House committee okays new budget package

WASHINGTON (AP) — House budget-writers, chopping $16.5 billion from President Carter's original 1981 budget, are recommending that the full House approve the first balanced federal budget in 12 years.

The House Budget Committee approved the package late Thursday night on an 18-6 vote that pitted Republicans and moderate Democrats against liberal Democrats who were upset with cuts in social programs.

Although Carter called last week for a balanced budget, the president has yet to submit a revised version of his 1981 spending plan. The budget he proposed in January called for a $15.8 billion deficit.

Buoyed by the unusual show of Republican support, Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., committee chairman, said Thursday he hopes to bring the budget to the House floor next week.

The committee-backed 1981 budget, covering the fiscal year starting Oct. 1, recommends $611.8 billion in spending, $613.8 billion in revenues and a $2 billion surplus.

The proposed budget calls for sharp cuts in many social programs, including urban aid and jobs programs. It also calls for a $1.4 billion cut in Carter's proposed level of defense spending and an end to Saturday mail deliveries.

The Carter administration has voiced general support for the cuts, many of which also were endorsed by congressional leaders in meetings earlier this month.

Several liberal Democrats charged that the committee balanced the budget largely at the expense of the poor while demanding little sacrifice from the wealthy.

Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., complained that the committee was willing to make "painful spending cuts" in social programs but was unwilling to make "painful cuts" in tax breaks for the rich.

Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, one of the panel's two black members, said the proposed budget made him "ashamed of the Democratic Party." He vowed that all 17 members of the Congressional Black Caucus would oppose the package.

Giaimo assured Republican support for the budget when he and other Democrats supported a GOP plan to earmark the $10.3 billion from Carter's import fee on gasoline for a $20 billion "productivity" tax cut, to take effect Jan. 1, 1981.

Republicans described the tax cut as likely to permit businesses to more quickly write off the cost of new buildings and machinery. But Giaimo said the money could also be used to defer scheduled Social Security tax increases.

In its final hours of debate Thursday, the committee agreed to restore $100 million for aid to workers hurt by foreign competition and $50 million for training the handicapped.

However, with those two exceptions, the panel turned back every effort to increase spending and even cut more deeply than its chairman recommended. Giaimo had proposed $15.9 billion in cuts.

On a 12-12 vote, the committee defeated a liberal-backed move to add $500 million to aid cities particularly hard hit by the panel's proposed end of the $1.7 billion federal revenue sharing program for states.

In addition, the panel urged an end to the $1 billion program of anti-recession aid to cities.

The committee also voted to cut all

$200 million that had been included for government furniture as a protest against the storing of millions of dollars in usable furniture in government warehouses.

In addition, the panel recommended a $200 million increase in airport fees for private planes and a $150 million boost in fees for Coast Guard services.

The panel recommended saving $836 million by ending Saturday mail deliveries and reducing subsidies for bulk mail. But the vote does not necessarily mean Saturday mail deliveries will end. The U.S. Postal Service could raise rates or make other cuts.

Meanwhile, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul A. Volcker told the congressional Joint Economic Committee that tax cuts would be in order in the future, but not now. Instead, he urged budget austerity and continued monetary restraint.

Council candidates offer solutions

City's fiscal problems debated

By STEVE HERSHBERGER

The city of Big Spring may have an impossible job of balancing its budget by the start of the new fiscal year on Oct. 1, Mayor Candidate Bill Henkel told a crowd of about 75 people gathered at the Eagle Forum's "Meet the Candidates" Night Thursday.

"At the rate we are spending," Henkel said, "the city could be $250,000 in the red by the end of the year."

Henkel, who presently serves on the city council, said spending brakes are needed to be applied. He listed several cutbacks for the next fiscal year.

Use of city cars, the mayoral candidate said, should be limited to only the city manager, police chief and fire chief.

"We may have to eliminate some garbage pickup," Henkel said, adding that special pickups may have to be all but canceled.

Henkel also said the mileage police put in their cars will have to be decreased.

Place 2 Council candidate Jack Watkins said the fiscal condition of the city was dire, using the term "sick." He added that the fiscal condition of the city had been deteriorating for several years.

Watkins said he, Place 1 candidate Pat Githens, City Councilman Jack Y. Smith met with City Manager Don Davis and a representative from the auditing firm that reviewed the city's books.

"I think they (city management) know where they are now," Watkins said, explaining the city as of its last audit had current liabilities of $475,000 and a cash balance of only $31,000.

In the meeting, Watkins said, "The auditor told them (city officials) they were broke."

The Place 2 candidate said, "We need to turn this around by better controls."

Watkins said the fiscal woes of the city were coming from small things that are just adding up.

The city, Watkins estimated, is losing $25,000 to $40,000 by not charging minimum levies for sewer and water in each residential unit. Watkins pointed out that there was one residential complex with 96 units and only one meter. City policy, Watkins added, has it that a minimum charge should be on each of the units.

The Place 2 candidate added, "Sixty vehicles are being used in addition to what is actually needed." Watkins said the city could save some $18,000 by cutting back the use of these city vehicles.

"These things are all over the place down here," Watkins said.

Place 1 council candidate Pat Githens said the city began internal borrowing from various funds several years ago.

"The cushion we have had in these funds is gone," Githens said.

He added that city departments overspent this year by 50 percent.

Githens suggested that budget limitations be placed on each city department. If any additional funds are needed by a department, Githens added, then the department should come and gain council approval.

Githens said of city vehicles, "Many (city personnel) are driving vehicles for personal use." The Place 1 candidate said he feels a motor pool fashioned along military lines and in-house mechanics could prove to be a savings.

The Place 1 candidate also favors restructuring the departments at city hall.

The gloomy fiscal news brought the candidates to commenting on a possible tax increase.

Watkins said, "I don't foresee a tax increase." He mentioned that he is a member of the Howard County Tax Appraisal Board.

A total of $2.6 million has been added to tax rolls, Watkins said of the current mapping being done by the Chief County Appraiser. He added that this additional assessed valuation will mean about $40,000 more in taxes for the city.

"There is plenty more to come," Watkins added.

Mayor candidate Jerry Higgins said that a tax increase is about a year away. This, he said, will be due to inflation and the need for the city to have more income.

Githens said that with inflation and rising energy prices, the city may be looking at a tax increase in a couple of years.

He emphasized that a tax increase could be forestalled by fiscal belt tightening by the new city council.

Henkel said that depending on several factors the city may have to increase taxes in 1982.

The issue of crime drew several varied reactions from the candidates.

Mayor candidate Clyde Angel said, "I think there is no question we have a crime problem. I don't know if there is any pat answer."

Githens said, "We definitely have a crime problem."

He added, "The major problem with vandalism is juvenile."

Githens suggested the city try a plan currently being tried in Fort Worth. The plan entails neighborhood volunteers patrolling their residential area.

"I think we'll have to do that," Githens said. "It (vandalism) is obviously out of hand."

The "Meet the Candidate" forum was held at the Chamber of Commerce Conference Room. Attending were Clyde Angel, Bill Henkel and Jerry Higgins, all mayoral candidates; Pat Githens, Place 1 candidate; and Jack Watkins, Place 2 contestant. Hal Boyd was in Austin and submitted a letter outlining his candidacy.

HOOPER SANDERS JR.

JACK REDDING

Hooper Sanders named new TESCO director

Hooper Sanders Jr., customer operations manager in Texas Electric's Western Division since 1973, has been named manager of the company's Big Spring Division, TESCO President Bill Marquardt announced today.

Sanders will succeed Jack Redding, who has been Big Spring Division manager since 1976. Redding is becoming manager of TESCO's Wichita Falls Division.

The changes are effective immediately.

Sanders, a native of Hillsboro, was graduated from Texas Tech University in 1950 with a Bachelor of Science degree. He joined Texas Electric in 1957 as an agricultural representative in Midland.

During his career, Sanders has been a customer service representative, division residential sales manager and division commercial and industrial sales manager in Fort Worth before transferring to Midland as Western Division customer operations manager in 1973.

Sanders has been active in numerous civic organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce and service on the boards of United Way and Junior Achievement. He and his wife, Pete, are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Midland.

While in Big Spring, Redding has served in a number of civic organizations including the Chamber of Commerce and United Way. He has been chairman of the Big Spring Industrial Team, president of the Howard County Industrial Development Corporation and a board member of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation.

Howard College hosts regional science fair

The Permian Basin Regional Science Fair will be held today and Saturday in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at Howard College, according to Joe Reed, science and biology teacher at Big Spring High School.

Registration and setting up of projects will be from 8 a.m. till noon today. Judging will be from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m. Judging includes students being interviewed by the judges at their exhibits.

A dance at the Big Spring High School Cafeteria honoring the Senior Division Science Fair entrants will be held from 8 p.m. till midnight to conclude the days events.

An awards ceremony will be held at 8:30 a.m., Saturday. There will be one sweepstakes award and a runner-up sweepstakes winner, plus first prizes in each of the eleven categories.

The Fair will be open to the public at 10:30 a.m., Saturday. Divisions include elementary, junior and senior high entries.

Howard College will give scholarships to the sweepstakes winner and runner-up sweepstakes winner. There will be 122 entries, 77 from Big Spring.

The Howard College Presidential Classics will serve as hostesses. The Fair is being sponsored by the Big Spring Independent School District, Howard College, the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, and the Tourist Development Council.

Easter holiday up local voting

City and County officials speculate that the April 5 election date coming during the Easter holiday is a reason absentee voting was high during the first week.

As of noon today, 57 persons had voted in the city election, which will have on its ballot races for mayor's position and two council places. In the school board race for an unexpired term 73 had voted and 79 had voted in the Howard College trustees race.

A spokesman with the County Clerk's office said, "This is an extra large number for the first week."

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Planets line up

Q. Is it true and, if so, when will there be a phenomenon of all the planets in the solar system being in a straight line? What do scientists believe the effect will be upon the earth?

A. John Beasley, planetarium director, said the planets will line up in 1984. The event is not unprecedented. There will be no effect on the earth, said Beasley.

Tops on TV: 'Pink Lady'

Slim pickings on the small screen tonight! You may want to try out a new offering at 7 o'clock on ABC, "When The Whistle Blows." It deals with a group of blue-collar workers who get involved in an unusual business venture. NBC gives us "Pink Lady" at 8 o'clock. It's a variety-comedy show, and Greg Evigan, Cheap Trick, Hugh Hefner and five Playboy "playmates" are on the menu tonight. Finally, the best bet is PBS's "American Short Story," airing at 10 o'clock. Tonight it features "The Man Who Corrupted Hadleyburg" by Mark Twain, and "Barn Burning" by William Faulkner.

Inside: New standards

THE AMERICAN CANCER Society, modifying its recommendations for cancer detection checkups, says annual chest X-rays, Pap tests and breast examinations no longer appear necessary for most people. See page 9-A.

GOV. BILL CLEMENTS says Texans can forget about a general state tax increase next year but can probably count on paying a higher state gasoline tax. See page 10-B.

Outside: Warmer

SHOW OF SUPPORT — A crowd of people comprised of neighborhood associations and supporters of the firefighters' strike are held in the lobby of City Hall as they tried to gain access to a city council meeting on Thursday evening in Kansas City.

Innocent plea entered

ST. ALBANS, Vt. (AP) — Taunos Jurva has pleaded innocent to a charge of first-degree murder in the shooting of Mayor Janet Smith.

Jurva, 61, a handyman who lived at the Smith home and cared for Mrs. Smith's 91-year-old husband, was arraigned Thursday. He is being held in lieu of $100,000 bail.

Mrs. Smith, 66, died Monday one day after she was shot at her home. She had scrawled a note implicating Jurva before she collapsed, police said. The city's first woman mayor, Mrs. Smith was sworn in only a week ago.

