Militants want views aired before hostages released

By the Associated Press

The Moslem militants holding the U.S. Embassy hostages in Tehran today imposed a new condition that must be met before they will allow the ruling Revolutionary Council to take custody of the approximately 50 Americans.

In a telephone interview with a reporter in the Iranian capital, a spokesman for the young radicals at the embassy said they now demand "that the Iranian people know what we have to say" before their captives become the responsibility of the council, as the militants had requested Thursday.

Another spokesman said earlier the group would like to appear "on a television and radio program to explain the truth to the nation."

The statements appeared to throw a roadblock into plans announced earlier today by Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh to transfer the hostages out of the embassy compound, probably Saturday.

It was not clear whether the latest statements from the militants had been communicated to government authorities, who were not immediately available for comment.

The new demand was disclosed after Tehran Radio reported that Iranian protesters, in the second day of demonstrations in support of the militants, marched past the embassy shouting slogans calling on them not to give up the hostages to the Revolutionary Council.

This latest twist in the Tehran drama could set up another showdown between the young militants and President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr. He denounced them last month as "dictators" and "a government within a government."

In their statement Thursday calling on the council to "take delivery" of the hostages, the militants bitterly noted that they still opposed a visit to the hostages by the U.N. commission.

They said such a visit, favored by Bani-Sadr and the rest of the council, was not consistent with the "Imam's line," that is, with the thinking of revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. But they said they would give up the hostages because of pressure put on them by the Bani-Sadr government.

Bani-Sadr says Khomeini gave the council authorization to decide on a U.N. commission visit if it saw fit.

Ghotbzadeh said today that once the hostages were moved to another location the U.N. panel would visit them.

Tehran Radio confirmed that even if the council takes custody of the hostages, they may still face long weeks of captivity.

It said their fate "is to be decided soon by the nation's representatives in the Islamic assembly."

Letters from the hostages and other reports indicate many have been kept individually isolated in cubicles and have been allowed only limited exercise and bathing time. They were blindfolded and loosely bound early in the embassy takeover, now in its 125th day, but the blindfolds at least were reported taken off long ago.

Unemployment declines slightly

Wholesale prices rise 1.5 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices soared 1.5 percent in February, nearly matching January's surge, but unemployment declined slightly to 6 percent, the government reported today.

February's increase in the Labor Department's Producer Price Index showed little improvement from January's 1.6 percent rise, mainly because of near-record increases in gasoline and home heating oil prices.

If prices at the producer level — one step short of retail — continue to rise for the next 10 months at the same rate as in the first two, inflation at wholesale will exceed 20 percent at a compounded rate in 1980.

Changes in wholesale prices often are reflected at the retail level weeks or months later, although not necessarily by the same amount.

Wholesale prices last year went up 12.5 percent, the largest increase since the Middle East oil embargo sent prices soaring more than 18 percent in 1974.

The Labor Department's report on unemployment showed joblessness down from 6.2 percent in January to 6 percent in February. In both months, about 6.3 million persons were out of work.

As in 1974, price increases on crude oil imported from members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries again are the main cause of the nation's inflation problem, said John Layng, a Labor Department analyst.

Prices of gasoline and home heating oil rose 7.5 percent at wholesale in February, considerably higher than January's 4.4 percent rise and the largest since an 8.8 percent surge in March 1974.

Gasoline prices went up 8.3 percent for the month, compared with 5.7 percent in January. Home heating oil advanced 6.7 percent in price, compared with 2 percent in the first month of 1980.

The sharp rise in gasoline prices at wholesale already has shown up at service stations, where prices rose in January by 7.4 percent, the largest one-month increase on record.

In what Layng called "the only bright thing in the picture," food prices fell 0.5 percent in February after dropping 0.8 percent in January.

The advance in the overall Producer Price Index thus came from non-food items, up 2 percent in February. The index in February stood at 235.4, meaning that goods that cost $100 in 1967 cost $235.40 last month. The figure was 13.3 percent ahead of February 1979.

Between February 1979 and last month, energy items rose by 75.8 percent, foods by 2.9 percent and other consumer goods 11.8 percent, the report said.

Few analysts were expecting much improvement in wholesale or consumer prices in the next several months.

The Producer Price Index, which measures wholesale price changes, "shows signs of acceleration," said R. Robert Russell, director of the President's Council on Wage and Price Stability.

Russell also told members of the National Economists Club on Thursday that he expected consumer prices to rise about 13 percent again this year despite Carter administration efforts to dampen inflation.

Inflation "won't be quite as high as 1979, but very close," Russell said.

Russell declined to give a specific figure, but his prediction was the gloomiest made public to date by government officials.

And it came as President Carter's advisers were working to re-evaluate economic forecasts and government

Grand jurors will consider three murder cases Tuesday

Howard County Grand Jury members Tuesday will consider cases against three defendants charged with murder in three separate cases.

Defendants are Abe Gonzalez, charged with murder of Ronald Dean Jeter, Feb. 15; Ismael Juarez, Jr., charged with murder of Dean Mojica, Feb. 21; and Melvin Wayne Warneke, charged with murder of Carl Wayne Clanton, Dec. 31.

Ronald Jeter, 36, was shot twice with a shotgun at BJ's Lounge, Snyder Hwy. at 8:40 p.m. He was "not even involved" according to one witness. Gonzalez was arrested shortly afterwards at a local hospital.

Dean Mojica, 17, was stabbed in the left side of the chest and apparently run over. His body was found near the beer distributorship, east IS 20. Juarez was arrested in Midland when police there spotted the 1975 Monte Carlo described by a witness. Juarez was arrested and transferred back to Howard County.

Carl Clanton, 32, arrived at the emergency room of Malone-Hogan Hospital 12:21 a.m. and died from a gunshot wound 1:30 a.m. According to police, a bullet entered his left side, exited his right side and went through his right forearm.

Warneke turned himself in and volunteered the 38 special allegedly used in the murder. The shooting followed an argument at Joe's Place, W. Hwy. 80.

Other cases scheduled for grand jury are Pedro Cantu, criminal mischief; Albert Carl Christiamson, burglary of a habitation; Kenny Loy Court, possession of a controlled substance; Darrin Jay Crooks, spending for an all-out attack on inflation, which accelerated at the retail level in January to an 18 percent annual rate.

Consumer prices last year rose 13.3 percent, the largest surge in more than three decades.

In its economic forecast released just a little more than a month ago, the administration predicted that inflation would slow to 10.4 percent this year.

Specifications for track to be out soon track are currently being prepared for mailing in the near future. Funds for the track to be built at Blankenship Field were made available last year by an anonymous donor.

Bids are expected to be in school trustee hands by the early part of next month.

Specifications will be sent to four companies. These are Price Construction, Big Spring; Arco, Lubbock; Vibrawhl, Panhandle; and Humphries Hansen Inc., Austin.

Assistant Superintendent of Business Don Crockett said various school districts with all-weather tracks were contacted to determine which companies to ask for bids.

Specifications will be kept as open as possible to allow a number of companies to quote bids, said Crockett.

A calendar similar to this year's calendar was approved for the 1980-1981 school year. Two other calendars were presented to school personnel for voting.

One calendar featured a short Spring break, but put off the start of in-service and classes two days later than this year's start.

The other featured a short Spring break, but an early end of school. Starting dates would have been the same as this year's.

DAMPER PUT ON BLAZE — Putting a fire under control yesterday at Big Spring Livestock and Auction Sales are Big Spring firemen. Firemen responded to the blaze in four minutes, and investigators say this was a major factor in the blaze not getting out of control.

Firemen prevent major blaze in Big Spring

The quick response of the Big Spring Fire Department Thursday afternoon prevented a fire on the northeast side of town from turning into a major blaze.

Firemen responded at 1:30 p.m. to a blaze at Big Spring Livestock and Auction Sales at Birdwell Lane and Interstate 20. In four minutes fire fighters were on the scene to control flames in several stock pens near the railroad tracks.

Within 45 minutes the fire was checked.

Fortunately no cattle were caught in the blaze and the reported damage to the speculation that a spark from a Missouri Pacific Train, which passed by the site at 11:55 a.m., may have caused the fire.

Trainmaster L.W. Henley said at the site, "All units have spark arresters on them."

He explained the train which passed had roller bearings on the wheel, compared to the old friction type bearings which caused sparks.

"If the train had caused the fire," Henley said, "we would have had fires up and down the line."

Jerry Womack, fire investigator, said if the wind yesterday had been stronger than the 20 miles per hour southerly gusts, the fire could have been major.

The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Womack said, "The fire, we believe, was not intentionally set. It was an accident."

The fire investigator said some welding had taken place yesterday on the premises. He added he would make further inquiries today about the fusing.

Earnings top $550,000 Okie winningest cowboy in history

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Tom Ferguson, the Pro Rodeo Cowboys Association's (PRCA) phenomenal six-time World All-Around Champion, has rewritten professional rodeo's record books once again. The cowboy from Miami, Okla., now holds the record for career arena earnings with a total of $550,160, making him the winningest cowboy in rodeo history. He surpasses the legendary Dean Oliver, who had held the record until now with $543,173.

Ferguson's final thrust to break Oliver's record came at the Houston rodeo this past weekend, where he won the steer wrestling competition and $9,387. Houston might correctly be termed Ferguson's rodeo; he took the calf roping there last year and a record $16,445. While Oliver's career spans a quarter of a century, Ferguson enters only his ninth year of professional competition in 1980. His yearly earnings average since 1972 tops $65,000.

A record total of 569,019 individuals watched the competition in Houston's famed Astrodome over the ten-day period, smashing the U.S. attendance record of 527,000 set there in 1979. More than 46,500 fans were counted for one performance alone. Houston is the PRCA's third largest regular season rodeo with a rich payoff which topped $216,000 this year.

Ferguson was not the only big winner at Houston. Jess Knight of Justiceburg, Tex., won the saddle bronc competition for $5,555. Bud Munroe of Billings, Mont., the present leader in saddle bronc standings, also won $5,618 in Houston competition. The win gives him a clear lead in that event, with a $5,309 margin over his nearest competitor, Monty Henson of Mesquite, Tex.

In bareback riding, Mickey Young of Ferron, Utah, won the event and $6,765 at Houston, and an additional $216 at Jacksonville, Fla. Young displaces J.C. Trujillo of Steamboat Springs, Colo., for the lead in bareback riding standings with a total of $15,368. Trujillo won $3,511 at Houston for a total of $12,370 and a 2nd place in the standings.

