Shah on permanent visit to Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi arrived in Egypt today from Panama, escaping extradition proceedings, after the Panamanian government refused to let U.S. doctors operate on him. President Anwar Sadat said the deposed monarch would be staying in Egypt permanently.

Sadat met the shah at Cairo airport, and the two took a helicopter to Maadi military hospital on the outskirts of Cairo, where the shah is to undergo medical treatment.

There, Sadat was asked whether the shah would be staying in Egypt permanently. "Yes, yes permanently," Sadat said in his booming voice.

The shah looked thin and very tired after his overnight flight. He declined to answer reporters' questions, saying, "After the operation we shall have ample time to speak with you."

The entire second floor of Maadi hospital was cleared for the shah, who is suffering from lymph cancer that is believed to have spread to the spleen.

The hospital's director, Dr. Sabri Ismael, was quoted as saying the shah could be operated on as early as today. But there were unconfirmed reports that the operation for removal of the spleen would be delayed until Dr. Michael DeBakey, the famed American surgeon, could arrive and perform the surgery.

Tehran Radio accused President Carter and Sadat of conspiring to "save the Hitler of our age" and said "the burden of the Shah may speed up the explosion that will send Sadat and the Shah to the dustbin of history."

A spokesman for the young militants holding the 50 American hostages in the American Embassy in Tehran declined to comment. But he said their price for the release of the hostages — the return of the shah and his fortune to Iran — remains unchanged.

The 60-year-old shah and his wife left Panama at midday Sunday in a chartered American DC-8, the day before the deadline for lawyers for the Iranian regime to submit an official request for his extradition.

The Panamanian government barred DeBakey from operating on the shah because Panamanian doctors felt it would be an insult to them to have the surgery performed by a foreigner. White House adviser Hamilton Jordan flew to Panama over the weekend to try to get the shah to have the operation there, but the exmonarch decided against it and left.

A Panamanian government spokesman said the shah, "having received a personal invitation from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, chose to move to Cairo," his first refuge after being driven from Iran in January 1979 by the revolution led by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

The shah and Empress Farah Diba spent six days in Egypt during their 1979 stop, then moved on to Morocco, the Bahamas, Mexico, the United States and Panama.

SHAH ARRIVES IN EGYPT — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and the Shah of Iran, smile upon arrival at the Maadi Military Hospital today, on the outskirts of Cairo. When asked if the Shah would be staying in Egypt permanently, Sadat said, "yes, yes, permanent."

The plastic bottles are what Dunnigan plans to produce in the facility which would be located in the 60,000 foot hanger at the Big Spring Industrial Park if Western gets final approval for its project.

Says Sellier of Industrial Park

Keep that military look

Charles Sellier, head of Schick-Sunn Classic Productions, will recommend that much of the Big Spring Industrial Park be kept in appearance as a military base.

The recommendation will take place at the regular meeting of the Big Spring City Council, Tuesday, 9 a.m. in the City Council Room, Fourth and Nolan.

Sellier feels that with the appearance of the Industrial Park staying as a military base, it will attract more movie companies to film in Big Spring.

Other business includes:

Permission to advertise for bids for oil and gas lease on property which is presently being used as sanitary landfill will be considered.

Permission to advertise for bids for valves for the downtown area will be considered.

Permission to advertise for bids for a sanitation vehicle will be considered.

Permission to advertise for bids for bank depository will be considered.

The second and final reading of a resolution limiting the administration of the Housing Assistance Payment

Program to properties located within the corporate limits of the city will be considered.

The first reading of a resolution authorizing the mayor to execute an agreement with the American Little League Association and the Big Spring United Girls Softball Association will be considered.

The appointment of a city health officer will be considered.

The recording of numbers of ballots for use in the regular election of April 5, 1980 will be considered.

The second and final reading of an ordinance allowing drilling of oilwells within the city limits will be considered.

An emergency reading of an ordinance amending Section K of the Use Regulations of the Zoning Ordinance concerning natural resources storage and extraction will be considered.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Counting people

Q. The taking of the next U.S. census will be a monumental job. How do they ever get all the people counted, anyway?

A. They probably won't, but the Census Bureau has been gearing up for this thing for a long time. There are 3,500 employees in the U.S. Bureau of Census headquarters; 535 more in regional offices and the department is in the process of hiring 270,000 temporary workers just to count noses. The bureau is finding it is harder than anticipated to hire competent personnel, however.

