be selected to exhibit in November at Citizens Credit Union. Hensley also found painting to have a healing affect and began painting in 1970 as a result of a broken arm. "With the cast slowing down my usual activities, I began painting with acrylics for a pastime. After copying three paintings from a calendar, I thought the rabbits in the third one looked enough like rabbits that I took up painting as a hobby," she said. "Several months and many tubes of acrylics later, I bought a set of oils and began taking lessons. I was firmly hooked."

As for her subject matter, Hensley says "I like to paint pictures of things which have given me pleasure because I can relive the occasion each time I look at the paintings. I can tell a story for almost all my paintings. For instance, I painted 'Rodeo Time' from a photo my husband made of a small boy at this year's Big Spring Rodeo. I didn't know the boy but he was a real cutie. He had a cowboy hat that was much too big for him but anyone could tell he wouldn't part with it. We enjoyed watching both him and the rodeo," she said.

The displays at the credit union will change each month, with two local artists being featured each month. The hours of the exhibit are 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday, and is open to the general public.

Farm exports set record but profits could have been larger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm exports have set another record but could have been even larger — perhaps by $1 billion — if transportation snarls had not developed last summer, according to some Agriculture Department insiders.

Even so, the department officially announced Thursday that exports in the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30 rose to $32 billion, a record for the 10th straight year. The value of commodities shipped also was up 17 percent from exports of $27.3 billion in 1977-78.

One USDA source said "the total would have been larger" had it not been for the strike at Great Lakes port facilities and railroad stoppages, including service by the Rock Island, a major artery for grain and soybeans in the Midwest.

Another source said "there is some disagreement on the numbers" within USDA but that some officials felt the total export value would have been "at least $1 billion" higher if the transportation problems had not developed.

Neither of the sources, who asked not to be identified, would say whether he thought the United States actually lost any new sales of farm commodities because of the lag in deliveries.

An aide to Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said he had no reason to doubt the contention that exports would have been larger if the grain-handling stoppages had not occurred.

But the aide, Tom Sand, added that to his knowledge, "no sales to foreign countries were lost" because of the delays.

Asked about exports in the fiscal year that began Oct. 1, one of the sources said "around $38 billion" seems to be likely, indicating a further growth in export value of more than 18 percent.

For some time, the department has been projecting 1979-80 exports "within a range" of $35 billion to $40 billion, and some experts have said privately the total could exceed the upper figure if the Soviet Union and other big customers opt for even larger orders.

The department is expected to issue a new export trade analysis, including projections for the current year, at its annual outlook conference here next week.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland — in a prepared statement about the past year — said U.S. imports of foreign agricultural products totaled $16.2 billion.

Butter production down by 61.5 million pounds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Butter production in September was about 61.5 million pounds, a decline of 4 percent from a year earlier, but the output of some other dairy items increased, says the Agriculture Department.

Cheese production, for example, rose to 291 million pounds, up 10 percent from September of last year, the department said Thursday. Increases from a year ago also were reported for lowfat cottage cheese, canned evaporated and condensed whole milk, and some categories of dried milk.

Production of nonfat dry milk, however, was reported at 55.6 million pounds, down 3 percent from September 1978.

Chrysler loan plan may get swift action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration's plan for $1.5 billion in loan guarantees to help Chrysler Corp. appears to be headed for swift action by a House panel, but faces doubts and delays in the Senate.

A spokesman for the House Banking Committee said its subcommittee on economic stabilization hopes to question Treasury Secretary G. William Miller within a few days and act on the proposal next week.

Approval by the full banking committee is expected to follow quickly, sending the measure to the floor, where both supporters and opponents have predicted it will pass.

In the Senate, however, Sen. William G. Proxmire, D-Wis., banking committee chairman, said he would begin hearings Nov. 19 and continue them "until the many issues involved... have been thoroughly explored and discussed."

Proxmire is an outspoken opponent of government aid to the nation's No. 3 automaker, which has said it expects to lose more than $1 billion this year.

Sen. Jake Garn of Utah, ranking Republican on the banking committee, said, "A lot of questions must be answered before I would even consider committing public funds for loan guarantees."

Garn said the plan is based on assumptions by Chrysler which may not be realized, including ample fuel supplies, inflation of around 8 percent and a 20 percent increase in the company's share of the U.S. auto market.

"If one of the assumptions does not materialize — if the economy turns out to be worse than expected — then Chrysler financing needs may be even greater than projected, and its hopes for recovery diminished," Garn said.

A supporter of loan guarantees Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., also questioned portions of the administration proposal.

The plan outlined Thursday by Miller is conditioned on Chrysler obtaining an additional $1.5 billion, without loan guarantees, from banks, state and local governments, its workers, dealers and suppliers and the sale of its own assets.

"This raises several questions," said Levin. "Is it a practical, achievable requirement? Does Chrysler have to have all these commitments in hand before it can draw on the federal loan guarantees? What constitutes a commitment? Who will make that determination?"

