Food prices at five-year high

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices jumped by the highest amount in five years last month, helping to push overall wholesale prices up 1.3 percent, the government said today.

November's 2.6 percent increase in food prices at the wholesale level offset the smallest rise in energy costs since February, the Labor Department reported.

The food price boost — the largest since a 4.2 percent rise in November 1974 — came primarily in the meat category, with processed poultry prices shooting up 21.5 percent. Beef, veal and pork prices also increased sharply after declining in October, the department said.

The overall 1.3 percent increase follows a 1 percent rise in October and 1.4 percent jump in September.

So far this year, prices at the wholesale or producer level — one step short of retail store shelves — have accelerated at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 12.8 percent.

That virtually guarantees that 1979 will be the worst year for inflation at the producer level since 1974, a Labor Department economist said.

Wholesale price changes are included in the Producer Price Index, which reports prices at three levels: the wholesale — or finished goods — level, when goods are ready for sale to the final user; the intermediate level, where they have received some processing; and the crude level, where goods have not yet received any processing.

Changes in the Producer Price Index are watched carefully because they often show up at the consumer level in a month or two.

Retail prices are rising at more than 13 percent a year, the fastest rate since 1946 when the government lifted World War II price controls.

The Labor Department said prices for finished energy goods in November increased 2.5 percent, the smallest monthly advance since February.

There was a marked slowdown in the price advance of home heating oil, which rose just 0.1 percent last month after a 4.7 percent jump in October. Gasoline prices went up 3.4 percent last month after jumping 5.1 percent in October, the department said.

Price increases also slowed for passenger cars and mobile homes.

While energy price increases moderated somewhat last month, news for the year is more gloomy. Energy prices were 62.7 percent higher in November than they were one year earlier, the department said.

In addition, food prices at the producer level increased 8.9 percent over the 12-month span.

Prices for all other finished goods rose 9.3 percent during that period and prices of equipment for producing goods went up 8.6 percent.

The Producer Price Index in November stood at 225.9. That means that goods that cost $100 at wholesale in 1967 cost $225.90 last month.

Food prices had edged down 0.1 percent in October, and the 2.6 jump last month came as a surprise, said a Labor Department economist who asked not to be identified.

"It appears that meat prices were depressed in previous months, as supplies ran high. We may have been living on borrowed time," he said.

In addition to meat and poultry prices, prices were also up for roasted coffee, fresh vegetables, macaroni and sugar in consumer-size packages, the department reported. Prices declined for fresh fruits, milled rice and fish.

The Labor Department economist pointed to what "might be good news down the line," a relatively small price increase for intermediate goods which increased 0.9 percent last month, only half as much as in October.

The department reported that crude material prices rose 2 percent in November, half a percentage point higher than October and about the same rate as in September.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday that consumers can expect near-record supplies of meat and poultry next year with a resulting slowdown in price increases.

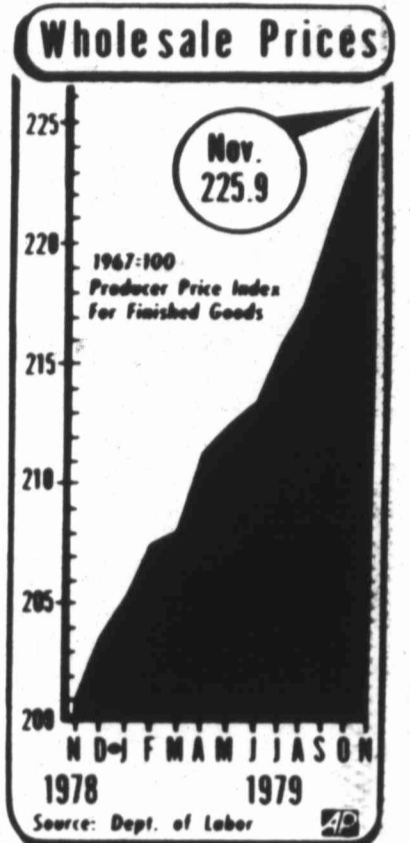

"Retail meat and poultry prices may increase more slowly than the rate for all food," the department's outlook board said. "While prices for all food items are expected to increase by 7 to 11 percent in 1980, meat price gains may be limited to only 4 to 6 percent."

The department forecast last month that 1980 food prices overall may gain 7 percent to 11 percent, with a boost of about 8 percent most likely. It is projecting an 11 percent increase in food prices for 1979.

After months of optimistic forecasts, key Carter administration economists now say inflation at the retail level — measured by the Consumer Price Index — will exceed 13 percent this year. That compares with 9 percent inflation in 1978.

There is growing anxiety that the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries will increase world oil prices later this month, further aggravating inflation. Imported oil prices have already risen 60 percent to 70 percent this year. The rate of increase depends on which country is selling the oil.

Since oil is used for so many other products, its rising price ripples through the entire economy.

Charles Reeves: Life is tough

Husband, father convinced woman involved in murders

By DON WOODS

Charles Reeves, husband and father of slain Ann and Tracey Reeves, still struggles with his recuperation from grief. Reeves looked back on the murders in an interview recently.

At times in the interview his voice trailed off. "You don't lose a friend and your family at one time... It won't ever be..." he said before he had to stop.

Though the murders were seven months ago, he still termed the rebuilding of his life "pretty rough."

He and his son, Kevin, 14, moved to a farm near a small East Texas town because of Kevin's need of other family members.

"I didn't have any family there. I believe my son needed other family beside myself," said Reeves.

There are grandparents, an aunt and other relatives in East Texas.

When asked if he would move back here, he replied that he still had a business here, the Valtai Reeves Beauty School. He sold his two gas stations in Big Spring. He owned the Texaco on the interstate where the abductions occurred and the Texaco at the intersection of Gregg and FM 700.

When asked about his theory on who committed the murders Reeves said that he believed a woman was involved because when the mother and son were forced to disrobe, no sexual activity was committed.

Panola County sheriff killed when hit by helicopter blade

CARTHAGE, Texas (AP) — Panola County Sheriff David Clabaugh was killed today when struck by the blades of a helicopter during a search for a murder suspect.

Clabaugh, 56, was taken to Panola General Hospital where he died.

The accident occurred near Lake Murvaul in the southwest part of the county.

The helicopter was from the Department of Public Safety office in

He believes that more than one person is responsible for the murders and robbery because one could not have contained the two Reeves. Charles believes the motive in the crime to be robbery.

Charles declined to speak about his feelings of vengeance or his own efforts at bringing the killers to justice.

Ann and Tracey Reeves died from .22 caliber gunshot wounds to the head. Tracey was shot twice in the head and once in the chest. Ann was shot twice in the head and twice in the hand.

A preliminary autopsy showed facial wounds on the pair that originally led investigators to believe that they had been assaulted before the murders. Standard said later, though, that the wounds were bruises caused by the impact of the bullets on the opposite sides of the faces.

Sheriff Standard placed Deputy William Shankles on the case full time. No arrests have been made, though Shankles has catalogued a pile of information over six inches high.

There has also been a large amount of physical evidence sent to the Department of Public Safety Crime Lab in Austin. Around 200 prints have been sent to the lab for comparison with prints taken from physical evidence.

In addition, Ann's billfold and purse, papers found at the service station and those found blowing along a road near the murder scene, clothing and three guns have been submitted.

One of the guns has been ruled out as a possible murder weapon. Another one found in a West Texas pawn shop is still under examination. The third gun was a .32 caliber pistol taken from the service station, but not considered a possible murder weapon.

The work goes on in Austin, Big Spring and around the nation as lawmen feed names of possible killers into the nationwide crime computer.

Standard said that some of the most valuable activity would be the volunteering of information by local residents.

At least $5,000 has been available since May 2 when Standard made the special deposit in the First National Bank. He said though that if demands were made for more money in exchange for information, the money could be raised. He stressed that persons with information could feel secure about any fears they have about volunteering the information because precautions will be made to guarantee anonymity.

U.S. HOSTAGE EXERCISING — One of the 50 Americans held hostage here by armed Iranian students seen exercising this week in the U.S. embassy grounds. The man is not identified.

May agree to negotiations

Khomeini softens stance today

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini said today the U.N. Security Council's call for a negotiated settlement of the U.S.-Iranian crisis was "a step forward," the official Pars news agency reported.

In other developments, members of Iran's Turkish minority seized facilities of the state-run broadcasting company in Tabriz, capital of the largely Turkish Azerbaijan Province. But tension between the two groups eased in the the holy city of Qom, 100 miles south of here.

The apparent softening of Khomeini's stance on the resolution was disclosed after a meeting in Qom with Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, Pars said. Ghotbzadeh was quoted as saying they "noticed that this is not a resolution condemning us...."

Observers said the remarks by Khomeini and Ghotbzadeh were the most moderate yet by revolutionary leaders during the month-long crisis. Last week Khomeini rejected in advance any steps taken by the Security Council, alleging that it was controlled by the United States.

Ghotbzadeh's statement made no mention of the resolution's call for the immediate release of 50 American hostages held in the U.S. Embassy and did not outline possible negotiations for their release.

Meanwhile, The Associated Press obtained photographs of hostages in the U.S. embassy made by Iranians for Britain's Thames Television. No information was available on the circumstances under which the photographs were taken.

The Security Council resolution, adopted unanimously Tuesday, asks the two nations show restraint and negotiate a settlement to the crisis, which began with the Nov. 4 occupation of the embassy by militants demanding President Carter send the ousted shah back to Iran to stand trial.

Ghotbzadeh tempered his reaction to the U.N. resolution, saying "We are not very satisfied with it because they have not condemned the shah. Altogether this is a step forward and a better decision than the previous one."

He was apparently referring to a Nov. 9 statement issued by unanimous consent of the Security Council calling for release of the hostages.

Meanwhile, supporters of Khomeini and the religious leader of the country's Turkish minority clashed in the holy city of Qom for the second straight day over the Islamic constitution that made Khomeini supreme ruler for life, residents reported.

Two persons were killed and eight wounded in the clashes Wednesday, but no casualties were reported today. The situation calmed in the afternoon, Khomeini visited the minority leader, Ayatollah Mohammed Kazem Shariat-Madari, and said "plotters" were responsible for the trouble.