Coloradan Chris Loncarich of Clifton swept the bull riding at Houston for $8,573; the win moved him to No. 4 in bull riding standings. Other big bull riding winners included Monty Taylor of Allison, Tex., with $5,015 and Butch Kirby, the 1978 World Champion Bull Rider, who is making his comeback after being injured and out of competition for most of 1979. Kirby took $5,017 at Houston.

Roy Carter, the cowboy who led the Houston bull riding after the second round, made a gallant attempt to stay in the competition. He competed in the third and final round with a broken shoulder but bucked off to end his chances. Carter ended 7th in the average and left with a total of $3,746 to his credit.

Buford Neugebauer, another Coloradan from La Junta, took the calf roping competition and $8,518 at Houston. Arnold Felts of Mutual, Okla., also placed high in the calf roping with a total of $6,642.

The pro cowboys are presently in the competition at San Angelo, and will continue on to Phoenix, which opens March 12. The unusually rainy Arizona weather will not be a factor for the rodeo; the eight performances will take place in an indoor arena. Phoenix is also one of the Winston Sallis Rodeos, the program which awards bonuses to pro rodeo's finest athletes at year-end. The rodeo will utilize Cervi Championship stock.

Animal control reports for February released

The Big Spring Animal Control Department has reported 63 cats impounded and destroyed in the month of February. At the end of the month, the shelter was not holding any cats.

Two hundred eighty dogs were impounded. Out of that figure, seven were adopted or redeemed and 254 were destroyed. At the end of the month, 19 dogs were reported living at the shelter. Citations were issued to nine owners.

Dead animals picked up for the month included 99 dogs, 95 cats and 174 other animals.

Six dog bites and three cat bites also were reported.

Fees collected by the shelter added up to $98 for vaccinations, license fees, pound fees and shelter and food.

Wildcat data disclosed

A wildcat has been scheduled in Howard County.

Lario Oil & Gas Co., Odessa, will drill the No. 1 O'Daniel, a 9,000-foot wildcat in Howard County, between the shallow Snyder and Howard-Glasscock fields, 3/4-mile northeast of its No. 1 Edwards, active wildcat, eight miles southeast of Coahoma and 7 1/2 miles south of a south extension area of Fusselman production in the Coahoma, North (Fusselman and Clearfork) field.

Location is 467 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of 40-30-15-T&P.

The No. 1 Edwards, in 44-30-15-T&P, recently rescheduled to 9,000 feet, was drilling below 8,221 feet in shale Thursday. No tests have been taken.

NRTA-AARP tax-aid program will expand with IRS funds

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The NRTA-AARP Tax-Aide Program has been awarded the first funds ever provided by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to a non-profit organization.

The cooperative agreement with the IRS provides volunteer tax assistance for older persons through the IRS Tax Counseling for the Elderly Program under a new joint effort that will be identified as the Tax-Aide-TCE Program.

The funding, nearly $750,000, will enable the Tax-Aide-TCE Program to reimburse counselors for any out-of-pocket expenses incurred while providing older adult tax assistance. The IRS funds also will provide expenses for program leaders in conducting service.

"This funding represents a major step in the improvement of the Tax-Aide Program's capability in developing a comprehensive national program of tax assistance," according to William C. McMorrin, the national Tax-Aide coordinator. "It is a credit to the Tax-Aide volunteers who have established the program's capability."

Vandals cause $5,000 damages to Haskell school facilities

HASKELL — Vandals who caused $5,000 in damages to Haskell school facilities earlier this week will be prosecuted on felony charges, if they are caught, according to High School Principal Bill Blakley.

More than $2,000 of the damages resulted from broken windows in the high school and junior high buildings. The remainder of the havoc was created from typewriters and other equipment, which were dismantled with hammers.

Blakley, "the vandalism was the third this year and by far the worst. Blakley added the school system will be out most of the money."

Haskell County Sheriff Garth Garrett said he and his deputies were working on some leads and thinks there might be a break in the case "in a day or two."

John Allen Mosier Jr. of Orange County, Texas, was arraigned Friday in the slaying of Billy Wayne Butler, 45, of Cedar Crest.

A preliminary hearing was scheduled March 20 for Mosier.

Butler disappeared Feb. 1. Searchers found his body two weeks later in a wooded area about one mile from his home south of Locust Grove in northeastern Oklahoma.

Mosier, accompanied by his attorney, surrendered at the Mayes County sheriff's office here Friday. He had been sought by lawmen in Oklahoma and Texas.

Survivors include one son, O.F. Carper of Big Spring; two brothers, Elbert Carper of Sterling City and Francis Carper of Houston; two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Myers of San Angelo and Mrs. Elsie Watson of Tow; and two grandsons, Wade Carper and Jody Carper both of Big Spring.

Word has been received from the doctor that Nick Roetnor, 59, of San Angelo died at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Big Spring VA Medical Center.

Military graveside services will be at 11 a.m., Saturday in San Angelo's Fairmount Cemetery.

Mr. Roetnor was born June 27, 1920, in Tennessee. Survivors include his wife, Mozelle, of the home; his mother, Mrs. W.C. Armour, Stewart, Fla.; a brother, W.C. Armour, Casper, Wyo.; a stepdaughter, Mary Jane Meek, San Angelo; and a stepson, James O. Cox of Kingsville.

Other survivors include his wife, of the home; three sisters, Mrs. Glenn (Lucille) Esmold, Lamesa, Mrs. W.L. (Druce) Hollister, and Mrs. E.F. (Polly) Edwards Jr., both of San Angelo; and two brothers, G. Arthur Tyler and Henry A. Tyler, both of San Angelo.

Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in First Baptist Church in Sterling City, with burial in Foster Cemetery in Sterling City.

Mr. Carper was born June 18, 1892, in Johnson County. He had resided in Sterling City six years and was a retired rancher.

Weather

Panhandle only part of state in the cold

A cold front moved into the Texas Panhandle during the night, dropping temperatures below freezing, but most of the state basked in warm spring-like weather.

Forecasts called for widely scattered showers and thunderstorms in Southeast Texas late today after drizzle, light rain and fog dampened eastern and central areas of the state during the morning.

Light rain, drizzle and fog was reported during the night in Southeast Texas, but there were no reports of significant rainfall.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is expected in the forecast period, today until Saturday morning, from the Carolinas into the Midwest and north to New England. Snow is forecast for the eastern Plains, Midwest, Great Lakes, St. Lawrence Valley and northern New England. Mild temperatures are forecast from southern California to the central Gulf. Warm weather is forecast for Florida.

Ford ready to take the plunge?

By the Associated Press

Former President Gerald R. Ford says he still needs a push from his friends before taking another plunge in the Republican presidential campaign waters, but old foe Ronald Reagan thinks the former president is already wading in the wings.

"He really has more than his toes in the water," Reagan chided after a day that saw the unveiling of a national draft-Ford committee and a weling of other activity pointing to an almost inexorable if not imminent declaration of candidacy.

JOHN B. ANDERSON
Campaigning in Illinois organization.

Ford himself was virtually begging to be begged. Winding up a golfing and speechmaking visit to Florida, he allowed that if enough people "put their names up front" and ask him publicly, "I'd have a hard time saying no."

Still, on Thursday night, Ford reminded an audience at St. Petersburg, Fla., that he said last October he would not be a candidate barring "unforeseen developments."

"As of tonight, no unforeseen developments have taken place to change my mind, but we'll wait and see."

Among the seen so far: Former Air Force Secretary Thomas C. Reed announced the creation of the draft-Ford group, saying the former president "offers the best alternatives to the bankrupt policies" of the Carter administration. Sens. Harrison Schmitt of New Mexico and Lowell P. Weicker of Connecticut, Rep. Bob Wilson of California and tire and rubber tycoon Leonard Firestone were among those heading the conclusion "was preceded with the idea that there would have to be people come forth and say they would want him to do it."

— Stuart Spencer, Ford's campaign strategist in 1976, said "The Ford thing is moving real fast...I think you can look for a news story next week."

State organizations backing Ford in New York, New Jersey and Delaware held a joint news conference and pointed to an Eagleton Institute poll of 1,200 persons in New Jersey that showed the former president would be the strongest Republican candidate.

Perhaps of greatest irritation to Reagan, Ford scheduled a meeting Monday at his home in Palm Springs, Calif., with John P. Sears and two other political pros who were fired by Reagan just a week ago. It was Sears, in fact, who guided Reagan to his near-upset of Ford for the GOP nomination in 1976.

Reagan, campaigning in South Carolina and Georgia before heading into Florida today, said Ford "would have to be considered a formidable opponent," even as a late entry.

But if Ford were to steal votes away "it's more likely they would come from the others than from me," the former California governor said. "If I thought there was anyone in the race who had a better chance of winning than I, then I would quit and campaign for them," he added.

George Bush, a moderate whose politics probably come closer to Ford's than any other candidate in the GOP field, said in Florida that a Ford candidacy would complicate his campaign "but it doesn't mean the end of the road for me or anybody else."

Bush, meanwhile, concentrated his fire on Reagan, still his biggest worry and especially formidable in the round of primaries starting Saturday in South Carolina, then moving to Florida, Georgia and Alabama on Tuesday.

The former CIA director specifically took issue with Reagan's call for a naval "blockade" of Cuba — 90 miles away from Florida — in retaliation for the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan. A blockade, he said, goes further than the "quarantine" imposed by John F. Kennedy in 1962, and "connotes war."

In Greenville, S.C., former Texas Gov. John B. Connally said he was "highly encouraged" over his chances in South Carolina on Saturday, but would press his candidacy even if he finishes third to Reagan and Bush. But his time could be running short, since Connally has invested much of his time and money in the state and a defeat, especially in light of all his help from the highly popular Sen. Strom Thurmond, would be embarrassing.

Authorities recover 1,200 pounds marijuana

NEW BOSTON, Texas (AP) — Two men were jailed and about 1,200 pounds of marijuana seized in a surprise raid on a rural landing strip two miles south of the Texas-Arkansas border, authorities said.

Two other men escaped on foot after the Thursday raid and were the subject of a massive helicopter search.

Bowie County Sheriff Earl Sabo said U.S. Customs, Drug Enforcement Agency surprised the men as 59 bundles were being loaded from two twin-engine plane onto two pickup trucks.

Sabo placed a $500,000 value on the load and said federal agents told him the plane probably flew straight to this North Texas area from Mexico.

"When the agents surprised them, one of the pickups took off and ran into a ditch about a mile away," Sabo said. "It is thought that two men escaped on foot."

