

Along border with Iran

Iraqi forces attack

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iraqi forces launched attacks Friday at locations along the border with Iran, the official Tehran radio and television reported.

The Iraqis used heavy artillery and penetrated three miles into Iranian territory, said Hussein Ava, a spokesman for the Iranian Embassy in Washington.

"The Iranian armed forces have confirmed there has been an intrusion of Iraq forces along the Iranian frontier," the Tehran broadcasts said. They did not say precisely where the reported attacks occurred and gave no further details.

The reported Iraqi incursion came as the crisis over the holding of 50 American Embassy hostages here went through its 41st day with no new sign that it may be resolved soon.

The Iranian leadership scoffed at U.S. plans to mobilize an international economic embargo against Iran and said the Soviet Union would never go along with such a move in the United Nations.

In Washington, Defense Department officials said they were unable to confirm the reports of Iraqi border attacks. Iraq's official Baghdad Radio did not mention it.

Iran and Iraq have long had tense relations that periodically erupt into small-scale violence along their common border, particularly in oil-rich Khuzestan province in southwest Iran, to which Iraq has territorial claims.

Since the revolutionary victory of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's forces last February, the Iranians have accused Iraq of providing support to the anti-Khomeini Arab minority in Khuzestan, where saboteurs have attacked oil pipelines, police stations and other targets, and to Kurdish guerrillas in the Kurdistan region of western Iran.

The Kurdish region overlaps the Iraqi-Iranian border. Three months ago Iraqi planes struck villages inside Iranian Kurdistan, apparently searching for bases of Kurds conducting operations against the Iraqi government. Iraq later made a formal apology to Iran.

Earlier Friday, Tehran Radio reported that pro-Khomeini demonstrators in Khuzestan had staged a protest to "give vent to their hatred of the Iraqi Baath regime and pledged support for Imam Khomeini's leadership."

Although 70 percent of Iraqis are Shiite Moslems — like the majority in Iran — the Baath Socialist Party leadership of Iraq is Sunni Moslem.

Christmas Fund above $11,100

Donations for The Christmas Fund, which is being supervised by the Salvation Army, have soared past the $11,100 mark with Christmas less than two weeks away.

The money realized in the campaign will go toward the purchase of food for needy families during the holidays and for toys for under-privileged children.

Checks can be made out to The Christmas Fund and forwarded to the Salvation Army or to The Herald, which is helping coordinate the drive.

HOSTAGE'S MOTHER COMFORTED — Barbara Timm, mother of Marine Sgt. Kevin Hermening of Oak Creek, Wis., is comforted by her husband, Kenneth, after anti-shah demonstrators interrupted a prayer vigil and rally on the Capitol steps Thursday. Hermening is one of the hostages held in the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

Baby makes appearance in humble surroundings

By EILEEN MCGUIRE

In a stalled car, on a wet and icy Big Spring street, a baby entered the world this morning.

Big Spring Patrolmen Sean Curran and William Price were cruising in the vicinity of Bob Brock Ford, 500 W. 4th, 4:55 a.m., when they heard a woman screaming for help.

The frantic woman was standing near a car that had stalled in the street. Inside of the car, lying in the back seat, was the woman's sister-in-law, Eugenia Ortega, and a newborn baby.

The two women, who live in Odessa, had been en route to a midwife on 13th Street when the car hit a water puddle and the motor died. With only his mother and aunt to witness his birth, a healthy 8 pound, 14½ ounce baby boy made his appearance minutes before police arrived.

According to Shaffer Ambulance personnel, who were quickly summoned to the scene, both the mother and baby were in good condition when they arrived to transport them to Malone-Hogan Hospital.

The mother and child are listed in "very good" condition today. The infant has not yet been named.

Until April election

Vacancy won't be filled

By DON WOODS

Big Spring Independent school board members will not appoint a board member to fill the vacancy left by retired trustee Bob West.

School Board President Carol Hunter said after the Thursday night regular meeting the board members did not want to give an edge to the incumbent in the April election when the incumbent had only served three months of a three-year term.

Trustees were considering six candidates. However, none of their names were put on the record.

Trustees received good news in the form of a $100,000 donation earmarked for the construction of an all-weather track at Blankenship Field.

The track will be available to Big Spring citizens and students. Track and field meets will also be scheduled on the facility.

Dawson liquor election set

LAMESA — A liquor local option election will be held in Dawson County Justice Precinct Two Tuesday, Jan. 8.

The election was ordered by county commissioners after Israel Ybanez presented a petition bearing 90 names to the commissioners.

The last such election on the same issue, held in December, 1976, was defeated by 61 votes. Eight months prior to that, the issue was also defeated by 61 votes.

Absentee voting begins next Wednesday for the election and will end Friday, Jan. 4.

Justice Precinct Two is located in the northeast section of the county, embracing Ackerly, Sparenburg and parts of the Key community.

Voting boxes will be set up at the Sparenburg Gin and the Ackerly fire station. The polls will open at 7 a.m., and close at 7 p.m.

The funds were donated by a private foundation.

The 1978-1979 independent audit was presented to the trustees by Auditor George Thorburn. School district revenues were up $148,828 in the fiscal year to $8,664,050 from $8,515,222 of the previous year. Federal funds, state funds, county funds and local funds make up the totals.

Expenses of the 1978-1979 fiscal year, however, left less excess funds than the expenses of the previous year. Expenses left only $84,550 this year compared to $516,644 from the previous year.

Thorburn termed the collection of delinquent taxes "adequate." He said 2,800 statements were mailed and 433 were returned by the post office. A total of 55 taxpayers with delinquent accounts sent checks and two came to Thorburn's office. Collection of delinquent taxes by the end of November was 49 percent.

In the "child nutrition program" audit, Thorburn showed a total of 3,297 children receiving free or reduced price meals.

Thorburn's audit of Title I Program funds showed a balance of $10,819.10 as of Sept. 30. Title I provides state and federal funds for assistance to educationally deprived students.

The Headstart Program, funded by U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare, has a balance of $9,238.63. Total funds provided for the fiscal year were $227,492. The school district provided matching funds of $56,873 for a total program budget of $284,365.

Expenses totaled $218,253.37 with the largest expense being personnel salaries at $179,342.48.

Thorburn was hired again as auditor for the 1979-1980 fiscal year. The Texas Education Code requires districts to submit an independent audit each year.

In other action, trustees discussed a contract with Pritchard and Abbot firm for the appraisal of the district's mineral and industrial properties for the next fiscal year. Cost for the contract will rise from $8,000 last year to $9,000 for the coming year.

The firm has stipulated that if the new appraisal district created by Senate Bill 621 takes on the function of hiring a mineral property appraiser, any contract with the school district will be voided. The contract with the firm as approved.

The 5-year-old Penny was a victim of Cockayne Syndrome, a rare disease that produces rapid aging. Iranian chieftains scoff at economic embargo plans

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The Iranian leadership today scoffed at U.S. plans to mobilize an international economic embargo against Iran and said the Soviet Union would never go along with such a move in the United Nations.

Iran remains adamant in its demand — the exiled shah must be returned before the 50 American Embassy hostages are released, government spokesman Abolghassan Sadegh said.

"If the world wants to climb on Iran's back for the sake of 50 people who are not, in my view, in any danger, the whole thing is completely out of proportion," Sadegh said.

A spokeswoman for the militants holding the embassy said, meanwhile, that the hostages will be allowed to receive Christmas cards, or at least some cards.

She said, "Yes, of course," when asked whether cards would be passed along, and she said some had already been given to the hostages when told that U.S. postal officials report a buildup of almost 100,000 pieces of mail addressed to points in Iran, she paused and said, "Well, I think that would be too much. We'll just have to see."

On Thursday, the 15 NATO foreign ministers, meeting in Belgium, issued a statement denouncing the hostage holding, and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance said the European allies showed "solidarity" with U.S. plans to slow down or block trade with Iran if the hostages are not released soon.

The International Court of Justice is expected to issue a call for the hostages' release this weekend. If Iran does not heed it, the United States plans to seek U.N. Security Council sanctions against Iran. U.S. officials say they believe the Soviet Union will support the move.

But Sadegh told The Associated Press today he does not believe the Soviets will impose anti-Iranian sanctions. And Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini insisted in national broadcasts throughout the day that all nations approached by Vance had "turned down" the U.S. idea.

Americans killed near Istanbul

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Unidentified gunmen today shot and killed three Americans in a resort area near Istanbul, the state radio reported.

The shooting occurred in Florya township.

The radio said one American died at the scene and the other two at a hospital later.

It identified the latter two as Elmer Copper and Robert French. No identification was given for the other victim.

Weather

Snow, freezing rain hit West Texas areas

Snow and freezing rain fell over much of West Texas early today with accumulations of six inches or more expected across much of the South Plains.

Lubbock had six inches of snow on the ground by 4 a.m. and the snowfall was expected to continue for another 8 hours. Elsewhere in West Texas, there were reports of 2 to 5 inches of snow on the ground at several locations. Andrew had three inches of snow on the ground before daybreak.

The snow turned to freezing rain in southern sections of West Texas, including the Concho Valley.

Travelers advisories were issued by the National Weather Service for southern sections of the Panhandle and central and south portions of West Texas because snow and freezing rain sickened streets and highways, making hazardous driving conditions.

The winter storm activity was triggered by an upper air weather disturbance located early today just east of Hobbs, N.M.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 30s and 40s.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Travelers advisory in effect for southern Panhandle, central and south sections today. Cloudy with occasional snow in southern Panhandle and South Plains and snow mixed with rain south. Snow accumulation of 1 to 2 inches possible in southern Panhandle and an additional 1 to 2 inches over South Plains today. Decreasing cloudiness and cold tonight. Mostly fair and warm Saturday. Highs 40s except mid 50s Big Bend valleys. Lows mid 20s mountains and north to near 40 extreme south. Highs Saturday near 60 except mid 60s Big Bend.

Rosalynn 'very, very upset'

ERA touchy subject with Carters

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and his wife, Rosalynn, have disagreed more vehemently on how to handle a touchy Equal Rights Amendment lawsuit than on anything else in the last two years.

The Carters also believe the president's position on that issue cost him the support of the National Organization for Women, which voted last weekend not to endorse him for re-election.

The issue is whether the Justice Department should press to remove U.S. District Judge Marion Callister, a member of the hierarchy of the Mormon Church, from a suit challenging the constitutionality of Congress' extension of the deadline for states to ratify the ERA.

The Mormon Church officially opposes both the ERA itself and the extension of the ratification deadline. But Callister has refused to remove himself from the case, saying he will render an impartial decision.

Mrs. Carter reportedly felt "very strongly" that the government should appeal Callister's decision. The president felt it should not.

At a meeting Thursday with representatives of 17 women's groups, but not NOW, Carter said the issue had caused great friction between him and his wife, according to Sarah Weddington, the president's assistant for women's issues.

A White House official who asked not to be identified said Mrs. Carter was "very, very upset" by the Justice Department's decision against appealing Callister's ruling.

"It has been hard for her to come around to this (the department's) way of thinking," the official said.

Ms. Weddington said she sided with the first lady in the dispute, while Carter's lawyers backed the Justice Department.

"The president said he would not overrule the Justice Department because it was inappropriate to interject politics into the case," Ms. Weddington said.

Doing so, Ms. Weddington contended, would have been tantamount to accusing Callister of lying when he said he would render an impartial decision based on the law and not on the tenets of his church.