Calendar: Cotton meeting

Howard County Cotton Producers meeting will be staged at 7 p.m. in the Texas Electric Service Co. to discuss cotton pest management.

UCLA plays Louisville for the NCAA basketball championship before NBC audiences at 8 o'clock this evening. If you're not a sports buff, perhaps Lou Grant will appeal to you. It airs at 9 p.m., on Channel 7 and concerns a little problem of blackmail involving Lou himself. At 8 p.m., Part II of the movie, "Doctor Zhivago," will be aired on ABC.

Keep money, buyer says

One of the advantages of subscribing for a Herald want ad for a week is that if you get results you can cancel it at any time.

Invariably the Herald want ads do get results. A reader took out a 'for rent' ad for a week recently. The purchaser called back after three days to say she had gotten results, then suggested that the Herald not 'bother' sending any refund 'because it was worth more than it cost to run the ad for six days.'

For good results, advertise in the Herald. Invariably, it pays dividends. The number is 263-7331.

After seven die in crash

Plane to be probed piece by piece

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal investigators plan to dismantle and examine piece-by-piece the engines of a commuter airliner that crashed Friday at Hobby Airport killing seven persons.

J.O. Johnson, a National Transportation Safety Board investigator, said a thorough examination of the rest of the aircraft turned up no mechanical malfunction.

He said the engines and propellers would be taken today to the Brownwood headquarters of Eagle Aviation, Inc., owner of the plane, for a complete inspection.

Federal Aviation Administration officials said details of the crash — the second at a Houston airport in five weeks — probably would be released next week.

The seven who died included the pilot, Walter J. Mathison, 53, of Goleta, Calif., and his assistant, Judson Roach, 52, of Hico, Texas. Roach originally was identified as the co-pilot, but Johnson said that was not correct.

Witnesses said the twin-engine Piper Navajo lost power during takeoff on a flight to Waco, Dallas and Brownwood, fell to the ground and struck a parked helicopter, a small plane, and four parked cars before smashing into a hangar and bursting into flames.

Johnson said air traffic controllers saw the airplane make a right turn, then heard a radio call saying, "I've lost our right engine." Johnson said that call apparently was made by Mathison, and was followed by one from Roach, saying, "We are declaring an emergency."

Three persons survived the crash when airport workers pulled them from the wreckage before the plane burst into flames.

One of them, Willis Jackson, 31, of Houston, said the plane may have developed engine trouble before takeoff.

"Before we took off, the left engine wouldn't start. Finally they got it started and we took off," Jackson said.

"Just as it started there was a backfire like a car. Then it was two backfires. The next thing we knew the plane tilted to the left. He (the pilot) evened it out. It tilted over again. That's all I remember."

Dan McGee of San Antonio said the pilot and co-pilot had a frantic discussion just before the craft slammed into the ground.

"I remember hearing the pilot say 'What do I do?'" said McGee, a 22-year-old Baylor University student.

Four passengers died in the crash and fire. They were Rembert H. Woodridge, 56, of Waco; Ronald D. Hancock, 35, of Axtell, Texas; Peter C. Stenback, 24, of Houston; and Stanley M. Glassman, 54, of Hauppauge, N.Y.

Another passenger, Virgil Savoy, 47, of Brownwood, survived the impact but died of injuries two hours later at a Houston hospital. Savoy was a real estate investor and former banking official in San Angelo, Kerrville and Corpus Christi.

Jackson, McGee and Samir Foteh, 25, of Missouri City, remained hospitalized Sunday in fair to satisfactory condition.

On Feb. 14, four Corpus Christi residents died and one was injured when a twin-engine turbo plane crashed in heavy fog short of a runway at Houston International Airport.

John Woodward to be speaker

The National Association of Accountants will hold its technical session Thursday at Ranchland Hills Country Club, Midland.

Former county auditor helps set up systems

Former Howard County Auditor Virginia Black has been assigned to a State Comptroller's office program which offers assistance to counties in implementing accounting systems.

"It's not unusual at all for counties to ask for help and to ask for assistance in implementing the system," she told the Amarillo Globe-Times recently.

The system she referred to is one detailed in a manual prepared by the state office — Standard Financial Management System for Texas Counties.

The manual contains two systems; one for smaller counties and one more complicated system for larger counties.

"A number of counties will ask us to come and look at their system and make recommendations to improve that system," said Mrs. Black.