WESTWARD HO — Steve Loveridge, an Englishman who thrives on adventure, stopped in Coahoma, Big Spring and Stanton this week on a bicycle trip to California. Here he is greeted by Glenn Sargent president of the Coahoma Lions Club, in Stanton. Loveridge, who has conquered the English-Channel in a bathtub, undertook the coast-to-coast bicycle trip to raise money for under-privileged children in his native country. The Lighthouse Principle Maybe few of us landlubbers ever thought about it, but those graceful old lighthouses were built on a firm and logical principle.

They assumed their light would be seen and understood. In fog ships did not see the light and many foundered on the shoals. Occasionally captains mistook the light for that of another vessel and sailing across its bow or stern they came to grief upon the rocks. Yet despite hazards of nature and blunders of man, lighthouses became the landmarks of our coasts.

Whenever in your travels, work or play, you see a church think of it as a lighthouse. Its gleam may not reach every soul. But it's there for those who see and understand.

It lights our way to port while keeping us off the shoals.

ON THE WAY OUT — Workmen prepare the last truck as the final move is completed from the Andytown Bar Thursday. After 32 years the landmark has been ordered torn down to make room for an interstate highway. People like Telly Savalas, Burt Reynolds and Evel Knievel signed petitions to try to prevent the state from leveling Andytown, to no avail.

Texas clean air action

Plan may be withdrawn

HOUSTON (AP) — The chairman of the Texas Air Board says he will ask the board to withdraw the Texas clean air plan submitted last April to the Environmental Protection Agency.

John L. Blair blames a deadlock with the EPA on whether Houston transportation control measures should be in the plan.

Blair said the EPA wants the board to pressure Houston to agree to add transportation controls to the plan. He said the board would do so if local elected officials request such action.

"If a man gets a ticket in Houston for driving downtown without five people in his car, I want that step taken by somebody people can vote on," he said. "And they can't vote on me or on Mrs. Harrison (Adelene Harrison, regional EPA administrator)."

Mrs. Harrison was not available but a spokesman said withdrawal of the plan would subject Texas to a loss of millions in federal highway, sewage plant and other grants and a freeze on new major industrial construction in the Houston area.

"If the plan isn't approved, the sanctions are automatic," said Eddie Lee, a spokesman at regional EPA headquarters in Dallas.

The EPA, however, released a statement saying it believes the dispute is close to a solution.

"We have resolved all the issues except for the presently implemented and planned transportation controls," the EPA said.

TIMOTHY LEARY ART LINKLETTER

Bianca's hopes dashed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bianca Jagger's hopes for a lucrative California divorce settlement from rock star Mick Jagger have been dashed by the state Supreme Court, which says California is not the proper place for their divorce trial.

The high court denied without comment a request from Mrs. Jagger to review an appellate court ruling that a Los Angeles trial court was an improper forum for her suit to shed the international rock star and lead singer for the Rolling Stones.

The couple was married in France in 1971 and separated in 1977.

A divorce suit she filed in England had been delayed by legal maneuvering and she filed for dissolution of the marriage in Los Angeles Feb. 5. A California divorce might prove more costly to Jagger because of the state's common property laws.

Rave reviews for 'Tess'

PARIS (AP) — Good news for fugitive filmmaker Roman Polanski.

His latest film, "Tess," dedicated to his slain wife Sharon Tate, opened to rave reviews in Paris and promises to be a box-office hit.

The 46-year-old, Polish-born director's latest movie is said to be faithful to the 1891 Thomas Hardy novel, "Tess of the d'Urbervilles," a gently told story of star-crossed love, youthful mistakes and miserable penance, and, above all, honor.

Critics saw the film Tuesday and on Wednesday capacity crowds lined up in the rain to get into the theater where the film opened.

Linkletter guest storms

NEW YORK (AP) — Sometime drug guru Timothy Leary stormed off the set of a New York television talk show when the host insisted on talking about drugs and bringing out a reformed drug addict as a guest.

"I didn't want to come here and talk about drugs," Leary said Thursday when the host of "The Final Days of Stanley Siegel" placed a telephone call to Columbus, Ohio, where TV personality Art Linkletter had a speaking engagement.

Linkletter's daughter, Diane, died in 1969 at the age of 20 when she jumped from the window of her sixth-floor apartment during an LSD episode.

Will history repeat itself in election?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once there was a presidential candidate who harvested such a crop of campaign endorsements it was hard to keep track of them all.

Just about every Democrat who was anybody endorsed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie. His campaign collapsed before the last frost of 1972.

That is worth noting as Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and President Carter wage their struggle for endorsements in the campaign for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination.

The support of Democratic officeholders and party leaders is an asset to any candidate. But the only endorsements that count are the ones that spell votes in the competition for nominating delegates.

Every candidate tries to create a bandwagon psychology, and a succession of campaign endorsements can serve that goal. There is concern in the Carter White House that defections to Kennedy are going to give the impression of a stampede from the president to his challenger.