The official Pars news agency quoted Khomeini's son, Ahmad, as saying his father and Shariat-Madari discussed relations with the United States and "CIA agents and SAVAK, who at this critical juncture are sowing discord among Moslems." SAVAK was the secret police of the deposed shah.

State funds not coming

DETROIT (AP) — Financially strapped Wayne County has been depending on $5 million in revenue-sharing funds from the state — but the state says the money won't be forthcoming because the county owes it that much and more.

County Commission Chairman Richard Mannin said Wednesday the state's decision could mean payless paydays for county employees through the first of the year.

Meanwhile, local treasurers are responding to a county request that they accelerate payment of the county's portion of local tax collections, says county treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz.

No money, no school

WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — School children here will get an extended holiday vacation due to a projected budget deficit.

The Warwick School Committee voted to close the schools from Jan. 2 to Jan. 25 and lay off most school employees to make up for the projected shortfall of $457,000.

The missed school days will be made up either during scheduled vacations or in June, school officials announced Tuesday.

Installation protested

DETROIT (AP) — "Maybe this will help other older people to not get stabbed in the back," said William Fisk, 58, after a jury agreed he had been unfairly demoted because of his age.

Fisk, an engineer with Chrysler Corp., was awarded $80,000 plus $20,000 in lost pension values by a Wayne County jury. Fisk had been demoted in 1970 and took early retirement last year.

Chrysler announced Wednesday it probably would appeal the verdict.

The good and bad of it

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Good news and bad news for the Class of 1980.

The good news — employers anticipate a 13 percent increase in the hiring of college graduates next year, compared to the 1978-79 school year, the College Placement Council said Wednesday.

The bad news — hiring of liberal arts majors will be down 8 percent, the council says. The demand will be for graduates with engineering, technical and business backgrounds.

Police beat

Thieves to charge it?

Local police spent another slow day, Wednesday.

Thieves stole a 12-volt battery and two battery cables from a car belonging to Dorothy Henderson, 100 Jefferson, sometime between 8 and 11 p.m. Wednesday. The auto had been parked at 700 W. 3rd, and loss was estimated at $57.50.

Four locals were arrested for possession of marijuana in two separate incidents, recently. At 8:10 p.m. Wednesday, Officer Barry Smith stopped a 15th Street resident for speeding near the intersection of Third and Scurry.

When the officer looked inside the car, he noticed a plastic bag full of a substance that appeared to be marijuana. The man and the baggie, which weighed under four ounces, were transported back to the police station.

In a similar incident, Officer Joe Diliberto stopped another car, 2:40 a.m. today in the 200 block of Johnson. As he questioned the three males inside, he noticed the strong aroma of burning weed.

Searching the auto, Diliberto discovered a plastic bag containing under two ounces of a substance thought to be marijuana. The driver and two passengers, one of them a juvenile, were arrested and taken to the police station.

Six mishaps were reported Wednesday. Vehicles driven by Billy Swafford, Sterling City Route, and Mark Narin, 610 Lancaster, collided on the 200 block of N. Gregg, 6:02 p.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to Donnie Burleson, 1702 Rannels, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in front of Burleson's home, 7:23 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Doby Walker, Route 2, and Mickie Krause, 1518 Tucson, collided on the 1200 block of Sycamore, 8:11 a.m.

A Gandy's Dairy truck and a vehicle driven by David French, 110 N. Nolan, collided in the parking lot of Herman's Steak House, 10:20 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Sherry Yezah, 1009 Wood, and Gina Allen, 2200 Morrison, collided in the parking lot of Thornton's Department Store, 12:14 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Cynthia Smith, 407 W. 4th, and Fred McCabe, Robert Lee, collided in the lot of Rip Griffin's Truck Stop, 12:28 p.m.

Pair moved to county jail

Timothy Randall Lee, 17, Erie, Pa., and Richard Alan Carriker, 27, Los Angeles, Calif., were transferred to county jail today. The pair have been charged with the aggravated assault and robbery of James L. Hart. Hart is paralyzed from the legs down in an Odessa hospital.

The assault occurred Monday on the north service road of IS 20. Bond has been set at $15,000 by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Howard College LVNs

pass state board exam

Results released by the Texas State Board of Vocational Nurses Examiners this show that all 23 students entered in the 1979 vocational nursing class at Howard College passed the exam, said Ramona Harris, RN Director of the Vocational Nursing Program at Howard College.

"This was the 26th class that has graduated from the Howard College School for Vocational Nurses and all 23 students that took the State Board Exam on October 16 in Austin came through with flying colors," said Mrs. Harris. "The state mean (average) for the test was 487. But the mean (average) for the Howard College student was 557, which is way above the state average."

"We have been fortunate throughout the years with our vocational nursing program in having such exceptional classes in the program," said Mrs. Harris. "As since the program started in 1959, we have had a total of 379 students take the State Board Exam and only 10 have failed."

The 1979 graduating class is as follows: Carolyn Baker, Tonya Boyd, Helen Chapman, Jena Clark, Rita Franco, Mary Ann Garcia, Lorraine Hamilton, Debra Jones, Linda King, Sandra Magers, Kathy Mase, Nikki Matthis, Susan Nixon, Cheryl Reed, Opal Stull, Janice Wagner, Rita White, Louise Williams, and Melinda Cox, all of Big Spring.

Others graduating were Melanie Beeson of Forsan; Jane Gilmore of Coahoma; Beth Kizer of San Angelo, and Antonio Rodriguez of Stanton.

Pre-registration for the spring semester at Howard College is currently underway, according to Janice Dunagan, Registrar at Howard College.

Beef exports up in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's beef exports rose 72 percent in the first half of 1979, totaling $484 million during the period.

Overall meat shipments — including beef, mutton, pork and extracts — produced nearly $600 million in export sales in the first six months.

ERA advocate

excommunicated

STERLING, Va. (AP) — Sonia Johnson, stunned by her expulsion from the Mormon Church, vows to battle the church from state to state in her renewed campaign for ratification of the proposed Equal Rights Amendment.

"I can't wait to get into Missouri and Illinois. I just can't wait," she said after receiving word of her excommunication by registered mail Wednesday. "The Mormons have started an underground fire in those places ... and I've just got to put it out."

Neither state has ratified the amendment, which would prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex. If approved by 38 states, the ERA would become part of the U.S. Constitution.

The Mormon Church, known formally as the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, opposes the ERA, saying it could destroy family structures. Church leaders contend they are not against equal rights for women, however.

Shah plans to answer allegations

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The shah of Iran, a monarch with a $131,000 price on his head and no kingdom, plans to answer vicious allegations against him, but only after the American hostages in Iran are freed, says his senior advisor.

Robert Armao also said Wednesday that the deposed ruler will not be going to Panama, South Africa or The Bahamas — three countries rumored to be potential permanent homes. The shah has ruled out Egypt because of the delicate Middle East situation, Armao said.

Armao's comments to reporters were the first public announcements since the shah slipped into heavily guarded Lackland Air Force Base early Sunday for an indefinite period of recuperation from cancer and gallstone treatments in New York.

"It has been very hard for him to remain silent with the accusations being hurled at him," said Armao.

"The shah continues to pray for the safe return of the American hostages, and for his country. For him to stay more at this time would be insensitive and inflammatory."

As Armao spoke, Iranian students at San Antonio College were telling reporters that the shah was a mass murderer and said his presence here is comparable to harboring Adolf Hitler. The new Iranian regime also claims the shah plundered the country for billions of dollars.

Earlier this week, Sen. Edward Kennedy had said the shah "ran one of the most violent regimes in the history of mankind" and criticized the monarch's presence here.

"Sen. Kennedy's remarks were made out of impulse. The shah was saddened to hear those remarks," said Armao.

"The shah eventually, when this crisis ends and the hostages are safe and sound, will be speaking out on the situation," Armao said. "He'll assume a prominent role in answering those accusations."

Militant Iranian students in Tehran hold 50 American embassy employees hostage and demand the return of the shah for trial.

The United States government has refused and is aiding the shah in his quest for a permanent place to live. Egypt has offered asylum. Armao said the shah fears he would inflame the Middle East situation if he moves there.

Armao said the stay at Lackland is temporary, but added, "At the moment, we have no time frame for his departure."

Armao and informed sources say the shah spends his time at Lackland quietly reading, playing chess, visiting by phone with friends and his children and walking outdoors in the unseasonably warm Texas weather. He has access to television and newspapers.

He has his own doctor and is being treated as an outpatient at Wilford Hall Hospital on base.

"The shah is walking around. He has been confined for about six weeks in one hospital room, so his muscles are out of tone," said Armao. "He still suffers from a great loss of weight, something over 20 pounds. We hope that during his recuperation process he is able to gain the weight back."

"The prognosis at this time is very, very good," Armao said of the shah's health prospects. "Of course, lymphatic cancer is a very serious illness and could reoccur at any time."

The shah is housed in comfortable, barracks-like visiting officers quarters — which are sealed off by layers of Air Force security.

"He is very satisfied with the security. The arrangements are very comfortable. He is very grateful," Armao said.

The shah is free to leave the base, but Armao said that is unlikely.

"At the moment, we have no time frame for his departure," he said.

The shah was watching a local television station Monday night when it aired videotape of a group of men it said included the shah, said Armao.

The shah had no reaction to the footage that was shot with a telephoto lens by a cameraman who sneaked on base, added the spokesman. Armao confirmed that the shah was in the group.

Weather

Scattered showers, cooler temperatures

By the Associated Press
A fast-moving cold front moved southward across Texas today, bringing with it slightly cooler temperatures and a few widely scattered showers.

By early today the front was moving on a line from near Longview to Laredo. The front was expected to be out of the state this afternoon.

Northerly winds gusted to near 30 mph along the front. Forecasts called for partly cloudy skies and widely scattered showers or thundershowers from the Lower Rio Grande Valley northward into Southeast Texas. The rest of the state was to have mostly clear skies and slightly cooler temperatures.

Highs were to range from about 50 in North Texas to about 70 in South Texas.

Some dense fog was reported early today in the Valley and along the Gulf Coast. Some scattered showers were reported during the night in eastern sections of the state. Elsewhere skies were clear in West Texas and partly cloudy to cloudy in the eastern half of the state.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 40s and 50s. Extremes ranged from 23 at Amarillo to 60 at Alice, Cotulla and McAllen.