Eleanor Smeal, president of NOW, has acknowledged that the president's refusal to seek the judge's removal from the case was an important factor in NOW's decision not to endorse Carter's re-election.

Ms. Smeal has said that Callister's ruling is likely in February, about the time ERA proponents will begin lobbying state legislatures to ratify the amendment.

So far, 35 of the 38 states needed to ratify the amendment before it becomes a part of the Constitution have done so. But five states later tried to rescind their action. So the lawsuit before Callister could have an impact on ratification efforts.

Lamesan draws life sentence

LAMESA — Ruben Ortiz of Lamesa, indicted here as a habitual criminal, was convicted Thursday in 140th District Court of a March 23 attempted burglary and drew a life term in the state penitentiary.

A jury deliberated only ten minutes before returning a verdict in the case.

Ortiz, 33, was charged with trying to break into a storage building. The defendant had had previous convictions in Dawson County for marijuana possession in 1970 and felony theft in 1975.

FRESH WATER FROM AN OLD WELL

Matthew 1:23-25
A young woman became mother of a child without having a husband or committing adultery! This is the grand truth of Christmas. Do not dwell upon the physiological impossibility and cover the holy mystery. He is a "child without a mother in Heaven and without a father on earth." He is Lord of all flesh, and then born of it. He is master of the sun, and yet dwelt under it. He is maker of the earth, and lived upon it. Robed in Heavenly garments, He was wrapped in swaddling clothes. The Word of God became a speechless Babe. The Creator of the World became a subject. Here was omnipotence laid in a manger and later nailed to a cross. What a miracle and mystery the Incarnation!

Companies guard trademarks zealously

Great industrial firms apparently hire people to work around the clock who do nothing but alert publications that they have misused trademarks.

During the Watergate hearings several years ago, Sen. Sam Erwin referred to a document and told a witness, "We'll Xerox a copy for you."

Horrified at the thought that their company's name was being used as a verb, Xerox officials had a lawyer fire off a letter to the venerable statesman from the Carolinas. The attorney pointed out to Sen. Erwin that if people came to think that "Xerox" meant to "photocopy" and not the name of the company, it could lose exclusive rights to the trademark, a blunder that could cost the company millions of dollars.

More recently, Dow Chemical Company has forwarded a letter to this newspaper, reminding us that we erred in identifying the world 'styrafoam' with a lower case S. We stand corrected.

The Coca-Cola Bottling Company, which has long since gone global, will take umbrage if the word 'Coke' is spelled with a lower case C.

Firms, especially those who market their products nationally, are very sensitive about their trademarks, taking care to register them with the government. The advertising expense in building recognition for a name isn't the only problem. New names become increasingly hard to come by. It might surprise you to know there are 500,000 registered trademarks in the United States, and new marks must not resemble existing ones.

Not may trademarks be words that resemble products in other countries. The name "yo-yo" was ruled generic in 1965 after the Royal Topps

Manufacturing Co. proved that yo-yos were spinning around the Philippines years before a firm called Donald F. Duncan, Inc., claimed it had coined the word and tried to adopt it as a trademark.

Company trademark problems are a paradox: While its advertising department works to make the product a household word, its legal department fights to prevent that from happening.

Major firms frequently run advertisements in publications read by writers and editors, explaining correct use of their trademarks. When names like Coke, Band-Aid, Levi's, Vaseline, Dacron or Orion are written lower case in newspapers, magazines, or books, the publications invariably get letters from the trademarks companies saying the names should be capitalized. The letters, as was the missive addressed to the Herald, are invariably cordial but firm.

The trademark often is followed by a word or a phrase. You're supposed to say Dacron polyester, Kleenex tissue, Crayola crayons, Xerox copier, Scotch brand transparent tape and Scrabble crossword game.

If you avail yourself of trademarks in everyday conversation, the companies prefer to have you use them as adjectives. People are prone to discard the phrase following the trademark because it is cumbersome in context and makes a passage sound like a commercial.

When an overwrought youngster looks at a bleeding cut, he is not apt to scream for a "Band-Aid brand adhesive bandage." Trademark or not, what the kid yells for is a Band-Aid, and not necessarily with the capital letters.

Weird claims

Around the rim

James Werrell

Say, how long has it been since we heard from our old friends, the Druids?

A couple of months ago, I noted in a Rim that the Druids were single-handedly responsible for the invention of Halloween. Recently I unearthed information that these wild and wacky tree worshippers were also responsible for the use of holly as decoration at Christmas!

YOU WILL REMEMBER that the Druids invented Halloween by sitting on barren hillsides in front of a bonfire in order to make certain that the sun would continue to shine throughout the next year. Why did they use holly as decoration for their mud huts? You guessed it!

"These woody priests considered the plant's eternally green leaves proof that the sun would never desert them," write the experts.

Early Romans kept the tradition going by hanging holly indoors during the feast of Saturnalia, a mid-winter festival celebrating the return of longer days. It seems, also, that early Christian converts were not exempt from such hoodoism.

These early believers were forbidden from bringing any greens into the home before Christmas Eve. Many of them thought that bringing holly into a house too soon would cause family quarrels and misfortune.

Pliny, an early Roman naturalist, takes the cake for coming up with the weirdest claims for the power of holly. He asserted that a wild animal could be subdued merely by throwing a stick of the plant at it.

He also claimed that holly flowers could make water freeze, and that if the tree was planted near a house it would protect the inhabitants from bad weather, poison and witchcraft.

Medieval English physicians were nearly in Pliny's league with their claims for the seemingly innocent holly plant. They prescribed holly as a cure for colic, but many of the patients who followed the good doctors' advice died from the violent vomiting the berries induced.

CHRISTIANITY IS responsible for another holly legend. The plant was said to have had white berries until the Nativity. When a visitor broke off a branch of a holly tree growing outside the Bethlehem stable and offered it to the Christ Child, the baby pricked his finger on the sharply pointed leaves.

Horribly embarrassed, the holly blushed and its berries have remained red ever since.

The Irish (descendants of the Druids) invented the legend which should have the most significant impact in these modern times. Beware, say the inhabitants of the Emerald Isle, because if the holly is brought inside during fair weather, the wife will rule the household forevermore. But if boughs are brought in during a storm, the husband will be master.

Let's see, the weather looks pretty nasty outside. All I have to do now is hustle down to the florist . . .

Bad news from Gulf

Evans, Novak

JEDDAH, Saudi Arabia — Saudi Arabia has decided on an immediate oil price rise equalling windfall profits by international companies, and that is by no means the worst energy news from the Persian Gulf coinciding with the Iranian crisis.

The still unspecified price rise is no surprise but had not been revealed to U.S. officials. Sheikh Zaki Yamani, Saudi Arabia's petroleum minister, disclosed it to us in an interview at his spacious villa in Jeddah. Much more ominous are hints from Saudi officials that the U.S. cannot count indefinitely on present high Saudi oil production unless there is progress on the Palestinian question.

This is the prospect from America's best friend among big oil-producing Arab states, a nation that views with pride a special relationship with Washington. Elsewhere on the Persian Gulf, the certain prospect is higher prices and lower production in countries who now pump less oil for more money than the Saudis. Finally, Saudi experts bet privately that final resolution of the hostage crisis in Tehran will significantly reduce oil to the West.

AGAINST THIS BACKGROUND, the imminent Saudi price increase is not significant economically but does move away from determination here to hold the price line. The reason given us by Yamani — we did not keep prices down just to increase the profits of the oil companies — duplicated statements to Treasury Secretary G. William Miller on his recent visit here. Yamani says the oil companies can absorb the increase by reverting to previous profit levels, a claim the industry vigorously denies.

The question, then, is how big a price increase. As we were ushered out of Yamani's study, three oil ministry officials entered to start calculating exactly how much of their price restraint has become profit for the companies — and then increase prices that much. That's the man who says we must have this increase, said Yamani, pointing to one official. Not an increase, the aide protested. Only an adjustment.

There is no link of this adjustment to events in Tehran. Saudi officials are appalled by Ayatollah Khomeini, and do not believe his demand to reduce oil production for the West (accompanied by personal denunciation of Sheikh Yamani) will be heeded by other producing states. Even so, reduced production throughout the Gulf is regarded here as inevitable.

That will be dictated by technical reasons and market forces. Add to that what Saudi experts believe will be drastically reduced Iranian oil before the crisis is over. Believe me, one official told us, it won't affect just the Japanese or the Germans. You too will be hurt.

Accordingly, it is critical whether Saudi Arabia keeps pumping oil at its present high level of 9.5 million barrels a day. That rate is attacked here by conservatives, nationalistic students and prominent economists as contrary to Saudi interests. It is sustained by the regime both because of the special relationship with the U.S. and realization that the kingdom's long-term prosperity depends on a healthy Western economy.

It is here that the subtle connection between Israel and Saudi oil comes into play. The Saudis never have quite recovered from the shock of Camp David, and feel that President Carter today has set aside the Palestinian question. They expect nothing to be done before the 1980 presidential election, and are pessimistic about progress after that.

Marathon runner doesn't need reducing

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I run seven or eight miles a day in preparation for my first marathon. I am 16, a female and from a running family. I understand that the thinner you are the better, so have been trying to lose weight. I have been unsuccessful.

I weigh 128 and would like to lose about 10 pounds. It is frustrating for me to watch my diet because I am so active. Could I have a metabolism problem? Is there anything to speed up my metabolism? — Miss M.T.

It is true that most successful marathon runners are quite lean. However, I would not advise you to lose weight to become a better runner unless you are now overweight. I can't tell if you are, because you don't give me your height. Your 128 pounds is fine if your are about 5 feet, 6 inches tall.

If you are shorter, then the correct approach is to keep an accurate record of how many calories you are taking in daily. You will have to buy a calorie counter to see if you are getting too many.

After you figure that out, you can cut down your intake a bit.

You mention metabolism — a nice-sounding word. That's how the body uses the energy it gets from the food we eat. That's controlled by glands, and you wouldn't want to tinker with the process. The best "speeder" of metabolism is in doing exactly what you are doing now — exercising. If you continue that and satisfy your natural hunger, you will not need to worry about getting fat or, for that matter about losing any weight you need to lose.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What is leukopenia? I know it has to do with white blood cells, but that's about it. — Mrs. E.C.

It means a deficiency of leukocytes (white blood cells).

If the body can be said to be in continual warfare against germs, leukocytes can be called its "foot soldiers." They stand ready to leave the bloodstream to do battle any place in the body. Pus is an accumulation of white blood cells.

An abnormally low number of white blood cells is called leukopenia, and the causes for this are many. Some blood diseases are signaled by a drop in the white blood cell count. Certain drugs can cause a drop, as meprobamate, phenylbutazone, sulfa. Rare infections, like typhoid fever cause leukopenia.

Many harmless conditions can cause a decrease in white blood cells. Some people have periodic ups and downs for no particular reason.

The white cell count must fall to very low levels before a person is in danger of losing protection against infection.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please send me some information on flat feet. Our baby is 18 months old and we would like to help her as best we can. What can be done for her at this early date? — Mrs. E.G.

I wonder if anything need to be done.

In the infant just beginning to walk the fat pads on the insides of the feet are quite thick. This gives the appearance of flat feet.

