

Fuel prices do it again; inflation rises 1.4 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new surge in gasoline and heating oil costs helped push consumer prices 1.4 percent higher in January, the largest monthly increase in more than 6 1/2 years, the government reported today.

lifted price controls and beef prices shot up dramatically. The culprit last month was not food, which rose a modest 0.1 percent from December, the Labor Department reported.

of Petroleum Exporting Countries starting to work their way through the system. A number of OPEC nations — including Saudi Arabia, the United States' largest crude oil supplier — raised prices last month. In recent days, several of them have announced cutbacks in production, which could increase prices further.

Victim stabbed, run over by car

Accused killer captured after chase in Midland

By JAMES WERRELL Ismael Juarez Jr., 21, 1003 N.W. 2nd, was arrested 4 a.m. today on suspicion of the murder of another local man.

ISMAEL JUAREZ

Within minutes of the alert, a Midland patrolman spotted a car matching the description stopped along a street in the Midland downtown area. When the officer made a U-turn to investigate, the suspicious car sped south on Big Spring Street.

As the patrolman called for backup units, said Morris, he also asked for a registration check on the car's license. The officer learned that the 1975 Chevrolet Monte Carlo was registered to Marice J. Lopez, 907 Bell.

When the car was stopped after a short chase, Midland Police found Juarez in the driver's seat and two females, Mary Lopez and Frances Lopez, seated beside him.

Juarez was arrested, and the car was officially sealed, said Morris. The car will later be opened after authorization from investigating authorities, and checked for fingerprints and other evidence.

Detective Mike Eggleston with the Big Spring Major Crime Task Force, stated that the front seat of the auto is covered with blood, and that a black boot on the back floor of the car is "literally floating in blood." The detective also stated that he spotted what appeared to be a knife in plain sight inside the car.

Blood was also spotted on the right-front tire and hubcap of the car, he said.

Juarez was picked up by Eggleston and Texas Ranger Eddie Almond, 3:07 a.m. today, and transferred at around 10:30 a.m. to the Howard County Jail. Bond on the suspect was denied by Hefflin.

Juarez had been awaiting trial on the charge of aggravated robbery in connection with a stickup at the Winchell's Donut House, 2111 Gregg, on Feb. 22, 1976. He had been released on $25,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin.

Dead is Dean Mojica, 17, 703 N.W. 5th, after being stabbed at least once in the chest and apparently being run over by an automobile. The victim's body is currently being held at Malone-Hogan Hospital, and an autopsy was scheduled there at noon today.

Police received a call at 10:30 p.m. Thursday in regard to a possible killing near Yanez Lounge behind the Giant Food Store, 611 Lamess. Patrolman Roy Osborne drove to the lounge, but found it closed.

The officer then noticed a group of people sitting in a car nearby, and questioned them, said Lt. Claude Morris. They told Osborne that a body might be found near the Coors Beer Distributorship on IS 20.

The patrolman called for backup units and drove to that location. After a short search, police discovered Mojica's body on a hill, 20 to 25 yards from Ohio Road.

The victim was declared dead at the scene by Lewis Hefflin.

According to Morris, the victim's underwear and pants had been partially removed, leaving his left leg bare. He also was wearing only one high-heeled black boot on his right foot, said Morris.

The victim's shirt was caked with blood, said reports, and when officers lifted the shirt they found a stab wound on the left side of the chest. Cradled in Mojica's right arm, said Morris, was a prosthetic breast.

Its mate was found several yards further down the road.

Officers also noticed abrasions on the left side of the body with car tracks leading from the location of the injuries. Investigators speculate that a car struck the victim as it left the scene.

Police immediately radioed a description of a car spotted at Yanez Lounge to all surrounding cities.

Driver may have blacked out

Swerving truck kills two teenage girls in Monahans

MONAHANS, Texas (AP) — Investigators are considering the possibility that the 16-year-old driver of a pickup truck may have blacked out just before the vehicle swerved into a crowd of young girls, killing two and injuring 11 others.

"It was possible he had some kind of seizure and blacked out at the wheel," said Monahans police Sgt. Jim Vaughan, who spoke to the driver shortly after the noon recess accident. "He told us he had a history of some sort of seizures."

The driver, identified as Monahans high school student Israel Talavera, was hospitalized, Vaughan said.

The victims were identified as Patricia Odell and Shawna Richardson, both 13-year-old students at Monahans Junior High School.

"The truck went into a group of girls standing on the curbside and just scattered girls everywhere," Vaughan said. Witnesses told him the truck was traveling between 50 and 55 m.p.h when it went out of control, clipped a telephone pole and rammed into the crowd.

Witnesses said several students saw the careening truck and were able to run to safety while others shoved their friends out of the vehicle's path.

"There was kids laying everywhere and people were crying and screaming," said Lowell Richey, a high school student who stopped to help after the accident. "Pat was bleeding real bad and the other girl was thrown onto the top of a bus nearby."

The injured girls were transported to a Monahans hospital in ambulances, fire department vehicles and the police chief's private car, Vaughan said.

Vaughan said late Thursday the driver had not been arrested and investigators were discussing the possibility of charges with the Ward County District Attorney's office.

"It's too early to tell now," he said. "It may be possible that the kid did black out."

Monahans Junior High School principal Francis Apple was hardly able to discuss the accident.

"Both girls were top students," he said. "Both were had a terrible afternoon. We had 13 kids down. It's tragic when anyone dies, but when they are that young ..." he said, his voice breaking.

Big Spring flights continue

Airlines pays city $6,264

By STEVE HERSHBERGER City of Big Spring received today a check amounting to $6,264.22 from Permian Airways, which had been 22 days late in paying its fuel bill.

The $6,200 plus figure represents the amount Permian owed the city as of Jan. 31.

The airlines had become mired in controversy Thursday when it was disclosed it had not made a single payment on its fuel bill, since starting service here Dec. 10, 1979.

Councilman Larry Miller said, "I found out at last Tuesday's council meeting Permian owed the city about $6,200 for gasoline."

Miller added, "As of last Tuesday, they had not paid the bill."

Neda Armstrong, head of the Accounting Department for Permian Airways in Odessa, said that the airlines had been late in paying January bills.

"We had recently moved our offices to Odessa," Armstrong said, "and we are now finishing up January's bills."

City Attorney Elliott Mitchell said Thursday that the city had not disallowed Permian to fuel here because the city needed the air service.

Bob Clark, airport manager, added Thursday that he had been working with the airlines to clear up the overdue fuel bill.

John Andrews, president of Permian Airways, mentioned that his airlines is dependent on Big Spring because there exists a tight allocation of aviation fuel at other airports.

"We are depending on Big Spring for loading fuel to Dallas," he said, adding that passengers from Dallas to Midland had been bumped because of limited fuel.

The Herald reported Thursday that Permian Airways had also considered canceling flights to Big Spring for a period of 60 days.

"We had considered setting down a 60-day stay due to their (Big Spring Airport) not having a weather station," Andrews said.

Andrews added that a Federal Aviation Administration regulation holds that a plane may not attempt landing when instrument conditions exist without an on-site weather station. Permian has had to cancel landings in Big Spring on a number of occasions due to restricted visibility.

The city of Big Spring has been equipping its weather station at the air facility, City Manager Don Davis said today. He added that a technician from Reese Air Force Base near Lubbock is presently making final fittings.

Permian Airways is also instructing three airport employees in reading weather monitors for FAA certification, Davis said.

Andrews said Tuesday that Permian will continue air service to Big Spring.

Permian presently makes two landings from Midland to Dallas on weekdays and on Sunday evening. The airlines makes stops Monday through Friday at 7:20 a.m. and 6:40 p.m. On Sunday Permian departs to Dallas at 6:55 p.m.

Tractor ad produces cash

If you want to sell something like a garden tractor, your chances improve immeasurably if you use the best medium possible — the newspaper's want ad section.

A local man did just that recently and said he was "glad he did" after selling the implement the fourth day the ad appeared.

The odds are you can get the same kind of success if you want to buy or sell something. Call 263-7331 and let one of the Herald's friendly sales persons help you. He or she will not only tell you exactly what the ad will cost but will help you word it in such a way that it will appeal to the reader.

Digest

Moslem rebels threaten

Afghanistan's Moslem rebels are reported threatening major attacks next month on Soviet-occupied Kabul and urging residents of the mile-high capital to stock up on food and prepare for the fighting.

But the U.S. diplomatic drive to get the Russians out of Afghanistan appeared to be foundering, as Secretary of State Cyrus Vance failed to win joint support from America's European allies for a boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

The reported rebel threat to the capital came as shopkeepers in Kabul shuttered their stores in the largest civilian protest yet against the presence of an estimated 70,000 Soviet occupation troops.

Persuasion ability doubted

President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr's ability to persuade the militants to give up the U.S. hostages in Tehran has been thrown into doubt after the captors got support from Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and renewed their demand for the return of the shah.

But the Carter administration believes the Iranian regime is still committed to the release of the Americans, who began their 111th day in captivity today.

Storm damage gruesome

Caskets floated out of rain-sodden graves as levees crumbled and dams overflowed in Southern California, forcing thousands of persons to flee as rain continued to fall in the West. A sewer line ruptured in Phoenix, Ariz., dumping 35 million gallons of raw waste daily into swirling flood waters.

Drier weather was expected today in Southern California, but 10 days of rainstorms pummeling the West have left at least 31 persons dead. Officials predict damages will far exceed $425 million.

Not running for 'downtown people'

If elected, Higgins vows to print 'sunshine review'

Mayor candidate Jerry Higgins said Thursday night if elected he will write a "sunshine review" on any matter discussed in closed session.

