Human wave kills eleven

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I couldn't believe it. They could see the people all piled up and they still tried to climb over them just to get in," said one man who watched in horror as 11 persons died in a crushing human wave surging into Riverfront Coliseum for a rock concert by "The Who."

Police Lt. Col. Joseph Staff said seven young men and four young women were trampled and killed when the mob pushed into the hall on the Ohio River in a crush of bodies that continued for 30 minutes.

Eight other persons were seriously injured, police said. Twenty more were treated at four hospitals and released.

The Monday night concert, which drew an audience of more than 18,000 people, went on as scheduled and "The Who" made no mention of the tragedy during their performance. "We decided to let the concert go on. If we stopped it, we would have had a worse panic," said Lt. Dale Menkhaus who led 25 police officers in a crowd-control detail.

Menkhaus estimated that more than 6,000 people, some who had waited more than three hours, were crowded on the coliseum's plaza level waiting for the doors to open. Many had been drinking and smoking marijuana. As at some past rock concerts, some seats were reserved, but about half were available on a first-come, first-served. Authorities said pushing incidents in the past had led to arrests.

"The group likes to do a little sound test," Menkhaus said. When the crowd heard the music, it surged forward.

"They opened only two doors. They have about 50. I suggested they open more, but was told there wasn't enough personnel to open more," Menkhaus said.

"First a bottle crashed through the glass. Then they started pushing more glass out and they started pouring in. We couldn't stop them," said Ray Schwertman, an usher.

Dick Ogburn, a concert-goer from Lexington, Ky., said, "People were going down. I saw people's heads being stepped on. I fell and I couldn't get up. People kept pushing me down. I was afraid for my life."

Menkhaus said it was nearly 30 minutes before his officers could mount a charge into the crowd. "We found the first bodies about 15 feet from the door outside," he said.

Dr. Al Trotter, emergency room supervisor at Cincinnati General Hospital, said all victims suffered "footprint-like injuries."

"Some made it. Some died within two or three minutes," said Isy D'Agostino, a nurse from Dayton. "It's a real sad way to go."

City Safety Director Richard Castellini said he will ask the City Council to pass a law requiring that all seats be reserved at future events. "It's the urgency of getting a seat that makes this happen," he said.

"This is a terrible tragedy," said City Manager Sylvester Murray, who said he would open an investigation today.

Monday's mob scene was not a first for Riverfront Coliseum. On April 19, 1977, police arrested 76 people who tried to push their way into a "Led Zeppelin" rock concert.

"This is not violence, it is pushing. We had this trouble some time ago when the 'Led Zeppelin' appeared here," Murray said.

Coliseum officials could not be reached for comment. Access to offices was barred to reporters and telephone calls were refused.

Electric Factory Concerts of Philadelphia, Pa., sponsor of the concert, also had no comment.

Jeff Chaney of Carlisle, an Army veteran, said he tried to revive three of the victims. His efforts failed mostly "because people just didn't seem to care."

"I couldn't believe it. They could see the people all piled up and they still tried to climb over them just to get in," Chaney said.

Khomeini given power for life

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iranians reportedly voted 60-to-1 for Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Islamic constitution, giving the Shiite Moslem patriarch supreme power for life, but there was no word of how many boycotted the referendum.

Khomeini's militia men increased the guard at the occupied U.S. Embassy, apparently in anticipation of a U.S. attempt to free the 50 Americans held hostage there by students demanding the return of the deposed shah. Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said all the hostages were still being treated and fed well, and he denied reports that they were kept tied to chairs.

Final results of the referendum were not expected until later in the week. But initial returns from the Sunday and Monday pointed to landslide approval by those who voted.

The charter mandates theocratic government in this predominantly Moslem nation, and opponents claim it will confirm Khomeini as a dictator.

Reports from Isfahan, with a population of 671,825, said the vote was 38,672 for the constitution and 1,637 against. In the smaller northern city of Bandar Gavaneh a vote of 13,300-0 was reported, and in Ardebil, near the Soviet border, the tally was 50,000-112, the government said.

Leftist and centrist political parties had said they would boycott the referendum as did leaders of the Kurdish, Arab, Baluchi and Turkoman ethnic minorities. The political factions denounced the constitution as a tool of dictatorship while the minorities, many of them Sunni Moslems, opposed it because Khomeini and his Shiite Moslems rejected their demands for autonomous home rule.

Officials had predicted the boycotts would have little effect on the outcome of the vote. At several polling stations, reporters saw Moslem priests sitting in front of the ballot boxes instructing people to "vote yes only." The clerics, and anyone else who chose to watch, could see whether voters deposited the green "yes" ballot or the red "no" vote.

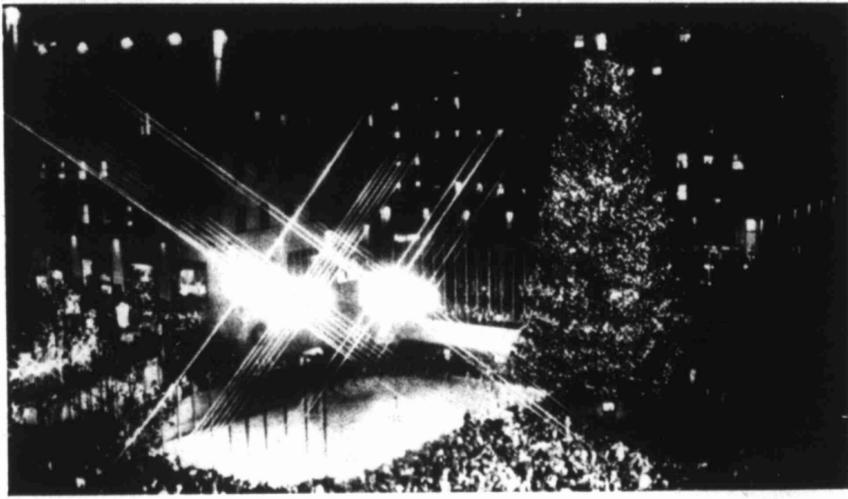

Meanwhile, the American hostages began the 31st day of their confinement, and a spokesman for the captors denied reports that eight of the hostages had been singled out for intensive interrogation in preparation for possible espionage trials.

However, there was speculation in Western diplomatic circles in Tehran that the students were likely to single out the top officials among the hostages for more intensive grilling.

"We are checking all the documents and files we found in the embassy and questioning all the hostages about their spying activities," the spokesman told The Associated Press by telephone.

The students told a news conference Saturday that one of the hostages, William Daugherty, had confessed to being a CIA agent, and that another captive, Malcolm Kalp, was suspected of being a spy.

CHRISTMAS TREE LIGHTING — Thousands of people brave chilly temperatures and jam into Rockefeller Plaza on Monday night to watch the annual lighting of the center's giant Christmas tree. The President of Rockefeller-Center, Alton Marshall, with the aid of several youngsters from the Police Athletic League, pushed the button that set the tree alight with hundreds of multi-colored miniature lights. Photo was taken with a star filter over the lens.

Center of controversy

Detective Capt. McCain quits

By JAMES WERRELL
Capt. Jim McCain, who had been with the Big Spring Police Department for nearly 15 years, resigned from the force at 11 a.m. Monday.

In a letter to Chief of Police Stanley Bogard, McCain wrote: "Due to the turmoil that has developed within the department during the last year, I hereby request that I be relieved of duty immediately."

"It seems as though I have become the center of controversy, and maybe by my leaving you can work things out to everyone's satisfaction."

Neither Bogard nor City Manager Don Davis had any comment about the resignation.

"I am not prepared, nor will I be, to make any comment on that resignation. To make a big to-do about it would not be in the best interests of the city's operation or of the community," said Davis, this morning.

On Nov. 15, Davis and members of the city council met for nearly three hours with District Attorney Rick

CAPT. JIM MCCAIN

Hamby to discuss Hamby's investigation of the local police department. Hamby had been instructed months earlier to attempt to track down rumors and accusations which city officials felt were hindering police effectiveness.

A grand jury was convened to review Hamby's findings, and no indictments were handed down.

In the subsequent meeting with council members, however, Hamby told those present that administrative, procedural and morale problems existed within the police department.

At that same meeting, the city manager was instructed to "correct these problems and keep the city council informed as to his progress."

Davis said, today, that McCain's resignation was in no way connected with those instructions.

"The reference to morale problems and so forth dealt with problems regarding other things," he said.

McCain first joined the department on Feb. 1, 1965. He rose through the ranks and reached the post of Captain of Detectives on Jan. 1, 1977, replacing retiring Capt. Jack Jones.

His replacement, probably a man within the department, will be named sometime after Jan. 1, 1980, said Bogard, today.

California man stabbed by hitchhikers near here

A 62-year-old California man was left close to death, lying on the pavement of the North Service Road of IS 20, Monday afternoon.

James L. Hart, Ukiah, Calif., had been stabbed several times by hitchhikers he had picked up west of Abilene. One of the stab wounds in the back of the victim's neck may have damaged his spinal column, rendering him partially paralyzed, said police.

Officers Troy Hogue and Mike Dawson arrived at the scene of the incident, 3:40 p.m. Monday. The victim was immediately transported to Malone-Hogan Hospital, and later to Odessa for treatment by a specialist.

Investigators learned that after first being stabbed by the two hitchhikers, Hart had driven his pickup into the back of a car in front of him on the access road. As the driver of the car watched, Hart was thrown from his pickup, after which his assailants jumped out of the truck and stabbed Hart again.

As the assault took place, the truck continued to roll west, and, after stabbing Hart, the two men jumped back into the pickup and drove away.

Police arrived shortly thereafter. At 4:45 p.m. Monday, officers arrested two suspects along different points of the Snyder Highway. One suspect is a 17-year-old man from Erie, Pa.; and the other is a 27-year-old man from Los Angeles, Calif.

Hart's pickup was discovered abandoned on Leatherwood Road near the Old Gail Highway, 9:35 p.m. Monday. No charges have been filed against the suspects, but both will be placed in a lineup this afternoon for possible identification by the driver of the car which was struck by Hart's pickup.

A. According to Ernie Boyd, assistant principal of Marcy school, the students are allowed in the heated hallway.

Spotlight to shine more brightly

Carter Clan through the years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like the cast of some television soap opera, the Carter family of Plains, Ga., has survived its share of melodrama during the White House run of "Jimmy Carter, Jimmy Carter."

