

Cardiac arrest ends 85-year journey

George Meany dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigar-chomping George Meany, the indomitable leader and sharp-tongued symbol of the American labor movement since the 1950s, is dead at 85.

Death came late Thursday at George Washington University Hospital, barely two months after deteriorating health forced his retirement as the only president in the AFL-CIO's 24-year existence.

The former Bronx plumber, who became one of the nation's most influential private citizens during his 57-year labor career, had been hospitalized on Sunday for treatment of a painful buildup of fluid in his legs. His condition worsened Thursday afternoon and he was transferred to the hospital's intensive care unit, according to Meany's spokesman, Albert Zack.

Meany's three daughters were with him when he died at 9:55 p.m. EST. Death was attributed to cardiac arrest, said Zack.

President Carter called Meany "an American institution" and "a patriot."

"He changed the shape of our nation for the better in hundreds of ways, great and small, through the force of his character and the integrity of his beliefs," said Carter, who had clashed often with Meany over economic policies.

"A giant has fallen," Labor

Secretary Ray Marshall said. "He leaves a legacy to all of us of a better, more decent and equitable society."

Massachusetts Sen. Edward Kennedy, a long-time political ally of the labor leader and candidate for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination, said Meany "was a great American and all of us will miss him."

Mr. Labor, as Meany was known for three decades, had been confined to a wheelchair with arthritis since last spring, when he injured his knee in a golfing accident. The injury frequently left him in severe pain and his health deteriorated rapidly after that.

Having outlived most of his contemporaries, he grew despondent last March following the death of his wife of 59 years, Eugenia, and lost the drive to regain his strength, said close friends and aides.

The son of a 19th century Irish-American union leader, Meany never finished high school. But he used his keen mind, uncanny political instinct and dominating personality to unite a fractious labor movement and hold most of it together for a quarter century.

Using the 14 million-member American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations as his base, Meany became one of the most effective lobbyists in Congress, the self-appointed adviser to eight presidents and a key broker in Democratic Party politics.

Nation's unemployment edges up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate edged up slightly in December to 5.9 percent, as a still-strong economy continued to produce job opportunities for American workers, the government reported today.

Last month's rate, up from November's 5.8 percent figure, stayed within the range of 5.7 percent to 5.9 percent unemployment that has prevailed since August 1978, the Labor Department said.

At the same time, the number of persons with jobs rose by 300,000 in December to 97.9 million. Over the course of 1979, some 2.1 million new jobs were created, the report said.

The strength of the job market has surprised Carter administration officials, who had expected a slowing economy to boost unemployment to 6.6 percent by the end of last year.

"I think the administration, like everyone else, has been paying a lot of attention to what the economic model builders have been saying about the possibility of a recession," said Jack Bregger, chief of the Labor Department's employment analysis division. "Clearly, the economy hasn't taken a nosedive, at least as yet."

Bregger added that the "figures for December are amazingly strong, particularly on the employment side" but said that recent layoffs in the automobile industry could be "reflective of things in the future."

Analysts say that sluggish car sales will have resulted in the temporary or permanent layoff of some 200,000 autoworkers by next week. The figure includes employees on strike at Volkswagen operations in Pennsylvania.

Statistics in the December report incorporate revisions through 1975 that reflect new seasonal adjustment data, Bregger pointed out. The most noticeable elements were downward revisions of unemployment rates for August and October from 6 percent to 5.9 percent.

The report said that just over 6 million persons were unemployed in December, about the same number as had been jobless a year earlier.

The civilian workforce totaled just under 104 million persons last month, compared with about 103.7 million a year earlier.

Total employment last month was 97.9 million, compared with 97.6 million in December 1978.

Unemployment rates by various population categories were little changed in December from the previous month. They included:

—Adult men: 4.2 percent, down from 4.3 percent in November.

—Adult women: 5.7 percent, up from 5.6 percent.

—Teen-agers: 16 percent, up from 15.9 percent.

—Whites: 5.1 percent, unchanged.

—Blacks and other minorities: 11.3 percent, up from 10.9 percent.

—Minority teen-agers: 34.3 percent, up from 32.8 percent.

Hise retained for another year

Adult crossing guard proposed

By DON WOODS
College Heights PTA Spokeswoman Carole Owen presented a traffic safety report to Big Spring Independent School District trustees Thursday in their regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. Owen asked the board to give their approval to the employment of crossing guards and to consider funding the program, at least partially.

Mrs. Owen also asked the board to consider evaluating the program at the end of the 1979-1980 school year.

School Superintendent Lynn Hise said he and City Manager Don Davis will meet to discuss the possibility of joint financing of crossing guard salaries for College Heights and Gollad school crosswalks. Hise commended the College Heights PTA for its presentation and study of school safety.

"We've done a great study to determine how adult crossing guards operate in our sister cities," said Mrs. Owen, citing conditions in Midland, Lubbock and Odessa.

In Lubbock and Midland the program is operated through the police department and funded entirely by the city. In Odessa cost of the program is split between the city and the school district and operated through the police department.

The Lubbock program which has been in operation for more than 20 years, employs 30 guards and is authorized for seven more. Odessa's program started around eight years ago and employs 18 crossing guards. Odessa is considering employment of four others. Midland's program has been operating nearly 20 years and employs 15 guards.

Mrs. Owen said the men in charge of the programs rate them as "highly effective."

Lubbock pays the guards $2.35 an hour, Odessa $3.19 an hour and Midland to $4.08 an hour.

Mrs. Owen said a sample cost in Big Spring would be $1,116 a year for one guard working two hours a day for 36 weeks at $3.10 an hour.

In making her appeal for school district financing, Mrs. Owen anticipated school trustee objection that two sister cities accepted full funding of the program. She explained that the city of Big Spring may not have sufficient financial health to bear the full weight of financing.

"We have all been concerned about it (traffic safety) for years," said Mrs. Owen, "but it took an accident to really get us doing anything." She was referring to an accident a few months ago in which a girl was hit at College Heights.

She said a child was struck near Washington School last fall and another in the Washington school zone during the 1976-1977 school year. Two girls on their way to school were killed at a Big Spring bus stop in 1969.

In a pilot study of the program, Mrs. Owen and other women manned the crosswalk for five days to determine the feasibility of hiring crossing guards.

Trustees pointed out the difficulty of finding people willing to work the two hours a day when traffic is heavy enough around the crosswalks to merit crossing guards.

Encouragement of car pools and parent-student education programs were other suggestions Mrs. Owen's study came up with to improve safety. She also said city workers need to be encouraged to implement changes already made by the city council to improve school zone safety.

Supt. Hise's contract was extended by the school board Thursday night to run through January 1983. "There were two years on the contract and they extended it one more year," Hise explained.

Details of a conference with School Attorneys Dick Milstead and Randal Patterson were not made public. Hise's contract and the matter discussed with attorneys were handled in executive session.

BSISD terminated its contract with the Howard County Tax Appraisal Board and signed a contract with the "new" Consolidated Tax Appraisal Board created by state Senate Bill 621. The school district is paying for 33.55 percent of the cost of running the board. The district nominated two of the five members of the tax appraisal board.

Snowstorm closes schools

Lights were out in thousands of homes today after a howling snowstorm blitzed much of the Pacific and Rocky Mountain West. Schools and businesses were shut, and in some states, nearly all major highways were closed. In Oregon, a lone Amtrak train was the only vehicle of escape for some stranded motorists.

The storm, now in its fourth day in some states, has left at least 13 persons dead, unloaded enough snow to force closure of some ski areas and yanked the temperature to 17 below zero at Cut Bank, Mont.

In Wyoming, thunder and lightning accompanied the storm and winds gusting to 90 mph broke car windows in Medicine Bow.

More than a foot of new snow was reported in western Wyoming. Authorities said the storm closed nearly every major road in the state and posed a continuing avalanche threat to Snake River Canyon.

Mayor Choate not to seek re-election

Mayor Wade Choate, who has served on the Big Spring City Council for the past ten years, announced today that he would not seek another term as mayor of Big Spring.

Choate was elected to the city council in 1970, and served as mayor pro-tem in 1971. In 1972 and 1973, he was selected to serve as mayor by his fellow city council members.

The election process was changed in Big Spring in 1974 with the general population selecting the person to fill the position of mayor of the city. He was elected to that position in 1974, 1976, and again in 1978.

In making the announcement not to seek another term, Mayor Choate said "I've served as mayor of Big Spring for eight years. During that time, we've had to face some very trying moments in our city's history, including the closure of Webb Air Force Base and seeking new jobs to fill those created with the closure of the base."

The projects which have been completed under Mayor Choate's terms in office have been considerable and include all segments within the community. During his tenure, the city has spent increased amounts on the city's parks and recreational facilities. Examples include the Hike and Bike Trail, the championship tennis center, the Roy Anderson softball complex, the remodeling of the Dora Roberts Community Center in cooperation with the Dora Roberts Foundation, and countless other projects.

He has also been very involved in business and has been instrumental in attracting new business to Big Spring and the Big Spring Industrial Park. At the close of 1979, there were 38 companies located on the former Webb Air Force Base with a total employment of 506.

During his tenure in office, the city developed new methods for financing the paving of city streets. And much of this paving was made possible in low-income areas through federal monies received from Revenue Sharing and other federally funded programs. The city also took advantage of federal funds for major sewer and water expansion programs. Other areas where federal funds were used included the purchase of sanitation equipment, clean-up programs, street maintenance equipment, and a city garage building.

The safety of the Big Spring community was also greatly enhanced during his term of office. A juvenile division was added to the police department, with 75 percent of the funding coming from the federal government and the Criminal Justice Council.

A police communications system also received federal monies to improve their system, and a traffic coordinator was added to the city staff in 1973 to examine high-accident areas and to remove obstructions from intersections. An aerial fire truck was also purchased during his term and can be used in fighting fires at many of the multistory buildings in the city.

"I feel the city council should be commended for what they have accomplished for our city over the past few years," Mayor Choate said, "and for the improvements presently underway. It has been my pleasure to work with the city council and city employees and to have been a small part of the progress of the community," he continued.

"I would also like to thank the people in the community who have supported me and those who have contributed so much of their time and efforts for the betterment of our city during my term in office.

"I feel many of the improvements that have taken place in our city would not have been possible without many segments of the community's cooperation. We have many things to be proud of, but there is always room for continued improvement," he said. "And I pledge to work with whomever is elected mayor of Big Spring in making their job somewhat easier," Mayor Choate concluded.

Judge vacates suit award

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge has vacated a $7.5 million libel and slander award made by a jury in a dispute between two manufacturers of mattress pads.

Saying the award to Acme Quilting Co. was "grossly excessive," U.S. District Judge Constance Baker Motley declared that it was not susceptible to adjustment by the court and a new trial was necessary.