Emergency landing made

BOSTON (AP) — A TWA L-1011 with 118 passengers and 11 crew members aboard made an emergency landing at Logan Airport 25 minutes after takeoff when the pilot reported smoke in the plane.

There were no injuries Thursday when Flight 195 to Chicago and Las Vegas returned to Boston at 10:20 a.m. after fumes filtered into the cockpit and cabin. TWA said the fumes, similar to exhaust, came from an oil leak in the auxiliary power unit that powers the plane on the ground.

Carpenter pleads insanity

NEW YORK (AP) — Dennis Sweeney, a carpenter and former civil rights activist, has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity in the fatal shooting of former congressman Allard K. Lowenstein.

Sweeney, 37, of New London, Conn., made the plea through his attorney during his arraignment Thursday on charges of second-degree murder. His lawyer did not apply for release on bail.

Lowenstein was shot and killed at his Rockefeller Center law office last Friday. Sweeney had worked with him in civil rights campaigns in the 1960s, but later they had a falling out.

Engines endure testing

BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss. (AP) — Space shuttle engines have performed successfully in a full-duration firing for 539 seconds at the National Space Technology Laboratories.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday the three-engine package that was tested is identical to the one that will push the shuttle craft into orbit.

The firing duration was more than the time needed to push the real craft into orbit, NASA said. The shuttle underwent a successful full-duration test on Feb. 28, and five more tests are scheduled. The earliest possible launch date is November, space officials said.

Students protest firings

BENTON, Ill. (AP) — School officials are considering disciplinary action after more than half of Benton High School's 700 students walked out of class to protest the firing of an English teacher and a business teacher.

Most of the 350 students had returned by Thursday, a school spokesman said. The group left Wednesday afternoon, walked a half-mile to the town square and returned to the building.

The board of education had voted not to renew the teachers' contracts, but gave no public statement on the decision.

It's no Watergate, but a good conspiracy tale

By STEVE SNIDER

WASHINGTON — As conspiracy stories go, the one now making the rounds of Capitol Hill about Rep. Phil Gramm, D-College Station, is no Watergate or Briab.

Ralph Nader's weekly investigative newsletter, "Congress Probe," calls it the story of a congressman hard at work for one of his largest campaign contributors.

Gramm calls it "more lies from that second generation McCarthyite group."

And the lobbyist-star of the tale, James Drake, who was in the audience as the Gramm amendment was passed.

Gramm says he met with Drake and a lobbyist for Blue Cross-Blue Shield after the new amendment had been drafted "just to let them know I was going back to the committee to get a second opinion."

But this dispute is minor compared to the one about Drake's actions as he stood

The idea was offered as an amendment to a reform bill aimed at the federal health plans by Rep. Andrew Maguire, D-N.J., who convinced committee members it would prevent unneeded surgery.

But Gramm didn't like the amendment and, on March 4, won a 21-20 vote that threw out the mandatory second opinion language in the amendment in favor of voluntary second opinions.

The Nader group says Gramm's substitute was "devised... in a private strategy session" with lobbyist Drake, who was in the audience as the Gramm amendment was passed.

Gramm says he met with Drake and a lobbyist for Blue Cross-Blue Shield after the new amendment had been drafted "just to let them know I was going back to the committee to get a second opinion."

But this dispute is minor compared to the one about Drake's actions as he stood in the committee room awaiting the panel's vote. Depending on who is interviewed, the lobbyist,

a) waved his hands like a Fourth of July bandleader

b) "communicated non-verbally with Gramm in the manner of a bidder at an auction."

c) made obscene gestures at committee members.

d) scratched himself.

Congress Probe likes the auction version, which it reported in its March 17 edition. Editor Mark Smolonsky stands by the story he wrote from information supplied chiefly by members of Maguire's staff, only one of whom was willing to talk about the incident Thursday.

"It was basically Drake nodding his head at Gramm, that kind of thing," said Marcia Kagnoff.

A committee staff member willing to talk only if his name was not used, said he saw the lobbyist "waving and shaking his hand at Gramm like he was leading a band."

The congressman himself says he didn't get any signals, which he claims he didn't need anyway. "Mr. Drake may have been making obscene gestures at Maguire, but not at me," he said, deriding the Congress Probe story.

"We're dealing here with people who are in no way bound by the truth. I often get signals from the back of the room; they're often obscene gestures that chemists of individual freedom and free enterprise make at me."

The only thing Drake recalls for sure is that there were no obscene gestures from him to the committee.

"I may have scratched my head or scratched my anything," he said. "But I do appreciate the Nader people making me look so good to my employers."

Two local math teachers attending TSTA confab

FORT WORTH — U.S. Rep. Jack Brooks (D-Beaumont) will speak to delegates of the Texas State Teachers Association convention at 8 p.m. today in the Tarrant County Convention Center Arena.

Two teachers from Big Spring High are going: Nancy Dunham and Carlene Barron, math teachers.

The convention opened with registration at 1:30 p.m. Thursday and will end Saturday night.

Brooks was House author of the bill passed by Congress and signed by President Carter last October to create a new cabinet-level U.S. Department of Education.

The bill was backed by TSTA and the National Education Association along with some 75 other education-related organizations throughout the country.

Brooks is perhaps best known for his work during Richard Nixon's presidency.

As chairman of the House Subcommittee on Government Activities, a position he held from 1965 to 1974, he led the 1973 investigation which uncovered $10.2 million in federal funds spent on Nixon's San Clemente, California, and Key Biscayne, Florida, homes. In 1975, Brooks assumed his present position as chairman of the House Government Operations Committee.

Since 1955, he has been a member of the House Judiciary Committee, the group that was charged with deciding whether Nixon should be impeached for his Watergate involvement.

Under Brooks' leadership, the Subcommittee on Government Activities — nicknamed the Brooks Efficiency Committee — investigated extravagance and waste in federal agencies.

In 1971, Brooks was named the first chairman of the Joint Committee on Congressional Operations, a job he held for two years.

Chavarría prison bound

A 21-year-old Big Spring man pleaded guilty in 118th District Court today on a charge of aggravated assault.

Robert Alex Chavarría, 2508 W. 16th, was sentenced to four years in the Texas Department of Corrections.

Chavarría was arrested Feb. 16, 1980 at Malone-Hogan Hospital and transferred to the county jail Feb. 21, 1980.

Coahoma trustees vote 22-credit requisite

The Coahoma Independent School District voted Thursday to add one credit to the present 21 credit requirement for graduation.

The 22-credit requisite will begin with the present sophomore class. The board also voted to require freshman and sophomores to take six classes each school day, and seniors will be required to take five classes each day. This policy will become effective in the 1980-81 school year.

The board approved the property insurance bid from the E.P. Driver Insurance Company.

In other action, the board set April 5 to canvass election results. Trustees adopted the recommendations of the local textbook committee for textbooks in Government, Typewriting and Health Education for the 1980-81 school year.

The board employed teachers as recommended by the various principals for the 1980-81 school year. They also employed Sherry Woods as girls' coach for the Junior High.

The board in final action accepted the resignation of C.D. Urban as bus mechanic.

Steed named director of Tower's WT office

U.S. Senator John Tower today announced the appointment of Christian A. Steed as director of his new West Texas regional office scheduled to open in June.

The office, to be located in Lubbock, will serve citizens in the Panhandle, South Plains, Permian Basin, and El Paso areas. Steed will travel throughout the region whenever necessary to meet local needs.

Steed, 28, has worked in the Texas Republican's Austin and Washington offices for the past six years. He has assisted city, county and education officials from Texas in their dealings with the federal government and also handled matters relating to federal regulatory agencies.

In making the appointment, Tower cited Steed's experience in helping

Kennedy keeps changing ground rules

CHICAGO (AP) — In defeat, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy keeps changing the ground rules, always saying the election he hasn't lost yet is the one that really will count in his challenge to President Carter's renomination.

But there's one rule he can't change, and that is the proportional representation system under which most of the remaining Democratic primaries and caucuses will be conducted.

Under that system, Democratic nominating votes are doled out to the candidates in line with their shares of the popular vote, statewide in some contests, by congressional district in others.

That's the way it will work in New York Tuesday in the presidential primary election Kennedy now calls essential, with 282 delegates at stake. That also is the rule in Connecticut, for 54 delegates.

That was not the process in Illinois, where delegates were elected separately in last Tuesday's primary, and were not bound by the popular vote for presidential candidates. That's the old-fashioned way, a holdover from the days before Democratic reform commissions started changing the system.

In theory, it should have worked to Kennedy's advantage, because he had the support of what's left of the Chicago political organization, which used to deliver delegates on demand. But the organization is a shambles, and Kennedy's chief ally, Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne, may have been more a liability than a help.

Kennedy not only lost the election, he was wiped out in the delegate competition, 165 to 14. Those 14 came from the Chicago area, where Carter got 35.

Early in the season, when Kennedy was riding high in the polls, there was talk Carter might not buck the mayor and her organization, conceding Chicago and concentrating on the rest of Illinois. That's what he did in 1976, when the late Mayor Richard J. Daley wanted the Chicago delegates left uncommitted.

But within days of Mayor Byrne's endorsement of Kennedy, Carter passed word that he intended to field a slate of supporters in the Chicago delegate competition.

In the weeks that followed, Kennedy looked to Illinois as the comeback state, and as an answer to the defeats he had taken in the early primaries and caucuses.

Defeated in New Hampshire, where once he had seemed unbeatable, Kennedy said the economic issues he was stressing "are going to be shown to be the forceful, powerful, dominant issues of our party in the state of Illinois, in the state of New York, in the state of Pennsylvania."

Kennedy got 30 percent of the vote in Illinois, Carter 65 percent.

The referendum, he said, will be in New York. Kennedy didn't explain why that primary will be a measurement of the issues if Illinois was not.

Carter has lost only one primary so far, in Kennedy's Massachusetts home. But even in that landslide defeat, he came away with 34 delegates. Kennedy got 77.

What that means is that while Kennedy can continue citing contests ahead as the ones that will really count, the arithmetic is working the president's way. And every week it becomes more difficult for the challenger to turn it around.

THE BRIGHTER SIDE "OPPORTUNITY"

An unusually successful business man was invited to address a group of younger executives on the subject of opportunities. He began his talk by tacking to the wall a big sheet of white paper and placing a black dot in the middle of the sheet.

"What do you see?" he asked pointing to the paper on the wall.

"A black spot" called out every man in the audience.

"Yes, I see a black dot, too," replied the speaker. "But none of you saw the much greater expanse of white. This is the point of my talk on opportunities."

Newest embargo to be felt by Russians

Harry Truman probably would have shivered in the cold war now going on involving the United States and Soviet Russia, and it's getting colder.

President Jimmy Carter's request that the U.S. not send a team to the Summer Olympics in Moscow made the headlines. That, of course, came after Russian tanks made ruts all over Afghanistan.

The U.S. embargo on grain shipments didn't inspire the kind of headlines the Olympic ban did but it had far more significance. More recently, the Carter administration added phosphates to the list of commodities banned for shipment to Russia. That should get somebody's attention in Moscow and environs.

PHOSPHATES ARE A principal ingredient in fertilizers and are also used as animal feed supplements. Depriving the Soviet Union of phosphates is merely an escalation of the 'food war' being conducted in opposition to Russia's invasion of Afghanistan.

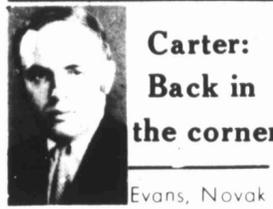

The Soviet regime would, no doubt, show far more cheek were it able to feed its population. No amount of glittering space spectaculars or menacingly clanking hardware can obscure that fact. The Russians have become dependent on American exports of both food and food-production necessities such as phosphates to keep their people fed. People with full stomachs are a lot more apt to buy the Communist line than those who have to be out foraging for food — that much was proved when Lenin began to sew his seeds of discontent in the early part of the century. Cutting off those exports will have an almost immediate and clearly visible effect.