A son's marital troubles, a brother's bout with the bottle, a nephew's prison sentence, one sister's skirmishes with the law, the other's efforts to "save" an accused pornographer — all are real-life plots from the past three years.

Little has been left to the imagination as the Carters have had their linen aired in public, perhaps more than any other presidential family.

Today, as Carter announces the start of his quest for reelection, the spotlight will shine even more brightly on his family, many of whom will be campaigning on his behalf.

Since 1976, when Jimmy Carter emerged from the pack to win the Democratic presidential nomination, the spotlight has rarely slipped off his family. Since his inauguration, Carter has experienced the death of a revered uncle, the birth of two grandchildren, a daughter-in-law's miscarriage, and the weddings of two nieces.

That's only the beginning. There is the eccentric, outspoken matriarch, Miss Lillian, who said last week that if she had $1 million to spare, she would hire someone to kill Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

Mrs. Carter, 81, also raised eyebrows recently with her suggestive reaction to the presidential candidacy of Sen. Edward Kennedy, whose two older brothers were slain by assassins. "I hope nothing happens to him," she told Democratic Party picnicers in Nashua, N.H., early in September.

She comes off as a villain in "Cousin Beedie and Cousin Hot," a book about family feuds written by Hugh Carter Sr., the president's cousin. The gossipy book says Mrs. Carter opposed her son's marriage to Rosalynn Smith.

Hugh's son and namesake is a presidential assistant who earned the nickname "Cousin Cheap" when he removed television sets from White House offices and canceled magazine subscriptions to save money.

The president's brother, Billy, lent his name to a beer, capitalized on his redneck reputation by out-earning the president in public appearances, and finally checked into Long Beach Naval Hospital for alcoholism treatments.

Earlier, Billy had outraged many by playing host to a group of prominent Libyans who had feted him in Tripoli.

He was reported to have said that American Jews offended by his Libyan friendship "can kiss my ass." That remark caused a White House official to publicly disassociate the president from the slur.

The president's sisters are just as independent. Gloria Carter Spann rides a motorcycle. She and Billy do not speak. She stayed out of the limelight until last February when she was arrested for refusing to quit playing a harmonica in an all-night diner in Americus, Ga.

Mrs. Spann's son, William, is in prison in California for armed robbery. Last January, in a letter to a Sacramento, Calif., television station, KXTV, he was working for Cabot Company.

Garcia draws prison term

Oscar Garcia entered a guilty plea in 118th District Court Monday to burglary. He will serve three years in state prison.

He was indicted Nov. 28 for the Aug. 24 burglary of the Knowlton Gun Shop. He was charged, according to the grand jury docket, with theft, however grand jurors changed the charge to burglary after their deliberations last week.

Knowlton's Gun Shop is owned by G.C. Knowlton, Lamesa Highway.

Defense officials have year to start testing

According to J.D. Henderson, service officer for Texas Veterans Affairs Commission, the U.S. Department of Defense has for more than a year been trying to identify former military and civilian Defense personnel who participated in the atmospheric nuclear tests conducted from 1945 to 1962.

The Defense Nuclear Agency is the Executive Agent for this program. If you participated in these tests, which were held largely in Nevada and at Bikini and Eniwetok atolls in the Pacific, you are urged to contact the Defense Nuclear Agency if you have not already done so. The Agency is attempting to reconstruct a complete history of the atmospheric nuclear test program, including names of participants and any radiation doses they received. One of the purposes of this effort is to enable the National Academy of Sciences and other scientific organizations to determine if there are health hazards resulting from participation in the tests.

Based upon research to date, it is believed that radiation exposure was low. While medical science has no proof that exposure to radiation levels as low as these is hazardous to health, it is generally assumed by scientists that even low levels can carry some slight risks. There is, however, some disagreement within the scientific community about the magnitude of this risk.

If you were a participant in the atmospheric nuclear tests program, and you have not already done so, you are urged to contact the Defense Nuclear Agency, at toll-free number 800-336-3068 if you reside in Texas. If you prefer to write, address your letter to Defense Nuclear Agency, Washington, D.C. 20305.

If you are concerned that your possible exposure may have already affected your health, you are urged either to consult your private doctor or, if you are a veteran, contact the nearest Veterans Administration medical center, where you can obtain a physical examination at Government expense.

Police beat Words may not, but pistols will

Though words will never hurt you, sticks and stones and loaded pistols will break your bones.

Sgt. Jimmy Wallace confronted a 29-year-old local woman, 6 p.m. Monday, for shouting obscenities in the parking lot of the Americana Club on the North Service Road of IS 20. Wallace asked the woman to stop, but she replied, again peppering her speech with obscenities, that she would continue to talk any way she pleased.

As Wallace moved toward her, the woman began to open her purse. Seeing this, Wallace and Patrolman Troy Hogue pushed the woman against their patrol car, and relieved her of the purse.

Checking inside, the officers found two loaded .22 caliber pistols and two boxes of hollow-point cartridges. The woman now faces charges of carrying a prohibited weapon and of disorderly conduct.

'Religiously stimulating' event

Baby boy found in Texas manger

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — Pastor Charles Holland walked by the Nativity scene in front of his church and heard the sound of a baby's cries coming from the manger.

"My initial impression was that they had added this as an effect. Then I realized it was not from a tape but it was for real," Holland said.

Close behind the manger, in a cardboard box about a foot and a half square, "sure enough, there was a little baby boy, without clothes, covered with a crib sheet doubled a couple of times," said Holland, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

An unsigned, handwritten note found along with the baby Monday read: "I'm Timothy. Please take care of me."

"The temperature at that time was about 32 degrees," Holland said. "So I quickly took him inside to our nursery area and asked some of our workers to give me a hand."

"The baby was in good shape," said Betty Nethery, director of the church's day care center. "He was crying lustily out in the cold, but when he came into the warmth of the nursery, he became very still, very quiet. He was so still, I was alarmed. But on closer look, I realized he was bright and alert. He was looking around."

"He was clean and obviously had just been fed. There were traces of milk around his tiny mouth."

"Our people cleaned him up as best they could," then called the police and Texas Department of Human Resources, Holland said.

Timothy was taken to a hospital, where he was pronounced in "perfect health," said police Detective Captain Earl Claxton.

Barbara Cavin of the Department of Human Resources said the baby weighed 7 pounds, 14 ounces and was 5 1/2 days old.

Timothy was placed in a foster home while the department tries to find the mother, she said.

"We are not interested in punishment for the mother," Ms. Cavin said. "If she were to come forward, we would counsel with her, and if she wished, the baby could be returned to her. If she decided to give up the baby, she could give us information that would help find the best adoptive parents available."

Timothy's appearance has the "whole church family filled with awe and wonder," Holland said. "It's been an unbelievable experience, a religiously stimulating, a holy, a unifying time for us. I see this as a reminder of another baby brought into a cold, angry, hostile world."

Timothy's appearance has the "whole church family filled with awe and wonder," Holland said. "It's been an unbelievable experience, a religiously stimulating, a holy, a unifying time for us. I see this as a reminder of another baby brought into a cold, angry, hostile world."

"My hope is that 'Timothy Christmas' will be a reminder of God's special gift. My prayer in this experience is that this little baby born in this Christmas season will receive more loving care than that baby 2,000 years ago whose birthday we celebrate," he said. "This is Longview's Christmas gift."

One of guns not murder weapon, Crime lab says

Austin's Department of Public Safety Crime Lab has determined that one of the guns thought by the sheriff's office to be the one fired by the slayer of Ann and Tracey Reeves is definitely not the murder weapon.

A second gun is still under examination.

Several spent shells from the first gun were compared by the lab with bullets removed from the bodies of the Reeves. On the second gun, lab spokesman Fred Rymar told Howard County Sheriff's deputy William Shankles that he had examined the weapon, however, he wanted it re-examined by another expert before delivering an opinion to the sheriff's office.

A $5,000 award is still being offered for persons with information leading to the prosecution of the culprit or culprits. The money was put up by Pet Company (a petroleum firm), Texaco, and family and friends of the Reeves.

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said he was "still very optimistic about the case."

"We would go to any means to get someone out there with information," he said.

Officials lose round

WALHALLA, S.C. (AP) — Local officials have lost a round in their effort to force Geneva Riggins to get rid of the 38 hogs she keeps at her home.

Circuit Judge Sidney Floyd on Monday dismissed on a technicality a complaint by officials of the town of Salem which sought to force Mrs. Riggins to remove the hogs from her home in a residential area.

Mrs. Riggins said she would be ready to fight any renewed legal efforts to evict her hogs. "I've got a six-ounce (piglet) and an eight-ounce in my family room right now I'm going to raise on the bottle," she said.

Soldier sues New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The government has been sued for $5 million by a former soldier who claimed he was used as a human guinea pig at an atomic blast in Nevada.

In his suit filed Monday, Ellis Gaspard, 51, said he was a member of an Army company sent to Camp Desert Rock to test the effects of atmospheric atomic detonation on humans. He said he did not know he was being used as a human subject in a dangerous experiment.

Gaspard claims that he contracted a tumor and leukemia as a result of the blast's radiation.

Exclusive rights denied

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Heirs of the late actor Bela Lugosi have no exclusive right to exploit his portrayal of Dracula for commercial purposes, the California Supreme Court has ruled.

In its 4-3 ruling Monday, the court reversed a Los Angeles Superior Court decision which had awarded more than $72,000 from Universal Pictures to the actor's widow, Hope, and his son, Bela George Lugosi.

Lugosi, who died in 1956, and Universal had made an agreement in 1930 for him to play the role of the legendary vampire in a film. The heirs claimed in a 1966 suit that Universal had taken property they inherited from him and which was not covered in the contract.

Woman receives rights

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A 63-year-old woman who claimed she was fired because of her age and sex has received $12,500 covering pension rights from her former employer, her attorney says.

Anna Jacobs of East Hartford complained that she was fired in 1972 after working six years for the Westinghouse Electric Supply Co., which then advertised for a young man to fill her vacancy.

The company, without admitting any wrongdoing, agreed to pay her $12,500 after a state commission ruled there was strong evidence the company had discriminated against her, attorney Phyllis Gelman said Monday.