Two others, William G. Dippo III, 31, of Denton, and Ray Richard Brown, 31, of Spokane, Wash., were arrested at the scene. They were later charged with possession of marijuana and Justice of the Peace David Harris took them to bond at $75,000 each.

"FRESH WATER FROM AN OLD WELL"

"BURIED TREASURE"

A farmer on his deathbed summoned his four sons and told them that he was leaving his farm to them in four equal parts. "I have very little ready cash, but you will find that the greater part of my wealth is buried somewhere in the ground about a foot and a half from the surface. I have forgotten precisely where." Then he died.

The four sons set to work on the fields and dug up every inch of them, searching for the treasure the father had buried. They found nothing. But they decided that so long as they dug up all the ground, they might as well sow a crop and reap a good harvest.

That autumn, after an abundant harvest, the four boys again began digging in search of buried treasure; as a consequence their farm was turned over more thoroughly than any other farm in the area. And of course again they reaped a fine harvest. After they had repeated this procedure for several more years, the four sons finally realized what their father had meant when he told them that his wealth was buried in the ground.

Turning monetary dials doesn't work

How would you describe and dissect inflation? Is it a disease in itself that saps a nation of its sinew or is it just a symptom of a graver problem?

Worldwatch Institute, a private research group, has termed inflation as merely a symptom of a more serious illness — one that won't be cured with policies monetary and fiscal.

THE INSTITUTE LINKS the chronically high inflation rate that is gripping most nations to the shrinking of global resources. In other words, this old world has passed the point when it can support all the people who are alive today.

"We can no longer turn the fiscal and monetary dials to correct inflation," Robert Fuller, a researcher for Worldwatch, said. "It will take an entire generation if we're looking to get at inflation's sources."

The study, entitled "Inflation: The Rising Cost of Living on a Small Planet," said that societies can no longer simply increase supply to meet demand. "We are reaching that historic point where many resources are peaking," Fuller stated.

There have been huge investments made in oceanic fishing fleets over the last ten years, yet the world fish harvest has leveled off, according to Fuller. At the same time, world per capita production of wood, petroleum, cereals and most meats all appear to have peaked.

"The prices of these same commodities soared and inflation became a central feature of global economic life," said Fuller.

The study takes a dim view of many of the conventional proposals to solve inflation, taking views that reflect Fuller's background as a physicist and the non-profit organization's role as viewer of global problems from energy to population control.

IT ADVOCATES changes in people's behavior more than it supports tight money policies by the Federal Reserve Board.

"Controlling inflation will require a shift away from consumerism, away from the materialistic orientation," Fuller said.

Fuller took the advertising industry to the woodshed for encouraging unnecessary consumption and supporting annual style changes in automobiles and clothing.

Give Fuller his due for being on target but he, nonetheless, is expecting miracles that can't be performed by the American people.

It would, of course, be a plus if the public could become less materialistic, but is it possible to assume we can change our viewpoints in the twinkling of an eye?

The crisis in resources didn't develop overnight. They are finite and should have been tracked for decades. Researchers could see this problem coming for a great many years. Together with the government, they should have taken positive steps to change our emotional orientation years ago.

The public cannot shoulder all the responsibility for our current dilemma, nor can it be expected to solve the problem on a moment's notice.

Needed is forceful and forthright leadership. It is from the leaders that solutions must come.

Hopelessly hooked

Around the rim

James Werrell

My evening run is behind me, and I am putting back the calories I have lost with a cold beer and a can of peanuts. Walter Cronkite has just informed me that "That's the way it is." And now it's time once again.

"These are the voyagers on the star ship Enterprise. Their five year mission... Lah-lah-la-la-la-la."

I am not sure exactly how long I've been watching "Star Trek." I do know that it has been long enough to see every episode ever made. Many, many times.

This is not to say that I'm some kind of big-league Trekkie. I actually feel very little kinship with the fanatics who can tell you how a photon torpedo works, and who go to huge conventions to drool on George Takei (Sulu, for the uninitiated).

It's just that watching "Star Trek" is something I can't quit doing.

I HAVE SEEN each show enough times to be able to recognize the plot within one-and-a-half minutes of viewing. But I watch anyway.

This behavior bears a remarkable similarity to that of the three-year-old who insists that his parents read him "Little Black Sambo" each night before he goes to bed. The child knows that every night Little Black Sambo will eat more pancakes than the rest of the family, but it's the telling of the tale that keeps him hooked.

Some have called "Star Trek" a series of morality plays for the uneducated. I think this is selling the show a little short.

The props are crummy, the special effects are transparent, the costumes and hairdos are silly. There has to be something else about "Star Trek" that gives it its staying power!

Perhaps it is that "Star Trek" more than any other show of its type, reaffirms over and over again that man survived the holocaust. Not only did we not blow ourselves off the earth, we also developed the technology to give us a buzz around the universe at warp speed.

THIS MESSAGE is delivered during every minute of every show; sometimes subtly, sometimes like a brick to the cranium. One of the most blatant methods, and my favorite, is when the message is slipped into a Kirk soliloquy.

"Spock, there walks one of the great military minds of history. We studied his tactics at the academy right alongside those of Alexander the Great, Caesar, Napoleon, Voltaire of Rigel 11, Xenon the Conqueror..."

And what a guy that Kirk is! He singlehandedly proves that sex will not be a dirty word in the future.

At least half the time, the fate of the Enterprise and its crew rests on Kirk's ability to seduce a woman on one planet or another. And more often than not, the woman is a robot.

OK, so these aren't the most mind-bending themes of the century. And maybe "Star Trek" is just for spaceheads. But, as I said, I can't quit watching.

Sorry if that's illogical, Spock.

Jimmy vs Jane

Evans, Novak

CHICAGO — The burden Mayor Jane Byrne assumed with her dramatic endorsement of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy four months ago was brought home in secret city hall meetings on Chicago's tangled finances when one local banker suggested the city might consider a federal bailout, New York-style.

"Are you kidding?" snapped one of Byrne's aides. He explained to the banker that with the mayor committed to pushing Jimmy Carter out of the White House, precious little help from Uncle Sam was possible. On the contrary, Byrne insists President Carter is out to get her. She readily agrees that her multiple troubles began with the Kennedy endorsement.

The reality in Chicago is that Byrne made a difficult job far tougher by embracing Kennedy's quickly deteriorating candidacy. That contradicts the perception in Washington that Kennedy's Illinois problems began with the embattled mayor's endorsement. She, in fact, is the victim.

WHAT'S MORE, BYRNE'S chances for political revival here are much better than Kennedy's. She will have to twist arms of Democratic precinct captains, who disapprove of Kennedy on moral rather than ideological grounds, to back him in the March 18 primary. But Byrne may be regaining her own popularity with persistent toughness, such as refusing to yield to the firemen's union.

Byrne, surprise winner for mayor in 1979 against the Chicago Democratic organization, was still in a love affair with Chicagoans last Oct. 27 when she discarded a seeming commitment to Carter by endorsing Kennedy. All manner of misfortunes soon followed — including walkouts of transit workers, teachers and firemen — and her popularity dropped.

"You just don't treat a president that way," contends a liberal Democrat with no love for either Byrne or Carter. He shares a widely-held view that Chicagoans so resented the mayor's switch to Kennedy that it turned against them both. More plausibly, she was dragged down by anti-Kennedy sentiment that began building nationwide just as she endorsed him.

Byrne has a considerably different theory. At the heart of the firemen's crisis with television camera crews camped outside her fifth floor city hall office, the mayor quietly and calmly told us "the administration is using intimidation" against the city because of her.

Besides the Justice Department's desegregation lawsuit, that includes alleged withholding of federal funds and a freeze on the city's proposed new jetport. Her most recent exhibit of federal provocation: a snap federal inspection of emergency operations at O'Hare International Airport Feb. 13. While federal officials in Washington describe it as a check to determine whether the fire strike had reduced airport security, the mayor thinks otherwise. "They were trying to close down O'Hare," she told us.

Yet Byrne admits no regrets for having jumped to Kennedy. "I thought he (Carter) was doing a poor job for the older cities," she told us, adding that she still sees the president as a loser in November if nominated.

ALTHOUGH BYRNE blames Carter for slighting Chicago on funds, she told us that her fiscal austerity will put the city in good shape "with no federal help needed" — certainly not the New York-style bailout suggested by the Chicago banker.

Virus destroys nerve cells

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: When I was a baby I got some kind of polio. I am now 26. I can walk just as good as anyone, but my left leg is slightly thinner than the right. It also feels weaker. I cannot wiggle my toes very good.

Is there anything to do to strengthen my leg and build up the muscles so it will match my right? Is it too late? I am extremely self-conscious about this, even after all these years. — Miss P.R.

The polio virus destroys nerve cells in the spinal cord that control muscles. The degree to which muscle use is diminished depends on how many nerve cells are destroyed. It seems, from your letter, that your disability is not great. Yet one never appreciates the ability to wiggle one's toes until it is taken away.

Your leg will never regain 100 percent function, but you can add bulk and strength to the muscles that are functioning well. This can help compensate for the few muscles that were affected by your childhood illness.

The precise type of exercise you need is difficult to outline without a firsthand examination of your leg. In general, partial squats, bending the knees only as much as necessary to get the buttocks down to chair seat height, can help. This helps build up muscles on the fronts of the thighs. Rising on the toes helps the calf muscles. No, it is not too late to help yourself. A physiotherapist can outline a more individualized exercise program for you.

Miss P.R.'s problem is a tragic reminder to parents to have their children immunized against polio. Miss P.R. was probably about a year away from having the vaccine available when she was an infant. The vaccine has today reduced polio paralysis to the point where it is a rarity. We should be determined to keep things this way.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Since surgery on my leg a couple of years ago I have had trouble with a nerve in that leg. Doctors have said they may try a temporary nerve block to see if the pain can be alleviated. Just what does a nerve block involve? How long would the pain be gone? Is it major surgery? — M.S.

It's not major surgery, not even minor. The block involves injection of a numbing substance in the vicinity where the nerve lies — like the dentist does when he works on your teeth.

The resulting temporary relief of pain can guide him in deciding whether eventually cutting the nerve will be of benefit in your case. Ordinarily, the pain relief would not last much longer than a day or so. But sometimes when pain cycles are interrupted by blocks they do not return. That is rare, though.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I feel soreness when my husband and I have sexual intercourse. Can you comment on why this would happen? — P.A.

Far too little to go on here, but since reader questions on the subject are relatively common I'd like to make a few general comments.