Carter's people say they have plenty of endorsements, top, and expect more. They count 20 governors on the president's side, and mayors of such major cities as New York, Los Angeles and Detroit.

They are braced against the prospect that some people who now work for the administration will walk out and join the Kennedy campaign, but it still seems smart.

It certainly did in the case of former Iowa Sen. Dick Clark. The Carter people thought they had effectively neutralized him, since he was on the administration payroll at $57,500 a year as refugee coordinator.

But Clark said he never promised to remain neutral forever, only for as long as he held the State Department job. He cleaned out his desk and joined the challenger Thursday.

Clark could be particularly valuable to Kennedy, since the leadoff contest of 1980 will be the Iowa precinct caucuses Jan. 21. He will presumably try to use whatever organization remains from his unsuccessful bid for Senate reelection in 1978 to boost the Kennedy cause in that presidential contest.

Endorsements and allies are no substitute for political organization, particularly in competition as specialized as the Iowa caucuses. The key task in any campaign is to identify and get out the candidate's vote. That goes double in the kind of neighborhood politics that begins the selection of delegates in Iowa.

Former Big Spring man shot twice in Dallas

A former Big Spring man was shot twice, once in the head and once in the side, while working alone early the morning of Oct. 24. He is in stable condition at Presbyterian Hospital, Dallas.

Clarence Grubaugh, 30, manager of the Dallas Winchell's Donut House, turned toward the cash register to change a one dollar bill for a male customer when he was shot in the left side of the head. The bullet lodged in the back of his nose.

As he was knocked to the ground by the force of the first shot, Grubaugh was struck again, the second time in his side. The bullet exited through his stomach, hitting no vital organs.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Grubaugh, Big Spring, parents of the victim, their son remained conscious and called the police himself.

At 3:30 a.m., Grubaugh's wife, Edith, also a former Big Spring resident, was alerted by police. Grubaugh was admitted to Parkland Hospital, Dallas.

Police were given a description of the assailant by Grubaugh, but as of yet, there are no suspects. Although robbery has not been completely ruled out as a motive, there was no money missing from the place of business.

"The police believe it's possible that the man thought Clarence was going for a gun when he turned toward the cash register," revealed the victim's mother. She and her husband have recently returned from visiting their son in Dallas.

Doctors released Grubaugh from Parkland Hospital Sunday. However, he was later admitted to the Presbyterian Hospital Wednesday after losing his sense of taste and smell. He will undergo tests.

Doctors have not, as of yet, made the decision whether to remove the lodged bullet, according to Mrs. Grubaugh.

Not since, 1969 when the Mets and the Jets were winners, have the two trophies been in the same city. The two did have a friendly argument about who was the original "Mad Dog," a shared nickname.

Homecoming for Big Spring

Steer's host state's top rated Abilene Cooper Cougars tonight

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

Whoever planned Homecoming for the Big Spring High School must have had some sort of suspicion that the host Steers would be in the thick of the District 5-AAAA race and hoping that the pre-season favorite, Abilene Cooper, would also still be playing the favorite's role.

Half of the above is still true. The Abilene Cooper Cougars, not only rated as the pre-season favorite in the loop, but also as the top team in the state in Class AAAA, have not disappointed their followers in rolling to a spotless record of 7-0 and retaining their lofty spot in the Associated Press Schoolboy Poll and the Harris Rating System.

Big Spring, meanwhile, with hopes of fielding a very quick team that could hopefully be explosive at moments, have slumped to a record of 1-6, with their only win being a non-district triumph over the Hobbs Eagles.

Cooper could quite possibly be somewhat emotionally down this week. The Cougars are coming off two consecutive very important wins over the other two top teams in 5-AAAA, Midland Lee and Odessa Permian.

Cooper scored the first three times they had the ball against Lee, then held off the scrappy Rebels for a 28-14 win on the road. Then, last week during the Cooper Homecoming festivities, the talented Cougars of Coach Ray Overton took a hard earned 14-3 win over the Mojo crew. It was the first win for Overton over Permian since his head coaching stint at the South Abilene began in 1972.

Cooper's win last week was spearheaded by their outstanding defense and the play of 225-pound Terry Orr. Orr, who had not played any offense due to a shoulder injury in the previous two games against Odessa High and Lee, was the main cog in the Cooper attack against Permian, carrying 28 times for 177 yards. He also scored both Cooper touchdowns, one on a 40-yard romp.

Big Spring should remember Orr quite well from his performance last season when he trampled through the Steers for six touchdowns en route to Cooper's 54-0 rout.

But Orr has received plenty of support from his teammates this year. When he didn't play any offense against Odessa and Lee, backup fullback Steve Moake, a 200-pound senior, capably filled his shoes.

Cooper also has the luxury of two quarterbacks that have moved the club with success. Senior quarterback John Slaughter is the starter, but junior Lanny Dycus usually plays about the same time. Slaughter, who is also an excellent golfer, has compiled the better rushing statistics, but Dycus has exhibited the stronger passing. Slaughter is the fourth leading passer in 5-AAAA, while Dycus is ranked sixth presently.