San Antonio officials worried

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Worried city officials, unexpectedly thrust into the middle of the Iranian crisis with the shah's transfer here Sunday, are weighing the sticky question of whether to allow Iranian students to stage protest marches.

The San Antonio College students requested parade permits Monday to stage anti-shah demonstrations Friday downtown and outside Lackland Air Force Base, where Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi spent Monday secluded in comfortable, heavily guarded VIP quarters.

Mayor Lila Cockrell, City Manager Tom Huebner and attorney Louis Linden, who represents the students, said Monday they feared a violent backlash from San Antonians upset with the Iranian takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Huebner, who is huddling with federal, city and law enforcement authorities on the issue, said he will answer the students Wednesday. The applications say 400 demonstrators are expected.

Mrs. Cockrell, who was not given advance notice of the shah's transfer, called for San Antonians to be "cool and supportive" during the shah's stay. But she acknowledged that violent counter-demonstrations could result if the students march.

She said of local citizens, "They are angry and upset about the situation involving the hostages, and under the circumstances, inclined to feel very strongly about these issues."

"I don't look for trouble, but on the other hand I recognize the mood of our citizens is they are very upset and concerned," she said, adding "I feel as angry and upset as anyone."

Linden agreed, "Given the nature of the situation, there very well may be a counter-rally. We are not planning one, but it is unrealistic to discount the possibility."

If faced with a bitter anti-Iran crowd, the students will use "Ghandian passive resistance," said Linden.

Huebner said city officials must remember that constitutional rights and ensuring public safety must be "equally" weighed in deciding whether to allow the demonstrations.

Councilman Bernardo Eureste, upset by the sudden, unannounced transfer, said he fears violence will erupt if the Iranian students protest.

A top federal source said Monday that the homeless shah and his entourage were tucked away "deep inside" the 6,826-acre base about eight miles southwest of downtown San Antonio. "There are several perimeters of defense," said the source.

The shah was transferred here for an indefinite period of convalescence after five weeks of treatment in New York for cancer and gallstones. The United States government, at the shah's request, is attempting to find him a permanent place to live.

The shah was initially housed at a private ward at Wilford Hall Hospital before being moved late Sunday night to VIP quarters elsewhere on the base.

U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, met with the shah Sunday and the exiled monarch "looked fine," but obviously needed follow-up treatment.

At the shah's request, federal authorities refuse to reveal any details of the shah's physical condition, any follow-up cancer treatments or how long he might stay at Lackland.

Air Force Security Police officers, some with attack dogs, have sealed off the base to media and curiosity seekers, and Air Force officials say they will tolerate no demonstrations of any kind on government property.

No demonstrators appeared near the base Sunday and Monday.

Linden said the city must show a "substantial danger to the community" in order to prohibit the demonstrations.

"I find it difficult to believe that under the First Amendment that the city would deny the permits," said the attorney, who vows to take the case to federal court if the student request is refused.

There are only 250 Iranian students in San Antonio, almost all of whom are enrolled at the junior college.

"We're estimating 400. At least a few from other cities will appear. We're not encouraging any mass influx," he said.

The SAC campus was the scene last spring and summer of small, peaceful anti-shah demonstrations. About 200 anti-Iran demonstrations staged a rally recently in front of the Alamo downtown.

But the city of 800,000, which hosts four Air Force bases and an Army post, had remained relatively free of controversy from the Iranian crisis before its celebrated visit from the shah.

Iranian college students stunned by shah's arrival

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Iranian college students were surprised like everyone else here when the exiled shah arrived early Sunday at Lackland Air Force Base. Some still do not believe he is here.

And the ones convinced he is at the nearby base will not know until Wednesday whether wary city officials will let them stage a rally against the man they say "urged" them to leave home for an education.

The San Antonio College students gathered Monday at a cafeteria table — their usual meeting place — as the shah recuperated behind a vast security system at the military base some 10 miles from the campus.

"He's not here," said one student, who, like many of the Iranians, asked not to be identified. "Why didn't they show him? They say they bring him someplace, but they take him someplace else."

There are 212 Iranians among the 21,000 students at the junior college. Some say they have been harassed on the phone and in person after being quoted in local newspapers. The campus just north of downtown was the scene last summer of several low-key demonstrations against the shah.

No demonstrators have appeared at the campus or outside the base since the shah's arrival.

Immigration officials determined last week that 21 Iranians here are "out-of-status" — meaning their student visas are no longer valid. Most are hesitant to give their names, but all are unquestioning in their support of the Ayatollah Khomeini — the man they call "Imam."

"If the order comes, we will fight the United States," said Mohsen Kashani, a 22-year-old medical technology student.

The student want it known they would fight the United States government—not the American people. To them, the difference is clear.

"I am not against the people," said Kashani, who has lived here two years. "The people are innocent. We want the people to understand they should not waste their money in a war with Iran."

The students said the taking of hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran may violate international law, "but the people there do not believe international law anymore."

Kashani and the others say they would not hesitate to return home and enlist for a war against the United States. However, for now they think they should continue their studies. President Carter's order freezing Iranian assets in the U.S. makes it impossible for them to finance a trip home, the students said.

Kashani said Iran has long had enough money to open universities of its own, but the shah "urged us to come here."

"We did not want to come.

It costs a lot of money for us to come," he said.

The students would not predict an Iranian victory in a war with the United States, but Kashani said the conflict would not end until all 35 million people in Iran were killed.

The students around the table said they had heard no plans of demonstrations. It was later in the day that an Iranian student showed up at City Hall to seek a parade permit for a Friday rally near the base and a parade that would end at the Alamo.

Weather — Light rain falling over South Texas

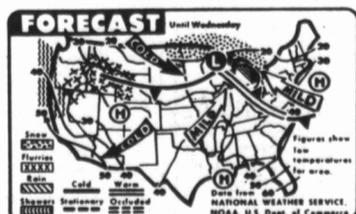

Light rain was falling over extreme South Texas today, but the rest of the state was dry with cloudy conditions prevailing over most of Texas.

Predawn temperatures were mainly in the 30s. Winds were light and variable in most areas.

The forecast called for fair skies in the north and west today with considerable cloudiness in South Texas. Some light rain was forecast for portions of the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

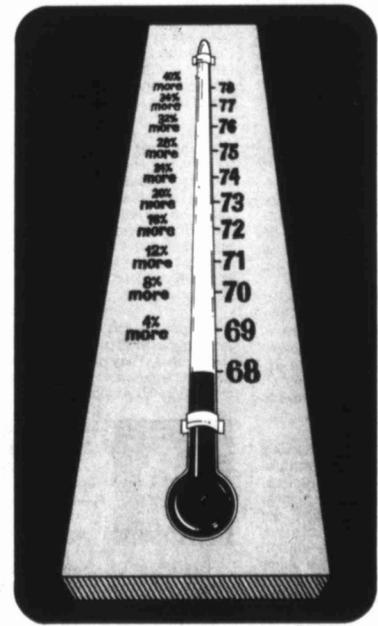

High temperatures in the 60s and 70s were expected.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are expected in the forecast period, today until Wednesday morning, for the central and northern Pacific coast. Snow flurries are forecast for the central and northern Rockies and northern Plains. Snow is expected from the Dakotas to the upper Great Lakes changing to rain as it reaches the Midwest. Cold weather is expected to continue in the central states but milder weather is forecast for the Midwest and East.

Try lowering the temperature in your home to 68° this winter. You'll save on your heating bill.

A setting of 68° during the winter is the one Texas Electric recommends for both comfort and energy efficiency.

For each degree above 68° the energy used for heating your house is increased by approximately 4% per degree.

As shown by the chart the difference between the recommended thermostat setting and 74° is 24%. At 78° the increase in energy usage is 40% or more.

Clearly, the lower you set your thermostat the lower your heating bill is going to be. And after last winter's snow and ice, we think a lot of people are going to be trying their best to use less energy.

Remember to change the filter in your heating system regularly, too. A dirty filter causes your heating system to work longer and that costs you more. Check the filter at least once each month.

All forms of energy are costing more these days. If you're serious about saving energy and money, call us to find out about our Operation Tighten-Up program. We'll show you practical ways to save on your heating bills.

Enter Jimmy, Teddy, Jerry in contest

President Jimmy Carter, who announced officially today that he is seeking re-election, has pulled almost even with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in a new opinion poll.

Earlier in the year, Carter was trailing Kennedy 2-1 in polls of Democratic voters, but an ABC-Louis Harris poll released Monday night showed Carter trailing Kennedy 44 percent to 51 percent among Democratic voters in a head-on race.

THE POLL SHOWED CARTER even closer in a three-way race including Gov. Edmond G. Brown Jr. of California, the third major contender for the Democratic nomination. In the three-way matchup, the Democrats polled gave Kennedy 44 percent, Carter 40 and Brown 10.

Kennedy and Brown are certain to bring some new excitement and theatre to the contest. Both are excellent performers. Each has a rather well defined following, with some overlap. Both, for example, have the demeanor, the timing and the youthful glamor that drives college sophomores into ecstasy.

NEITHER KENNEDY NOR BROWN have ever been accused of producing a new or useful political idea, although both play familiar tunes in a way that sounds original if you don't listen too carefully.

Both carry burdens that would have disqualified them as serious candidates in earlier times or under different circumstances.

Kennedy's cross is summed up in the word Chappaquiddick, which means not only his indefensible behavior after a fatal auto accident, but a series of questions relating to personal character.

CHAPPAQUIDDICK means having a dead or dying girl in a sunken car for hours. He excused his act of negligence on grounds of "panic" but he and his advisers found time during the panic period to confer for hours and to make a large number of phone calls — none of them to the police.

Chappaquiddick also means Kennedy's dismissal from college for alleged cheating. If his name were Smith or Jones and if his brother had not been a martyred president, Kennedy's candidacy for any high office would be treated as an embarrassment.

BROWN'S BURDEN is his reputation, indeed his history, as a flaky character. His utterances are now defined as "mellow." That is a fairly new word meaning "vacuous." He is a caricature straight out of the Doonesbury comic strip. He used words like "reindustrialization," and leaves his audiences to wonder what it means when translated from mellow to English.

