Killer Storm slaps Dixie

By the Associated Press

March stormed in like an avenging lion Saturday, stunning much of the nation with record sub-zero cold, car-stopping snow up to a foot or more deep and freezing rain that put out forest fires burning across Dixie.

With dozens of towns and cities in several states suffering their coldest March 1 of the century, residents of Embarrass, Minn., could brag that their thermometers dropped to 35 degrees below zero.

Snow hucap deep and still falling bogged down much of southern Ohio and northern Kentucky as the storm rolled eastward out of Oklahoma and eastern Kansas across the Ohio Valley into West Virginia and Maryland would get up to 18 inches.

At least two storm-related deaths were reported, one a truck driver who leaped from his skidding rig in Kentucky and was struck by it, and one a motorist whose car slid off an icy road in South Carolina.

The National Weather Service in West Virginia warned of an "extremely dangerous winter storm" in the state's mountainous southeastern counties, with strong winds and heavy snow.

In Virginia, highway department spokesman Al Coates said: "There are 82,000 miles in the state highway system and we are recommending snow tires or chains for every mile." The agency had already used up $13 million of the $16 budget for snow removal this winter before Saturday's storm.

An ice storm ripped down power lines in Oklahoma, leaving 60,000 homes in Oklahoma City and neighboring communities without electricity in sub-freezing weather throughout the night. Officials said it may be Sunday night before all of the power is restored.

"We've called in all the manpower we can muster to work," said George Gannon, a spokesman for Oklahoma Gas & Electric Co. in Cincinnati, Hamilton County sheriff's dispatcher Terry Ott called it the worst snowstorm since the blizzard of 1978.

While Ott said the police department had received "about a thousand" calls about road conditions, the only highway officially closed was I-75 in northern Kentucky near Cincinnati.

The Midwesterners' cousins in the Deep South were not spared either. The temperature dropped 20 degrees in six hours Saturday in Georgia.

In Arkansas, where it was a balmy 80 degrees late last week, most of the state was coated with ice, and snow was falling at mid-day.

The glaze of ice spread through parts of Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and into the Carolinas, coating trees and power lines and creating havoc on the highways.

"March is starting off on the wrong foot," said Charley Bejin of the National Weather Service in Kansas City.

But firefighters welcomed the storm in several Southern states where hundreds of forest fires had destroyed 80,000 acres of dry timberland and grasslands.

Before the weekend, forestry officials reported 33,000 acres had been burned in Mississippi, 22,000 acres in Arkansas, 14,000 acres in Alabama and 11,000 acres in Texas.

"The situation is now in control," Bart Williams of the Alabama forestry service said Saturday.

Saturday's snows spread from Oklahoma and eastern Kansas across the Ohio Valley into Virginia, with parts of Indiana and Virginia targeted for up to 10 inches.

Temperatures dropped to at least 20 degrees below zero in most of North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota, with sub-zero readings reported from Nebraska across the upper Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes into New England.

Readings in the teens and single digits prevailed from the Rockies across northern Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma and the Ohio Valley into the mid-Atlantic Coast.

Extras, Extras read all about 'em

By JAMES WERRELL

Clyde McMahon Jr. wears a N.A.S.A. tag with the name John Smith written on it. Martha Cohorn wears a similar tag with the name Louise Smith on it. They aren't sure if they're supposed to be related.

Such is the life of an extra on the set of the movie "Hangar 18-UFO Affair." Mrs. Cohorn is dressed in a professional-looking white smock and a pair of tennis shoes.

The tennis shoes became part of her costume after she found out that what most people say about extras is true: they spend a lot of time standing around.

"We do spend quite a bit of time standing around, but I have enjoyed every minute of it," said Mrs. Cohorn, Thursday, on her second day of shooting. "It's just interesting to be able to watch how a movie is made."

McMahon is dressed in regular street clothes, but this is augmented by the fact that he spends most of his on-camera time in front of a sophisticated display of blinking lights.

"I think I'm a scientist, and I think I'm a doctor that I sit in," said McMahon. "What I do mostly though is stand around a lot."

On the first day of shooting, said the extra, he was on the set from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. During that time, he "worked" only 45 minutes.

The second day of shooting, he brought a chair and a book onto the set with him.

But he isn't complaining either: "I was a little tired after the first day, but it was still really exciting. I wouldn't have missed it."

Security around the set, which is Hangar 18 itself with the alien ship inside, is similar to that at Fort Knox. Movie officials are reluctant to let any non-movie personnel onto the set, and pictures are strictly taboo.

According to Reggie Jackson, publicity director for Sunn-Schick Pictures, Inc., much of the future publicity for the movie will come from still shots of this set. To allow pictures to come out earlier would simply spoil the surprise.

Jackson stated, however, that restrictions on filming at other sets, such as that of the interior of the alien craft, would be less strict.

Both McMahon and Mrs. Cohorn said that it is difficult to follow exactly what is going on because of the discontinuity of the shooting schedule.

"They did a couple of scenes in the library on the set, and a few continuity shots, but not having seen the script, I couldn't exactly tell what it was all about," said Mrs. Cohorn, laughing.

She did see the filming of the segment where the aliens were carried from the craft, and the creatures from outer space "were just human enough to be scary," she said.

McMahon has also found the action a little hard to follow.

"The stars don't say much at one time. It all looks pretty disjointed," he said.

At approximately 12:30 p.m. Thursday, reporters were allowed onto the set, and the timing was perfect. The scene to be filmed involved a laser that emanates from the ship, and destroys one of the computer rooms in the hangar.

First a shrill whistle sounded, signaling the need for complete silence on the set. The director checked to see that all cameras were properly placed, and that the cameramen were all wearing their goggles.

"O.K., anyone without protective eyeglasses, get back near the ship. Action!" said the director.

"Rolling here," answered all three cameramen in succession.

Blam! A huge explosion filled the hangar as the large plate glass window in front of the lab exploded outward, and smoke and flames shot through the opening.

The crew cheered and applauded the special effects experts, and the excitement spread contagiously to all those standing around the periphery of the set. Then, as things quieted down, the crew began to map out the next scene, and the extras were left standing around awaiting new instructions.

"But like I said, I am really having fun," said McMahon. "The crew and everyone else involved in this thing have been super friendly. The food is really good. And this set has the cleanest bathrooms I've ever seen," he added with a smile.

There are two coolers, one to the left of Werrell. One is designated for movie personnel, the other for extras. Mrs. Cohorn claims that the movie folks get more fruit juice.

'King of the Thumbs' pushes 'Hitchhikers Express' plan

By TOMMY HART

Robert Bobb's vagabond ways likely will be ending sometimes soon but not before he has stowed away on a ship bound for New Zealand. He's never been there and would like to look it over before he gives up the carefree life.

The proclaimed "King of the Thumbs," a native of Midway, Ga., stopped here overnight Friday on his way back to Jacksonville, Fla., where he will undergo treatment for a broken foot.

Oddly enough, Bobb sustained the injury in Florida when a bucket fell on the limb while he was working for the Megerle Shows, a touring carnival. Since that time, he has been to California.

Bobb, who is 38, estimates he has traveled 7 million miles in his time, without ever once going into his pocket to pay for a fare.

Bobb has been accumulating material for a book Brown Publishing Company of Chicago will publish for him as soon as he can write the final chapter. It wasn't difficult for him to decide upon a title — "King of the Thumbs."

The lean, brown hitchhiker has flagged rides all over the world and says it is easier to get overseas motorists to stop than it is to catch rides in America.

Bobb takes odd jobs along the way to sustain himself. If jobs are hard to come by, he will panhandle and sleep under bridges or in cars that have been left unlocked. If cold weather is a factor, he tries to find a piece of plastic in which he will wrap himself.

Bobb drove all the way from Phoenix to Big Spring with an Ellicott City, Md., welder, John W. Selzer, who had gone to Arizona to scout a couple of jobs.

Selzer, who is married and the father of two children, admittedly was wary of Bobb at first but the two soon became fast friends. When Selzer stayed overnight here Friday, Bobb slept on the floor in Selzer's motel room.

Bobb says hitchhikers usually are more afraid of motorists than the other way around. He says he has been beaten up several times by people who stopped and offered him lifts. Once, in Sacramento, Calif., he spent three days in a hospital recovering from a head wound suffered when a motorist attacked him, then robbed him.

He's been in jail on three different occasions, the longest stretch for 31 days in Pecos, Texas. (Hitchhiking is illegal in most states). Despite his experience in Pecos, Bobb still says Texas is the best state in which to hitchhike, explaining the people here are friendlier and more approachable.

Bobb still has hopes of establishing a "Hitchhikers Express," which, in effect would provide a bus service at a nominal fee for hitchhikers.

He says such a system "would eliminate murders and other unfortunate things happening on the road today."

Does Bobb have any advice for fellow hitchhikers and motorists who stop for them?

Yes, he suggests (1) never steal from another hitchhiker; (2) if you're wanted by the law, stay off the highway — the police have a way of seeking you out; (3) motorists should never tell hitchhikers where they are going — simply take them as far as they can and then let them out. Guest riders often take umbrage if told the route motorists are traveling is not in keeping with their plans.

Action/reaction: No award given

Q. Why was the Brad Stevens Award not given last year?

A. According to Herald sports editor, Nathan Poss, the award for outstanding performance on the field and exemplary conduct in the classroom was not given in 1978 because of uneven response from area coaches.

The selection of the winner goes like this. Coaches from six area schools, Coahoma, Forsan, Grady, Sands, Stanton and Big Spring submit nominees. From this list, the Herald sports editor chooses the player who most nearly reflects the character of Brad Stevens.

Stevens was an outstanding player and student at Forsan High School. During his senior year, he died in a tragic automobile accident.

Honored with the Brad Stevens Award have been Gary Martin, 1977, Forsan; and Rocky Torres, 1979, Big Spring.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A jury found Larry Flynt guilty of obscenity Saturday and ordered the publisher Robert Guccione $39.3 million in damages.

Guccione, who publishes Penthouse magazine, had sought $80 million in the Franklin County Common Pleas Court suit.

The panel of five women and three men handed down the decision after a day and a half of deliberations.

Flynt's attorney, Lawrence Sturtz, said he will appeal the verdict.

Guccione had contended that Flynt and Hustler conducted a campaign of malice against him and his associates.

By the Associated Press
Bitter cold weather stung Texas on the first day of March with gusty winds and temperatures plunging as low as 5 degrees.

Afternoon temperatures did not get out of the teens in the Panhandle. Readings in South Texas rose into the 40s.

The cold front knifed into the state bringing a string of spring-like days in Texas to an abrupt end. The most drastic temperature plunge was in San Angelo, where the mercury plummeted from a high Friday afternoon of 81 degrees to a low Saturday morning of 20.

Winds gusted to 40 miles an hour as cold air spilled in behind the front during the day Saturday.

The outlook was for colder weather Saturday night, but sunshine and slightly warmer temperatures Sunday throughout the state.

Lamesa teen paid $110,000

HOUSTON (AP) — Four Houston businessmen pooled their resources and paid a record $110,000 Saturday to purchase the grand champion steer at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Tommy Steele, Earl Gilert, Doug Potts and Homer Scott got the steer, a Limousin-Angus named Geoffery Beane, when Bill Williams, a retired Houston restaurant owner, dropped out of the bidding at $109,000.

The steer, which weighs 1,292 pounds, was raised as a 4-H Club project by Angie Airhart, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Airhart of Lamesa.

The reserve champion, a 1,236 pound Maine-Anjou crossbreed, was owned by Kevin Newman, 15, of Stanton.

Riordan announces candidacy for Demo job

C.V. Riordan has issued a formal statement on behalf of his candidacy for the office of Chairman of the Howard County Democratic Executive Committee.

"Since I don't have an opponent, I am looking forward with great enthusiasm to once again serving as the Howard County Democratic Chairman.

"Several things have prompted me to seek this office. First and foremost, I am a life-long Democrat and have some knowledge of the philosophy and the accomplishments of the Democratic Party in my lifetime; consequently, I feel an obligation to serve and work.

"Also, I am personally acquainted with the 21 fine and dedicated men and women who make up the Executive Committee and I know with their help we will bring the party back to the position of influence and prestige that it deserves.

"Howard County has long been recognized throughout the state and nation as predominantly a Democratic stronghold. As evidence of the popularity of the party in Howard County, of the 20 candidates seeking elective offices 19 of them have chosen the Democratic Party on which to run, while the opposing party has candidates running in squad formation for national office, they have very little interest in solving or helping solve the problems that face local government."

"For that reason, I am glad to be an officer of the party that has always been willing to face the responsibility of solving the problems on all levels of government. It is a challenge that I welcome, and the voters' help will be appreciated."

Riordan makes his home at 1103 Barnes Ave.

Candidate wants young to vote in election

Sally Rodriguez has made the following statement on behalf of her candidacy for the office of Howard County school trustee:

"Big Spring has a lot of good in it and we can make it even better, if the people will stand by it. I would like to show the people of Big Spring and Howard County the interest I have in helping to make decisions for a better college and community.

"I want to see more involvement in the college from the Mexican-American citizens and feels that, as a member of the Board, I can encourage minority participation.

"While I hope everyone will vote in this election, I am particularly concerned that the young people turn out, because they are the ones who will be affected most, as the primary purpose of the college is to serve them. So I hope we'll all get out and vote — all for one and one for all!"

Sally, who resides at 402 Bell, is married to Albert Rodriguez. They are owners

Part of my work in the past has placed me in a position to realize how important a sound government is for a city, and how important a city is in the encouragement of industrial, business and other development. I am impressed with the potential of Big Spring. I feel that it is unlimited in Big Spring and I want to make whatever contribution that I can."

Commissioner hopeful issues statement

John J. Roemer Sr., candidate for the office of Howard County Commissioner, Precinct 3, subject to action in the May 3 Democratic Primary election, has issued a formal statement to the Herald.

"I have decided to seek the office of County Commissioner of Howard County Pct. 3, which includes voting boxes 3, 16 and 19.

"I have been active in the Democratic Party since I came of voting age. I have never failed to cast a ballot, including the time I was in the Army, at which time I regularly voted absentee.

"I have served as Democratic Precinct Chairman for the past 16 years. I have been elected as a delegate to the county and state Democratic conventions all during this time. I have always tried to represent the people of my precinct in my voting at all times.

"My long years as a resident of this precinct, I feel, gives me an understanding of the needs and the desires of the people of this precinct. My profession both in the Army and in private business will help me properly evaluate the county's needs from a business position. I feel there are many economies that can be employed by the county in the spending of the taxpayers' money such as better cooperation between the City of Big Spring and the county to the extent that the services of each can be improved with a minimum cost.

"A start in that direction has been undertaken by the city, providing fire protection to properties outside the city limits and the county reciprocating in certain street repairs. There are many instances of this type which could be employed to the benefit of each of these governmental agencies.

"I respectfully solicit your support in the Democratic

Chagra imprisoned at La Tuna To many Texas voters

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Convicted drug trafficker Jamiel "Jimmy" Chagra was transported Saturday from Las Vegas, Nev., to the Federal Correctional Institution at La Tuna, Texas, near here.

Lt. Jack Crosley, a correctional officer at La Tuna, said Chagra arrived just before noon.

Chagra, 35, was arrested Feb. 21 by federal Drug Enforcement Administration agents who followed his car and stopped him on the Las Vegas Strip. Agents said they found $187,000 in cash in a diaper box in Chagra's car.

During a five-minute extradition hearing Thursday, Chagra's attorney Oscar Goodman said his client would waive the right to a removal hearing.

Chagra, a flamboyant gambler, vanished last August just before he was to be sentenced on a continuing criminal enterprise conviction.

During his federal court trial in Austin last summer, prosecutors said he masterminded a massive drug-smuggling scheme from Colombia to the United States.