"I am calling this the sunshine rule," Higgins said. "I am going to write a sunshine review."

Higgins said he will personally have printed all matter discussed in executive session and will make the publication available to any interested party.

"I'll tell you one thing," he said, "if there is tax money involved they are not going to slam the door on the citizens of Big Spring."

Higgins said the "sunshine review" will be a part of his pledge to open up city government.

"I am not running for the people downtown," he said. "I am going to turn the city of Big Spring over to the citizen."

Higgins acknowledged that recent comments on opening closed sessions had raised opposition.

"That made a lot of people — so-called downtown people — mad," he said.

But, he added, "We need people who will stand up and drag it out."

Higgins had said previously he would release a plan to improve the quality of water in Big Spring on Thursday.

The mayor candidate said Thursday night he would hold off on releasing the details.

He did say the cost of improving water quality would be some $2-3 million. He added that this would mean a triple increase in water rates for residents of the Spring City.

"If they (citizens) want to improve it," he said, "there are industrial methods to improve water quality."

He added, "It is going to cost you (the citizen) something."

Higgins qualified his statements on the water situation by adding that it would not be feasible to launch an improvement project.

"We have good potable water," he said. "At times when lakes turn over it doesn't taste good."

UNDERGOING TREATMENT — A fund has been started at the Security State Bank here for Michael and Becky Richter, pictured here, victims of a lung disease. Chagra arrested in Nevada after six-month search LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Convicted narcotics trafficker Jamel Alexander "Jimmy" Chagra has been arrested by federal narcotics agents who had been searching for him since he skipped bail more than six months ago.

Chagra, 35, was arrested Thursday night as he was driving down the Las Vegas Strip, said Joe Catala, an agent with the federal Drug Enforcement Administration. Chagra offered no resistance when he was taken into custody.

Chagra, who disappeared last August just before he was to be sentenced in Austin, Texas for his conviction on "continuing criminal enterprise," had $187,000 in cash on him when he was taken into custody about 7 p.m., Catala said.

The money, in $10,000 packets of $100 bills, reportedly was in a diaper box in the car.

Chagra's wife, Elizabeth, was located at a nearby motel but was not charged.

"He would not talk about anything," Catala said. "We warned him of his rights and he refused to make any statement."

Catala denied an earlier report that DEA agents had been tipped that Chagra was in Las Vegas.

"No, we weren't," he said. "We had the suspicion. We saw a car that we recognized from an earlier investigation and we decided to sit on it. And we got lucky."

Catala said that when Chagra was taken into custody by four DEA agents and a Las Vegas police officer ficer "He said something like, 'Yeah, I'm a fugitive.'" Chagra, a soft-spoken professional gambler known in many casinos here, was convicted last August of masterminding a not-so-successful Colombian dope smuggling venture. He was the alleged leader of what government prosecutors said was a conspiracy to bring in at least 13.2 pounds of cocaine — valued at $2,000 an ounce — from Colombia to Florida in November 1977.

He also allegedly masterminded an attempt to smuggle 30 tons of marijuana by freighter from Colombia to Florida the following month.

He disappeared before his sentencing, which had been set for last Sept. 5, and forfeited $400,000 bail.

Following his arrest, Chagra appeared before U.S. Magistrate Joseph L. Ward, who set Feb. 29 for a hearing on his return to Texas. Ward continued the $3 million bail set for Chagra after he disappeared.

Chagra, asked by a reporter where he had been for the past six months, responded, "On the Las Vegas Strip."

Chagra is the brother of the late Lee Chagra, a prominent El Paso, Texas attorney who was murdered in his office in December 1978 during a $200,000 holdup. Three men have been arrested in connection with the case.

Joe Chagra, Jimmy's brother and an El Paso attorney, said Thursday night he was flying to Las Vegas to resume representing his brother.

"I've talked with Jimmy," he said. "He was in good spirits. He said he turned himself in."

In other action, the board will take it upon themselves to gain renewals from individuals, and businesses that have not pledged under the new dues schedules.

Each board member is to contact six businesses and individuals to persuade them to renew.

The new fee structure sets dues at $120 for a business and $72 for an individual.

The Cultural Affairs Committee is attempting to bring a symphony concert to Big Spring. The proposed date is May 15 and the likely location is the Big Spring High School Auditorium.

The dust covered an area from the South Plains across North Texas to as far east as Tyler.

FRESH WATER FROM AN OLD WELL

— GOD'S LOVE —

Charles Spurgeon, a noted English clergyman, noticed that the weather vane on the roof of a farm building bore the phrase "God is Love" and was troubled. "Do you think God's love is as changeable as that weather vane?" He asked the farmer.

"You miss the point sir," replied the farmer. "It's on the weather vane because no matter which way the wind is blowing, God is still love."

At the finish line it's Shirley by four months

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Phyllis George, Miss America 1971, may have beaten fellow Denton resident, Shirley Cothran, to the Atlantic City crown by four years, but in the race to the maternity ward, it was Shirley over Phyllis by four months.

Thursday, Miss Cothran — now Mrs. Richard Barret, gave birth to an 8-pound, 3-ounce boy in a Denton hospital. Miss George — now Mrs. John Brown and the first lady of Kentucky — isn't due until June.

The boy, named David Kyle, was born at 10:55 a.m. CST at Flow Memorial Hospital here.

The 27-year-old beauty queen now wears braces on her famous smile. From her hospital bed, she said she hopes to return to religious and educational speaking circuit in a few weeks.

Asked if she was glad the child was a boy, Mrs. Barret replied:

"Want a boy! I had a responsibility to fulfill. My husband is the last male named Barret in his family."

The leggy brunette received a doctorate in early childhood education from Texas Women's University here last August. She held bachelor's and master's degrees from North Texas State University. Mrs. Brown's alma mater, when she was named Miss America.

Barret is a financial consultant in the aircraft division of Commercial Credit Equipment Corp. of Dallas.

Attending were representatives from the Civil Defense Department, Big Spring Independent School District, the Veterans' Administration Medical Center, Big Spring State Hospital and Malone-Hogan Hospital, and approximately 100 from other areas.

Topics discussed included: severe weather warning systems, dissemination of severe weather to the public, national weather services operations, spotting tornadoes, selection of tornado shelters in schools and hospitals.

Those leading the discussions were meteorologists in charge of National Weather Services in Midland and Lubbock, directors of Texas Tech University Institute for Disaster Research, Texas Disaster Emergency Services, Texas Department of Public Safety.

Special emphasis was placed on warning systems of local governments, schools and hospitals.

The group was advised of plans for a new TV-radar weather system for the Permian Basin area to be in operation around April 1, on channel 7, Monahans-Odessa station.

Politicians know how to spend loot

Some of the things that go on in Washington are enough to cause taxpayers to want to grind their teeth into dust and blow it through their noses.

Washington is filled with people who follow people around, begging for the chance to save the nation from disaster. Once elected or appointed, many of them spend the rest of the time developing pet phrases on why they can't deliver what they had promised the constituency — a cheaper, more efficient government.

WASHINGTON IS a place where the greatest political scandals of the world originate, mainly because the elector officers answer to no one for their sins. If they are caught, they are scolded for getting caught, not for committing a crime. Some of the things that are done cannot be classified as crimes, only as outrages against the electorate in general.

Consider a project commissioned by the House of Science and Technology Committee. Said project is a 1,073-page history of the committee itself, commissioned on the 20th anniversary of the creation of that panel.

A lot of the citizenry probably don't even know the committee exists. They may never know but they'll be paying for it. Entitled "Toward the Endless Frontier: History of the Committee on Science and Technology," the handy little book is costing over $325,000 to produce. Of that amount, $125,000 goes for salaries and another $200,000 for printing expenses.

RAMRODED BY former Chairman Olin A. Teague, a Democrat from Texas, the tome has been doughtily defended by its godfather, U.S. Rep. Ken Hechler, a Democrat from West Virginia. Let it be added that Hechler was a charter member of the panel.

In appraising his work, Hechler was ecstatic. Said he:

"It was a very exciting project." He characterized it further as "almost a case study for any course in political science that wants to put a searchlight on how a committee of Congress works and how legislation is passed."

Better Hechler than Truman Capote, granted. After all, he has three other history works to his credit. But — $325,000? When one sits down and figures up the initial run of 5,000 copies, that works out to a cost of $65 a book — and you know who is being frisked for the loot to pay for the printing.

Important as the work of the committee may have been, it seems it would have been more proper for its members to let some third party immortalize them, if there is just cause for such immortalization.

Maybe the proper attention could be paid the literary classic by one of Sen. William Proxmire's "Golden Fleece" awards.

Beating on Bush

Evans, Novak

MANCHESTER, N.H. — The newfound political magic of George Bush has spread so persistently since his Iowa triumph that Ronald Reagan's managers privately conclude they face disaster in the Feb. 26 New Hampshire primary unless Bush is effectively portrayed as an upper-class front man for the old Nixon gang.

The question is: Who will do it? Reagan himself believes in the 11th commandment, forbidding one Republican to speak ill of another. William Loeb's Manchester Union-Leader onslaught on Bush evokes yawns. Sen. Howard Baker has begun to assault Bush but pulls punches after 13 years of senatorial politesse.

If nobody draws blood before then, Reagan must overpower Bush in the Feb. 23 two-man debate his managers engineered. That is his last chance to avoid a defeat here that would make Bush the commanding favorite for the Republican nomination.