The court dispute between Acme and its competitor, Perfect Fit Industries Inc., stemmed from a rivalry to promote their products with Gimbel's department stores.

Chavez said he had come to San Francisco from Mexico City to deliver some dresses to a friend. His detention at the airport followed closely an INS order that it would start enforcing laws against admitting homosexual aliens to the United States.

Police beat Two tires slashed by mischief maker

A mischief maker hit the Fas Gas Service Station, 18th and Gregg, between 4 and 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and slashed two tires on a van that was parked there during that time. Gerald Wooten, Box 1512, estimates the damage of his tires at $160. A rear window and rear door found open on a burglarized residence Thursday are believed to have been used as the entry and exit points by the culprit. Taken from Freddy White's residence, 901 N.W. 5th, were two stereo speakers, valued at $50, between 4 and 5 p.m. Police are checking out several leads they have in the case.

Olga Perez, 203 N.W. 8th, reported that an unknown person removed her purse from the top of a refrigerator in a storage room at Hall-Bennett Hospital between 5 p.m. and 7:05 p.m. Thursday. There is evidence that the thief left through the back door; a photograph and receipt belonging to Ms. Perez was found in the rear parking lot of the hospital. The purse and contents were valued at $50.

Judy Gardner, 4212 Parkway, is in good condition at Cowper Hospital following an assault by an acquaintance at her residence Thursday, 6:30 p.m. Ms. Gardner reported that her assailant struck her with a fist and a table leg. She is suffering from mild head and back injuries, according to the attending physician, Dr. Roscoe B.G. Cowper.

Two minor accidents have been reported to the police. Vehicles driven by Mildred Warren of Granit Sholls, and Carol Williams, 3722 Hatch, collided at Highland Shopping Center, 12:40 p.m. Thursday.

Vehicles driven by Teresa Hannabass, 1404 Settles, and Ann Gibson Houser, 101 Cedar Rd., collided at the intersection of E. 10th and Runnels, 8:29 a.m. Friday.

Weather mod action due Sweetwater assured water is available

Sweetwater was assured Thursday by the Colorado River Municipal Water District that water is available to that city either at Lake E.V. Spence or at Oak Creek reservoir.

Directors of the district instructed General Manager O.H. Ivie to complete contract negotiations with Sweetwater for the additional water. Ivie told the board that Lake Spence had ample reserves to service Sweetwater's needs. With the Stacy reservoir's completion, it may be as economical to pump water to Midland-Odessa from that source as to force-pump it at high friction loss from Lake Spence.

Charges for the water to Sweetwater would be based on replacement cost of the Lake Spence facilities, and if Sweetwater wants the district to deliver the water to Oak Creek, the cost of the pipeline and pump station amortization would be added. The effect of a contract would be to tie up 6.45 percent of the lake's estimated yield of 45,000,000 gallons a day. Lake Spence and Lake Oak Creek are about 17 miles apart.

Board members also indicated an interest later in becoming the sponsoring vehicle for industrial revenue bond issues. This would be a service to the cities in the area, said Ivie, and would not involve any expense or liability to the district, nor in any way impair its credit. In this connection, it was indicated the district will seek to enlarge its boundaries at the next Legislature since the act creating the district fixed the limits as the city limits of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder as they existed in March 1949. Since then all of the three corporate limits have been extended considerably.

Ivie told the directors that an application has been made for a "404" environmental permit from the U.S. Corps of Engineers and that a preliminary hearing will be held in March. The permit will be required before closure of the dam at Stacy.

The Texas Water Commission is due to act Monday on the district's application to continue its weather modification efforts through 1983, he said. No appropriation was made for the work because the provision last year was for the biennium.

Water quality for the system is somewhat better this winter than a year ago, Ivie reported, because Lake J.B. Thomas water is being mixed at Big Spring with lesser quality water from Lake E.V. Spence. Late winter quality could decline, he said, because Lake Spence is some two feet lower than a year ago, causing the normal low flow of the river — a poor quality water — to reach the pump intake more rapidly. Early spring rains could improve this greatly, he said.

New installations at the Moss Creek pump station should be activated sometime in February, boosting the capacity from that point to the Big Spring pump station by 10 million gallons a day. In addition, said Paschall Odum, assistant general manager, a standby vertical pump at Lake Spence and a spare pump interchangeable at three stations, will give the district insurance against any sort of emergency next summer. These improvements are being installed at a cost in excess of $600,000.

Humberta Montoya Mier and Efrain Montoya Mier, Garden City Route, were transferred to the Howard County jail Thursday from San Angelo.

Both are charged with burglary. Efrain Mier is charged with aggravated robbery. Bond has been set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin at $20,000 each for the burglary charges and $50,000 for the aggravated robbery.

"Deaf Awareness" is the subject on which Carla Warrington will be speaking on the Howard College campus Monday night, Jan. 21.

Mrs. Warrington is being presented in one of the Library Lecture series sponsored by the Anthony Hunt Library. The presentation will be made in the Tumbleweed Room of the Student Union Building at 2:30 p.m. All area residents are invited to attend this program. Refreshments will be served.

Carla is an instructor in sign language at Howard College. She would like to see a widespread interest grow in the community toward the people with hearing problems. Mrs. Warrington is employed as a project director for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Water sales to area oil companies decline

Water deliveries to area cities in 1979 came near equaling the totals for the previous year, but sharp reductions to oil companies and industries pulled deliveries of the Colorado River Municipal Water District 8 percent below 1978.

Production figures released by the CRMWD showed that municipal deliveries stood at 13,603,331,200 gallons for the year, or 176,000,000 under estimates. Wet mid-year months and an abnormally wet December caused the municipal demand decline.

Because surface supplies were cut off from oil companies, their deliveries were off sharply. The 2,647,080,248 gallons they took was 1,244,012,534 less than the previous year. The decline in surface deliveries was 528,000,000 gallons for the year, and Texas Electric Service Company was cut off the Ward County well field supply at mid-year with the result of a loss of 528,000,000 gallons to district production. Oil companies took 175,000,000 gallons less production from brine wells for secondary recovery, and three major operators dropped 51,000,000 gallons. All others were about the same or showed gains.

Total deliveries for the year amounted to 16,250,411,443 gallons, down 1,420,200,883 gallons, or 8.04 percent from 1978.

Graduating nursing courses orientation set Saturday

ODESSA — An orientation session for nursing instructors from area community colleges who are planning to take graduate nursing courses in Odessa this spring will be conducted 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday at the University of Texas at the Permian Basin.

Two graduate level classes were being made available to the instructors at UTPB through the College of Nursing at the University of Texas at El Paso.

Dr. Eileen Jacobi, dean of the UTEP College of Nursing said the two courses are being offered in response to requests of nursing instructors in the Permian Basin.

"These classes will meet the requirements of the State Board of Nursing. While we are not offering a degree program in nursing for the Permian Basin at this time, this will give nursing faculty who do not already hold masters degrees the opportunity to earn credits which could be used in a masters program," Jacobi said.

Courses being taught include Curriculum and Instruction of Nursing Education, 4-6 p.m. Wednesdays, and the Role and Function of Teachers in Nursing, 6:30-9 p.m. Wednesdays. Instructors are Jacobi and Dr. Mona Fields, UTEP Professor of nursing.

Former bank officer sentenced to prison

Douglas Edwin Bankhead, 33, a former officer at the State National Bank here, has been given a one-year prison sentence in Abilene federal court for the embezzlement of $18,884.

U.S. District Court Hal Woodward of Lubbock rejected a plea for leniency for Bankhead and his Big Spring attorney, Wayne Basden.

Woodward ordered Bankhead to report to a U.S. Marshal's office no later than Feb. 15 for transfer to a federal prison. Judge Woodward also imposed five years of probation on Bankhead, to be served after he is released from prison.

He ordered, too, that Bankhead make restitution in the amount of $4,550 after he was released, in payments of $100 a month.

Bankhead pleaded guilty Nov. 20 in Wichita Falls federal court to two of 23 counts of bank embezzlement. The 21 remaining charges were dismissed Thursday by Judge Woodward.

Bankhead was assistant cashier and loan officer at the bank during the period covered by the acts of embezzlement — from March 28, 1977, to Nov. 17, 1978.

Bankhead told Judge Woodward that he had intended to repay the money but the events got out of control and "snowballed" on him.

In sentencing Bankhead to prison, the judge warned that "every bank officer would get the idea he could steal a couple of thousand bucks, with a free ride on the first steal," if the bench saw fit to grant probation.

The maximum penalty for embezzlement by a bank employee is five years and a $5,000 fine on each count.

Pope's album is edited

BOSTON (AP) — Folks who buy the recording of Pope John Paul II's Mass on Boston Common won't hear the sound of the rain that accompanied the service — or some of the original music.

Remainder charges were dismissed Thursday by Judge Woodward.

Bankhead was assistant cashier and loan officer at the bank during the period covered by the acts of embezzlement — from March 28, 1977, to Nov. 17, 1978.

Bankhead told Judge Woodward that he had intended to repay the money but the events got out of control and "snowballed" on him.

Strike talks stall; gunfire in Texas

DENVER (AP) Round-the-clock police surveillance was ordered at a Texas oil refinery after a shooting that marked the first major incident of the three-day-old oil workers' strike.

In Denver, meanwhile, negotiations between the oil workers and Gulf Oil Co. stalled again Thursday, with the union's insistence on a fully paid health insurance plan still a major hurdle.

Talks recessed late Thursday and are not likely to resume before early next week, said federal mediator Nik Fidandis.

"The talks have not broken off, but no date has been set for future meetings," said union president Robert Goss.

Gulf has stepped forward to represent the nation's major oil companies in dealing with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, which pulled 80,000 of its members out of oil refineries around the nation Tuesday.

Only five of the refineries have closed. Most oil companies say they can run the highly automated plants almost indefinitely with management employees.

In Houston, one man was injured by flying glass after gunfire was exchanged outside the H&A Oil Co. refinery. Police said OCAW member Dale Sanders, 30, suffered facial cuts in the incident.

Police said the shootout occurred when a company truck driven by 32-year-old Henry Schumann left the refinery Thursday afternoon and was forced to the curb by a pickup and a car.

Oil picketer injured

Tensions mounting early

HOUSTON (AP) — One man was injured by flying glass after gunshots erupted outside a refinery being picketed by striking Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union members, police said.

Deputy Police Chief B.M. Finch said he had ordered 24-hour police surveillance of the Charter International Oil refinery after the shooting incident, which left OCAW member Dale Sanders, 30, with facial cuts from flying glass.

Police said the shootout occurred when a H&A Oil Co. truck driven by Henry Schumann, 32, left the refinery Thursday afternoon and was forced to the curb by a pickup and a car.