Texas legislator says

Coast Guard should not battle offshore oil spills

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas legislator says someone besides the Coast Guard should be in charge of battling offshore oil spills.

"I do not believe that the Coast Guard has an environmentally oriented attitude," state Sen. A.R. "Babe" Schwartz said Wednesday. "Promises are great, but the fulfillment of those promises is something less than adequate."

Schwartz, of Galveston, said the Coast Guard did not get a cleanup effort going quickly enough in the recent crash of an oil tanker and a freighter that led to the spilling of thousands of barrels of oil off the Texas coast.

The Coast Guard is in charge of the national response team, agencies that work together to combat offshore oil spills.

The spill from the tanker accident is a dwarf in comparison to the estimated 2.5 million barrels of crude that has spewed so far from the runaway well in Mexico's Bay of Campeche.

Schwartz and Texas Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said the Coast Guard did not have sufficient equipment available to battle of Ixtoc I spill as it reached the Texas coast.

The consequences could have been much worse if winds and currents had not shifted to move the oil back toward the south, Armstrong said.

Armstrong held out the prospect of a repeat of this year's fight against the Ixtoc I oil next spring if the flow is not halted soon.

The Texas officials spoke at joint hearing of two Senate committees examining the Bay of Campeche spill to determine if the U.S. is prepared to handle future spills that might occur as development of the Outer Continental Shelf continues.

Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., charged that the flow continues at a stronger pace than reported by the Mexican government.

"We may be sacrificing the Gulf to insure that we receive Mexican oil in the future," he said in a statement.

Weicker, who opposes pending leases in the rich fishing area known as the Georges Bank off New England, said that offshore development may pose too great a threat to the environment.

"Destroying food supplies in exchange for more oil is an unacceptable trade-off," the senator said.

A spokesman for the Mexican national petroleum company said Wednesday in Mexico City that bad weather is hampering efforts to cap the runaway well.

Although company experts have differing opinions, the consensus is that the flow has been reduced to less than 10,000 barrels daily.

Jerome Milgram, an oil technology expert who served as a consultant to the company that built the "sombbrero" central to the capping effort, said the Mexican estimates may be too optimistic.

The flow at its strongest was estimated at about 30,000 barrels a day, but Milgram said at the Senate hearing that it was more likely between 30,000 and 100,000 barrels.

Milgram, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's ocean engineering department, also doubted that reduction of the flow took place as quickly as described.

"Whenever I've been there, the flow always looked the same to me," Milgram said.

He last visited the site in October. Milgram countered the report of a Coast Guard official who said the flow had been reduced to about 2,000 barrels a day.

Coast Guard Captain Charles Corbett, who left the Bay of Campeche in September, told senators that "In my heart, I believe frankly that the reduction has been accomplished."

He said an on-site cleanup program was sweeping up most of the continuing flow. "I don't believe that oil will reach the Texas coast again," Corbett said.

The captain said the Coast Guard will continue to sweep up residual oil still remaining off the Texas coast for "a period of time."

A House subcommittee hearing was scheduled today on a bill introduced by Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Texas, that would authorize up to $80 million in federal funds to compensate damages or losses caused by the spill.

TRUJILLO RIDE — Pro rodeo bareback rider J.C. Trujillo of Steamboat Springs, Colo., appeared to be in good shape early in his ride in Wednesday night's fifth go-round of the National Finals Rodeo. But Trujillo, who has the overall bareback lead at the Finals, was thrown off into a chute gate and received a mild concussion. He was expected to continue his quest for the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association world bareback championship Thursday night.

Injuries abound in fifth round of rodeo finals

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Injuries plagued the fifth round of the National Finals Rodeo here Wednesday as late reports from the arena indicated at least one bareback rider was forced out of the competition by a knee injury.

Early this morning medical authorities said rider Rusty Riddle of Weatherford, Texas, dislocated a knee as he was dismounting after completing a run. The authorities said he would no longer be able to compete in the rodeo.

Shortly after Riddle went down rider J.C. Trujillo fell from his horse striking his head on the arena wall, but authorities said he suffered only a mild concussion and should be able to compete further.

Trujillo had the overall bareback lead going into the round.

Tom Ferguson, Miami, Okla., shined during the evening's run, taking a firmer hold on his sixth straight all-around title by taking third in the steer wrestling with a 6.3 timing and fourth in the calf roping with a 10.1.

Skip Akers of Tallahassee, Fla., won the steer wrestling with a 5.2 and Dave Brock of Pueblo, Colo., won calf roping with a 9.7.

Ferguson's closest competitor for all-around honors, Paul Tierney of Rapid City, S.D., had another tough night finishing out of the points in steer wrestling and calf roping.

Bullrider Denny Flynn, Charleston, Ark., kept his overall lead in that event by posting a round winning 81, while Lynn McKenzie of Shreveport, La., also stayed at the top of the barrel racing with a 16.32 timing, the fastest so far in the rodeo.

Bruce Ford registered his first win in the bareback riding with a 76, although, Joe Alexander, who placed second with a 71, still has the overall lead.

In the saddle bronc riding Doug Brown had the best of the evening, a 73, but last year's Champion Joe Marvel still leads that event.

Roman Figueroa and Brett Chapman won the team roping with a 6.2 timing. Don Kimble and Kent Winterton still lead that event after placing fourth with a 6.7.

Merit Wins "Choice" Test.

Smokers Report: MERIT Taste Matches High Tar Cigarettes.

New taste tests with thousands of smokers prove it.

Proof: A significant majority of smokers rate MERIT taste as good as—or better than—leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Proof: Of the 95% stating a preference, 3 out of 4 smokers chose the MERIT low tar/good taste combination over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed.

MERIT: Proven Long Term Alternative To High Tar Brands.

New national smoker study results prove it.

Proof: The overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers polled feel they didn't sacrifice taste in switching from high tar cigarettes.

Proof: 96% of MERIT smokers don't miss former high tar brands.

Proof: 9 out of 10 enjoy smoking as much since switching to MERIT, are glad they switched, and report MERIT is the best tasting low tar they've ever tried.

You've read the results. The conclusion is clearer than ever: MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar.

A combination that's attracting more and more smokers every day and—more importantly—satisfying them long term.

SHATTERED BACKBOARD — The glass backboard is left shattered with a large hole where the rim was after Sixers' Darryl Dawkins dunked the ball in the 4th quarter of Wednesday night's NBA game against San Antonio in Philadelphia. The game was delayed for more than an hour as a new backboard was installed.

Dawkins slams Spurs in shattering style

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chalk up one more backboard to Darryl Dawkins.

With 6:42 left in a game between the San Antonio Spurs and the Philadelphia 76ers, the 6-foot-11½ center took a pass from teammate Doug Collins and stuffed it through the basket.

The impact brought the basket down, left a cannonball-sized hole in the reinforced glass backboard, and delayed the National Basketball Association contest for an hour and 14 minutes while workmen replaced it.

The Spurs, who had been trailing 108-99, never recovered, although the teams tied 19 times and the lead changed hands 13 times throughout the contest.

Philadelphia got a boost from its bench late in the final quarter to win 132-120, the 76ers' seventh consecutive victory.

Fans, meantime, referred to Dawkins' feat as Destructo II.

Destructo I occurred Nov. 13 during a 110-103 loss in Kansas City to the Kings. The Sixers said he was slightly more devastating the first time. Dawkins joked that the team might offer him a fatter contract if he continues on his destructive course.

"I enjoyed what happened tonight," said the 252-pounder who scored 20 points in the game.

"It's an exciting thing, bringing down the hoop," he recalled. "My contract is coming to an end, and maybe I'll be able to put more people into the arena — and the more people I bring out, the more money I might get."

Dawkins, who was the only one standing beneath the backboard when it broke, said Destructo II was not deliberate.

"I didn't try to break that one," said Dawkins, who was nicked by falling glass. "I just hit it right, and it went. Same thing as last time. I wasn't playing well. I went at it, but I really wasn't trying to pull it down."

Spurs Coach Doug Moe had predicted his team might stage a comeback after the long delay. But the Sixers, paced by Dawkins, Bobby Jones, Doug Collins and Julius Erving, outdid George Gervin's field goal shooting and built their greatest lead of the night, 132-117, near the end of the game.

Gervin completed the scoring in the last few seconds with a three-point field goal to give him 42 points, tops in the game. Julius Erving tallied 28 for Philadelphia and Jones added 22.

The score was tied 31-31 after the first period, and 62-62 at halftime. Philadelphia went ahead to stay when Clint Richardson's field goal gave them a 90-88 lead with 1:38 left in the third quarter.

Asked about Destructo II, Moe said, "Certainly basketball doesn't have to have happenings like this to carry on."

Lakers rally by Rockets

HOUSTON (AP) — Los Angeles' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Norm Nixon both got hot against the Houston Rockets Wednesday night but it was Nixon's 26 points and basket with 25 seconds to play that finally decked the Rockets 116-114. Jabbar was ejected from the game with 4:14 to play after receiving his second technical foul and made a fast break from the dressing room without comment following the game.

"My experience with Kareem has been that he is very mild and calm," Lakers Coach Paul Westhead said. "But something must have really upset him."

Jabbar received consecutive technicals after he fouled Houston's Moses Malone. The Rockets were leading 107-102 at the time and appeared in control of the game. Then came Nixon. Malone hit a pair of free throws for a 109-102 Houston lead before Nixon and Jamaal Wilkes led a Laker comeback that gave Los Angeles a 113-112 lead with 1:25 to go.

Owners putting heat on Finley

TORONTO (AP) — What has been a rather dull gathering of baseball brass at their annual winter meeting held promise of producing some interesting moments before the gavel sent everyone home.

On today's agenda of American League club owners was a proposal the Associated Press learned would guarantee visiting teams $10,000 a game, rather than the present arrangement of a 20 percent cut of the gate receipts.

The measure apparently was directed at Charles Finley, whose Oakland A's drew the smallest attendance in majors this year.

It was learned that the Kansas City Royals originally proposed a $5,000 guarantee, but other clubs, upset at Finley's inability to sell the A's so the team could be moved, boosted the amount to $10,000.

One team official said visiting clubs averaged only $2,992 per game in Oakland last season. "Barely bus fare," said another.

Before the proposal became a topic of gossip in corridors and lobbies, the big news was the trade of first baseman Chris Chambliss by the Toronto Blue Jays to the Atlanta Braves in a five-player transaction.