THERE IS A neutral moral reluctance — quite aside from the economic effects on this country — of using the 'food weapon' by means of a trade embargo. But certainly a food embargo is more humane than a nuclear war.

Deprived of U.S. imports, the Soviet leaders cannot simply further restrict the diets of their people to a starvation level — not and hope to retain power. They could be forced to cut back their military spending, devoting greater resources to agriculture, as one possible alternative. In any case, we should not continue to make huge Soviet military budgets to the extent that our food exports allow diversion of Soviet spending and efforts from butter to guns.

Carter: Back in the corner

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — President Carter was so aggrieved by tough questioning during a picture-taking session with 30 Jewish leaders in the East Room of the White House March 4 that he stalked out before any pictures could be taken — bringing into sharp focus his Israel dilemma.

The dilemma: Jimmy Carter has driven himself into a corner by attempting to reconcile his honest convictions over the future of the West Bank with his contortions to satisfy the important Jewish constituency he needs for re-election. The two are unreconcilable.

UNTIL HIS RETRACTION of the anti-Israel vote by the U.S. March 1 in the United Nations Security Council, Carter had seemed to be handling the Arab-Israeli time bomb discreetly enough to avoid an explosion. The U.N. vote ended that impression.

On March 4, Commerce Secretary Philip Klutznick arranged to have the president go to the East Room where 30 American Jewish leaders from the World Jewish Congress had been invited to have their pictures taken with Jimmy Carter. Carter was still steaming over the violent criticism he had been taking from Israeli and American Jewish leaders in the U.S. over the Security Council vote.

When he entered, he apologized for what he called the "glitch" in his failure to have understood full implications of the U.N. vote. Then, "warm and friendly," according to one Jewish leader who was there, he smiled and said that, "If you can stand to have your picture taken with me, now is the time."

Instead, Arthur Schmeter, a prominent New York rabbi, rose to ask this question: How could Israel be certain that there wouldn't be another "glitch" in the future? That angered Jimmy Carter: he gave a chilly reply, cancelled the picture session, turned on his heel and walked away.

The president's reaction and the question that provoked it were made inevitable by Carter. He has been stretching credibility to convince the Jewish community and Israel that there is not all that much difference between him and them on Jerusalem and the West Bank.

ROSALYNN CARTER, the president's alter ego on the campaign trail, has been telling Jewish audiences exactly what they want to hear. Even Egypt agrees, she told the international biennial convention of B'nai B'rith here March 12, "that Jerusalem never be divided" — a "commitment" that, she said, has not changed.

Those words make it sound as though Carter is nearly in step with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin on his pledge that Jerusalem never again will be politically partitioned. Actually, the official U.S. position is unchanged from 1969, as Carter pointedly told Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in a letter written during the Camp David Middle East summit. The policy is that East Jerusalem "is occupied territory," as are Palestinian lands held by Israel on the conquered West Bank.

Rosalynn Carter's formulation is explained by politicians running Carter's re-election campaign as meaning the U.S. will never allow a "physical" division of Jerusalem — division by barbed wire as it was until Israel seized East Jerusalem in the 1967 war. An Arab diplomat friendly to Carter told us: "Technically, Mrs. Carter was perhaps correct. But the 'undivided city' pledge carries much stronger implications to American Jews, who see it as justification of Israel's claim to eternal possession of all Jerusalem."

Intestines can react to emotions

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a lot of trouble with my bowels. I have been to different doctors. The last one was understanding and told me I have mucus colitis. He put me on a bland diet. I only weigh 105 pounds and have had this going on one year now. I am scared it might turn into cancer if something is not done. Can you help me in this at all? I am 27 years old and I am feeling bad all the time. — Miss B.B.

You may have noticed from other letters on this subject that the intestinal tract is, indeed, a kind of "target" organ for many of our emotions. Consider the diarrhea some people get before having to speak publicly or, for that matter, those who encounter more dramatically dangerous situations — such as combat in war. One famous actor is said to vomit before each and every performance. These are extreme examples of how stress can affect us physically.

Mucous colitis (or spastic colon) can be a mild form of this intestinal response to perceived stress. Symptoms may vary, but the production of excess mucus in the intestinal lining is a common symptom. Normally, this condition does not lead to cancer. Mucous colitis in itself is not a serious physical problem. However, the possibility of a mucus-producing tumor should be investigated if there is mucus in the stool. From your letter it appears you have been examined for this.

If diarrhea is a real problem then a short trial of a drug like dphenoxylate might be worthwhile. However, it seems there is no specific drug or diet program that works for all people with this.

Understanding the nature of the problem and trying to eliminate anxiety producing it is important. Realizing there is no serious underlying illness helps lessen stress itself.

Dear Dr. Donohue: When is the safest time for an adult woman to have the rubella shots if she wanted to be absolutely sure she was not pregnant? — T.L.

Probably the safest time would be during menstruation, since that is a good indication of non-pregnancy, if I might use that term. A pregnancy test should still be done.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 65 and get a complete physical every 15 months.

Lately I have detected a strong odor when I urinate. I wonder if I am allergic to vitamin C, because when I eat citrus fruits I break out in a rash in my groin and itch inside my vagina. I should also mention that I have a yeast infection. I would like to know if all these conditions are related — the food I eat, the vitamins, etc. I occasionally take vitamin tablets. These things are so hard for me to understand. — Mrs. E.V.

Urine ordinarily has a faint odor. Certain foods, asparagus being one, causes an exceedingly strong odor in urine. In diabetics who are not in control, acetone in the urine can produce a fruity odor.

The vitamins you are taking shouldn't be a factor. Nor should your apparent allergy. A vaginal yeast infection might cause an odor, but that would not be in the urine itself. It would be worth your while to mention this to your doctor and ask for a urine analysis if that is not a part of your regular checkups.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I enjoy your column. You are alive and witty and caustic and cogent! Some of your quips make me giggle out loud.

Anyway, I think your agricultural knowledge will have to play second fiddle to mine, to wit:

Yams and sweet potatoes are NOT the same. My dad does not like yams, but loves the latter. Yams are yellow, goeyer and less flavorful. Sweet potatoes hold up much better under prolonged cooking and have a more distinctive flavor.

I am of Irish stock and my dad has often referred to Irish potatoes as "Irish bog oranges." So now, your herbivorous knowledge is equal to mine, at least for the nonce. — Miss R.K.M.

A botanist I'm not. Thanks. A yam

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have a good friend who is deeply involved in the occult — things like telepathy and black magic. I used to think it was all a game, but now it frightens me. What do you think of this? — D.M.

DEAR D.M.: I believe you are wise to be frightened by this and hope you will stay completely away from it. Your friend is, I am convinced, in serious danger spiritually and it would be tragic for you to become involved also.

The Bible does not speak a great deal about the occult. I believe one reason for this is that God's people are not to think or concentrate on such things. However, wherever the Bible does mention the occult it condemns occult practices in the strongest possible terms. In the Old Testament all occult practices were banned. Note for example, the statement in Deuteronomy 18:9 ff., which lists various occult practices and then declares, "Anyone who does these things is detestable to the Lord" is a form of sweet potato.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Our daughter is studying nursing and has brought home one of the blood pressure gadgets. A question has arisen as to what a child's blood pressure should be. Should it be higher or lower than an adult's. And what would be considered normal pressure for a six-year-old of normal height and weight? — Mrs. W.W.

Children's blood pressure is usually a bit lower, on average, than adults. A range of 95-60 to 110-75 is considered within normal boundaries for a child of six.

He's in the movie

Around the rim

James Werrell

There is a vast amount of difference between the beginning and the end of a working day for an extra on the set of the movie "Hangar 18."

The beginning of the day is filled with sunshine, hope, a hint of the exotic and hot coffee. The end of the day brings the setting of the sun, the dawning of the realization that this might be just another job, and entirely too many empty coffee cups.

THE FUNNY THING is that, on the morning of the second day, the sun shines again, hope reigns supreme, the atmosphere is still exotic and the coffee is still hot. Irresistible!

That is what it was all about for 20- or-so other fellow extras and me. For two days all of us were magically transformed into N.A.S.A. scientists entrusted with the job of bringing two astronauts safely down from outer space to a spot somewhere in the Indian Ocean.

What do a N.A.S.A. scientists do? Well, as surely as everyone knows, they punch a lot of buttons, twist a lot of dials, scribble notes to themselves, stare at screens and monitors, look worried most of the time, fiddle with their earphones, and become very agitated when one of their astronauts gets his umbilical sliced in half.

AND WHAT DOES an extra do when he's not portraying a N.A.S.A. scientist? Well, as surely everyone knows, he sits on almost any flat surface available, stands around for hours, shuffles, paces, twiddles, yawns, exhausts subjects of conversation, stands in line, gets out of the way and begins to wonder why he ever decided to be an extra anyway. But as I have said, every day is a new day in cinematicland. Amidst all the groans and grumbles is the unspoken truth that, hey, I'm really going to be in the movies!

Just when you begin to think that selling encyclopedias would be more fun than this, an honest-to-goodness, dyed-in-the-wool actor will stroll through the room, and you find a way to carry on.

JUST WHEN YOU BEGIN to think you've punched one too many buttons for this particular lifetime, the director will shout, "Action!" and you're back in business.

Just when you think you've used up your last facial expression, the assistant director will shout the magic word, "Lunch!" and life begins anew.

Being an extra is also the best education imaginable for a film buff. Read all the books and magazines you like, but this is the real thing. Two days on the set, and you feel like Federico Fellini!

IT'S THRILLING to be in a room that is dead silent except for the whisper of rolling cameras, lights blazing, and you are performing a job that is somehow vital to the whole process. It's also thrilling to watch other people involved in that process; to see a movie being created and say to yourself, "So that's how they do it!"

In the end, though, it's that simple truth, the realization of that much maligned dream, that makes it all worthwhile: Hey, I'm really going to be in the movies!

Brand it right

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter's faltering attempts to deal with inflation have been based mainly on a sort of evangelical approach — appealing to Big Business and Big Labor to moderate their moneymaking tendencies voluntarily.

In the case of Big Business, this call for Christian forbearance has fallen on deaf ears. There are few born-again businessmen when increased profit margins are at stake.

THE SAD, BLUNT truth is that the president's voluntary wage and price guidelines are not working. A specific and glaring example is in the home heating fuel industry.

The mercifully mild winter has allowed many of the nation's poor to avoid a drastic "heat or eat" dilemma. But it hasn't kept the oil companies from raking in unconscionable profits on home heating fuel.

The oil companies howl about their increased costs and claim that the skyrocketing price of fuel oil does not reflect a greedy grab for profits. Figures from congressional investigators and the president's own Council on Wage and Price Stability throw considerable doubt on these pious claims, however.

In September 1978, a month before Carter's voluntary guidelines were announced, a gallon of heating oil cost, on the average, 36 cents. Of that amount, the refiner paid about 29 cents in crude oil costs, leaving a margin of 7 cents.

Of this 7 cents, about 5.4 cents were eaten up by operating costs, according to a National Petroleum Council study. That left a modest 1.6 cents per gallon in profits.

A year after the voluntary guidelines went into effect, a gallon of home heating oil cost an average of 69 cents. (This has gone up to about 90 cents today.) Of the 69 cents, 48 was the cost of the crude oil. That left a margin of 21 cents.

Using the industry's own figures, investigators for Rep. Ben Rosenthal, D-N.Y., estimated the rise in operating costs at about 20 percent, or 1.5 cents per gallon. The remaining 14 cents would be profit.