Schumann told officers he left his truck, went to the car and talked for several minutes, and had returned to his truck when a bullet struck his passenger door.

Schumann returned fire with a rifle he had in the truck, striking the pickup in which Sanders was riding.

H&A president Henry Kennedy said

Schumann told him two or three shots struck his truck after persons outside the plant tried to drag him from his truck.

"He (Schumann) told me... they fired two or three shots through the back of his truck and like to have hit him before he shot back."

OCAW spokesman Carl Shepherd denied that union members had fired shots at the truck, saying "our men have no weapons whatsoever. That wasn't our people."

Shepherd also denied allegations by Charter spokesman Rex Weathers, who said union members had been vandalizing company cars and private vehicles and shooting ball bearings at the plant since the strike began Monday.

"The company cars are inside the refinery," Shepherd said, "so there's no way we can get to them. None of our people have done anything like this."

Kennedy said windshields in three of his trucks had been broken since the strike, which affects about 25,000 workers in Texas, began.

Former president will testify at NTSU probe

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Former president C.C. Nolen of North Texas State University has said he will testify voluntarily at a public hearing Monday of the House General Investigating Committee, the panel's lawyer says.

"His lawyer indicated to me he would be there," said Jim Vollers, special counsel of the investigating committee.

Vollers also said Thursday "it is fair to assume the committee" will look into allegations that funds belonging to NTSU were channeled into a foundation seeking a public television station for Denton.

Three of the five committee members met less than an hour behind closed doors Thursday.

Chairman Richard Slack, D-Pecos, said the reason for the executive session was "to decide on subpoenas — how many and who will be the recipients of the glad tidings."

The Dallas Morning News reported in Thursday editions the committee has received NTSU records on the school's relations with Denton Channel 2 Foundation, Inc.

The News said investigators are interested in an alleged proposal to transfer a $80,844 piece of property from NTSU to the television foundation.

NTSU has been under investigation since April, when reports were published that the school had made unconstitutional transfers of state funds into the private North Texas State University Educational Foundation.

Nolen resigned just before the committee's first meeting in April.

Asked if the committee had discovered any prosecutable offenses, Slack told reporters:

"I would hesitate to say. I'd say they are serious enough for us to have a meeting about. There were clear violations of the law, although how far the prosecution would go, I cannot say. ... We want anyone who is guilty of misappropriation or misuse of public — we want something done about it."

The Texas Prosecutors Coordinating Council, which assembled a task force from several urban district attorneys' offices to look into the NTSU situation for Slack, gave Vollers the documentary evidence and written statements it had collected.

"After consultation with Mr. Vollers, it is clear that testimony must be taken from several additional witnesses. Therefore, no report is being made to protect the innocent as well as to ensure the successful prosecution of any guilty party," council director Andy Shuval wrote Slack.

The Russians read us like a book

The Soviet Union was born in ferment and has been monolithic in its philosophy that major changes can be wrought only through the use of violence or the threat thereof.

Russia — all of Europe and the world for that matter — was never quite the same after Karl Marx finished his epoch-making manifesto in 1848, although it took a man of Lenin's drive and dedication to inspire the changes more than half a century later.

Marx, of course, was always the prophet of revolution, attacking with concentrated fury the whole system of society which offered so sleek a surface to the sky.

THE RUSSIANS, as did Adolph Hitler before them, like to negotiate with the intelligentsia because they have come to know that such people, when they are face to face with a dilemma, will not attack it but rather seek ways to delay a decision about it. Hitler knew the Englishman, Neville Chamberlain, would vacillate on the issue of the Sudetanland and allow German troops to march into Czechoslovakia in the late 1930s.

The Russians themselves manipulated President Roosevelt, even to the point of dictating the terms for carving up Berlin, after the Germans had caved in from the incessant bombing of the western powers during World War II.

Now the world has seen another example of the swiftness with which the Soviets move in their sweep across Afghanistan. They raised an iron fist, knowing that President Carter and the Americans could offer little but protest over the Russian moves. As it turned out, when Carter packaged a plan for economic reprisals and the withholding of some foodstuffs, he found his house hopelessly divided.

The Soviets, who understand the meaning of power much more than they do detente, apparently have embarked upon a plan to gain control of the energy sources in the Middle East. They are in a position to use

Afghanistan as a springboard into Pakistan, where they can secure a long-coveted warm water port on the Indian Ocean.

THE MUSCOVITES MOVED into Afghanistan during Christmas week at a time when our leadership was focusing its attention on Iran and the Americans being held captive there and while the rest of the country was basking in the euphoria of the Yule season.

(If Russia ever decides to attack the United States, it will come sometime between 1 and 6 p.m., on an Autumn Sunday, when the fervor for professional football is mounting, or on a Monday night from September on, when we are suffering with withdrawal pains caused by football saturnalia.)

The Soviet operation was patented: Overwhelm the target country, fan the flames of rebellion and then put a red puppet in power.

He was soon to discover that Leonid Brezhnev, the Soviet leader, had entirely different ideas what the beargh meant at the Vienna SALT-signing.

Realizing that it was probably doomed anyway, the president has since announced a delay in the debate on SALT. The president has also recalled our ambassador to Moscow and held urgent talks with members of the National Security Council. Needless to add, he is getting advice from all sides.

This being a presidential election year, the president can expect to absorb partisan broadsides and look forward to a growing restlessness from a public that, up to now, has generally approved of the manner in which he has handled the Iranian problem.

The people are legion, however, who reason we are going to have to stand up to the Russians if we are to retain even the vital petroleum supplies which now keep us going.

On what's ahead

William F. Buckley, Jr.

How would you like it if once a year a heavy concentration of the mightiest in town gathered for the purpose of hearing you predict what would happen in the course of the year? An interesting experience: once. But last week the same man who initiated the idea did it again — for the 40th consecutive time. He is Leo Cherne, the sponsors were the Sales Executive Club of New York, the introduction was by Henry Kissinger and Mrs. Cherne, the crowd was SRO, and there were light moments during the speech and grave moments. Leo Cherne has an awful capacity for accuracy, which is why he has done it again and again, beginning on the January when he predicted that the United States would become involved in the world war as a result of an explosion in the Pacific. That was two years before Pearl Harbor.

LEO CHERNE, AS one says with a cautious eye, for those who cherish their lacunae — Needs No Introduction. He is the president of the Research Institute of America, so what else is new. But: He is also a songwriter, a master sculptor, an economics and intelligence analyst whose help has been solicited by seven presidents of the United States. His primary distinction is surely his work as head of the International Rescue Committee. He is to refugees what Herbert Hoover was to the starving. When he is late for dinner, his wife pointed out, it is because he is on his way to Budapest, or Prague, or Phnom-Penh, or Kabul. Although in his case necessarily the word is used as metaphor, he is the true Christian.

Enough of that. Mrs. Cherne, who was once a researcher in the institute, did a fine job of deflation by reminding the packed house of business executives that one year earlier her husband had predicted for 1979 an inflation of 8½ percent. "What's more, I set the household budget to that figure." The affair had otherwise got off to a soaring start when Henry Kissinger announced that in casting about for someone to introduce Cherne on this extraordinary anniversary the committee had floundered for a while. "But I know you follow the motto: 'Why not the best?'" What did the prophet say?

HE KNEW HE COULD not avoid a prediction on the American presidency, so therefore he dealt with it — quickly. In 1980, he said, the Democrats will nominate someone who is perceived as a man who is moderate and patient. Probably Carter. The Republicans, he said, will move in the same direction. He predicted "Bush or Ford." But added: "Reagan is increasingly viewed as a temperate man." Put it this way, on the 41st Cherne Prediction Lunch, he'll be in trouble only if Teddy or Jerry (Brown) are on their way to the White House.

What about inflation! That he was off by five points last year embarrasses a professional economist, who is consoled only by the absence of professional economists who were much closer in their predictions. We are, said Economist Cherne, in a recession right now, it is likely to extend into the third quarter of next year, and by the fourth quarter, we should be creeping out of it.

The energy crisis can't begin to be solved, said the prophet, for five years, and a "solution" will never again mean cheap energy.

Retina among body's delicate structures

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am under a doctor's care for a torn retina in my right eye and am taking laser beam treatments. I ask a lot of questions but get few answers.

Will my left eye develop the same problem?

What causes the retina to tear?

Will there always be the streaks of light from the torn retina?

What are the large black spots with light behind them? Will they go away?

Does the light and spots mean I am injuring my eye worse?

Why does leaning forward bother me?

This is a dramatic experience and having no answer is quite frightening. — Mrs. P.E.

A word about the retina in general.

It is one of the most sensitive structures of the body. It is a layer of light-sensitive cells across the rear of the eyeball. The specialized cells allow us to distinguish light and color.

Any disturbance of the retina creates all sorts of visual phenomena — your streaks and spots.

A torn (or detached) retina is a peeling away of this vision-sensitive structure from the layer of cells directly under it, much as wallpaper detaches from the wall. Often a small hole has formed in the retina, either from aging or because of an elongation of the eyeball, as in extreme nearsightedness. The fluid in the eye seeps into the hole and pulls the retina away. In other cases, a severe eye injury can cause the retina to become detached.

To answer your questions one at a time.

There is no reason to fear for a tear in your left eye simply because you have one in your right eye.

The streaks of light and black spots should disappear when the retina has been "tacked" back down by the laser beam. The laser acts like a welding gun in this procedure.

Leaning forward makes your symptoms worse because the retina floats farther away from its attachment. When you lie flat, the symptoms should lessen as the retina falls back into position.

You should report any change in your symptoms to your doctor promptly.

Dear Dr. Donohue: When I was 16 and was applying for an after-school soda fountain job it was discovered that I had a positive blood (Wassermann) test. As God is my witness, I had no relations. I was given shots for this. I got married and had three healthy children.

I am now in my 50s and everytime I have a blood test it always shows as positive. My health is perfect, thank God. My children have had healthy children. Why does my blood always test positive? Please answer, as this has bothered me all these years. Thank you. I enjoy your column very much. — Anon.

Please shed this mental burden and accept the following answer.

The Wassermann test for syphilis can be positive for reasons other than syphilis. It can be positive for certain illnesses like lupus. It can be positive in completely healthy individuals for no known reason. A positive Wassermann test does not prove that a person has or has had syphilis. Never, more specific, tests for the diagnosis of syphilis are available. Even these can be falsely positive.

Dear Dr. Donohue: When my five-year-old niece was visiting recently she kicked me very hard in my left breast with her heel. My breast was sore for weeks afterward and I am somewhat concerned as to whether or not a blow of that sort could produce any adverse medical consequences. — R.R.

If you mean will the sore area develop cancer, the answer is no.

