Hopes increase for hostages return

By the Associated Press

President Abolhassan Bani Sadr consolidated his power in Iran today and intensified his crackdown on the young militants holding some 50 Americans hostage in the U.S. Embassy.

Hopes increased for the release of the hostages soon. But the ruling Revolutionary Council said the crisis would be considered after an international panel is set up to probe its charges against the shah. It did not say whether the captives would be freed at that time or after the investigation is over.

Tehran Radio announced the elevation of the president from acting chairman to head of the council with the consent of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the 79-year-old leader of the Iranian revolution.

Hasan Habibi, the council's spokesman, said Bani Sadr would chair the policy-making council's sessions, exercise the council head's legislative and executive powers and "harmonize proceedings" with government ministers who are not members of the council.

Habibi indicated that this setup would continue until a Majlis, or parliament, is elected March 7.

The announcement confirmed Bani Sadr, who got 75 percent of the vote in the presidential election Jan. 25, as Iran's second most influential leader after the aged, ailing Khomeini, who is convalescing after a heart attack.

The president demonstrated his growing clout by attacking the militant young students occupying the American Embassy as tyrannical, lawless foes of the government for the second straight day Thursday. He also had the Revolutionary Council limit their access to the national radio and TV network and granted only four-day visas to the 49 Americans they invited to publicize their cause instead of the 10-day visas they sought.

"Why do those students who call themselves followers of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini violate the constitution by their illegal acts?" he said in a new attack on the militants for engineering the arrest of Information Minister Nasser Minachi by broadcasting charges that papers found in the embassy linked him to the CIA.

"Is this Islamic or Stalinistic?" he asked in an interview with the Tehran newspaper Kayhan. "It is the judiciary system that can investigate whether some Iranians have had corrupt links with America, not you... In any part of the world such rebels against the government would be punished severely. But we, as a revolutionary government, have not done that."

The council freed Minachi, who denied the charge, and ordered Tehran Radio-TV to allow the militants no more air time to publicize their allegations. The militants defiantly said they would take them to the newspapers.

Although the militants continued to insist that they would free the hostages only after Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi was returned to Iran for trial, they were becoming increasingly isolated. Expectations grew that the president would soon take decisive steps to end the hostage crisis.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim told reporters in New York that Bani Sadr was setting the stage for their release and that he believed this could happen before the election.

Waldheim's spokesman, Rudolf Stajduhar, said the secretary-general was closely following developments in Iran "which indicate that the authorities are trying to stabilize the situation under the presidency" of Bani Sadr. But Stajduhar said he could not confirm a report from Tehran by the Kuwaiti newspaper Al Khadaf that Waldheim was trying to get Bani Sadr to replace the embassy captors with regular Iranian troops, that the number of militants had dwindled from 400 to 50, and that the release of the captives was "imminent."

Iranian Foreign Ministry officials said they doubted the release was imminent, and a spokesman for the militants denied their number had been reduced.

"I can tell you the hostages are all very well and there has been no change in our position," the spokesman told a Western reporter by telephone. "The shah and his wealth must be returned to Iran before they can be released."

Last weekend the Revolutionary Council agreed to Waldheim's plan to set up an international commission to investigate its charges against the shah. At that time, it said it wanted the captives held until the panel publishes its report.

WHEN IN IRAN... — Two American women wearing the traditional chador take part in prayer services at Tehran, Friday, the Moslem sabbath. The women are part of a group of 49 Americans in Tehran as guests of the militants holding the U.S. Embassy. Members of the group refuse to talk with the media and are unidentified.

Tax reduction agreement nears in Congress confab

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee inched toward agreement early today to set aside most of the money from the new "windfall profits" tax on the oil industry for general income tax reductions.

The shape and timing of the tax cuts, which would total $114 billion or more in the 1980s, would be decided by later legislation.

One option is a tax reduction that would take effect a month before the Nov. 4 elections and would be worth at least $10.4 billion in 1981.

The Carter administration opposes any tax cut now, fearing such a move would worsen inflation and deepen the

But their discussions indicated that across-the-board tax relief would take 50 to 60 percent of the $227.3 billion that the oil tax is expected to bring the government during the coming decade.

Another big chunk of the money would be used to help lower-income Americans pay rising energy costs. That, along with the general tax reductions, would leave considerably less money than Carter had requested to develop synthetic fuels.

Although that package is not yet complete, the panel reached preliminary decisions Thursday night to spend about $11.5 billion in the 1980s for energy incentives.

Washington (AP) — Members of Congress are pressing for a firsthand look at the FBI's evidence in the congressional bribery investigation, despite the Justice Department's refusal to cooperate.

With seven representatives and one senator implicated in the government's widespread corruption case, Rep. Peter Peyster, D-N.Y., introduced a resolution of inquiry in the House Thursday. It directs the attorney general to hand over all FBI evidence against members of Congress within a month.

"Congress cannot wait for a grand jury investigation or for a trial. We must know now what happened," he said. "If ever the public needs to have confidence in its government, it is today."

Bribery evidence wanted

Washington (AP) — Members of Congress are pressing for a firsthand look at the FBI's evidence in the congressional bribery investigation, despite the Justice Department's refusal to cooperate.

With seven representatives and one senator implicated in the government's widespread corruption case, Rep. Peter Peyster, D-N.Y., introduced a resolution of inquiry in the House Thursday. It directs the attorney general to hand over all FBI evidence against members of Congress within a month.

"Congress cannot wait for a grand jury investigation or for a trial. We must know now what happened," he said. "If ever the public needs to have confidence in its government, it is today."

The degree of support for Peyster's resolution, which goes to the Judiciary Committee, was unclear. Peyster sent letters to all House members urging them to debate his proposal Thursday — but he was the only member who showed up.

In another development Thursday, the chairman of a House subcommittee said he will hold a hearing to determine whether the FBI illegally helped a private company get a federal contract in return for the company providing a "cover" for undercover FBI agents conducting the investigation.

And in New Jersey, FBI agents questioned members of the New Jersey Casino Control Commission, which figured in the allegations against one of the eight legislators, Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J. The Senate Ethics Committee already has voted for a "preliminary inquiry" into allegations concerning Williams. Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., chairman of the committee, said the panel might subpoena material it needs for its probe. The House Ethics Committee has voted to appoint a legal counsel to handle the case.

But Assistant Attorney General Philip Heymann already has told House members they won't get the FBI evidence because, "There is one nightmare picture for all of us... one in which we get entangled in each other's feet."

The eight congressmen, who have all denied guilt, were implicated last weekend in an alleged influence-peddling scandal. FBI agents, posing as wealthy Arabs or Arab agents, paid nearly $500,000 in cash in exchange for promises of political favors and other services.

Matthis was a Cabot Company employee in Big Spring.

Draft call for feds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter proposed today that men and women aged 19 and 20 register for a military draft. Eighteen-year-olds will be included next year.

While the president broke precedent in seeking registration of women, he made it clear he was seeking authority to register them only for non-combat service.

Action/reaction: Speed limit plus

Q. Granted the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit conserves gasoline and saves lives, doesn't it also reduce the incidence of epilepsy?

A. How right you are. It's estimated that nation-wide the number of head trauma injuries suffered in automobile accidents is reduced by 90,000 annually as a result of the reduced speed limit.

Car sold first day ad printed

Another Herald want ad which got almost immediate results was one appearing recently which advertised a 1978 Plymouth Fury Salon, "fully loaded," for sale.

The vehicle was sold the first day the ad ran. The previous owner called the Herald, requesting that the word "sold" be placed on the ad, since the call came in too late for it to be deleted entirely.

Chances are good you can get similar results by advertising in the Herald, whether you are trying to buy or sell a commodity or whether you are seeking or offering a service.

Fort Worth rodeo lucky for Paul Tierney, PRCA cowboy

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — "Since Fort Worth, I know I can win," said Paul Tierney in February of 1977, after snaring an impressive $9,500 win at the Fort Worth contest. Well, win he has ever since, and Fort Worth may have turned out to be his lucky rodeo. The cowboy from Rapid City, S.D., who was second in Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) all-around standings in 1979 as well as the calf roping world champion, took home $9,990 from Fort Worth in 1980 in calf roping and steer wrestling. Fort Worth ended Feb. 3.

The winners from Fort Worth and Scottsdale, which also ended this last weekend, now lead the pro cowboys on the down the pro rodeo circuit to Houston, San Antonio and Tucson. J.C. Trujillo, of Steamboat Springs, Colo., will undoubtedly be one of those winners leading the pack; the Coloradoan won the bareback riding at both Fort Worth and Scottsdale for a total of $4,682. The two wins easily vaulted Trujillo into the lead in 1980 bareback riding standings with over $7,500. "I'm out to win the world this year," J.C. said at the beginning of the season.

Two top pro cowboys also won their events at Fort Worth for the second year in a row. Ken Henry of Happy, Tex., took the bull riding for $6,227, and Mel Coleman of Picecadan, Sask., won the saddle bronc riding to the tune of $5,529. Ricky Bolin, out of Mesquite, Tex., also racked up $2,050 at Fort Worth to keep him near the top in bull riding standings.

Ken Kelley of Greenwood, Tex., grabbed a phenomenal win in calf roping at Fort Worth, just seven cents short of $10,000. Eugene, Oregon's Danny Torricellas won the steer wrestling for $5,920.

Butch Myers of Welda, Kan., who entered steer wrestling standings with $2,500 won at Odessa and $1,900 at Denver, also took home a $2,447 check and the all-around from Scottsdale. Butch Kirby of Alba, Tex., the 1978 World Champion Bull Rider who was out of competition because of injuries in 1979, made his 1980 comeback at Scottsdale, winning the bull riding for $1,700.

The San Antonio rodeo opens Feb. 8 and runs through Feb. 17. Entries are slightly up this year, with a total of just under 700 competitors in all events. The stock contractor for San Antonio will be Cervi Championship Rodeo; the purse this year tops $113,500.