However, the trade failed to trigger any chain reaction. There still was a great deal of talking, but little action. Major league brass continued playing games, determined to avoid any mistakes with the interleague trading deadline drawing closer — Friday midnight.

The California Angels signed veteran shortstop Fred

Patek as a free agent draftee from Kansas City and sent shortstop Jim Anderson, 22, to the Seattle Mariners to complete a deal for pitcher for John Montague earlier this year.

However, the Toronto-Atlanta deal, completed after a series of talks, was the first major transaction of the meetings which opened Monday. The Braves' pursuit of Chambliss paid off.

Atlanta wanted the big clutch slugger, who helped New York to three pennants, and went after him — a rarity so far in these turtle-paced meetings.

In the deal finally worked out, Chambliss and shortstop Luis Gomez were traded for outfielder Barry Bonnell, relief pitcher Joey McLaughlin and infielder Pat Rockett, who was assigned to Syracuse of the International League.

In other developments Wednesday:

—A source close to negotiations told The Associated Press that owner Charlie Finley was close to selling the Oakland A's to Denver oil magnate Marvin Davis. Only a few details remain to be ironed out, the source said.

—Ray Grebey, director of the major league players relation committee, had his budget approved by club owners, then disclosed he will meet with the players association, headed by Marvin Miller, Dec. 12. Grebey said "three or four meetings have been held" so far. He reiterated that he is "guardedly optimistic" a new basic agreement can be reached before spring training.

Patton trying to promote kicking device; Mojo's success

Former BSHS, TCU, Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Cardinals star lineman and placekicker Cliff Patton is in the process of marketing a device for place-kickers that would require limited space in developing their skills to perfection.

Patton can speak with authority in the art of kicking the football. He set numerous kicking records during his stint in the professional game, one of which was the record holder of consecutive points after touchdowns, set in 1949. He also was the NFL leader in field goals in 1948 and 1949, as well as making All-Pro in each of those years. He was also honored on the All-Time Philadelphia Eagles team from 1933-1973.

Patton became aware of the need for a device to aid in the development of the kicking game during his career, and feels that his device can be used by both the inexperienced and the mature place kicker. It is based on the theory that the greatest problem of a kicking specialist is in getting personnel to retrieve the football efficiently in order to minimize loss of concentration and elapsed time.

Patton's device can be used in an area as small as thirty feet and includes an efficient ball return. The invention consists solely of man-made materials.

The device is portable. It consists of a mat 12 inches by 12 inches with a built-in ground level kicking tee, a nylon elastic rope approximately 24 feet in length with ground anchors for attachment, and a target 20 inches square. Patton explains that hitting this target at 20 feet when the target is placed 12 feet above ground level is equivalent to a 50-yard field goal if timing and the leg power is sufficient.

Patton is currently seeking a company that would be interested in the manufacture and sale of this device, and is requesting to these prospective companies that he be given the opportunity to serve as a consultant in the development of his product.

Anyone interested in obtaining further information should contact Patton at 1460 Tulane, Vidor, Texas 77662 or phone him at (713) 762-5296, or contact his lawyer, R.E. (Peppy) Blount at Box 1227, Longview, Texas, 75601.

In a recent letter sent out by the football program at Odessa Permian High School, some rather auspicious statistics were revealed. Not to say that most people, in West Texas, and in the state, for that matter, don't know something about the success of Mojo on the gridiron.

Permian is by far the football team with the best record in the state in Class AAAA in the decade of the 70s. Some schools have challenged the Panthers throughout, but none have matched Permian's continued excellence year in and year out.

The school that proudly refers to itself as Mojo, much to the jealousy of the rest of the District 5-AAAA, has compiled a record of 109-14-1 in this decade.

This includes one state championship (the great 1972 team that many feel was the best team in the history of Texas schoolboy football), two state finalists (1970 and 1975), two state semifinalists (1977 and 1978) one regional finalist (1973) and one district co-championship (1971).

Permian has been excellent in every stage of their record. Their loss to Amarillo High (who went on to win District 4-AAAA) this year was their only setback in non-district action in the 70s, as Mojo compiled a 28-1 mark.

In Barrett Stadium, where Permian and all of the Odessa schools play their home games, Mojo had an outstanding record of 59-2.

In District 5-AAAA action, perennially one of the toughest conferences in Texas, Permian was 62-8. San Angelo Central was the toughest foe for Mojo in the 70s in 5-AAAA, compiling three wins against Permian. All of the wins for San Angelo came under Smitty Hill, but Hill was forced to resign for not bringing the Bobcats a district championship. Cooper and Lee beat Permian twice, with Midland defeating Mojo once. Big Spring, Odessa and Abilene failed in overcoming Permian in the win column.

And Permian also had a very successful playoff record of 19-5-1. Another fact in the north Odessa school's playoff record is that in their six trips to the playoffs, Permian never lost in bi-district, and only once failed to make it as far as the semifinals when they reached the playoffs.

Does playoff experience count? In District 5-AAAA, it appears so. Three of the four times that someone other than Permian represented 5-AAAA in the playoffs in the Decade of the 70s, they were beaten in the first round in bi-district. Midland Lee won bi-district in 1976, but lost to Arlington Houston the next week.

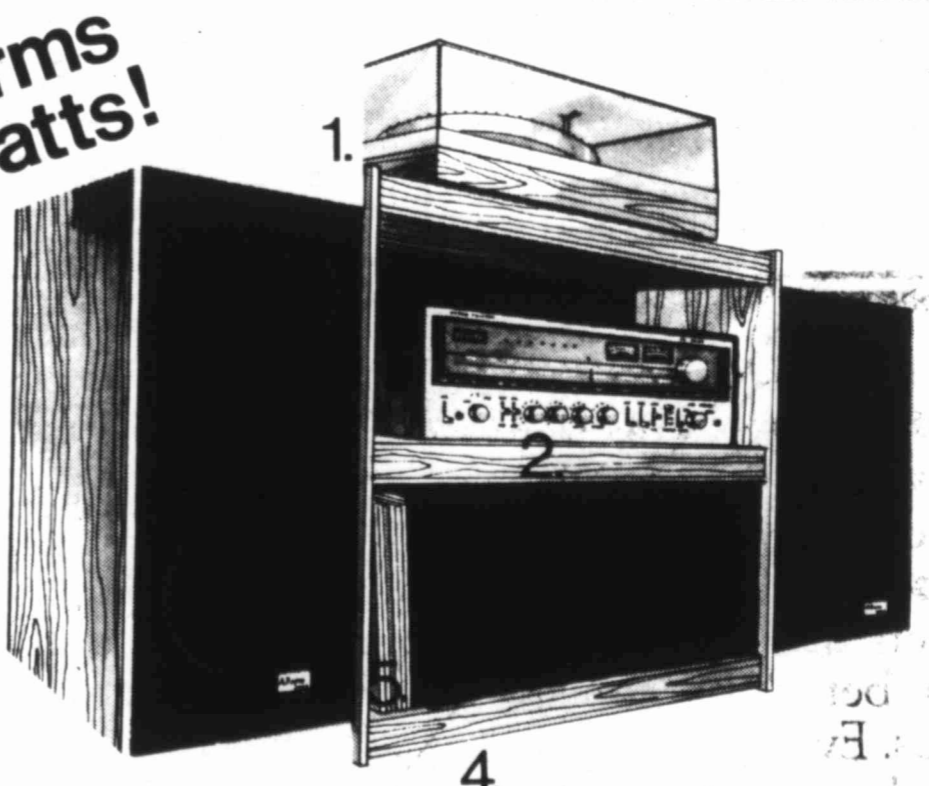

Permian's current head coach, John Wilkins, has a record that would make most mentors envious, but his winning percentage at Permian is ranked third in comparison to the other two bosses in Mojoland in the 70s.

Wilkins has a record of 72-12-1 in his seven seasons at Permian for a percentage of .853. Gene Mayfield served the 1970 season before departing to take over the program at West Texas State. Mayfield's record at Permian in 1970 was 14-1 for a percentage of .933.

The top percentage, however, goes to Gil Bartosh. Bartosh, who now serves at Midland Lee, was 23-1 for a .958 percentage in his two year stint (71-72) at Permian, including a state championship. Bartosh served as an assistant at A&M and as the head coach at UTEP between his coaching years at Permian and Lee.

Palmer's record reveals gross underpayment

TORONTO (AP) — Baseball's best pitcher over the last decade was all dressed up today with no place to go — a pawn of Baltimore's tight-fisted salary policy.

"It's not that I am unhappy with Baltimore — it's a great city and I am one of its strongest boosters," said Jim Palmer, three-time Cy Young winner of the American League champion Orioles, who in a unique move has offered himself up as trade bait.

"But I am aggravated because I feel I am grossly underpaid and have been for most of my career."

Few people will question that. Only this week, in the midst of the annual baseball meetings here, Palmer was officially proclaimed the winningest pitcher of the 1970s, compiling 186 victories.

During that period, he was a 20-game winner in eight of the 10 seasons, pitched in five World Series and registered 44 shutouts, a record unmatched in the majors.

Yet, going into a new season and new decade, he faced the prospect of a $30,000 cut in his already sub-standard $260,000 salary.

"It's automatic under my contract because I pitched in only 23 games," he said. "I was bothered with a sore shoulder from June to September but I had my full strength at the end and contributed to the Orioles in both the playoffs and the World Series."

"At 34, I am sure I have several profitable years left in my system."

Unable to convince the Orioles that his present contract with two years to run should be upgraded at least to a plateau of respectability, he requested that he be put on the open market.

"I initiated it," Palmer said from Baltimore before setting out for the Super Stars competition in the Bahamas. "I have to probe new alternatives. Can you name another pitcher in baseball who will take a $30,000 cut this year?"

The tall, stylish right-hander said he felt he had become a villain in the eyes of both Oriole fans and management because of his persistent pressure for a salary commensurate with his contributions.

"That's why I got an agent this year," he said.

WANTS A DIFFERENT SHIRT — Baltimore Oriole pitcher Jim Palmer stands in front of his locker with a lollipop prior to a game with the Cleveland Indians in June 1979. The three-time Cy Young award winner wants to be traded, not because he is unhappy with Baltimore, but because he is aggravated, feeling grossly underpaid and has felt that way for most of his career.