Other key threats offensively for the Cougars are tailback Keith Pantalion and split end David Williams. Both are returning starters. Pantalion is the eighth leading rusher in 5-AAAA and has averaged just under six yards per crack. Williams is a spirited 145-pounder that is the fastest player on the team. He also returns punts and kickoffs, and is a versatile athlete that was one of the best defensive basketball players in the loop last winter.

The Cooper defense, who some felt had been overlooked due to the well-balanced offense most of the season, definitely gained a great deal of respect in limiting Permian to only three points. They enter the game as the leading defense in the district, as is their offense.

Nine defensive starters return from last year, with tackle Paul Mergenhausen, end Rusty Hoff and linebacker Greg Berry leading the charge. But to overlook the rest of the defenders would be somewhat blind.

Big Spring Coach Ron Logback is extremely impressed with the play of Berry, liking him to University of Texas standout linebacker Lance Taylor, who the Steer mentor coached against during a stint in El Paso a few years back. Berry is always around the ball, which speaks highly of both his play and the domination of Cooper down linemen.

Lee scored both of its touchdowns basically on ground oriented drives, while Permian had its only success in their game by throwing underneath the Cougar secondary. Logback hasn't said, but the Steers will probably try to use the strategy of throwing between the seams of the deep defensive backs and the zones that the linebackers cover short.

In order to do this, the Big Spring line must improve over last week's performance against Lee when the Steers had minus 43 yards rushing. It is doubtful that either of the Big Spring signal callers, David Coffey or Jimmy Marquez, will have time to throw deep against the Cougars.

Cooper also has a quality kicking game in Kyle Stuard. The 175-pound senior has converted 12 extra points in 5-AAAA play, and also is the second best punter with a plus-40 yard average. He also plays the free safety position.

Homecoming activity gets underway tonight at 7:30 p.m., with the crowning of the annual Homecoming Queen. BSHS game time is 8:00 p.m.

Area grid roundup

Ballinger at Coahoma

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogs will be trying to stay in the title chase in District 6-AA tonight when they play host to the Ballinger Bearcats in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

The Bulldogs, 3-1 in district play and 4-3 on the year, cannot afford another loss if they want to have any hopes of catching either Stamford or Wylie in the title chase.

Ballinger, meanwhile, is out of the race with a 1-3 mark in loop play and a season record of 2-4-1, but would like nothing more than to play the role of the spoilers.

Coahoma took a hard earned 10-8 win over Anson last Friday, while Ballinger was registering a 41-21 win over Merkel.

Tonight's game will be Dad's Night, with all of the fathers of Bulldog players being presented before the kickoff.

Stanton at Anton

ANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes try to regroup and gain some lost pride tonight when they play Anton in a District 5-A game.

Stanton, considered by some in the pre-season as the team to beat in 5-A, have been shocked in their last two outings, a 10-9 loss to Plains and a 14-14 tie with O'Donnell.

Anton could prove to be a most formidable foe, as they tied O'Donnell earlier in the season.

Stanton enters the game with a district record of 2-1-1 and a season mark of 4-1-2, while Anton is 0-3-1 in loop play and 0-6-1 on the year.

Anton lost to Forsan last week by a 17-0 score.

Forsan at Seagraves

SEAGRAVES — The Forsan Buffaloes will be trying to achieve the biggest upset of the year in District 5-A tonight when they take the field against the sixth rated team in Class A, the Seagraves Eagles.

Seagraves has rolled to a perfect season mark of 7-0, with a district slate of 4-0. They have not been severely challenged for an entire game thus far. Forsan, meanwhile is 1-3 in district play and 2-5 p.m. the season.

Seagraves is coming off a 21-0 win over Plains, while the Forsan Buffaloes, behind the play of Weldon Nichols, Ernie Strickland and Tommy Blewitt and others, took their initial win in 5-A play, with a 17-0 whitewash of Anton.

Dawson at Sands

ACKERLY — The Sands Mustangs, showing definite improvement in their last two outings, will be searching for their first win of the year tonight when they play host to Dawson.

It will in reality be the last chance for the Mustangs to win, as they play powerful Klondike in their season finale.

Sands is 0-3 in District 3-B West play and 0-8 for the season, while Dawson is 0-3 in district play and 2-6 on the year. Sands lost a 27-16 decision to Meadow last week, while Dawson took a 42-12 loss to New Home.

Grady at Cotton Center

COTTON CENTER — The Grady Wildcats try to play the role of the spoilers tonight when they visit Cotton Center for a District 3-B (Six-man) game.

Cotton Center is undefeated on the season, sporting a district record of 3-0 and a season mark of 7-0. Grady, meanwhile, is 0-2-1 in district play and 3-3-1 overall.

Grady lost to Wellman by a score of 60-32 last week, while Cotton Center triumphed over Three Way by a score of 32-14.

Cotton Center won the district title last year by taking a win over Grady.

Jayton at Garden City

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City Bearcats are heavy underdogs to Jayton tonight when the two District 3-B East foes take the field.