Three people from the Comptroller's Office cover the state to work with officials with financial problems, according to Comptroller's Office Director of Planning and Research Jack Reynolds.

GOP meeting is scheduled

Precinct chairmen will be named and plans for the primary election will be discussed at a meeting of the Howard County Republican Party, scheduled to get under way at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday in the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Howard County GOP Chairman Bill M. Sheppard, who called the meeting, said it was imperative that as many members of the party as possible be in attendance at the meeting.

BERNARD SHAW PATTY HEARST

Hearst divides time

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A year after her marriage to a San Francisco policeman, kidnap victim Patty Hearst divides her time between housekeeping and volunteer work, People magazine says in its current edition.

Mrs. Shaw, 26, works as the fund-raising co-chairman of a child-care center for children of working mothers in South San Francisco.

The center is staffed by the elderly and dedicated to the late Rep. Leo J. Ryan. He was an early supporter of the drive to free Mrs. Shaw from prison, and his slaying in Guyana by Peoples Temple fanatics may have sped her release. "It wasn't until the Jonestown massacre that people really began believing in brainwashing," her husband, Bernard Shaw, said in the interview.

There are no immediate plans to turn one of the three extra bedrooms in the Shaw home into a nursery, "but we hope to have children in the future," Shaw said.

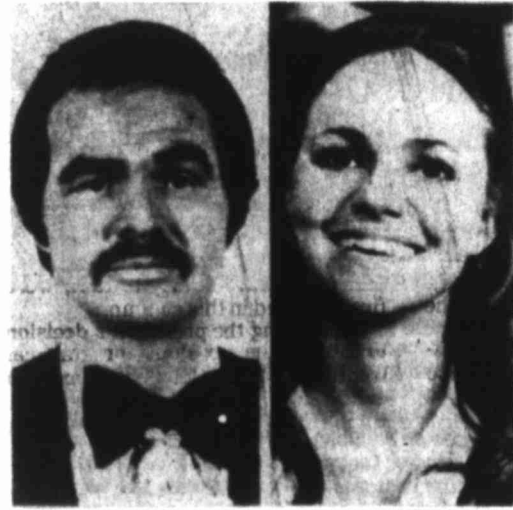

The couple was married on April 1, 1979, after Mrs. Shaw's bank robbery sentence was commuted by President Carter.

Ali sports mustache

NEW YORK (AP) — No stiff upper lip for Muhammad Ali but a little fuzz is certainly in fashion. The former world champion boxer is now sporting a mustache.

He wore the growth Sunday at Carter-Mondale headquarter where he said: "Carter's gonna win the election with no problem, just like I'm going to win my next fight with no problem."

Ali is trying for a fourth world championship.

BURT REYNOLDS SALLY FIELDS

Burt, Sally splitting

NEW YORK (AP) — Burt Reynolds and Sally Field, one of Hollywood's most celebrated couples, are splitting up, the New York Daily News reports.

The paper said in today's editions that the couple, who met during the filming of "Smokey and the Bandit" is ending the relationship with completion of the filming of a sequel in Jupiter, Fla., in about a week.

No reason was given for the breakup, the paper said.

Pope braves storm

CASTEL ANTA MARIA, Italy (AP) — Pope John Paul II braved a freezing rainstorm to visit a town 100 miles northeast of Rome that was devastated by an earthquake last September.

Two children who lost their parents in the quake cried as the pope embraced them Sunday. The pope entered a temporary church built of masonry panels and sheet metal to meet relatives of the victims of the quake.

Later in Norcia, the pope celebrated a Mass commemorating the 1,500th anniversary of the birth of St. Benedict.

Sportscaster joins ABC

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC sportscaster Dick Schaap will be joining ABC News in late April, the network has announced.

Schaap has covered major sporting events for NBC's "Today" program for the last two years. Recently, he covered the Winter Olympics for the show.

An ABC spokesman on Sunday would not disclose Schaap's salary or the length of his contract.

Cabinet decision draws criticism from Egypt

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli Cabinet members opposed to the settling of Jews in Palestinian cities on the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River are taking their case to Parliament after the Cabinet voted 8-6 against them. Three other members abstained.

The Sunday vote, calling initially for the establishment of two live-in Jewish schools in the fiercely Arab West Bank city of Hebron, elicited an expression of "bitter dismay" from Egyptian officials likely to bring more criticism from the Carter administration.