When the child reaches the age of stable weight-bearing and walking, the feet can be properly evaluated. Sometimes the arch of the foot may be lax but the foot bones are in perfect alignment. This usually requires no treatment.

Dear Editor: We would like to take this opportunity to thank the event sponsors, participants, and the citizens of Howard County for supporting the American Heart Association Turkey Walk in such a generous fashion. The event sponsors made prizes and turkeys available.

The enthusiasm and dedication of the participants made the Turkey Walk succeed. But, the generosity of the public in sponsoring the participants with their pledges made the amount of money raised fight heart disease exceed our expectations. This year's Turkey Walk raised more money than twice the amount realized in our first Turkey Wap last year. We would also like to thank Julie Shirey for acting as chairperson for the event, for organizing it, and for conducting it in an outstanding manner.

Diseases of the heart and blood vessels are this nation's number one cause of death. Our organization is dedicated to reducing premature death and disability from cardiovascular disease.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I believe in God and, after all, isn't that the important thing? I mean, I don't see where Christ fits into the picture. As long as you believe in God everything should be OK. — M.D.

DEAR M.D.: Yes, it is important to believe in God. But there are several questions I want you to think about.

First, how do you know that your view of God is correct? You undoubtedly have formed some ideas about what God is like. But is He really like that? In reality, you have no way of knowing what God is like if you just follow the ideas of your own mind. That is one reason Jesus Christ is important. Christ showed us what God is like, because He was God's unique Son. The Bible says, "No man has ever seen God, but God the only Son, who is at the Father's side, has made Him known" (John 1:18). In other words, if you want to know what God is like, you must look at Christ, who reveals God to us. For example, how do you know whether or not God loves you and cares for you? You can know this great truth because you can see God's love exhibited in Christ. By dying on the cross for you, Christ demonstrated that God loves you and wants to forgive you for your sins.

The real question you should ask yourself is this: How can I be saved? What does God ask of me, and how can I be sure I am His child? God himself has given us the answers to these questions, and the answers are found in Jesus Christ. You are not saved by a vague belief in God. You are saved only as you come to Christ in repentance and faith, and trust Him for your salvation. He died on the cross in your place, and He offers you forgiveness if you will turn to Him.

I urge you to read through the Gospels and see who Jesus Christ really is. Then I urge you to commit your life to Him without reserve so you can know the joy of being a child of God.

"I TOLD YOU PRODUCTIVITY WOULD BOOST PROFITS!"

CHRISTMAS WEATHER ARRIVES EARLY — Light snow peppered the Big Spring area Thursday night and early this morning but it soon melted because the temperatures quickly rose above the 32 degree mark.

Rain gauges showed more than an inch of rain fell in Big Spring area over the three-day period ending Friday, bringing an end to an extended dry spell. Above is a scene at Eighth and Scurry Streets.

Americans flooding Iran with letters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are sending tens of thousands of Christmas greetings a day to the 50 hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Iran, and some of the mail is apparently getting through.

"There has been a considerable increase in mail to Iran," with most of it addressed to the embassy, Postal Service spokesman Lou Eberhardt said Thursday.

At John F. Kennedy Airport in New York, where most of the mail to foreign destinations is sorted country-by-country, there were 70,840 pieces addressed to points in Iran, Eberhardt said. This compares with 44,000 on Wednesday, he said.

At O'Hare Airport in Chicago, where the rest of the mail addressed to Iran is sorted, 25,320 pieces were destined for Iran, up from 16,800 on Wednesday, Eberhardt said.

Postal officials in Chicago estimated that more than 90 percent of the mail to Iran is addressed to hostages.

Mail addressed to the Iranian embassy in Washington also was up sharply, the Postal Service said. Letter carriers delivered 10,000 letters and cards to the embassy Thursday, compared with Wednesday's 4,000 and the normal daily flow of five to eight letters, he said.

Radio personalities at various stations have urged that Christmas cards be sent to the hostages.

In Tehran, a spokeswoman for the militants holding the 50 Americans hostage, said today some Christmas cards have already been delivered to the embassy and given to the hostages.

"We'll give them (the Christmas cards) to the hostages," she said. But when told of the large volume of mail waiting to be sent to Iran from New York and Chicago, she said, "Well, I think that would be too much. We'll just have to see."

Airmail to the embassy in Tehran costs 31 cents per half ounce and should be addressed to American Embassy; P.O. Box 50; Tehran, Iran. The address of the Iranian Embassy here is 3005 Massachusetts Ave., NW; Washington, D.C. 20008.

Bid to exempt independent oil producers

Hance looking for signatures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, is looking for signatures so he can show a conference committee there is support in the House for exempting independent oil producers from the windfall profits tax.

The congressman from Lubbock announced Thursday he will introduce a bill essentially duplicating the provisions of the exemption passed by the Senate.

"You can think of it as a petition," a Hance staff member, who asked not to be identified by name, explained. "All we're doing it for is just to get names. It's a quick way to get it on record."

The staffer said that on the first day more than 50 congressmen indicated they would serve as co-sponsors.

Hance had introduced an independent oil producers exemption before the House passed its version of the windfall profits tax.

The amendment, however, was blocked by a 7-7 vote in the House Rules Committee and never came to a vote on the floor.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, introduced the amendment in the Senate, where it passed by 53-41.

Once the Senate completes its work on the windfall profits tax, a conference committee will begin reconciling the House and Senate versions.

"Since there has never been a full House record vote, we hope to show the conferees there is, in fact, strong interest for an exemption for independent producers," Hance said in a statement.

Among the first Texans signing as co-sponsors were House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth; Democratic Reps. Marvin Leath of Marlin, Charles Stenholm of Stamford, Jack Brooks of Beaumont and J.J. Pickle of Austin; and Republican Reps. Jim Collins of Dallas and Tom Loeffler of Hunt.

The amendment as passed by the Senate would exempt from the tax the first 1,000 barrels of oil produced each day by an independent operator; an estimated 15 percent of U.S. production.

Backers of the exemption claim the tax break is necessary to provide independents, who drill about 90 percent of U.S. exploratory wells, the money for increased exploration.

Opponents charge that independents already receive ample profits.

Cap Rock Coop plans contest

A free trip to Washington awaits the winner of the annual Government-in-Action Youth Tour Contest, which will be held starting at 7 p.m., Monday at the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative auditorium in Stanton.

In all, nine students from area high schools are entered into competition. They will represent Grady, Klondike, Stanton, Midland High, Midland Lee and Rankin. The contest is sponsored annually by the cooperative.

Judges for the event will be Bruce Griffith and Andy Wilson, both of Big Spring, and Tom Boone, Odessa.

Turkey Walk big success

The results of the American Heart Association Turkey Walk held Oct. 27 were presented to the Howard County Heart Association Board meeting Dec. 3rd. Julie Shirey, chairperson of the Turkeywalk, announced that 85 people walked and jogged over 600 miles around the Big Spring State park to raise $6,750 to fund American Heart Association research, education and service projects. Fifty-four participants turned in $50 or more and each won a 10 lb. turkey from Newsom's Food Center.

The prize winners were as follows: Garland Evers, first place men's division, raised $1,089; Lettie Lee, first place women's division, raised $305; Dr. Ray Owen, second place men's division, raised $164; Judy Stovall, second place women's division raised $27.

In the Teenage division, Elizabeth Von Hassel won the girl's prize from the Tree House and Danny Heffington earned the boy's prize from Nick's Togs. In the Children's division, Medina Corwin and Mary Saldivar won gift certificates from Baskin-Robbins.

In the Senior Citizen's division, Champ Rainwater won the men's division and a dinner for two at the Brass Nail. Robert O. Clark was second and won a dinner for two at K-Bob's. Margaret Barnett won the women's division and a dinner for two at the Brandin' Iron. Mary Hanes was second and received for a dinner for two at Jo-Bo's.

Kathy McIntyre, regional director for the Heart Association from Midland, noted that the Howard County event was the most successful Turkey Walk in the 20 County region this year. She congratulated the local board, the participants, and the citizens of Howard County on conducting and supporting this special fund raising event for the Heart Association.

Man accused of attempting to sell oil secrets seized

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The former employee of an El Paso oil-finding equipment firm was in jail today after FBI agents said he tried to sell secrets of one major oil company to another.

The FBI said they arrested Billie Eugene Bauer, 48, of Juarez, Mexico after he crossed the international border with more than 200 secret documents and tried to sell them to an undercover agent.

Bauer was ordered jailed in lieu of $25,000 bond.

The investigation began after Phillips Petroleum Co. officials alerted American Oil Co. they had received a letter offering detailed plans of AMOCO equipment manufactured at Gus Manufacturing, Inc., the FBI said.

When Bauer left Gus Manufacturing last September, the federal complaint said, he pledged not to reveal company secrets.

The complaint said Phillips contacted AMOCO immediately after it had received a letter offering detailed plans for the equipment.

AMOCO notified the FBI and a meeting with an undercover agent and the letter writer was arranged for Wednesday at an El Paso hotel, according to the federal complaint. During that meeting Bauer gave the secret documents to the agent, the complaint said.

A federal court preliminary hearing was for Dec. 18.

The FBI would not give details on the oil-finding equipment involved. But, a geology professor at the University of Texas at El Paso, Dr. Randy Keller, said he was familiar with the machinery. Keller called the equipment "one of their top of the line pieces of gear, very sophisticated."

"It's composed of little boxes that sit in a field collecting information which goes into a big computer. Seismic waves are recorded, and the seismographic picture is then interpreted by a seismographer," Keller said.

The picture can eventually be used to show where underground oil can be found, he added.

Officials of both oil companies praised the FBI for their work on the case. Security officers for Standard Oil also participated in the investigation.

If convicted of the charge of transporting stolen property across international lines, Bauer could receive a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and be fined $10,000.

'We are quite shocked'

Segregation 'mystery'

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — The South Park Independent School District has been listed by the government as the fourth most segregated school district in the nation, but local officials are baffled by their ranking.

"It is a complete mystery to us," Superintendent Mike Taylor said Thursday. "We don't have any complaints against us. We're in complete compliance" with Department of Health, Education and Welfare regulation. "We are quite shocked."

Six other Texas school districts were ranked in the top 100 in a list released by HEW's Office of Civil Rights-Lubbock was 20th, Port Arthur, 30th; Ector County 31st; Excelsior, 34th; Ysleta, 74th; and Austin, 83rd.

The Office of Civil Rights surveyed and ranked 6,069 districts based on their responses to a federal civil rights survey of elementary and secondary schools.

Taylor said he did not recall receiving any such questionnaire at the South Park Independent School District, which is just outside Beaumont. He said his district was 62 percent white and 38 percent minorities.

"I don't know what our problem is. The regional office of HEW in Dallas monitors us, and we have a clean bill of health," he said.

There are about 16,000 districts in the nation, but the agency said the survey covered most major districts and a majority of students in the nation's public schools.

The agency released the lists, representing its findings of segregation in various educational areas, at the request of The Associated Press. The reports were sent to HEW's regional civil rights offices to help investigators decide which districts should be reviewed this year.

The school district ranked as the most segregated in the nation was Mississippi's Leflore County. But HEW officials cautioned that there could be errors in the rankings.

Leflore Superintendent Otis H. Allen said his county had "always complied with federal orders" and that one of the problems was the great number of whites who entered private schools when integration was ordered. Of 5,000 students in the county's public schools, 90 percent are black, he said.

