Petition of hostages questioned

A petition said to have been signed by half the American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran appealed to the Carter administration Saturday to "release" the shah in exchange for their freedom.

Behind the scenes, the Palestine Liberation Organization and Moslem ambassadors pursued negotiations with Iranian student militants to try to end the week-long crisis that has aroused public wrath in the United States, tied up the top U.S. leadership and captured world attention.

"We will exert our utmost effort," said one PLO official. But another reported that a dispute between hard-liners and more conciliatory students among the mob at the embassy had squelched hopes that a few of the more than 60 American hostages, perhaps as many as a dozen, might be released soon.

As they have done each day since seizing the U.S. mission last Sunday, the student followers of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini declared again they will not free their captives unless the United States sends the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, hospitalized in New York, back to Iran to be put on trial for his life.

The State Department questioned the validity of the embassy petition, copies of which were given to four foreign ambassadors who visited the embassy Saturday to check on the hostages' well-being.

The document purportedly was signed by 33 of the American hostages. The students said only two persons had refused and the rest of the hostages would be asked to sign "later," Japan's Kyodo news service reported from Tehran.

"We request from our nation to release the Shah of Iran. In this way we will be free," the document said, according to a Tehran source reached by telephone from Nicosia, Cyprus.

The awkward phrasing suggested it was written by the students, and it left unclear whether it was calling for extradition of the shah to Iran — something the Carter administration refuses to do — or simply his departure from the United States.

The authenticity of the 33 signatures could not be determined. Representatives of the Red Cross — called the Red Lion and Sun in Iran — who visited the embassy earlier this week found some of the hostages under "mental duress," a PLO source reported.

Swedish Ambassador Kaj Sundberg, who visited the embassy Saturday with the Tehran ambassadors of France, Algeria and Syria, reported to the Swedish Foreign Ministry the hostages "were tired but feeling fairly well under the circumstances."

The State Department estimates that besides the Americans some 35 to 40 other persons are being held prisoner at the embassy, most of them presumably Iranian employees.

Carter orders deportation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter on Saturday ordered the Justice Department to deport Iranian students who are not in compliance with their entry visas, in an apparent attempt to stop possible violence in demonstrations in the United States.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said the Justice Department was ordered to "take the necessary steps to commence deportation proceedings" against those who have violated immigration laws.

Disgruntled pet owner hired killer for job

Dressed in his pajamas, A.D. Blount was sitting in his living room eating a piece of pie when he first heard the knock at the door.

He had spent the afternoon doing odd jobs around his pet motel and animal cage factory, and didn't relish the idea of a visitor at nearly 11 o'clock at night.

"On well, might as well answer it, he probably thought to himself as he rose from his chair. He shot a glance at his wife, Dorothy, who was sitting on the couch. She returned it with an annoyed look.

A few more minutes, and they would have been in bed.

Mrs. Blount heard the sound of the door latch opening, the muffled voice of another man, and then the sound of her husband padding barefooted back to the living room.

"Something about a dog," he announced perfunctorily as he climbed into his pants, a pair of shoes, and a coat. He then returned to open the door for the stranger waiting outside.

Bobby Chrisco wasn't exactly sure what he would do when Blount returned, but he knew it would involve violence. He fingered the .45 caliber, blue-steel Colt pistol inside his coat as he thought about the last few days.

Today was Dec. 10, so it was over a week ago that he had first been contacted about the job. He wouldn't get his usual fee for this one, but, it was still a job, he had thought.

Randy and Rae had picked him up in front of the Jewel Box Lounge in Kansas City, Mo. on the afternoon of Dec. 3. That seemed like a long time ago now.

After dropping Rae off at his hotel room, he and Randy had made Dallas in Randy's '62 Chevy two-door by about four in the morning. Randy had some cash that he said Rae had given him, and they had used that to check into a hotel in downtown Dallas.

He and Randy had then slept off the effects of the long drive until about 2:30 the next afternoon. When they had both spruced up, Randy went down to the Western Union office to get some more money that Rae had wired him. Instead of going with Randy, Chrisco had gone out to find some new clothes.

The blue turtleneck shirt and black slacks went well with his Nehru jacket, he thought. Just the look for the modern man of 1968.

Bobbie Randal Crain, Randy to those who knew him, remembered the trip from Dallas to Big Spring as he sat behind the wheel of the Chevy, idling behind the living quarters of Blunt's Pet-A-Zoo and Motel for Small Animals.

"Blunt." He hadn't even known that was the man's name until he had read it on the small slips of paper Rae had given him and Bob before they left Kansas City.

It had been a weird trip. As they drove along that long, straight strip of highway, Bob (what the hell was his last name, anyway?) had carried on about how he enjoyed working people over.

Crain had known for sure that his partner meant business when Bob pulled out the Colt automatic back at that service station. As they drove away, Bob said he wouldn't hesitate to use it if anything went wrong.

They had arrived in Big Spring at about 10 o'clock that night, and had driven south on Highway 87 just like Rae had told them to. They had driven past the Pet-A-Zoo once a couple miles out of town, and had to turn around to find it.

When they finally found the place, Bob had tried the front door, but no one answered. Bob had then disappeared around the back, and the only thing left to do was wait.

Sixteen-year-old Gary Blunt was disturbed by the tone of voice the visitor was using. Gary had watched through the half-opened living room door as his father ushered the young, dark-haired stranger into the hallway.

Now the two men were arguing, but Gary could not make out the words. Then, as he watched, the stranger grabbed his father by the arm with one hand, and with the other hand pulled a square-looking black gun with brown handles out of his coat.

Gary heard the stranger ask who else was in the house.

"My family," said Blunt, as his son turned from the hallway to alert Mrs. Blunt.

The time for talking is over, thought Chrisco as he leveled the Colt two feet (See Evidence, page 2A, col. 1)

Relatives of hostages echo Carter

Anger boils into fierce protests

As fearful relatives of American hostages in Iran echoed President Carter's plea for restraint Saturday, scores of frustrated Americans marched and chanted in more protests on the seventh day militant Iranians occupied the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

In Chicago's Federal Plaza, protesters carried signs Saturday urging U.S. military intervention to free the 60 American hostages. About 30 marchers joined in the protest called by the anti-Iranian Remember the Embassy Committee.

American anger boiled over into fierce protests last week as militant Iranians continued to occupy the U.S. Embassy and demand the extradition of deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, who is undergoing cancer treatment in New York.

The Denver Committee of Americans for the Extradition of the Shah planned to march on Saturday because they were "alarmed at attacks against Iranian people in this country," said spokesman Martin Eder.

Eder said the group "feels that if Iranians in this country were to get hurt, lives of Americans in Iran would be in jeopardy. We don't support the specific tactics being used (in Tehran), but we do support extradition of the shah. He should be brought to trial."

After clashes between Americans and Iranians from opulent Beverly Hills to the nation's capital, relatives of some of the American hostages in Tehran issued pleas for restraint on Saturday.

"We are urging Americans not to demonstrate, to realize that their protests are endangering the life of my father and the other hostages," said Allyssa and Katie Keough, daughters of educator William F. Keough Jr., one of the hostages.

Allyssa, 18, and Katie, 19, both students in Boston, said they feared the anti-Iranian protests could worsen their father's plight.

In Pueblo, Colo., Theresa Gallegos, the mother of one hostage, said she feared the U.S. backlash could endanger her son's life and said of the protesters: "Why don't they ask us? He's our son." Billy Gallegos, 22, was among the Marine guards assigned to the embassy.

Firefighters give up on oil tanker blaze

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Firefighters gave up trying to extinguish a 10-day-old fire on a crippled tanker Saturday, saying they would let the blaze burn itself out while trying to keep it from spreading to other areas of the oil-laden ship anchored just offshore.

But some state senators complained the fire should have been put out a long time ago.

The tanker, the Burmah Agate, has been burning and spilling oil into the Gulf of Mexico since Nov. 1, when it collided with the freighter Mimosa and exploded. Thirty-two sailors were believed killed in the collision, but so far only 16 bodies have been recovered.

The tanker carried 390,000 barrels of light crude oil, and officials said Saturday if the fire spread and the entire cargo should catch fire it would take three or four more weeks to burn itself out.

"This oil has a low flash point, and foam has been useless to put it out," said Paul Preus, a supervisor of salvage operations for the tanker's owner, Burmah Oil Co. of London, England. "So we are using the technique called 'off-loading by burning.'"

Preus said the anchored tanker, which was grounded in 40 feet of water for several days after the accident, has refloated itself and swung into the wind, helping contain the fire, which so far has been confined to the aft section.

Preus said officials were discussing the possibility of pulling the flaming tanker away from its present position about five miles from the entrance to the Houston Ship Channel, but where they would tow the vessel remained a question.

Coast Guard Capt. Roger Madison, chairman of an oil spill task force set up to try to minimize damage to the coast, said a lack of equipment delayed firefighting efforts immediately after the collision at sea.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Bond not punishment

Q. Why was the bond on Lonnie Green, charged with manslaughter and DWI, set so low?

A. "Bond is not a punishment. It's just an assurance that he'll be here," said Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin. "Anyone who makes bond will make sure he's here." Green's bond was set at $15,000 on the voluntary manslaughter charge and $1,500 on DWI. In light of the state's "Justice of the Peace Desk Book" example of a $10,000 to $20,000 bond for murder, $15,000 for a manslaughter charge is not unreasonable. The examples given in the book, Hefflin said, do not have to be followed. The amount of bond is the decision of the justice of the peace and may vary depending on the individual case. Someone apt to flee before trial may receive a higher bond.

from Blount's chest and pulled the trigger.

Randy Crain heard the shot, and then saw Chrisco appear around the corner of the house.

"Let's go, I just shot him," he said as he climbed into the passenger seat of the Chevy.

Gary Blunt and his mother heard the shot, too. They had started toward the hallway when Blount, holding his wound, collapsed onto the living room floor.

"A kid . . ." was all he could say. These were his last words.

At 9 o'clock the next morning, Johnny Thomas Orms, an employee of the Service Pipe Line Company of Snyder, was driving a winch truck south on Sterling City Highway. Just about a mile from the Garden City turnoff, Orms saw something glinting in the grass on the shoulder of the road.

Another car was in front of him, so he had to drive for a couple of miles before he was able to safely turn around. After driving back to the spot where the glint had appeared, he got out of the truck, and immediately saw that the object was a pistol of some kind.

The .45 caliber Colt automatic was still cocked, but the safety was on. Orms placed the pistol on the passenger seat of the truck, and drove on toward Garden City.

On the morning following the murder, the only solid lead Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard had in the case were a .45 slug his deputies had dug from the wall, a pretty good description of the gunman supplied by Gary Blunt and some reports that A.D. Blount's life had been threatened regularly during the past several months.

The rumors were curious. Standard would have to check them out with the police.

Johnny Orms met up with two of his fellow employees when he stopped at a cafe in Garden City, and told them about finding the gun. The three men had to replace an oil pump, but they decided that when they were finished, they would take a look at the pistol.

None of them knew at first how to release the safety mechanism on the Colt. But after fiddling with it for a while, the safety popped free, and one of the men fired off two shots before the gun jammed.

Pulling out the clip, the men noted that four shells remained unfired. Orms slipped these into his pocket, put the gun back into the truck, and left with his friends to work on another pump.

Rae Bourbon sat in the Jewel Box Lounge in Kansas City, removing the makeup he had worn in his act as a female impersonator.

As he slipped out of his dress, he began to think about Bobby and Randy and, above all, his dogs. The dogs were his pets, his family really, and he wouldn't think of traveling anywhere without them. There had been 71 of his "little babies" in the trailer that night over a year ago when his transmission burned up just outside of Big Spring.

He had been bound for his opening at the Jewel Box after a club date in El Paso, and the transmission had just given out. The car and the trailer had been towed 17 miles into Big Spring, and that's when the problems began.

"All I wanted to do was leave the dogs in the kennel until I could drive back at the end of the week and pick them up. Naturally I didn't foresee the man in the kennel taking the dogs out of the trailer. There was certainly no need for that," thought Bourbon. "Then, naturally he'd found out I was in show business, and he naturally assumed I'd be rolling in money."

Bourbon had left without his dogs, and over a period of two months performed in Miami and New Orleans. Some money had changed hands between him and Blount; they had met again once in Big Spring; but Bourbon still had been a little confused about the terms of the agreement.

Once Bourbon had heard that the man at the kennel was planning to auction off the dogs, Bourbon, furious, had called lawyers, the Mayor of Big Spring, the police and even the top doctor at one of the big hospitals there.

Bourbon might have made a mistake threatening Blount the way he had. It might come back to haunt him.

Then he thought of that night in November in Orange, Texas and became upset all over again. He had driven that far on his way to Big Spring to pick up his "babies," and had stopped at a phone booth beside the road to call the kennel.

"Don't bother," he had been told. "The dogs have already been sold."

The next thing he had remembered was regaining consciousness near the emergency entrance of a hospital. The attendant at a near-by gas station had seen him collapse inside the phone booth, and had called an ambulance.

So, that was that. After getting out of the hospital he had contacted nearly every Society For The Prevention Of Cruelty To Animals in the state of Texas, to no avail. Now there was really nothing left to do, was there?

Johnny Orms didn't learn of the murder until nearly the end of the work day when a couple of his friends told him about a news bulletin they had heard. On his way home, Orms measured the distance from the Garden City Highway turnoff to where he thought he had first spied the gun.

He didn't know any officers in Big Spring to turn the gun over to, so he returned to his home in Snyder and ate supper. After eating, he called the Scurry County Sheriff's Office, and arranged to meet with Deputy M.L. Chandler.

Orms told Chandler about finding the gun and then reading later about the murder. Chandler left carrying the pistol. At 8:30 p.m., Chandler called Orms to say that he and Sheriff A.N. Standard would come to his home that night to talk with him.

Only two days after the murder, the evidence had begun to pile up at the Howard County Sheriff's Office. Standard and his deputies had a witness, a bullet and a gun they felt sure was the murder weapon.

A little legwork, and they had traced the Colt to its last point of purchase - Kansas City. Now they would have to wait for confirmation from the lab in Austin that they had the right gun, and that would probably take three more days.

No need to sit on their hands, though. Standard had confirmed with the help of local police that Blount had received continuous threats on his life from one person since before April. That person had told Blount that he would kill him, or hire someone else to do the job.

This jibed with information and hunches Standard had gathered from out of state. They were getting closer; a lot closer.

Detective James D. Theisen with the vice squad of the Kansas City

Police Department collected guns as a hobby. He was serious about his hobby, and kept careful, complete records of the brands, types and serial numbers of all the guns he had collected.

When Sheriff Standard checked with the Colt Firearms Company in Hartford, Conn., he found that the pistol that may have killed A.D. Blount had been shipped new to Kansas City. Records showed that it had been bought by James Theisen.

It was a simple matter for Theisen to find what had happened to the gun after it left his hands. In March of 1968, he had traded the gun to R.H. Hansen, entertainer at the Cat Ballou Lounge in Kansas City.

Hansen was contacted by Kansas City Police, and he told them that during September of 1968, he had sold the pistol to one, Rae Bourbon.

By Dec. 17, all the pieces had fallen into place. Ballistics experts with the Department of Public Safety in Austin had told Standard that the .45 caliber automatic was the gun that fired the bullet which killed Blount.

Investigators knew that the gun had last belonged to Rae Bourbon of Kansas City, Mo., and that Bourbon had repeatedly threatened Blount in regard to a disagreement over a pack of dogs Bourbon had left at Blount's kennel. Furthermore, witnesses in Kansas City had stated that Bourbon and two of his cronies lived in the St. Regis Apartments there, and that one of Bourbon's friends answered the description of the murderer.

Standard was ready to move. At 3:45 a.m. on Dec. 18, A.G. Mitchell, criminal investigator for the Howard County Sheriff's Office, followed a Kansas City Vice Squad Detective into the Jewel Box Lounge.

The detective approached a table where two men, one of them dressed in drag, sat talking. The officer produced his credentials and introduced Mitchell to the younger of the two men.

"Mr. Mitchell here is from Big Spring, Texas, and he was wondering if you'd mind coming down to the station to talk with us," said the officer.

"What is it you want to talk about?" asked Bobbie Randall Crain.

"About a homicide in Texas," replied the officer.

"I thought so," said Crain, as he rose to leave with the two men.

Rae Bourbon, the man sitting across from Crain, said nothing.

The two officers walked Crain to a waiting patrol car outside the lounge. Detective James Theisen was behind the wheel. The three men sat silently in the car as Texas Ranger Butch Albers and another Kansas City Policeman moved in to arrest Bourbon.

The two officers stood by while Bourbon changed from his dress into street clothes, then placed him in the back of another patrol car, and drove to the police station.

As the cars were enroute to the station, Bobby Eugene Chrisco was being picked up at his home less than a block away from the Jewel Box.