Houston opens in the famed Astrodome on Feb. 22 and will continue through March 3. One of the PRCA's major early season rodeos, Houston is expected to break attendance records again this year. An attendance of 531,000 set a record in 1979, and a crowd of more than 550,000 is expected this season.

Blair-Pro-Rodeo crews will also be at Houston to film the final performance for Blair's second telecast of 1980. According to Blair officials, the telecast will be shown nationally in the time frame between March 6 and 17. Another visual feature of note at Houston will be a giant 40-by-40 ft. replay screen, purchased especially for the rodeo, on which spectators will be able to watch close-ups of cowboys' preparations in the chute and have the effect of a front-row seat in the huge rodeo arena.

Finally, Lyle Sankey deserves a pat on the back for his performance at El Paso, Tex. Sankey, of Augusta, Kan., drew Harry Vold's 777 (Seven-Seventy-Seven), the 1979 Bull of the Year. After eight seconds of the legendary bull's twisting, spinning and gyrating motions, Lyle was still aboard, and the ride was worth a 94-point unofficially marked score. Out 51 times in 1979, 777 never even came close to being ridden.

DARK SKIES, WHITE GROUND — The sky over Big Spring was dark at 8 a.m., but the precipitation it dropped was white. Slick roads caused a number of traffic accidents this morning as motorists spun their tires over the frosted avenues. Forecasters say two to three inches of snow should accumulate by Saturday morning, with road conditions beginning to improve Saturday afternoon.

Reagan faces crucial tests in the South

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Campaigning below the Mason Dixon Line, Ronald Reagan kept hearing the same question: "Are you going to run strongly in the South?"

The candidate cocks his head to the left and smiles, a modest smile avoiding any hint of overconfidence.

"I'm sure going to try," he replies. "I did well in the South the last time."

That the question should even be asked is a sign that this is not the last time. Ronald Reagan, run well among Southern Republicans? This is Ronald Reagan, the darling of conservatives, the man who owns the Southern wing of the party.

One might just as well ask if Ted Kennedy will run well in New England.

But then came Iowa. Reagan ran second to George Bush and Kennedy was clobbered by President Carter.

Suddenly, people wonder if Kennedy can win in New England. Can Reagan sweep the South?

Root resigns hospital post

COLORADO CITY — Charles Root, administrator of Root Memorial Hospital District, resigned this week, effective in six months.

Mrs. Root is also retiring as administrative officer of the Root Valley Fair Lodge Nursing Home.

Root recently underwent open heart surgery. He said the surgery had taken its toll. He added he is 65 and doesn't enjoy his work like he once did.

During Root's administration, a wing was added to the existing hospital structure.

Pharris resigns as principal

LORAINE — Glenn Sanders, superintendent of schools in Lorraine, informed members of the school board that "high school" principal Joe Pharris is resigning to pursue private interests.

Pharris will remain with the school system until the present school year ends.

The job has been offered to elementary school principal Mike Hartman, who has not made a decision about the job.

The two positions would be consolidated if Hartman elects to take the job. He would work on a twelve-month contract.

Parent company of TESCO Texas Utilities head honored

T. Louis Austin Jr., board chairman and chief executive officer of the Texas Utilities Co., has been honored for "outstanding achievement in electric power generation and leadership in corporate management" by five national engineering societies.

Texas Utilities is the parent company of Texas Electric Service Company, Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light.

In receiving the 1980 John Fritz Medal, Austin also was cited for having "the vision to plan the system growth to change from gas and oil fuels to lignite long before the problem was recognized by other industrial leaders."

Previous recipients of the award have included George Westinghouse, Alexander Graham Bell, Thomas Edison, Alfred Nobel, Dr. Willis

Wright, Charles Franklin Kettering and Igor Ivan Sikorsky.

The medal is awarded jointly by the American Society of Civil Engineers; the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers; the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, and the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

It is presented annually in recognition of notable scientific or industrial achievement in pure or applied science.

In announcing the award on behalf of the five societies, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers noted that under Austin's guidance, the Texas Utilities system has built three lignite-fueled generating plants in Texas.

The system's program to build new generating plants to use lignite coal began in the late 1960s. The ASME announcement noted the TU innovations also have won the 1978 Edison Award, the electric industry's highest honor, for "foresight and aggressive action in reducing its dependence on natural gas."

Job seekers camp out

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Some 2,000 job seekers — many with sleeping bags — showed up to apply for 12 county jobs as beginning car washers, say astonished local officials.

"We may have to hire more interviewers now," Jim Wessell, marketing director for Santa Clara County's transit agency, said Wednesday. The flood of applicants began arriving late Monday and camped out to be first in line for the $8.41-an-hour positions. The salary is to be raised to $9.56 an hour in three years.

By comparison, privately employed car washers throughout the San Jose area earn between $3.50 and $4.50 per hour.

Flight restriction

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — A judge has ruled the Glendale-Burbank-Pasadena Airport Authority has the right to restrict an airline's number of flights in order to reduce noise.

Superior Court Judge Thomas Murphy acknowledged that his Thursday decision may prompt other agencies to try similar rules.

The airport authority filed suit against Hughes Aircraft last July when Hughes increased its flights between small airports. The authority said an increase at Hollywood-Burbank Airport would exacerbate noise problems. Hughes claimed the rule discriminated against them and pre-empted federal authority over flights.

School for women closing

WOODSTOCK, Conn. (AP) — Annhurst College, a small Roman Catholic school for women, will close in May, officials say.

"We simply do not have sufficient enrollment to maintain the college," said Philip James, board chairman of the 39-year-old school. The decision to close the four-year college in northeastern Connecticut on May 31 was announced to the students Wednesday.

The school has an enrollment of 368 students this semester, though it can accommodate 500. James said the directors would like to sell the 180-acre campus to a college, but would not restrict the buyer.

Charities growing richer

NEW YORK (AP) — America's charitable foundations grew richer in 1977-78, but still gave away $2.3 billion, an increase of $119 million over the previous year, a new report says.

The analysis, compiled by the Foundation Center, which collects and distributes information on such philanthropy, showed foundation assets up $584 million, to $35.4 billion. The center lists 22,152 foundations.

New York, with 20.8 percent of the foundations, also has more than $11 billion in foundation assets, or 31.3 percent of the total.

Bush denies allegations he violated state campaign laws

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Republican presidential hopeful George Bush says he is "clean, clean, clean" and that his campaign for the GOP nomination won't be hurt by disclosures that he received $106,000 from a secret Nixon White House fund 10 years ago.

Bush told a news conference Thursday he didn't violate any federal or state laws when he received the campaign money during an unsuccessful 1970 race for a U.S. Senate seat from Texas.

"The money that we received in that campaign, we were told who it was from, and it was reported in accordance with laws in existence at the time," Bush said.

The 1970 gift would be illegal now, but it was legal then. Federal election laws limiting the money a candidate may take from a donor and the strict requirements on reporting contributions were not enacted until 1972.

In a fast-paced trip Thursday in four different towns across New Hampshire, Bush, seeking to win the Feb. 26 primary, continued to draw capacity crowds that gave him warm receptions and, in some cases, standing ovations. He signed autographs for school children and parents, kissed mothers and drank beer.

Many in his audiences seemed unaware of the controversy. Only once, at a high school in Hampton, was he asked about the secret fund.

"I did not receive any money from an illegal fund," he told the standing-room-only crowd of more than 500 students and parents.

"I received money, and accurately reported it. That matter was looked into by Leon Jaworski, the special Watergate prosecutor; by the secretary of state of Texas; then (again) when I went up to be confirmed by the Senate (to be the director of the Central Intelligence Agency in 1976) and the message came back, clean, clean, clean."

"I believe that that matter is thoroughly investigated. Let them investigate again. I think the same answer will be out there, clean, clean, clean."

Jaworski is a member of Bush' national steering committee and campaigned for Bush last month on the day Bush upset Ronald Reagan in the Iowa precinct caucuses. Bush' press secretary, Pete Teeley, said Jaworski will campaign again for Bush.

Asked at the news conference whether he felt his campaign will be hurt by the report of the fund published in the Los Angeles Times, Bush replied:

"My record is clean. No story like this is going to have an adverse affect on it. I have had a record in public life for complying with the law. Nobody's unfair enough to go by allegation. My record in public life is one of integrity and it's not going to be destroyed by some vile last-minute charge being dredged up."

Bush's New Hampshire campaign manager, former Gov. Hugh Gregg, said he felt the report might have a temporary effect that "will pass away."

Winter storm sweeps over parts of Texas

By the Associated Press

A vast winter storm — and the threat of lots more — swept from eastern Colorado to western Tennessee today, dumping up to 13 inches of snow and adding an eerie combination of rain, sleet, winds, floods, thunder and lightning.

No deaths were reported, but National Guard units, complete with a medical helicopter, were ordered out in southwest Missouri, and motorists were reported stranded on snow-packed Texas highways.

Flash-flood watches were issued in several parts of Texas.

Some schools were closed in Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and Arkansas. In northeast

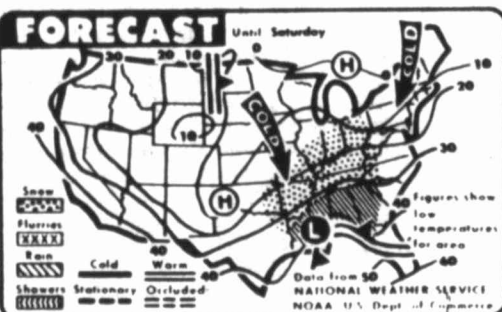

North Carolina, public schools were still closed from a storm that came in Wednesday night.

The new storm brought 13 inches of snow to Furnas County in western Nebraska. A foot or more was reported in Springfield, Mo., 10 inches in northeast Oklahoma and up to 8 inches in north Arkansas. Much of Texas got 2 to 4 inches — or the equivalent in rain. Two inches of snow carpeted western Kentucky. An inch fell in Memphis, Tenn.