Brown appeals to the Far Out California Left. He appointed Jane Fonda to a state commission. But he can sound like Barry Goldwater when he talks about the need to slash government spending.

It's all very entertaining. But it's kind of frightening.

Leisure will kill you

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — This country is producing so much leisure equipment for the home that nobody has any leisure time any more to enjoy it. A few months ago I bought a television tape recorder to make copies of programs when I was out of the house.

Last week I recorded the Nebraska-Oklahoma football game. When I came home in the evening, I decided to play it back. But my son wanted to play "Baseball" on the TV screen with his Atari Computer. We finished four innings when my wife came in the room and asked me if I would like to listen to the Vienna Opera on our hi-fi stereo set. I told her I was waiting to finish the baseball match so I could watch the football game I had recorded.

SHE SAID IF I WATCHED the football game for three hours, I would miss "Love Boat." I told her I would record "Love Boat" and we could watch it later in the evening. She protested that "Casablanca" was showing on Channel 5 at 11:30 and she wanted to see it again.

"Don't worry," I assured her, "we can watch 'Love Boat' late Saturday and 'Casablanca' on Sunday morning when we get up."

"But if we watch 'Casablanca' tomorrow morning when can we see the instant Polaroid movies you took of Ben yesterday afternoon?"

"We'll see them after we play backgammon on the new table."

"IF WE DO THAT," my daughter said, "we won't be able to see the Washington Redskins-New York Giants football game."

"I'll record the Redskins-Giants football game and we'll watch it while '60 Minutes' is on the air. We can see '60 Minutes' at 11 o'clock."

"But," my son said, "you promised to play the pinball machine with me at 11."

"Okay, we'll play pinball at 11 and watch '60 Minutes' at midnight."

My wife said, "Why don't we listen to the Vienna Opera while we're eating and then we can save an hour to play computer golf?"

"That's good thinking," I said. "The only problem is I've rented a TV tape for 'Cleopatra' and that runs for three hours."

"You could show it Monday night," she suggested.

"I CAN'T DO THAT. I have to return the tape Monday afternoon or be charged for it another week. I have an idea. I won't go to work Monday morning and we'll watch it then."

"I was hoping to use our Jacuzzi Monday morning," my wife said.

"Okay, then I'll tape 'Cleopatra' and you can see it Monday afternoon."

"I'm using the set Monday afternoon," my son said, "to play digital hockey on the TV screen."

"You can't do that," I said. "I have to watch the 'Today' show in the afternoon if I'm going to watch 'Cleopatra' in the morning."

"WHY CAN'T YOU WATCH the 'Today' show at dinnertime?" my wife asked.

"Because the Wolfingtons are coming over to hear me play 'Tea for Two' on the electric organ."

"I thought we might play computer bridge at dinner," my wife said.

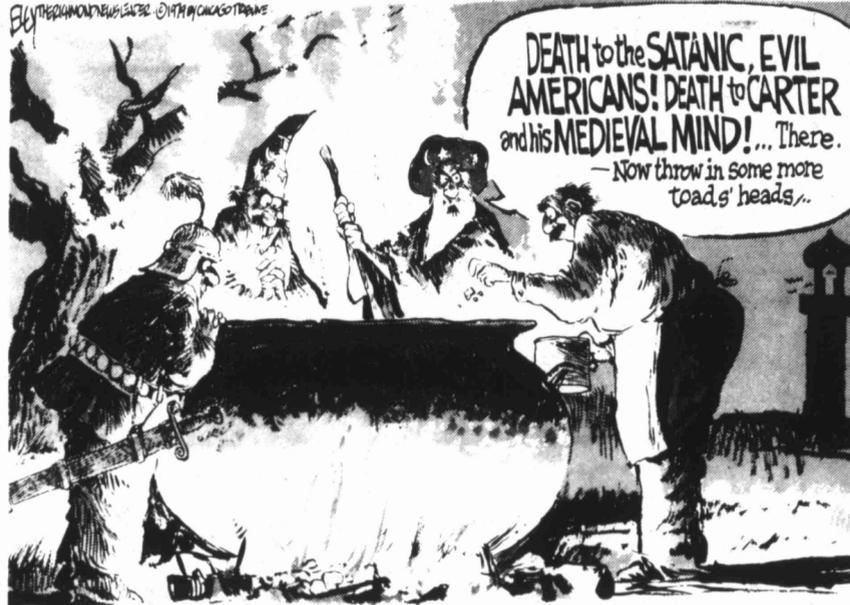

"We'll play it after my encore," I assured her.

"Then when will we see 'Monday Night Football'?" my son wanted to know.

"Tuesday," I said.

"Does that mean you're not going to work on Tuesday?" my wife asked.

"How can I go to work," I yelled, "when I've got so much leisure time on my hands?"

Gland problem can cause 'flashes'

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 63 and have had hot flashes at night since the age of 50. My doctor has told me it is a hormone imbalance, but now I wonder if that is correct. Several friends about my age have the same problem and we are wondering how much longer these hot flashes (if that's what they are) will continue. Can you comment? — E.L.

By age 63 one would expect these symptoms, caused by the post-menopausal reduction in hormone production, to have diminished. Two rare causes of somewhat similar symptoms are an overactive thyroid gland and an unusual illness of the adrenal glands, called "pheochromocytoma."

I don't mean to suggest you have these problems. However, a woman who complains of menopause trouble after 10 years should see a doctor.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have had surgery for diverticulosis. Is there anything I should do so that it won't happen again? — D.M.

Diverticulosis is the formation of small outpouchings (diverticula) in the lining of the colon (large bowel). About 10 million people in the U.S. alone have this to some degree. It is so common that we can predict it in about 65 percent of people past 85. It rarely occurs before age 30.

The chief reason for it is thought to be a developing laziness of the bowel because of the kinds of food we eat. In less affluent societies, where fewer of the highly refined foods are used, there is much less diverticulosis.

Thus, as a general rule doctors recommend a high bulk diet for those persons with the pouch problem. These, of course, are the whole grains, bran, etc. The bulk helps keep the stool soft and the bowel active. Because this problem is so common with so many repeat questions about it, I recommend the booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," to readers. It answers most of the questions. Your copy is on the way. Other readers may obtain a copy by sending 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Donohue: We often hear of hammer toe. Is there anything we can do to prevent it. What causes them, and is surgery the only treatment? — Mrs. C.B.

Hammer toe is a bending of the joint into an upside down "V." It can run in families, result from a muscle imbalance, or (most commonly) come from wearing tight shoes that cramp the front of the feet. Usually the second toe is affected. Besides the cosmetic disadvantage, corns may develop because of the abnormal pressures exerted.

Short of surgery, a leather splint or soft pads at the pressure points help. Unless the condition does run in the family or a muscle imbalance exists, the best prevention is careful selection of shoes.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a ganglion cyst on my left wrist. Is surgery the only answer? Once one appears is it safe to leave it alone? It burns from time to time, and my thumb on the left hand is sore. I worry about it growing. Surgery has been suggested, but I want to wait a few months because of financial reasons. Is it OK to delay surgery? — Mrs. R.J.D.

Ganglia are soft cystic masses that arise on the wrist, over the covering of the tendons. They may also appear on the feet. Sometimes they connect with the lining of a joint, causing pain-

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am 16 years old and I think I am pregnant. I know my boyfriend does not really care for me, and he is urging me to have an abortion. I am so confused I don't know what to do. — J.A.M.

DEAR J.A.M.: I think you know it was wrong for you to have sexual relations with your boyfriend. However, it also would be wrong for you to have an abortion. As the old saying declares, two wrongs don't make a right.

Having an abortion would be wrong. I believe the Bible clearly teaches human life is sacred. You carry within you an unborn child which will some day be a full person. I believe it would be a sin for you to have the life of this potential human being eliminated. I also believe you would carry a burden of guilt and shame which could scar you the rest of your life. Frankly, your boyfriend sounds like he wants you to have an abortion just so he will get rid of a problem. He has little concern for either you or the unborn child. You should do what is right, not what is seemingly the easiest. It may well be unwise for you to keep this child after birth, but you should know that there are many, many couples who very deeply want to adopt a child and will love that child very much. I know this may not be easy for you to face emotionally, but there is no painless solution to this kind of situation.

There is another thing I also want you to know. It was wrong in God's eyes for you to do what you have done. But I want to tell you an amazing and wonderful truth: God loves you, and He wants to help you and comfort you in this situation. How do I know God loves you? I know it because He sent His Son into the world to die on the cross for your sins. I hope you will turn to Him at this time, confessing your sins and asking Christ to come into your life. The Bible promises, "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9). Although this is a difficult time for you, God can use it to draw you close to Himself if you will let Him.

Valdes departs

Around the rim

Marie Homeyer

This week's rim is dedicated to Danny Valdes, who this past week left the Big Spring Herald for greener pastures in Miami, Fla.

It was almost a week ago that the Cuban Flash surprised us with his announcement that he was leaving his job of 15 years here for the one in Miami. The shock of his departure still has not worn off. And, to some this may be the first you have heard of the move.

The first time I met Danny was in the spring of 1978 when I was here for a job interview. I don't remember much about the meeting except that I understood very little of what he said because of his Cuban accent.

Now, after a year and a half of working with him, I understand him the majority of the time and will miss him around here, especially his sense of humor.

When I first began working here, Danny was very instrumental in acquainting me with the town and the people that would make my job easier. He also was helpful in my learning the duties of my job.

Danny is a true professional. He strives for the finest quality of art in everything that he does — from the simplest "mug shot" to the more difficult accident photo.

I have seen Danny in action and I have known very few people who can get along well with almost any person the way that Danny can. You could never tell that, while taking a picture he really didn't want to be doing it or that people were upsetting him.

He has taken a lot from people he works with and others. We all seem to have fallen into the habit of wanting too much from him at one time or another. But most of the time he did what we asked without complaining and a lot of times on his time off.

For some of the demanding things I asked of him, I appreciate, even, if before now I never told him so. And, if I ever took him for granted, I apologize for that, too.

Danny has been a good friend to me. He has been a person that I have enjoyed working with.

And, not to forget our adventures this summer on the softball field. It didn't take much talking to get him to head up the team of women, which is good: Because without him we probably wouldn't have gotten off the ground.