Garden City is still seeking their first win of the season, while Jayton is riding along with a district record of 3-0 and a season mark 5-1-2 into the contest.

Garden City lost to Borden County by a 35-0 score last week, while Jayton cremated Loraine by a 51-0 score.

Forsan JHS finishes undefeated season

ROBERT LEE — The Forsan Junior High Buffaloes climaxed their undefeated season on a most successful note here Thursday afternoon, taking a 6-0 win over the Robert Lee Junior High team.

Daniel Bristo scored the only touchdown for the Forsan team.

The win enabled the Forsan team to finish with a season record of 6-0-2.

match here Thursday night.

The Big Spring win gives the Steer fems a second half record of 5-0 and keeps them tied with San Angelo Central for the lead. The Steer fems have matches remaining with Odessa High here next Tuesday and at San Angelo next Thursday.

Elise Wheat was the leading server for Big Spring with 12.

Steer Coach Carole Bartasek praised the effective spiking of Cynthia Washington, as well as the backcourt coverage of Karen Kimble and Dee Earhart.

One big asset in the win was the well placed sets that the Steers exhibited, especially by Kimble and Pam Caudill.

The Big Spring junior varsity continued to roll on, also, taking a 15-12, 15-2 win over the Cooper junior varsity.

Sissy Doss was the high point server with 12, while Dawn Estes drew the praise of her coach for her court coverage and outstanding spiking.

Coahoma JHS sweeps Post

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Junior High seventh and eighth graders swept their games with Post Junior High in football action here Thursday night.

The Coahoma seventh graders, behind the offensive spark of John Swinney and Robbie Henry and an excellent defense, took a 22-0 win.

Quarterback Swinney opened the scoring in the first stanza when he sneaked over from the one. Jimmy Yanez then ran for the two-point conversion.

Neither team could score until the fourth quarter, when Henry hauled in a pass from Swinney and raced 16 yards to paydirt. Bobby Henry then ran for the two-point conversion.

Later in the game, Robbie Henry climaxed the scoring in the affair by running over from the 10. The PAT run failed.

Offensive standouts for the Coahoma seventh graders were Henry, who had 65 yards rushing on nine carries and one touchdown pass receiving plus offensive linemen Billy Brant, Shawn Justice, and Jeff Clifton.

Spearheading the tough Bullpup defense were Mark Bennett, Mike Owens, Yanez and Carey Burchett.

The Coahoma eighth graders then took a lopsided 30-6 win over Post.

Mike McKinley started the scoring for Coahoma in the opening stanza on a five-yard run, but Post quickly retaliated to tie the score on an eight-yard dash.

The Bullpups then took the lead for good in the second period when McKinley burst over from the nine. The PAT failed.

Coahoma iced the game away in the third stanza on two touchdowns. The first was on a 59-yard gallop by Chuck Stephens, with Stephens also taking honors on the second score of the quarter on a 19-yard burst. The PAT failed after both of Stephens' jaunts.

McKinley concluded the scoring in the game on a short run in the final stanza. Again, the PAT failed.

Offensive standouts for the Coahoma eighth graders included James Sanders, Robbie Phermetton, Jeff Dever and McKinley.

Defensive stars in the 30-6 win included Ricky Delacruz, Steve Hector, and Richard Seals. Seals also punted twice for a 40-yard average to help keep the Post team backed up.

BSHS volleyball history: 1969-79

By MICKIE DICKSON

Miss Susie Lynch became head coach for the Steerettes in 1968 with winning season records for '68, '69, '70 and '71. However, the teams failed to win district titles.

Stiff competition between the Steerettes, Midland High School and Midland Lee began at this time and continues to this day. Midland Lee won the Class AAAA title in 1969 with Midland High winning runnerup at State in 1971. The first Big Spring team to enter the State Tournament in Austin was produced in 1972 when they lost the initial game, but represented the district and BSHS well.

The 1973, '74 and '75 teams had winning seasons but again failed to win district titles. The most fierce competition came from Snyder and Midland High School.

Volleyball became a fall sport and the U.I.L. actually hosted two State Tournaments in 1975, one in the spring and the other in the fall at Austin.

Miss Nancy Deason took over the reigns of coaching the BSHS Volleyball team in 1976 when the team had a winning season but lost out in district to Midland in a neck to neck race for the crown.

Coach Deason had another winning season in 1977 plus a trip to the State Tournament. This team was the second to represent Big Spring High School at State. Although losing the first game to the eventual State Champion, the team provided many exciting and memorable moments for the fans. Rose Magers was named to the All-State Volleyball team.

Miss Carole Bartasek moved up from assistant varsity coach to head volleyball coach after Miss Deason left Big Spring in 1978. The team lost the district to San Angelo in the final game of the season in Big Spring.

This year's team has come out second in the first half of district play and is continuing the fight for the district title against San Angelo. As of Wednesday, the BSHS volleyball team is undefeated this season in district. Coach Bartasek has continued the winning ways of Big Spring Volleyball teams of the past.

