CANNON ROLL — One of the most dangerous stunts in the business is the cannon roll, in which two sticks of dynamite are detonated under a car rolling it over and over. This one was performed on Rock House Road by Alan Gibbs, a stuntman who has performed more cannon rolls than anyone in the business. This was his 17th.

Last of living gladiators

To risk the dynamic

By JAMES WERRELL

Burt Marshall smiles when he says it, but it's obvious he means it: "We're the last of the living gladiators."

And he's right. Marshall is one of a dozen stuntmen working on the movie "Hangar 18," being filmed in and around Big Spring.

He is also one of a rare breed of men and women who are paid money to drive cars off of cliffs, jump off of tall buildings, set themselves on fire, crash through windows, and a host of other things that are ordinarily performed only by the insane or the accident-prone.

Of the stuntmen working on "Hangar 18," three of them, Marshall, Freddie Hice and Tom Lupo, represent a colorful cross-section of the business. They are all working together, but all took very different routes to the world of stunt work.

Marshall got his start after traveling, four years ago, from Nashville, Tenn. to Hollywood to become an actor. He managed to score roles as an extra in a few films, and small acting parts in some others, but his career as an actor was not soaring.

"Then I met some stunt men, trained with them for a while, learned some tricks, and I've been doing it ever since," he explained.

Hice is the opposite side of the coin. He is part of a virtual legacy of stunt performers.

"My grandfather did stunts in Westerns in the '30s. My mother, my father, and my sister are stunt workers. We're all lifers," he said.

Hice was born and raised in Hollywood, and did his first stunt in the movie "Duel At Diablo." He played a young boy cradled in the arms of his mother who, in addition to her son, held the reins of a runaway wagon.

Lupo lived in Pennsylvania until he was six, and then moved to California's San Fernando Valley. There, as is the case with many Southern Californians, he often rubbed shoulders with the movie industry.

In 1961, while playing football for the University of Southern California, Lupo got his first role in a movie ("Bachelor In Paradise"). As with Marshall, it was a role as an extra, but Lupo was soon able to translate his skills as an athlete into those needed for stunt work.

"A lot of the professionals have athletic backgrounds," said Lupo. "There's a school for stuntmen, but it isn't recognized. Most of us were in sports, rodeo, bike racing, stuff like that," he added.

Lupo, Marshall and Hice are members of Stunts Unlimited, which Lupo describes as a "rather informal fraternal organization."

"It's basically a bunch of guys who think along the same lines, and have a mutual respect and mutual abilities," he added.

According to the three men, Stunts Unlimited is just one of several such organizations for stunt performers. Some are general in nature, and others are more specialized, such as one for women and another for black stuntmen.

What motivates someone to enter the field of stunt work?

Iranians press to extradite shah

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — An attorney representing Iran's revolutionary regime said Saturday he would file 450 pages of evidence detailing the deposed shah's alleged crimes and press for the extradition of the former monarch from Panama.

French attorney Christian Bourget said he would file the papers with Panamanian authorities on Monday, the legal deadline. Iran made the initial extradition request Jan. 23 and had 60 days to document its charges. Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi was guilty of mass murder and corruption during his 38-year reign.

In a related development, Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh charged that former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was trying to transfer the shah from this Central American country to escape extradition.

Ghotbzadeh, in a statement released in Tehran, said moving the shah would delay the release of the 50 American hostages in Iran. He charged that David Rockefeller, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, was assisting Kissinger in the alleged attempt. Neither Kissinger nor Rockefeller was immediately available for comment.

"I think that this action by Kissinger and Rockefeller, if they succeed in moving the shah from Panama and stop extradition proceedings, will have a disastrous effect in Iran and probably prolong the process of resolving the problem of the hostages and will be to the detriment of peace in the region," Ghotbzadeh said.

His statement was released by Iranian officials who said the foreign minister made the remarks in an interview with a Washington Post reporter.

It was not known if Ghotbzadeh was referring to the reported presence in Panama of White House adviser Hamilton Jordan. Informed sources in Washington and Panama City said Jordan arrived in Panama Friday for discussions relating to the shah, but neither official confirmation nor details were available.

Sources in Washington said Jordan was seeking to resolve a dispute on proposed surgery to remove the deposed monarch's inflamed and possibly cancerous spleen.

Authorities who asked not to be named, said the shah refused to let Panamanian doctors operate on him and the government refused to allow Houston, Texas, heart specialist Michael DeBakey perform the operation.

Jordan conferred with Panamanian leaders at a remote mountain retreat owned by national guard commander and former president Omar Torrijos, according to sources close to the Panamanian government.

Jordan is believed to have played key role in arranging refuge for the shah in Panama, where the ousted monarch has lived on Contadora Island since Dec. 15.

Freeze on Iranian banking melting, Sen. Bentsen says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen says the freeze slapped on Iranian banking accounts last fall in response to the taking of American hostages has started to melt.

"They (the Carter Administration) froze the Iranian bank accounts in this country and I now understand they are beginning to loosen that," the Texas Democrat said.

"That makes no sense at all. I think we ought to continue to exert stronger and stronger economic pressure on them or we are just not going to get the hostages released," Bentsen said.

The senator made his comments on a tape prepared for Saturday release on some Texas television stations.

A spokesman for Bentsen said the information was learned from reliable sources.

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified by name, said further inquiries are being made.

Bentsen also said he would favor a program of economic reprisals against Iran.

Fire threatens Big Bend area

PANTHER JUNCTION, Texas (AP) — Government firefighters using axes and picks backed a clearing around a smoldering brush and timber fire Saturday that threatened parts of the rugged Big Bend National Park.

The blaze, which broke out Friday, has charred 400 to 700 acres of the vast park in Southwest Texas.

Between 200 and 250 campers and hikers were evacuated from the area Friday. There have been no reports of injuries or damage to private property.

Cindy Simmons of the park headquarters said the fire burned down to smoldering "hot spots" in the Laguna Meadow area of the High Chisos Mountains during the night, but was still a dangerous threat.

"At present the humidity is dropping," she said. "Winds are 15 to 20 miles an hour with gusts, and continued fair weather is forecast. Those conditions could cause the hot spots to flare up again."

The terrain is partially grasslands and partially small pine trees.

She said a squad of 110 wilderness firefighting experts from the Department of the Interior had begun arriving from Idaho, and had set up a fire camp in the basin where the fire broke out.

Helicopters were readied in case the firefighters decide to drop water on the fire, but Ms. Simmons said so far the only method used to battle the fire was hand tools.

"They are using axes and picks to clear an earthen break around the fire — a line clear of fuel — to stop the fire," she said.

The road into the Chisos Basin was closed, but no other areas of the park were threatened.

The Big Bend National Park, cradled on three sides by the curve of the Rio Grande, covers 708,000 acres.

Herald staffers win state APME awards

Two Big Spring Herald staff members and a former Herald news-writer won a first place and two honorable mentions in the Associated Press Managing Editor's annual contest in Brownsville, Saturday.

Eileen McGuire placed first in Class AA in editorials. Her winning editorial entitled "Crimes of Violence" was published May 3. She now works as a feature writer for the Bay City (Mich.) Times. It was Eileen's first win in APME. However, she placed first in business, economic and consumer writing and column writing in Harte-Hanks competition last year.

Wire Editor Marie Homeyer received an honorable mention for page one makeup. The judging was based on the Oct. 30-31 and Nov. 1 issues of the Big Spring Herald. Marie, Navasota native and Texas A&M graduate, has worked as wire editor for the Herald since May of 1978.

City Editor Walt Finley placed with an honorable mention in short features. His feature was about the first day at area schools. Finley has won first places before in APME contests. He won first in feature series about narcotics in Big Spring in 1978 and two firsts in the headline-writing division.

Accepting the awards for the Herald at the convention in Brownsville was Editor Tommy Hart.

Awards were given in 19 categories. Texas newspapers were divided into three levels of competition, depending on circulation.

Spring throws tantrum with floods, winds, snow

By the Associated Press

The newborn spring threw a tantrum Saturday, assaulting the Northeast with roof-ripping winds, heavy snows and driving rains that built the worst floods in 25 years in some areas.

Communities were awash across New York and New England. Many bridges were gone, water was waist deep across some roads and highways. Hundreds of families abandoned their homes, others were isolated.

At least five persons were killed in weather-related accidents Friday and Saturday. They included a 26-year-old Maryland woman blown into the path of a car in the suburbs of Washington, where winds were clocked at more than 80 mph.

While gale-force winds pounded the Eastern states from Virginia to New England, 2 feet of snow fell near Buffalo, N.Y.

The Town of Middleburgh in Schoharie County, N.Y., was cut off from as floods blocked two state highways. Many residents had been evacuated Friday when the creeks began to rise. All roads in Kingston, N.Y., were closed and 80 to 90 families were evacuated. Also hard hit by flash floods were the New York towns of Woodstock, Saugerties, Olive, New Paltz and Shandaken.

The National Weather Service said the flooding in parts of New York and New England was the worst since 1965. The town of Tannersville in southeastern New York state recorded 9 inches of rain since Friday.

In Massachusetts, where the Westfield River surged over its banks after 3 inches of rain fell, Westfield Police Chief Gerald O'Connor also said the water was the highest since the 1965 flood.

Big Spring police nab aggravated rape suspect

Ray C. Gonzales, 27, Rock House Road, was arrested and charged with aggravated rape, shortly after 12:30 p.m. Friday.

Gonzales is suspected of committing the rape "with threat of death" between 8 and 8:30 a.m., March 15, said Big Spring Police Chief Stanley Bogard.

According to Bogard, on that day the victim had just walked from the Seven-Eleven Store at the intersection of Wasson and Randolph to her car when the assailant jumped in beside her and threatened her with a knife. He then forced her to drive to Longshore Road where the rape allegedly occurred.

"The arrest was due to plain old good police work," said Bogard, Friday.

Sgt. Richard Doane had been working as a security guard for Sun-Shick Pictures Inc., while the company was filming a stunt on Rock House Road, March 15. As routine procedure, Doane stopped a car near the filming area, and questioned the man inside.

Later, said Bogard, Doane found a similarity between the man he had questioned and a composite picture drawn from a description by the victim.

"We managed to finagle some pictures of the man Doane had stopped, and got a tentative identification," said Bogard.

Doane, Detectives George Quintero and Robert Sims, Texas Ranger Eddie Almond, Lt. Claude Morris and Bogard were present at the arrest Friday.

Charges were filed Friday afternoon, and bond was set by Justice of the Peace Bob West at $125,000.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Big Spring Independent School District hereby announces that all persons are entitled to receive an exemption of $5,000 from the market value of their residence homestead as of January 1, 1980, for the purpose of 1980 school taxes. In addition, all persons who are 65 or older as of January 1, 1980, or under a disability for purposes of payment of disability benefits under Federal Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance as of January 1, 1980, or whose disability falls within the definition of disability found in the Federal Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance Act as of January 1, 1980, are also entitled to an additional exemption of $10,000 from the market value of their residence homestead as of January 1, 1980, for the purpose of 1980 school taxes.

These exemptions can be granted only if a valid application is filed with the school district tax office by April 1, 1980. Application forms are available at the school district tax office located at 708 11th Place, Big Spring, Texas.

Applicants for the over-65 exemption will need a drivers license or other proof of age. Applicants for the disability exemption will need a letter from Social Security such as an award notice or a statement of continuing eligibility or other proof of disability as of January 1, 1980.

Racoons, squirrels, rabbits,...

Couple comes to aid of orphans

NORWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Someone had found it and brought it to the pet shop. Would the shopkeeper swap four guinea pigs for an orphaned raccoon? He would.

That was the beginning. In the years since, Toddy Powers and her husband, Dick, have raised, weaned and released back to the wild hundreds of raccoons — she became known locally as the raccoon lady — as well as enough squirrels, rabbits, skunks, woodchucks, birds and other orphaned creatures to populate a forest.

"I really didn't encourage all those people who showed up on my doorstep with baby animals," she said. "Not at first."

"Somebody heard I had a raccoon and left another with me. The word just seemed to spread. First thing I knew, pet shop owners and veterinarians heard about me, and the animals that were brought to them we end up with me. I became the neighborhood depository."

What it all led to was formation, last year, of an unusual organization Toddy Powers named Wildlife Help, Inc.

"You would be amazed at how many orphaned animals show up in the spring," she said. "It's the price of civilization. Nests are uncovered by bulldozers. Mothers are killed on the highway."

"I began receiving so many I couldn't possibly take care of them by myself."

I had to recruit friends."

Now she has a corps of about 30 human foster parents. She teaches them how to care for the wild babies, provides them with baby bottles, formula, shows them how to make a cozy nest with a heating pad, cautions detachment toward the lovable creatures so they will return more readily to the wild.

Many of her volunteers are teen-agers. "When school is out for the summer, they have the time," she said, "and they learn in the process a reverence for our fellow creatures."

"That's very good, but it has become quite expensive. Food, cages, distemper shots, donations to the refuges where we release the weaned animals, all this takes money."

Local girl, 4, hit by vehicle Friday

A girl aged four was struck by a vehicle in the west part of Howard County late Friday morning.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Fryar was hit around 11 a.m. Friday while playing near her home two miles west of Fairview, Mrs. Fryar said.

The girl was listed late Friday in guarded condition in Hall-Bennett Hospital. Ray Thomas with Hall-Bennett said the girl was doing well around 6:30 p.m. Friday.

According to the mother, the young girl suffered broken ribs and a collapsed lung. Thomas said the girl had been in surgery twice between arriving near noon and 6:30 p.m.

The mother said the young girl was outside in the front of the home playing with her 7-year-old sister.

