

'Death to America!' shouted by mob

Thousands of Iranian demonstrators chanting "Death to America!" marched on the U.S. Embassy in Tehran today as Anwar Sadat, Muhammad Ali and Pope John Paul II joined other world figures trying to win the release of some 60 Americans held there.

Tehran Radio, monitored in Kuwait, said Red Cross representatives were allowed into embassy today and reported the hostages to be in good condition. The student militants holding the U.S. compound previously had barred the Red Cross.

The Turkish ambassador in Tehran, Turgut

Tolumen, also visited the embassy, Saudi Arabian radio reported. State Department officials said they were informed Tolumen might try to open negotiations with the students. If he does, it would be the first direct mediation of the 6-day-old embassy standoff.

Egyptian President Sadat was reported ready to send his personal jet to fly the shah from New York to Egypt. Former heavyweight boxing champion Ali reportedly offered to exchange himself for the hostages. And the pope dispatched an envoy to Iran to meet with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

The State Department said it was considering calling for a U.N. Security Council meeting on the situation.

Witnesses in Tehran, reached by The Associated Press from Bonn, West Germany, reported the march on the embassy, where the Americans have been held captive since Sunday by Iranian demonstrators demanding the United States hand over Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi for trial in Iran, where he has been condemned to death.

The witnesses said the marchers were urged on by Moslem clergymen.

President Carter sent a peace mission en route to Iran two days ago but the Iranians rebuffed the overture. They also rejected a mediation bid by the Palestine Liberation Organization, saying they would not open negotiations with anyone unless the Carter administration agrees to surrender the shah.

The rejection of the PLO overture, reported by Tehran Radio, left world leaders groping for solutions to the stalemate.

Sadat told an NBC-TV correspondent in Cairo that the events in Iran were "a disgrace to Islam," and he believed that flying the shah to Egypt from his New York hospital bed would help meet the Iranians' demand the monarch be sent out of the United States.

"Quote me: my airplane is ready to bring him here any moment," Sadat said. He said he had talked to Carter about the idea by telephone Thursday night.

A State Department spokesman said such a decision would have to be made by the shah. Earlier this week, the deposed monarch offered to leave the United States but his doctors said it was medically inadvisable.

Pope John Paul dispatched Archbishop Annibale Bugnini to Iran "for humanitarian reasons ... to secure the safety" of the hostages, the Vatican said. Bugnini, papal ambassador to Iran, will seek a meeting with Khomeini, who sources said has "high respect" for the Roman Catholic Church and the pope.

Vought Corporation apparently will not locate facility here

Jack Redding, chairman of the Industrial Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, announced today that word has been received here from Vought Corporation, Grand Prairie, that the U.S. Navy has placed a one year moratorium on any outside contracts on naval equipment.

This position of the Navy will delay any commitment that could be made regarding use of the Big Spring Industrial Park hangar and facilities by Vought Corp.

Industrial Committee member Winston Wrinkle said that he believes this moratorium is a political decision on the part of the Navy and that it will change after the 1980 presidential election. Big Spring will not wait for Vought, however, Redding said.

"We need to continue industrial development in Big Spring," he said. "We're not going to delay leasing these facilities just because of this. We will be looking for other industries."

Prospects for the hangar include a company that paints aircraft which Redding said could start small and build up, and a West Texas bottling industry that is looking for facilities the size of the new hangar.

Wrinkle said that the hangar had been designated for aeronautical purposes, but that the designation could be changed.

According to Redding, there are some 100 other smaller aircraft companies that have not been approached.

"The Industrial Foundation is going to get a good marketing plan to get to the presidents of these other companies," said Redding.

Wrinkle said that Big Spring has the best aircraft maintenance facilities in the United States that are vacant. Redding said the Industrial Committee is still leaning toward attracting an aircraft company here but "we're going to go after anybody."

Martin County tax office theft may be solved

STANTON — After almost two months of investigation, Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders has announced that his department has completed its case and will seek an indictment against a suspect in the Martin County Tax Office theft.

Over $1,000 in cash and checks were stolen from the county office during August and early September. Payment was stopped on the checks, but the thief netted $782.36 in cash from the safe. Saunders said today that all of the missing checks have been replaced with new checks by the taxpayers.

After a preliminary investigation failed to solve the crime, Texas Ranger Charlie Hodges of Midland was called into the case at the request of Saunders and District Attorney Rick Hamby.

According to Saunders, the now completed case will be submitted to the Martin County Grand Jury which meets 9 a.m. Nov. 21. Saunders issued a statement from his office which reads:

"The three people who work in the tax office were allowed to submit to a polygraph examination, a means of truth detection, at their request."

Saunders said today that an additional four persons, two Martin County employees and two others, have also undergone polygraph examinations.

"The written results of the examinations have been received by this office," he says in his statement. "Our investigation is complete and our case reports turned over to 118th Judicial District Attorney Rick Hamby at his office in Big Spring for presentation to the next grand jury."

Mrs. Donnie Kennedy, Martin County tax-assessor-collector, said the first cash found to be missing was $149.88, discovered on Monday, Aug. 27.

"I first became aware of it when my employees told me the cash receipts did not match up with the cash on hand," she said. After looking over the books later that week, Mrs. Kennedy said she discovered the $149.88 missing.

On Tuesday after the long Labor Day weekend, Mrs. Kennedy said another $100 in cash was missing and on the following Wednesday, a bank deposit of $897.83, $697.35 in checks and $200.48 in cash, vanished. An additional $332 was taken out of the cash drawer, bringing the total of that theft to $1,029.83.

Rumors have swirled around Martin County for the past two months concerning the theft. According to one rumor, all county employees and officials were suspects and were being given polygraph tests, a rumor Saunders quickly dispelled.

Martin County Judge Jimmy Mathis and members of the commissioners court have publicly stated that they will not rest until the case is solved.

"There are too many innocent people who can get hurt by this thing for it to go unsolved," Mathis said last month.

Saunders said today that since his announcement that the case has been completed, his office has been swamped with calls by persons inquiring and sometimes demanding to know who the suspect is. Saunders said that charges have not been filed on anyone. The grand jury will determine if there are to be charges filed.

In addition to one count of felony theft, there are 13 other cases due to be sent to the grand jury when it meets, including burglary with intent to commit rape, three counts of hindering apprehension of prosecution, two counts of robbery by assault, and two counts of arson.

Other charges due for presentation include hindering of a secured mortgage, one theft of services, two theft counts and one subsequent offense of driving while intoxicated.

$10 million annual budget anticipated School for Deaf could be biggest asset to Big Spring

After a number of letdowns from major industries that did not make it into Big Spring, the community is now in the process of acquiring its biggest asset since the closing of Webb Air Force Base.

Howard College President Dr. Charles Hays said today that ultimately an annual budget of $10 million is anticipated for operating the school for the deaf that will be located at Industrial Park.

"That's probably as big as Lockheed would have been and a lot more stable," he said.

The college received a green light from the Howard College Board of Trustees Tuesday to begin establishing the school for the deaf. The approval was given, based on the Texas Education Board's acceptance of the college's feasibility study proving that a post-secondary education facility for the deaf was needed and that Big Spring was the best location for it.

The city is preparing a resolution to convey some 65 acres and several buildings at Industrial Park to the college for the purpose of establishing the school, City Manager Don Davis said today. That resolution is being placed on the agenda for the city council to consider at its Nov. 15 meeting.

The property includes the former Webb Hospital which would be used as housing for women students, the B.O.Q. which would be used as the men's dormitory, and the N.C.O. club for the purpose of offices and classrooms. The college would be given the use of Withycombe Hall for classrooms until the college can construct its own.

According to Davis, if the city council passes a resolution to convey that property to the college, it would be contingent upon FAA (Federal Aviation Administration) approval.

Currently, the college is working on getting floor plans for the proposed campus for the school. The college is also seeking sources of funding for the school. A $500,000 dollars in state and federal funding is already anticipated. Hays said Tuesday that the college hasn't even begun to tap all of the funding resources available.

"It's going to mean new people, new families," Hays said today. He said that new instructors would be hired by the college to staff the school for the deaf. The school is expected to open for the fall semester of 1980 with 15 new instructors.

"That will mean 15 new families in Big Spring," he said. And that's just the beginning. He said there would be a steady growth in new instructors up to a staff of 75 to 100 for the school for the deaf.

In addition to a growth in Big Spring's population due to new college staff, there will be the students. Hays is hoping for 150 full-time students for the school's first semester.

Families with deaf children can be expected to move here looking for the kind of education for their children that they can't get elsewhere, Howard College board member Jimmy Taylor had pointed out at the board meeting Tuesday.

Within five to 10-year period, 1,500 full-time students should be attending the school for the deaf.

In anticipation of the new arrivals, some 65 Howard College faculty members are currently learning sign language. Hays said that it takes some two to three years of continual use to learn how to sign proficiently.

"It's like learning Spanish or French. It's like learning any foreign language," he said.

Stenholm will keynote local Veterans Day program Sunday

Cong. Charles Stenholm of Stamford will be the keynote speaker for the Veterans Day program, which will take place on the front lawn of the Veterans Administration Medical Center Sunday.

Assembly will be at 1:30 p.m., for VIP's, members of the Color Guard, service organizations and honor guard from Battery C, 3rd Battalion, 133rd Artillery, Texas National Guard and members of the Marine Corps League of Midland.

The ceremony will get under way at 2 p.m. The Rev. Clayton Hicks, Medical Center chaplain, will deliver the invocation and benediction.

Garland E. Evers, Medical Center director, will address the gathering and introduce the keynote speaker.

Marion Irland, WWI district commander, and C.G. McKinzie, past Texas State Department Commander, American Legion, will also deliver a short talk.

There will be a wreath-laying ceremony at the flagpole with appropriate 21-gun salute and honors by the Honor Guard.

CHARLES STENHOLM A reception and WWI uniform display will take place in the main lobby of the Medical Center following the ceremony. The general public is invited to attend.

Jury acquits Davis of murder-for-hire

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A jury short circuited the state's tape recording today and acquitted Texas industrialist Cullen Davis of plotting to kill his divorcee.

The panel of eight men and three women deliberated 16½ hours before rendering a verdict in the marathon murder-for-hire proceedings.

Davis, 46, proclaiming from the outset he was framed, thus averted jail for the second time on a murder solicitation charge stemming from the bizarre 1978 episode.

A Houston jury deliberated six days in the earlier trial before deadlocking 8-4 for conviction.

The verdict was a smashing triumph for the crack Davis defense team headed by Houston lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes and Dallas attorney Phil Burleson.

After two mistrials and two acquittals, 20 months in jail and millions in legal expenses, the lean and laconic defendant will apparently retire now from the criminal courtroom.

The district attorney's office has a three-year-old murder charge and two attempted murder complaints pending against Davis but little desire to prosecute them.

If convicted, Davis could have been jailed for life.

While Davis and Haynes' team rejoiced and hugged, chief prosecutor Jack Strickland was almost speechless.

"I don't know what to say," said Strickland.

His assistant, John Bankston said, "That's how the system works."

Haynes said, "The American jury system is the most incredible system in the American body politic."

Davis stood with an arm around his tearful wife, Karen.

"I hardly know what to say," Davis said. "I'm so gratified. I'm just speechless."

California Boys' Choir offers concert Tuesday

California Boys' Choir, founded and directed by Douglas Neslund, with Robert H. Rogers, Co-Director, is composed of 26 Choir boys ranging in age from 10-15 years, who are selected from dozens of young Californians in the Choir's Training Program.

The famous Concert Choir is a mainstay in the musical life of Southern California, performing regularly with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, the Los Angeles Master Chorale, Glendale Symphony and Pasadena Symphony.

The talents of these youngsters will be very much in evidence on Tuesday, Nov. 13 at 8:15 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium when they offer a concert sponsored by the Big Spring Community Concert Association.

The Choir has the good fortune to be located near the heart of the recording industry in Hollywood. This has led to recent sessions with such varied and well-known personalities as Alice Cooper, Bruce Johnston, and the rock group Angel, as well as the 1977 album of Christmas music by the Salvation Army, conducted by Roger Wagner, which was heard on radio around the world during the holiday season. Television beckons occasionally: the Mary Tyler Moore Special, "Mary's Incredible Dream" which was seen nationally on CBS television in January 1976, for example.

Behind the success of the Choir are several factors: an excellent and dedicated staff, sacrificing and long-suffering parents, and a group of talented and purposeful boys, who spend eleven weeks together in Summer Training Program, away from home except for five weekend visits.

In STP a boy learns to concentrate, to budget time, to look after his own individual needs (without mom around to remind!), and to learn the importance of personal development and its place in the growth of an ensemble. Classes are held in music theory, voice, repertoire, stage awareness, imagination, improvisation, recorder, and time is provided for individual instrumental practice.

Swimming is a daily activity, and tennis is a favorite early-morning sport. The goal of the Summer Training Program is to prepare the Choir boys for the concert season to follow (September-May). Training classes are started for beginning boys in September and again in February, leading toward membership in the Concert and Touring Choirs.

The Choir boys are exposed to singing in many languages, learning important cultural and historical aspects of each composition or opera studied, with particular emphasis on current performance practices.

The Choir is now celebrating its Tenth Anniversary. Choir headquarters are in the California State Museum of Science and Industry in Los Angeles, courtesy of William J. McCann, Museum Director.

CALIFORNIA BOYS' CHOIR, will perform Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium.

Possible candidates discussed School trustee West resigns

By DON WOODS
School board trustees bid farewell to trustee Bob West, Cosden comptroller, in Thursday night's meeting.

West's resignation is effective Nov. 15. He has been transferred to Dallas by Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. West said in his resignation letter that "the school system, teachers and administration are as fine a group of people as can be found anywhere."

The board will appoint another trustee to finish the term. Then a trustee will be elected in the April election.

Trustees went into executive session to discuss possible candidates. However, no action was taken.