Dyspareunia, or painful intercourse, can be traced to several conditions. There may be a lack of vaginal secretions. In the younger (premenopausal) woman, a simple lubricant may be all that's needed. In the post-menopausal woman, estrogen creams might be tried, since the lack of natural body hormones can be a factor in any dryness. Or the vagina may simply be too small. There are several reasons for this. A continuing low-grade inflammation can cause it. Vaginal dilation can help. Too, psychological factors can be at work in dyspareunia. A pelvic examination and a frank discussion with your gynecologist are in order.

CONFIDENTIAL TO R.F. — Dehydration is loss of water from the body. The causes are many. Severe diarrhea, vomiting or excessive sweating can cause it. Treatment involves replacing the fluids lost and correcting the conditions causing it. If dehydration is great, blood pressure can drop. Some patients require fluids by vein. The fact that you had dehydration once does not mean you won't have it again, especially if the condition that caused it has not been eliminated.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What would it be worth to have a cure for diabetes? And where would you sell the remedy? — Mrs. N.L.

It would be priceless. I think we'd better keep the emphasis on the humanitarian aspects of cures rather than commercial value. Your letter underlines the materialism of our times, Mrs. N.L.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for his booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have tried to read my Bible, but it just doesn't seem to make much sense. Why do some people seem to get so much out of it, when I get nothing? — T.E.

DEAR T.E.: There may be two main reasons for your problem with the Bible. One may be that you do not know how to study it so that you get the most out of it. If this is your problem, you may want to get some suggestions from a pastor or another Christian you know who seems to know the Bible well. For example, you may want to use one of the modern translations (like the New International Version or the New American Standard Version), so that there is no problem with the language. Then you will want to take one of the books and read through it carefully, always asking yourself as you go along what the main points are in the passage. I often suggest that people begin with the Gospel of John.

But your other problem is that you may never have been born again spiritually. The Bible speaks of spiritual truth, and if you have no understanding or sensitivity toward spiritual truth the Bible may well be a puzzle to you. The Bible says, "The man without the Spirit does not accept the things that come from the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him, and he cannot understand them, because they are spiritually discerned" (1 Corinthians 2:14). I say this to you as honestly as I know how, because if you have never really come to Christ it is important for you to know your need of Him and come to Him. When you come to Christ the Holy Spirit comes to live within you, and He will help you understand God's Word.

I urge you, therefore, to ask yourself if you have ever really accepted Christ into your life as your personal Lord and Savior. If not, turn to Him in faith and ask Him to come into your life. If you will do this, He has promised to come into your heart and mind. And then the spiritual truth of God's Word, the Bible, will begin to speak to your heart as you ask God to help you in your Bible reading.

Gasohol moving

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — President Jimmy Carter is belatedly posing as a pioneer spirit dedicated to the development of a gasohol industry that could help the United States weather the energy crisis. But unfortunately, he has consigned much of the program to bureaucrats who would rather dawdle than drive.

For three years, I have been urging the government to get behind a crash gasohol program that could reduce U.S. dependence on oil imports and ease the Arab-imposed fuel crunch. But the White House and the Energy Department, under former Secretary James Schlesinger, ignored evidence that an alcohol-gasoline mixture could provide a domestically produced substitute for the high-octane gas used by American motorists.

DURING THE PAST YEAR, Jimmy Carter finally became a convert. He named a new energy chief, Charles Duncan, who has reversed the anti-gasohol stand of his hidebound predecessor. Yet the dismal fact remains that some of Carter's energy stewards are producing more hogwash than gasohol.

The bureaucratic block in the gasohol project can be traced to the Agriculture Department, where Secretary Bob Bergland is dragging his feet on programs designed to extract ethanol from grain. Farmers and motorists throughout the country favor gasohol development, but Bergland and his stand-pat Agriculture Department advisers are obstinately balking at any innovation that might cut into grain exports or drive up the prices of farm products.

"It's always one step forward and two steps backward with the Agriculture Department," a congressional supporter of gasohol told my associate Peter Grant. "We got rid of Schlesinger and now the Energy Department is really moving. All we have to do now is get rid of Bergland."

Here is some of the sorry history of how Bergland and his subordinates have undercut the gasohol program:

In 1977, Congress authorized the Agriculture Department to guarantee $15 million in loans to set up four pilot plants that would extract fuels from farm products. The department backed only one loan to a gasohol test project run by an individual who had testified publicly against the whole concept. The borrower eventually backed out, and the department withdrew the loan guarantee.

The Agriculture bureaucrats have provided scant assistance to farmers who wish to set up their own small alcohol stills. Agriculture Department studies on the potential of gasohol are at best unenthusiastic, at worst pessimistic. One 1977 report inaccurately stated that ethanol did not raise the octane level in gasoline.

Energy Department experts fought a backstage battle with their Agriculture counterparts over gasohol production goals. The Energy Department experts eventually prevailed and persuaded the president to aim for a 1981 target of 500 million gallons. Bergland and his advisers wanted to produce less.

Bergland has postponed the distribution of $100 million in loans to finance small gasohol stills until they can be "tested and proven." The fact that gas stations in all 50 states are presently stocking their tanks with gasohol and are reporting a high demand from satisfied customers apparently means little to the procrastinators at Agriculture.

BERGLAND'S BOSS in the White

House has finally joined the move to gasohol and is claiming credit for proposals which were offered in Congress three years ago when his voice, like the turtle's, was nowhere heard. Meanwhile, scores of farmers, fed up with waiting for federal help, have built their own alcohol stills, and thousands more have applied for state permits.

Footnote: Weldon Barton, director of the Agriculture Department's energy office, said he and his colleagues have an "emerging policy" on gasohol which must be balanced with other priorities.

FUNERAL FLAP: A San Antonio mortician, Dr. James Reveley, has never spoken ill of the dead, but he did make the mistake of speaking ill of his fellow funeral directors while testifying before a congressional hearing four weeks ago.

Two days after his appearance as a witness, Reveley was cut off by his local supplier of caskets. A representative of the Royal Casket Co. of San Antonio informed him the company didn't approve of his testimony about price-gouging by the undertaking industry. "It's bad for the profession" the casket supplier told its customer of two years' standing.

The rejection of Reveley — who is also a dentist — is typical of the high-handed tactics practiced by the funeral industry. The undertaking lobby has also succeeded in clamping a congressional ban on a move by the Federal Trade Commission to impose modest consumer protection regulations on the nation's funeral homes.

The Capitol Hill onslaught was led by Rep. Marty Russo, D-Ill., a staunch defender of the undertakers, who quoted $50 million as the cost for extra paper work that would be required to produce FTC-mandated price lists for burials and cremations. It appears he juggled the figures to arrive at this inflated figure.

A reading of the industry's own publications, meanwhile, reveals that morticians are willing — albeit reluctantly — to accept the FTC rule. And the April 1979 issue of one trade publication commented editorially: "While it is too early for judgment, we believe it to be more than likely that the rule ultimately proposed by the FTC commissioners will not be too difficult for funeral directors to accept and endure."

Little something to liven party

It may be a case of necessity again being the mother of invention, or it may be just another attempt to cash in on a public fad.

But a screwdriver observer of the contemporary scene, according to a recent report from Washington, has come up with something guaranteed to put more than life into a party.

He has been awarded a patent on an incense with the scent of marijuana. It is intended for hostesses who want to lend their gatherings the distinctive air of the "me generation" without the possible disadvantages.

Reported to be a compound of ground alfalfa and bay leaves plus corn starch, when dried and burned it yields a smell that is, according to the inventor, "difficult if not impossible to distinguish from the odor of burning marijuana." It contains, however, "no known illegal components."

There had to be a catch. Right there probably goes the fun for most of the real pot people.

New decade of dog names

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Fido, Bowser and Spot are out, Brandy, Sheba and Muffin are in. According to Bill Virden's list of most popular dog names, Snoopy and Sandy went out with the 1970s and pet owners of the 1980s have slightly more exotic tastes. His recent survey of 324 animals at the San Diego Humane Society showed the most popular names were Heidi, Sam, Fred, Princess, Peanuts, Tasha, Sheba, Bear and Muffin. French-sounding names like Fifi, Gigi and Bon-Bon have been ousted by Misha, Kiki, Kobot, Fasha and Kima. Virden said pet owners tend to name good-natured dogs Honey, Angel, Sugar, Candy and Sweetie. Macho-type dogs are named Killer, Bruiser, Bullet, Batman and Whip.

Sleek fur, cute mask

FALLON, Nev. (AP) — Pining for a passel of pet raccoons? Well, try introducing your lady raccoon to Myron, Peggy Ogden's stud raccoon. He's a big, healthy, two-year-old waiting for his first encounter since Mrs. Ogden started the breeding service two weeks ago. No takers so far, she said. "One lady called yesterday and said she had a fox. I told her I didn't think that would work." Mrs. Ogden came up with the idea thinking there might be some money to be made, and held a trial run with "Cookie," a friend's female raccoon. "We kept them in separate cages until we made sure they wouldn't kill each other, and then we just left them in Myron's cage for about three weeks," she said. No offspring yet, however.

Sammy eats his veggies

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — James Uhalt is a vegetarian. So's his twin brother John. And so's Sammy, who just loves scrambled eggs, celery, tofu, kelp and nuts. No red meat, no fish no fowl for the 35-year-old twins or Sammy, their six-month-old vegetarian lion. "He eats our table scraps," James said. "It's exactly what we eat." "He's very healthy, and real active," John said. "The vegetarian diet makes him more pacific, easier to manage." Born in an Egyptian wildlife preserve, Sammy came to the Uhalts via a friend in Egypt who got him as a gift. The lion lives in two basement rooms of John's farmhouse, weighs 80 pounds now and will reach about 500 pounds in two years. He lets people pet him, and gets along well with other animals, especially dogs. "But house cats freak out when they see him," James said. "Though he's gentle, he recently gave some baby-tooth nips to some motorcyclists." "The bikers tried to take his tofu out of his bowl," James said. "You don't mess with him when he eats." "He's still a lion," John says, "and you've got to respect what he is."