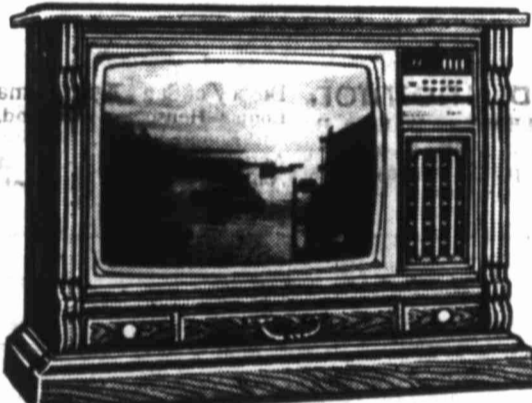

"She was out in the yard playing," Mrs. Fryar said. The mother added that her 4-year-old had gotten in front of the mailman's truck, probably running to get the day's mail.

Highway Patrolman Glenn Redmond is working on the case.

He commented, "We don't have anybody who saw what happened." An investigation, he added, is continuing.

Weaver named state's Cotton Ginner of Year

A Dawson County man received one of the top honors of the cotton industry last Saturday during a meeting of the Texas State Cotton Ginners Association in Lubbock.

Bill Weaver, manager and part owner of Weaver Gins, Inc., was named the Horace Hayden Memorial Award winner as the state's Cotton Ginner of the Year for 1979.

Weaver has been a part of numerous activities in the cotton industry. He served one year as chairman of the executive committee of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association. He has been a delegate to the National Cotton Council and served two years on the council's board of directors.

He was chairman in 1977 of the Texas Unit of the cotton council. Weaver has also served as president of the Plains Ginners Association and the Texas Independent Ginners Association.

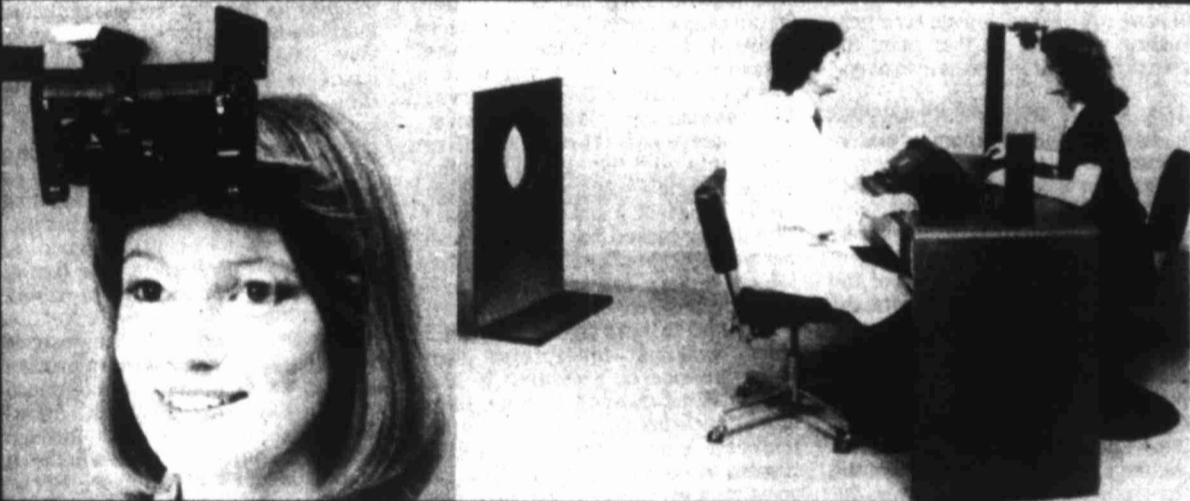

Weaver has been chairman of the Dawson County Cotton Growers Association.

On Saturday, he was elected vice-president of the Texas State Cotton Ginners Association.

Introduce the New Humphrey Vision Analyzer

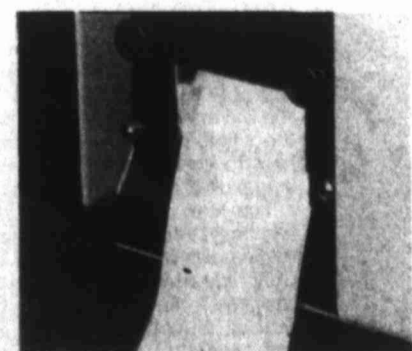

You'll Notice a Difference

If you are having your eyes examined today, you're about to experience something totally different from what you are used to experiencing. We have installed a new instrument—the Humphrey Vision Analyzer—in order that we may continue to provide you with the best possible eye care. The Vision Analyzer differs from conventional equipment in more than appearance. Using the Vision Analyzer, your doctor will be able to test your eyes more comfortably, more thoroughly and with greater accuracy than ever before.

An Advanced Optical System

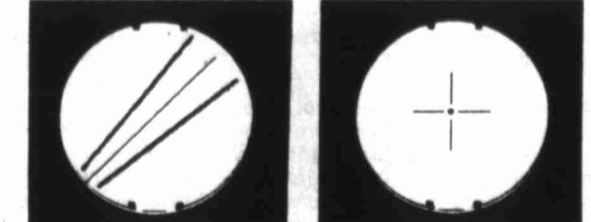

The Humphrey Vision Analyzer is the result of extensive research in variable focus lenses. These lenses, which can be manipulated to produce almost every conceivable power, are the heart of the Vision Analyzer. Combined with an advanced optical system, they produce a set of "invisible lenses" which are reflected onto, or directly in front of, your eyes. This, in part, allows your doctor to perform more sophisticated tests with less patient discomfort or confusion.

We hope you will find this to be an interesting and pleasant experience. We'd appreciate hearing your comments.

You Participate in Your Refraction

After you are properly positioned in the chair and the headrest is in place, you will be asked to look at the circular mirror directly in front of you. In the mirror, you'll be shown a series of targets. You may be asked to turn a dial to change the focus of the targets or your doctor may adjust the dial while you tell him what you see. You will see the above targets in addition to the familiar ones—rows of letters and numbers.

The dial moves the lenses inside the Vision Analyzer. As you make the mirror image "sharp and clear," you are, in effect, increasing or decreasing the strength of the lenses. This fine tuning helps the doctor determine the best prescription for your eyes. When you have found the sharpest image, a computer within the instrument immediately converts the measurements to a standard form.

Your Prescription

At the end of your examination, your measurement is printed out on what looks like adding machine tape. The doctor uses this information along with other test information to determine your best prescription.

Small alcohol consumption can result in alcoholism

If alcohol constitutes 30 to 40 percent of your calories each day, you may be an alcoholic from the point of view of a nutritionist, according to a University of Texas researcher.

Dr. RoseAnn Shorey, associate professor in home economics, told a nutrition symposium recently that it does not take much daily alcohol consumption to reach that level.

"Let's say a person drinks three beers a day," she said. "That's about 450 calories. And, if this person is a typical American, he takes in 1,000 calories in fats, 200 in sugars and 200 in white flour. That doesn't leave much room for a slice of whole wheat toast, raisins, a steak or orange juice."

"What's worse," she continued, "people will end up substituting alcohol for more nutritious foods. They will have a beer instead of that slice of whole wheat toast."

Dr. Shorey said the substitution would deprive the body of needed vitamins and minerals and it can alter vitamins already in the system.

"You don't see many healthy alcoholics," she said.

Total abstinence is not required, however, unless a woman is pregnant.

"A fetus' liver simply can't handle the alcohol as well as that of a healthy adult," she said. "If the mother goes on a binge, the baby stays on it longer."

Dr. Shorey described several hazards and possible birth defects which may be associated with alcohol during pregnancy including growth retardation, mental retardation and facial deformities.

"Alcohol-by itself-may not be the sole cause of these problems, but because of them, no safe level of consumption during pregnancy can be recommended," she said.

Using laboratory rats, Dr. Shorey has done extensive research into the nutritional ramifications of alcohol and its interactions in a marginal diet.

She spoke as a part of a nutrition symposium, "There is More to Food Than Meets the Mouth," sponsored by the University of Texas Student Dietetic Association and Health Information-Programming Office of the Dean of Students.

DIE IN CRASH — Six persons died in a twin-engine plane crash at Houston's Hobby airport Friday night. The Eagle airline commuter flight from Brownwood, Tx., crashed into two cars and two aircraft before crashing into an airplane hanger. Four persons were injured.

Complete, accurate records are useful to taxpayers

Taxpayers who keep accurate financial records have an easier time completing their income tax.

Although taxpayers are not required to use a specific record-keeping system, receipts, cancelled checks, bills, old returns, and other written documents are essential in proving their expenses, the IRS said. By law, records must be kept 3 years after the return was due or filed or 2 years after the tax was paid, whichever was later. A major exception to the retention rule involves records on property transactions. These records should be retained for as long as they are helpful in determining the basis of original or replacement property.

IRS Publication 552, "Record-keeping Requirements and Guide to Tax Publications" gives more information and can be obtained by ordering a copy using the coupon found in the tax package or by contacting IRS.

Speed up tax refunds by using peeloff label

Taxpayers can help speed up the processing of their Federal income tax return and receive their refund much faster by using the pre-addressed, peel-off label on their return, the Internal Revenue Service said. The label, which is located on the cover of the tax return package, lists the taxpayer's name, address, and social security number. If any of the information is incorrect, the taxpayer should make needed changes directly on the label.

Married taxpayers filing joint returns should be sure that both social security numbers appear on the label. If only one spouse's number is shown, the other number should be placed on the label, according to the IRS.

IRS encourages taxpayers to send their return in the coded envelope provided with the tax package and to make sure they have attached all required schedules and forms.

Insurance firms donate funds for defensive driving films

The Independent Wilder. Insurance Agents of Big Spring, a coalition of eight local insurance agents, have donated a check for $400 to Howard College to support Howard College's National Safety Council's Defensive Driving Course, according to Harold Wilder, defensive driving instructor at Howard College.

"The money is used to rent films and material that are used in each class session of the defensive driving course," said Wilder. "The class is offered monthly and the next class will start March 26. The course is for experienced drivers who want to save money on insurance premiums. Drivers who complete the course are eligible for a 10 percent reduction on their automobile liability, collision, and medical payment policies," said

Wilder. According to Wilder, the defensive driving course uses films and other visual teaching materials to train the average driver in the same crash avoidance techniques professional drivers use.

"The course is designed to teach drivers to recognize tip-offs to developing traffic accident situations and to take evasive action to prevent collisions," said Wilder. The course was designed by the National Safety Council to call drivers' attention to the magnitude of the traffic accident problem and to induce motorists to help solve the problem by improving their own driving. "We have had good response on the amount of people interested in taking the course," said Wilder. "In 1979, we had 10 classes met in Lamesa that served 191 students. There were seven classes which met in Big Spring that served a total of 175 students. We also had a senior citizens' class that graduated thirteen students. The next defensive driving course will be held from 6:30-10:30 p.m., March 26 and April 2 in the Howard College Anthony Hunt Library. Pre-registration is required as enrollment is limited. If your taxes seem lower, your right!

Don't be surprised if your taxes for 1979 seem lower. Don't be surprised if the same holds true in the years to come.

Filing requirements have been increased. A single person under 65 will have to file a return only when gross income is $3,300 or more; a single person 65 or older, $4,300. Married persons, both under 65 and filing a joint return, will have to file once their combined gross income is $5,400. If either spouse is 65 or older, the requirement is $6,400; and if both spouses are 65 or older, it jumps to $7,400. A qualifying widow or widower's filing requirement is $4,400 if he or she is under 65; $5,400 for those 65 or older. Because of these increases, many people will not have to file a return at all.

The Zero Bracket Amount has been increased, too. That's the figure that replaced the Standard Deduction, and on which zero or no tax is assessed. Now for married persons filing a joint return and for qualifying widows and widowers, the ZBA is $3,400, for single persons it is $2,300, and for married persons filing separately, the ZBA is $1,700.

The ZBA figures are incorporated in the 1979 tax tables and tax rate schedules, which also reflect a change in the tax brackets and a reduction of certain tax rates.

Instead of $750, the deduction for personal exemptions is now permanently raised to $1,000. The maximum Earned Income Credit is now $500 — up $100 from prior years. That's the credit for parents who earn less than $10,000 and who otherwise qualify. The credit is 10 percent of the first $5,000 of earned income, limited to $500, and gradually phasing out as earned income reaches $10,000. Eligible persons can figure the credit by using a table provided with the tax instructions.

The rules governing Credit for Child Care Services vary somewhat in that payments to grandparents for the care of their grandchildren may qualify now.

Political contributions no longer qualify as an itemized deduction, but they can be claimed as a tax credit. The amount has been increased to $50 for a single person or a married person filing a separate return, and $100 for married persons filing a joint return.

For those who itemize, taxes paid for gasoline, diesel, and other motor fuels are no longer allowable as deductions.

In prior years, unemployment compensation was never subject to federal income tax. But now, unemployment is no longer totally excludable. If your adjusted gross income, including excludable disability benefits, plus unemployment exceed the base amount, some of the unemployment must be included in income for tax purposes. The base amount is $25,000 for those filing a joint return, zero for those who are married and not live apart from their spouses at all during the year but choose to file a separate return, and $20,000 for single persons.

IRS Publication 553, "Highlights of 1979 Tax Changes" highlights changes taxpayers should be aware of and lists other publications which will provide comprehensive information on the various topics.

Carter, Reagan are getting few defectors from White House foes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the stunning triumphs of President Carter and Ronald Reagan, there's no apparent rush by backers of the other White House hopefuls to sign up with the front-runners, a survey shows.

An Associated Press spotcheck of political activists across the country showed backers of Democrats Edward M. Kennedy and Edmund G. Brown Jr., and Republicans George Bush and John Anderson are hanging tough despite the reverses suffered by their favorites.

"People are remaining in place," said Michigan Republican Party Chairman Peter Fletcher. "People experienced in the arena know a lot of things can happen in two or three months time. You can't take anything for granted."

Kennedy has beaten Carter only once, in the Massachusetts primary. On the GOP side, Bush won in Massachusetts after beating Reagan in the Iowa caucuses, but Reagan has swept all the other primaries.

Rep. Philip Crane of Illinois suggested last week that his supporters work for Reagan's nomination, although Crane stopped short of formally withdrawing from the race. That left some of the congressman's followers in a state of confusion.

Former GOP candidate John Connally has been reported as ready to endorse Reagan soon.