Danny was also a pretty good instructor. Although I had had a photography course in college, it was Danny that made it easier for me to understand despite his Cuban accent.

I hope that Danny will be happy in Miami. I also hope that this job will work out for him the way he wants. But most of all, he better not forget about us here in Big Spring slaving away to make up for his absence.

The Sears campaign

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — In a tense showdown Nov. 26 at the candidate's Los Angeles home, John Sears at long last won total control over Ronald Reagan's last try for the presidency — an event that reflects past struggles and will shape the future of the Reagan campaign.

It boiled down to "him or me" between Sears and Reagan's closest longtime aide, Michael Deaver. Two other senior campaign operatives present supported Sears, and Reagan did not back Deaver. It was then that Deaver, having devoted a decade in service to Reagan — and every waking day the last five years to electing him president — offered to quit. The offer was accepted.

DEAVER FOLLOWS A TRAIL of other longtime Reagan servitors tossed over the side by their chief in the belief that Sears, a relative newcomer to Reagan's inner circle, knows best how to put him in the White House. That suggests Ron Reagan, whose nice-guy image dates back to his Hollywood roles, is a harder man than generally known.

Sears has been softening Reagan's right-wing image, but hardly anybody disagrees with that. The significant point is that the Reagan campaign now is run by men owing primary allegiance to Sears, not Reagan. Sears, whose press interviews have been eclipsing Reagan's, controls not vital channels to the candidate. In sum, it is today John Sears' campaign.

That hardly seemed possible early last year when Sears, an urbane Washington lawyer, was under fire from California Reaganites for his management of Reagan's near-miss 1976 campaign. Behind his self-assured exterior, Sears was worried. He told his bright young deputies — Jim Lake, Charles Black and David Keene — they should come as a package. If Sears got bounced, all four should join another campaign. (In fact, Keene joined George Bush's campaign, partly because he doubted Sears' staying power with Reagan.)

The doubt was whether anybody could overcome Lyn Nofziger, seldom far from Reagan's side for the past 15 years and determined to displace Sears for 1980. The tough-talking, fast-punning Nofziger had the nation's grass roots conservatives on his side, but he finished a poor second in the byzantine political games played around Reagan.

ONE REASON NOFZIGER was demoted to semi-minor jobs and eventually left the campaign was covert support for Sears from Deaver, partner in the Deaver-Hannaford public relations firm that has managed Reagan's affairs since he left the governorship. But amid off-stage cackling by the defeated Nofziger, Deaver found the tables turned.

On Nov. 26, the Deaver-Sears struggle had reached a point requiring Deaver to confront the candidate. Arriving at Reagan's home in Pacific Palisades, he found Sears, Black and Lake ahead of him — and united against him. Sears prevailed, a press release was hurriedly prepared, and Deaver hastened to a northern California duck hunting trip — far away from the prying press.

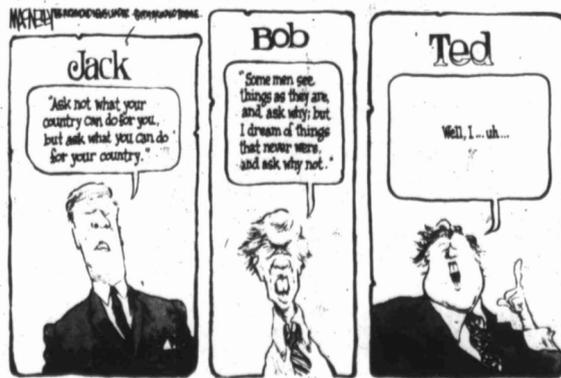

That clinched it for Sears. Two weeks earlier, Dr. Martin Anderson quit as full-time research chief to return to Stanford University. Even before Anderson's decision, the effective research operation had been transplanted to Washington under Sears' direction — a hidden reason for Anderson's departure.

With Pete Hannaford having decided long ago to return to the Deaver-Hannaford firm, that left one holdover from Reagan's Sacramento days: Edward Meese, chief of staff during Reagan's second term as governor. Distraught over Deaver's fall, Meese flew the red-eye to Washington that night and huddled with the campaign's nominal national chairman, Sen. Paul Laxalt, the next morning.

MEESE'S TRIP FIT a previously planned Washington visit, and he is not quitting as issues adviser traveling aboard the candidate's plane. But with the research machinery in Sears' hands, Meese is no rival. Indeed, plans are afoot to move national campaign headquarters to Washington — symbolically affirming Sears' triumph over the Californians.

The time and effort consumed in that triumph may explain why Reagan's long-awaited campaign inaugural Nov. 13 seemed ill-prepared. With the fight finished, some insiders fear a one-man stranglehold over the campaign. Outside consultants complain they cannot penetrate the Sears screen. "I never thought I had a problem with John," one adviser told us, "but John apparently had a problem with me."

Sears is the toast of American politics, managing a nearly errorless front-runner's campaign while decapitating his rivals. But he wins no applause from hitherto ruggedly loyal Reaganites who are coming to view Bush as a viable alternative. To keep their support, Reagan may have to show by word and deed that this presidential campaign is his own, not his manager's.

UNCERTAIN FUTURE — Three-year-old Dusty Lee Patrick of Cincinnati, Ohio, stares out from her mother's shoulder prior to the child's surgery for the removal of several cancerous tumors. Doctors say the next two years will determine if Dusty survives her bout with cancer.

Silver following in gold's footsteps

NEW YORK (AP) — Silver has taken on the glint of gold and the prices of both precious metals are rising to record heights on the world's exchanges amid speculative concern over the Iranian crisis, fear of Middle East tensions and the prospect of sharp oil price increases.

Meanwhile, the dollar plummeted Monday in its worst slump since October 1978, when the U.S. government was forced to intervene to prop up the currency.

The dollar traded as low as 1.7050 West German marks in Frankfurt, breaking record lows for open-market trading. With support from the West German central bank, it closed at 1.7068, down from 1.7290 on Friday. The dollar closed at 1.7090 marks in New York, down from 1.7265 on Friday.

Gold prices, which have risen nearly $35 in a week, closed in New York at a record $432.50, up $14 an ounce. It was a record here.

In Europe, gold had its best day it reached the all-time high price of $444 an ounce on Oct. 2 in Zurich, Switzerland. It closed Monday at $429 an ounce in Zurich, up $13, and $431 in London, up $15.50.

Silver, which has gained nearly $4 during the past week, closed at a record $20.06 an ounce in London, a gain of 99 cents. It was the first time silver ever sold for more than $20 in London.

Silver closed at a record $20.05 an ounce, up $1.23, in New York.

On two things most experts agree: The rush to buy gold — and now silver — is a product of U.S. troubles in Iran, and until the situation is defused prices probably will keep climbing.

Another ingredient is the upcoming meeting of Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries ministers later this month in Venezuela. Prices are expected to go up.

"Chaos in Iran, with the danger of repercussions elsewhere in the Middle East, a sharp oil price rise later in the month, persistent currency instability, particularly in the dollar, are believed to demonstrate gold's attractiveness as a hedge," said the Times of London.

"I think $500 (for gold) is a real possibility by the end of the year," said Richard Kapsch, an analyst for E.F. Hutton Co. in Chicago. "Some people have been talking $600."

In London, analysts said oil-rich states and speculators were switching from dollars to European currencies and precious metals, especially since President Carter's decision to freeze Iranian assets while American hostages are held in Tehran.

"Each day the crisis continues, nations that think they might run afoul of the U.S. watch the value of their dollar reserves fall on the foreign exchanges and wonder if these funds are really safe from seizure," said a Frankfurt trader.

Analysts say there may be another reason silver, which has tripled in price since January, has been going up.

Case against Texas' bilingual ed continues

TYLER, Texas (AP) — The government today presents three more witnesses in its case against Texas' bilingual education program.

Scheduled to testify are James Vasquez, superintendent of the Edgewood Independent School District, Angel Gonzales of the Dallas Independent School District and Dr. Roger Shuy, a linguistics expert at Georgetown University.

During the first day of the hearing Monday before U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, three witnesses supported the federal government's contention that bilingual education should be offered through the 12th grade.

The government filed suit against Texas in 1971, alleging the state was not doing enough in bilingual education for minority students.

The League of United Latin American Citizens and the American GI Forum, two Mexican-American organizations, since have joined the suit.

Texas' bilingual education program requires instruction in Spanish for kindergarten through the third grade if there are 20 or more students in a particular grade who speak a language other than English.

Bilingual programs in the fourth and fifth grades qualify for state assistance, but are not mandatory.

Students can leave the program and enter regular classes if they desire.

The federal government, claiming Texas' program denies equal education opportunities under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, wants the state to implement a program for all non-English speaking students through the 12th grade.

State Sen. Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi testified Monday that the state spends $25 a year per student on bilingual education as opposed to $700 on special education and $200 to $300 on agriculture programs.

Dr. Cortney Cazden, a professor of children's language development at Harvard University, said children must be taught in their first, or native, language.

"Children must be taught in a language they understand and they must be taught in their first language before teaching English as a second language," she said, adding it is impossible to provide equal opportunities to children with limited English ability.

Maintenance of the first language past the third grade is important, and leads to proficiency in all subjects, she said.

HOG QUEEN GIVES AN AUDIENCE—Geneva Riggins of Salem scratches the back of one of her hogs at her home in Salem. She began calling herself "The Hog Queen" after she was charged with violating a town ordinance.

Migrant farmworkers to be uncounted in '80

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Numerous Texas migrant farmworkers will go uncounted by the 1980 census unless the U.S. Census Bureau changes its ways, a congressional subcommittee has been told.

"A serious undercount will have a devastating economic impact on the already bleak existence of migrant farm workers," Jose Camacho of Texas Rural Legal Aid said Monday.

Federal dollars for a variety of health, education and job programs for migrants are distributed according to migrant population. Camacho testified before the U.S. House Subcommittee on Census and Population, which is conducting hearings in several states on ways to make sure the census counts all Americans.

Besides federal funds, fair representation in Congress and the Legislature are at stake in an accurate count.

"The procedures presently set up by the Census Bureau will put us no closer to answering the question of how many migrant workers there are, where they live and what is their social and economic status," Camacho said.