Big Spring salutes the dedication and play of all past BSHS volleyball teams and the coaches who have made it possible.

The Super Bowl 5 participants are made up of 25 players from both the National Division and American Division. The coaches for the American All-Stars are A.J. Pirkle, Jim Stewart and Jim Bob Phillips. Coaching the National All-Stars will be Tooter Hudgins, Leo Williams and Luvien Flores.

The National All-Stars, are composed of players from the Optimist Dolphins, Cosden Cowboys and Elks Lodge Vikings. From the Dolphins are Paul Decker, Dwyane Sherman, Harry Marquez, Chon Garcia, Luis Puga, Jason Jiles, Rodney McMillian, Lyn Wright and Mike Wilbanks. From the Vikings are Ronnie Gaskins, Donald Ford, Shane Robertson, Bruce Strickland, Jason Donaghe, Scott McKinney, Kim Anding, and Trace Adams.

From the Raiders are Kerry Fraser, Eric Thompson, Mitch Griffin, Mark Rickey, Robert Davis, Kenneth Bennett, Heath Stewart and Todd Coker. Representing the Bulldogs are Chuck Martin, Barry Stafford, Scott Warneke Zac Creech, Brian Callaway, Darrell Abbregh, Gary Vaughn and Charles Cahoon.

TRIES TO QUIET CROWD — Disco singing star Donna Summer, center, tries to quiet the audience for Betty Ford Thursday night at a disco-party benefit for the Betty Ford Cancer Center. Former President Gerald Ford, his wife Betty and Ms. Summer were among nearly 1,000 persons attending the $500-a-couple dinner and dance at the Beverly Hilton benefiting the cancer research center of the Cedars-Sinai Medical Center.

Texas farmers, ranchers to receive questionnaire

From mid-November to early January, thousands of Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop or livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service or will be personally interviewed by the service's field staff.

The information gathered through the questionnaire and interviews provides the basis for determining the final acreage, yield and production of crops and end-of-the-year livestock and poultry numbers for the state of Texas and for each county.

All of the estimates published by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service are based on the data provided by Texas farmers and ranchers, County Extension Agents, ASCS offices, and many others in agriculture.

This cooperation provides the necessary data which is, in turn, returned to farmers and ranchers and others in the form of accurate estimates, which are so essential in making the widest production and marketing decisions.

Accurate estimates are also essential to farm organizations and legislators in promotion, planning and enacting wise legislation and are used in establishing acreages and payment levels to producers under the various commodity programs.

The collection and publication of agricultural statistics are a cooperative effort between the Texas Department of Agriculture and USDA. This cooperation avoids duplication of effort, promotes economies and increases the effectiveness of statistical reports.

All individual farm and ranch information is kept confidential and only state and county summaries become part of the final published estimate.

County estimates for 1978 and Jan. 1, 1979 are available on livestock, poultry, dairy, field crops, small grains, cotton, vegetables, fruits and pecans, and cash receipts from the sale of Texas farm commodities.

Bulletins can be obtained from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, P.O. Box 70, Austin 78767, or by writing Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Capitol Station, Austin 78711.

China prices rise sharply

TOKYO (AP) — China has announced price hikes of about 33 percent for meat, fish, eggs and other staples and is lifting fixed prices on 10,000 other items, the official Xinhua news agency reported.

Urban residents and industrial workers will receive a $3.33 monthly allowance to help them meet the higher prices, Xinhua said.

Xinhua said the government was continuing its $4.5 million annual subsidies to maintain current prices for food grains, edible oil, sugar, cotton cloth and coal.

INVESTIGATORS — According to Gannett News Service, the Most Reverend Paul M. Boyle of Chicago, left, head of the Passionist Fathers, and Bishop George H. Guilfoyle, center, of Camden, N.J., were appointed Visitation by Pope Paul VI about five years ago to investigate the Pauline Fathers. According to Gannett, Cardinal John Krol, right, of Philadelphia, along with the Vatican investigators, directed that the Paulines should be severely disciplined.

Order accused of squandering millions

Pope dismisses 'monk'ey business

WASHINGTON (AP) — High officials of the Roman Catholic Church, including Pope John Paul II, have been struggling for more than five years to settle a major religious "scandal" involving a small order of monks based in Pennsylvania, the Gannett News Service reports.

Vatican documents show that, in less than a decade, the order squandered a substantial portion of $20 million in charitable donations, loans, investments and bond proceeds through mismanagement, dubious business practices, and what Vatican investigators described as "chaotic" and "immoral" lifestyles," the news service says in the first of a series of articles on the Pauline Fathers.

The news service described a series of events leading to what it called a "crisis for the Vatican that ripped apart" the 600-year-old Order of St. Paul the First Hermit — the Pauline Fathers — and "pushed" Roman Catholic hierarchy into "an effort to avoid civil and criminal prosecution of those involved and consequent public scandal."