But the candidates still in the race seem to be holding their own in hopes of a comeback somewhere down the road.

"I've never been a switch-hitter," said Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley, who endorsed Kennedy early in the campaign.

"We'll stay with the senator as long as he's in the race," Kelley said. "Realistically, his chances are slim. It would take a major turnaround. But I don't see anybody getting out."

Among the few defectors was Tony Adams, Kennedy's North Carolina campaign chairman who resigned the day after the Iowa caucuses and switched to Carter, saying the president had proved he could lead the party. But neither Kennedy nor Brown ever had much support in North Carolina.

On the Republican side, George Bush appears to be hanging onto his supporters in North Carolina, even though the former United Nations ambassador is a heavy underdog to Reagan in that state.

Three Bush supporters in Maryland have switched to uncommitted status on that state's primary ballot, but they say it is purely a practical matter.

Former Sen. J. Glenn Beall and state Sens. Edward Mason and Edward Thomas say they feel Reagan is likely to carry their district but they hope to win election on their own strength. They still plan to work for Bush.

From Washington state, Arizona, Kansas, Texas, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Virginia, Georgia and Tennessee came reports of campaign troops standing pat, although the underdogs never had much support to start with in some of those states.

"People in this state who voted for Kennedy were making a statement and I think they'll stick to their statement," said Karen Marchioro, a Kennedy supporter in Washington and party chairwoman in King County.

"People for Ted Kennedy in Texas are not for Ted Kennedy because he is the last remaining Kennedy and heir to the 'Throne of Camelot,'" said Kennedy worker Fred Williams. "They are there because they think Jimmy Carter has not been true to the Democratic Party and the things they elected him for."

Shirley Williams of the Bush campaign in Texas says there have been no defections there.

"He is a Texan and has served the Republican Party and the state long and well," she said.

"I find disappointment rather than despair," said

Jack Cokely, Virginia coordinator for Bush. "Surprisingly enough, we are still getting phone calls from people wanting to help and people are still sending us money."

Although Anderson failed to get on the Pennsylvania ballot, his supporters there as well as in other states where he is active are faithful despite the odds.

Realtors encouraging voter registrations

Thousands of Realtors across the state plan to take off time from their real estate marketing work to encourage Texans to register to vote, making "sure that as many citizens as possible have a say in how our government is run." This announcement was made here this week by Pat Medley, president of the Big Spring Board of Realtors.

Under the leadership of David L. Stirton of Houston, president of the Texas Association of Realtors, voter registration cards by the hundreds should be at the office of boards of Realtors in the next few weeks. "It is very important that the men and women who run our government, whether on the local, state or national levels, are chosen by the largest number of voters possible."

EASTER GIFTS — Several residents of the Canterbury Retirement Center have blown out eggs and decorated them into rabbits for the residents of Mountain View Nursing Home. The activity was planned by Mrs. Galen Bradford, wife of the director and Mrs. Pat Johnston,

Gold, after 60 centuries, glitters brightly as ever

WASHINGTON — "Good as gold!" is today's hottest new idea, to judge from the precious yellow metal.

But it's an idea that has been around for 60 centuries. Gold, of course, is what is found at the end of the rainbow; it is what Easy Street is paved with; it is what people through time have thought of as the ultimate hedge against inflation and disaster.

Some Egyptian sand about 6,000 years ago, glinting in the waters of the Nile, and supposedly it was the first metal ever pondered by Stone Age man.

Gold is indestructible, rust-proof, and resistant to chemicals. Even Los Angeles smog hasn't hurt the gold veneer adorning the Richfield Oil Building, built there in 1929.

The gold in your teeth may have started out in cultivation in King Solomon's mines, in a pharaoh's pyramid plundered by grave robbers, as an Indian artifact pirated by Spanish conquistadors, or as color brightening Sutter's millrace in the California of 1849.

But all that glitters is not solid gold: First-place Olympic Games medals are plated. And sometimes it is obsolete; acupuncture needles today are made of stainless steel, though traditionalists say gold ones worked better.

Gold salts have been a treatment for rheumatoid arthritis for 50 years. Gold's tough reflective qualities put it aboard space vehicles to reduce heat. Dentists use 5 percent of America's gold that isn't stashed away in vaults, and jewelers use another 15 percent making class graduation rings.

An ounce of gold, about the size of a half dollar, can be drawn into a fine wire 50 miles long or hammered into a thin sheet 100 feet square. Gold is heavy, 19.3 times as hefty as water. A cubic foot of gold — about as much as a big bucketful — weighs 1,210 pounds.

There is not believed to be any gold on the moon, but it has been found widely on earth. And in the oceans, too: One part of gold to 600 million parts of seawater — a fortune waiting for anyone who can extract it economically.

Man has placer-mined it from the creek beds and chopped it from hard rock veins in California's Mother Lode country — 175,000 pounds of gold a year for a while after the forty-niners got there in force.

And he has picked it off the ground in Australia, where in 1869 two men pushing a stuck wagon kicked up the world's biggest nugget, appropriately named Welcome Stranger. Nearly pure gold, it weighed 142.5 pounds.

South Africans are mining gold 11,000 feet underground in 90-degree heat.

A University of Chicago nuclear scientist once reckoned the iron-nickel core of the earth contains enough gold to plate the surface of the earth several yards thick. Digging it out, however, by sinking a mine shaft 1,500 to 2,000 miles deep, even if possible, might trigger a cataclysmic manmade volcano.

Booth, Watkins on dean's list at WTSU

CANYON — West Texas State University's President's List names 150 students and the Dean's List includes about 619 students for the fall 1979 semester.

To be eligible for the President's List, students must end the semester with at least a 3.85 total grade-point average on a 4.0 scale. A 4.0 GPA is an "A." The Dean's List includes students whose grade-point averages total at least 3.84 for the semester.

Students named to the President's List also are included on the Dean's List. For the fall semester, 6,470 students were enrolled at WTSU.

The students from Big Spring on the Dean's List are Jeri D. Booth, senior, a special education major of 511 Edward Blvd. and Ricky P. Watkins, senior, a business major, son of Jack Watkins of 1200 Pennsylvania.

Texas dams threaten lives of 2,000 rural homeowners

AUSTIN — Two deteriorating private dams in Southeast Texas endanger the lives of nearly 2,000 rural homeowners, state officials say.

The two dams from Lake Connie Jean and Lake Edna on Williams Creek and a tributary of the creek about 60 miles north of Houston, near Livingston in Polk County.

"We have a dam safety problem, and our executive director is concerned about the stability of these dams and worried about the possible loss of life, not just the loss of property," Texas Department of Water Resources General Counsel Bruce Bigelow told water commissioners this week.

The dams, built as part of a rural subdivision called Wild Country Lakes Estates, have no safety spillways and are in poor condition, Bigelow said.

In periods of heavy rain, he said, residents have had to use bulldozers and sandbags to keep water from breaking over the dam and flooding parts of the subdivision.

Bigelow said the residents "are primarily senior citizens whose mobility is restricted."

A spokesman for Wiggins Land Co. of Texas, developer of the subdivision, said the danger is exaggerated.

Wiggins attorney John T. Muegge said the dams will be repaired, but subdivision residents will have to bear some of the costs.

The residents contend that the developer should pay for all repairs to the earthen dams.

Because of the dispute over who will pay for repairs, water commissioners said the matter should be in district court and not before them.

Commissioners said they were inclined to deny Wiggins a permit for the dams and to order them to be repaired or destroyed, but they decided to reset the case for April 7.

In the meantime, department of water resources officials will determine whether draining the two lakes would be better than destroying the dams and the roads that cross them.

Bigelow also noted during the hearing that Wiggins is under court order to repair four other small dams in East Texas.

Ventriloquism got him started

BSHS senior in national meet

By STEVE HERSHBERGER
A Big Spring High School senior will compete in June in the National Forensic League competition in Huntsville, Ala.

Chris Smith, 18, will compete in humorous prose, dramatic interpretation and one other event in a speech tournament that will draw top high school students from throughout the nation.

Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith, won the opportunity to compete nationally by winning first place in the District 5-4A Speech Meet in Abilene.

Smith performed Val Cheatham's Snow White and Friends, a humorous take-off from the original "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." In winning the top honors at district, Smith was able to perform this select on six times without receiving more than two downs. A "down" is a ranking below third in any of a series of judged performances.

For dramatic interpretation, this high school senior will perform Michael Gazzo's "A Hat Full of Rain," which is an emotionally-charged monologue of a father wanting to tell his son he loves him.

He had won first place in the State Forensic Meet in Arlington last year.

He also attended the state meet and performed in other events.

"This year I qualified in three events," Smith said, "humorous, dramatics and duet acting."

In duet acting, he and Sandy Kuykendall finished in second.

He had competed and won in several speech tournaments this year. He won first place in humorous prose in a speech contest in Odessa; third place in humorous prose in Amarillo; and first in dramatic interpretation in McCamey.

He and Kuykendall won first place in duet acting in Brownfield and second place in McCamey.

Smith has long been interested in drama and comedy.

"It all started when I developed a talent with ventriloquism," Smith said. At age 8, Smith was performing before social groups. He did a skit for the Shriners' Cripple Children Program.

He has continued his involvement in comedy and likes to perform.

"I am a big ham," Smith smiled. "I like people, and I will perform anywhere."

During his freshman year in high school, Smith became involved in the one-act play competition. In his sophomore year, he played two years in the one-act play "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern" which is taken from Shakespeare's Hamlet.

"I received an award to be on the all-star cast in a role of Hamlet," Smith added.

Smith said drama is one part of his school life that lets him excel and be himself.

"That has been the main thing that has interested me in staying in school," Smith added.

He is currently an "A" and "B" student. On top of his studies and forensic activities, Smith works as a mechanic's helper in the afternoons for his father, who owns Bob Smith Imports.

He plans to attend college, and several universities have been talking with him. He is mainly interested in Texas Tech University, the University of Texas at Arlington and the community colleges in Odessa and Amarillo.

"I plan to major in drama and minor in speech," Smith said.

He added this course of study would aid him in reaching his goals.

"I want to be an actor or nightclub comedian," Smith said.

Supreme Court to hear 1977 Texas murder case

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court is scheduled to hear arguments Monday in a 1977 murder case that has raised questions whether a Texas law improperly allows juries to be chosen that favor the death penalty.

Randall Dale Adams has appealed the death sentence given him by a Dallas County criminal court for shooting police officer

Robert Wood who had stopped him for driving without headlights.

Adams, who is being represented by the NAACP, claims the jury chosen at his trial was improperly prejudiced toward the death sentence.

Adams says Texas criminal law, as interpreted by the state courts, is unconstitutional because it allows "sensitive" jurors to be weeded out during jury questioning by attorneys.

The Texas code allows courts to exclude a juror in a capital case who cannot swear "the mandatory penalty of death or imprisonment for life will not affect his deliberations on any issue of fact."

Adams' attorneys say that wording does not protect against the choice of a jury "showed in favor of the death sentence."

The statute should only exclude jurors who make it clear that in "exercising their sentencing discretion they would automatically refuse to impose the death penalty regardless of the facts."

Federal law requires that juries represent a "fair cross-section of community attitudes."

However, Adams claims that in his case several prospective jurors were excluded because they said they would be "affected in their deliberations by the unique penalty at stake."

Texas law requires that in a capital case a second trial be held after the conviction, to determine if the death sentence will be applied.

Store clerk robbed by telephone

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Cheri Moore has become the victim of a society increasingly dependent on telephone communications.

The 25-year-old manager of a Taco Bell was robbed by phone.

She told police she picked up the phone before dawn Thursday and heard a voice say:

"This is a telephone robbery."

She said the man accurately described her and a fellow employee and warned her another man was across the street with a rifle aimed at them.

"This guy is an ex-con and he's not afraid to shoot to kill," the manager quoted the man saying.

She said she took about 10 minutes to get to the store and placed it outside where the man told her to, but did not see the robber.

UCLA, Louisville advance to NCAA finals

Dr. Dunkenstein shoots Cardinals by stubborn Iowa

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — All-American Darrell Griffith fired in a near-record 34 points as Louisville defeated injury-hampered Iowa 60-72 Saturday in the national semifinals of the NCAA basketball tournament.

The high-flying Griffith was practically the whole show for the nation's second-ranked team in Saturday's opening game, dominating both halves with every conceivable type of shot except his patented slam dunk.

The 6-foot-4 guard, with a vertical jump of four feet, scored 18 of Louisville's first 22 points and finished with the half with that figure as the Cardinals built a 34-29 lead at intermission.

Griffith scored 16 more points in the second half as the Metro Conference champion ran up its lead to as much as 11 points with seven minutes left and coasted home.

Griffith's performance was four points shy of the national semifinal record of 38 set by West Virginia's Jerry West against Louisville in 1959.

The Hawkeyes were greatly hampered by early loss of team leader Ronnie Lester, who reinjured his right knee while driving for the basket with 7:47 remaining in the first half. At that point Lester had scored 10 of Iowa's 17 points.

Louisville now is 32-3, Iowa, which tied for fourth in the Big Ten, dropped to 23-9. Louisville entered the semifinals as the Midwest Regional champion. Iowa won the West Regional.

Saturday's opener began as a shooting contest between Griffith and Lester.

Many of Griffith's shots were soft outside jumpers, and his 18 points helped the Cardinals mount a 22-17 lead with 8:10 remaining in the opening half.

Lester scored Iowa's first 10 points and kept the Hawkeyes within distance of the Cardinals in the early going.

When he was injured, he was fouled on the play and backcourt mate Kenny Arnold sank both free throw attempts to trim Louisville's lead to 22-19.

The knee that Lester hurt had been operated on in midseason, but Lester made a season-ending comeback to help drive the Hawkeyes into the national semifinals.

A few minutes after Iowa had trimmed Louisville's lead to 22-21 on a basket by Steve Waite, the Cardinals took charge of the game's flow late in the first half.

They outscored the Hawkeyes 12-6 to take a five-point lead into the dressing room.