Los Angeles ranked worst in what the agency called over-representation of minorities in student suspensions, as well as on a separate list of districts with a disproportionate number of minorities in special education programs.

Statistics for Chicago, which the Justice Department recently said is operating its school system in a segregated manner, were not included. HEW officials said Chicago did not respond to their questionnaire. The report also said statistics submitted by New York City had many errors.

Larry Velez, an agency spokesman, noted that "this is not a determination of violation" of federal law.

R-rated films

OK in Big D

DALLAS (AP) — The City Council has decided to ban X-rated motion pictures but allow R-rated films to be shown on cable television when the city goes after franchise bids next year.

The council had considered offering bids only to cable companies that would agree to ban R-rated movies, but consultant Harold Horn warned the council the city might have trouble finding bidders if such restrictions were imposed.

"Most cable companies don't even show movies that are rated X," Horn said. "But when you get to R-rated, some serious economic issues are raised."

Many service stations to be closed Christmas

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas motorists may have difficulty finding gasoline on Christmas Day and New Year's day.

The Texas Division of the American Automobile Association suggests motorists drive only on the top half of their gasoline tanks on both holidays because so many service stations will be closed.

The AAA's pre-holiday gasoline availability report released Thursday said 75 percent of the 416 stations indicated they definitely will be closed Christmas Day and another 5 percent said they might close.

Only one-third were certain they would be open on New Year's Day.

Two-thirds of the stations were open both days a year ago when the state was experiencing no supply problems.

The survey indicated 40 percent of the stations are now operating on Sundays compared with 44 percent in November. Availability on weekday nights was said to have dropped sharply, with only 31 percent of the stations remaining open after 8 p.m. compared with 38 percent a month ago.

The AAA also said prices have risen sharply in the past month, with three full-service grades, one self-service grade, and diesel fuel now averaging more than $1 a gallon.

Current average full-service prices were regular 96.5 cents a gallon, up from 94.6 in November, unleaded $1.001, up from 98.2, premium $1.018, up from $1.001, and premium unleaded $1.019, up from $1.002.

Average self-service prices were regular 93.9, up from 91.4, unleaded 98.1, up from 95.7, premium 98.8, up from 97.4, and premium unleaded $1.006, up from 98.0.

The diesel fuel average of $1.004 compared with last month's 98.1 cents a gallon.

Prosecution of police brutality cases to top his priority list

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles Renfrew has replied to Hispanic opposition to his nomination as deputy attorney by saying he would put prosecution of police brutality cases at the top of his priority list.

"I think it (police brutality) must be eradicated," Renfrew said as the Senate Judiciary Committee concluded its confirmation hearing Thursday. "It undermines the entire public confidence in law enforcement."

The deputy attorney general holds the second-ranking post at the Justice Department, which Hispanics charge has been reluctant to prosecute police brutality cases.

Opposition to Renfrew's nomination stemmed from a law review article he wrote in 1977 that concluded only blacks and native Americans were eligible for a national preferential admissions program for graduate schools.

Renfrew, a federal judge in California, returned to respond to an opposition statement made Wednesday by Hispanic and Asian-American groups.

The nominee said he accepted responsibility for the law review article, written from notes he prepared for a speech. The article was deficient in research, analysis and thought, he said.

Wilma Martinez, head of the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund, said Renfrew's response had not changed her mind.

"To be deputy attorney general, there are certain problems you should know about. He didn't indicate to me that he knows about those problems," she said.

"Police brutality is horrendous, but it's one of a range of problems," Ms. Martinez, who spoke Wednesday against the nomination, said she would decide how to press further opposition after consulting with the other Hispanic and Asian-American organizations that testified at the hearing.

Although no senator spoke against the nomination, it appeared unlikely that the crush of year-end business would permit Senate confirmation before the Christmas recess.

Renfrew said he was told by both supporters and opponents that he appeared "too lawyer-like, too deliberate" in his remarks on the hearing's first day.

"I can assure you that I do have a deeply felt commitment to civil rights," he said. "As deputy attorney general there are important leadership roles to be fulfilled."

Women must organize

CLEVELAND (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda told cheering working women that they must organize as big business if they are to fight sexual harassment and discrimination.

"We have the right to say 'No,' to be treated with justice, dignity and respect," Miss Fonda said Thursday to a noon audience of 1,200 persons, mostly secretaries celebrating the fourth anniversary of Cleveland Women Working, a counseling organization.

"Your power depends on your numbers," she said.

Miss Fonda said conversations with Cleveland secretaries last year helped inspire a comedy film on the plight of working women. The film, "Nine to Five," will star Miss Fonda, Dolly Parton and Lily Tomlin.

PARIS (AP) — Cartier, the venerable old jewelry concern that has served royalty for 100 years, has a new president.

Nathalie Hocq, 28, was elected by the board Thursday to succeed her father as head of the company. Hocq was killed in a car accident last week.

Ms. Hocq played a leading role in restoring Cartier to financial health under the guidance of her father who took over the firm in 1972. Until now she was director general of the firm.

Mailer sold on pot

LONDON (AP) — Norman Mailer, in London to promote his new book on Gary Gilmore, told a British Broadcasting Corp. listening audience that if stranded on a desert island, he'd want "a stick of the finest marijuana."

Invited as guest celebrity on the pre-recorded radio program, "Desert Island Discs," in which stars name their favorite records, he made his comment about marijuana when asked what additional luxury he would take with him.

The BBC considered editing the comment out, but a spokesman said Thursday it had been decided to broadcast the program unexpurgated.

It was felt that program presenter Roy Plomley's mild reproof — "That's illegal talk, Mr. Mailer" — made it clear the BBC did not condone the use of marijuana, the spokesman said.

Marijuana is illegal in Britain.

POINSETTIAS and Puppy Dogs

Poinsettias for Grandmother, a puppy for brother Joe, stationery is perfect for Aunt Sue.

"Tis the season to be jolly," carol the loudspeakers in the department stores, but each year it becomes harder. Days are frantic with shopping, wrapping, and addressing. There's too much to do, too many things to remember: Sally's school play, a white elephant for Joe's Scout party, the Kirby's gala on the twenty-second.

There's no time for thinking, but sometimes late at night, a moment for reflection. In the rush of doing all the right things have we forgotten our reasons for doing them? Have we come bearing gifts, like the Magi, with hearts empty of the wonder and awe that was theirs?

Perhaps we need to hear anew the age-old story of a tiny Babe wrapped and gently laid in a manger while shepherds quaked and angels sang. The door of your Church stands open. Worship there the newborn King this Christmas and every Sunday.

Christian Church appoints Pecos minister to area

ABILENE — Clark Ford, minister of First Christian Church of Pecos for the past 10 years, will become area minister of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in the Southwest.

He will assume his new duties Jan. 1 and will have his office in First Christian Church of Abilene.

The Central Area Board approved his call at a special meeting last month. He will be the area's first executive, serving its 55 member churches in West Texas, which have a combined membership of 8,459.

The area, which was constituted in February after the old West Central Texas Area and District 19 of the Christian Church merged, is headed by James D. Simpson as president. He is minister of First Christian

CLARK FORD

Church of Brownwood. Ford will join seven other area ministers serving different parts of the Christian Church in the Southwest, a region which includes Texas and New Mexico.

With a BA degree in religion from Texas Christian University and a BD from Vanderbilt Divinity School, he has continued his education in management and preaching seminars.

Since coming to Texas in 1969 from a pastorate at Dawson Springs, Ky., Ford has served as president of District 4 in the old Christian Church in Texas, vice president of the New Mexico-West Texas Area of the Christian Church in the Southwest and president of the Tres Rios Area of CC SW, which grew out of the NM-WT Area.

He was active in creating the Tres Rios Area and calling its first area minister and is now a member of the CCSW Youth Ministry Council.

He and his wife, Mattie Belle, are parents of Ken, a student at TCU, and Debra, who is married and lives in Midland.

Advocate disciplined for challenging pope Pope orders silencing of women priests debates

In the first publicly known crackdown on debate over admission of women to the Roman Catholic priesthood, a Jesuit priest and leading advocate of it has been silenced and ordered transferred.

The move seemed to reflect a stricter stand on the matter by Pope John Paul II.

Ironically, the action against the Rev. William J. Callahan of Washington, D.C., was implemented by a Jesuit superior who had himself in 1977 signed a protest to a Vatican declaration against women's ordination.

But the orders for disciplining Callahan came from higher up, from the worldwide director general of the Jesuit order, the Rev. Pedro Arrupe of Rome, following some firm admonitions by the pope on the matter.

The sequence came into focus this week in correspondence released by Dolly Pomerleau, cofounder with Callahan of the Quixote Center in Washington, an independent Catholic justice center, plus other background data.

It added up to the first disclosed case of disciplinary steps by the church to curb open discussion of women's ordination, which has been supported by the National Federation of Priests Councils and a pontifical biblical commission, among others.

The intent apparently is to "put the wraps on, thereby stifling public debate," says Miss Pomerleau. She adds that if priests are "silenced, then the only people left will be women and everybody knows we don't count."

Callahan, also founder of the 2,500-member Priests for Equality which also advocates admitting women to ordination, had participated in several demonstrations for that cause on the pope's visit to Washington in October.

The pope on his visit had reiterated opposition to women priests. Subsequently, on Nov. 5, the Rev. Edward M. O'Flaherty of Boston, head of the New England Jesuit province to which Callahan belongs, notified him he was being recalled there for reassignment because it was "completely inappropriate" to challenge the pope about "clear directions he has given the church."

O'Flaherty wrote that the Jesuit head, Arrupe, had sent instructions that Callahan should not "work with these groups" supporting women's ordination.

The pope, in a meeting with national Jesuit heads in September before his U.S. trip, had lectured them about dissent "causing confusion" and told them to apply "requisite firmness" to stop it.

Mrs. Truett Thomas, Spiritual Life director, presented the program, stressing the thought that the lighted candle is a symbol of hospitality.

Assisting in the program with scripture readings were Clatha Clayton, Frances Miller, Nelda Reagan, Barbara Montgomery and Arah Phillips. The poem "Burn, Candle, Burn" was read by Vera Blackburn.

The Women of the Church of God met Dec. 3 at 7 p.m. in the home of Arah Phillips, 2002 Main.

Lapel candle symbols were presented to each member as she was seated to emphasize the program entitled "To Burn A Candle." The program was prepared by Mrs. Frankie Watson, chairwoman of the WCG National President's Council.

Mrs. Truett Thomas, Spiritual Life director, presented the program, stressing the thought that the lighted candle is a symbol of hospitality.

Assisting in the program with scripture readings were Clatha Clayton, Frances Miller, Nelda Reagan, Barbara Montgomery and Arah Phillips. The poem "Burn, Candle, Burn" was read by Vera Blackburn.

Each woman selected her candle and lighted it from a central burning candle arrangement for the closing of the program. Only the candle light was used for moments of meditation. The lighted candle each one held symbolized a commitment to practice Christian hospitality.

Betty Reagan directed the group singing of "Silent Night."

The poem "Christmas candle" was read by Amy Hutchings.

Prayers were voiced by Hettie Minix and Frances Miller.

The president, Hettie Minix, announced the Texas day for the Christmas prayer vigil as Dec. 19 from 9-10 a.m. A list of special requests for various needs were given to each member.

Refreshments were served by Anna Smith and Arah Phillips to the 14 members in attendance.

