SNOOPY'S PROBLEMS — Snoopy and his doghouse are depicted in this snow sculpture, created by David Talbot at 703 W. 16th Street. The ice made for an adhesion that may make it a little easier for everyone's favorite dog to stay on the backbone of the house but both dog and house were due to disappear today, as the weather warmed up.

Clements' stand gains a friend

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Alfonso Martinez Dominguez of Nuevo Leon, Mexico, says Gov. Bill Clements established himself as a "good friend of our country" by refusing to blame Mexico for the offshore oil spill last year.

Clements said Martinez Dominguez's trip here Tuesday — the first state visit by a governor of Nuevo Leon to Texas — would be followed by visits by the governors of three other northern Mexican states.

Clements visited the four states — Nuevo Leon, Coahuila, Tamaulipas and Chihuahua — in 1979.

"We will have other visits in the not distant future and on a continuing basis," Clements told a news conference.

He added that Martinez Dominguez would come to Texas again soon to look at recreational and amusement areas.

The news conference at the Lorenzo de Zavala State Archives and Library Building climaxed a day in which the two governors toured the Capitol and the Lyndon B. Johnson Library, ate lunch on the University of Texas campus and met privately for about an hour.

In welcoming ceremonies in the Senate chamber, Clements said he hoped the meeting would show Washington how to treat foreign neighbors as equals.

Martinez Dominguez responded by stating he would never forget that Clements had stood by Mexico during the outcry over the Mexican oil spill that flowed onto Texas beaches.

Clements proclaimed Tuesday as "Texas-Nuevo Leon Friendship Day," and Martinez Dominguez said he would see that a similar resolution is adopted in his state.

A 19-gun salute and standing ovation from some 500 spectators greeted Martinez Dominguez's arrival.

Young children waved small Mexican flags from the balcony, and the Mexican governor waved back.

"I am hopeful that these meetings and discussions between the people of Texas and the people of Mexico will serve as an example to our leadership in Washington of the need and benefits of dealing with our neighbors in a setting of respect and equality," said Clements in a speech translated into Spanish.

"Our two great nations have shared a border for many years, but that is no longer enough in this turbulent world of ours," said Clements. "We must also share a respect for each other as equals and we must work to strengthen each other and to strengthen our bonds, for such bonds will serve both nations well and provide both with a brighter future."

In a speech translated into English, Martinez Dominguez said Mexico had "recovered from the economic crisis we went through some years ago" and would try to double its industrial capacity within the next decade.

Nuevo Leon will reach that goal within six years, he said.

The Mexican governor said he would "never forget" that when "many voices condemned our country" because of the Bay of Campeche oil spill in June "the voice of Gov. Clements arose and was heard and stated his friendship."

At the news conference, Martinez Dominguez was asked what impact Clements' refusal to blame Mexico for the oil spill had had in Mexico.

Martinez Dominguez described the spill as an accident that might have occurred anywhere and said Mexicans thought Clements' "understanding and friendly voice... his great common sense... was a sign of friendship... The impact in Mexico has been favorable, and we consider Gov. Clements a good friend of our country."

Last year Clements repeatedly rejected the idea of the United States suing Mexico for property damages because of the oil spill. He helped start the firm whose leased oil-drilling platform was involved in the spill.

Clements told the news conference direct communication had been opened between the state agencies of Texas and Nuevo Leon in the areas of culture, travel, communications and agriculture.

Press Secretary Jon Ford said Clements also had agreed to transport deer from the Hill Country to replenish herds in Nuevo Leon.

Asked about possible economic aid to Nuevo Leon, Martinez Dominguez said his state had not requested such aid.

He said, however, Mexico wanted to buy "a great amount" of grain from the United States because a drought in 1979 had reduced Mexico's supplies by 25 percent.

Asked about a possible international bridge connecting Colombia, Nuevo Leon and Texas, Clements said, "I favor any kind of communication between Mexico and the United States that will further the liaison between our states."

He said from Brownsville to El Paso, "we have more than one need in this regard... I've made it known to everyone who will sit still and listen."

Martinez Dominguez said "we are working towards" such a crossing.

Asked if he had any proposals regarding illegal aliens entering the United States from Mexico, Clements said he and three other border state governors had agreed "it is wrong for the traffic in illegal aliens to continue."

Mexican workers crossing the border "should be documented," Clements said, "and given a proper work visa" that would enable them "to be legal and totally mobile."

The two governors exchanged gifts at their luncheon, with Martinez Dominguez giving Clements a black leather saddle and whip and Clements giving the Mexican governor a portrait of a steer.

Looking at the whip, Clements quipped, "He (Martinez Dominguez) is more sensitive to my problems than I thought. It's symbolic of how I'll have to ride the Legislature into shape."

Pakistani government requesting billions of dollars in foreign aid

Pakistani officials say their government wants several billion dollars in foreign aid to build up its defenses against the Soviet troops in Afghanistan.

Agha Shahi, foreign policy adviser to Pakistani President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq, said Tuesday that U.S. assistance "must be commensurate with the size of the threat" the Soviet intervention poses.

He told reporters in Islamabad that Pakistan is seeking "credible U.S. military and economic assistance which should be durable and serve to strengthen its security vis-a-vis the threat developing on its western frontier."

Pakistan's western border with Afghanistan is 1,200 miles long, and Zia has said his government needs advanced warplanes and sophisticated radar and communications gear to help protect it.

President Carter has offered Pakistan $200 million in military aid and $200 million in economic aid over two years, but Zia has dismissed the package as "peanuts."

Chinese Foreign Minister Huang Hua, who flew home today after five days of talks with Shahi and Zia, said the Peking and Islamabad governments "will remain in touch" on the question of aid.

He also said the Chinese favor shifting the Summer Olympics from Moscow to another city, as President Carter has proposed.

Huang gave no figures on possible military assistance to Pakistan, but the Chinese lack the technology and financial means to satisfy the Pakistani government's demands.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, who cut short a visit to India to return to U.N. headquarters in New York because of the Afghan and Iranian crises, stopped off in Islamabad today for talks with Zia and Shahi.

"This will help me to understand your position on these developments," Waldheim said of his talks. "Needless to say, serious developments have taken place in this region because of foreign intervention in Afghanistan."

The U.N. General Assembly condemned the intervention in a vote Dec. 14 and called for the immediate withdrawal of foreign troops from Afghanistan. Waldheim said it is now up to U.N. member states to take appropriate action.

Waldheim also said that India "is not only keen to have good neighborly relations with Pakistan but also with all their neighbors." He said he hoped to act as an intermediary between India and Pakistan, traditional enemies.

Meanwhile, U.S. intelligence sources in Washington quoted Afghan refugees, including a defecting army officer, as saying Soviet warplanes have exploded nerve gas bombs over the rebels in five areas of Afghanistan.

Sandhill crane shows true grit

A sandhill crane which either doesn't like company or which has lost its sense of direction has been spending parts of the past four years on the Turner Ranch, located on the Gall Road about 20 miles northeast of Big Spring.

Ordinarily, the cranes migrate to this area for the winter and are social creatures. Invariably, they can be found in great flocks.

The visitor to the Turner Ranch, however, obviously likes its privacy. The bird frequents a nearby pond and apparently has found ample food to sustain itself.

Local FFAers, 4-Hers preparing for Saturday's Livestock Show

An estimated 150 4-H Club students will compete in Saturday's Howard County Junior Livestock 4-H and FFA Show.

Activity was already begun at the Howard County Fairgrounds where students have moved their lambs and steers to the fairbarn grooming booths. There they are trimming and grooming the animals for competition and sale following.

Weigh-in and classifying begins at 1 p.m. Friday. Officiating will be Martin County Agent Rick Vestal.

The purpose of the weigh-in is to determine if the animal is within limits for their division. Then they are divided according to breed.

Breeds for lamb competition include fine wool, medium wool and fine wool cross. Fine wool cross is a breed derived for wool quality by crossing medium wool and fine wool lambs.

Weight categories for the lambs will include light, medium and heavy.

Breed categories in the steer competition will include British, American and Exotic breeds. British breeds include Angus and Hereford. American crosses will include Brahma and others with Brahma influence. Exotic breeds include Simmental, Charlais, Limousin, Chianina and Maine-an-Jou.

Weight categories for steers include light and heavy weights only.

Lamb superintendents will be David Barr and Jack Buchanan. Steer superintendents will be Aubrey Langford and Howard Armstrong.

Chamber of Commerce banquet promises to be signal event

The annual Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce banquet, scheduled for 7 p.m., Saturday in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, promises not to be just another banquet but a signal event, according to Sandra Killough, banquet chairman.

Staging the banquet in the Coliseum offers many advantages over the sites in previous years. With room to spread the table arrangements, there will be an easy flow of seating and food service. Everyone seated in the banquet area will be within 90 feet of the stage where the program will take place.

The vastness of the Coliseum will be compensated for by the unusual decorations chosen to carry out the theme, "Launching the Eighties." Five very large simulated travel balloons will be suspended from the ceiling symbolizing Big Spring's launching into the adventures and upward growth which the Eighties will bring.

Live trees and plants will be used around the perimeter of the seating area along with special lighting and dinner music to create an intimate dining atmosphere. Table decorations will carry out the color scheme of orange, blue and white. The trees, plants, and centerpieces will be available for sale at reduced rates at the close of the banquet.

The steak dinner menu includes an 8-oz. fillet, baked potato, green salad, roll, and dessert. Guests will be assisted to their seats by the Ambassadors and the Presidential classics from Howard College. They will be served at their tables by the Big Spring High School Future Homemakers of America (FHA) members.

The program begins promptly at 7:30 p.m. and features the announcement of "Outstanding Man and Woman of the Year." The program Emcee is R.H. Weaver, and the guests will enjoy the entertaining wit of humorist speaker G. Robert Gadberry of Wichita, Kan.

Block (reserved) seating is available to any area business that wishes to purchase in advance 10 or more seats together. The Ambassadors are in charge of ticket sales and have been calling on local businesses to give them an opportunity to purchase tickets in advance. Deadline for block seating reservations is Friday at 12:00 noon. Tickets can also be purchased at the Chamber office. Ticket price per person is $10.

Mrs. Killough says the first year of a new decade offers a real opportunity to the citizens of Big Spring to demonstrate support of their city and a positive attitude toward the future. The banquet committee is optimistically hoping that 800 of Big Spring's citizens will show their support by attending at the banquet.

'Carter Doctrine' programs studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — With transparent modesty, some of President Carter's closest advisers are suggesting it not be called the "Carter Doctrine."

But, in this Madison Avenue age, the package of strategies, military postures and aid programs being prepared at the White House will inevitably be called that — and compared to the Truman Doctrine.

The goal is the same — to dissuade the Soviets from expanding beyond their spheres of influence. This time the focus is the oil-rich Persian Gulf.