In fact, Leo Estrada, staff assistant to the bureau's deputy director, told the subcommittee next year's census forms don't even show migrant farmworkers as an occupational category. Camacho said the census should ascertain the permanent residence of migrant workers so their home counties will get credit in distribution of both federal funds and seats in lawmaking bodies.

Problems arise not only because many migrants will have left Texas by census day, April 1, but because census takers often don't know Spanish and are unacquainted with migrant living patterns.

For instance, he said, not all "colonias" — migrant settlements in South Texas — have been identified, "much less mapped," by the government. Camacho said migrants board up their houses when they hit the migrant trail, and a census taker "probably will list these housing units as vacant."

U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Mich., a subcommittee member, recommended that migrants and minorities apply for census taker jobs in order to get a better count of their neighbors.

He and Rep. Bob Garcia,

D-New York, subcommittee chairman, criticized the Census Bureau for failing to list migrant farmworkers as a job category on the standard census form.

Ford said the lack of a common definition of migrant farmworker has enabled federal agencies to use whatever population estimates best fit their dollar and program needs.

"I have to tell you, honestly, I don't feel the census bureau has fulfilled its obligation at this point," Ford told Estrada.

Garcia gave the Census Bureau three weeks to submit detailed strategies for making sure migrants and minorities are not overlooked in next year's national head count.

Chicago woman to fight extradition to Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A woman arrested in Chicago Monday on murder solicitation charges says she intends to fight extradition to Lubbock, where her husband is being held.

Vaso V. Mraovic, 41, and his wife Ann, 69, are accused of offering $150,000 to kill Mrs. Mraovic's son-in-law, Arthur Boldt, who owns a McDonald's restaurant franchise in Lubbock.

Mraovic was arraigned on a capital murder solicitation charge Monday before Justice of the Peace Charles Smith, who set his bond at $250,000. Smith recommended a similar bond for Mrs. Mraovic.

Mohammad Y. Owaynat, a 35-year-old Jordanian who also lives in Chicago, was released on his own recognizance on a $25,000 material witness bond Monday. He is accused of being the hired gunman who reportedly was offered $150,000 to kill Boldt. But the gunman apparently received only $8,500 before Mraovic's arrest.

Officials from the criminal district attorney's office and Texas Rangers said they arrested Mraovic shortly before 9 a.m. Saturday after watching him pay the Owaynat $3,500, allegedly to buy a gun and silencer.

Authorities said the gunman was paid $5,000 in Chicago and was to have collected the rest of the money when the contract was completed. Officials said they also seized $27,000 from Mraovic when he was arrested.

Although investigators refused official comment, the gunman reportedly contacted Boldt and told him of the contract. Boldt then contacted the FBI and the criminal district attorney.

Boldt and Mraovic have been involved in court battles over the 1965 will of Lillian Boldt, Boldt's wife and Mrs. Mraovic's daughter. In her will, Mrs. Boldt named her mother as the sole beneficiary and her husband as executor.

The will was probated in July 1978, but civil lawsuits concerning the property's value and how it should be distributed began in August of this year.

Last week, a state district judge in Lubbock ordered a February hearing on one of the disputed matters. On the same day, authorities say, Mraovic arrived in Lubbock.

Mrs. Boldt, who died March 29, 1978, named her mother as sole beneficiary but stipulated that in the event her mother did not survive her daughter's death by 90 days, Boldt would inherit half the estate.

In August, Boldt asked the probate court to determine whether specific property was included in his late wife's estate. The property included Boldt's townhouse in Lubbock, a condominium in Lubbock, land in Sister Bay, Wis., and stocks of Boldt, Inc., Standard Oil of Indiana, Union Carbide, AT&T, Utah Shale and Minerals Corp. and Exxon.

Boldt also asked the court to allow him to stop monthly $3,000 payments to Mrs. Mraovic until the estate is settled.

Mraovic asked that Boldt be removed as executor, accusing him of "wasting and misusing" estate funds.

BIG TURNOVER — New Orleans Saints running back Chuck Muncie (right) fumbles the ball right into the arms of Oakland safety Mike Davis with the game tied and just over two minutes to play Monday night in New Orleans. The Raiders took the ball to the Saints 12 to set up a touchdown that won the game 42-35.

Stabler led Raider comeback hinders Saints title hopes

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Oakland wide receiver Cliff Branch said he hoped the two late-game touchdowns that gave the Raiders a 42-35 victory over New Orleans would put him back in the good graces of Coach Tom Flores.

Branch caught seven passes for 126 yards in the Monday night National Football League game, but the last two were the keys — a 66-yarder that knotted the score at 35-35 with 3:19 to play and an eight-yarder that made it 42-35 with just under two minutes left.

"Maybe this got me out of the dog house," Branch said after the game.

Branch didn't explain why Flores started Rich Martini in his place Monday, but he said he wasn't disappointed that he had.

"I'm still part of the team," he said. "It takes 45 guys to win the game, and I'm still one of the 45."

The victory kept Oakland's hopes of a playoff berth alive.

"I just told our team we have a chance ... just win the last three and, well, that's it," Flores said.

New Orleans has to count on beating San Diego and Los Angeles losing to Atlanta next week. That would set up a head-to-head Rams-Saints clash for the NFC West title.

"This is one of my most disappointing losses ever," said Saints Coach Dick Nolan. "When you've got a 21-point lead, you've got to keep it."

The Saints had a 21-point lead, twice.

After Oakland went out in front 7-0 on a 3-yard pass from Kenny Stabler to tight end Raymond Chester in the first quarter, the Saints went ahead 28-7 with a four-touchdown second quarter.

Fullback Tony Galbreath scored on a 2-yard run 90 seconds into the second quarter and on a 17-yard pass from Archie Manning with just under five minutes gone in the period. Chuck Muncie scored on a 1-yard plunge with four minutes left before intermission, and tight end Henry Childs took a 28-yard pass from Manning in for a score with 2:18 remaining.

But Oakland came back to make it 28-14 when Arthur Whittington scored as time ran out in the first half.

The Saints went up by 21 points again in the third quarter when linebacker Kenny Bordelon intercepted a Stabler pass and returned it 19 yards for a touchdown.

Mark van Eeghen narrowed it to 35-21 on a 1-yard run with 2:01 left in the third quarter, and Oakland scored 21 points in the final period — all on passes by Stabler.

Tight end Derrick Ramsey scored on a 17-yard pass two minutes into the final quarter, and Branch got the final two.

Despite the play of HCs Mike Wallace Nation's top rated WTC outscores Hawks, 121-98

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

SNYDER — The Western Texas College Westerners, the top rated junior college team in the nation, used an awesome display of talent and team depth to overcome a spirited Howard College team led by the phenomenal shooting performance of Mike Wallace, in taking a wild 121-98 win here Monday night in a Western Conference title.

Wallace had his third game ever in a Howard College uniform, as the 6'7" sophomore connected for 47 points and also played an outstanding floor game.

But the Western Texas team, now 10-0 on the season and returning most everyone from the team last year that won the Region V title and finished fourth in the national tournament, was simply too much for the Hawks.

The game was a fast paced affair from the start, with WTC's classy All-American, Paul Pressey, drawing three fouls in the first two minutes of the contest. But WTC, led by the agile 6'9" Greg Stewart, who hails from the Bronx in New York, surged to an early 27-16 lead in the opening eight minutes.

Howard College, behind the play of Wallace, made continuous rallies, but could never pull any closer than eight points in the first half. WTC led by 65-51 at the intermission.

Wallace had 23 points in the first half, but the Westerners relied on a balanced attack, led by Stewart's 20 first half points, in which three players hit in double figures.

Wallace came out with some more smoke in the second half, connecting on his first six shots in the opening four minutes, for the Howard College crew within eight at 69-61.

But this would be as close as the Hawks of Coach Harold Wilder would come, as Stewart, Ron Portee, Bill Stewart, Phil Bradley, and others proved to be too much. Stewart showed some outstanding skill in breaking the Hawks press on numerous occasions and driving in for layups against double coverage.

WTC broke the game open with about eight minutes remaining at this point and never looked back.

So talented was the entire WTC team that Pressey, who last year was the Most Valuable Player in the Region V Tournament, played only seven minutes in the contest due to his foul problems. Pressey managed seven points, but wowed the fans with his seemingly effortless floor play that was impressive.

Wallace's 47 points came from all over the court. The Dallas native had numerous field goals following rebounds, but also managed to hit some accurate 18-footers in the contest, as he was nearly unstoppable.

The Howard College team is now 0-2 in conference play and 7-3 on the season. They return to play Thursday at South Plains.

Hawks Coach Wilder did manage to see some positive aspects in his team's loss, stating: "It was a good experience for us, especially for our freshmen, to play against this caliber of competition. We would have had to played a near errorless game to win, but we did not."

Besides Wallace's 47 points, Ron Akins chipped in with 13. Stewart led WTC with 28 points, with Bill Patterson adding 17 and David Brown and Frank Bennett 14 each for the nation's top ranked team.

WTC Dusters shoot past Hawk Queens

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

SNYDER — The Western Texas College Dusters held off a second half Howard College Hawk Queens rally and emerged with an important 77-69 win in a Western Conference girls game here Monday evening.

The Western Texas team came out red hot, jumping to a quick lead in the early going by shooting over 60 per cent from the field in the first half.

Howard College, meanwhile, was cold, managing to connect on only 29 per cent of their shots in the opening twenty minutes. The WTC team built up a 43-22 lead with three minutes left in the opening half, only to see the Hawks close the gap to 47-32 at the intermission.

The Hawk Queens then came out with a revived attitude in the second half, as Kelly Lyons, Susan Martin, Loretta Young and Jill Floyd led a Howard College surge that had the home team rattled. Howard College rallied to narrow the WTC lead to one point at 55-54 with 11 minutes remaining in the contest, and seemed to have established control of the contest.

But three consecutive turnovers without getting a shot off proved to be disastrous, as the Dusters quickly increased their lead to 63-54 by running off eight straight points in the next two minutes.

From that point, the WTC team held off the Hawk Queens attempt at a rally, increasing their lead to as many as 13 points.

One aspect that deeply hurt the Hawk Queens was the shooting of their two leading scorers. Joanne Leftridge and Shawn Smith could connect on only nine of 36 shots from the field, and the Howard College team dearly missed their point production. Leftridge, however, aggravated a previous ankle injury in the contest.