St. Paul congregation to have annual dinner

The first course of the annual progressive dinner of St. Paul Lutheran Church will be served in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haney, 2500 Morrison, at 6 p.m. Saturday.

The group will then proceed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stukel, 2604 Clanton, for salads. The entree and dessert will be served in St. Paul's parish hall.

A Chinese auction will be held immediately after dinner. Proceeds from the auction will be donated to the Lutheran Social Services.

The final Advent service will be held Sunday, 6 p.m., in the church sanctuary. The Rev. Carroll C. Kohl, pastor, will conduct the special service.

The children's choir and adult choir will present Christmas music. Both choirs are under the direction of Mrs. Robert Haney.

Following worship services Sunday, the youth of St. Paul will go Christmas caroling. Following the caroling, a Christmas party will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Graumann.

First Baptist presents 'living Christmas cards'

The Music Ministry of First Baptist Church, 705 W. Marcy Dr., announces a presentation this Sunday at 7 p.m. of "King of Kings" and "The Living Christmas Cards."

The fifty-voice adult choir, under the direction of Joe Whitten, will present this popular work of John Peterson. Soloists in the musical will be Jim Grimes and Suzanne Cranford.

The adult handbell choir will also assist in the production.

A unique feature of this year's Christmas presentation will be the "living Christmas cards." Large Christmas cards which will be placed throughout the auditorium will come to life throughout the musical depicting the story of Christmas.

The nursery will be open and the public is invited to attend.

'Living Christmas tree' stars at local church

The Ministry of Music of the First United Methodist Church will present a living Christmas tree to the public at 7 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, in the sanctuary of the church.

The gigantic tree will be composed of 60 members of local church choirs and at the base will be a large instrumental group. Christmas music will be sung and played.

The tree will reach to the ceiling of the sanctuary. The steel scaffolding and framework will be adorned with greenery, special lighting and ornaments to give the appearance of a huge Christmas tree.

Many surprises are included in the program.

Dr. Edwin Chappell, pastor, and the congregation invite the public to attend. The church nursery will be open.

Spencer speaks at assembly

Area Jehovah's Witnesses concluded their semi-annual Circuit Assembly last weekend at Abilene Civic Center.

L. Hanley Spencer of Big Spring, local congregation spokesman, reported "a practical and spiritually edifying program directed us to examine very closely we are producing as Jesus Christ said in the Bible at John 15:8. Righteous acts motivated by Love of God and our neighbor will prove we are fruitful genuine Christians."

The peak attendance was reached for the Public Address entitled, "Whose Disciple Are You?", when 1466 listened as E.R. Brandt, district overseer, discuss "how we can show we are truly following Jesus Christ and not being misled by looking to imposters or ungodly men of this world."

A Farthing's Worth

Remember when HIPPIE meant big in the hips. And a TRIP meant travel in cars, planes or ships? When switches, not people were TURNED ON and OFF. And the PILL was something we took for a cough? When FUZZ was a substance that's fluffy like lint, and BREAD came from the bakery, not from the mint?

Words change, but human nature doesn't. We all still need the unchanging Christ. Even in these days of inflation, the wages of sin are still the same.

Bronco Coach Red Miller praises Charlie West's play

DENVER BRONCO CHARLIE WEST, former Big Spring High School star in the early 1960s and now in his twelfth year in the NFL, hinted earlier in the season to me this could quite possibly be his final campaign as a professional athlete.

Entering the Broncos summer training camp outside of Denver, West had a great desire to make the team this season, but felt that after 11 years in the pro league, his body might not have the same ability to perform as it had in the past.

Following an exhibition game against the Cowboys, West explained to me that his lone desire at that time was just to make the final cut, something that he had never really worried about up to that point in his career. His goal at the time was to contribute as backup in the secondary and to perform on all of the specialty teams, something that he has done quite successfully during his lengthy career.

West not only made the cut, but has made an important contribution to the Denver team. He has filled in admirably the past six weeks for the injured Bernard Jackson, the regular free safety in the Broncos rugged defense for the past three years.

Jackson is now healthy again, but West is still listed as the Broncos starting free safety for Denver's upcoming game against the San Diego Chargers on Monday night. The game is of most importance, as the winner of the contest will represent the AFC West as its champion in the NFL playoffs.

BRONCO COACH RED MILLER praised West last week, making me wonder if the former outstanding all-around athlete at BSHS is ready to retire.

"Charlie has been invaluable," says Miller. "He'll always give you a complete ball game."

West still sounds like he wants to play football, and spoke philosophically about himself and the Broncos last week. "You've really got to try to remain objective about your ability or else you find yourself unprepared to face the future," West explained.

"THE ONE THING I DO KNOW that I have going for me now is that I have a head for the game," West continued. "I've devoted 23 years of my life to it and I think I've learned quite a lot. The defense had a slow start this season, but we've improved as a complete team, and ideally, that's how we'd plan it. You'd sure rather struggle a little at first and finish strong than start strong and fizzle out. We didn't start like a ball of fire, but we're coming on now."

Charlie said this before the Broncos lost to Seattle by a 28-23 score last Saturday, when Jim Zorn hooked up with Steve Largent with 1:40 remaining to put a blow in the Broncos playoff hopes. But one thing going for the Broncos is that since Red Miller became the head coach in 1977, the Denver team has never lost two consecutive regular season games.

Hopefully, for West and the Broncos, history will repeat in a big win.

Moseley learning life's more than kicking

I'M SURE MOST DIE-HARD COWBOY FANS are still furious concerning the field goal that Washington's Mark Moseley kicked in the final seconds of the Redskins 34-20 win over the Cowboys a few weeks ago.

Some of the Cowboys are also still upset over what they called the "rubbing the salt in the wound" field goal.

Butch Johnson, in an interview this week, called Moseley's field goal "bush," but Moseley disagrees.

"That's a lot of baloney," says the Redskins kicker, who played his college ball at Stephen F. Austin in Nacogdoches. "The Cowboys would have done the same thing in our situation. Three years ago we were beat out by Chicago and it came down to one point in the tie-breaking system."

"We would kick ourselves in the rear if that happened again, because we didn't try a field goal (three years ago). It could come down to that again."

"WE WERE NOT TRYING TO HUMILIATE ANYBODY," said Moseley. "We have a lot of pride and understand the Cowboys do, too. We're not trying to bruise their pride. It's just a matter of using every means possible to get into the playoffs."

As it is turning out, those three points may be the points that the Redskins need to claim the Wild Card spot. Of course, if they beat the Cowboys Sunday, they will represent the NFC East as the champion of the division.

But if the Redskins lose to the Cowboys, and both Tampa Bay and Chicago win, then Tampa will be the champion of the NFC Central with a 10-6 record, with Chicago and Washington both fighting for the Wild Card spot with a 10-6 mark.

The representative would then be decided by a net point system between the Bears and the Redskins.

Currently, Washington is a plus 54 and Chicago a plus 21. If Chicago hopes to make it to the playoffs, then they have to hope that they defeat St. Louis by a big margin and the Cowboys take the Redskins handily. As you can see, Washington currently has a 33-point advantage, but that could be quickly changed.

MEANWHILE, MOSELEY HAS FOUND THAT THE GAME OF FOOTBALL ISN'T ALL THERE IS TO LIFE, LITERALLY.

On October 25, his sister, Pamela Moseley Carpenter, was alone in her home in Livingston, Texas, making Halloween costumes for her kicking brother's two children.

A man entered her house and stabbed her in the chest with a pair of scissors, killing her. She was 22.

THE MURDERER WAS ON PAROLE, having served one two-year period for rape and another five-year stint in the state prison for another rape.

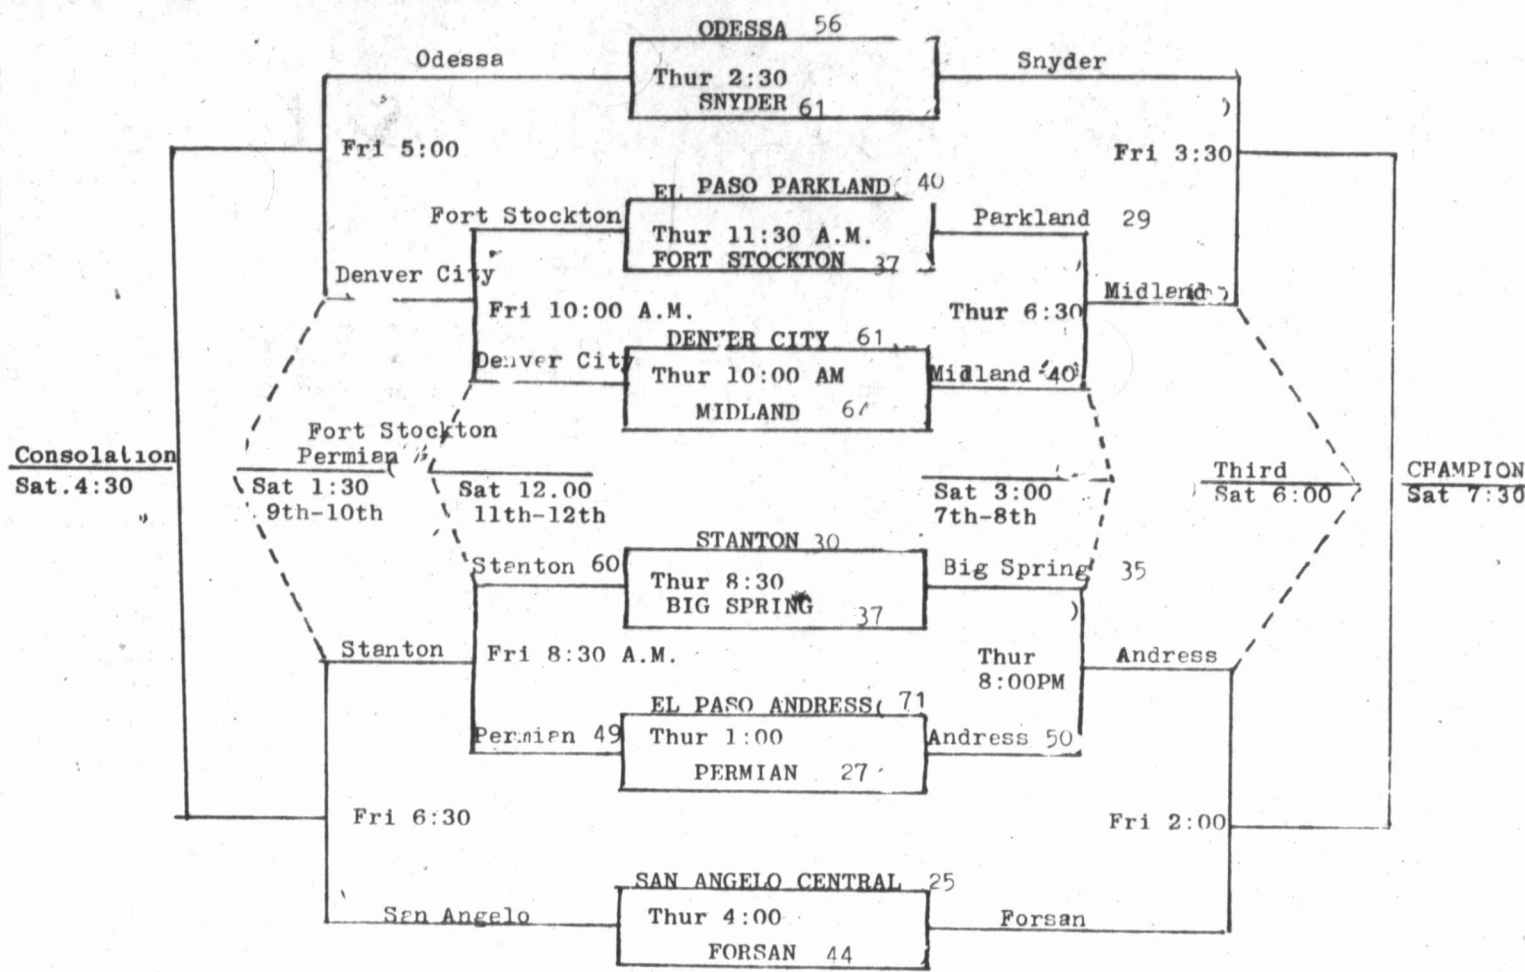

Three weeks later, Moseley kicked the field goal that made him some sort of a hated man in his native state of Texas.