Goodman said a tentative sentencing date of March 17 was set at El Paso.

Hobby still a mystery

By JIM DAVIS
Herald-Examiner Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — After eight years as Texas' second highest elected official, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby remains basically a mystery man.

With most politicians, the big question is, "What are his or her ambitions?" With Hobby, the question is, "Does he have any ambition?"

Information for arriving at an answer is as scarce as a primary victory for John Connally.

Persons close to Attorney General Mark White will tell you White wants to be governor. The only question is whether he will run in 1982 or put in another four years as AG first.

They guess that he would like to be governor, but they wonder if he wants the job bad enough to fight for it — against other Democrats in the 1982 primary and probably against hard-hitting and colorful Republican Gov. Bill Clements in the general election.

For at least two years everyone has known that House Speaker Bill Clayton wants to run for governor. Speculation centered on whether he would do so in 1982 or seek the lieutenant governor's job first if Hobby leaves that open.

Now, we'll have to wait for the outcome of the federal bribery scandal that has touched Clayton to see if his ambitions have any future.

With at least some obvious political damage to Clayton, more Democrats are wondering about Hobby's plans. But apparently they'll have to wait to find out if he has any.

Hobby's friends and staff members appear genuine when they confess that they don't have any idea what he wants. They wonder if he knows.

He could be a formidable political force when he comes home, particularly if President Carter wins a second term and remains fairly popular here.

Fort Worth meteorologist Alan Moller had some good news for Wichita Falls-area residents last week.

At an emergency preparedness conference in Austin, Moller said the tornado group that tore through the North Texas area last April was a "one in a million years" occurrence.

The 1979 session may have left the lieutenant governor at age 48, wondering whether public office is such a great thing.

Don't forget Democratic National Chairman John White as a possible 1982 gubernatorial candidate.

White, former longtime Texas agriculture commissioner, has worked hard at keeping his political connections in the state while living in Washington, D.C.

McCracken resigns Y post

Mike McCracken, YMCA executive director, has submitted his resignation to YMCA board president Dave Morrison. He has formed the company, All American Sports Lettering and Awards, and will soon be moving to Beaumont.

"Big Spring has always been dear to my heart. Big Spring is a growing community coming out of a situation which most communities would have quit," he said.

McCracken gave Morrison a 60-day notice.

He started out in the Y here when he was nine-years-old, at a time Curtis Mullins was the director. Mullins is now vice-president of First National Bank here.

"I have been working for the YMCA ever since," said McCracken. "I started out as a professional in Beaumont where I met my wife, Kathy." he said.

From there they moved to Wichita Falls where he was youth director of a YMCA. He returned to the Y at Big Spring as executive director in 1977.

McCracken has implemented several improvements at the Big Spring YMCA. He said the budget has grown from $85,000 to $160,000.

He built a gymnastics program and added on the men's and women's health centers. He started a cardiovascular evaluation program, and a soccer program. His staff has grown from two to three professionals since he started here. The Y grew from partial to year round programs under his direction.

Kathy is a children's librarian at the Howard County library and has been employed there for over a year. They have a four-year-old boy named Charlie.

Introduce the New Humphrey Vision Analyzer

You'll Notice a Difference

If you are having your eyes examined today, you're about to experience something totally different from what you are used to experiencing. We have installed a new instrument — the Humphrey Vision Analyzer — in order that we may continue to provide you with the best possible eye care. The Vision Analyzer differs from conventional equipment in more than appearance. Using the Vision Analyzer, your doctor will be able to test your eyes more comfortably, more thoroughly and with greater accuracy than ever before.

You Participate in Your Refraction

After you are properly positioned in the chair and the headrest is in place, you will be asked to look at the circular mirror directly in front of you. In the mirror, you'll be shown a series of targets. You may be asked to turn a dial to change the focus of the targets or your doctor may adjust the dial while you tell him what you see. You will see the above targets in addition to the familiar ones — rows of letters and numbers.

The dial moves the lenses inside the Vision Analyzer. As you make the mirror image "sharp and clear," you are, in effect, increasing or decreasing the strength of the lenses. This fine tuning helps the doctor determine the best prescription for your eyes. When you have found the sharpest image, a computer within the instrument immediately converts the measurements to a standard form.

An Advanced Optical System

The Humphrey Vision Analyzer is the result of extensive research in variable focus lenses. These lenses, which can be manipulated to produce almost every conceivable power, are the heart of the Vision Analyzer. Combined with an advanced optical system, they produce a set of "invisible lenses" which are reflected onto, or directly in front of, your eyes. This, in part, allows your doctor to perform more sophisticated tests with less patient discomfort or confusion.

Your Prescription

At the end of your examination, your measurement is printed out on what looks like adding machine tape. The doctor uses this information along with other test information to determine your best prescription.

We hope you will find this to be an interesting and pleasant experience. We'd appreciate hearing your comments.

Not enough people offer for office

Invariably, prior to election time, there is more smoke emanating from the constituency than there is fire.

People who profess a great interest rarely mount enough enthusiasm to declare as a candidate. Many concede they know more about the task than the people serving on the job but few are willing to bend to the yoke.

IT'S NOW possible to declare for either the school board or the city council but relatively very few people apparently are considering getting into the races. They cop a plea: They're too busy to serve. They have family obligations. They work late, something that would prevent them from attending the meetings. Their health is suspect. Their wives or husbands don't want them in politics.

The people who agree to serve on either the school board or the city council don't always come away from the experience unscathed. If they take an unpopular stand on an issue, they run the risk of becoming pariahs in a community.

It's amazing the reputation some of them get, considering how few people attend school board and council meetings.

New candidates for school boards and city government bring new ideas with them. If they are aggressive, innovative people, they get people to think — and that is always a plus.

A segment of the people, sad to say, suspect the motives of those who do announce for office. Lack of self-confidence handicaps some people from announcing, too. They tell themselves, "I could never do that job." Really, it isn't that difficult. Members of a city council or a school don't master an unknown tongue. One just has to listen to the facts, be sensible and decide what is best for a school district or a city.

SOME PEOPLE don't run because they can't stand the thought of losing. Losing may not be palatable but some of the best people in history have absorbed a succession of defeats, and have come back to win. Abraham Lincoln is a shining example.

The people we name to boards and councils aren't deciding on matters that are beyond them. They decide the basics and have city or school staffs to supply recommendations on complicated technical matters.

There's a possibility the City of Big Spring will seek to put a bond issue before the voters later this year. Whether you are for or against it shouldn't influence your decision to offer for public office. Any such matter is better off being debated in the public sector than in a council chamber.

We would all be better citizens if (1) we agreed to serve in some capacity for the common good, whether it is in an elective or appointive office; (2) function as an arbiter in some endeavor, whether it be as an umpire of some athletic contest or labor issue; or (3) be picked as a member of a jury in a court of law.

If you have never functioned in any such capacity, your education hasn't been complete.

I THOUGHT THOSE GUYS were giving me a pay raise. I was expecting $10 or $15 a week but after they left, I looked in my envelope and noticed there was $5,000 in it, and after all, it had been forced on me.

"Who could I talk to about this? I decided that the best thing to do would be to treat it as a legitimate pay raise. After the scandal was made known, I knew I could not — would not keep it. Honesty is the best policy.

P.S., does this mean I don't get my pay raise? Who does get the $5,000.

Joy of Moving

Art Buchwald

LOS ANGELES — I came to Los Angeles last week for rest and recreation, only to discover that it had become a rain forest.

I didn't realize how bad it was until I went to dinner at a friend's house. I had the right address, but when I arrived there, I found I was in the wrong house. I went to a neighboring house where I found a man bailing out his swimming pool.

"I beg your pardon," I said. "Could you tell me where the Cables live?"

"THEY USED TO live above us on the hill. Then about two years ago, their house slid down in the mud, and they lived next door to us. I think it was last Monday, during the storm, that their house slid again, and now they live two streets below us, down there. We were sorry to see them go — they were really nice neighbors."

I thanked him and slid straight down the hill to the new location of the Cables' house. Cable was clearing out the mud from his car. He apologized for not giving me the new address and explained, "Frankly, I didn't know until this morning whether the house would stay here or continue sliding down a few more blocks."

"Cable," I said, "you and your wife are intelligent people, why do you build your house on the tip of a canyon, when you know that during a rainstorm it has a good chance of sliding away?"

"WE DID IT FOR the view. It really was fantastic on a clear night up there. We could sit in our chairs and see all of Los Angeles, except of course when there were brush fires."

Even when our house slid down two years ago, we still had a great sight of the airport. Now I'm not too sure what kind of view we'll have because of the house in front of us, which slid down with ours at the same time.

"But why don't you move to safe ground so that you don't have to worry about rainstorms?"

"We've thought about it. But once you live high in a canyon, it's hard to move to the plains. Besides, this house is built solid and has about three more good mud slides in it."

"Still, it must be kind of hairy to sit in your home during a deluge and wonder where you'll wind up next. Don't you ever have the desire to just settle down in one place?"

"It's hard for people who don't live in California to understand how we people out here think. Sure we have floods, and fire and drought, but that's the price you have to pay for living the good life. When Esther and I saw this house, we knew it was a dream come true. It was located right on the tippy top of the hill way up there. We would wake up in the morning and listen to the birds, and eat breakfast out on the patio and look down on all the smog."

"Then after the first mud slide, we found ourselves living next to people. It was an entirely different experience. But by that time we were ready for a change. Now we've slid again and we're in a whole new neighborhood. You can't do that if you live on solid ground. Once you move into a house below Sunset Boulevard, you're stuck there for the rest of your life."

"When you live on the side of a hill in Los Angeles, you at least know it's not going to last forever."

"Then in spite of what's happened, you don't plan to move out?"

"Are you crazy? You couldn't replace a house like this in L.A. for $500,000."

"What happens if it keeps raining and you slide down the hill again?"

"It's no problem. Esther and I figure if we slide down too far, we'll just pick up and go back to the top of the hill, and start all over again; that is, if the hill is still there after the earthquake."

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Our next four years are going to be trying ones for the U.S.A. We must elect a president who can shoulder these loads and still come out a winner.

We know that in 1962, the United States was the Super-power and was respected by all other nations. But now (1980) we are only a second rate power, Russia being the number one. Our administrative leaders stood blindly, especially during the past three years, and watched the USSR build their dominating war machine to the point where it far surpasses ours. On top of that they tried to pacify the American people by saying that the communist had no designs on any other nation, large or small. We can all now see that we were deceived, especially so during the past three years.

Now, the time is here when we must put a leader in the White House, and leaders in the legislature who can, and will, lead this nation back onto the road to security, prosperity and honor of strength and integrity. We have neither of those now.

What we must decide, this year (1980) is, whom do we want to face the Soviets (Defense Minister Ustinov, Kosygin and Brezhnev). We must choose someone who is just as tough as they are.

My evaluation of some of the candidates is: Carter has never taken a firm stand that would enhance the position of the U.S. He gets his orders from the Trilateral Commission and the Megabanks of the eastern states. Bush is the Republican counterpart for those same financial backers. So, the big money would be the winners either way.

Kennedy wants to give us government supervision from the cradle to the grave. He wants to kill free enterprise, freedom of speech and freedom to choose your own way of life. His theory is the people are not capable of governing themselves. This nation emerged from nothing, prospered and grew to be the greatest nation the world has ever known on the concept of "government of the people, for the people, by the people." It was so admired, by the rest of the world, that they wanted to be a part of it. They would go to any lengths to be able to live in America. And now Kennedy wants to take away those three major freedoms.

Brown — well let's just drop him. He is too much in league with the homosexuals. Anderson is another far left advocate and is not suitable presidential material.

I urge, all of you, do not support a candidate just because he is handsome, a glib-tongued speaker, or claims to be a good Christian. We need leadership in the White House, and the legislature. A lot of it. With good leaders in the Capitol this nation will again go on the path of prosperity, national and international respect and accordance. We must remove the vacillating liberals and replace them with people who are more interested in seeing this nation prosper and grow than in increasing their own authority and wealth. That applies equally well to the appointive agencies as well as the elective offices.

Dear Editor:

It has always been that the Olympic games gave all people a certain glimmer of hope for peace; that people of vastly different beliefs and political viewpoints could meet together as one group, if only for a brief time.

Eight years ago, we watched with apprehension and horror, as political terrorists held athletes hostage, and tragedy ensued in Munich. There was an outcry of nations against this abominable act of politics in the Olympic games.

Yet now, the president of the United States, with the support of the public, has declared that, in a sense, the American athletes be held hostage for political reasons. They are to boycott the 1980 summer Games. Why?

I honestly do not believe that it is because of a deep conviction, to world peace, against the Soviets for their military intervention in Afghanistan. For we are not of a deep enough conviction to willingly stop selling them grain (only a small amount is being withheld). We have not and are not boycotting the selling of important technology, either indirectly or directly, to Russia. In this very paper we have been told explicitly of companies, such as Texas Instruments and Ford, selling to the Soviets or their allies, technical equipment or knowledge, which was converted (with the foreknowledge of these companies as to this possibility) to make the very vehicles which were used to invade Afghanistan. This is a disgrace. We have not even dropped the dangerous Salt II talks (only shelved them for the time being).

Then why are these athletes being coerced into staying away from the summer Games? I believe it is because, in our deep moral conviction, it is the easiest and most economically accepted way to let the Russians know how naughty we think they are.

The grain embargo that the president levied met with much opposition and many outcries from the public. "We are losing more than the Russians" is the cry. This means that a real sacrifice for our beliefs is required; a sacrifice of money!

But this is not so where the Olympics are concerned. This sacrifice is relatively painless. Are we suffering? No! Only those few athletes who have spent countless grueling hours in practice, and dreamt of the participation in these events all of their lives, are suffering. How noble we are.

Perhaps we should boycott the Olympic Games in Moscow. If so, should we not also boycott our technical and food supplies as well? Shouldn't we be truly willing to sacrifice our money, as well as these athletes, for world peace?

I want to express my gratitude to you for being the first newspaper to publicize my need for the Scandinavian students that we need to have Host American Parents to sponsor them.

My own city has only just begun to publish it and to broadcast it. These students can be placed through April, since school does not start until August. The biggest response to this program has come from Big Spring, and their answer to where they heard about this program came from either the radio or newspaper in Big Spring. The interest in these students seems to be greatest in your area.

Most of the residents in Big Spring are very interested and we have already selected some host families from Big Spring.

The residents in Big Spring have given this program a big boost, which is due to your help. As I said, these students can be placed in host families as late as April.

Dear Editor:

After the item in Friday's Herald appeared, "HC trustees call special session," I feel a clarification of my position on the Southwest College For the Deaf is in order.

I do not oppose the college. I think the institution for the deaf will be a fine asset to our city.

I am not "threatening a lawsuit." I have a suit pending based upon what I contend are violations of the Open Meetings and Open Record Acts, by Hays and the HC Board of Trustees.

Before I filed my suit I requested both Hays and Don McKinney, HC board chairman, to obtain a written opinion from the Attorney General on the questions made on part of my suit. They declined to do so.

After I filed suit, but before I amended my pleadings asking that the alleged violations be held void, I attempted, through their attorney, John T. Ferguson, to set up a meeting with them to try to work matters out without further court proceedings. This they also declined to do.

I brought my law suit, but Hays and his controlled board of directors caused it, by their continued blatant disregard for legal requirements — indicating they would handle things any way they got good and ready, regardless of the law — and further that they had no intention of changing to conform to the law.

They are not above the law. The Supreme Court has held that not even the President of the United States is above the law.

If they had made any reasonable attempt to comply with the Open Meetings Act with proper agendas, and with the Open Records Act, I would not have brought this lawsuit, as there would have been no reason to do so.