The Texas Panhandle suffered most of the storm's moods overnight. First came showers and thunderstorms, then freezing rain and sleet that coated the highways.

WEATHER FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Travelers advisory for Panhandle today and all of West Texas tonight through Saturday morning. Very cold through Saturday with occasional light snow Panhandle today and through Saturday night. Snow ending most sections Saturday morning.

WEATHER FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy Sunday through Tuesday. Colder Sunday and Monday, warmer Tuesday. Low 20s most sections except 30s extreme south. Highs Sunday and Monday upper 30s north to 50s southwest. Highs Tuesday 40s north to low 70s Big Bend.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain and snow are expected in the forecast period, today until Saturday morning, from the central Gulf to the Midwest. Most areas will be cold.

Lubbockite dies in prison riot

One of those who died in the New Mexico State Prison riot in Santa Fe last weekend was Danny DeWayne Waller, 26, of Lubbock.

Waller was serving one to five years for use of a stolen credit card. He was arrested in Clovis in August 1978 on a warrant out of Wichita Falls.

Building permits total $143,000

LAMESA — Building permits issued in Lamesa during the month of January totaled $143,000.

A commercial permit was issued for the construction of a Taco Villa restaurant. A swimming pool costing $33,000 was also authorized.

CAPACITY AND GOAL

Jim Corbetta the former world's heavyweight champion, used to tell of the day he was out doing road work for an upcoming fight, when he came upon a man fishing and stopped to watch him. The fisherman tugged at his line and pulled in a large trout, examined it and threw it back in the water. Then he pulled in a large perch, and unhooked it and also threw it back. On the third try the fisherman pulled in a small trout, which he put into his bucket and prepared to depart.

Corbetti asked him why he had thrown the larger fish back into the water and kept the small one. "Small frying pan" replied the fisherman.

PTA must get some help in program

The National Parent Teachers Association has come forward with a startling statistic: More than three million junior and senior high school students in this country are "problem drinkers." That many, according to the PTA, have had run-ins with their teachers or with the police as a result of imbibing.

Young people of junior high and high school age represent better than one third of all Americans classified as alcoholics.

THERE IS NO reason to challenge the figures. The fact is, they might be a little conservative. It's little wonder then that a lot of able, dedicated teachers are fleeing the profession, unable to accept the fact that society has let them down.

Too many parents, regrettably, are leaving the job of building character and an appreciation for moral responsibility to the schools. The schools have the kids maybe seven hours a day, the individual instructor for an hour or so. The parents get them for 16 hours a day, yet many bribe their children into behaving rather than enforcing a code of ethics.

Given the use of the family vehicle or deeded their own car, handed unlimited spending money, it was inevitable that a lot of children try all the vices that adults have.

Statistics just don't happen. They are shaped by the times, the lack of challenges and opportunities and, most of all, goals or the lack of them.

The solution to the appalling problem—according to the PTA—is preventive education; teaching young people to make informed decisions about the use of alcohol, and involving participation by all members of the community, not just the teens and the pre-teens at whom the educational effort is ultimately aimed.

THROUGH ITS Alcohol Education

Project, a five-year study of adolescent alcohol use and abuse, and the testing of alcohol awareness strategies, the National PTA has developed an abundance of model programs and materials.

Such information is designed to help parents, teachers, students, health agencies and community groups create local, public education campaigns that will meet their own, particular problems involving youth and alcohol.

How ever effective the PTA campaign might be, the association must get a lot more help at home than it is now getting, if it hopes to succeed.

Caught streaking

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Here is a ripe one. The Internal Revenue Service, presumably at the instigation of the big unions exercising their powers with the executive, decided some time ago to move in against the highly successful National Right to Work Legal Defense Foundation, an organization 11 years old, which takes grievances against compulsory union arrangements that operate in such fashion as to deny the worker his rights. Back in the '60s, the organizers of The Right to Work Foundation were shrewd enough to imitate almost exactly the language in the charter of the equivalent Legal Defense Foundation of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which had enjoyed tax exemption from time immemorial, and which in the early '50s hired a prominent black lawyer to bring a famous lawsuit against the Board of Education in Topeka, Kan. The forms used by Thurgood Marshall to catalog Brown vs. Board of Education were tax deductibly contributed to the NAACP's defense fund.

BUT THE SUCCESS of the Right-to-Work people sorely taxed the patience of the union-thirsters, and it remains to be explained how exactly they went about taking over the IRS for their own purposes, but nothing appears to be more certain, from the scathing opinion of United States Judge F. T. Dupree, of the eastern district of North Carolina, that that is what happened. Because in ruling against the IRS in an 11-page brief he demolished the arguments, exposing them as shallow, tendentious and manifestly animated by the simple desire to put the Right-to-Work people out of business.

The chronology of their study: In 1977, the Right-to-Work people undertook to incorporate an identical organization in North Carolina. Accordingly, they filed with IRS, exactly duplicating the original language. The IRS dragged its feet for two-and-a-half years and then, to everyone's astonishment, denied them the tax exemption. Pressed to distinguish between that which is tax exempt in the District of Columbia and that which isn't in North Carolina, IRS gulped and said in granting the original tax exemption it had been mistaken.

THE IRS GAVE AS its principal reason for the new ruling that Right to Work was not engaged in defending "human and civil rights secured by law." "We conclude," somebody actually persuaded IRS to write in its opinion, "that the phrase 'human and civil rights secured by law' refers only to those human and civil rights that can be clearly demonstrated to be of sufficiently broad public concern that their defense promotes the social welfare."

The judge's destruction of this and other frivolities in the IRS's bill of attainder is a superb venture in legal scholarship. The judge began by demonstrating that the discretion given by Congress to the commissioner is to make rulings consistent with the Internal Revenue Code. "Consequently, the factual and legal analysis of the commissioner is of no concern to the district courts... the court does not sit in judgment of the commissioner; the court places itself in the shoes of the commissioner."

On the main point, that the right to work isn't a human and civil right, the judge wrote icily, "the United States Supreme Court disagrees." He quoted from Truax vs. Raich (1915) — "the right to work for a living in the common occupations of the community is of the very essence of the personal freedom of opportunity but it was the purpose of the (14th) Amendment to secure."

Snow shoveling: Some tips

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

I am asked for some health tips on snow shoveling. A mailing from the Chicago Heart Association is worth passing on.

It begins with the always sensible advice to be sure you are physically able. A pre-season physical would not be a bad idea for a middle-aged person. Even healthy persons with no heart symptoms, but who are not accustomed to strenuous activity, should proceed with caution.

The Chicago organization urges going about shoveling slowly. "Do the job slowly and rest often."

About dress: One should dress so that exposed areas, such as hands, neck, head and face are covered, particularly when the wind chill factor is below 15 or 20 degrees Fahrenheit. Wear multiple layers of light clothing so that some may be removed as you become overheated. This also provides better insulation than a single bulky covering.

How to shovel: Push snow out of the way. Lift small amounts and lift from your legs, using your entire body, not just your arms and back. Good advice for any similar activity.

Don't smoke or drink while shoveling. Alcohol, notes the association, can give a false sense of energy that isn't really there. The result can be over-exertion. Smoking and cold weather combine to constrict blood vessels.

Avoid shoveling after meals. Try to get at it a couple of hours before eating. Then rest. Then eat.

Here are symptoms to watch for: Prolonged heavy pressure or a squeezing pain in the center of the chest, or pain spreading to the shoulder, arm, neck or jaw. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, palpitations, nausea, or shortness of breath are other reasons to throw the shovel down. If symptoms persist for more than five minutes after you've stopped shoveling, you may already have had a heart attack, advises the Chicago group. Seek help.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My daughter, who is a youthful and slender 59, has recurring blackouts, at which time she says her heart feels almost stopped. Her doctor says it's caused by the vagus nerve. Can you please tell me a little more about it? I'm extremely worried. —G.E.

The vagus nerve is one of the cranial nerves that originate in the lower part of the brain. Their roles are difficult to explain. Vagus means "wanderer." The vagus branches out to serve various organs in the chest and abdomen, the stomach and heart, among them. Suffice it to say that this nerve has dual roles. It both slows the heart rate and increases stomach activity.

If your daughter is having blackout spells that can be linked to her heartbeat slowing too much, then the vagus nerve might be the site of the problem. It's rare. A continuous 24-hour ECG (electrocardiogram) will help determine if a heart rhythm disturbance is a cause of her fainting spells. If that is the case, the problem may be solved through the use of a pacemaker.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I would like to know about ringworms. I have these patches of white rings on my face. How do they develop? —B.E.

Ringworm is an erroneous term. The cause is a fungus, not worms. The circular squiggly-looking borders of the skin inflammation gives rise to the "worm" idea.

The fungi grow for various reasons. Heat and moisture are favorite predisposing factors, and certain ringworm fungi are transferred from pets. There are many helpful preparations for application to the skin. Miconazole is one. If these are not effective, griseofulvin (taken by mouth) is usually the answer.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please put in your column the approximate size of an implanted heart pacemaker. —E.S.

The pacemaker is a small box with approximate dimensions of 2.5 by 1.8 by 0.6 inches.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can I expect to have orgasm after my hysterectomy? —A.V.

Hysterectomy (removal of uterus) will not prevent orgasm.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I read a long article in one of the news magazines the other day which said that the Gospels were probably not written by eyewitnesses and that we couldn't know very much about what Jesus was really like. Is this really true? —J.A.

DEAR J.A.: I read the article to which you refer, and I strongly disagree with its conclusion. And I have met many, many Biblical scholars who would not agree with the statements the magazine made. There is every reason to trust the accounts we have in the Gospels.