Angry Americans burn Iranian flag in protest

HOUSTON (AP) — Hundreds of residents, angered by the seizure of Americans hostages in Tehran, chanted, sang, carried placards, and burned Iranian flags in a massive downtown demonstration Thursday.

"I've never been more proud of my country than today," said Chris Lindauer, as he marched around Dresser Tower, which carries the Iranian consulate.

Several thousand onlookers, most of them workers from surrounding office buildings on their lunch break, cheered the demonstration while cars piled up around the building in horn-blowing support.

The demonstrators burned four Iranian flags. They carried placards demanding "Iranians go home," "Send in the Marines," and "Keep the Shah and send them Carter."

They waved American flags, carried posters with John Wayne's picture, chanted slogans and sang "America the Beautiful," with many of the bystanders joining in.

At one point the demonstrators, estimated at 1,200 to 1,500 by police Capt. William Higgins, jostled three Iranians trying to enter the building, and police had to hustle away a young man and woman who were shoved around after they yelled "Return the Shah."

The scene Thursday was a sharp contrast to a Wednesday demonstration in which about 75 Iranian students marched in downtown Houston demanding that the Shah be returned to his homeland.

Dream of man (fuel) filled

An Arizona man apparently fulfilled the dream of a lifetime Wednesday when he pulled away from a Sand Springs service station and left his wife behind.

The maroon pontiac with Arizona plates headed east from the Sand Springs Station on IS 20 at 2:50 Wednesday. A message was relayed from Sand Springs to the Sweetwater Sheriff's Office, then on the Colorado City.

The car was stopped there and the driver and turned around. At 3:55 p.m. he returned to the station and picked his wife up.

Three on way to Huntsville

Three were transported to Huntsville State Prison today by two Howard County sheriff's deputies. The three convicts are Mike Nelson, sentenced to 25 years for aggravated rape; Ralph Rivera, Jr., felony check violation; and Theodore Tovar, on a parole violation.

The deputies will return Kenneth Wayne Ford on a bench warrant to testify in the Monday trial of Jimmy Charles Bryant.

Steer Band Director Steve Waggoner was given approval to take the band to a Tri State Music Festival in Enid, Okla. The band will compete in the festival May 8 through 11. They will miss three school days.

Assistant Superintendent for Business Don Crockett said the district's cash flow will improve after the Nov. 19 deadline for school tax collection.

Bentley said, in his report on first six weeks attendance, that the percentage of attendance for kindergarten through eighth grade is better this year than it was last year. "We're not sure why. This is an unusually good rate of attendance," he said.

Trustees were informed that the school district would be participating in a dental research project conducted by the Eastman Dental Center, Rochester, N.Y. The project will study the effect of lithium on cavities. Big Spring is in an area with a high concentration of lithium in the water.

The three minute examination of students' teeth will be done by mirrors only. The examination will be conducted during P.E. classes with parents' permission.

Also in the meeting, trustees approved the $14,259 Title IV-B budget for acquisition of library books and materials for the school system. The federal funds will also provide for a clerk to process and catalog all books and materials purchased in the program.

Big Spring Independent School District cast its ballot in the Tax Appraisal Board election. The 1,876 votes BSISD is eligible for a part of the 5,000 votes shared by the seven agencies represented on the board.

BSISD trustees cast their votes for the two board nominees nominated by the school board. They are Lila Estes and Roy Watkins.

In other action, the school board appointed 15 to the Textbook Committee. By regulation, this committee must be composed of not fewer than five and not more than 15 members. A majority must be classroom teachers. Superintendent Lynn Hise is required to chair the committee.

Committee appointees and their specializations are: Tom Adams, Civil government; John Bagnall, VIE automotive; Carole Bartasek, health education; Harold Bentley, assistant superintendent for instruction and personnel; Royce Cox, health education; Val Cox, civil government; Wilbur Cunningham, computer math; Joseph Dawes, computer math; Betty Lou Green, typing; Harold Harper, VIE automotive; Willene Humphrey, typing; Ralph Matteson, typing; Janice Rogers, health education; Janice Rosson, secondary coordinator and Dolores Wickline, typing.

The school calendar was changed to include a Memorial Day holiday. The change moved graduation day from March 27 to March 29. The Memorial Day holiday will be on a Monday, May 26.

The daily pay rate for Big Spring substitute teachers was raised to $30 from $25. The Big Spring rate was below the average of other school districts in the area. The number of teachers on the substitute teacher list remains low.

Currently, the school district is staffed 100 percent, however, according to Harold Bentley, assistant superintendent for instruction and personnel, the number of qualified applicants is low. Bentley said the problem is statewide.

'Great American Smokeout' Day in Big Spring slated

It's time again for the "Great American Smokeout." The Smokeout is a day set aside each year to encourage smokers to take a day off from smoking, or quit smoking altogether.

Locally, Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate has declared the Smokeout day, Nov. 15, as "Great American Smokeout Day in Big Spring." Posters are being distributed to many local businesses to remind people of the upcoming event.

Professional golfer Lee Trevino of Dallas has been named Texas Honorary Chairman for the event. And the National Smokeout Chairman is Ed Asner, star of CBS-TV's "Lou Grant." Asner served as 1978 Smokeout chairman. He quit smoking last November.

This is the third year the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society has participated in the Smokeout.

According to statistics, 9 out of every 10 smokers heard about the event last year. A poll also showed 1 in every 4 smokers either cut down or quit the day of the Smokeout.

Moonshine still confiscated

ROCKY MOUNT, Va. (AP) — Visitors to the neat little cemetery really have something to mourn these days — their moonshine still has been laid to rest.

State and federal agents say the still was cleverly hidden at the Franklin County cemetery — and the only thing buried under the artificial flowers and fake headstones. "Yes sir, that was a good one," said Jim Hunt of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

One man was arrested in the raid Tuesday, and 43 gallons of white lightning were confiscated.

Firemen face more charges

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Eight Knoxville firemen absolved of criminal rape charges have been named in civil service charges that accuse them of neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming a city employee and failing to obey orders.

Criminal charges were dropped after six days of a preliminary hearing when a judge ruled there was no probable cause. A 22-year-old woman had accused the firemen of repeatedly raping her in a fire station. The civil service charges filed by the city Wednesday also named a ninth fireman who was not charged criminally.

Second trial in third home

LIVE OAK, Fla. (AP) — Theodore Bundy's second Florida murder trial will get a third home — beginning Jan. 7, the trial will commence in Orlando.

The trial was moved here from nearby Lake County in hopes of winning an impartial jury for Bundy's trial on charges of kidnapping and murder in the death of a 12-year-old girl. Bundy was sentenced to death earlier this year after being convicted of murder in the deaths of two Florida State University women.

The change of venue ordered by Circuit Judge Wallace Jopling came Thursday during the third day of efforts to seat a jury in the case.

Faulty wiring fire cause

CANTON, Miss. (AP) — Faulty wiring may have started the house fire that trapped and killed six small children, fire officials say.

Two adults, including the mother of four of the children, escaped the blaze Wednesday as the house was coming down around them, said County Coroner Fletcher Ray.

The children ranged in age from five years to four months.

Electromagnet arrives

SUTHERLAND, Neb. (AP) — A 107-ton superconducting electromagnet en route to California by way of Interstate 80 has arrived here after a 300-mile trip from just west of Omaha.

The Nebraska State Patrol, escorting the 140-foot 110-wheel rig carrying the 13½-foot tall and 18½-foot wide magnet, reported no traffic problems Thursday.

Police beat Robbers gain toe-hold

Robbers invaded the home of a local woman, early Thursday morning.

A man and a woman broke the glass on the front door to the home of Debbie Norwood, 506½ Nolan, around 5 a.m. Thursday, and forced their way inside. The woman then held a knife to Ms. Norwood's toe while the man lifted a purse containing $20 cash, $50 worth of food stamps and various personal papers.

Loss was estimated at $80. Police are on the lookout for a man about six-foot tall, and a woman five-foot-four-inches tall.

Vandals broke the screen and glass on a storm door at the home of Anna-Maria Jones, 1706 Austin, 4:30 p.m. Tuesday. Damage was estimated at $50.

Burglars ripped off a color television set, a combination receiver-tape deck, a reel-to-reel tape deck and two stereo speakers from the residence of Eugene G. Hancock, Southland Apartments, Thursday morning. Loss was estimated at $1,800.

Vandals pumped BBs into the windshield of a car belonging to Henry Hodges, 1006 E. 12th, early Thursday morning. Damage was estimated at $200.

Thieves stole a box full of tools from the bed of a pickup belonging to William Merrick, 407 Young, while the truck was parked on the 2500 block of Rebecca, 10 a.m. Thursday. Loss was estimated at $350.

Raymond Munez, 703 Ayford, was treated at Malope-Hogan Hospital and released, Thursday, following a one-car accident. According to reports, Munez' vehicle went out of control at the intersection of Second and Benton, striking a concrete bridge railing, 5:24 p.m.

Three other mishaps were reported Thursday.

Vehicles driven by Lewis Murdock, 806 E. 17th, and Barnett Jones, San Antonio, collided on the 100 block of Gregg, 1:30 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Orby Derington, 1603 11th, and Pauline Hillger, 1007 E. 12th, collided at Fourth and Franklin, 6:55 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Suzanne Croteau, 602 Steanley, and Allison Aton, Sterling City Route, collided at 10th and Gregg, 11:10 a.m.

Board appointee discussed

Howard County Juvenile Board members discussed the possible appointment of Juvenile Probation Officer Ed Cherry as misdemeanor probation officer in a called meeting Thursday morning.

District Judge Jim Gregg said it was legal to appoint a juvenile officer to supervise adult probationers as long as the juvenile officer isn't forced to supervise them.

If appointed, Cherry's salary would be paid by the state from probation fees paid by juvenile probationers. The state provides a certain amount of funding for each probationer that is supervised.

Juvenile board members decided to discuss the matter with their respective boards before making a decision. The juvenile office is funded by county, school and city money.

Cherry is currently making $1,226 a month as juvenile officer. There has been no decision yet on additional salary for Cherry.

The misdemeanor probation officer appointment can only come through District Judge Jim Gregg. Gregg, though, must work with the juvenile board to insure that Cherry's job as juvenile officer isn't affected.

Cherry is currently supervising 25 to 30 juveniles in a voluntary capacity. "If it comes to the point where I have to do less juvenile probation, I'll go to the judge and tell him, 'Something has to be done,'" said Cherry.

"It runs in cycles. Sometimes I'm real busy and sometimes I'm doing nothing," said Cherry.

Crocker asked Cherry if adult misdemeanor probation was as intense as felony probation. Cherry told him that supervision of adult misdemeanor probationers consisted mainly of keeping them "working and out of trouble." Some have to report in person and some by phone and some by letter, depending on where they live," said Cherry.

Lack of dump sites hindering

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Medical Association says the closing of nuclear waste disposal dumps is threatening treatment of thousands of patients.

The three minute examination of students' teeth will be done by mirrors only. The examination will be conducted during P.E. classes with parents' permission.

Tornado watch out for Northeast Texas

By The Associated Press
Heavy thunderstorms triggered by a developing low pressure system prompted the National Weather Service to issue a tornado watch for much of Northeast Texas early today.

The watch was issued at 2 a.m. and was to continue until 8 a.m. today, but was called off at 6 a.m. by the National Severe Storms Center in Kansas City.

Heavy thunderstorms roamed across much of North Central and Northeast Texas during the night, but there were no reports of violent weather.

Forecasts called for showers and thunderstorms to continue into the afternoon in East Texas and the light rain in the Panhandle was expected to end before noon.

Skies were to be clear to partly cloudy statewide by evening as the showers and thunderstorms moved eastward out of the state.

Will Rogers taken too seriously?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Houston textbook critic took Will Rogers too seriously in her criticism of a textbook for a typewriting class, a publisher's representative says.

Janie Riddle of Houston blasted a beginning typewriting book Thursday because it contained an exercise with the sentence, "Human life and turnips remain cheap and plentiful."

She urged the State Board of Education to reject the book, "Personal Typewriting," published by South-Western Publishing Co.

The board will adopt texts Saturday for high school classes in typing, health, civics, auto repairs, computer math and civics.

Mrs. Riddle said the "human life and turnips" exercise so incensed her husband that he probably would be protesting textbooks next year.

But the publisher's representative defended the sentence.

"It is a quote from Will Rogers. It's meant to be humorous," said Henry Ransom of Cincinnati.

Another textbook critic, Catherine Lemm of Houston, who has four grown children, a 15-year-old and an 11-year-old, urged rejection of "Healthful Living for Today," published by Laidlaw.

She said the book delves too deeply into mental health questions for 14- and 15-year-olds.

"Adolescence is a time of life when many young boys and girls are searching for personal identity. It is a period of emotional, mental and physical change and adjustment in many areas.

"Is it wise to spend class time teaching them that feeling worried, frustrated, lonely, guilty or generally upset indicates mental problems? Are they going to associate these problems with mental illness? You can be sure, in their immaturity, many will," she said.

Laidlaw's representative referred the board to the publisher's written response, which said:

"The book reassures high school students that everyone has problems.

'Free lunch' offered more than advertised

DALLAS (AP) — The free tickets advertised the event as "the world's largest pizza party," but did not mention anything about a sermon.

However, teen-agers at Lake Highlands Junior High School who attended the "party" say after supper they were herded into an auditorium and asked to give their lives to Christ while men in suits guarded the exits.

Steaming parents began making angry calls to the school the next day, and Assistant School Superintendent Tom Means agreed Thursday the parents were justified. He insisted the school had nothing to do with the event, which was sponsored by a local church.

"The last line on the tickets says 'Lake Highlands Junior High School,'" Means complained. "It was false advertising. It was a bad deal."

"I heard everything in the world from mothers and fathers, including reports that children were forced to attend. I would have been upset too, if my child had been involved."

A church official said the security measures were imposed because "we didn't want them running all around the school."