The report says papal investigators concluded that business deals and tax-avoidance schemes engineered by the leader of the Paulines in five states — Florida, California, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New York — were of questionable legality and violated church canons.

The Vatican investigators — with Cardinal John Krol, Archbishop of Philadelphia, and members of the church hierarchy — directed that the offending priests should be severely disciplined, according to the news report. Gannett said Krol declined to comment on the report.

But, the news service said, Pope John Paul II reversed that decision and closed the inquiry into the order and its exploits with a papal decree issued May 21.

The Gannett report lists "principal elements" in the investigation, including an intense power struggle within the church over who should control the Paulines, a struggle so bitter that Vatican "detectives" reported the bugging of telephones in Rome and Poland.

New beat for reporters?

NEW YORK (AP) — Reporters are used to being assigned to such areas of specialty as the police beat, the court beat or the city council beat. Now, suggests Dr. Norman Vincent Pease, why not an "up" beat?

Pease, who accentuates the positive in a daily radio show, says too much unpleasant news makes people develop "a negatively skewed perception, or deviant view, of America."

The pastor of New York's Maribee College Church said Tuesday he would like to see news of "those who are generous, hard-working and caring for their neighbors, their communities and their country. Also, those who show courage, compassion and involvement — stories some might characterize as corny."

Baptists cite Houston religion editor

Louis A. Moore, a Houston newspaper religion editor who believes that "God has many friends in this world," is the 1979 recipient of the Texas Baptist Communications Award.

He has traveled with Pope John Paul as a reporter, and taught Sunday School in a Baptist mission.

Moore, 33, is religion editor of the Houston Chronicle. He received the award during the annual session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas Oct. 30-Nov. 1 in Lubbock. The Texas Baptist Public Relations Advisory Committee selected Moore to receive the award for his contributions to the religious life of Texas through reporting.

"I believe God has many friends in this world. Some have the label Baptist, but many don't," Moore said. "I was reared a Southern Baptist, and appreciate my heritage. People should have a choice on how best to relate to God through which denominational structure."

Charles L. Allen, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Houston, said that Moore "has a great influence in the religious community of Houston, a good influence." Allen described Moore as "one of the most sincere, honest, capable religion reporters in the United States."

The Religion Newswriters Association in 1975 selected Moore and the Chronicle as first among metropolitan daily newspapers and writers for excellence in religion sections and pages.

C. Wilson Brumley, missions director of the Union Baptist Association of churches in the Houston area, said that Moore "did the best job of reporting the Southern Baptist Convention in Houston this year of any person on any convention I have ever seen." The 1979 Southern Baptist Convention in Houston is remembered for controversy over biblical inerrancy.

"Louis didn't try to make us look good, he didn't try to make us look bad. He did a very good job of reporting what actually happened."

Church women board meets

The Church Women United Board met Oct. 26 after a covered dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Lee Porter.

The board is composed of the presidents and representatives of women's organizations of ten churches that belong to Church Women United. Any church group not now participating is invited to join.

Both the Highland Church of God and the First Church of God recently joined the group.

Mrs. Ben Boadle, president, presided over the business meeting. Business included planning the yearbook.

Responsibilities that each group will take on this year are three Ecumenical observances, and parties for and assistance to the state hospital, the Mountain View Nursing Home and the West Side Center.

Attending the meeting were 15 members. The next board meeting is scheduled for April, 1980.

Film on Christ's life appeals to all ages

Every once in a while a film comes along that warms the heart of the viewer and excites the imagination.

"The Galilean" is one of those films. In 30 minutes and beautiful color, the film covers the birth, ministry, death and resurrection of Christ in an unusual but revealing way that all age groups will understand.

Filmed entirely in Israel, you will see the steps Jesus Christ took to redeem mankind. You will hear the voices of those spoken of in the gospels with new clarity and understanding.

The film ends with music written by John W. Peterson and the promise that Jesus is coming again.

You and your friends are invited to attend the showing at Hillcrest Baptist Church, 6 p.m. Sunday.

A Farthing's Worth
I read about a man who was approached by a strange dog. The dog was wagging its tail and growling at the same time, and the man didn't know which end to believe! People outside the church looking in are in much the same predicament. Which part of the church do they believe? The part living for Christ inviting them to come in, or the part living like the devil with lives intersted with hypocrisy?

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, NOV. 3, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are able to put in motion some new arrangement that means a good deal to you. You are able to get into a whole new set of details, circumstances under which to make a specific course of action a real success.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Finish making plans early that gain your finest aims. Be more practical where finances are concerned. Improve property.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Come to the right decisions with regard to future activities. Listen to what a trusted adviser has to say. Be active and be happy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Morning is best for dealing with matters concerning friends. Then consult with advisers later in the day. Be careful with money.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A good day to deal with money matters. Make social plans early so that they work out admirably later.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make plans early by consulting with an expert adviser and backer. Follow your intuition. Get into community work.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Keep any promises you have made to others and then get out to new and interesting activities. Show special thought to mate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Set aside some time for discussing policy matters with associates. Something occurs that will assist you in improving outside affairs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can polish off that work that has been hard to do before this. Make new arrangements with co-workers and associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get started on creative ideas early and get good results. Spend as much time as you can with loved ones and increase happiness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study a new project from every potential and let it work to your complete satisfaction. Confer with an expert.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Turn casual friends into close friends and gain their goodwill. Get into a community affair that can be helpful and pleasurable.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) One in a position of power can help you a good deal, so don't hesitate to ask for favors. Think along more constructive lines.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have big ideas early in life and will want to learn, be a fine student and have ambitious plans which can be whittled down to a practical level. Teach early to go to the head person when asking for help, special favors for best results. Some musical talent here.