Following the arrest, Crain and Chrisco were charged with murder with malice, and Bourbon was charged with being an accomplice to murder. Crain agreed to return with the officers to Big Spring, while the other two men decided to stay in custody in Kansas City and fight extradition.

Crain was held without bond in the Howard County Jail until Jan. 27 when he appeared in 118th District Court on a writ of habeas corpus hearing. During that hearing, his attorney convinced the judge that no adequate cause had been shown for keeping Crain in jail.

Following the hearing, Crain was ordered released. On Jan. 28, a grand jury indicted Crain for murder, and Sheriff Standard was asked to rearrest him.

On Jan. 29, Crain was discovered in a mental hospital in Kansas City where he had previously been a patient.

During February, Kansas City authorities moved Crain from the hospital to the county jail, and attempts to extradite all three continued in earnest.

On March 12, Bobbie Chrisco and Rae Bourbon were returned to Howard County after their extradition was ordered by a Missouri Circuit Judge. On April 18, Bobbie Randall Crain joined them.

On Oct. 3, 1969, Bobbie Chrisco, 22, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of A.D. Blount. As a result of the publicity surrounding Chrisco's trial, both Crain and Bourbon were given changes of venue. Crain's fate would be decided in Odessa, while Bourbon would face trial in Brownwood.

On Feb. 22, 1970, Rae Bourbon, 76, was sentenced to life imprisonment for being an accomplice to the murder of A.D. Blount.

During the trial, the following testimonial, written by a part-time employee at Blount's Pet-A-Zoo, was released in regard to Bourbon's beloved dogs: "In my work at the zoo I saw the condition of the animals which Mr. Bourbon had brought to the zoo, and they were starving, lacked water, proper food, many of them had open and festering wounds, several had limbs that had been chewed away by the other dogs. Due to their poor condition, Mr. Blount and myself had to put approximately 20 of them to sleep."

Several months after Bourbon was sentenced, when interest in the trial had died down and coverage by the press was scarcer, Bobbie Randall Crain pleaded guilty to murder, and was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment.

The two-and-a-half years that Bourbon had spent in prison had taken a considerable toll on his health. On July 18, 1971, the 78-year-old man was ordered transferred from Brownwood to the Big Spring State Hospital. Around midnight, he died of a heart attack.

On the day of his death, the following account ran over Associated Press wires across the state: "Bourbon always claimed he was the son of a Bourbon princess from France and his father's uncle was Francis Joseph I, once emperor of Austria."

"He was spotted by Mae West in the mid-1920s while he was appearing in vaudeville. She wanted him for a part in her upcoming picture, 'Diamond Lil,'" he said.

He later developed his female impersonation act and in a recent interview told how he had performed for Spanish dictator Francisco Franco, President Franklin Roosevelt, the Queen of England and the Duke of Windsor.

"He said he counted among his friends Rudolph Valentino, Gloria Swanson, Pola Negri and other stars of the silent screen era. "Bourbon's case was under appeal when he died."

Press hasn't learned

By JIM DAVIS
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Journalists often have a low regard for anyone who leaves their trade to promote a certain product or politician, but media people would do well to listen to Ron Nessen.

Nessen, a White House television correspondent who became President Gerald Ford's press secretary, points out in the Nov. 5 Newsweek some mistakes reporters have made in covering past presidential campaigns — and how they are giving every indication of repeating those mistakes.

Nessen has an unfortunate arrogant air about everything he does, but he has some good points.

The media do have a tremendous impact on the election process. They must be alert and self-critical to keep that impact as impartial as possible.

Sen. Edward Kennedy's entrance into the presidential sweepstakes makes that job even harder this time around.

The Kennedy name has an uncommon power in this country, both on the citizens and the press.

Our office clips and files political stories from 13 Harte-Hanks papers in Texas and several metropolitan papers. Already, with Kennedy's official candidacy only days old, the senator's file is bulging.

One national network produced a special program on Kennedy and rushed it out before his official announcement to avoid having to give equal time to other candidates.

Usually it is the incumbent president who commands such attention — who can get a news story by doing practically anything. Maybe with Kennedy in the fray, news play will be spread more equally than normal.

There is danger of overlooking the other side of the 1980 political fight, however.

If Kennedy and Carter tear up each other in the Democratic nominating process, the chances of a Republican win in November will be increased. But the Democratic battle could consume so much media time and space that candidates for the Republican nomination won't get sufficient attention.

Former Texas Governor John Connally has been tugging for months over the media attention given to Kennedy.

Connally says he has put together an impressive and well-financed campaign but he gets less attention than Kennedy, even while the Massachusetts senator was still being coy about being a candidate.

Connally probably has mixed emotions about that situation, however. He sees an early Kennedy victory over Carter as his own best chance to get the Republican nomination. Connally — never known for modesty — thinks Republicans will see his own strong campaign style as their best weapon against the magic of a Kennedy candidacy.

One of the saddest things about the present campaign has been the reaction of political analysts to Connally's speech on the Middle East.

John Scali, veteran ABC newsman and commentator, recently told an audience in San Angelo that the Connally speech was a terrible political error because it included specifics that angered special interests.

In effect, Scali was saying that Connally should have stuck with platitudes and generalities that normally mark campaign speeches.

That's a sad commentary on the style of campaigning in America today and on the general acceptance of that style.

Much criticism of political reporting focuses on attention given to polls. But there really is a poll you may not have heard about.

Although GOP candidate George Bush's campaign has been buoyed by recent polls in Iowa and Maine, wife Barbara told several hundred Republican women in Austin that the most encouraging poll was one taken at a national witches' convention on Halloween.

Foreign missions vet to speak here Nov. 19

More than 300 representatives from Baptist Churches in the Big Spring Association are expected to hear a 15-year veteran of foreign missions address the Bold Missions Banquet here Monday Nov. 19.

The event will be at the Big Spring High School cafeteria 6:45 p.m. and 31 Baptist Churches in the association have been urged by Sam Robertson, missions chairman, to take part. He asked churches to obtain reservations ($3.50) and report to him early in the week.

The Bold Mission thrust by Baptists is a program designed to present the Gospel of Christ to all people around the world before the century is out. Boswell, as a seasoned missionary and administrator, is an impassioned speaker on the subject.

RONNIE BOSWELL

A graduate of Wayland Baptist College and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Boswell served six years as youth and music minister in Slaton and Dallas, then four years as a pastor in Dallas (Cedar Temple), before being appointed by the Southern Baptist Mission Board to Brazil.

In addition to his evangelistic outreach and experience in urban missions, he has filled many places of leadership in South Brazil. Starting in 1964, he chaired the mission personnel committee and the long range planning and strategy panels in South Brazil as well as serving on the Brazil Home Mission Board from 1970-75. He also served as director of evangelism and missions for the Minas Gerais State Executive board, served as associational secretary, and led in Sunday School development. Boswell has authored several publications on missions.

While it is quite possible that some younger clubs may also have the distinction of having every past president in their clubs named a Paul Harris Fellow, it is almost certain that the Big Spring Rotary Club will be the oldest club to make this claim.

The coveted award, named for the founder of Rotary International, consists of a lapel pin, a bronze medal and a certificate bearing the name of the recipient.

The award is given when a donation of $1,000 has been given to the Rotary Foundation in a person's name. The Rotary Foundation uses the funds to for scholarships to outstanding young men and women to study in a foreign country to further international understanding.

More recently, the program has been expanded to provide a scholarship for young journalists, teachers of the handicapped and the Group Study Exchange Teams of young business and professional men.

Funds for the awards to be given during the Tuesday program were provided by the Guion Pool Keating Estate. Mrs. Pool's husband, the late Fred Keating, was a charter member of the Big Spring Rotary Club and served as its president in 1946-47.

Among those receiving the award will be five women: Mrs. Rhea Baker, Mrs. Charles Beil, Mrs. Dorothy Jarrett, Mrs. Elmo Wasson and the late Mrs. Keating.

Past presidents who qualified for the award include:

J. Fred Phillips, W.T. Strange Jr., B. Reagan, R.T. Piner, Dr. M.H. Bennett, E.J. Mary, J.A. Davis, M.K. House Sr., Elmo Wasson, Tom Ashley, James T. Brooks, A.S. Darby, Ira Thurman and Dave Duncan. 51 Harris Awards will be presented Tuesday

Big Spring's two Rotary clubs will jointly celebrate the 75th anniversary of Rotary International in a gala event scheduled to get under way in the East Room of the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at 7 p.m., Tuesday.

Skip Kreidler, one of the most popular speakers in the country, will deliver the principal address. A crowd of upwards to 250 people is expected to attend.

A precedent shattering "first" for Rotary will occur when 51 Paul Harris awards will be presented. The Big Spring Rotary Club, which was founded in 1928, will be naming every past president of that club, who has not already been so named, a Paul Harris Fellow. Quite likely, this will probably be the most Paul Harris awards ever presented at one time in the history of Rotary International.

While it is quite possible that some younger clubs may also have the distinction of having every past president in their clubs named a Paul Harris Fellow, it is almost certain that the Big Spring Rotary Club will be the oldest club to make this claim.

The coveted award, named for the founder of Rotary International, consists of a lapel pin, a bronze medal and a certificate bearing the name of the recipient.

Why should sub-human conditions exist?

This newspaper occasionally receives mail from acid individuals who resent (1) the location of a minimum security camp here and (2) the 'country club' atmosphere of the facility.

Anyone who reasons that the inmates have all the advantages of a private club and none of the responsibilities of a person who has been sentenced for a crime should visit the camp. There's probably not a man out there who wouldn't change places with you and us.

MEN WHO are forced to pay a debt to society should not have to pay that debt in an atmosphere of sub-human conditions, in fear of physical and physical abuse from other inmates.

In some of the hard-line prisons around the nation, violence is the rule rather than the exception and the tougher society makes it on the inmates the higher risk there is that those inmates can never be rehabilitated.

The Dallas Times-Herald recently printed an article telling of some of the conditions in the Texas prison system in Huntsville. In part, it said:

"Violence between inmates is nothing new at the Texas Department of Correction's Ellis unit, the state's most notorious maximum-security unit, a place where more than a fourth of the residents are serving life sentences.

"But in recent months, the violence has hit frightening new levels, with three inmate killings in less than six weeks and three other stabbing incidents since last April."

The writer opened his story by telling what provoked one fatal stabbing — an accidental nudge at a water fountain, followed by two racial slurs.

Not many know the inside story of the prison system, ourselves included. It's hard to determine what's real and what is a false picture conjured up by the dreams one sees on television. It's hard to determine how much the brutality of prison life depicted by the much publicized 'Scared Straight' program and the TV report of it apply to all prisons or whether the hell holes are isolated incidents. Regrettably, the horror stories might be too close to reality.

Officials of the Texas Department of Corrections point out that the rate of violence in Texas prisons is low compared with some other states.

TDC DIRECTOR W.S. Estelle Jr., told the Dallas writer: "Ellis is a microcosm mirror reflection of the community that produces these people. When you look at the number of people there and the close proximity of the population, I have to make the observation that our inmates are really handling themselves well. Ninety-eight per cent of the inmates don't want violence. They want to promote domestic tranquility."

There are people in this world who would send a man into servitude for life for one misstep. It offends those individuals to think that society might be making a genuine effort to rehabilitate such people, that they are those who reason many people will be grateful for the chance to resume their places in society after squaring their debts.

Granted a prison term shouldn't seem like a Caribbean cruise, but neither should each day be spent living in fear that an accidental collision or a spilled cup of coffee constitute an offense that could cost you your life.

Around the rim

The only way to see daylight is to moonlight.

The only place where ends meet these days is on the football field.

That travelin' man, Kenneth Hart, says:

Behind every successful man is a man who says he went to school with him.

In view of the high prices on the sophisticated toys being offered this year, don't be surprised to hear that Santa has hired someone to ride shotgun to ward off sleighjacks. So sez Eileen McGuire, Herald reporter, whose son, Lee, celebrated his birthday Wednesday.

My bashful aunt, Marie Chastain, insists: "New York City asking Washington for financial help is about like Liz Taylor asking Zsa Zsa for marriage guidance."

PILL-PUSHER MIKE DANIELS has a geography lesson.

"If Olivia Newton-John married John Denver, she'd become Olivia Newton-John Denver."

"Of course she could marry Elton John and become Olivia Newton-John John."

"These days it's almost required that a house two Johns."

My wonderful aunt, Mildred Ladd, wonders:

Do you collect "neat tricks"? In one of our prestigious institutions of higher learning this appears —

For safety dry feet before leaving pool.

It was a great idea but the syntax was insufficient.

IT WAS THREE years ago last Friday that Carol Hart, daughter of one of my leaders, Tommy Hart, got a new green car on her birthday. Carol, now a copy editor on the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, asks:

"Did you hear about the labor leader who went to a New Year's party dressed as Father Time-and-A-Half?"

And kinda along the same path, ex-

Alpine cowboy, who resigned his job with the Herald to herd words for the daily newspaper in Conroe, concedes:

"The closest I have ever come to understanding eternity is when I bought a new car on the installment plan."

My fishin' uncle, Russell Harris, has chosen the idea minority to blame for most of our problems: Corporate Tycoons. No one pities them, nobody loves them, but multitudes envy them."

In that preceding paragraph my first attempt to write "multitudes" came out "multitudes," which may be a word we need in our language the way things are going.

AMELIA RODRIGUEZ, known in new circles as "Little Agate," says: "Voting machines are like slot machines. Lemons come up on both with annoying frequency."

My neighbor and landlady, Delma Hall, who is feeling a great deal better following a week's stay in a local hospital, comments on Ancient History:

"The history of man from the beginning of recorded events to the end of the Roman Empire are mostly written on tablets — which may explain why a lot of it is hard to swallow."

FORMER BROADCASTER, Fred Davis, who celebrates his birthday Monday reports:

"The skunk kitty uses his potent scent sparingly. Those in the know say he or she produces it only at the rate of about one-third ounce per week!"

"That's quite a phew!"

Tommy Hart, who returned to Big Spring Thursday following a four-day Harte-Hanks management meeting in Dallas, observes:

The use of electronic pocket calculators is prohibited on most airlines without special permission because they tend to louse up the airplane's navigation and communications systems. So if you are thinking about taking one along on your next flight, don't count on it.

Carter flunks

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — State Department hand-wringing in advance of the predictable attack on the U.S. embassy in Tehran reached a peak Nov. 1, three days before the embassy takeover, when the department rejected a proposal from White House and Pentagon aides that the coming crisis required immediate emergency planning.

A high official replied in effect: "No thanks, we're handling this our own way." But in fact, despite the torrent of anti-American abuse then pouring forth over Iran's national television network — inspired by the Ayatollah Khomeini — American policy was mired in dangerous inaction resulting from strict Carter administration policy guidelines. These guidelines discourage U.S. moves that might be construed as opposing the global leftward drift and the growing power of The Third World.

THIS CENTRAL IDEA of President Carter's foreign policy, producing systematic American retreat, is a root cause of the Iranian crisis, but it is not confined to Iran; it has helped revolutionize the entire Caribbean area, cost the U.S. important South American allies, and given free rein to Moscow's use of surrogate Cuban troops. Some officials believe it may even have layed a part in the assassination of South Korean President Park Chung Hee, because of the non-stop criticism here of Park's dictatorial methods.

As played out in Iran, the drama of Carter's accommodation policy has had particularly demeaning features. The State Department was so worried about Iran's anger over the deposed shah getting into this country for treatment at a New York hospital that it has asked to inspect his medical reports to see how ill he is. The point: to disprove possible charges by the ayatollah that he was admitted to the U.S. on false pretenses.

Indeed, before the take-over of the U.S. Embassy high State Department officials privately expressed hope to Americans helping the shah's treatment that a second operation would be performed on the shah. That would be new evidence revealing genuine, not cosmetic, illness.

When Khomeini demanded the right to name his own panel of American doctors to examine the shah's medical records at New York-Cornell Hospital the State Department did not immediately say no. The refusal of that extraordinary request came only after the hospital gentry suggested that "normal medical ethics" should be followed.

This consistent appeasement of the ayatollah by the State Department, described as "craven" by one highly-respected American diplomat, is the natural result of a foreign policy based on conviction that anti-American tendencies in the Third World are immutable and must be accommodated. It has made a travesty of the traditional U.S. policy of offering political or humanitarian asylum.

Before the shah went to Mexico last June 10, Tehran's revolutionary government warned his admission would affect official relations. The Mexican government correctly rebuked Iran. It said no country can "dictate our policy."

Moreover, Mexican diplomats say privately that the Mexican Embassy in Tehran was given security reinforcement to minimize the risk of an occupying mob.

"Congratulations, brother! We're well on our way to reforming him... again, in a manner of speaking."

Watching weight helps varicose veins

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 21 years old and am starting to get small veins on my legs. I know they must be varicose veins but cannot understand getting them so young. I thought they might be caused by my being overweight. I am 5 feet, 4 inches and weigh 140 pounds. Help. — Miss K.R.L.