Hawks, Queens hoping to get back on winning track Howard College visits South Plains tonight

LEVELLAND — Both the Howard College men's and women's team will be hoping to get back on the winning track when they visit the south Plains College Texans for games tonight in Western Junior College Conference play.

Both the Hawks and Hawk Queens are coming off losses on Monday night to Western Texas College. The Queens bowed by a score of 77-69, while the Hawks lost a 121-98 decision to the WTC Westerners, the nation's top ranked juco team.

The Queens, now 1-1 in conference play and 8-3 on the year, rallied from a huge first half deficit to within point of WTC, only to run out of gas and lose. Coach Don Stevens is hoping that his shooting star and floor leader, Joanne Lefridge, will break out of a mild shooting slump in tonight's contest.

Lefridge currently is ranked fourth in the Western Conference in scoring with a 14 point per game average, and also ranks third in assists and first in steals. Hawk Queen Shawn Smith is currently fourth in the league in rebounding.

The South Plains women play a slower game than the Queens. They are next to last in the WJC in team scoring, but are rated second, behind Odessa, in team defense. The SPC women have not played a conference game, but compiled a non-conference record of 5-4.

The Hawks played a good game in their loss to WTC, but the powerful Westerners simply had too much firepower for Coach Harold Wilder's Hawks.

6'7" Michael Wallace poured in 47 points against the nation's top ranked team, but the Hawks can't rely on that type of production every night.

The Howard College men are currently 0-2 in WJC play and 7-3 on the year, while South Plains is 0-1 in conference and sports a season mark of 4-6.

Protests overshadowing gymnasts performances

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The withdrawal of the Italian team and the large number of early scoring protests at the 1979 World Gymnastics Championships seem to be an indication that athletes are no longer willing to take a judge's score as the final word.

After the compulsaries, 20 protests were filed, and the resulting score changes boosted the East German women's team to third place. Six protests filed after men's compulsaries and optionals all were denied.

Protests by the Italian women's team were among the eight denied, and rather than accept the ruling, the Italians walked out.

"We contested the technical comedy and we rejected the way the contests (protests) were not accepted," said Bruno Grandi, president of the Italian International Federation of Gymnastics.

Observers say it is unusual for so many protests to be filed after compulsaries, in which each athlete performs a prescribed exercise as a test of his or her technical skill. Protests are more common after optionals — original routines — when judging can be more subjective.

Many feel the protests have increased because this competition decides who will go to the 1980 Olympics. The top 12 of the 33 teams will compete in Moscow.

Prior to the 1979 only six teams were taken from the World Championships. The other six were taken from top scorers in other international meets with neutral judges.

In 1977, the Romanians walked out of the 1978 European Championships, claiming the judges had inflated scores for their top rival, the Soviet Union.

The Italians said their scores on women's floor exercises — their specialty — were much too low and they felt the judging was unfair.

Thomas leads US efforts

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A daring, and almost flawless, exhibition of power and poise by Kurt Thomas in the floor exercise helped thrust the United States out of the gymnastics ice age and into the limelight with its first medal in international competition.

Thomas, the defending champion in the event, stole the show from Soviet and Japanese rivals when he uncorked the ever-popular "Thomas Flair" and brought the enthusiastic, pro-American crowd to its feet Wednesday at 1979 World Gymnastics Championships.

He received 9.90 point for his optional routine, but the enthusiastic, pro-American audience erupted with a round of boos for the five judges.

Thomas' efforts also clinched the bronze medal for the United States in the men's team competition behind the Soviets and the Japanese. The third-place finish assured the U.S. men's team a spot in the 1980 Moscow Olympics.

Optionals in the women's events were scheduled Thursday with Illinois' Kathy Johnson favored to place high in the floor exercise, the event that won her a bronze medal in Strasbourg.

On the horizontal bar, the Indiana State graduate also unveiled a triple back somersault dismount that earned 9.90 and solidified his second-place hold in the all-around behind Alexander Dittman of the Soviet Union.

18th century Williamsburg Christmas re-created in 20th century Big Spring

By ROBBI CROW
Family News Editor

The very instant you stepped foot in the candlelit residence of Mrs. Jack Lipscombe, 20th century Big Spring disappeared and the scent of bayberry carried everyone back to the colonial days in Williamsburg, Va.

The setting pictured a host of women attired in long traditional, full-skirted dresses defined in the back with big-bowed sashes. Some even wore bonnets and lace-trimmed caps depicting the style of that particular period.

The serving table was lavishly set with an abundance of food, including baked ham, scalloped tomatoes, sweet potatoes and pecan pie. The aroma of these and other homemade dishes circulated the atmosphere as members and guests of the Captain Elisha Mack Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution enjoyed Christmas in Williamsburg Monday evening at 2404 Allendale.

Only the illumination from the many bayberry scented candles lighted the setting just as it was in earlier Williamsburg Christmases. And the recipes served at the dinner were only those early colonists feasted on during their Christmas holiday season.

Christmas as it was in the beginning colonial days."

Mrs. John Damron presented the program for the evening which took those in attendance even farther into the wonderland of Williamsburg.

Christmas season slides taken recently in the colonial town were shown by Mrs. Damron who explained that the residents of Williamsburg still strive to preserve the traditions started by America's founding fathers.

"Christmas Day was sacred in Williamsburg," revealed Mrs. Damron, "and the only activity of the day was church service."

However, she went on to say that a two-week festival was held which represented a time of many celebrations for the colonists which lasted through New Year's Day.

Although early Williamsburg colonists did not practice the tradition of gift exchange during the Christmas season, members of the Captain Elisha Mack Chapter ended their evening of Christmas in Williamsburg in this way.

The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution was founded in 1890. The wife of President Benjamin Harrison was the first president-general. The formation of the society was the result of an upsurge in patriotism and a desire to honor those men and women whose sacrifices made the country free and independent.

Three major aims of the DAR, a non-political organization, are historical, educational and patriotic.

"The DAR is interested in preserving active personal participation in the effort to preserve the American heritage of personal, economic, political and religious freedom," explained Mrs. Lipscombe.

Other aims include influencing current affairs having to do with such matters as patriotic education, selective immigration and military preparedness; and promoting and assisting in the proper celebration of such anniversaries as Washington's birthday, Flag Day, and July Fourth.

The DAR also strives to maintain alertness against any forces that seek to undermine the American way of life and to destroy the democratic form of government.

In the field of education, two schools in the Appalachian area are maintained by the society, including Tamassee DAR School in South Carolina for boys and girls who need a home and education grades one through 8 and the Kate Duncan Smith DAR school in Alabama which is a day school, kindergarten through the 12th grade.

Other schools contributed to by the DAR include St. Mary's Episcopal School for the Indian girls in Springfield, S.D. and Bacone College in Muskogee, Okla.

"Contests, scholarships and awards are incentives used to stimulate interest of young people to become good citizens," said Mrs. Lipscombe.

As early as 1910, DAR members pioneered in assisting immigrants who lived in their local communities to become naturalized citizens. Many of these newcomers did not speak English and did not know how to become citizens. In an effort to help them, the DAR has compiled and published a "Manual for Citizenship" since 1921. Almost 10,000,000 copies have been distributed.

Captain Elisha Mack Chapter in Big Spring was founded in 1974 with Mrs. Helen Dawson Cobean serving as organizing regent.

"We present a Good Citizenship medal to a graduating boy or girl who demonstrates specific qualities of leadership and patriotism," Mrs. Lipscombe stated.

Helen Early and Margaret Barnett are chapter representatives at the Veterans Administration Medical Center. Marsha Helen Ewing has distributed "Manuals for Citizenship" in local school libraries.

Several years ago, a bookcase for the genealogical section was donated to the Howard County Library and books on genealogy and history are donated during the year. Monies for projects, national and local, are obtained from the members' dues and yearly pecan sale.

Local officers include Mrs. Lipscombe, regent; Mrs. Barnett, vice regent; Mrs. Bob Wren, chaplain; Mrs. Lola Kilman, recording secretary; Mrs. J.W. Tipton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L.J. Jeter, treasurer; Mrs. Stanley Reid, registrar; Mrs. John Key, historian and Mrs. Bill Early, librarian.

Women over 18 years of age who are descended from a man or woman who with unfailing loyalty to the cause of American independence, served as a sailor or soldier or civil officer in one of the colonies or states or as a recognized patriot are eligible for membership.

Recipes

Little did the first colonists of Williamsburg, Va., know that the Big Spring DAR chapter would recreate their own Williamsburg right here in Big Spring.

Below are a number of recipes served at some of the nation's very first Christmases. Many are still served today at famous Williamsburg inns.

Helen Ewing's SCALLOPED TOMATOES

- 1 small onion, chopped
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1 1/2 cups dry, unseasoned bread cubes
- 1/2 cup light brown sugar
- 5 cups (2 1/2 pounds) canned tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper, freshly ground

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease shallow earthenware or other casserole. Sauté onion in butter until soft, but not brown. Add bread cubes and brown sugar, stirring over low heat for 3 to 5 minutes.

Stir in tomatoes; season to taste. Put tomatoes in prepared casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes or until casserole is bubbly.

Sara Tipton's KING'S ARMS TAVERN SWEET POTATOES

- (8-10 servings)
- 2 pounds sweet potatoes
- 3/4 cup light brown sugar, packed, divided
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk

Preheat the oven to 400 F. Grease a 1 1/2-quart casserole. Cook the sweet potatoes in boiling salted water until done; drain, peel, and mash them. Stir in all of the remaining ingredients except 2 tablespoons of sugar. Turn the mixture into the prepared casserole and sprinkle with the remaining sugar. Bake at 400 F. for 30 minutes.

Lena Newman's PECAN PIE

- 4 eggs
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups light corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon butter, melted
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup pecan halves

Prepare the pie shell. Preheat the oven to 400 F. Beat the eggs lightly and add the sugar, salt, corn syrup, cooled butter, and vanilla; stir until mixed well. Spread the pecan halves on the bottom crust and cover with the filling. Place in the oven and immediately reduce the heat to 350 F. Bake for 40 to 50 minutes or until the mixture is firm in the center. Cool.