In his day, President Truman wanted to discourage a Soviet thrust into Greece, Turkey and Italy. He succeeded, for reasons that can never be certain.

The fact that the United States still had a monopoly on the atom bomb may have influenced the Soviets to back off. Or the caution that often guides Kremlin decisions may have made the difference.

In any event, with the doctrine, Truman established the policy of "containment." It quickly became the dominant ingredient of U.S. foreign policy and was applied globally by succeeding administrations.

Now Jimmy Carter, responding to the Soviet intervention into Afghanistan and the political season, is about to bring Truman's doctrine of 1947 up to date in a State of the Union speech to Congress tonight.

"The Soviet Union has built a war machine far beyond any reasonable requirement for their own defense and security," the president said Monday, in a written State of the Union message.

He said the United States is prepared to "confront" any Soviet threat. One of his top advisers, underlining that clear warning, told White House reporters, "When we say we are prepared to use force to defend our interests in that part of the world, we mean it."

B.B. Manly, area director of the USDA Cotton Marketing Service Office, reported that about 40,000 cotton samples were classed in Abilene during the week ending Friday.

This brought the season's total to 720,000 samples classed, which established a new record high for the office. An additional 170,000 samples have been classed at the Munday, Texas, Classing Office.

Local cotton prices closed about 1½ cents per pound higher than during the previous week. Daily prices were ½ cent per pound lower on one day, and firm to 1 cent per pound higher each day the rest of the week.

Bid prices ranged from 15½ to 18½ cents per pound over CCC loan values for 3.5 to 4.9 mike cotton, with most base mike cotton selling at 16½ to 18 cents over the loan. Micronaire continued as the quality factor most effecting price. Low micronaire cotton sold at 7 to 15½ cents per pound over loan values.

Fiber length continued mostly staple 32 at 59 percent, and staple 31 accounted for 30 percent. Micronaire readings were 40 percent within the 3.5 to 4.9 range, as compared to 45 percent the previous week.

The film crew is headquartered in Big Spring and will shoot most of the big screen movie here.

Filming will likely start as early as Feb. 4. The producers are still signing extras for the movie.

Garth Wilkinson, security and safety manager for Schick-Sunn, petitioned the Midland city council Tuesday for permission to film on Midland's city streets.

A chase scene involving military people and individuals wanting to report a UFO, one of the highlights of the movie, will be filmed in Midland.

Wilkinson indicated the film crew would be busy in Midland two or three days.

Soviets may have used nerve gas on Afghans

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence sources say there are indications the Soviets may have used death-dealing nerve gas against anti-Marxist rebels in five areas of Afghanistan.

The sources, who declined to be identified, said the evidence is not conclusive enough to permit an open accusation by the United States. But they said U.S. intelligence specialists give credence to descriptions provided by a number of Afghan refugees, including a defecting army officer.

This development comes less than a week after U.S. intelligence sources told The Associated Press the Soviet army had brought chemical decontaminating equipment into Afghanistan.

According to the new reports, the gas apparently was contained in bombs dropped from airplanes. The bombs were said to have burst in the air, spewing the gas in vapor form. This vapor caused vomiting, breathing difficulties, bowel eruptions, blindness, paralysis and then death, the sources said. There was no estimate of the number of deaths.

U.S. specialists said the effects, as described by the Afghan refugees, correspond to known results from a Soviet nerve agent called Soman. They believe the same kind of nerve gas was used against Laotian tribesmen resisting communist forces in Southeast Asia.

One intelligence report suggests the lethal agent was used against Afghan rebel tribesmen as early as last August or September in the Panjshir Valley northeast of Kabul. Russian advisers were serving with the Afghan army at that time, although the full-scale Soviet army movement into Afghanistan did not come until late last month.

Sources said the other four incidents reportedly occurred last week near Faizabad and in Takhar Province, both in northeast Afghanistan where rebel resistance has been stiff; in Bamian Province, west of Kabul; and near Jalalabad, which lies close to Pakistan.

In telling the AP about sightings of Soviet chemical decontamination equipment in Afghanistan, U.S. specialists suggested it might be used to 'clean up' affected areas so they could be occupied by Soviet or Afghan government troops after a gas attack.

Gen. David Jones, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told Congress about a year ago that, under Soviet military doctrine, "the basic principle is to achieve surprise by using massive quantities of chemical agents against unprotected troops or against equipment or on terrain to deny its use."

UNDERGOES INTERNAL EXILE—The Soviet Union's most outspoken dissident, Nobel Peace Prize winner Andrei Sakharov, was banished Tuesday to exile in Gorky, 250 miles from Moscow. The banishment represented government efforts to prevent him from contacting Western newsmen, a family friend said.

Minority women to suffer most

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP)—Black and Mexican-American women will be forced to turn to midwives if Bexar County is allowed to move maternity services from a downtown hospital to the county hospital 11 miles away, says a Justice Department attorney.

Daniel Searing told U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears in opening arguments Tuesday that the indigent women already face transportation problems, which would be worsened by such a move.

The Justice Department has filed a lawsuit seeking to stop the county hospital district from relocating the services now located at the decaying Green Hospital downtown to the Bexar County Hospital in far northwest San Antonio.

The suit alleges that the relocation will discriminate against the poor Mexican-American and black women, who are concentrated near downtown and have used Green's facilities for generations.

Emergency facilities will be retained at Green. Alicia Sanchez, 19, who said she and her three children were born at Green, testified Tuesday that she would turn to a midwife for any future deliveries.

Ms. Sanchez was one of several witnesses called to show that transportation problems already exist for indigent patients trying to get to the downtown hospital.

Ms. Sanchez said she arrived at Green only minutes before giving birth to her third child because she had trouble finding a ride. She said she doesn't drive and that few friends and relatives own working cars.

She admitted she was eligible for federal funds that would allow her to go to a private hospital, but added, "I like the Green."

Ms. Sanchez denied hospital district allegations that her parents, who don't have a car, visited her more frequently when she was recently hospitalized at Bexar County Hospital than when she was at Green.

If the relocation is allowed, Searing said, it will also decrease hospital usage.

Spears ruled Monday that the Justice Department must prove any such discrimination is intentional.

Coping with your income tax---III

Audit hits about one filer in 47 each year

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third in a series of five articles entitled "Coping With Your Income Tax." They were written to help taxpayers prepare their 1979 tax returns.

By GLENN RITT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tax audit. It has an ominous sound, but long odds.

In the past, the Internal Revenue Service says only about one taxpayer in 47 has been audited each year.

The IRS checks about 1 of every 66 people earning below $10,000 a year.

Middle-income taxpayers, however, have a 2.4 percent chance; people earning more than $50,000, an 11.4 percent chance.

A computer will decide who is investigated and who isn't, and more than likely it will be attracted to the most unusual deductions or the most significant tax changes from last year.

Generally, to protect yourself, keep tax records at least three years. That's the time in which the IRS must start its investigation.

Short of the shock from an audit is the embarrassment following a dumb mistake.

The IRS says the most frequent errors are: Forgetting to sign your form; failing to enclose the W-2 form or other statements detailing your wages and salary; and omitting your Social Security number.

To avoid mistakes and lessen the chances of an audit, make sure to report all income correctly and take only the deductions you can justify.

Here is a list of what income should be reported:

- Wages, salaries, bonuses, commissions, fees, tips, and unemployment benefits.
- Dividends, although up to $100 can be excluded for an individual, and up to $200 for a couple filing jointly.
- Earned income from sources outside the United States.
- Interest received on U.S. Savings Bonds, but not interest on state and municipal bonds.
- Profits, rents and royalties.
- Earnings and interest from savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks, credit unions and similar institutions.

- Income from pensions, annuities and endowments after deducting the contributions you made to your own pension fund.
- Alimony receipts and separate maintenance payments.
- The value of prizes and awards, plus gambling income.
- Refunds of state and local taxes if they were deducted in a prior year.
- Major income items that aren't taxed include: Social Security benefits, welfare payments, some disability retirement payments and other benefits, workman's compensation benefits, child support, dividends on veterans' life insurance, and gifts, money or other property that you inherited.

There are several basic rules for which tax form to use.

You can fill the 1040A short form if your total income is $20,000 or less as an individual or $40,000 or less as a couple filing jointly. In addition, your income cannot include items other than wages, salaries, tips and unemployment benefits. And you cannot earn more than $400 each in interest and dividends.

You must use the 1040 long form if you itemize deductions.

The IRS estimates that about 96 percent of all taxpayers will be able to figure their taxes by looking at tax tables in the booklet rather than having to do complex arithmetic.

That's a key reason that the number of people turning to professional tax preparers is down 20 percent in two years.

One rule that should come as no surprise: You must file your return no later than midnight, April 15.

If you encounter problems meeting the deadline, you can seek an extension by filling out Form 4868. Technically, a penalty equal to 0.5 percent on the tax due may be assessed for each month or part of a month that the return is overdue for a maximum of 25 percent.

This year, the IRS will have more than 6,800 people available to help an estimated 93 million taxpayers answer questions about their returns.

The telephone number about tax information can be found in the phone book under United States government, Internal Revenue Service. Toll free numbers are found in the 1979 tax booklets.

The earlier you file, of course, the faster the refund. It could be as fast as 4 weeks. This year, the IRS estimates that three out of every four Americans will get money back.

'80 state revenues pose problems

By JIM DAVIS
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Inflation and the uncertainties of the U.S. and Texas economies have some officials worried about how the state is going to pay its bills in the 1980's.

The latest revenue estimates indicate a "good-news, bad-news" situation for the state government.

The state is expected to take in a windfall $662 million from oil and gas production and interest, thanks to what is an energy crisis for everyone else.

But income from other sources is off by almost that same amount, leaving the state with the common problem of meeting bills that may rise at a faster rate than income.

The state is still in an enviable position compared with many of its inflation-battered neighbors.

Comptroller Bob Bullock says the state can expect a surplus of $124 million after it spends the $21.2 billion appropriated for 1979-81.

Gov. Bill Clements takes a rosier view of state finances. He thinks the surplus will be enough for a big tax-relief package, perhaps in the special session he plans for August or September.

The governor's analysts estimate the surplus at $600 million to $700 million. Clements, known for his optimism on things in which he is personally interested, has told some Republicans that there may be almost $1 billion left over from the current biennium.

Clements is the state's leading Republican and Bullock is one of the state's most vocal Democrats. So, their strong views may have a political bias.

Bullock's most recent estimate — released early in January — was an update of a May 1979 estimate of a $324 million surplus.

Clements liked that earlier figure much more than the latest one.

But Bullock says a skittish world economy is changing the state's money outlook so that the oil-and-gas income is the only really cheery news for the state government.

That income increase, he says, will be offset by declines in inheritance taxes, sales taxes, franchise taxes, hotel and motel taxes, insurance taxes and motor-fuel taxes.