THE CONVENTIONAL WISDOM that Bush and Reagan are neck-and-neck is distrusted by neutral Republican politicians, who suspect steady leakage of Reagan voters. The reason: George Bush is a political phenomenon. While taking conventional conservative positions in conventional Republican prose, his enthusiasm infects his overflow audiences.

The rapport was obvious last week at a Lebanon town hall and even more intense that night before a Dartmouth College town-and-gown crowd of 1,500. When his call for a strengthened CIA produced the evening's most protracted applause, it showed how quickly students have changed. But more than rising conservatism, Bush gains from coming over as the happiest warrior since Hubert Humphrey.

Reagan's first post-Iowa response was to point up his superior conservative credentials on opposing the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA), abortion and gun control. This and ringing rhetoric on pro-defense, anti-Soviet policies titillated Reagan's own hard core. But it did not stem Bush's tide.

Rep. Jack Kemp, Reagan's economic spokesman, insists the answer is to emphasize economic questions. While Reagan has embraced the Kemp-Roth tax cut, Bush distrusts current Republican tax reduction philosophy.

Reagan sounds more like Kemp than Reagan on new 30-second television spots written for him by Jeff Bell, New Jersey Senate candidate in 1978 and a Kemp acolyte. But how comfortable Reagan is in this stance is doubtful. Campaigning in New Hampshire last week, he fell back on relating details of his triumphs as governor of California. In a 15-minute luncheon speech in Merrimack, he devoted 15 seconds to tax reduction.

Nor is Jerry Carmen, the rough-and-tumble Manchester Republican who runs Reagan's campaign, enamored with Kempomics. He had campaign staffers searching the record for anti-Bush material. They found a tiny nugget in Jules Witcover's "Marathon," a 1976 campaign book: "Everyone knowledgeable in Republican politics considered Bush incompetent to be president."

Carmen wants to brand Bush as a country club candidate whose backers went to Ivy League colleges, worked in the CIA and joined the Trilateral Commission. Most of all, he wants identification of Bush with Richard M. Nixon. Reagan operatives have tried to keep alive the decade-old story of Nixon "slush fund" contributions to him, but nobody except the Union-Leader pays much attention (and one Reagan insider confides: "I'm afraid Bill Loeb just lacks credibility").

Leukemia: Some bright aspects

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My son, who is 13, came down with chronic leukemia a year ago. He is coming along very good. His white cell count is way down and his platelet count is coming up. He has been gaining weight. He has a wonderful doctor, but I don't like to ask questions in front of my son.

I have questions. Is heredity a factor? Do you have any information on this problem, such as what you might get at seminars, any breakthroughs? They say "ignorance is bliss," but I disagree. My husband does not talk about it. I find writing a letter to you like this is less emotional for me than asking questions face to face with his doctor — Mrs. C.B.

Twentieth century medicine has abandoned any notion it might have held that patients' "ignorance is bliss."

Leukemia is an abnormal increase in the blood's white cells. Because there are different types of white blood cells there are different types of leukemia. So we can speak about different kinds of "leukemic states." These can, in turn, be further categorized as to whether or not they are "chronic" or "acute." Chronic means the onset is gradual before serious symptoms are found. Acute means the onset is sudden.

While I cannot be specific with regard to your son's leukemia, I can tell you that much progress has been made in recent years in successfully controlling it, especially in its childhood forms. In fact, in some forms the word "cure" is being used cautiously. Various chemotherapy (drug) treatments have been producing very good results.

Many causes have been proposed for leukemia — viruses, certain chemicals, certain defects in genes. We cannot say, but it seems doubtful that children inherit leukemias from parents.

From your letter, it appears that whatever treatment his doctor has initiated has had beneficial results. That should encourage you.

I am not trying to paint leukemia in rosy hues. You and I both realize it is a serious disease. But because a lot of people have refused to believe that "ignorance is bliss," much work has been made possible, many treatments tried and much progress made. Certainly, your own doctor would be willing to discuss with you and your husband the specific type of leukemic state your child now has and what the future holds for him.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a Baker cyst. Surgery has been recommended to remove it. Will I be laid up afterward? Should it come back on me? — B.S.

Baker's cyst is named for a doctor. It is a soft swelling behind the knee and is usually due to one of two problems. One is a kind of bursitis, the inflammation of one of the friction-reducing sacs found at the joints. Another cause is a hernia (weak point) in one of the sheaths that cover muscle tendons at the back of the knee. A Baker's cyst (in answer to another reader's question) is not malignant.

Surgery is really the only good answer for a Baker's cyst. If one bursts, there can be terrific pain, and that is best avoided. Once removed, the cyst should not return.

Of course, after surgery involving muscles, joints or bones, there has to be a period of rest followed by gradual rehabilitation, including exercise. Consider the removal of knee cartilage in football players. They have to be immobilized for some time after surgery. They are usually back on the playing fields the next season.

Cause for rise

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Those exorbitant oil profits can be traced right back to the politicians who have complained the loudest about them. Suppressed documents show that the Carter administration misled the public about the 1979 oil "shortage." It was a deliberate deception calculated to drive up oil prices.

The administration's purpose was well-intentioned even if its methods were not. President Carter wanted to conserve precious oil by reducing consumption. This could have been achieved by rationing or pricing; he chose higher prices.

THE OIL COMPANIES happily joined in the great deception, producing a phony gas shortage, line-ups at the gas pumps and a sudden jump in prices. Then the Carter administration and the oil industry blamed it all on the disruptions of the Iranian revolution and a supposed drop in oil imports of some 2 million barrels of oil a day.

But I discovered the figures were wrong and accused the Carter-oil combine of lying. I cited the findings of the Central Intelligence Agency which reported that both world oil production and U.S. imports had actually gone up during the phony shortage.

This aroused indignant denials from the oil companies which apparently based their public relations on the assumption that someone would believe them if they just yelled loud enough. The American Petroleum Institute, the voice of the oil industry, attacked me in letters to editors.

In response, I laid out more evidence which the industry's hired drum beaters couldn't successfully dispute. Instead, they resorted to an old debater's trick; they changed the issue.

In another attempt to fool editors, the Petroleum Institute accused me of citing a secret CIA report which wasn't really secret. The oil men no longer argued that the report was wrong, just that it wasn't secret.

I have had access to many secret CIA documents dealing with the oil gouge. But this particular report, though not released to the public, apparently was not classified. Now let's get back to the real issue.

The Carter administration began to warn, in January 1979, that the Iranian revolution would precipitate an oil shortage. Yet according to the secret minutes of the Jan. 15, 1979 Cabinet meeting, then-Energy Secretary James Schlesinger confided to the president that "the Saudis and others have increased production in their fields" to offset the problem.

The result? Suppressed oil figures show that imports to the United States actually rose. The Energy Department's top statistician, Lincoln Moses, confessed in a confidential memo that the earlier predictions were all wet. "I was wrong," he admitted, "about world oil production, which these (CIA) figures show to be above January and February of 1978."

YET THE CARTER administration stuck to its gloomy predictions. Officials actually phoned the oil companies in an attempt to rectify the disparity between their predictions and the CIA figures, inside sources told my associate Dale Van Atta.

To congressmen familiar with the CIA figures, the dire administration outlook struck them as odd. The House Energy and Power subcommittee in a March 21, 1979, memo took note of the administration's "consternation over news that should have been good news for the American consumer — the reported increase in U.S. oil imports at a time of feared scarcity."

The administration viewed the good news, the memo suggested, "as a threat to its strategy of exploiting (the Iranian) crisis as an opportunity to drive home to the American people the fragility of our oil energy situation, the need for conservation, the need for higher prices, the need to sacrifice...the last thing a crisis manager wants is for his crisis to evaporate before his very eyes."

Polls, opinions

Around the rim

James Werrell

It is election time again, and time also to begin wondering anew about the chicken-egg nature of opinion polls.

As in the ancient chicken and egg debate, the question also arises of which comes first, the poll or the opinion. The pollsters of course expect us to believe that the opinion comes first.

IF THIS IS THE case, however, what the pollsters have shown us is that fickleness is preponderant characteristic of the average American.

Scant months ago, Jimmy Carter would have had a difficult time beating Harold Stassen in a presidential race, said the polls. One sage, upon examining those polls, declared that the nomination "is Senator Kennedy's for the asking."

What do the polls tell us with just a few days remaining before New Hampshireites cast their primary ballots? President Carter holds a commanding three-to-one lead over his hapless challenger in the challenger's own "back yard."

Similarly, on the Republican side, Ronald Reagan was allowed for months to languish at the top of the polls. For a time, ever so short a time, the "charismatic" John Connally was touted as the man best equipped to beat Reagan.

With Connally's charisma apparently abandoning him overnight, George Bush became the man of the hour. I will give even money that Reagan is written off as a virtual has-been within hours of the reporting of the results of the New Hampshire primary.

Is the American public that fickle? Perhaps, but the insidious nature of opinion polling must play at least a small role in the drama.

Take for example, the question of whether Mr. Reagan's age is an issue in the election. Independent of any answer a poll might come up with, Reagan's age becomes an issue by virtue of the fact that the question is posed.

There may have been hordes of citizens who would have voted for or against Reagan without having the faintest idea that he is 69 years old. But with the proliferation of polls, this type of ignorant bliss is impossible.

THE SAME RULE of thumb applies to whether Kennedy's ill-fated, moonlight ride in Chappaquiddick is an issue. It is not wholly, but at least partially an issue because the polls made it so.

On a smaller scale, my parents were recently offered the opportunity to apply to become a Nielson "family." They politely declined.