"The arguments about the field goal seem very small after you've had something like that happen in your life," Moseley said. "I know I've lost some concentration since then at times, but I'm realizing that life goes on."

That's true, but it also makes one realize that sometimes MAYBE WE TAKE OUR SPORTS A LITTLE TOO SERIOUSLY.

Hawk Queen Classic results

Forsan wins in Hawk Queen Classic

Forsan, El Paso Address, Midland and Snyder advanced into the semi-finals of the Hawk Queens High School Basketball Tournament being held currently at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The semifinals are slated this afternoon, with the Forsan-Address game having a 2:00 p.m. tipoff, and the Midland-Snyder affair starting at 3:30 p.m.

There was originally an exhibition game between Texas Tech and the Howard College Hawk Queens slated for 8:00 p.m. tonight, but the game was cancelled this morning by the Tech people due to the poor road conditions.

A make-up game will not be scheduled. The Forsan-Address game advanced into this afternoon's semi-finals by overwhelming the Class AAAA San Angelo Bobcats by a score of 44-25. The Buff Queens controlled the contest from the outset.

Forsan benefitted from a balanced scoring attack, with Julie Poyner and Valerie Stevens sharing high point honors with 10 each. Joni Poyner added seven for the Buff Queens. Cynthia Bell was the high point girl for the Bobcats with six.

Tech-Hawk Queens game cancelled

The regularly scheduled exhibition game between the Howard College Hawk Queens and the Texas Tech Red Raiderettes, set for tonight, has been cancelled.

Tech officials contacted Hawk Queens Coach Don Stevens this morning to tell him that the Red Raiderettes would not be able to make the trip due to the hazardous driving conditions that occurred over the night in the Lubbock area.

The game was the highlight affair of today's Hawk Queen High School Basketball Classic. It was set for an 8:00 p.m. tipoff.

This will be the only game in the girls' tournament that has been cancelled. Action continues this afternoon and this evening with the final round of action slated for tomorrow. The championship match is set for 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

All action occurs in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. The tournament is being directed by Stevens and being run by the members of the Hawk Queens.

Niekro earns MVP

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston pitcher Joe Niekro, runnerup in the voting for the Cy Young award, has been named the Astros' most valuable player by the Houston chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Pitcher J.R. Richard, 18-13 and a third place finisher in the Cy Young voting, was runnerup to Niekro and relief pitcher Joe Sambito, with 22 saves last season, was third.

Niekro posted a 21-11 record and 3.00 earned run average on route to his best season as a pro to lead the Astros to a second place finish in the National League's Western Division race.

Niekro is only the fifth pitcher in Astros history to win the MVP award.

PRESIDENTIAL FILING — Nancy Reagan, the wife of former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, files the official forms Thursday for her husband to enter the New Hampshire presidential primary. Mrs. Reagan was one

Calculate Christmas costs to avoid post-holiday blues

Christmas is likely to be a bit merrier if it can be celebrated without having a worry about how to pay for it. It's not too late, the Better Business Bureau says, to apply to the holiday season the same budgeting and shopping principles that make sense throughout the year.

The first step in budgeting is to figure out how much money from the "normal" day-to-day operations can be made available for holiday expenses. Add any amounts set aside for the holidays, such as Christmas Club proceeds, to this figure along with any unusual income, such as end-of-year bonuses or tips.

Against this total, expenses must be balanced.

Presents for others probably account for the lion's share of holiday costs. A list of recipients, with gift ideas and a price range for each, will provide an estimate of how much gifts will cost. Also consider other expenses, such as food, entertainment, travel, decorations, Christmas cards and postage.

With these calculations done, the budgeter can tell at a glance whether available funds equal or exceed estimated expenses. If they do, it's time to start carrying out the plan. If they don't, it's back to the drawing-board temporarily to shift the budget into balance.

If additional money can't be found, the best way is to re-examine expenses and shave most or all of them to the extent that's needed. An alternative for some families — but definitely not for all — is short-term use of credit. For peace of mind, borrowings should be kept low enough so that they can be paid back over a short period without taxing the household's regular budget. As a rule, borrowers should shop for credit as carefully as they would shop for merchandise, paying attention to the terms and interest rate of a loan. Overuse of existing credit, such as charge accounts, is a common cause of the post-holiday blues.

Holiday shopping requires the same patient attention to price and quality that intelligent consumers use all the time. It can offer good buying opportunities because businesses compete during, what is for them, a very important time of year. However, the facts that business is so brisk and that so many purchases are for other persons add importance to the following buying rules:

Deal with reputable merchants, evaluating them according to past experience or advice from friends. Street vendors and stores that operate only during the holiday season won't be around later to satisfy complaints or make exchanges which most established businesses handle in stride.

Check refund and exchange policies carefully before buying a gift. The recipient of a gift may have to return it no matter how thoughtful the buyer is. Will the store make refunds or exchanges? Must the item be returned to the point of purchase? Is a location available that is convenient to the recipient? Many items on sale before the holidays can't be returned afterwards, and many items that go on sale after the holidays are eligible for refunds or exchanges only at the sale price. In most cases, a gift may be returned only in unused condition, and only during a specified post-holiday period. A sales slip usually is required with a

New speed limit would be easier

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A national task force urging compliance with the 55 mph speed limit has been told Texas can live with it but it would be easier to take at 60 mph.

"Such a proposal (60 mph) could substantially improve voluntary compliance by the public and result in laws which can be realistically enforced," said Eugene Robbins, president of the Texas Good Road Transportation Association.

Robbins and about 17 other witnesses appeared before the eight members of the National Highway Safety Advisory Committee in two days of hearings. The group will relay the Texas reactions on the controversial 55 mph law to the full committee and then to the president and Congress.

Texas has been threatened with loss of $8 million a year in federal highway funds if enforcement of the speed limit is not increased.

"We wish to state clearly that as long as the congressional mandate for a 55 mph speed limit remains in effect, we will continue to support compliance," said Robbins. "However, we question the effectiveness of the threat of federal sanctions in achieving compliance by the public."

Robbins said his association, one of the most powerful in its influence on the Texas Legislature, recommended the task force study the feasibility of asking Congress to increase the limit to 60 mph on interstate highways "and other highways which experience low fatality rates."

"This study may show that a 60 mph speed limit on certain designated highways would not significantly increase fatalities or fuel consumption," Robbins said.

Earlier, Joe Milner, head of the traffic law enforcement division of the Department of Public Safety, suggested that "it is not a bad view for each state to set its own speed limit and enforcement."

Milner said lack of public support for the 55 mph law was the No. 1 law enforcement problem.

Lynne Stein, of a Houston marketing research firm, said 4,000 interviews with Texas motorists showed they average driving 60.6 miles per hour with 23 percent of those interviewed traveling more than 65. The results showed the drivers felt they would be most "comfortable" at 62 mph and "safest" at 59 mph.

The head of the Texas Safety Association, a private organization supported by 1,100 member firms, said Thursday an estimated 1,400 lives have been saved in Texas since the 55 mph speed limit went into effect.

"There has been a 60 percent decrease in spinal cord injuries from automobile accidents and we are saving an estimated 5 million gallons of gasoline a day," said George Gustafson, executive director of the association.

He told the task force that compliance with the 55 mph law was the No. 1 priority for the association in 1980.

He told the group about the 10 percent discount given Texas auto insurance buyers if they attend a driver improvement course. He said his association, which administers the safe driving course for the National Safety Council, makes voluntary compliance with the 55 mph limit a part of the course.

"We have reached about one million drivers since the improvement course began in 197," he said. "We hope to reach about 250,000 each year from now on."

Gustafson said many of those attending the safe driving course at first were volunteers. Now, almost 60 percent of those attending are there on assignment from traffic courts. Recent state laws allow a traffic judge to substitute the safe driving course for fines or jail terms for certain traffic violations.

Writer moonlights as center in basketball

By HUGH MULLIGAN

ERIE Pa. (AP) — Darryl Dawkins, my colleague talking at the columnist's craft, has been mentioned unfavorably in dispatches in connection with the busting up of a couple of public playpens.

When not authoring elegant essays which appear every Tuesday in the Philadelphia Journal, the Dawk uses both his pen and playpen name — moonlighting as center for the Philadelphia 76ers in the National Basketball Association.

The erudite phrase slinger happened to be prouetting suspiciously nearby when basketball backboards were shattered within a recent week of each other in Kansas City and Philadelphia.

The fans term for such a mind-blowing, glass-showering happening is the slam dunk.

NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien, definitely not amused, termed both incidents dangerous to the players and destructive of league property.

The Dawk, whose literary specialty is rhetoricalrodomontade, which he employs like the dunk, called his Kansas City caper the "Chocolate Thunder Flying, Robozine Crying, Tooth Shaking, Glass Breaking, Rump Roasting, Bum Toasting, Wham Bam, Glass Breaker I Am Jam." In addition to which, he assured the commissioner it was all unintentional.

Dawkins has yet to come up with a suitable sobriquet for the busted furnishings on the home court, but he may be a bit more elliptical in his prose after being called in on the carpet in O'Brien's office for an hour and a half chat.

No punitive action was taken against the ponderous, playful prose stylist, who is 6

'The Gift' is good Christmas special

By PETER J. BOYER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Having done at least my share of grumbling about the avalanche of fluff that thunders down Network Mountain this time of year, I am obliged to acknowledge the good stuff, too.

There is, this weekend, good stuff to acknowledge. "The Gift," I think, comes as close to defining the Christmas spirit as any holiday special the tube has offered lately. The movie Saturday night on CBS, is based on Pete Hamill's novel about a father's gift of love.

American Christmas Carol." He gets ghostly visits and such, and I'll bet he finds the Christmas spirit in the end.

NBC has something called "Christmas Lillies of the Field," a TV sequel to the 1963 theatrical film that earned Sidney Poitier an Oscar as the free-lance handyman who helps some German nuns build a "shapple." Billy Dee Williams gets a go at it this time, with Maria Schell playing the Mother Superior.

The setting for Hamill's story is a Brooklyn neighborhood, circa 1952, a neon and tenement subculture in which pals are family and toughs "pack heat." The framework of the story is a young sailor's three-day Christmas leave.

They are to be three days of consequence.

"I had three days," the lad says in his opening narration, "three days to see if I still had a girl and to talk to my family; to sort out my life before getting shipped out, probably to Korea, where people were dying."