IN A LITTLE-NOTICED study, the Congressional Research Service found similar data and concluded that "no doubt operating costs have risen... (but) it appears unlikely that they rose by 100 percent."

The study adds: "Any amount of this increase in margins not offset by higher operating costs is likely to be recorded as higher refiner profit... A clear implication is that refiners' profits have risen significantly."

Investigators for the House Energy and Power subcommittee interviewed representatives of Gulf, Mobil, Hess, Texaco, Exxon and Amoco and came to this conclusion:

"Contrary to oil company claims in congressional testimony that their price increases bear a direct relationship to their increased costs, the staff has found that costs are not even a consideration in the decision-making process for setting prices in the major companies."

Also contrary to their congressional testimony, "the major oil companies did no marginal cost analysis as the basis for their enormous price increases over the last year," the subcommittee staff found.

Instead, the investigators concluded, the big oil companies "charge what the market will bear."

How did all this escape public attention? One way was the option permitted by the guidelines to lump their oil refining and marketing operations with unrelated activities. This had the effect of fuzzing up the oil-profits picture.

The wage-price council explained the outcome this way: "As a result of the organizational latitude, profits earned in one area could be pooled with lower profits or even losses elsewhere in the company. The effect is to enable those companies to remain in compliance without withholding large profits from their petroleum operations."

The lumping of all company operations meant that the council — which has only six employees to monitor the entire oil industry — could not spot any gouging on home heating oil prices.

With this effective cover for their activities, the major petroleum companies were able to profess pained innocence in what should be called OILSCAM — the great home heating ripoff of 1979-80.

1984 IS HERE: George Orwell coined the phrase "unperson" for someone who had fallen into official disgrace in Big Brother's nightmare world of "1984." The Central Intelligence Agency has now invented the concept of an "un-island." On the map the spooks used in closed-door briefings for Congress, the U.S. withdrawal of recognition from the Nationalist Chinese regime on Taiwan is graphically portrayed: There is nothing but empty blue ocean where the island of Taiwan used to be.

WATCH ON WASTE: The General Services Administration recently "stepped up" its efforts to spend the taxpayers' money. It commissioned a $50,000 sculpture depicting a set of concrete steps to be placed in front of a new federal office building in Norfolk, Va. GSA officials insist the artistic steps serve a useful purpose: People can use them to sit on.

A Navy study team, checking into bills our allies overseas have let slide, found $10 million owing for equipment and training of foreign troops by American personnel. Instead of trying to collect the money, the Pentagon's brass hats simply wrote off the $10 million — and called off the study team.

'Indecent, insulting language' Two male GIs jailed for harassment NUREMBERG, West Germany (AP) — Male American GIs were warned today that a foul mouth around female soldiers may send them to jail and cost them money.

 "It's about time something got done," said Pfc. Mary Sanchez after U.S. military courts gave two males in her company jail terms and fines for using "indecent and insulting language" to her.
 Pfc. Bryon Lindsey, 20, of Evansville, Ind., was sentenced Thursday to 25 days at hard labor and fined $298. His company commander in the 1st Armored Division said he was guilty of "verbal rape."
 Pfc. Omester Collins, 20, of Mobile, Ala., was convicted March 5 on the same charge plus a charge of threatening Ms. Sanchez in an attempt to force her to have sexual intercourse with him. He got 30 days and a fine of $500.
 Lindsey was acquitted of the charge of "communicating an unlawful threat to obtain sexual favors" from the woman.

Both soldiers also were reduced to the grade of private. Lindsey is the first soldier to be convicted on a charge of sexual harassment by verbal abuse only, the prosecutor, Capt. Sanford W. Faulkner, said.
 "Other cases of sexual harassment have been prosecuted but always in conjunction with other crimes — rape or assault," Faulkner explained.
 Ms. Sanchez testified that the two soldiers hassled her on Jan. 2 when they were working together at a military warehouse in Nuremberg. She said in addition to the indecent remarks, they threatened to circulate pictures of a woman in sexually compromising positions and say she was the woman unless she had intercourse with them.
 Collins testified at his trial that the talk about the pictures was meant as a "joke."
 The prosecutor said he believed the convictions would encourage other women soldiers to bring charges of sexual harassment.
 "Women in the military get harassed all the time but most of them don't do anything about it," said Ms. Sanchez.
 She said she knew of a number of female soldiers who filed complaints of sexual harassment but withdrew them at the urging of their GI boy friends.
 Her company commander, Capt. Lawrence Pizzi, said he knew of more than 30 cases of verbal sexual harassment in his company during the past 18 months.

Reduction target set at 6.7 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government wants you to drive less during the next three months than you've been doing. But it's being left to the states to set actual guidelines for reaching gasoline conservation targets.
 The Energy Department announced the targets Thursday, calling for a nationwide reduction of 6.7 percent in April, May and June compared to the same period in 1979.
 The targets for each state are only voluntary and it's up to each of the 50 states to decide how to meet its goal, according to the Energy Department.
 Each state will submit a plan to the federal government and thus a motorist won't know what to expect until his or her state lays it out, according to Maria Charenko, an Energy Department spokeswoman.
 Proposed reductions range from 1.1 percent in Wyoming to 17 percent for Alaska.
 The targets are part of President Carter's goal of cutting average daily gasoline use to 7 million barrels, compared to a 1979 average of 7.4 million.
 The 7.4 million average has continued for the first three months of 1980, the department said.

Some people like it hot, but few like it cold

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The freezing temperatures outside may be doing more than nipping your nose — they may be driving people away from your community, says a new study.

The study by two economists at Wright State University in Dayton found that weather — cold temperatures to be specific — is a significant factor in determining where people decide to move.

"It is no longer conjecture, it is based on a scientifically conducted statistical test," said Stephen Renas, one of the associate professors of economics.

The researchers cautioned, however, that good climate doesn't always attract people, while cities in unfavorable climates — such as Minneapolis — can provide attractions to offset the chill.

The professors surveyed 34 major cities, taking into account factors such as the cost of living, income growth, educational levels, climate and unemployment.

"Our findings indicate that the most important determinant of migration is a climate-related variable — specifically, how cold the area gets in the winter," the professors concluded.

The winter chill was followed in importance by an area's income growth, education levels, how hot it gets in summer and the cost of living — exclusive of energy costs.

Climate, of course, affects the cost of living because of the expense of heating and cooling buildings.

In the study, climate desirability was determined by measuring how far daily summer and winter temperatures deviated from 65 degrees. The resultant degree-day measurements — the sum of all degrees above or below this comfortable level — provided a more "appropriate measure of weather discomfort" than simple winter and summer temperature averages, the researchers said.

The coldest metropolis was Minneapolis-St. Paul, with 8,310 winter degree heating days. The twin cities' climate was 32nd overall. However, this prosperous Midwest cultural center ranked 14th in in-migration with a rate of 6.7 percent.

Orlando, Fla., had the hottest summer climate with 3,226 cooling degree days. But its climate ranked eighth overall and the home of Disney World tied with Atlanta for fifth in in-migration at a rate of 19.7 percent.

Orlando and Minneapolis-St. Paul show that cities with climate extremes can overcome adverse climate — most readily if the problem is heat, the researchers say. But there is a general rule:

"People don't want to be in places where the weather will make them uncomfortable," said associate professor Rishi Kumar. "They tend to avoid living in extreme climates."

Some Sunbelt cities received middle rankings because they were considered too hot in the summer, he said.

The researchers also considered summer heat, winter wind chill and summer humidity — but found the last was not statistically significant. They based their migration percentages on 1960-1970 figures, the most reliable available.

Overall, the researchers said, the most attractive climate was found in San Diego, neither too hot in summer nor too cold in winter. Its summer cooling and winter heating needs deviated least from 65 degrees — 1,439 degree days in winter; 722 in summer.

San Diego's actual average summer temperature was 67.7, while the winter average was 56. And the city's in-migration rate of 16.4 percent was eighth best among the 34 cities rated.

Buffalo, N.Y., known for its rough winters and heavy snowfall, had the least desirable weather in the survey — an average 68 degrees in summer and 26 in winter. Net in-migration was minus 6.4 percent.

Buffalo's summers are far from hot — only 437 cooling degree days — and its winters are bitter cold — 7,062 heating degree days.

Houston led in in-migration — 21.9 percent. Its climate ranked sixth overall.

KELLI WARREN, LAMESA SINGER
Will appear on national telethon

Lamesan will perform on national telethon

LAMESA — Local recording artist, Kelli Warren, will be appearing on the "National Easter Seal Telethon" originating out of Los Angeles this Easter weekend. She is scheduled to appear on the 6:30-7:30 Sunday morning segment of the telecast. Suzanne Sommers of "Three's Company" is this year's Easter Seal chairperson.

Kelli has appeared on "Midnight Special" numerous times along with television productions "Pop Goes The Country" with Larry Gatlin and Tommy Overstreet, "That Good Old Nashville Music" with Faron Young and David Houston; "Wheeling Jamboree" and "Jamboree in the Hills" out of Wheeling, West Virginia and the "Princeton Country Music Extravaganza" staged each summer.

She is booked to tape some of these shows this summer along with in-person appearances at both Wheeling and Princeton, New Jersey. She has also appeared on "The Grand Ole Opry" in Nashville.

Known throughout this area for her performance in different productions, Kelli was nominated for "Most Promising New Artist" for 1979 by MCA (Music City Award Show) which is televised nationwide from Nashville in June.

Some of Kelli's scheduled appearances at Fan Fair in Nashville this June include the Mixed "Label's Show" and the IFCO (International Fan Club Organization) Show. "Fan Fair" is sponsored by IFCO along with Country Music Association. This week-long extravaganza is catered each year by the "Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang."

Dallas teacher shot Bearded gunman sought

DALLAS (AP) — Homicide investigators today sought a bearded gunman with a "big gun" who shot and killed a Dallas schoolteacher as she stood with fellow teachers in a school lobby.

Rosie L. Pearson, 49, was shot three times and reportedly tried to crawl away from her assailant as her co-workers rushed to her aid Thursday afternoon.

She died about an hour after the 3:25 p.m. CST shooting at Parkland Memorial Hospital.

A source close to the investigation said officers were seeking a man acquainted with Mrs. Pearson in the shooting.

Hortense Toles, principal at J. Leslie Patton School said Mrs. Pearson was a fifth-grade language arts and social studies teacher.

"The students had just been dismissed and the teachers were standing together in the lobby," Mrs. Toles said. She said teachers told her the gunman came into the lobby and shot Mrs. Pearson, then fled.

No one else was injured, Mrs. Toles said, and apparently the gunman said nothing before the shots were fired.

The shooting occurred about "50-150 feet" from Mrs. Pearson's classroom, Mrs. Toles said.

"Yes, I heard the shots. I ran," said a school employee who asked not to be identified.

Several teachers stayed with Mrs. Pearson while the school nurse administered first aid before Dallas fire department paramedics arrived, Mrs. Toles said.

Rodney Davis of the Dallas Independent School District said Patton, a fourth-through sixth-grade school, is located at the Nolan Estes Plaza in southwest Dallas.

Davis said reports from the school indicated the bearded gunman walked into the school carrying "a big gun" and shot four times, striking the teacher in the leg, shoulder and abdomen.

Drug raid nets five arrests Thursday

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Five persons were arrested on drug possession charges after a task force of state, federal and local officers raided two homes in this North Texas city Thursday.

Officers said they seized about a pound of crystal amphetamine, 250 biphentamine capsules, 2,000 Darvon capsules, some cocaine and some Quaaludes when they carried out the raids.

Officers estimated the street value of the drugs seized at about $51,000.

Agents also seized laboratory equipment, several pistols, rifles and shotguns.

A chemist believed to be employed at the laboratory was being sought today.