Usually such an injury causes a deep bruise (hematoma) in the breast. That will disappear in time. Continued, prolonged pain, however, calls for an examination. Many times such an injury leads to detection of other problems not related to the injury itself.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In response to the person who had trouble with mouth dryness caused by medication: My doctor recommended lemon drops and they really solved my problem. — R.R.

A good idea. Any tart substance would help promote salivary gland flow.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' question are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

God has promised us, "Resist the devil, and he will flee from you" (James 4:7).

Then I suggest you work together with other parents who are concerned about this. I would not be in a position to tell you exactly what to do; you may need to seek professional and legal advice to know what rights you have and what procedures to follow. However, you may find that many parents will come to your support when they read publicity about this; some parents may not know about the course you mentioned. Be careful, incidentally, in all you do, so that your arguments are balanced and based on facts.

If it appears unlikely or impossible that you will be able to get this course removed from the school, you might also explore the possibility of getting other elective courses added which would give a Christian position. A course in Christian literature, for example, might be possible, looking at such writings as those of Augustine and C.S. Lewis.

Palate pleaser

Around the rim

James Werrell

Tales abound of men adrift at sea eating raw fish to survive, but the idea of doing it for pleasure left me cold when I first heard of it.

I consider myself a pretty adventurous taster, however, and I was determined to try the Mexican dish Cebiche (raw fish marinated in lime juice) if ever confronted with the opportunity.

This resolve was not without misgivings, though. I envisioned the experience to be pretty similar to that of a family of Eskimos gobbling blubber. I would be forced, I thought, to gag down an oily, pink, transparent slab of fish, searching in vain for something to wretch into.

MY WORRIES WERE for naught! I tasted Cebiche on a trip to Juarez last weekend, and it was one of the nicest favors I have ever done for my palate.

According to Diana Kennedy, one of the foremost authorities on Mexican cuisine, the word Cebiche comes from the Spanish verb cebar, "to saturate." She claims that the dish can be traced to the Oriental influence that crept into the western part of Mexico when the Spaniards opened up trade routes between the Philippines and the Pacific ports of the New World.

To call cebiche "raw fish" is actually an injustice. When marinated in large quantities of lime juice for six hours or more, the tissue of the fish is broken down by the acids in the lime and it is essentially "cooked."

Agencies failed

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — One of the sorer aspects of the U.S. humiliation in Iran has been the pathetic inability of our intelligence agencies to provide reliable information on which President Carter and his advisers could base their decisions.

Indeed, the confusion and contradictions in U.S. intelligence reports may have indirectly caused the shah to safely ignore the warnings he undeniably received. Both the State Department and Central Intelligence Agency warned him that retaliation would follow if the shah were admitted to this country. The president had no adequate yardstick to use in measuring the validity of the conflicting intelligence reports he was getting.

IN PAST COLUMNS, I have reported how the CIA was caught unaware by the events that overtook the shah. The CIA was so close to the shah that it did not develop contacts among the diverse factions opposed to the shah.

This worked fine as long as the CIA's puppet remained in power. But since the shah's ouster, U.S. intelligence has been playing a desperate game of catch-up ball. As a result, Washington was caught off base when the militants seized our embassy in Tehran.

Our intelligence network had become so enfeebled, in fact, that for weeks the administration had to rely on the kindness of strangers — the competent, always-vigilant Israeli and British intelligence services.

Only recently were our analysts able to give the president and his advisers an educated guess as to who is actually running the show in Iran — the vital first step in solving the hostage situation. I can now reveal the conclusions presented at top-secret meetings of the National Security Council on the confusing and chaotic situation in Tehran.

First of all, the militant "students" originally conceived the idea of seizing the embassy, though they were given inspiration — or at least justification — by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's inflammatory speeches a few days earlier, intelligence analysts told my associate Dale Van Atta.

Since the takeover, a symbiotic mutual dependence has developed between the ayatollah and the radicals in the embassy. While both sides are partly independent of the other, they also seem to be holding each other hostage.

THE STUDENTS HAVE ignored or countermanded Khomeini's orders on at least half a dozen occasions, my sources say, and clearly refuse to take orders from the ruling Revolutionary Council. Yet they are politically realistic enough to recognize that the ayatollah has far broader support than they do among the Iranian public. Ultimately, they realize, Khomeini's wishes will be decisive. They can't afford to defy him absolutely.

For his part, Khomeini needs the militants to divert the Iranians from the staggering domestic problems he faces, both with the faltering economy and the potentially ruinous clamor by the minorities for autonomy. So he was forced to fire his first two foreign ministers, whom the militants considered too conciliatory to the United States.

The internal power struggle in Iran is, in effect, a chess game in which

For those who would like to give this dish a try in the privacy of their own homes, the recipe is easy:

First cut a pound of fillets of light, fresh fish into half-inch cubes. Cover these with the juice of six or seven large limes, and set aside in the bottom of the refrigerator for at least five hours, stirring every once in a while to see that all the pieces are "cooking."

THEN MIX TWO SKINNED, seeded and chopped tomatoes; three chopped chiles serranos, a quarter-cup of olive oil; and add to the fish. Let this season in the refrigerator for another hour.

When ready to serve, garnish with thinly sliced fresh onion rings and small slices of avocado.

Don Richard, assistant D.A. and chef extraordinaire, has a great story about Cebiche. Don had mixed up a batch to serve to a group of friends on a trip to the coast, but one couple was a bit leery about eating raw fish.

"Don't worry," assured Don. "This fish is cooked. Cross my heart."

When everyone had partaken, and sung Don's praises, one of the group exclaimed, "Boy, I never knew raw fish could taste so good!"

"Hey!" snorted the faint-hearted couple. "I thought you said this fish was cooked!"

"It was," said Don. "For about eight hours at 72 degrees." Nothing fishy about that.

both sides have the power to achieve a stalemate. The Americans hostages are the pawns.

As for the identity of the embassy captors, the National Security Council has now identified five distinct factions. Three are bonafide student groups of differing ideologies. The fourth consists of Marxist, non-student radicals. The fifth is a militant elite group, known as the "Security Force," trained by the Palestinian Liberation Organization. It includes some members of the PLO cadre. This last group, trained as a sort of SS for the ayatollah, mined the embassy grounds when U.S. military action was threatened.

Decisions among the diverse captors are reached laboriously through a large, unwieldy committee that represents all the five groups. Some individual leaders have been identified, while others have not. None has overriding power.

The analysts have concluded that the unpredictable Khomeini is, in the end, the man who must be dealt with in the hostage situation.

TAX TUFF: Election-year politics has scuttled Carter administration support for the most dramatic energy-conservation program anyone has offered so far — the 50-cents-a-gallon tax on gasoline.

It's not that the proposal — which would give most workers a compensating break by cutting Social Security taxes in half — was introduced by a presidential candidate, Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill. He's too far back in the race to worry Carter at this point.

It's simply that the president's political advisers are leery of any such bold, controversial move before the election. The issue was thrashed out in a top-level White House meeting shortly after Anderson introduced his bill for the 50-cent tax.

Carter's energy and economic advisers were solidly in favor of the tax. They included Energy Secretary Charles Duncan, his deputy John Sawhill, inflation fighter Alfred Kahn, Treasury Secretary William Miller and James McIntyre, director of the Office of Management and Budget.

But the political types — Ham Jordan, Jody Powell, Stuart Eizenstat and Vice President Walter Mondale — carried the day, despite soundings from congressional leaders that the Iranian crisis had sparked a patriotic spirit of sacrifice that would make such strong legislation workable, if painful.

Thou shalt not anger Wilma Belcourt

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Wilma Belcourt, the woman who pressured the Grand Forks, N.D., school system into posting the Ten Commandments in classrooms to comply with an obscure law almost as old as she, says she did it "just to fight" the American Civil Liberties Union.

Mrs. Belcourt got her fight. Her crusade has provoked a constitutional test of the 1927 law.

In July, four Grand Forks residents, three with children enrolled in district schools, filed a lawsuit in federal court, seeking to declare the law unconstitutional.

The ACLU co-signed legal briefs in the challenge along with Robert Vogel, a former state Supreme Court justice who says he took the case without charge "because I believe in the Constitution."

The state attorney general's office — defending the Ten Commandments as "a cornerstone of our legal and social system" — intervened in the suit, now under advisement by U.S. District Judge Paul Benson.

Mrs. Belcourt, 62, says she considers the ACLU "a Marxist organization" that "made me mad" when it tried to prevent students in Sioux City, S.D., public schools from singing religious songs in a Christmas program in 1978.

Mrs. Belcourt says she went looking for an issue and unearthed the forgotten Ten Commandments law. Last spring she pushed and prodded the Grand Forks School District into displaying the document, as required by the law, "in a conspicuous place in every schoolroom."

Mrs. Belcourt, a Roman Catholic and self-described "born-again Christian," says the Ten Commandments have a "psychological benefit" for schoolchildren.

"Every morning I say, 'God, will you please protect our Ten Commandments law?'" says the former teacher.

Another result of her constant cam-paing and community work was the Legislature's passage last year of a law requiring students to learn the national anthem before completing sixth grade.

Vogel, a law school professor at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, contends the Ten Commandments law violates the First Amendment guarantee of religious freedom.

"The people who made the Bill of Rights decided church and state should be separate for the good of both," Vogel said.

"There are many versions of the Ten Commandments, and if the state selects one of them, that prefers one religion over another and tends to disparage some religions."

Vogel says "it is simply not true" that English and American laws are based on the Ten Commandments, which the Bible says were given by God to the Hebrew leader Moses on Mount Sinai.

U.N. debate continues today

One nation against it, three for it

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Japan, China and Colombia attacked the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan in the U.N. General Assembly emergency debate, while the new Afghan government installed by the Russians defended them.

The United States and the Soviet Union were scheduled to speak today.

Speaking in the first session of the debate Thursday, Japanese Ambassador Masahiro Nisibori called on the Soviet Union to withdraw its troops immediately from its Central Asian neighbor and let the people of Afghanistan "solve their internal problems by themselves."

"The present crisis bears tremendous political implications, jeopardizing international peace and security and threatening the stability of the region," said Nisibori. "The Soviet actions in Afghanistan contravene international law and justice, and we find the use of force in these actions particularly deplorable."

Chief among the "internal problems" to which he referred is a rebellion by Moslem tribesmen which broke out after the Afghan communists seized control of the government in Kabul in April 1978. Despite a change of government last September, the rebels were reported to control at least half the country, and last month the Soviet government sent thousands of its troops into Afghanistan, engineering another change of government and deployed its forces around the country to help the new government put down the rebellion.

Chinese Ambassador Chen Chu accused the Soviet Union of "flagrant and massive military aggression and intervention against Afghanistan" and charged that "Soviet social-imperialism is the most dangerous source of a new world war."