The vote provoked angry comments from West Bank Palestinian and from Israeli peace advocates. But it was hailed by Israeli ultra-nationalists who consider Hebron and the rest of the West Bank part of God's biblical land grant to the Jewish patriarchs.

Because more than half the Cabinet refused to approve the go-ahead, Prime Minister Menachem Begin agreed to delay implementation of the controversial settlement plan while the opponents appealed to the Foreign Affairs and Security Committee of the Knesset, or Parliament.

The committee is not expected to take up the matter for several days. But political analysts of the government-run radio and television services were predicting the panel might reject it. It was not clear what the next step would be if that happened.

Kansas City strike ends

Firefighters pardoned

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "Welcome Home, Ex-Con," said one sign greeting the 71 firefighters pardoned by Gov. Joseph Teasdale and freed from jail as this Midwest city ended its second firefighters walkout in four months with hugs and kisses — and a touch of humor.

Cheering, singing songs and applauding speakers, some 200 firefighters, wives and children gathered at a rally near the Municipal Corrections Institution on Sunday as they awaited the men who were jailed last week for defying a no-strike order.

"We're very proud of them," said Lee Donnici, as her husband Gary was freed Sunday afternoon after the pardons paperwork was completed.

The jailing was "like someone put us all in the twilight zone," she said. "I was falling apart."

When the six-day strike ended Saturday, she tied yellow ribbons around an oak tree in the family's yard and bought two bottles of champagne. "It's not a wedding — but it's going to be a honeymoon," she said.

The pardon was part of a settlement between city officials and union leaders that also called for reinstating 42 firefighters dismissed during a 12-day work slowdown in December.

The nearly 900 members of Firefighters Local 42 walked off their jobs at 5 p.m. last Monday after City Manager Robert Kipp refused to reinstate the 42 men.

"I'd hate to go through another thing like this again," said firefighter Tom Chuning, after he emerged from jail. "But sure, I'd do it again, if it was a matter of getting the men back."

Firefighters began returning to work at the 11 p.m. shift Saturday after voting almost unanimously to approve the settlement worked out during day-long talks with the governor, mayor, city manager, city council and union leaders.

The council had asked the court to reinstate the fired workers on the condition that firefighters returned to work.

England's new version of a nanny

LONDON (AP) — Four-week-old Gemma Zawadski has a computer for a nanny. Instead of an apron and a cozy lap, it has tape drives and typewriter keys. Instead of a nickname like Nana, it's called ORCA III. But it soothes Gemma when she cries, tells her a bedtime story and will teach her English, French and German when she starts to talk. "About the only thing it can't do is change the baby's nappies," said Gemma's father, Richard Zawadski, the 28-year-old computer consultant who built ORCA

III. ORCA III is more than just a nanny. Zawadski has programmed it to do household chores as well — turning on lights, opening the garage door and guarding the house against burglars and thieves. "Pretty soon I can just ring up from work and have it switch on the microwave oven before I come home," he boasted. Last November, for $6,600, Zawadski bought the American IIT 2020 home computer to use in his business and educational work. The baby arrived on Feb. 29. "I think my daughter has been born in an age when technology is going to have a bigger impact than ever before," said Zawadski. "I wanted to introduce my daughter to computers at an early age." So he purchased several pieces of hardware to expand the computer's range to include speech synthesis and voice recognition. With the help of his wife, who is an engineer, he rewired their home in St. Albans, outside London, and rigged up a set of microphones in the nursery. ORCA III, named after a British science-fiction TV show, sits in the utility room, but its power extends throughout the house. Zawadski said he programmed the computer to switch on the instant the baby begins to cry and to talk back in a soothing tone reproducing both his and his wife's voice. "If Gemma stirs in the night, the computer will react to the sound of her voice and start talking to her," the father said.

ORCA III also is programmed to make up its own bedtime story, always beginning with "Once upon a time" and ending with "They lived happily ever after," Zawadski said. The plot is up to the computer's choosing from sample stories fed into its memory. Gemma is too young to talk, but her nanny is ready. ORCA III is programmed for three languages — English, French and German — to teach her vocabulary and correct pronunciation.

Zawadski said he plans to program ORCA III by the time she starts school. But he worries that if she gets too good, she'll use the computer to play tricks on her parents. "You cannot replace a parent's love and we don't intend to," said Zawadski. "But I can see it being a great help on occasions. 'I'm sure anybody would do it if they had the equipment.'"