In a sampling as small as the Nielson TV ratings system, my parents could ostensibly have played a large part in determining the nation's viewing habits. Since my parents watch almost no TV except for news specials and old movies the results may have been disastrous for the supposedly average viewer.

Advertisers may have abandoned "Three's Company" for the type of show that only my parents and three other viewers are able to sit through. The Nielsons not only measure what the average viewer watches, but also play a large part in determining the scope of what he will see.

The same is true of all opinion polls. What they ask will in turn play a part in determining the results of the next poll; a self-perpetuating system.

This is not to say that polls are valueless. One must just be aware of their inherent Orwellian nature. The polls must serve the country in making decisions, not vice-versa.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Recently I received Christ into my life and it has been a wonderful experience to know my sins are forgiven. My friends, however, say it is an emotional experience that will not last. How can I be sure it will last? — C.C.

DEAR C.C.: I am thankful you have come to Christ, for this is the most important decision you can make in life. When you came to Christ you made a commitment to Him. You committed yourself into His hands, trusting Him for your eternal salvation. You also committed yourself to Him as Lord of your life, saying you will follow Him and serve Him. Don't let anything — or anyone — divert you from that commitment.

It may very well be true that your emotional feelings will not always be as they are now. Emotions come and go, and that is why you need to rely on more than emotion. But remember this: you have put your faith in Christ, not in your emotions. Your emotions may fade from time to time, but Christ will never fade away. He is with you, and you are His child. Nothing can change that fact.

What I want to stress is this: Trust the fact of what Christ has done for you, and what He has promised you. Don't trust your feelings alone. And what has Christ done for you? For one thing, God has forgiven you because of what Christ did on the cross for you. He has adopted you into His family. He has promised you salvation, and He cannot lie. He also has promised to guard you and keep you. "Praise be to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! In His great mercy he has given us new birth into a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, and into an inheritance that can never perish, spoil or fade — kept in heaven for you, who through faith are shielded by God's power" (1 Peter 1:3-5).

Then take steps to continue your walk with Christ every day. Read His Word, pray, and get to know some Christian friends. As you do, you will be strengthened and know His presence in deeper ways.

Big Spring Herald

Mailbag

Dear Editor:

This being an election year is what prompts me to write this letter. While this is not altogether my opinion, I firmly believe what I have to say.

From the last five administrations, including our present one, our president has been or is a member of the Trilateral Commission or the Council of Foreign Relations, as is their cabinet members, all of the secretaries and most of the undersecretaries. Although this isn't very earth-shattering to many Americans, it would be if they only knew the power and the impact these two organizations have over our lives and of the forming of this governments' foreign policy.

Today I believe that most Americans would agree that our foreign policy is a disaster and in shambles. We need look no further than the devaluing dollar, the soaring energy prices, the crisis in Iran or Afghanistan to see this.

It is time for Americans to wake-up and elect responsible people to solve these problems.

What are our choices? We have Jimmy Carter as Democrat or we have George Herbert Walker Bush as Republican, or do we really have a choice?

With these two choices we can look forward to more of the same, if not worse, and I predict the latter.

Doesn't it seem a little strange that David Rockefeller would contribute to the limit to both of these candidates? Or, could it be that he owns both of these candidates, who are members of the Trilateral Commission, and David Rockefeller just happens to be the father, the grandfather of the Trilateral Commission?

Bush will never seem to run out of funds, will be able to afford the best political image-makers in the country and will present the public with the most elaborate and extravagant media hope of any candidacy since Carter and Rockefeller bought the presidency in 1976.

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR PAYS OFF BET — Oklahoma Gov. George Nigh, left, serves a slice of barbecue to Texas Gov. Bill Clements, right, as Texas football coach Fred Akers watches the payoff. The barbecue was payment of a bet on last October's football game between Texas and Oklahoma, which Texas won, 16-7, and brought about a barbecue for the victors near San Marcos, Texas Thursday night.

Longhorns taste success

Oklahoma governor pays off bet

SAN MARCOS, Texas (AP) — For the Texas Longhorn football team the sweet smell of success had the aroma of barbecue and beans — reminders of the 16-7 victory over Oklahoma last season.

Gov. George Nigh of Oklahoma entered the enemy camp — a ranch 30 miles from the Longhorns' Austin, Texas, home — for a Thursday night party celebrating Texas' four-month-old triumph.

"We're relishing again our great victory over Oklahoma," said Texas Gov. Bill Clements, class of '39 at Southern Methodist University.

Clements had wagered a Longhorn steer against Nigh's buffalo bull on the October Texas-Oklahoma football game, and Clements said the Texas squad should be able to make a meal of the buffalo.

But Clements said Nigh's 14-year-old, 1,800-pound buffalo was so tough he would have been inedible, so Clements donated him to the Tyler, Texas, zoo.

The buffalo carries the brand of "UT" on one side, Clements said, and the 16-7 score on the other side.

So, the Texas players and their dates dined on tender beef and sausage.

Clements, wearing a black cowboy hat and western shirt that matched the hat and shirt worn by Nigh, gave the Oklahoma governor a print of a Longhorn steer by Texas artist Melvin Warren "so he can dream about what he didn't get."

Nigh said he called for buffalo donors after Texas defeated OU and got 35 offers — six for free. "We were real thrilled to send" the one chosen "down to Texas," said Nigh.

Cattle and horses grazed nearby as the crowd mingled in a party barn that resembled an aircraft hanger and ate seated on bales of hay.

Chef Rudy Mikeska prepared a Longhorn-sized menu of 500 pounds of beef, 200 pounds of sausage, 170 pounds of potato salad, 170 pounds of slaw and 30 gallons of beans.

Texas Coach Fred Akers, a meticulous dresser who loosened his tie for the boots-and-jean occasion, was euphoric over a recruiting trip in which he signed, among others, All-American high school linebacker Jeff Leiding of Tulsa, Okla.

Akers told his squad he appreciated it that Nigh was "man enough to come in here and be a part of this."

Akers said his team "takes a lot of pride in playing that school across the river — it's probably the No. 1 football game in the country."

"Hopefully," said Clements, "we can do this again next year — same time, same place."

Nigh said he thought the party should be held on an annual basis, "but it would only be fair if next year we held it up in Oklahoma."

Either way, the governors agreed, they would lay down a bet on the outcome of the traditional game.

THE HUDSON RIVER

When you've seen great ships sail into a broad river and make their way to the sea, you forget that every river has its source.

Far up in the Adirondack Mountains of northern New York a mountain stream tumbles its rocky way to the valley... so begins the mighty Hudson.

Human might and greatness are the same. They begin in a small way as the individual makes the right decisions, embraces the important values, chooses the course of his life.

A strong religious faith can go a long way in helping us find our true destiny. Christians believe as we worship together that what we are today is but a point along the way to what God intends us to become.

DEAR ABBY: My friend and I have a bet on. She says you have had a face lift. I say you haven't. I have $10 riding on your answer.

JOHNNY G. IN PHILLY

DEAR JOHNNY: You win. (Would I lie to you on George Washington's birthday?) Besides, if I were to have something lifted, it wouldn't be my face.

DEAR ABBY: May I add to your advice to READY TO SCREAM—the lady apartment manager who complained about a divorced, retired gentleman who lived across the hall. She said he would ring her doorbell at least 10 times a day to find out if she "needed" anything; he would ask her stupid questions and try to engage her in conversation, and he was a bore and a pest.

You said he was probably just lonely, and needed some "friendly understanding." He needs more than that, Abby. He needs something to do.

After all, since she's managing the apartment, she could find some odd jobs to keep him busy. Sweeping the sidewalk, vacuuming the hallway, polishing the brass, carrying in groceries for tenants—anything to make him feel useful.

Too many retired people are made to feel useless and "in the way." They desperately need to be treated as contributing, respected human beings. If they're treated that way, instead of merely tolerated or humored, they will be happier, more productive and healthier.

HARTLAND, MICHIGAN

DEAR HARTLAND: (Heartland would be more appropriate.) Your answer was better than mine. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Hooray for Allen, the soldier stationed in South Korea, for asking you to encourage the folks back home to write to their servicemen overseas.

He said, "When there's mail call, you should see those young soldiers run to see if they got anything. It's sad to see so much repeated disappointment as they hang their heads and slowly walk away empty-handed. Some of those guys are only 17 or 18 and have never been away from home before."

Abby, I would love to correspond with a lonesome soldier, and so would some of my friends. I would even send a batch of homemade cookies if I knew where to send them.

Can't you please tell us how to get a correspondence going with one of those young men?

RED, WHITE AND SOMETIMES BLUE

Habitual criminal charges may be filed

DALLAS (AP) — A man who gave grand jury testimony in the assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. and who was once convicted in a contract killing has been arrested in Houston.

However, the attorney for Charles Harrelson, 41, of Dallas, said the arrest Friday apparently was not related to Wood's death. "This Houston case doesn't seem to be connected with it at all, at this time," said Dallas attorney Charles Tessmer. "We just know so little about it now."

Harrelson was convicted in the 1968 contract killing of a Texas grain dealer. He also was convicted of a federal firearms violation in Kansas City and was acquitted in Houston murder-for-hire case.

A San Antonio grand jury investigating Wood's murder subpoenaed Harrelson in October, and Tessmer said Harrelson testified for "two or three hours."

Tessmer said Harrelson is to be arraigned in Houston on a charge of possessing illegal gambling equipment. When asked if investigators may have been keeping a close eye on Harrelson because he talked to the grand jury, Tessmer replied: "It's possible, they did have a search warrant."

There was some confusion surrounding Harrelson's arrest Friday. Tessmer said he had been told the arrest was for possession of gambling equipment.