The tickets, distributed free to students at the school, said the event was "to hear Elvis Presley's (half) brother, Rick Stanley, and former Rice University football player David Stockwell." The three men were there all right, sponsored by Lake Highland Baptist Church to deliver an evangelistic crusade.

"The tickets said nothing about being sponsored by a church," one parent said. "But when they finished their pizza, they were herded like cattle into the auditorium and told they were not to leave unless they had to go to the hospital and someone would help them into an ambulance."

Some among the 400 in attendance left anyway.

"When the people on the stage asked everyone to come forward and give their life to Christ, we ducked out," one student said.

School Principal Jerry Green said the event was "grossly misrepresented," and that the church has agreed to apologize.

Some students said "men in suits" were stationed at all the exits during the Tuesday night crusade and one said she was "afraid to leave."

A parent quoted some children: "They said when two girls started to leave, they were ushered back, and when a parent came in to take her child out, someone on the stage yelled, 'Thank you for taking your daughter out. If Jesus comes tonight, you'll both go to hell.'"

Church youth director Emmitt Carson said the whole thing was a misunderstanding.

"We were only trying to help people," Carson said. "We encouraged everyone to go down to the auditorium, and we did have our men there so they (students) wouldn't run all over the building. They were told they could leave before the program started, but after we got going we didn't want them to leave."

"I guess they felt intimidated. We didn't intend to hurt anyone in the process," he said.

New tactic used oil from burning tanker

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Coast Guardsmen have adopted a new strategy in hopes of keeping oil spilling from the ruptured hull of a tanker ablaze in the Gulf of Mexico from ruining Texas beaches — curral it as it spills from the crippled tanker.

Coast Guardsmen deployed about 2,000 feet of floating oil containment barriers about 800 feet from the crippled tanker and along one side and behind it Thursday.

"There's a 200-foot gap between the two barriers that we're going to fill with the Coast Guard's 612-foot skimming barrier in a U-shape, kind of like a pool pocket," said Chief Richard Griggs.

Reeves' murder suspects to be given polygraph test

Two suspects in the April 26 murder of Ann and Tracey Reeves will be given polygraph tests sometime next week, according to Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard.

They are, according to Standard, "one that we had talked to previously that we weren't satisfied about and one we got a lead on (Monday)." One suspect is from Snyder, said Standard, but the other has not been located.

He also said that a Department of Public Safety spokesman had told him on the phone Monday that a gun submitted for ballistics testing had not been tested yet. The gun was found in an area pawn shop.

Standard said that if the gun is not the one used in the murder, another one in sheriff's office possession will be submitted. In addition to ballistics

"We hope the oil will go in there, where it can be sucked up as it spills from the tanker."

Firefighters from the Netherlands pumped water and foam on the British-owned grounded ship, the Burmah Agate, in a battle to quell the inferno that erupted eight days ago when the tanker and the freighter Mimosa collided before dawn.

Thirty-two men were believed killed in the accident, although so far only 15 bodies have been recovered, the latest one washing ashore Thursday.

Explosions that have rocked the tanker sporadically have caused the fire to burn with greater intensity.

tests, the Howard County Sheriff's Office is waiting for reports on over 200 fingerprints that have been submitted. The prints are those of persons suspected of direct involvement and those who are suspects because of their past records.

The prints will be compared with latest prints gathered from receipts found in the service station the pair were apparently abducted from.

Forward thinking businessmen get ahead

Forward thinking businessmen are going to get ahead in any recession. So says Lawrence Martin, publisher of Texas Business Magazine.

IN A TALK MADE in Austin recently, Martin took a very positive attitude toward the aggressive people in the business world. In conversations with businessmen throughout the state, Martin came to these conclusions:

— In any recession, the business community finds it a totally unacceptable condition and has no intention of lying down and playing dead.

— Anyone who wants to find out anything about today's economic conditions learns quickly: One economist says one thing; another, entirely the opposite.

"We're probably in a recession now, we're probably not in a recession, depending on who you are reading," Martin said. "It's going to be long or short, deep or not so deep. Two economists don't agree on anything."

Martin decided to make his own survey and contacted the heads of large ad agencies in Texas. "Advertising budgets are very sensitive to economic downturns," he said, after calling about two dozen agencies.

It was those calls which convinced him that if there is or will be a recession, nobody has told the positive-thinking Texans.

At the very least, he said, companies are increasing their spending 10-15 per cent. Some were boosting their spending 50-60 per cent.

Among individual comments he heard:

— This is one of the most active periods in new business the man could remember.

— Many firms are spending more on market research, trying to get the maximum from each dollar.

— Budget cuts made earlier are being reinstated.

"Everyone reported bullish attitudes on the part of their clients," Martin said.

MARTIN ADDED HE believes the business community is far better prepared than others elsewhere "for a turn—up or down."

He said Texans seem to be in a much better frame of mind for whatever develops.

And then he made these comments, which we wish every businessman and consumer, Texas or non-Texas, could hear:

— Texas businessmen know 'they must fight for their share of the market. Those who fight have a chance to get more of the market, too, from the competitor who pulls in his horns.

"Any valley means there's bound to be a peak on the other side," Martin said, "businessmen need to be getting momentum to get through the valley and to the peak."

Rings a bell

James Werrell

The lead on the story from a big New York PR firm reads: "Since symbolically breaking down the last all-male bastion — New York's McSorley's Pub — a few years ago, women are asserting their independence in cocktail consumption and taste preferences."

Not exactly earth-shaking stuff, but interesting nonetheless. One gets the image of a horde of women in NOW t-shirts busting into pubs and holding the men hostage until they are placated with Harvey Wallbangers.

AS I REMEMBER, the evolution of women's drinking patterns from college into your adulthood pretty much paralleled that of the men I knew. All freshmen, male or female, would order drinks that were either a color not in nature, anything with creme de menthe in it, or both.

As unfortunate freshmen, again both male and female, grew tired of throwing up in technicolor, they would switch to something a little less noxious. This was usually beer which was plentiful and cheap.

Back in the good old days, we could buy a six-pack of Pils Real Draft for 99 cents.

Although there are exceptions to every rule, women usually reached a turning point on the road to ruin about midway through their junior years. While men continued to drink beer, a large percentage of the women (my friends anyway) suddenly discovered that beer was too fattening and had a tendency to make one's kidneys float.

Scotch became the only option for many. Decadence was its major attraction. Martinis were equally decadent, elegant and pretty to look at, but they also tended to make you forget your name after the second one. Scotch with some soda or water was safer.

A core group of men in college also took up the Scotch habit, but they tended to be guys who wore tweed coats to class, smoked pipes and took their homework assignments seriously.

I HAVE ONLY ARTICLES such as the aforementioned to rely on in trying to find out where the evolution of women's drinking habits leads once they leave college. The only trend I have been able to pin down is that if a woman takes up jogging, she will order only white wine thereafter.

Just scratching the surface of men's drinking habits shows the beginnings of a pattern: Bourbon and beer only, professional whiskeys, Scotch or Irish whiskey, English professors, martinis and Manhattans, urban gigolos; anything in sight, most of my friends.

But back to women! The news release from Gotham says that the fairer sex is the prime target when liquor companies talk about their new marketing strategies.

"Women prefer mixed drinks using rum, gin, tequila and vodka," writes one sage and president of a cocktail mix company. Phew! That must be some drink.

The same article states that women are the primary purchasers of such new adventures in imbibing as the Strawberry Sting, Pink Squirrel, Banana Colada and Strawberry Margarita.

OK, ladies, if that's what you want. But I'll tell you this, if I were a self-respecting, liberated woman, and I had just burned my brassiere, I sure wouldn't cool off with a Pink Squirrel!

End of cold war

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Can't phrases have a way of creeping unnoticed into common usage — before you know it, you will find otherwise intelligent men saying something on the order of "a wall must separate church and state," and suddenly little children aren't permitted to sing Christmas carols. It has been so with the End of the Cold War, have you noticed? So thoroughly entrenched is the End of the Cold War, that it has generated an offspring, which is called Bringing Back the Cold War. So that those who, e.g., find the SALT II treaty deficient are Folk Who Want to Bring Back the Cold War. To be charged with wanting to bring back the Cold War is something on the order of being charged with wanting to bring back cancer. In fact we never licked cancer, and the Cold War goes on, notwithstanding America's new posture in that war. We are: the punching bag. It is the objective of current diplomacy that we should swing happily from the beam, absorbing everything the challenger, who trains rigorously and never misses a session, can dish out to us.

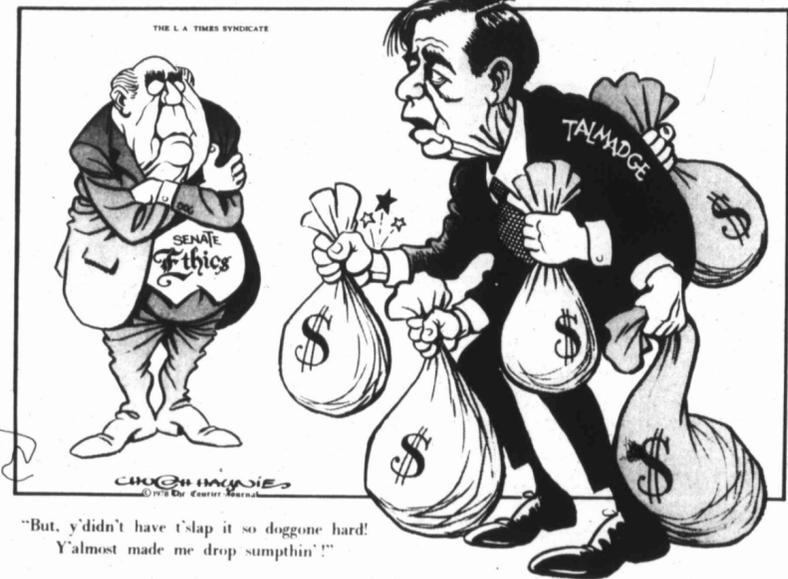

"Anti-communist rhetoric," Walter Lippmann sighed 10 years ago, "has become vulgar." For men of high sensitivity, the repetition of almost anything can become tedious. Take the noblest couplet Shakespeare ever wrote, say it out loud 10 times per day, and on the 10th day you will go berserk if you hear it. By the time the Second World War was over, sensitive men would clamp their hands over their ears, rather than hear again the opening theme of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, which had been played throughout the war as the Victory Symphony. ("Ta-ta-ta-taaa. Ta-ta-ta-taaa.")

So it is with anti-communist rhetoric. Are we expected every day to dwell on communist-sanctioned cruelty? I mean, isn't it too much? Suppose we had been asked to reflect on the last moments of every single one of the six million Jews annihilated by Hitler: Could the human sensibilities sustain such an ordeal?

Yet something on just that order, with the obvious limitations imposed by space and knowledge, was attempted by Alexander Solzhenitsyn, and he came out with a masterpiece, "The Gulag Archipelago." The library of tragedy could live for centuries on the collection he has accumulated there, but the vital point is the Gulag is an unfinished story. Gulag exists this very moment. Nothing Solzhenitsyn describes under Stalin is any worse than what millions of Cambodians are subjected to under Pol Pot, and are now being subjected to under the Vietnamese, who are using the useful instrument of hunger as a categorical substitute for individual torture.

And in Havana, there are other men — RIGHT NOW — who are living in such conditions as Huber Matos lived for 20 years. Huber Matos's story got one-day treatment in the press. So — one more victim. Another victim of a sadism so extraordinary as, in a healthy world, would bring together a concert of nations for the purpose of locking up the initiator of that sadism. What happens instead is that Fidel Castro comes to New York, receives a standing ovation and Barbara Walters organizes a nice party for him.

What would the United States be doing if it awakened from the trance that the Cold War is over? We would be broadcasting the Huber Matos story in Spanish to every country in Latin America. Huber Matos himself would tell the story to every Cuban with a radio set, by way of our Voice of America.

"But, y'didn't have 'slap it so doggone hard! Y'almost made me drop sumphthin'!"

Nodes are values infection indicator

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Two years ago lymph nodes throughout my body (neck, armpits, groin) began swelling and have remained so since.

After many examinations and blood tests my physician took out two nodes for biopsy and reported "reactive hyperplasia." This translated into "chronic lymphadenitis," caused by a virus for which there is no treatment. He said I had "nothing to worry about." Can you comment? — P.L.B. But you're still worried, right?

Ever wonder why a physician usually will check the lymph nodes when a patient reports feeling ill? That's because those nodes and their drainage networks represent the body's "sanitation department." They are spotted throughout the body to filter germs and other harmful particles.

Hence, the foremost cause of lymph node enlargement is infection. A sore throat, for example, will cause the nodes ("glands") of the neck to enlarge and become tender. This is normal. The nodes are doing what they should be doing — filtering germs.

When many groups of lymph nodes enlarge the most serious diseases to rule out are the malignant ones, such as Hodgkins disease. The biopsy of your nodes was a way of determining this.

"Reactive hyperplasia" means that your nodes were reacting in a normal way to do their job. They have been "turned on" to do their maximum filtering work.

The cause may never be precisely identified. Viruses are elusive devils, and their only good characteristic is that they usually do get tired and quit. The important fact for you is that malignant disease has been ruled out.

Other illnesses cause nodes to enlarge — various viral and bacterial diseases with names sometimes more frightening than they are dangerous. Other non-infectious illnesses that cause node enlargement include sarcoidosis, rheumatoid arthritis and reaction to certain drugs, like Dilantin.

With the thorough examinations you have had, you should be reassured that no serious illness is causing the lymph node symptoms. I have devoted more space than usual to answer your question. I am learning that the person who said a picture is worth a thousand words didn't have medicine in mind.

Dear Dr. Donohue: A friend has a three-year-old son who she has nursed since birth. I am concerned that at this age he will suffer long-range emotional problems. Am I wrong? How should one go about weaning a baby? — M.M.A.