The sales tax revenue is dropping off because inflation has caused many Texans to postpone major purchases, such as cars and large appliances, the comptroller's analysts believe.

Motor-fuel taxes are off because Texans are cutting gasoline consumption as the price at the pump soars.

In addition to the $124 million projected as a revenue surplus, Bullock predicts as much as $200 million in funds appropriated by the 1979 legislature that will not be spent by 1981.

But the comptroller says it probably is wishful thinking to hope state agencies won't find some way to spend that.

Gov. Clements has stepped up his propaganda campaign to reduce state employment after discovering that his successes the past year existed mostly on paper.

The governor had been saying the number of state employees on the state payroll had dropped by 4,000 during his first year in office. Then Comptroller Bullock pointed out that the agencies had been cutting budgeted positions rather than picking-up-the-paycheck-each-month persons.

Clements' reaction was to send a letter to state agencies urging staff cuts of 5 percent.

That's about all he can do, since in Texas the governor has no direct authority over most governing boards still are controlled by members appointed by Clements' Democratic predecessor, Dolph Briscoe.

NEW YORK (AP) — Prince Albert of Monaco, one of the world's richest men and most eligible bachelors, rode to school this week on a bus.

The 20-year-old son of Prince Rainier and Princess Grace arrived Monday in New York after spending time with his family in Monaco.

On Tuesday, he left town from the Port Authority Bus Terminal to resume classes at Amherst College in Massachusetts.

While in New York, he stayed with his mother's best friend, Vera Maxwell, who gave him a farewell lunch Tuesday.

Carter nephew likes it

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Carter Spann says he's enjoying all the attention he's getting now that he's out of prison — and says he will make the most of it.

President Carter's nephew, who spent 20 of his 33 years in jail or reform school, was paroled Dec. 24 after serving nearly four years for armed robbery. During taping of a segment of ABC's "Good Morning America" program for airing today, Spann said prison offered him security, but he isn't going back.

"I was locked up as a person could be," he said. "I was kept in a cell 23 hours out of 24, because I am a relative of the president."

But, Spann said, he really enjoys the attention he gets as Carter's nephew. "And I intend to capitalize on it." He said Carter didn't mind if he used his name to earn a living.

Bids on heliport taken

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is accepting bids on a helicopter pad at Key Biscayne, Fla., built in 1969 for then-President Richard Nixon.

The heliport, which has not been used since Nixon left office in August 1974, was built at a cost of $432,173, including $15,000 paid for the site on Biscayne Bay near the former Florida White House.

The General Services Administration announced the sale Tuesday, saying sealed bids would be opened Feb. 20 in Atlanta.

Bids for less than the property's assessed value will not be accepted, but that value will not be disclosed in advance, said GSA.

Bar takes resignation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The State Bar of California has accepted the resignation of John D. Ehrlichman, a former domestic counselor to President Richard Nixon and convicted Watergate conspirator.

Ehrlichman, who had been suspended from law practice in the state since 1975, submitted his resignation as a bar member last Aug. 11, with bar disciplinary charges still pending against him.

He signed a stipulation in November to terminate the bar's disciplinary proceedings unless he should seek reinstatement. Last Friday, his resignation was accepted.

Ehrlichman was convicted in 1975 on charges of conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury stemming from the cover-up of the break-in at the Democratic National Headquarters in the Watergate office complex in Washington, D.C.

Panama denies report of shah's arrest, extradition to Iran

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — A Panamanian army spokesman denied an Iranian government announcement today that Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi had been arrested for extradition to Iran.

A spokesman for the deposed monarch said he was asleep at his rented villa on Contadora Island and no move had been made to arrest him.

An Iranian government announcement, relayed by Pars, the official Iranian news agency, and the official Tehran Radio, said President Artstides Rojo of Panama informed Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh "the deposed shah was under arrest by the Panamanian government... and the Panamanian government is awaiting receipt of evidence and documents from the Iranian government for the purpose of trying and extraditing the deposed shah."

"No, it is not true," said the duty officer at the headquarters of the national guard, Panama's army, when asked about the report. A man who answered the phone at the home of President Rojo said he knew nothing about the report.

SHAH PAHLAVI

And Mark Morse, a spokesman for the shah who was contacted by telephone on Contadora, said Pahlavi and his entourage knew nothing of any change in his situation.

Royo and Panama's military strongman, Gen. Omar Torrijos, gave the shah asylum Dec. 15. Since then, he and his wife have been living in a borrowed villa on the resort island of Contadora, off the Pacific coast 35 miles southeast of Panama City.

In Tehran, meanwhile, an American minister said the Iranian revolutionary regime will invite 500 "dignitaries" from around the world for a weeklong "international fact-finding" conference Feb. 4-11 to examine events leading to the seizure of the U.S. Embassy and its staff on Nov. 4.

The Rev. Bobby Mills of Houston, Texas, predicted the meeting "will eventually release the hostages," who today began their 81st day in captivity. But he acknowledged during a telephone interview conducted from New York that no Iranian had indicated any retreat from the position that the approximately 50 American hostages would not be freed until the shah was returned to Iran for trial.

On Saturday, Ghotbzadeh said a solution to the deadlock was "easy" — "They give us the shah. We give them the hostages."

Mills, who came to Tehran with three other Houston ministers in a so-far fruitless attempt to intercede with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, said he learned of the Feb. 4-11 meeting planned by the Iranians from the foreign press office at the Ministry of National Guidance. But a woman answering the telephone there today said she knew nothing about the meeting.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said today in New Delhi, India, that he was "still negotiating details" for the establishment of an international commission to investigate the shah's alleged misdeeds. The commission is part of a package arrangement he is working on to secure the hostages' release, Waldheim said.

Public Utility Commission battles over policy

By JACKIE CALMES
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — At the Public Utility Commission, the regulatory body for Texas telephone and electric rates, it's no secret that Chairman George Cowden and Commissioner Garrett Morris don't like one another.

The two, who have been on the commission since it began in 1975, reportedly have a long-simmering personal feud that may have boiled over into public policy.

The men differ on the billion-dollar question of who should pay for construction work in progress — or CWIP — on power plants, particularly nuclear plants that can take a decade to complete.

Cowden says today's customers should pay and utilities should be allowed to include CWIP in their rate bases, which is the total they recover from ratepayers for their services.

Morris says ratepayers should contribute only to plants now providing electricity to them. That's his interpretation of "used and useful in rendering service" — the rate-making guideline in state and federal law.

But Cowden's view is commission policy since the third commissioner, Moak Rollins, sides with the chairman. Rollins is an appointee of Gov. Bill Clements and still must be confirmed by the Texas Senate.

So Morris, once influential as the commission's first chairman, is the outsider in this bureaucratic menage a trois.

In October, he offered an alternative using complex federal tax laws to save consumers millions. So far neither his fellow commissioners nor the Internal Revenue Service have bought it.

The CWIP issue also has divided some on the commission staff.

Several members, though agreeing that utilities need cash to finance their projects, complain privately — and anonymously — that recent CWIP awards are too high.

In three major rate cases decided recently, the commission voted 2-1 to give Texas Electric Service Co. (TESCO), Dallas Power & Light Co. (DPL) and Houston Light & Power Co. (HLP) more CWIP than the commission staff recomended.

The three companies asked for 100 percent of construction costs in their rate bases. The staff recommended 45 percent for TESCO and HLP, and 70 percent for DPL.

Cowden and Rollins increased that to 60 percent for TESCO and HLP, and 80 percent for DPL. They also raised the rate of return on equity for TESCO and DPL from the 14.1 percent the hearing examiner recommended to 14.5 percent.

Because both CWIP and the rate of return increase cash earnings, the return should be lower if CWIP is allowed, a staff attorney says. That is the philosophy of several state public utility commissions, notably New York's.

After the TESCO and DPL decisions, disgruntled staff members sniped that Wall Street analysts will have to introduce a quadruple — a bond rating just for Texas utilities.

Triple-A is the highest mark that New York rating services give. The only U.S. electric utility bonds so rated belong to TESCO, DPL and Texas Power & Light Co. All are subsidiaries of the Dallas-based Texas Utilities Co., the most highly rated utility on the New York Stock Exchange.

Bond ratings are basic to the utility commission's argument over CWIP.

Texas' 1975 Public Utility Regulatory Act that created the commission says CWIP may be included in a rate base "where necessary to the financial integrity of the utility."

Cowden says a utility should get enough CWIP "to maintain its bond rating (so that it is perceived by financial markets to be stable," Rollins agrees.

Morris says a utility has financial integrity if it has enough cash coming in to pay operating expenses, interest on its debts and stockholders' dividends.

A company should be able to attract investor capital without commission help if it meets its basic financial responsibilities, he says.

Morris' view "comes closest to the legislature's intent (of) allowing enough to keep utilities out of bankruptcy court," the staff attorney, says.

"It's clear to me that the legislature wanted to keep a tight rein on CWIP, knowing it would be the cause of future high rate hikes," he says.

That's right, says Rep. John Wilson of LaGrange, House sponsor of the 1975 act.

"CWIP should not be considered part of the rate base unless it is vital to the financial integrity of the utility. And by financial integrity, I mean the utility is in threat of bankruptcy without it," Wilson says.

Reagan may intensify campaign

Bush sees New Hampshire win

PRESSING THE FLESH — Presidential hopeful George Bush stops to shake hands with one of his supporters in the Walpole, N.H. Town Hall early Tuesday night after delivering his speech. Bush is on a tour of Southern New Hampshire seeking votes for the upcoming primary in February.

By The Associated Press
George Bush says a victory in the New Hampshire primary would put him well on his way to winning the Republican presidential nomination — and Ronald Reagan may intensify his campaign there after losing to Bush in the Iowa caucuses.

Meanwhile, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he faces a must-win situation in New Hampshire after he was soundly beaten by President Carter in Iowa.

The campaign focus has shifted to New Hampshire, the New England state whose February primary, traditionally the kick-off for the long race to the presidential nominations, was upstaged by this year's intense campaign in Iowa.

Bush arrived in New Hampshire Tuesday night to campaign for the Feb. 26 primary and told a news conference in Keene that a win in New Hampshire would mean "there'll be absolutely no stopping me."

Asked if a victory would give him a lock on the nomination, Bush said, "I'd come close to saying that."

Reagan, who was criticized for limiting his personal appearances in Iowa, said he will reassess his New Hampshire schedule.

"I'm going to go all out in New Hampshire," he told a Los Angeles news conference Tuesday.

But Reagan refused to call the Granite State crucial to his candidacy. "I can't see any primary as being fatal," he said.

In Iowa, Reagan was considered the front-runner, but was beaten in the Republican straw vote caucuses by Bush, 32.8 percent to 26.7 percent.

"If I had to lose one, I'm glad it was a straw vote and not a primary," said Reagan.