Colombian delegate Indalecio Lievano charged the Russians with an "arrogant abuse of power" that threatens other small nations with "a return to the law of the jungle in this era of nuclear weapons."

The Afghan delegate, Shah Mohammad Dost, asserted that "the so-called situation in Afghanistan is entirely an internal matter and poses no threat to peace in the world." He charged that the assembly special session was a throwback to "the dark days of the cold war" since it was convened under a 1950 resolution providing for recourse to the assembly when a veto blocked Security Council action.

Dost said his government requested Soviet military aid to help defend it against attacks by "imperialists," the position taken ever since the coup Dec. 27 by the Russians and the new government.

Third-World countries are expected to introduce a resolution in the next day or two calling for withdrawal of the Soviet forces from Afghanistan, and the United States and its allies are reported confident that the 152-nation assembly will approve it.

The Soviet Union on Monday vetoed a similar Security Council resolution which was supported by 13 of the other 14 council members. The Russians could not block a council resolution asking for the emergency assembly debate because it was a procedural vote in which the permanent members' veto did not apply. But the assembly can vote no punitive action if the Russians ignore its call to get out of Afghanistan.

REUNITED — Mrs. Ulysses Washington holds her young son, Ulysses Jr. after he was returned to his mother by police. Ulysses was only two weeks old when he was kidnapped by two men and a woman who stopped her and forced her and the baby into a car. Police have arrested a woman named Ida Lou Simmons who has been charged with kidnapping and returned the baby to his mother.

Texas clings to faint hopes for offshore oil terminal

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Casey had authority hoped to have on hand by Jan. 1 threatened to quit but says he will not do so as long as there is a "glimmer of hope" for a company's agreement covering 1.4 million barrels a day; the level needed for Texas to build an offshore crude oil terminal for use by supertankers.

The project, said the chairman of the Texas Deepwater Port Authority, is too important to the state's economy for the 2.5 million barrels a day facility to be abandoned.

Casey's remarks prompted no debate Thursday and directors of the authority quickly voted unanimously to continue its feasibility studies even though indicated oil company support has been far below expectations.

The state agency now will explore the possibility of building the terminal 26 miles south of Freeport in stages but without changing the ultimate daily capacity goal.

After hearing Casey's recommendations, Sherman Fricks, Austin, said he was not ready to throw in the towel.

"And I'm not sure we even have the authority to quit," Fricks said. "Oil companies and their wisdom move in strange ways and somebody is going to build this thing."

When the Department of Transportation authorized a license last August, the but it was rejected.

"I'll stay as long as there is a glimmer," Jackson said.

Seadock Inc., a consortium of private companies, had planned to build the port but bowed out after such major backers as Exxon, Gulf, and Mobil withdrew while terming some provisions of the DOT license as onerous. Seadock had spent about $25 million but later agreed to sell its engineering plans and other data to the state agency for $11 million.

Seadock will not receive the money, however, unless bonds are sold for the project. The same thing applies to several engineering firms, financial advisers, lawyers, and others who have been working with the state agency.

The names of the seven companies agreeing to use the facility were not revealed but it is known the list does not include Exxon and Shell Oil.

Exxon and Shell have said they will not participate in that current uncertainties make it impractical to assume such financial risks that would extend through 2010 or longer.

Casey said he would not call another meeting "until that glimmer of hope is gone."

"But I'll also call you back if there is a burst of light," he said.

Casey would not put a time limit on the new studies.

"But I don't want to see this drag along six months just as a caretaker," he said. "Besides, we'll be out of money in six months."

The Texas Legislature created the authority in 1977 after it became obvious Seadock's efforts would be unsuccessful.

Under the enabling act and subsequent legislation, tax funds will be involved only if no financially feasible project can be developed.

The authority has spent about $1 million, has about $200,000 on hand, and will have another $1.6 million available once a feasible project is certified to the governor.

If bonds eventually are sold, all the money will be reimbursed to the state. If the project folds and no bonds are sold, the taxpayer cost would approximate $1.25 million.

HIT BY CAR — David Patenaude, 20, is pushed 120 feet by entangled vehicles in 4-car pileup on icy Interstate 5 Thursday near Grants Pass, Ore. Patenaude and other unidentified men shown had stopped to help at the scene of a wreck when a 1977 Camaro (car with hood up) plowed into the spun-out Fiat. Patenaude was not seriously hurt, but spectators noted it had not been icy. Patenaude would have been crushed. News photographer John Woodliff, had stopped to photograph the first accident when the second occurred. Woman on the right is Linda Hindemitt, driver of the Fiat.

Gasohol plant barred from business in Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — the alcohol would be mixed with unleaded gasoline to make gasohol, and part would be marketed as liquor.

White said in his opinion that an affiliate of Midwest holds a Texas nonresident alcoholic beverage seller's permit.

Under Texas law, he said, a corporation may not hold a distiller's permit, such as Midwest sought, while its affiliate has a nonresident seller's permit.

The attorney general upheld the ABC's position — which committee member Sen. Bob Price, R-Pampa, once suggested was the result of pressure from the liquor lobby.

Midwest, a Kansas company, had proposed to build an alcohol plant in far South Texas in cooperation with Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers Inc. Part of

Abby Becomes Sitting Duck

DEAR ABBY: I was disappointed in your non-answer to the grandmother who refused to babysit for free except in cases of emergency. She asked how YOU handled the babysitting problem, and you said, "I have no sitting problems because my grandchildren live 2,000 miles away. But if they lived in the same town, I'd have to draw straws with the other grandmother because she loves to sit. Bless her." That's easy for you to say, Abby. Living 2,000 miles away, you're not likely to be called upon to babysit. Instead of making her feel guilty, you should have told NO SITTER that she had every right to refuse to be an unpaid sitter.

LET DOWN IN DENVER

DEAR LET DOWN: I plead not guilty to laying a guilt trip on NO SITTER, but judging from the hate mail I received, you weren't the only one who misunderstood me. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Nuts to you with your answer to the grandmother who told her daughter-in-law not to count on her to sit for free while Mom and Dad went off gallivanting. I raised my children, and I expect them to raise theirs. Oh, I'd help out in an emergency, but they know they can't just ring me up to come over and mind the kids, or dump them on me anytime they have a notion to.

When my children were little, my husband and I went only to places we could take the kids or we stayed home. My children were MY responsibility to raise — not my mother's.

JUNE IN STRONGSVILLE, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: Who are you trying to kid? You say you would love to babysit with your grandchildren but they live 2,000 miles away. Boy, are you ever safe! Somehow you just don't strike me as a babysitting kind of grandmother. With all the work you have to do writing your column and running around the country making speeches, when would you have time?

CYNICAL IN SENECA, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: I'm the mother of four children under 10, and here's the way I feel about asking my mother to babysit. I think she owes it to me. Yes, that's what I said. I was the oldest of seven kids, and I missed out on plenty of fun because my mother made me stay home and take care of my little brothers and sisters. (She used to tell everybody she had a "free, built-in babysitter.")

My mother was hardly ever home when I was in my teens. She didn't have to be gone, she was mostly just out having a good time. Mom has arthritis now and can't dance anymore. It's hard for her to get around, so she's available for sitting when I need her, which makes it nice for me. I really don't feel one bit guilty asking Mom to stay with my kids. I sure stayed with hers enough.

MY TURN IN MEMPHIS

DEAR ABBY: I have nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren, and if any of their parents ever offered me money to stay with them I'd be insulted. I consider it an honor and a privilege to look after the little ones. I feel complimented that their parents trust me with their most precious possessions!

Grace Collins feted with surprise party

Grace Mildred Collins, 1725 Purdue, was surprised with a 75th birthday party Sunday at 2 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

Mrs. Collins was born Jan. 6, 1906, in Stephens County near Breckenridge, and has lived in Big Spring 20 years with her husband, Ivan O. Collins.

GRACE COLLINS

The party was hosted by the couple's children, Joy Culwell, Colorado City; Dorothy Middleton, Baton Rouge, La. and Ralph S. Collins, Escondido, Calif. A fourth son, Stan B. Collins of Salt Lake City, Utah, was unable to attend. Additional hostesses were Olean Melton, Rosa Lee Hill, Latrice Davis, Helen Gladden and Winnifred Wood.

A corsage of yellow roses was presented to the honoree in addition to a diamond necklace from her children.

Many Big Spring area friends of Mrs. Collins attended the celebration.

The serving tables were decorated with yellow and white cut flower arrangements on white lace cloths. The three-tiered birthday cake was decorated with yellow roses.

TWEEN 12 and 20 Tell light-fingered friend to reform

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: What should I do? I am a 13-year-old girl whose best friend is a thief. I'm her only friend and when I try to help her, she says "You're not my mother," and walks off in a huff. The last time I went shopping with her she ripped off some perfume.

She also steals things at school and many times she actually blamed me and now I'm getting a bad reputation. Please hurry with your answer. — Joan, McAllen, Texas

Joan: You must give your friend an ultimatum. It's either your friendship or her thieving ways. Tell her she can't have both. Don't allow her to have another chance.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 17-year-old guy who is trying to get a date with a certain young lady. I got the word that she is a good girl who is down on alcohol and pot and only dates "straight" guys.

So — I quit drinking and unloaded my "burnout" friends.

After I felt my reputation was clean, I asked her for a date twice and she gave a logical excuse both times.

My question is, should I ask her out again and if so, what should I say? I know she isn't dating anyone steadily.

— Bob, Pueblo, Colo.

Bob: Congratulations on unloading your "burnout" friends and stopping drinking. But just because you are "straight" doesn't mean that this certain young lady will be thrilled by your presence.

Find out what she really enjoys (roller skating, dancing, seeing plays, etc.) and invite her to do that particular thing with you. If she refuses, again, look elsewhere for another girl who is down on alcohol and pot and only dates "straight" guys.

Soda pop is medical tool

Soda pop may be what the doctor orders for you at a Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Los Angeles if he wants to have accurate x-ray pictures of your enlarged heart.

According to a report in the American Family Physician, two physicians at the hospital developed a simple procedure that involves giving the patient seven ounces of cola drinks or ginger ale.

"Carbon dioxide from the soda stretches the stomach walls so that x-rays can easily pass through and give a shadow picture of any part of the heart lying behind the stomach.

One hears complaint about the secularism and materialism of our day. The world as we know it seems enshrouded in a web of selfish concern.

In our lifetime scientific exploration into space has opened the door to the Universe... a world that is far more than "the world as we know it." This newest world doesn't have to be like its predecessor. Some earnest astronauts have felt it to be a religious environment.

We ought to be preparing our children spiritually for this newest world. Whatever may be its dimensions, whatever excursions it may offer adventurous souls... the need for faith and commitment will be greater than ever.

Today in Christian churches and Christian homes there are men and women being trained who will make theirs a better world than we have known.