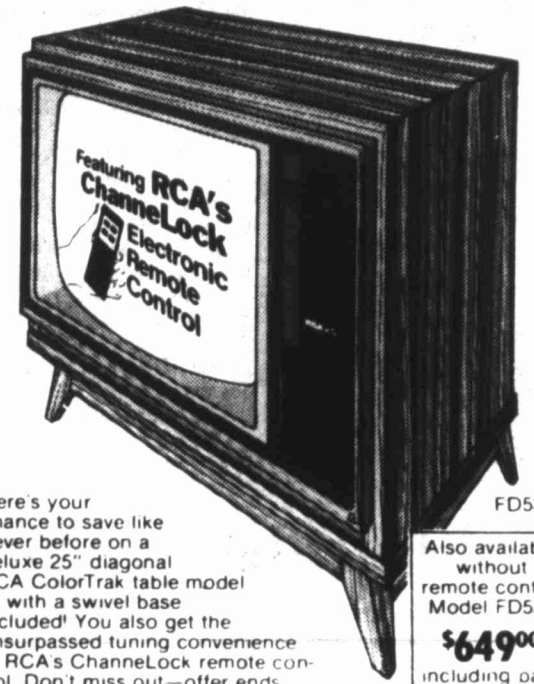

Credit union members discuss year's events

The annual membership meeting of Citizens Federal Credit Union was held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the credit union building on FM 700. Topics discussed during the meeting included the credit union's performance in 1979, the election results of 1980 officials, the recent expansion program that was completed at the credit union, and the tight money market currently being encountered by all financial institutions. Cal Lowry, president of the board of directors, gave a brief overview of the main events facing the credit union in 1979. He talked about the growth and development of the credit union during the year, as well as the expansion of services being provided to members. Among the services that were expanded in 1979 included the share certificate program, the addition of more parking spaces, and the construction of the modern drive-thru facility. Lowry commented on the tight money supply and thanked the members for their many letters to elected officials asking that they overturn a federal district judge ruling in 1979 that would make share drafts illegal. He brought them up-to-date on the current legislation concerning the share drafts and said that these results could be attributed to the "grass roots" letter writing campaign by credit union members throughout the country. Wade Choate, treasurer-general manager of the large credit union, discussed many of the financial developments at the credit union during the year. Areas where significant growth was noted was in the number of share draft accounts, the cash on deposit in the special dividend-earning share draft accounts, the money being invested in the share certificate program and Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA's), the dividends paid to members in 1979, and the number of members in the community who have joined the credit union since moving from the former Webb Air Force Base. Vaughn Martin, secretary of the supervisory committee, offered a report on the examinations performed at Citizens Federal in 1979. During the report, Martin said "all reports and evaluations resulting from these examinations and audits reflects favorably upon the credit union's board of directors, credit committee, management, and staff, and their ability to cope with the tight money supply in 1979 and the uncertain national economy in general." Ben Bancroft, a local attorney and chief election teler, announced that three board members and two credit committee members had been elected to fill the vacancies this year. The five individuals, who were re-elected to these posts, are Ralph Brooks, Wade Choate, and Cal D. Lowry on the board of directors, and Chester D. Urban and Nabar Martinez on the credit committee. Under the area of new business, Choate discussed a bill that was reported out of committees this week concerning the maximum amount credit unions could charge on loans.

Pastors know purpose

NEW YORK (AP) — Pastors seem to be more sure than lay people that God has given very clear, detailed rules that apply to everyone in making day-to-day decisions.

But two-thirds of the clergy doubt that, believing instead that "God has given us some general rules, but we have to decide how to apply them to our own situations."

Clergymen also were much less likely to classify various specified acts as "always wrong" such as "showing disrespect to parents, missing an appointment and not calling to apologize, smoking marijuana, working to overthrow the government."

It depends on the situation, the biggest share of pastors said, while most laity tended to make absolute condemnations.

A big proportion of both groups — laity and clergy — say they regularly spend some "quiet time" reflecting about their lives, many of them doing so nearly every day.

Those periods often include prayer, Bible reading or being outdoors, where most nearly all of the respondents report they have experienced "awe and wonder" at nature.

WEST BERLING, N.J. (AP) — A group of 169 Roman Catholic clergy and lay people has protested the Vatican's censure of a prominent theologian, the Rev. Hans Kung, and asked it to revoke its procedures.

They were "contrary to the whole spirit" of the Gospel and of reforms of the 1962-65 Second Vatican Council, said the appeal to Cardinal Franjo Seper, head of the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith.

Its action, demanding that Kung be stripped of his credentials as a Catholic theology professor at West Germany's Tubingen University, came without discussion with him and "without even minimal procedures of due process but in fact in the greatest of secrecy," the protest said.

Signers included housewives, office workers, professional and business people as well as clergy in the dioceses of Philadelphia and Trenton and Camden, N.J. Their spokesman, Dr. William Hopkins, a physician of West Berlin, N.J., said a broad resistance movement is developing in this country to the action against Kung.

Nureyev denied dance role

ROME (AP) — Rudolph Nureyev, invited to dance in Tchaikovsky's Swan Lake by the Rome Opera company, has suddenly been told nyet after the ballet's Soviet choreographer said he would not be allowed to work with the famed defector.

Not that choreographer Juri Grigorovic, on leave from the Bolshoi, would mind working with Nureyev in the April production. But Moscow authorities apparently would not tolerate it.

Opera director Luca di Schiena said Thursday he had invited Nureyev "without anticipating these complications."

Nureyev danced in the Rome Opera production of Giselle earlier this year and is scheduled to return to Rome for four more Giselle performances.

Song-writer back to work

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Johnny Mullins, the 56-year-old song-writing janitor whose "Blue Kentucky Girl" made the finals in the Grammy awards, is back behind his broom at Wilder Elementary School.

His song didn't win last week, but Emmylou Harris, who revived it, won top honors for female vocalist.

And Mullins left a cassette of his songs with her and was told she might include some on an upcoming album.

A janitor at the school for 23 years, Mullins has had 41 songs recorded, with seven hitting the charts and four making it into the top ten. He's hoping his trip to Hollywood for the Grammys may help him become a full-time song writer.

"Songwriting is my first love," he said. "But it would also be a sad day for me when I had to say goodbye to my kids." The students helped raise money to send him to the awards and gave him a hero's welcome when he got back.

Prince to present banner

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh and husband of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II, will visit the 1st battalion Royal Canadian Regiment and present a banner to the Duke of Edinburgh's company in London, Ontario, on May 30 and 31, Buckingham Palace has announced.

The prince is honorary colonel to the regiment.

DeBakey in good condition

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. Michael DeBakey, noted Houston heart surgeon, was reported in excellent condition after undergoing surgery at Methodist Hospital to drain a minor infection.

A hospital spokesman said doctors performed a 30-minute operation on the 71-year-old surgeon Thursday to drain sensitive tissues in the rectal area.

Doctors declined to say when DeBakey, chief of cardiovascular surgery at Methodist, would be released.

Screen star designs stamp

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Stage, screen and fashion star Gloria Swanson, now venturing into philately, has introduced her latest creation: An Earth-hurting-through-space design on a first-day cover for a stamp commemorating the 1976-85 U.N. Decade for Women.

"It seems I'm going to start a whole new life at 81," she said at a reception here Thursday.

She told the U.N. gathering that "This organization has a lot ahead of it because we need it today."

Ruth Gee takes over as store manager for Montgomery Wards

Ruth Gee was transferred to Big Spring, Feb. 15 to take over as store manager for Montgomery Wards.

"I'm going to love it here," she said. She was store manager of a Ward's outlet in Clovis, N.M., for five years. She moved here when past manager Talley Murphy was promoted to zone manager.

Mrs. Gee has been in the retail business for 25 years. She started with Ward's in the mail order department in Gainesville, Texas.

She was promoted there to accounting manager then to operating manager.

She was in charge of training in all branches of accounting and store manager.

She was transferred to Clovis in 1977.

daughter, who is married, in Dallas. Mrs. Gee grew up in the Panhandle and in Gainesville, north of Dallas. She trained in a business college in Chicago.

31 HC sophomores named to Who's Who

Thirty-one Howard College sophomores have been named to Who's Who Among American Junior Colleges. Terry Newman, dean of students, announced last week.

The students were selected by faculty and administrators on the basis of academics achievement, service to community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential.

Each faculty member and administrator was allowed to nominate up to 15 students. Students receiving the most nominations and having high academic standing were selected to have their names sent to the national Who's Who Among American Junior Colleges.

A student had to have sophomore standing to be nominated.

Here's where I am, God

Know why there are so many public phones in airports? Everybody has to let someone know where he is . . .

Yes, we are dependent on one another for all kinds of support: "Please pick me up" or "I'll meet you in an hour" or "I'm finished here and moving on" or "What are my new instructions?"

One of the truths our churches stress is that we are dependent on God for support. We need a quality of support that is far above that which we have come to expect from one another.

Next Sunday when you see people on their way to church remember why there are so many phones in airports. Millions of us pray to God . . . to let Him know just where we are . . . to ask His support in fulfilling our present mission . . . or discovering our next.

PROVIDED 'WHEELS' DURING HIS STAY HERE — Bob Brock (center), owner of the motor car firm bearing his name here, passes the keys to a new vehicle to a smiling Gary Collins, who is in Big Spring for the filming of the Sunn Classics movie, "Hangar 18." Collins has one of the most recognizable faces in the entertainment world because he currently is featured in TV ads for Lincoln-Mercury. Lincoln-Mercury suggested that Brock provide transportation for Collins during his stay in Big Spring. With the two is Dale Worthan, fleet manager for the Brock firm.

Fed loan program available for grain storage assistance

Farmers who need more grain or forage storage space may qualify for assistance under the Farm Facility Loan Program administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Tim Hall, Head of the Howard County ASCS Office, said today.

The program authorizes funds up to $50,000 for loans to farmers for the remodeling or building of structures such as steel bins, wooden granaries and wet storage facilities, Hall said.

He added loans are also available for building high moisture forage and silage storage space and solar grain drying systems.

The loans will be financed at 10.5 percent interest for up to eight years on annual installments.

Hall said an eligible borrower is any person who is a landowner, landlord, tenant or sharecropper and producer of one or more crops normally grown in the county for harvest as high moisture forage.

The structures haylage or silage may consist of upright permanent type construction or bunker type concrete silo structure, he added.

Structure size needed will be dependent on crops grown and acres planted or eligible to be planted for a two year period, Hall said.

Anyone interested in loans for grain or forage space structures should contact the Howard County ASCS office for further details. The ASCS office phone number is 267-2567.

Tower will open office in Lubbock

WASHINGTON — U.S. Sen. John Tower announced today he will open a regional office in Lubbock to serve West Texas and the Panhandle.

"The needs of the citizens of this vast and vital West Texas area can no longer be adequately served by state offices in Dallas, Austin and Houston," Tower said.