Varicose veins are enlarged veins. Blood flows in veins back to the heart. So, to keep blood moving upward, the veins have special "one-way" valves to prevent blood from flowing back. As veins enlarge, their valves become less efficient because they weren't constructed to handle such large vessels. This fact leads to further enlargement of the veins.

Prolonged standing can cause this (a matter I discussed recently in connection with edema — fluid accumulation). Some children may be born with varicose veins, and the problem may run in families.

A young person like yourself, with a budding varicose vein problem, can do much to help. Maintaining normal body weight is important. Snugly-fitting stockings that reach to the groin are helpful. Elevating legs on a stool when sitting is good practice. When forced to stand in one place for long periods you can do a simple exercise — tightening and relaxing the muscles of your legs. This "muscle-pumping" helps propel blood upward in its return to the heart via the leg veins.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a woman of 71. For a month I have been up really all night due to leg cramps. The muscles in both legs seem to be up in knots and this continues one right after the other. What causes these muscles to knot so? Is something lacking in my system? The only medicine I take is Dyazide for high blood pressure. Could it be a lack of potassium? — F.B.S.

Dyazide is a combination of hydrochlorothiazide, which can lower potassium, and trimethoprim, which helps prevent potassium loss. Therefore low potassium is not common with this medicine. However, for other reasons muscle cramps can be a side effect of Dyazide. We don't know why it happens.

You should report the cramps and see if some other high blood pressure medicine can be tried. The booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pain" may offer other hints. For a copy send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My son has had von Recklinghausen's disease for 22 years. Is there a cure for it? — W.S.

Von Recklinghausen's disease sounds like it should be limited to the Prussian nobility. It isn't. It occurs in one out of every 3,000 births, and is inherited.

Large brown spots appear on the skin, and growths appear on nerves. Lest everyone with brown spots on the skin think they have von Recklinghausen's disease, it should be noted that the spots are usually over three-fourths of an inch in diameter, and there must be at least five of them to make the diagnosis.

The covering of the nerves grows, and these growths appear as violet-hued warts on the skin. They may occur internally, as well.

The growths are non-cancerous (almost always). Rarely, they cause severe complications. The only treatment is surgical — removal of the wart-like growths.

The spots referred to tend to be more prominent with age, but they should not be confused with the spots elderly people may develop.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can castor oil help a woman speed up her labor? — S.E.

Not of itself. But enemas or laxatives are given to women in labor to empty the rectum. This may be what you mean. A full rectum might exert pressure on the birth canal and slow delivery.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Perhaps my question is of general interest. Is numbness in the heels and toes a sign of diabetes? — S.M.

Numbness is a sign of impairment of the nerves or of the blood vessels. There are many causes for both problems, diabetes being one of them.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Deal with Varicose Veins." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Don't you think it would be a good idea if all the Christian churches got together, instead of having a lot of smaller denominations? — C.K.G.

DEAR C.K.G.: Yes, in some ways it would seem to be a wonderful idea for all believers to be bound together in a visible unity. I do not believe that the disagreements which have led to splits between brethren have always been justified. I also believe it is good for Christians to work for greater unity whenever possible.

However, there are several things you should keep in mind. I believe one truth the Bible gives us is that all true believers in Christ are already bound together spiritually within the Body of Christ, no matter what their background or denomination may be. It is wonderful to travel and meet a fellow Christian you have never seen before, and to realize the bond of fellowship between you because you both belong to Christ. The Bible says, "For where two or three come together in my name, there am I with them" (Matthew 18:20). Also, the Bible does not necessarily teach that full organizational unity is possible or completely desirable. There is an amazing diversity within the Body of Christ, and we must realize also that sometimes there are honest differences on minor matters which may divide us. I am not saying this is good, but it is the way things are. There is, I believe, a dangerous tendency sometimes when church unity is discussed; sometimes it is suggested that doctrinal differences are not important. But those differences need to be discussed thoroughly.

I have found that evangelism is one of the subjects which draws Christians from all kinds of backgrounds together for united action. As long as Christians are wrapped up only in their own church problems, they tend to forget their relation to other believers. But when they turn their attention to the world which needs Christ, their differences become less important.

Rounded up

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The wild card in U.S.-Mexican relations, which may be the key to our energy future, is the thousands of illegal aliens who swarm across American borders in droves 24 hours a day.

The actual number of these faceless intruders, who hide at night and work at menial jobs by day, may run as high as 8 million or 10 million. The sheer weight of their numbers is overwhelming for the outmanned and underfunded agents from the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), who are responsible for apprehending illegals and returning them home.

Despite INS' short-handedness, though, we've uncovered evidence that the agency's investigators may be wasting time and money harassing apple farmers who have legally brought foreign workers in to pick their crops.

TO FIND OUT who was right in the Great Apple Controversy, we sent our reporter Matt Speiser to the heart of the apple country in Romney, W. Va.

Few of the apple farmers in Hampshire County object to legitimate inspections by federal investigators to see if illegal foreign workers are employed. Even the desperately poor placidly accept the check-ups.

But our reporter, who learned that a dozen INS agents, operating on a tip that there were some illegals in the orchards, conducted a rodeo-style roundup, disregarding search warrants and civil rights.

Out of 1,000 workers, they found and arrested about 60 immigrants whose papers weren't in order. At the farm of Gary Shanholz, the agents drove their cars and vans onto the property, ripping up orchard fields and sending dozens of workers into panic.

When the irate Shanholz demanded an explanation, the INS Fearless Fosticks told him they had a right to conduct warrantless searches. But no illegal workers were found at the orchard. Other owners protested that they were never asked for permission to allow the agents to intrude on their property.

Several apple growers complained they couldn't get the INS bloodhounds to even give their names. One owner tried to intervene on behalf of a worker, but was told to butt out of face arrest.

In one instance, a group of Jamaican pickers was surrounded on a country roadside by a caravan of agents. When the workers explained their documents were back at camp, the agents drove them there, but once at the site rushed ahead to ransack the bunkhouse for illegals. None were found.

At another farm, the INS did find about a dozen illegals, but only after taking the extraordinary step of kicking through the bunkhouse doors and bullying some workers who were legally in the country.

One teen-age boy playing with a BB gun was paralyzed with fear when one agent aimed his gun at him and yelled "freeze" in his best "Kojak" manner.

Even in the normally conservative, red-white-and-blue country of the West Virginia panhandle, Romney townspeople accuse the federal cops of racism. "Anyone who's not white, watch out," one with farmer told Speiser.

THE JAMAICAN and Mexican workers are dismayed at the strong-arm tactics they experience. "I came here because the U.S. government wants me to," one worker told us in broken English. "I follow all the rules, fill out all the papers. I finally get here and all day they do is trouble me. I don't know if it's worth it."

Footnote: In fairness to the INS agents, our own previous investigations have shown that many foreign workers have been mistreated at some workplaces, and part of their duties are to protect such abuses. An INS spokesman defended the agents' actions in the apple orchards, but couldn't comment on our specific findings.

HEALTH BOONDOGGLE: A little-known offshoot of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has become notorious for conspicuously wasting taxpayer dollars. Time and again, the National Center for Health Services Research has been chastised for its spendthrift habits.

The watchdog General Accounting Office scathingly criticized the agency for mishandling nearly $20 million in grants and contracts. On another occasion, the center was the recipient of one of Sen. William Proxmire's belittling "Golden Fleece" Awards for underwriting a wantonly wasteful project.

We've now come up with another extravagant boondoggle by the agency that is supposed to improve medical care through research. The center has squandered $800,000 on a report on emergency medical devices and systems for local ambulance operations.

The agency initially produced a 1,200-page tome with one official, who read it, said was "ridiculous" and "of absolutely no value to ambulance companies." Furthermore, the crux of the report showing that many life-saving devices in ambulances and emergency rooms were poorly designed and likely to malfunction was censored out of the document.

What finally emerged was a mouse of a report, which shies from identifying any specific faulty products and merely states "several devices failed under stress." Project director Jim McAllister defends the blue-penciling, contending specific references would date the report and possibly lead to law suits.

MIA FARROW

SIRHAN SIRHAN

Sirhan loses bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sirhan Sirhan, originally sentenced to death for the assassination of Robert F. Kennedy, has lost a bid to have his prison sentence reduced.

Sirhan had asked the California Supreme Court to reduce the 16-year term that must be served before he is eligible for parole. He also asked the court to eliminate 45 months added to his sentence because of multiple crimes involved in the 1968 Los Angeles hotel shooting that killed Sen. Kennedy and wounded several others.

The high court denied Sirhan's petition Friday. The Community Release Board has set May 1, 1985, as the day Sirhan is eligible for parole.

Sirhan's death sentence in the assassination of the New York senator and presidential candidate was reduced to life when the California Supreme Court declared the death penalty cruel and unusual punishment.

Mia Farrow rescued?

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Morley may not look the part of a knight in shining armor, but he came to the rescue of the fair Mia Farrow when the actress became frightened by a mob of photographers at an opening night party.

Miss Farrow, co-starring with Anthony Perkins in Bernard Slade's newest Broadway play, "Romantic Comedy," was attending a party at Trader Vic's when dozens of flashbulbs popped all around her.

Morley, a British actor and a long-time friend of the play's producer, Morton Gottlieb, came to her side Thursday to tell her, "You've got to do this, as I've been doing it for 31 years."

"After three decades of doing this for Morley, you'll get used to it," he told the actress. "The only reason he produces these plans is so he can have an opening night party."

Traveling man woes

CINCINNATI (AP) — Charles Kuralt has won many awards for his "On the Road" ramblings, but he complains — tongue-in-cheek — that his bosses at CBS television don't let him cover anything important.

"If, in my travels, I stumble on a news story, I call on some 'real' reporter to cover it," said Kuralt, who spent 10 years as a "real" reporter before beginning the "On the Road" series. "CBS forgets about us," Kuralt said, exaggerating the network's interest in the award-winning human interest vignettes. "Most of the time, CBS doesn't know or care where we are."

Kuralt first took to the road in his camera-equipped van in 1967.

"We started out with no idea of where to go or what to do," he told a civic group here this week. "It was fall, so we headed north (from New York) to Vermont. Our first story was about the beauty of Vermont with tree leaves in brilliant colors."

"Surprisingly, the boss said it was the best story we ever did — that it's been all downhill since then."

Deadline nears for Yule event

Thursday is the deadline for entering units in the Nov. 30 Christmas parade, an event that will be held here under the auspices of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

Those preparing floats or recruiting people to walk in groups should notify the Chamber no later than Nov. 15.

SBA meeting is Nov. 20

Officials of the Small Business Administration Disaster Loan Office in Lubbock invite farmers in Martin County and surrounding areas to attend a meeting to be held at 8:30 a.m., Nov. 20, at the Community Center in Stanton.

The County Extension Office and ASCS Office of Stanton are sponsoring the meeting.

Coffee and donuts will be furnished by The First National Bank of Stanton.

The meeting will be held to explain the SBA Farm Disaster Loan Program to interested farmers and to make applications for the loans available. The loans are made at low interest rates and at terms according to ability to repay.

Farmers are encouraged to attend and to explore the possibility of their eligibility for the disaster loans.

Clements sees no need for special session to increase interest rates

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he sees no reason for a special legislative session to look into increasing mortgage interest rates in the state.

Clements said Friday the mortgage crunch is a nationwide problem that cannot be solved in Austin. The governor told his weekly news conference that "experts" have told him mortgage rates nationally could hit 20 percent by the end of the year.

"It's a situation I don't think anyone has an answer for. Everyone is amazed and surprised and disappointed that interest rates have climbed to where they are today," he said.

Texas legislators recently removed the 10-percent interest limit in the state. Under new legislation a floating interest "cap" could go as high as 12 percent. Clements indicated 20-percent interest rates would dry up mortgage money in the state.

"I don't know of anything we in Texas can do to alleviate this situation," Clements said, adding the spiraling interest rates are a "direct product of fiscal policies of the present administration."

Clements also told reporters the situation in Iran has reached crisis level and can only be solved by cool-headed negotiations.

"This is not a time to be beating our breast. We must leave this in the hands of the man we elected president," Clements said.

The governor was asked if his friend H. Ross Perot had any plans to enter the hostage situation. Perot, a Dallas electronics magnate, commissioned a commando raid to Iran earlier this year to rescue some of his employees there.

Clements said such a raid is not needed now.

"This is not a time for heroics, believe me," Clements said.

The governor suggested that Iranians in Texas would be "best-served by being out of sight and out of mind."

He also said anti-Iranian demonstrations do not help the tense situation.

"One provokes the other," Clements said.

In Dallas, Perot told reporters, "I am not making a statement as long as they're holding hostages in Iran."

On other matters discussed at the news conference, Clements:

—Announced the formation of "Texas 2,000." The committee will produce a long-range study of future needs in the state. It will be prepared by state officials, members of the academic community and private citizens.

—Said he was "gratified" by the results of last Tuesday's constitutional amendment election. He said his opposition to a proposed amendment that would grant the legislature veto power over agency rules "made the difference between it carrying or not." The governor also announced he has asked all state agencies to conduct a review of their rules with an eye toward eliminating unnecessary regulations.

—Refused to talk with Billie Fay Walker, a Houston woman who wants Clements to look into a state prison death. Clements told the woman she was not a member of the press corps and could not ask questions at the news conference. Mrs. Walker said Gus Feist of Beaumont was beaten to death on Oct. 23 by a prison official at a Brazoria County state prison. Mrs. Walker sat in the governor's office every day since Wednesday. David Dean, Clements' general counsel, said Brazoria County prosecutors are already investigating the death.

Some members of Demo committee meet now

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The nation's Democrats can consider the 1980 presidential race properly under way.

About 200 of the 363 members of the Democratic National Committee met Thursday and Friday, fussed, heard appeals from spokesmen for the party's three major candidates, and transacted a minimum of party business.

"This was the first full fledged political political event since the announcements," Democratic National Chairman John White said Friday. "We started the 1980 campaign today. The DNC is taking an interest in politics and that's what it is all about."

White, an avowed supporter of President Jimmy Carter, was the object of some discord from backers of Sen. Edward Kennedy because of his impartiality, particularly from Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne.

"Actually, I thought it went very smoothly," White said with a grin. "It was the most harmonious meeting since I have been chairman."

Party affairs took a back seat to presidential politics most of the two-day session, particularly Friday when the three representatives of Carter, Kennedy and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. spoke.

Big photographs of Carter and Vice President Walter Mondale hung at the front of the meeting hall, but a number of the delegates wore Kennedy buttons. Several Carter delegates had big red buttons that read: "Don't rock the boat. Kennedy in '84."

"It's nice to be here on this impartial podium," Mayor Byrne said caustically, "with Jimmy and Walter peeking over my shoulder."

She spoke mostly of Carter's record as president. "Instead of cool confidence, leadership and assurances, which the American people desperately need and want, we are presented with the spectacle of a man groping, haltingly, for solutions," she said.

"Jimmy Carter can't win in 1980. We need a new face with new initiatives. We need a new dynamism... a defeat in 1980 would set our party back many years... The public is ready to reach out again to a Kennedy."

Strauss said he spoke for "this splendid, honorable, competent president... I would say to you that each of these candidates have records and we should insist they run on their records."

"Jimmy Carter has passed more legislation and got less credit for it of any president... There are 8.5 million more people working in this country now than when he took office... This is the president who found peace between Egypt and Israel."

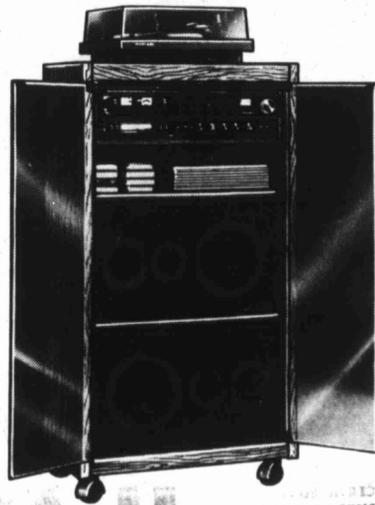

DNC member Irene Tovar of California spoke for Brown.

"I urge you not to put a rubber stamp on a ballot," she said.

"Do not be afraid the party will be divided. It has been divided before and it survived and it will survive again."

Before the official announcements by Kennedy and Brown earlier this week, the DNC meet had been expected to be tranquil and routine.

Goliad Girls are preparing for games

By MICHELE BASHAM

The Kent Clayton Family demonstrated their acrobatic talents at a special assembly Thursday. Feats of balance such as hand stands on stacked chairs were performed. Can you balance a handkerchief or a newspaper on your nose? The Clayton Family made it look easy. They also successfully performed a variety of rope twirling routines.

A drawing for two radios was held Thursday. Tony Bustamante, seventh grade, and Phillip Mendoza, sixth grade, were the lucky winners.

Goliad now has a girls basketball team. About twenty girls are on the team. Mrs. Lancaster is the coach. The girls have been getting in shape and preparing for a scrimmage with Runnels this week. The girls' volleyball team finished the season with a record of 5-6 for the Black team and 7-9 for the White team.