The real truth is that the "special session" is to be held because they didn't comply with the law. They passed resolutions and acted upon items that did not appear on the agenda, and in doing so they acted illegally. Now they must go back and try to clean up their act so it will withstand the scrutiny of the court.

Heart, pulse rates should be same

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My heart beat is very regular, but my pulse is in the 80s most of the time, sometimes higher. Could this indicate heart trouble? I have no other symptoms. Do athletes have a higher heart rate than non-athletes? — B.R.

An explanation first. Each time the heart beats, a jet of blood is shot out into the arteries. This surge is felt as the pulse — at the wrist, the neck or in any artery close to the skin. The pulse should equal the heart beat. You can time the heart itself by placing your hand just below the nipple on the left side of the chest.

If there is a difference between the heart beat and the pulse rate, this may be significant. It can indicate that some heart beats are not strong enough to send the jets of blood into the arteries with sufficient force to be felt at the pulse site.

Many conditions may cause a variance. Some are harmless, like an occasional premature heart beat. Some are more serious, like a true heart rhythm disturbance.

The normal heart rate (and pulse rate) is between 60 and 100 beats per minute. Athletes usually have slower heart rates. They can get by with fewer beats because their hearts pump more blood with each beat. They have more efficient pumps because of their training. It's said that Bjorn Borg (the tennis player) has a heart (and pulse) rate of only 30 per minute. I don't know what happens when he gets angry with an opponent, though. Nor can I speculate as to whether Napoleon was testing his heart rate when he was painted in the famous pose with his arm stuck under his jacket.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I would like to reduce my waist a couple of inches. How should I approach this? Is a slim belt, a device that can be worn around the waist, helpful in sweating off the pounds? — C.T.

Reduce your waist by reducing the total number of calories you are taking and by simultaneously toning up your abdominal muscles. Sit-ups and knee bends are helpful. You should be able to do it. The rubber waistband will sweat off sweat, not fat. Nor will it tone up your abdominal muscles. If you need help in your calorie or exercise battle see the booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," which might help. You can order by mailing 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald. Believe me, this idea of reduced calories and increased exercise works for most folks.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am in my early 20s, and my problem is that I am terrified of death. How can I possibly conquer this? — L.T.B.

DEAR L.T.B.: Far too many people go through life without ever thinking about the reality of death. In fact, they may try to dodge it or evade it, but, of course, that is not logical because death will eventually come to us all. It is better for you to be concerned about death, therefore, because you are in a better position to deal with it and find how you can be freed from your fears.

There is one central truth for you to know: Jesus Christ has conquered death. Because of that we need not fear death if we put our faith and trust in Him. Let me explain that a bit. Have you ever asked why death comes to us? The real reason is because of sin. The human race has rebelled against God, our Creator, and the penalty for that rebellion is death. But Jesus Christ came to do away with the penalty of sin in our lives. Christ, the perfect Son of God, suffered death for us. He took upon Himself our sin and guilt, and He has made it possible for us to be reconciled to God. When He rose again from the grave it showed beyond doubt that death and sin were conquered.

When you trust Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior, and commit your life to Him, you become a child of God. And because you now belong to God, death cannot touch you. Yes, you will pass through the experience of physical death. But you need no longer fear it, because if you belong to Christ you know you have eternal life in heaven with Him. The Bible tells us, "But now that you have been set free from sin... the result is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Romans 6:22-23).

By a simple act of faith you, an ask Christ to come into your life. He has promised to save you if you will turn to Him. Then look into His Word, the Bible, for the many promises He has made to you about eternal life.

HOME SPOTLIGHTED — It's lights, camera, action as a suburban living room is transformed into a set for a TV commercial.

Your home could be big star on silver screen

You may have always wanted to be in the movies, but actually, your kitchen may have a much better chance of making it to the silver screen.

The heyday of set building in film studios is over, and the producer's search for real-life locations can bring a big bonus to local homeowners, thanks to The Location Connection, a company whose business is to put homeowners together with producers who are waiting to pay handsomely for the right to roll film in your living room.

Philip Levy, president of the company, a former set designer and producer, acknowledges the explosive growth of film production here in Texas as the reason for his current search for new locations. His company has paid hundreds of homeowners an average of $450 per day and in some cases as much as $1,500 per day for the privilege of bringing TV commercials and feature film productions into their homes.

You might think that if your home isn't like something out of "Gone With the Wind" or "Star Trek" it wouldn't be right for a film location. But Levy stresses the steady demand for locations which reflects the warmth and solidity of middle-America. Although he numbers kitchens, dens, bathrooms, porches and yards among the most commonly used backgrounds, Levy tells us, "You never know what a producer might need next! We've gotten calls for apartments, factories, farms, ranches, resorts, hotels, even antique cars and airplanes."

Shooting sites provided by the firm have recently been featured in nationally aired commercials for leading automotive, soft drink, food, cosmetic and drug companies. In addition, the company has also provided location services for TV pilots and feature films, including as yet unreleased Paul Simon, Sylvester Stallone and Clint Eastwood productions.

To some homeowners, the chance to offer hospitality to well known performers is almost as great an attraction as the money. Not every production shot in a home includes stars, but many do. Among the celebrities who have shown up for work at homes listed with the company are Joe Namath, Jane Russell, Joe DiMaggio, Britt Ekland, Fritz Weaver and Frank Converse.

People who have let Levy bring "Hollywood" to their homes are enthusiastic about the experience, he tells us. A woman whose home was used for a TV commercial says, "I loved it. It was very exciting, and even though it got messy while they were filming, they cleaned up afterwards, and there was no problem at all. It's a great way to make extra money and it's a lot of fun!"

Levy insists that every care be taken when a production crew goes into a house. For instance, art directors may sometimes "redecorate" a bit by moving furniture around, but they always return it to the original layout unless, of course, the lady of the house prefers the new arrangement. "It's not surprising that our track record is so good," Levy adds, "film crews are made up of very professional people and they never forget that they are filming in someone's home." Still, he takes the precaution of requiring that producers pay for contracts, pay homeowners in advance and carry a minimum of one million dollars of insurance. Levy asserts, "We have to know that people are going to welcome us back."

The firm submits photos of homes for consideration by directors and advertising agencies, and in doing so is careful to protect the anonymity and privacy of the property owners listed. "When a location is selected we call the homeowner immediately and if for any reason it is not convenient for them to host a production we go on to the producer's second choice," says Levy.

Anyone wishing to respond on behalf of their kitchen or "55 Buick should write to The Location Connection Listing Co., at 31 East 31 Street, New York, N.Y. 10016. They will send you a questionnaire with which you determine your home's suitability.

Should you wish to list your home or an interesting vehicle with their service, they require a $10 handling fee for which they catalog and cross reference your location to enable them to show it to producers, and some non-returnable snap shots of those parts of your home or property which you wish to make available for film production.

Whitesides appointed judge

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements appointed Clyde Whitesides, a former member of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, as judge of the 97th Judicial District.

The district covers Montague, Clay and Archer Counties.

Whitesides, 52, also has been a county and district attorney. He replaces the late Judge Marvin F. London of Montague County.

Clements also announced Friday he has named Rep. Chris Semos, D-Dallas, chairman of the Texas 1988 Sesquicentennial Commission.

He appointed Howard Derrick of Eldorado, Dick W. Hicks of Bandera and Claude Kelley Jr. of Fredericksburg to the Texas Prosecutors Coordinating Council.

Stock mart cooled off bit during February

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market cooled off a bit during February after its red-hot start in the first few weeks of 1980.

Trading volume eased slightly from the record pace it set during January in all the major markets. And some of the indicators which posted impressive advances at the start of the year gave up some of those gains in the month that ended Friday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials posted its third weekly decline in a row this past week with a 5.63 drop to 863.14.

That left the average with a minus-12.71 reading for February, in contrast to a 37.07-point January gain.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index closed Friday at 64.95, down .85 for the week and .66 for the month.

Big Board volume averaged 40.94 million shares a day in the past week, against a pace of better than 50 million in January.

Still, some of the symptoms of the spectacular fever that gripped the market in the early days of the year persisted.

The American Stock Exchange market value index, up 6.89 at 303.48 in the past week, posted a gain of 28.06 for the month and continued to set new highs.

The Amex index has derived much of its strength of late from the many Canadian oil and gas producers listed there. Ian McAvity, a Toronto-based investment advisor, noted that the Canadian energy stocks now are selling, on average, about 10 times their mid-1970s prices.

While the stock market has been strong, the bond market has been exceptionally weak, pushing yields on bonds higher and higher. As a result, yields on bonds recently outstripped yields on stocks by better than 5 percentage points — the widest spread on record.

Cigar-smoking Italian plays unusual role

Relative of local man spearheaded white heroin bust

By STEVE HERSHBERGER
A cousin of former Big Spring City Councilman Eddie Acri was instrumental in January of cracking a drug smuggling operation that has proven to be embarrassing to American Airlines.

Tony Acri, a veteran Drug Enforcement Administration agent, commanded a drug investigation in Miami, which is considered the drug capital of the world. The drug operation found that several American Airlines employees were smuggling in white heroin, supposedly the top substance of the narcotic world.

The former local city councilman had another cousin, Carmine Acri, who worked as a drug agent for a federal agency in Mellonsville, Pa. Carmine Acri was killed some ten years ago on an undercover operation.

Tony Acri, a cigar-smoking Italian, posed as the head of an underworld organization that specialized in trafficking Lebanese heroin.

On Jan. 18, the drug enforcement agent met with an American Airlines engineer, Sixto Williams. Williams was working with the airlines in Aruba, a small island country in the Lesser Antilles.

At the meeting, Williams gave Acri a sample of heroin.

"The stuff was quality," Acri said. "It wasn't the brown Mexican heroin that's been plentiful in the past. This stuff was Far Eastern heroin, probably Lebanese."

The presence of the crystal narcotic startled the Drug Enforcement Administration and caused officials from the agency to step up its effort. A lab report showed that the substance Williams gave Acri was 56 percent pure heroin. The narcotic was triple the strength of conventional heroin.

Acri was told that the organization Williams worked for could supply white heroin, at $165,000 a kilo. Williams further said his organization could supply the substance limitlessly and on a guaranteed basis.

Acri met with two other drug dealers, who also worked for American Airlines.

On Jan. 18, the drug agent met with one Michael Kuiperi at Miami International Airport. Kuiperi gave Acri a sample of heroin, which tested out to be 68 percent pure.

A week later, Acri met with Kenrich Gijbsbertha in New York to plan a multi-kilo drug plan. Gijbsbertha at the time was assistant manager of the American Airlines in Aruba.

Gijbsbertha told Acri heroin could be easily loaded

EDDIE ACRI aboard jets bound for New York from Aruba.

At this point, the Drug Enforcement Administration was unable to come up with "front money" to deal with the Texas Board of Corrections. In late January law enforcement officials moved in to bust the Arubans. Arrested were Williams and another man, Jules Tjon. Officials were unable to arrest Gijbsbertha and Kuiperi. Law enforcement officials are trying to extradite Kuiperi and Gijbsbertha, who have been suspended from American Airlines. The two are at this time free. In summing up the Aruba drug connection, one drug agent said, "The problem is, they're still in Aruba and probably still meeting customers in Miami. We probably made them switch airlines, but it was just a small inconvenience."

Prison site hunt waged in Texas

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer

A report commissioned by the Texas Board of Corrections says the Lower Rio Grande Valley — site of an aborted attempt to buy land for a prison in 1978 — is a logical place to construct a sorely-needed prison.

Board chairman James Windham of Livingston said the board probably would announce its long-awaited decision on a prison site within 90 days.

John Hopkin, head of the Texas A&M agricultural economics department, said prison officials hired four persons in his department to study locations where a prison could be built.

He said the prison officials made it clear they wanted to maintain the system's self-sufficiency as much as possible.

"We recommended two or three things, depending on what is important to them," Hopkin said. "If growing vegetables is the dominant thing, then the Valley is our first recommendation."

"But another very important need is for feed grains for poultry and livestock. For that we felt they ought to give serious consideration to the Brazos Valley," Hopkin said.

Prison board member Harry Whittington of Austin, a member of the site selection committee, said it has "probably boiled down to areas that have good growing seasons and dependable water."

He said the report listed East Texas, the Coastal Bend, the Lower Rio Grande Valley and the Winter Garden region as leading candidates for the 2,000-bed prison.

Texas Department of Corrections Director W.J. Estelle said the El Paso area also is being considered. "There's just not a lot of places available," said Whittington.

He said the selection committee has made trips around the state to meet with "local citizens" about the possibility of a prison in their areas.

Estelle confirmed the findings of the A&M report, which cost $6,000.

"Everything considered agriculturally, the Valley is the best site, but you have to consider what (land) is available," he said.

Hopkin agreed. "As a general rule, because of the importance of vegetable production — because they are supposed to feed themselves — there are some very important advantages in the warmer areas where the growing season is much longer," he said.

Hopkin added he initially felt the cost of transporting produce from a Valley prison to other prison sites would be prohibitive.

"But with large trucks and a planned, coordinated effort the transportation proved to be less costly than I would have thought. The difference in the yield (in the Valley) makes up for the transportation cost. The growing season there is 10 months for a number of things and there's only two months when you're not growing something," he said.

Hopkin said potential East Texas areas have growing seasons of six or seven months.

The Lower Rio Grande Valley also offered more dependable "moisture under control," Hopkin said.

"The disadvantage of East Texas is you have plenty of water but its distribution is not good. You might irrigate to correct a drought and then have five inches of rain come and you're in trouble," he said.

The prison system had planned to expand to the south last spring when officials announced the pending purchase of a 6,741-acre tract in Hidalgo County. However, the plan died when local support dwindled. Elected officials and business leaders objected to taking that much land off the tax rolls.

Bishop John J. Fitzpatrick of Brownsville said a prison in the area would be an "enormous waste of taxpayers' money and would result in an "incalculable cost in human suffering." Attorney General John Hill then ruled that existing state law required the prison to be built within 75 miles of Huntsville.

The Legislature changed the law and cleared the way for a new prison anywhere in the state.

Estelle said prison officials have not given up on the Lower Valley — or even Hidalgo County.

"I think it was just kind of the northwest corner of Hidalgo County that had some reservations about it, not the entire county," he said.

Estelle also said other valley communities "are actually courting" prison officials.

"Most commonly, we have people asking us to look at sites near their communities. They recognize a prison as a stable payroll of good Texas citizens. In spite of the population we serve it is a non-polluting industry," he said.

The prison board has $8 million to spend on a site for a new prison. The facility would be constructed with inmate labor.

Whittington said the new prison — no matter where it is — probably will be insufficient the day it opens.

"We can't build them fast enough to keep prisoners off the floors," he said.

The average daily prison population in February was 26,652, according to Whittington. He said that is a 2,100 prisoner increase from last year. Some 3,000 prisoners sleep on mattresses on the floor, he said.

The soon-to-be opened Beto Unit in Anderson County will relieve some of the overcrowding, officials say.

Support for Permian urged by civic groups

Permian Airways is flying and will continue to fly its two schedules daily between Big Spring and Dallas, Chamber of Commerce and other local civic representatives have been assured.

The recent flap over a delayed fuel payment, along with other factors, had a sharp adverse effect on boardings. Permian president John Andrews told an air service task force led by Adolph Swartz at a meeting Thursday evening.

Boardings came almost to a halt after a stir over fuel payment delay, which Andrews said was caused by a change in administrative procedures in order to smooth operations. About the same time Andrews was obliged to deny that Permian had filed for a suspension of service.

As a result the impression must have been created that daily service was interrupted.

This has not been and is not due to be the case, Andrews told local representatives. Permian is continuing to make its two daily flights to and from Big Spring, Dallas-Fort Worth.