Herb Edwards, a Texas Department of Public Safety narcotics agent, said the raids and arrests came at the end of a lengthy investigation by state, federal and local authorities.

The five persons arrested, three men and two women, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace R.L. Stewart, who set bond at 710,000 each. One of the men was released on bond later Thursday.

February Carrier of the Month: Joe Moreno

Joe Moreno has been selected Carrier for the Month of February. Monthly winners are chosen on the basis of sales, service, collections and record keeping.

Gilbert Narbaiz, Joe's district manager, says Joe has been a consistently good carrier since he began managing Route 167 last August. "He very seldom has any complaints during a month's time. When the customers are satisfied, you know the carrier is doing his job well," Narbaiz said.

Joe had no complaints for the month of February, his bill was paid by the 10th, his books are in order and he maintains porch delivery of his 92 papers. Joe also has a trained substitute to handle his deliveries in the event Joe is gone or ill.

We join his customers when we say, "Congratulations, Joe Moreno," on being selected as February Carrier of the Month.

OPPOSES PROP. 9 — California Gov. Jerry Brown emphasizes a point in this opposition to Proposition 9, the latest tax cut initiative by Howard Jarvis that would cut the state income tax rate in half. Brown spoke at a news conference Thursday following a televised address to the state, in which he said most of the tax cut benefits would go to the richest taxpayers.

Rebels hide from Russians

BAJAWOUR, Pakistan (AP) — As gunfire rumbled over the Hindu Kush mountains in Afghanistan, a new wave of Afghan rebels fled to sanctuary in Pakistan and said Soviet helicopter gunships dogged their trail across the rugged mountain frontier.

"Russian helicopters flew overhead constantly trying to kill us, but most of the time we managed to hide amidst the boulders of the mountain slopes to avoid detection," said Shakir Brasul, a young Afghan rebel from the village of Kotapur in Konar Province on the other side of the mountain border.

"More than half the people in my village were killed," Brasul told a reporter Thursday after he and 60 other Afghan refugees, including women and children of all ages, made the four-day mountain crossing.

"It was so cold coming over the mountains that four children in our group died of exposure," he said. They fled an offensive against the rebels by Afghan government troops and their Soviet allies in Konar Province.

"The Russians launched their attack 20 days ago and there has been no respite since then," said Saon Mamat, another Pathan warrior in Brasul's group. "We killed at least 250 Russians before we ran out of ammunition," he said, proudly stroking his rifle.

"We came here to bring our families, but our comrades are still fighting on the front and we shall soon join them again," Brasul said.

"We wish to bring a message to the United Nations and the whole world that even though we don't have anything to fight the Russian tanks and aircraft, we will continue our struggle until we push the Russians out of Afghanistan," he added.

The rebels and their families were the latest arrivals at the Khazana refugee camp in Pakistan, a ten camp set up 10 days ago and already crowded with 5,000 refugees from the fighting in Konar.

They came with only the clothes on their backs and small bundles of personal belongings. The men shouldered World War-I vintage Enfield rifles and other similarly-aged weapons prized above all else by the mountain tribesmen.

The Soviets have poured an estimated 80,000 troops into Afghanistan since December to quell the Moslem rebellion and shore up the communist government in Kabul, the capital.

He beheld the city... ...and wept

Today cities have problems involving budgets, bond issues and taxes.

The only large city Jesus knew came in for a dramatic expression of his concern. Through his tears he said of Jerusalem, "If thou hadst known the things which belong unto thy peace, but now they are hid from thine eyes."

Of course, it wasn't a city for whom He wept — it was people. Whether we live in cities, towns, hamlets or villages we sometimes become blind to the spiritual resources on which true peace depends.

In those narrowing days, not long before His Crucifixion, our Lord was thinking about our spiritual vision. The destiny of every family, the life of each community, rests upon our fruitful use of our spiritual opportunities.

Do you go to church faithfully? Every Sunday widens our spiritual horizons!

Anthrax outbreak in Soviet Union last year

U.S. officials skeptical of explanations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several State Department officials say they are skeptical of the Soviet Union's explanation for an outbreak of anthrax last year in the Ural Mountains.

The Soviet explanation, tendered Thursday, said the outbreak in the city of Sverdlovsk was due to natural causes, perhaps traceable to improper food handling. That was deemed a "satisfactory initial response" by department spokesman David Passage shortly after it was received.

But several hours later, officials said privately that the Russians' story was not compatible with what the United States knows about anthrax and thinks it knows about what happened in Sverdlovsk last April.

Based on what officials call reliable intelligence reports from emigres who were there at the time, the officials believe several hundred people died in the epidemic.

The Soviet response, the officials said, gave no details of how many people died or how many were affected.

That is a critical factor in the puzzle, because natural anthrax, at least as it is known in the United States, is not the type of disease to spread rapidly through an urban population.

According to Dr. Billy Johnson, an Agriculture Department specialist, anthrax is a bacteriological disease that affects primarily cattle and some other types of livestock.

Its spores can stay dormant in the ground for years, breaking out suddenly with the right climatic and soil conditions. Humans can catch it from breathing near infected animals or by touching their hides.

Those ways account for the half dozen or so cases of human infection that occur in the United States a year, Johnson said. The Agriculture Department controls the disease by vaccinating animals in the area of an outbreak.

But Johnson said it is not normal for one human to give the disease to another, or for it to be passed along in meat, both of which might account for the urban epidemic the United States believes occurred. "It's difficult to explain by natural causes," one official said.

The State Department earlier this week publicly stated its suspicion that the epidemic was caused by an accident involving biological warfare agents banned by international agreement. It asked the Soviets for the explanation that was delivered Thursday.

The explanation is under study, officials said, while the United States formulates its reply.

Cancer society modifies detection checkup guide

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Cancer Society, modifying its recommendations for cancer detection checkups, says annual chest X-rays, Pap tests and breast examinations no longer appear necessary for most people.

In announcing the changes Thursday, the society said it has determined the public can get the same benefits with greatly reduced costs and health risks by using the revised recommendations.

However, the society cautioned that the guidelines do not fit all individuals and urged people to consult their doctors about how the new suggestions relate to them.

Many doctors and patients have long used the private group's guidelines in scheduling checkups for the early detection of cancer. No other group, including the federal government, issues such guidelines.

Announcing the revised recommendations in New York and at a news briefing here, society officials stressed that the guidelines apply only to people with no cancer symptoms. Those with symptoms should see their doctors immediately, the officials said.

"These changes are based on updated information on the effectiveness, costs and risks of tests used for early detection of cancer," Dr. LaSalle D. Laffall, the immediate past president of the society, said at the briefing in Washington.

"About three years ago, the society was asked to update its recommendations because they didn't seem to be current based on the latest clinical and epidemiological data," said Laffall, chairman of surgery at Howard University Medical School.

Hostages settle in routine

Negotiations delayed

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The 32 hostages in the Dominican Republic's Embassy faced another weekend of housekeeping chores and games of cards and dominoes as the resumption of negotiations for their release was postponed until Monday.

The Colombian government agreed Thursday to a request from the hostages and the M-19 guerrillas holding them to resume direct talks. The sixth negotiating session was set for today and then postponed until Monday afternoon.

The fifth meeting ended March 13 with a masked woman guerrilla leaving the van shouting to reporters that the guerrillas were prepared to die before abandoning their demand for the release of imprisoned leftists. But the guerrillas have reduced their list of those whose freedom they demand from 311 to 28.

The government has said it will not free any prisoners because that would violate the constitution. Officials say it would also encourage leftists to seize more hostages.

The hostages include U.S. Ambassador Diego Asencio and 18 other foreign diplomats, and today is their 24th day of captivity, since some 30 guerrillas invaded the embassy during a diplomatic reception Feb. 27.

Life inside the embassy has settled into a routine.

'New Century' theme

Dallas hosts women's meet

The Women of the Church of God held their Annual Spring Convention in Dallas at the First Church of God, March 13-15, 1980.

Approximately 100 delegates registered from 25 cities throughout Texas.

The guest speaker, Gwen (Mrs. James Earl) Massey of Anderson, Indiana adressed her captivated audience from the theme: "A New Century Dawns On the Horizon for WCG."

Mrs. Massey, Coordinator of Refugees for the Church of God, and who has recently returned from a three weeks tour of refugee camps in East Asia, presented a lecture-film presentation on around the Big Spring area.

The program will start at 4 p.m. and will end by 6 p.m. There will be recreation afterwards. Special guests on the program include the musical group "Shalom" from Midland to present a mini concert. All the youth are invited to attend. The church is located at 701 NW 5th. The pastor of the church is the Rev. Johnny Castro.

Burrito sale planned

The Youth of the First Mexican Baptist Church are having a Burrito and Bake Sale at the Highland Shopping Center Mall this Saturday to raise funds for their trip to the Baptist Latin American Youth Congress in McAllen, Texas on April 3-5.

This Saturday also, the youth will host the Latin American Central Baptist Associational Youth Rally that is held monthly. There are 14 churches involved from around the Big Spring area.

The program will start at 4 p.m. and will end by 6 p.m. There will be recreation afterwards. Special guests on the program include the musical group "Shalom" from Midland to present a mini concert. All the youth are invited to attend. The church is located at 701 NW 5th. The pastor of the church is the Rev. Johnny Castro.

Caves present mission service

"An ever-growing number of people all over the world are learning to read. To Christian missionaries, this presents an unprecedented challenge to get the Bible and Christian literature to as many people as possible," said the Rev. David Cave.

Mr. Cave, a newly approved Assemblies of God candidate missionary to Mexico, will be guest speaker for a missions service, Sunday at 7 p.m., at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, 2205 Goliad, the Reverend Terry Wilson, pastor, has announced.

In their first term of service, Mr. Cave and his wife Nancy will be working with the International Correspondence Institute (ICI) program of the Assemblies of God. ICI is a correspondence Bible school and service agency; its purposes are to evangelize, teach, and train people by extension methods.

The Caves will promote the use of ICI materials in Mexico. ICI offers all levels of evangelism and Christian education courses, and a primary purpose of the school is to take the Word of God to people where they are. About his work Mr. Cave said, "Often newly-literate people are flooded with reading materials containing harmful teachings. Our purpose is to combat such influences by giving them the truth of the Bible to live by."

Mr. and Mrs. Cave have previously worked in Mexico on a temporary assignment with the Assemblies of God Mobilization and Placement Service. They have also been involved in evangelism in the States. The Caves served as associate pastors at the Real Life Assembly of God in Salem, Ohio.

In preparation for missionary service Mr. Cave attended Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie, Texas. He holds a B.S. degree in agricultural engineering from Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas, and also attended Howard College in Big Spring, Texas.

A multimedia presentation about the Caves' work will be featured in this special missions service. Pastor Terry Wilson invites the public to attend.

Son Lights appear Sunday

Janie White and the Son Light Gospel Singers will be conducting a concert and witnessing ministry Sunday morning, 10:45 a.m., at the First Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster. Janie White, the leader and featured singer of the group, was named the number one vocalist of a gospel music association in 1978. Other members furnish vocal and instrumental specials.

This is a return engagement for the Son-Lights, and will be preceded by members of the group sharing in the different departments of the church school at 9:45 a.m.

This Christian singing group from Dallas has ministered in many churches and concerts throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana. Their appeal is to young and old alike in songs such as Rise Again, Home, Born Again, How Great Thou Are, Amazing Grace and many of their own original songs written by members of the group.

They have led many to Christ and seen homes put back together. Albums of the group are entitled: Thanks to Calvary, (Something Did Happen to Daddy), My Tribute (To God Be the Glory) and Rise Again. They are currently being heard over many Christian radio stations throughout the United States. Their songs have been on the Top 10 on several occasions on the Christian stations. The group is available for concerts, church services, banquets, revivals and youth programs.