The football teams traveled to Snyder Thursday. The "A" Team won 22-0 and the "B" team's winning score was 30-2. This was the last game of the season leaving the White team with a record of five wins, two ties and one loss, and the Black team with six wins and one tie.

The Goliad Advanced Choirs have been touring the elementary schools. They performed for Moss and Kentwood Elementary Schools this past week.

Goliad was represented by a float in the homecoming parade. Members of several different organizations rode on the float. Accompanying the float were the Spirit-Drivers who backed the cheerleaders.

Student exchange idea catches on in SW area

Student exchange is a successful endeavor that grows each year, offering a rewarding experience in human relations. This January, approximately 800 Latin American high school students will arrive in the United States as exchange students on the Youth for Understanding program.

These students are looking forward to a six-month stay in the U.S., living with host families throughout the country and attending local high schools. Twenty-five will be coming to the North Texas area.

The Host Family is the cornerstone of the Youth for Understanding program; it is also the stepping stone by which students and families from very different worlds can begin to communicate. Host families open their homes and hearts, share their lives and establish warm and lasting relationships with their new son or daughter. The daily living experience encountered by the student through the Host Family gives him an insight and awareness of the United States that is difficult to duplicate. At the same time, the student shares his own unique culture and national heritage with his family. Host families are now being sought for students for six months.

American High School Students between the ages of 14 and 18 can experience living with a family in another country and sharing their culture. Currently, Youth for Understanding has openings in 23 countries for either their summer program (Mid-June to Mid-August) or year program (July to following July) for Students from the Texas Area. The program will send over 2000 students abroad this summer to see another lifestyle. Foreign language is not a requirement for several countries.

Youth for Understanding, a non-profit educational organization which cooperates with and receives an annual grant from the U.S. Department of State, has been the catalyst for an experience shared by more than 50,000 students and Host Families around the world. Since its inception in 1951, Youth for Understanding has provided an opportunity to encounter other cultures and presents a challenge to understand them.

Youth for Understanding programs stress family living as the heart of the learning experience, thus offering students the chance to share in other cultures through personal involvement in homes, schools, civic organizations and communities of their host countries. The exchange experience may last for a summer, for six months, or for a year.

Students or Families interested in these programs may get additional information by writing or calling either Youth for Understanding's Regional Office, 13606 Midway Road, No. 137, Dallas, Texas 75240, 214-386-4517 or Lois Perna, Field Co-ordinator for North Texas, 3563 Colgate, Irving, Texas 75062, 214-256-1105.

Buffalo fans declared their loyalty and support this week in a double-page spread in the local newspaper. Mrs. Homer Swinson purchased the space and those who signed their names in it contributed from .50 to $1.00 for the opportunity.

The varsity team did not lack for backing as they approached their toughest game of the season against Seagraves.

The pep rally featured a skit by FHA members and speeches made by faculty members Nolan Parker and Faye Lee Decker. Mr. Parker donned a coach's T-shirt and cap to speak primarily to the players. Mrs. Decker likened a win over Seagraves to getting an electric train for Christmas instead of socks and underwear.

"You Ought To Be In Pictures" was the theme when the annual staff presented a slide program to the beat of "Saturday Night Fever" Tuesday morning.

The purpose of the show was to give students a preview of what they could expect in the '80 yearbook before advance subscriptions went on sale.

Students could either pay $10.00 now, or, for the first time, they were given the opportunity to pay $5.00 by Dec. 1 and the balance by Feb. 1.

Steve Maker, David Luna and Keith Hull, representing the National Honor Society, and Derrick Looney, representing Youth Against Cancer, presented movies obtained from the American Cancer Society to all elementary and junior high school students Wednesday.

They accompanied the showing with comments as to the advisability of leaving the use of tobacco in any form alone.

Second, third and fourth graders will write spot announcements promoting the cause of the Great American Smoke Out Nov. 15. On this day a selection of these announcements will be read on area radio stations.

Abilene forever!

By CAROL HUNTER
Great big city, once a prairie dog hole, Abilene forever! Every poor freshman or pledge who arrived at college from Abilene High stood on many a table to sing these words.

If one cannot be a native of Howard County, the next best thing is to have been raised in Abilene. Also, Howard County owes a great debt of gratitude to Abilene, because transplanted Abileneans having seen the light and having moved to Howard County in droves, are adding great things to our community. There are those who passed through Abilene and came on west in adult life, such as Sam and Eleanor Honeycutt, Jean and Harold Wilder. There are several Howard County couples who met and went through college in Abilene, typical being McMurry exes, Lila and Bill Estes, Hardin Simmons, Martha and Delnor Poss and ACU, Earl and Darlene Archer.

I refer, however, to those who were reared in the "Bible Belt", those who attended "old" Abilene High, those for whom the Paramount Theatre and Casey's Drive In are still spots of endearment, even though they are closed.

Everyone in Howard County knows how indebted we are that high school sweethearts Johnnie Lou and Jerry Avery moved here. Jerry, letterman on two AHS State Championship football teams, was once asked by Coach Don Robbins if he had any eligibility left when Robbins saw him bedecked in full uniform for a Pep Rally skit. Johnnie Lou exudes more energy before 8 a.m. than many display in a week. Our first lady Chamber of Commerce President has done so many things for our community and for Howard College that I know Abilene wishes that she had not transplanted herself.

What would mornings be without Jim Baum? His radio voice stirs and informs Howard County residents at the earliest hours. His dedication to local civic affairs is well-known, and kids connected with Little League think that he hung the moon. Such modesty about his own baseball career!

Dr. Harold Smith, local optometrist, has added much to our community through his volunteer work at Big Spring State Hospital and the YMCA. Many a contact lens wearer is delighted that Harold ended up in Howard County.

Jo Anne and Reppe Guitar represent the AHS group well in the ranching and rodeoing communities. As previously discussed, the tradition which they are carrying on at the Guitar Ranch is truly an historical heritage for the county.

Teachers are always an important part of the community, and Abilene High exes, Carolee Caudill, who teaches at Moss Elementary, and Linda Holmes, who teaches at the high school, are two of Big Spring's best and most dedicated.

James Campbell's vocation is that of alcoholism counselor at the State Hospital. His avocation, painting, brings him and Howard County many accolades. He recently had his own private showing in Snyder and he has won awards all over West Texas.

Many at First Methodist Church are thankful that Abilene's loss is our gain with the new minister. Never neglect the force behind that position, Laura Chappel. Laura is the Abilene High product, and she brings warmth and charm to the church and to our community.

Melba Smith is an important part of Radio KBST, serving as their bookkeeper. Some of retailer Don Caudill's escapades are still vividly remembered by his AHS friends. Geraldine Dunbar's smiling face gives one a lift. She works at Swartz, but she has had some exciting moments with daughter, Felicia Ford. Felicia has represented Big Spring in state-wide and national Cinderella pageants. Thanks to our friend, John Mays, the railroad is being kept a vital part of our community.

Offspring of these ex Eagles are active, but in volleyball they are especially outstanding. Laura Baum stars at Runnels, Pam Caudill is one of only two sophomores on the Varsity STEERS, and Joni Avery is manager. Lending spirit in the county are cheerleaders Leslie Guitar, Sands High School, Karen Smith, Varsity BSSH, Julie Hunter, Junior Varsity, and Felicia Ford, Freshman. Should Howard County residents be incensed by this bold adoration of the Abilene invaders, do not call this writer. She will be long-gone to the annual slumber party of old AHS friends. The group will gather for non-stop talking and, per usual, no slumber. It becomes increasingly more difficult at 42 to recover from these outings, but how could one miss? As in days of yore, one must be present to protect the stories which could possibly be told incorrectly, if not properly overseen.

Our mothers would be proud to see the gourmet treats unfold. They collectively thought we could never boil water. They're relieved no longer to have to chaperone these vents, and consider it our divine retribution that we have to sponsor some of our own for our daughters.

Things change. Some do gooder had th never to fill in Maybell McDaniels's swimming pool, so we cannot sneak out the window for a midnight swim. Shorty Lawson is forewarned, so his phone is off the hook. We cannot call at 3 a.m. No boys will crash this party!

COY McCANN
With samplings of work

Artist of Month works mostly in acrylics

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce's Artist of the Month for November is Coy McCann, a free-lance artist who makes his home in Big Spring.

Born and raised here, the 28-year-old artist has been painting since he was six years old. Coy says he likes nearly all mediums of art and uses most of them depending on the subject and his mood at the time.

Most of his work is acrylic on canvas and other water base paintings. He likes to sculpt in bronze also.

Coy has been taking art more seriously the last several years. He sells most of his work to individuals across the country. He has just completed one bronze work called "The Gun Runner", an edition of 20 that sells for $2,000 each.

He has done a bronze mountain lion for the vice president of 20th Century Fox for the 20th Century Studio Offices in Hollywood, Calif.

He's worked for Evel Knievel and has gone on three tours with Knievel since 1974. Coy originated the Evel Knievel Commemorative Coins.

Freight train is derailed

A Missouri Pacific freight train en route from Big Spring to Fort Worth derailed near Baird about 4:40 a.m., Friday but no injuries resulted.

Railway personnel arrived later in the day to clear 20 cars from the track. Sulphuric acid spilled from one of the cars but it was hastily covered with limestone.

The car containing the sulphuric acid derailed about 60 yards from gasoline tanks located alongside the tracks. Most of the derailed cars were empty.

One car was carrying new Chevrolet and Pontiacs but it appeared only one car was damaged.

Mel Hamon of Fort Worth, a Missouri Pacific superintendent, said the derailment caused extensive track damage for about a half mile.

Last summer, Coy changed Evel's office into an art gallery and gave art lessons to Knievel. The Permian Basin Oil Museum owns one of his abstract paintings.

Coy also designed the 50th anniversary commemorative coins for Howard-Glasscock Counties' Old Settlers Reunion.

According to Coy, "It's hard working for yourself as an artist in this day and time simply because you don't seem to have the time to do everything by yourself, but you have to."

Soon Coy will have some limited edition prints out. Coy likes all styles, but favors western and western fantasy. He is in the process of writing a book and is illustrating it with his art.

Coy sells his paintings at $300 and up. Some of his works are now on display at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, 215 W. 3rd, for public viewing.

Bryant trial set Monday

Jimmy Charles Bryant will be tried Monday for the aggravated robbery of D.L. Dorland Aug. 21.

Bryant is suspected of giving Dorland a blow to the head with a blunt instrument then fleeing in Dorland's Cadillac with Kenneth Wayne Ford.

Ford entered a guilty plea in 118th District Court to the offense Sept. 28. Bryant's charge is considered aggravated because he is suspected of being the one who struck Dorland.

Dorland was checking one of his oil leases early the morning of Aug. 21 when he was ambushed. He suffered a head wound that later required stitches but walked to a nearby telephone.

Ford is being brought back to Big Spring today from Huntsville on a bench warrant to give testimony Monday. Dorland has also been subpoenaed.

Bryant was not bonded out after his arrest in connection with the incident the day after it occurred. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Louis Hefflin at $50,000.

PUC questions
Ma Bell figures in rate increase

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Texas Public Utilities commissioner has questioned the numbers that Ma Bell submits when she wants a telephone rate increase. Garrett Morris made the criticism as the commission voted 2-1 Friday to allow rate increases that will raise Southwestern Bell Telephone's income by $138.7 million a year. Included among the increases is a $1.15 per month rise in the basic rate for residential telephones. Pay telephone calls will cost a quarter instead of 20 cents. The basic rate for business telephones will increase by $3.45 a month and there will be increases in such other business telephone services as FBX, Centrex and Touch-tone. Morris was the dissenter, saying Bell was entitled to only $96 million in increases.

"I have great doubt about the integrity of the figures that are in these schedules," Morris said of Bell's data. "I just think the integrity of the figures we are presented with should be shored up. They should have an auditor's statement saying they represent the financial condition of the company." The commission ordered a hearing, probably to be held next year, to determine the kind and quality of data Bell must provide in future rate cases. If Bell's cost figures are too high or its revenue figures too low, the likely result is a commission order that extracts more from consumers than they should pay. A frequent criticism of the criticism is its acceptance of utility companies' own figures without checking them. The commission's reply is that the legislature has not appropriated money for the staff it would take to verify the figures. Morris wasn't the only one to express doubt at Bell's figures. Don Butler of the Texas Municipal League said other utilities bring in solid cost studies but "Bell brings in a potpourri of different studies with different methodologies made at different times."

HISTORICAL PICTURE — Judy Robertson and her daughter, seven months old Mindy, look at a painting of Marines landing at Iowa Jima that was displayed at Citizens Federal Credit Union the past week. The painting, which was done by Lloyd Claxton of Big Spring, was a birthday present to the late David

Thomas, who died shortly after the painting was completed. Mrs. Belvedere Thomas decided Veterans Day was a very appropriate time to display the painting that she and other members of the Thomas family have enjoyed for the past three years. Today marks the 204th birthday of the Marine Corp.

In murder case of Pasadena M.D.

Scratched letter may be proof

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer
BROWNSVILLE, Texas
(AP) — The night before a man was shot in the face, the convicted hit man in the case scratched a letter to his girlfriend saying, "I'll call Doc at 6 a.m. at the hospital."

Prosecutors allege the "Doc" reference and other mentions of "doctor" in S.J. Wilburn's rambling letters help prove Dr. Archie Herman Burkhalter of Pasadena, Texas, planned the sinister stalking and shooting of John Hensley.

The rifle bullet pierced Hensley's eyes. He survived but was blinded.

In the first week of Burkhalter's attempted capital murder trial, Cameron County assistant district attorney Joe K. Hendley introduced several of Wilburn's writings as evidence.

Burkhalter since childhood and went to the doctor for treatment of his bleeding ulcer and stomach cancer, testified Wilburn's sister, Maurine Minnick.

She remembered the doctor's former wife as being shy.

"Laurita didn't talk to people that much," Mrs. Minnick said.

At the time Hensley was shot, he was married to Laurita, the victim in a kidnapping case pending against Burkhalter. He allegedly abducted her Oct. 24 from her apartment and held her against her will in his Pasadena Memorial Hospital.

According to telephone company records, the hospital received two phone calls at 6:13 a.m. and 6:51 a.m. Feb. 15 from South Padre Island motels.

The calls came just over an hour before Hensley was shot outside his South Padre Island condominium.

In his letters and diary, Wilburn mentioned checking into the Sea Ranch Marina and Motel and the Bahia Mar Resort Inn — from where the calls originated.

Much of the same evidence being used in the Burkhalter trial was read by the jury that convicted Wilburn in July and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

Warren Burnett of Odessa, the doctor's lawyer, contends the circumstantial evidence falls apart on closer examination.

"Ultimately we'll be able to show the two phone calls from South Padre Island to the hospital on the morning of the 15th could not have gone to Dr. Burkhalter," Burnett said.

He dismissed the Wilburn writings as "unbelievable."

"So far about all we've seen or heard is the wildly conflicting correspondence of Jay Wilburn to Emma Maldonado (Wilburn's girlfriend)," Burnett said. "Nobody that has read them has believed any of it," he added.

When the trial enters its second week Tuesday, following the Veterans Day holiday, Burnett said he will continue reading the Wilburn letters aloud, with Mrs. Maldonado on the stand, to demonstrate even she did not understand or take them seriously.

Burkhalter, who has moved to Fredericksburg, still faces kidnapping charges but that trial has been delayed until the current one is finished.

The doctor was tried three times on murder charges in the 1966 slaying of Dr. Robert Pendleton, his hospital partner. Burkhalter won reversal of one conviction, won a mistrial over a deadlocked jury and was finally acquitted in the third trial.

Value added tax opposed

The board of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, during its fall board meeting held recently in Amarillo, went on record as strongly opposing proposed legislation that would create a value added tax.

Basically, VAT would be a tax on value added to a product at each production step on its way to market. As each manufacturer increases the value of a product, the difference between the buying and selling price would be taxed. The retail price paid by the ultimate consumer would include the total of all value added taxes paid along the manufacturing chain. Some exemptions might be allowed such as food.

Ed Coltharp, WTCC Executive Vice President, reported that Chairmen of Congress' two tax-writing committees, Al Ullman of House Ways and Means and Russell Long of Senate Finance, had indicated support for a 10 percent value added tax, predicting that such a tax may come as early as 1980 or 1981.

The WTCC National Affairs Committee points out that most of the information presently available concerning VAT proposals is still speculative. Rumors about a value added tax indicate that it supposedly would be enacted as a dollar for dollar replacement tax aimed at reducing Social Security taxes and allowing a cut in personal income taxes.

The committee voiced strong opposition to the value added tax proposal, labeling it as a concealed tax that, if enacted, will end up as another source of citizen funding for increases in burgeoning federal spending programs.