Sue Ann Damron's KING'S ARMS TAVERN CREAMED CELERY WITH PECANS

- 4 cups celery, cut diagonally in 1/2 inch pieces
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup pecan halves
- Buttered bread crumbs

Preheat the oven to 400 F. Grease a 1 1/2-quart casserole. Boil the celery in enough water to cover until tender; drain. Melt the butter over medium heat; stir in the flour and slowly add the milk to make a cream sauce, stirring until thick and smooth. Add the salt and well-drained celery. Spoon into the prepared casserole, top with pecans, and cover with buttered bread crumbs. Bake at 400 F for 15 minutes.

TAVERN SPOON BREAD

(8 servings)

Spoon bread, or batter bread, is a custardy corn bread served soufflé-hot from the dish, preferably earthenware, in which it is baked. It is said that the recipe "just happened" when a mixture used to make a corn bread enriched by milk and egg was left forgotten in a hot oven. Virginians have ever since made spoon bread one of their favored foods. It is excellent served with herring roe, bacon or fried apples.

1 1/2 cups water
2 cups milk
1/2 cups cornmeal
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons butter
5 eggs
1 tablespoon baking powder

Preheat the oven to 350 F. Grease a large shallow baking dish.
Combine the water and milk and heat to simmer.
Add the cornmeal, salt, sugar and butter, and stir over medium heat until the mixture is thickened, about 5 minutes. Remove from the heat.

Beat the eggs with the baking powder until they are very light and fluffy, then add them to the cornmeal mixture. Mix well. Pour into the prepared dish and bake at 350 F. for 45 to 50 minutes. Serve hot.

HAM
(pre-cooked or boiled)
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 cup crumbs
1 teaspoon ground cloves
3 tablespoons honey, dry sherry, or sweet-pickle vinegar

Preheat oven to 375 F. Combine the brown sugar, bread crumbs, and cloves and press the mixture into the ham.
Place the ham in a shallow baking pan and bake at 375 F for 15 minutes or until the sugar melts. Remove from the oven and drizzle honey, sherry or sweet-pickle vinegar on the ham. Return to the oven for 15 minutes. Serve, garnished with Branded Peaches.

BRANDED PEACHES
(1 quart)
2 cans (1 lb., 13 oz. each) peach halves
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup brandy, preferably a peach or fruit brandy
3 to 4 drops almond extract
Drain the peaches and reserve 1 cup of the juice. Boil the reserved peach juice until it is reduced to 1/2 cup. Add 1/2 cup of sugar and 1/2 cup of brandy to the juice. Mix well. Add the almond extract. Cool. Pour the brandy syrup over the peaches and serve, or pack the peaches in a sterilized quart glass jar, add the brandy syrup, and seal. (To remove the alcohol, add the peach brandy to the peach juice and boil a few minutes.)

Jim and I met 10 years ago when I was an old 14 and he was 23. We were instantaneously attracted to each other on a physical basis, but because of a nine-year age difference, we resisted the tremendous temptation to indulge our feelings. But after a year of knowing one another, we discovered that we had many common interests, hopes and dreams. At this point, we had no romance, but we had a true, spiritual, friendship. Before I was 16, I was devotedly in love with him, and he with me.

Just as our relationship was reaching utopia, his company decided to transfer him 500 miles away from me. Panic and fear raced through my blood. Separation appeared to be the inevmarriage because so few work. Mine was the glorious exception. As a social worker, I deal with youth myself. My successful marriage hasn't blinded me to statistics, so I seldom condone youthful marriages. I just wanted for you to realize that some do work. — Sincerely, Charlotte Stewart, Marshall, Texas

Eight years ago I married the most magnificent and finest man God created! He not only saw me through two years of high school, but also four years of college. What more can I say?

If I had listened to the advice of well-meaning friends, relatives and authorities, Jim and I would have parted. I had to tell my parents that I was pregnant just to get them to sign the consent forms! It all seems like a ludicrous dream now. You are certainly a severe conservative that never condones teen-age

Charlotte: The primary reason I'm opposed to serious affairs and marriage before teens are out of high school is that I believe it robs them of their chances to be individuals, to have independence and to enjoy an active school social life. I'm aware that many young relationships and marriages are beautiful and lasting but the odds are against them and I've got to go with the odds.

Scenic Chapter to hold bazaar

The Scenic Chapter of American Business Women's Association met Tuesday evening at the La Posada Restaurant.

The speaker was Sarah Higgins, promotional manager of the Big Spring Herald. Mrs. Higgins received her BA degree in business and art at the University of Wisconsin. Before coming to Big Spring she worked for the Odessa American as a commercial artist. She is the only woman in management at the Herald.

Mrs. Higgins said the latest statistics from the Labor Department (from Feb. 1979) show the total number of workers in publishing and printing is 1,211,800. Of that number 471,000 or 39 percent are women. Another survey represent 29 percent of all all owners in the group are women and that women represent 29 percent of all salaried managers. These statistics include printing, sales, typography, and graphic arts.

Chamber chooses Artist of month

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce has selected Mrs. Betty Thomas to reign as the December Artist of the Month.

Mrs. Thomas began taking painting lessons from Virginia Whitten 1 1/2 years ago and unleashed her hidden talent and love for painting.

She states that through her experiences with all mediums, including oil, pen ink and charcoal, she especially likes painting in watercolor.

"My paintings reveal my love of trees," Mrs. Thomas women represent 29 percent of all salaried managers. These statistics include printing, sales, typography, and graphic arts.

Zennia Haston, switchboard operator at the Big Spring Hospital gave the vocational talk. She has been working switchboards for the past 34 years in places including Webb Air Force Base, Southwestern Bell and the hospital.
Delores Le Vier, Ways and Means Chairman reminded everyone of the Bazaar to be held at Highland Center on Dec. 15. The money will go to the scholarship fund.
Guests at the meeting were Pearly Mason, De Oceana Chapter, Redondo Beach, Calif.; Norene Murphy and Leona Wiggins from Scurry Charter Chapter and Linda Gray explained, "which stems from my having lived here with few trees all of my life." She is a graduate of TWU and is married to R.C. Thomas, a farmer. She is the mother of five children.

Besides her personal interests of sewing, baking and reading, Mrs. Thomas is very involved in teaching a class of young women at Prairie View Baptist Church as well as helping teach homemaking skills to the Spanish women in her community. Her work will be on display at the Chamber the month of January.

Bride Bridles At Glower Girl

DEAR ABBY: I'm in a terrible spot and need your advice. I'm in love with a terrific man I'll call Larry. We plan to be married soon. Larry has a 7-year-old daughter I'll call Linda. Linda lives with her mother, from whom Larry has been divorced for three years, but he has the child every other weekend. She's spoiled, selfish, whiny and obnoxious, but Linda has her father wrapped around her little finger. She hangs on him constantly and if he touches me, she pouts. Naturally this irritates me and I'm not very good at hiding my feelings.

Larry asked me if Linda could be our flower girl, and before I knew what a little stinker she was, I said yes. Now I realize it was a big mistake. This is my first wedding, Abby, and I want it to be MY day, but with Linda hanging all over Larry and pushing me in the background, my wedding will be ruined.

I've asked Larry to tell Linda we're not having the big wedding - we're going away to be married quietly instead. (She'll never know the difference.) Then after we return from our honeymoon we'll take Linda to Disney World to make it up to her.

Larry doesn't think it will work. What do you think?
ON THE SPOT

DEAR ON: I don't think it will work either. Be wise and proceed with your original plan. And if you want a lasting marriage, I urge you to seek professional help in learning how to cope with Linda. Her jealousy is understandable. She's a 7-year-old who "lost" her father when she was 4 and is now facing the threat of losing him again.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman (in her 80s) who would come to an 83-year-old man (my father) and tell him that she had to rid her conscience (after 50 years) of the fact that years ago my mother had been unfaithful to him? Mother has been in a rest home for the last six years, totally out of touch with reality.

My father, who had always been alert and in good health, has been in a state of shock ever since. He said he never in the world suspected anything like this from my mother. He used to visit her twice a day, but hasn't been to see her since. He even turned her picture to the wall.
USED TO LIVE ON OREGON STREET

DEAR USED TO: The woman who brought your father the news could be mentally disturbed, senile or lying. Explain this to your father in an effort to comfort him.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to REALISTIC IN MASS. What gives her the right to be so critical of couples living together?

"Don't get me wrong; I'm 24, single and living alone. But if 'Mr. Right' comes along, I sure hope we live together before any final ties are made."

Six years ago I married a man I really thought I knew and understood. Six months later we filed for divorce.

If we had lived together for six months, a lot of pain and unnecessary expense could have been avoided.

I'm not thinking of myself; the "unnecessary expenses" came out of parents' pockets!

Local artists awarded at out-of-town shows

Two nearby area art shows this past week-end resulted in further ribbons and cash prizes for several Big Spring artists.

Andrews Art Guild was judged by Stan Jacobs of Midland. Roberta Ross received a second place with "Yucca", an oil, and honorable mention with "The Old One", a pastel lion head. Dalmar (M. Conway) received honorable mention with "Chip", a pastel portrait. The Best-in-Show award went to an Odessa artist.

In Seminole, judged by Dale Hamlett of Portales,

N.M., Patricia Peterson Kotz was awarded two second places, one with "Lavender & Laces," pencil division, the other "Silhouettes" in mixed media. Becky Smiley received third place with "Night Scene", and acrylic; and Dalmar was awarded honorable mention for "Airborne" in the miniature division.

Coy McCann received a second place award with his "Gun Runner" in the sculpture division. Twin Best-in-Show awards were given, one to a Seminole artist, the other to a Lubbock artist.

Art exhibit on display

The Big Country Citation Art Show, a traveling exhibit, will on display at First Federal Savings and Loan Association during the month of December.

Twenty paintings were selected from approximately 191 paintings entered in the annual Big Country meeting which was held in Abilene last September.

These selected paintings go on a ten-month tour of the various counties, remaining a month in each town. There are 15 counties represented in the Big Country Association, and more than 100 members under the sponsorship of Texas Fine Arts Association of Austin.

One Big Spring artist has a painting in the current circuit show, "Why," a portrait of Vietnamese, by Letha Lewis.

RING AROUND THE PLANET — A photograph released Wednesday in Washington by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration clearly shows the rings around the planet Saturn. The agency said the computer-enhanced picture is the best yet available of the planet and its rings. The picture was taken by Pioneer Saturn in August from a distance of 1.5 million miles. The small bright spot below the planet is its moon, Rhea.