These call for departures from Big Spring Municipal Airport at 7:35 a.m. and 6:55 p.m. with arrival at D-FW at 9:05 a.m. and 8:25 p.m. The return schedules call for departures from D-FW at 9:35 a.m. and 8:50 p.m., and arrival in Big Spring at 11:05 a.m. and 10:20 p.m. The times are designed not only to make connections with major trunk lines out of D-FW both ways, but also to permit local passengers to spend a full day on business in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Some flights were cancelled during January and early February due to fog and freezing rain, also by a FCC requirement of a weather observer on duty in event of marginal weather. By this mid-week observers are expected to be qualified. Spring weather also will eliminate most of the weather factor Swartz and other task force members urged support for Permian, for ultimately it must have boardings to continue service.

TSTA's funds trouble labeled 'sour grapes'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The president of the Texas State Teachers Association says allegations that the organization is in financial trouble is nothing but "sour grapes" from another teachers' group.

TSTA President Cecile Russell took exception Thursday to a statement by John W. King, president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, that the TSTA had a projected 1980 deficit of $750,000.

"The TSTA is in second fiscal conditions, with a debt-free building and property in downtown Austin worth several million dollars, plus a cash reserve between $2 million and $3 million in U.S. Treasury notes," said Mrs. Russell.

"The more serious TSTA's financial picture becomes, the more TCTA is attacked by the TSTA leadership who is attempting to take financial control of TCTA," King said.

He said that even if TSTA members approve a 50 percent dues increase, TSTA would have a $1 million deficit in 1981.

Mrs. Russell did not deny the figure and said the dues increase was part of an effort to "adopt a sound fiscal plan for the organization in 1980-81."

CELEBRITY DIRECTORY — Michael Levine is hard at work in galley proofs for another printing of his celebrity directory called "How to Reach Anyone Who's Anyone?" He says the book lists over 3,000 people who rate as "anyone." In it you can find the address from varied celebrities such as Mickey Mouse and actor John Travolta.

Mickey Mouse, Superman you can't hide out now

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superman, Miss Piggy, Colonel Sanders, Ayatollah Khomeini, R2D2, Joe DiMaggio, Jolly Green Giant, Billy Carter, Ronald McDonald, you may come out now, you've been found. Where but in this town, awash in celebrities, would somebody dream up a directory called "How to Reach Anyone Who's Anyone?" "I'll tell you this," Michael Levine said, "A lot of mail is going to be delivered that hadn't been delivered before. It's a useful little book. Everyone should have one." Levine, of course, wants everyone to have one because he is the book's compiler, the one who decided whether someone is anyone. As it turns out, about 3,200 people, worldwide, rate as anyone. "I've tried to include people we encounter in daily life but who are so remote we don't know how to reach them," he said. "Want to write to the head of the Hilton hotel to tell him how much you enjoyed our stay? Here he is. Hilton, Barron, Pres., 9880 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif., 90210. Robertson, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90211, is a 26-year-old former New Yorker who dropped out of college and headed for the opposite coast where zany ideas seem to root better. Even so, it took him four years to convince a publisher that his zany idea had merit. The publisher, Price-Stern-Sloan, promises the book by spring, perhaps by April Fool's Day. Neither Price nor Stern nor Sloan, by the way, is listed. Levine came to his idea for his directory rather by accident. "Back in New York," he said, "I was an autograph collector. I picked up the hobby from my father. Except, rather than hang around stage doors all day, as he did, I decided to use the mail. Much more efficient, I thought. "But I discovered I couldn't find anybody's address. I had to learn the tricks. Well, I became good at finding addresses. "When I came to California, I got a look at a room in the Beverly Hills Post-Office Annex. It was filled with mail, floor to ceiling. Every letter was sent to John Travolta, but with no street address. All that mail wouldn't be delivered. "I thought of all those teenage girls who deserved at least an answer. That's when I got the idea for the directory." (Travolta, John, actor, 5160 Genesee Ave., Encino, Calif. 91316.) Cast your eye down the M's. If anyone is anyone it is the someone in this listing: Mouse, Mickey, 500 Buena Vista St., Burbank, Calif., 91521.

After two years of abuse, U.S. dollar rebounds

WASHINGTON (AP) — After two years of being bad-mouthed and badly treated on world currency markets, the U.S. dollar is finally gaining respect again. The latest surge in dollar strength came Friday when its value rose sharply against other major currencies after major U.S. banks hiked their prime lending rates to 16 3/4 percent. A stable dollar is important to American consumers because it may help to prevent another big increase in world oil prices. Officials of oil-exporting nations have said the value of the dollar is a major factor in their pricing decisions. It also helps against inflation, as the price of imported goods is unlikely to increase as much as when the dollar is falling. However, a top German monetary expert warns the dollar gains may be short-lived if the United States fails to control inflation. "I keep my fingers crossed in view of the latent effect of the present inflation performance in this country," Oskar Emminger, the retired head of the German central bank, said at a monetary conference here last week. For the moment, however, the dollar is doing fine, in spite of the nation's 18 percent inflation rate in January. Much of its past losses against the Japanese yen have been reversed and it has been remarkably stable against the German mark and the Swiss franc. In fact, the nation's dollar policy has been the one economic policy that has seemed to be working. It's a policy that has been forged in cooperation with other strong-currency nations, notably Germany. The rise in interest rates in the United States, to levels well in excess of interest rates in most other countries, have helped the dollar. Not only have the higher rates signalled the Federal Reserve Board's determination to fight inflation, but they make the dollar more attractive to hold by increasing the yield of dollar investments. The turn-around for the dollar began with the government's dramatic $30 billion dollar-supply operation in November after it lost 24 percent against the mark in a year, 29 percent against the yen and 33 percent against the Swiss franc. It has come all the way back against the yen. While it has recouped only part of its losses against the mark and franc, the important development for investors and oil-exporting nations is that it has stopped losing value.

If a three-part renewal card was not received from Austin, the registration can be acquired by bringing the Texas Title and a license receipt to the Automobile Department at the courthouse.

A 20 percent penalty is required if the vehicle has been operated on the streets after the midnight Feb. 29 deadline.

If it has not been operated an affidavit stating it hasn't been operated is required.

Petition 'platform' to 'slander and libel' Dr. Hays? HC fight enters fourth round

By DON WOODS
Protagonists in the law suit initiated in 118th District Court here by Mary Thomas against Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College, concerning the availability of open records, has now entered the fourth round.

Attorney John Ferguson, representing Dr. Hays, recently initiated a petition accusing Ms. Thomas, a certified legal assistant, of using a petition as a 'platform' to 'slander and libel' Dr. Hays.

"Ms. Thomas has learned that, the law exempts statements made in a petition filed in a lawsuit from the laws otherwise applicable to libel and slander," Ferguson stated in his amended answer.

In the original petition filed Jan. 16, Ms. Thomas said that Hays violated state Open Record Laws. She said in the petition he failed to produce financial records promptly and overcharged for copies. She also said he committed Open Meeting

Act violations by including items on college board meeting agendas reading "any other business the board may legally transact."

Ms. Thomas further accused him of violating Open Record laws in a policy regarding access to public records. She said the college's policy did not provide for prompt access to the records.

After the filing of Ferguson's answer to the petition, Ms. Thomas filed an amended petition. Ferguson then filed an amended answer.

District Judge Jim Gregg set a hearing on special exceptions made necessary by Ferguson's original answer to the plaintiff. The hearing becomes necessary when an attorney disagrees with the way a petitioner's original petition is made out.

The hearing was set for Wednesday but Gregg granted Ms. Thomas a continuance because she did not receive Ferguson's amended answer to her amended petition until Tuesday.

Gregg reset the hearing for Thursday at 4 p.m.

Both of Ms. Thomas's petitions included accusations of conflict of interest on the part of Hays. She implied that he was on the board of Spring City Ice Company while the company was selling ice to the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, a college controlled facility.

"These accusations are not true and the innuendoes she makes are without foundation and defendants believe she knows it," said Ferguson in the amended answer. "Ms. Thomas knows she can say anything she wants to say, however slanderous and however false' about Hays, the administration and college board members, he said.

He asked the court not to allow her to "impose upon the court and prostitute the judicial system."

Ferguson's amended answer accused Ms. Thomas of "furtherance of a political motive."

Ferguson said the college's policy on records ensured would be availability to "interested citizens" and "political enemies with an axe to grind" as well.

He said Hays was forced to make the policy to "keep persons such as Mary Thomas and Tina Aruigello from completely disrupting administration operations by making continual immediate and unreasonable demands."

He said Ms. Thomas's suit was "really a very simple action."

Ms. Thomas alleged in her amended petition several things not mentioned in her original suit.

She alleged that Hays should have appointed a custodian of records who he was out of town. She said he had told her and Tina Aruigello, Voice of the "Electorate member, that no one but himself was to allow access to the records."

Ms. Thomas said that initial inquiries into college assets had been directed to Mike Bruner, vice president, because Hays was out of town. Bruner told her and Ms. Arguello, that he was not custodian of the records and couldn't allow access to them.

Ms. Thomas also alleged that Hays violated his own policy that states that college employees are not to engage in outside employment without Hays' approval. She said his involvement with the ice company constituted a violation of that policy.

Ms. Thomas based her right to file suit on her taxpayer status. Ferguson answered that records show she or her husband, attorney George Thomas, had not paid college taxes in "many years."

Blue, Gold banquet attracts 200

Upwards of 200 parents and boys celebrated the 50th birthday of Cubbing at the annual Blue and Gold banquet Friday evening in First United Methodist's Garrett Hall.

The covered dish affair also was the occasion for numerous awards as well as retrospection about the family-centered program for boys 8-9-10 years of age. Kelly Draper, using his puppet character, Marvin, narrated a slide show which detailed development of Cubbing as part of the Scouting program since the first units were chartered in April 1930. Boys and leaders registered this year will receive special Golden Anniversary commemorative patches.

The younger boy program was conceived by Baden-Powell, founder of Boy Scouting, almost from start 70 years ago, but it was to be a score of years before resistance of Dr. James E. West and some of his aides was overcome. From the start, Cubbing took off like a rocket until this year the 30,000,000 Cub will be registered.

Mere for the banquet were Steve Odom, Buffalo Trail Council executive, and Mrs. Odom, and Mary Bruton, council Cubbing commissioner, and her husband, John Bruton from Midland. Larry Speck, Lone Star District chairman presided. Cubs from Pack 305 furnished the color guard for opening ceremonies. The sweet Spirits, a singing group led by Mrs. Sandy Coates and accompanied by Anne Rhodes of Sand Springs Baptist Church, furnished entertainment. Anniversary lace mats made by boys were part of colorful decorations.

An unique presentation was the Faith in God award to Burleigh Settles, Pack 187, the first to be given by the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints in Big Spring. Training awards were presented by Nancy Doolin, district Cubbing chairman, to Janie Reed, Midge Jones, Lorene Nix, Cindy Overton, Juanita Stonerook, Sue Smith and Doris Walling.

Thirty boys received advancement and achievement awards from their Cubmasters — Ken Lawhorn, Pack 45 of Coahoma; Arvil Henry, Pack 136 of Sand Springs; Mike Garcia, Pack 187, (Latter Day Saints) and Glenn Pierce, Pack 305 (First Baptist) in Big Spring.

$1.36 billion spent Permian Basin ranks third in wells drilled

MIDLAND — The Permian Basin area played a significant part in U.S. oil and gas exploration during 1979, Petroleum Information Corporation said.

The Permian basin was ranked second nationally among geologic provinces as to footage drilled in search of oil or gas, with 29.3 million feet. The basin ranked third in the United States in total wells completed, with 5,104 and was also third in expenditures for drilling and completions with more than $1.36 billion spent during the year.

Petroleum Information said the Permian Basin played a major role in helping Texas to retain its top ranking in drilling activity during 1979. In a presentation to members of the petroleum and associated industries in Midland Thursday, PI reported Texas was again the most-drilled state with 16,514 wells. That total was up 42.1 wells from 1978. The total included 6,956 oil wells and 4,039 gas wells, for an overall drilling success rate of 66.43 percent. The Permian Basin had 3,237 oil wells and 745 gas wells.

In a multi-image presentation at the Midland Hilton Hotel entitled "Perspective 80," PI reviewed 1979 activity in the petroleum industry, looked at the regulatory climate and its potential impacts on exploration and production and projected 1980 as a year of opportunity for the industry. Among the highlights of the presentation:

—The 1979 total of 49,101 wells drilled in the United States was 392 wells or .8 percent higher than the 1978 figure and continued a six-year upward trend in drilling.

—Drilling activity indicators, including the total number of drill rigs working, the national count of seismic crews on the job and the total acreage of federal lands leased for oil and gas drilling, all continued upward during 1979. National counts for the number of active drill rigs and seismic crews were at their highest levels since the late 1950s, PI said.

—Drilling continued to be deeper and more expensive during the year. Nationally, more than 237.14 million feet were drilled, with the average well 61 feet deeper than in 1978. At the same time, expenditures for the average well rose $6.93 per foot, or $33,472 per well. Total U.S. drilling and completion costs climbed from $11.63 billion in 1978 to $13.82 billion last year.

—Despite increased drilling activity and continued increases in Alaskan production, total U.S. petroleum production turned downward again in 1979, after climbing in 1977 and 1978. Using projections based on figures collected for the first nine months of the year, PI estimated average 1979 daily crude production at 8.49 million barrels, or 2.1 percent less than the 1978 daily average. Sharp increases in gas well completions resulted in a hike in estimated daily average production during 1979 to 56.5 billion cubic feet, up 1.2 percent.

Midland was the site of one of five major presentations to be made by PI reviewing 1979 activity. The firm, with more than 75 offices in the United States and Canada, predicted a positive year for the industry. While political variables remain the most unpredictable influences, based on 1979 activity the industry has the opportunity to surpass the 52,500 well completion mark this year, PI said.

Petroleum Information is a wholly owned subsidiary of the A.C. Nielson Company, Northbrook, Ill. The firm offers reporting services, data and data analysis services, maps, logs and technical exploration and engineering services to the petroleum and related industries.

"Sometimes we get more government than we really want."

Reviewing a list of legislative "ripoffs" in the last session of the Texas Legislature, Larry Shaw cites a property tax break given to East Texas timber giants, fourteen separate House votes to escalate interest rates, the weakening of the Consumer Protection Act, the $25.00 new car documentary fee (which will take millions of dollars out of Texans' pockets each year) and other items.

This legislation favors lenders and vendors. It works against those in the middle incomes.

It could never pass except for the help it receives from legislators in league with lobbyists all across the state. Some of this strikes awfully close to home.

Larry Shaw says it's time to remember the people of the 63rd Legislative District. The special interest that interests him... is you.

Hawks face must-win situation tonight

Howard College and Amarillo College square off in Midland's Chaparral Coliseum at 7:30 o'clock this evening to see which team keeps alive its chances for the annual Region V Boys' Basketball Tournament.

Howard College must, in fact, win two games in order to qualify for the tournament, since Hill is waiting in the wings to take on the survivor in tonight's game.

Firing in the tournament gets under way Tuesday night in Midland and continues through Thursday.

Howard College appeared to have been eliminated from consideration in the tournament after a defeat at the hands of Amarillo here Thursday but Coach Harold Wilder of the Hawks reread the rules and discovered that his team ended up with 34 points in the Power Rating System used to determine playoff teams in event of ties in the standings.

That, coincidentally, is the same Power Rating Amarillo wound up with. Wilder immediately called Kenneth Vaughn of Clarendon College, president of the Western Athletic Conference, who agreed with Wilder's findings and ordered the sudden death playoff tonight.