The second half belonged to Louisville as the Metro Conference champions moved out to a 48-40 lead and later boosted it to 66-65.

The closest that Iowa came after that was 67-63 with 3:48 remaining.

After Iowa got to within four points, Louisville nailed down the victory by outscoring the Hawkeyes 13-9, with eight of the Cardinals' points coming in the last minute.

Rodney McCray added 14 points to Louisville's attack while Derek Smith added 13. Along with Griffith they were the only players in double figures for Louisville.

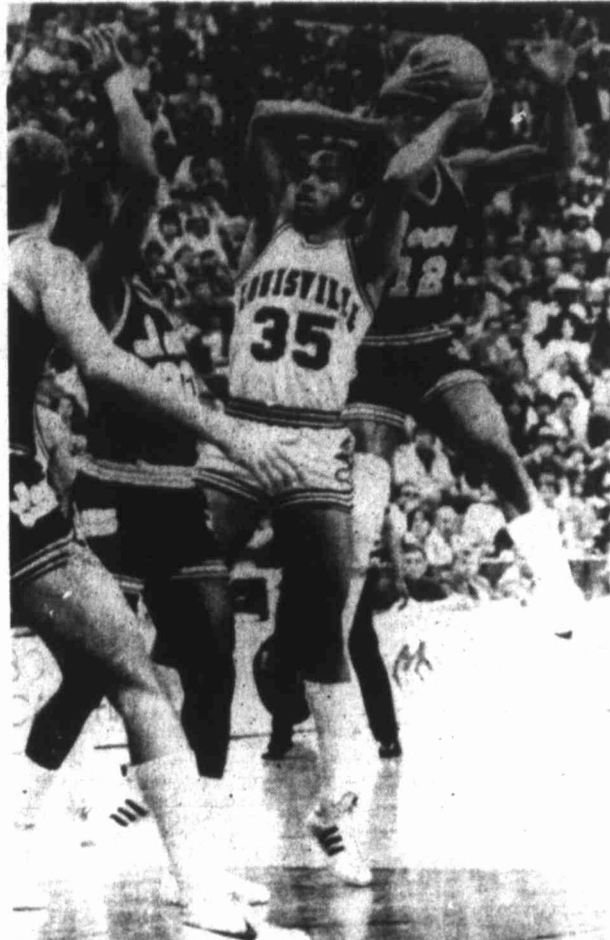

The game was witnessed by a crowd of 16,147 and was seen nationally on NBC-TV.

Besides Griffith's offense, Louisville was helped by the non-offense of Kevin Boyle. A 12.5-average scorer, Boyle did not get a point, missing all eight shots from the floor. He did not go to the foul line.

Griffith connected of 14 of 21 shots from the field and six of eight from the foul line. In addition to his game-high point total, he also handed out six assists was credited with three steals, five rebounds and two blocked shots.

The Cardinals shot 54 percent from the field to only 37 percent for Iowa and they outbounded the Big Ten team to 31-15.

The Cardinals advanced to Monday night's championship game at Market Square Arena against the winner of Saturday's second game between UCLA and Purdue.

ENTRAPMENT — Louisville's "Dr. Dunkenstein," Darrell Griffith (35) is pressed by Iowa's Kenny Arnold (30) and Ronnie Lester (12) during Saturday's semifinal NCAA College Basketball action at Indianapolis.

Cooper vaults to title

Abilene Cooper literally vaulted to the ABC Relays boys' championship here Saturday afternoon, as the Cougar pole vaulter put on an impressive display in the final event of the meet to rally past Lubbock Monterey and El Paso Jefferson to take the team title.

With the rest of the competition through for the meet, Cooper vaulters Scott Estes, Mike David and Steve Hennessey finished 1-2-4, respectively, to give Cooper the team title.

Cooper had 96 points before the pole vault, with Monterey having 105 and Jefferson 103. But the 22 points the Cougar pole vaulter accumulated in the final event gave Cooper 118 points and the championship.

Monterey finished second with 111, while Jefferson ended up with 103.

Plainview, led by the impressive Kenneth Storey, finished in fourth place with 96 points. Storey was a double winner, capturing both the high jump and the 100-meter dash, in which he set a new meet record with a time of 10.88.

In fact, the top two Cooper pole vaulters each eclipsed the old ABC record. Second place David finished with a vault of 13'7", while the record setting Estes cleared 14' to put his name in the ABC Relays record book.

David Johnson was also important to the Cougars, as he won the discus and finished second in the shot put. Bill Anderson and Tom Scalley also helped the Cougar cause, as they won the 220 and 440, respectively.

The champion Cougars also picked up an important 20 points with a first-place finish in the 440-relay.

Lubbock Estacado, who was a pre-meet favorite, ran without their ace sprinter, Kelvin White. The Matadors finished in fifth place with 72 points. Half of the Estacado points came on a first-place finish in the mile relay and a second-place in the 440-relay.

Host Big Spring finished in eighth place with 47 points.

One factor that hurt the Steers effort to pick up points was the fact that they managed only 18 points in the five relay races, with a third-place finish in the 440-yard relay by the quartet of Richard Evans, Mike Domino, Eugene Boadle and Edwin Matthews picking up 12 of those points.

Matthews was the high-point man for the Steers in the meet with 11½ points. Matthews had a second-place finish in the long jump and tied for sixth in the high jump to go along with his 440-relay effort.

Joe Willie Jones picked up points in four events for Big Spring. The senior earned a fourth in the 440-yard dash, as well as a fifth in the long jump. He was also a member of the 880-relay and 2-mile-relay teams which finished fifth and sixth, respectively.

There were only two records broken in the boys' competition on the windy afternoon. Besides Storey's record-setting 100-meter dash, Lubbock Estacado's Anthony McGraw established a new mark in the 110-meter high hurdles. McGraw blazed to a time of 14.31 to set the new record.

Cinderella Bruins contain 7'1" Carroll in 67-62 win

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Kiki Vandeweghe scored 24 points and the aggressive UCLA defense limited All-American center Joe Barry Carroll to 17 points Saturday as the Bruins beat Purdue 67-62 and advanced to the NCAA basketball finals against Louisville.

Vandeweghe, a senior, clinched the victory by making four free throws in the final 41 seconds after Purdue had closed a 10-point deficit and pulled within one.

It's the first trip to the finals in five years for UCLA, which won 10 national titles in a span 12 years under Coach John Wooden. The last was in 1975, when the Bruins beat Louisville 75-74 in overtime in the semifinals before defeating Kentucky for the championship.

The victory over Purdue was yet another chapter in the amazing Cinderella story of the Bruins, who started the season with a mediocre 8-6 record but blossomed when first-year Coach Larry Brown gave his lineup an infusion of youth.

While Vandeweghe was UCLA's big scorer, freshmen Rod Foster, Darren Daye, Michael Holton and Chris Pruitt and sophomore Mike Sanders all made key contributions.

The Bruins, with no starter taller than 6-foot-8, used a platoon system to contain the 7-foot-1 Carroll. James Wilkes, a 6-7 senior, started against Carroll in UCLA's man-to-man defense, but saw only limited action because of foul trouble. Sanders, Pruitt and seniors Darrell Allums and Gig Sims all took turns playing Purdue's towering center, and all did the job well.

UCLA led 47-37 midway through the second half, but sophomore guard Keith Edmonson helped the Boilermakers close to within one at 57-56 with 3:40 to play. Four free throws by Sanders offset a pair of baskets by Carroll, the last with 1:31 to go. And although Foster, the Bruins' playmaker, had fouled out with 4:49 to go, UCLA was able to keep control of the ball and force Purdue to commit costly fouls.

These proved to be all UCLA needed as Holton connected twice from the line in the final minute and Vandeweghe sank four free throws.

The victory was the 14th in the last 17 games for the unranked Bruins, 22-9, who posted victories over Old Dominion, top-ranked DePaul, Ohio State, and Clemson in earlier NCAA tournament games. Purdue, ranked 20th, takes a 22-10 record into Monday night consolation game against Iowa.

Pruitt was the only other player to score in double figures for UCLA with 12 points. Three players accounted for all but eight of Purdue's points—Edmonson with 23, Carroll with 17 and Drake Morris with 12.

Pratt was the only other player to score in double figures for UCLA with 12 points. Three players accounted for all but eight of Purdue's points—Edmonson with 23, Carroll with 17 and Drake Morris with 12.

Steerettes capture ABC girls crown

The Big Spring Steerettes left no doubt that they are for real, as they were very impressive in capturing the championship of the girls' division of the ABC Relays here Saturday afternoon, as they placed in 12 of the possible 14 events.

The youthful Steerettes, who boast a freshmen and sophomore laden team, accumulated 138 points during the day to easily win the affair.

Plainview finished a distant second with 100 points, followed by Lubbock Monterey with 82, Lubbock Dunbar with 79, Lubbock High with 74 and Amarillo Caprock with 52.

The field events and the relay races once again proved to be the strong points for the Big Spring girls, as they scored 101 of their points in these two aspects of the meet.

The Steerettes, paced by the record setting performances of Rochelle Rutledge and Pam Banks, scored 61 points in the field events.

Rutledge, a very promising freshman, broke the long jump record by leaping 17'9", while Banks cleared 5'7¾" to win the high jump easily. Banks also had a second place finish in the triple jump, while Rutledge tied for second in the high jump.

Sophomore Elise Wheat was also a first place winner for the Steerettes, hurling the discus 103'11" to claim that event.

The Steerettes 440-relay team of Jessica Randle, Carla Jackson, Linda Magers and Rutledge also eclipsed a new mark in that event, racing to a time of 50.1. The Big Spring girls lost by a hair to Plainview in the 880-relay for second place, and finished fifth in the mile relay.

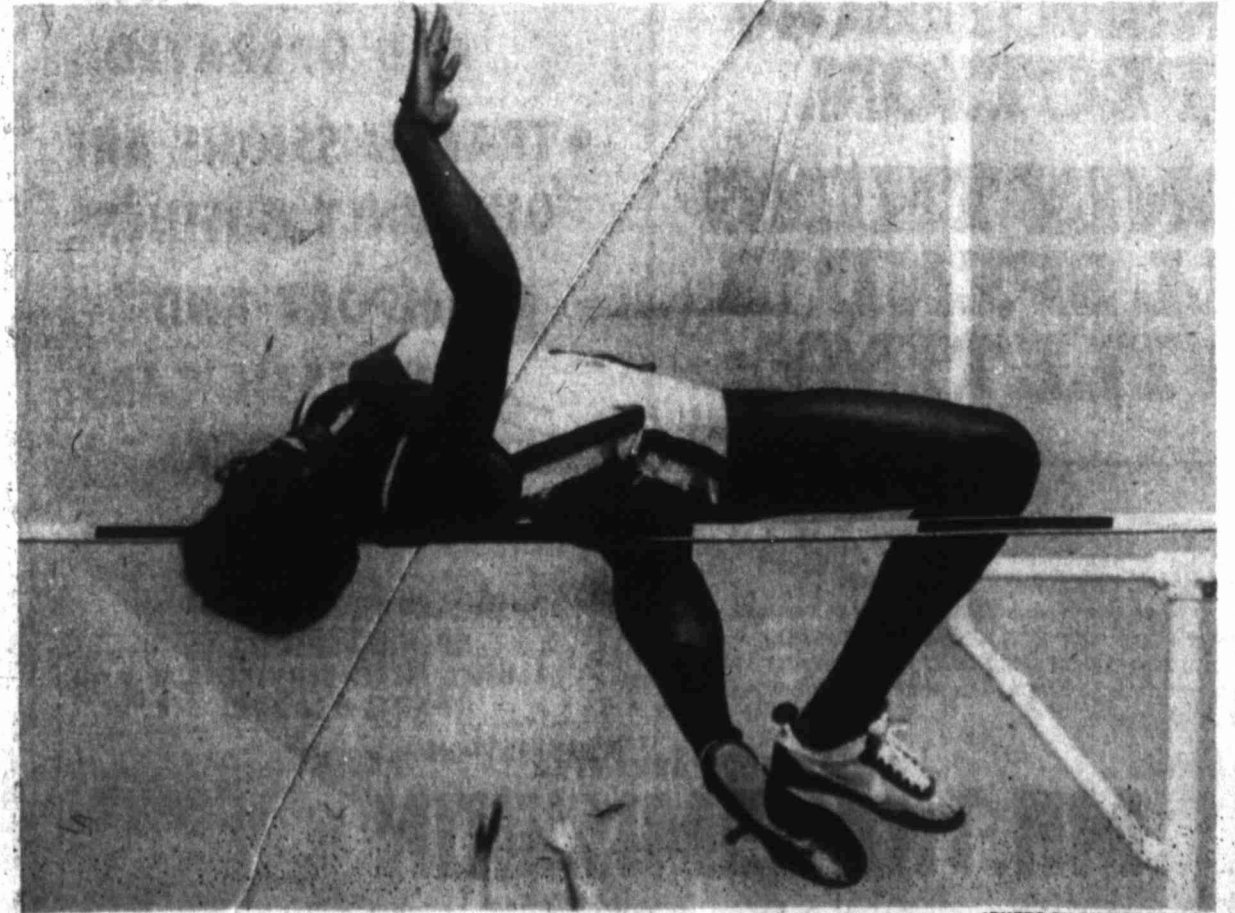

Rutledge and Jackson also won gold medals in individual running events. Rutledge raced to a time of 26.68 in the 220 to win that event, while Jackson, who qualified for the regional meet in five events last season, won the 100-meter dash in a time of 12.36.

Only one out-of-town girl set a record in the ABC Relays. That was Lubbock Dunbar's Yolanda Allen, who blazed to a time of 14.97 to win the 100-meter hurdles.

The Big Spring girls were led in total points by the rookie Rutledge, who placed in all five events that she entered and scored 36 points.

Jessica Randle, who also placed in all five events that she entered, scored 22 points. Others contributing heavily for the Steerettes included Jackson with 19 points and Banks with 18.