When a baby is given solid food its desire for breast feeding diminishes. This usually takes place between the sixth and 12th months. Breast feeding for three years seems too long to me. I don't think this would cause any psychological or nutritional problems if the child is also getting a well-balanced diet.

The best way to wean is to offer cow's milk by bottle or cup as a portion of the normal breast feeding. Gradually, one complete feeding can be given with cow's milk. This is gradually repeated until all breast feedings are replaced. A child should be feeding himself or herself by the end of the second year.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I've been eating honey on everything that calls for sugar. Can you tell me something about the nutrient or fattening value of this substance, and what it does or does not do for you? I noticed I've gained four points in one month. I am 74. — Mrs. K.W.

Honey contains about 20 calories per teaspoon, roughly about the same as refined sugar. Honey is chiefly sugar, although there are small amounts of some of the B vitamins and some minerals in it. Otherwise you pay the same "empty calorie" price with honey that you do with sugar. Honey has no magic qualities.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To learn more about it, write to Dr. Donohue for his booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

What can vitamins really do for you — and what can't they do? In his new booklet, Dr. Paul Donohue separates the common sense from the nonsense about this controversial health aid. For your copy of "Vitamins: Facts You Need to Know," send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Fosberg cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — F. Raymond Fosberg, an authority on the ecology of tropical islands, was chosen to receive the 1979 Edward W. Browning Award for "Conserving the Environment."

Fosberg, botanist emeritus of the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of Natural History, was honored for his accomplishments in the understanding and conservation of our natural environment.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My sister has been reading some books on witchcraft. I tell her she shouldn't, but she says it's harmless and lots of fun. Do you think I'm right to be concerned. — L.F.C.

DEAR L.F.C.: Yes, you are. Many people think such things are harmless pastimes, but I cannot agree. In fact, I receive letters every week which tell of spiritual problems of a serious nature caused by what started as an innocent dabbling in such things.

The Bible does not dwell on these matters too much, but everything it says makes it very clear that there can be such a thing as coming under the influence of demonic powers witchcraft — along with similar occult practices — is an attempt to influence spiritual powers for one's own purposes. But these spiritual powers are not good — they are evil and demonic. When such things are mentioned in the Bible they are condemned as being opposed to God and His purposes. "Let no one be found among you who ... practices divination or sorcery, interprets omens, engages in witchcraft, or casts spells" (Deuteronomy 18:10-11).

The real question you should ask yourself is what you can do to help your sister. Why is she fascinated by this subject? I suspect one reason is because down inside she has a hunger for something which will fill the spiritual vacuum in her life. She is looking in the wrong direction, but I believe God may have you as her sister to show her that Jesus Christ is the real answer to her spiritual quest, if you are a Christian yourself. If you have never received Christ into your life, on the other hand, it could be an exciting adventure for the two of you to discover what it means to know Him. He is God's Son. He came into this world to make our forgiveness possible and restore us to a personal relationship with God. By faith in Him we can know Him and serve Him; there is no greater joy than knowing we belong to God.

Pray for your sister and pray also that God will help you to share Christ with her. As Jesus said, "I have come that they might have life, and have it to the full" (John 10:10).

McGovern revisited

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Just as leaders in the Jackson wing of the Democratic party were warning Sen. Edward M. Kennedy not to take them for granted, an unusual meeting at the White House affirmed the McGovern wing's embrace of Kennedy for ideological reasons.

The date was Oct. 24 Morris Dees, liberal activist lawyer from Montgomery, Ala., who gained national prominence as Sen. George McGovern's direct-mail fund-raiser in 1972, was breakfasting at the White House mess with top Carter aide Hamilton Jordan. Dees informed Jordan he was jumping Carter's ship, and told him why. According to Jordan, Dees explained he preferred Kennedy's more liberal views on capital punishments, gun control and abortion.

DEES IS NOT lonely at the converted Cadillac showroom that is Kennedy's Washington headquarters. He is joined by other key figures from the McGovern campaign, presumably for similar reasons. Kennedy's campaign looks more like McGovern revisited than a restoration of Camelot.

This is scarcely the reply wanted by the October newsletter of the Coalition for a Democratic Majority (CDM), the organization of centrist Democrats born out of hostility to McGovern and closely associated with Sen. Henry M. Jackson. Author Ben Wattenberg, CDM's driving force, warned that Carter or Kennedy must "win over" moderate Democrats to get their votes in the primaries — or in November.

Jackson, honorary co-chairman of CDM, was not consulted about the tough wording. Indeed, he is personally close to Kennedy and has advised friends that Teddy is "flexible" on such issues as national defense. Nevertheless, Jackson is alarmed by the McGovernized campaign and will seek an explanation from Kennedy.

Besides Dees, senior McGovern operatives filling similar slots for Kennedy include speech writer Robert Shrum, field operations director Carl Wagner, delegate-hunter Rick Stearnes and scheduler Steve Robbins. Kennedy would take more if he could get them. Unrequited feelers went to two prominent McGovernites of '72: Jeff Smith, now McGovern's Senate aide, and Alan Baron, now publisher of a political newsletter.

Few explained their preference for Kennedy or Carter in terms so explicit as Dees. Actually, Kennedy's position is not markedly to the left of Carter on capital punishment and gun control, and only slightly more so on abortion. The point is that Dees perceives Kennedy as a kindred spirit.

So do the other McGovernites. Even if Kennedy is moving his rhetoric toward the center, they believe he shares their interventionism in domestic policy and accommodationism in foreign policy. Shrum, one of the party's most gifted speech writers, left the 1976 Carter campaign after nine days not only because he considered the future president "manipulative and deceptive" but because Carter was reluctant to cut defense spending or withdraw support from South Korea. At this writing, Kennedy speech writer Shrum has already surpassed his Carter tenure with no disillusionment in sight.

OTHER KENNEDY staff appointments with less clear McGovern ties do not differ in spirit. Former Sen. Dick Clark, the most celebrated Carter defector, was a pioneer advocate of the "black Africa first" foreign policy now losing favor at the State Department. He was soon followed by Mark Schneider, an architect of State's human rights policy (also now in decline). Energy-environmental lobbyist James Plug, who considers Carter too cozy with oil, moved quickly into Kennedy's campaign.

This temporarily answers the questions posed by Stephen Bryen, editor of CDM's newsletter: "...who are the experts, advisers and specialists that Sen. Kennedy thinks ought to be brought into government? What would a Kennedy Cabinet look like?"

Carter's political advisers are delighted with such help in portraying Kennedy as the left's candidate. They chuckle that Dees, called by one White House aide "the most unpopular man in Alabama," locks up that state's primary for Carter. The other resuscitated McGovernites will be used by Carter's agents to alienate the party's center from Kennedy.

Kennedy brother-in-law Stephen Smith has hinted privately that campaign appointments soon will join Kennedy's rhetoric in marching toward the center. To such overtures from both sides, Wattenberg told us: "We're all ears. We are receptive. But we're not virgins anymore." Feeling they were misled in 1976 by Jimmy Carter, CDM leaders want deeds this time.

How much difference CDM could make in a Carter-Kennedy race is doubtful. But enough Democrats share CDM's views to take seriously Wattenberg's newsletter warning: "If the Democratic party candidate turns a cold shoulder on CDM principles," he could lose "millions of American voters...who determine the victor in a presidential contest." Carter's presidential record and Kennedy's early McGovernization mean those millions may vote Republican next November.

Tree can cause major problems

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Christmas season isn't the only time to trim trees.

By trimming tree limbs that overhang the roof year-round, a person may be able to save money by making the roof last longer, says Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., a shingle manufacturer.

Dead leaves, pine needles, twigs and bark are some of the major causes of backed-up gutters. When gutters are clogged, water backs up underneath the shingles and may eventually leak into the home. By trimming trees and keeping gutters clear, a homeowner can help avoid premature roof leakage.

KEEP TO YOUR SIDE OF THE ROAD, BOYS — Walking these elephants in the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus became something of a road show Thursday, as motorists kept patiently behind. The animals were being moved to Richfield Coliseum, where they will perform for the next two weeks.

Dugas will probably get death penalty

Convicted's lawyer holds little hope

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A defense attorney for Ovide Joe Dugas admitted after the trial that he had little hope his client could escape the death penalty.

"In all fairness to the state the evidence was overwhelming on both guilt and punishment," said court-appointed attorney Bruce Smith of Beaumont.

It took jurors 44 minutes Thursday to decide that Dugas should be put to death by lethal injection for what prosecutors called the "carefully plotted murder" of a 3-year-old boy.

Dugas, 33, of Fort Acres, was convicted of capital murder Tuesday in the death of Jason Phillips. The boy, his parents and grandparents were shot to death execution style and buried in a shallow common grave not far from the grandparents' Southeast Texas farm last year.

The trial was moved here on a change of venue.

Dugas sat impassive throughout the punishment deliberations, even when Jefferson County district attorney James McGrath pounded his fist on the table and shouted, "You killed them. You killed all of them and they had done nothing to you."

Defense attorneys Smith and Hayden "Sonny" Cribbs pleaded with the jury to show compassion in their punishment deliberations.

But McGrath responded, "When Jesus was on the cross and the thief asked him forgiveness he forgave but he left him on the cross."

Dugas joins Linda May Burnett on Texas' Death Row. She was convicted in March for her part in the killings and is the only woman in Texas currently under the death penalty.

During punishment phase arguments, McGrath showed the jury a picture of the grandparents' bedroom, where the boy's rocking horse stood.

He said that picture struck him harder than any other piece of evidence during the trial's detailed and gory testimony.

"That rocking horse the little boy rocked on, he'll never rock on it again. Why? Because that fiend killed him," McGrath shouted, pointing at Dugas.

McGrath reminded the jury of the state's contention that Dugas originally had planned only to kill the grandparents, Bishop and Esther Phillips, who were his former in-laws, but ended up killing them, their son Elmer, his wife Martha and their grandson Jason, too, simply because they were present at the time.

"I told you I thought those four people gave their lives so this man would not harm their baby," McGrath said. "But their bodies were still warm when he blew that child's brains out."

"You have the opportunity to say to Bishop and Esther Phillips that you did not make a mockery of their sacrifice."

Fiancee won't give up or fall apart

Wedding of paralyzed jogger postponed

DALLAS (AP) — The wedding scheduled this month had to be postponed, but Vickie Sherry says she still loves her fiance and has no intention of leaving him.

After she and John Ashlock made the wedding plans, he was struck by a hit-and-run driver while jogging and paralyzed from the neck down. He has been in a hospital bed ever since the Sept. 17 injury.

"There's no way I would leave John," Miss Sherry said. "It's never occurred to me. I'm not going to fall apart."

Vickie said she's not sure when the marriage will take place, but that she is sure that she still loved John.

Instead of making wedding plans, Vickie and John's family are involved in making rehabilitation plans.

A Denver hospital specializing in spinal cord injuries has agreed to take him as a patient, if he can demonstrate that the $75,000-$100,000 fee can be paid.

Good faith money of $20,000 is required. A benefit foot-race for John netted $2,000, and a bank said it would kick in another $2,000.

A local air service will provide ground and air transportation to Denver.

Doctors have told John, who celebrated his 25th birthday this week, he never will regain any movement, but the couple's not buying that prognosis.

"Anything can happen with God on our side," Vickie said.

"It seems so unfair that it happened to him when there are so many rotten people in the world. I'm not supposed to ask why, but it's hard not to."

Vickie has gained permission from the hospital to stay at John's bedside as long as she wants.

"Since he can't talk, it's good for me to be there if he needs something," she said. "He's taking it like a man, you might say. There's nothing he can do about it. It's a situation where he can either face it or fall apart."

"He's not one to fall apart."

The birthday celebration with Vickie, friends and family caused John to whisper a strained comment: "I have good friends."

At one point during the party, John's eyes filled with tears

First Lady's visit was 'very difficult'

SA KAEW, Thailand (AP) — Rosalynn Carter visited this Cambodian refugee camp today, said the sight of the sick and dying was "emotionally overwhelming" and she would "go home and tell my husband" about it.

"It's been very difficult for me as a wife and a mother and a human being. I can only say I want to go home as fast as I can and mobilize people and do all we can to help the people here," she said.

Trailed by about 300 reporters and a contingent of Thai and U.S. security men, Mrs. Carter toured the 18-day-old camp facilities and took a walk through the sea of bright blue tents that house some 31,000 refugees, 100 miles east of Bangkok, and 30 miles from the Cambodian border.

In the hospital, she went from bed to bed stroking people's foreheads, holding their hands and asking the doctors to explain the diseases.

"Does it hurt?" She asked one old woman.

"Give me a smile," she said and kissed the woman on the forehead.

Mrs. Carter and her entourage flew to Bangkok on Thursday on what the White House said was an official fact-finding mission for President Carter.

Speaking to reporters at the end of her 90-minute visit, Mrs. Carter said, "it's like nothing I've ever seen — it's emotionally overwhelming."

Sa Kaew's aid coordinator, Mark Brown of the United Nations, told her the camp is overflowing and new areas must be found to house at least 200,000 more refugees who are expected to enter Thailand from Cambodia by Christmas.

Red Cross medical coordinator Dr. Hans Nothdurft said 75 percent of Sa Kaew's population is malnourished and 20 percent need special nutritional care.

Mrs. Carter was scheduled to fly to a Laotian refugee camp at Ubon, 300 miles northeast of Bangkok, and then proceed to Sakon Nakhon province for a meeting with King Bhumipol Adulyadej and Queen Sirikit. She planned to return to Bangkok this evening to attend a U.S. Embassy reception. She departs Saturday.

Her party includes Assistant Secretary of State Richard Holbrooke, Surgeon-General Julius B. Richmond, former U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young's wife, Jean, and former Senator Harold Hughes of Iowa.

The aid situation already has been studied by Holbrooke, three U.S. senators, six governors and U.S. experts stationed in Thailand, and some Thai officials suggested Carter might be hoping his wife's visit would boost his re-election campaign.