Ullman estimated VAT would bring in between 120 and 150 billion dollars annually. Both senators stressed it would not increase the overall tax burden and could result in elimination of double taxation of corporate earnings and accelerated depreciation of plant and equipment.

USC smells roses

As Charles White noses to Heisman

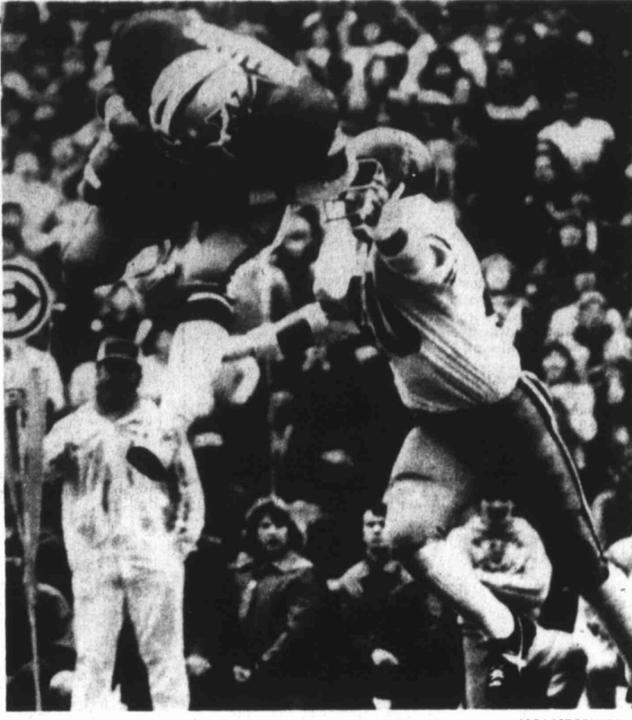

SEATTLE (AP) — Southern California clinched its 10th Rose Bowl bid in 14 years Saturday with a 24-17 victory over Washington's Huskies as quarterback Paul McDonald passed for two touchdowns and tailback Charles White rushed for 243 yards on 38 carries.

The fourth-ranked Trojans improved their record to 5-0-1 in the Pacific-10 Conference and 9-0-1 overall, while the 15th-ranked Huskies dropped to 5-2 in conference play and 7-3 overall.

With the score 17-17, the Trojans drove 80 yards in seven plays for the final touchdown on a 10-yard run by fullback Marcus Allen with 11:50 left to play.

On USC's game-winning drive, White carried the ball three times for 58 yards, reeling off runs of 30 and 26 yards.

Washington quarterback Tom Flick completed 18 of 28 passes for 245 yards and one touchdown. He was intercepted twice.

GOOD RECEPTION — University of Washington's Aaron Williams, 91, brings down a pass from Tom Flick as USC's Jeff Fisher, 40, defends in the first half of Saturday's game in Seattle.

SWC Quotables

Longhorns talk trash

HOUSTON (AP) — No. 5-ranked Houston finally got No. 8-ranked Texas in the Astrodome for the first time Saturday night but it was the Longhorns who brought the house down with intimidating football.

"We just kicked their ass," crowed Texas defensive tackle Bill Acker after the 21-13 Southwest Conference victory.

Houston had longed to play the 'Horns in the Astrodome ever since they joined the SWC five years ago. It was not until tonight that they could legally play Texas in the Cougars' back yard.

Houston coach Bill Yeoman said, "I hope we have enough class to get out from under this defeat. It's a long way from over. If I'm not mistaken we're still tied for first."

Holtz funny

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz knows the feeling in the pit of the stomach of Razorback basketball coach Eddie Sutton.

"In a game like this, momentum changes all the time," Holtz said Saturday after his Razorbacks rallied from a 17-0 deficit to beat Baylor 29-20. "I'll be god-durned, I felt like I was coaching basketball — up by two, down by 12, jump ball."

Baylor led 14-0 at the half. "Was I worried about coming back at the half?" Holtz said. "You bet I was. I was worried about coming back to the University of Arkansas."

"At halftime, you try to keep your poise, but I got beyond it at first. I came in and sort of exploded."

Arkansas rally sinks Baylor

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Quarterback Kevin Scanlon and wide receiver Robert Farrell hooked up on a 60-yard pass play with 3:22 left in the game as ninth-ranked Arkansas rallied to beat 17th-ranked Baylor 29-20 in a wild Southwest Conference contest.

The victory kept alive Arkansas' hopes for a share of the Southwest Conference championship and a major bowl bid.

The Razorbacks are now 5-1 in the Southwest Conference. Baylor dropped to 4-2. Unbeaten Houston and once-beaten Texas played Saturday night.

Baylor led 17-0 five minutes deep in the third quarter. But Arkansas was on top 20-17 less than six minutes deep into the fourth quarter. Then, Robert Bledsoe kicked a 35-yard field goal with 4:46 left in the game to tie it 20-20.

Arkansas took the ensuing kickoff and started from its own 25. Darryl Bowles made a measured third down at the Arkansas 36. On second down, Scanlon faked inside, rolled to his right outside the Baylor containment and threw deep for Farrell down

Farrell was behind Kirk Collins and caught the ball in full stride about the Razorback 20.

Moments later Jeff Goff tripped Baylor punter Ron Stowe in the Baylor end zone for a safety after Stowe mishandled a bad snap.

It was Scanlon who ignited Arkansas midway through the third quarter when he stepped inside a Baylor defender and hit Bobby Duckworth for a 32-yard touchdown pass with Arkansas facing fourth and 5. That made it 17-6.

SMU destroys Wichita behind Dickerson

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Eric Dickerson ran for two touchdowns and Jim Bob Taylor passed for another to lead Southern Methodist to a 34-0 win over hapless Wichita State in a non-conference football game Saturday afternoon.

Dickerson, a freshman tailback who had been injured much of the season, scored on 1- and 23-yard runs and narrowly missed a third touchdown when he fumbled diving over the goal line from the 1.

Eleven of 14 pass completions for 180 yards in the first half led the Mustangs to two second period touchdowns while the SMU defense held Wichita to only 65 yards of offense in the opening half.

Temple shoots down Queens

Highly touted Temple Junior College erupted behind the play of Rae White in the opening ten minutes after intermission to gain control and take an 80-71 win in a women's junior college basketball game here

Saturday night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The Hawk Queens, behind the play of returning All-Conference performer Joanne Lefridge, had taken a narrow 39-37 lead at the half.

But the 6'2" White and teammate Debbie Polk dominated the inside play at this time and the Queens hit a cold streak, allowing Temple to outscore them 21-6 during the ten minute time span and take a 58-45.

The Hawk Queens, behind the scrappy play and shooting of Robbie Freeman, continued to make short rallies at the Temple team, but could come no closer than within five points in the late stages of the game.

Hawks hosting Cisco in unofficial reunion

When the Howard College Hawks open their 1979-80 home season tomorrow night against Cisco Junior College, it will be both the reunion of Howard College basketball to another basketball season, but also a reunion of sorts for two members of the Cisco outfit.

Cisco's coach this year is Tommy Collins, the recent baseball and basketball coach at Big Spring High School. Collins served at the local school for the past four years, where he was recognized for three second place finishes at the Steer baseball coach and for fielding some very exciting basketball teams known for their intense defensive play.

Collins took the Cisco job in the first week of August, so the game undoubtedly has some meaning for him, whether he will admit it or not.

The other person with a reunion to Howard College will be Cisco's sophomore forward, Linwood Hines. Hines transferred to the Cisco school with Collins after playing for Coach Harold Wilder's team here last year. But untrue to local rumor, Collins did not steal Hines, as Wilder had given his consent.

TOMMY COLLINS

Polk and White led the Temple team in scoring with 32 and 23 points, respectively. Lefridge had 23 to lead the Queens, with Susan Martin adding 12 and Robbie Freeman 10, all in the last eight minutes.

It was the first loss of the year for the Hawk Queens after two wins. They will return to action tomorrow night in Garrett Coliseum when they host Cisco Junior College at 6:00 p.m.

The Hawks men's team then hosts the Cisco males at 8:00 p.m.

Setting up 6-AA showdown with Stamford

Coahoma upends Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — The Coahoma Bulldogs remained in the thick of the District 6-AA race here Friday night by taking a hard earned 21-14 win over archrival Colorado City.

The game increased the Bulldogs 6-AA record to 3-1, leaving them tied with Wylie and one game behind Stamford. But the Coahoma team will get a chance to throw the title chase into a three-way tie in the final week of the regular season when they host Stamford next Friday night.

Both teams used rugged defense in the first stanza to keep the contest scoreless, but the host Wolves drew first blood in the contest when junior fullback Doug Johnson rambled 48-yards on a third and short situation against a stacked up goal-line Bulldog defense. Britt Chaney kicked the PAT.

The Bulldogs came right back, however, driving 70 yards to knot the score. In this drive, Coahoma quarterback Philip Ritchey hurled his only three completions of the evening. The first was to tight end Randy Clanton for 19 yards, with tailback Gary Gee then accepting a 31-yard completion and Clanton then receiving an 11-yarder inside the Wolves five-yard line.

Clint Elliot then capped the aerial drive by running over from the one with 4:02 left in the half. Spot Paige tied the game at 7-7 with his extra point boot.

Coahoma took the lead for good with 4:51 left in the third stanza on a three-play 87 yard drive highlighted extensively by the running of Gee. Gee raced 31 yards to start the go ahead drive, then scored on his third straight rush by breaking over left tackle and scampering 48 yards to paydirt. Paige added the PAT.

Paige intercepted a Chuck Claxton pass early in the final quarter to give the Bulldogs possession on the Wolves 40. The Big Red Machine then drove to the nine, at which time Gee, who rushed for 183 yards on 25 carries in the tilt, burst over for what would be the winning touchdown. Paige tacked on the final point of the evening for the Bulldogs.

But Colorado City was not through. Claxton engineered a 64-yard touchdown drive with just under six minutes remaining in the game, climaxed by his 13-yard scoring strike to tight end Russell Noel. Chaney added the PAT to narrow the Coahoma lead to 21-14.

Colorado City had one more final chance to score, but the Bulldog defense held the Wolves on a fourth down attempt, allowing Coahoma to run out the clock and take the all important win.

The win increases the ever improving Bulldogs to a record of 6-3 on the year, while Colorado City falls to 3-3 in 6-AA play and 3-5-1 on the season.

Gee's outstanding rushing night was aided greatly by the blocking of tackles Jerry Roeber and Gary Bays, guard Kyle Bennett, center Bobby Joe Tucker, fullback Paige and wingback Darrell Douglass.

Douglass had 20 yards rushing and Elliot three yards to round out the Bulldog attack.

Defensive leaders for the Big Red Machine included Jay Hall, Roeber, Paige and Chubby Abrego. Hall was in on 21 tackles in the contests, with four unassisted stops and 10 first hits to his credit. Paige had 13 tackles and the important interception. Abrego 14 stops from his noseguard position, and Roeber 12 tackles and a fumble recovery from his tackle slot.

The Coahoma-Stamford game will be played at 7:30 p.m. next Friday in Bulldog Stadium.

Giving highly rated Eagles 5-A crown

Seagraves topples Stanton

STANTON — The Seagraves Eagles used some excellent field position during the night due to seven Stanton turnovers to take a 35-19 win here Friday night and clinch the District 5-A championship.

The Seagraves team, entering the game as the fourth ranked team in the state in Class A, scored in every stanza in the win over the rugged Buffaloes.

Seagraves intercepted a Craig Eiland pass in the first stanza to set up their go ahead touchdown. Davis Morgan scored from the 15 with 4:07 remaining in the quarter, with his successful PAT giving the Eagles a 7-0 lead.

Seagraves rushed a Stanton punt early in the second period, with the resultant 17-yard boot giving the Eagles field position deep in Stanton territory. Shortly afterward, Morgan bolted over from the 12. Morgan then kicked the PAT to give the visitors a 14-0 lead.

But Stanton rallied back against the top defense in West Texas late in the first half when quarterback Eiland connected with wingback Curtis Williams on a 12-yard scoring toss. The touchdown catch was set up by a 55-yard bomb from Eiland to split end Freddie Silva. Eiland toed the PAT to narrow the Seagraves lead to 14-7 at halftime.

The Stanton score was the first against the Seagraves defense in six district games.

Stanton fumbled on the second play of the second half, with the alert Seagraves defense recovering on the Buff 18. Two plays later, halfback Johnny Castro raced in from the 17 to give the Eagles a 20-7 lead. The PAT was wide.

Seagraves padded their lead early in a final stanza when Ronny Griffin dashed in from 42 yards out, with a successful two-point conversion pass giving the Eagles a 28-7 lead with 9:30 left to play.

But the stubborn Buffaloes refused to quit, as fullback Derrick Looney dove over from the two with 6:12 to play to narrow the Seagraves lead to 28-13. The attempted conversion pass was hixed.

Stanton was then forced to put the ball in the air in the final minutes against the rugged Seagraves defense, with an interception of an Eiland pass in Buff territory setting up and the final Eagle touchdown, a 20-yard run by Castro with only 45 seconds remaining. Morgan booted the PAT.

Stanton achieved a touchdown with 20 seconds to play when Eiland hooked up with Norberto Arguello on a 15-yard scoring strike. Eiland had completed a 45-yard pass to tailback Lewis Henry on the preceding play to set up the final touchdown of the night. The extra point running attempt failed.

Stanton was limited to only 35 yards rushing against the rugged front wall of Seagraves, while the 5-A champions rambled for 248 against the tough Stanton defense.

Williams was the leading receiver for Stanton with three receptions for 73 yards.

Stanton, now 5-2-2 on the year and 3-2-1 in district, closes out the season next Friday when they host Forzan.

Grady rallies past Loop, 50-45

LOOP — The Grady Wildcats rallied from a halftime deficit to take a 50-45 win over Loop in the season finale for both schools in District 3-B (Six-man) play.

Ronald Chee, a 140-pound sparkplug, spearheaded the Grady attack by rushing for 185 yards on 18 carries, catching passes for 48 yards, and leading the Grady team in tackles.

Chee gave the Wildcats an early 6-0 lead on a 23-yard run in the opening stanza. The PAT failed.

Chee scored twice in the second stanza on runs of 21 and nine yards, but the Loop team countered with 19 points of their own to take a 19-18 lead at the intermission.

Larry Key scored early in the third stanza to give the Grady team the lead again, but Loop again scored.

Chee scored his third of four touchdowns later in the third quarter, but the PAT failed and the host team took a 31-30 lead entering the final stanza.

Grady exploded at this point, scoring three unanswered touchdowns to take a commanding 50-31 lead.

All three of the Grady touchdowns in the final stanza came on passes with the first a 41-yard bomb from Alfonso Cortez to Larry Key. Key booted the two-point conversion.

Key then was on the passing end of a seven-yard scoring strike to split end Leandro Gonzales, with the conversion attempt failing.

Grady's final score for the night came when Key connected with the elusive Chee on a 33-yard touchdown pass to increase the Grady lead to 19 points and ice the game.

Loop scored twice against the Grady reserves to make the game appear closer, although the Wildcats of Coach Richard Gibson were in control.

Besides Chee's 185 yards, Key chipped in with 44 yards and Cortez with 31 for the Wildcats, while Darell Presson led Loop with 95 yards.

Chee had 15 tackles to lead the Grady team, with Gonzales and Key chipping in with 12 stops, Cortez with 10, Lynn Key with eight, with Joe Rodriguez, Billy Joe Perez and Randy Graham chipping in with two tackles each.

The Grady win evens their final record at 4-4-1, while Loop finished at 3-6. Cotton Center won the district by defeating Wellman in a battle of the unbeaten by a score of 28-18. Cotton Center will now meet either Trent or Paint Rock in bi-district.

Grady Coach Gibson was enthusiastic about the win in the season's final game. "I was pleased with the kids performance in this game and on the year," he stated, adding, "we were shooting for an 8-2 record, but some injuries in the early part of the season were disappointing and really hurt. But we still played hard all year."

All offers help in Iran

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali, former world heavyweight champion, apparently has been rejected in an effort to exchange himself for the 60 American hostages being held in Iran.

Ali, a Muslim, told The Associated Press by telephone Friday from his home in Los Angeles: "I'd be glad to exchange myself."

But the 37-year-old retired champion added, "I don't know if they'd be satisfied with that because they like me in Iran."

Then he said, "But if President Carter or some high official offered..."

"I cannot solve the problem," Ali said. "But if somebody like myself could see the hostages and see that they are all right and bring back the word, it might cool off things."

Sooners waltz past Kansas

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Billy Sims rushed for 128 yards and one touchdown and tackle John Goodman highlighted a devastating Oklahoma defense with a 56-yard touchdown run with a midair fumble recovery as the Sooners whipped Kansas 38-0 in a Big Eight football game Saturday.

The victory didn't start off easy for the sixth-ranked Sooners, who led only 3-0 after the first quarter on Mike Keeling's 30-yard field goal and 10-0 at the half on a 4-yard run by quarterback J.C. Watts.