It is important, I think, to see what the Gospel writers themselves said about their work. John, for example, clearly claimed to be an eyewitness and a close disciple of Jesus (see John 21:24). Luke, who was a gentile and did not know Jesus during His ministry, took special pains to make his account accurate, using every possible eyewitness source. "Therefore, since I myself have

Japanese tourists seeing the world

First it was Japanese products seen all over the world. Now it is the Japanese people themselves.

The Japanese are rapidly becoming the most traveled people among major nations. Some four million visited foreign countries during 1979 by their government's count. Of that number, 1.3 million included the United States on their itinerary.

The Japanese tourists proved true to form by returning home laden with foreign purchases, at an average value of $342 each.

Among the preferred souvenir items were wristwatches. That might appear to be something like carrying coals to Newcastle. Japan is one of the world's leading producers of timepieces, showing some signs of taking over this area of precision consumer products as it already has in cameras and television sets.

Perhaps it is the quaint old-fashioned craftsmanship of the American and European products that appeals.

carefully investigated everything from the beginning, it seemed good also to me to write an orderly account for you, most excellent Theophilus, so that you may know the certainty of the things you have been taught" (Luke 1:3-4). Since at the time Luke wrote his Gospel there were many eyewitnesses still alive, it is inconceivable that he could circulate an inaccurate history of Jesus' ministry. There would have been an immediate outcry from the eyewitnesses. Those who lived immediately after the New Testament period also affirmed repeatedly that the Gospels were reliable because they were eyewitness accounts.

Yes, you can trust your Bible and you can know what Jesus said and did. But most of all, you can know Christ personally by putting your faith in Him and trusting Him for your salvation. The Jesus who lived almost 2000 years ago lives today, and wants to enter your heart and rule your life.

Not an original

Around the rim

James Werrell

Perhaps Film Director John Carpenter is not so comfortable with the strictures of the horror genre as he thinks he is.

In an interview in the most recent copy of "Film Comment," he is asked whether he is happy doing genre films and his reply is an unequivocal, "Yes." His latest venture, "The Fog," belies that statement.

Right from the opening sequence of the movie, I had the impression that I was watching an attempt to render a "classic" horror film. In that scene, we see John Houseman decked out in the traditional Hollywood "Old Salt" costume, intoning to a group of frightened children the story of a ship that went down in a dense fog "on this very night 100 years ago."

WHAT CARPENTER is telling us is that we are about to see an old-fashioned ghost story. What soon becomes apparent, however, is that he is painting by numbers.

The original masters of this type of film, Roger Corman, Alfred Hitchcock, George Romero, Don Siegel and, more recently, Roman Polanski and Brian De Palma laid down the rules. Carpenter follows the rules, but brings almost nothing of his own to the project.

The craft is definitely there, but where is the feeling?

It is almost unfair to fault horror films for the ridiculous manipulation of characters which eventually brings them face-to-face with whatever monster or evil force the movie-makers have concocted. Heroines are allowed to go through an endless variety of contortions to get themselves into trouble, and dimwits who refuse to believe in impending doom are allowed to be skewered while a knowing chorus of "I told you so" ripples through the audience.

HORROR FANS pay good money to be skillfully manipulated in this formulaized fashion. But what they get from Carpenter is tired clichés.

Take for example the age-old device of a getaway car that won't start or gets stuck while the monster draws ever closer. Inevitably, the car starts or comes unstuck just in the nick of time.

But in order for the device to work, there must be a seed of doubt as to whether the heroes are going to get away this time. Unfortunately in "The Fog" not a soul in the audience had any doubt that the mired car would roll away before the ghost pirates got there.

In the abler hands of George Romero, this device was used to great effectiveness over and over again throughout the middle third of "Dawn Of The Dead."

Maybe Carpenter took too much to heart the praises of the critics who called his earlier film, "Halloween," a "modern horror classic." Granted, that was a scarier movie than "The Fog," but it suffered from the same soullessness that sank "The Fog."

Carpenter has said that his next film will be a straightforward, good guys-bad guys Western. Let's hope he remembers that "Stagecoach" has already been made twice, and the second version was no improvement.

Brady's blender

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Larry Brady is a 40-year-old New Hampshire man, conservative by nature, who used to run the Commerce Department's export administration office. Then last spring, he made a career-shattering mistake.

He told Congress some unpleasant truths about the department's licensing procedure for U.S. firms doing business with the Russians. U.S. corporations were shipping to Russia high-technology equipment that could be converted to military use, he warned.

The Soviet Union and other controlled countries are now capable of acquiring some of the most sophisticated Western technology and diverting it to military forces," he testified behind closed doors.

THAT WAS ENOUGH to upset his bosses in the Commerce Department. But Brady went on to describe the department as basically a lobbying agency for American businessmen.

"I think over the past few years," he said, "we have not been able to say 'No' to an exporter... I don't think other agencies are able to rely on... Commerce Department judgment with regard to license applications. There are very, very few cases that we propose a denial."

That did it. The Commerce Department brass labeled Brady's testimony "incorrect and irresponsible." He was summarily demoted, barred from high-level meetings and denied access to classified information.

According to a special counsel's report, Brady "was slowly eased out of a policymaking role by being excluded from meetings that had a direct bearing on his ability to discharge his responsibilities."

Brady's boss, Stanley Marcus, ordered secret reports prepared that would grease the skids for the troublesome truth-teller's downslope. One such report blasted Brady as "a man committed to his own agenda not to positive management; to public arguments over the past, not improvements for the future; to obstructionism, not the furtherance of the administration's export control policies."

This hatchet job was written by Vincent Rocque, a Marcus aide, who denied the existence of his handiwork. When my reporter Mark Zusman quoted it to him, Rocque retreated to "No comment."

If Brady was guilty of obstructing the Carter administration's export policies, it's too bad he wasn't more successful. He told the truth behind closed doors to a House committee; I made his warnings public last July. Now his testimony stands as an indictment of the administration.

THE RUSSIANS HAVE turned to military use the sophisticated U.S. computers that they promised would be confined to peaceful projects, just as Brady had warned. What was his reward for being right? He was punished as a disloyal public servant and harassed by his superiors until he quit his job at the Commerce Department in disgust last month.

There was no help from higher up, either.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Not too long ago, a young man was buried in Big Spring. His death was caused by the complications of diabetes. I did not get to know him very well, but I am beginning to understand his problem and situation. He was like me and 50 to 100 other people, members of the new "Greater Big Spring Area Diabetes Association." I was glad to see this young man step forward and join the association. Nearly all young people want to hide their problem or withdraw from life. There is a lot of anger involved in having diabetes. That's understandable.

It really does seem unfair to have been chosen to carry this burden through life, especially since you have done nothing to deserve it. When one is said to be "adjusting nicely" to his diabetes, it usually means he's succeeded in hiding his anger from his peers. But hiding anger is like taping up leaks in an old garden house. Just when you get the problem solved in one place, it pops up in another spot and never really goes away.

Sometimes young people find it tempting to direct their anger at their parents. After all, diabetes often has strong hereditary characteristics. But they should know their parents didn't order a baby with brown eyes, curly hair and diabetes. Being angry with them doesn't make much sense. Anger over diabetes comes double to parents, believe it or not. There's not much help you can get when it comes to brothers and sisters. It is obviously unfair for you to have diabetes while they get off free. Anger is reasonable in this situation. But what are you going to do with the anger?

Everyone fights with his siblings now and then. As for the rest of the world is concerned, you'll find your diabetes is a lonely disease. Caring for diabetes is like tinkering with a short wave radio or an old car. You never finish the project. When your diabetes is not giving you trouble, it's just plain boring. It always needs attention, seven days a week, 365 days a year, no vacations, no days off. It makes you want to go up on Scenic Mountain and shout "I hate it." Just realizing you have a problem is a great step forward.

Anger comes in big and little waves. Sometimes it helps just to relieve the pressure. Crying is good for this. The shower to me was a good place for this, you don't make puddles, and you can also get clean. Hard, grubby physical work is also very good. So is exercise. Swimming, tennis, karate, football or jump rope, is good as long as you are turning your anger into perspiration.

There are quite ways to handle anger too. Prayer, talking to your pastor, or a discussion with an understanding friend can help turn down the heat. Also, talk to your doctor, he's no magician, but he can give you care and vital information. He is your number one source of help.

I can understand the problems that young people have with their diabetes, and would like to invite them and their parents to come to our meetings. The meeting places, speakers, and dates will be published in the paper regularly.

On the light side

Little swan squaked wolf

PORT CHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Firefighters here would just as soon see a certain ungrateful swan in a stew pot as on the Byram River again.

Port Chester police called the Fire Department to report a swan was stuck in the ice on the river earlier this week.

No fewer than 25 firefighters, two trucks, two police cars and a rowboat were rushed to the scene. But as firefighters were lowering the boat and ladder into the river, the swan suddenly rose to its feet and strode majestically away.

"We got another call today about a swan stuck in the ice," fireman Bill Pfeiffer said Thursday. "We didn't go."

Neither rain, nor ocean

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Richard and Martha Jones have a new pen pal, but it's a good bet they won't use the same "postman" to continue the correspondence.

Last April while they were cruising off the coast of Ecuador, Mrs. Jones wrote a note, put it in a bottle and tossed it over the side. The note contained their address, the date and a request that the finder write them. She said she didn't expect a reply.

"In response to the request that I found in the sea bottle, I am writing you this letter," the letter from a woman named Tahiri Houa said this week.

"Your bottle dated 4-25-1979 was found on Jan. 18 on the eastern side of Rangiroa in the Tuamotou Arch. Rangiroa is located about 350 miles NE of Tahiti in French Polynesia..."

Pampa High's paddle policy

PAMPA, Texas (AP) — At Pampa High School, even police officers who break the rules have a choice: the paddle or detention hall.

Lt. Charles Morris and Detective R.J. Howell went to the school and set up a projector for a film to be shown to the government classes. A short while later, Joni Covalt ran up to the school principal.