A Harris County Jail spokesman said HHHarrelson was arrested for gambling. A state prosecutor in Houston said the charge was possession of altered gambling paraphernalia — a pair of magnetized dice.

Tessmer said he earlier was told an agent for the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms found weapons in Harrelson's car. "What they're probably wanting to do is run ballistic tests on the guns they found in the car. We told them (the grand jury) last October that Harrelson wasn't in San Antonio when the shooting occurred and that Harrelson had an alibi," Tessmer said. The state prosecutor said habitual criminal activity charges might be filed against Harrelson. Wood was killed outside his San Antonio home May 29. A reward of $125,000 has been offered for the identity of his assassin, and Congress has been asked to raise the reward to $3 million.

Local girl initiated into sorority at Tech

Mary Elizabeth Riley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W.A. Riley, Silver Heels, was initiated into the Gamma Iota Chapter of Sigma Kappa at Texas Tech University last Saturday.

Mary Elizabeth was among 28 initiates of the sorority. She pledged Sigma Kappa last fall. She is in her second semester at Texas Tech.

Among other festivities, the group of initiates were honored at a steak luncheon on Sunday.

CAROLINE AND TOM — Caroline Kennedy, 22-year-old daughter of the late John F. Kennedy, is shown with writer Tom Carney, 31, recently. Carney conceded in an interview appearing in the March issue of the Ladies Home Journal that he's "in love" with Caroline, but replied, "I can't answer that," when asked if marriage was a possibility.

Park your car for crises' sake

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm writing this in response to Denise, from Santa Barbara, Calif., the woman who lied to her date, telling him she was sick after discovering that he didn't have a car. She couldn't face the embarrassment of having to take the bus to the beach.

I'm a 22-year-old college student and I have dated a reasonable number of men. I've used public transportation on many dates: both when I ask the guy out and when he asks me. There was a time (I hate to admit it) when I would have been embarrassed to take the bus. Not anymore.

The cost of using a car is enormous. First, you have to buy it, then license it, insure it, service it, pay to park it and keep gas in the gas tank. I don't know how much money people have "TwEen 12 and 20," but at 22 it's all I can do to pay for rent, electricity, telephone, food, clothes, medical insurance, dental bills, etc., as well as for my tuition and books.

People "TwEen 12 and 20" as well as the rest of us should be aware of the energy crisis facing our country. Why not do your part to conserve energy, leave the car in the garage, and use public transportation. That's something to be proud of, not embarrassed about! — Elizabeth, Seattle, Wash.

Bill Northcutt presents rock program to AAUW

The Big Spring branch of the American Association of University Women met Monday in the home of Mrs. Walter Wheat with Mrs. Cass Hill serving as co-hostess.

Bill Northcutt, a self-styled Rock Hound, presented the program on gems, art and hobbies. Northcutt showed many rocks and gems, how to cut some of the rocks and told where some were found. "Collecting rocks has been my hobby for 20 years," he said.

Northcutt displayed rings, necklaces, pins and belt buckles featuring both gems and rocks.

Mrs. Mabel Beene, president, presided over a business session following the program. The next meeting will be March 17.

Edna Womack presents flower arranging program to Oasis

The Oasis Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Bob Wash with Mrs. C.V. Wash and Mrs. Lois Smith as co-hostesses.

The meeting was called to order by the club president, Mrs. Lela Hansen.

Mrs. Hansen reminded the members of the flower arranging workshop to be held Feb. 27 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 10 a.m. It was recommended that everyone bring a sack lunch.

At the next meeting a plant exchange will be held and everyone is to bring the extra plants that they have for the exchange.

Mrs. Hansen asked for ideas for improving the recreational areas owned by the city and for future areas that could be used for recreational areas. A committee is working on these projects for the city.

It was voted to give $25 to the Garden Club Council for trees and shrubs in the city park.

Edna Womack brought a program on basic flower arranging. Different types of containers were displayed that can be used and she said that containers in neutral colors were best. The most important thing is to make sure the mechanic is secure.

The best mechanic to use is the needlepoint holder as it will hold the longest. The stems of fresh flowers should be cut at an angle and immersed in cold water overnight up to the throat of the flower. The arrangement should be at least 1½ time as high as the container. An odd number of flowers is generally used. Arrangements in the different types of containers were shown. Lois Smith did the arrangement of flowers on the serving table.

Mrs. Harwell, Mrs. Newell, and Mrs. Horne showed a film on birds for the therapy program for exceptional children at Moss Elementary. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Creighton.

DOUGLAS BURKE
School for the Deaf director will speak to Methodist Church to hear Burke

Church to hear Burke

Douglas J. N. Burke, Executive Director of Howard College's Southwest College for the Deaf, will be the guest speaker at 7 p.m. Monday at the meeting of the United Methodist Men at First United Methodist Church.

Burke is well-known as an educational leader. He brings his expertise to Howard College's Southwest College for the Deaf, which is one of three colleges in the United States specializing in instruction for the deaf.

Burke was born in Minneapolis, Minn. He encountered problems as a deaf child. He had attended public schools for six years before his family realized that he needed an education designed for deaf students.

He attended at age 11 the Minnesota School for the Deaf in Fairbault, Minn. He was awarded his diploma from there in 1930.

Burke was awarded in 1955 a Bachelor of Arts from Gallaudet College. He did graduate study at Catholic University and California State University, being awarded in 1965 a Master of Arts in Education from the latter.

He is currently pursuing his doctorate from the University of Rochester.

Burke is married and has three children. His wife, Beatrice, is totally deaf and is certified to teach in the public schools in Texas. She is expected to join her husband here in June.

Burke's oldest son, Steven, 19, presently attends the University of Texas at El Paso, his daughter, Teresa, 18, plans to attend the University of Texas at Austin next fall, and his youngest son, Patrick, 15, will attend Big Spring High School beginning in the fall 1980.

Minister for deaf slated

Terry Thompson was the director of deaf studies and has a degree in theology from Christ for the Nations Institute in Dallas. While there he coordinated a program for training students to work with hearing impaired persons. He also organized and directed the well-known Sign of Love Singers to promote deaf awareness to the body of Christ.

TERRY THOMPSON

Terry has ministered on CBN, Trinity Broadcasting Network, Mexican government TV, and P.T.L. Latin American. He has done graduate work at Southwestern College in Waxahatchee, Texas.

Terry has traveled extensively in the U.S. and many foreign countries to share the gospel, speaking and singing in churches, conventions, banquets and rallies.

Terry now serves as vice-president of Humanity Interested Services in Conroe, Texas. A Farthing's Worth

BOOZING BELIEVERS

Our greatest and most damaging drug problem in America and Big Spring, TX, does not involve heroin, cocaine, nor marijuana, it's alcohol. A shameful percentage of professed Christians in our own city are boozers. Some of them are deacons, teachers and other influential church people. Some of the churches in town are known for their "beer busts" under the guise of bazaars and socials. I won't say they will go to hell for puffing away a six-pack now, but there's no way drinking can be consistent with New Testament Scriptures about holiness and glorifying God in our bodies.

But he did have ivory, metal ones

Contrary to legend, no evidence Washington had wooden dentures

(Special to the Herald)
HOUSTON — Americans may eat cherry pie Feb. 22, George Washington's birthday, in remembrance of the cherry tree Washington supposedly chopped down, but they wouldn't want to chew the pie with teeth like those of the first President.

"George Washington is really important in dental history because he had so much trouble for so long and he wrote extensively about it in diaries and letters," according to Dr. Ernest Beerstecher, professor and chairman of the Department of Biochemistry at The University of Texas Dental Branch at Houston. Beerstecher is a past officer of the American Academy of the History of Dentistry.

Contrary to legend, there is no evidence that Washington had wooden dentures. But he did have at least six ivory and metal ones made by several different dentists.

Washington's dental problems were not unusual for the era in which he lived. Beerstecher pointed out that although a large group of professional dentists developed in France under Louis XIV in the early 1700s, the profession was set back with the abolition of licensing requirements during the French Revolution.

Not more than a handful of dentists came to the American colonies before the American Revolution. There were no licensing requirements, and many charlatans practiced "tooth-pulling," Beerstecher noted.

A combination of poor dental hygiene and heavy dosing with calomel (a purgative containing mercury) caused many colonists to begin losing teeth before they were 18 years old, according to a special issue of "Dental Management" commemorating the nation's bicentennial.

Fillings were not generally a satisfactory treatment for several reasons, Beerstecher said. Only hand drills were available until 1791 when one of Washington's dentists, John Greenwood, used a foot engine made from a spinning wheel to power a dental drill. There was no further improvement until the invention of the sewing machine in the 1870s provided a better power source.

"It was hard to find the right metal for fillings," Beerstecher added. "They knew gold was good," but even then it was expensive.

Pouring molten metal into a patient's tooth was neither comfortable nor safe. The first silver amalgams used as fillings crumbled in the teeth, and it took a long time for better ones to gain acceptance, he said.

Most of the colonists went to a barber or a blacksmith to have their teeth pulled when the pain of disease and decay became too great, Beerstecher said. Even silversmith Paul Revere handled a dental practice on the side. Extractions were performed without anesthetic and with such crude instruments that sound teeth and pieces of jawbone were sometimes removed along with the bad teeth.

Only the wealthy, like Washington, could afford dentures, Beerstecher explained. Animal teeth or ones carved from ivory were attached with gold wires to a base of ivory, wood or metal.

"It cost an awful lot to get somebody to carve a whole set of teeth out of ivory," he said. "They worked all right if you could ever get them to fit and stay in place."