But Oklahoma pushed ahead 17-0 in the third quarter on a 1-yard plunge by Sims, the nation's leading scorer, then exploded for 21 fourth-quarter points that began when Goodman picked the ball out of the air after reserve Kansas quarterback Kevin Clinton lost control of it at the Oklahoma 44. Keeling's kick made it 24-0.

Klondike defeats Sands by 40-12

KLONDIKE — The Klondike Cougars used two touchdowns by both Lonnie Ferguson and Raul Arismendez to cap a perfect regular season with a 40-12 win over the Sands Mustangs here Friday night.

Ferguson carried for 98 yards on 21 carries in the contest and scored on bursts of one and four yards for the Cougars, who totalled 209 yards rushing and 107 passing in the contest.

Arismendez scored both of his touchdowns with heads up play. One was when he recovered a fumble in the end zone, with the other coming after he picked up a blocked Sands punt and ran to paydirt.

Notre Dame upset

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Second-team fullback Hubert Simpson drove for 117 yards and scored four touchdowns to lead Tennessee to a 40-18 college football upset Saturday over 13th-ranked Notre Dame.

Buckeyes whip Iowa

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's league-leading defense, sparked by freshman Marcus Marek, forced Iowa into 10 turnovers Saturday in a 34-7 college football rout that gave the third-ranked Buckeyes at least a Big Ten Conference co-championship.

The undefeated Buckeyes ran their overall record to 10-0 and can clinch a Rose Bowl berth next week by winning at Michigan, which suffered its first league loss at Purdue as the Boilermakers scored a 24-21 victory.

Ohio State now is 7-0 in the Big Ten while Michigan and Purdue are tied for second with 6-1 conference marks with one week remaining.

Lorraine second quarter beats Garden City, 18-0

LORLAINE — The Lorraine Bulldogs used the speed of Tony Williams to score three times in the second stanza en route to an 18-0 win over the scrappy Garden City Bearkats in the final game of the season for both teams here Friday night.

After a scoreless first stanza, Williams raced 34 yards to paydirt to give Lorraine a 6-0 lead. The PAT kicked failed.

Williams increased the Lorraine lead minutes later when he burst 40 yards to paydirt after accepting a pass from quarterback Joe Merket. The extra point conversion run was stopped.

Tight end Jeff Rose concluded the scoring in the contest when he hauled in a seven-yard pass from Merket to conclude the scoring in the game late in the second quarter.

The Garden City defense was extremely tough in the second half, limiting the host Lorraine team to only 19 total yards. But the inability of the Bearkat offense to move with any type of consistency with the downfall of the visitors.

Lorraine finishes the season with a record of 4-6, while Garden City, a team that has only four seniors, playing, was winless.

O'Donnell scores twice for 20-7 win

Forsan loses in final minutes

FORSAN — The O'Donnell Eagles scored two touchdowns in the final four minutes of the game to take a 20-7 win over the Forsan Buffaloes in a District 5-A contest here Friday night.

The game was evenly matched until the horrendous ending for Forsan. O'Donnell's Johnny Jackson scored on a three-yard run with seven minutes remaining in the first quarter to give the visitors a quick lead. Luis Acosta booted the PAT.

But Forsan retaliated in the same stanza when fullback D.F. Stanley bolted over from the five with 1:13 to play in that quarter. Weldon Nichols booted the extra point that tied the game at 7-7.

Neither squad could mount a scoring drive in the second and third stanzas.

But the Buffaloes drove to the Eagles 10 yard line on three occasions, but were either victims of penalties or dropped passes that thwarted the scoring chances.

O'Donnell took the lead in the fourth quarter through the kicking game as the Eagles Tommy Knight blocked a kick and returned it 42 yards to paydirt to give the visiting team the lead for good. The PAT failed, leaving the score at 13-7.

But Forsan couldn't move the ball, and O'Donnell's John Olivian raced 45 yards with 2:07 left to play to ice the Eagles victory. Acosta booted the PAT for the final point of the evening.

The win gives O'Donnell a 5-A mark of 2-2-2 and a season record of 3-4-2, while the young Buffaloes dropped to 1-5 in district play and 2-7 on the year.

Forsan finishes the season next week at Stanton.

WATSON BREAKS FREE — Big Spring running back Ben Watson (12) breaks for a first down after accepting a screen pass from Steer quarterback Jimmy Marquez in first quarter action of Odessa romp in Memorial Stadium Friday night.

Narrowly missing Watson is an unidentified OHS defender, while the Steers Mike Terry (43) looks to help and Jerry Bennett (70) clears the Broncos Johnny Subia out.

The Odessa Broncos utilized a bevy of running backs and the occasional deadly receiving of Steve Shannon to romp to a 54-0 win over the Big Spring Steers Friday night in Memorial Stadium before a few brave fans on a cold and windy night.

The Steer defense shut down the Odessa running game early, but it was the combination of quarterback

Billy Rumbaugh and split end Shannon that gave the Broncos an early lead that would prove to be all of the points the Red Hoses would need.

Following a Big Spring punt, the Odessa team scored on their first possession via the airways. Rumbaugh hit Shannon on a third and eight for a first down to keep the drive alive early.

The Steers then forced OHS to pass again on a third and 13 only three plays later, and Rumbaugh connected on a line shot with Shannon deep between two Steer defenders down the left sideline. Shannon hauled the pass in at the Big Spring 20 and raced untouched into the end zone to complete a 56-yard scoring play with just under eight minutes remaining in the initial stanza. Terry Connally converted the PAT.

Odessa increased their lead to 13-0 with only 12 seconds left in the opening quarter when half back Geordie Mason plunged over from the one to complete a 39-yard scoring drive. Big play in the short march was a 20-yard Rumbaugh to Shannon pass. The kick was wide.

The Broncos showed no mercy to the host Steers in the second stanza, scoring the first three times they had the ball.

Elusive Johnny Subia returned a David Coffey punt 29 yards to the Big Spring 16 to set up the first Odessa score of the second stanza. The Broncos used five plays from this point, all on the ground, to increase their lead to 19-0. Fullback Jim Harris received scoring honors on this occasion by barreling over from the one, with Subia's two-point conversion run boosting the lead to 21-0.

The Big Spring quarterbacks were once again under extreme pressure the entire evening, and a charging Broncho defense forced Steer signal caller Jimmy Marquez to fumble on the Bovines next possession, with David Patton recovering for the visitors on the Big Spring 17.

Rumbaugh found Shannon, who had run a beautifully precise pattern just inside the end zone, for a score on the next play for the fourth Bronco score of the game with exactly eight minutes remaining in the half. Connally's kick was true.

Following another Coffey punt, the Broncos drove 69 yards in nine plays for their final touchdown of the first half. Shannon was again instrumental in the march, hauling in a 27-yard strike from Subia for a first down at the Big Spring 17. Five plays later Subia raced in from the four with 2:44 remaining before intermission. Connally's kick was good.

Big Spring moved into Odessa territory on their first possession of the second half on a Marquez to Mark Knight pass, but Marquez was intercepted two plays later by talented sophomore Greg Adams at the OHS 16.

With most of the Bronco regulars in the contest, it took the visitors nine plays to find paydirt on their longest drive of the night, with Mason skirting right end from the 10 to conclude the march. The big play in the 84-yard drive was a 25-yard pass completion from Rumbaugh to Mike Rich. Connally's kick was good.

Big Spring then held the Odessa team, which had a total of 13 different ball carriers in the contest, until midway in the final stanza.

Odessa's next score came after the Broncos recovered a fumbled Steer punt return on the Big Spring 17. Reserve quarterback Kenny Black took scoring honors this time on a one-yard sneak with just over eight minutes left to play. The extra point attempt failed.

Odessa then concluded the scoring on their next possession when Adams broke through the middle on a trap, veered to his left and outran the Steer defense on a 47-yard jaunt. Adams then booted the PAT for the final point of the long evening for the few die hard Steer fans still in attendance.

Big Spring drove from the 38 to the Odessa 28 on their final possession in an attempt to avoid a shutout, but Coffey was sacked by a freely roaming OHS defender to help put a stop to any Steer scoring success.

The win boosts the Odessa High season record to 6-3 and gives the Red Hoses a 5-AAAA mark of 3-3. Big Spring, meanwhile, is 1-8 on the season and has yet to win a district game.

The Steers will have one final chance to achieve that district win when they close their season next week in San Angelo. Odessa also closes their season next week when they face cross-town rival Permian, who defeated San Angelo by a 54-0 count Friday night.

5-AAAA Roundup Cooper clinches 5-AAAA

MIDLAND — The Abilene Cooper Cougars captured the District 5-AAAA crown Friday night by taking a 35-0 win over the Midland Bulldogs.

The high powered Cougars, who have been ranked as the state's top team since the beginning of the season, were once again totally dominating. Cooper rolled up over 400 yards total offense in the contest, with 212 of that being through the airways.

Cooper, now 6-0 in district and 9-0 on the season, drove for touchdowns on their first two possessions, the first coming on an eight-yard burst by tailback Keith Pantalone. Terry Orr then dove over from the one on the first play of the second stanza to increase the Cooper lead.

The Cougars, who meet the winner of District 6-AAAA in the first round of the playoffs during Thanksgiving weekend, scored again in the second stanza when safety Ronnie Houston returned an errant Bulldog aerial 58 yards to paydirt.

Cooper iced the game by taking the second half kickoff and driving 83 yards to paydirt, with Orr receiving scoring honors with his seven yard romp with 9:25 left in the third stanza.

Mojo routs Bobcats

ODESSA — The Odessa Permian Panthers, led by talented tailback Ricky Reynolds, exploded for 44 points in the first half of their way to a 54-0 win over the erratic San Angelo Bobcats in a District 5-AAAA game here Friday night.

Reynolds rushed for four touchdowns in the contest, caught a scoring pass and also threw one to account for six of Mojo's scores. He had 114 yards rushing on eight carries and two receptions in the contest.

San Angelo was totally helpless in the contest. The Bobcats lost two fumbles and had two passes intercepted, and in the meantime could manage only 66 yards total offense, all on the ground.

Permian amassed 461 yards total offense in the contest.

Abilene upsets Lee

ABILENE — Abilene's Randy Williams kicked a 25-yard field goal late in the fourth quarter to give the Eagles a 10-7 comeback over the favored Midland Lee Rebels in a District 5-AAAA game here Friday night.

Lee had relied on a very stingy defense and a 17-yard scoring pass from quarterback Gary Butler to wide receiver Gary Dolan in the second stanza to take a 7-0 lead into the final stanza.

Abilene's Loyal Proffitt, who entered the game as the leading passer in 5-AAAA, hit tight end David Russell on a four-yard scoring strike early in the final stanza to narrow the Lee lead, with Williams' PAT knotting the score at 7-7.

Proffitt's outstanding punting kept the Lee Rebels pinned deep in their own territory throughout most of the final stanza, and Proffitt and the Eagles finally took advantage of this to set up Williams' winning field goal.

TORRES EXPLODES — Big Spring's Rocky Torres (22) bursts through a well executed opening on a Steer return of an Odessa kickoff during third quarter action of Odessa's District 5-AAAA win here Friday night. Torres, one of the few bright spots for the Steers with his zealous play, is being chased by Odessa's Jim Harris (20.)

IMAGE CHANGE — Pittsburgh Steelers' quarterback Terry Bradshaw sports a new mustache and cowboy hat in the team's locker room after Thursday's practice session. The division-leading Steelers travel to Kansas City to meet the Chiefs today.

Via injury to Pat Haden Rutledge takes Rams QB job

The New York Giants need another good performance from rookie quarterback Phil Simms Sunday. The Los Angeles Rams need an initial good performance from rookie quarterback Jeff Rutledge.

Simms has had five straight respectable showings for the Giants, but they had a fourgame winning streak snapped last Sunday when the Dallas Cowboys rallied in the closing minutes for a 16-14 victory.

The Giants coaching staff and fans are worried that the club might suffer a letdown Sunday at home against the Atlanta Falcons, who need a victory to stay at least a game behind first-place Los Angeles and New Orleans in the National Football Conference Western Division. A good game by Simms could be the answer to preventing a letdown that would lead to New York's seventh loss in 11 games.

The Rams had lost three straight but rebounded last week with a 24-0 smashing of Seattle to even their record at 5-5. However, they lost quarterback Pat Haden with a broken finger on his passing hand. Backup Vince Ferragamo already was out with a broken hand.

So, it will be up to Rutledge, who quarterbacked Alabama to a national championship last season, to generate some offense in Chicago against the Bears, who are 5-5 and two games behind Tampa Bay in the NFC Central.

It would be almost asking the impossible for the Rams defense to turn in a performance anywhere near the kind it laid on Seattle. Los Angeles limited the Seahawks to 23 total yards rushing and minus 30 yards passing. The net minus seven broke the National Football League record of Denver's minus five yards against Oakland in 1967.

In other NFL action Sunday, San Francisco is at New Orleans, Pittsburgh at Kansas City, Oakland at Houston, Seattle at Cleveland, Baltimore at Miami, Buffalo at New York Jets, New England at Denver, San Diego at Cincinnati, Minnesota vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, St. Louis at Washington and Tampa Bay at Detroit.

New Orleans has a golden opportunity to break its first-place tie with the Rams. San Francisco has a 13-6-2 record against the Saints, but the 49ers have had trouble beating anybody this year. The 1-10 49ers could be just the tonic for the Saints, coached by ex-San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan, to rebound from a 10-3 loss to Denver last week.

Denver, meanwhile, will be up against a much more explosive offense than New Orleans' as the Broncos, 7-3, try to at least stay in tie with San Diego in the AFC West.

Oilers hope passing game arises before Oakland arrives

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers, with a scoring attack led by a portly 5-8, 196-pound Austrian and Earl Campbell, and the Oakland Raiders, trying to overcome the horrors of playing on the road, meet in a National Football League game in the Astrodome Sunday.

The Oilers, 7-3, remain a strong contender for a playoff berth despite a sputtering offense that has had to rely on the rushing of Campbell and the kicking of Toni Fritsch.

Fritsch, the No. 3 scorer in the American Football

Conference, has been responsible for three Oiler victories this season, including Monday's 9-6 victory over Miami when he kicked field goals of 46, 48 and 31 yards.

Fritsch also kicked the Oilers to a pair of overtime victories over Cincinnati and the New York Jets. Campbell retained the AFC rushing and scoring lead despite a pulled leg muscle that caused him to miss one game.

Houston Coach Bum Phillips continued to defend beleaguered quarterback Dan Pastorini, booed long and often in the Astrodome this season for his slow start.

The Oilers relied almost exclusively on Campbell and the ground game against Miami. Campbell rushed for 120 of Houston's 179 yards and carried on 32 of the Oilers' running plays.

"We need to throw better and catch better, but I thought we displayed good judgement against Miami," Phillips said. "We seem to play better against a class football team. I don't know why, I just hope I can keep getting them to do it."

Oiler tight end Mike Barber suffered a knee injury against the Dolphins and was a questionable participant for Sunday's game but the Oilers will get little sympathy from the Raiders, who had 13 starters sidelined at one time early this season.

Strapped by injuries and losing three of their first four games, all on the road, the Raiders have since rallied with a two tight end offense behind quarterback Kenny Stabler, who is the No. 4 rated quarterback in the AFC with an 82.8 rating.

Oakland will take a 6-4 record into the game, including victories in five of its last six games. Overcoming

With more than gridiron exploits Simms pleasing Giants fans

If you aren't hooked already, you're going to like this new kid who is quarterbacking the New York Giants' football team.

He has superstardom written all over him.

It doesn't happen often but occasionally in this calloused, cynical world of professional sports, a star flashes across the firmament and automatically you say to yourself:

"This guy's got it. He can't miss."

So it is with Phil Simms, an obscure young man out of an obscure little college in Kentucky who, thrust onto the firing line a third of the way through the season, turned the fangless and futile Giants into snarling tigers.

Mark him well. He has poise. He has talent. He has looks. More than that, he has those intangible qualities that help round out those rarities who ultimately become legends.

His blond head hasn't shown an inch of expansion from the sudden attention and adulation that has swept down upon him in a very short time. Not a trace of arrogance, instead a quiet modesty and a "Yes, sir," "No, sir" politeness. He is considerate of teammates, fans and the press.

This was never better illustrated than at the annual meeting of the Touchdown Club in New York this week when key members of the Giants and Jets were guests at one of the city's fashionable eateries.

The prospect of seeing the Giants' new jewel brought out football buffs in droves, and the kid was the center of the show.

Scores queued up to get a handshake and his autograph. He was trapped for almost an hour after the luncheon but he never gave a hint of boredom or impatience.

"Come on, Phil, we have a meeting at 3 o'clock," urged his agent, Michael Merkow of Century City, Calif.

Simms never wavered. "Just a minute until I finish these autographs," he replied. He didn't disappoint a single one.

A right-handed passer, he signed autographs with his left hand. Someone mentioned that this was unusual.