The young adults and young people in the group share their testimonies with the youth of many churches, schools and organizations and share their family's testimony about how God changed their lives.

She and her daughter, Rejana, sing a song about the new father they now have. Janie also tells through the song "Thanks to Calvary," how she also is a new mother since her life was changed.

Janie White has been singing Christian music for several years. She sang for popular dinner clubs as a professional singer before she became a Christian.

Jim White, Janie's husband, is the group's manager and sound engineer. He takes care of driving the bus, which involves missing a lot of sleep.

Her daughter, Rejana, has been singing since she was one-year-old. She has been singing in churches since she was three. Rejana sings with the group on records and live and even solos. Their teenage son, Jimmie, is a talented percussionist. He has taken lessons and played for a year.

Lisa Gray plays keyboard on arp synthesizer and piano. She sings as well.

Gleaners class meets

The Gleaner's Sunday School Class met Thursday night in the home of Rosalee Hill, 1010 E. 12, for their March meeting.

The devotion was given by Velma Graham on Psalm 3. Each worded a prayer for the Baptist Temple Revival coming in April.

The treasurer's report was given by Winford Wood. The secretary's report was given by Nanny Garrett. A total of 13 were present and one guest Duo Porch.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Ethel Simmons and Winford Wood, Olean Milton and Ann Walker.

The next meeting will be in June at the home of Louise Dunlap, 1003 Stadium.

A Farthing's Worth
THREE KEYS TO LIFE
Someone has said, "It's one thing to be alive, yet another to live, really live." So many people are learning how to make a living while failing to learn how to live.
To really live, we need three things: (1) A FAITH FIT TO LIVE BY; (2) A SELF FIT TO LIVE WITH; (3) A CAUSE FIT TO LIVE FOR. Real Christianity provides all three. I'll be preaching about these things Sunday. Why not visit a congregation of "just Christians" this Sunday?

Redistricting difficult

Census could hurt Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says the failure of the Census Bureau to provide Texas with the number of citizens and non-citizens in the state would make it impossible to draw fair legislative and congressional districts.

He said this failure "can only be viewed as an attempt by the Carter administration ... to rob American citizens of their constitutional right to full and fair representation in their state legislatures and Congress."

Clements said he was dismayed by the refusal of Vincent Barabba, director of the Census Bureau, to implement the "Texas Plan."

The governor wants the Census Bureau to provide the state separate counts, by census tract, of citizens and aliens. He says the Legislature should not count aliens when it tries to draw legislative and congressional districts of substantially equal population.

"By counting but not distinguishing aliens, you would make citizens count for less in their own government," Clements wrote Barabba on Wednesday.

Clements indicated Texas, and possibly other states, would sue if the changes are not made in collecting and reporting census data.

In a March 11 letter, Barabba said the "paramount difficulty" with Clements' request on counting the alien population is that it "comes long after basic decisions on the availability of data had to be made."

Barabba said the final census questions had to be transmitted to Congress in April 1978. "During the period before April 1978, when revisions in questionnaire content were still possible, neither the states nor other primary data users identified the potential importance of including citizenship on the short form," he told Clements.

He said the Census Bureau had rejected the idea of attaching a flyer on citizenship to the short form questionnaire because "this procedure would seriously delay the census and would, in any event, be very unlikely to produce accurate and reliable information, even for total non-citizens."

"It is, of course, impossible now to make any significant alterations in these work plans," said Barabba.

"I don't buy that for one minute," responded Clements.

He said Barabba's letter did not address the "central point of the Texas Plan: simply stated, only by having a citizen count available as part of its redistricting data will the Texas Legislature, among others, be able to enact a redistricting plan that is constitutional under the Supreme Court's one-man-one-vote decisions."

Asbestos suit judgment nets woman largest

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — An insulator's widow, awarded $3 million in damages by a federal jury here, may have received one of the largest asbestos related judgments in the country, said a follower of similar lawsuits.

Following the judgment, the managing editor of an Edgermont, Pennsylvania magazine that keeps up with asbestos lawsuits said the award is the largest for an individual he has ever heard about.

Michael T. Mealey, of Asbestos Litigation Reporter, said he does not remember an individual ever receiving even $1 million from a jury.

The widow, Alberta Minges, filed the suit against 14 asbestos companies after her husband, Russell Minges, died in May 1979 of mesothelioma, a cancer of the outside lining of the lung.

Thirteen of the defendant manufacturing companies agreed to settle the suit out of court for $400,000 just before the trial began earlier this week.

Nicolet Industries, Inc., of Pennsylvania, did not agree to the settlement.

Testimony in the 2½ day trial indicated mesothelioma is commonly associated with inhalation of asbestos fibers and victims generally died within six to 18 months of diagnosis.

Minges was an industrial insulator for 34 years in Jefferson County.

Nicolet attorney Dale Dowell told jurors any Nicolet products used by Minges did not contain asbestos.

Mrs. Minges' attorney, Walter Umphrey, said after the verdict that it is not certain how much of the judgment Nicolet will have to pay.

It was not clear who would pay the damages, and if the settlement amount would be subtracted from the jury award.

Dowell said he will file several motions asking U.S. District Judge Robert Parker to decide the question.

Including 13-18 age groups

Little League sign-up Saturday

Little League baseball is just around the corner, and youngsters are reminded that the important sign-up date for anyone wishing to play is set for tomorrow.

The local Little League program has included boys and girls from ages 8-12 up until this year, but it has been expanded to include athletes up to the age of 18 starting tomorrow.

The 13-18 age group will be divided into two leagues. The 13-15 age group will play in the Senior League, while the 16-18-year-old players will be classified in the Big League. The president of the older division of the Little League program is Dale Worthan, and he has emphasized that teams will be cut in number in order to allow everyone more playing time.

The 13-18 age group are also reminded that they will not be assigned to their old teams of last year, but will have to be drafted following a tryout period. This makes tomorrow's sign-up date very important.

Little Leaguers aged 8-12 are also reminded that they must register tomorrow in order to play this year. The Little Leaguers should sign-up at the location in which their addresses place them.

The International Little League players should register at the International League Park, which is located on the Industrial Park next to the Westside Day Care Center.

American Leaguers should register for this year at the College Baptist Church Activity Building on 11th Place.

National League players should register at Pittman Park, which is located just off Highway 87 by the American Legion building.

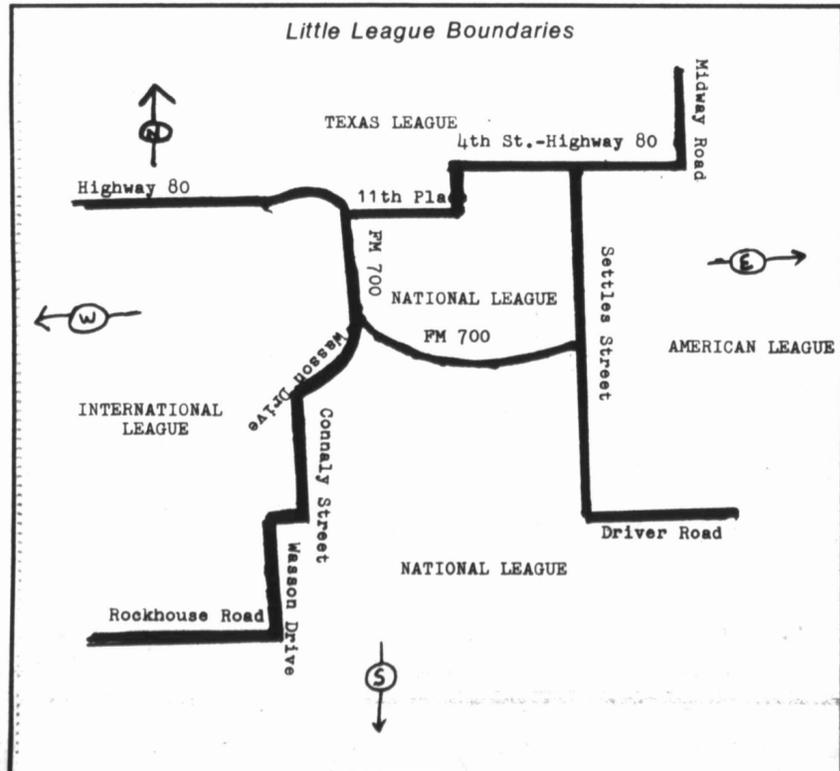

The Texas Leaguers should register at the Texas Little League Park, which is located on the Bauer School property.

The 13-18-year-old Little Leaguers will sign up at the College Baptist Church Activity Building, the same place as the American Leaguers.

The time of the sign-ups tomorrow is from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. All players are reminded that they must be accompanied by a parent or guardian, and must bring their birth certificates.

For those 13-18-year-old players that can't sign-up tomorrow, they can also register from five o'clock to six in the afternoon everyday next week at the American League Park, which is located just behind Memorial Stadium on the back of the Howard College campus.

WTC advances to semifinal

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — If Saturday night will decide the championship of the Men's National Junior College Basketball Tournament, tonight will determine who's tops in Texas.

Top-ranked Western Texas of Snyder will put its 35-0 record on the line in a semifinal game against Tyler, Texas, which owns a not-too-shabby 31-6 mark.

The other contest pits Yavapai, Ariz., 23-12, against Jefferson State, Ala., 23-9.

Western Texas advanced on the strength of a 100-79 decision over Lincoln, Ill., Thursday night, while Tyler sent Baltimore out of title contention with a 73-59 triumph.

Western Texas, behind 22 points from sophomore forward Greg Stewart, rallied from a sluggish first half to defeat Lincoln.

The winners trailed by as many as eight points before tying the game at 45-45 at halftime, then opened the final period with a decisive 13-2 spurt.

Bill Patterson added 20 points for the winners, while Fred Watkins had 24 and Julius Poinsette 19 for Lincoln, 27-8.

Concerning Olympics

American athletes to meet with Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has been trying to convince the nations of the world for the past two months that they should boycott the Olympic Games in Moscow this summer. Today, he attempted to sell the idea to American athletes.

Carter has invited 100 athletes to the White House to discuss the reasons for his proposing the boycott and plans for alternative international games.

The athletes say they have been promised they will not merely be briefed on a boycott decision, which the administration said is "final and irrevocable."

"We understand that we will be given an opportunity to ask questions and express views...It is very important that this is not just a showcase for the administration to say, 'This is the way things are,' said Anita De Frantz, a 1976 Olympic bronze medalist who is a member of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

"Since this thing began," she told the Washington Post, "most athletes have said, 'Why don't you talk to us?' This is our opportunity."

Edward Williams of New York, chairman of the 47-member council, said the regular meeting of the group was to be held in Chicago, but when the athletes asked the White House to send representatives, they were invited to Washington. "We accepted readily," he said.

In addition to the advisory council, representatives of national governing bodies of the various Olympic sports and several gold medal winners such as Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., and television personalities Bruce Jenner and Donna Verona also were to attend.

President Carter called for the boycott of the Moscow Games on Feb. 24 because of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and has been trying to sell other nations on the idea.

The Carter administration's count of countries supporting the boycott has varied from week to week. There always have been more countries that have "indicated support privately" than endorsed the boycott publicly.

Despite the Carter administration's call for the boycott, the U.S. Olympic Committee has not formally voted to support the president, although USOC officials have said they will go along with his wishes.

A decision on sending American athletes to Moscow will be made by the USOC before May 24, the deadline for entries to the Games.

Hegman's status remains clouded

DALLAS (AP) — An attorney for Dallas Cowboy Mike Hegman will try to reimburse a bank for more than $10,000 the linebacker is accused of forging from a roommate's checkbook after four teammates chipped in $8,000.

But Hegman's playing future still remains up in the air and prosecutors say they will not dismiss forgery charges even if the money is repaid.