He added, "Opening an office in West Texas can give me better insights into the needs and concerns of the area and will give citizens there faster and easier access to their senator."

Tower said, "I hope these people will use the new office for help with federally related problems, to get information and to make their views known."

The senator chose Lubbock as the new regional office because of its central location, Tower emphasized that the Lubbock office director will travel throughout the area whenever that seems the best way to communicate with constituents.

The office is scheduled to open in June with a staff of two persons. The West Texas office will serve principally the Panhandle, South Plains, Permian Basin and the El Paso area.

Stevens posts $5,000 bail

Vance Bailey Stevens, Sterling City Route, was transferred to county jail Thursday where he was released on $5,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Bob West.

Stevens was charged in the office of Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin with criminal mischief for throwing a beer bottle through a plate glass window at the Sear's store, 403 Runnels, Wednesday. The thrown bottle resulted in $400 worth of damage.

$100,000 bail set by JP

Cedric Ray Jefferson, 313 NE 10th, is in custody of Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard today. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Bob West at $100,000.

He was arrested for rape Monday and transferred to county jail today. The charge was filed in the office of Justice of the Peace Bob West by Detective George Quintero.

'Gift of life' donors in February listed

A total of 23 donors gave the "gift of life" at the Big Spring Community Blood Center in February.

Donations were made at the blood center in the emergency room of Malone-Hogan Hospital. Although 154 blood units of blood were used in the community during the month, only 23 units were supplied locally.

"It is obvious that the community of Big Spring is not drawing its blood needs. Other communities are meeting this area's blood needs. This cannot continue or the results could be fatal," said blood center officials.

Donors deferred were James McFarland and Patricia McNary.

Those who gave the "gift of life" in February were: Nicky Clark, Joy Decker, Effie Montgomery, Kathie Sullivan, Clarence Palmer, Joe Allen, W.P. Odom, Charley Upton, Royce Cox, Shirley McAllen, Curtis Arceneaux, Bernard Gully, Wally Slate, Pepper Sullivan, Josephine Bradley, Ethelene Montgomery, Rebecca Rodriguez, E.C. Bell, Maria Bridges, Stan Brosign, Gilbert Turner, Calvin Hughes, and Donna Love.

Amarillo 73, Cisco 69

The Amarillo College Lady Badgers rallied in the final half to escape with a pulsating 73-69 win over the Cisco Junior College Wranglers in the first round of the Region V Women's Tournament here Thursday night in Garrett Coliseum.

The win boosts the Lady Badgers record to 20-9 and moves them into a semifinal berth against the Odessa College team. That game is set for a 6:00 p.m. tipoff tonight in Garrett Coliseum.

The game was in doubt until two seconds remained, when AC's Jessica Wiley connected on two free throws to ice the game for the Lady Badgers.

Cisco, behind the outstanding inside play of Valencia Douglas and the shooting of Janet Dowell and Mitzi Henderson, had taken an early 11-point lead in the contest at 24-13.

Amarillo, led by Western Conference MVP Olivia Jones, narrowed the Cisco lead to 45-37 at halftime.

But Cisco was in foul trouble by the half, and it showed in the early stages of the second half, as Wranglers Coach Tommy Collins acknowledged: "Our big threats inside all had three fouls entering the second half, and they got too tight in the way they played, which allowed Amarillo to quickly get back into it."

AC knotted the score at 49 with 15:58 remaining, and the teams traded narrow leads throughout the remainder of the contest.

Cisco was further hurt in the contest down the stretch by some very questionable calls that changed the complexion of the contest on three occasions. Collins, as was this writer and many of the spectators, was stunned by a few of the rulings: "I can accept a loss," said Collins, "but not when it happens like that. What makes it really hurt was that we were playing for the marbles, and some calls like that had to happen."

But Cisco still had a chance to win, as Douglas' short jumper gave the Wranglers a 68-67 lead with 2:03 remaining.

But Jones quickly gave Amarillo back the lead on a short hook, with Douglas knotting the score at 69-69 with just over a minute left on a free throw.

But the near unstoppable Jones copped a field goal with 50 seconds left to give AC the lead for good at 71-69.

After an exchange of possession, Cisco called time out with 25 seconds remaining. The Wranglers tried to work the ball for an inside shot, but AC's Wiley intercepted an errant Cisco pass with six seconds remaining and was fouled four seconds later.

"Our strategy," explained Collins, "was that we were going to try to go inside until six seconds remained. If we didn't get it inside, our outside shooters were supposed to go ahead and take the shot. It's my fault, as I didn't explain myself well enough to my team."

Wiley then made her final two free throws to insure Amarillo a berth in the semifinals.

Amarillo and Odessa are no strangers to each other, as they have split their two games with each other this year.

Douglas scored 29 points to pace the Cisco team, with Dowell adding 18. But Cisco was hurt by their inability to make free throws, connecting on only three of 12 attempts.

Jones scored 27 points despite playing with four fouls the final eight minutes, and missing nine minutes in the game while on the bench. Wiley added 16. Amarillo actually won the game at the free throw line, connecting on 17 of 27 attempts.

AMARILLO (73) — Cobb 50-10; Fowler 10-2; Robinson 2-3; Wiley 5-4-16; Dean 2-1-3; Jones 10-7-27; Smith 2-0-4; Arterburn 1-0-2; TOTALS 28-17-73.
CISCO (69) — Sartain 1-0-2; Stevenson 1-0-2; Winters 2-0-4; Dowell 9-0-18; Henderson 6-2-14; Douglas 14-1-29; TOTALS 33-34-69.
Halftime Score: Cisco 45, Amarillo 37.

HAWK QUEEN FAST BREAK — Howard College's Kelly Lyons (24) races toward the bucket following a defensive steal in first half action of the Hawk Queens 83-54 win over South Plains in the first round of the Region V Women's Tournament here Thursday night. Lyons reversed hands in mid-air later on the play to score. Action continues tonight and tomorrow afternoon. Tonight's semifinal round finds Amarillo playing Odessa at 6:00 p.m., while the Hawk Queens meet Weatherford at 8:00 p.m. Tonight's winners advance into tomorrow afternoon's championship game at two o'clock. Meet Weatherford tonight in semifinals Queens bury South Plains

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

The Howard College Hawk Queens started their quest for the Region V Women's title in impressive fashion here Thursday night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, as they totally dominated the South Plains Texans in taking an 83-54 victory.

The Queens were never challenged in the contest, as an early stifling defense by Coach Don Stevens team quickly dispelled any upset ideas of the Texans.

The win puts the Queens into tonight's semifinals against Weatherford, 97-89 overtime victor over Western Texas. That game will begin at 8:00 p.m.

The Queens shut out the Texans for over five minutes, as the first South Plains bucket, by Lynette Joiner, didn't come until 14:47 remained in the first half. By this time, the Queens had scored eight points.

Weatherford 97, WTC 89 (ot)

The Weatherford College Coyotes defeated the Western Texas College Dusterettes by a score of 97-89 in overtime in a record-setting marathon contest played Thursday afternoon in the first round of the Region V Tournament here in Garrett Coliseum.

Needless to say, the game was a closely called affair, as a total of 80 fouls were called in the overtime contest that lasted two hours and 20 minutes.

Western Texas was whistled for 47 infractions, while Weatherford was called for 33 fouls in the contest.

Weatherford only connected on 50 percent of their free throws in the contest, but that 29 of 58 performance outdid the 17 of 32 attempt that WTC managed at the charity stripe.

The two teams made history in the Region V Women's Tournament record book for their scoring output. Weatherford eclipsed their own single game record of 92, set in 1975. The two teams also combined to break the single game scoring record for two teams by totaling 186 points. This broke the one-year-old mark set last year of 163 points in Weatherford's loss to McLennan.

Western Texas, behind the sharp-shooting of Katie Fisher and Linda Holubec, jumped out to a 43-36 lead at the half.

But Lynette Johnston led a Weatherford comeback that had the score knotted at 81-81 at the end of regulation.

Weatherford then quickly gained the upper hand in the overtime period, as the Coyotes jumped out to a 91-82 lead in the first two minutes of the extra period.

Weatherford will now meet the Howard College Hawk Queens, who defeated South Plains 83-54. The Weatherford-Howard College semis tilt is slated for an 8:00 p.m. tipoff tonight in Garrett Coliseum.

Johnston paced the winning Weatherford team with 30 points, while Pam Jackson added 18 and Margaret Lundy 14. Fisher and Holubec each had 18 points for the Westerners. ~~Shari Test~~ added 14 and Bonnie Bludworth, a freshman from Stanton, contributed 13.

WTC thus ended their season with a mark of 25-10.

WEATHERFORD (97) — Christian 1-5-7; Tucker 0-1-1; Johnston 11-8-30; Carter 3-3-7; Lundy 6-2-14; Andrews 4-8-8; Baker 1-2-4; Jackson 6-4-18; Finch 3-2-8; TOTALS 34-29-97.

WESTERN TEXAS (89) — Hooper 2-0-4; Holubec 8-2-18; Gregg 2-5-9; Piagens 3-0-4; Ray 1-1-3; Fisher 9-0-18; Peden 1-1-3; Anderson 0-1-1; Bludworth 6-1-13; Teal 4-4-14; TOTALS 36-17-89.

Halftime Score: Western Texas 43, Weatherford 36.
Regulation Score: Western Texas 81, Weatherford 81.

Odessa 79, McLennan 61

The Odessa College Lady Wranglers put on a free throw shooting lesson in taking a 79-61 win over the McLennan Community College Lassies in the first game of the Region V Tournament here Thursday afternoon in Garrett Coliseum.

The Lady Wranglers connected on all 15 of their free throw shooting attempts to hold off the McLennan crew. The Lassies, meanwhile, could hit on only 11 of 24 from the free throw line.

The Odessa women led from the early stages of the game, and although they never had more than a 20-point lead, the Lady Wranglers were never threatened.

Laura Smith and Carolyn Burnam led OC to a 35-25 halftime lead, and the Lady Wranglers, with scoring help from Jackie Skinner, gradually increased that margin in the final half.

The win propels the OC women into tonight's semifinal game against Amarillo, a 73-69 winner over Cisco. That contest is set for a 6:00 p.m. tipoff.

Smith, an All-WJC first team selection, led all scorers in the contest with 20 points. Burnam added 18 and Skinner 15 for the Lady Wranglers.

Pam Green led the McLennan Lassies with 18 points, while Jan Wilkes added 15 and six-foot-three DeAnna Kroll contributed 14.