Museums agree to joint custody of two portraits

BOSTON (AP) — The Museum of Fine Arts and the Smithsonian Institution have agreed to joint custody of the George and Martha Washington portraits. The famed Gilbert Stuart paintings will commute between Boston and the nation's capital every three years, and their owner, the Boston Athenaeum, will receive $4,875,000.

The agreement came after a nearly year-long debate that began when the institution's National Portrait Gallery offered to buy the historic paintings. The settlement was announced Thursday by Howard W. Johnson, museum president, who said the vote of museum trustees was unanimous.

The portraits have been on loan to the museum for some time, although they are owned by the private library.

The agreement between the museum, the Smithsonian and the Athenaeum needs only the approval of the state attorney general and the Probate Court.

Johnson said the paintings will hang in the museum and the portrait gallery on an alternating basis — three years in Boston and three years in Washington.

Under the terms of the agreement, the museum will pay the Athenaeum $2,125,000 for its share of the portraits, and the Smithsonian will pay $2,750,000, nearly equal to the $5 million offer the gallery made the Athenaeum last year.

When the financially troubled Athenaeum announced last April it planned to sell the 178-year-old portraits, a "Washingtons Belong In Boston Committee" was formed. But it failed to raise the $5 million to keep the paintings in Boston permanently.

However, the money raised by the committee was used by the museum to buy its share of the portraits.

The Athenaeum bought the portraits from Stuart's widow.

Hawk Queens clinch title with easy win

CLARENDON — The Howard College Hawk Queens jumped out to an early 16-4 lead en route to an easy 69-49 win that clinched the Western Conference title.

The win gives Coach Don Stevens Queens a conference mark of 10-1 with one game remaining, and boosts their season mark to 23-7.

Clarendon, meanwhile, drops to a record of 1-9 in conference play and 5-13 on the year.

Coach Don Stevens described his team's performance as "lackluster", but it was still more than enough to take the win.

The Queens increased their early lead to 42-25 at halftime, as Kelly Lyons scored 14 points and Joane Lefridge 12 in the first half.

After jumping out to the early 16-4 lead, Stevens began substituting freely, which could partly explain the sub-par performance. Another factor was that the Howard College women had routed Clarendon in their first encounter.

Stevens, though not particularly pleased with the play of his team in the win, was nevertheless proud of the fact that it clinched the conference championship outright, stating: "We would like for the conference championship to come in a big important game, like Odessa or Western Texas," said Stevens. "But," he added, "it is an extreme compliment to our girls that they could win with this type of record (10-1), in that it is such a good record and that it came with such a big lead. All of the conference coaches felt that the championship would not be decided this early, but you never can tell what's going to happen."

The Queens now have one regular season game left, a home encounter against the tough Amarillo College Lady Badgerettes next Thursday. The Howard College feds will then begin their quest for the national championship the following week in the Region V Tournament, which will be played in the friendly confines of Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Lyons led the Queens in the win that clinched the regular season title, scoring 14 points. Lefridge added 13, and Jill Floyd 10.

Lindsey paced the Clarendon team with 12 points.

HOWARD COLLEGE (69) — Martin 4 0-8; Floyd 5 0-10; Cortez 1 0-2; Lefridge 6 1-13; Freeman 3 0-6; Lyons 7 0-14; Jones 3 4-6; Moon 0 0-4; Smith 2 2-6; TOTALS 29-11-49.

CLARENDON (49) — Nately 2 0-4; Pizarro 1 0-2; Morse 5 0-10; Lindsey 4 0-12; Lamb 2 2-4; Fuller 3 3-9; Link 3 0-6; TOTALS 22-5-49.

Halftime Score: Howard 42, Clarendon 25.

To boost Region V Tourney chances

Hawks topple Clarendon

CLARENDON — The Howard College Hawks moved one step closer toward a berth in the Region V Tournament Thursday night in taking a 76-65 win over the Clarendon Bulldogs.

The Hawks jumped out to an early lead, but never could make their advantage substantial. The Howard College team held a 35-32 halftime lead.

The game remained close throughout the affair, as Clarendon moved within one point on occasion in the second half. But the Howard Bulldogs could never take the lead in the contest.

The Howard College team's biggest margin in the contest was 12 points, as the Clarendon team, who has a deceptive record, hung tough.

Once again, it was the inside play of Mike Wallace and Ron Akins, coupled with the outside floor performance of Rocky Rawls, which paved the way to the Hawks win. Akins scored 25 points and Wallace added 22 in the contest.

Javier Marques led the Clarendon attack with 15 points.

The win gives the Howard College crew a conference mark of 9-7 and a season record of 18-11. The Hawks are jockeying for either a second round berth or a spot in the final conference standings, which would insure a spot in the Region V Tourney.

Howard College will close out its regular season with two home games next week against New Mexico JC and Amarillo College. Clarendon drops to 0-16 in conference play and is 3-23 on the year.

Howard College Coach Harold Wilder was happy with the win. "It gives us an opportunity to win 20 games this season. Of course, the biggest aspect of the win is that it increases our chances of making the regional tournament."

Wilder praised the play of Akins and Rawls in the contest. "Akins played a really good game," said Wilder, "and Rawls made some excellent passes and played well otherwise."

HOWARD COLLEGE (76) — Wallace 11 0-22; Rawls 12 4-6; Green 1 0-2; Faubion 4 1-9; Word 1 0-2; Gaston 1 0-2; Akins 11 3-25; Robinson 1 0-2; Jones 4 0-8; TOTALS 35-34-76.

CLARENDON (65) — Lewis 7 0-14; Black 7 0-14; Marques 6 3-15; Scott 4 0-8; Gomez 2 0-4; Kirk 5 0-10; TOTALS 31-34-65.

Permian-Midland meet here for 5-AAAA title

By NATHAN POSS

The District 5-AAAA championship will be on the line tonight in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum when the Midland Bulldogs and the Odessa Permian Panthers hit the floor at eight.

Both teams tied each other for the first and second half rounds of play in 5-AAAA. The two teams were 6-1 in each half.

In the first half of competition, Midland took a 78-70 win in their own gym, but San Angelo forced the situation into a tie when they upset the Purple Pack.

Permian opened up the second half of competition by taking an overtime win over Midland in the Mojo fieldhouse, and the Panthers appeared to be on their way to the state playoffs. But San Angelo showed no mercy, as the Bobcats drubbed Permian with only three games left in the year to force the second half into a tie.

Both teams employ a full-court press, so the contest should be anything but dull. Both teams also have some fine individuals capable of controlling a contest with their scoring and rebounding.

Permian boasts Brad Kerley, a returning All-District 5-AAAA performer that won the league scoring title this year. The 6'6" senior forward averaged a salty 24.4. Teammate Scott Wynne also has scored proficiently, as he averaged 19.4 in district play. Other Permian starters are Ken Wigley, Duane Adams and D.B. Massey.

Midland, who is the defending 5-AAAA champion, offers an impressive performer in 6'9" junior Herbert Johnson. Johnson does not have Kerley's scoring average, but is capable of having a big game on any night. Other starters for the Purple Pack include Perry Bolger, Anthony Carroll, Darrin Matlock and Roger Morrett.

Midland enters the game with the better season record, sporting a dazzling mark of 30-6. Permian, meanwhile, is 23-9.

Both teams also have coaches in their first year at the schools. Permian is coached by Charles Pattillo, who came to Mojoland from Pecos. Jack Stephenson, who directed the Snyder Tigers to the District 3-A crown last year, is the Midland mentor.

The winner of tonight's contest will battle the champion of District 6-AAAA, Wichita Falls, next Tuesday.

Youthful Steerette tracksters open season

When the 1980 Big Spring High School girls' track and field team opens their season tomorrow in a tri-meet in Snyder, first-year Coach Micki Rogers will be fielding a young squad.

But that doesn't necessarily mean that it will be a disappointing season, as the Steerette tracksters have the potential to pick up many points.

Probably the biggest threat is sophomore Carla Jackson, who qualified for the regional track meet in the maximum five events last year, due to her superlative performance at the 5-AAAA meet.

Jackson will be competing in the 100-meter, triple jump, long jump, and both the 400-meter and 800-meter relays.

Coach Rogers lists the sprints, the sprint relays, the triple jump, the long jump and the discus as her team's strong points entering the season. Assisting Jackson on both the 400-meter and 800-meter relays are Sylvia Randle, Debra Ausbie and Rochelle Rutledge. These performers will also provide strength in the individual sprints.

Randle and Pam Banks should also provide some points in the triple jump, as will Rutledge in the long jump. Banks earned points in the 5-AAAA meet last year in the high jump.

Rogers also expects the discus to be an event in which the BSHS team could pick up some points throughout the year. The discus throwers are sophomores Elise Wheat, Pam Caudill and Jessica Randle.

The distance events and the distance relays are what concerns Rogers presently, as there is a shortage of possible points in these areas.

But there is hopefully plenty of time to improve in these events, as the District 5-AAAA Track and Field meet, to be held this year in Abilene, is not scheduled until April 11.

The triangular meet in which the Steerettes will be competing tomorrow will consist of teams from Big Spring, Snyder and Sweetwater.

Buffalo Queens in regionals today

LUBBOCK — The Forsan Buffalo Queens head into today's girls' Class A regional tournament in Lubbock today against the toughest of competition.

The Buffalo Queens of Coach Ronny Taylor, who defeated Iraan in bi-district, will face the state's top ranked team, New Deal, in the first of two Class A regional battles. The Forsan-

New Deal game is slated for a 4:30 p.m. tipoff.

The Buffalo Queens have come around to play the best basketball of the season when it has counted the most. The Forsan feds defeated Ropes and O'Donnell last week in the District 5-A Tournament, and then decisively Iraan on Tuesday.

The Forsan girls carry a record of 25-6 into the game.

New Deal advanced into the regional with a 51-31 win over Vega, with Vickey Teal leading the way with 22 points. Teal is the younger sister of Western Texas star Sheri Teal.

If the Forsan girls win today, they will battle for the regional championship tomorrow morning at 10:30 against he winner of the Paducah-Panhandle game.

The Paducah-Panhandle game will be played immediately following the Forsan-New Deal contest.

The winner of the regional tournament, which will take place in Lubbock's Municipal Coliseum on the campus of Texas Tech, will advance to the state tournament next weekend in Austin.

Track season begins for BSHS thinclads

FORT STOCKTON — The Big Spring Steers track team will be one of seven District 5-AAAA units that will be on hand for the opening of the new season today when the Comanche Relay gets underway.

Mahre leading in men's slalom

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Phil Mahre of Yakima, Wash., took the lead after one run of the men's slalom today and moved into position to claim the first Alpine gold medal ever by an American male at the 1980 Winter Olympics.

Mahre, 22, started No. 1 from the gate and turned in a time of 53.31 seconds over the 549-meter, 66-gate course. Jacques Luetthy of Switzerland and Hans Enn of Austria were tied for second at 53.70.

Ran into a friend last week & he said he had some gossip to tell me. He made it clear that he never repeats gossip and that I should listen carefully the first time.

My husband talks about "sudden flashes" he has occasionally & says they're signs of youth...my friend, Bo agrees they're merely hot flashes.

Charlie Finley and Billy Martin

Baseball's unlikely couple united

As Charlie Finley hires Billy Martin to manage Oakland

CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Martin, dismayed at the prospect of sitting on the sidelines "even for a couple of months," has accepted the managerial reins of the Oakland A's.

"I don't want to watch my baseball over a television set or from the stands," said Martin, fired as New York Yankees manager by club owner George Steinbrenner last October after Billy was involved in a fight with a marshmallow salesman.

"I want to be on the field," Martin added. "I love baseball. I wouldn't enjoy the summer without baseball."

"I could have waited, and then I would have been a manager, but the main question now is whether he will get along with A's owner Charles O. Finley.

Finley put together five division and three World Series championship teams at Oakland before the free-agent draft stripped him of his stars.

What if the volatile Finley decides to dictate to the quick-tempered Martin as he has with former managers?

"As owner and general manager of the club, Charlie has a voice in everything," said Martin. "On the field, it's my ballgame, my cup of tea."

"If he calls on the phone to the dugout, I'll rip the phone out," said Martin. "That's what I did when George Steinbrenner called."

Martin, who had two years remaining on his contract with the Yankees, said he agreed to a settlement with the Yankees and signed a new, two-year contract with the A's. Terms were not revealed.

Martin and Finley appeared together Thursday at a news conference.

Finley said that he had hired Martin because "he's the best man available. Billy has knowledge of the game. He plays aggressively. He expects his players to put out 100 percent. When you have knowledge and use it aggressively, you turn out to be a winner."

"He's been there as a successful player and he's been there as a successful manager."

Martin will be Finley's 11th field boss in 13 seasons. It will be the sixth tour of duty as a manager for Martin, who has piloted the Minnesota Twins, Tigers, Rangers and Yankees.

Winter Olympics Roundup

Heiden continues unreal Olympic act

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — It's four gold medals down and one to go for speed skating superstar Eric Heiden, who continues to rewrite the Olympic record book with bold, broad strokes that have turned these Winter Games into a salute to his individual brilliance.

They have become the Heiden Olympics, unquestionably dominated by the long, lean 21-year-old from Madison, Wis., the first man in history to win four gold medals in a single Winter Games.

By himself, Eric has matched the best gold medal production any entire American team has managed in the Winter Olympics since the United States won six events in the 1932 Games — the last time Lake Placid served as host. Only once since then — in 1952 at Oslo — has America won as many as four winter golds and now Heiden has done that all alone.

And he still has one more gold to go.

Heiden's latest gold came in Thursday's 1,500 meter race when he was timed in a record 1 minute, 55.44 seconds. That followed victories at 500, 1,000 and 5,000 meters. All that remains is the 10,000 meter race on Saturday and you know who the favorite is in that one.

Two Norwegians, Kai Arne Stenshjemmet and Terje Andersen, finished 2-3 behind Heiden in the 1,500, timed in 1:56.81 and 1:56.92 respectively. That silver and bronze combined with a third place bronze medal in women's 4 x 5 kilometer cross country relay race gave Norway nine medals for the Games and third place in the overall standings.

East Germany took the gold in the cross country race and added a silver from Jan Hoffman in the men's figure skating and moved in front of the Soviet Union in the medal race 19-18. The Russians, second in the cross country, still lead in golds 8-7.

Heiden's gold was the seventh speed skating medal won by the United States and Charlie Tickner's figure skating bronze gave the United States a total of eight medals for the Games. America won 11 medals at the 1976 Games at Innsbruck, but only three of them were gold.

Tiny Liechtenstein claimed its first Olympic gold ever and third skiing medal of these Games when Hanni Wenzel won the women's giant slalom. The silver went to Irene Epple of West Germany and France's Perrine Pelen claimed the bronze by the narrowest of margins — one one-hundredth of a second ahead of teammate Fabienne Serfat.

The men's figure skating crown was won by Robin Cousins of Britain who overtook Hoffman in the Thursday night's free skating portion of his program. Tickner, third after the compulsories and short program, remained third for the bronze.

Earlier, world champion Linda Fratianne of the United States put on a dazzling short free style program to take over second place in the ladies figure skating competition. She trails East Germany's Annet Pötzsch halfway through the event with Dagmar Lurz of West Germany third. The gold medal will be decided in the long freestyle program Saturday night.

Tonight, the ambitious, unbeaten United States hockey team moves into the medal showdown portion of its tournament, facing the defending champion Soviet Union. Finland plays Sweden in the other medal round game.

The Americans are seeking their first hockey medal since 1972 and with four victories and a tie so far, they have done almost as well on their ice as Heiden has on his in these Games. For the United States, it has been all hockey and Heiden at Lake Placid.

"It was not as hard as I thought it would be," Heiden said of his latest gold. "To tell you the truth, I feel pretty good."

And he looked good, too, despite a near-slip on the third turn that sent a gasp through the crowd. His right hand touched the ice, but he regained his balance in an instant and zoomed on to the victory.

"I think there is a rut in the ice and I really didn't step in it, but just the pressure from my left foot going around the turn broke the ice and I fell into it," he said. "I came pretty close to falling and I had to put my arm down, but it didn't sit in my mind too long after that."

Bryant wins Field Scovall Award

DALLAS (AP) — Paul "Bear" Bryant, head coach of Alabama's national football champions, received the prestigious Field Scovall Award Thursday night at a gala 16th All Sports Association Awards Banquet.

Bryant trails Amos Alonzo Stagg as the winningest collegiate football coach in history.

A sellout crowd of 1,200 jammed the Lowes Anatole as Bryant was joined on the dais by other honorees including Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, tennis star Martina Navratilova and Houston Oilers Coach Bum Phillips.

Oiler running back Earl Campbell was not able to appear because of a previous commitment.

Gene Stallings, defensive coordinator of the Cowboys, a former player under Bryant at Texas A&M University, and also an assistant at Alabama, presented the award to his old mentor.

Norm Brinker, the founder of Steak and Ale

Restaurant and the husband of the late Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, presented the Big D Award to Navratilova.

Staubach and Texas Ranger Gold Glove third baseman Buddy Bell were presented Distinguished Service Awards.

Staubach's award was presented by backup Danny White, a last-minute replacement for Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw, who was at home with the flu.

The other awards were the result of balloting by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Phillips was named Texas Professional Coach of the Year, and Campbell, the Pro Athlete of the Year.

Other honorees included Texas-Arlington Coach Bud Elliott, Southern Methodist soccer coach Jim Benedek, and Ron Harms of Texas A&I, coach of the NAIA national football champions.

NBA Roundup

Westphal proves open man theory

By the Associated Press

The secret in basketball is to hit the open man and Thursday night that turned out to be Paul Westphal.

"It just happened that I was the guy open in the first half," the veteran guard said after scoring a career-high 49 points — 30 in the first two periods — and leading the Phoenix Suns to a 125-116 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Westphal poured in 14 points in the first quarter and 16 more in the second, although the Suns weren't able to pull away until the final quarter. The game was tied 11 times in the third period and three more in the fourth until Phoenix hit three consecutive field goals, two by Walter Davis, to take a 111-105 lead and extend Detroit's losing streak to 11 games.

Davis added 28 points and Alvin Adams had 20 for Phoenix. Detroit was led by John Long's 23.

"Westphal got a lot more time than usual," said Coach John MacLeod. "but when a guy hits 30 points in the first half he's on fire and we have to go to him. It can be Davis (Truck) Robinson or (Alvan) Adams, but tonight it was Westphal."

Elsewhere, the San Diego Clippers defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 104-99 and the Washington Bullets nipped the Cleveland Cavaliers 118-115.

Clippers 104, 76ers 99

Lloyd Free led a balanced attack with 24 points and Bill Walton added 16 in his first start of the year as the Clippers snapped a four-game losing streak. Walton grabbed 11 rebounds and scored two key baskets in the final minutes. Philadelphia's Julius Erving led all scorers with 28 points. Swen Nater came off the bench to score 16 points and haul down 16 rebounds in relief of Walton. Coach Gene Shue used his two centers in the lineup together down the stretch.

Bullets 118, Cavaliers 115

Kevin Porter sank two free throws with seven seconds remaining to preserve the Bullets' come-from-behind victory. Porter directed the Bullets' attack throughout the tight fourth quarter and finished with 12 points and six assists. Elvin Hayes led Washington with 32 points and Greg Ballard added 26. The Bullets trailed 76-71 midway through the third period but scored 10 points in a row to take the lead for good. Randy Smith had 24 points and Mike Mitchell 22 for the Cavaliers, who have lost 28 of 33 road games.

Border officials offer facilities for 80 Olympics

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — Officials at the Border Olympics, a four-decade-old South Texas track meet, have offered their outdoor facilities as a site for any alternative 1980 Summer Olympics.

Border Olympics president Alan Jackson Thursday wrote a letter to President Carter, suggesting the border town site:

"We of the Border Olympics Inc. are at this time offering our facilities should the United States sponsor a 'Free World Olympics' this summer. Our facility includes an all-weather track fully measured in meters and would accommodate the running events," the letter said.

Carter announced this week that the United States would not participate in the 1980 Moscow Olympics because the Soviet Union had not pulled troops out of Afghanistan.

The Border Olympics will be held in the new facilities Feb. 29 through March 1.

ONE MORE TIME — Howard College's Mike Wallace (42), the Western Conference's leading scorer, pays the price on one of his scoring attempts during the Hawks recent win over Odessa College. The shot failed, thanks mainly to the defensive efforts of Odessa's Craig Ehl, who fouled Wallace on the scoring attempt. Waiting for a possible rebound is the Hawks Ron Akins (32). The unique photograph was shot from the upper walkway in the ceiling of Dorothy Garrett by Herald Photographer Bill Forshee.

NATIONAL LETTER WRITING WEEK — The U.S. Postal Service will release these six stamps to promote Old fashioned posse justice revived

Citizens fight back against crime

NEW YORK (AP) — Amid a plague of ugly crime — including what the mayor calls "an epidemic of gun violence" — New Yorkers are fighting back with old fashioned posse justice.

Rush-hour commuters in Grand Central Station cheered on Thursday as bystanders banded together to grab a wallet-snatcher. Subway riders tackled a mugger and held him until police arrived.

Earlier this week, a knife-wielding assailant fled into the arms of police to escape an angry crowd.

Crime — both above and below ground — has been on the front page and on the evening news here in recent days.

—A man brandishing a meat cleaver slashed four riders on New York subways in two attacks, and managed to escape by jumping off the train only moments before it left the station. He's still at large.

—A still-undetermined man was decapitated when he was pushed under the wheels of an on-rushing train, and an 11-year-old boy who was shoved into the path of a subway remains in grave condition.

—Two police officers have been killed and six others wounded since the year began.

Mayor Edward Koch calls it "an epidemic of gun possession and gun violence." On Thursday, he asked the Legislature to set minimum one-year prison sentences for those who carry unlicensed guns.

But citizens also are reacting — three times Thursday and, just days after angry commuters and a subway conductor disarmed and captured a man who had threatened them with a knife.

"Chalk this one up for the public," said Transit Authority Police Officer David Orshowitz after the incident on Tuesday.

"I'm sure if we hadn't arrived, we could have found one suspect hanging from a subway beam. The suspect was escaping to us to keep away from them," he said.

In cases Thursday: —About 100 persons plodding through Grand Central Station on their way to work stopped to cheer as 20 bystanders chased and grabbed a man who tried to steal a woman's wallet as she waited to get coffee at a terminal bakery. "It was a whole team effort," said bakery manager Joseph Zaro, who helped hold the robber until police led the suspect away.

—A band of eight to 10 subway riders chased and tackled an 18-year-old man after they saw him snatch two gold chains worth $2,600 from a woman's neck, police said. The angry straphangers also held the suspect until authorities arrived.

—A 60-year-old salesman brandishing what looked like a gun chased and helped capture two teen-agers who tried to grab his wallet as he dozed on a subway train. Police said his "gun" turned out to be a device to spray the chemical Mace.

Illegal aliens 'pay their fair share,' researcher says

HOUSTON (AP) — A College of Mexico researcher says his studies show that only about 9 percent of the illegal aliens who come to the United States remain in the country and "most of these pay their fair share of taxes."

Jorge Bustamante, testifying Thursday in a federal court trial, said the immigrants "come looking for jobs. And those who stay in the United States are the kind of people who refuse to accept things as they are and want to better themselves. They have a desire, a determination and ambition."

A group of Hispanic parents recently filed lawsuits against several Texas school districts for refusing to enroll the children of illegal aliens.

A Texas statute, enacted in 1975, prohibits free public education for the children. Some school districts admit the youths under a tuition program, costing an average of $1,000 a semester. Other districts bar undocumented children entirely.

U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals ordered the lawsuits held in abeyance until completion of this trial on the constitutionality of the state law.

Bustamante said between 500,000 and one million Mexican nationals enter the United States each year and 45,000-90,000 stay.

Asked by attorneys for the plaintiffs if the promise of a free public education would bring a wave of Mexican nationals to the United States, Bustamante answered, "No. They come here only looking for jobs."

Bustamante testified, "a great majority of the aliens come from Mexican states that offer the best educational systems in Mexico. The illegal aliens are not always the unemployed or the very poor. Generally, they have jobs in Mexico, but want to improve themselves and the status of their families."

Susan Dasher, an assistant state attorney general and chief counsel for the defendants in the trial, argued that the admission of illegal alien children would bring chaos to many school districts.

She said some districts along the Mexico-Texas border would be swamped and face bankruptcy.

Ms. Dasher also said a large influx of Hispanic children would turn from serious to critical the shortage of bilingual teachers.

Testifying earlier Thursday, Dr. Thomas Carter of Sacramento State University of California, said Texas would have trouble hiring additional bilingual teachers until salaries are raised.

Carter said Texas teacher salaries are now $2,000 to $3,000 lower than those of other large, growing, industrial states.

He testified, "There are many Mexican-Americans graduating from the University of Texas at El Paso who would be capable bilingual teachers. I don't know how many are being certified by Texas. I do know that school districts in California are recruiting them."

The trial is expected to last from three to five weeks.

January Carrier of the Month: Robert Gilbert

Robert Gilbert has been honored as January Carrier of the Month. Carriers are chosen on the basis of sales, service, collections and record keeping.

Gilbert Narboiz, Robert's district manager says Robert is a fine salesman for the Herald. He is one of the carriers who has qualified for a sales trip to the Carlsbad Caverns by producing three new subscribers and having his collections in by the 10th of the month, furnishing his customers with porch delivery, and having no complaints during the contest period.

Robert maintains his carrier route in the same manner - his books are in order and his customers on Route 175 are serviced properly. We join them in congratulating Robert on being selected Carrier for the Month of January.

The time, according to Eli Terry.
Eli Terry made more than clocks. He made works of art that told time. Back when Benji Ross was making the first American Flag.
Now, so that more than museums and private collections can have the Howard Miller clock a grand old example of his exquisite craftsmanship and recreated in Then they added Europe's three most beautiful cathedral chimes. Westminster St. Michael, Whittington.
The matches Eli Terry Mantel Clock. It's just like seeing history made.

Inquisitive twin ends fight for life Thursday

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A 4-year-old twin who had been in a coma since she and her brother were shocked in a bathtub died late Thursday.
Anderia Putnam and her brother, Anthony, were pronounced dead on arrival at a Fort Worth hospital after an electric hair dryer fell into the bathtub with them Monday, a Fort Worth doctor said.
But Anderia responded to life support systems which have kept her heart, kidneys and lungs functioning, said the doctor, who asked not to be identified.
The child died at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, a hospital spokesman said.
The child's parents had been attempting to decide since Monday whether or not to disconnect life support equipment that was keeping the child alive.
The family lives in Keene in nearby Johnson County, and the children were taken to Fort Worth from a Keene hospital.
Since Monday, Jere Putnam and his wife, Karen, had maintained a constant vigil at Anderia's bedside, whispering words of reassurance to her, Putnam said.
But a family friend, Fred Frakes, said the Putnams had almost given up hope that Anderia would be strong enough to live without the life supports.
The father said unless there was a miracle, they didn't hold much hope, Frakes said before the child died.
"Tragic, isn't it? They were darling, inquisitive children. And it's the inquisitiveness that got them in trouble," he said.
Mrs. Putnam said the twins were bathing while she prepared lunch and when she returned to the bathroom, they were floating side-by-side in the water.
A seldom-used hair dryer usually kept under a bathroom cabinet was also in the water.

Ford overseas earning high
DETROIT (AP) — An overseas earnings record gave Ford Motor Co. its third-best year ever despite losses at home. The No. 2 automaker said Thursday it earned $1.17 billion or $9.75 a share in 1979, down 26 percent from the record $1.59 billion or $13.35 a share in 1978. In the final quarter, Ford lost $41 million or 35 cents a share against profits of $282 million or $2.35 a share in 1978.
Outside the United States, where Ford led all producers in motor vehicle sales for the 15th straight year, the company earned a record $1.4 billion in 1979. Fourth-quarter foreign earnings were $231 million. In 1978, Ford earned $779 million abroad.
In the United States, Ford lost $199 million or $1.66 a share for 1979, compared with profits of $809 million or $6.80 a share the year before. For the fourth quarter, the company lost $273 million or $2.28 a share on its domestic business.