Coach Joe Calvin of Amarillo, who left here following Thursday's game with HC, was on a scouting trip and could not immediately be located but ultimately was contacted and reassured Wilder and Vaughn that he would have his team ready for play tonight.

Howard College has an overall record of 19-10 and is tied with Frank Phillips and Amarillo in Western Conference standings, each with a 10-8 record.

Western Texas College of Snyder is the top-rated team in the Region V field, followed by McLennan Community College of Waco, Midland, Cooke County, Odessa and Ranger. Cisco and Frank Phillips scheduled a playoff this weekend to see which team qualifies for the Regional.

Despite the Hawks' two losses to Amarillo, Coach Wilder said he was highly confident that his team could contain the Badgers tonight. The 71-65 defeat HC suffered at the hands of Amarillo here Thursday night was a lot closer than the score indicated, Wilder said.

Tuesday's tournament action will get under way at 2 p.m., when Cooke County squares off with Odessa College. At 4 p.m., McLennan will oppose the winner of the Monday night contest between Frank Phillips and Cisco. Western Texas tangles with the Monday night winner of the Hill and Amarillo-HC contest. Midland College will then square off with Ranger College at 9 p.m.

Tickets for all four sessions of the tournament are priced at $10 each. Single session ducats sell for $3 adult, $1.50 for students while youngsters under six will be admitted free.

The Region V title will be decided in the final game.

Raiders headed for LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Al Davis, general managing partner of the Oakland Raiders, signed an agreement Saturday to move the National Football League team to the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum for the 1980 season, despite legal activity that threatens to block the shift.

Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley had opened a news conference by saying, "After many months of negotiations, I am happy to announce that the Raiders are coming to the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum." Then he added, "It's still a long and difficult struggle."

"We know it's going to be tough," Davis said. "There are going to be a lot of obstacles in the way. But I consider obstacles as normal and treat them that way in the normal course of a business day."

Davis said the Raiders will begin moving their operations from Oakland to Los Angeles by March 12, with ticket facilities among the first to be set up.

The city sought the National Football League team after the Rams announced they would move from Los Angeles to Anaheim beginning with the 1980 NFL season.

On Friday, the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco issued a ruling which in effect preserved a National Football League rule governing team transfers.

The court extended a stay of a preliminary injunction against the NFL rule by U.S. District Judge Harry Pregerson, which was issued here Feb. 21.

The Coliseum Commission had gone to court Feb. 4 asking for an injunction to keep the NFL from enforcing the rule that requires 21 of its 28 team owners to approve the move of a team.

Oakland Mayor Lionel Wilson said he was "shocked to think that the Raiders would take that kind of action in defiance of the court and the league itself. It'll be interesting to see what action the league takes in this matter."

Spurs fire Doug Moe; Bob Bass takes over

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — There hadn't even been any rumors. But the San Antonio Spurs knew something was amiss when the team president showed up at Saturday's practice and Coach Doug Moe didn't.

Bass was born in Big Spring. He moved away with his family before he was a year old.

The two-time divisional champions, who have been mired in a season-long slump, were stunned when Spurs President Angelo Drossos told them before practice that Moe had been fired and temporarily replaced by General Manager Bob Bass.

Drossos said he hoped the sudden coaching change with 16 games remaining would snap the Spurs out of their slump. San Antonio has won two straight National Basketball Association Central Division titles, but is mired this season at 33-33, seven games behind Atlanta.

"There hadn't even been any rumors and anything like that. It just happened," said veteran guard James Silas. "I was surprised it happened during the season."

I figured it would happen at the end of the year."

"We were all shocked," said center John Shumate. "But after the initial shock, we weren't really surprised. It doesn't mean Doug wasn't doing his job, just that they needed to try something new."

"At first I was surprised, but nothing in this business really surprises me anymore," said forward Larry Kenon.

Reporters were told about Moe's dismissal at 10:30 a.m. The players didn't know until they were told before the noon practice.

Shumate had heard some fans talking about it while he was visiting at a downtown hotel. "But I thought it was just another rumor. When I got to practice and saw Angelo Drossos, I knew it was true," he said.

"Nobody was thinking about it or even expecting it," said veteran guard Mike Gale. "Last year, there were rumors about something like this. But this season it hadn't even been talked about. It was just done. I was surprised that it happened at this time of year."

Forward Mark Olberding said he also had heard no rumors, and didn't know anything was amiss until he arrived at practice.

"I knew something was up when Angelo was here and Doug hadn't shown up," said Olberding. "It was definitely a surprise. We weren't going good. That's the players' fault, but obviously top management felt we needed a change."

NBA scoring leader George Gervin, who has benefited from Moe's wide open, run-and-gun offense, appeared to be irritated by Moe's dismissal.

Aram: Ali, Tate fight in June

NEW YORK (AP) — Promoter Bob Arum plans to sign an agreement next week with Muhammad Ali for a comeback fight against John Tate in June while promoter Don King is trying to talk Ali out of a comeback until Tate fights Larry Holmes for the universal heavyweight title recognition in the fall.

That was the word Saturday from the two rival promoters who are committed to ABC television to promote a Tate-Holmes fight in August or September. Arum promotes Tate's fights while King handles Holmes.

Ali told The Associated Press Feb. 14 that he was 75 percent sure he would return to the ring. That percentage looks much higher now.

"We have a commitment from Ali to fight Tate in June," said Arum, "and we expect to sign an agreement next week."

King said he talked to Ali Saturday morning and told the former champion he felt it would be best for him to wait and fight the winner of the Holmes-Tate bout. "I told him he's not a kid anymore and it would be crazy for him to have to fight two fights when he could fight just one."

King was referring to the fact that should Ali fight and beat Tate, he then would have to fight Holmes in order to gain universal title recognition.

Aggies win SWC tournament

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Flashy senior guard Dave Britton shot, dribbled and passed the Texas A&M Aggies to their first Southwestern Conference Post Season Basketball Classic title Saturday night with a 52-50 victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks.

McEnroe will face Connors

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Top-seeded John McEnroe cruised into the finals of the U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championships Saturday night by defeating South Africa's Bernie Mitton in straight sets, 7-6, 6-0.

McEnroe will face defending champion and second-seeded Jimmy Connors in today's championship match of the $250,000 tournament. Connors beat fifth-seeded Harold Solomon 6-4, 6-3.

In doubles, the team of Rod Frawley and Tomaz Smid beat Kevin Curran and Steve Denton 7-6, 6-4 to move into the finals. Frawley and Smid play the winner of the John McEnroe-Brian Gottfried vs. Roscoe Tanner-Ivan Lendl semifinals which were played late Saturday.

Mitton pushed McEnroe to a tiebreaker before losing 4-7 in the first set. However that seemed to take the life out of Mitton as McEnroe whizzed through the second in just 23 minutes. The first set lasted 65 minutes.

Connors, who is looking for his third straight U.S. Indoor title, took only an hour and 15 minutes to eliminate Solomon.

In his march to the finals, Connors lost only one set — to Peter McNamara — and in his quarterfinals match against John Sadri, as well as in the semifinal against Solomon, he won in straight sets.

Games delayed

Saturday's baseball doubleheader between Big Spring High School and Andrews, which was to have been played here, was postponed due to frigid weather.

Downpours force delay in Bay Hill Tournament

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Heavy rains forced suspension of third-round play Saturday in the $300,000 Bay Hill Classic with Dave Eichelberger and Dan Pohl tied for the lead at 7 under par after 10 holes.

Close behind the leaders were Leonard Thompson, who was 6-under after 12, and Miller Barber, playing at 6-under after 10 holes.

Tournament officials said 30 players, including the leaders, would complete the third round early Sunday before starting the final 18 over the par-71, 7,119-yard course owned by Arnold Palmer.

Many of the 75 pros playing in the final two rounds played for more than 30 minutes in a drizzle that slowly turned into a driving downpour before play was temporarily suspended at 4:07 p.m. Thirty golfers who hadn't finished by then waited more than an hour before the final decision to suspend play was made.

Tour sophomore Pohl, who started the day in second place one stroke behind Eichelberger, double-bogeyed the par-4 ninth hole while it was "raining pretty hard."

Stenmark wins cup

MONT SAINTE ANNE, Que. (AP) — Ingemar Stenmark of Sweden came from third after one run to win a World Cup giant slalom at Pare du Mont Sainte Anne by more than one second over Phil Mahre of Yakima, Wash.

Stenmark had a first heat of 1 minute, 36.93 seconds over the 1,333-meter course, 36 hundredths behind Hannes Spiss of Austria. The Swede clocked 1:37.10, the second-fastest time of the second heat, for a total of 3:14.03 and winning margin of 1.06 over Mahre.

Britton, who tamed down his showboating ways after he was made the Aggie co-captain, scored 23 points, hitting nine of 10 free throws in the second half and 11 of 13 for the game.

The regular season champion Aggies now are 24-7 and await NCAA instructions as to where they will play their first game.

The Razorbacks, number two finishers in the SWC regular season, are 21-7 and almost sure to receive an NCAA bid today.

The Aggies and Razorbacks got off to a miserable shooting start before the record crowd of 15,728 in HemisFair Arena.

Both teams shot less than 40 percent as the Aggies took a 20-19 halftime lead.

Britton put on his most dazzling display when the Aggies went to the four-corner delay with 11:57 to go. Britton scored 10 points in a row in one stretch as Arkansas put three different men guarding him in an attempt to stop his amazing display.

Arkansas' Scott Hastings and U.S. Reed rallied the Razorbacks for one final charge after Britton's two free throws gave A&M a 52-46 lead with 41 seconds to go.

Reed hit two buckets in the last minute of play as the Razorbacks fell just short.

Reed scored 13 points and Hastings added 11 for the Razorbacks' high point men.

All-Conference forward Rynn Wright scored 15 points including 10 in the second half for the Aggies.

Britton, who hails from Brooklyn, N.Y., was named the outstanding player of the tournament and celebrated by joining the Aggie flag in a cheerleading display after the game was ended.

PGA official Clyde Mangum, who made the decision to suspend play, said the third round would resume at 8 a.m. EST today from the positions players had at the time play was halted.

The fourth round will start from the first and the 10th tees at 10:50 a.m. EST, Mangum said.

The victory represented a resumption of Stenmark's dominance in the giant slalom.

Trice graduated from Hobbs N.M., High School and McMurry College. He previously coached at Ranger High, Brownfield, Lubbock Atkins Junior High, Lubbock Dunbar and San Antonio MacArthur.

Marcum guided Ranger College to an 11-0 won-lost record and the national junior college championship in 1979.

Girl's State

Nazareth makes history

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Vickie Green, banished to the bench with three fouls in the first half, poured in 19 points in the second half Saturday as Dallas South Oak Cliff defeated Lubbock Monterey, 74-69, for the Class 4A girls' basketball championship.

The victory, accomplished with leading scorer Ramona Dozier out of the game in the final 3½ minutes, completed a 40-0 season for South Oak Cliff.

South Oak Cliff has been the dominant girls' team in recent years, and the title was its third in four years. The Golden Bears' loss to Victoria in the finals last year, 43-41, was their only defeat in the past 106 games.

In Class B, Nazareth won its fourth straight title by defeating Weatherford Brock, 56-50, to set a state tournament record. Slaton tied a 2A record in winning its fourth title with an easy 75-44 victory over Hays Consolidated. Slaton has won three in a row.

Green, a 5-foot-6 sophomore who is perhaps the finest guard ever to play in the girls' tournament, played only 1 minute and 39 seconds in the first half and had no points.

Dozier pitched in 17 points, however, to give South Oak Cliff a 38-37 halftime lead.

The 5-foot-11 senior added only four in the second half, but Green took charge of the Golden Bears' offense and had several steals.

Dozier also had 20 rebounds before fouling out with 3:35 left in the game.

Kamie Ethridge, a 5-5 sophomore, scored 20 points for Monterey and was the key to the furious defense that forced 38 South Oak Cliff turnovers. In the finals and 68-55 semifinal victory over Austin Lanier, the Monterey defense pressured an incredible 86 turnovers, which is probably a record for the 30-year-old tournament.

Monterey cut a 10-point South Oak Cliff lead to 70-67, but Kim Rodman won a scramble for a loose ball and threw in two points and Green hit a soaring follow shot to seal the victory.

The game was tied 11 times and the lead changed 13 times.

Monterey finished with a 31-3 record.

Crisp overhead passes set up numerous uncontested layups, and Doretta Rameakers and Roxanne Birkenfeld tossed in 10 long set shots in Nazareth's victory over Brock.

Nazareth's fourth title in a row broke the consecutive mark of three, held by three teams — Claude, Sundown and Sulphur Springs North Hopkins.

Slaton, southeast of Lubbock, won in 1974, then started its string of three in 1978.

Martina Navratilova in Houston finals

HOUSTON (AP) — Top-seeded Martina Navratilova played flawless tennis in the first set but had to scramble late in the second set before defeating fourth-seeded Wendy Turnbull 6-2, 7-6 Saturday to gain the finals of the $150,000 Women's Pro Tennis Tournament.

Navratilova's opponent in Sunday night's championship finals will be third-seeded Billie Jean King, who won a pressure-packed 7-6, 7-6 duel with eighth-seeded Greer Stevens.

Navratilova showed why she has won 28 consecutive matches in the first set when she dominated Turnbull by winning the first seven points of the match and breaking Turnbull in the first and third games.

In her 28-match winning streak, Navratilova has lost only two sets and been forced to a tie-breaker only four times.

Turnbull faltered again at the start of the second set when she lost the first nine points, was broken in the first and third games and won only five points in the first four games.

That's when Turnbull made her only threat.

Although she served three double faults in the fifth game, Navratilova lost her concentration and Turnbull held service and broke Navratilova in the eighth and 10th games to force a tie-breaker game.

"I had such an easy first set I thought she was going to give it to me on a silver platter," Navratilova said. "But she started hitting out and all of a sudden it was 5-5."

Navratilova said her serve deserted her in the second set and didn't return until she was behind 5-6.

"But everything came back when it was 5-6," Navratilova said. "I was serving well in the tie-breaker."

Navratilova held service in the sixth game of the second set to take a 5-1 lead before Turnbull started her charge that included a five-game winning streak and 14 consecutive points in one stretch.

But by the tie-breaker game Navratilova was back in control, winning the game 7-2 and Turnbull serving a double fault at match point.

Reggie Jackson facing disciplinary action

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Reggie Jackson went AWOL for the second straight day of the New York Yankees' spring training Saturday and faced possible disciplinary action from the team's new-look administration.

"I talked with Reggie a couple of times during the past few days and told him I wanted him on hand Friday but he knew the rules and could wait until March 1," said Gene Michael, the new general manager.

"When he shows up, if circumstances call for it, he will be disciplined. He said he had some private matters to attend to. I did not give him permission to be late."

Dick Howser, successor to Billy Martin as manager, was not overly excited over the absence of his superstar.

"Reggie called me and told me his problems," Howser said. "I could understand them and I am not going to lose any sleep over it. But if there is any disciplinary action is up to Michael and George Steinbrenner. Naturally, I think he should be here. Of all people, he should be here because he is the team's star and it creates this kind of fuss with the press. When he arrives, I know he will be in good shape and ready to play ball. He was most apologetic."

Jackson had phoned from Oakland, Calif., to advise both Michael and Howser that he had some personal matters to take care of and he might be delayed. One of the matters was the task of finding a new home in Carmel, Calif., south of San Francisco-Oakland.

Buffaloes defeated by Bradley

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Mitchell Anderson scored 16 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to pace Bradley to a 62-59 victory over West Texas State in the finals of the Missouri Valley Conference post-season basketball tournament.

The Braves, who ended the season with a 23-9 record, are guaranteed a bid to the NCAA tournament, Bradley's first trip there in 25 years.