But Holbrooke told newsmen, "I believe everybody is united in the feeling that we must help these people (Cambodians). I can't see that it is political. It just doesn't work that way."

Castetter presents program

Art Castetter, music instructor at Howard College, presented a program to members of the Piano Teachers Forum when they met Monday at 8 p.m. in the Howard College Music Building.

Castetter explained how important each individual is in a small community and that cooperation is a must. He also revealed three aspects of music, piano, vocal and instrumental, and that each one served a purpose at Howard College.

Castetter's hopes for the future are to build a community college chorus as well as a community college band.

Refreshments were served by Ann Cheatham. The next meeting will be in January in the home of Ann Houser. A December recital is also planned.

Organize kitchen activities

The 1941 Study Club met Monday night for their regular monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Carroll Choate with Mrs. Rodney Tiller as co-hostess. Members answered roll call with their favorite holiday recipe.

Mrs. Ray Swann, program leader, presented Linda Fuchs, assistant county extension agent, who gave a program on "Action in the Kitchen" and how active kitchens are during the holiday season.

"Action in the kitchen," she said, "is nothing more than movement in the kitchen. Organization is the key to a workable kitchen."

She explained that kitchen activities should be planned and organized, and revealed three resources - time, money and energy. She continued saying, "One's age has a great deal to do with which resource we have at a particular stage in our life."

"After presenting handouts and discussing the ideal layouts for a workable kitchen, each member graded her own kitchen and discussed what improvements could be made."

Miss Fuchs then presented several creative ideas for using napkins during the holiday season or for any special meal time.

Mrs. Ovis James was welcomed as a new member. The Beautification Clean-Up days for the community have been set for Nov. 9-10.

The Social Committee reported on the Thanksgiving Dinner which will be held at the Tumbleweed Room of Coahoma State Bank, Nov. 17, at 6:30 p.m.

Next regular meeting will be Dec. 3 in the Tumbleweed Room of Coahoma State Bank.

'Birder' gives presentation of slides

The 1970 Hyperion Club held their regular meeting on Nov. 2 at the home of Mrs.

Wasn't a Party To His Birthday

DEAR ABBY: My husband recently had a birthday. His ex-wife and children invited him over for dinner and a birthday celebration. I was excluded. He accepted and I was left alone for the evening.

I believe that what he did was inconsiderate and unfair to me. He could have invited his children over to celebrate his birthday with us, or arranged to do something with them at another time.

What do you think?

DEAR HURT: I don't blame you for feeling hurt. Next year start early to plan a special birthday celebration for your husband. Awkward situations such as this almost always arise when a woman marries a divorced man with a "first family." It's unfair to "No. 2," but it usually comes with the territory.

DEAR ABBY: Eight years ago I married a fine man (Second marriage for both of us.) I moved to my husband's town and met his friends. His best friend is a mortician (married) who keeps making passes at me. Whenever we are together in a group, he manages to ask me quietly if I will meet him somewhere. I have told him repeatedly I'm not interested in anything like that, but he persists. He and his wife and my husband and I are a frequent foursome, and we enjoy each other's company.

I have never mentioned this to my husband because so far it's harmless, and besides it's not worth jeopardizing the present good relations we two couples enjoy.

Abby, the thought that drives me up the wall is this: when I die, I know my husband will call on this mortician do the "honors" (as he did with his first wife), and I cannot bear the thought of it!

This situation does have its humorous aspects, but nevertheless it is disturbing to me. If I were 22 and in perfect health maybe I wouldn't feel so panicky, but I'm not.

I am going to arrange my funeral with another undertaker, but what do I tell my husband? He'll be astonished that I didn't take my business to his friend.

DEAR SERIOUS: Don't tell your husband anything. Simply leave instructions with your lawyer, physician, clergyman and a few close relatives. You may outlive your husband AND the mortician. Or decide on immediate cremation. That way the mortician wouldn't get to lay a hand on you, dead or alive.

DEAR ABBY: SOFT TOUCH, the mother who couldn't get her grown children to repay the money they borrowed from her, should have given them "soft terms." That's what we did.

When our two married sons needed grubstakes to buy homes, Dad and I gave them longer terms at lower interest than any professional lender would have given a couple of penniless kids.

We made them sign IOU notes, telling them that their notes were part of our estate, so that other heirs would not be cheated in case of our unexpected deaths.

Their payments to us are small-but regular. We feel that this is as important a part of their character training as their Boy Scout days were.

CONFIDENTIAL TO C.K. IN INTERNATIONAL FALLS, MINN.: Victor Hugo said, "To reform a man you must begin with his grandmother." But since that is impossible, let no scurrilous or insulting remark about any ethnic group go unchallenged.

DEAR ABBY: My mother and mother-in-law were here today singing the same song: "Shame on you. How can you raise one child alone? Tammy should have a little brother or sister. You'll be sorry."

Abby, my husband and I have been married for 11 years. We have one planned child—a beautiful, healthy, well-adjusted daughter, now 4. I am 34 and my husband is 36 and we don't want any more children, but his mother and mine are constantly on our backs trying to make us feel guilty for raising an only child. They say we are being unfair to Tammy.

How can we get them off our backs once and for all? Or do you think we are being unfair to Tammy?

DEAR HASSLED: You can get them off your backs by stiffening your spines and reminding them (respectfully) that you are adults now and capable of making your own decisions. The size of your family is strictly your own business, and there is nothing "unfair" about raising one child.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif.

A Portrait is a gift only you can give, Christmas is coming soon so make your appointment before November 20th to insure delivery in time for the Holidays.

O.H. Ivie, 3 Coachman Circle. Mrs. Jimmy Anderson was co-hostess.

The program, "Birds of Texas," with emphasis on those which can be sighted in Howard County, was presented by Mrs. Edward Corson. Mrs. Corson explained how she became interested in watching birds and told of some of the amusing and interesting experiences she has had since she became a 'birder.'

The members learned that 250 to 275 different species of birds can be seen in this area during the course of a year. Mrs. Corson also presented a slide show.

Mrs. Jay Wallace, president, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. John Huffman was introduced as a guest, and Mrs. Billy Mac Sheppard was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Dennis Warrington spoke about the Big Help for Little Folk Program at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and stated that there was need for certain play equipment items. The club voted to purchase a toddler tower and a tricycle for use by the children in this program.

The next meeting will be the Annual Christmas Sampler Dec. 11, at which time members and their husbands will enjoy dinner and an evening of table games.

Washington P.T.A. will meet Nov. 13

The Washington P.T.A. will hold its next meeting Nov. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. A program will be presented and all parents are urged to attend. A babysitter will be available.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Lies breed troubles

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 12 but people who don't know me think I'm 15 or 16. Last summer when I went camping with my cousin and his wife I met this 18-year-old guy who picked up on me because he thought I was 16. He asked me if I was a party girl and I told him yes. Then he asked me if I wanted to smoke a joint and again I said yes. We also did another thing that I don't care to discuss. Now my conscience really bothers me because my mom thinks that I'm a really sweet, naive young lady. Whenever she reads about troubled teens she always says how thankful she is that I'm such a good girl. What should I do? Should I tell mom that I'm not sweet but bad? — C.R., San Mateo, Calif.

C.R.: You made several mistakes last summer but that doesn't mean you are bad. It only means that you were wrong, had a guilty conscience and won't allow the same mistakes to happen again.

As is the case most of the time, your troubles started with a lie.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 12-year-old boy and very big for my age. I'm 5-foot-3 and weigh 150 pounds. I am beginning to grow a mustache and would like to shave it off.

I have always been teased because of my weight and I don't want kids on my case for something else. My parents believe I just want to impress people at school and that I want to look older. Both my parents and I want your opinion. — David, Piqua, Ohio a friend of mine is close, my brother drives him away. And when I say he picks fights with my friends, I mean both boys and girls.

David: Peer ridicule is very painful. If you would feel more comfortable with your upper-lip peach fuzz removed—shave it off.

What's your opinion? — Frankie, Ogden, Utah

Frankie: I also think your brother is a brat and if I were you, my brother and my friends would never meet.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 12 and I've got a terrible problem that needs your urgent advice. My friend has been getting into trouble lately and she has been blaming it on me.

I get phone calls from the police and I'm really scared my mother will find out. Please help me. — Mary, Petaluma, Calif.

More women are calling the shots

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Today, if there's a doctor in the house, it could very well be a woman, says the November issue of Seventeen Magazine.

All of America's 124 accredited medical schools admit women, and since the 1960's, the proportion of female to male doctors has been steadily rising. At last government report, women made up one out of every ten American doctors.

Just as important as the changing statistics in the medical field are slow but sure changes in attitude. "The view that women belong in the home, or at best in a nurse's uniform is just about passe," says Mariys Hearst Witte, a professor at the University of Arizona.

The future looks brighter than ever for women doctors. A forthcoming report by five top medical groups will demand new national policies to help girls pursue medical careers. The report calls for programs to meet the young women's special needs on med school campuses, equal salaries for female doctors and help for them up the medical leadership ladders.

What does the Bible really mean to you? Is it an old leather volume gathering dust on the shelf, or a beloved, faithful companion? The answer depends partly on your childhood. If your family read the Bible daily, then its Books have long since become part of your way of life. But to many of us, the Bible remains a mystery and even the "modern" versions seem complicated. We may want, almost desperately, to understand, but it isn't that easy. Help is as near as your closest church. For centuries the Church has made a business of studying and interpreting the Bible. Despite the passing of time, they proclaim its message with remarkable clarity. Try it and see.

A Mystery?

Christians celebrate anniversary of church

The Christian Church of Big Spring, which meets at 21st and Nolan, will celebrate its 10th anniversary with Homecoming and the dedication of its new building addition Sunday.

The congregation was begun on Nov. 13, 1969, with 13 charter members. James Royse, former minister, will speak at both services Sunday.

The church is a part of a

non-denominational fellowship of Independent Christian Churches and Churches of Christ that number some 6,000 congregations and well over a million members in the United States.

Larry Farthing, minister, invites the public to share in Sunday's celebration and Homecoming services.

Big Dave Scroggins, nationally known bass singer, will present a concert of traditional and contemporary gospel music at the church Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Big Dave has been active in the field of music evangelism for the past nine years, both as a soloist and as a member of the "Gospel Lads Quartet." He has traveled extensively throughout the United States presenting concerts.

He is currently seen on "The Life That Wins" television program as the featured soloist. He has appeared regularly on the Revival Fires Television broadcast.

The public is enthusiastically encouraged to share in this free concert.

FLOW OF LIFE — A red cross doctor checks the flow of nutrients from an intravenous needle in the arm of a very seriously malnourished little Cambodian girl. The International Red Cross has many workers in this camp and hospital for Cambodian refugees.

Group wants to bring women together

COAHOMA — All women in Coahoma are invited to participate in a covered dish luncheon in the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church of Coahoma Saturday. The program begins at 10 a.m.

Each month, the group honors a different age group. This month, all women over 60 will be honored. These women do not need to bring a dish.

The purpose of the meeting is to bring all women in the Coahoma community closer in friendship and fellowship.

Local men elected to Baptist boards

LUBBOCK — Three Big Spring residents were elected to major positions on Texas Baptist boards during the annual meeting of the 2.1 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT) here Oct. 30-Nov. 1.

Charles O. Warren, D.D.S., 905 Mountain Park, was re-elected to the 192-member executive board. Warren, whose term expires in 1982, is a member of First Baptist Church, Big Spring.

Lonnie A. Coker, 508 Scott Dr., owner of Coker K-Bob, will serve as a trustee of the Baptist Memorial Geriatric Center. Coker, whose term expires in 1982, is a member of the First Baptist Church, Big Spring.

Billy T. Smith, 1410 Sycamore, owner of Smith Bookkeeping Service, will be a trustee of the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor. Smith is a member of the First Baptist Church, Big Spring. His term expires in 1982.

The executive board, composed of laymen and ordained church leaders, conducts the business of the BGCT between annual sessions.

The BGCT owns and operates eight colleges and universities, an academy, eight hospitals and four children's homes.

This work is supported by the convention's 4,400 churches and missions which will give more than $31 million this year through the cooperative program to help share Christ's love throughout the world.

Besides the institutions, the convention helps support the work of more than 5,000 missionaries in the United States and 94 foreign countries.

Criswell Institute course offered here

A college accredited course designed to aid any layman, Sunday school teacher or interested Bible student grasp greater insights in God's word will be offered locally in January.

An "Introduction to the Old Testament" and its backgrounds, with a survey of the content of Old Testament revelations will be taught at Hillcrest Baptist Church by the Criswell Institute of Dallas.

The class will meet each Monday night for 16 weeks, beginning Jan. 14. There is a registration fee and a $20 tuition fee per semester hour. The total cost for the four-semester hour course is $105, excluding the cost of books.

This opportunity for learning is made available at the cost of Hillcrest Baptist Church which hopes to bring additional classes from the Criswell Institute to this area.

"Neither our church nor the Criswell Institute desire to make money," according to the Rev. Phillip McClendon, pastor of Hillcrest Baptist. "Our purpose is to extend God's kingdom through trained and dedicated Christians. This course would greatly enhance the teaching ministry of any Bible believing church."

A lot of local interest has already been shown in Criswell Institute courses being offered here, according to McClendon. He hopes to get 40 interested students enrolled in this first course. Anyone who is interested may contact the church, 263-7127.

Those who wish to pay someone's way or to help with the school's expenses, may make contribution checks payable to the church, designating them to the Institute.

The course will be taught by Dr. George Davis who is well-known for bringing insight to God's word. He holds a B.A. and B.D.V. from a Mississippi college and a Th.D. from the New Orleans Theological Seminary. He is a contributing editor to the Criswell Study Bible.

Interested persons should let Hillcrest Baptist know of their desire to take the course.

Church plans special day

First Methodist Church will observe Covenant Sunday this Sunday.

Services will be led by Dr. E.L. Chappell, pastor. The adult and Children's Choirs will present special anthems during the service.