Kennedy, meanwhile, lost by a 59 percent to 31 percent margin to Carter, who never made a campaign appearance in Iowa because he said he was busy in Washington with crises in Iran and Afghanistan.

In Washington, Kennedy called the race "a long road. It's a 15-inning fight and maybe it's the first round."

But the Massachusetts senator agreed that he can't afford to lose the second round in his home territory, including the Maine caucuses Feb. 10.

Asked if he has to win in both Maine and New Hampshire, Kennedy said, "Yes."

Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, acknowledged the difficulty of beating Kennedy on the New Englander's home ground.

Kennedy, said Powell, "will be in a position in New Hampshire in the last few weeks to dump large numbers of people and organizational help in there that we simply will not be able to match."

Bush said his Iowa win boosts him out of the pack of Republican hopefuls, "but they will be after me, howling and yowling at my heels."

One of those hopefuls, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, said his third-place finish in the Iowa straw poll was "pretty much what I predicted." He called Reagan and Bush the front-runners in New Hampshire, but noted, "New Hampshire has a pleasant habit of devouring front-runners and I hope it continues that."

In fourth place among Republicans in Iowa was former Texas Gov. John Connally, who said, "It may be that this is the very springboard I have been looking for." He explained that he thinks Reagan backers will turn to him instead of Bush.

Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, who finished last among the seven Republicans in Iowa, said he will decide in a few days whether to remain in the race.

While the Republicans were wondering who would be the nominee, they kept their sights trained on Carter.

White House sources say

Carter considering draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, in what would be an abrupt reversal of administration policy, is said to be considering asking Congress to authorize peacetime registration of draft-age youths.

Administration sources said Tuesday they believed the proposal came from within the White House staff.

It comes amid unrest abroad, manpower problems in the military and a renewed defense orientation on Capitol Hill.

White House officials declined comment Tuesday night.

It was not known whether Carter would accept the proposal or include it in his State of the Union address to Congress tonight, said the sources, who asked not to be identified.

White House officials said in July that the administration "is opposed to registration," contending "it is not necessary to impose this burden on our nation and its youth."

All branches of the military fell short of recruitment goals for fiscal 1979, for the first time since the draft ended in 1973. But Defense Department officials concerned with manpower problems said Tuesday that the Pentagon had sent no staff papers recommending a renewal of registration to the White House.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown told Congress last summer, "We don't propose to go to registration, let alone the draft, until we are convinced that other methods won't do the job."

But senior military officers, particularly Army generals, have said peacetime registration is necessary to insure the nation enough military manpower to fill out regular forces in an emergency.

These officers, noting that the Army National Guard and Reserve are below strength and largely unprepared for early deployment, have said U.S. security could be threatened if the country lacked effective standby draft machinery in the event of a Soviet attack on Western Europe.

Some Army officials have estimated that without peacetime preparation and revival of the Selective Service System, it would take about seven months from a standing start to obtain the first trained and deployable draftees.

Newest Wave Of Smoker Research:
MERIT favored 3 to 1 over high tar brands in tests comparing taste and tar level.

Merit Sweeps New Tests!

Smokers Report: MERIT Taste Matches High Tar Cigarettes.

New taste tests with thousands of smokers prove it.

Proof: A significant majority of smokers rate MERIT taste as good as—or better than—leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Proof: Of the 95% stating a preference, 3 out of 4 smokers chose the MERIT low tar/good taste combination over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed.

MERIT: Proven Long Term Alternative To High Tar Brands.

New national smoker study results prove it.

Proof: The overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers polled feel they didn't sacrifice taste in switching from high tar cigarettes.

Proof: 96% of MERIT smokers don't miss former high tar brands.

Proof: 9 out of 10 enjoy smoking as much since switching to MERIT, are glad they switched, and report MERIT is the best tasting low tar they've ever tried.

You've read the results. The conclusion is clearer than ever: MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar.

A combination that's attracting more and more smokers every day and—more importantly—satisfying them long term.

EASE ON DOWN THE ROAD — With temperatures in the 60s and 70s the last several days, no one expected to wake up to snow. The snow continued through the day and cleared Wednesday.

Young boy uses same gun as father to kill himself

GARLAND, Texas (AP) — Ten-year-old Michael David Miller said he was lonely and longed to be with his father. Tuesday he turned on a tape recorder at his home, told of his loneliness and desire to be with his father.

Authorities said the boy then took the same pistol his father had used to take his own life less than two years ago and shot himself in the head.

Robert Miller, 35, the boy's father, used the same pistol May 6, 1978, to kill himself at a Garland motel, according to police records. Officers said the cheap revolver found beside the boy's body was the same one they returned to the Miller family following the father's death.

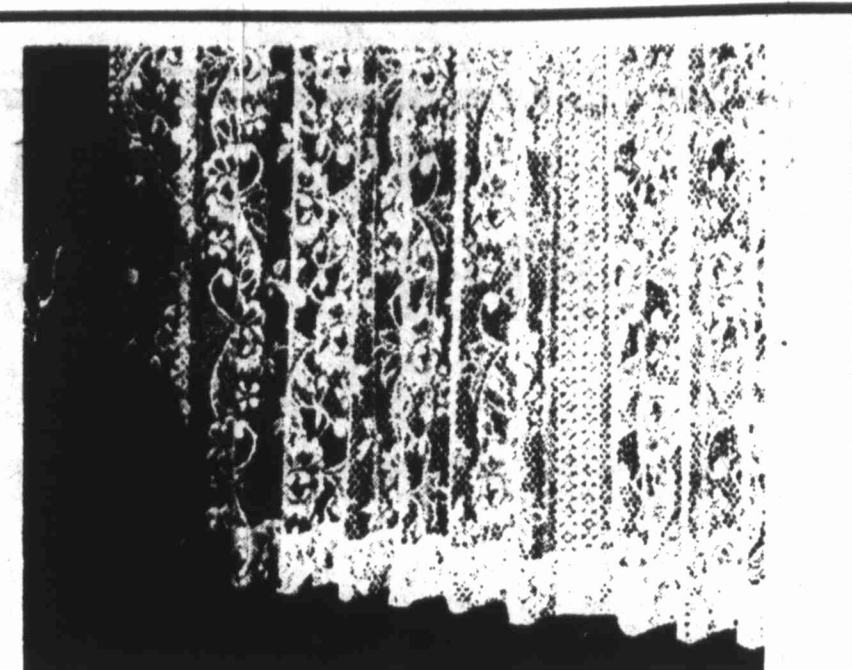

It was the second time in the past week that a young boy in the Dallas-Fort Worth area died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. In the other, an 11-year-old Arlington boy shot himself in the head in a school restroom while a terrified teacher and some classmates watched.

Tony Badger, an investigator for the Dallas County Medical Examiner's office, said the boy's body was found beside a bed in the family's home. The tape recorder containing the comments about loneliness and the sound of the pistol shot was nearby, Badger said.

Mrs. Cheryl Miller, the boy's mother, said she found the body when she returned home from work. She said he had called her earlier in the afternoon, apparently just before the shooting, to tell her that he had been disciplined at school. But she said he gave no indication of what he was about to do.

William Head, principal at Montclair Elementary School, said the boy had been disciplined for forging a note saying that he should be allowed to wear sun glasses in class.

Law officers violated rights

PLAINVIEW, Texas (AP) — Defense attorney Travis Shelton said law enforcement officers violated Loy Dean Stone's rights when they searched his property without telling him a teen-age girl had died or advising him of his rights.

Four law enforcement officers testified Tuesday that no one read Stone his rights on Halloween 1977 after Roxanne Casa, 15, was slain while sitting in a pickup in Stone's driveway.

Stone, 50, and his wife, Louise, are charged in the shotgun slaying and both have pleaded innocent. Mrs. Stone, 49, was granted a separate trial.

The Stones are high priests in the Church of Wicca, a witches' group that believes in reincarnation and psychic powers. The Stones say they do not believe in Satan.

Castro County Sheriff Granville Martin and Texas Department of Public Safety trooper Jackie Gunnels testified they asked Stone to hand over a shotgun when they arrived at his house near Dimmitt in the Texas Panhandle.

Then Martin said he left all five of his deputies and Gunnels at the house to "protect the property." Meanwhile, he went into town to obtain consent to search forms, which the Stones signed, and a search warrant that he never used.

Shelton confronted Martin with an affidavit he had signed to obtain the search warrant. In the affidavit Martin stated he believed Stone or Mrs. L.E. Stone — Stone's elderly mother who lived next door — had fired the fatal shot.

"This is a clear violation of the Miranda rights of Mr. Stone," Shelton said. "The (Fifth Amendment) test is when the investigation is focused on the defendant."

Martin said he had not read Stone his rights because he "wasn't under arrest." Gunnels said he felt it was Martin's place to tell him, because he was conducting the investigation.

Both said they were invited into the Stones' house where they took the shotgun and three unspent shells. In a later search, Martin said, three spent shells and a rusty shotgun were confiscated.

The jury was out of the courtroom for the testimony, but Martin later repeated his account before the jury.

The two deputies testified they drank coffee with the Stones while Martin was gone and were not told to look for any suspects.

Stone was arrested three days later.

Martin said the Stones called him to their house about teenagers "harassing them" earlier that evening, but he left about 10 minutes before he heard of the shooting.

When he returned to the Stones, the sheriff said, "I noticed a man coming out toward me with a shotgun in his hand and a lady coming from a westerly direction." He identified the couple as the Stones.

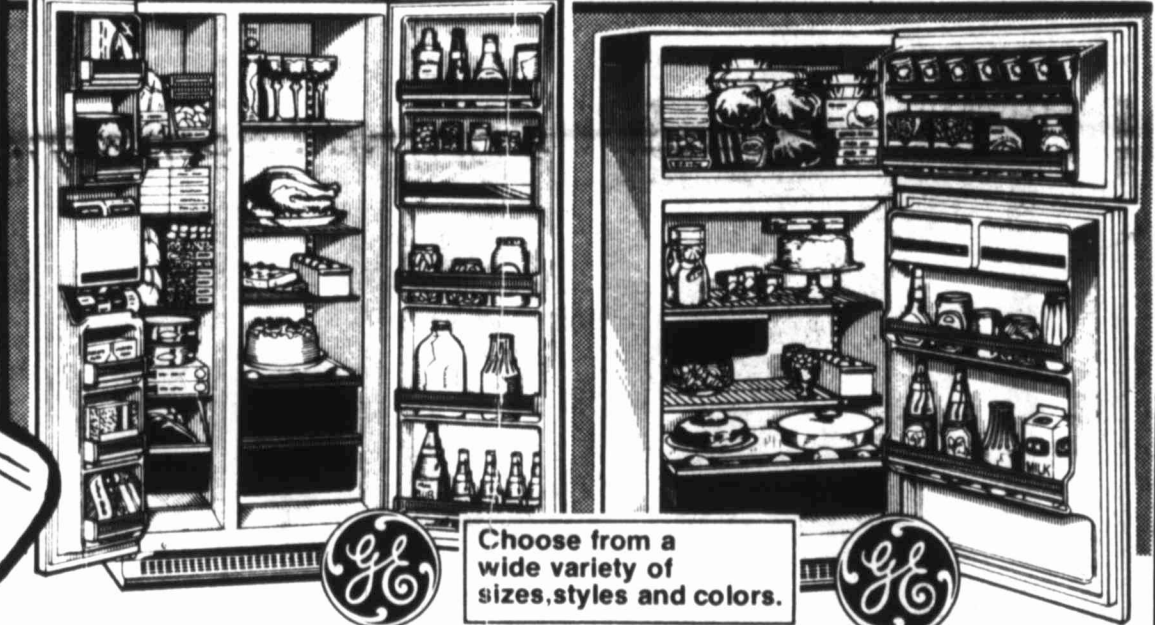

Martin said Stone told him he had fired a single shot into the air to scare some youths away. Mrs. Stone was "all excited," he said, and pointed toward two cars and a pickup on the highway that she said had been harassing them.