DAVID AGAINST GOLIATH — A youthful Iranian supporter of Ayatollah Shariatmadari uses a biblical-style sling to launch a stone against Revolutionary Guards firing automatic weapons here Wednesday. This David and Goliath scene captures the contrasts to be found in the week-long violence with Ayatollah Khomeini supporters.

U.S. clergymen say exiled shah must stand trial

NEW YORK (AP) — About the only outsiders that Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini seems to recognize are other religious leaders, including U.S. Christians. He has snubbed governmental envoys, including United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, but has welcomed American clergy, "Christian compatriots" he calls them. It appears so far to be about the only avenue of direct contact.

Besides the three clergymen allowed to visit the U.S. hostages and hold Christmas services with them, Khomeini has since conferred for an hour with another group of seven U.S. Christian leaders and scholars.

Their objective was to "reopen religious dialogue with a deeply religious people, the ayatollah and others," says the Rev. William Kirby, United Methodist-Presbyterian chaplain at Princeton University.

The seven, after a two-week stay in Iran in which they also met extensively with other Iranian officials and Moslem leaders, say greater understanding of the ordeal of Iran's people is essential to resolve the current impasse with that country.

"There is no doubt that they respect Christianity," says the Rev. Charles Cesaretti, public issues officer of the Episcopal Church and another of the seven.

Charles Kimball, a Baptist and specialist in Islamic studies at Harvard University, says "we hope to help Christians come to a better understanding of Islam" and a "deeper appreciation" of Iran's experience.

The group urged continued U.S. restraint concerning the hostages.

It also advised "further conversations and altered directions" recognizing the brutal oppressions endured by the Iranians in their religious revolution seeking freedom and justice.

Four of the seven said at a news conference that they had become convinced he must stand trial either before an international tribunal or returned to Iran and that this was necessary for release of the hostages.

But while agreeing that Americans need fuller comprehension of the travail and aspirations of Iranians, members of the group differed on a key point — whether the exiled shah should be brought to trial.

Lunch honors women in 40's

COAHOMA — The women of Coahoma are invited to participate in a covered dish luncheon Saturday at the First Baptist Church of Coahoma.

The program begins at 10 a.m. with women in their 40's being the honored age group this month. All women, except the honorees are requested to bring a dish.

The monthly program and luncheon has been designed to promote fellowship and friendship for all women in the Coahoma community.

Barbecue slated at Baker's Chapel

The Baker's Chapel Steward Board will sponsor an all church barbecue Saturday beginning at 11 a.m.

The menu consists of barbecue beef, ribs, potato salad, pinto beans, onions, pickles and sliced bread. All plates will sell for $3 each, sandwiches for $1.80, and beef or pork ribs for $3 per pound. A choice of beef or pork ribs is available with the plate.

All barbecuing is being done by Charlie Merritt. Persons desiring take-out orders are requested to pick them up due to the high cost of gasoline. If that isn't possible, the church will be glad to deliver.

The church is located on the corner of 10th and Lancaster and can be reached by calling 267-2940.

DOUG, GWEN AND CHRISTOPHER MORRIS

Church of Christ gains associate minister

The 14th and Main Church of Christ gained a new associate minister in late December when Doug and Gwen Morris and their son Christopher, 2, moved here.

Doug's duties at the church include an emphasis on youth.

Doug was born in Toledo, Ohio while his wife is an Andrews native. He attended the University at Toledo and Ablene Christian University.

He previously worked with congregations in Toledo, Ohio and Sweetwater. He has served as a speaker at youth rallies and camps throughout the United States, including Lubbock Christian College's "Encounter."

Doug enjoys sports of all kinds and coaching Little League baseball.

Minister of 14th and Main Church of Christ is Royce Clay.

Christian Academy open for spring enrollment

The Big Spring Christian Academy is now accepting enrollment for the second semester of the 1979-1980 school year. There are currently openings in the primary department and the upper level learning center.

The Academy offers curriculum for grades kindergarten through 12th grade. Children can be enrolled as young as 4 1/2 years of age.

All work progresses on an individual self-paced basis. The academic program is strong and well-rounded in all areas with particular emphasis on reading and vocabulary building. Remedial and speed reading is also incorporated.

The overall program is presented in a Christian environment where character building and personal responsibility are emphasized.

For more information call 267-6251 or 263-6939 or go to the school grounds located at building 505 in the Industrial Park.

Middle East discussed at church women's meeting

The Women of the Church of God met Jan. 7 at the home of Betty Reagan for the regular meeting.

Hettie Minix, president, extended greetings to the 12 members present and expressed a desire and wishes for each one to grow more in their personal lives during this new year.

Vera Blackburn introduced the program which depicted a "tour group" going to the Middle East and visiting with the missionaries Jim and Betty Albrecht who are stationed in Egypt.

Five members did a "play reading" of the tour which answered questions concerning the work of the missionaries, the people of the land, the churches, languages and customs, the pyramids, mosques and minarets, and religions.

A brief review of the conditions that exist in the Middle East at present was also brought into the study by the program director.

The closing worship was presented by Kathryn Thomas, using as the scripture Colossians 1.

A solo "Bond of Perfection" was rendered by Betty Reagan, and Arah Phillips voiced the benediction.

A mother was talking to a salesman in a toy store. "This looks very complicated for a child," she said. The salesman replied, "It's an educational toy, designed to adjust a child to living in today's world. Any way he gets it together is wrong."

Satan and those who serve him continue to turn out new versions of the wrong way to put life together, but the Way of Christ is still "the" way, "the" truth, and "the" life. We'd like to show it to you.

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Rosanna Cavigli gave birth to sextuplets today in a Florence hospital and doctors said the four boys and two girls had a good chance of surviving.

The infants were in good health and weighed between 2.2 and 4.4 pounds each at birth, the hospital announced.

Mrs. Cavigli gave birth in the 35th week of pregnancy, doctors said. It was not immediately known if she had taken fertility drugs.

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Bob Clearwater hated it, the city of Newton loved it, so they worked out a deal — a big deal.

For years, Clearwater wanted to get rid of a 9-ton rock in his yard. And Newton, 100 miles southwest of Topeka, needed a huge rock for a statue base. So on Thursday, trucks from Newton's park department picked it up, along with a smaller boulder.

One boulder will probably go in Newton's Centennial Park.

The other will be the base for "Skipper," a near-life-size bronze statue of a small boy in a sailor suit holding a toy sailboat. The statue is to be placed in front of the city's public library.

Candy squirreled away

CORONA DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — Something set off the burglar alarm at Bruce Olson's liquor store three times in the past six weeks, and hundreds of candy bars and nut packs had disappeared. But there were no signs of a break-in.

On Thursday, Olson solved the mystery: A squirrel was building a nest under some shelves, and hoarding Pay Day bars, Milky Way and Three Musketeers.

"As near as I can tell there were between 900 and 950 candy bars squirreled away in there," said Olson.

"I guess he was just hording them for the winter," Olson said.

Olson said the alarms probably went off when the squirrel chewed on wires.

Olson isn't vindictive, but the squirrel has cost him $75 in fines from the police department because of the false alarms, so he's decided to catch it and set it loose in a field.

Steer clear of Fort Collins

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — A runaway steer led police and would-be cowboys on an hour-long chase through Fort Collins before a Colorado State University researcher roped him.

The 1,100-pound steer escaped Thursday through a gate left open at the CSU stock pavilion.

"We had all kinds of guys chasing him," said Keith Reese, a CSU police officer.

The steer jumped a 3-foot-high cycle rack and took off down the street.

Hangin' Out

by Nathan Poss

For those of you that are basketball fans, there should be no complaints from you this weekend in regard to a lack of activity.

While unbeaten juco powers Midland College and Western Texas battle it out, followed by Howard College and South Plains, the Big Spring Steers host Odessa Permian in a 5-AAAA game.

Hopefully, Coach Ed Haller's young team will be able to keep their heads up after a couple of lopsided losses to begin district. Haller is in an unenviable position, as he has only eight varsity players, and only two are seniors. To top this off, the tallest player, Fletcher Johnson, is only 6'2".

Haller and his team are obviously in a rebuilding process, and the only way to help is in the form of encouragement.

Haller has had successful programs elsewhere, but it takes time and more players than are currently out. But his plans could possibly be thwarted, as the school board has currently not decided whether current Athletic Director Ron Logback will be rehired. If Logback stays, there is no doubt that Haller will stay. But if a new AD is hired, it will be up to the new boss as to who will coach what.

"I know I can build a good program here, because I've done it before," Haller said recently. "But if coaches keep getting switched every year or two, it's hard to get used to one coach's program and style, a new one comes in and it takes a year to establish the new ideas."

Haller is currently starting either two juniors and three sophomores or two sophs and one junior.

The Midland high schools certainly came out smelling like roses in their recent shake-up concerning head football coaches.

Pat Culpepper and Spike Dykes are both proven mentors and will no doubt make their teams presence felt in next year's 5-AAAA race.

Dykes was the last person to field a winning football team at Big Spring, going 6-4 in 1969. But one of his biggest assets in that year were some outstanding assistants, the trademark of any successful program.

Assistants are unsung heroes or unnoticed goats, whichever the case may be, and a staff of assistants that can earn the respect of the athletes and also do a good job in the X and O department are usually more valuable than the head man himself.

At least two of Dykes' assistants in that 1969 season here have gone on to prove their worth. Clovis Hale is now the line coach for Hayden Fry at the University of Iowa, and Bob Stanley is the line coach for Tom Wilson at Texas A&M.

Dykes, while serving on Darrell Royal's staff at the University of Texas, intimated to now Midland College Athletic Director Delnor Poss that he felt the Midland Lee head football coaching job was one of the best ones in the state. There's no doubt it is, and Dykes is certainly excited about moving in.

Culpepper should be happy, too. The Bulldogs have flirted around with 5-5 records for most of their history, but could seriously challenge for the 5-AAAA crown next year if talented quarterback Michael Feldt can return successfully from a recent knee operation.

Speaking of Midland, the MHS Bulldogs have dominated the district in basketball in the 1970s, but with the combination of talent and height it's no wonder. Every year, they seem to have at least one coordinated player at least 6'8", and a couple more 6'4" performers.

Maybe that's why they call Midland the Tall City.

QUOTABLES

Kerrville Tivy basketball coach JAMES SHARP, whose team won a 10 overtime game over South San West by a score of 55-51: "And they won't even pay me overtime!"

BOB DEVANEY, athletic director at the University of Nebraska: "If you're a coach and an athletic director, you'd better have some good assistant coaches and a damned good assistant athletic director."

Texas pro golfer ROCKY THOMPSON, when asked what he did when he won the Circle Celebrity Golf Tournament last Sunday in Mesa, Arizona: "I ran right up the street to a Circle K and bought a 6-pack of Coors."