Lyons led the Queens in scoring with 15 points, with Martin adding 14. Floyd scored, only five points, but did play a fine floor game.

WTC had a very balanced attack featuring five players in double figures, with Katie Fisher's 16 points leading the way.

The Queens are now 1-1 in WJC play and 8-3 on the year. They return to play Thursday night when they visit South Plains College.

WTC, meanwhile, is 1-0 in WJC play and 10-2 on the year.

Runnels Red rallies to nip Pecos Zavala

PECOS — The Runnels Red boys basketball team rallied in the final minute to take a 48-43 win over Pecos Zavala in action here Monday evening.

Zavala led by two points entering the final minute, but Runnels rallied to win the game.

The Runnels team was led in scoring by Jerry Wrightsil, who had 21 points. Other scoring for Runnels included Juan Williams with 10, Martin Johnson with 12, Jim Brown with four and Jesse Rodriguez with one.

Harvey Franco led Pecos Zavala with 18 points.

Runnels Coach Johnny Schaefer had mixed feelings on the win. "We made too many mistakes," said Schaefer, "but that is to be expected, since it was our first game. We did do an excellent job in the final minute to pull out the game."

Runnels Red, now 1-0 for the young season, hit an auspicious 70 per cent from the field.

Colorado City upsets Steer fems

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Wolves girls basketball team held off the Big Spring Steers to take a 41-35 upset win here Monday night.

The Big Spring team, which defeated the same Colorado City team handily last week, could simply not get untracked in the contest.

The Steers held a 17-14 halftime lead in the contest, but the Colorado City fems rallied in the second half to take the win.

Gina Randle was the high point scorer for Colorado City with 11 points, while Candy Walker led the Steers with 10 points.

Big Spring Coach Barbara Fletcher was disappointed with the loss, stating: "We've got to go back to the beginning and work on our basic fundamentals. We're not running like we should be. I know the girls are tired from the tournament last weekend, but we still should play better than this."

Fletcher did praise the improvement that the Steers Shirley Dixon exhibited in the contest.

While Sims loses with class Robinson praises White for Heisman performance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — His coach describes 1979 Heisman Trophy winner Charles White as "a player who gives 100 percent even when he isn't carrying the football."

And there were doubts when the 185-pound tailback was injured in the season opener that he would even be in the running for the honor as the nation's outstanding collegiate football player.

He missed the next game with a shoulder injury but came back to lead the nation's rushers with 1,803 yards.

"In his case, the main factor in winning the Heisman was his competitiveness," said Coach John Robinson, whose Trojans won the Pacific-10 title and rate second in the nation in The Associated Press poll.

"Check the final quarters of our games or when a game was in doubt, and you see the true value of Charles White."

White, a 21-year-old senior from nearby San Fernando, said he was so nervous about the Heisman poll "that I didn't sleep" on Sunday night.

"That's why I'm so jumpy today," the 6-foot tailback added, but his worries were needless.

He won 1,695 points to 773 for Oklahoma's Billy Sims, the Oklahoma runner seeking to repeat the Heisman honor he captured in 1978. Quarterback Marc Wilson of BYU was third with 589, but White had majority points in each of the six districts of voting.

"I came to Southern California wanting to make good and make a good impression of myself in growth," said White, who wants to beat Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, graduate in June with a degree in speech communications, and play professional football.

"I have come a long way in four years learning and learning about myself. I know now, I set my goals too high. The whole University of Southern California setup helped me."

White became the third Heisman Trophy winner from his school, joining Mike Garrett, who won in 1965, and O. J. Simpson, 1968.

In his four years, White gained 5,996 yards rushing and scored 48 touchdowns. He caught 57 passes for 534 yards. A year ago he finished fourth to Sims in the Heisman voting.

Sims was gracious in defeat.

"My vote went in for Charles White before the season was over with," said Sims. "He worked his tail off this season."

This year, Ohio State quarterback Art Schlichter, the only non-senior among the top six finishers, was in fourth with 251 votes, followed by Notre Dame running back Vagas Ferguson, 162; Southern California quarterback Paul McDonald, 92; South Carolina running back George Rogers, 81; Purdue quarterback Mark Herrmann, 54; Florida State nose guard Ron Simmons, 41, and Alabama quarterback Steadman Shealy, 32.

WHITE WINS HEISMAN — Charles White of USC puts his arm around the Heisman Trophy won by O.J. Simpson in 1968 after he was announced the winner of the 1979 Heisman Monday in Los Angeles. The Southern California tailback is the second leading rusher in college football history. White's Heisman is the third for USC, along with Simpson and Mike Garrett in 1965.

Bum won't make excuses

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Bum Phillips says Mother Nature had nothing to do with the Oilers' 14-7 loss to Cleveland Sunday but Oiler defensive end Andy Dorris gives her more credit.

"I honestly believe they wouldn't have had a chance on a dry field," Dorris said. "We played good enough defense to win and I don't think there's any question our offense is better than seven points."

Phillips tended to discount the playing conditions, however, and give credit to Cleveland quarterback Brian Sipe.

"I think we went up there with the idea we had to stop Sipe from throwing," Phillips said. "We thought we had to get to him and we did but we didn't play good technique on the running game."

"He's a winner. He can hurt you with his throwing but if you don't watch, he'll hurt you running too."

The loss was distressing to the Oilers, who could have clinched a National Football League playoff spot with a victory.

Ohio State outscores Bama in final AP grid poll

By The Associated Press

Alabama's come-from-behind 25-18 victory over Auburn cost it the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press' final regular-season college football poll today and enabled Ohio State to vault into first place in a torrid three-way race with the Crimson Tide and Southern California.

Runnerup Alabama received 29 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of 67 sports writers and broadcasters to 16 for Ohio State and 19 for Southern Cal.

But eight voters, apparently unimpressed by Alabama's close call, left the Crimson Tide out of their top three choices while the Buckeyes of Ohio State were lower than third on only three ballots and piled up 33 second-place votes to overcome Alabama's edge in first-place votes.

Ohio State, which was unranked in the preseason ratings, totaled 1,267 points to 1,265½ for Alabama in what may be the closest first-place race in the 44-year history of The AP poll. Southern Cal was breathing down Alabama's neck with 1,257 points.

Ohio State and Alabama finished the regular season with 11-0 records while Southern Cal wound up 10-0-1. Ohio State and Southern Cal will meet in the Rose Bowl while Alabama faces sixth-ranked Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl.

A week ago, Alabama had 34 first-place votes to 12 for Southern Cal and 13 for Ohio State and led in points 1,193-1,142-1,141. However, the fumble-plagued Crimson Tide blew a 17-6 second-half lead against Auburn and needed a touchdown with 8:17 left to play to nip the Tigers.

Commissioner Kuhn describes free agent draft as time bomb

TORONTO (AP) — Major league baseball's annual winter meetings are off to their usual start — few developments but a lot of intrigue.

After hearing Commissioner Bowie Kuhn describe the free agent draft as "a time bomb ticking away" Monday, the baseball brass got down to business in all corners of the sprawling Sheraton Centre Hotel complex.

It was cat-and-mouse, cloak-and-dagger time once again. General managers, their assistants and field managers became con men, trying to outwit rivals like international spies.

Everyone is looking for help, looking for a player or players they're sure will bring them a pennant in 1980. Of course, they didn't want to give up talent, or too much of it.

The trade market was open. There was huddling all over the place. There was plenty of wheeling, but very little dealing.

Sporting News honors Wake Forest's Mackovic

ST. LOUIS (AP) — John Mackovic of Wake Forest was named by The Sporting News as the 1979 college football coach of the year, the weekly publication announced Monday.

In his second season as head coach, he took a team that had won only two games in the previous two seasons and posted an 8-3 record and an invitation to the Tangerine Bowl.

The newspaper also selected Heisman Trophy winner Charles White of Southern California as college football player of the year.

A private chat between American League President Lee MacPhail and Red Sox General Manager Haywood Sullivan on a level high above the lobby even brought a joke: Were they really trying to work out a trade of administrative aides?

Buzzy Bavasi of the California Angels was running around talking to everyone. No one really knew what he was looking for or what he was actually ready to give up in a trade.

The Baltimore Orioles reportedly were trying to unload unhappy Jim Palmer, who has given a list of clubs he might be willing to accept. The Orioles appeared to be concentrating on the Angels as a means of accommodating their veteran pitching ace.

Indiana leads weekly poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Preseason favorite Indiana, impressive 80-52 winners over Miami of Ohio in its opener, retained the No. 1 position in the Associated Press college basketball poll after the first week of the season.

The Hoosiers collected 28 of a possible 59 first-place votes and 1,118 of out a possible 1,180 points in the nationwide balloting of sports writers and broadcasters. Duke was second, 20 points farther back, followed by Ohio State, Notre Dame and Kentucky.

Teen says mom embarrasses her

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: My mom really acts strange around my friends and they all make fun of her to me. Why can't I have a "normal" mother like everyone else? I know this sounds cruel but I don't love my mother at all. I'm 13 and embarrassed for her. — Margey, Torrance, Calif.

Margey: I know it's great to have a mother who is popular with your friends but I think you are allowing your peer pressure to cloud your thinking.

Is there something you and your friends can do to help mother feel more comfortable around younger people? Can dad be of assistance? Will a smile and a hug do more to help than a frown and a cold shoulder? Being a parent is not easy. You will find out soon enough.

Margey, don't be embarrassed for someone else. You'll have many occasions to experience embarrassment for things you will do. Dr. Wallace: I'm an 18-year-old girl who lives with my father and a 12-year-old brother.

I do more than my share of work around the house (cooking, cleaning, washing, etc.) plus I have a part-time job.

The problem is that my brother doesn't do his chores (taking out garbage, cleaning his room, etc.).

Scolding by my father doesn't work. He will do his chores for a week, then he stops.

Can you offer any suggestions? — Laura, Tacoma, Wash.

Laura: First try the reward system. He does his chores — he is rewarded in some way.

If that doesn't work, try the reward-or-punishment system. He does his chores, he is rewarded, but if he doesn't, he is punished in some reasonable way.

If that doesn't work, use the punishment system. If he doesn't do his chores, he is firmly punished.

If that fails — you are on your own.