Before the jury returned, Shelton asked that Stone's statement to the sheriff and the fruits of the search be omitted from testimony. State District Judge John T. Boyd denied the request but asked that similar testimony be previewed without the jury.

In tense 48-44 contest

Shannon led OHS rallies past Steers

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

Steve Shannon scored all seven of his points in the final quarter of play to help spark the Odessa Bronchos to a come from behind 48-44 win over a scrappy group of Big Spring Steers in a District 5-AAAA game here Tuesday night in Steer Gym.

The loss was especially disheartening for the young Bovines of Coach Ed Haller, as they sported a somewhat new appearance in the contest. It worked for three stanzas, too, as Big Spring held a 33-30 lead entering the final stanza. Big Spring had jumped out to a 16-12 lead at the end of the first stanza, with sophomore Blake Rosson's shooting sparking the early advantage.

The Steers, mainly behind the scoring of James Doss and Fletcher Johnson, increased the margin to 27-22 at the intermission.

Odessa narrowed the Steer lead to 33-30 entering the final stanza. Haller employed many first time varsity players into the game in the third stanza, with Carbert Newton, Bobby Brasel and David Bardofoke seeing playing time.

But Odessa quickly took the lead in the final stanza when Shannon, an All-District wide receiver in football, canned two field goals in the opening 35 seconds to give Odessa a 34-33 lead.

The teams remained close, tied at 38-38 with 4:30 remaining. Big Spring's Dickie Wrightsil provided the nucleus for the Steer points thus far in this stanza with his cat quick steals.

Odessa then scored five straight points in the next minute to take a 43-38 lead with three minutes left, but Wrightsil and Doss quickly scored field goals to put the Bovines back within one at 43-42.

The Bronchos then went to a four-corner attack, and the 6'2" Shannon drove down the middle uncontested for a layup to give OHS a 45-42 advantage with just over a minute remaining.

But the Steers, who had three scoring opportunities, could only convert for two points after forcing some Broncho turnovers in the final 60 seconds. Shannon's free throw with five seconds remaining finally nailed the coffin in the OHS win.

OHS is now 2-4 in 5-AAAA play and 6-15 on the year, while the Steers drop to 0-8 in loop play and are 5-16 on the season.

Junior Cobos paced the OHS win with 15 points, while Rayford Wright and Mike Cobb added 10 each.

For Big Spring, Doss was the high point man with 13 points. Wrightsil, Rosson and Johnson added eight each.

The Steers return to action for their final game in the first half on Friday when they visit San Angelo.

By NATHAN POSS

The Howard College Hawk Queens remained tied for the Western Junior College Conference lead in women's basketball by taking an easy 82-52 win over Clarendon in action Tuesday night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The game was never in doubt, as the Queens totally outclassed their foes in registering their fourth win in league play against only one loss. The Queens are now 13-5 for the season.

Clarendon, meanwhile, drops to a league mark of 0-3 and a season record of 4-7.

The Queens jumped out to a 23-11 lead after the first 10 minutes, and then increased it to 46-21 by the intermission. Jayne Jones and Joanne Lefridge led a balanced Howard College attack in the opening half.

With Coach Don Stevens substituting freely throughout the second half, the Queens increased their lead to as many as 35 points.

Robbie Freeman, coming off an excellent performance in an overtime win over Odessa College last Thursday, led all scorers in the contest with 18 points. She poured in most of her points in the second half.

Other Queens connecting in double figures were Jones with 13, Susan Martin with 12, and Lefridge with 10.

Pearly Butler and Lisa Lamb paced Clarendon with

Coahoma boys capture first half title in 6-AA

WYLIE — The Coahoma Bulldogs boys basketball team used a stout defense to stifle Wylie here Tuesday night and take the first half championship in District 6-

AA with a 51-29 triumph. The Bulldogs win was their seventh without a loss in 6-AA action, and brings their season mark to 15-4. Wylie drops to 3-4 in district.

Coahoma suffered through a cold shooting first quarter, but their defense didn't allow host Wylie a shot until four minutes had passed, and the Bulldogs led by 10-6 after the opening eight minutes.

Coahoma, paced by the scoring of Michael Meyer and Philip Ritchey, then put the game away in the next two stanzas, increasing their advantage to 43-17 entering the final stanza.

Coahoma Coach Doug Harriman was naturally very pleased with the win, stating: "I'm quite happy, to say the least. We played well defensively throughout the game. Another encouraging factor was that everybody got to play."

Meyer had 17 points to lead all scorers in the contest, while Ritchey added 14. Meyer was also the leading rebounder with 11, while Ritchey and Gary Bayes added six and four caroms, respectively.

Wylie won the girls game by a score of 47-34.

Football gambling

Just like a common cold

SICKNESS. IT COMES IN ALL VARIETIES. Some mental, some physical, some both. While cures can be found for some, others, like the common cold, just seem to invade every so often.

In my case, it's gambling on football games.

As a child, I used to worship certain professional football players and certain teams. Now I know better, although I undoubtedly have my favorites.

I remember my first big disappointment concerning a pro game. The Dallas Cowboys lost to the Green Bay Packers in the NFL championship, 34-27, on January 1, 1967. The Cowboys had a first and goal on the Packers two, but couldn't score to tie the game. Green Bay went on to win Super Bowl I two weeks later.

To compound my miseries on this dreary day, the first cat love of my life, Thomasina, died underneath my bed only minutes after the Cowboys' loss.

To say the least, it was a day I probably didn't recover from until years later.

The next year, the Cowboys lost to the Packers in the final seconds on Bart Starr's famous sneak, with the aid of Jerry Kramer's blocking. By this time, I was so furious with the Packers that I went to school the following week and bet two weeks worth of lunch money that the Oakland Raiders would upset the Packers in Super Bowl II. Green Bay won 33-14. It was no contest. I survived, however, limiting my lunch intake to a homemade peanut butter sandwich that I managed to sneak past my mother each day.

SINCE THAT DAY, I OCCASIONALLY GAMBLED ON FOOTBALL GAMES. My luck increased, as I learned to disconsider emotions when wagering on a game.

Unlike many of my friends, however, I would not wager big amounts on games. Usually just a five here, and a ten there, and sometimes a 20.

Last year, however, I went overboard on one game, the Pittsburgh-Dallas Super Bowl I bet over 100 dollars on the Steelers, and fortunately, won the various wagers that I had accumulated. The only problem was that I worried too much to enjoy it.

So this year, I told myself that I wouldn't catch the gambling bug. And for the most part, I was successful. I won 10 dollars on the regular season Dallas-Pittsburgh game, but then lost it right back on the World Series.

Still, I was proud of myself for my near abstinence. I had the past weekend off, and decided to go to Dallas to visit a friend.

On Friday night, I stopped in Abilene to visit with an old friend, Barthel Jones, and his wife, Helen.

THE SUBJECT NATURALLY CAME TO THE SUPER BOWL at one point, and Bart and I disagreed on the fact concerning the Steelers ability to cover the big point spread.

I was supposed to pick up an item in Dallas for Bart worth 25 dollars that he couldn't find in Abilene, and I suddenly became ill with the old gambling disease as I began talking.

"Tell you what, Bart," I said. "I'll give you LA and 10 points, and if you win, you don't owe me anything for what I'm picking up for you in Dallas. If I win, you owe me 50."

"10!" Bart shrieked in disbelief. "Poss, I gotta have at least 14."

"14! Barthel, you know the spread is only 11," I shot back.

"Yeah, but I bet it's up to 14 by gametime," he said, trying to get as many points as he could.

"Naa. 11 is as many points as I can give you, Bart," I said. "If you want to call it off, go ahead."

"Poss," he said, still conniving. "Give me 17 points and I'll give you two-to-one odds."

"No, Bart, that's too many points."

"OK, 11," he said as his voice trailed off in mock frustration, before adding, "Yeah, Poss, some damn good friend you are!"

I was staying in Dallas with David Houser, former All-Southwest Conference wide receiver, who was cut by the Cincinnati Bengals this year, just prior to the first regular season game. I told him of my bet, and he assured me that I had done the right thing.

WHEN THE RAMS WON THE OPENING TOSS and chose to receive, Houser gave me some more confidence, philosophizing: "Now the Steelers are going to hold the Rams deep in their own territory, get the ball in good field position and go down and score early."

That quickly happened, with Chris Bahr's field goal giving the Steelers an early 3-0 lead. Houser quickly threw me a cigar, and I uncharacteristically lit it and sat back to enjoy the onslaught.

But before I could exhale, Cullen Bryant dove over to give the Rams the lead and I gagged on the cigar smoke.

And as you know, LA continued to play tough, as the inspired Rams sprinted to the other end of the field at the beginning of the fourth quarter, holding a 19-17 lead over the World Champion Steelers.

I was quite aware that the Steelers had to outscore the Rams by 14 points in the final stanza for me to win the bet, and I was almost ready to concede the bet to Barthel.

But where there's a Stallworth, there's a way. When Terry Bradshaw hit John Stallworth on the 73-yard scoring strike to give Pittsburgh the lead for good at 24-19, I spilled my wine on my shirt, and let out a growl that could be heard throughout Oak Cliff. It was so startling that Houser's cat ran underneath a chair.

BUT I WAS STILL LOSING. My hopes were increased when Jack Lambert intercepted Vince Ferragamo deep in Steeler territory, and a Bradshaw to Stallworth circus completion kept my hopes alive.

When Pat Thomas was flagged for interference in the end zone only plays later, it gave the Steelers first and goal on the LA one.

I lit the victory cigar again, but after the stubborn LA defense stopped two straight Steeler tries at the end zone, I was beside myself.