"Can you believe it? A cop is in my parking place. If I did that, I'd be sent to detention hall," she told Principal Paul Payne.

That's the school rule. Park in a student's reserved space and you get your backside warmed or a stint in detention hall.

When the officers returned to headquarters, they found a note from Police Chief J.J. Ryzman directing them to be at the school, in uniform, at 7 a.m. Wednesday to take their punishment.

Not altogether happily, the officers were at the school at 7 a.m. They chose an hour's detention.

Heroin found in crates in airport

Three Iranians held in Dallas

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — Federal agents who discovered $10 million worth of heroin concealed in hidden compartments of a crate that arrived at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport from Iran today held three Iranians as drug smuggling suspects.

The illegal narcotic was stashed in secret compartments of a display case that held a Moslem holy book. Three Iranians, two men and a woman, were ordered to appear in court today for arraignment on charges of smuggling.

A U.S. Customs agent making a routine check opened a wooden crate he selected at random and discovered the compartments filled with a brown powder Jan. 29. The powder weighed 4.4 pounds and lab tests showed it was 72 percent pure heroin. Authorities then had to wait a week for someone to claim the crate.

In the meantime, Drug Enforcement Administration agents poured out the powder and replaced it with Nestle's powdered chocolate and tiny electronic transmitters that emit beeps so the location of the crate could be tracked.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Conrad Florence said after several days elapsed they were worried the smugglers may have become suspicious and decided not to pick up the crate.

Ehrlichman's resignation accepted by California court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The voluntary resignation of former White House aide John Ehrlichman from the bar has been accepted by the California Supreme Court.

The brief order signed Thursday by Chief Justice Bird also dismissed disciplinary proceedings which had been instituted against Ehrlichman as a result of convictions in two federal cases, including the Watergate scandal. The proceedings could be reinstated if he should seek reinstatement.

Ehrlichman, chief domestic aide of former President Richard Nixon, was suspended from practice by the high court in September 1974 after his conviction on two counts of perjury and one count of conspiracy. These involved the break-in by others into the office of a Los Angeles psychiatrist in a search for confidential medical records on Daniel Ellsberg.

He was convicted of knowingly making false declarations to a federal grand jury and conspiring to violate the constitutional rights of the psychiatrist because no search warrant was obtained. Ehrlichman drew a 20-month to five-year prison term.

On Jan. 1, 1975, Ehrlichman was convicted in the Watergate coverup of conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury and was sentenced to a 2½ to eight-year term.

But then, Tuesday, Florence said an Iranian woman identified as a Texas Women's University student claimed the crate and drove to Denton, where agents said in an affidavit that she removed it from the trunk of her car and carried it into her apartment.

The federal affidavit said an Iranian man, the woman's brother, picked up the crate Wednesday night and drove to a restaurant where another Iranian, a 38-year-old Florida resident, put the crate in his Blazer and then drove a circuitous route all over town.

Finally, the agents said, he went into a motel room where, according to the sound from the electronic beepers, he opened the crate.

That's when he apparently saw the transmitter and realized he had been tricked, agents said.

"Almost immediately thereafter, (he) ran out of the room and tried to get into the Blazer," the affidavit said. Assistant U.S. Attorney John Sweeney of Fort Worth said agents who had him under surveillance then moved in and arrested him.

"We don't know at this time what (he) planned to do with the heroin. Since he lived in Florida, it may be that he intended to take it to that state and turn it over for others. We don't know. But there was obviously some big money involved," he said.

Sneaking around doesn't inspire trust

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm grounded because of my low grades. I don't want to lose my boyfriend so I sneak out with him whenever I can.

I really do love my parents and I want them to trust me. If I should get caught, do you think I'd lose this trust? What I mean is mom and dad were young once and they would understand. Wouldn't they? — Holly, De Kalb, Ill.

Holly: I'm very aware of De Kalb High School. I did my student teaching in physical education there about 18 years ago. I'm sure things haven't changed in some respects. Teens still have grade problems and parents "just don't understand."

And let me assure you that if they discover you're sneaking out with your boyfriend they won't understand. May I ask how you expect your parents to trust you when you blatantly defy their rules?

Dr. Wallace: My parents have been divorced for eight years and I have been living with my mother. Now the time has come for me to choose my future. I can stay with mother or live with dad.

Mom has remarried and she has changed. Now she is very strict and difficult to talk with. On the other hand, dad is very lonely and very well-to-do.

My problem is that I'm shy and it's very hard for me to make friends. If I go with dad, I'd have to leave all my wonderful friends and start over. What should I do? — Ann, Astoria, Ore.

Ann: Stay with mom. The only flaw I see is a difficulty to communicate. And while this is serious, it can be improved. Work at it.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TwEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Abby

Gives Her Ex A 'Z' Rating

DEAR ABBY: I am 49 and have been divorced from my ex-husband for over 20 years. All that time I have been bombarded with letters from him telling me he has never stopped loving me—even during his marriage to a French woman while he was stationed overseas.

He has constantly written that he has never known genuine love and sexual satisfaction with any other woman, and I am the only one for him. Abby, such letters would come every day for weeks, and never less than 20 letters a month.

I replied with love and friendship—knowing he was living with another woman in Florida. He phoned me two months ago, saying he couldn't live without me, that he would tell the woman he was living with that she would have to leave, and begged me to join him. (I was in North Dakota.)

I quit my job, packed all my belongings in an enormous U haul, and drove to Florida. It took eight days. I called his home, and a woman answered, so I checked into a motel and called him again. He came right over and told me not to worry—the woman was leaving.

He stalled me one day at a time for two weeks. I finally had to find an apartment because I couldn't afford the daily motel rates.

Meanwhile, it became clear to me that the woman was not leaving. He would come to see me, professing his love and wanting sex, but I said not as long as that woman was living with him.

I feel like a fool. I asked him why he asked me to come to Florida while he was still living with another woman. He had no answer. Since I'm not a wealthy woman, I must find employment. I have to find activity, interests and friends or I'll go out of my mind.

I've had crying spells and I'm lonely and depressed. I broke up my home and life to be with this man, and it's turned out to be a disaster.

He's 60, retired from the Air Force and works for the state.

Abby, what should I do? Should I confront him and the woman he lives with?

DESPERATE AND BEWILDERED

DEAR DESPERATE: Don't confront anybody. Admit that you made a big mistake when you disrupted your life to join him. Tell him you never want to see him or hear from him again. Then either go back to North Dakota where you have friends, or try to make a new life for yourself where you are.

Lawrence Welk will appear in El Paso

The event will be held at the University of Texas El Paso Special Events Center. Welk will be showcasing the first of a new 13 show tour series, so the performers and their arrangements should be fresh and appealing.

Tickets are on sale at all Ticketmaster locations in El Paso and Las Cruces, N.M.

Deats goes 'back to basics in planting'

The Big Spring Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. S.M. Anderson on Wednesday. Mrs. John Hogan was co-hostess.

Wesley Deats brought a program on "Back to Basics in Planting." Deats suggested that people learn to take care of themselves lest they become dependent on others for the "Basics."

Deats gave the following suggestions for planting potatoes. The plugs for planting should be about 2 inches in size and, should have 3 "eyes." The plugs should be placed in a well lighted place for several days before planting. The soil should be mounded around the plant as it grows.

The plug may be placed on top of the ground and the soil mounded around it as it grows. The plugs may be covered with hay for protection. A mulch should be used around the plug and mounded around the leaves as they appear.

Planting onions is very similar to planting potatoes. They need the mounding of the soil around them as they grow.

When plant is established the tops should be broken to allow the nutrients to feed the roots.

The club expressed great concern about the downtown planter boxes. They are being used as garbage cans rather than as decorative boxes. Reports were given as to what other towns do about the care of them. It was announced that other towns have the Fire Department water them at frequent intervals. Some of the merchants were complimented on their care of the boxes.

Father jailed for not paying child support

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — Dwayne Jackson has been ordered to jail for failure to continue to pay child support for a daughter who died two years ago.

The 30-day jail term, to be served on 15 consecutive weekends, was ordered Wednesday by Clay County Circuit Court Judge Stephen R. Pratt. The judge ruled Jackson was in contempt of court for refusing to pay $1,855 in delinquent child support.

His daughter, Cindy, was killed two years ago when struck by a car when she ran into a street in an effort to save an injured dog. The accident occurred three months after Jackson, 38, and his former wife, Ms. Mary Ann King, were divorced in December 1977.

With the death of Cindy, Jackson cut his $70 weekly child support payments in half, with $35 payments continuing for the support of his son. He said he did so on the advice of his attorney.

"I'm not against child support—I just don't believe in it for a child that's not alive," Jackson said this week as he and his family continued a vigil at the Clay County Courthouse in opposition to Pratt's decision. "We'll lose everything we've got."

Jackson, who was employed irregularly the past year, said he doesn't have enough money to pay overdue and current support payments. He said he and his wife, Sharon, have had to sell their furniture and a pickup truck to raise money for the payments. Mrs. Jackson's 8-year-old daughter lives with her grandparents because the Jacksons cannot afford to feed and clothe her, they said.

The Jacksons have circulated petitions calling Pratt "an unfair judge" which they hope to present to the Missouri Bar Association, and have appealed to President Carter and Missouri Gov. Joseph Teasdale.

Following Cindy's death, efforts were made to negotiate a lower payment, but no formal request was made with the court until a year ago. That request was denied. Pratt said a request for reduced support probably would have been routinely approved had it been submitted immediately after the girl's death.

When it gets too much

A President of the United States in the middle of a war that nobody liked turned to prayer. Abraham Lincoln explained simply that he had been driven to his knees many times by the knowledge that his own strength, and that of all around him, was insufficient.

Sometimes we have to pray! It gets too much . . .

And don't feel awkward if you're not used to it. Folks before you have found that life gets too much. They have been driven to their knees — and turned to God — believing there was something better ahead.