With the score tied 12-12 midway through the first half, Hasan Houston scored from underneath and added two jumpers in quick succession to put the Braves in front to stay.

Bradley, at one point holding the Buffaloes scoreless for 4½ minutes, built its lead to a game-high 15 with 2:57 left to play in the half on a 25-foot jump shot by David Thirdkill that made it 31-16.

The Braves took a 33-22 halftime lead, but the Buffaloes stormed back in the second half, closing the gap to two points with 1:06 to play.

After an exchange of baskets, the score was 59-57. Anderson pushed Bradley ahead when he hit on both ends of a one-on-one with 13 seconds left, was fouled, and hit a final free throw to clinch the game.

Thirdkill and Houston had 14 points each for Bradley. Terry Adolph of West Texas State led all scorers with 21 points.

"We made them play five on five which is something they don't do well," said Bradley Coach Dick Versace.

"I told this team at the beginning of the season that there was enough talent here to achieve three goals. They had the talent to become great, the talent to turn this program around and the talent to be in the final four (of the NCAA tournament) and they about fell out of their chairs."

Other new wrinkles for this year's tournament include: —An unlimited number of teams can be taken from any conference. Previously, no conference could send more than two.

—The committee will be empowered to place any team in any bracket it wishes regardless of geographic location. Thus, the top seed from the West Coast could wind up in the east regional and vice-versa.

—The playoffs are expected to jump dramatically. Teams will receive approximately $80,000 for playing in the first two rounds, $200,000 for reaching the regionals and $300,000 for semifinals and finals. This is up from $40,000, $117,000 and $275,000 last year.

The committee, chaired by Big 10 Commissioner Wayne Duke, began closed-door deliberations Friday afternoon and were to announce their decisions at 3 p.m. EST Sunday from NCAA headquarters in Mission.

In addition to the seedings and bracketings, the committee will extend 25 at-large invitations. Twenty-three conference champions get automatic invitations. University.

Syracuse loses 87-81 shocker

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Eric Floyd scored 21 points, including two technical foul shots with 1:52 left, to lead 20th-ranked Georgetown to an 87-81 upset of third-ranked Syracuse for the Big East college basketball tournament title Saturday.

The biggest lead of the game was six points by both teams, and Georgetown took an 81-77 edge on a layup by Ed Spriggs with 2:08 to play. Syracuse center Roosevelt Bouie was called for traveling and Syracuse coach Jim Boeheim was hit with two technicals when he protested the call.

Floyd was given four free-throw and made the first and last to boost Georgetown's lead to 83-77.

Syracuse forward Louis Orr, who scored all of his 16 points in the second half, then sank a jumper and six seconds later Eddie Moss stole the ball for Syracuse. But with 1:15 to go, Erich Santifier was called for traveling and Georgetown got the ball.

Eric Smith made two free throws for Georgetown with 24 seconds left and after Marty Head connected on a jumper for Syracuse five seconds later, Floyd sealed the verdict with two free throws with 11 seconds to play.

Because the Big East is in its first season, the winner of the tournament was not guaranteed a spot in the NCAA playoffs. But Syracuse and Georgetown are both expected to be chosen.

with three straight baskets to bring the Cardinals to within 39-35 with 17:52 to play.

Griffith added another basket and reserve David Wright hit four free throws and a 15-foot jumper with 15:54 to play that put Louisville ahead for good at 43-42.

Pro hockey not for Eruzione

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Eruzione, captain of the gold medal winning United States hockey team, said Saturday he would not pursue a career in professional hockey.

"Even if I became a star, I can still go into a bar with that gold medal and tell stories," said Eruzione.

—The Division I Basketball Committee will seed all 48 teams, one through 12 in each of the four brackets, according to win-loss records and strength of schedule. The top 16 seeds will get byes through the first round and be interspersed through the field, four to each bracket.

—The committee will be empowered to place any team in any bracket it wishes regardless of geographic location. Thus, the top seed from the West Coast could wind up in the east regional and vice-versa.

—The playoffs are expected to jump dramatically. Teams will receive approximately $80,000 for playing in the first two rounds, $200,000 for reaching the regionals and $300,000 for semifinals and finals. This is up from $40,000, $117,000 and $275,000 last year.

The committee, chaired by Big 10 Commissioner Wayne Duke, began closed-door deliberations Friday afternoon and were to announce their decisions at 3 p.m. EST Sunday from NCAA headquarters in Mission.

In addition to the seedings and bracketings, the committee will extend 25 at-large invitations. Twenty-three conference champions get automatic invitations. University.

Cards win over FSU

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Darrell Griffith scored 14 of his 30 points during a 26-8 run early in the second half that lifted Louisville to a 81-72 victory over Florida State in the championship game of the Metro Conference basketball tournament Saturday night.

The victory by fourth-ranked Louisville, 28-3, earned the Cardinals the Metro Conference's automatic berth in the NCAA tournament. Florida State, 21-8, was considered a likely contender for an at-large invitation.

Louisville trailed 32-29 after a dull first-half performance and fell behind 37-29 in the first minute of the second half.

THE PAIN WOULDN'T PAY — Howard College Hawk Queens Joanne Lefridge tries to take a charge from Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. blocking foul, much to her dismay. Both Howard College and Amarillo College will be in action this week when the Region V Women's Basketball Tournament begins at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, with the winner of the four-day affair advancing toward a possible national title. See related story below.

All action takes place at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Region V Women's Tourney begins Wednesday

The Region V Women's Basketball Tournament will get underway Wednesday in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, with some of the outstanding juco teams in the nation hoping to take home the title and earn a spot in the national tournament.

10 teams will invade Garrett Coliseum for the four-day affair, but there will be only one survivor after Saturday afternoon's 2 p.m. championship contest.

Five of the teams that will compete have been in the Region V Tourney have been ranked in the nation's top 20 at one time or another throughout the present season. Most of these teams would have stayed, too, but they continued to beat each other.

At the season's end, the Howard College Hawk Queens were the 16th rated women's juco team in the nation, as the Howard College fens did not lose a conference game in the last two months of play.

As a result, the Hawk Queens won the Western Conference, and were awarded a number one seed in the bottom half of the 10-team bracket. The Howard College fens of Coach Don Stevens will begin their quest for the Region V title on Thursday night at 8 p.m., at which time they will meet the winner of Wednesday's South Plains-Grayson tilt.

Cisco College, coached by former Big Spring basketball and baseball mentor Tommy Collins, won the Northern Junior College Athletic Conference title. They will play on Thursday night at 6 p.m. against the winner of Wednesday's match between Amarillo and Hill County.

Wednesday is what is considered the qualifying round. The fourth place team from the Western Conference, Amarillo, plays the fifth place team from the Northern Conference, Hill, at 8 p.m. The first game in the qualifying round on Wednesday will feature the WJC's fifth place team, South Plains, against the NJC's fourth place team, Grayson.

The big day in the Region V Women's Tourney, as far as games involved, will be on Thursday.

Odessa College will face McLennan at 2 p.m. and Western Texas will meet Weatherford at 4 p.m. in the afternoon session. In the Thursday nightcap, Cisco will play the winner of the Hill-Amarillo tilt at 6 p.m., while the Howard College women will meet the winner of the South Plains-Grayson encounter at 8 p.m.

On Friday's semifinals, the Odessa-McLennan winner will face the Cisco vs. Hill-Amarillo winner at 6 p.m., while the Howard vs. South Plains-Grayson winner will square off against the Weatherford vs. Western Texas winner at 8 p.m.

The championship game will be played at 2:00 p.m. Saturday.

Tournament Director for this year's tournament is Jerry Phillips. Tickets may be purchased by the night or for the entire tournament at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum box office.

The Amarillo College girls are the defending champions in the Region V Tournament. They won last year in the same fashion as they would have to this year, as they have not been the number one seed in either case.

Permian, Midland highlight 5-AAAA All-District team

District 5-AAAA runner-up Midland placed three performers on the league's All-District squad to highlight this year's action.

5-AAAA champion Odessa Permian, who defeated Midland 83-62 in the championship game, placed one player on the All-District squad, and also claimed the league's MVP in scoring ace Brad Kerley.

Kerley, a six-foot-six-inch senior, led the district in scoring, as the returning All-District performer averaged 25.3 per game. He has had feelers from many major colleges, including schools from as far away as the University of Maryland.

While Midland had three players and Permian one on the All-District squad, San Angelo added two players, Odessa one, Abilene one and Abilene Cooper two.

Midland's three All-District players were Herbert Johnson, Perry Bolger, and Darrin Matlock.

Odessa High was represented by Mike Cobb, while P. W. McGee was Abilene's lone representative.

San Angelo placed Charles Bishop and Paul Hayes to the All-District squad, while Abilene Cooper had Kenny Henry and Reggie Cruse on the elite list.

All of the performers on the All-District squad are seniors except Hayes and Johnson, who are juniors.

Permian's first year coach, Charles Pattillo, claimed Coach of the Year honors, while San Angelo's Hercules Miller was named the Sophomore of the Year.

12 players were named to the league's honorable mention list, with Big Spring's David Carlisle and James Doss included on this list.

It's official; Corbett will sell Ranger club

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — It's official — Brad Corbett will sell his interest in the Texas Rangers baseball team, will resign as board chairman when the sale is completed and will be "totally out of the picture."

Team officials confirmed Corbett's plans Friday.

Corbett's stock will be bought by oilman Eddie Chiles, publisher Ann Carter Jr. and attorney Dee Kelly, all of Fort Worth, the team said.

"I'd say the paperwork will be completed by the middle of next week, but the actual transfer of cash will take from 30 to 60 days," Corbett said Friday.

"I will remain as chairman of the board until all financial obligations are completed, then I will step totally out of the picture."

The sale is subject to terms of the limited partnership agreement, plus approval of the American League and baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Chiles said he would become board chairman and vice president. Eddie Robinson will retain control of day-to-day operations.

"Naturally, I'm going to miss Brad," Robinson said at the team's spring training site, Pompano Beach, Fla.

"Brad did a lot for baseball in the Metroplex..."

"But I'm also very pleased Eddie Chiles and his group have purchased the club and will let me run it."

Coghlan, Milburn triumph

NEW YORK (AP) — For Eamonn Coghlan, it was just like another cross-country event or road race, which he ran in his native Ireland early in the winter as a conditioner for the American indoor track season.

For Rod Milburn, it brought back memories of years ago, when he was the king of the high hurdles.

"It was the easiest three-mile I've ever run," said Coghlan, normally a mile or 1,500-meter runner, after shattering the American all-comers record with a locking of 13 minutes, 2.8 seconds Friday night in the National Indoor Track and Field Championships at Madison Square Garden.

"There were times I had doubts. Was I going to be able come back and be competitive?" said the rejuvenated Milburn, after posting his first victory as an amateur in seven years, capturing the 60-yard hurdles in 7.09 seconds.

Coghlan and Milburn were the most popular performers at a meet that produced several world indoor bests, American records and meet marks.

"Every race until now I've been committed to run the mile (or 1,500 meters)," said Coghlan after proving convincingly that he could conquer longer distances on the tricky banked indoor boards.

"I wanted to have one three-mile race. I was hoping to break 13 minutes, and if the field was tougher, the time definitely would have been under 13 minutes."

Perhaps the field did not appear so tough to Coghlan because he was so overpowering.

In cruising to his impressive triumph, he had the third fastest three-mile time ever, the fastest for an 11-lap-to-the-mile track and the fastest ever run in the United States.

Belgium's Emiel Puttemans owns the two fastest indoor three-mile clockings, 12:54.6 in 1976 and 12:58.9 in 1974.

"It would not have been a successful indoor season if I had not won," said Coghlan, who had lost his last two races after winning 15 in a row in the mile or 1,500 over three years.

Andrew Toney is named SLC 'Player of Year'

Southwestern Louisiana senior guard Andrew Toney has been named the Southland Conference's player of the year for the second time. The All-America guard, who paced the conference in scoring for the third consecutive season, also received the honor.

The Birmingham, Ala., native finished the regular season with 26.8 points a game. Toney, 6-3 and 178 pounds, also was listed as the No. 2 field goal shooter and No. 2 free throw shooter in the conference, hitting 56.0 percent of his shots from the floor and 81.6 percent of his charity shots.

Newcomer of the year honors went to free throw sharpshooter Melvin Polk of Texas-Arlington, who hit 71 of 89 shots for a 79.8 accuracy reading. The Jackson, Miss., junior also hit more than 50 percent of his field goals while splitting time between the guard and forward positions.

The 6-4, 170-pound Polk started only three games for the Mavs, but was always the first substitute.

The panel of 24 sports writers chose Lamar's Billy Tubbs as coach of the year. Tubbs led his Cardinals to an unprecedented third straight league title and in four years at Beaumont, and has compiled a 73-45 record. Tubbs' teams have won 31 of 40 league contests and will participate in their second straight NCAA tournament this season.

Toney was one of three unanimous selections for the All-Southland team, along

Top sportscaster for 1979 Baum honored by UPI

Jim Baum of KBYG Radio has been named United Press International's top sportscaster for 1979. Baum, who began doing sports play-by-play in 1958, submitted a tape recording in the Class "A" competition (cities of 300,000-and-under-population). A tape included the play-by-play of a Big Spring Steer football game and a "Morning Show" sportscast.

Baum began his sportscasting career in Abilene 21 years ago by doing the play-by-play of a game between Clyde and Baird. Since that time, he's described more than 800 football, basketball and baseball games — events ranging from Little League to college football.

The sportscaster's life has been filled with athletics, as he attended Sul Ross State University on a baseball scholarship and later played professional baseball in the Pittsburgh Pirate farm system. "When I decided to give up a professional career in baseball," Baum commented, "I knew I wanted to get into a field that still was connected with sports. Radio was the perfect answer."

Arkansas coach has his own efficiency rating

Sutton downplays scoring averages

He began piddling around with figures, looking for something that would shed more light on the ability of his University of Arkansas basketball players.

The end result — a scoring efficiency system. "When you look at the point average, that's deceiving," Sutton said. "If a guy averages 25 points a game and he shoots 15 times a game and another guy averages 25 points a game and shoots 25 times, that's a lot of difference."

"What it does show you is that a guy who is scoring 17 or 18 points per game might be much more valuable than a guy who is scoring 20 or 30 points," Sutton said.

Sutton determines the efficiency rating for a player by dividing a player's total points by his field goal attempts.

That makes for some interesting statistics. For example, Ricky Pierce of Rice is second in the Southwest Conference in scoring with an average of 18.8 points per game. However, he is seventh among the top 10 under Sutton's system with an efficiency rating of 1.18.

That means that every time Pierce shoots, the Owls can expect 1.18 points. A perfect score would be 2.0, although it would be mathematically possible to do better.

Ironically, the league leader under Sutton's system would be Arkansas center Scott Hastings.

Hastings is averaging 17 points per game, fourth best in the league. His scoring efficiency is 1.51 points per shot.

Sidney Moncrief — a member of the Milwaukee Bucks — set the Arkansas standard when he averaged 1.65 points per shot as a senior last year. Hastings has scored 442 points, but he has only shot 293 times. His number of attempts is lowest among the league's top 10 scorers.

"Hastings is high because he gets so many free throws," Sutton said. "Most people's offensive philosophy is to get the ball in close. The percentage is higher and there is a good chance you're going to get fouled."

"In box score after box score, the teams that end up shooting the most free throws ends up winning a very high percentage of the games."

Sutton says he's not sure his system is original, but he believes in it.

"I think it's a lot better indicator of a player's value than scoring averages," he said. "There are other systems, but I don't know of anybody else that does this. We think it's pretty good."