The Odessa women will take a record of 21-6 into the contest.

ODESSA (79) — Smith 7-6-20; Burnam 8-2-18; Wallace 1-0-2; Skinner 7-1-15; Wells 3-4-10; Dykes 1-0-2; Simmons 5-2-12; TOTALS 32-15-79.

Steers crunch Lamesa

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers baseball team exploded for seven runs in the fifth inning to claim their first win of the young season here Thursday afternoon in Steer Park.

It was also a special win to Big Spring Coach Howell Martin, as it was the initial triumph for the first year Steer mentor.

The Steers wasted no time in establishing a lead in the contest that they would never relinquish. In the bottom of the first, leadoff hitter Mark Warren walked and stole second. After Dickie Wright sacrificed him to third and Rusty Hayworth struck out, Tim Shaver delivered a hit to left to score Warren. The ball went through the Lamesa left fielder's legs, and Shaver circled the bases to give the Bovines a 2-0 lead.

Lamesa scored a run in the second on four walks by Big Spring hurler Brad Piles, who had control troubles in his four and one-third inning stint.

Shaver tripled in the third and scored on a sacrifice fly by Lupe Ontiveros to give the Steers a 3-1 lead.

Kansas State whips Arkansas in NCAA playoffs

By the Associated Press
At 7-foot-2, Tom Dore is the tallest player ever to wear a Missouri uniform. And the big senior rose to the occasion Thursday night with a freshman sensation Steve Stipanovich, Missouri's starting center, suffering from an upset stomach complicated by four first-half fouls.

With the 16th-ranked Tigers trailing upset-minded San Jose State 30-23 at halftime of a first-round game in the NCAA Midwest regionals, the 6-11 Stipanovich remained in the dressing room and gave way to Dore, who promptly gave San Jose a king-sized headache.

The big guy scored 11 points and blocked five shots as Missouri, the highest ranking team in action on the tourney's opening night, roared from behind and prevented an embarrassing upset by pulling out a 61-51 victory over a team making its first postseason appearance in 29 years.

Eight games were played Thursday, one doubleheader in each of the four regions. In the Midwest opener, Kansas State thrashed Arkansas 71-53. On Saturday, Missouri meets ninth-ranked Notre Dame while Kansas State faces second-ranked Louisville.

The West regional at Ogden, Utah, produced a pair of thrillers but 17th-ranked Weber State, playing on its home court, became the first member of The Associated Press Top Twenty to be bumped from the 48-team tournament.

Rolando Blackman scored 15 points to lead a balanced Kansas State attack against Arkansas. The Wildcats led throughout — they held Scott Hastings, Arkansas' leading scorer, without a point in the first half — and broke it open with a 17-4 spurt that began with 13½ minutes left.

"I've never had a team play as bad as we did tonight," said Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton.

Lamar's Mike Olliver scored 37 points and the Cardinals needed every one of them to outlast Weber State. With Bruce Collins taking charge, the Wildcats roared back in the final five minutes while Lamar suddenly went cold.

But Weber ran out of time before a frenzied home crowd, Collins scoring the final basket with only three seconds remaining. That gave him 24 of his 32 points in the second half but it just wasn't enough to prevent the end of Weber's 24-game home winning streak.

WTC whips Midland for Region V title

MIDLAND — The Western Texas College Westerners continued their dominance of the Region V Men's Tournament in taking a 101-80 win over the Midland College Chaparrals here Thursday night.

Greg Stewart and Bill Patterson were the spark-plugs in the WTC attack, as the pair combined for 55 points in the win that clinches yet another Region V title.

WTC entered the game as the number one juco team in the nation with a perfect record of 32-0, and did nothing to tarnish that image.

The Westerners, behind 30 points from Stewart and Patterson, jumped out to a 49-0 lead at the half.

The two teams exchanged buckets in the early going in the second half, but Patterson scored six straight points and WTC took complete control of the contest.

Stewart, who had been on the bench for part of the second half, returned to play just under eight minutes to play and added eight quick points to give the Westerners a 21-point lead and ice the Region V title.

WTC was again led on the floor by the crisp play of Paul Pressey, who earned the Region V Tournament MVP for the second straight year. The 6'5" sophomore from Richmond, Virginia, scored only 11 points before fouling out with 3:06 remaining, but his damage had already been done.

Stewart had 28 and Patterson 27 for the Westerners, with Phil Spradling adding 18.

Midland, who finished the season with an outstanding mark of 27-6, was led by All-Region performer Robert Tate, who had 18 points. Four of Midland's six losses came at the hands of the powerful WTC team.

SHOOTING ORDERS — Cisco College Coach Tommy Collins shouts instructions to his Wranglers basketball team during their heartbreaking 73-69 loss to Amarillo during the first round of the Region V Women's Tournament here Thursday night at Garrett Coliseum.

Collins was the basketball and baseball coach at Big Spring High School before accepting the men's and women's coaching position at Cisco in August. Action in the tournament continues tonight.

Snyder rallies to win in state tournament

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Snyder Tigers — outshot and outbounced for much of the game — used near-perfect late free throw shooting to whittle away Waxahachie's 13-point lead and take a 65-62 win in the Class 3A boys' basketball semifinals.

Snyder will face Beaumont Hebert, a 69-57 winner over Bay City in Thursday's other semifinal, in Saturday's 3A title game.

Tiger senior Mark Preston, top scorer with 18, connected on 10 of 11 free throws down the stretch as Snyder, northwest of Abilene, hit 18 of 20 in out-scoring Waxahachie 29-13 in the fourth quarter.

In Class 2A semifinals, Abernathy used a last-second shot to take a 58-57 win over previously unbeaten Coleman, and Boling beat Columbus 56-53.

Defending Class B champ Snook rolled over Goree 56-38 and moved to the finals against Petty West Lamar, a 53-50 winner over Nazareth.

Waxahachie, now 32-4, used a 10-point second quarter spurt to build a 34-23 lead. The Indians, behind Ken Cox' strong inside game, ran to a 17-point lead with 2:35 to go in the third period.

But Snyder scrapped back into the lead at 57-55 when Eric Arnold stole an in-bounds pass and scored.

The lead see-sawed until Thomas Selmon hit two free throws with 18 seconds to play to put Snyder up to stay at 63-62.

Arnold had 14 points for the winners. Cox led the Indians with 18. Vance Hughes added 14 points and 11 rebounds, but fouled out with 2:58 to play and the score tied.

Hebert, 34-2, ran away from Bay City, 27-9, with 10 straight points to open the second half. The Beaumont team led by two after a sloppy first half. The Panthers built the lead behind muscular 6-6 postman Randy Samuels' 17 points, nine rebounds and five blocked shots.

Todd Chambers led Bay City with 28.

Coleman's perfect season — 32-0, coming into the tournament — ended when Abernathy's Joey Garcia banked in a shot with one second on the clock.

Allan Davis' free throw gave Coleman a 57-56 lead with eight seconds to go. After a timeout, Abernathy's Scott Morrison dribbled down the floor and tossed the game-winner.

UTEP defense stuns Shockers

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Texas-El Paso had just flourished through its worst shooting night of the season. So why was Coach Don Haskins beaming?

Haskins' fabled man-to-man defense muted Wichita State Thursday night and the Miners outbounced the taller Shockers to forge a 58-56 first-round victory in the National Invitational Tournament.

"I always feel you're playing pretty good fundamentally when you shoot only 34 percent from the field and win," Haskins said.

But at the free throw line down the stretch, UTEP was perfect, hitting eight of eight pressure-packed tosses.

The last two came from UTEP's 6-foot-9 center, Terry White, who walked to the line with 19 seconds remaining and the game deadlocked at 56-56.

Bliss accepts SMU post

DALLAS (AP) — Flashy dressing, 36-year-old Dave Bliss, twice the Big 8 Conference coach of the year, signed a five-year contract Friday to bring the Southern Methodist program back to respectability.

Terms of Bliss' contract with the Mustangs were not announced at a midmorning news conference, but he was believed to have accepted a $40,000-a-year contract.

Bliss, a former assistant under Bobby Knight at Indiana, had three years remaining on his contract with Oklahoma when he announced Thursday that he was leaving for the Southwest Conference school.

Alcorn finally in playoffs

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Alcorn State, which has the most colorful nicknames and the longest winning streak in the nation, makes history tonight as the first predominantly black school to participate in the NCAA basketball playoffs.

The champions of the Southwestern Athletic Conference have won 26 consecutive games since the Braves lost to Mississippi State in their second game of the year.

Alcorn State takes its 27-1 record against South Alabama (23-5) of the Sun

Belt Conference in the first game of the NCAA Midwest Regional and Texas A&M (24-7) meets Bradley (23-9) in the nightcap.

Bradley, champions of the Missouri Valley Conference, was a six-point underdog to the Aggies, who swept through the Southwest Conference in regular season and post-season play.

Bradley had not had a winning season since 1975 before Coach Dick Versace put it all together as the Braves won 18 of their last 21 games.

The Sighted Need Insight

DEAR ABBY: I'm happily married and the mother of three. My problem is my mother. She is 68 and blind. She started losing her sight 10 years ago, and became totally blind two years ago. Since that time she has been depressed, and says there is no reason to live if you can't see.

My father is living, but he's no help at all. He has been uncommunicative, withdrawn and sullen ever since I can remember. His relationship with mother appears to be based on mutual repugnance. He collects trash and "treasures," which he places all over the house. Even a sighted person would have trouble getting around that house.

I am afraid mother might be suicidal, and as an only child I feel responsible. All she cares about is her grandchildren. She won't leave the house, and she falls and bumps into everything there.

I know that lots of blind people lead happy, fulfilled lives. How can I help my mother overcome her depression about her blindness?

My parents have plenty of money to pay for any kind of treatment or counseling. What can I do to help?

We live in the same town and I have more than enough time to spend with her. Tell me, please...

WHAT TO DO

DEAR WHAT: Both your parents, particularly your mother, need professional help. Your mother must learn how to live with her disability. Call the Braille Institute and ask for suggestions. If there is none in your area, inquire at your Family Service Association. Don't give up. Sighted people can learn to accept their limitations and live productive, happy lives. Write again, and let me know if you are making progress. I care.

DEAR ABBY: My husband (a physician) hired a new office assistant who is active in a theater group. She insisted that we attend a play in which she was appearing. She even gave us free tickets. The play was "Equus."

We went. Halfway through the play, this girl took most of her clothes off! I was mortified.