WTC wins national title

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Western Texas, riding 20 points from Greg Stewart and 19 from David Brown, closed out a perfect season Saturday night by racing past Jefferson State of Alabama 85-72 to win the Men's National Junior College Basketball Tournament.

For the third straight night, Western Texas found itself trailing in the first half. But behind the shooting of Stewart and Brown, the Westerners rallied to make Jefferson State their 37th victim in 37 games.

Trailing at the half 38-31, Western Texas finally took the lead at 55-54 with about 8 1/2 minutes to go.

But it was a technical foul on Jefferson State Coach Bill Lankford that put the Westerners back in command.

Western Texas was ahead by four points when Jefferson State guard Mike Anderson was called for a foul. Lankford protested, and was whistled for a technical, sending Westerner guard Phil Spradling to the line to hit four straight free throws.

Brown then scored a bucket, and the Westerners were coasting again with a 10-point lead.

Steer JV's split twinbill

The Big Spring junior varsity baseball team split a doubleheader with the Midland High JV's in action here Saturday afternoon in Steer Park.

Both games were extra inning affairs. The Steers won the opener in 10 innings by a score of 6-5, but Midland came back to take a 9-7 win in the nightcap.

Tom Cudd received credit for the win in the opener for Big Spring. He pitched the final six innings in relief for Oscar Lemon, striking out seven Bullpups in the process.

Trailing 5-3 entering the George Bancroft, Jeff bottom of the seventh, and Shortorns scored twice to tie the game on a two-out hit by Danny Stevens that horns during the day.

knocked in two runs.

In the ninth, Stevens was again the man of the hour, opening with a single and then stealing second. He then scored on a clutch two-out single by Jinx Valenzuela.

The Shortorns had control of the second contest, but costly errors opened the door for six Midland runs in the sixth inning.

Midland then won the game in the ninth when the Shortorns committed two errors. Russell Stukel was the losing pitcher that was victimized by the errors.

Alan Trevino, Stevens, George Bancroft, Jeff Harwood, James Walker and Matt Warren each were hitting stars for the Short- by horns during the day.

Trevino takes TPC lead

POINTE VEDRA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Lee Trevino birdied the last hole to complete a round of 4-under-par 68 and take the third-round lead over one of the greatest golf fields ever assembled Saturday in the prestigious Tournament Players Championship.

Trevino, now 40 but still the flamboyant, swaggering swashbuckler of his younger days, put together a 54-hole total of 208, 8 shots under par on the difficult Sawgrass golf course.

But arrayed behind him, very much in a title contention, was a spectacular line-up of world-wide golfing talent — Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, Tom Watson, Hubert Green, Seve Ballesteros, Hale Irwin.

That group, with Trevino, has won a combined total of 11 U.S. Opens, nine British Opens, nine Masters and eight PGA titles.

Of the eight men now fully active on the tour who have won two or more major titles, five were on the leaderboard.

Green, the deeply talented man with the unorthodox swing, matched the course record with a 6-under-par 66 and held second alone at 209.

Sweetwater, Rotan take titles in Bulldog Relays

COAHOMA — The Sweetwater girls and the Rotan boys raced to their respective division titles Saturday in the Bulldog Relays.

The Sweetwater girls amassed 151 points to win their division, while the Rotan boys scored 140 points to claim their team title.

Host Coahoma enjoyed a good afternoon, as both the Bulldog boys and girls teams finished second in the affair, which had 11 girls teams and five boys teams.

In the boys junior varsity division, Coahoma scored 158 points to win that aspect of the Bulldog Relays.

Rotan won five individual events in the boys competition, plus capturing the mile relay that clinched the team title for them.

Coahoma was running without the services of hurdling ace Gary Gee, who is suffering from a pulled leg muscle.

The Bulldogs Michael Meyer topped the only individual gold medal for the hosts, as he won the mile run with a time of 5:06.

The Coahoma boys 440-relay team of Clint Elliot, Spot Paige, Larry Newton and Kyle Bennett picked up 20 points for the Bulldogs by winning the event with a time of 45.79.

Other Coahoma boys earning points for placing in the individual competition included Ambrosio Uranga, Elliot, Jerry Roever, Meyer, Mike Vaughn, Jay Hall, Newton, Bennett, Paige and Jerry Baker.

The Sweetwater girls won seven of the 14 events to capture their division, including two of the three relay races.

The Coahoma girls had only one first place, but it was a big one in the final event of the day, the mile relay. The quartet of Carmen Holman, Kari Robinson, Fay Fryar and Lori Phinney sprinted to a time of 4:19.33 to win that event.

The Coahoma girls 440-relay and 880-relay both finished second to add 32 more points to their cause.

Coahoma girls earning second place finishes included Fay Fryar in the 440-yard dash and Gayla Paige in the high jump.

Others earning points for the Coahoma girls included Kari Robinson, Holman, Allen, Darla Henry, Phinney and Julie Nairn.

WINNING PLAYER — Mark Aguirre, who shot the DePaul Blue Demons to the top of the national rankings this season, was named winner of the Adolph Rupp Trophy, Friday at the Associated Press' college basketball Player of the Year for 1979-80.

In boys 5-AAAA golf race Cooper maintains lead

SAN ANGELO — The Abilene Cooper Cougars fired a 318 to extend their lead in the second round of the District 5-AAAA golf race here Friday at the San Angelo Country Club.

The Cougars were led by the defending 5-AAAA medalist who appears to be on his way to another title, John Slaughter. The Cooper senior fired a 77 to pace the league leading Cougars.

The Big Spring Steers golf team suffered a sub-par round, and consequently fell from third place to sixth at the end of the day. The Big Spring team had a round of 344 to have a two-round total of 676.

San Angelo remained in second place, but only by a stroke, as the Odessa Bronchos blazed to a round of 321 to only trail the Bobcats by one stroke after two rounds, 680-681.

The Big Spring number two team rose from 15th place to 13th by shooting a round of 346.

Bruce Carroll and Larry Blossas had the best days of any Big Spring players, scoring rounds of 84. Other scores for the number one Big Spring team included Brad Small (87), David Stephens (89), and John Basden (90).

David Hamill paced the Steers number two team with a round of 84, while Cary Wiggins had an 85. Other number two scores were Jeff Derks (88), Craig Chandler (92) and Scott Underwood (98).

Rankin red-hot in Vegas LPGA

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Veteran Judy Rankin fired a 2-under-par 70 Saturday to take a one-shot lead over Hollis Stacy and Donna Caponi Young after three rounds of the $200,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament at the Desert Inn Country Club.

Rankin, who has 26 victories in her career and is second on the all-time LPGA money-winning list, took a 54-hole total of 215 into Sunday's final round of the rich event.

Stacy led by two strokes midway through Saturday's round but faded to a 38 on the back nine, giving her a 74 and a 216 total. Young had a 71 Saturday and also had 216.

At 218 were Nancy Lopez Melton, the LPGA's top money winner the past two years but still looking for her first victory in 1980, and Jan Stephenson. Both carded even-par 72s Saturday.

First place in this tournament is worth $30,000.

Alone at 219 after a 68 in the third round was Amy Alcott. Next at 220 were JoAnne Carner, who has won the past three tournaments in which she has played; Sandra Post, the LPGA's No. 2 money-winner last year, and first-round leader Jo Ann Washam.

As aging sports stars proving

Athletic decay starts in the head

By the Associated Press
"I am still physically capable and motivated — I want to beat everybody."

That's Billie Jean King's comeback chant. It comes from her throat with all of the fervor of a challenge from some female Tarzan. Billie Jean thinks she can do it all again, and who among us has nerve enough to doubt her?

She is truly a sports phenomenon.
Now 36 years old, both knees so scarred from operations that you could play tic-tac-toe on them, counted out on numerous occasions, the so-called "Old Lady" of tennis keeps bounding back.

All the young lionesses of the game are looking apprehensively over their shoulders as the top women players vie in New York's Madison Square Garden this week for their richest prize, the $300,000 Avon Championships.

Why not?
Within the past month King put together four victories in Detroit and Houston, beating Evonne Goolagong 6-3, 6-0 and following that with a 6-1, 6-3 rout of Martina Navratilova, rated the world's best.

The tough die hard.
Muhammad Ali, 38, is trying to shed 50 pounds in hopes of winning the boxing's heavyweight championship a fourth time. The 41-year-old Jim Kaat is pitching like a schoolboy in the Yankees' baseball camp in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The legendary Gordie Howe, 51, and Bobby Hull, 41, are playing ice hockey with the same enthusiasm and daring as when their bodies were 20 years old.

The ranks of the "Over the Hill Gang" keep swelling like an inflated balloon. Nobody wants to hang it up any more. Workhorse Phil Niekro, 40, is just coming off a 21-20 season of pitching for the Atlanta Braves. Gaylord Perry, 41, was a 21-game and Cy Young winner two years ago. Both expect their arms to last forever.

Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell was a World Series and National League MVP last year at age 38. Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, 40, and the Phillies' Pete Rose, 39 in April, are just getting their second wind. Dallas' Roger Staubach, 38, and Denver's Craig Morton, 37, are two of the older wonders of the National Football League.

"People have been asking me why I don't retire ever since I was 24," Billie Jean said during a break at the Garden this week. "I'll never forget a comment by Arthur Ashe a couple of years ago. He said, 'Can you imagine being No. 7 in your profession and people asking why you don't quit? What if you were the seventh best lawyer, doctor or accountant in the world? Nobody would think of asking why you didn't retire.'"

King said for some unexplained reason people pose the "Big 30" as the competitive life of athletes — from that point, they're supposed to start downhill.

"Not so," she adds. "Decay starts in the head. An athlete, physically sound, should be able to last until he is 43 if willing to work hard."

By decreasing NFL games on TV

Raiders move would hurt LA grid watching

By the Associated Press
From strictly a television standpoint, NBC and the fans of the San Francisco Bay Area will profit by the potential move of the National Football League Raiders from Oakland to Los Angeles. Using the same TV yardstick, the losers from such a trip down the California coast would be CBS and the fans in Los Angeles.

Since the NFL merger took effect with the conference alignment in 1970, NBC has been showing the AFC games and CBS has been the network of the NFC. NBC has gotten the better teams, with Pittsburgh and Miami dominant in the '70s, but CBS has the better cities. Bigger markets mean more viewers, higher ratings and more advertising bucks. Oakland, an AFC team, is very popular in the Bay Area. Al Davis' boys, clad in black and silver, have been on NBC almost more often than Johnny Carson. The fans in the Bay Area have been watching. Only there are less of them — and less TV sets — than in Los Angeles.

The San Francisco-Oakland market is the fifth largest in the nation; Los Angeles is second. Although NBC would probably prefer switching its Buffalo market to Los Angeles, it won't be unhappy about giving up No. 5 and getting No. 2.

Especially when you consider that CBS has a much better piece of the major cities. The networks share No. 1, New York, but the NFC Giants are more popular in the area than the Jets. Until a Raider move to Los Angeles — and the NFL schedule will have the Raiders in Oakland unless a court rules otherwise — CBS would have No. 2 alone, as it does Chicago, the third biggest TV area, and Philadelphia, No. 4.

A Raider move would give CBS the Bay Area solo, a TV bonus for the region's fans who would then get to see more NFL games on Sunday. That sounds crazy, but it's true. Current restrictions prevent double-team cities, like New York, from getting three Sunday games when one of the local teams is home.

This is how it works. Every NFL week, either NBC or CBS gets a doubleheader game — normally a major contest aired on the full network. But if the Jets are home, New York fans get to see one NFL game on CBS and one AFC game on NBC (probably the Jets if they're sold out). The New York fans won't get the doubleheader game. The same situation exists if the Giants are home. The fans will get the Jets on NBC and one NFC game (almost definitely the Giants).

In a one-team city, the viewer gets an AFC game on NBC, an NFC game on CBS and a third game from whichever network has the doubleheader that week. Last season, Los Angeles — a one-team town — had nine 3-game Sundays. New York had just two, when the Jets and Giants were both on the road, or one of them was playing on Monday night.

Although the Bay Area fan might long for the departed Raiders, there is some consolation in that more NFL games will be on the tube. The opposite situation would then exist in two-team Los Angeles, where about 20 percent fewer NFL games would be televised to the area's armchair quarterbacks.

Willie Williams named 22-4A Coach of the year

Former Big Spring High School athletic standout Willie Williams is proving his prowess these days as a coach at Class AAAA Port Arthur Jefferson, and was recently honored for his direction during the 1979-80 basketball season.

Williams, who is one of the youngest Head Basketball coaches in the state on the AAAA level, was named the District 22-AAAA Coach of the Year.

The 1973 Obie Bristow Award winner for the outstanding all-around athlete at BSHS, Williams graduated from Austin College, where he made small college All-American on the gridiron, as well as performing most creditably on the basketball court and the baseball diamond.

This was Williams' second season as the head mentor at Thomas Jefferson HS, and the improvement that his team displayed this year earned him the Coach of the Year honor.

Thomas Jefferson, after a 7-24 record in Williams' first year as the head basketball coach, improved that to a 17-9 mark, including an 11-5 record in 5-AAAA. This was good enough for a tie for second place in the district, which was won by Port Arthur Lincoln.

Williams downplayed his Coach of the Year honors, however, as he praised his team for their improvement this year: "The Coach of the Year award should be the Team of the Year award," said Williams. "I didn't do anything different than last year. The difference was the kids I had this year. They were just more disciplined and poised. These kids were more consistent and they had a positive attitude they could beat anybody they played."

WILLIE WILLIAMS

Errors costly in Steer loss

brought in Rodriguez from shortstop to try and pitch the Steers out of trouble.

"We were stuck between a rock and a hard spot," Martin explained. "Rodriguez is our best bet to throw strikes, but he is also a very good fielding shortstop."

Ironically, the first Midland hitter to face Rodriguez, Perry Bolger, grounded to new shortstop Rosson. The ball went through the grasp of Rosson and into left field for an error, and Gann and Stovall scored to give the Bulldogs a 10-8 lead. Darrin Matlock then singled to score Bolger for the final run of the contest.