"Aw, bleep (obscenity deleted)," I growled. "All the Steelers need to ice the win is a field goal. Come on, Sweet Franco, beat the spread. We need a touch!"

"Damn, Scooter," Houser queried. "How much money did you bet on this game?"

"25 dollars," I answered.

"Then what's the big deal?"

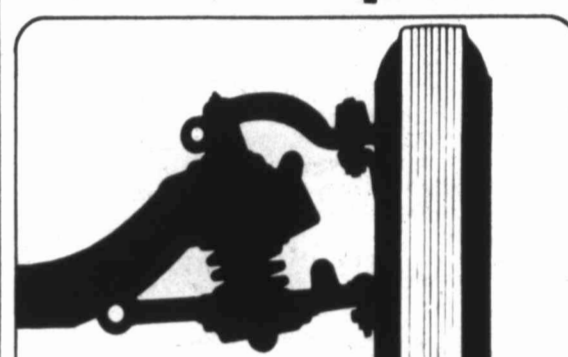

"Hey, I've gotta get excited to help out the cause," my voice at this time still above normal then adding, "Not that it helps."

"Besides, Houser," I continued, "on my paycheck, 25 dollars really is a lot."

As I once again turned to the television, Franco Harris plunged over to score, and I screamed again. When Bahr added the final extra point that provided the margin for me to win the bet, it was almost anticlimatic.

I FELT THEN I HAD CONQUERED MY SICKNESS ONCE AGAIN, but for how long? Probably until next year, when Superbowllitis strikes again.

Stallworth finally in Pro Bowl

HONOLULU (AP) — Lynn Swann is not on the American Football Conference's Pro Bowl team this year. That, by itself, may not be so surprising — until you consider that one of the starters is John Stallworth.

Swann, the Pittsburgh Steelers' lithe wide receiver, is generally acknowledged as one of the best in the business at his position. Stallworth, his teammate, has spent most of his pro career carrying around the label "the other guy."

In 1979, though, Swann suffered a few injuries and became the other guy while Stallworth — a fourth-round draft choice out of Alabama A&M in 1974 when Swann was selected No. 1 out of Southern California — emerged as a star in his own right.

His own teammates acknowledged it when they selected him as Pittsburgh's Most Valuable Player for his 70 receptions, 1,183 yards and eight touchdowns. And the rest of the AFC's players and coaches acknowledged it, too, when they put him in the Pro Bowl for the first time.

"John deserves every recognition he gets," Swann, a three-time Pro Bowl choice, said when the team was announced.

Swann initially was left off the team this year but became an alternate when Steve Largent of Seattle bowed out. And when Swann suffered a mild concussion last Sunday during the Steelers' 31-19 Super Bowl victory over Los Angeles, he was replaced on the AFC roster by San Diego's Charlie Joiner.

Defensive tackle Joe Greene, here as a Pro Bowl player for an extraordinary 10th time in his 11 years with the Steelers, agrees with Swann's assessment of Stallworth.

"I'm glad to see 'Stall' getting the recognition he deserves. He did a fine job this season for us. It's about time people paid him some tribute because he definitely deserves to be recognized as one of the best."

Stallworth, a 6-foot-2, 185-pounder, sees his selection to the Pro Bowl as the fulfillment of a special goal. "I always hoped my personal accomplishments would parallel the team's at the end of each season — and now they have," he said Tuesday.

"Individual honors are nice, but I don't think they come ahead of team goals. I'd be lying to you if I said I hadn't thought during the season about making All-Pro, but what I was more interested in was winning the Super Bowl."

The Steelers did — thanks in great part to Stallworth, whose 73-yard touchdown catch put them ahead to stay and whose 45-yard reception set up Pittsburgh's final score that killed the Rams' hopes.

Aggie defense stops Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M stands alone at the top of the Southwest Conference basketball race, and by Coach Shelby Metcalf's standards, the Aggies are standing pretty tall.

"This may be our best team ever defensively," Metcalf said after his team put away Arkansas, 45-39, Tuesday night to claim sole possession of first place in the SWC race.

The victory gave the Aggies a 6-0 mark, a game ahead of Arkansas and Texas Tech at 5-1. Next closest is Texas, 3-3, which dropped a 62-48 game on TV at Baylor Tuesday night. No other team is playing at 500 in the race.

"But it's too early to say who's going to win it. This is not the Iowa caucus," Metcalf said. "Our defense is carrying us right now."

In other games Tuesday night, Texas Christian surprised Houston 71-69 and Southern Methodist escaped Rice, 85-83.

Texas A&M led Arkansas most of the game. But the Aggies committed four turnovers, allowing the Razorbacks to fight back from a 24-20 halftime deficit to tie the game and finally take a four-point lead.

But with his team leading 35-32, Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton got too vocal in protesting the officiating, and A&M closed the gap to 35-34 on a pair of free throws on the technical midway through the second half.

The Aggies got the ball out of bounds after the free throws, and Vernon Smith scored after a rebound to put Texas A&M ahead to stay.

TCU's victory over Houston was the first time in four seasons the Horned Frogs have pulled off back-to-back SWC wins. In beating SMU Saturday, TCU won its first road game of any kind since 1976.

"I'd be in the wrong profession if I didn't think it was because of good coaching," Houston coach Guy Lewis said in praise of TCU's Jim Killingsworth.

Deckery Johnson got the winning basket for the Horned Frogs when Larry Micheaux was called for goaltending on his layup with 43 seconds to play. Trailing 70-69, Houston stalled the next 40 seconds but missed its final shot, and TCU made a free throw to wrap up the triumph.

SMU, whose head coach Sonny Allen is under fire for the team's mediocre performance, came from behind at the end to nip Rice.

Brad Branson won it with a turnaround jumper from the free throw line with 6 seconds to go, but was almost the goat. SMU had the ball and an 82-81 lead with 12 seconds to go, but Branson signaled for a time out when the Mustangs had

US boxers leave for Soviet Union

By The Associated Press

Despite President Carter's call for a possible American withdrawal from the Summer Olympics in Moscow, sports contacts between the United States and the Soviet Union are continuing.

A United States boxing team left Tuesday night for a three-city exhibition tour of the Soviet Union, joining a team of American wrestlers already there for a tournament beginning later this week.

The 20-man boxing squad was delayed for nearly three hours before taking off from Dulles International Airport in Washington when ground personnel balked at serving the team with visas, protesting the flight as a protest to the Soviets military intervention in Afghanistan.

Finally, after Soviet Aeroflot employees took over baggage handling and ticketing tasks which members of a local Teamsters union had refused to handle, the flight was able to leave.

The team is scheduled for matches in Moscow, Tbilisi, and Vilnius beginning Saturday and the American boxers were anxious to get on with their trip, despite a State Department request that they pass it up in view of recent events.

"I feel I want to go because politics shouldn't mix with sports," said Alex Ramos, a 156-pounder from New York.

"All the guys deserve to go because they've been training so hard and so long," said Lonnie Epps of Greenville, S.C.

Celtics acquire Maravich, stop Rockets

BOSTON (AP) — Everyone agrees that Pete Maravich should help the Boston Celtics plenty in a bid for another National Basketball Association championship.

The same observers, though, are quick to point out that nothing serious had better happen to veteran center Dave Cowens.

With Maravich in the stands after agreeing to terms as a free agent for the remainder of the season, the Celtics got a big scare

Tuesday night when Cowens jammed his left foot in a collision.

The big redhead, who had hit on nine of 10 field goal attempts, limped to the dressing room early in the second half. The Celtics proceeded to blow a 22-point lead before rallying in the final four minutes for a 112-106 victory over the Houston Rockets.

"It was a good game to win and we're relieved by the news from the hospital about Dave," Boston Coach Bill Fitch said. "The X-rays didn't show any fracture. However, his foot is pretty swollen and he may miss a couple of games."

Rick Robey, who scored eight points while giving Cowens a rest in the second quarter, took over at center.

Shumate paces Spurs win

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — John Shumate, plagued by illness and injury, had just about decided to find another line of work. Then he was traded to San Antonio and suddenly is beginning to look like the answer to the Spurs center problems.

Shumate scored 16 points, grabbed 10 rebounds, blocked three shots and had three steals in 25 minutes Tuesday night as San Antonio crushed short-handed San Antonio 129-109.

The 6-foot-9 former Notre Dame All-American came to the struggling Spurs last week from Houston for veteran center Billy Paultz. Many Spurs openly criticized the trade, even though the 31-year-old Paultz was having his worst season.

San Antonio was Shumate's fifth National Basketball Association team in five years. He missed two of those years with recurring circulation problems in his lungs. Injuries nagged him this season.

Detroit waived him last October, and Shumate signed with the Rockets. He averaged only 3.5 points, 2.7 rebounds and 15 minutes per game at Houston.

But San Antonio fans gave Shumate a standing ovation when he arrived Saturday night for his Spurs debut. Shumate then proceeded to collect 11 points, seven rebounds and five assists in 18 minutes of a victory over Washington.

"I had gotten down on myself. I was beginning to think the NBA wasn't for me," Shumate said Tuesday night. "But coming here the other night and getting that ovation, really reminded me of being back at Notre Grant complained to the New York media after the nationally televised 14-7 loss that an official had used vulgar language to Minnesota players on the bench.

"The fine was for making a statement after the New York Jets game (Oct. 15) that the officials were on the bench," Grant told columnist Sid Hartman.

Gold plunges then rebounds in Europe today

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold plummeted on world markets early today in an apparent continuation of Tuesday's nose-dive, then began rebounding in Europe. The dollar was mixed.

The gold price dropped $209.65 in Hong Kong to close at $624.74. The metal opened in the Far East center at $685.48 and kept falling all day.

Bullion opened in London at $615 and Zurich at $605 and dropped as low as $585 before making a comeback. By midmorning, the price had climbed back to $665 in London and $645 in the Swiss center.

Gold closed in London Tuesday at $705 and in Zurich at $733.

In Tokyo, the U.S. currency dipped today from 239.70 yen at the opening to close at 238.175 yen, well below Tuesday's close of 240.35 Yen.

Morning dollar quotes in Europe, compared to Tuesday's closings:

Frankfurt — 1.7340 West German marks, up from 1.7317.

Zurich — 1.6053 Swiss francs, down from 1.6073.

Paris — 4.0637 French francs, up from 4.0623.

Milan — 808.45 Italian lire, up from 807.32.

Amsterdam — 1.9130 Dutch guilders, up from 1.9115.

In London it took $2.2857 to buy a British pound, compared to $2.2740.

The London silver price was quoted at $38 an ounce, down from $38.50.

Gold closed Tuesday at $682 on New York's Commodity Exchange — $143.50 lower than Monday's close.

Bullion slipped to a low of $679 at one point during trading. At New York's Republic National Bank, which quotes a cash price for bullion, gold closed at $690, down $130 from Monday's late price.