Washington Redskins linebacker PETE WYSOCKI: "When you tackle Earl Campbell, it reduces your IQ."

Houston Oiler placekicker TONY FRITSCH, when asked what would have happened had the controversial call concerning Mike Renfro been made at a World Cup soccer match: "Referee be shot."

Borg slams Connors

NEW YORK (AP) —

Secondseeded Bjorn Borg extended his mastery over No.3 seed Jimmy Connors with a rousing 3-6, 6-3, 7-6 victory in the $400,000 Grand Prix Masters tennis tournament.

Borg thus upped his record to 2-0 in the round-robin portion of this event, which serves as the championship of the 1979 Grand Prix tour.

To set the stage for tonight's unbeaten showdown in ABC Classic

Western Texas, Midland race to win

By NATHAN POSS Sports Editor

Nationally ranked Western Texas and Midland College both put on impressive displays of talent and depth in running to victories in the opening night of play in the ABC Olympic Classic.

The wins by Western Texas, ranked No. 1 in the nation in junior college, and Midland, the seventh rated team, sets the stage for the battle of the two unbeaten powers tonight at 7:00 p.m. in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Western Texas opened the night by using a second half explosion with seven minutes remaining to run away from a hustling Howard College Hawks team in taking a 118-92 victory.

Western Texas received scoring efforts from 13 different players, to give a display of their balance and depth.

The host Hawks battled ferociously throughout the contest, trailing only 24-23 after the first ten minutes of the contest, as Howard College's Mike Wallace canned 11 points to keep the Hawks within one point.

Howard was tied with the nation's top juco team at 34-34 with seven minutes left in the half, but 6'9" Greg Stewart keyed a WTC explosion that gave the Westerners of Coach Nolan Richardson a 58-47 halftime advantage.

Howard, led by the efforts of Wallace, Kenneth Jones and Rocky Rawls, battled WTC on even terms for much of the second half, but could come no closer than eight points.

HC trailed 85-76 with 8:30 remaining, but Paul Pressey and Stewart; along with many others, exploded in the next three minutes to take a 102-81 lead and put the game away. Wallace, who entered the contest as the nation's seventh leading scorer, pumped in 30 points, with Jones adding 21 and Rawls 14. Ron Akins, who entered the game with a 20.7 scoring average, was limited to only eight points, all in the first half.

Stewart, who hails from the Bronx, New York, muscled in 29 points, with the impressive Pressey adding 17 and Bill Patterson 16. WTC is now 15-0 for the season, while Howard drops to 8-6.

Howard College Coach Harold Wilder was philosophical about the loss, stating: "For us to beat Western Texas, we have to shoot extremely well and not make many mistakes. We didn't do either one."

Wilder felt that his troops reported back from the Christmas holidays in shape, but WTC Coach Richardson didn't feel either team was in peak shape, stating: "We weren't in shape, they weren't in shape, and the officials really weren't in shape."

Midland College dominated play in the second game from the outset in cruising to a 107-88 victory. The Chaps of Coach Jerry Stone also had 13 different players hit the scoring column, with five players connecting for double figures.

Midland College was also playing without the services of scoring ace Robert Tate, who was on the sidelines. But Tate will return for tonight's battle against WTC.

Midland jumped out to a 24-20 lead after the first ten minutes over the obviously outclassed South Plains team, and then increased that margin to 48-39 at halftime.

With South Plains still in the contest at this point, Charles Johnson and Kenneth Young led a gradual Midland surge that increased that lead to 77-58 with 11 minutes to play.

South Plains, behind the play of Ronnie Butler and Jackie Vaughn, came back to within 13 points with five minutes remaining, but this was to be as close as the Texans would come.

Johnson, last year's Most Valuable Player in District 5-AAAA for Midland High, led the Chaps in scoring with 25 points. Young added 15, Kevin Williamson 13 and Tim Shelby 12 for MC.

Butler had 19 for South Plains, with Vaughn adding 18 and Walter Sydnor 17. Following the Western Texas-Midland matchup at 7:00 p.m. tonight, Howard College will square off against South Plains at 9:00 p.m.

The Midland College win gives the Chaps a record of 15-0, while the Texans fall to 5-9 for the season.

Steers host Permian

The Big Spring Steers boys' basketball team plays host to the Odessa Permian Panthers tonight in Steer Gym at 8:00 p.m. in District 5-AAAA contest.

The Steers, in a rebuilding season playing nearly all underclassmen, will be trying to stop the one-two Permian punch of Brad Kerley and Scott Wynne. Kerley is a returning All-District performer that is coming off a 34-point performance in Mojo's win over Abilene. Kerley is averaging over 20 points per game, and Wynne has been lethal with his shooting and passing throughout the season.

Others expected to start for Permian are Duane Adams, B.D. Massey and Scott Hill.

Permian is 1-1 in 5-AAAA play, defeating Abilene and losing to Midland. The Panthers are 12-8 on the season.

The Steers, meanwhile, have suffered two losses without a win in league play, and will have to have a phenomenal effort in order to overcome Permian tonight. Big Spring is 5-12 on the season.

Coach Ed Haller is expected to start Dickie Wrightsil, James Doss, Fletcher Johnson, sophomores Blake Rosson and Robert Rubio. Senior returning letterman Cesar Espinosa also might start, and others that will see considerable action include Brocky Jones and Ricci Millaway.

Elsewhere around District 5-AAAA, San Angelo (1-1) visits Odessa (0-2), Abilene Cooper (2-0) travels to Midland Lee (1-1), and Abilene (1-1) entertains Midland (2-0).

NBA to approve Dallas franchise

DALLAS (AP) — A delighted Mayor Bob Folsom said he plans to be in Washington Feb. 2 when the National Basketball Association officially makes Dallas the 23rd team in the league.

The NBA expansion committee announced Thursday in New York it will recommend that a franchise be awarded to a Dallas group headed by Norm Sonju, formerly associated with the Buffalo Braves franchise.

The committee stressed that the franchise for the 1980-81 year should be awarded only if certain conditions are met by a local group bidding for the team prior to the Feb. 2 meeting of the NBA Board of Governors in Washington, D.C., at the time of the NBA all-star game.

But the committee did not say what the conditions are. "I'm excited and delighted. It looks like Dallas has finally gotten an NBA team," said Folsom, who has worked actively for years to bring professional basketball to Dallas.

"I did hear from Norm Sonju. He called me late this afternoon to say we had made it, subject to certain conditions," Folsom said.

Sonju could not be reached late Thursday. He was flying back to Dallas from New York, where he made a presentation to the expansion committee Thursday afternoon.

"I talked to him for about a minute before he left, and he said he had been instructed not to make any comment about it. But yes, I would say he was excited. He was very positive and grateful this step had been made," said Mrs. Sonju from their north Dallas home.

Sonju heads a group of 24 investors who have put in $85,000 each to come up with the $12 million price tag for the franchise, plus $2 million for operating capital. The Dallas group sought to get the No. 1 draft choice, but apparently won't get that.

In Texas A&M Classic

Murray St. stops Hawk Queens

COLLEGE STATION — Murray State of Oklahoma, the eighth-ranked team in the nation in women's junior college basketball, connected on 21 free throws in a four-plugged contest to take a 73-65 win over the Howard College Hawk Queens in the Texas A&M Classic here Friday morning.

Howard was victimized for the second straight game in the tourney by foul problems, as Joanne Lefridge, Robbie Freeman and Kelly Lyons all fouled out, while numerous other performers came close.

The difference in the game proved to be the free throw line as Murray State connected on 21 of 33 free throws, while the Hawk Queens hit on 13 of 21 attempts from the charity line.

Ironically, the contest was called in the first half with only one official.

The win boosts Murray State's record to 14-2, while Howard College slips to 10-5. The Queens return to play another 8:00 a.m. game tomorrow, facing the winner of the Hill-McLennan game. Shawn Smith led the Hawk Queens with 13 points, while Lyons added 12.

Murray State was paced by Beth Trammell and Denise Evan, who had 17 and 15 points, respectively.

Foul problems hinder Big Spring

Permian outscores Steerettes

ODESSA — The Odessa Permian Panthers girls basketball team took advantage of numerous opportunities at the free throw line to take a 52-43 win over the Big Spring Steerettes in a girls District 5-AAAA basketball game here Thursday night.

The Steers, behind the scoring of Candy Walker, made a rally in the last half but could not overcome Mojo.

Big Spring Coach Barbara Fletcher was pleased with the improvement and hustle that her girls displayed. "We played well enough to win. For the first time," Fletcher said, "we went through our offense and took our options and shot the ball like we should. We had a poor shooting night (connecting on only 19 of 76 shots), but at least we were putting the ball up."

Walker led the Steerettes in scoring with 17 points, with Pam Banks adding 10. Myra Smith paced Permian with 12 points, with Jana Johnson and Sonya Burns adding 11 each.

Permian rode the 16-point performance of Judy Staples to take a 22-19 win in the junior varsity contest. Sissy Doss had six and Rochelle Rutledge five for the Steerettes JVs.

Big Spring returns to play on Monday when they host 5-AAAA leader Midland Lee.

Score by quarters:

1979 Male Athlete of the Year

Stargell gains another honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Stargell, named Male Athlete of the Year for 1979 by The Associated Press, says the honor would not have been possible without his "Family," the rest of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I'm really grateful and very pleased," Stargell said, "but it was not for the other 24 guys who I break bread with and do so many things with all summer, this wouldn't be possible."

Stargell received 48 1/2 votes in nationwide balloting by more than 200 sports writers and broadcasters. Sugar Ray Leonard, who won the World Boxing Council welterweight championship in November, finished second with 28 votes and English track star Sebastian Coe, who set three world distance records in 42 days last summer, was third with 24.

Earlier, tennis star Tracy Austin was named Female Athlete of the Year.

Stargell learned of the AP award Thursday at a press conference at which he was named sales manager for a new line of shavers for blacks. "I said I wouldn't blush today, but you're making me blush," he said.

Erleben looks for better year

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Russell Erleben says being a million-dollar No. 1 draft pick proved to be a no-win situation for him.

The Seguin native with the gaudy punting and placekicking numbers at the University of Texas was expected to lead the New Orleans Saints to the promised land of the playoffs.

"From the day I arrived at camp, I was the top draft choice, the million dollar kicker — the first one in the history of the NFL. And right there, that's something you just can't live up to. I had all the pressure riding on me... I had nothing to gain by performing well and everything to lose if I didn't," he said.

Erleben opened his pro career with pair of missed, chip shot field goals and a missed extra point. From there the season went downhill as a leg injury and an ankle infection racked him up.

"Sure, I felt bad about not being able to go out and play. But the people of New Orleans had me doing things I couldn't really do. You can't tell them stuff like that, but that's the way it is," he said.