With one out in the seventh, the Steers made one last attempt at a winning rally. Shaver singled, Armendarez walked and Warren singled to load the bases.

But Midland brought in reliever Steve Miller to replace Jesse Morett, and he retired the final two Steer hitters to end the contest.

Morett received credit for the win, with Miller gaining the save. Moran was charged with the loss for the Steers.

Going to the dogs?

Complete information on canine in library

By REBECCA TAYLOR
Reference Librarian
Going to the Dogs? If you are thinking about buying, training or breeding a dog, the place for information is the Howard County Library. One of the foremost publishers of books on dogs is Howell Book House, Inc. and a large selection has recently been purchased by the library.

The most fundamental reference book on dogs is the American Kennel Club's "Complete Dog Book." This volume summarizes prevailing thought on such subjects as breeding, whelping, nutrition, diseases and training. However, most of the book is concerned with giving the characteristics and show standards of each breed. A brief history of the breed precedes the detailed 'Official Standard.'

As an aid to understanding the standards of each breed, the book "Dog Standards Illustrated" is very helpful. A photograph of a good example of each breed is detailed with arrows pointing out the specific area.

Dog shows are one of the most visible ways of comparing dogs of the same breed or of getting acquainted with different breeds. "The Forsyth Guide to Successful Dog Showing," is helpful to the owner or just the observer. Knowing what is expected of the dog, how he is judged and why, definitely adds to the enjoyment of the show, in the ring or out.

"The Complete Book of Dog Obedience," by Blanche Saunders, aims at teaching owners and trainers to teach or train their dogs. Obedience training is not only rewarding in the trials, but, most importantly, makes your dog more enjoyable to have around.

"Dog Training for Kids," is a special and rewarding book for young dog owners. Lessons are outlined in language and for reasons a child can understand.

The 'breed' books published by Howell are found in almost every pet store. Most of the titles begin with, "The Complete..." and give detailed and specialized information on the breed covered, i.e., grooming is special for some breeds, whelping a problem for some, etc.

Some of the breeds now covered by the library collection are: Alaskan Malamute, Basset Hound, Boxer, Brittany Spaniel, Bulldog, Doberman Pinscher, Great Dane, Keeshond, Pembroke Welsh Corgi, Shetland Sheepdog, Yorkshire Terrier and many others.

"NORMA RAE" — Sally Field, right, is Norma Rae, a factory worker whose mentor is portrayed by Ron Leibman, left, in 20th Century-Fox's romantic drama, "Norma Rae," which opened at the Cinema Theatre in the College Park Shopping Center on Friday.

'Norma Rae' opens here

Sally Field stars in the title role of Twentieth Century-Fox's "NORMA RAE," directed by Martin Ritt, which opened Friday at the Cinema. Produced by Tamara Asseyev and Alex Rose from a screenplay by the distinguished husband-wife writing team of Irving Ravetch and Harriet Frank, Jr., the film is suffused with humor and glows with warmth, even though a clash between two fiercely opposing forces rages at its core.

The heroine of the film is an appealing worker in a Southern industrial town whose life is dramatically altered when circumstances bring about a relationship with a man unlike anyone she has ever known. Although his ways of thinking and living are foreign to her view of life, he becomes her mentor and guides her into an awakening sense of her dignity and worth as a human being. The bond which unites them, however, also involves them in an even larger drama with far-reaching implications which extend beyond their own lives.

In filming a screenplay in which the characters are so carefully delineated, the casting becomes particularly crucial and "NORMA RAE" draws much of its strength from a brilliantly evolved central performance by Sally Field in the title role. She captures the pathos, the anger, the frustrations, the hundred-and-one complexities of character which make her Norma Rae fully dimensional; a brilliantly realized portrait of a woman in today's society who does not have the advantage of education and background.

Norma Rae is married and in the role of her husband, sensitive beyond his power to articulate his feelings, Beau Bridges gives a finely etched performance, portraying a Southerner who acknowledges his wife's growth even though he himself cannot keep pace with her.

Ron Leibman brings his personal electricity to the brash New Yorker who acts as the catalyst in Norma Rae's transformation.

Under Ritt's direction, luminous performances by Pat Hingle and Barbara Baxley starring as Norma Rae's parents join in bringing to the film an integrity and humanity that makes "NORMA RAE" a powerfully moving motion picture experience.

Live opera coming to Midland

Preparations for Midland's first live opera production are proceeding on schedule, or slightly ahead, according to director Robert LaFontaine.

The Midland College Fine Arts Department has scheduled presentations of the comic opera "Die Fledermaus" at Theatre Midland on April 25 and 26.

"Die Fledermaus," written by Johann Strauss, will be done in English by members of the Midland College Opera Workshop class. It will mark the first production of an opera in Midland and one of the first times that a community college has done an opera utilizing only local talent.

Principal singers are rehearsing twice weekly and are to the point that they are blocking out dialogue and stage movements for the presentation. A chorus of more than 50 voices is rehearsing once each week, with members of the Midland College choir rehearsing daily.

"We are extremely pleased with the way things are progressing," LaFontaine declared. "Most of the sets were constructed during the spring break, the principal singers have learned most of their lyrics and lines, and the chorus is beginning to get into the spirit of this most amusing opera."

An Ad Hoc opera committee, headed by John Ingram, has been working for several weeks on details regarding the opera. Invitations are being prepared for a special presentation of "Die Fledermaus" on April 24. It will be a black-tie, by-invitation affair, Ingram said.

Ticket sales for the April 25 and 26 presentations will begin April 14 at Theatre Midland.

Windmill spins college power

DALLAS (AP) — A 130-foot-tall windmill has been topped off on the campus of Brookhaven Community College.

Two sets of four blades, each spinning in opposite directions, will generate 45 kilowatts of power for use by the college.

Officials could not estimate the entire cost of the project but said materials cost $60,000. The windmill is thought to be one of the largest in Texas.

Tire sales up
NEW YORK (AP) — Retreading's share of the bias and bias-belted replacement tire market rose from 19 percent in 1973 to 29 percent in 1979, according to the Tire Retread Information Bureau.

At present, radial tires account for 12 percent of retread production. As more retreadable radial casings become available over the next two years, retreading's share of this market is expected to increase.

Copper clad dome symbol

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Copper resists corrosion and it alloys with more than 100 other metals. Its use in home and office construction should continue, as copper in plumbing, wiring, sprinklers and roofing is very durable, according to a copper mine executive.

The copper-clad dome and roof of Arizona's capitol building is a symbol of the state's prominence in copper and of the metal's quality, said Peter Steen, president of Inspiration Consolidated Copper.

It's... possible... for things to change' Kennedy advisers tell him to keep after it

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's advisers are telling him to keep plugging in his challenge to President Carter, even as they concede it will take a dose of the unforeseen to save a withering campaign.
'It's mathematically possible, psychologically possible, politically possible and practically possible for things to change,' said one close aide who has been with the senator for a decade.

staff and key backers are suggesting that the time has come for the Massachusetts Democrat to return to the Senate, to wage a sort of underground campaign from Washington.
By that scenario, 'he wouldn't have to drop out, and he still could have some impact at the convention,' said one lieutenant who also declined to be identified publicly. 'That way he could keep both his viability and his dignity.'

'those who say you go back to the Senate and use that as a base and speak to the issues. But I haven't thought about that.'
Kennedy repeated his vow that even if he does poorly in the New York and Connecticut primaries on Tuesday, he will not fold up his tent. 'I'm in this race for the course,' he declared.

At least five members of Kennedy's family, including campaign director and brother-in-law Stephen Smith, attended a meeting in the family's New York apartment late Thursday.
Sources who refused to be identified said they discussed whether the candidate should drop out. But no one who knew would say what, if anything, was decided.

Some of even the most loyal Kennedy staffers are showing dampened enthusiasm about staying in a race many say could divide the Democratic Party and hand the election to the Republicans.
'I think it's do-able,' said Carl Wagner, one of the senator's political strategists. 'By no means is it accurate to suggest that it can't be done. We've only chosen 29 percent of the delegates so far. Between March 24 and April 28, 1,000 more will be chosen.'

NEIGHBORS COLLABORATE — Pictured at left is Amy Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valce Cox with her neighbor, Julie Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S.L. Miller and co-worker on a group project at Kentwood Elementary School which teaches the dangers of cigarette smoking. Both girls are in Mrs. Reulene Freeze's fifth grade class and both live on A vondale.

REVOLVING PLANT AND LIGHTHOUSE — Shelly Carmichael, Marcy School, 5th grader, pictured at left, stands beside her project through which she learned that motion inhibited the growth of plants by comparing one plant growing on a turntable to a stationary one. Shelly is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Bill Henning, 10 Indian Ridge. Tanya Farmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hattenbach and a fourth grader at Marcy School, stands beside her lighthouse which she entered in the PBRFS.

Area students compete locally Budding young scientists blossom at fair

By MICKIE DICKSON
Budding young scientists of Permian Basin exhibited approximately 113 projects at the Permian Basin Regional Science Fair Friday and Saturday.

For the first time, Joe Reed, Regional Science Fair Director, awarded Science Fair Director's Trophies to two outstanding teachers who supported many of the 68 Big Spring Independent School District's entries, Ruelene Freeze, Kentwood Elementary and Pat Rhoton, Goliad Middle School.

Mrs. Lee (Ruelene) Freeze, fifth grade teacher at Kentwood, had 13 entries from her class. Mrs. David (Pat) Rhoton of Goliad Middle School sponsored 16 students' projects and co-sponsored two more group projects with Mrs. Sarah Roberson.

St. Mary's Episcopal Church School sponsored seven students' projects, Stanton Independent School District had six students enter, Pecos-Barstow-Toyahville ISD had seven entries, Foran ISD had one entry, Coahoma ISD had five entries, Monahans ISD had six entries and Andrews, ISD had 13 entries.

Texas Public School Week March 27 provided the opportunity for students to display their projects to parents and visitors prior to the PBRFS.

Kentwood Elementary students, under the leadership of Mrs. Freeze and Cleo Carlile, principal, prepared six group science projects and six individual projects and entered them in the Fair.

A new program named EXTRA, meaning Experiencing Through Research Activities was initiated by Carlile in February involving both parents and children. This program was utilized in the science projects. The EXTRA process involves a study of the subject or project, making it, then evaluating what is learned. Mrs. Freeze gave the students time for research and report writing at school on their science projects and they did the demonstrating and prepared their displays at home.

The group projects from Kentwood School entered in the Regional Science Fair were "Our moving Planets" by Lisa Dawn Stabeno and Kimberley Walker; "What About a Cigarette?" by Amy Cox and Julie Miller; "What Happens When You Make a Sound?" by Rebecca Thompson and Sonya Evans; "How to Make a Motor" by Brent Ainsworth and Kerry Lowrey; "How Does Electricity Work?" by Heath Stewart and Jimmy Casey; "How are Volcanoes Formed?" by Gary Walls and Darryl Hammonds and "How and Where Earthquakes Occur" by Chris Walker and John Renteria.

Projects prepared by individuals at Kentwood are "Who Obeys Stop Signs?" by Kevin Raybon; "What are Fossils?" by Jacinda Beasley; "Are You Sure of Your Water?" by Patricia Priebe; "Radio by Candle-Power," by Melissa Jones; "How are Hurricanes Formed," by Kelli Preston and "What is Centrifugal Force?" by Kim Wilson.

Eric Helton, a first-grade student of Loyce Phillips class at Kentwood Elementary, entered his project, "How a Door Bell Works" in the Regional Science Fair.

Mrs. David (Pat) Rhoton's sixth-grade students at Goliad entered 14 group projects. Lisa Phillips and Diane Crocker formulated toothpaste for their project. Christy Moore and Jamie Norwood made glue, "A Sticky Subject;" Tracy Wilkerson and Kathleen Crooks made a burglar alarm, Zane Rutledge and Kevin Freeman duplicated a hurricane, Doug Baum and Charlie Bott studied sound. Brian Averette and Tim Calloway (Mrs. Sarah Roberson's pupil) studied rust. Kathy Redding and Tony Wegner presented "The Story of Insulation." Kim Anding and Kenneth Kirkham's project was "What's in a Battery?" Jana Whitehead and Lana Fletcher studied "An Electric Current." Gena Chambers and Deborah Groebie presented "The Chemistry of Water."

Tim Thompson and Greg Williamson presented "The Effect of Fertilizer on Beans." Dana Hiltbruner and Michele Wilson (Sarah Roberson's pupil) presented "What Conditions Cause Fog and Smog?" Keri Murphy and Pam Deel presented "The Anemometer." Shelley Bennett and Charla Bailey made a doorbell.

Individual projects entered by Mrs. Rhoton's students are John Turner Jr.'s, "A Volcano," Jeannette Ramey's "The Effects of Light on Plants," Lavon Collins study of plants and Thad Thomas Jr.'s "An Electro-Magnet." Gaylee Osbourne's "The Effects of Smoke on Plants," Windy Kennemer and Tom Cates, project was

"What is a Volcano?" Mrs. Sarah Roberson, sixth-grade science teacher at Goliad, had three students present group projects with one of Ed Seay's students in the science fair. Sam Gladden (Ed Seay's pupil) and Jantz Allen presented the "It Pays to Insulate" project and Monica Miranda and Molly Thompson presented the project, "Do Plants Need Sunlight?" at the Regional Science Fair.

Ed Seay, sixth and seventh-grade science teacher at Goliad, had two group projects entered by four of his pupils. Paula Valli and Kelli Williamson entered their project, "Volcanoes" and David Powell and Allen Sutton entered a project.

College Heights Elementary School had a science fair of its own March 6 immediately following a PTA meeting to encourage their students to enter the Regional Fair. Even the first graders got in on the act with two classroom projects done cooperatively. Mrs. Don (Linda) Davis' first-grade class studied an ant farm and made booklets of their observations. Mrs. Tom (Patsy) Conway's class project was "How to Plant Beans" with each student's bean plants in large plastic cups.