Suffice it to say his quest is fulfilled, after much hacking through thick pride and prejudice.

Yet a better bet on Sunday, although there's no Christmas theme involved, is the return of "The Duchess of Duke Street" on PBS' "Masterpiece Theatre." The Duchess is back for 16 new episodes of snobbery, romance and intrigue in high-society London.

Glenn Ford gives an extraordinary performance as the father, Billy Devlin, the neighborhood hero whose bitterness and pride kept him from knowing his son, and from revealing himself, as well.

Gary Frank plays our hero, Pete Devlin. Frank, a talented actor, seems a bit uncomfortable in the role, perhaps because he's asked to effect a Brooklyn patter.

The sheer, raw power of the story, though, with its simple bedrock theme, isn't diminished.

ABC and NBC check in with Christmas theme movies on Sunday, unpreviewed but promising. Henry Winkler plays a Depression-era American Scrooge in ABC's "An Former monarch of Iran needs further surgery?

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Lawyers for the deposed shah of Iran say doctors who treated him in New York planned to fly to San Antonio today to determine if the former monarch needs further surgery.

"The doctors at Lackland (Air Force Base) have come to believe that his condition may have worsened," the lawyers said in a motion filed in a state district court here Thursday.

However, a source close to the shah at Lackland Air Force Base said late Thursday night that the former ruler appeared to be "fine."

"He felt ill a couple of days last week, but that is over with. He is complaining about the bad weather but that is all," the source said.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi arrived at the base Dec. 2 to recuperate from cancer and gall bladder surgery he received in New York.

The motion, a copy of which was obtained by WFAA Radio reporter Bob West, attempts to quash a subpoena requiring the deposed monarch to give a deposition in a $6 million dollar lawsuit against Bell Helicopter International, Inc.

The suit was filed by 69 former pilots who allege they were fired after they organized a union to enforce the terms of a contract to train Iranian military pilots.

James W. Lane, attorney for the pilots, said he subpoenaed the shah in an effort to get him to tell what he knows about the labor dispute.

The shah's lawyers contend giving the deposition "would disrupt his recovery from prior therapy ... and pose an extremely serious threat to his health."

The lawyers said the shah has no personal knowledge of facts relevant to the case and should be excused from giving the deposition for health reasons.

The shah's presence in the United States is the main reason for the U.S.-Iranian crisis, in which militant Iranian students are holding 50 American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran. They demand that the shah be deported to Iran to stand trial for alleged crimes against Iran.

Meanwhile, in San Antonio, five jailed Iranian students began the fifth day of an anti-shah protest fast and refused their government's offer to post bond for them.

The San Antonio College students were jailed Wednesday after being dragged off the City Hall steps as a menacing mob converged on them. All were charged with obstructing a passageway, a misdemeanor, after they told police they would return to the steps if released.

The students refused to post the $1,500 bonds, and continued the hunger strike they began Monday to protest the shah's presence at the nearby base and the city's denial of parade permits for anti-shah rallies.

Attorney Louis Linden said his clients spoke Thursday with the Iranian embassy in Washington and declined the bond offer.

"The students felt it is not the Iranian government's fight," Linden said, adding his clients feel it is a battle of "basic rights."

If convicted, they face a maximum penalty of 180 days in jail and a $1,000 fine. Immigration officials said it was not a deportable offense.

City officials initially said the students were taken into "protective custody" when yanked off the steps ahead of an advancing group led by a man claiming to be a brother of one of the 50 American hostages in Iran.

The near violence at City Hall Tuesday and Wednesday was the most serious confrontation since the shah's arrival. The crowds, almost nonexistent Monday, grew more threatening each day.

City leaders and newspapers Thursday called for restraint during the shah's stay and hostage crisis. City Manager Tom Huebner blasted the anti-Iranian mob as "trash."

"I think it is extremely important that here in San Antonio we demonstrate to the rest of the country and to the world that this is a lawful, peaceful society. The worst anyone can do is act like the mob in Tehran that is holding hostages," said Huebner. "There must be no threats of violence. We must be above that."

The San Antonio Express editorially questioned the actions of a pair of country-western disc jockeys who used their local show Tuesday to initially summon the anti-Iranian crowd to City Hall. The newspaper called it, "radio appeals to redneckery."

"The most useful thing Americans can do about the outrage in Iran is to keep cool and let responsible officials handle it," said the editorial.

Big Spring Rebekahs have Christmas show

Noble Grand Malinda Blackburn presided when the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 met at 7 p.m. in the I.O.O.F. Hall at 9th and San Antonio.

A celebration was held for those present having birthdays in December. Honored were Lillian Rhyne, Ruth Wilson, Timmie McCormick, Barbara Ervin and Joy Petty.

Everyone enjoyed a pot luck supper and gift exchange.

The program began with the singing of Jingle Bells.

Norma Newton served as song leader. Olean Melton was the mistress of ceremonies. Several skits and poems were then presented, followed by an instrumental performance by members of the lodge band.

Serving refreshments were Ms. Wilson, Janel Barnhill, Ms. McCormick, Sharon Clark, Lucille Petty, Ruth McNew, Agnes Miller and Jacqueline Wilson.

The next meeting will be Dec. 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the lodge hall.

Pregnant and scared

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: My cousin and I used to have sexual relations and now I'm pregnant with his baby. My friends have told me that since we're cousins, the baby won't live very long, so now I'm scared to death.

I've prayed to God for forgiveness and I promised him I would never do this again.

Please tell me what to do! I'm eight months pregnant, and I don't want my baby to die. — W.T. Elgin, Ill.

W.T.: Tell your attending doctor that your baby's father is your cousin. Your doctor should be aware of this fact.

But I'm told by my personal doctor that there is no chance your baby will die because your cousin was the father. What he did say was that the chances of the baby being mentally deficient are higher than average, but still slim.

If "normal" parents have a mentally deficient child once out of every 1,000 births, first cousins would have one once out of every 900 births.

Dr. Wallace: When I was 14 my dad told me never to date guys named Mark. He said it would be tragic if I ever marry a Mark.

Well, I'm 20 now and I have been dating a guy named Mark for over a year. I love Mark very much and last night he asked me to marry him.

Now I'm confused because I don't want to disappoint my dad because I love him, too. He knows I'm dating this guy but he thinks his name is Robert (it's really his middle name).

What should I do? — Nancy, San Diego, Calif.

Nancy: I've had some odd questions and this one falls in that category. Marry Mark and don't be afraid to name your first son Mark Jr. Your father's request is entirely out of place and it's ridiculous. But sometimes loving parents do ridiculous things.

Teens: A reader of this column is doing research in a very important subject area — adoptions, and she would like to hear from anyone who was adopted, adoptive parents, or persons who relinquished a child for adoption.

Please share your experience with Mary Gaines Read, P.O. Box 30684, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93105.

11 million more than 1978

52 million women projected to join work force by 1990

Increasing numbers of women are working, because it doesn't pay to stay at home. The most comprehensive survey ever done on working women, appearing exclusively in Family Circle prior to its official publication, says higher wages, without a corresponding increase in the "rewards" of working within the home, are pulling more women into the labor force.

"The Subtle Revolution: Women At Work" is the result of a three-year study of women and family policy by The Urban Institute, a policy-research institute in Washington, D.C. that works to identify and solve the problems of America's urban communities.

According to the findings of the study reported in Family Circle, 73 per cent of the women interviewed believe that married women should have a full-time job outside the home, as compared to the 18 per cent of women who felt that way in a 1930 national opinion survey. By 1990, it is projected that this attitude will bring 52 million women into the work force, 11 million more than 1978. Most of these females will be married and many will have young children.

the shift of women away from the home and into the marketplace, notes the study, is the fact that women are marrying later and having smaller families, an average of 2.1 children per couple.

Although individual families are smaller, the survey predicts an impending baby boom as women born in the '50's and '60's enter their peak childbearing years. The study estimates that by 1990 about 3.1 million women will have children under age six. Increases of this magnitude will most likely influence attitudes towards child-care policies, flexible work schedules and other issues where job and children come into conflict.

For the future, the survey contends that except for teachers, job prospects for women entering the work force look good, especially in the white collar and service sectors. Skilled trades, which have traditionally been male preserves, should be opening up to women as enforcement of equal opportunity laws continues.

As women gain work experience they'll attain higher wages, promotion opportunities and seniority rights. And, educational opportunities, which will continue to improve, should also mean improved job advancement.

Pantsuit Foes Get Belted Back

DEAR ABBY: Never did I think I'd be writing to you, but I am completely fed up with the despicable people who write in to criticize women who wear pantsuits!

Two years ago when we moved to this small community I was eager to join a church. I asked someone if it was acceptable for a woman to wear pantsuits to church. I was told, "No, it is frowned upon."

That's when I decided to have my own worship service in the living room of my home—in front of my TV set. God knows I'm sincere.

You see, Abby, for 20 years I've had terrible varicose veins, causing me constant pain, so I always wear heavy surgical stockings. For this reason I feel so much better in pantsuits. Thank God for them!

People should think twice before criticizing the way I dress.

MRS. B. DE FUNIAK SPRINGS, FLA.

DEAR MRS. B: Or they should withhold comment until having walked 20 years in your surgical stockings!

DEAR ABBY: You seem to get a lot of letters from people who place far too much importance on sex. I know it's important, Abby, but it's not nearly as important as most folks make it out to be. There are a lot of people in this world who manages to live without any sex at all. For example, look at all the nuns and priests. And what about some very fine unmarried people?

SPENCER, IOWA

DEAR SPENCER: And some very fine married people, too.

DEAR ABBY: How would you deal with a situation like this? Whenever our adopted daughter mentions an aunt or uncle, her husband says, "You have no relatives. You're adopted!" It really hurts our daughter.

TORONTO

DEAR TORONTO: Your son-in-law is not only unbelievably ignorant, he's cruel as well. He should be informed that an adopted person has twice as many relatives—the families of her adoptive parents and the families of her biological parents.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a widow, 57, and I've been asked to some nice parties by a very fine gentleman. He's 53. Do you think he would like me less if he knew I had to wear a hearing aid? I wore it when I was with him the first time but I'm not sure he knows I wear one because I combed my hair over it.

How do men feel about this?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Many people wear eye glasses, which are an aid to better vision, so don't be embarrassed by a hearing aid—which is an aid to better hearing. If he's a "fine" person, he won't like you less for it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WHY ME, LORD?" If I knew the answer to that I'd be a latter-day Solomon: Don't let the mistakes of yesterday and the dread of tomorrow ruin the only day you have—which is today.

DEAR ABBY: As non-smokers, you and I are paying too high a premium for fire insurance. No one is permitted to smoke in my home, yet I am charged the same premium as the chain smoker who falls asleep with a cigarette in his mouth.

I am looking for an insurance company that recognizes the fact that 40 percent of all home fires are started by cigarettes, and therefore will allow a substantial discount to those who ban cigarettes from their homes.

Do you have any leads?

N.A. IN BINGHAMTON, N.Y.

DEAR N.A.: No. But after this hits print, if there is such an insurance company, I may.

Mrs. J.R. Petty presides

The Center Point Extension Homemakers Club met at Furr's Cafeteria Dec. 11 at 11:30 a.m. for a Christmas luncheon and party.