Immediately following the service, a special Fall Festival Dinner will be served in Garrett Hall.

A Farthing's Worth

This Sunday we celebrate our 10th anniversary with Homecoming and dedication of our new building addition. James Royse, former minister, will speak at our regular 10:45 a.m. assembly and at a special 2:00 p.m. Homecoming service. Help us celebrate an old-fashioned Christian Church, a congregation of born-again believers who love the Lord and believe and preach His inspired word. Come see us!

Women's Aglow invites public to fellowship

Women's Aglow Fellowship of Big Spring will meet Nov. 17 at 9:30 a.m. in the Dora Roberts Community Building — Blue Room, Comanche Trail Park.

The speaker this month will be Claire Lasher from Spokane, Wash. She teaches several weekly Bible studies to women of all denominations.

Her full-time Christian ministry includes speaking at retreats, to women's groups and in churches where she teaches from the Word of God and ministers in the Word of Knowledge and the gifts of the Spirit for healing and release.

Claire had done editing for various charismatic authors and for World Missionary Assistance Plan (MAP) Digest. She has had articles in World MAP's Acts magazine and in the Logos Journal. Her testimony has appeared in Aglow magazine and in an Aglow book entitled, Empowered.

She will be exploring a new series on the trials and testings in a believer's life. The study is designated as "The T 'n' T of Our Walk in God."

Everyone is invited to come and bring a friend.

Klondike to host conference

LAMESA — A workers' conference for the Lamesa Baptist Association will be conducted at Klondike Baptist Church Nov. 15.

Events include a 7 p.m. board and W.M.U. meeting, with a fellowship at 7:40 p.m., followed by inspirational services at 8 p.m.

Pie, cake, coffee and tea will be served at the fellowship. There will be no supper served.

Jim Hart will be the inspirational singer with Klondike Church presenting special music. Welcome and announcements and a special welcome to new pastors will be made by A.E. Burns. Billy Bush will present the message.

"W.M.U. program will be a time for each of our directors and chairman of the association to promote their work for the new year," according to W.M.U. Director Malva Holder. "So you, the associational worker, should plan to tell us in about three minutes each of your plans for the coming year."

Carter-Kennedy clash may be brutal

Chairman vows to keep party intact

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Democratic National Chairman John White had vowed Thursday to keep the party together in a potentially brutal 1980 Kennedy-Carter clash. It took only about two hours for the first rifts of discord to appear among top Democrats.

Democratic National Committeeman Joe Crangle, wearing a Kennedy button, sharply rebuked White during Thursday's routine executive committee meeting for publicly supporting President Carter.

"The national chairman is the trustee and a referee and should be impartial," the New York Democrat angrily told White. "The national chairman is a trustee of all Democrats. I find it a bit surprising and shocking."

Crangle said that in the two presidential races since the party's 1968 reforms, the national chairmen had remained neutral.

White attempted to laugh off Crangle's challenge, saying Crangle was suggesting that all DNC members should be impartial. "Are you trying to take politics out of politics? Let's get on with the committee business." Crangle shot back, "This is of critical importance, not something to be passed off so lightly."

Detroit Mayor Coleman Young then strongly intervened. "We are about to enter into a very vigorous campaign for the nomination. I support the president. I frankly don't believe this nit picking, and that's all it is, is going to solve a damn thing. Let's take it to the people in the primaries, not create a division here."

Crangle later said he was not calling for White to resign, only for him to "reconsider" such public support of Carter.

Asked if he and other DNC supporters of Sen. Edward Kennedy would press for White's resignation if White doesn't reconsider, Crangle replied, "We'll have to decide those things."

White, who says he fears Democrats are in an "extremely dangerous" position of splitting themselves and losing in 1980, had told reporters only two hours earlier that he intended to keep the party together.

"I'm going to fight every Democrat from coast to coast if I have to," he said. "It (party unity) will involve a lot of discipline, basically on the part of the candidates themselves and the staff."

"The national committee belongs to all of the candidates, all of the party. I expect national committee members to make endorsements and I'll make mine. Certainly I support the president," he added.

After the sharp exchange in the committee meeting, other Kennedy supporters called for White to either stop such public support or step down as national chairman.

"If he is going to campaign for the president, then he ought to go on (Carter's) staff as (Robert) Strauss has done. That's an ethical thing to do. I think he's the chairman and should be neutral," said DNC member Billie Carr of Houston.

Strauss, a special Middle East ambassador, was chosen chairman of Carter's re-election campaign Tuesday.

He later defended White, saying that before 1968, party chairmen had often supported incumbent presidents who were being challenged by another Democrat.

"I think it's absolutely a fraud if John White were to go before the Democratic Party and committee and say he's neutral. If he said anything contrary to that, they should kick him out of office because he would be lying," said Strauss.

Strauss had been scheduled as the committee's keynote speaker today. But his pending job change and the official campaign announcements by Kennedy and California Gov. Edmund Brown forced White to extend invitations to Kennedy and Brown campaign officials to speak too.

Strauss said Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne was tentatively scheduled to give a speech on behalf of Kennedy.

White said he believes about 60 percent of the 363 DNC members support Carter.

Coahoma visits Colorado City in key 6-AA affair

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Wolves will be in an unusual role for themselves compared to recent years, that of the spoiler, when they host the Coahoma Bulldogs in an affair that is always a heated rivalry.

AA last fall, have lost twice in district play and do not have a shot at the state playoffs this time around. But the Bulldogs, who were beaten for the 6-AA title last year by the Wolves 3-0 on a late field goal, are still in the title chase. Coahoma is 4-1 in district play, losing only to Abilene Wylie. Wylie is also 4-1, trailing Stamford, who is currently 5-0.

But the Bulldogs can at least assure themselves of a tie for the District 6-AA title if they can defeat the Wolves tonight and then upend league leading Stamford next weekend.

Coahoma appears to be reaching their potential at just the right times, as they have continued to improve weekly. The Bulldogs changed to the I-formation in their first district game to better utilize their speed, and went another step toward modifying their new attack last week by moving former quarterback Gary Gee to tailback. Gee responded by rushing for 227 yards on 27 carries in the win over Bllinger.

Colorado City improved their record with a 22-0 whitewash of winless Merkel.

Coahoma will start a tentative lineup featuring center Bobby Joe Tucker, guards Faron Phinney and Kyle Bennett, tackles Jerry Roever and Gary Bayes, tight end Randy Clanton, split end Ambrosio Uranga, quarterback Philip Ritchey, fullback Spot Paige, tailback Gee and slot back Darrell Douglass.

Grady closes season

LOOP — The Grady Wildcats and Loop Bulldogs tangled tonight in a District 3-B (Six-man) game. Both teams will be searching for their first win in district play of the year in the season finale.

Both teams started out in successful fashion in the non-district. Grady won their first three games before falling to powerful Paint Rock, Loop won all four of their non-conference tilts.

MOBILITY — Darryl Stingley, paralyzed in a 1978 pre-season game of the New England Patriots, uses a sling device when he is moved by a nurse in his Chicago home to do his rehabilitation exercises. Despite therapy five days a week, he doesn't know whether he will ever have full control of his arms or be able to walk again.

Steers host Odessa tonight

The Big Spring Steers and the Odessa Broncos will hit Memorial Stadium tonight in what amounts to a pride contest in the latter stages of District 5-AAAA. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

Big Spring hasn't won a district game thus far, while Odessa lost their first three encounters in 5-AAAA, before rallying recently to win their last two contests.

The Steers have suffered from an anemic offense all year. The Bovines offensive rushing game has not carried for more than 100 yards in any district game thus far, but possibly could tonight against the small, but quick, Red Hoses.

Odessa's interior doesn't have much size, averaging only 185 across the five man front. But the Broncos of Coach Jerry Millsaps are extremely quick, with defensive end Yancey Nunez, a 169-pounder, and 165-pound noseguard George Acosta leading the charge.

The Broncos could very easily be in the 5-AAAA race at this time, but couldn't quite do enough in their opening two games against Midland Lee and Abilene Cooper.

Playing without regular quarterback Billy Rumbaugh, who was injured in an automobile accident the day before the Lee game, the Broncos missed a two-point conversion in the waning moments against the Rebels to lose by 21-20.

The Broncos then played Cooper much closer than the 21-0 Cougar victory in their tussle the following week would indicate. The Broncos actually outgained the top rated Cougars in total offense.

San Angelo then used a yard kickoff return by the speedy Glenn Payne to defeat OHS 19-17.

But the Broncos have rallied since then, scoring twice in the final five minutes, then halting an Abilene drive in the final seconds, to take a 25-21 win. OHS then took advantage of six Midland fumbles in the first half to march to a 35-0 win last week.

Odessa's offense, with Rumbaugh back at the helm, has looked extremely potent recently. Rumbaugh is a 181-pound senior that is both an adequate passer and a good runner. He started last year in the Broncos 45-21 win over the Steers.

The Broncos have plenty of depth in the backfield, as they will probably use as many as six running backs in a normal contest. The starters, Georgie Mason and Johnny Subia, are probably the most dangerous. Subia is a versatile athlete that filled Rumbaugh's shoes in moving fashion during the veteran signal caller's absence.

Split end Steve Shannon and tight end Mike Rich are Rumbaugh's favorite receivers.

Big Spring Coach Ron Logback is hoping that his team will bounce back in the final two weeks of the season and realize that they have a legitimate chance to win either the Odessa or San Angelo games. The Bovines have played Odessa Permian, Midland Lee and Abilene Cooper the past three weekends in games that they were obviously outmatched in size, quickness and experience. But the Broncos do not have that size advantage, especially in the interior line, that has presented so many problems for the Big Spring crew.

Junior David Coffey will draw the starting role tonight, but senior Jimmy Marquez will also see plenty of action. Sophomore Richard Evans and senior Mike Terry will start in the backfield for the Bovines.

Garden City at Loraine

LORAIN — The Garden City Bearkats receive their final chance of the 1979 season to win a game tonight when they meet slumping Loraine.

Garden City, a young team with only four seniors on the squad, has shown improvement throughout the year, but has simply not been consistent enough on offense to win.

Loraine, meanwhile, won three of their first four games, but have now lost four in a row, all in District 3-B East play. Loraine suffered a 27-20 loss to Roby last week.

Rugged Seagraves invades Stanton

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes will be gunning to shoot their way back into the District 5-A title picture tonight when they play host to the state's fourth rated team, the Seagraves Eagles.

The Buffaloes are currently 3-1-1 in district play and 5-1-2 on the year, while the highly rated Eagles are 5-0 in loop play and 8-0 on the season. A win tonight for Stanton would put them within one-half game of the Seagraves team with one game remaining in district.

The Buffs, who have played defense like world beaters at times this year, will have their work cut out for them tonight. Seagraves has averaged over 40 points a game in district play, prompting Forsan Coach Ronny Taylor to comment after his team lost to the Eagles: "They are as good as any team in their classification that I have ever seen."

The Seagraves defense, meanwhile, has not allowed a single point in district play and has an average yield of 119 yards a game. But the Stanton defense isn't far behind, averaging a yield of 123 per game output by their opposition. Seagraves has the top rated defense in West Texas in Class A, while Stanton's defenders rank second.

Stanton walloped Anton last week, while Seagraves routed Forsan.

Bobcats spike Steer fems

SAN ANGELO — The San Angelo Central volleyball team captured the District 5-AAAA title Thursday night by defeating the scrappy Big Spring Steers by a score of 15-10, 15-9 in the final district match of the year for both schools.

The game was played before approximately 650 fans in the Central Gym.

The win was the 14th without a loss for the Bobcat fems in district play, and increases their season record to an auspicious 31-3. San Angelo is also the defending champion in 5-AAAA.

Big Spring, which had also battled San Angelo for the first half honors before losing, ended the second half with a 6-1 mark. San Angelo displayed an excellent team performance, but the spirited Steers never gave in to the defending champions.

The Bobcat junior varsity also won their match with the Big Spring JV's by scores of 15-12, 14-16, 15-11. The win enabled the San Angelo crew to finish district with a 13-1 mark, while the Big Spring JVs ended with a 5-AAAA mark of 12-2.

Sands meets Klondike

KLONDIKE — The Klondike Cougars will be hoping to finish off their regular season in undefeated fashion tonight when they host the Sands Mustangs in a District 3-B West tilt.

O'Donnell meets Forsan

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes, still hurting from a wounding inflicted upon them by powerful Seagraves last week, come home to take on the up and down O'Donnell team in a District 5-A tilt.

Forsan is 1-4 in loop play and 2-6 on the year, while O'Donnell is 1-2-2 in district play and 2-4-2 on the year. O'Donnell has been a weird team thus far. After tying lowly Anton, the same team that Forsan defeated 17-0 in their Homecoming, the O'Donnell team came close to upsetting the tough Stanton team before setting for a 14-14 tie.

This is the final home game of the year for Forsan.

Sutton earns grid award

WAYNE SUTTON, a 6'4", 210-pounder, has been named the Player of the Week on the Forsan team by Buffalo Head Coach Ronny Taylor.

Sutton had an excellent performance in Forsan's loss to highly rated Seagraves. He graded out 68 per cent on offense, which is excellent, considering the fact that he was blocking on the Eagles' All-State defensive tackle, Mike McCormick. Defensively, Sutton had eight tackles from his post. He probably would have had more, but as Coach Taylor remarked, "They continually ran away from him or he would have had more."

GENERAL TENDENCIES: It may take special effort but is worthwhile to be helpful to a loyal friend today. Take time to make long-range plans that could give you added abundance in the days ahead.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Bring your finest talents to the attention of associates who can help you to commercialize on them. Show your gratitude to others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Join with others in making your surroundings more charming and comfortable. Take no risks with your reputation today.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to be more encouraging instead of critical of others today and everything works out better for you. Express happiness.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be sure you don't let down those who are depending on you in monetary affairs. Improve your appearance.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Concentrate on personal affairs and go after them in a positive manner. Take time to engage in your favorite hobby.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Confer with the people you like and formulate good plans for the future. The evening can be very happy with the one you love.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Good day to be in the company of friends and relatives and express happiness. Avoid one who is pessimistic.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Listen to what family members have to suggest and try to cooperate more with them. Engage in recreational activities you enjoy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be alert to ideas of others and make the most of today's fine aspects. Avoid a tendency to spend too much money.