A similar round of profit-taking hit other precious metals. The price of silver dropped $10 on New York's Commodity Exchange, closing at $34 for a contract for delivery this month.

The dollar was strong in trading around the world until late trading in New York, when it fared against the currencies of Britain, Canada and Japan.

Gold began coming down early Tuesday when London's five major bullion houses fixed the price for morning trading at $763, well below New York's top prices.

Gold ended trading Tuesday in London at $705 an ounce, 16 percent lower than Monday's closing price of $838.50. In Zurich, bullion fell to $733 from its all-time peak there of $850 Monday.

Gold dealers on both sides of the Atlantic said the price was driven down because of selling by speculators who had ridden the market roller-coaster of recent weeks and were cashing in.

On the light side

Key's gone, soup's on

BERLIN (AP) — Two rhinoceroses at the Berlin Zoo were purged with home-made soup as a laxative after one gulped down a set of keys tossed into their pen by a visitor.

Zoo officials said Tuesday a visitor reported he had seen an old woman near the rhinoceros pit stealthily pull a few pieces of bread from her purse and throw it to the animals.

Since feeding the animals is forbidden, the woman acted quickly and she unwittingly threw a ring of keys into the pit as well, the visitor told officials.

The shiny keys disappeared so quickly observers couldn't see which animal had grabbed them. Officials said that even though a rhino's hide is tough, its tender innards would be mortally wounded by such sharp objects. So they cooked huge bowls of linseed soup and fed it to the animals, followed by a second course of hay.

After 15 hours and much searching, officials reported that the keys had been "removed naturally." They still don't know which one ate the keys.

Everyone in the pool

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Three undercover policemen posed as bettors to break up a Super Bowl pool at a Virginia Beach tavern. They all won.

After each officer had won one pool for a total take of $100, they arrested several other participants for gambling.

"I couldn't believe it. I thought, 'Oh, my God, this is hilarious,'" said R.D. Warren, an investigator for the Norfolk office of the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

Warren, fellow ABC investigator A.R. Slayton and Virginia Beach policeman D.L. Renick said they each paid $15 for an afternoon of food and football Sunday at the Leprechaun Restaurant.

They bought into the pool, they said, because somebody had complained to police about illegal sports gambling at the restaurant.

Warren won a $50 pool, and Slayton and Renick each won $25 pools. But they couldn't keep the money. They had to turn it in as evidence.

Beverly Wheeler to represent Evening Lions Club in contest

Beverly Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wheeler, 1707 Harvard St., Big Spring, will represent the Evening Lions Club in the annual District Queens' Contest, one of the highlights of the Mid-Winter Conference to be held at the Holiday Inn in San Angelo Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

BEVERLY WHEELER

Beverly is a member of the Meistersingers, vice-president of the Tri-Hi-Y, His Children at the First Baptist Church, the Key's Club's Calendar Girl, and co-captain of the Flag-Drill team in the Big Spring High School Band.

Winner of the contest will be announced Saturday night.

Congressman will fight to keep Goodfellow open

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas congressman has promised the Air Force he will be monitoring closely its preparation of an environmental impact statement on the proposed shutdown of Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo.

"I remain unconvinced that it makes any sense at all to close a vital cryptological training center, located in a safe and secure location, at a time when our national security is being challenged on so many fronts," Rep. Tom Loeffler wrote Tuesday.

"The proverbial ball, however, is in your court," the Republican congressman said in his letter to an Air Force official. "I take the Air Force at its word and look forward to an EIS of which we can all be proud — one which answers satisfactorily the substantial questions raised by the citizens of San Angelo and me."

Loeffler, whose district includes San Angelo, had sponsored an amendment to a military construction bill that required the Air Force to complete an environmental impact statement before it could close Goodfellow.

The congressman said he hoped the additional step would push the decision to close the base into a presidential election year.

Loeffler wrote to the Air Force in December after concerns were voiced that military officials would put together the EIS hastily in an effort to proceed with the decision to shut down Goodfellow.

Pointing to the language of the amendment requiring the EIS, the congressman wrote: "It does not say that the Air Force shall rehash old reports, which are replete with inaccurate information; then regurgitate preordained conclusions ... and then pretend that you have complied with the law of the land and prepared an EIS. That clearly will not do!"

Joe Meis, an acting assistant Air Force secretary, replied recently that the EIS would be comprehensive.

He targeted June as the time the EIS would be available for public comment and October or November as a likely time for its final submission to the Environmental Protection Agency.

Meis added that a review of the Air Force's rationale behind its proposal to close Goodfellow did not indicate any better alternatives.

"In managing our resources as effectively and efficiently as possible, many times we must make hard decisions that adversely affect a particular area," Meis wrote. "Earlier, we indicated that consolidation of cryptologic training will not adversely affect our defense posture."

Goodfellow provides military intelligence training for the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps. It has about 2,200 military positions and 300 jobs for civilians.

4-H'ers prove they are experts in the kitchen

Approximately 100 persons, including 4-H'ers, parents, leaders and friends who were in attendance at the Howard County 4-H Food Show, would have to agree that 4-H'ers are experts in the kitchen. There were 33 participants in this year's show and 16 were in the food show for the very first time.

The food show was divided into 3 divisions: the little chefs for 8 year olds, the junior division for 4-H'ers ages 9 through 13 and the senior division age 14 through 19. The little chef division was created this year for youth who were interested in participating before their 9th birthday when they can become official 4-H'ers. Christi Dorsey and Dana Dolan participated in this division.

Each contestant entered in one of four food classes which included the main dish, side dish, snacks and beverages and bread and desserts.

The judges for the event were Mrs. Jeannine Rundell, a former home economics teacher; Ruth Buss, the dietitian at Big Spring State Hospital; and Linda Wall and Winnie Putman, adult 4-H leaders from Mitchell County. Each contestant was judged on the quality and the appearance of his or her dish and each answered questions which revealed their knowledge of basic nutrition. Every contestant earned a blue ribbon, indicating their scores ranged from 90 to 100.

Dorothy Fowler, a member of the Texas Extension Homemakers Council and on the 4-H committee, presented the 4-H'ers with their ribbons and gifts purchased by the Council, while Linda Fuchs, assistant agent, announced the results of the show.

Highest scoring individuals in the junior division included Tonya Rock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rock, main dish; Tracie Dorsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Rosey, side dish; Denette Dick, daughter of

Messy Fridge Frosting Her

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about a problem that is perplexing to me. My husband is absolutely perfect in every respect except for one habit that I cannot seem to break him of.

Instead of throwing out empty food containers after he has emptied them, he puts them back in the refrigerator! I can't begin to tell you how many empty cartons, bottles and cans I have found in the refrigerator.

No amount of scolding, pleading or nagging seems to help. He offers no explanation for this screwball behavior. I think he's too lazy to walk to the trash can on the other side of the kitchen.

Can you, or your readers, offer any kind of a solution so that I can have a perfect husband?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: You're crying with a loaf of bread under each arm and an empty ketchup bottle in the refrigerator. If a man must have but one flaw in an otherwise flawless character, I can think of none so harmless, inoffensive and easy to forgive as your husband's. Cherish this paragon of virtue. He's a candidate for sainthood!

DEAR ABBY: My problem may be unusual, but no more so than some of your other mail.

I am a mature young woman, and my problem concerns my height. I am 5 foot 4 inches and very slim. I would normally be quite happy with my height, but my dream has always been to be a top notch fashion model, and I need to be 4 or 5 inches taller to qualify.

Do you know of a doctor who would be willing to give me hormone shots to make me grow? If so, I would also like to know about possible side effects, fees, etc.

I respect your advice, and trust your judgment.

EAST COAST MODEL

DEAR MODEL: I consulted an endocrinologist. He replied, "If she is a normal, healthy, fully-developed young woman, hormone shots would not help. And no ethical physician would treat her with the promise of adding to her height."

Bus to leave at 6 p.m.

Airline employees may be culprit, fed says

DALLAS (AP) — Airline employees may be responsible for almost $1 million dollars worth of baggage thefts at the nation's largest airport during the past four years, a federal prosecutor said. "FBI agents have recovered merchandise worth almost $1 million," said assistant U.S. attorney Gerhard Kleinschmidt, after he secured indictments from a federal grand jury Tuesday. "We don't know how many other items were taken, but it is apparent that massive thefts from freight shipments were taking place at the airport," he said. The indictments name six former airline employees and a seventh man, accused in separate thefts totaling $250,000. The items taken range from a $39 pair of shoes to a $170,000 jewel shipment, according to the indictments. One former Braniff Airways employee, who ran the air freight receiving office, was charged with mail fraud in connection with a $12,000 payment the airline made on a loss claim submitted on a race-car engine. The indictments name three other former Braniff employees, former workers for American and Delta airlines, plus a Farmers Branch businessman. Kleinschmidt said the FBI entered the investigation last summer, at the request of Braniff officials. The indictments cover a wide range of alleged thefts. The largest single theft mentioned in the indictments occurred at Delta Airlines. Former employee William Cordell Abshire, 39, of White Settlement, is charged in the taking of a $170,000 shipment of diamond rings enroute to a Dallas jeweler. Undercover FBI agents posing as thieves purchased some rings from Abshire, Kleinschmidt said, and used a search warrant to recover more than 500 rings from the man's home. Delta officials said Abshire was fired after the theft was reported. Two indictments name James Vern Cox, 33, of Dallas, former head of Braniff's air freight cargo receiving office at D-FW. Braniff officials said Cox resigned after the investigation began. He is charged, along with two other Braniff employees, with stealing various pieces of electronic equipment, including the April 1976 theft of a weather radar system destined for a customer in Abilene. The indictment further alleges he took a set of golf clubs being shipped from Nevada. That same indictment also accuses Andre Safford, 36, of Lewisville. Cox, Safford and Don Ray Gibson, 25, of Grand Prairie, are charged with the June 1979 theft of 336 videotapes being sent from Tokyo to Irving. A second mail fraud indictment names Cox and James David Ray, 37, of Dallas, with concocting a scheme to make it appear Braniff had lost a $12,000 race car engine, then submitted a false loss claim. Kleinschmidt said Ray, operator of Off-Road Enterprises in Farmers Branch, had shipped the engine in November 1977 to Illinois, but the recipient refused delivery and it was returned. Ray and Cox then removed the engine and filed the claim, he said. Karl Pierre Knutson, 19, of Arlington, is charged with stealing a 9mm automatic pistol from a suitcase belonging to an agent of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. An American spokesman said Knutson was fired after the Dec. 19, 1978, incident. A fourth Braniff employee, Janet Lynn Day, 20, of Dallas, is charged in the September 1979 theft of a $39 pair of shoes from a passenger's suitcase. "We are going to prosecute the small cases along with the high value cases," Kleinschmidt said, "to stifle talk we heard from employees who say they won't be charged if it is a small amount." Kleinschmidt said the thefts were the result of greed on the part of the employees, some of whom earn up to $30,000 a year and all of whom qualified for free travel and other airline benefits. "That's the only thing that bothers me," he said. "They had no reason to steal. They all had good paying jobs with the airline."