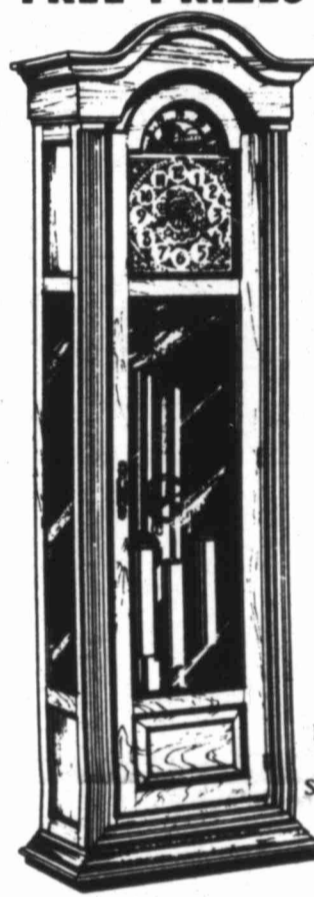

Thirteen members and Janet Rogers, the county extension agent, attended. Roll call was answered by a childhood saying each one cherished. Mrs. J.R. Petty, president, presided over the meeting and distributed year books. Gifts which members had raised, baked or made were exchanged.

A number of members served as hostesses at the Big Spring State Hospital Dec. 11 at 10:30 a.m. New officers will be installed at the Jan. 8 meeting in the home of Mrs. L.J. Davidson, 2400 Merryly Dr. at 2 p.m.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, DEC. 15, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to think out whatever you do not really understand of a business or personal nature. Investigate and consider all facets of such a condition so that you can correct facts and figures and put in motion a new plan to eliminate problems.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study your accounts book and see where you can make improvements so that you can operate more efficiently. Avoid a time-waster.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Meet with associates and discuss ideas that could lead to mutual benefit. Get the right information from a bigwig for a community problem.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Schedule activities and time well before you handle all that work ahead of you. Discuss with co-workers for best results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Study new amusements better before you delve into them. Contact congenials early if you want to join with them.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make needed repairs to home. Solve other problems intelligently. Take time for entertainment in the evening and be happy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get busy at correspondence, other paper work and clear your desk. Later visit persons you like and have not seen lately.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study personal and financial status well and know where to cut down on expenses, make investments, etc. Plan how to add to savings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Know what your most cherished desires and aims are and then plan just how to best attain them. Handle financial affairs well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study every angle of personal affairs and know exactly how to handle them. Make sure you can trust someone you want to be with.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Look for advice from a good pal of real character and understanding. Accept a possible invitation to a group affair.

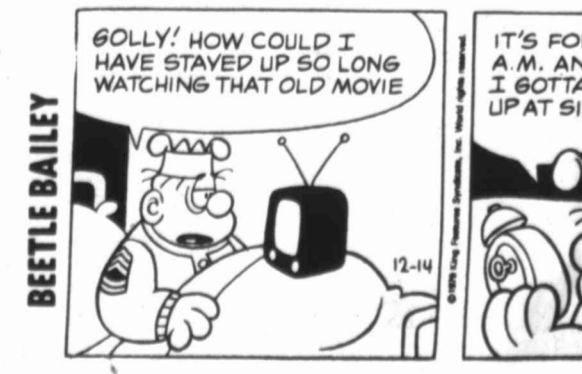

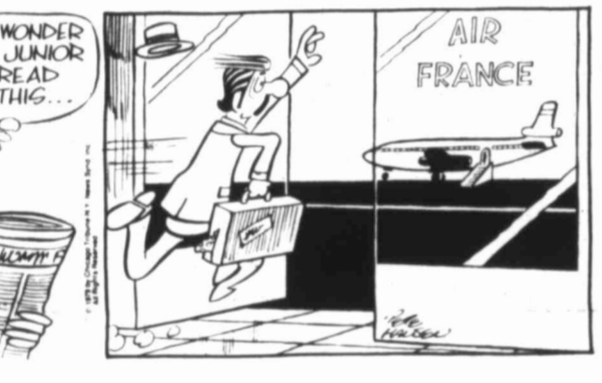

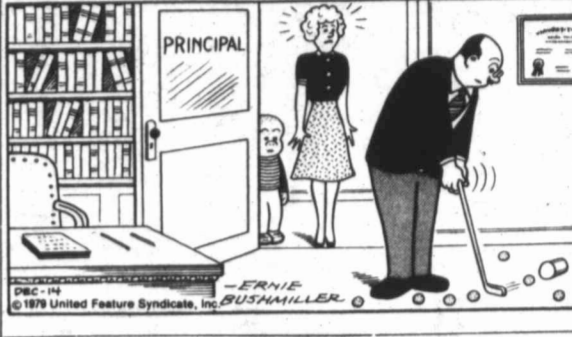

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you know a bigwig well, ask for the backing you need and get it. Be connected with public affairs that appeal to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study which plans are best for you to put in operation and get ahead faster. Be a little more daring. Tape your subconscious for better insight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be able to ferret out the truth of any situation, so be sure to slant education along lines of investigation. Make sure diet is good, that sports are entered into that keep the body trim.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

POLITICAL RELATIONSHIPS — NAACP Executive Director Benjamin L. Hooks, left, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., share a laugh as they present plaques at the Institute for Socioeconomic Studies' annual conference in New York Wednesday. The laugh was provoked by Institute Director Dr. Leonard F. Greene who suggested that because of their political beliefs Goldwater stand to the right of Hooks.

Carter supporters hope so

Will history repeat itself?

WASHINGTON (AP) — On April 27, 1976, Jimmy Carter won the Democratic presidential nomination. It wasn't absolutely clear at the time — there were contests and indeed new candidates awaiting Carter. But when he won the Pennsylvania presidential primary, Carter disposed of the real threats to his nomination. His active rivals were left without a real chance at the nomination. The late Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who had been flirting with running in later primaries, backed away.

That bit of history is noted now because Carter's campaign manager says the president can do the same thing, in the same state, on April 22, 1980.

"If I had to guess on where we would take off, my guess would be Pennsylvania," said Tim Kraft. "I think the delegate lead and the momentum will be such that we will cannonball."

That is a bold claim, and Kraft wryly acknowledges that he may live to regret it. He is saying, in effect, that before the primary season is half done, Carter will have blunted Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's challenge for the nomination. Kraft doubts that California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. will be a serious factor in the early primary going.

He also is saying that the breakthrough will come in a state in which Kennedy should be formidable. It is a heavily unionized state

Kennedy has, or is likely to get, the support of key Democratic leaders in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

But Carter has been there before. Four years ago, organized labor put its political manpower and money to work for Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington. Carter beat him handsily.

He did it with the help of Peter F. Flaherty, a former Pittsburgh mayor and later deputy attorney general, who was a leader of the 1976 Carter campaign in Pennsylvania. This time, Flaherty will be working for Kennedy.

None of that shakes the Kraft forecast. His scenario comes with Carter moving up in the polls, largely as a result of the way he is handling the hostage crisis in Iran. But Kraft feels that will be a double-edged issue, and that even a successful conclusion of the hostage situation would be followed by a time of second-guessing and political recriminations as to why it all happened in the first place.

Wedding party to lure backers of Connally

Busloads of supporters for John Connally's presidential bid are expected in San Antonio Thursday, Dec. 20, to help the Governor and Mrs. Connally celebrate their 39th wedding anniversary.

The anniversary party will be held at the San Antonio Convention Center in Banquet Hall One beginning at 7 p.m.

The buses of friends and supporters are expected from all areas of the state. Tickets at $20 per person have been placed in the hands of Connally county finance chairman and they will also be available at the door. The party will close out a statewide fund-raising tour for Nellie Connally and will bring Governor Connally back into Texas after appearance in Nebraska and Iowa.

"This is going to be the biggest anniversary party anyone has seen," Chairman Tom Moorman of San Antonio said. "We will have the music of Jim Cullum's Happy Jazz Band to keep things moving and plenty of hors d'oeuvres and beverages."

Also planned is a performance by "The Connallyettes", a group of Floresville ladies that surprised Gov. and Mrs. Connally last February with a special campaign song, written by daughter Sharon Ammann. Since that February appearance, the song has been adopted as the campaign's official theme song, making its debut in 30 and 60 second spots throughout Iowa beginning in mid-December.

Sharon is part of the 11-member group, along with Connally daughters-in-law Anne and Tracy and sisters-in-law Mary and Kay Connally.

Information may be obtained by calling Moorman at 512-822-8711 in San Antonio.

IBM shares thought of highly by American investment clubs

NEW YORK (AP) — Investment clubs think highly of IBM shares, but they also believe in diversification. That's why their portfolios also have included shares of Kaneb Services, Moog and Amcord.

Surveying its members, the National Association of Investment Clubs found more clubs holding shares of International Business Machines than any other stock, which really isn't news. It was to be expected.

Investment clubs, you see, are usually made up of amateurs — 13 to 15 or so in a typical club — but they use some of the very same professional techniques as those used by the big institutions.

Those institutions, such as mutual funds, pension funds, insurers, trusts, college endowments and the like, are big holders of IBM, which has enough shares outstanding to absorb huge institutional purchases.

The clubs go a bit further, however, and dig into market areas that barely arouse the curiosity of the institutions. They mine whatever information is available on smaller firms too, and often hit paydirt.

While IBM was the most popular stock, Kaneb, Moog and Amcord were among the most profitable for members, the survey found.

Amcord, Inc. topped the list. Though small by many standards, it is one of the nation's largest cement producers, operating two plants in California, and others in Pennsylvania and Michigan.

The company was recommended to clubs as a stock to study in 1976, and many clubs reported they purchased it early in that year at about $5 a share. It is now being taken over by another company, at $34 a share.

Kaneb services is a difficult company to categorize, a multiline firm that produces bituminous coal, runs a pipeline, clears land and engages in data processing.

Spotted by the national association's investment advisers, it caught on with members in December of 1974 at prices as low as $8.25 a share. It closed Wednesday at $21.25.

Moog, Inc., a relatively small company that makes electro-hydraulic valves and numerically controlled machine tools, was accumulated by clubs — and for the private portfolios of members too — late in 1974 at about $4 a share. It closed Wednesday at $16.75.

These are among the exceptionally good choices of clubs, but similar returns have been reported by individual clubs that chose a poorly known stock and then had the confidence and patience to stick with it.

Patience, in fact, is one of the attributes taught club members. One of the NAIC's basic rules is to "invest regularly without trying to guess which way the market is going to move." That is, to stick with a stock through thick and thin, through good markets and poor.

Coupons gone but not forever

NEW YORK (AP) — You won't be able to use a United or American airlines half-fare coupon after Saturday, but airline industry officials and analysts say you probably haven't seen the last of the discount certificates — even though the carriers probably lost money on them.

And the many who went into business bartering the coupons say business is waning as the offer comes to a close. They're trying to get rid of any coupons they have left — often at quite a bargain.

"I'm asking $45, but I'll take $25," said a Little Rock, Ark., woman who was trying to sell two half-fare coupons. "I'm getting kind of desperate to sell them."

"We've heard of a couple of instances where people are willing to give them away just so they get used," said Jack Francois, a spokesman for Los Angeles International Airport. Like many other airports, Los Angeles International was the place of business for dozens of people who set up shop to buy and sell the coupons.

"There used to be people in the terminal trying to sell the tickets," said Francois. "But now it's pretty quiet."