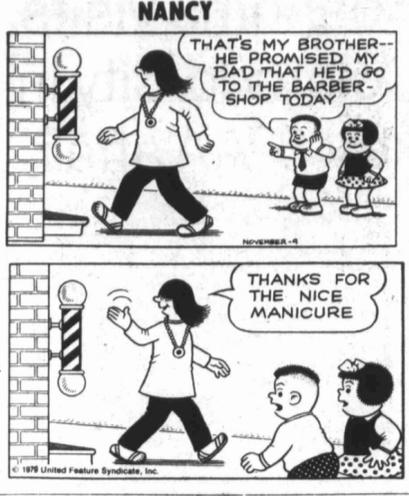

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you delve into your subconscious now, you could come up with the right answers to solving a difficult problem.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Know what it is that associates expect of you and then cooperate for greater success. Establish more order around you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan how to complete your chores earlier so you will have more time for recreation and leisure. Be more tolerant of others.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those charming young persons who can easily comprehend the problems of others and should have as fine an education as possible in order to make the most of the fine qualities in this chart.

Area junior high, JV roundups Big Spring fish stop Lamesa, 12-0

The Big Spring freshmen football team scored twice in the fourth stanza to take a 12-0 win over the Lamesa freshmen team in a game played here Thursday evening.

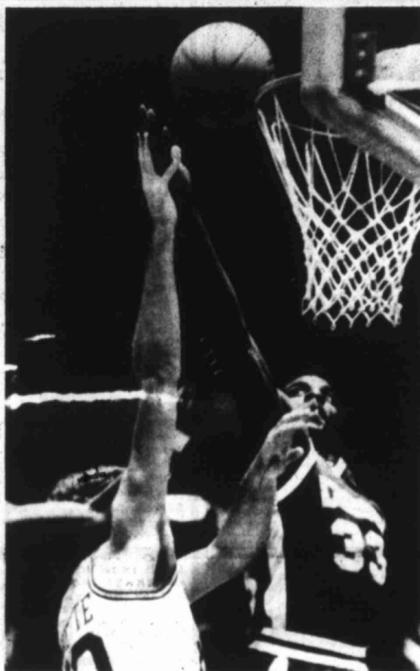

The game was a defensive struggle until the beginning of the final quarter, when Big Spring defensive tackle Parnell Parker recovered a Lamesa fumble on the Golden Tor five-yard line.

Two plays later, Big Spring quarterback Adam Rodriguez scored from the one on a quarterback sneak. The conversion try failed.

The Shorthorns iced the game in the latter stanza. With less than a minute to play, quarterback Pete Valenzuela passed to tight end Cliff Baker for a first down at the Lamesa 15. On the next play, Valenzuela raced around end and increased the Big Spring lead to 12-0. The conversion again failed.

The entire Big Spring defense performed admirably, with the play of middle linebacker George Bancroft, free safety John (Chili Mac) McVay, and defensive end Tony Randle leading the charge. Bancroft made numerous tackles, and also had a pass interception.

Baker had a good game offensively for the Big Spring team. Unfortunately, it will be Baker's last game here, as he is moving to Pampa this weekend.

THOMPSON TIPS IT IN — Denver's David Thompson, 33, eludes Utah's Ben Poquette and tips one in just moments before Thompson drew his second technical foul and was ejected from the National Basketball Association game Thursday night, Denver won 96-92.

Coahoma dominates Colorado City Cubs

Coahoma football teams emerged victorious in three of four games with Colorado City in grid action Thursday evening.

The Coahoma seventh graders started off the evening with a 14-0 win over their rivals.

The Bullpups scored in the opening stanza on a 30-yard dash by Jimmy Yanez. Robbie Henry ran across for the two-point conversion.

Yanez increased the Coahoma lead to 14-0 in the second period on a 15-yard run. The extra point failed, and both defenses took control of the contest thereafter.

Bobby Henry led all rushers in the contest by accumulating 90 yards on 11 carries, while Yanez chipped in with 61 yards on six rushes. Lineman for the Coahoma seventh graders drawing praise included Richard Rains, Gary Anderson and Mike Owens.

Defensive standouts for the Bullpups seventh grade team included Yanez, who had five tackles and an interception, Shawn Justice, Jerry Martinez and Kyle Robbins.

Colorado City took their only win in the four contests by taking a 24-6 win in the eighth grade affair.

After a scoreless first half, Colorado City scored on a two-yard run, with the successful conversion giving the Cubs an 8-0 lead.

Coahoma charged back in the final stanza to narrow the lead to 8-6 on a 20-yard run by Scott Mayhall. The PAT failed.

Coahoma then tried an onside kick, but Colorado City recovered, giving the Cubs excellent field position. C-city then scored soon after to increase the lead to 14-6, with the two-point conversion giving the Cubs a 10-point lead.

Offensive stars for the Coahoma eighth graders include Scott Mayhall and Mike McKinley, while Steve Hector had nine unassisted tackles and two assists to lead the Coahoma defense.

The Coahoma ninth graders used two early scores to establish control of their game and cruise on to a 20-0 win.

Tony Uranga started the scoring for Coahoma on a one-yard plunge. The PAT failed.

Manuel Martinez rambled in from the 12 later in the opening stanza, with John Wilson racing across for the two-point conversion.

The game was then scoreless until the final quarter, when Uranga scored on a 61-yard dash. The PAT failed.

The Coahoma team amassed over 300 yards rushing in the game, while limiting the Colorado City freshmen to only five first downs and 73 yards total offense.

Uranga was the leading rusher for the Coahoma fish with 136 yards on 13 carries. Martinez rushed for 119 yards on 19 carries, while Wilson rambled for 86 steps on 10 rushes.

Leading the defensive charge for the Coahoma freshmen were Junior Yanez, Robert Walker, Benny Isles and Danny Marr.

The Coahoma junior varsity completed the Coahoma success by taking an 8-0 win in the final game of the night.

Rodney Whitworth gave the Bulldogs all the scoring they would need in the first stanza on a one-yard run. Whitworth also added the two-point conversion run.

Coahoma had numerous chances to increase their lead, but turned the ball over three times inside the Colorado City ten-yard line.

Whitworth had another outstanding game rushing, accumulating 220 yards on 39 carries. Providing outstanding blocking for Whitworth were Tracy Van Ness, Jeff Thompson and Clifford Snell.

Drawing defensive praise for the Coahoma junior varsity were Van Ness with nine tackles, Snell with eight stops, and Regan Brooks with six tackles.

NBA considers Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The National Basketball Association's board of governors will approve a franchise for the city of Dallas, perhaps as early as Thanksgiving Day, according to the man who has been working for four months to bring a pro basketball team here.

Norm Sonju said he is in the final stages of preparing his report to the NBA, and is confident the league will grant his application.

"I talked with (commissioner) Larry O'Brien last Friday, and he asked me if I was still shooting for Thanksgiving Day. I told him I sure am. I don't think the NBA is going to sit there and wait until February if we're ready to go before then," Sonju said.

Joe Axelson, director of NBA operations, said earlier this week the league will announce its next two expansion teams Feb. 3 at an NBA meeting held currently with the league's all-star game in Washington.

Axelson said the leading candidates for new franchises are Dallas, Minneapolis, St. Louis and Hartford, Conn.

An arena, designed with pro basketball in mind, is under construction downtown and is scheduled to be completed before the start of the next NBA season.

Hawk Queens blast McMurry

The Howard College Hawk Queens broke open a tight game in the first ten minutes of the second half with a man-to-man press to take a 69-43 victory over McMurry College in a women's basketball game played Thursday night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The Queens played a very poor first half and only led by 31-26 at the intermission, but the good defense in the early portions of the second half allowed Coach Don Stevens team to pull away from their smaller counterparts. The Queens outscored McMurry 23-4 in the ten minutes following the halftime break, and were never threatened thereafter.

Coach Stevens was not pleased with the play of his team in the win. "We just had a very poor first half and didn't shoot well throughout the game, hitting only 32 percent from the floor and 54 percent from the free throw line. Fortunately, we played good defense. We looked tired."

Returning All-Conference performer Joanne Leftridge led the Queens in scoring with 13 points, with freshman Kelly Lyons adding 12 points and 12 rebounds. Stevens praised the overall play of Lyons in the contest. She is a 6'2" and from Safford, Arizona.

Sandra Whiteside and Tammy Gober led McMurry with 19 and 15 points, respectively.

Queen host talented Temple tomorrow night

The Howard College Hawk Queens, with a perfect record of 2-0, will put that mark on the line tomorrow night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum when they host the Temple Junior College Leopardettes in a 7:00 p.m. tilt.

The Temple team, perennially a national juco power in women's basketball, will bring a strong team to town for the game. Queens Coach Don Stevens has high praise for the Temple team, stating: "Temple is annually ranked in the top five teams in the nation and have won a number of national championships. They are talent laden in all positions, but their greatest player is Debbie Polk, a post player who can do it all."

Stevens and the Howard College team urge the public's attendance in witnessing this outstanding team, and the girls are looking forward to a great opportunity to gain some acclaim for themselves.

HOWARD COLLEGE — Susan Martin 3-0-6; Jill Floyd 0-3-3; Gerri Cortez 2-1-5; Joanne Leftridge 6-1-3; Robbie Freeman 2-1-5; Kelly Lyons 4-1-2; Loreita Young 3-0-4; Jayne Jones 2-2-4; Tari Moon 2-0-4; Shawn Smith 3-3-9; TOTALS 27-15-69.
 McMURRY — Teeter 1-1-3; Gober 3-9-15; Sladek 1-1-3; Whiteside 7-5-19; Peacock 1-1-3; TOTALS 13-17-43.

When Cougars host Texas Saturday Brown remains UH quarterback

HOUSTON (AP) — There have been games this season when Houston quarterback Delrick Brown didn't make it through the first quarter with his pregame meals.

Backup quarterback Terry Elston had to play the fourth quarter in the season opener against UCLA simply because Brown was too weak to continue.

Elston was back on a touchdown march in the final 52 seconds to beat the Texas Aggies last month.

But that is past history for Brown. Now it is plop-plop fizz-fizz and bring on the Texas Longhorns. The fifth ranked Cougars and eighth ranked Horns duel in the Astrodome Saturday night in a crucial Southwest Conference game.

"I was really nervous at the start of the season," Brown said. "Then I got banged up a little bit. But now Coach (Bill) Yeoman has shown that he's going to stick with me at quarterback and that has really helped my confidence."

Brown, the faithful understudy for so many seasons, went the distance for the first time two weeks ago in a 13-10 victory over Arkansas and completed a school record eight straight passes last week in a 21-10 victory over Texas Christian.

"I looked at the film of the TCU game and it looked like I was more comfortable throwing the ball," Brown said. "I read later that I set a school record. I just seemed to relax and throw the ball."

Although Texas is ranked second nationally in total defense and the Cougars defense is second to UT in the SWC statistics, Brown doesn't expect a defensive game.

"People say we are known for our defense and that is kind of an insult to our offense," Brown said. "We are leading the league in total offense so we must be doing something right. I don't think it will be a defensive game. I think we'll move the ball on Texas."

Brown could back up his contention with NCAA statistics which show the Cougars rank No. 10 nationally in rushing offense.

"And I guess I'm partial," Brown added. "I believe we've got the best talent in the league and I can't see them moving the ball on us. I think our defense can stop them."

Yeoman figures Brown's transition from his backup role last year to the starting job this year is just about complete.

"I think Delrick has adjusted to the differences in starting and being the backup," Yeoman said. "It was more of a chore than he thought it would be."

Brown goes into the game as the league's No. 3 passer behind Arkansas' Kevin Scanlon and Tom Jones.

Vitale fired as Piston coach

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — There were no tears at the news conference, but Dick Vitale made it clear how he felt about being fired as coach of the Detroit Pistons.

"I did a helluva lot of crying this morning and I feel like crying now... but my wife made me promise not to cry here," Vitale said at Thursday's press conference announcing the end of his 94-game tenure as Pistons coach.

"I don't want all those guys getting on TV and saying, 'He cried two years ago when he quit coaching at the University of Detroit and now he's doing it again.'"

Vitale and Oscar Feldman, the club's legal counsel, told reporters that Vitale and Pistons officials had "mutually agreed to relieve Dick of his duties."

"I don't think the maximum was being gotten out of our players," Feldman said. "I think Dick was his own worst enemy," Feldman said.

and Bill Davidson are the primary owners of the Pistons.

Feldman named assistant coach Richie Adubato as interim coach. Detroit newspapers and radio stations speculated that candidates for the coaching job included ex-Piston Dave Bing, former New York Knicks coach Willis Reed, former Marquette University coach Al McGuire and former Boston Celtic coach Tommy Heinsohn. The club did not comment on possible candidates.

Ryan seeks Texas Team

ALVIN, Texas (AP) — Nolan Ryan, who became a free agent after the 1979 baseball season, says he definitely won't return to the California Angels and has whittled his shopping list to four teams, two of them in his home state of Texas.

Besides the Texas Rangers and Houston Astros, the 32-year-old righthander said he is negotiating with the New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Brewers.

"From the standpoint of being a contending team,

Simple lifestyles needed?
NEW YORK (AP) - The nation's youths have been lulled by a concern for security, and parents should try to make children more aware of society's problems than self-fulfillment, says Dr. Benjamin Spock.
"I think that things are going from bad to worse," the 76-year-old child-rearing expert and social activist said Thursday at a meeting of the American Public Health Association.
"I'm only sorry we don't have the voices of the young proclaiming these things as we used to," he said in calling for better education and health care and more simple lifestyles. "I'm not against (self) fulfillment. But I think that the greatest fulfillment comes from feeling part of the larger society."