Here are the scoring averages of the SWC's top 10 and their scoring efficiency: Terry Teagle, Baylor, 22.5, 1.39; Ricky Pierce, Rice, 18.8, 1.18; Ron Baxter, Texas, 17.9, 1.25; Scott Hastings, Arkansas, 17.0, 1.51; Brad Branson, SMU, 16.0, 1.08; Vernon Smith, Texas A&M, 15.9, 1.10; Rob Williams, Houston, 15.7, 1.25; John Danks, Texas, 15.5, 1.27; Ken Williams, Houston, 14.4, 1.02 and Rhyne Wright, Texas A&M, 14.2, 1.28.

With Oakland owner Charles Finley

Billy Martin promises harmony

OAKLAND (AP) — Billy Martin swears he's going to get along with Charlie Finley and that he's fought his last fight.

No, it was not April Fool's Day and baseball's best-known battler didn't have his fingers crossed. He was merely returning to his home town as the new manager of Finley's baseball team, the Oakland A's.

"I hope I never see another fight as long as I live," Martin told reporters Thursday at his first Bay area news conference since he became manager last week. "There won't be any more fights — unless somebody knocks me off a bar stool and I have to get up."

The often feisty Martin was positively affable when questioned about his future relations with Finley, a man even more associated with firing managers Martin is with getting fired.

"You can see right now that we're a perfect combination," Martin joked. "We do have a lot in common — the only difference between Charlie Finley and myself is that he has more money. Charlie won't be any problem at all and I won't be any problem to him."

"There won't be any telephone calls like you guys have been reading about. He's promised me that already. Heck, when I first joined the Yankees, George Steinbrenner used to call me all the time, but he found out I'd turn the phone off the wall, so he quit calling."

In addition to not fighting, Martin pledged a more exciting version of the A's — which shouldn't be difficult since last year's team lost 108 games, the most for the franchise since 1916 when it was in Philadelphia.

"It's not impossible to be last and all of a sudden be right on top," Martin claimed, even while having trouble pronouncing the names of some of his new players. "If you look at all of the clubs, I don't think that any one of them is strong enough to run away with it. That gives us a chance to jump in there and be part of it."

"Oakland is a good baseball town," he continued, ignoring the fact that the A's drew only 306,763 fans last year. "I'm excited and the players are excited."

"I like working with a young team; young players don't have the bad habits the older ones do. I'll treat them like men until they act like boys and then I'll spank them. They can't fool us, because we've done it all."

Martin also said that he expects Finley, a phantom here in recent years, to become more active in running the club.

"Charlie said he is sorry he can't be here," Martin said. "But he's tied up in Chicago. After talking with him the other day, he sounds like he's going to do a little more than he's done in the past."

But if the Martin-Finley marriage doesn't work out, Billy the Kid says he's not worried.

"I can always get a job," said the manager of five American League teams. "I haven't even tried the National League yet."

Majors feels college football recruiting is past ridiculous

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Recruiting is the lifeblood of a big time college football team but it is a ridiculous "cat and mouse" exercise that should be sharply condensed and restructured, says Tennessee's Johnny Majors.

"Don't get me wrong," added the 44-year-old twice Coach of the Year, "I personally don't dislike recruiting. On the contrary, I find it challenging and enjoy the salesman aspects."

"But in allowing it to be a never-ending process, it is economically unfeasible, rarely productive of the time and effort devoted to it and extremely trying on coaches, high school prospects and families alike."

"I would like to see recruiting confined to the two months at the end of the high school season with no limitation on coaches' visits."

Majors, 44, the man Tennessee brought home from Pittsburgh's national championship team of 1976 to bell Alabama's legendary Bear, has just completed the Volunteers' exhausting 1979-80 talent search and is pointing toward the 1980-81 merry-go-round.

"I can only report bad news and good news," he said. "The bad news is that we didn't get everybody we wanted. The good news is that it's over."

"But not really. It's never over. It's a continuing grind. We have signed players for the allowed 30 scholarships, reaching the maximum 95. But now all of us, our coaches and myself, must start thinking about the next crop."

Majors and his staff of assistant coaches have been left physically exhausted by the intensive winter recruiting campaign — as undoubtedly have the staffs of most major college teams in the country — and he would like to see the burden lifted.

High school students take math at H-SU

High ability high school students will be hosted at Hardin-Simmons University this summer for the ninth time since 1970.
The June 8-July 18 program in mathematics has been funded by a $14,340 grant from the National Science Foundation, according to Dr. Charles Robinson, chairman of the Division of Science at HSU and director of the HSU summer program. The latest grant ups the total grants to HSU from the National Science Foundation to more than $107,000 in the past 11 years.
"We are already taking applications from students who are interested in the program," Robinson said. "We will take 25 students (there are usually more than 100 applicants) based on their academic standing and their interest in and ability to do the work."
During the six week course, students will live on campus and study three topics: foundations of geometry, linear topology and mathematical modeling. The National Science Foundation grant pays the tuition while the student must pay approximately $385 for room (in air conditioned dorms), board and general fee.
The program staff includes three members of the HSU faculty: Robinson, Dr. John Peslak, assistant professor in chemistry and physics, and Dr. Edwin Hewett, associate professor in mathematics.
To be eligible, students must be graduating from high school in the spring of 1981 and must have completed three years of college preparatory high school math and two years of high school science by June, 1980.
Applications, which are available by writing to Robinson at HSU Station, Abilene, Texas, 79698 or by calling him at 915-677-7281, extension 397, must be accompanied by a transcript of high school work completed to date—and a recommendation by the student's mathematics teacher.
There are only four National Science Foundation summer programs approved for this summer in Texas

D. J. JACKSON OF BIG SPRING
Happy with aircraft duty

'Fighting Fourteen' duty pleases Jackson

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. — D.J. Jackson of Big Spring says duty with the navy's oldest active aircraft squadron, Fighter Squadron 14 (VF-14), is one of the best jobs he could have as a hospital corpsman.

Jackson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Jackson of 2502 Lynn, Big Spring, is a Navy petty officer second class. He has been assigned to VF-14 since April 1979.

"Fighting Fourteen," commissioned in September 1919, has employed 22 different aircraft with a multitude of missions in its long and distinguished history.

Known by the nickname "Tophatters," the 25 officers and 245 enlisted men of VF-14 currently fly and maintain the sophisticated F-14 Tomcat, the Navy's newest supersonic jet fighter aircraft.

"I was really pleased when I got orders to an F-14 outfit," Jackson said. "I read all the material I could find on the Tomcat and I even built F-14 model jets."

"The people in the squadron are great and I'm happy to be a part of such a fine command," the Texas native continued.

The squadron has earned the reputation of being the "most outstanding fighter squadron" on the East Coast and in the Atlantic Fleet. VF-14 was recently awarded the Navy's Battle Efficiency "E" for excellence by Commander, Naval Air Force, Atlantic Fleet.

Jackson's squadron also holds the present record for the most hours flown by an F-14 Tomcat squadron in one month. The maintenance department has consistently had the highest number of aircraft in an operational readiness status of any Tomcat squadron in the Atlantic Fleet.

Jackson is the only hospital corpsman assigned to the squadron. "I'm in a responsible position and I receive a lot of satisfaction from my job," he said. "My goal is to be one of the best corpsmen ever assigned to the Tophatters."

"My principal job is to maintain the medical records for VF-14 personnel," he noted. "When we are at Oceana I work at the base dispensary in the aviation medicine section. I assist the doctors in performing physicals and I also take care of patients at sick call."

"When the squadron is deployed to an aircraft carrier I can work at sick call, in preventive medicine, in the treatment room or on the flight deck," the 23-year-old Navyman explained.

"The flight deck is a very hectic place during aircraft operations," Jackson added. "I have to be constantly alert for any sign of trouble. If someone is injured I respond immediately and give first aid."

Spring Steers athletic trainer for all sports programs while in high school, said he has always been interested in medicine.

After graduating from high school in 1974, he attended Howard Payne University in Brownwood, Texas, for one year.

"I found college wasn't what I really wanted, so I decided to join the Navy," he commented.

Jackson went through recruit training and hospital corpsman school, and was then assigned to the Naval Regional Medical Center in Corpus Christi, Texas. He then served aboard the submarine tender USS L.Y. Spear, homeported in Norfolk, Va. After completing the aerospace medicine school in Pensacola, Fla., he received orders to VF-14.

Based at the Oceana Naval Air Station in Virginia Beach, Va., VF-14's mission is to establish and maintain local air superiority by intercepting and destroying enemy aircraft in all weather conditions.

VF-14 has a dual role when operating from the Atlantic Fleet's aircraft carriers. Launched on a moment's notice, the squadron's Tomcats can set up an aerial screen around the carrier and its escort ships, protecting them from enemy surface and air threats.

The Tomcats also serve as escorts on flights made by bomber type aircraft in and out of target areas.

Should enemy fighters threaten, the Tomcats can engage in aerial combat at Mach 2 (twice the speed of sound) while firing the long-range Phoenix, medium-range Sparrow and short-range Sidewinder missiles.

The high performance fighter aircraft are also armed with 20mm cannons that can fire approximately 100 rounds per second.

"My greatest accomplishment in the Navy so far was receiving my aircrewman's wings," Jackson said proudly. "That involved becoming qualified as an inflight medical technician. It was hard work. I had to pass several tests and also complete an actual flight to be evaluated on my abilities as a flight crew member."

In mid-summer, Jackson and the other VF-14 Tophatters will be going to the Mediterranean for a deployment with the U.S. Navy's Sixth Fleet aboard the aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy.

"I'm looking forward to the deployment because I've never been to Europe before," he explained. "Actually, just working on an aircraft carrier at sea will be a challenge in itself."

Finders keepsers trace Howdy Doody earmuffs

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Where can you find a pair of Howdy Doody earmuffs? A recording of humpback whales at play? A hundred thousand ladybugs? Ask Jim Tice, professional finder.

He's found those items and 1,000 other elusive treasures in nine years of hunting.

Ten to 20 letters arrive at Tice's office each week from as far away as Hong Kong, Ireland and Australia. They seek Tice's help in finding everything from fat ladies to scarce construction materials.

Tice, 43, who works full-time as a communications consultant, takes on only five new searches a week. The more intriguing the challenge, the more likely Tice will accept it.

He began by finding hard-to-locate items for friends. The avocation grew into a part-time business he calls Finders Keepers Worldwide Search Service. Tice declined to reveal his income from the search service, but he said it accounts for about half of his total income.

There's a knack for taking the most narrow path to the item you're looking for," Tice says. "You can waste a lot of money if you don't know how to approach the search."

He attributes his success contacts and persistence.

"Sometimes I'll write 20 letters in search of an item," he says. "Out of that, I might get one good lead. The secret is to keep plugging away."

He found the Howdy Doody earmuffs at a traveling antique show. Sounds of cavorting whales he tracked down through a whale preservation society and contacts in the recording industry.

For the ladybugs, which a firm needed for a large landscaping project, he located a ladybug breeding farm.

These days Tice is on the track of three antique Tiffany postal scales. The man who wants them already has six of the nine in existence.

Tice also is looking for a gas-fired A&P store model coffee roaster, antique ice-fishing decoys, words and music to "Methodist Pie Sugar in the Gourd," and a pre-1890 wooden water tower.

A film studio once asked him to find a fat lady willing to do a nude dance on a trampoline for a film on the study of motion. Tice contacted acquaintances in the entertainment field and rounded up three women willing to do the part.

Tice first realized he could turn his knack into a business nine years ago while living in Oklahoma.

their biggest hits have not been the kind of soft, easygoing tunes the music world expects from women songwriters. Instead, their brand of music satisfies even the hardest of hard rock fans.

Gelbart's 'United States' on NBC

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "United States," an NBC series which debuts Tuesday, March 11, has a patriotic ring to it; although it's really about love in the combat zone. In this case it means "United States of Matrimony." Marriage, Wedlock. But not wedded bliss. This marriage is strewn with emotional booby traps.

any domestic series that's ever been on television. If it succeeds it could become a landmark series like "All in the Family." It's not quite comedy and not quite drama, but a skillful blend of both. Beau Bridges and Helen Shaver star as the couple, and the creative force behind the series is executive producer Larry Gelbart. It "M-A-S-H" to the movie screen and who wrote the hit movie "Oh, God!" Gelbart conceded "United States" may take some getting used to. "It's an acquired taste," he said. "The first thing is there's a sense of loss. It has no opening theme, no laugh track, none of the usual guideposts. "And that level of writing has to be tuned in to you. There's not much you can take for granted. It's a bit of a challenge to the viewer." If for no other reason, "United States" would be an exception because of the way it was made.

John Ritter stars in movie, 'Hero at Large'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Everyone needs to have heroes," observes John Ritter, star of the TV hit series "Three's Company" and the new movie "Hero at Large." He had his own heroes while growing up in Hollywood. Foremost, "even though it sounds corny," was his own father, the western singing star Tex Ritter. "I guess I held onto him as a hero longer than most kids do," he said. "My brother and I used to dress in cowboy hats and guns, and we imitated all the other kids in the neighborhood. We spent one summer shooting an mm movie we called 'Banza,' a takeoff on 'Banza.' Lots of action and ketchup." Other heroes included Roy Rogers and all the Doctors of 1957, and when he came here from Brooklyn, in 1958, and when he won the world championship. And the astronauts, until they became so many I couldn't remember all their names. "Also comic book heroes, like the Fantastic Four and Archie. I couldn't really identify with Archie because he had two girlfriends, a blonde and a brunette, and I couldn't imagine that happening to me. Look at me now." Ritter pointed to both sides of his dressing room at CBS (where the ABC series is taped). The adjacent rooms were occupied by brunette Joyce DeWitt and blonde Suzanne Somers, his co-stars of "Three's Company." Ritter himself became an instant folk hero — or at least the envy of American males — with his portrayal of the roommate of the two beauties. He is a hero of a different sort in MGM's "Hero at Large." He plays an unemployed actor who is hired to impersonate Captain Avenger for the opening of a movie based on the supernatural character. The actor becomes a kind of earthbound Superman, performing do-good acts for astonished New Yorkers. The romantic interest is Anne Archer. "When I first read the script, I liked what the author (A.J. Carothers) was up to," said Ritter. "He was saying how important it is to care for each other in today's world. We can't just live in our own huts and camps; we have to reach out to each other. "The film demonstrates our need for heroes in the 1980s. But it also points out that we can't depend on heroes to do it for us. We need to display a kind of heroism ourselves."

Kelso Herston and jingle all the way

ASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — You hear them every day: "Have it your way, have it your way..." Schlitz makes it great. What's good enough for our folks ain't good enough for me and my RC, me and my RC. The man who wrote the music for these and many other television and radio jingles is Kelso Herston, an award-winning producer and radio musician who has become one of the most influential music figures in Nashville. Few days pass without Herston's music bombarding the listener with suggestions (buy motorcycles "that make the good times roll," restaurants "for the seafood lover in you" and chewing gum with the "big strong flavor bound to hit you right." Then there are those television commercials in which actor Jimmy Stewart extols a certain automobile tire. Herston wrote the music in the background. He does it without fanfare in a house he's converted into "Kelso Herston Enterprises" within five blocks of the studios where the music is recorded. "A lot of people in Nashville don't have any idea what we do," he said in an interview in his office. "But we are well-known in advertising circles in New York and Chicago and St. Louis." So well known, in fact, that his walls are covered with plaques for achievement in advertising.

March a time for children

By CATHY McCracken
Children's Librarian
Howard County Library

The groundhog has seen its shadow, the Valentines have been delivered, and we have lived through an extra day in February. Now it is time to look forward to the end of winter and the beginning of a brand new season. Spring brings new beginnings for everything around us, and March is the perfect time to introduce your youngsters to the change in seasons. The Children's Department at the Howard County Library has books suited to your springtime needs.