Quarterback Roger Staubach, middle linebacker Bob Breunig, safety Cliff Harris and running back

Tony Dorsett each loaned Hegman $2,000 to help repay the bank.

Attorney Spencer Kopf said Breunig gathered enough from other sources to meet the $10,534.78 due the Republic National Bank of Dallas.

Hegman was indicted Monday on charges accusing him of writing 27 checks for a total of $10,534.78 due the account of Chuck Mayhew between last September and last December. Hegman had shared a Dallas townhouse with Mayhew while Hegman and his wife were getting a divorce.

The indictment accused Hegman of forging Mayhew's name on 27 checks drawn on Mayhew's account.

"We're doing everything we can to get it taken care of so it won't have to go to court," Kopf said Thursday.

"It shouldn't go to court."

But Assistant District Attorney Richard Zandia said "There are no plans to dismiss the Hegman case."

"It's just like in a bank robbery. Just because somebody makes restitution doesn't do away with the fact a crime has been committed."

Dean Weese take Levelland job

LEVELLAND, Texas (AP) — Dean Weese, fired earlier this year as head coach of the Dallas Diamonds of the Women's Basketball League, has accepted a job as head coach for the girl's basketball team at Levelland High School.

Weese was fired near the end of the season after serving as first year head coach for the cellar-dwelling Dallas team.

Before moving first into college coaching at Wayland Baptist, Weese coached girl's basketball at Spearman High School. In 15 seasons there, he took his teams to the state tournament nine times and won three state championships.

His overall coach record in high school and college basketball was 723-164.

"It will be a lot of fun to get back to a situation where I can coach and get back to the fundamentals of basketball," Weese said of his new job. He said in college the emphasis is on recruiting and in the pros, the emphasis is on the draft.

South Plains hires Perryman

LEVELLAND — Dennis Perryman has been named the new head basketball coach at South Plains College.

Perryman, who was at Northern Montana College the past year, brings a lifetime record of 288-158 to South Plains. His Dawson Community College teams still hold two NJCAA records set in 1969 — (for the most points scored in a season and the most points by an individual in a game.)

Steerette golfers advance to third

Midland High extended their narrow lead in the District 5-AAAA girls golf race here Thursday, shooting a round of 361 to increase their league leading margin to three strokes over crosstown rival Midland Lee.

The Big Spring Steers took advantage of their familiarity with the Comanche Trail Golf Course here to overtake the Midland Lee No. 2 team and move into third place in the standings.

Jackie Roach once again led the Big Spring Steerette golfers, as she carded a round of 89. Debbie Veronda had a 106, with Veronda Boothe and Lisa Bumgarner carding rounds of 109. Other Big Spring scores included Toni Subia (116), Diana Lewis (117), Rhonda Woodall (120), and Karen Woodall (125).

Following the Steerettes in the ratings are Lee No. 2 and San Angelo. Odessa also has a team, but does not have enough players competing in order to count in the standings.

The Big Spring girls venture to Kermit next Friday for a non-district meet, and then finalize the District 5-AAAA race on April 3 in San Angelo.

NCAA semifinals tomorrow

The talking is over

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — UCLA Coach Larry Brown knows the tall task facing his Bruins if they plan to write another chapter in their Cinderella success story: Stop Joe Barry Carroll.

"Carroll is a dominating player, certainly the key man on their team," Brown said of Purdue's 7-foot-1, 245-pound All-America center. "The only player on the West Coast who compares to Joe Barry performs for the Lakers."

It may be exaggerating to rank Carroll alongside Los Angeles Lakers pivotman Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. However, how well the young Bruins meet the challenge Carroll presents will go a long way toward determining the outcome of Saturday's semifinal of the NCAA basketball championship between unranked UCLA, 21-9, and the 20th-ranked Boilermakers, 22-9.

No. 2 Louisville, 31-3, takes on unranked Iowa, 23-8, in the opener of Saturday's doubleheader before a sellout crowd of some 17,000 at Market Square Arena and a national television audience. The winners will meet for the title Monday night.

The first game will feature two of the premier guards in the nation, Louisville's Darrell Griffith and Iowa's Ronnie Lester.

The spotlight in the second game will be focused squarely on Carroll, who is regarded by most scouts as the one college senior capable of stepping into the pro ranks and turning a team around. He averaged 22.1 points and 9.1 rebounds per game during the regular season, and has picked those numbers up to 26.5 and 9.8 for his four NCAA tournament games so far.

Ex-Marquette Coach Al McGuire calls Carroll "an aircraft carrier." DePaul Coach Ray Meyer describes him as "a skyscraper, the kind of guy who scores more points by accident than those little guys score on purpose."

And St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca, whose team was beaten by Purdue 87-73 in the Midwest Regional, says Carroll will need "a Brinks truck" when he turns pro. "Once he gets the ball down low," adds Carnesecca, "he's unstoppable."

Brown knows that all too well, and has designed his game plan accordingly.

"There's no doubt in my mind what the key to stopping Purdue is," he said. "We have to keep the ball from Carroll. Once he gets it, there's not much chance for us to stop him."

The problem is particularly acute for UCLA, whose starting center is 6-foot-6 sophomore Mike Sanders, one of the shortest regular pivots in the major college ranks.

But it was Brown's mid-season decision to move Sanders, as well as freshman guards Rod Foster and Michael Holton, into the starting lineup that turned UCLA's season around. The Bruins, who struggled to an 8-6 start, went 13-3 with their new lineup of the young trio plus senior forwards Kiki Vandeweghe and James Wilkes.

"We went through some difficult times," said Brown. "We played a lot of people early. When we were 8-6 it was time we started building a foundation for the future. I decided to go with the kids because they deserved a chance to play."

And play they have, knocking off top-ranked DePaul in the second round of the tournament and outrebounding their four opponents 150-142.

"We've rebounded well all year," said Brown. "We have tremendous quickness and jumping ability inside. Our man-to-man defense gives each guy the responsibility for working hard on his man and blocking him out."

"But no one we've faced this year compares to Carroll."

Nevertheless, Purdue Coach Lee Rose isn't taking anything for granted. "I'm very impressed with their quickness, especially when they go to the boards," he said.

In the first game, Iowa will seek to extend its unbeaten streak against opponents from outside the Big Ten Conference. The Hawkeyes, who tied for fourth place in the conference with a 10-8 record, were 13-0 against outside foes.

Their success may hinge on the health of Lester, their 6-2 senior guard who missed 15 games because of a knee injury that still bothers him. Iowa was 15-1 this season with Lester, 8-7 without him.

Arts and craft deadline near

Attention Big Spring artists and craftsmen! Entry deadline for this year's Arts and Crafts Round-up is drawing near, according to Maria Faulkner, director. Booth registration blanks may be picked up at Lusk Paint and Frame, 1601 Scurry; The Treasure Chest, 1609 Scurry; and the Hitchin' Post, 1601 E. FM 700. Booth registration forms must be returned to one of these three places no later than March 25. Booth registration fee is $20. "The response has really been good so far," says Mrs. Faulkner, "but we would really like to encourage local artists to enter. I'd say 90 percent of the entries we have received are from out of town. We have participants from a 300-mile radius." Anyone interested is eligible to enter. For more information, contact Mrs. Faulkner at 263-4963.

Bed, Maybe— But No Board!

DEAR ABBY: You would do a lot of elderly single men a favor if you would tell them to change their line when they go courting. This is the message: Most older ladies hate to cook!

Some may like to cook, but my widowed mother, mother-in-law, and all their friends in their 60s and 70s are wary of remarrying because it seems that most men just want a cook. After 40 or 50 years of making meals for a husband and family, these women have had it, and they want to eat out as often as possible.

So, Abby, tell the older gentlemen that the quickest way to turn a woman off is to say, "Gee, I sure would enjoy a good home-cooked meal."

But if they want to turn a woman on they should say, "I miss having company at mealtime. What time shall I call for you?"

HOOSIER MATCHMAKER

DEAR HOOSIER: Inviting a lady out to dine is better for openers than hinting for a home-cooked meal. But feeding a man is a time-honored expression of love.

DEAR ABBY: I am a former ugly duckling. For the last few years I have been on a staunch self-improvement campaign. This includes diet, exercise, and instructions on skin care, makeup and hairstyles. I am 30, married, and considered attractive by most people.

A few times, my husband has given me the following compliment: "Even though you are far from beautiful, you are kind, smart and a good housekeeper."

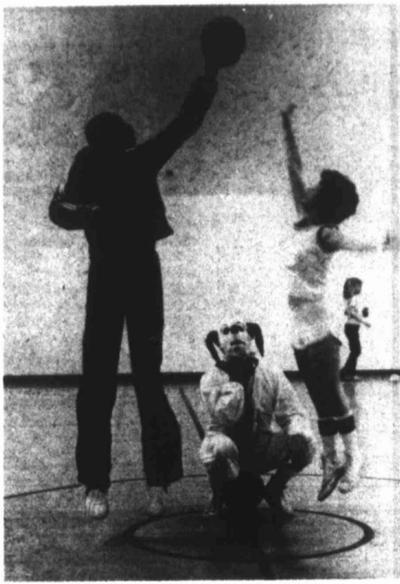

I realize that I am overly sensitive, but I take this compliment as an insult. During a heated argument over this often repeat "compliment" my husband insisted that in a marriage one must be totally honest about one's feelings, even if the other is hurt.

I maintain that his comments were unnecessary, and damaging to my ego, and he should have kept them to himself.

Who is right?

CONNECTICUT

DEAR CONN: You are. Your husband's "total honesty" strikes me as being needless cruelty.

Girl sadder but wiser

By Robert Wallace, Ed D

Dr. Wallace: I'm writing this letter in hopes that it will help at least one boy or girl.

When I was 13 I thought it was cool to date older men and started dating a 25-year-old guy. When I was 14, I became pregnant.

I thought he loved me and that I had no worries but when I told him, he accused me of having sex with other guys and refused to claim responsibility. Soon after, he split, never to be heard of again.

I was sent to a girls' home clear-across the state. Most of the girls gave their babies up for adoption — those who had babies to give up.

Many girls had miscarriages or their babies were stillborn. Some babies died a few days after birth because the mother was too young and not yet ready to create life.

I was blessed with a healthy beautiful boy and decided to keep him with help from my parents.

I went back to high school but for me, the responsibility of raising my son was overwhelming.

I started to party. Mom was watching my son. I started drinking and smoking pot. Soon I was on hard drugs — acid, speed and cocaine.

Thank God, I got my act together. I'll be graduating from high school this May.

Teens, my message is this, and take it from one who has been there — wait until you are mature enough to accept the responsibility of dating. Make sure when you date steadily, your partner is respectable and one you can trust. Remember,

MR. AND MRS. ERNEST R. WILLIAMSON

Golden anniversary celebration Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Williamson, Gail Rt., will be honored on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary. A reception will be held Saturday from 2-5 p.m. in the Barcelona Club Room. Children of the couple invite friends to participate in the celebration.

The couple were married March 22, 1930 in Duncan, Okla., by the Rev. J.J. Ward. They reared four children including Russell Williamson, Jan Rouleau and Henry Williamson, all of Big Spring; and Elizabeth Jones, Bedford.

They are the grandparents of 14 and the great-grandparents of 10.

Mr. Williamson was employed by Shelly Oil Company for 33 years, retiring in 1974. Mrs. Williamson was associated with the Big Spring Independent School District for 14 years in food service management, retiring in 1965.

Both are active members of the Crestview Baptist Church where Mr. Williamson is an ordained deacon and Mrs. Williamson is the teacher of the Dorcas Sunday School Class.

U.S. Steel starts anti-dumping actions

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., saying that unfair competition from foreign mills has hurt its business, cost 100,000 American jobs and harmed the U.S. economy, today is launching anti-dumping actions against producers in seven European countries.