Now I feel uncomfortable when I see her in the office. I am also suspicious about her motives. Her next appearance was in "Godspell." We received no invitation or free tickets to that one.

What do you think?

DOCTOR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Give the girl the benefit of the doubt. If she just wanted your husband to see her with her clothes off, she would have booked herself for a physical.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BETTY IN BUFFALO": If you want to please your man, (and you insist that you do) dress the way he wants you to, and throw all the fashion magazines in the trash can.

If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR THE ONE WHO ASKS: 'Send me a card, stamped (25 cents) self-addressed envelope, to ABBY; letters booklet: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212."

Should 14-year-old mother keep baby?

By Robert Wallace, Ed D

Dr. Wallace: I'm 14 and pregnant. The father, 16, says that he loves me and will marry me when he graduates from high school. He wants me to keep the baby.

I'm going to have the baby but I don't know if I should give it up for adoption or keep it and get married. — M.C., Astoria, Ore.

M.C.: Only you can make that decision. The only question I would ask you is, "How would you feel if you kept the baby and the father didn't marry you?"

I would include your parents in any decision that you will be making.

Dr. Wallace: This morning my mom went through my purse and found a pack of cigarettes and a bottle of beer. (I don't smoke or drink).

My brother and I got into a fight last night and I know he "planted" the stuff in my purse and told my mom.

Now I'm in big trouble. Help! — Tonya, Marshall, Texas

Tonya: I'm amazed at the number of parents who will believe anyone who complains about their teen. Surely your mother knows that you don't smoke or drink.

Tell Mom that you do not smoke or drink, that the "goodies" in your purse are not yours and that you believe your brother was the villain!

Dr. Wallace: I'm a boy and I have a male cousin who is two years older than I. Whenever we are together, he makes advances toward me. At first, I thought that he was joking but he is serious. I can't tell my parents because my dad would kill him.

I don't know what to do because our parents are very close. I can't talk to anyone in town because our town is very small. Help. I hate going to his house. — Nameless, Willows, Calif.

Nameless: If you have talked with your cousin and he still makes advances, you must share the problem with your parents.

You should not have to be subjected to such treatment.

Since your parents are close to his, I doubt that your father would take matters into his own hands and do something foolish.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Altrusans review objectives of Mamie Bass Service Award

The Altrusa Club of Big Spring met Feb. 28 at noon in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn.

Members welcomed back Marianne Gilbert and Udonia Bass. Both had been ill.

Pat Highley, Altrusa information chairman, introduced Marguerette Wooten who spoke on the Mamie L. Bass Service Award.

The award was authorized by the International Executive Committee in July, 1963 as a memorial to the first national president of Altrusa.

The objective is to stimulate interest in developing action programs in the community that fall within the scope of Altrusa's programs of service; to encourage members of local clubs to participate actively in service projects designed to meet specific local needs; and to recognize outstanding club achievement in service to the community.

Every Altrusa Club is eligible to nominate one currently sponsored project each year of the biennium. Service projects should be in the area of community service, international relations, vocational services or a combination thereof.

The international program coordinator coordinates the judging activities with the international president, governor and three committee members appointed by the governor. These entries must be forwarded to the international program coordinator on or before June 1. Mrs. Wooten concluded.

The initiation of Edith Foster was conducted by Mrs. Highley and Gertrude McCann. Mamie Roberts presented the new member with her Altrusa pin.

Altrusa members will sell chocolate Easter rabbits as a money making project for the Easter Seals Society.

Mrs. Highley announced that she would deliver the rabbits which are selling for $2.50 each. For more information call 267-8345.

The next meeting will be March 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn. This will not be a dinner meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Special guests will be District IX Governor Virginia Norris of Sherman.

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"Not too rough with them right after dinner."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 8, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are eager to force some issues that had best be left at peace for the moment. Delays which occur now give you a chance to perfect whatever ideas you have so you can later utilize them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You want to make some changes or be off on a trip, which is fine so long as you care and tact. Be alert to a new philosophy of life.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Handle any responsibilities well that you have assumed and keep promises meticulously. Show that you are active, dynamic.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you push associate less, you gain more cooperation from this person. Civic work seems difficult now, so handle only what is necessary.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You need to handle much work, so get an early start and do a fantastic job. Be encouraging with co-workers and gain support.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Concentrate on furthering and deepening relationships that have brought you much joy in the past. Do favors for those of whom you are most fond.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to be tactful with those who live with you and have more happiness at home. Try to help them more. Not a good time for entertaining.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have to use patience with partners and ease a tense situation. Be very careful in driving, especially on the highways. Be more affectionate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Curb that temptation to spend too much today and maintain present security. Listen to what monetary experts have to suggest for advancement.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Analyze some situation very cleverly and say little until you come up with the right answers. Avoid the social until tomorrow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Decide what you want but be sure your reasons are sound before you make plans. Take care of odds and ends around the house.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Friends are vital to your welfare, but keep only those who will not upset you in any way, or the structure of your life.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Show you are a good citizen and do nothing to spoil your good reputation. Use particular care where your credit is concerned.

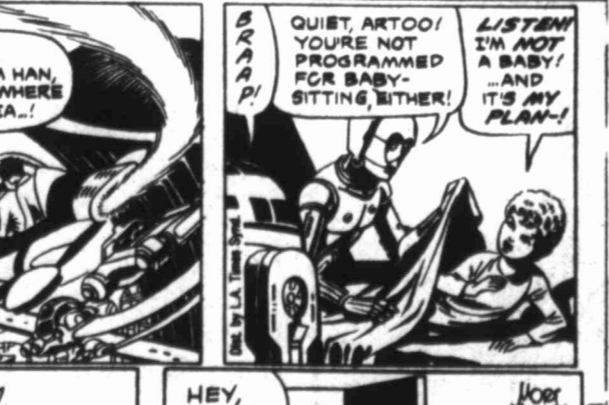

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will easily understand philosophies and ways of life far different from those to which born and reared. Be sure to add foreign languages to the school career and slant education along lines of imports and exports. Some connection with government, teaching.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Steers crunch

 narrow the Steer lead to 3-2. The Golden Tors would have also scored at least one more run, but a nifty catch and tag by Big Spring third baseman Hayworth helped squelch the Lamesa threat.

After Files surrendered two hits in the fifth, Warren made his pitching debut to halt the Lamesa hitters.

Tommy Olague started the big Steer fifth inning with a single. Ontiveros then doubled to score Olague, and Tommy Rodriguez followed by receiving a free pass to first.

Warren then tripled to score two more runs and give the Steers a 6-2 lead. Wrightsil then reached base on a hard hit ball that the Lamesa second baseman couldn't control, and Warren continued his torrid afternoon by singling to plate Wrightsil, and later came around to score.

Warren pitched the final two innings, allowing one run and gaining the save, while Files was credited with the win.

Lamesa starter Eddie Arredondo, who exited in the fourth inning, was handed the defeat, although the Bovines pelted Golden Tor Jimmy Whitley in the big fifth inning.

The win gives the Steers a season record of 1-2. They will travel to Lubbock Coronado tomorrow afternoon for a doubleheader, and then return home on Monday to face the same Coronado team.

Moe Rubio and Wayne Shipman will hurl for the Bovines tomorrow, with Rodriguez and Robert Moran ready for relief out of the bullpen.

Queens bury South Plains

 South Plains then hung tough for a few minutes, rallying to narrow the margin to 16-12. But Susan Martin spearheaded a Howard College burst by scoring six of 10 unanswered points to give the Queens a 26-12 lead with just under nine minutes left in the first half.

A balanced attack again was an asset for the Queens, and Kelly Lyons and Shawn Smith controlled the backboards as the Howard College women increased their advantage to a lopsided 44-20 at the intermission.

The margin was increased to 52-26 in the first five minutes of the second half, but Stevens emptied the bench at this point to stop the onslaught. This also allowed him to rest his regulars, as it is very possible that the Queens will have to play two games within a span 16 hours in Friday night's semifinals and Saturday's championship contest.

10 different Queens scored in the contest, with Martin and Smith leading the way with 16 points each. Joanne Lefridge and Robbie Freeman contributed 10 points each.

South Plains never quit, thanks mainly to the scoring of Joiner and Linda Vaughn, who canned 20 and 18 points, respectively.

The win gives the Hawk Queens a season record of 25-7.

An oddity in the game was in the amount of personal fouls called. The Queens were whistled for seven fouls and South Plains for 15. This was the same officiating crew that called a total of 80 fouls in the Weatherford win over Western Texas.

Baseball compensation issue has owners demanding change

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Baseball club owners greeted their players' sword-rattling strike threat with a soft-soap approach Thursday and said they could see no reason for a walkout.

The players had their inning Tuesday when the Players Association's executive board asked the rank and file for authorization to call a strike on or after April 1 if a new collective bargaining agreement isn't reached.

The season is scheduled to open April 9. Both Ray Grebey, chief negotiator for the owners, and Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said they see no reason for a strike and believe an agreement can be reached.

Grebey held a meeting with the owners' player relations committee Thursday, which was attended by Kuhn. Both took a low-key response to the strike threat, insisting there was no crisis or emergency at this point in the 17-week-old negotiations.

Both agreed, however, that the free agent compensation problem was the thorniest issue in the 24 negotiating sessions held. The owners demand a change in the system that now gives them an amateur draft pick for losing a player in the re-entry draft.

"It is the most serious issue on the table," Kuhn said.

Grebey explained the owners' proposal on the re-entry draft. It was long and complex, but the bottom line is that the owners want to protect 15 players and then allow a team losing a top-ranking free agent to pick any player from those on the 40-man roster left unprotected.

"We're not seeking to eliminate the free agent draft," said Grebey. "We're not seeking a rule similar to football or basketball or hockey. We are seeking (more compensation) rights."

Stabler-Dante swap mentioned

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers will neither confirm nor deny a reported potential deal that would send quarterback Dan Pastorini to the Oakland Raiders for quarterback Ken Stabler.

The Houston Post reported today a source close to the Raiders has said such a trade is "somewhere between possible and probable."

"All I can say is we have nothing to say," said Pat Pepler, assistant general manager.

"I don't know how you can discuss something like this until it's done."

Pastorini was unavailable for comment.

West Texans in 40 finals

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — A repeat champion is assured in today's finals of the Life Begins at Forty golf tournament.

A pair of West Texans — Jack Williams of Plainview and Roy L. Peden of Kermit — turned in 2-under-par performances Thursday for semi-final victories and were paired in today's 1:15 championship match.

Peden won the LBA 40 title in 1976 and Williams captured it in 1977.