Speaker's Bureau at UTPB
40 speakers, 225 topics available to clubs in area

ODESSA — Approximately 225 topics and 40 speakers are available to area clubs and organizations through the recently expanded Speaker's Bureau at The University of Texas at the Permian Basin. UTPB President V.R. Cardozier said the Speaker's Bureau has doubled in size since it began last summer. "We started with about 100 topics and two dozen professors in the bureau, but the response has been so favorable, both on campus and in the community, that more professors and more topics have been added to the original listing. Right now we are averaging about one speaker per week in area clubs and organizations. "Many of our faculty have conducted extensive research into little-known aspects of interesting subjects," Cardozier said. "These faculty have expertise in many areas, and have been speaking before students and other groups for an average of more than 20 years each," he said. Topics listed in the Speaker's Bureau range from "The Joy of Disability" to "Solar Houses to cut energy Cost." Subject areas include Business and Industry, Education, Current Events, Literature and Writing, Psychology and Sociology, and Parenting, as well as several miscellaneous topics. Also included are several "how to" programs such as writing, painting, conservation of energy or reloading shotshells. "Since one of our functions as a university is to foster education, we want to share knowledge with the entire community and not just in a classroom atmosphere," Cardozier said, pointing out the speaker service is free of charge. Persons interested in using speakers listed in the Speaker's Bureau should contact the UTPB Office of News and Information on campus at 367-2336 in Odessa or 563-2400, extension 2336 in Midland. A list of subjects is available from that office.

Taking on the boob tube boss

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When all was said and done, after plotting schedule strategies and analyzing the competition, the 1979-80 prime time television competition came down to this: "ABC will finish No. 1, CBS will finish No. 2 and NBC will finish No. 3."

The prediction came from Robert Daly, chief programmer at CBS. It seemed a reasonable prediction at the time — last October — even if CBS was being drummed at the time by ABC and NBC. If you were partial to longshots, the only decent bet was that NBC might catch up to CBS this season; but few, including CBS' Daly, expected might ABC to be turned out from its penthouse digs this year.

Yet, entering the second half of the season, CBS has fought to a virtual tie with ABC at the top of the A.C. Nielsen Co.'s prime time ratings list. CBS has come on since Thanksgiving, scoring weekly ratings victories in eight of nine weeks and consistently filling the Nielsen top ten with CBS programs.

The weird part of the CBS surge is that you can't quite put your finger on its cause — there were no new breakthrough shows, of the sort that put ABC at the top a few years ago (such as "Happy Days" and "Laverne and Shirley," or "Mork and Mindy" last season). CBS' charge has been built on series that have been there all along.

The present state of the ratings competition can be explained in part by moves made by ABC, "smart" programming moves that CBS refused to make.

Making Black opinions count

NEW YORK (AP) — The NAACP says blacks help elect many politicians, yet still lack political clout. One problem is that politicians don't know what blacks want them to do.

"We've needed something that will get their attention," says Joseph Madison director of voter education for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A new commercial polling organization, Data Black Public Opinion Polls, proposes to do just that. On Tuesday, it released a presidential preference poll of 1,146 blacks that showed President Carter trailing Sen. Edward Kennedy by 49 percent to 31 percent among registered black Democrats.

Data Black was formed to correct what the founders say are the inadequacies of present national polling organizations when they turn to blacks.

Chief among those inadequacies, according to one of Data Black's founders, psychologist Kenneth Clark, is the number of blacks in a typical sample. The Gallup Poll can draw accurate conclusions about national opinion on the basis of 1,500 interviews. But pollsters may talk to only 140 blacks — a number at which black opinions can be off either way by at least 10 percentage points.

And it is impossible, within that already small group, to draw any conclusions on opinions of even smaller groups, such as college-educated blacks, he says.

The questions the national pollsters do ask blacks present another problem. "They used to ask questions like 'What do you people want?'" or "Who are your leaders?" says Clark.

"As if blacks were Martians." But, he adds, ordinary polls can't get significant data for more specific questions, since their sample is so small.

Another Data Black founder, former Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton, says blacks almost naively "put on American eyes" when responding to general questions. He points out that when Data Black asked blacks to name the two or three most important problems facing the United States today, 44 percent cited the Iran situation (the poll was almost finished by the end of December, when Russian troops moved into Afghanistan), 30 percent named inflation and 27 percent said unemployment.

But when asked what problems are most pressing to blacks, 43 percent listed unemployment, 31 percent said either racism or job discrimination, only 7 percent cited inflation, and Iran went almost unmentioned. Asserts Sutton: "When we vote, we vote with our black eyes."

But Clark would not go that far, and noted that Data Black plans further polls to compare black opinions with general voting patterns.

Madison believes another problem with most polls lies in the way they look at their survey results. An example is Data Black's finding that while 57 percent of all blacks say they've never experienced job discrimination, college and high-school graduates were much more likely to say they had. One interpretation is that more sophisticated blacks are better able to perceive discrimination, although discrimination itself has been reduced.

But Clark, Sutton and Madison believe that discrimination has moved into higher levels of the economy. Blacks who have more opportunities to experience discrimination, they say.

Data Black hopes to issue four surveys and reports each year to clients, including businesses, schools, special interest groups, politicians and governments.

Madison believes the results can be an important political tool and says the NAACP is considering hiring Data Black to conduct an annual poll of its own membership.

Another oil slick discovered

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Discovery of another big oil slick drifting just south of the Texas coast has prompted the U.S. Coast Guard to resume its daily reconnaissance flights over the Gulf of Mexico.

The slick covers 9,000 square miles, according to Coast Guard Capt. Gerald Hinson, coordinator of federal anti-spill efforts in Texas last summer.

He said the slick is 150 miles long and 60 miles wide, and was spotted by aerial surveillance Sunday. However, he said the slick is just where scientists had predicted and was not endangering the Texas coastline yet.

"We're concerned about it from the standpoint that it's there," Hinson said, "but there is no immediate threat to the Brownsville area. I want to make that clear."

"We can't perceive any northern movement and it's where it was forecast to be at this time by the National Atmospheric and Oceanic people."

The oil originates from an offshore Mexican well that blew out in the southern Gulf of Mexico June 3.

The oil hit Texas beaches last August and September before shifting gulf currents drove the spill southward.

Coast Guard officers and government scientists predicted if the well was not capped soon the oil would reach Texas again this spring, when those currents begin moving northward.

A satellite tracking buoy was dropped near the new slick Saturday, Hinson said, to check the oil's movement.

He said that its current location is near the convergence of two gulf currents — one moving southward off the Texas coast and the other moving northward off Mexico. He said that probably will push the slick to the northeast, away from Texas shores.

A NOAA scientist in Corpus Christi, Hinson said, testing the strength of the currents and hoping he can predict when they will reverse directions.

Student forged checks for 'good of country'

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — An Iranian student has told police he was asked to take part in an alleged scheme to pass forged checks for the good of his country.

"They appealed to my patriotism, they talked me into it for the good of Islam, my country and my leader," police quoted Gholam Reza Pakyari as saying following his arrest Monday.

Pakyari, a 23-year-old student at Texas Southmost College, was charged with trying to pass a forged check and jailed in lieu of $20,000 bond.

The student said persons in Houston asked him this summer to open a bank account and deposit the questionable checks, said Brownsville police detective Tony Hess.

Hess said Pakyari had deposited checks totaling $13,000 since December on an account of the National Bank of Kuwait in the Pan American Bank of Brownsville. The Kuwaiti bank had an account with the Irving Bank and Trust Co. of New York.

After placing the funds in a Pan American account, most of the money was then transferred by check to other accounts, Hess said.

The checks on the Kuwaiti bank's account were made out on a typewriter to Maxx Jake Makly. Hess said Pakyari opened his account in that name and when arrested had a set of identification in the name "Jake Makly."

The student was arrested by trying to deposit a check at a drive-in window. Officials at the bank had called police after learning through a bank clearinghouse that other checks deposited from the Kuwaiti account were forged.

"I think we just got the tip of the iceberg right now," Hess said.

The FBI is investigating the case to see if federal laws were violated by transferring stolen property across state lines through bank transactions, said FBI agent Bob Nixon of Brownsville.

Iranian government employee takes stand in contract suit

DALLAS (AP) — An Iranian government employee returns to the stand today to defend allegations that Electronic Data Systems failed to abide by the terms established in a $41 million contract with Iran's former ministry of health and social welfare.

Madjidmorzeyemi, manager of operations of Iran's Social Security Fund, told U.S. District Judge Robert Porter on Tuesday that EDS failed to provide a "functional... direct, computerized... national health care program" outlined in a 1976 contract between EDS and the Middle Eastern nation.

The Dallas-based computer firm, owned by multimillionaire H. Ross Perot, claims Iran breached the agreement by not paying for EDS' services for six months in 1978.

EDS is suing to collect the $23 million on the balance of the contract. Morzeyemi was one of three Iranian witnesses scheduled to testify in the lawsuit filed by EDS against Iran in February 1979. Security has been tight outside the courtroom, where Porter is hearing the case without a jury.

In September 1976, EDS contracted with the Iranian government to provide a data processing system for Iran's national health insurance, social welfare and banking services.

The company claims it lost $13.5 million in unpaid contract fees, $440,000 in unpaid expenses, $1.5 million for re-locating employees, $22.8 million in "lost profits for the remaining period of the contract," and $250,000 for lost and damaged property.

The Iranian government admits it has not paid the balance, but maintains the contract is invalid and unenforceable because it was illegally secured through promises of kickbacks to the now-deposed shah of Iran.

Morzeyemi noted during five hours of testimony Tuesday that the contract also was vague and caused problems when trying to define the scope of projects outlined in the agreement.

Defense attorneys entered portions of several depositions into the court record which centered around at least 10 meetings between Iranian government officials and EDS representatives from the summer of 1974 through May 1977.

Morzeyemi admitted he was allowed to see the contract several months before the Dallas-based corporation pulled out of the Middle East nation in January 1979.

"But by the time EDS had left, there still had been no definite or practical plan to implement a direct national health care program," he said.

Donald L. Case, a Dallas attorney representing the Iranian government, has cited three reasons why the contract was void: Iran's social security organization was a separate entity from the government, no bids were accepted for the contract and the Iranian government now is different from the one that existed when the contract was signed.

Three EDS employees working on the contract were arrested and imprisoned in Iran in late 1978. The men were rescued in February of 1979 by a commando team of EDS employees, funded by Perot. More than 11,000 prisoners were released from the prison when a mob stormed its walls.