Eighty cartons of documents to support its case were being delivered today to the Commerce Department and the International Trade Commission, U.S. Steel officials said.

The complaints are being filed over the objections of the Carter administration, which fears the action could lead to a trade war.

The move is likely to end the administration's controversial trigger price mechanism, designed to protect the domestic steel industry by setting minimum prices to limit cheap steel from abroad.

U.S. Steel's announcement came less than 24 hours after the Commerce Department said it would leave the so-called trigger price unchanged for the next three months. The department also warned that the triggers may be suspended if the complaints are filed.

"Unfairly priced imports over the years have had, and are having, serious adverse effects on American steel producers," U.S. Steel chairman David M. Roderick said Thursday.

Beside the loss of jobs, "the economy as a whole has been injured through lost taxes, added unemployment, and additional welfare costs," he said.

The complaints involve a variety of products exported from France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Italy, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands and West Germany.

The domestic steel industry has long complained that the government has not enforced trade laws, allowing foreign steel to be dumped here — sold below the cost of production. U.S. Steel's complaints allege that 75 percent of the 5.4 million tons shipped by European steelmakers last year, valued at $1.5 billion, was dumped.

When U.S. producers were ready to file similar complaints in 1977, the administration averted the actions by establishing the trigger price mechanism. It sets minimum prices for foreign steel here, triggering an investigation when there are violations. The prices are based on Japanese production costs, the world's most efficient, according to the government.

But domestic steelmakers argue Japanese costs are not accurately calculated, making the trigger too low. They also say the government doesn't adequately enforce the mechanism. A General Accounting Office report not yet published says as much as 40 percent of imported steel lands here under the trigger price.

He also said higher trigger prices could be inflationary because they provide a floor for domestic producers to raise their own prices.

Alamo activists arrested

'All they wanted was a little press coverage'

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — By the Alamo's legendary standards, it wasn't much of a battle. Three unarmed protesters scaled the walls and flew a red flag over the historic shrine Thursday, only to be arrested by police 40 minutes later.

A crowd of about 200 downtown bystanders cheered and applauded as police officers unceremoniously plucked the three activists off the roof. They cheered again when an officer removed the red flag and replaced the Texas flag the protesters had torn down.

The three protesters, who claimed to be members of the obscure "Texas Revolutionary May Day Brigade," said their occupation was meant to show that the Alamo was a "hated monument to slavery, U.S. plunder of Mexico and the vicious oppression of the Chicano people."

The incident was termed an "outrage" by officials of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, who administer the "Cradle of Texas Liberty," where a crucial battle of the Texas Revolution was fought in 1836.

"All they wanted was a little press coverage," said Police Sgt. Johnny Sanders, one of the contingent of more than a dozen officers and firemen on the scene.

"They can take American hostages in Iran... but when they try to take over the Alamo, we Texans just won't stand for it," said one police officer who requested anonymity.

Police identified the three protesters as: Damian Garcia, 31; Hayden Steel Fisher, 31, and Abigail Bayer, 33, all of Houston. Officials said late Thursday night that the trio would be charged with "desecration of a venerated object," a misdemeanor that carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $2,000 fine.

Police also arrested three other persons they identified as associates of the trio. Those persons, who remained on the ground, would be charged with disorderly conduct, police said.

Witnesses said the three protesters unexpectedly began scaling adjacent walls at the side of the famous Alamo chapel building about 2 p.m. and easily reached the 20-foot-high roof.

An undetermined number of tourists were inside the mission at the time, but most were unaware of what was happening until the protesters began shouting.

Alamo security guard W.D. Lucas said the protesters ripped down the Texas flag and replaced it with a red one. They also unfurled a banner that said: "Revolutionary May Day 1980. Take History Into Our Hands."

The protesters displayed other red flags, threw out leaflets and shouted revolutionary slogans through a bullhorn until the roar of a low-flying police helicopter drowned them out.

The occupation ended when police officers climbed up a ladder at the back of the 226-year-old building and arrested and handcuffed the protesters, who stood mute with clenched fists.

"We had the helicopter to check and see if they were armed before we tried to go up. They were not armed," Sanders said.

The Houston-based protest organization was one of several formed in the United States three months ago to drum up support for May Day protests May 1, said a group spokeswoman in Houston. She refused to give her name.

The protesters said the Alamo and the Texas Revolution led to the Mexican War and the "theft" of Texas and other Mexican land in the southwestern United States.

Cat lovers get backs up

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The fur can really fly when cat lovers get their backs up, state Sen. James Gallagher has discovered.

He's been getting hate mail since Monday when he was talking about a bill to require motorists who injure or kill a domestic animal to "make a reasonable effort to determine the owner of the animal."

"I can see stopping (a car) for a dog. But a cat? I don't know. You squish a cat and go on. I think we're over complicating life," said Gallagher.

But indignant cat owners may have the last word. Some of their comments:

"We have a darling Persian cat. She is more to us than some people's kids are to them."

"Animals don't do unto people like people do to animals."

"I'm writing this letter to tell you how furious I am over your lack of respect for my cat."

Bandit's a regular person

HOUSTON (AP) — After one look at the customer, the waitress knew right away what he wanted.

"Oh yes, you want to hold the place up," she said. It wasn't hard to figure out — the young man had robbed the same restaurant three times in the past 11 days. He replied that was correct.

"I'll be right with you, but first let me take care of this customer," police quoted the unidentified waitress as saying.

"That's OK. Your customer's with me," the bandit replied.

The pair took all the money in the cash register — $18.71 — and fled.

They were arrested a few hours later, police said.

Better late than nzeeg?

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Detective Sam Russler was late getting out of court. As he drove an unmarked department car back to the police station, he worried that he'd miss his bus home.

In fact, he spotted his buddies waiting for the bus. As he was looking at them, the car ahead of him stopped.

So did his car, but only after running into the other car, which happened to be Police Chief Ruben Ortega's.

Neither officer was injured, and their cars were only slightly damaged.

"It just topped off a bad day," Russler said. "Things had not been going good in court either."

Expenses for CRMWD running under budget

Expenses for the Colorado River Municipal Water District are running substantially under budget for the first two months of the year, but much of that is seasonal. As demand for water in the spring and summer grows, so will expenses.

Through February, disbursements for operations, maintenance, administration and general, and recreation services were $485,067, or $191,238 less than for the budgeted period. However, water purchases from well fields were $39,000 under budget and electric power from the lakes $134,000 under budget because of the lighter amount of pumping. Operations and maintenance expenses for two months were $386,198 against a budget of $584,553 for two months. Administrative and general expenses were $85,496 against a budget of $76,611 for the period, principally because of earlier payment of insurance. Recreation expenses were $13,393, compared with a budgeted figure of $15,161.

Through February, revenue amounted to $1,36,023, or $184,000 more than for the same time a year ago. Of this $99,081 came from sales to cities, up $219,000; $188,520 from oil companies, down $42,000.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAR. 22, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until mid-afternoon there will be obstacles and delays in your path of progress. Think about expansion you wish in the future and less about the present. Be more optimistic.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Attending to routine chores early in the day will give you more time to be with congenials later. Cooperate more with others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your hunches are not good early in the day but later they are most helpful. Join good friends for recreational purposes.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make plans to have more income in the days ahead. Take time to improve your appearance and you can easily impress others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can now plan how to have added abundance in the future. A wise attitude toward loved one brings excellent results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study the amount of effort needed to gain an important goal. Show that you will go to any length to please the one you love.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle any civic duties ahead of you early in the day and later you can enjoy the social side of life. Be active and happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Look over your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Be sure to control your temper at all times today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan how to complete your regular chores with fewer interruptions and more efficiency. Study statements for possible errors.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You could easily make a costly mistake where finances are concerned so be on the alert. Engage in favorite hobby.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You may find it hard to get things done early in the day, but later you can make up for lost time. Strive for increased happiness.

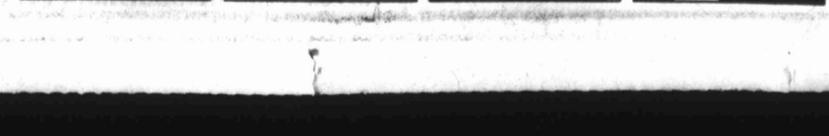

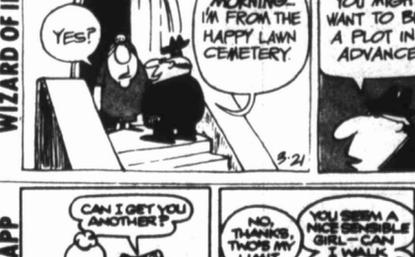

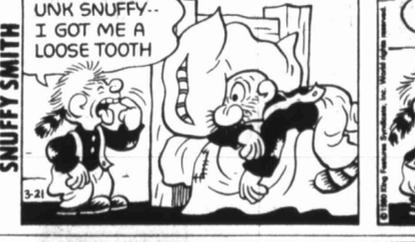

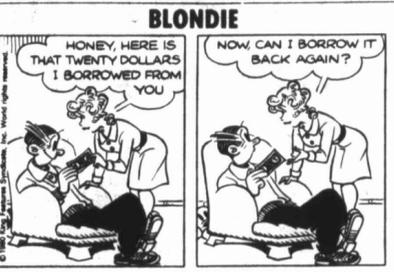

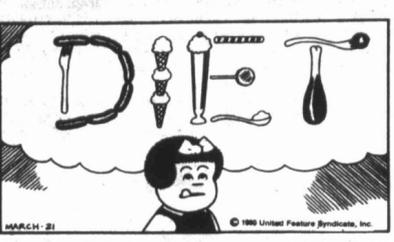

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get an early start on that work you have to do instead of complaining and you get fine benefits from it. Be logical.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Others around you may seem pessimistic about the future, but don't let this influence you. Maintain a cheerful manner.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be good at understanding anything of a psychological nature and should have the education directed along such lines for best results in lifetime. There is musical talent in this chart. Religious training is a must.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to express my sincere gratitude to all the concerned people who sent cards, letters, flowers and put donations in my special account at the bank while I was in the hospital. I also appreciate the visits and long distance phone calls while I was in the hospital at Temple. Many thanks to those people that helped and participated with the benefit dance. Your prayers and thoughtfulness concerning my illness helped me to recover so much faster. Thank you and God bless you.

No rise in state tax predicted by Clements

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says Texans can forget about a general state tax increase next year but can probably count on paying a higher state gasoline tax. Clements told a news conference Thursday he would veto any general tax hike. Asked if there were circumstances, such as a drop-off in tax collections, that would cause him to change his mind about vetoing a tax bill, Clements said: "No, there are no such circumstances." He said, however, "I don't think we will have any difficulty" raising the nickel-a-gallon gas tax, which is one of the lowest in the nation. "We should have done it long ago." The gasoline tax supports highways, primarily, but also contributes to public schools and the highway patrol.

 American Quasar announces discovery in Hidalgo County

FORT WORTH — condensate discovery in the Frio Sand. On a six-hour production test, the well flowed gas at a rate of 1.45 million cubic feet, plus 148 barrels of 58-gravity condensate per day at an interval from 8,802 to 8,816 feet. The test was on a choke opening of 8-14", at a flowing tubing pressure of 3,480 pounds per square inch and a shut-in tubing pressure of 4,150 psi — for a calculated absolute open flow of five million cubic feet of gas per day. American Quasar, along with its Can-Am 1979-2 limited partnership, has a working interest in the well of approximately 58.3 percent; GS Oil & Gas Company has 25 percent, Moore McCormack 11.1 percent and Hamilton Exploration Company approximately 5.6 percent. There are about 950 gross undeveloped acres in the prospect area.