What was to be a glory year for Erleben finally ended. He retreated to his two-story Austin home to contemplate 1980.

"I guess you can say I'm looking forward to the New Year — there isn't anything that could happen to me this year that was any worse than last year. That was one of the worst years of my life. It was like, 'If anything could go wrong for me, it will happen,'" he said in an interview.

Erleben said his physical problems were preceded with the difficulties that rookies — even million dollar rookies — run into.

"When I went out the first time against Miami, I was just awed," he said of the preseason game in which he missed two field goals and an extra point. "I just saw them and said, 'these guys are Super Bowl champions.' I was truly awestruck," he said.

Four weeks into the season

Following plane crash

LSU Coach Bo Rein presumed dead

CAPE CHARLES, Va. (AP) — Robert E. "Bo" Rein, Louisiana State University's new football coach, was presumed killed today in the crash of a private plane, which was caught in a violent thunderstorm over Louisiana, wandered 1,000 miles off course and plunged into the Atlantic Ocean, officials said.

An Air Force jet pilot, who was following the plane on its bizarre flight, reported he saw it dive 41,000 feet straight into the dark water off the Virginia coast about midnight. He said an oil slick formed in the water.

At LSU, officials said the Coast Guard reported no signs of life at the site.

"He is presumed dead," said Paul Manasseh, the school's sports information director.

There was no explanation for the long flight so far from the route requested by the pilot — a direct flight from Shreveport, La., to Baton Rouge, La. The flight left Shreveport about 9:10 p.m. CST Thursday and was to arrive in Baton Rouge at 10:07 p.m.

Edmond Johnson at the Air Force Rescue Center in Fort Worth, Texas, said the pilot radioed that he had run into bad weather and asked for a routing to the east. The shift was approved at 21,000 feet, but radar showed the plane stayed above 25,000, Johnson said.

He said further attempts to raise the plane on radio failed, but it was tracked by radar from station-to-station over the 1,000-mile flight to the sea.

LAWRENCE WELK PRINCESS CAROLINE

Princess Caroline wins

PARIS (AP) — A French court has ordered the publishers of Photo magazine to pay 80,000 francs ($20,000) to Princess Caroline for publishing pictures showing her partially nude.

The magazine argued that the publication of the photographs was not an invasion of privacy because they were taken while she was "...on a boat which was close to the coast and therefore accessible to the view of other people."

However, the court added that all people have an exclusive right over the use of their likeness and the right to oppose its unauthorized publication.

Which personality is next?

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — "First it was Clayton Moore, also known as 'The Lone Ranger.' Now it is Bert Parks. Will YOU be next?"

The question by a Boston woman is posed to Albert Marks Jr., head of the Miss America Pageant and the man a lot of Americans are criticizing for firing the show's perennial host.

More than 20,000 letters, postcards and telegrams have arrived at pageant headquarters to protest last week's announcement that Parks was let go after 25 years. Only about 200 letters agree with the decision.

Legislator misses beat

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — State legislator Del Leo Kopeiman misses the "one-a-two" downbeat of bandleader Lawrence Welk and he's resolved to do something about it.

On Wednesday, Kopeiman presented his fellow delegates with a resolution asking them to "strongly urge WOWK-TV, Channel 13, to broadcast the program known as The Lawrence Welk Show."

He said the show was scrubbed despite what he considered its educational and entertainment value. The station was not immediately available for comment.

Star likes series rerun

NEW YORK (AP) — The first television rerun of "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" did wonders for the show's star. "I liked it better this time than the first time around," said Louise Lasser. "It made me feel young and innocent again."

Shorn of her familiar Mary pigtails, Miss Lasser joined friends Wednesday night at the Public Theater to watch the CBS rerun, after a preview performance of "Marie and Bruce," a new play in which she stars.

Brown featured in sports

PEKING (AP) — While most Chinese newspapers concentrated on the strategic aspects of U.S. Defense Secretary Harold Brown's trip to China, the Sports News devoted a front-page article today to how Brown stays fit on the road.

After viewing a martial arts performance at the Wuhan Physical Culture Institute on Thursday, the newspaper said, Brown went to Hankou Gymnasium in the central Chinese city and played tennis with former national women's singles champion Yu Li-chiao.

It said Brown lost 6-1, 7-5 in an hour's time and followed up with an 800-meter swim before a scheduled banquet.

Anti-Khomeini terrorist group captured; troubles still high

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Radio Tehran reported the capture of the leader of Iran's most effective anti-Khomeini terrorist group and 15 of his men, but the roundup did nothing to ease the revolutionary regime's troubles with rebellious ethnic minorities.

The broadcast said the gang chief, identified only by his family name, Goudarzi, and the other members of the organization called Forghan were captured after a gun battle with revolutionary guardsmen early Tuesday. It was not explained why the announcement was delayed two days.

A revolutionary guard spokesman said documents found in the group's headquarters on Jamalzadeh Street in central Tehran showed that more than 20 assassinations had been planned.

The spokesman said more than 20 hideouts of Forghan members had been identified, but at least 20 members of the gang were still at large.

The terrorists, firing submachine guns from motorcycles, have assassinated five of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's associates and his first army chief of staff since the Shiite Moslem leader's revolution ended Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's reign last February and replaced it with an Islamic theocracy.

The most recent victim was the dean of Tehran University's theology department, Hojatolislam Mohammad Mofateh, who was killed with two bodyguards Dec. 18.

Mofateh had said government without clergymen was unacceptable, a direct challenge to Forghan, an extremist Moslem movement whose main tenet is Islam without clergy.

Forghan members believe the Prophet Mohammed and the imams who followed him were not clergymen, that Islam is a religion to live by, not to govern by, and that a clerical ruling class is a betrayal of the religion and should not exist.

Forghan is a Persian word that refers both to the scales of justice and the Koran, the Moslem holy book.

Meanwhile, Tabriz and Sanandaj, the northwestern strongholds of Iran's rebellious Azerbaijanis and Kurds, were paralyzed Thursday by general strikes called to press demands that Khomeini's revolutionary guards be pulled out and his regime grant the ethnic minorities autonomous home rule in their regions.

As many as seven persons were reported killed and 100 wounded Wednesday in clashes between Azerbaijanis and revolutionary guardsmen in Tabriz. Troops and armored vehicles guarded key buildings in the city Thursday as strikers set fire to tires, sending up clouds of black smoke.

Scuffles broke out in Tabriz Thursday night between Khomeini supporters and backers of Mohammad Shariat-Madari, the Azerbaijani religious leader who is also Iran's No. 2 ayatollah. Revolutionary guardsmen predicted more trouble in the city today.

The U.S. hostages held captive in the American Embassy in Tehran began their 69th day in captivity today, and a group of black clergymen from Houston, Texas, said they planned to fly to Iran today in hopes of meeting with Khomeini on behalf of the captive Americans.

Mid-management program applications being taken

Applications are now being taken for the mid-management program at Howard College, according to Doris Huijbregtse, Director of Mid-Management. The program is designed for students with business management aptitudes and interests.

Mid-management is a two-year college program designed to train men and women for supervisory and middle management positions. Participants acquire education, training, and experience as they work toward an associate degree.

The Howard College program provides education in management theory, human relations, communication skills, and business skills; training in planning and organizing work, selecting and training personnel, directing the work of others, and making decisions; and experience in working with people and successfully performing a challenging job.

Students receive three semester hours credit during each of four semesters for attending a weekly one-hour seminar in addition to their on-the-job experience. Other classes are regular three-hour college courses.

Persons in supervisory positions or those working toward such positions can call Doris Huijbregtse, director, at 267-6311, ext. 23 (if no answer, ext. 31) during the day or 263-6525 during the evening.

National Western Rodeo offers $225,000 purse

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — The National Western Stock Show and Rodeo in Denver, Colo., one of the top Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) winter events, kicks off his week as the second major rodeo of the new year.

With competition running from Jan. 10 to 20, this year's Denver rodeo has a purse of over $225,000. A phenomenal 913 pro cowboys are entered for the competition.

A progressive rounds system has been introduced for the 1980 National Western Rodeo, a move necessitated by the high number of entries. Each cowboy will receive one head of stock in his event and will need to qualify on that head in order to advance in the competition. The advancing cowboys will be determined by top scores or times, depending on the event, and a predetermined maximum of cowboys will advance to compete with a second head of stock.

Stock for Denver is being provided by Beutler Bros. and Mike Cervi.

The roster of cowboys includes all of the 1979 PRCA world champions, as well as most of the top contenders in each event. Texan Don Gay, PRCA World Champion Bull Rider, will have some of his competition back in the running at Denver.

Jerry Beagley, Medicine Lodge, Kan., who challenged Gay for his 1979 title, will be making a comeback at the Denver rodeo. Beagley was seriously injured during the early rounds of the 1979 National Finals Rodeo (NFR), putting him out of contention for the world title. Beagley has also won the bull riding for two years running at Denver.

Oklahoma's Bobby Berger, who will be trying for two PRCA saddle bronc world championships in a row this year, is also entered at Denver. Stan Williamson, the reigning world champion steer wrestler, will also be competing against 194 other steer wrestlers at Denver this year.

Colorado's own Bruce Ford, also entered at Denver, will be out to defend his 1979 world championship in bareback riding. Allen Bach, who took his first team roping world championship in 1979, will be competing against 112 other teams of team ropers at the Denver event as well.

Tom Ferguson and Paul Tierney, the number one and two pro cowboys for the 1979 PRCA all-around race, have also entered Denver.

Ferguson will be competing in calf roping and steer wrestling; Tierney will compete in calf roping, steer wrestling, and team roping. Tierney, the 1979 World Champion calf roper, will vie with 192 other calf ropers at Denver, the most entered in any event there this year.

Several celebrities will also be in attendance at the National Western Rodeo this

Second charged in murder of two

TROUP, Texas (AP) — A second man has been charged in Tuesday's slaying of an elderly East Texas couple.

Clifford McDougal, 72, died after part of his face was blown away by a shotgun blast, but while being taken by ambulance to a hospital he managed to write down the name of one of his attackers.

His wife, Belle, also 72, died from a stab wound in the back of the neck, officers said.

James Sessions, 22, of nearby Jacksonville, whose name McDougal spelled before dying, was arrested Tuesday. A second man, Larry Charles Franklin, 25, also of Jacksonville was arrested Wednesday night in connection with the slayings.

Franklin was charged Thursday with two counts of murder and held in Smith County Jail at Tyler on $100,000 bond. Sessions was charged earlier and also is being held on $100,000 bond. Sheriff J.B. Smith said McDougal wrote Sessions name on a blood-stained piece of paper a short time after the 2 a.m. shootings. Both were arrested in Jacksonville, about 17 miles southwest of Troup, officers said.