Your worst day could become your best! Why not check it out in church? What Abe Lincoln was driven to may be what your soul needs, hungers for.

When it gets too much — there's a better way ahead.

ESA evangelist speaks

Major James Hylton evangelist, will appear nightly at the Salvation Army Church, 308 Aylford St., Sunday through Wednesday.

He has been with the corps since 1952. He has held the rank of major since May 1969. He is a bachelor.

He commanded the ministries in five cities between 1952 and 1965 in Virginia and West Virginia.

He was a staff member of the School for Officers' Training in Atlanta, Ga., from Jan. 1965 through June 1973.

From 1973 to the present he has been the director of the Territorial Men's Activities Bureau for the Southern Territory.

While serving as commanding officer of the Richmond, Virginia (Dunstan Citadel Corps), Hylton conducted a program with several juvenile offenders, working in close relationship with the City of Richmond Juvenile Court and the Children's Aid Society of Virginia. Several teen-age boys were placed on probation under the Captain's supervision.

Often, in connection with his evangelistic speaking engagements, Hylton is called upon to teach morning Bible classes daily in addition to the regular evening revival preaching.

While serving on the staff of the School for Officers' Training, the Major was, for a number of years, the Chairman of both the Old Testament Department and the Homiletics Department.

During the tenure of his Play tour presented to women's group

A play tour was presented to the Women of the Church of God Monday during the group's regular session.

The play, performed by five members, illustrated how the church lives through civil war and the threats of loss of life, property and religious freedom.

In other business, Vera Blackburn presented a detailed resume on the missionary activities of Pastor Fouad and Aida Meiki of the Church of God in Lebanon.

The ladies also voted to renew a subscription to Vital Christianity for Mrs. Yvonne Spivey, a former member of the WCG residing in a nursing home in Ryan, Okla.

The worship was given by Kathryn Thomas. The next meeting will be March 3 in the home of Mrs. F.P. Hickson.

Concert set

"Timothy" — a sacred concert by Tim Bruner — will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the First Church of God.

Bruner presents people-oriented music that is both thought provoking and entertaining. "Being a Christian to me is exciting and doesn't have to be a boring life," he said, "that's why each day brings new awakening to God's opportunities and challenges."

Women's Aglow meets Thursday

Women's Aglow Fellowship will meet Thursday in the Blue Room of the Dora Roberts Community Center in Comanche Trail Park.

Salute to Hospitalized Veterans set Thursday

The VA Medical Center, Big Spring, will carry out its seventh annual National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans Thursday, Feb. 14. The nationwide effort, sponsored annually by the Veterans Administration, pays special tribute to the more than a million veterans who enter VA medical facilities for medical attention each year.

Through the Salute program, the general public, local veteran, civic, religious and Big Spring youth will participate in this year's celebration which will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 9 p.m.

Toots Mansfield, former world champion calf roper, is expected to visit patients. Some of the activities will include cheerleaders from Big Spring High School, four separate choral groups touring the Medical Center and an evening concert at 7 p.m. in the patients' recreation hall by "Sugarfoot," a professional Western musical group under the direction of Keith Teel.

Although Veterans Day each year is the traditional day on which all America's veterans are remembered, the Veterans Administration especially remembers the patients in its medical centers Feb. 14 in recognition of the particular challenges of loneliness and personal morale which these men and women, often far from family and friends, face during their hospitalization.

The Salute combines the professional health-care efforts of the Veterans Administration with the voluntary contributions of concerned Americans to benefit all the hospitalized veterans the agency serves.

Hawks hold back South Plains, 89-78

The Howard College Hawks held off a furious South Plains Texans rally in the closing minutes of the game to escape with an 89-78 Western Conference win here Thursday night.

The win was extremely important for the Hawks, as each game is at this stage of the year. Howard College is now 6-6 in conference play and 15-10 on the year.

South Plains, meanwhile, is 1-11 in conference play and 6-19 on the season.

The Hawks led from the opening stages of the game, with Mike Wallace, the conference's leading scorer, hitting for 17 first half points to help Coach Harold Wilder's team jump out to a 50-39 halftime lead.

The Hawks, who usually rely on two man scoring attack of Wallace and Ron Akins, experienced some balanced scoring in the second half, and led by a comfortable 67-49 margin with just over 11 minutes remaining.

But South Plains, paced by Terry Williams and Jackie

Vaughn, reeled off 10 straight points in the next three minutes to narrow the lead to 67-59 with eight minutes to play.

After the Hawks increased the lead back to 70-59, South Plains again narrowed it to 72-67 with 5:20 to play.

The teams then traded four baskets each, but Wallace and Akins each scored within a span of 20 seconds, with Akins slam dunk coming following a steal, to give the Hawks a healthy 80-71 lead with 3:02 remaining.

The Texans could then come no closer than seven points in the final three minutes.

Wallace ended as the high point scorer with 23, while Akins contributed 18.

Williams had 18 points for South Plains, with Vaughn and Walter Sydnor adding 14 each.

The Hawks return to action on Monday, at which time they play host to NMMI. NMMI is one of the three teams that Howard College is in a tight battle with for the fourth and fifth position in the Region V Tournament in early March.

HOWARD COLLEGE (89) — Reels 1-2-4; Green 2-5; Fublon 4-8; Ward 3-2; Gaston 1-0-2; Akins 7-4-18; Hall 1-3-5; Robinson 1-0-2; Wallace 10-3-23; Jones 5-0-10; TOTALS 36-17-89.

SOUTH PLAINS (78) — Lawless 1-1-3; Williams 6-4-18; Dodo 3-5-11; Butler 2-1-5; Dixon 2-1-7; Wilson 2-2-4; Vaughn 6-2-14; Sydnor 7-0-14; TOTALS 30-18-78.

Halftime Score: Howard 50, South Plains 39.

NL approves sale

NEW YORK (AP) — The National League formally approved the sale of the New York Mets to principal owners Nelson Doubleday, president of the publishing firm which bears his name, and Fred Wilpon, chairman of a Long Island real estate firm.

The Mets, last place finishers in the NL East for the last three seasons, were sold two weeks ago for $21.1 million, a record price for a sports franchise.

McTear honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Sprinters Houston McTear and Evelyn Ashford were named January Athletes of the Month by the Track and Field Writers of America.

McTear set a world indoor best of 6.38 seconds in the 60-meter dash. Ashford won the women's 60 at Long Beach in the world indoor best of 7.04 and the 55 meters in New York in 6.81.

WTC, Midland take big wins

Midland College and Western Texas remained in the top two spots in the men's Western Conference race Thursday night, but not before some tight battles against their respective foes.

Midland struggled to a 68-66 win over NMMI to boost their conference record to 11-1 and their season mark to 22-2, while Western Texas overcame Odessa College in taking an 82-76 win. WTC is now 12-0 in conference play, while Odessa slips to 9-3.

and increased it to 46-26 at the intermission.

Coach Don Stevens team continued to pour it on the outclassed South Plains team, as they increased their margin to 70-39 midway through the last half.

Bertolaccini takes Miami LPGA lead

MIAMI (AP) — Undaunted by bogeys on two of the last three holes, Sylvia Bertolaccini holds a one-shot lead going into today's second round of a $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

"I felt bad making bogeys on 16 and 18, but I didn't want to get mad," the native Argentinian said Thursday after shooting a three-under-par 69. "It was only the first round."

Bertolaccini, who now lives in Pompano Beach,

Fla., played in the morning and posted the day's best round early. It stood up the rest of the day, with five players tied for second in the second stop on the 1980 LPGA tour.

"I didn't know what was going to happen next," she said. "Over the last three holes I was bogey, birdie, bogey. So if there was a 19th hole, I probably would have made a birdie."

Tied at two-under-par 70

Steers host Rebels in 5-AAAA boys game

The Big Spring Steers will try to play the role of the spoilers tonight when they play host to the Midland Lee Rebels in a District 5-AAAA boys basketball game. The contest is slated for an 8:00 p.m. tipoff in Steer Gym.

The Rebels are currently in the running for the second half championship, sporting a mark of 2-1. Their only loss was to San Angelo.

The Steers, meanwhile, are searching for their initial 5-AAAA victory. Their play has been erratic throughout, but much of this is due to the youthfulness of Coach Ed Haller's team.

Brocky Jones is the lone Big Spring senior, with others expected to see plenty of playing time including juniors James Doss, Dickie Wrightsill, Fletcher Johnson, Ricci Millaway, Bobby Brasel, Ross Stone, David Carlisle, and sophomores Blake Rosson and Robert Rubio.

CGA sets meeting tonight

The Chicano Golf Association will be holding an organizational meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Carlos' Restaurant.

This is the first meeting of the year, and tonight's affair is extremely important, as new officers will be elected, as well as the signing up of new members for 1980.

Gervin rejoins Spurs Thursday

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Missing George Gervin is back with the San Antonio Spurs after being absent from a game and three practices. The NBA scoring leader insists his absence was due to an illness, not his current unhappiness over his $350,000-per-year contract.

Gervin, who is leading the NBA in scoring for the third consecutive season, missed practices Monday and Tuesday morning. He called in sick for Tuesday night's loss to New Jersey and for Wednesday's practice.

He returned to practice Thursday and faces fines for missing the first two workout sessions.

The absences prompted speculation that Gervin was staging a mid-season holdout because team officials refuse to consider any renegotiation of Gervin's contract until after the season.

Gervin had said last weekend at the NBA All-Star game that he wanted his contract renegotiated.

But Gervin and his agent, Pat Healy, insisted that Gervin's illness and his contract problems were not connected.

Gervin, 27, has four years remaining on an eight-year contract. It was renegotiated to its current level before the 1978-79 season after Gervin demanded to be traded.

Gervin reportedly earns only a third of salaries paid some NBA superstars. Healy said about 15 NBA players make more money than Gervin.

Gervin is averaging more than 33 points per game this season, including two games over 50 points. He hit 34 points to earn the most valuable player award in the All-Star game.