Is real estate industry really in for dark days?

NEW YORK (AP) — At the end of September some 2,330,845 people were licensed to sell real estate. One month later the number had dropped by 10.43 percent to 2,087,748, or a loss of nearly 8,000 a day.

The departure from the industry of more than 243,000 people is being interpreted as evidence of a weakening marketplace, and in turn as an omen of dark days for the real estate industry.

William Moore disagrees. From the industry point of view, says Moore, the decline represents a healthy weeding out. "In the past few years," he said, "zillions of people came into this business."

In his opinion, many of those who are leaving the business weren't committed to it as a profession, and Bill Moore is.

Head of one of the larger Colorado firms, Moore and Company, Bill Moore is also next year's head of the Realtors National Marketing Institute, educational arm of the National Association of Realtors.

Moore is one of those people openly distressed by the low level of competence so evident in many real estate sales people, but nobody knows the feeling better than the customer who must rely on them.

Uncounted numbers of potential buyers have found to their dismay that some sales people have almost no knowledge about a property and, moreover, have made little effort to familiarize themselves with it.

Simple but vital questions about the type of heat or the size of taxes sometimes can't be answered by the salesperson, whose firm stands to make a commission of 5 percent to 7 percent if the sale goes through.

Moore grimaces when he hears such tales. It's bad, he admits. "It doesn't take much to get licensed," he says. And he confesses that the requirements for becoming a Realtor aren't a great deal more difficult.

He feels the industry is stronger for having lost some of these sales people, and he hopes that those who remain will raise their level of knowledge, particularly through courses his institute offers.

Education, he says, is his thing. Through certificate programs he hopes to make more Realtors specialists in various aspects of their craft. "To give them a Master's Degree," so to speak.

The institute's degrees are the CRS, or Certified Resident Specialist, the CCIM, or Certified Commercial-Investor Member, and the CRB, or Certified Real Estate Brokerage Manager. Each requires the completion of five courses and a final examination.

Attesting to a growing recognition of the desirability of intensive education is a rise to 15,000 from 5,000 in three number of Realtors who have taken the institute's courses in the past year.

Moore views his challenge as that of upgrading the industry, making practitioners "more professional, more knowledgeable, more aware of their responsibilities to the buyer and seller." After a pause, he adds: "It's sorely needed in our industry."

College accredited Biblical studies to be offered here

Dr. George Davis of the Criswell Center for Biblical Studies in Dallas will be at Hillcrest Baptist Church, 2000 FM 700, Sunday to talk with persons interested in beginning studies with the institute on a local basis.

According to Hillcrest Baptist Church pastor, the Rev. Phillip McClendon, there has been a need for college accredited Biblical studies in this area for people going into the ministry and for interested laymen of local churches.

The Criswell Institute, a ministry of the First Baptist Church in Dallas, is considered one of the best of Biblical colleges and has turned out ministers in high demand, including several local ministers.

The Institute, in cooperation with Hillcrest Baptist Church, will begin offering courses here in January. The pilot program will begin with one course, an Introduction to the Old Testament. McClendon hopes to see the program eventually develop into an extensive Bible college here.

Hillcrest Baptist Church will not profit from the course, according to McClendon, and must have some definite commitments in order to break even on the venture. Instructors from the Criswell Institute in Dallas will commute here to teach the course. A goal of 40 students is hoped for, said McClendon.

The church is accepting definite commitments at this time. Anyone interested is urged to call Hillcrest Baptist Church, 263-7127.

The first 16-week, four semester hours accredited course will begin Jan. 14 at a cost of $105. Anyone who wishes to help finance another person's way through the course is also urged to contact the church.

Prospective students may call the church prior to Davis' arrival to make an appointment to speak with him. He will, according to McClendon, be here to answer questions and give an overview of the course.

Davis will also preach during Sunday services at the church.

'Bailout' or 'boondoggle'

By CONG. CHARLES STENHOLM
WASHINGTON, D.C. — A $1.5 billion stamp of approval of poor management practices and non-competitive wage increases is currently being pushed through Congress.

Supported by the Administration and carefully marshalled by a powerful — and expensive — lobbying effort, the Chrysler "bailout" sets an unwise, open-ended precedent, and is, in my opinion, a classic government "boondoggle."

There is no doubt that the mammoth manufacturer is in trouble. And both management and labor have to take their share of the blame for those problems. Poor management practices will put the firm in the red to the tune of nearly $700 on every vehicle it sells this year. Yet, the company's cash registers have racked up sales of $65 billion since 1974, with a cumulative net loss of $665 million. That, to me, suggests that major surgery is necessary, such as dropping some product lines, closing inefficient plants or development of a new, more selective, competitive marketing strategy.

These are precisely the kinds of drastic steps that other failing firms are forced to undertake every day. Are we in essence saying that henceforth any company and its work-force big enough and capable of mounting a strong enough lobbying campaign can be exempted from competition and can avoid the pain and inconvenience of reorganization.

These jobs would be threatened only in the event of a complete and total liquidation, which is only a risk, not a certainty. Automotive industry jobs are likely to shift, not disappear, however. Even if Chrysler fails completely, the total number of U.S. vehicle sales is not likely to decline measurably, meaning no net loss of jobs downstream of the factory gate — truckers, dealers, mechanics and so forth — which represent better than 20 per cent of the total.

In short, the advocates are confusing the possibility of temporary employment turnover with permanent net job losses. If the free enterprise system is to work, you must preserve the right to fail as well as succeed. My vote on the Chrysler bailout is "NO."

On the other side of the Chrysler see-saw, the United Auto Workers (UAW) did the firm the "big favor" of limiting their pay increases to a cost-of-living allowance that will give the average assembly line worker at least a $10,000 raise during the next three years, and, if inflation continues at the present 13 per cent rate, an increase of $13,500.

I know of very few people in the 17th Congressional District that are going to be looking at a 30 percent-plus increase in wages in the next three years, yet this is what the UAW are saying that they are sacrificing and this is why we in the Congress should vote to give $1.5 billion of taxpayer's money to Chrysler.

High tax or rationing, which would you like?

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a "growing consensus" among President Carter's advisers that he should recommend a big increase in the federal gasoline tax or gasoline rationing to reduce oil consumption, says a high administration official.

"It boils down to choices between rationing or taxes," the official said in an interview Wednesday. He did not want to be identified.

He indicated an increase in the gasoline tax is considered the more likely choice because a rationing program would require a larger government bureaucracy to administer and because a tax would fit what the official described as the "free economy concept" of reducing consumption.

He said the amount of a proposed tax could range as high as 50 cents per gallon, although it could be substantially less. The gasoline tax is now 4 cents per gallon.

The official said a decision has not been made among Carter's advisers on whether even to recommend the tax to the president. He said some advisers remain skeptical that either a gasoline tax or gasoline rationing would work to reduce consumption. He said other options are also still under consideration, including establishment of oil import quotas. But he stressed there is "a growing consensus" in favor of either taxes or rationing.

Congress earlier this year approved legislation that would allow rationing when there was a 20 percent reduction in supplies. The administration would have to go back to Congress to change that legislation if it wanted to impose rationing to encourage conservation. CBS News reported Wednesday night that the Energy Department has come up with a standby rationing plan to handle a 20 percent gasoline shortage. That plan would reportedly give ordinary motorists about three-quarters of their normal usage. For the alternative rationing plan to force conservation, CBS said, the department is studying two options. Under one, each car would carry a sticker saying which day of the week it would have to stand idle. The other would permit a particular car to be filled up only on a certain day each week.

The administration official said one appealing feature of an increase in the gasoline tax is that tax receipts could be used to offset a possible reduction in Social Security payroll taxes, which are scheduled to rise sharply in 1981. He said they also could be used to provide new investment incentives for business through an accelerated depreciation allowance.

He said a proposal could be ready for the president within a few weeks. Carter has asked his advisers to recommend options for reducing oil consumption that he could include in his January budget message to Congress.

In-flight fight brings down plane

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Lent says all he wanted was a non-smoking seat on the Washington-to-New York shuttle flight. When the smoke cleared, he had it — on another plane.

Capt. Larry Kinsey interrupted the 52-minute flight Wednesday, landing at Baltimore-Washington International Airport in Linthicum, Md., after quarreling broke out between smokers and non-smokers.

Witnesses said the trouble began when Lent, a non-smoker who was sitting in the smoking section, demanded that his area be made non-smoking. Flight attendants complied, but some passengers in nearby seats apparently were not aware of the change and lit up.

Eastern spokesman Gil Perloth said Lent, a Washington tax attorney, became angry, but turned down a seat offered on the next flight out.

Meanwhile, the flight took off, and attendants asked, but could find no volunteers to change seats with Lent, Perloth said.

Kinsey, mindful that federal rules require enough non-smoking room for non-smokers, emerged from the forward hatch and ordered those around Lent to stop puffing.

The smokers reportedly remained defiant. "I cannot have an insurrection on my aircraft," Kinsey reportedly said, and brought the 727 and its 177 passengers down.

Some of the passengers canceled their flights at Baltimore-Washington, and others were put on a different plane with a new crew, arriving at La Guardia Airport nearly three hours late.

"It was silly and childish," said passenger Emory Kristof of Washington. "I haven't seen a display like this since kindergarten."

Kristof said Lent threatened legal action because those around him were "assaulting him with smoke."

A senior flight attendant quoted Lent as saying, "I'll show you how it's done," just prior to the ruckus.

But Lent, reached by telephone Wednesday, denied making the comment, saying, all he "wanted was a no-smoking seat. Once I got that, I was out of it. The rest of what happened didn't involve me."

Passenger and smoker Harry Fisdell, executive vice president of the New York Newspaper Guild, then quoted Kinsey as saying: "This insurrection has to stop, or I'm going to land the plane!"

"Two minutes later, the pilot comes over again and says 'Well, the insurrection hasn't stopped. I'm landing.' And he did."

'Annie' has gone gold

NEW YORK (AP) — Leapin' lizards, "Annie" has gone gold.

The announcement that the original cast recording of the hit Broadway musical has sold 500,000 copies was made following Wednesday's matinee at the Alvin Theater.

On hand for the gold record festivities were a trio of Annies, including the original, Andrea McArdie and her successors, Shelly Bruce and Sarah Jessica Parker.