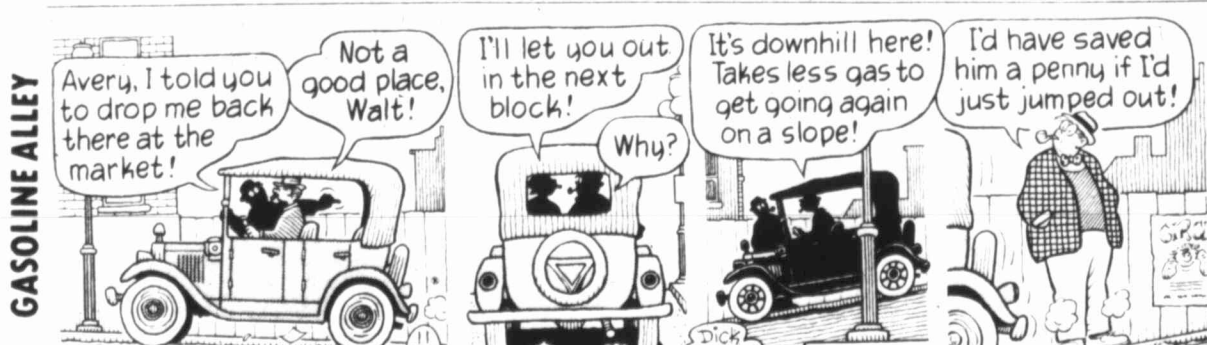

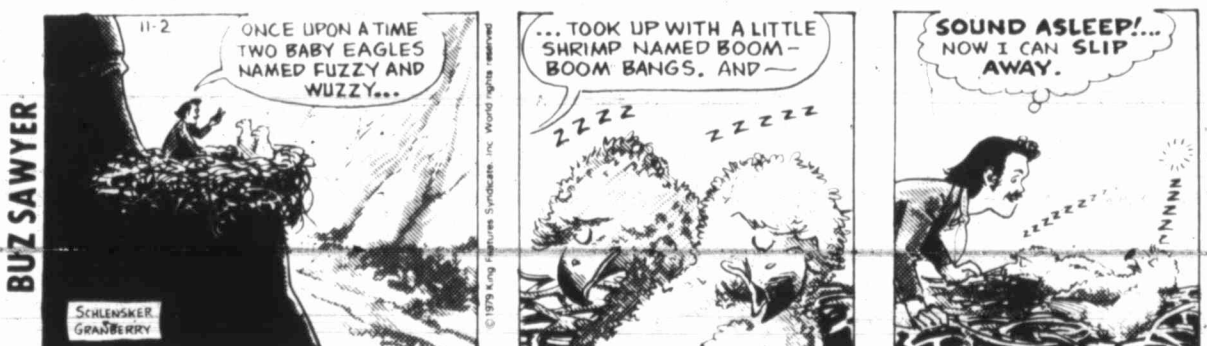

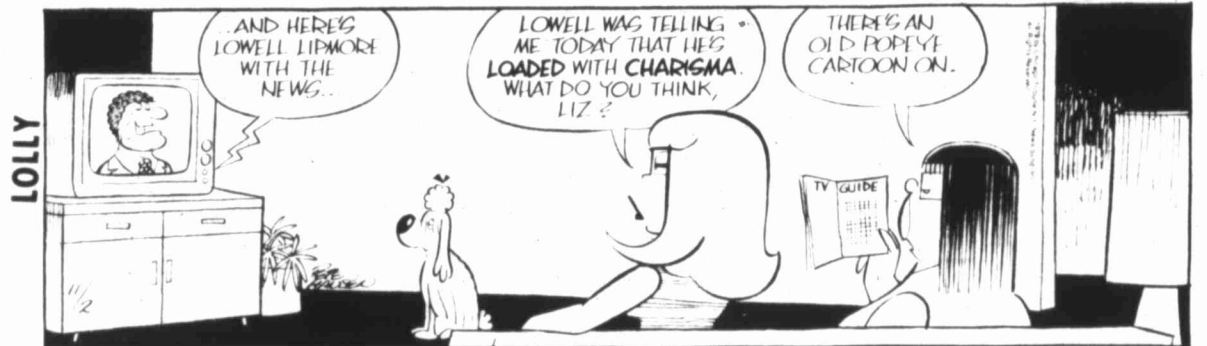

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