Healy said he has "on-going communication" with Spurs officials. Gervin wants to remain in San Antonio, but must have security for his wife and three children, Healy added.

Hollywood basts Landry after begging for return

DALLAS (AP) — Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson says he would like to play for the New Orleans Saints since the Dallas Cowboys remain unwavering in their decision to have nothing more to do with the flamboyant, outspoken linebacker.

Henderson and Dallas coach Tom Landry met for a half hour Wednesday, with Landry rejecting Henderson's plea for reinstatement.

The 26-year-old five-year National Football League veteran retired after Landry announced Nov. 19 he was placing him on waivers for being a disruptive factor on the team. But he later changed his mind and requested Wednesday's meeting with Landry.

After Landry turned him down, he asked "out of frustration" if Landry would sound out New Orleans coach Dick Nolan about his playing there, he said.

Landry called Nolan after having Henderson wait outside and told him later "that he'd given me the best compliment he could give a player, that a coach wouldn't be afraid to take me in, that I'm not a guy would cause problems."

Henderson said he responded, "Well, shoot, Dick knows he has problems already. His defense needs help. I'm gonna solve his problems, not be one."

Henderson said New Orleans appeals to him for two reasons — it's a one-hour flight from Dallas and the Saints are the only other NFL team to employ the same defensive system (the flex) that the Cowboys use.

Nolan declined comment on his conversation with Landry about Henderson, except to say they spoke for 10 to 15 minutes.

"I can't say any more — just that for right now," Nolan said.

Landry said he thinks Henderson has several good years left — but not with the Cowboys.

"I don't feel in Thomas' case, it would be to his best interest to come back," Landry said Thursday.

"I don't think it would work out. I like Thomas. He has a lot of good basic qualities. He's learned a lot in the last month. I think he can go on and have another good five years in the NFL. But with somebody else,"

Landry said.

Henderson said he "did everything but get on his knees" in asking Landry to give him another chance.

"I threw my ego out the window. I threw my pride out the window. I threw Hollywood out the window. I came in as Thomas Henderson and asked to be reinstated. But to no avail," Henderson said.

"I tried everything. I even offered to cut the yard, cut the lawn at the practice field on Saturday. The bottom line was that I couldn't even come back and clean cleats."

As Henderson told the reasons Landry gave for not taking him back, bitterness showed through.

"He kept throwing the 'team' thing at me. I guess everybody's a teammate until you're cut or fired. ... If there was such a team and I was part of it, why didn't the 'team' come to my call when I needed them? Why didn't the 'team' speak up for me? Tom Landry's the 'team.' There is no 'team.' That's a copout," Henderson said.

Rice pulls upset to halt Tech title hopes

Texas Tech. on the heels of the season's biggest upset, stumbled against eighth-place Rice Thursday night and Red Raider coach Gerald Myers confessed later, "I can't predict what this team's gonna do."

Asked if he had ever had such a hot-and-cold team, Myers responded, "Just this one."

Tech knocked off Texas A&M by 10 points in Lubbock Monday night, inflicting the first Southwest Conference loss of the season on the Aggies.

Rice led virtually all the way Thursday night. The Red Raiders played probably their best defensive game of the season against A&M. Their defensive effort against Rice, Myers said, was one of their worst.

In the other SWC game played Thursday night, Arkansas pulled away from a 26-26 halftime tie and defeated Baylor 70-51 to move back into a tie with A&M for the conference lead with a 10-1 record.

A&M beat SMU 67-56 and Texas beat TCU 90-62 in games played Wednesday night.

Rice's victory over Tech threw the battle for third place and a bye in the post-season tournament wide open again. Tech and Texas now are tied with 7-5 records.

Rice scored 10 straight points in the first half to take a 32-26 halftime lead, then widened its lead to 12 when the Raiders went the first 4:52 of the second half without scoring.

Myers drew two technical fouls in the second half, but Rice lost a chance to break the game wide open when Bobby Tudor missed all four free shots.

"When Bobby missed those shots, I walked over to our trainer and said, 'It's not in the cards for us to win,'" Rice coach Mike Schuler said.

"But I told our kids just to pull up their shorts and don't let this happen to us," Schuler added.

Tech staged a mild rally to close to within three points, but Rice went into a delay game and held on for the win.

Arkansas held Baylor to 27 percent from the field the first half and 31.9 percent for the game. After a sluggish first half, the Porkers cruised to an easy victory.

"Our offense was too passive in the first half, and we did a much better job in the second period," Arkansas coach Ed Sutton said.

"Terry Teagle is a great player, and we knew he'd get some points. But we did a great job of stopping the other guys who can hurt you," Sutton said.

Teagle, the conference's leading scorer, hit 26 points, more than half of Baylor's total.

Bear coach Jim Haller said Arkansas didn't look much different the second half.

"We just shot poorly. I thought it was a miracle we were tied at halftime because we shot only 27 percent."

TCU gridded draws penalty

BROWNWOOD, Texas (AP) — A jury didn't go along with the defense argument that a look-alike abducted a 19-year-old clerk at a convenience store last August and that Texas Christian Christian tight end Brad Bowen fell into a trap intended for his brother.

The jury convicted Bowen, 22, of Brownwood, Thursday but of a lesser charge of kidnapping and recommended a four-year probation sentence for the crime last Aug. 13.

Bowen originally faced the more severe charge of aggravated kidnapping.

"Right now, Bowen has no criminal record. He can go back to school. He's on scholarship and I feel they'll let him return," assistant defense attorney Keith Woodley said.

Bowen, a junior, started the first seven games for Texas Christian last fall while on bond from the Brownwood charge. F.A. Dry, head football coach of TCU, testified as a character witness.

Bowen was arrested last Aug. 13 outside Brownwood, after the young woman was abducted about 3 a.m. from a convenience store by a man she said wore a towel over his face with holes cut out for his eyes. No money was taken.

Defense attorneys said they felt Bowen was framed, investigated by the family of Lane Bowen's ex-wife. They indicated they plan to appeal the conviction.

IOC to hear Carter's proposal today

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — The executive board of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) was scheduled to hear today from the U.S. Olympic Committee on President Carter's call for the Summer Olympic Games to be moved out of Moscow.

Robert Kane, president, and Col. Don F. Miller, executive director, were presenting the USOC's case. It was virtually certain the IOC, which meets in full session from Sunday through Tuesday, will reject the Carter plan and confirm that the Games go on in Moscow.

Lloyd Cutler, special counsel to Carter, arrived in Lake Placid Thursday night to confer with Olympic officials about the president's position on the Moscow Games.

Cutler had presented the president's case in front of the U.S. Olympic Committee's meeting in Colorado Springs, Colo., two weeks ago. He was in Lake Placid for conferences from Thursday afternoon until midnight.

Saturday night will see the first contact between the IOC and the White House since the Russians intervened in Afghanistan, and Carter began his campaign to boycott the Olympics. The president is sending Secretary of State Cyrus Vance to open the IOC's 82nd session.

The opening of an IOC session is always a formal affair with long speeches. It is usual for a head of state or his deputy to declare the session open. But it is rare for such a thing to happen in a country where the government is at loggerheads with the IOC.

Lord Killanin, president of the IOC, has insisted the Moscow Olympics will go on as planned. Carter has said that if the Russians do not pull their troops out of Afghanistan by February 20 he will not want the U.S. team to go. More than 30 governments are backing him.

A private meeting between Killanin and Vance appears likely. There has been no contact between Killanin and Carter since the Afghanistan crisis began.

Kane and Miller are not expected to advocate Carter's case with much force. USOC sources said they will do their duty and pass on Carter's views. But as representatives of a National Olympic Committee they have to avoid breaching the Olympic Charter, which forbids NOCs to yield to governmental pressures.

Moreover the two U.S. members on the IOC, Julian K. Roosevelt and Douglas F. Roby, have said they do not support Carter. Roosevelt has declared that a boycott is the way of cowardice and has denounced the Carter administration for interfering with the Olympic Games.

About 76 of the 89 IOC members are expected for the session. Those who have arrived in Lake Placid thus far have shown no signs of even sympathizing with Carter's views. They are all firmly in favor of keeping the Games in Moscow.

Nelson won't retire until she finds gold

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Cindy Nelson, a bronze medalist in the last Winter Olympics, says if she doesn't win a gold medal in the 1980 Games, she may have to postpone her retirement.

"Initially, I thought this would be my last year," said the 23-year-old downhill specialist from Lutsen, Minn., "but I had to reassess my position, and I may ski next year. It depends on how I do here."

"There are a lot of things in the outside world I want to see, and this can be kind of a sheltered lifestyle," she said at a news conference Thursday.

"I see my career coming to an end," she said.

"Whether it's this spring or next, I don't know. The Winter Olympics is a really big event for me. If I can muster up all 24 years of my energy and just put it in one run, I'll have a real good Olympics."

Nelson said if she could win a gold medal here, it would be the crowning achievement of her nine-year ski racing career.

"I'd like to see what my potential is, to find out what my limits are. I don't think I have yet," Nelson said. "If I quit before I find out, I'll have thrown all these years away."

"I'm not satisfied with my World Cup season to date," she said. "I was sick all January, but I'll just start from scratch."

AL prexy not optimistic about A's move to Oakland

NEW YORK (AP) — So many disappointments have plagued baseball's long struggle to get the A's out of a money-losing situation in Oakland and into a potentially profitable one in Denver that American League President Lee MacPhail is refusing to be optimistic about the latest development.

League clubowners at a meeting Thursday agreed to a request from the Oakland Coliseum board of directors to keep alive until Tuesday a $4 million offer to buy out the remaining eight years of the A's lease.

It has been the board's refusal to release the A's from the lease that has prevented Charley Finley from selling his team, plagued by low attendance, to Denver oilman Marvin Davis.