Bee Gees aren't breaking up

LOS ANGELES (AP) - US magazine says the Bee Gees are breaking up - but the three brothers Gibb say they will be together forever, despite plans for individual projects.
"It's nothing more than headlines to sell magazines," said Barry Gibb of an article in the Nov. 27 issue of US Magazine. "It's sensationalized journalism at its best. The story is not true."
In a statement released on behalf of brothers Robin and Maurice, Gibb said the Grammy-award winning group would begin work soon on a new album. He said he and Robin would be producing records, while Maurice will write songs and act.
"It's really all very simple, whether it be as family or sharing a stage, the Bee Gees will always be together," he said.

Texas' prison lobby elects first ex-con as new president

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - It was a weird sort of poker the kids played in the National Training School in Washington, D.C., back in 1952. Boys 13 to 17 kept score not with chips but with razor slashes on their forearms.
Don Taylor, who was 13 then, watched the bloody exercise in teen-age bravado with horror and says now it merely underscores the brutality of prison.
He served three more prison sentences before resolving, at age 30, to give up the drugs - chiefly dilaudid - that had put him behind bars while other bright young people went to college and established careers.
"I've been out of prison 10 years and I still have nightmares about the experience that leave me with a gut-level sick feeling for days," says Taylor, 40.
Now a "materials expeditor" at Tracor, Inc., a scientific research and instrument manufacturing company, Taylor is the first ex-convict to be elected president of Texas' prison lobby.
Taylor heads Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants (CURE), whose 3,000 members - including 1,000 prison inmates - are dedicated to pushing the idea that penitentiaries aren't the best way to deal with most criminals.
Taylor also serves on a local criminal justice task force and is director of the Texas Council on Crime and Delinquency.
A slender, six-footer whose close-cropped beard is flecked with gray, he rubs shoulders with the city's power people and gave the late Lyndon Johnson's lawyer as a reference when he applied for his job at Tracor this year.
Taylor got acquainted with LBJ's attorney, Donald S. Thomas, and Tracor president Frank McBee when he served with them last year on a committee that planned and successfully promoted an $8 million bond issue to build a new jail.
Paradoxically, he couldn't vote for the bond issue because convicted felons lose their right to vote. The Board of Pardons and Paroles rejected his application for a pardon last year, but Taylor filed a new one Oct. 23.
Taylor says he is not one of the Texas Department of Corrections' success stories. He says prison left him with a residue of anger that he still sublimates by playing one-on-one basketball and working to better the lot of prisoners.
"I internalized a lot of anger and bitterness and cynicism. That's what prison does for you. I saw I was letting the system destroy me. I began to learn how to deal with anger. You can turn it inward and become suicidal - that's what drug addiction is. I sought socially acceptable outlets. It was a gradual growth process," he said in an interview.
Taylor grew up in East Dallas and was the youngest of five children. He said he went to the Baptist Church and was a Boy Scout.
But he also was a petty criminal. He escaped from a county-operated reform school on Christmas night 1952, stole a car and drove it to Arkansas. At 13, Taylor was sentenced to the National Training School, a federal reform school that since has closed.
Released 18 months later, he began using uppers, downers and paregoric, which contains an opiate, and was expelled from the ninth grade at age 16.
At 18, Taylor drew his first prison sentence, three years for possessing a hypodermic needle.
Within months after his release, he was arrested for marijuana possession and went back to prison.
Three years later, at 24, he was a free man again. Arlington State College accepted him without a high school diploma on the basis of test scores. He completed a semester, made the "B" honor roll and got married.
But he also got caught forging dilaudid prescriptions and returned to Huntsville.
When he got out at age 30, he had spent 11 years of his life in prison, but within months he was arrested for forging prescriptions in Austin.
Taylor said he made a deal with the judge, paid a $1 fine and accepted counseling at the Travis County Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center.
He got a job in a printing shop and enrolled in the University of Texas as a psychology major. He says he has 90 semester hours, about three-fourths of the way to a degree. He also worked two years as a full-time counselor of ex-convicts.
What turned him around?
Taylor says there are no easy answers but it certainly wasn't prison. Getting away from his old haunts in Dallas and coming to Austin, where he at first lived with a brother, was part of it, he said.
"I never was happy with myself, being a drug addict and a prisoner," he said.
The prison system also needs turning around, he says, even though it is better than it was in the 1950s and 1960s, when "if they found a copy of the Constitution in your cell, they put you in solitary."
Taylor said he spent the early 1970s "just learning to live out here." Inmates, he believes, should be phased gradually back into society.
Ideally, he said, the state should allow cities or counties to operate their own prisons, keeping inmates close to their families and providing "training in marketable skills, not picking cotton. Then on to some kind of work-release."
Rehabilitation of prisoners suffers, Taylor says, when inmates spend years for relatively petty crimes while corrupt public officials get short sentences for their misdeeds.
"I think if they put some of the big shots in prison, we would have prison reform," he says.

Senate committee ready to recommend SALT II

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate Foreign Relations Committee approval of SALT II would close one long and crucial chapter in the debate over the strategic arms limitation treaty with the Soviet Union.
The committee was ready today to recommend that the Senate ratify the treaty, despite stepped up criticism.
Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., gave a boost to treaty opponents by declaring he no longer believes Soviet compliance with SALT II can be adequately verified.
Although the committee's overall support for the treaty seemed assured, the margin of that support was in some doubt.
There are 15 committee members and estimates of their ultimate position on the treaty range from 10-5 to 8-7. A close vote would be a less-than-auspicious beginning for the Senate debate on the agreement.
Three committee Democrats - John Glenn of Ohio, Richard Stone of Florida and Edward Zorinsky of Nebraska - have joined four of the panel's six Republicans in voting for amendments which treaty supporters claim would have killed the pact by causing the Soviet Union to withdraw from it.
Glenn has said he will vote against the treaty in committee because, like Goldwater, he has concluded it cannot be adequately verified at this time. Stone and Zorinsky have not revealed their positions.
Goldwater, vice chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, said several weeks ago that although he is unalterably opposed to the SALT II treaty and will vote against it, his opposition resulted from his belief that the pact is unfair and not because he found it unverifiable.
"Was depending to a great extent on the availability of new equipment," Goldwater said Thursday.
"This new equipment has not come through and the chances of it coming through do not look immediate or good to me at this time.
"I have doubts now of a sufficient nature to cause me to say that I do not feel we can depend on the verification capabilities of this country," Goldwater said.
The committee vote comes after 30 public hearings and 11 secret sessions over a four-month period starting last July 9. More than 100 witnesses testified, filling a record of more than 4,000 pages.

Texas Democrats beginning rejuvenation plan for 1980

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Texas Democrats, still smarting from their key election losses in 1978, have already begun a 1980 rejuvenation with a bi-partisan victory committee they hope will raise $1 million and rebuild the party's traditional superiority.
That coalition might also head off a fatal split in the state party ranks if the fast-developing Kennedy-Carter clash becomes nasty, Texas Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg said Thursday.
The committee includes Democratic National Committeewoman Billie Carr of Houston, a leading supporter of Sen. Edward Kennedy, and Democratic National Chairman John White and Goldberg, who both back President Carter.
White has warned Democrats at the meeting here of the party's national committee that they are in the "extremely dangerous" position of becoming hopelessly split by the Kennedy-Carter fight and losing in 1980.
Goldberg said, "It's not an attempt to ward off any split. But it might very well have that effect. I don't anticipate any split.
"It's not a Carter committee, it's not a Kennedy committee and it's not a (California Gov. Edmund) Brown committee," he added. "This committee will be geared toward party strengthening and party building."
John Hill, a committee co-chairman and the unexpected loser to Republican Bill Clements in the 1978 gubernatorial election, said, "There has been some erosion in strength, some loss in vitality and effectiveness. I'm very concerned about that.
"We didn't get the vote out on election day in 1978. We've got to do that in 1980," Hill said.
Clements narrowly won to become the state's first Republican governor in more than a century.
The Democrats also failed again to unseat veteran Republican Sen. John Tower, who narrowly defeated Democratic nominee Bob Krueger last year.

GSA probing free meals
WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration says there are "strong indications" that some of its employees may have accepted free meals from contractors who provided government cafeteria services.
The probe centers on employees who handled cafeteria contracts at federal buildings in two East Coast cities.

SIGN OF THE TIMES — J.K. Ramey stands outside his downtown Atlanta tire store in front of his billboard which warns tourists of the police and crime situation in Atlanta. The sign cost Ramey $9,000 and will keep a running tab on murders, rapes and robberies.

Atlanta businessman fights back
Billboard sign warns tourists

ATLANTA (AP) — A startling new sight now greets tourists who gaze out on the Atlanta skyline from a plush downtown convention hotel — a billboard warning them to fear for their lives.
J.K. Ramey, a tire dealer waging his own war against crime, battled city hall, bandits and vandals before finally erecting this sign about midnight Wednesday on the wall of his downtown business.
"Warning... You are in Atlanta, where police are underpaid, undermanned (and) under-equipped. Use extreme caution while here."
The 97-by-23-foot sign is clearly visible from one of the city's major convention spots, the Georgia World Congress Center and Omni International complex.
"This sign has had more impact on Atlanta than anything else in the last 50 years. We're going to make it one day where you can walk down the streets without being harassed," the 68-year-old Ramey said Thursday.
"Atlanta is one of the nicest cities in the United States... but it's got to where you can't stop at a red light safely," he said.
Along with the sign's message is a scoreboard which keeps a running tab on the city's murders, rapes and robberies. Ramey said his source for the figures will be "inside connections" with the city. He didn't elaborate.
There have been 205 homicides in the city so far this year, compared with 144 in all of 1978. Police announced Thursday, however, that the overall crime rate dropped 10 percent in October compared with the same month a year ago.
Ramey's battle with the city began in August, when he attempted to have his sign displayed on a billboard near the intersection of three interstate highways just south of downtown.
The administration of Mayor Maynard Jackson fought to keep the message from going up, Ramey said. Meanwhile, a truck carrying parts of the sign was stolen, and a crane to be used on the sign was repeatedly vandalized.
When the sign company finally bowed out of a contract to raise the warning, Ramey installed it on his own building. He says the venture so far has cost him $46,205.
"I've always loved Atlanta, and I intend to fight for Atlanta. I want a place where everyone — every race, creed and color — can walk the streets and be safe," Ramey said. "We're going to stop this (crime) if we have to have martial law."
"We're not going to surrender our city to a bunch of thugs," he said, adding he is prepared to erect a neon warning sign along an interstate if the situation doesn't improve.
Ramey said his sign might have saved the life of Dr. Marc Tetalman, a medical conventioneer from Columbus, Ohio, who was robbed and shot to death last June as he walked from a restaurant back to his downtown hotel.
"If that man had been warned in advance, it would have never happened," Ramey said. "He thought Atlanta was a safe city."

Protective ozone layer threatened
Fluorocarbons working faster

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Academy of Sciences says fluorocarbon chemicals are destroying the Earth's atmospheric layer of protective ozone at a rate twice as fast as earlier predicted.
The report released Thursday renewed concerns that depletion of the ozone layer could result in increases in skin cancer and changes in the Earth's climate.
The academy's National Research Council said new calculations indicate atmospheric ozone could be reduced 16.5 percent because of worldwide use of fluorocarbon chemicals. Half of this depletion will occur in the next 30 years, it said.
Three years ago, the council predicted an eventual 7.5 percent ozone reduction. But new atmospheric measurements and mathematical estimates revised the prediction upward, it said in a report to the Environmental Protection Agency.
Ozone is a form of oxygen made in the stratosphere and concentrated in a layer about 20 miles above the Earth. It is the planet's main defense against deadly ultraviolet light from the sun.
If more ultraviolet light reaches the Earth, some scientists fear widespread increases in skin cancer, possible unpredictable effects on plant life and changes in climate that could have many repercussions.
For example, scientists at Temple University have predicted that a 5 percent drop in ozone could cause a 10 percent increase in new skin cancer cases each year among fairskinned persons. The American Cancer Society estimates there are 400,000 new skin cancer cases a year in the United States, most of them curable.
The principal culprits in ozone depletion appear to be fluorocarbons. Fluorocarbon gases rise and accumulate in the upper atmosphere. Once there, sunlight breaks them down and releases chlorine or chlorine compounds that destroy ozone, scientists say.

Energy demands massive

HOUSTON (AP) — United States energy demands are so massive they "could devour Canadian resources in a matter of years rather than decades if Canadian exports were not controlled," said the chairman of Canada's National Energy Board.
Jack G. Stabback told a Thursday luncheon at the National Energy Forum that his country must make provisions for its own future energy needs before it can think about exporting its resources to its southern neighbor.
Canada's high dependence on exports to the United States has led to policies "designed to ensure that Canadian energy prices do not exceed those in the United States," he said.
Because of those policies, he added, Canadian industries have tended to operate at a disadvantage to their American counterparts.
"However, over the long run, Canada cannot continue to maintain a significant divergence between its domestic oil price and the international price," he said.
"This year, it appears that natural gas exports will be just under 1 trillion cubic feet," he said.

Rotary Club to honor 51 for donations made

In celebration of Rotary Foundation Week and the 75th anniversary of the Rotary, 51 persons will be honored by the Big Spring chapter.
The honorees, including the 46 past presidents will be Paul Harris Fellows, having $1,000 donated to the Rotary Foundation in each of their names.
The awards will be presented Tuesday, 7 p.m. in the east room of the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.
According to Jim Anderson, chairman of the event, this will be the first time this many awards are being handed out at one time.
Skip Kreidler, past district governor of Rotary in Oklahoma will be the guest speaker.
The 75th anniversary is being celebrated three months early to coincide with Rotary Foundation Week, November 15 to 19.