Two Regional Fair entries from College Heights were Allen Pickering's entry, "Solar Power from Satellites" and Scott Owen's "Is There More to Air Than It Feels?" Both of these boys are from Mrs. Nita Callarman's fourth grade.

Bauer Elementary School has three entries in the Regional Science Fair. Mary Lou Fierro's project is "The Various of Plant Growth," from Mrs. Dorothy Good's fifth grade class. "Street Light System" is the name of Paula Nicole Jolly's project. Paula is in E.S. Dawson's fifth grade class. Delia Ortiz has a rock and mineral collection to enter.

Karen Helton, the first grade teacher at Bauer, is also training her students for future entries in science fairs by encouraging them to experiment with science projects. Dale White, 903 N.W. 16th, has a magnet project; Susie Paredes, 611 N.W. 9th, is learning the different sounds made by various levels of water in a jar hit with a knife and blowing into a pop bottle with water in it.

Three first grade students entered the Regional Science Fair from Carol McMahon's class at St. Mary's Episcopal School, Tracey W. Owen, Doug Abbot and Traci Clark. Four second grade pupils from Julia Holmes' class at St. Mary's who entered the Regional Science Fair are Dax Fields, Tara McCann with individual projects and Melissa Smith and Shelly Willett with a group project. Melinda Grifford, St. Mary's third grade student in Margaret Baum's class, entered a project.

Jo Jo Reed, daughter of Joe Reed, the PBRFS Director, entered a project on "What do Sparrows Like Most?" from Washington School Elementary. Jo Jo is in Mrs. Thelma William's fourth grade class, and is the only contestant from Washington.

Marcy Elementary had three contestants: Tanya Farmer of Mrs. Selma Hicks' fourth grade class, made a lighthouse; Todd McKimney of Mrs. Joe Gresham's fifth grade class demonstrated "How Rain is Formed" and Shelly Carmichael of Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodd's fifth grade class had as her project, "Does Movement Affect Growth?"

Two eighth grade students from Runnels Junior High entered the PBRFS. George "Shot" Smith of Mrs. Lucy Bonner's class had as his project the Big Spring Sewage Treatment Plant, January 1981. Danny Sparks of James M. McFarland's class had as his project, "How the Light Bulb Works and Who Invented It."

Five Big Spring High School students entered science projects in the PBRFS. Toliver "Toi" Singer, a freshman, made a "Modern Version of the Old Roemer Experiment" for measuring the speed of light. Jerry S. Grimes, also a freshman, tested building materials for greenhouses in this area. Leland Graves studied the causes and remedies of acoustic feedback. Graves is a freshman.

Yvette Miranda, a sophomore, experimented with ingredients which cause the beads of styrofoam in a styrofoam cup to shrivel, using water, tea, and lemon juice.

Gary Hernandez, a senior, made a "Michelson's Interferometer" to measure wave lengths.

Coahoma's Elementary Science Fair on March 4 had 36 entries in the areas of Earth Science and Physical Science. Best of Show winner at the Primary Level, (grades Kindergarten - 2) was Pat Justiss, with his project "Growing Crystals."

Other blue ribbon winners at the Primary Level were: Sammy Justiss, Krista Thomas, and Stephanie Reid. Second place ribbons were awarded to Rusty Ginnett, Shawnte Bryant, and Randy McCutcheon.

Third place awards went to Kim Parrish, Kim Walker, Robert Haley, Lisa White, Katrina Jones, Jennifer Allen, Shelley Keenan, Elodia Gutierrez, Estella Garcia, Wendy Bobo, Eddie Stephens, and Glenn Thompson.

At the Intermediate Level the Best of Show trophy was awarded to the joint project "In What Kind of Water Do Beans Grow Best" by Lori Wyrick and Shona Drewery. Lori and Shona are in the fourth grade.

1st place ribbons went to Marray Maddox, Evelyn Kenman, and Jesse Powell. 2nd place winners were: Patrick Salazar, Gordon Daniels, and Keely Thomas.

3rd place winners were Robbie Brewer, Leslie Lee, Tom Edens, Stephanie Reynolds, Betty Ballard, Mark Roberts. Three elementary Coahoma Science Fair winners entered the Permian Basin Science Fair, Marray Maddox, Shona Drewery and Lori Wyrick, all of Mrs. Marilyn Reed's 4th grade class.

The Junior High Division of the Coahoma Science Fair had 62 entrants. The overall division winner was Lisa McCoy with her project on Solar Energy.

Seven first place winners were Julie Smith, 6th grade, Kyle Robbins, Greg Parrish, Lou Elliott, Preston Drewery, Danette Haley and Johnny Gage, all of the 7th grade. Seven students placed second and 14 placed third. Lisa McCoy and Julie Smith both entered the PBRFS.

Foran High School had one contestant enter the PBRFS, Angie Lee, with her project, "Wonder Water."

These young aspirants competed for awards from 15 different organizations and companies, as well as first, second and third place awards from the PBRFS for grades 1-8 and in each of the 11 categories in the senior division.

Two sweepstakes winners were chosen from the senior division to compete in world competition at the International Science and Engineering Fair to be held at St. Paul, Minn., May 5-10. Charles Gordon and Peggy Piper from Andrews.

In addition, Howard College gave a scholarship to each of the sweepstakes winners.

The 1979 sweepstakes winners were Linda True, a senior from Andrews High School and Charles Gordon also of Andrews. Gordon, who was the runner-up went on to place fourth at the International Science and Engineering Fair at San Antonio. Gordon entered a continuation of his prize-winning study of the yucca plant in this year's PBRFS. Charles is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon of Andrews.

A lot of learning took place along with the work it took to research and implement these projects. Families were brought close by parents and children working together on projects and teachers were gratified by all that who were pretty much on their own in each instance.

A lot of work went into the fair by many adults and children which is appreciated by all the officials of the PBRFS.

Newcomers

Joy Fortenberry, Newcomer Greeting Service hostess, was busy March 7-13 welcoming families from as far away as Tallahassee, Fla., to Big Spring.

Coming from Abilene were Curtis and Brenda Brown. Curtis, assistant manager at Safeway, and his wife are the parents of Misty, 5½; Bridget, 3; and Sarah, 6 weeks. Fishing, bowling and tennis occupy their spare time.

Ruth Gee comes to Big Spring from Clovis, N.M. as manager of Montgomery Ward. Her hobbies include piano playing and reading.

James and Gloria Roe enjoy handcrafts, weaving and sand casting. They hail from Tallahassee, Fla., and are the parents of two daughters, Melissa, 15; and Mechille, 7. James is employed by Cameo Homes.

George and Bernita Thomas came from Levelland along with their 10-month-old son, Kevin. George is employed by Geophysical Service Inc., and he and his wife enjoy bowling and sewing. Richard Johnson makes his way to Big Spring from South Bend, Ind. This truck driver enjoys fishing and motorcycles.

Bob and Debbie Sutherland and children, Denelle, 10 months; and Toni Sue, 2; and Brian, 3, are from Naturita, Colo. Bob is employed by Sutherland Brothers Drilling. Sewing and macramé are listed as family pastimes.

Las Cruces, N.M., was the last home of William and Susie Heard and children William III, 2; and Kenneth, 2 months. Heard is employed in fire department work and he and his wife spend their recreation hours working on cars, sewing and fishing.

Camping, cooking and sewing occupy the spare time of Eugene Tanner and his wife, Jennie. Eugene, who comes from Orlando, Fla., is employed by Damsen Petroservices.

Nancy Twining comes from Las Cruces, N.M., with her children, Josh, 7; and Annessa, 4. Their interests include flowers, handcrafts and reading. Joe Mayer is a representative of Schick Sunn Classic Pictures. He hails from Salt Lake City, Utah and enjoys skiing, racquetball and tennis.

Mainer and Mary Jackson come to the Spring City from Levelland. Mainer is employed by Geophysical Service Inc. The couple enjoy fishing, jogging and reading during their leisure time.

Coming from Naturita, Colo. are Steve and Kathy Hessler along with their 9-month-old son, Brandy. Steve is employed by Sutherland Brothers Drilling. Reading, swimming and sewing are listed as family favorites.

Lowell and Cindy Blackstock are from Pasadena, Tex., and enjoy car racing as well as crocheting. Lowell is employed by Feagins Implement.

Macramé, old cars, camping and needlepoint are a few favorites of Jim and Vanessa Southerland. They come to Big Spring from Naturita, Colo. Jim is employed by Sutherland Brothers Drilling.

Coming from Moss Point, Miss., are J.D. and Elaine Tatum. J.D., an employee of R.D. Landers, and his wife enjoy reading, fishing and bowling.

Soul-Saver Is Bird of Prayer

DEAR ABBY: I am the president of an organization, and we have a problem with one of our members who is very religious. She is always trying to "sell" her religion to others. Some of our members resent it; they have their own religion, and are satisfied with it.

Our biggest problem is that she thinks it's her Christian duty to visit sick people in the hospitals. She and a group of eight ladies from her church go up and down the halls, visiting patients whether they know them or not. They just walk in, "bless" the patient, stand around the bed, hold hands and pray. Then this lady reads from the scriptures and gives a sermon.

A friend of mine was recently sick in the hospital with a "NO VISITORS" sign on her door. She said that she was dozing off when in comes this self-appointed savior of souls with her missionaries. They stood around her bed, chanting and praying until a nurse came in and told them they had to leave.

We are ashamed that this woman belongs to our organization. She tells these hospital patients that they are "sinners" who must seek God's forgiveness in order to enter the kingdom of heaven, which can be very depressing for folks who hope to get well.

How can we get her to quit visiting strangers in hospitals?
MRS. H. IN ARKANSAS

DEAR MRS. H.: First, your organization should advise her that there have been complaints about her hospital visits and she must stop. After that, it's the responsibility of the hospital administration to protect their patients from unwelcome visitors.

DEAR ABBY: We are planning to have a family portrait taken to give to our parents for Christmas, 1980. We are all related by blood or marriage. Our youngest brother (age 19) is going steady with a girl he plans to marry sometime in 1981, but it's not definite as yet.

Should this girl be included in the family portrait? If you say she shouldn't, how can we avoid hurting her feelings?
SANTA'S HELPERS

DEAR HELPERS: If, as you say, "it's not definite," your brother's "steady" should not be included in the picture. Since the portrait will include family members only, there is no reason why this girl should be hurt. She's still a "miss," and a miss is as good as a mile.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Do your own home repairs

From JANET ROGERS
County Extension Agent

Wish you could do your own minor home repairs? Maybe you can — many homemakers are reporting success in learning these skills.

They're also saving money and time, along with cutting down on the frustrations of trying to hire repairmen.

Even novices can do many household improvement, maintenance and repair jobs.

Before trying to tackle a project, consider these factors: Do you have time to do the job? Do you have the necessary tools and supplies on hand? Can you rent, improvise or buy the needed tools, parts and supplies?

Are you physically able to do the work? (Usually you won't need great strength, just stamina.)

Do you have the interest and patience to study a problem and devise a workable solution?

Also, compare costs of a do-it-yourself job versus hiring a professional.

Professional fees usually include a basic service-call charge, an hourly labor charge, and a parts and supplies charge.

In some cases it's wise to ask for an estimate. If you decide to go ahead yourself, pay special attention to tools. In buying tools, start with basic tools.

Buy tools of good quality — "premium" tools are not necessary, but make sure they are good-quality.

Very cheap tools often are unsatisfactory, especially edged tools, such as saws and chisels, because the edges dull rapidly or chip and break.

In selecting basic tools and supplies, be sure to insist on adequate quality for your needs.

You can always rent costly tools that you'll use only occasionally.

Then keep your tools in good condition so they are ready to use.

For example, the teeth of a crosscut saw should be nearly as sharp as a needle, chisels and plane irons should be nearly razor sharp.

If you lack the know-how or the equipment to sharpen tools, have a skilled craftsman do it for you.

In addition, well-planned storage space protects your tools and supplies and makes them easy-to-find, grasp and remove.

Store tools safely, both to avoid damaging the tool and to avoid injuring yourself.

Read the instruction booklets and information labels that come with tools and supplies.

File them for future reference.

Plan a definite storage space for all warranties, service contracts, specification sheets, replacement part lists and special instructions on use, repair and maintenance.

Include the make, model, serial number, date of purchase, and service record of all equipment in your files.

Miss Cowan feted

A bridal shower honoring Kathy Cowan, bride-elect of Randle Jones, was held March 15 in the home of Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr., from 2-4 p.m.

Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Beil, Mrs. Wallace Hunter, Mrs. Don Newsom, Mrs. Robert Penner, Mrs. Herman Smith, Mrs. Walter Wheat and Mrs. Bruce Wright in addition to Mrs. Stripling.

Members of the house-party who served and registered the guests were Cindy Cowan, Debbie Cowan, Beverly, Charlotte and Brenda Beil, Emily Boyd, Suzanne Smith, Jill Odum, Julie Hunter and Mrs. Hayes Stripling III.

The reception table was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. Crystal and silver appointments were used. The honoree and the couple's mothers and grandmothers were presented spring flower corsages.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. T.E. Harbin and Mrs. Sam Cowan, Dublin, grandmothers of the bride; Mrs. Scott Morgan, Lubbock; Mrs. L.P. Morgan, Snyder and Lisa Scott, Lubbock. The couple will wed May 24 in the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Reagan presents program

The 1906 Hyperion Club had a program on bells as they met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. S.M. Anderson, co-hosted by Mrs. Clyde Angel. The group gathered dressed up in old-fashioned dresses.

Mrs. Horace Reagan presented the program as a part of the Texas Heritage program, showing the part bells have played in the history of our country, especially Texas.

Bells were used extensively as early as the fifth and sixth centuries in churches in the Roman Empire. People believed that they were endowed with supernatural powers after the blessing of the bells.

"Bells were important in America's early mission churches nearly two centuries before the Liberty Bell was heard," said Mrs. Reagan.

Bells were found in South Texas by Cabeza de Vaca when he was shipwrecked on that coast in 1528. The Ave Maria bell which is mounted in the main chapel of the San Antonio River nine years after the battle. The Daughters of the Republic bought it and returned it to the Alamo after it journeyed about over the country.