When it was suggested that the request for an extension of the buyout deadline might be an indication of a willingness by coliseum officials to make a deal, MacPhail said: "It's possible. But things are so confusing out there I couldn't hazard a guess whether or not they will be able to meet our time deadline."

MacPhail indicated the offer would have been withdrawn had the extension not been asked for, because,

"we're running out of time as far as the 1980 season is concerned. If the team is moved, as we want it to be, there are certain things that must be done in Denver to prepare for a new team."

The $4 million offer includes contributions from the league, Finley, Davis and the National League's San Francisco Giants, who share the Bay Area market with the A's.

Club owners from both leagues were briefed on contract talks with the Players Association by Ray Grebey, their chief negotiator. Chub Peeney, NFL president, said there was reason for optimism about a settlement, but added, "Of course, I don't know what's in the other side's heads."

Community blood center awaiting local donors

Do you realize you might have the opportunity to give somebody a chance to live? Your community blood center staff is at Malone-Hogan Hospital every Monday between 12 noon and 6 p.m., awaiting donors who help make blood available within the community.

The last two Mondays, the following people took the time to give blood so that others might live:

Jan. 28 — Linda Barree, Valerie Richardson, Mollie Ray, Audom Saldivar, Joyce Baggett, Ismal Bihl Jr., Lil Blasingame and Wally Moreno.

Feb. 4 — James Perrodin, Judy Stovall, Alan Barkley, Paul Townsend, Debbie Miller, David Sink, Loretta Langford, Debra Hart, Michael Fernandez Jr., Bill Emerson, Anita Flores, Rony Booth, Doris Booth, Sue Miraglia, Donald Smith and Sheryl Barrow.

There are no blood drives set in February for Big Spring. The community's blood needs for this month will rest entirely on the donors drawn on Mondays. If you donated prior to Dec. 10, you are now eligible to donate again.

Potential donors are urged to support their community and do themselves a favor. The donor could be the next person in need of this vital fluid.

Three trials scheduled

Jury selection will begin Monday in 118th District Court for three trials scheduled for next week and possibly the week following.

District Judge Jim Gregg plans to choose three juries simultaneously Monday. The commencement of the first trial, Ronnie Ray Barber's case, depends on the outcome of a hearing at 3:30 p.m. today. The hearing for continuance is due to a motion by Defense Attorney George Thomas. He filed the motion because of a Herald story that referred to his client's charge as armed robbery rather than robbery.

If the Barber trial is held, it will be followed by the involuntary manslaughter trial of Lonnie Green.

Depending on the length of time taken by the two trials, Robert Ortega will go to trial either this week or next week.

Ortega, 2701 E. 25th, was arrested on suspicion of aggravated assault July 29.

Harmon quits as superintendent

ABILENE — Gordon Harmon has resigned his position as superintendent of schools in the Abilene ISD, citing a divergence between his philosophies and those of board members.

The resignation takes effect immediately. Deputy Supt. Allison Koonce will be acting head of the school system, although Harmon agreed to stay on in a paid consulting capacity through at least June.

Harmon has served here since January 1977. He replaced Harold Brinson. Harmon's contract was to have extended through July 1, 1982.

Harmon will be paid at the rate of $3,633 a month as a consultant until Feb. 1, 1981, if he cannot find a job before that time.

Harmon had previously served as superintendent at San Marcos and Temple.

Roots of McCarthy era

JOE MCCARTHY

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — It began as a speech to a women's political club, a charge of communist subversion in the highest levels of government. It swept the nation into an era of torment and fear.

Thirty years ago, on Feb. 9, 1950, Joseph McCarthy, the junior senator from Wisconsin, was met at Wheeling Airport by two local Republican Party officials and a reporter from The Intelligencer newspaper.

Several weeks before, worried about re-election and his obscurity after four years in office, McCarthy had asked GOP officials to arrange several speaking engagements for Lincoln's birthday. Almost indifferently, McCarthy was offered Wheeling; Salt Lake City; Reno, Nev., and Huron, S.D.

That night, the Ohio County Women's Republican Club, anticipating traditional pleasantries, instead heard a speech that was to launch a bitter chapter in American political history and make "McCarthyism" a byword — even today — for hate-mongering and political purges.

In a pose seared on the memory of modern history, McCarthy waved a sheaf of papers and said, "I have here in my hand a list of 205 that were known to the secretary of state as being members of the Communist Party and who nevertheless are still working and shaping the policy of the State Department."

Williams enters guilty plea

Johnny Clifford Williams, 1002 N. Main, No. 44, entered a plea of guilt in 118th District Court this morning to possession of a forged instrument with intent to pass.

Williams received a seven-year probation sentence. No restitution was necessary as the check wasn't passed.

Bond was set at $10,000 by Justice of the Peace Bob West. Williams was arrested Monday and transferred to county jail Tuesday.

Payne moved to county jail

Terry Allen Payne, 106 W. 19, was transferred to county jail today on suspicion of automobile burglary. Bond was denied by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin because Payne is on probation.

Payne was arrested Wednesday by Big Spring police.

His probation began Aug. 20 when he entered a plea of guilt to burglary of property of Edward E. Moren Jan. 27, 1978. Payne received a ten-year probation sentence at that time.

He was arrested on suspicion of burglary of an auto belonging to his stepfather Jimmy Marion Wednesday.

Shopping trip for BSSH patients held

The local Montgomery Ward's store played host to approximately 80 patients from the Big Spring State Hospital for a late-night shopping trip recently. The store's manager, T.K. (Tally) Murphy and his staff volunteered to keep the store open to accommodate the patients.

In addition to allowing the patients to shop, the trip was educational as the staff performed demonstrations of microwave cooking, popcorn making, and cake decorating as well as providing a fashion show telling about the latest styles, newest fabrics and colors. Refreshments and door prizes were available.

"This has to be one of the best things we have had made available for our patients," commented Randy Huey, assistant coordinator of Volunteer Services who coordinated the event with Murphy. "Some of our patients don't get away from the hospital very often and this afforded them the opportunity to shop and look with the freedom to ask questions and to get involved with their surroundings in a completely relaxed atmosphere. Much credit goes to Mr. Murphy and to his staff. They are very special people and we appreciate each of them."

the nation the next day, a surprised McCarthy was met at Salt Lake City by reporters clamoring for the "list" of communists.

McCarthy's charges came amid world crisis and the early chill of Cold War. The Soviet Union had exploded its first atomic bomb. Communists controlled China. The Korean War was looming. The United States was shaken by the sensational treason trial of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and the Alger Hiss case.

McCarthy electrified the nation with charges of communist infiltration and betrayal. Television carried the congressional hearings into the homes of millions, who watched McCarthy scream accusations at high-ranking officials, generals and cabinet members.

A hulking, amiable man with a ready laugh and uncanny skill as a poker player, McCarthy was also intensely ambitious. But it took an inflammatory anti-communist crusade to gain him national attention as "Tail Gunner Joe" — or "Low Blow Joe" — to his opponents.

A Gallup Poll in January 1954 showed that 50 percent of the American people supported McCarthy, while 29 percent opposed his efforts.

In Congress, McCarthy found eager supporters. Others, despite mistrusting his charges and abhorring his methods, kept silent for fear of being accused themselves. Appeals to the White House to intervene were ignored. It seemed no one was safe from the senator.

North Korea, Romania join against Soviets

By The Associated Press
North Korea and Romania have joined Yugoslavia in the maverick communist camp bucking the Kremlin's military intervention in Afghanistan.

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported today that the two communist nations refused to sign a communique urging solidarity with the Afghan government of President Babrak Karmal, installed in a Soviet-engineered coup on Dec. 27.

The statement was adopted Thursday at a meeting of parliamentarians from 12 communist nations in the Bulgarian capital of Sofia, Tass said. It listed Cuba, Vietnam and South Yemen among those supporting the Karmal regime.

North Korea has traditionally been closer to Peking than to Moscow, but has not previously criticized the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan. Romania has become increasingly independent of Moscow in recent years, and was alone among the Warsaw Pact nations in attacking the Soviet move into Afghanistan.

Yugoslavia voiced its opposition to the Soviet intervention shortly after Moscow began pouring 100,000 troops into Afghanistan on Christmas Day in an effort to prop-up the Karmal regime in its war with anti-communist Moslem rebels.

Yugoslavia's foreign minister, Josip

Vrhovec, reiterated his government's condemnation of the Soviet intervention in a joint communique with his French counterpart, Jean Francois-Poncet. The communique, issued Thursday, capped two days of talks between the ministers in Belgrade.

"The latest developments in Afghanistan afflict a severe blow to the policy of detente and could lead to grave dangers," the joint communique said.

In Tokyo, Japanese official denied press reports that Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira's government has decided to freeze investments in the Soviet Union to protest its moves in Afghanistan.

"There has been no decision. The proposal is still under consideration," a Foreign Ministry spokesman insisted today.

4,000 Texas licenses suspended

DWI misdemeanors final

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Some 4,000 Texans convicted of first-offense driving while intoxicated since August soon will be asked to turn in their drivers licenses for a year.

Department of Public Safety spokesman Bill Carter said Thursday a recent attorney general's opinion mandates a one-year suspension of driving privileges for misdemeanor DWI offenders.

Until the end of last August, state law said a misdemeanor conviction was not considered a final conviction if probation was ordered in the case.

State law requires the one-year suspension for DWI convictions, but it could not be enforced when there was no final conviction, Carter said.

Attorney General Mark White said the revised law that went into effect last August says misdemeanor cases with probation are final convictions.

Carter said the change requires enforcement of the mandatory suspension.

"We had a question in our minds when the new law went into effect at the end of August, so we held all the cases since then in abeyance," Carter said. "There's been quite a backlog since then."

White's opinion also means a misdemeanor DWI conviction will go on a driver's record, Carter said. It was not placed on the record under the old law.

Misdemeanor DWI charges are filed in first-offense cases. Second-offense DWI is a felony punishable by a prison sentence.