"March comes in like a lamb and goes out like a lion," is an old saying we have all heard. Maybe it is trying to tell us to get ready for the kite season. You do not have to be a child to enjoy flying kites. What better way to relax than watching a kite soar in the wind? Instead of buying a kite this year, why not try your hand at making one? "How to Have Fun Making Kites" by Creative Crafts, gives a brief history on kite flying as well as step-by-step instructions on making four different kinds of kites. Harold Ridgways' "Kite Making and Flying" offers instructions for more complicated and specialty kites. This book even contains hints on how to get the most from your hobby. Next time you have a lazy weekend coming up, check out one of these books, make a kite, and you'll be ready for windy, springtime weather.

March is also the time for the "wearing of the green." Americans of Irish descent and of many other national origins celebrate the anniversary of the death of the patron saint, St. Patrick, on March 17. Most of us remember the horror we felt if we forgot to wear green to school on that day. There are many interesting legends surrounding St. Patrick and

Some parents get tax credit

Working parents whose earned income and adjusted gross income for 1979 was less than $10,000 and had a child living with them, may now be eligible to receive up to $500 in earned income credit. In order to claim the credit, those eligible must file a return even if they owe no tax. The credit is based both on their earnings and adjusted gross income. For incomes over $6,000 the credit declines on a sliding scale and phases out completely once a person's income reaches $10,000.

The new change also allows individuals to receive advance payments of the credit each payday. Qualifying persons should ask their employers for and fill out Form W-5 "Earned Income Credit Advance Payment Certificate."

Texas Public Schools Week celebrated

Students put best feet forward

By MICKIE DICKSON
Texas Public School Week begins Monday and runs through Friday this week.
Teachers and administrators begin the week with a breakfast Tuesday at 7 a.m. in the Howard College cafeteria sponsored by Masonic Lodges Nos. 1340, 598 and 499.
The Big Spring Independent School District along with the approximately 1,100 other public school districts in Texas urge citizens to participate in local observances of this special week, originated by the Texas

Masons.
All classrooms, elementary through high school, will be open to the public for visitation. It's an excellent time for citizens to visit the school which their tax dollars support and maintain.
Visitors are welcome any day of the week at Bauer Elementary School, 108 N.W. 9th, where grades 1-5 are taught. Special projects, art work and other things of interest are on display in the exposition of good work room for visitors to enjoy. Parents of Title I students will receive a special invitation to participate in a reading class with their children.

Parents are invited to visit classrooms Thursday, at College Heights, grades 1-5 from 12:30-3 p.m. In order to provide parents the opportunity to view their child in regular academic performance, the regular schedule will be followed. College Heights P.T.A. will also meet on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Immediately following the meeting, parents are invited to the school cafeteria to view special science projects.

Kentwood Elementary, grades Kindergarten-5, will observe Open House on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Special projects and student's work will be on display, along with the work of District P.T.A. Cultural Arts Winners, Lara Cunningham and Brad Roberts.

Visitors will view numerous projects from EXTRA (Exploring Through Research Activities), a specially designed program aimed at enhancing academic achievement and talent. EXTRA is a new program at Kentwood this school term and students and faculty are excited about academic and social skills students are learning.

Whole classroom projects developed through the Parent Involvement Program will be on display in classrooms.

Head Start will present "Learning Experiences Through Music," a time of fun and enjoyment for the whole family on Thursday, March 7, at 10 a.m., Lakeview gymnasium, 1107 N.W. 7th.

Kindergarten will have Open House, Friday, beginning at 10 a.m. Parents are issued a special invitation to share this time in classrooms with students and teachers at Lakeview.

Marcy Elementary School parents have the opportunity to participate in an Open House on Tuesday, from 7-8:15 p.m. Parents are invited to tour the building, visit classrooms, examine students' work, and talk with teachers.

Parents are invited to visit classrooms Monday-Friday at Moss Elementary School, early childhood-grade 5 P.T.A. will meet at 7 p.m., Tuesday, followed by an Open House from 7-8:30 p.m.

A special invitation is extended on Thursday, 6:30-9:30 a.m., for donuts for dads and granddads.

Visitors are welcome any time during Texas Public Schools Week at Washington, grades 1-5. Open House will be held Tuesday, from 7-8:30 p.m. At this time, student's work will be on display and PTA members will serve refreshments.

A special invitation is extended to parents, grandparents and interested citizens to attend the combination choir and band concert at Goliad Middle School Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Under the direction of George "Buddy" Pedigo, choir director, the advanced boy's choir will sing "Morning Train" by Bobby Siltman and "Auralee," a traditional folk song. The advanced girl's choir will be singing "Gute Nacht" (Good Night), a German folk song and "Wildflower" by Eilers. The mixed choir will sing "Lady of the Harbor" by Eilers and "Tsalite" by Praetorius.

Parents are cordially invited to visit Runnels Junior High, grade 8 campus at any time during the school day. The Runnels Junior High Student Council has elected to place special emphasis on Thursday. These Student Council activities include:

A Musical Program and Play to be presented at noon in the boys' gymnasium.

Tours of the campus to be held each hour. The tours will begin in the Activity Room and will include the computer room and a short demonstration of how the computer works.

Refreshments will be served in the Activity Room throughout the day to visiting parents.

Band, choir, and speech students will participate in the 25-minute Musical Program & Play. The Student Council members will be in charge of the tours of the school. Such things as an exhibit of student art work, the computer room, woodworking projects, and other areas which you are particularly interested in will be viewed.

The noon hour was selected for planned activities with the hope that working parents would also have the opportunity to attend. Classes will be held as usual, but parents may feel free to visit any classroom during the day and any student may be excused from class as long as his/her parent is in the building. Any student may accompany his/her parent to the assembly program or go on the tour. A large number of students are participating in the preparations for welcoming the parents to Runnels, and, hopefully, the day will be informative and entertaining.

MRS. ROCKY R. SCHRECENGOST

Tammy Burrow wears Rocky Schrecengost

Tammy Rae Burrow became the bride of Rocky R. Schrecengost in a candle-light ceremony performed Feb. 16 at the North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church.

The Rev. Jim McWilliams, pastor, performed the 7 p.m. rite before a spray of white and blue carnations. Two multi-branched candelabras flanked either side of the altar setting.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burrow, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schrecengost, Albuquerque, N.M. Traditional wedding music was performed by Julie Westmen.

The bride chose to wear a white chiffon gown fashioned with a stand-up collar and a sheer V-shaped yoke which was delicately complemented by a lace-edged ruffle. A full skirt ending in chapel length fell gracefully from the natural waistline.

She carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white carnations.

Mrs. Gary Turner, Forsan, attended the bride as matron of honor. Gary Turner, Forsan, served as best man. Guests were seated by Mike Burrow and Richard Burrow, both brothers of the bride.

Immediately following the double-ring ceremony, the newlyweds were feted with a reception in the church fellowship hall. Guests were registered by Lisa Schrecengost, sister of the groom.

A three-tiered wedding cake decorated with blue flowers centered the reception table which was draped with white linen cloth. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Serving were Mrs. Patti Moore, Mrs. Marty Whetsal, Mrs. Eddie Earls, Lisa Payton and Lana Ford.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is presently employed at Security State Bank. The groom, also a Big Spring High School graduate, is employed by Continental EMSCO of Forsan.

The couple will make their home in Big Spring.

Sewing classes to begin March 6

By JANET ROGERS
County Extension Agent

When sewing for children, it's important to consider their physical, social and psychological development. Children's clothing needs are based on growth, constant movement, and the development of their ability to dress independently.

Because of these clothing needs, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the First United Methodist Church will be sponsoring six weeks of classes on "Sewing for Children." The classes will focus on special techniques that will make young children's clothing comfortable, durable, functional and attractive.

The classes will be held in the youth fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church at 4th and Scurry every Thursday from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m., March 6 to April 10.

Sewing machines and equipment will be provided. Participants are encouraged to bring a sewing project to the first class meeting. Each class will have some time devoted to demonstrating and the remainder of the class will be for sewing. There is no charge for the class. Participants may attend one or all of the classes. Free babysitting services will be available at the church while parents attend the sewing class.

If you need additional information, please contact the County Extension Office 267-8469, Mrs. Frances Zant, 263-4651 or the First United Methodist Church 267-6394.

Annual Gala to go western style

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center will again benefit from the proceeds of this year's Rehab Round-Up scheduled for April 19.

The Rehab Round-Up, formerly known as the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Gala, will get underway that evening with a barbecue from 6-8 p.m.

An auction will be conducted from 6-9 p.m. and a country-western dance, featuring Frenchie Burks and his band, will take place from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

According to Jan Iden, chairman of this year's event, the style of the benefit has been changed in an effort to cut back on expenses as well as include more people.

"Because we adopted the western theme," explained Mrs. Iden, a member of the rehab center board of directors, "we changed the name of the benefit from the Gala to the Rehab Round-Up."

An organizational meeting and hamburger buffet will be held Thursday evening at the Big Spring Country Club for anyone interested in helping with or sponsoring the round-up.

Those planning to attend should contact Mrs. Iden at 399-4441. The buffet dinner will be $2.50 per person.

"Any new ideas or suggestions will be welcomed at the meeting," she concluded.

Handicraft meeting Wednesday

The Newcomers Handicraft Club will meet Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Wilma Clark, 3704 Parkway.

A continuation of crocheting instruction will be conducted.

Anyone interested in attending the meeting is invited to call club President Suncha Christensen at 267-3237 or Mrs. Clark at 263-1976 for more information.

MRS. DAVID WILSON

Saturday noon wedding solemnized

The Hillcrest Baptist Church was the setting of the Saturday afternoon wedding uniting Susan Kay Sherrod and David Lynn Wilson.

The Rev. Phillip McClendon, pastor, read the 4 p.m. rite before an archway entwined with greenery. A memory candle enhanced the sanctuary setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Plowman, Abilene. Mr. and Mrs. Bob E. Wilson, Big Spring, are the parents of the groom.

Jackie Hancock served as vocalist during the rite.

Brenda Bedell, pianist, played the traditional wedding march as the bride was presented down the aisle wearing a blue, floor-length dotted Swiss gown. A ruffled neckline trimmed with lace complemented the bodice. Falling gently from the empire waistline was an A-line skirt which completed a ruffled hemline.

She wore a derby-style hat of white adorned with pearls. A white silk bouquet of roses, blue carnations and baby's breath was carried by the bride as an accent to her attire.

Janis McDowell, Sweetwater, attended her sister as matron of honor. She was attired in a gown of blue dotted Swiss which fell to floor-length.

Jim Wilson, brother of the groom, served as best man. Guests were seated by Bubba Martin and Dennis Vaughn.

Mandie Fuqua, Snyder, was the flower girl.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were feted at a reception in the church fellowship hall.

Blue cloth overlaid with white lace draped the reception table which featured a three-tiered cake decorated with blue roses and yellow daisies.

A gold candelabrum enhanced the setting as centerpiece. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Servers were Lorie McDowell, Sweetwater; Ginger Cline and Connie Fletcher.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Big Spring High School. She is presently an employee of Malone-Hogan Hospital and he is a former employee of Cabot.

The couple, upon returning from a wedding trip to Vail and Aspen, Colo., will make their home in Big Spring.

Clothes--the 'image makers'

By JANET ROGERS, County Extension Agent

Are you dressing for success or failure?

Some experts claim that women dress for failure.

True or not, women have played a subordinate role to men in the business world, and they have not been "educated" to dress for success.

While much research studies how clothing communicates, little research focuses on career apparel for women.

One thing is certain: our clothing does communicate to those around us.

We can remember that fact, and we can further benefit from years of other research that focused on clothing as an expression of self. Put it all together, and we become our own "image makers."

Clothing is a language that projects our talents, our needs, our personality, our dispositions and our destinations. It reveals how we feel and how we think we look.

Clothing is the greatest single influence on the impression we never have a second chance to make a first impression.

Some businesses feel clothing is so important in creating a favorable image they have strict dress codes -- because reaction to appearance is automatic and involuntary.

We cannot dress neutrally. Whatever we wear makes a statement -- not necessarily positive or negative, but something about us.

Our clothing may say, "I feel good about myself. I am confident I can handle this job."

Or it may say, "I am not prepared to handle this job. I am unsure of myself."

When used correctly, clothing can improve our appearance and advance us professionally.

A job involves working with clientele, the dress should "set the stage," not restrict effective work with others. When possible, research clientele to understand their clothing expectations.

Dress professionally, but try not to dress far above or below them.

Clothing establishes rank, role or position.

Uniforms are an obvious sign of rank or role which help others know how to respond. But dress need not be a uniform to indicate rank or level.

Even when the signs are subtle, dress can reveal an authority level. The "business suit" helps a man establish his rank in the business world.

Most experts agree the jacket has the greatest influence on this -- and it's true for females, too.

For women, the skirted suit is the most effective dress in establishing credibility and authority, research says.

Fashion can have some influence in the business world, but we must learn to "play the game" of success.

Forget the old-fashioned double bed

Choose a new size that's best for you. Forget about the old-fashioned double bed. The fact is, you're just too big for a bed that gives two sleepers less room than the 27" width of a baby's crib!

People are bigger today than they used to be. The average man's suit size has gone from 38 to 42 in a generation. Men and women average several inches more in height today than they did in days gone by. So make sure you select the Beautyrest roomy enough to allow complete rest. Don't risk cramping your normal sleeping movements.

Attired in dresses of pink sheer were the bride's cousins, Brandi and Toni Crawford, who served as flower girls.

Following the wedding rite, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Anderson feted the newlyweds with a reception in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn.

White lace draped the bride's table which was centered with a three-tiered cake decorated with pink roses. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

The bride is a graduate of Forsan High School and the groom graduated from Coahoma High School. He is presently employed at Midland Post Office.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to the Holiday in San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will make their home on Sterling City Rt., in Big Spring.

Bridal Lines

by Toni Choate & Kathryn Perry

You've undoubtedly heard the word "crystal" preceded by the word "fine" or "lead." But what is fine crystal? ...and what's so special about lead? Fine crystal contains a high quality of lead which makes it sparkle and give out a clear bell-like tone when tapped. A glassblower makes fine crystal by hand, shaping it carefully so that no two pieces are exactly alike. By contrast, lower quality crystal does not contain lead, is not as lustrous, and may be either hand molded or machine made. So, now that you know the difference, we here at Accent Shoppe wish you nothing but fine toasts from fine lead crystal glasses!

Dear Abby

His Fat Wife Weighs On Him

DEAR ABBY: I've composed this letter hundreds of times in my mind. I don't know where else to turn. My wife gained 10 to 15 pounds while pregnant with our son 11 years ago. She has never been able to lose that weight despite dieting attempts. Instead she has gradually gained additional weight until now she has a very conspicuous potbelly. In addition, she gets very little exercise, so she tends to doze off about 8 p.m. every evening. I weigh the same as when I graduated from college.

I have tried every method I can think of to encourage her to lose weight—incentives, insults, praise, rewards, punishments, joint exercise and threats. We even separated over this a few years ago.

Otherwise she is a great wife and a wonderful mother. I do love her, and have no desire to see our marriage end. However, I cannot accept her as she is no matter how hard I try. Neither can I understand her lack of pride concerning her physical appearance.

This problem is continually on my mind, and I am afraid that a permanent separation will eventually be the result. Am I being selfish and unreasonable?

DEPRESSED IN TENNESSEE

DEAR DEPRESSED: Yes. If you love your wife and are sincere when you say you have no desire to see your marriage end, you will see a therapist to find out why you can't accept her as she is. You could have a problem that is more serious than hers.

Do you feel left out? There are secrets in developing the art of making yourself popular. You're never too young or too old to learn. Get Abby's booklet: "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (25 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Laaky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.