"I write with my left," he explained, "throw and bat in baseball right-handed, kick left-footed, play golf right-handed."

Then later, despite the urgency of another appointment, the rookie quarterback sat down to answer questions of a few newsmen who had been unable to get within yards of him earlier.

"How in the world did you wind up at Morehead State?" someone asked him.

"They were the only ones that offered me a scholarship," he replied.

Simms demanded few headlines. At Morehead, in the little Ohio Valley Conference, he endured four losing seasons, figuring in a total of 10 victories, while dropping 26 games. He wasn't even all-conference.

How did the Giants decide to pick him No. 1 in the college draft?

"We had heard about him," said General Manager George Young.

"Just before the Easter holidays, Coach (Ray) Perkins made a swing to look over quarterback prospects, including Jack Thompson (Washington State), Jeff Rutledge (Alabama) and Chuck Fusina (Penn State).

"Ray, who was a receiver himself, ran some patterns with Phil. We looked at movies of some of Phil's games. We were both convinced. Simms was our man. What impressed us most, besides his remarkable poise, was his accuracy and acuity."

George uses Ivy League words. The dictionary describes "acuity" as "sharpness, keenness of sense perception." A less erudite man might say Simms has the eyes of a bombardier. He sights targets quickly.

The Giants were 0-5 when the Louisville, Ky., darkhorse, whose selection by the Giants drew fans' boos, got his chance to start against Tampa Bay. The Giants broke the Bucs' winning streak, went on to win four in a row and last weekend had the NFC champion Dallas Cowboys on the ropes before letting them escape with a last-gasp field goal.

Giants fans are ecstatic.

CALIFORNIA BOYS' CHOIR TO PERFORM HERE
...Tuesday under direction of Douglas Neslund

California's best to be here Boy's Choir to perform Tuesday

California Boys' Choir, founded and directed by Douglas Neslund, with Robert H. Rogers, Co-Director, is composed of 26 Choir boys ranging in age from 10-15 years, who are selected from dozens of young Californians in the Choir's Training Program.

Piano lessons at age four, 'cello at eight, and French horn at twelve are apt to indicate some degree of music talent and orientation, and so it was for Neslund, a native of Los Angeles, who declares, "There was never any doubt in my mind that music was my calling." Musicians who are able to play both 'cello and French horn soon find themselves in great demand with youth orchestras and bands, with the directors calling for one or the other instruments, depending upon greatest need. In such a situation no time is available to develop an interest in the voice.

So it was that Douglas at age twelve declined an invitation to attend a concert of the Vienna Choir Boys. His parents, who frequently took him to orchestral concerts, insisted.

"It was a real shock to hear those boys sing,"

Neslund remembers, "and I can still feel that inspiration when my own boys perform." He decided to join a boychoir but could not find one of quality enough to satisfy his desires. He dreamed of going to Vienna to school, and midway through his college experience he enrolled in the prestigious Akademie der Musik und Darstellender Kunst where he studied orchestra conducting under Hans Swarovsky and choral conducting under Josef Schmidt.

The draft interrupted his plans, but he continued piano studies while spending one year in Texas, and used his year in Vietnam to plan ahead. The dream of the California Boys' Choir was going to be a reality.

Immediately upon release from the armed services, Neslund enrolled in the Graduate School in Music at the University of Southern California, where he studied under the tutelage of Dr. James Vail, Dr. Charles Hirt and the late Ingolf Dahl.

In June 1968, after months of auditioning several hundred youngsters from all parts of Southern California, the first rehearsals were held. Since that day the Choir has gained widespread recognition as a major choral force, and Mr. Neslund has been invited to participate in choral seminars in two major universities in the West.

"The first years are the hardest, but I feel that we have arrived at a new level of achievement," he says. "Problems are always there to be solved by persistence and hard work. One should never stop learning, because life is not static. New problems, new goals appear. The importance of a career in working with youth is that the evidence of your work is always there, including the failures with the successes. I am very happy in this work."

County Library has them Religious books for kids

By Cathye McCracken
Children's Librarian
Howard County Library

If you find yourself pulling out your hair trying to find a different way to teach a Sunday School class or tell your young one about the Bible, the Howard County Library can save those golden locks of yours. In the non-fiction section of the Children's Department there is an abundance of books on religion that should satisfy your needs.

That scary feeling of going to "big church" for the first time can be helped with Robbie Trent's book "To Church We Go." In plain and simple language, the book tells what happens during a Sunday church service. Any young child's fears should be somewhat alleviated after having this book read to them. Most of the pages have short Bible verses below the text, so that the reasons for what we do at church are reinforced through the Scriptures.

For older children, two excellent books are available to help them know and understand the Bible. "Know Your Bible" by Mary Alice Jones, presents fascinating facts about what the Bible is - how it came to be written, and what it means today. Along with maps, charts and illustrations, this book should be helpful when you face those questioning faces on Sunday morning. Cecil Northcutt's "People of the Bible," brings to life the significant people who make Bible history. Those who read this book should be prompted to look up the verses quoted at the beginning of each chapter, and delve further into the lives of the people written about.

Parents and teachers who want to introduce their children to deeper New Testament teachings will appreciate "A Living Letter for the Children's Hour" by Kenneth Taylor. Drawn from Paul's letters to Timothy and to the church at Rome, each chapter contains a short story illustrating the truth of the passage under consideration.

"Little Visits With God" by Dr. Alan Jahnsman, is a book of family devotions written to make home devotions a meaningful family experience. Filled with 200 simple readings, "Little Visits With God" talks about everyday occurrences in the lives of children. There is also a suggested reading for parents and older children, so that the whole family, no matter what the age difference might be, can share in a deeper Christian life.

Next Saturday before you begin preparing your Sunday School lesson, drop by the Howard County Library and let us help you expand your teaching. Don't pull out your hair when your child asks seemingly impossible questions about the Bible, because there are many answers available to you through the use of books.

'Treasures from Chatsworth' due display in Fort Worth

Almost 200 objects from the most important private collection in England will be on view at Fort Worth's Kimbell Art Museum, Nov. 17-Dec. 30. The exhibition, "Treasures from Chatsworth: The Devonshire Inheritance," includes old master paintings, drawings and prints, rare manuscripts, letters and books; firearms; and fine decorative arts - furniture, ceramics, jewelry, gold and silver.

Chatsworth, one of the best-known and most impressive of the English country houses, is the ancestral home of the dukes of Devonshire. Its art collection represents the taste of ten generations of the Cavendish family and 300 years of collecting. Andrew Cavendish, the 11th duke of Devonshire, still resides in his ancestral home, and he and his wife consider themselves lifelong custodians of the family's art treasures. The Duchess of Devonshire will come to Fort Worth for entertainments in her honor preceding the opening.

Chatsworth contains one of the most extraordinary collections of prints and drawings in the world, and 62 examples will be on view at the Kimbell. Among these are works by Leonardo, Mantegna, Titian, Veronese and other great masters, including six each by Raphael, Rembrandt and Van Dyck, four by Claude and three by Rubens.

Daily audio-visual presentations and a number of special events have been scheduled in conjunction with the exhibition. A 16-minute slide-tape show describes the origins of the Cavendish family, the growth of its collections, and the architectural design of Chatsworth. It will be shown free of charge in the auditorium at 11 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; hourly from 11 a.m. through 4 p.m. on Saturday, and hourly 2-4 p.m. on Sundays.

Justice Department takes first step in police suit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department has taken the first step in appealing the dismissal of an unprecedented suit against the Philadelphia Police Department.

The federal suit, which named Mayor Frank Rizzo and 19 other top city and police officials, alleged that police had conducted illegal searches and seizures, had abused persons to intimidate them or extract confessions and had used deadly force unnecessarily.

U.S. District Judge J. William Ditter Jr. dismissed all but a small portion of the suit Oct. 30 on the grounds the federal government had no authority to file it in the first place. Retained was a small portion alleging discrimination in the administration of federally funded programs.

Since Ditter must rule on the remaining portion of the suit before the Justice Department can appeal the dismissal, government lawyers filed a motion Friday for a final judgment.

If the judge grants the motion and declares his October order a final judgment, an appeal could be filed immediately.

"Justice demands that there is no just reason to delay the speedy submission of the dismissed claims to a higher court," the government's motion said.

"Whatever the outcome of appeal, the public interest can only be vindicated, and the sooner the better."

Boy Scouts searching for leaders

Big Spring Boy Scouts are looking for leaders.

"We're looking for more volunteers," says Bob Hurt, district chairman. "We have hundreds of boys who have expressed interest in scouting, but we don't have enough troops."

Hurt and Phil Corbin, district executives are looking for leaders for both new and existing troops.

Leaders, both male and female, are wanted for Cub Scouts, ages eight and nine. The 10-year-old Cub Scouts, called Webelos (we will be loyal scouts) and the Boy Scout troops need male leaders. The Boy Scout troops consist of boys 11 to 17.

Anyone interested can attend a meeting with Corbin and Hurt, Tuesday, 7 p.m. in the Council Chambers of City Hall.

Assistant leaders must be at least 18-years-old and scoutmasters must be at least 21-years-old. All leaders are trained by district personnel.

We will be CLOSED

Henning appeals for Bush support

The West Texas Republican Women's club met Thursday in the home of Jane Thomas for a salad luncheon. President Joyce Green presided. The Rev. Bill Henning gave the invocation.

Henning, chairman for the George Bush for President campaign appealed for workers in the upcoming race. He said Bush has the experience and qualifications to lead our nation into the new decade.

"We've called on him in the past to do what we would trust few others to undertake and he has come through," Henning said. "He spoke up for America as our Ambassador before other nations, he went to China and ensured the success of a bold new foreign initiative. He was the one man American trusted to make sure our foreign intelligence system protected our rights while remaining effective in protecting our security."

Dene Sheppard gave a report on the Texas Federation of Republican Women's convention recently held in Austin.

It was announced that Bill Hanson won the beef driving sponsored by the organization and Mrs. Sheppard thanked all who worked so hard on this project.

Hazel Lawrence reported on the recent garage sale and gave the treasurer's report. Betty Wrinkle and Mary Joy Cowper were appointed to the nominating committee.

Vice President Lucy Knox urged all members to attend the Dec. 6 meeting, when officers for the next year will be elected.

$550,000 suit filed

A suit filed Thursday by Bennett I. Petty claims his tractor exploded due to improper venting of a test oil well on his property.

Petty claims in the $500,000 suit against Florida Exploration that natural gas in the atmosphere near the well was injected into the super charge diesel engine. Petty claims the gas caused the engine to run at a high rpm and explode.

Jimmy Gonzales was on the tractor March 3 at 8:30 p.m. when it exploded but escaped injury. The $40,000 tractor, which was totally destroyed, was 200 yards away from the well.

Petty said he had entered into a contract with Florida Exploration to allow them to search for oil on his land. Petty said he called the company several times requesting that a flare be put on the vent.

CAPP HAS $ IT

Custom Homes

A Unique Idea— In 1946, Capp Homes created the Finish-It-Yourself House™ program. Since then, over 60,000 Capp families have built their dream home and saved a bundle.

You can too. Whether we build from your plans or ours, you get exactly what you want. Flexibility in custom-design is our password.

You Become the General Contractor— General-contractors buy the basic materials to build a home. They do some of the work themselves and hire sub-contractors for the rest. They mark up all their costs and pass it on to the buyer. They manage the project. We can do the same. Maybe better.

After Capp custom erects and encloses your home on the lot and foundation you provide, you take over. Do the finishing you want, and hire tradesmen for the rest. Of course, the more you do, the more you save.

Quality Finishing Touches— The kitchen cabinets are magnificent. Appliances and bathroom fixtures are coordinated to your taste. The lighting, carpeting and everything you select from Capp will say quality. And they're all included in the price you sign for.

Construction Financing

Stop Wasting— To stay ahead of inflation, you want to build now. Waiting for interest rates to drop next year may be a losing game. Today, your building lot and a small deposit may be all you need to get started with Capp.

Construction Money— As a qualified buyer, Capp can provide you with all the construction money you need to finish your home.

This loan covers all the materials Capp provides, including all structural materials and our full complement of finishing materials, appliances and fixtures. It also includes extra funds to buy things that Capp doesn't sell, like your foundation, masonry work, landscaping, or paying off your building lot.

Delayed Payment Feature— Your construction loan works like a bank account. You draw on it as you need it, and you only pay interest on what you use. Then too, there's our liberal delayed payment feature. In fact, some Capp customers finish their new home and convert the total construction loan into permanent financing, before any construction loan payments fall due. Ask your Capp Representative for details.

Mortgage Money

Complete "One Stop" Home Financing— Capp Homes total financing program is one of the best available. In addition to a construction loan, Capp offers qualified buyers a firm commitment to obtain a long term, permanent mortgage at competitive rates.

Capp Mortgage Money— When you have completed the finishing work on your Capp Home, we can immediately convert your construction loan into a Capp permanent mortgage. Our full staff of financing experts will help you with all the details. We make it easy to build.

Your New Home— It's something you shouldn't wait for any longer. Next year, housing prices will inevitably go up. But if you order now, Capp will protect your price for six full months, provided you start building within that time. It's like getting a 1980 house at 1979 prices, with all the financing you need. Act now. See your local Capp Representative for your free 100-page Home Planning Guide, or send the coupon below.

Bill Brooks creates the impossible

Music, agriculture and West Texas entwine to form Wilson family crest

By ROBBICROW
Family News Editor

Music has been her life since Santa Claus brought her a piano when she was 6 years old. Agriculture has played the lead role in his life since he graduated from Sul Ross with a degree in range management.

Together, they are the parents of three beautiful children, ages 9, 13 and 16, whom they treasure more than a pirate does his gold. Through this family, music, agriculture and their native West Texas heritage have been entwined as one, thus forming the family crest of the Chesley Wilson family.

The story is mounted on the entrance wall of the Wilson colonial home, 2807 Rebecca. It was designed and created by the talented, wood carving wizard, Bill Brooks.

The initial idea for the family crest was conceived by Mrs. Wilson. She wanted something in her home that depicted and entwined the lives of her entire family. She took her un-constructed brainstorm to Brooks.

"When she came to me with her idea several years ago," remembers Brooks, "she said she wanted some type of carving which depicted her family's history. She wanted something along the line of England's Coat of Arms, but more American."

For almost two years, Brooks pondered on the idea. He finally came to the conclusion that he would carve a keyboard for Mrs. Wilson because music was a major part of her life.

"But I wanted more than just a keyboard," recalls Mrs. Wilson, "I wanted the carving to represent and mean something to everyone in the family, not just me."

Again, Brooks went back to the drawing board, sketching, sketching and resketching designs which could, in some way, combine the elements Mrs. Wilson wanted.

"I was beginning to think the two ideas, West Texas and music, were never going to come together," says Brooks, "and then one day while I was sketching, it all came to me."

Brooks' design features a barbed-wire fence and post which represents agriculture and West Texas. But it also represents a musical staff, the fence post serving as the bar line and the barbed wire forming the lines and spaces for the musical notes.

Brooks was determined, however, to get his original keyboard idea into the semi-abstract carving. The keyboard, complete with all 88 keys, flows around the fence, past a carved silhouette of the couple's three children and ends at the top of a windmill.

Brooks succeeded in entwining every aspect of the Wilson family — music, agriculture, their children and West Texas.

"I personally like the way the lines of the carving flow together and are brought together by the fence," says Brooks of his finished product.

Although this work of art was approximately one year in the making after the final design was conceived, Brooks says his actual carving time was only 50 hours.

"You have to be in the right mood to do something like carving," he explains. "If you work on it when you're not in the mood, it's a mistake. Some days I would spend one hour on the Wilson carving, other days I would work on it three hours. It just depended on my mood."

The carving, approximately four feet in height, was made from parana pine, one inch thick. It was completed with walnut stain and varnish finish.

"Instead of using actual barbed wire on the fence," Brooks says, "I used cooper, instead. I felt the actual barbed wire would look too rustic."

Brooks, who has a degree in industrial arts, has been carving for 8 years and has been self-employed for three. He also does stained glass work, builds furniture and draws house plans.

He enjoys his work and says "I like the fact that people come to me with basic ideas and I develop them, make a design, and create a finished product from the design."

This was his first attempt at designing and creating a family crest and, according to Mrs. Wilson, it couldn't have portrayed her family any better.

"Music's been my whole life," emphasizes Mrs. Wilson. "It was my daddy's dream for me to become a piano teacher someday."

When she was 6 years old, Santa Claus brought her a piano for Christmas. From that time on, her life revolved around music.

"My momma and daddy took me 25 miles twice a week to take piano lessons," she recalls.

Although Mrs. Wilson's father did not live to see his dream a reality, his daughter did become a successful music and piano teacher. She has taught private piano lessons in Big Spring for 12 years and at one time taught music at St. Mary's Episcopal. She now gives private piano lessons at Borden County and serves as music teacher at the Borden County public school.