Daddy Warbucks, in the presence of Reid Sheldon who has been with the show since it opened in April 1977, also put in an appearance. The musical is based on the comic strip "Little Orphan Annie."

LIV ULLMANN

Actress supports cause

NEW YORK (AP) — Showfolk have raised more than $192,000 for Cambodian refugees by passing the plate among audiences at the end of performances. Broadway, off-Broadway and regional theaters were involved.

Liv Ullmann, last seen on Broadway in the musical "I Remember Mama," Wednesday presented a check for $192,841 to the International Rescue Committee to be used to help Cambodia's homeless.

Actor Michael Moriarty said the committee has "medical teams consisting of 58 doctors, nurses, paramedics and lab assistants ... now active along the Thai-Cambodian border."

Miss Ullmann said the group's goal was to raise $200,000 by Saturday.

Prestigious pad costly

NEW YORK (AP) — Russian ballet Rudolf Nureyev just shelled out $350,000 sight unseen for an apartment at the famous Dakota, according to tenants quoted by the New York Daily News.

The News said Nureyev was in Paris when his agent, Barry Weinstein, called Wednesday and told him an apartment at the prestigious address — called home by Lauren Bacall and John Lennon — was available.

The celebrated apartment building on New York's West Side was used in the horror film, "Rosemary's Baby."

Chicago school system minus $8 million

CHICAGO (AP) — More than $8 million in voluntary employee deductions is missing, says the president of the financially strapped Chicago school system, including $2.4 million from the teachers' pension fund.

Catherine Rohter said Wednesday she would meet with the board's attorney to discuss whether any laws were violated in an apparent raiding of voluntary employee deduction funds.

"This is shocking news because we are not somebody they owe — this is money taken from the teachers," said Robert M. Healey, president of the Chicago Teachers Union. "This money should have been transmitted to the union."

Mrs. Rohter said diversion of the pension money represents a violation of "federal" law, contractual agreement and it is a violation of trust.

"The voluntary deductions belonged to our employees; it is not our money. It is different from the money owed the vendors, and the board members are extremely concerned," she said.

Mrs. Rohter did not say who had diverted the money or for what purposes it was used.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Sun-Times reported today that a proposal to bail the system out of its financial crisis has been hammered out in a cooperative arrangement between bankers, city and state officials.

But the newspaper reported the plan still had not been approved by Gov. James R. Thompson and that parts of it would have to be approved by the Legislature next spring.

Mrs. Rohter also said the school board has unpaid bills totaling $36.1 million as of Nov. 30, including millions of dollars in state and federal withholding taxes that were collected but not paid to the respective governments.

The figures used by Mrs. Rohter were prepared by Arthur Andersen & Co., the accounting firm hired by the board to examine the school system's financial records. Mrs. Rohter said the missing $8.1 million in voluntary deductions includes $2.4 million from the teachers' pensions, $2.9 million in tax-sheltered annuities, $1.5 million from the employees credit union, $600,000 from the municipal pension fund, $400,000 in savings bonds and $300,000 in union dues.

South Korea names acting head of state

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The electoral college elected acting President Choi Kyu-hah president of South Korea today, and he promised to "strive for increased freedom" in South Korea.

Choi, 60, was the only candidate to compete the term of the late President Park Chunghee, who was assassinated on Oct. 26. The term has five more years to run, but Choi said earlier he did not plan to keep the office that long.

Kim Jong-pil, who succeeded Park as head of the Democratic Republican Party and is considered a future presidential candidate, predicted in an interview Wednesday that Choi would serve about two years.

Choi has pledged to replace the 1972 constitution which Park put into effect to perpetuate his dictatorship and then to hold a presidential election by popular vote. The many political foes Park made during his 18 years in office have demanded that the constitution be rewritten immediately and that the election be held in six or seven months.

Joan Kennedy to end self-imposed isolation

BOSTON (AP) — The name on the mailbox reads Bennett. The lady of the house wears no wedding ring. And she's been up since 5 a.m., mopping up water in the kitchen, the result of a broken pipe.

Joan Bennett Kennedy describes herself as a "brand new person" for whom mopping the floor is "part of the fun of living alone." But her self-imposed isolation will end in the spring.

Speaking in a strong, calm voice, the wife of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., says, "I have my old confidence back." In an interview Wednesday at her Boston apartment, she said she is recovering from a hellish bout with alcoholism and that her struggle actually helped bring her closer to her husband.

Her husband is running for president. And when Joan Kennedy completes her studies next May, she plans to hit the road, campaigning full time on his behalf.

"I didn't leave Washington because of so-called pressures of political life," Mrs. Kennedy says. "I wasn't leaving Ted or my family. I left pure and simply because I was a very sick lady and needed a new treatment program. I had tried in Washington, but I had failed."

She described her relationship with the senator as "better than ever," and said her ordeal with drinking has given her "a new appreciation for the tragedies Ted has had to go through in his life."

At 43, Joan Kennedy says her life has changed. The deep lines that creased her face several years ago are gone. Her face is tan and full. She answered questions cautiously at times and referred to handwritten notes. Yet she seemed determined to convey a feeling of confidence.

If her husband is elected president, she said she would like to work teaching music to children in the White House.

When Mrs. Kennedy goes on the campaign trail, she'll be making a move similar to that of two of the Kennedy children. Kara, 19, and Teddy Jr., 18, plan to take next semester off from college to campaign.

She said she doesn't think the added pressure of a campaign will tempt her to drink again.

"I've been through the wars," she said. "I know there will be rough moments. My alcoholism will be an issue, but I'm not worried about that."

Asked when she last had an alcoholic drink, Mrs. Kennedy said, "I asked for advice on how to answer that question and was told to say, 'It doesn't matter how long it's been but how I am today.'"

Mrs. Kennedy is a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, attends meetings regularly and has psychiatric counseling once a week.

"A lot has happened to me in the last couple of years since I've been out of public life. The good news about me is I'm successfully recovering from alcoholism," she said. "The result of this is that I feel I'm a brand new person. I have my old confidence back."

Fems in 50's to be honored

COAHOMA — A great time of fellowship and friendship are planned for the women of Coahoma Saturday, 10 a.m., in the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church of Coahoma.

Each month, a different age group is honored. This month, women in their 50's will be the honored guests. All women not in this age group are asked to bring a covered dish.

A good program is planned and a nursery will be provided for children through age 4.

The first meeting in November was a successful one with about 40 women attending.

Rides are available by calling 394-4344 or the church office, 394-4348, between 9 and 11 a.m. weekdays.

Award made by accountants

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Robert K. Mautz recently received the highest award given by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Mautz received the Gold Medal of the 151,000-member organization during its 92nd annual meeting in New Orleans. Mautz is director of the Paton Accounting Center at the University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration.

On the light side

Plane: Pass with caution

LITTLE FERRY, N.J. (AP) — Motorists understandably did a double take when they saw Bruce Dunham taxiing his airplane down Route 46. Dunham, who had rebuilt the single-engine plane at the Little Ferry Seaplane Base, said it did not have pontoons so he couldn't make a water takeoff. That left just one other way to get it to nearby Teterboro Airport — drive it.

Little Ferry Police Sgt. Robert Seuss said the department occasionally receives requests to escort planes. But he said he hadn't seen a pilot drive to the airport "in many, many years."

The only problem resulting from Tuesday's escort was that apparently nobody told the airport. "I got stuck in the traffic jam behind him," said Airport Coordinator Mike Dineen.

Rose at Harvard Law School

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Strutting to the front of the class in black net stockings, low-cut red dress and frizzy wig, Professor Arthur R. Miller instructed Harvard Law School students on the fine points of legal jurisdiction.

Once a year, the bespectacled Miller turns his lecture on the Erie Railroad case into a spoof of movies, his employer, his students and himself.

On ordinary days, the course is called civil procedure, Section 2, but Wednesday was the "Annual Erie Day Extravaganza." And Miller acted out the case by posing as Betta Midler in "The Rose," as Sylvester Stallone in "Rocky" and as a Supreme Court justice presiding over a TV show called "Miller's Court."

In the five years that Miller has been doing this sort of thing, his fame has spread. Wednesday's show overflowed a Harvard amphitheater.

"I've always thought that law school was too formal and serious," said Miller, 45. "I've been a practical joker since I got into teaching 17 years ago."

The Erie decision was a judicial landmark since it gave precedence to a state law over federal law. Next week, Miller gives a more traditional lecture on the case.

Air travel survey made

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty-five percent of all Americans over 18 years of age have flown on a commercial airliner, according to a survey done for the Air Transport Association.

The 65 percent figure represents 101 million people, a 7 percent increase over 1977 when the last survey was made.

The survey also found that while men account for the great majority of business trips — 82 percent — women account for the majority of personal-pleasure trips — 58 percent.

Tuition hike proposed to aid college building

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Moore first suggested the tuition approach in questioning F. H. McDowell, president of East Texas State University.

"What would you think about using a tuition increase for such a fund?" he asked.

"I'd have no objection," McDowell replied.

Resident tuition is $4 per semester hour, with a $50 per semester minimum. McDowell said doubling the tuition rate would produce about $35 million to $40 million a year.

Moore later said he was "giving some thought" to the tuition idea but at this point did not plan to introduce legislation.

"They have got to have some permanent fund. It (a tuition increase) looks like the logical place. ... The cost of higher education is going up like anything else, and it is ridiculous not to bring tuition up," Moore said.

Texas A&M and the University of Texas at Austin, along with some other schools in their systems, finance construction with income from the $1 billion Permanent University Fund.

Leonard Rauch, chairman of University of Houston regents, said his school is interested in buying land for a buffer around the university, which is located in a rundown part of Houston. He called a night club across from the campus a "dumping ground."

"Some of the people, we feel, don't come to the University of Houston because of what they must drive through to get there," he said.

Rauch, like other university governing board chairmen, endorsed the continued use of formula funding for all state colleges. The formulas guarantee that similar programs will get the same number of dollars per student, no matter where they are located.

But he said the formulas adopted by the Legislature have failed to recognize "the debilitating losses inflation now causes."

He also criticized the Texas College Coordinating Board for watering down formula recommendations made by its special study committees.

"The Coordinating Board staff has, in many cases, reduced the committee recommendations prior to submission to the Coordinating Board."