Reddy Room is site of shower

The Texas Electric Reddy Room was the setting for a miscellaneous wedding shower held Nov. 27 honoring Melinda Cox, bride-elect of Coy Joe McCann.

White lace draped the refreshment table which was accentuated by a centerpiece of pink candles in crystal. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Linen and lace covered the registration table enhanced with an arrangement of pink roses.

Miss Cox was presented a pink and burgundy carnation corsage, as were the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Dwight McCann, and the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. R.W. McNew.

Hostesses included Mrs. Debbie Parker of Lubbock, Tammy Sledge, Joy Fortenberry, Jackie Seay, Terri Poteet and Patsy Fryar.

The couple will be married Dec. 7 at the Trinity Baptist Church. The Rev. Claude Craven, pastor, will officiate.

A Good-Hearted Cuss!

DEAR ABBY: I have a childless neighbor who loves kids and is a wonderful friend. On a moment's notice Shirley will gladly look after my brood. (I have three, ages 2, 4 and 5.) So what's my problem? Shirley's language is unreal. She can't utter two sentences without including half dozen dirty words. I'm sure she doesn't realize how often she uses those words; it's just automatic with her.

After being around Shirley for a while yesterday, my 4-year-old came up with a real mind-blower. When I told him that was a "bad" word and he shouldn't use it again, he said, "Well, Aunt Shirley uses it all the time, so why can't I?"

Now, Abby, I wouldn't hurt Shirley's feelings for the world because she is really a wonderful friend and has a heart of gold, but her language is something else. Is there a solution? Don't suggest I keep my kids away from her. I can't.

FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: I doubt if you would "hurt" Shirley if you asked her to try to watch her language in front of the kids. (I also doubt if it would do much good, but it's worth a try.) Just tell your kids it's not nice to use "bad" words. And let them know that there are some "good" people who use "bad" words, and Aunt Shirley is one of them.

DEAR ABBY: Charlie and I have been married for nine years and have two kids. (No twins.) He just told me that he is trying to think up some minor crime to commit so they'll lock him up.

Charlie isn't a violent man, but he's threatening to hit a policeman or throw a brick through somebody's window, so they'll arrest him and take him to jail. He says the noise around this house is driving him crazy.

Abby, I can't gag the kids. Besides I didn't have them alone, and if I can stand them, so can he.

Charlie says he's fed up with me and the kids and married life, and the only place for him is in a nice quiet jail where nobody can bother him. Help me.

CHARLIE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I've heard of men trying to break out of jail, but never INTO one. If Charlie is joking — laugh. If he's serious, you'd better get him to a doctor to have his head examined.

TO GO SOLO — After six years of duets Kris Kristofferson and Rita Coolidge are singing different tunes. Kristofferson filed for divorce Wednesday in Los Angeles.

Rebekah Christmas party is Dec. 11

Members of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 met at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 27 at the I.O.O.F. Hall. Mary Leek, noble grand, presided over the 73 members present.

It was reported that Mrs. Elizabeth Beck delivered eight dozen cookies to the Big Spring State Hospital recently. The lodge Christmas party and Mrs.

Leek's farewell party will take place Dec. 11. Gifts will be exchanged.

Francis Loftis, lodge deputy, presented a school of instruction. Lavelle Hill and Mrs. Leek reported on their recent trip to the regional meeting of school of instruction for District 11 which was held in San Angelo. Twenty-five attended from Big Spring.

Mother-to-be-given stroller at shower

A baby shower honoring Mrs. Perry (Carolyn) Gamble was held Dec. 1 from 2-4 p.m. in the home of Mrs. John Dorton, 2508 Carol. Other hostesses were Mrs. Reagan Easley, Mrs. Greg Burton and Mrs. Dallas Nash. Mrs. C.W. Utley, mother of the honoree, was a special guest. The honoree was presented a corsage of baby booties. The hostess gift was a stroller.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and petit fours and punch were served. Silver appointments were used.

Mrs. Gamble is expecting her baby the latter part of January.

Speaking Out

by Robbi Crow & Mickie Dickson

Are the Dallas Cowboys ready?

As football fans throughout the country watch 'America's Team' perform during this 1979 football season, many seem to be asking the question "are the Dallas Cowboys Super Bowl material this year?"

Why the sudden slump? Do they need a new field goal kicker? Do they miss the talent of all pro safety Charlie Waters, or what?

Is it possible that the long-time dynamite Cowboys have reached the end of their fuse?

Carroll Harrington, a retired welder and farmer, says he has mixed emotions about this year's Cowboys. "They're going to have to do some fancy playing if they want a Super Bowl rematch with the Pittsburgh Steelers this year. Somehow, they're just not clicking," Harrington said. "But I don't know why."

A.L. (Charlie) Holley, a retired oil man, commented on the Cowboys while watching them play Sunday against the New York Giants.

"I really think they're all right, except for the kicker," he said. "He hasn't been any good at all this afternoon."

Holley also admitted that the Cowboys have to face a "tough one" next Saturday night against the Philadelphia Eagles, a team in their division who defeated them several weeks ago.

When the Herald questioned Holley's wife, Lucy, she agreed with her husband. Septien just hasn't been playing up to par.

"I think they need a new field goal kicker. Septien was doing fine until he got married. Maybe that has something to do with it," she said.

But still among the pessimists and the fallen fans are the elite group of undying and hopelessly devoted Cowboy patriots who still have the utmost faith in 'America's Team.'

Bertina DeLeon, assistant composing room supervisor at the Big Spring Herald, is one of these devout fans.

"I'm not worried about the Cowboys," Ms. DeLeon stated. "They go through this slump every year. But after winning against New York Sunday, they're all fired up. They're definitely Super Bowl bound. Besides, the playoffs just wouldn't be the same without the Cowboys. They have to be there."

Ms. DeLeon believes that the Super Bowl will feature a rematch of the Cowboys-Steelers game last Super Bowl Sunday.

"I'd rather Dallas play the Houston Oilers in the Super Bowl, though, because Houston acted so cocky when they beat Dallas Thanksgiving Day," Ms. DeLeon revealed.

She admitted also that the loss of free safety Charlie Waters had hurt the Cowboys this year.

"They really need him back," she concluded. Mrs. Mike (Maria) Faulkner considers herself as a devoted Cowboy fan with one exception. She's torn between two states — Texas and Pennsylvania.

"I'm always behind the Dallas Cowboys except when they play a Pennsylvania team," she revealed. "I'm from Pennsylvania, so I have to be loyal to the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Philadelphia Eagles, too."

Mrs. Faulkner said if it came down to a Pittsburgh and Dallas Super Bowl, she would want the Steelers to win.

"But if not," she continued, "I'm behind Dallas all the way."

Mrs. Adkins feted on 95th birthday

Mrs. D.W. Adkins was honored on the occasion of her 95th birthday Nov. 25 in the fellowship hall of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church. The event was hosted by Mrs. Adkins' family and friends.

The honoree is an active member of the Dorcas Class of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, World War I Auxiliary, the Rebekah Lodge No. 284, and the Order of the Eastern Star.

Six of her seven children attended the affair including

Mrs. Marguerite Marion, Idalou, Tex., Mrs. Winifred Wood, Mrs. Bernice Micallef, Charles Adkins, Lawrence Adkins and Mrs. Norma Lee Awtry, Big Spring. Unable to attend was Archie Adkins of Melbourne, Fla.

Other family guests attended from Graham, Austin, Odessa, Hobbs, N.M., Snyder and Welch.

Mrs. Adkins enjoys cooking, sewing, and piecing quilts.

Asbury honored at party

June Asbury, registered nurse who started as a staff nurse at Malone-Hogan Hospital in 1939, was honored with a retirement party Nov. 25. Co-workers hosted a buffet luncheon for Miss Asbury in the doctors lounge of the Malone-Hogan Clinic.

JIM SANDERS

The nurse came to Big Spring, after hearing of a job opening with the partnership of Dr. John E. Hogan and Dr. P.W. Malone. She had just graduated from St. Paul Nursing School in Dallas. An aunt and uncle, then living in Big Spring, forwarded to her an application at the request of the two doctors, who had bought the Bivings and Barcus hospital on Main street.

During her 40 years as a nurse, she worked for a number of doctors, among them Drs. Malone and Hogan, Dr. George Hilliard, an orthopedist, Dr. Carl Marcum, surgeon, and Dr. Pete Rhymes, orthopedist. Her last position was office nurse for Dr. Malone.

She was born and reared in Clifton, Tex. She plans to retire there.

Manager named

Village Shoe Store, 1901 1/2 Gregg, has been bought by the Brown's Shoe Fit Company from Shenandoah, Iowa. Jim Sanders, manager and co-owner, took over management from previous owner Don Eifert last Monday.

The store's line and pricing will remain "pretty much the same," said Sanders. Painting and new wallpaper will be put up, he said.

Eifert owns a ready to wear ladies clothing store in Hobbs, N.M. that he will be devoting more time to now. He contacted the company offering the sale of the shoe store.

Brown owns a total of 82 stores in Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Idaho.

Runnels team banquet draws 100 percent

The Runnels Eighth Grade Red Team had a Football Banquet Nov. 19 at Holiday Inn with 100 percent attendance of players and parents.

Coach Ron Logback spoke to the approximately 115 in attendance on attitude. He said right attitude is the most important thing about football. The larger players aren't always the best athletes, said Logback.

The teams two coaches and Runnels Principal Tom Henry were also in attendance.

Local state hospital advisory group formed

Grace Renee Ferguson, M.D., M.P.H., superintendent of Big Spring State Hospital, recently announced the appointment of a group of citizens from the hospital's catchment area to serve on the Advisory Committee for the Big Spring State Hospital.

The primary function of the committee will be to keep the hospital's administrative staff informed of mental health needs within the 46-county area and keep the community advised of the hospital and its programs.

"This committee will be a vital communication link between the hospital and the people we serve," commented Dr. Ferguson.

Similar committees have been established during the past year to serve the Outreach Centers and the Out Patient Clinic. These committees have been beneficial in developing a better understanding of the purpose of the Centers within the community as well as helping the Centers to provide appropriate programs for their clients.

Appointed to serve on this committee for two-year terms are: Curtis Mullins, Mrs. Aida Gonzales, Pete