German immigrants who founded Fredericksburg in 1846 brought their own sweet-toned bells with them and some are still used in Easter celebrations when bells ring in unison.

Mrs. Chesley McDonald, president, presided over the business meeting where plans were finalized for the coffee celebrating the Diamond Jubilee April 2 at the Heritage Museum and the Federation Tea at the Country Club on April 3. The Diamond Jubilee Finale will be at the Rich Anderson Ranch April 4.

Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Hayes Stripling and Mrs. Horace Reagan will attend the Western District Convention in Pecos March 21-22.

Auxiliary elects officers

The Elk's Ladies Auxiliary met March 12 with President Jimmy Robertson presiding. New officers elected included Beverly Crown, president; Becky Scott, vice president; Marilyn Woodall, secretary; Helen Lewis, treasurer; Mary Ann Herbert, reporter; and Manette Ussary, sergeant-at-arms.

These officers will take over April 1. The silver drill was won by Bonnie Hyden; and Eileen Johnson was welcomed as a guest.

Smiths celebrate 50th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Smith, 712 Dallas, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary March 15 at the Spring Country Club from 2:30-5:30 p.m. with a reception hosted by their children and grandchildren.

Smith was born in Clay County, near Henrietta and met Ella Anna Rinn in Ft. Worth while working as a sales representative for U.S. Tire and Rubber Company. Mrs. Smith was born in Indiana.

The couple were married March 22, 1930 at Marietta, Okla. in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, by W.J. Stewart, minister. H.W. or Smithy, as Smith is known, and Mrs. Smith had two daughters, Ms. JoAnn Smith Howell and Mrs. C.L. (Nancy) Puckette II and a son, Clem A. Dahse who is deceased. The couple has six grandchildren.

The Smiths have lived in Ft. Worth and Big Spring where he worked for the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil Company and the Continental Oil Company as a jobber. Smith was the owner and founder of the H.W. Smith Transport Company, Inc. and presently is in investments.

Mrs. Smith worked for Cosden Refinery prior to helping her husband in the transport business.

The Smiths are members of the First Christian Church where he is a trustee and an elder and she is Sunday school secretary, a job she has held for nearly 40 years.

Smith served in the Kiwanis Club, on the school board, as a Shriner, YMCA director, in the Chamber of Commerce, Salvation Army, a trustee for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, was a past director and chairman of the board for Big Spring Savings Association, director of the First National Bank and the Big Spring Country Club.

Ella, as Mrs. Smith is known, was a member of the Hyperion Study Club, the Green Thumb Garden Club, a life member of the P.T.A. and several times president; was on the Parks and Recreation board; was one of the first members of the board of directors of the YMCA in 1942 and served for many years since and was one of the original volunteer groups for the Big Spring State Hospital.

Smith's hobbies are hunting and fishing and his special interests are his family and friends. Mrs. Smith's hobbies are needlework and both duplicate and party bridge.

The couple agree that to make a marriage last for 50 years the marriage should be a complete partnership in everything. Smith says it helps if the wife lets you think you are boss. Mrs. Smith added that trying to please each other is important and not getting upset if you disagree. She advises not going to sleep mad.

Surprise reception fetes Creightons

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Creighton, 801 Marcy, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary March 15 with a surprise reception hosted by their children in the Cactus Room at Howard College Student Union Building.

Host couples were Sharron and Doug Stelter with daughter, Laran, Lubbock, Cliff and Meredith Creighton, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Chris Creighton, Waco.

The refreshment table, covered with an ecru linen cloth bordered with lace was centered with an arrangement of wine silk roses, natural dried stems and baby's breath set in brass. Wine colored tulip votives on brass stems flanked the arrangement. The ecru tiered wedding cake trimmed in apple blossoms was served from a large brass tray. A variety of nuts, cheese bits and fruited balls were served along with a red fruit punch.

An ecru lace cloth covered the groom's table from which a chocolate almond cake was served with brass appointments.

Members of the house-party composed of nieces and friends of the couple were Mrs. Nancy Edwards, Gail; Mrs. Welda Corley, Lamesa; Beverly Blake, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mrs. Gloria Peterson, Hobbs, N.M.; Mrs. Dee Stotts, Lubbock; Mrs. Judy Everett, Midland; Mrs. Luan Stallings, Mrs. Londa Henry, Mrs. Ella Morrison, Mrs. Sandra Killough; Mrs. Frances Wheat, Mrs. Clovie Shirey and Linda Bartlett, Big Spring.

Four easels were set up with a display of family pictures and clippings collected through the years by the family.

The couple was married March 24, 1940, in the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Edwards, Big Spring.

Museum recognizes new members

Area students touring the museum last week included 40 third grade students from Elbow schools with their teachers, Mrs. Ruby Woodby and Mary Ann Hartin; and 50 students from Moss School accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Buchanan, teacher.

Recent out-of-town visitors include Michael Crable, Fairbanks, Alaska; H.R. Raghava Reddy, Bangalore, India; Karen Lee and children, Hobbs, N.M., visiting her mother, Evelyn Elrod; Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith and family of Sundright, Ontario, Canada, visiting friends in Lubbock who toured the museum; Yosur Latsumo, Kumaha speaks for itself!

City MIE Japan, student at NTU, Denton; Pat Slaiter, England; Perme Sabu and Per Holliland from Stangner, Norway (Halliburton trainees); Elmer Pickens, Colorado City, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Morgan of Oklahoma City, Okla., who were stationed here at Webb AFB; and Buron Arrason, Dallas.

Everyone is expected to "go western" and dress comfortably. Bee suggests that in order to save gas, the ladies should ride sidesaddle this year. She said they could tie their horses at the east side hitching rack, and that the entertainment being lined up is going to be super!

Furthermore, she has vowed to bring in 50 new and renewal members before the party (she's well on the way now). Erna Balch, one of her committee members is doing a great job membershipwise. Another longtime supporter and good worker is Mrs. Sue Stripling, who brought in a new member this week.

The latest additions of new and renewal members are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Horton, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Green, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Huitl, Mrs. Helen Earley, Ruth Pittman, Ethel McCanness, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Liles, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Wilshire (Arlington), Mr. and Mrs. Lowell N. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Foresyth, Mrs. Dixie Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. Jim H. Parks, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Matt Harrington, Leola M. Edwards.

Members model paper dresses

The Tops Club No. 21 had a fun paper fashion show at 6:30 p.m. March 13 at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Nine Tops members made and modeled dresses of paper and tape. Virginia Collins won first place with a tennis dress and Mary Trim's fashion won second place.

Tops Club No. 21 meets at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center each Thursday evening at 6:30. For more information regarding the group, please call 263-1340 or 263-6629.

Music club appoints committees

The Big Spring Music Study Club met March 12 in the Men's Bible Class of the First United Methodist Church.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Dana Moore and Mrs. Susan Dawes.

Mrs. Dawes, president, called the meeting to order. Members were appointed to serve on the Nominating Committee for next year.

Included were Mrs. Opal Osborne, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Linda Lindell.

Appointed to serve on the Program Committee for next year were Mrs. Thelma Carlile, Mrs. Joan Bell, Mrs. Florence Compton, Mrs. Gay Cowan and Mrs. Naomi Graham.

"Music in America" was the title of the program presented by Mrs. Marguerite Hyden, Mrs. Ocey Mason, Mrs. Walter Osborne and Mrs. Arnold Tonn.

Woman's Forum discusses lighthouses

The Modern Woman's Forum met March 14 in the home of Mrs. T.G. Adams with 12 members and one guest, Mrs. C.A. Holcomb, Lewisville, present.

Mrs. Woody Smith, vice president, presided and appointed a nominating committee of Mrs. Hugh Duncan, chairman, Mrs. Fred Whitaker and Mrs. S.R. Nobles.

Members brought several articles for the M.D. Anderson Hospital patients which will be taken to the Western District Convention and given to the chairman, Mrs. Bobbie Mitchell on March 21.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker, federation counselor, said "The TFWC Public Affairs Department had reported a successful year, making the state a better and safer place to live because of the programs and projects of the federated clubs. Thirteen districts reported from the citizenship division on crime reduction or hands-up and safety divisions."

Mrs. Hugh Duncan presented the program, "Our Texas Heritage" discussing lighthouses and missions.

Some of the lighthouses built after the Revolutionary war to protect the ports and harbours of Texas were Point Isabel, Aransas Pass, Matagorda Bay at the entrance of Galveston Bay and Brozos Sandiogo entrance near Brownsville.

The next meeting will be March 25 in the home of Mrs. W.E. Singleton.

Rogers speaks on cults

Six members and two visitors were present at the home of Mrs. Bill Romines when the Lomax County Girls Extension Homemakers Club met March 10.

Visiting with the group were Mrs. Hershel Romine and Zula Rhodes.

Bill Rogers, minister of education at Hillcrest Baptist Church, spoke to the homemakers on cults.

Mrs. Bob Adkins presided over the meeting and Mrs. Romine read the devotion from Song of Solomon 2:10-13. The group voted to donate $5 for the 4-H Scholarship Fund.

The "it" gift was won by Mrs. Kyle Ditto.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Adkins on April 14. The program will be presented by Mrs. Raymond Roberts and Mrs. Fred Newman.

Ceremony is solemnized in Faith Baptist Church

The wedding ceremony uniting Larenda Gail Gamble and David Alan Larson was solemnized Saturday evening in the Faith Baptist Church.

The Rev. Earl P. Githens read the 7:30 p.m. rite before an archway entwined with greenery. Massive palm arrangements enhanced either side of the sanctuary setting which was completed with two seven-branched candelabrams and a unity candle.

The bride is the daughter of Vernon Gamble and Janis Gamble, both of Big Spring. Mr. and Mrs. Blaine F. Larson, 1403 Robin, are the parents of the groom.

Wedding selections were provided by pianist, Mrs. Walter Brumley and organist Mrs. C.E. Underwood. Vocalist was Vernon Gamble.

The bride was presented down the aisle attired in a gown of white organza and beaded Chantilly lace designed in an antebellum style.

The full bishop sleeves accented a molded bodice featuring a Queen Anne neckline. Streams of organza edged in Chantilly lace cascaded into a full cathedral-length train.

She wore a bridal veil of silk illusion edged in coordinating lace which fell from a headpiece embellished with lace and seed pearls.

As an accent to her ensemble, the bride wore her grandmother's first wedding ring on a chain around her neck.

She carried a cascading bouquet of pink rosebuds and white carnations accented with baby's breath.

Kim Burkhart attended the

MRS. DAVID ALAN LARSON

bride as maid of honor. Deanna Carlile served as bridesmaid.

Attending the groom as best man was Steve Hale. Johnny Chamber, Houston, was the groomsmen. Guests were seated by Clay Alan Gamble, Jeffery Reed and Gary Kirkland.

Flower girl was Judy Covington, and Cameron Clinton served as ring-bearer. Trainbearers were Andy Adams and Timothy Larson.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds were feted with a reception in the church fellowship hall. Carey Chandler registered guests.

The reception table was draped with white cloth and overlaid with lace. A silver candelabrum as well as a pink, burgundy and white floral arrangement topped with a porcelain doll accented the setting as centerpiece.

Serving the three-tiered cake which was decorated with pink roses and topped with wedding bells were Verna Lynn Love, Mrs. Russell Hull, Brenda Larson, Mrs. Elmer Belcher and Sherry Larson.

Out-of-town guests attended from Houston, Odessa, Midland and Dallas, Tex.; and Tulsa, Okla.

The groom is a Big Spring High School graduate and is presently employed by Riley Drilling Co.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to an undisclosed location, the couple will reside in the Big Spring.

Hoylene Nix becomes Mrs. Stephen Foster

An archway entwined with greenery graced the altar setting as Hoylene Nix and Stephen Daniel Foster spoke their wedding vows.

The ceremony was performed Saturday afternoon at 5 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church by Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Flanking either side of the sanctuary setting were massive palm arrangements. A unity candle accented with baby's breath and blue bows enhanced the scene.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Nix and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cherry, both of Big Spring. The groom is the son of Mrs. Rebecca Foster, Big Spring and R.A. Foster, Coahoma.

Wedding music was provided by Charles Parham, organist; Mrs. Gail Bonner, pianist; and Jody Nix, violinist, guitarist and vocalist.

Blue bows and candles marked the aisle as the bride was given in marriage. She chose to wear a gown of silk organza fashioned with an empire waistline and stand-up collar.

The long illusion sleeves ended in ruffled cuffs of lace. A chapel-length train flowed gracefully from the full lace-embellished skirt.

As a complement to her ensemble, the bride chose to wear a chapel-length veil of organza and lace sprinkled with seed pearls.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white butterfly roses and miniature blue carnations enhanced with baby's breath.

Mrs. Robin Walker attended her sister as matron of honor. Tracy Brady served as maid of honor.

Each carried a nosegay of true-blue carnations, blue starflowers and baby's breath tied with pale blue streamers.

James Teeler served the groom as best man. Bubba Parrish, Coahoma, was groomsmen. Guests were seated by Jody Nix, brother of the bride; and Greg Walker, brother-in-law of the bride.

Immediately following the wedding rite, Mr. and Mrs. Foster were feted with a reception at the Stamped

MRS. STEPHEN DANIEL FOSTER

Club on the Snyder Hwy.

Entertainment was provided by the bride's father, Hoyle Nix, and the West Texas Cowboys.

Servers were JoEllen Canales, sister of the bride; Karen Breneman, Kim Wade, Marta Sullivan, Shirley Darden and Wanda Arencibia.

Out-of-town guests attended from Snyder, Leakey, Abilene, Midland, Harlingen and Ennis, Tex.; and Ada and Marriett, Okla.

Mrs. Foster is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Howard College for two years. She is presently employed as a medical secretary at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital.

The groom is a Coahoma High School graduate and has attended Howard College. He is employed by Basin Construction.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to an undisclosed location, the newlyweds will be at home in Big Spring.