WILSON CHILDREN — The Wilson family crest is composed of four main elements, music, agriculture, West Texas, and most importantly, their children. Pictured here are Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Wilson's three children, from bottom to top, Joan, 9, Steve, 13 and Stacy, 16. Bill Brooks carved a silhouette of the three children in the Wilson family crest which can be seen at the top right hand corner of the carving.

It was while she was attending Angelo State University she met and married Chesley Wilson and their two life goals, her music, his agriculture, were interrelated.

Both finished school at Sul Ross. Children of the couple are Stacy, 16, Steve, 13, and Joan 9. All were born in West Texas.

Mrs. Wilson's husband is employed as District Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service.

"My dad died 16 years ago," Mrs. Wilson says, "but my mom still operates the stock farm and takes care of cattle. So you see, West Texas is pretty embedded in our lives."

Music, plus Agriculture, plus children, plus West Texas, plus the added touch of Bill Brooks' creativity and originality, equal the Wilson Family Crest.

BROOKS' MASTERPIECE — Although this is Bill Brooks' first attempt at carving a family emblem, this talented man created the Wilson family crest in only 50 hours of actual carving time. The difficulty, however, was combining the elements of music, agriculture and West Texas, which he succeeded in doing brilliantly. The masterpiece was approximately 3 years in the making.

Big Spring High School 1979 Homecoming a big success

Wrap-up of homecoming activities

By MICKIE DICKSON

"That's can't be ... out it IS, how are you? How many years has it been?" Exclaimed many a participant in the Big Spring High School Homecoming events last weekend. "Do you remember?" and "Do I ever!"

Many had not been back to Big Spring in twenty years or over as the 1959 class celebrated its 20th reunion and the 1954 its 25th, lots of acquaintances were renewed, happenings re-fashed and a good time visiting was had by all.

Kicked off by a pep rally preceding the BSHS Steers girls volleyball game with Abilene-Cooper in Steer Stadium which they won 6-15, 15-3 and 14-12 for their fifth victory with no losses in district play, homecoming was a huge success.

The annual Homecoming Parade

Nov. 2 at 4:30 p.m., using the "Youth of the World" theme, resulted in a first place win for the seniors in the large float division with the float of Switzerland featuring a mountain and a cuckoo clock. The juniors won second place with Santa's Iceland, the sophomores placed third with Holland featuring a windmill and the freshmen came in fourth with Cleopatra of Egypt on their float.

In the small float division the Bible Class was first with their Holy Land float, OEA (Office Education Association) placed second with Ireland portrayed by a pot of gold and four leaf clovers. Future Teachers placed third with an English school scene and Future Homemakers placed fourth with their Japanese girl wearing a kimono.

The Decorated Cars and Other division found the French Club in first place with French girls throwing flowers out of a cart. The Art Club placed second by portraying Mexico with a huge sombrero over a Volkswagen Bug. The Spanish Club placed third with a car completely covered with black material of some kind with horns and a tail portraying a bull. The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America and Cosmetology placed fourth with a Canadian float with the queen on the back of a pick-up.

The class of 1959 decorated a 1955 Chevrolet pick-up for the parade. Toni Thomas Hamby wore her old cheerleader uniform and six other exes accompanied her.

Judges of the Parade were Donny Knight representing the student council, Mamie Lee Dodds and Don Woods of the Big Spring Herald.

The parade winners were awarded money prizes donated by Big Spring merchants and banks.

Carrie Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Little, was crowned Homecoming Queen at the football game Friday night, winning over 17 other nominees. A reception for all BSHS exes was held in the Cactus Room at Howard College immediately following the game with about 80 attending.

The morning of Nov. 3 several separate groups met at various places for coffee. Arah Phillips and Anna Smith hosted a coffee for their former volleyball team members in their home at 2002 Main. About 35 women attended from as far away as Fullerton, Calif. The teams who played in state tournaments were inducted into the Hall of Fame at 2 p.m. in the High School Cafeteria.

Virginia Castillo Aranda, El Paso, a 1949 graduate of BSHS and a member of the very first volleyball team was there. Mrs. Aranda thinks that Arah Phillips, the mother of modern day women's athletics at Big Spring, is the most wonderful thing that ever happened to volleyball in Big Spring. "Miss Phillips was very strict especially about neatness," said Mrs. Aranda.

The Aranda's first daughter was named Arah after her favorite coach. She also played softball under Eleri Phillips at BSHS.

Thelma Brumley Ditto, 1601 Brumley, team of 1948-1949, which won first place in District, also declared that Coach Phillips was a good coach and is a wonderful person who always wanted her girls to do their best at whatever they went at. Mrs. Ditto was also a member of the Bible Club at BSHS. Working at Safeway on Gregg as a checker for five years, Mrs. Ditto has been married 20 years and has three children.

Elaine Russell Kennamer, Sand Springs, went to the National Tournament with Coach Anna Smith's team in 1957.

June Ann Johnston, Odessa, and Peggy Isaacs Jones, Dallas, the only two sophomores in the 1957-'58 and '59 teams to play in the national tournament, were there. Mrs. Jones said "I didn't know what was going on when I first saw them play 'power volleyball.'" Peggy attained honorable in All American at the National Tournament.

June Ann Johnston has taught English in Odessa High School for 15 years and is Permian Basin Women's golf champion.

Weddings vows spoken in Saturday ceremony

Wedding bells rang Saturday morning as Diana Garcia Guevara and Raul (Bob) Lara Paredez were united in marriage at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church.

Father Bernard Gulley read the 11 a.m. ceremony before a sanctuary enhanced by two seven-branch candelabrams entwined with greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Guevara, 701 Settles. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Guadalupe Paredez, 607 N.W. 4th.

Wedding music for the rite was provided by organist Eva Rodriguez who accompanied vocalist Diedra Avery.

The bride chose to wear a tradition white satin wedding gown overlaid with lace organza. A lace-embellished Victorian neckline and long sheer lace Bishop sleeves accentuated the fitted bodice from which the A-line skirt fell to a chapel-length train.

Complimenting her attire was a chapel-length veil of silk bridal illusion edged in matching lace which was attached to a cap adorned with lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of dusty pink carnations sprinkled with baby's breath.

Attending as maid of honor was Josie Padilla. Bridesmaids included Olga Trevino, Judy Guevara, sister-in-law of the bride, Edna Borrego, Elena Rosas, Margie Morales, Alicia Montez, Terry Ochotoreno and Landa Fierro, sister of the bride.

Other bridesmaids were Beth Gregory, Bertina DeLeon, Celia Ovalle, Cynthia Rubio, Clara Brown, Diana Dominguez, Debbie Puga, Belinda Claveran, Cathy Chavez, Rachael Garcia and Cynthia Hernandez.

Albert Paredez, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsman were Tito Trevino, Rudy Guevara, brother of the bride, San Angelo, Mike Borrego, Tino Rosas, Juan Morales, Raymond Montez, Larry Paredez, brother of the groom, Michael Paredez, both brothers of the groom, and Jim Gilliland.

Others included Carl Trevino, Joe Ovalle, Ricky Trevino, Robert Garcia, Eddie Puga, Pete Cerda, Jimmy Paredez, brother of the groom, Larry Lara, Tony Chavez and Marcus Armendariz.

Susie Paredez and Jolinda Gonzales served as cushion maids for the ceremony. J.J. Padilla was ring bearer.

Immediately following the wedding rite, the couple were feted with a reception at the church parish hall, followed by a dance at the Dora Roberts Fair Barn.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed as a teacher's aide at the West Side Day Care Center.

The groom attended Big Spring schools and is employed by R.B. Snead Construction Company as a carpenter.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. Paredez will be at home in Big Spring.

Gets Mileage From Smileage

DEAR ABBY: A year ago I was a poor student, shy, lonely, friendless, unhappy and I never smiled. I wrote to you, and you gave me the best advice I ever received. Here it is: "The key to being popular with both sexes is: Be kind. Be honest. Be tactful. If you can't be beautiful (or handsome), be well-groomed, tastefully attired, trim of figure and KEEP A SMILE ON YOUR FACE!"

"Be clean in body and mind. If you're not a 'brain,' try harder. If you're not a great athlete, you can be a good sport. Try to be a standout in something. If you can't dance or sing, learn to play an instrument. Think for yourself, but respect the rules. Be generous with kind words and affectionate gestures, but save the heavy artillery for later. You'll be glad you did. If you need help, ask God. If you don't need anything, thank God.

Love, Abby"

I followed your advice step by step, and kept it handy when I felt low. I am now president of the sophomore class, and I play the guitar. Smiling comes naturally to me, and I have a boyfriend who is kind and respectable. My grades are better, and I have more friends now than I ever dreamed I'd have.

Abby, you're not the only one who helped me. God helped me. He answered my prayers.

CAROL

DEAR ABBY: After reading your column on HOW TO DRIVE A SALESPERSON CRAZY, I felt compelled to give the customer's side of it:

HOW TO MAKE A CUSTOMER'S DAY

- If a customer approaches, run and hide in the back room.

- Continue to chat with other salespersons about what you did last night.

- Never smile. A deadpan stare (or frown) will discourage customers from bothering you.

- Never offer assistance. Wait for the customer to ask for help.

- Never serve customers in the order they enter the shop. Wait on whoever has the nerve to elbow their way up to the front.

- Don't stop stocking and taking inventory to serve customers. The fact that their purchases pay your salary is immaterial.

- Forget the motto, "The customer is always right." They are always WRONG, so don't let them put anything over on you.

- Chew gum, eat candy or sneak a smoke while you're on the job. As long as your boss doesn't see you, it's OK.

- If a teenager (or someone who's not very well dressed) wants to be waited on, either ignore them or don't waste much time with them. They're probably "just looking" anyway.

- If you do all the above, the customer will surely shop somewhere else and you won't be bothered writing up any sales.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND SEWELL

Newlyweds will reside in Abilene

The First Presbyterian Church of Snyder was the scene of the wedding of Shana Renae Holmesly and Raymond Morris Sewell, Oct. 20 at 6 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Thrower of Snyder. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sewell, Snyder, formerly of Big Spring, and the grandson of Louis Helms and Mr. and Mrs. Garland McMahan, Big Spring.

Nuptial vows were performed by Dr. Lee Butler, chaplain of Big Spring State Hospital, assisted by Rev. Gary West, pastor. The altar was adorned with two brass candelabras holding tall tapers, entwined with greenery and featuring satin bows. The altar table held a unity candle on a brass candleholder with white tapers on brass candleholders on either side. The family pews were marked with white ribbon enhanced with yellow roses and baby's breath.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candlelight gown of ivory silk organza over taffeta. The bodice was appliqued with Venice lace embellished with seed pearls, with long, fitted sleeves and ruffles at the shoulder. The high neckline was complimented by appliques of lace and seed pearls. The full skirt fell from an empire waistline and swept into a cathedral train edged in Venice lace. Her layered fingertip veil of silk illusion edged in lace fell from a Juliette cap of Venice lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow silk roses, baby's breath, feathered silk carnations and white streamers.

Tammy Staton, Snyder, was maid of honor. Sandy Sewell, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid.

Jana Benefield, Bedford, cousin of the groom, was the flower girl.

Craig Rhoton, Big Spring, served as best man, and Skip Koelzer, Austin, was groomsman.

Ushers were Kevin Rhoton and Jeff Benefield, Bedford.

The organist, Mrs. Verna West, played traditional music as the guests were seated. She accompanied Kathy Watts, soloist. Following the wedding, the bride's parents hosted a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table, covered with a white floor-length cloth edged in lace, held a three-tiered white cake decorated with yellow rose buds and Service project discussed

The Big Spring School Food Service Association met for their monthly meeting at Runnels Junior High School, Melba Camp, president, presided.

The service project was discussed and plans were made to distribute gifts to local nursing homes for Christmas.

The club Christmas party will be held at Marcy Elementary School cafeteria Dec. 15 at 7 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. George Foster hosted a Stanley Party. For each order given from each kitchen, the club will receive a 25 per cent commission as a fund raising project. Approximately 30 attended.

Baptist church wedding site

Colleen Anderson became the bride of Michael Barton in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening in Hillcrest Baptist Church with the Rev. Philip McClendon, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Anderson, 3611 Calvin. Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Barton, 1404 E. 18th are parents-of the bridegroom.

The 5 p.m. rite was read before an altar flanked by arrangements of blue and white carnations with baby's breath on brass pedestals. Two candelabras entwined with greenery lit the sanctuary and blue bows marked the aisles.

Vanessa Cooper played the wedding music on the piano.

The bride was escorted down the aisle wearing a full-length gown of white polyester organza sweeping to a chapel-length train with a cascade of lace edged ruffles. The high neckline was enhanced with sequined Chantilly lace as was the waistline, long sleeves and hem line of the gown. Matching floral lace with seed pearls formed the headpiece from which flowed the chapel veil.

A cascading bouquet of blue and white carnations with baby's breath accented the bride's attire. Pennie Bonner, Orlando, Fla., served as maid of honor.

Randy Wallace served as best man. James and John Anderson, brothers of the bride, seated the guests. A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church honoring the couple. The bride's table was centered with blue and white carnations with the bridal bouquet added. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped with the traditional figures of a bride and groom, was served by Mary Ann Spillman and Pennie Bonner. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Melinda and Janet Noble served the punch.

The groom's table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a candelabrum entwined with blue and white carnations. Chocolate cake was served by Rosanne Barton, sister-in-law of the groom and Nadine Pittman from the groom's table.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed by Blum's Jewelers as bookkeeper. The groom graduated from Big Spring High School in 1977 and is an employee of the County Attorney's office.

After a trip to Lubbock, the couple will be at home in Big Spring.

Drowning sorrows won't help daughter

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Please help me. My problem is the most serious that you can imagine.

Last year, my wife (18) and I (18) were playing around in the front of our home when I accidentally pushed her down. She hit her head on a rock. Two days later she was dead.

I was tried for murder but was found not guilty because they felt it was accidental.

Since I was found innocent, someone is placing stuffed dummies smeared with ketchup on the heads. I have no idea who is doing it.

To top it off, my wife's parents are trying to take custody of my little daughter. They think that I am unfit to raise a child. I can't allow that to happen because she is my only reason for living.

My parents don't want me around because I've started to drink.

At the present time my wife's parents are caring for Lisa but I'm still her legal guardian. What should I do?

—Nameless, Gadsden, Ala.
Nameless: If you truly care and love your daughter you will stop drowning your sorrows in alcohol. I rarely advise teens to leave the area but in your case, I would. As long as your in-laws are caring for your daughter, strike out on your own in another community where you can find employment. After you are employed and settled, bring out your daughter.

But remember, Lisa is entitled to full and fruitful childhood and life. If you can't give it to her, your in-laws might be able to. May God bless you and give you His guidance.

For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent stamped, large self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

Ceremony solemnized in candlelight wedding

Wedding vows uniting Lea Thompson and Al Watkins III, were spoken Saturday afternoon in the Highland Church of Christ Chapel, Abilene.

The bride is the daughter of Patricia Park, Dallas, and Bob Thompson, Richardson. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Watkins Jr., 2504 Central, Big Spring.

Gary Lewis, brother-in-law of the bride, read the 2 p.m. ceremony before an altar enhanced with an archway flanked on either side by spiral candelabrum entwined with greenery.

The bride chose to wear a traditional white organza gown fashioned with a high ruffled neckline and long, full sleeves. Falling from the lace-adorned bodice was a chapel-length train edged in matching lace. Completing her ensemble was a veil of silk illusion which fell from a headpiece embellished with lace and seed pearls.

To accent her attire, she carried a cascading bouquet of daisies and carnations.

Mrs. Paul Anderson, Abilene, attended her sister as matron of honor. Mrs. Gary Lewis, also sister of the B21 Makeup.

You can expect the extraordinary when your makeup is.

B21 Makeup Foundation: A silky, extraordinarily long-lasting, natural looking makeup which enhances beauty, and tones down imperfections. Doesn't cake or crease, is suitable for all types of skin and is fragrance free.

B21 Powder: A light, invisible powder containing millions of micro-encapsulated droplets of mineral oil which are gradually released as you apply it to your skin. Which accounts for this powder's satiny finish.

B21 Lipstick: Armed with Atlantoin and moisturizing Wheat Germ Oil, it applies like a beauty treatment cream. Keeps lips creamy soft and smooth, and doesn't bleed. In 14 Orlane-elegant colors.

B21 Eye Shadow: This is a creamy powder shadow which combines the moisturizing of eye shadow cream, and the easy application and long lasting of a powder.

B21 Mascara: Maximum lash with minimum fuss, because its special creamy formula coats even the thinnest lashes, separates beautifully, and is extraordinarily gentle.

Our B21 Makeup Treatment Group is but one example of Orlane's highly sophisticated skin-care collection. The entire Orlane collection is sold by trained consultants at finer stores throughout the United States, as well as Europe.

Orlane skin care products are now available in Big Spring at:
