FACES IN YOUR LIVING ROOM — The owners of two of the most familiar faces seen on network television put in an appearance on the Sunn Classics movie set in the Big Spring Industrial Park Monday. They are Gary Collins (left) and James Hampton, shown here discussing the script for the film, "Hangar 18," which is being shot here. The movie company set up its camera along FM 700 this morning for some chase scenes. Collins and Hampton portray two U.S. astronauts who spot a UFO in the movie.

Iranians arrest navy commander

Iran's navy commander has been arrested for alleged close links with the "U.S. spies" at the occupied American Embassy in Tehran, the Iranian government newspaper reported today.

The arrest of Adm. Mahmoud Alavi, first reported Monday without explanation, was based on documents found in the embassy, the Islamic Republic newspaper said. It was the third time since the embassy takeover that documents found by the militants holding U.S. Embassy have led to the arrest of an Iranian official.

Today was the 115th day of captivity for the 50 or so American hostages at the embassy. There were no new developments reported that would indicate the hostages would be freed any earlier than April, the time mentioned by revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

On Monday, the U.N. investigating panel on Iran heard testimony from Iranian jurists about the shah's alleged misdeeds, and President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr appeared atop the U.S. Embassy wall to demonstrate solidarity with the young militants holding the hostages.

Alavi had attained the rank of vice admiral in 1975, under the shah's regime, but retired because of differences with his superiors in the former government.

The New York Times quoted Washington officials as saying they would not have agreed to sending the U.N. commission to Iran without clearly expecting the hostages to be freed, and that they were counting on the panel to delay issuing its report if Iran does not agree to release the captives by the time the report is finished.

The five-man U.N. commission began hearing testimony Monday. A source close to the panel said examination of the allegations will continue "for the next couple of days." He said the commission's program is open, and the investigations will be planned from day to day. No other details were given.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim's spokesman, Rudolf Staudacher, told reporters in New York that Waldheim felt the commission "is making progress. The secretary-general is confident all these efforts will lead to final solution of the crisis. Obviously more patience is needed."

State Department spokesman Hocking Carter, speaking to reporters in Washington, refused to comment when asked if he thought Iranian authorities had reneged on an understanding with the United States that the hostages would be released when the commission finishes its work, about March 7.

But he said that in the past Iranian leaders had made "wildly contradictory" statements that had "as much relation to reality as a puff of smoke."

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolution, said on Saturday that the fate of the hostages would be decided by Iran's new parliament, which will not be elected until April 3. No date has been set for the Parliament to meet.

On Sunday, several spokesman for the regime denied there was any connection between the work of the U.N. commission and the release of the approximately 50 hostages, who have been held at the U.S. Embassy since Nov. 4 by young militants demanding that the United States return Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his wealth to Iran.

Bani-Sadr made his first visit to the embassy Monday since he was elected president Jan. 25 and with other members of the ruling Revolutionary Council joined some of the young militants on a platform atop the wall surrounding the compound.

Thousands paraded past in snow and rain, chanting anti-American slogans and holding up Khomeini posters. Inside the grounds, some of the occupiers paraded with machine guns and rifles. The rally was one of many called throughout the country to demonstrate national unity and an end to dependence on foreign powers.

Draft of women

'down the drain'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, told its proposal for draft registration of women is "down the drain," agreed today to seek money separately for registering men.

The decision marks a major change in strategy in the administration campaign to begin registering men and women, aged 19 and 20, this summer.

Until now, the White House request for registration money has been a single package containing funds for registration of both men and women.

Airport renovation splits council

By JAMES WERRELL

The Big Spring City Council today denied a motion to not renovate the terminal at the Big Spring Airport.

Despite the convoluted nature of the vote, this does not mean that renovation will go ahead as planned.

Preliminary plans for the renovation of the terminal were presented to council members by local architect John Gary. The plans included the installation of several new windows of Thermopane glass, a counter for luggage, eight new chairs and the upgrading of bathroom facilities.

Estimated cost for the total renovation would run somewhere between $12,000 and $15,000 Gary estimated. Of this, the city would be required to pay only a quarter of the amount with the rest provided through federal funds.

"I think this renovation will accomplish two things. First, it will make the terminal a more conducive facility for the airlines. Second, it will provide a better image for the area where most industrial prospects come first in the city," said City Manager Don Davis.

The reaction to the plan by council members ranged from out of the question to not enough.

Councilman Larry Miller wanted to deny the request altogether.

"Until such time as we have budgeted money for a project like this, I think it isn't needed. It's a matter of priorities," he said. "Sure, this will be 75 percent federal money, but it is time we started to realize whose money that is. We are just supporting deficit spending by the federal government."

Councilman Ralph McLaughlin went the other direction.

"I have been soliciting and working to bring industry to this community for many years, and I can't think of one prospect that didn't fly into the airport. And many of them got no further than the airport. They were turned off by the appearance," he said. "This renovation is absolutely necessary. I can't believe that renovation of a conference room hasn't also been included in the plans."

Councilman Jack Y. Smith fell somewhere in the middle, by his own admission.

"I feel like I'm caught in a hard place. We need to go forward, but I question whether these plans are too elaborate. How much of this is just beauty stuff, and how much of it is necessary?" he asked.

With Mayor Wade Choate absent from today's meeting, the motion made by Miller to deny all renovation failed for lack of a quorum. Miller and Councilman Bill Henkel voted in favor of denial, McLaughlin voted against it, and Smith abstained.

Following the vote, city staff members were instructed to look into other methods of renovating the facility, possibly using city crews to do part of the work. That information will be presented at the next council meeting.

Ordinance regulating signs approved

Oil drilling in city clears hurdle

The Big Spring City Council today approved a comprehensive ordinance concerning the use of signs in the city.

The ordinance, which is the work of the Planning and Zoning Board, covered eight pages of the council's agenda. It covers every aspect of sign use in the city, from signs for garage sales to signs for major industries.

"We feel that this is a complete and effective ordinance. Some people thought that it should have been written so that it could be understood by the village idiot. But it is not going to be enforced by the village idiot, so I ask that it be approved as is," said Mark Campbell, city building inspector, who, in fact, will be the enforcer of the ordinance.

Just before final approval of the ordinance, council members inserted a "grandfather clause" which will exempt signs presently in place from regulation by the ordinance.

An ordinance of even greater proportions allowing the drilling of oil wells inside city limits, and covering 26 pages of the agenda, was passed on first reading today.

"Just how adequate is the ordinance. Has it been proved out in other cities?"

asked Councilman Jack Y. Smith. City Attorney Elliott Mitchell told the council that the ordinance was virtually the same as that which has been used in Beaumont since the early 1950s.

"We think it is one of the best ordinances of its kind, and we are very satisfied with it," said Mitchell. "We have made some changes, raising the bond and insurance requirements in order to further protect the citizens," he added.

Mitchell explained that every aspect of the drilling procedure is covered in the ordinance, including the amount of noise or odor-producing agents that are allowed, and the prevention of danger to persons or property.

The second reading of the ordinance will be considered at the next regular council meeting.

The council also approved a resolution releasing 65 acres of industrial park property to the General Services Administration. This will, in turn, be released to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to be used as a school for the deaf.

"Does this mean that the F.A.A. (Federal Aviation Administration) won't allow us to give the property to Howard College? But we can give it to the G.S.A., and they can give it to Howard College?" asked Councilman Smith.

"Essentially, yes," said City Manager Don Davis.

Davis added that once the property is conveyed to the G.S.A., state agencies will be given the opportunity to bid on it.

"Between now and the second reading of this resolution, we will get with any state agencies who might be interested in the property and explain our situation. The only agency I can think of is the Parks and Wildlife Service, and I think we can get them to cooperate," he said.

In another resolution affecting the industrial park, the council voted to rent Building 29 to Photo West Photography. The building will be rented for five cents a square foot.

The council also gave its permission to submit a grant application for a Master Plan of the Big Spring Airport. The plan will cover only the airport and not the entire industrial park.

"On the first reading of this resolution, I had said to you (the council) that the city's cost would be 20 percent, with the rest coming from federal monies. The FAA just last week increased their share of the funding to 90 percent," said Davis.

In other business, council members: —Appointed judges and alternate judges for the five precincts in the April 5 city-wide election.

—Approved the appointment of one member from each of the city's banks and savings and loan companies to the Financial Advisory Committee for the Capital Improvements Program. This committee will review recommendations from the other four Capital Improvements Committees, and provide cost information to the council.

—Approved a request by Roger Brown to purchase a 3,000 square-foot right-of-way plot bounded by 11th, Runnels and Main Streets. Since Brown will improve the property, it was sold to him at 12.5 cents per square foot.

—Appointed again the accounting firm of Lee, Wilson and Reynolds to perform the city audit for the fiscal year 1979-80. Councilman Bill Henkel recommended the firm because it is both local and considerably cheaper than others who submitted bids.

New Hampshire primary may tell

Is Bush really the front-runner?

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire voters rendered their verdict today in a presidential primary that determined whether there really is a Republican front-runner, and tested the shaken challenge of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to President Carter's renomination.

Ronald Reagan, the pre-season favorite, and George Bush, twice a winner, were the leading contestants in a seven-way Republican contest.

Voter turnout was mixed when the polls opened at 7 a.m. EST in cool, sunny weather. The early turnout in Nashua's two largest wards was described as "pretty heavy," but polling was light elsewhere in the city. A heavy turnout was reported in Lebanon, but voting was light in Portsmouth.

Kennedy, greeting early-bird voters at two polling places here, told reporters he was "upbeat, hopeful — we might have some surprise." Then he flew to Vermont and Massachusetts for a day of campaigning.

Balloting was continuing until as late as 8 p.m.

In tiny Dixville Notch, far to the north, all 23 voters met after midnight to cast their ballots over coffee, close the books and announce the first returns of the day.

Republicans in the hamlet handed Reagan and Bush five votes each, followed by Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. with four. John Connally, Rep. Philip M. Crane and Rep. John B. Anderson got one each. The six Democrats gave Carter three votes, Kennedy two and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. one.

At stake in New Hampshire: votes for the Republican presidential nomination; 19 for the Democratic nomination, all committed in line with candidate shares of the popular vote.

In Minnesota, precinct caucuses tonight begin the process of selecting 75 Democratic nominating delegates and 34 Republicans. The caucuses there are not binding, but a Democratic straw vote tested the strength of the Carter ticket in Vice President Walter F. Mondale's home state, where the president loomed a heavy favorite.

Kennedy once was the favorite in New Hampshire, next door to his Massachusetts home, but not any more. The last pre-primary public opinion poll, conducted for the Boston Globe, said Carter was preferred by 55 percent of New Hampshire Democrats to Kennedy's 30 percent.

The senator from Massachusetts said his situation was like that of the U.S. Olympic hockey team, the underdog that won a gold medal.

"I'm glad to be an underdog," Kennedy said in Nashua Monday. "They were underdogs and they pulled it out, and we're going to do it."

But Kennedy said that whatever the outcome, he will stay in the race. He once said that New Hampshire and Maine were must-win states for his campaign, then changed his mind.

Carter defeated Kennedy in the Maine caucuses Feb. 10, with an edge of little more than 3 percent in the popular vote. He had beaten Kennedy by a landslide two-to-one margin in the Iowa caucuses on Jan. 21.

Mondale, who wrapped up the Carter campaign with a stop in Berlin, counseled against overconfidence, saying that polls don't count, and warning the president's supporters not to take anything for granted.

Still, Carter campaigners were bent on fashioning a victory margin that would embarrass Kennedy on his home turf, and perhaps slice into his formidable strength in his home state next week.

Carter never set foot in New Hampshire during the campaign, insisting that he would not do political business as usual in a time of foreign crisis, with American hostages still held in Tehran.

Brown was rated a far-back third in the New Hampshire public opinion polls.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Cancer odds

Q. Not everyone who has cancer dies of it, do they?

A. Records show that there are over three million Americans alive today who have a cancer history, two million of whom were diagnosed more than five years ago. The American Cancer Society estimates that a third of the people who will get cancer this year will be alive five years from now.

GREETINGS FROM MOM — Captain Lewis Chatham of the aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk is greeted by his mother, Mrs. Billie Chatham, as the ship docked at North Island Naval Base Monday in San Diego. The Kitty Hawk had been on an extended tour of duty in the Arabian Sea due to the Iranian crisis and had been at sea for over nine months.

GM recalling school buses

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors is recalling some school bus chassis and trucks because of brake system problems that have caused a few minor accidents, the automaker announced.

GM spokesman Ed Lechtzin said Monday that 55,000 1979 GMC and Chevrolet heavy-duty and medium-duty trucks would be recalled to replace front brake tubes that could fracture because of rattling in the system. He also said 3,500 1976 bus chassis would be recalled to replace defective push rod assemblies that could cause loss of braking power.

Repairs to all models will be free of charge, said Lechtzin.

Navy copters repaired

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Nine Navy helicopters, apparently the victims of sabotage, have been repaired and returned to duty, but investigators say they have found no motive for the incident.

Inch-thick cables were cut in the incident, discovered last week by a mechanic, the Navy said Monday. Cmdr. Jim Lois, spokesman for the Atlantic Fleet Naval Air Force, said the damage would have made the aircraft "extremely dangerous" in flight.

The helicopters were assigned to a combat support squadron at the Norfolk Naval Air Station. Repairs, mostly wire splicing, were made over the weekend and damage was believed minimal.

Death penalty assessed

MARTINSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A former mental patient with a long criminal record has been sentenced to die for the rape-strangulation slaying of a woman and the drownings of her three small children.

Steven Judy, who had asked to be executed "if you don't want another death hanging over your head," was sentenced Monday to die in the electric chair on May 15. His attorneys said they would appeal.

Judy said he killed Terry Lee Chasteen, 21, and her small children after he stopped to help the woman fix a flat tire.

Prosecutor is sentenced

DETROIT (AP) — Former Genesee County prosecutor Robert F. Leonard has been sentenced to five years in prison and fined $15,000 for embezzling federal money from an office fund.

Leonard, past president of the National District Attorneys Association, was convicted last November on four counts stemming from the use of money from a fund set up to pay informants in organized crime and narcotics cases.

U.S. District Judge Robert DeMascio on Monday ordered Leonard to post $5,000 bond pending appeal.

Police beat Local obscene caller traced

A 26-year-old man was arrested Monday on suspicion of revocation of probation.

Roy Levi Teeler was arrested at Silver Saddle Motel on a warrant issued by the Sweetwater Police Department.

Mary Ann Williams, 2003 N. Monticello, told police she knows who has been making obscene phone calls to her in the early hours of the morning. She says they have been using obscene language and complaining about her dogs barking.

Someone attempted to gain entry into the Jet Drive-In Theater through the north door. The offense occurred between a Sunday night and Monday afternoon.

County files date back to 1882

Deed records on microfilm

The earliest Howard County deed records dating back to 1882 are being copied and reduced, according to County Clerk Margaret Ray.

Southern Microfilm set up an apparatus in the courthouse basement for making microfilm of the records. The microfilm is shot by a Southern representative and then mailed to the company in Houston.

Cost of making the copies is $117. The pages are reduced in size so that two books can be placed in the slots where one deed volume was once stored.

Cost of having the original volumes resewn and revamped would be $100 per volume. Mrs. Ray said the slightly higher cost of having the volumes copied is worth the savings in space. She blamed lack of space in her office as a rapidly increasing dilemma.

She hopes by summertime to have the earliest volumes copied. She said a small number of records will be copied every year into smaller volumes to save the county the cost of doing all the records at once.

The law makes it impossible to take the records out of the courthouse, said Mrs. Ray, but it allows copies of them to be taken out.

Local pupils taking Basic Skill tests

All fifth and ninth grade students from the Big Spring Independent School District (BSISD) will participate in the first Texas Assessment of Basic Skills test program scheduled for today through Thursday.

The assessment plan, first of its kind in this state, will be scheduled once each year under requirements set by the Texas Legislature during its 1979 regular session.

The BSISD students will be among 500,000 expected to take the reading, writing composition and mathematics test during the Feb. 25-March 12 statewide testing period. Each of the tests will require a maximum of 40 to 60 minutes to complete.

The BSISD will report its district and campus aggregate scores to the public at a May or June meeting of the board of trustees, according to Lynn C. Hise, district superintendent. However, individual student scores will be reported only to the student, parents or guardian, and the school personnel directly involved, Hise adds.

"This testing program is designed to help the student and the school improve achievement," Hise points out. "For this reason, results will be reported in a manner that will help everyone become more effective."

Third grade students will be added to the annual sequence during the 1980-81 school year, according to plans announced by the Texas Education Agency. The three tests will make up an annual assessment effort designed to help both state and local school officials improve their services, Hise said.

Overall student performance, both by campus and by district, will be reported each year to the public by the local board of trustees.

During his ordeal, he lost 35 pounds. His doctors tell him he is well on the way toward recovery and he has no diet restrictions.

He will henceforth be able to spend a few hours each day on the job at H.W. Smith Transport. He said he is especially grateful to the multitude of friends who made inquiries about him during his confinement in the hospital.

Former mayor recuperating

Former Big Spring mayor J. Arnold Marshall is home recuperating from surgery, which he undertook to correct a blocked colon.

Marshall underwent the operation at Hendricks Hospital in Abilene. In all, he spent 90 days in that hospital and the Cowper Hospital in Big Spring.

"We use the term 'criterion-referenced' simply because it is a short way of saying the answer to each question must lead back to a specific objective," Hise explains.

Ninth grade students who do not make a satisfactory score may re-take the test each year they remain in high school. However, they will not be required to take it more than once. Later attempts to improve their scores and evaluate any remedial programs will be voluntary.

The annual test program will be administered by specially trained personnel in each school district under the guidelines and supervision of the Texas Education Agency.

Bauer Elementary School students will be tested today through Thursday. College Heights students will be tested today and Wednesday. Kentwood students will be tested today only.

Marcy students will be tested today through Thursday. Moss students will be tested today through Thursday. Washington students will be tested today only.

Ninth graders at Big Spring High School will be taking end-of-quarter exams this week and will be tested March 5.

There is no studying students can do for the tests.

Steele's Texans working hard

'Bushwackers' may prove George no 'Bush Leaguer'

BY STEVE SNIDER
States News Service

CONCORD, N.H. — New Hampshire's "bushwacked" claims the map of the state hanging in George Bush's headquarters here. Jack Steele of Houston looks up at it with a smile on his face.

The "bushwackers," as they are called by friend and foe alike, are the estimated 1,000 Bush volunteers working here during the last four days of the primary campaign, including 80 Texans directed by Steele.

The volunteer effort is an integral part of what Bush believers say will be a victory over former California Gov. Ronald Reagan in today's voting, the first of 37 primaries before the nominating convention.

Bush workers say the key to winning this state of less than one million citizens, of whom the majority are registered Republicans, is to top the thousands of independent voters.

"I guess we've had people in every town with votes," says Steele. "The voters like to see people from Texas up here. It lets them know that George Bush has broad appeal."

The idea for a home-state contingent of volunteers for Texan Bush originated in Houston, where all but a few of the 80 are from. A "young professionals" group of Bush workers sent out letters urging their colleagues to join the effort.

"Not everyone can come who wants to," Steele says, surrounded by ringing phones, wall charts and reams of leaflets showing the smiling face of the candidate.

"They had to pay their airfare and pay for everything else they got here. A lot of our people are young professionals, people who can't work during the day stuffing envelopes, but can take some time to do something like this, it really makes a difference."

Steele said there are many similarities between 1976 candidate Carter and 1980 Bush. Both were underdogs in the beginning, waged two-year campaigns and have conciliatory personal manners.

However, no similarity is more striking than the volunteer cadre that the two men unleashed on New Hampshire, he said.

Carter the farmer called his followers "the Peanut Brigade," a group that included many Georgians who fanned out into the state months in advance of the primary.

In addition to Steele's Texans, the Bush volunteers include busloads of students from Princeton, Yale, Brown and Georgetown universities and 16 Republican U.S. congressmen.

Bush organizers are confident of a strategy that utilizes volunteers canvassing neighborhoods handing out literature, as opposed to phone calls, a technique campaigns with fewer workers must use.

"People are getting tired of getting constant phone calls from the different campaigns," says Will Abbot, who heads the Bush Effort in Merrimack County. "This is a little different. I think people are much more responsive to eye-to-eye contact."

A favorite place for the "bushwackers" to make that contact has been town dumps.

"Everybody in New England goes to the dump on Saturday morning to socialize and we've had tremendous success talking to people there," said Parkie Fisher, Bush's state coordinator of volunteers.

Steele said most of the Texans have spent their time in the lakes region of Northern New Hampshire, a far cry from the Lone Star State.

Up in the coldest and most scenic part of a state where there is still more wooded than cleared land, one group spent a day last weekend handing out leaflets at a dog sled race.

From there they went to an ice-fishing contest, moving among the pickup trucks and crowds on a frozen 12-mile long Lake to shake hands.

in one hand walks up to me on the ice and just says, "What's Bush say on nuclear power?" Steele recalls, saying he told the man Bush was in favor of nuclear plants as an energy necessity.

"All he said was 'That's the right answer,' and he walked away. Boy was I relieved."

Not everyone, apparently, has walked away as pleased after meeting up with the Bush campaign.

Half-page advertisements in the state's major newspapers and the Boston Globe have argued that "bushwacked" means "Made to believe George Bush is not a liberal."

But the ads pale in comparison to the stinging attacks delivered at Bush by William Loeb's Manchester Union Leader, New Hampshire's largest daily paper.

Howard County Commissioners gave Sheriff A.N. Standard the go ahead to hire an additional jailer Monday in the afternoon session of their special meeting.

No motion was made or voted on. However, commissioners told Standard to DONATIONS HELPED — The Nimitz Steamboat Hotel in Fredericksburg, famous landmark in the early days, is shown as it appears today. It has been restored by donations from Texas citizens. Within it will be the Museum of the Pacific War.

Texas landmark opens

Hotel welcomes children

(Special to The Herald)

FREDERICKSBURG — The Nimitz Steamboat Hotel, famous on the Texas frontier for hospitality, good food and the gusto of its hosts, is again taking shape on Fredericksburg's skyline.

This time, instead of guests such as Robert E. Lee and U.S. Grant, it welcomes thousands of school children, visiting Texans and 'snowbirds' retreating from northern winters who stopped to see one of the world's most unusual museums, the Museum of the Pacific War.

Born in Fredericksburg Feb. 24, 1885, Admiral Nimitz agreed to the use of his name provided the center have determined that in September 1945, just after the surrender of Japan, as Commander-in-Chief Pacific, Nimitz commanded more than two million men and women, greatest military assemblage in history. That means that more than two million people have a piece of the Nimitz museum dedicated to them!

Dozens of American flags flew on Fredericksburg's wide Main Street to honor the birthday of Nimitz, their most famous native son, last of the nation's 5-star admirals, who died Feb. 20, 1966. In the newly-restored kitchen of the old hotel, local ladies served cake and coffee. Some will have donated kitchen tools from early days to add an historic touch to the old kitchen.

Work continues on the Steamboat Hotel, which is more than two-thirds finished on the outside, using money donated by people from all over Texas. Beautiful native rock is being revealed from beneath a veneer of concrete stucco, added when the hotel was "modernized" during the 1920s.

The Museum of the Pacific War will tell the story of four years of island-hopping. Adm. Nimitz assumed command a few days after the attack on Pearl Harbor and continued in that post until the surrender of the Japanese in Tokyo Bay. As "CinCPac" he wielded more military power than all commanders in all previous wars. Historian Samuel Eliot Morison described him as "the most considerate, beloved and accessible" of military commanders, yet his own great modesty kept him from being well known today, even in his hometown, Fredericksburg and Kerrville.

In addition to welcoming donations to help complete the hotel's restoration The Admiral Nimitz Center is accepting relics and mementoes from the Pacific War to be used in exhibits.

Deaths

T. D. Lockhart

Tommy Don Lockhart, 26, died Saturday in Sierra Leone, West Africa, the victim of an apparent drowning.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Born April 3, 1953, in Big Spring, he was raised in this area. He graduated from Borden County High School in Gail in 1971. He attended Baylor University, earning his degree at that school.

Sheriff flashed go sign to hire one more jailer

Howard County Commissioners gave Sheriff A.N. Standard the go ahead to hire an additional jailer Monday in the afternoon session of their special meeting.

No motion was made or voted on. However, commissioners told Standard to begin looking for another jailer.

Compliance with the State Commission on Jail Standards mandate that a jailer be on the floor at all times will result with certification by the commission.

Standard said at the Monday meeting that he had applied for variances on some of the 19 items listed by Jail Inspector Joe Slater. Of the others, 19 items, personnel was the only one that had not been taken care of.

Standard said the employment of one more jailer would enable one of the three jailers to be on the floor at all times. Currently two jailers are employed, one regular and one relief jailer.

Standard said the regular jailer would probably transfer to the office. The relief jailer would begin working full time.

Commissioners estimated the additional jailer would cost the county $1,046.50 a month; the salary of the current full time jailer, R.T. Bell. A salary for cooking is also included in the amount.

Slater visited with Standard and County Judge Bill Tune last week about their employee situation. Slater didn't promise employment of an additional jailer would comply with standards.

"Best I can remember he didn't make any promises," said Tune. Slater had said he would look at the situation and see if it worked.

A jailer would be working 12-hour shifts under the new system.

He taught school at Denison, Tex., until entering the Peace Corps. He joined the Peace Corps in July 1979 and had been in Africa since that time.

He was a member of Bethel Baptist Church, Luther.

Survivors include his mother, Jeane Lockhart, Big Spring; three brothers, Steven and Jackie Lockhart, both of Big Spring, and Kem Lockhart, Dallas; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Merworth, Farmersville, Tex.; and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Carl Lockhart, Luther.

CETA official suspended for fraud, corruption

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas County Commissioners Court has suspended without pay a county official indicted last week for fraud and corruption in connection with his management of the federal CETA program.

Under CETA, the Comprehensive Employment Training Act administered by the Labor Department, large amounts of money are routinely funneled into a myriad of agencies for training the unskilled. It has come under close scrutiny across the country because many local programs were found to be riddled with corruption.

A nine-count indictment was returned last week against Curtis Vaughan, manager of the Dallas County programs.

Weather: Clear skies prevail over Lone Star State

By The Associated Press
Clear skies and warming temperatures dominated the Texas weather scene today.

A high pressure system centered over eastern Kansas and western Missouri cleared out any remaining clouds over Texas during the night, dropping early morning temperatures into the 30s and 40s over most of the state.

WEST TEXAS — Continued fair and warmer through Wednesday. Highs near 60 Panhandle to low 80s Big Bend. Lows near 30 mountains and Panhandle to low 40s south. Highs Wednesday mid 60s Panhandle to mid 80s Big Bend.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is expected in the forecast period, today until Wednesday morning, for the northern pacific coast. Snow is expected from the lower Great Lakes to northern New England. Except for the Atlantic coast where temperatures will be cold, warmer weather is expected.

French Horn-Debbie Butler, Prissy Mann, and Anne Mullen; Trombone-Marty Badgett; Baritone-Steve Chavez and Billy Taylor; Tuba-Delbert Green.

Two ensembles received First Divisions. They were Cornet Trio-Alena Pyles, Kevin Bock, and Ted Weesner and a Saxophone Quartet-Sherri Rogers, Kim Deel, Mike Donald, and Victor Mellinger.

Five persons disappear Thursday

Missing plane still being sought

TAOS, N.M. (AP) — A Civil Air Patrol spokesman says searchers are checking out some good leads in their hunt for a missing airplane with five persons aboard.

"Until we find it, we are continuing the search," said CAP coordinator Nelson Cournoyer. "We have some good clues."

Two men involved in the search for the Texas plane were in satisfactory condition Monday after their T34 search aircraft went down in rugged, mountainous northern New Mexico.

They were identified by Kirtland Air Force Base as Maj. Arthur Schwalm, 40, of Schaumburg, Ill., who is assigned to the Air Force Test and Evaluation Center at Kirtland, and Randolph Sanchez, 30, of Albuquerque, a CAP volunteer.

They were rescued from their downed aircraft at the 12,000-foot level of Wheeler Peak by a helicopter from the 1550th Air Crew Training and Test Wing and taken to the base hospital for treatment.

The cause of the aircraft accident will be investigated, a Kirtland spokesman said.

One of the men involved in the rescue operation, Staff Sgt. Andrew Contugno, said

"the plane looked like it had crashed."

And Lt. Alex Quintana of the state police said "if the plane had gone another 80 to 90 feet they would have had about a 2,000-foot drop after the crash."

The craft disappeared from radar screens around Pueblo Peak late Thursday night en route from Amarillo, Texas, to Durango, Colo.

Railroad Commission draws national notice

By JACKIE CALMES
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — With no other nonjudicial state offices on the May 3rd primary ballot, two races for the Texas Railroad Commission are getting inordinate media attention and not just within Texas.

Producers of the top-rated CBS television show "Sixty Minutes" are considering a segment about what they see as a populist-versus-conservative, David-versus-Goliath type of campaign for the powerful but largely ignored commission.

New York producer Joel Bernstein said Friday that a CBS crew recently filmed a fundraising party at New York's popular Lone Star Cafe that benefited Jim Hightower, the self-proclaimed populist in the Democratic race.

Bernstein said he has talked by telephone with Hightower's rival, Democratic incumbent James Nugent.

Nugent has cited the New York affair and another Hightower benefit in Washington, D.C., as he talked with persons at Hightower's Austin headquarters, Texas Monthly magazine and federal energy offices in Washington, D.C.

"I just can't get over that hurdle that it's really just a local race and the railroad commission doesn't really have that much say in how much oil comes out of Texas," he said.

The producer said he must decide soon whether to accompany Hightower on a campaign swing through East Texas' lignite belt in mid-March. If he decides against the trip, the project likely will be scrapped.

If it is not, the program would air before the May primary, Bernstein said.

If it does not, the railroad commission has one more chance at national limelight.

Carter, U.S. step in right direction

The year 1979 had a lot of minuses, granted, but it also had some pluses. For one thing, the world was able to make it to the 80s, even as some prophets were saying that Armageddon was at hand.

There was much talk that more plowshares would be hammered into weapons, something that could only hurt the world's food situation. There was also talk that Americans were going to have to spend less time behind the wheel of their automobiles and more time tilling their home gardens — but that may be a plus, too.

ONE OF THE GOOD things that did happen was the fact that Americans used less imported fuel than they did the previous year, something that President Jimmy Carter promised would happen last summer.

In 1979, oil imports by the U.S. fell a respectable 150 million gallons short of the 3.18 billion barrels we imported in 1978.

Carter is not prepared to take all the credit. The shortfall would have occurred even if the president had remained silent on the point, but the fact is — it did happen.

The savings in dollars is significant but the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries have really socked it to us with dramatic price increases.

There is no doubt but that Americans have become more conservative in their oil consumption habits. What's more, consumption should decline even more, mainly because prices will continue to go up.

IN THE FINAL analysis, then, the administration doesn't have grounds for effusive self-congratulation. Nevertheless, a promise is a promise. Jimmy Carter had to have lots of help to deliver on this one, and he got it. If you blame the man for the failures that occurred during his administration, then it's only fair to give him credit for successes that might have happened when he was occupying the highest office in the land.

Granted, the victory isn't much — our overseas payments are still badly out of balance — but it is still a step in the right direction.

Anchors away

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — It seems to me that the CBS Television Network made a grievous mistake when it announced that Dan Rather would succeed Walter Cronkite as King of the Evening News.

With all due respect to Mr. Rather, for whom I have nothing but admiration, I believe that the question of Cronkite's successor was far too serious a matter to be left to the network generals.

THE AMERICAN people should have been given the opportunity to vote for the person they preferred to take the seat of "the most trusted man in America."

A TV anchorman holds one of the most delicate and powerful positions in any country. Every nation chooses one differently. In England when a BBC anchorman abdicates, the title is passed on to the eldest son. If the anchorman has no children, it goes to the nearest blood relative.

In Rome, the Italians choose one differently. The head of Italian television calls together the College of Commentators, who meet secretly in a studio in the basement and cast their ballots. When white smoke pours out of the TV station's tower, the millions of people in the square start screaming, "Viva il presentatore," and the new anchorman is carried in his glass news booth through the streets of the city.

Soviet television never announces in advance when it is changing its anchorman. The only way people know is when they turn on their sets for the 7 o'clock news and see a new face on the screen. No mention is made about what happened to the previous anchorman, and nobody in his right mind would dare ask.

BUT IN THE United States, we do not have a precedent for choosing a new TV anchorman. The reason for this is that no one, including the founding fathers, ever imagined that anyone but Walter Cronkite would give the country its news.

Since the position of the CBS anchorman has now become the highest office in the land, the only democratic way of selecting Cronkite's successor would have been to allow those seeking the job to run for it in a nationwide election.

CBS could have easily done this by holding primaries in each state and whittling down the candidates until there were only two left by November.

The candidates should have been given free time to allow the American people an opportunity to decide who was best fitted to bring them the grim tidings of the day. They should have been tested in the public arena as to how they would handle the news of wars, pestilence and inflation. They should have been evaluated by the TV viewers to see if they had the moral and physical strength to tell it straight without regard to personal prejudices and special interests.

And, finally, they should have been required to debate each other so that the public could judge how they compared with Cronkite for grace and serenity under pressure.

The people, not CBS, should have been the ones to determine which anchorman they would trust to have his finger on the control room button.

I am not saying that Dan Rather will not be a worthy successor to Cronkite. All I'm claiming is that, under our system of government, the selection of a TV anchorman should be decided by ALL the people.

U.S. Presidents may tell you the truth — or they may not, depending on how the political winds are blowing. But the man who anchors the CBS evening news is the only one required under oath to swear to the American people every night, "And that's the way it is."

Treadmill test being emphasized

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What's your opinion about the treadmill stress test? I am 63 and have had an irregular heartbeat for years. At my last two annual checkups the doctor asked me to take the stress test, since my ECG always shows irregular. I have heard so many pros and cons about the stress test that I'm afraid to have it. My weight is 118 and my blood pressure is normal. — M.B.B.

The routine ECG (electrocardiogram) is taken with the person lying down and the heart at rest. Abnormalities that may be occurring when you are active might not show on such "resting" ECGs. A stress test, as the name implies, is an ECG taken during exercise, when the heart is working harder. This is the value of such a test.

A doctor is present while a stress test is being given. A preliminary examination is given first to determine the person's general resistance to stress. The test is stopped if the patient complains of chest pain, if changes are noted on the ECG or if there is a significant rise or drop in blood pressure.

Serious complications from a stress test are very rare. It is a helpful tool in determining heart disease, when the resting ECG is normal. You should not be afraid of the test. You seem to be in pretty good health. Doctors are being urged to use the stress test in selected patients.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been told I have diverticulitis. Will you please give me advice on a diet to follow with this? — R.Y.P.

A bland diet, as one for ulcers, is appropriate for diverticulitis, which is inflammation of the abnormal outpouchings in the wall of the intestines (diverticulosis). Note the different word endings! You seem confused. I am sending along the booklet you asked for on the subject. It will clear up some misunderstandings. Other readers can order a copy by mailing 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What causes calluses on my feet? They are painful. — V.S.

Friction and pressure cause calluses, the piling up of the outer horny layer of skin. This makes for a hard mass between the shoe and the bones of the feet. It can feel like walking on a stone. Dr. George Sheehan in his book, "Medical Advice for Runners," speaks of calluses, calling them "evil forces at work." He means there is an imbalance of pressures on the foot.

Those areas where calluses form need to be protected from pressure. Padding that part of the foot might help you. If you are not able to reduce callus formation with padding or better shoes, then advice from a foot expert should be sought. It's not a great idea (as some readers suggest) to try to remove the callus with a sharp edge on your own. A pumice stone should be the "sharpest" instrument used. If that does not work, then removal of a callus should be undertaken only by a properly-trained person. I get cold shivers when I think of those readers who tell me they try it on their own with razor blades. Brrrr.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In one of your articles you made the remark that you liked the word "hernia" and would even consider naming a daughter that. Please, for the daughter's sake, don't do anything so drastic. I understand you are single, so maybe there's hope. When my older girls were teenagers, one of their expressions was "she's having a hernia, etc." I read your articles daily and enjoy them. I learn a good bit, too. — Mrs. O.G.

For your sake, Mrs. O.G., I make this vow. If I ever have a daughter I will not name her Hernia.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please explain in everyday language what chemotherapy treatment is. — L.S.

Chemotherapy is nothing more than "therapy" with "chemicals." The word is usually reserved for treatment of infections with antibiotics or cancer with anti-cancer drugs. More narrowly, the term is used in speaking about drugs for cancer. In cancer treatment the three chief forms of treatment are surgical, radiation and chemotherapy. More often a combination of these is used.

FOR MRS. R.R. — Please believe me, my dear, when I tell you you won't get pregnant again while you are pregnant. I have heard of only one case of this happening.

There's an old saying — if your feet hurt, you hurt all over. Dr. Donohue's booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet," shows you how to avoid and take care of foot problems. To get your copy, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Will sweat suits, the rubber kind, cause you to lose weight or is it just liquid that is lost when you work out in them? — B.M.

Most of what you lose is the liquid weight. You put that back on as soon as you drink sufficient liquids to replace it. It is a way to lose weight quickly and some athletes who must meet short-term weight limits do use it. Not a good idea, incidentally. If done to excess it may even cause death.

Dear Dr. Donohue: If a baby is born with one blue eye and one green one, would that indicate any particular ailment? — N.H.

No. Low blood sugar is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of "Help for Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' question are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Every time I pray I wonder in the back of my mind whether or not God really hears my prayers. Is there any way to know if God hears prayers? — T.B.

DEAR T.B.: God does not want you to be filled with doubts of this kind and that is why He has told us very clearly in His Word that He hears us when we pray as Christians.

How do we know God hears our prayers? We know it because He has promised to hear — and God cannot lie. Look closely at what God has told us in I John 5:14-15: "This is the assurance we have in approaching God: that if we ask anything according to his will, he hears us. And if we know that he hears — whatever we ask — we know that we have what we asked of him."

Let me ask you two questions about your prayer life. First, have you ever personally trusted Jesus Christ for your salvation? Have you invited Him into your life by faith, to be your Lord and Savior? If so, you are a child of God, and God has promised to hear your prayers. (If you have never accepted Christ, the Bible does not promise God will hear your prayers. That is why I urge you to turn to Christ if you have never done so, and let Him into the center of your life by faith.) The Bible tells us, "In him and through faith in him we may approach God with freedom and confidence" (Ephesians 3:12).

The second question is this: Are you seeking God's will when you pray? Prayer is not just asking God for our own selfish desires — it is seeking God's will. "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven" (Matthew 6:10). Are you trusting God to answer in accordance with His will? Sometimes His answer to our prayers may be "no" or "wait."

Prayer is one of the greatest privileges of the child of God. God loves you, and because of that you can come to Him in prayer with full confidence by faith.

Why New Hampshire?

Around the rim

Steve Hershberger

For many years critics have questioned the role and place of the New Hampshire Primary.

Opponents of the first primary of the presidential campaigns argue New Hampshire is too small, too remote and too typical for it to be a national barometer.

No other state, however, presents a truer test for candidates; and no other state presents a clearer reflection of our country than New Hampshire.

CONTRARY TO THE images of white, pastoral calm, New Hampshire is a heavily industrial state. Industrialization of the state grows each year as companies move out of Boston and Massachusetts into the Manchester and Nashua area.

The Granite State's workforce breaks down something like this. Some 40 percent of the workers in the state are employed in white-collared jobs. About 32 percent of the state's work force are blue collar and around five percent agricultural. The remainder are distributed in other job categories.

The size of New Hampshire heightens its place in American presidential politics. In this state the candidate can go directly to the people and ask for a mandate.

U.S. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., who was a presidential candidate in 1976, said the experiences an aspirant receives are substantial. Udall said from the interaction of the people of the Granite State a candidate can learn things about this country and its citizens that are not given in a television studio or on a motorcade through a big city.

NEW HAMPSHIRE also serves as an equalizer. The candidate with little celebrity or money can effectively campaign in this state. There is no statewide television network and the size of the state is ideal for knocking on doors and touring plants.

The winner of New Hampshire is well rewarded. Take President Carter as an example. After placing well in 1976 in the Iowa caucuses, he came to New Hampshire as a little-known former Georgia governor. His grassroots campaign style blended in well with the hearty Granite State people, and his resulting primary win propelled him into the national spotlight.

Every president since 1952 has won the New Hampshire Primary before gaining his party's nomination and later the presidency.

One final thing to keep in mind is that there is something sacred about presidential aspirants attempting to win over a state with roots planted deep in the early history of our nation. The New Hampshire delegates were the first to vote on the Declaration of Independence in July 1776.

The town meeting, which is very much a part of their local governmental politics, is a reminder of our political origins and our commitment to grass roots participation in the decision-making process.

New Hampshire and its primary have been maligned because it lets a small number of voters have so much to say about the fortunes of the American presidency.

As a state it presents a clear sample of the United States as a whole. As an institution, the New Hampshire primary provides the best yardstick we have for measuring the men who want to lead this country for four years.

Expanding runways

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — While world outrage is focused on Afghanistan, the troublemakers in the Kremlin are stirring up a new crisis in Cuba.

Intelligence reports warn that the Soviets not only have doubled their combat force in Cuba, but they are lengthening and widening the runways at the Cienfuegos airport. It looks as if the runways are being modified to accommodate the Backfire bomber.

This supersonic Soviet bomber could strike any point in the United States from Cuban bases. By aiming at the nation's underbelly, the Backfire would also encounter little effective air defense.

RUSSIAN FIGHTER pilots, meanwhile, have been operating out of Cuban bases for years. Disturbingly, they don't appear to be in Cuba merely to train Cuban pilots. In a report classified "Secret Spoke," the Defense Intelligence Agency has noted: "There has been very little interplay between the Soviet and Cuban pilots, and the Soviet flight activity appears to be independent of Cuban operations."

Intelligence sources told my associate Sally Denton that 5,000 Russian combat troops are now based in Cuba — double the number that precipitated an international tempest last September and October. President Carter announced that the presence of a Soviet combat brigade 90 miles from our shores was "unacceptable."

"The thing that concerns us," he declared, "is that it is a combat unit. The Soviets deny it has combat status. But it is a combat unit." He threatened sternly to "take appropriate action."

But the Soviets called his bluff, and Carter backed down. "The brigade issue is certainly no reason for a retreat to the cold war," he said lamely.

His capitulation apparently helped to cause rather than prevent a cold war. Intelligence sources claim the Kremlin decision to invade Afghanistan was made in late October after Carter had conceded that the "unacceptable" combat brigade was now acceptable in Cuba.

As the intelligence experts understand what happened inside the Kremlin, the Politburo concluded that if Carter wouldn't challenge them in Cuba, he would not interfere with them in Afghanistan. The resulting events have brought a sudden chill to Soviet-American relations.

MEANWHILE, THE number of Soviet infantrymen not only has multiplied but military activity has increased alarmingly in Cuba. One ominous report claims that nuclear construction has started near Cienfuegos and that the Russian troops in Cuba previously had protected nuclear installations in East Germany.

Another secret "Intelligence Appraisal" suggests that Soviet forces may have been sent to Cuba to release Cubans for duty as Soviet surrogates in Africa or "to signal the U.S. that the U.S.S.R. is in-place Cuban ally should Washington decide to leap on Havana."

"But one thing is certain; the Soviets have made a mockery of the Monroe Doctrine. INVESTIGATION INSURANCE? House investigators recently heard allegations that an insurance company executive had boasted to several persons that he could torpedo a probe of his firm because he had embarrassing information on the peccadilloes of a key House committee staffer.

The information was untrue, and H.R. Rippey, executive vice president of Loyal American Insurance Co., Mobile, Ala., denies having spread any such story. But the House Banking Committee has a deposition from an employee of the Credit Union National Association, who says Rippey told him the false tale personally. Committee investigators also found two other persons who reportedly heard veiled references from Rippey about the power he had over the investigation of Loyal American.

Rippey told my associate Tony Capaccio he doesn't even know the staff aide in question, and said he welcomed a full investigation "so we can continue serving our people."

The investigators are looking into the connection between the nation's credit unions and insurance companies that sell controversial cancer insurance to union members. In exchange for endorsement of the cancer policies by a credit union, the particular state credit union league gets about 5 percent of the premiums related to it — without the knowledge of the insured members.

Mailbag

Dear Editor:

It was interesting and gratifying to note in last Friday's "Mailbag" that one of your readers is absolutely sure that George Bush will be the Republican nominee for president. While I hope this comes to pass, I must confess less certainty than Mr. Reid.

This letter writer alleges that both parties' candidates work for the same "boss," David Rockefeller. This is deduced from the fact that Mr. Rockefeller has made campaign contributions to each of them. Further, he expresses alarm that Candidates Carter and Bush are interested in "Foreign Relations."

I don't know about Candidate Carter, but I feel certain that Candidate Bush would be surprised to learn that someone thinks he is "bossed" by contributors to his campaign. Furthermore, I am impressed by the fact that, while all of the candidates for nomination for the presidency profess great interest and some knowledge in foreign relations, Candidate Bush has demonstrated unmatched understanding and experience in this vital area.

Jury selection continues for Stafford

PURCELL, Okla. (AP) — Attorneys were to continue questioning prospective jurors today in the second day of jury selection at the triple-murder trial of convicted mass slayer Roger Dale Stafford.

McClain County District Attorney Kay Huff and Stafford defense attorney J. Malone Brewer said they hoped jury selection could be completed today at the trial, which was being presided over by Associate District Judge J. Kenneth Love. Stafford — who's appealing the six death sentences he received in October for the murders of six Oklahoma City steakhouse workers — is on trial here on charges of murdering Melvin Lorenz, 38, his wife, Linda, 31, and son Richard, 13, of San Antonio, Texas.

The Lorenz family members were shot dead in a robbery along Interstate 35 near this quiet central Oklahoma town on June 22, 1978 as they were driving to Jamestown, N.D., to attend the funeral of Lorenz's mother. The triple-murder took place 24 days before the steakhouse mass murder.

In a surprise development, Brewer claimed he rejected a plea bargain Monday in which Stafford would have pleaded guilty to the Lorenz murder charges in return for a prosecution recommendation of two consecutive life prison sentences.

Mrs. Huff, who is seeking three death sentences against Stafford, refused to confirm or deny Brewer's plea bargain claim.

"I'm not going to discuss any plea bargaining," Mrs. Huff said. "Plea bargaining is a private thing. I'm surprised he (Brewer) would go into this" with a reporter.

Brewer said Mrs. Huff told him she was making the plea bargain offer "to try to be expeditious."

"We turned it down," Brewer said of the alleged offer. "We said we're not guilty because we're innocent."

Brewer said Mrs. Huff made the plea bargain offer in Love's chambers. Love barred reporters from that session.

Brewer made repeated references in his questioning of prospective jurors to Stafford's conviction in the July 16, 1978, steakhouse murders, asking the potential jurors if they could disregard that case.

Mrs. Huff repeatedly asked potential jurors if they had the "personal moral courage to impose the death penalty if the facts and the evidence warrants."

A total of 225 prospective jurors had been called for the opening of Stafford's trial, but most were excused beforehand and only 76 showed up for court Monday.

Stafford, who has grown back the mustache prison officials shaved off months ago, scribbled notes on a yellow legal pad throughout much of the proceedings.

Several times he handed Brewer written questions to ask jurors and conferred frequently with his attorney. When he wasn't taking notes Stafford sat with his chin in his hand and gazed at the men and women in the jury box who may decide his guilt or innocence.

On the light side

His word carries weight

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — Anytime he wants, Kenneth Ewers, a computer science major at Minot State College in Minot, N.D., can be sure his words carry a lot of weight. Consider the birthday greeting he wrote his father. It weighed 30 pounds.

"My husband was just amazed when he opened the box," Mrs. Ewers said Monday. "We waited until after supper and cleared the table and put the box on. When Bob opened it, he just laughed and started reading it and kept laughing."

The letter was written on a computer with two letters to a page. It contains 2,812 pages and is 2,566 feet long and 13 inches thick.

The San Andreas it ain't

DANVILLE, Calif. (AP) — You might have to be a little cracked, but if you really want to, you can now buy your very own earthquake fault.

Semmes Gordon, an advertising and public relations man, is your man.

After a series of quakes shook up the nearby Livermore Valley recently, Gordon figured some folks might like to send a memento to friends.

So he took a page out of the Pet Rock success book, and started packaging cracked flat rocks. They come with the inscription: "Don't drop this California rock because if you do, it's your fault."

Right now, he's selling only through the mail, but claims his rocks will be in department stores soon. And the price? Why $3.50, a crack, of course.

SMU joins Harvard in refusing Playboy ad

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist and Harvard universities have something in common now that SMU's student newspaper has refused to publish an advertisement for Playboy Magazine.

Playboy photographer David Chan, soliciting female students to pose for a planned pictorial feature called "Girls of the Southwest Conference," was told Monday the SMU Daily Campus would not accept the ad.

Director of Student Publications Frank Ragulsky told the newspaper Feb. 8 that the proposed ad was "not consistent with existing policy regarding modeling advertising."

In the same issue, the student yearbook advertised for "tons of beautiful girls" to pose for photographs, saying the models would be charged a $12.50 sitting fee.

Chan angrily accused the newspaper of "a double standard."

"I don't understand," he told Melanie Marshall, director of advertising. "You're exploiting these women by not paying them. Playboy at least pays for services rendered."

"We have decided not to be involved with any advertising dealing directly or indirectly with nudity," Ms. Marshall replied.

Chan told reporters the ad has run in 33 campus newspapers the last four years, during various magazine features. He said the only other student newspaper to reject the ad was the Harvard Crimson.

Ragulsky said the newspaper's editorial pages are controlled by students, but the administration controls advertising policy.

Chan told reporters models would be fully clothed in the initial sessions.

Those chosen for the magazine feature, he said, would receive $100 for fully clothed pictures, $200 for semi-nude photos and $300 for fully nude shots.

SMU co-ed Linda Long, a criminal law major, said she had applied for the initial photography session, and would pose for the feature if chosen.

"I don't see why the college is so down on modeling for Playboy," she said. "There was a story recently in the Daily Campus about a male student who is a dancer at La Bare (a male strip-tease club). I can't see any difference."

GARY SANDY ANDY GIBB

Andy Gibb moves to U.S.

LONDON (AP) — British pop singer Andy Gibb, 22, already a millionaire, has decided to make his home in the United States but says, "You can keep Los Angeles... Too much showbiz hype."

"They should lock it up every night, as far as I'm concerned."

Gibb is hoping to buy a new house, probably in Florida, but he likes New England, too, he told London's Daily Express.

Star boosts alma mater

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — When Gary Sandy shows up on an upcoming episode of the television show "WKRP in Cincinnati" wearing a Wilmington College T-shirt, Hugh Heiland won't be surprised.

Heiland is a drama professor at Wilmington College. And about 12 years ago, Sandy, who plays Travis, the program director of the fictitious radio station, was one of his students.

Heiland has followed Sandy's career and during a recent visit to Hollywood, the student introduced his ex-teacher as "the guy who taught me everything about theater."

Columnist senses fakes

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Columnist Ann Landers says Yale University is special to her because it is "synonymous with made-up letters."

"I can always tell a phony letter," she told an audience of Yale students Monday night, "and the Yale letters have a special sound to them."

She didn't say what that special sound was, but she told her audience of more than 200 people that each year she and her eight secretaries in Chicago receive hundreds of fake letters bearing New Haven postmarks.

Eppie Lederer, 62, from Sioux City, Iowa, is the woman behind the pen name. She has been publishing letters from readers and offering advice for 25 years and swears those that make her column are authentic.

"Someone would have to be psychotic to make them up," she said.

One-time head acquitted

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Former President Isabel Peron has been acquitted of illegally accepting $14,000 worth of jewelry as birthday gifts from a government bank.

The 49-year-old Mrs. Peron remained under house arrest Monday at a family estate, facing four other charges, including diverting $1 million in flood relief funds to her personal account.

Mrs. Peron, third wife of President Juan Peron, became president in 1974 when he died. She was deposed by a coup in March 1976.

Archbishop peace making

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The Rt. Rev. John Ward Armstrong, newly elected as archbishop of the Church of Ireland, has offered to meet with representatives of the Roman Catholic Irish Republican Army.

Armstrong, 60, was selected Sunday as the leader of the Irish Protestants.

He said in the cause of peace for strife-torn Northern Ireland he would talk with representatives of the IRA's provisional wing "if they are willing to talk to me."

The IRA is fighting to wrest Northern Ireland, which is two-thirds Protestant, from Britain.

Arabs protest visit of Egyptian proxy

By The Associated Press
Arabs marched and staged protest strikes today as Egypt's ambassador presented his credentials in Jerusalem and Israel's envoy was about to present his in Cairo to complete the establishment of diplomatic relations between Egypt and the Jewish state.

Egyptian Ambassador Saad Murtada presented his credentials at the residence of Israel's president, Yitzhak Navon. An Israeli military honor guard was present and an Israeli band played Egypt's national anthem.

"We can provide a good example of coexistence in peace between the Israeli people and the Arab people in the area, something that will reduce for (the Arabs) the threat to their security and will ensure a just and lasting peace," Murtada said.

100-year-old school bell Mizes' prized possession

By MICKIE DICKSON

A 100-year-old school bell is the prized possession of Kelly Mize, Gail Rt. It is purported to have been the first bell at China Grove School, a one-room schoolhouse on the south edge of Scurry County which was built in 1880.

Mize's first recollection of the bell was in 1909 when he started to school. He first rang it in 1910. Leonard Allen, who ran the China Grove store, got the school bell when the school was finally closed and offered it to Mize when he was working the area for Grapette Company 30 years ago. Someone offered him $150 for the bell not long ago.

One incident that happened to Mize in the China Grove School occurred because he liked to hunt and trap. During school many times he'd have to run his traps at 1 or 1:30 a.m. to get to school on time. One morning the school bell was ringing when he got there, so he went in and sat down.

"That lady teacher looked us all over and got up and started walking up one aisle and then another and stopped by me a little bit, then sent me home just because I'd skinned three skunks that morning on the way to school," Mize said.

Mize left home at 13 and at 15 he wrote a letter to Pen Pals in the Dallas Semi-Weekly Farm News and received 150 answers among whom was Bertie Adams, Cooper, who became his wife the next year. The couple was engaged for four months before they saw each other, and were married August 30, 1919 after seeing each other only three times. The Mizes celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary last year, having raised seven children, four boys and three girls. Mize said if he had it to do over again he'd do it exactly the same way, for Mrs. Mize is an excellent wife and mother.

Elementary schools in the Big Spring Independent School District are making use of Mize's gift of memorization. Mize is able to memorize a poem upon reading it three or four times, and has been reciting poetry and prose to the fourth-grade children in the Reading is FUNDAMENTAL program while displaying his 100-year-old school bell.

Mize said he thought he'd heard all the jokes there were until a little boy at Marcy school recently looked up at him and said, "If you ever want a job where you'll have 500 people under you, get a job mowing the grass at a cemetery."

That's Saying A Mouthful!

DEAR ABBY: My friends and I had an argument the other day about the word "antidisestablishmentarianism." We have looked in the dictionaries at school and we can't find it. We've also asked all our English teachers, and we still don't have the answer, so we're asking you.

Is a person who practices antidisestablishmentarianism an antidisestablishmentarian, or an antidisestablishmentarianist?

Also, is there any rule in the English language that says that if a word ends in "ism," the name of one who practices that belief must end in "ist"? Thanks.

CINDY PERKO

DEAR CINDY: Will you accept the word of Dr. Bill Rivers, professor of communications at Stanford University?

He says you can't find "antidisestablishmentarianism" in the dictionary because it's not one word; it's a combination of words. However, you can find "disestablishment" in almost any dictionary.

Adding the prefix "anti" means that the person is against disestablishing the right to deprive the status of being, or becoming established. (The reason some people are so fascinated with the word is because it is so complex. The word establish is understood. Then disestablish is against establishing. Then adding anti will give you another word opposite disestablish. You see how it becomes complex?)

You may use either "antidisestablishmentarian" or "antidisestablishmentarianist." They mean the same thing.

DEAR ABBY: Greetings from another "I-never-thought-I'd-be-writing-to-you" Abby fan.

I am a 35-year-old professional woman, happily married with children, ages 14, 12, and a little one, 3 months old.

I am amazed at the number of people—some I hardly know—who ask me if my last baby was an "accident."

I have given answers that I thought were good-humored, but evasive.

How can I tell people that I consider such a question rude, improper, and insulting without being rude, improper, and insulting, too?

BURNING IN 'BAMA

DEAR BURNING: Respond with a question of your own: "Why do you want to know?" It stops 'em cold every time.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NEEDS TO KNOW IN COLORADO SPRINGS": If a man has gonorrhea, the chance of his partner contracting it is about 50 percent. If the woman is on the Pill, the chance of her contracting the disease is 100 per cent.

Avenue of Flags is new project at VA

Mrs. Domingo Abreo, 1106 Nolan, hosted the monthly meeting of the Gold Star Mothers Feb. 21. Mrs. Arthur Hernandez served as co-hostess for the occasion.

The serving table carried the Valentine theme with a display of hearts.

Mrs. S.R. Nobles, president, presided at the business session.

Reports from the Veterans Administration Volunteer Services Advisory Committee meeting of Feb. 6 were given by Mrs. A.W. Moody and Mrs. Herbert Smith. These included a new project, Avenue of Flags for the VAMC grounds which was introduced by Joseph Rouleau, chief of Voluntary Services at the Veterans Medical Center. It was determined that 75 flags will be needed size 5 1/2 feet x 9 feet for this project. These are to be donated by families of deceased veterans or by veterans' organizations. Plaques containing each donor's name will be displayed in the main lobby of the Medical Center.

The call for the 27th Annual Convention of the Department of Texas American Gold Star Mothers was read. This will be held in the Melrose Hotel, Dallas, April 17-19.

Mrs. S.R. Nobles, chapter president, will represent the local chapter. State officers attending from the local chapter will be Mrs. Huey Rogers, Mrs. A.W. Moody and Mrs. Truett Thomas.

The next meeting will be March 19 in the home of Mrs. Viola Burchett, 1304 Nolan St.

Girl is bugged by mom and dad

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D

Millie, 16, of Youngstown, Ohio is in need of a little freedom and asks for help from the guest teen writers. Jim Allen, 17, from Alliance, Ohio, and Silvia Martinez, 18, who resides in San Antonio, Texas, will do the honors.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 16 and an only child and my problem is my mother who drives me to and from school every day. Add to this the fact that I am not allowed to attend any functions after dark whether it's at school or church.

Last night was the last straw. My best girlfriend's mom called and asked if I could attend a well-chaperoned slumber party. Naturally my mother said no.

Of course, I'm not allowed to date and my dad is no help at all. Mom is the boss in our house. I get good grades and am fairly popular in spite of the overprotection. Can you and the guest teen writers offer a few suggestions before I go berserk? — Millie, Youngstown, Ohio

Obviously someone outside of the family must enlighten mom to give you reasonable responsibility and a little freedom. Seek help from school (teacher, counselor, nurse), a clergyman, trusted relative or a parent of a close friend.

Don't give up on your dad. One of these days he might forget he is "Mr. Milque-coast" and do what most fathers would do — share equally with mothers in rearing their children.

Hi Millie: I'll never complain again when my mother demands to know where I've been and what I did. Your mom is "out of sight."

I'm sure she is not aware that she is actually doing you harm by keeping you inside a "bird cage." Talk to your family doctor or your clergyman and have either or both of them talk to both parents. They need enlightenment fast. — Silvia, San Antonio, Texas

Hello Millie: Sometimes I wonder who are the worst parents — those who just don't care or those who "smother" their offspring with too much caring.

You need help and fast. If your school district has a psychologist, see him or her and share your problem. If no psychologist is available, talk to your school nurse. She will get you the help your parents need.

I am wondering what kind of teen life your parents led. — Jim, Alliance, Ohio

If you would like to be a teen guest writer, please write to me in care of this newspaper.

Drifters hold February campout at Florey Park

The Western Drifters Good Sam Club held their February Campout in Florey Park, Andrews, the weekend of Feb. 15-17. They had as their guests the Oil City Sams of Odessa. This club was organized January 31. Nine couples attended from Big Spring, and 10 couples from Odessa.

Games and puzzles were the main entertainment for the group. A soup and salad supper was held on Saturday night. Sunday morning brought a snowstorm so most returned home following the worship service. Five couples from Big Spring stayed over until Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Danny Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Preston Adams were the host couples for the weekend.

The monthly business meeting and potluck supper was held Feb. 19 in Pioneer Gas Flame Room. The group voted to subscribe to one copy of the At Large Club Newsletter and share it each month at the meetings. The September campout site was changed to Colorado City State Park. All members planning to attend the campout in April and who want to make reservations should contact Sandy Wright by April 1. This campout will be in Colorado City.

Discussion was held concerning the purchase of a large coffee maker for the club, but several members donated theirs for use by any hosts needing them.

Members were reminded that membership dues must be paid by March 31.

A letter of appreciation was drafted to express the Club's thanks to Andrews County for the use of the clubhouse in Florey Park. This building is used free of charge by the club in the winter months.

The March campout will be held March 21-23 in Andrews with J.C. and Betty Gross as Host Couple.

Nineteen members and one guest, Margie Shaw, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nichols, attended the meeting.

Logback pleased with prospective football coaches

Big Spring Athletic Director Ron Logback is expected to begin screening applicants within the next week for the vacant position of head football coach at Big Spring High School.

Logback set yesterday as the deadline for receiving applications, and stated that approximately 20 to 25 people had applied.

The applicants for the local grid job came from a wide region. There were some from as far east as Missouri and west as El Paso, as well as from different points in Texas.

Logback said that all but one of the applicants have head coaching credentials from either a high school or a college. The one applicant that did not have head coaching experience does have experience as a pro football player, however.

The Big Spring AD also said that in the beginning for the search for the new football coach, which was started when Logback was re-named to his current position on February 15, he had had reservations about the number of quality candidates that would apply.

But he was somewhat surprised, stating that he had received the applications of some very successful coaches.

This will no doubt help Logback speed up the process of naming a new coach, which would undoubtedly do the local program an immense amount of good.

At the current time, the gridders for the 1980 season are going through the off-season program with the assistants here, but the head football coach's presence for next season would certainly help clear the minds of many of the athletes.

Logback said that he hopes to have the new football coach on the job here by April 1.

Carter, Heiden disagree on Olympics

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter still wants Americans to boycott the Summer Olympic Games in Moscow, a feeling not shared by the athletes who participated in the Winter Games.

Carter was host at the White House Monday to the some 150 members of the U.S. Olympic Winter Games team, a ceremony which featured the Marine Band playing the Olympic theme and the crowd waving small American flags.

Carter shook the hands of all the athletes and gave several a hug, including Eric Heiden, the speed skater who won a record-breaking five gold medals.

"This has been a wonderful week for our country," said Carter, who called the athletes "modern-day American heroes."

However, the president also used the occasion to renew his call for Americans to boycott the Summer Games because of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan.

Carter said the Soviet invasion "violated peace and the principles of the Olympics."

Afterwards, Heiden said he was opposed to the boycott. He said many of the athletes also were opposed to the president's position.

Heiden said "just about all" of the athletes had signed a petition "expressing our feelings about the boycott."

Later, Jody Powell, the White House press secretary, said he didn't know if Carter had seen the petition but added, "there was no opportunity for an extended discussion" between the athletes and the president on the issue.

However, Powell said Carter told a meeting of newspaper editors that when he telephoned hockey coach Herb Brooks on Sunday, after the team won a gold medal, "Brooks strongly supported the president's position."

In his formal remarks to the athletes, Carter said he would meet soon with a representative group of athletes to discuss an "alternative world class competition for them this summer."

Powell said the president hoped the meeting would be held in the next several weeks. "It would be an opportunity for him to hear from them and them from him," said Powell.

DePaul remains No. 1 in poll

After 38 years at DePaul, Coach Ray Meyer is just two games away from his first undefeated regular season. But there are some people in South Bend, Ind., who would like to spoil it.

And they will get their chance.

DePaul, the unanimous choice for the top spot in The Associated Press college basketball poll for the sixth consecutive week Monday, will meet 14th-ranked Notre Dame at South Bend Wednesday night.

The Blue Demons, 25-0, were named on each of the 58 first-place ballots and received a perfect score of 1,160 in the voting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

But its support will be less than unanimous when it plays Notre Dame at the Athletic and Convocation Center — a place where many an unbeaten team has fallen. The Center is where the Irish snapped UCLA's NCAA-record 88-game winning streak and handed an undefeated and top-ranked San Francisco team its first defeat in 1977.

The game may also mean a little more to Notre Dame. The Irish lost only one home game last season — to DePaul — and naturally they would like to avenge that loss.

DePaul closes its regular season Saturday against Illinois State.

Overtime win clinches Region V berth for Howard College men

Bird propels Hawks by Thunderbirds

By NATHAN POSS Sports Editor

The Howard College Hawks jumped on the hot end of the scoring roller-coaster at the outset of the overtime period and escaped with a 90-83 win over the New Mexico Junior College Thunderbirds in a game played here in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Monday night.

The win puts the Hawks into the regional tournament that begins next Monday in Chaparral Center, on the campus of Midland College.

The contest was one of hot and cold scoring spurts by both teams, and the NMJC team, playing with nothing to lose, were very loose in their approach to the contest, at times resembling a group of semi-comedians.

The antics of the underdogs, made the game interesting, especially as the NMJC team stayed in the contest until the overtime period. At that point, the Howard College team ran off the first 12 points and had the last laugh for themselves.

The Hawks, behind the shooting of Mike (Bird) Wallace, jumped out to an early 17-8 lead, but NMJC staged a continual rally throughout the remainder of the first half that netted the Thunderbirds a 47-42 half-time lead.

The only thing that kept the Thunderbirds margin from being even more at the intermission was the scoring of Wallace, who canned 22 first half points.

Neither team could score in the opening stages of the second half, as over two and a half minutes elapsed before NMJC finally hit a field goal to take a 49-42 advantage.

NMJC, behind the outside shooting of Ricky Green, extended the lead to 53-44 with 16 minutes to play.

KENNETH PLAYS KEEP-AWAY — Howard College's Kenneth Jones (44) grabs a loose ball over the futile arms of NMJC's Gary Crouse (22). Others watching the action are HC's Ron Akins (32) and Jeff Faubion (24), and NMJC's Jeff Robertson (30). The Howard College team clinched a spot in the Region V Tourney with a 90-83 overtime win over the Thunderbirds.

NMJC then went cold, and the Hawks took advantage of this to score 10 unanswered points over the next four minutes to take a 54-53 lead.

The Hawks then extended this lead to as many as five points, but the Thunderbirds continued to stay close as the game progressed into the latter stages.

With a 73-69 lead, HC's Ron Akins hit an apparent field goal that would have given the Hawks a six-point advantage, but a three-second violation wiped out what would have been a very big bucket.

NMJC's Green and Gary Crouse then connected on two field goals in the next 25 seconds to knot the game at 73-73.

And while the contest had resembled a roller coaster up to this point, the final 44 seconds of regulation was a ride that undoubtedly added a few gray hairs to Hawk Coach Harold Wilder's hair.

With 44 seconds remaining, NMJC's Crouse went to the line on a one-and-one situation, but missed, with HC controlling the rebound and quickly calling for a timeout with 39 seconds to play.

But the Hawks could not get the ball down to set up, with NMJC stealing the ball just past mid-court. But the Thunderbirds quickly panicked, throwing a wild pass out of bounds and giving the ball back to the Hawks for the apparent final shot.

But the final shot strategy backfired, as Hawk guard Rocky Rawls was called for a jump ball with three seconds left after failing to find an open Hawk in which to pass the ball.

NMJC controlled the tip, but Crouse's 40-foot prayer at the buzzer bounced off the rim, sending the game into overtime.

Wallace, known as Bird on the Howard College campus, had kept the Hawks in the game during the regulation, scoring 32 points. But it was the entire team that finally combined to shoot down the Thunderbirds in the decisive overtime period.

Rawls quickly put the Hawks on top in the overtime with a field goal in the first 20 seconds. Then with 3:37 left, Kenneth Jones and Akins each canned field goals in a span of 15 seconds to give the Howard College team a six-point lead.

The Hawks added six more points before the stunned Thunderbirds managed to make a last minute rally, but it was too late for the free spirited NMJC team.

Wallace, who entered the game as the leading scorer in the conference and the fifth ranked scorer in the nation in jucu play, ended with 33 points for the night. Akins added 20 and Jones 16 for the Hawks.

Green came off the bench to score 29 points for the Thunderbirds with Jeff Hannah adding 16 and Kenneth Patrick 15.

The win, which clinched a Region V playoff spot, 10-7 in WJC play and 19-11 on the year. NMJC, meanwhile, falls to 3-14 in WJC play and are 9-21 on the year.

In order to secure a fourth place seed in the Region V Tourney, the Hawks need to win here Thursday in their final regular season game against Amarillo.

It won't be easy, however, as Amarillo is 9-8 and seems to be playing their best basketball for the year. The Amarillo team must win against Howard College in order to have a shot at the Region V Tourney.

HOWARD (90) Rawls 32-8, Faubion 5-13, Jones 5-6-16, Akins 10-0-20, WALLACE 14-5-33, Wilder 0-0-0, Green 0-0-0, TOTALS 37-16-90
NMJC (83) Green 29-4, Patrick 6-3-15, Robertson 3-17, Hannah 4-8-16, Crouse 4-4-12, Green 13-3-29, TOTALS 32-19-83
Halftime Score: NMJC 47, Howard 42
Total Fouls: Howard 24, NMJC 23

Favorites advance in SWC Tourney

By The Associated Press

The Southern Methodist Mustangs have Alamo-type resistance on their minds going into the Southwest Conference post-season tournament in San Antonio beginning Thursday night.

Playing inspired basketball from the opening tap, SMU subdued Baylor 86-83 Monday night to set up a quarter-final meeting with the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

Tech downed Texas Christian 71-52 while Houston mauled Rice 92-90 to line up against Texas in the other quarterfinal game.

Texas and Houston will meet at 7 p.m. with SMU and Tech joining the fray at 9 p.m. The Tech-SMU winner gets regular-season champion Texas A&M in a 7 p.m. game Friday, while the Texas-Houston survivor plays Arkansas in the nightcap.

"The players wanted it for my dad," said SMU guard Billy Allen, whose father and coach Sonny Allen resigned under pressure last Friday but refused to comment on his feud with Athletic Director Russ Potts.

"We'll discuss it after we finish our season," he said.

Freshman guard Dave Piehler scored 18 points, and the Mustangs got 13 points and eight points, respectively, from reserves Gordon Welch and Johnny James.

Welch's total was his season high and James, who had been benched for disciplinary problems, hadn't played in eight games.

Baylor's Terry Teagle poured home a career-high 34 points and Pat Nunley scored 22, but the shorter Bears couldn't match the Mustang firepower.

Teagle said, "I didn't know if the situation with Coach Allen would hurt them or help them. You don't know until you get on the court."

"Evidently, they were going all-out for him. I think anyone down there (in San Antonio) can win the tourney, including SMU."

Baylor Coach Jim Haller agreed the Mustangs just might pull it off.

"I thought SMU played a heck of a game," said Haller. "I think they will play well in San Antonio. They just might surprise some people."

"The Mustangs upped their season record to 16-11, while Baylor ended the season at 11-16.

Coach Allen said, "Just maybe the season still has a long way to go. We think we can win in San Antonio. For the last month, we've played very good basketball."

Welch summed up the current attitude of the Mustangs, saying, "We're fired up and Tech will have to be ready for us. We have emotion on our side and that's a big part of this game."

Tech Coach Gerald Myers thinks the Raiders will, indeed, be ready.

"We may have gotten our confidence back. In spots, we looked like we did early in the season," he said. "We played our best game since Texas A&M," referring to a 63-53 win over the Aggies Feb. 4.

And Houston guard Rob Williams warmed up for San Antonio by blistering Rice for 34 points.

"Rob Williams is a superb player," said Rice Coach Mike Schuler. "He is the most difficult guard in the conference to defend."

Western Texas, the nation's top rated jucu team, survived a tough Midland College team by rallying in the second half to take an 80-76 win in action Monday night.

Midland led by 48-46 at the halftime, but the Westerners came back to take the narrow decision that kept WTC's perfect record intact at 29-0.

Odessa climbed into a tie for second place with Midland College by taking a 68-49 win over hapless Clarendon. Both Odessa and Midland have 13-4 conference marks.

The biggest game, as far as a berth in the Region V Tournament, took place in Roswell. Amarillo College remained in the running for a regional berth by handing NMMI an 83-69 setback. The loss all but eliminates NMMI from regional consideration.

WESTERN CONFERENCE STANDINGS

Western Texas	17-0
Midland College	12-4
Odessa College	13-4
HOWARD COLLEGE	10-7
Frank Phillips	9-8
Amarillo College	9-8
NMJC	9-9
South Plains	3-14
Clarendon	0-17

Thursday's Schedule: Amarillo at Odessa; Frank Phillips at NMMI; Odessa at NMJC; Clarendon at Midland; WTC at South Plains.

Sutter unhappy with $700,000 settlement

CHICAGO (AP) — Relief ace Bruce Sutter could have $700,000 to save next season, thanks to an arbitrator, but the Chicago Cubs' Cy Young Award winner still isn't happy.

Sutter wanted $700,000 for the 1980 season, and the Cubs offered $350,000. Thomas G. Christenson, a New York City attorney and law professor who heard the case Sunday, called it in favor of Sutter.

It was believed to be the highest single award made by an arbitrator since major league owners agreed in 1972 to arbitration. There is no in-between when a salary dispute reaches arbitration. It has to be one way or the other, and in this case Christenson had to rule on $350,000, which would have been in favor of the Cubs, or the $700,000 in favor of Sutter.

"You gulp twice and say 'Okay, this is what the final result should be,'" said Christenson in explaining his decision.

"I'm very happy about the award," said Sutter, "but it still isn't what I want. What I want is a five-year contract that will give me long-term security."

"I'll admit $700,000 is an awful lot of money," Sutter said, "but if I go out there and get hurt, my family and I can't live the rest of our lives on it."

Sutter, who turned 27 last month, won the Cy Young Award last season as the National League's top pitcher when he compiled a 6-6 record and posted a league record 37 saves. He had a 2.23 earned run average with 110 strikeouts and only 32 walks in 101 innings worked.

Christenson heard arguments from attorneys in behalf of Sutter and from Bob Kennedy, vice president and general manager of the Cubs.

"The arguments on both sides were extremely well done," Christenson said. "It was a hard decision to reach."

Christenson said he pondered the case all night and then went over the material again "when I got up in the morning. I had a batch of statistics — comparisons with other pitchers on other teams, Sutter's record with the Cubs and the various components of his record."

Sands faces Ira in bi-district tonight

LAMESA — The Sands Mustangs boys basketball team begins their quest for the state Class B championship tonight when they meet Ira here at 7:30 p.m. in a bi-district encounter. The game will be played in the Lamesa Middle Gym.

The Sands team of Coach Stan Pulliam has compiled an impressive season mark of 30-3 entering the playoffs, and has to be considered the favorite to unseat the Ira team.

The Sands boys won both halves in District 9-B play, and then warmed up for tonight's game by taking a 91-77 win over an AA district champion, Crane.

Ira won the right to represent District 10-B by taking a 52-48 win over Roby in the championship game last Thursday. Robert Mitchell and Keith Bryant led Ira in that contest.

Sands, who now has won four consecutive boys District 9-B titles, is a well balanced crew.

The winner of tonight's game will advance into the regional tournament in Levelland this weekend.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)

The bets are on for the 52nd annual Academy Awards contest, and "Kramer vs. Kramer" and "All That Jazz" lead the pack with nine Oscar nominations apiece.

"Kramer vs. Kramer," a moving tale of a New York couple's divorce and child custody battle, had been expected to figure heavily in the awards, which will be presented on national television April 14.

But "All That Jazz," a musical based on director Bob Fosse's own brush with death, had received mixed reviews and was the dark horse candidate as nominations were an-

Rape reported

to authorities.

The Howard County Sheriff's Office received a rape report from Malone-Hogan Hospital Saturday morning.

A white 25-year-old Arizona female was admitted to the hospital Saturday around 2 a.m. She said two men picked her up north of town to give her a ride and raped her.

Sheriff's Deputy Sergeant Robert Puente said the two men dropped her off at the 7-11 on W. 80 at 1:40 a.m. She was taken to Malone-Hogan by Shaffer Ambulance.

Puente said he had no description of the car, of the two men involved or the location where she was picked up. He said the rape victim reentered a local hospital Saturday after being released from Malone-Hogan.

Chapter Two' and Bette Midler, 'The Rose.'

Francis Coppola's "Apocalypse Now," a Vietnam saga based on Joseph Conrad's "Heart of Darkness," followed the leaders closely with eight nominations.

All three films were nominated for best picture, along with "Breaking Away" and "Norma Rae."

All of "Kramer vs. Kramer's" principals won nominations: Dustin Hoffman as best actor, Meryl Streep and Jane Alexander as supporting actress, and Justin Henry, who at age 8 becomes the youngest Oscar candidate in the supporting actor category.

"Kramer" also earned directing and screenplay adaptation nominations for Robert Benton.

"All That Jazz" gathered a best actor nomination for Roy Scheider, a directing nomination for Fosse and an original screenplay nomination for Fosse and Robert Alan Arthur. But the film cleaned up in technical categories, with mentions for art direction, cinematography, costume design, film editing and musical score adaptation.

Coppola joined Fosse and Benton in the best director category, as did Peter Yates for "Breaking Away" and another surprise — Edouard Molinaro for the French-Italian comedy "La Cage Aux Folles."

Rounding out the best actor nominations with Hoffman and Scheider were Al Pacino for "...And Justice For All," Peter Sellers for "Being There," and Jack Lemmon for "The China Syndrome."

"The China Syndrome" also earned Jane Fonda a ## best actress nomination.

She and Lemmon were the only previous Oscar winners among the top acting nominees.

Other best actress nominees were Jill Clayburgh, "Starting Over," Sally Field, "Norma Rae," Marsha Mason,

"Manhattan."

Supporting actor nominations aside from young Justin Henry were Melvyn Douglas, "Being There," Robert Duvall, "Apocalypse Now," Frederic Forrest, "The Rose," and Mickey Rooney, "The Black Stallion."

Joining Miss Streep and Miss Alexander in the supporting actress category were Barbara Barrie, "Breaking Away"; Candice Bergen, "Starting Over" and Mariel Hemingway, "Manhattan."

KNOW YOUR CARRIER

Donald (Sugar Ray) DeFlicht

Twelve year old Donald DeFlicht has been a Herald carrier since November 1979. That's when he signed up for "independence." The kind of independence that goes with earning his own money, running his own business and dealing with people on a one-to-one basis.

Donald's customers live in the 1400 to 1600 blocks of Sycamore and Wood, the Howard College campus and 1018 to 1026 Birdwell. Donald provides a vital service for his subscribers, handles his own finances and reaps a good profit for his efforts of which he spends some or saves some for a future need.

Donald is a seventh grader at Goliad where he participates in baseball and football. His parents are Don and Maxine DeFlicht of 1510 Kentucky Way.

If you would like your son or daughter to step into the business world, contact the Herald Circulation department at 263-7331. They'll give your youngster all the important facts about carrier work and help him or her on the road to independence.

Keep your home up and help keep electric bills down.

A large part of saving energy—and money—is simply a matter of cutting waste. In these days of "scarce" energy and inflation it's important to all of us to conserve. You can start by maintaining your own home.

Seal cracks around doors and windows with caulking and weather-stripping to stop heating and cooling leaks.

Check to ensure that ductwork is well insulated and sealed. If this is not done right, much of the heating and cooling escapes into your attic.

Consider installing storm windows in your home. They save energy by creating an insulating layer of air between the temperature outside and temperature inside your home.

For the full story on saving energy—and energy dollars—get our Unhandy Person's Guides. Just call Texas Electric or ask for them on the comments section of your next electric bill. They'll help even the most unhandy person tighten up his home.

At Texas Electric, we want to help you keep your electric bill down.
