Troops clear streets in San Salvador

40 persons killed

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Troops cleared the streets of San Salvador to maintain order after dozens of persons were killed and more than 250 injured at the funeral of El Salvador's assassinated archbishop.

Morgues and hospitals reported at least 40 persons killed in the violence in front of San Salvador's Roman Catholic cathedral on Palm Sunday. Church sources confirmed 26 dead.

indicating some of the victims may have been counted twice. The outdoor funeral for Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero, an outspoken critic of military repression and political violence, was brought to a hurried conclusion after an explosion and then gunfire erupted about noon as the throng of mourners filled the square in front of the cathedral.

There were conflicting reports on how the firing started, but armed leftist who had taken up positions in the square began shooting, and the crowd stampeded.

Within minutes, 3,000 to 4,000 people, many of them leftists, rushed into the cathedral for safety as other leftists took up positions around the church and apparently blasted away at anything that moved outside.

Man is charged in wife's death

Raymond Lester Kennedy, 62, 410 W. Eighth, has been charged with intentionally causing the death of his wife, Lucille Morgan Kennedy. The shooting occurred here Friday.

The charge was filed in the office of Justice of the Peace Bob West. Kennedy was arrested soon after, said West.

Loretta Ann Stewart, Kennedy's granddaughter, said she talked to Kennedy 20 minutes prior to the discovery of her grandmother's wounded body. Police said the remarks he allegedly made were incriminating. A grandson, David Stewart, also made a statement to police concerning the slaying.

Many of the casualties were victims of the panic, not of bullets. There appeared to be at least as many casualties from trampling or suffocation as from gunfire.

The archbishop's coffin was hurried inside and put in a crypt. People huddled together on the floor of the cathedral. Priests urged calm. Nuns prayed. Leftists among the crowd chanted of the struggle that "the people" would win.

After an hour, when the army still remained in its barracks, the atmosphere inside the church calmed. People began walking out and cautiously crossing the square with their hands above their heads.

The troops did not appear until 4½ hours after the trouble was over. Then they stopped minor looting and ordered everyone off the streets for the night.

Reporters near the front of the cathedral when the violence started heard a loud explosion followed by gunshots. A few seconds later there was general gunfire from several directions.

One leftist said the first shots were fired by three armed men in a jeep who drove by and opened fire. Others who were near that point in the square said they saw no such thing.

There also were unverified reports that some firing came from nearby buildings, and that some troops had been only a few blocks away from the square in armored vehicles but did not open fire.

The ruling military-civilian junta said the shooting was an attempt "to create a great commotion with violence to close the doors to a peaceful and democratic solution" to the political terrorism that has taken 900 lives since the Oct. 15 coup.

CONFLICT AT CATHEDRAL — As two people huddle for safety, others behind them fire guns over the wall, during rioting that erupted during the funeral of Archbishop Romero, that left 40 dead, scores injured.

First vote rejected

Cosden, labor resume talks

By STEVE HERSHBERGER
With the specter of a midnight strike deadline, Cosden officials and local labor union leaders met at 10 a.m. today to work out a new contract agreement.

Kenneth Howell, head of the International Union of Operating Engineers, said this morning he had not been given any communication from Cosden about a proposed contract since his union's Wednesday night rejection of an offer.

A spokesman with Cosden, a subsidiary of American Petrofina, said that management met before the morning talks to decide on the terms of its offer.

The I.U.O.E., which represents some 500 Cosden workers, voted down an offer last Wednesday night. The offer called for a 40-cent wage increase on top of a 6 percent salary increase previously negotiated. The offer also contained two health plans.

"We offered an improved hospitalization and medical plan with no dental," Hood Barnwell of Cosden said. He added that the alternative was the present health plan with dental coverage of a $15.50 company contribution for a family or $4 individually.

J.D. Fortenberry, a business representative with the I.U.O.E., said of the health plan, "It is short of money. The terms of the contract are unacceptable to the membership."

Howell said the union will meet tonight after the talks and vote on any proposal from the table. Approval of a contract offer is done by a majority of the union members present, not the total membership, Howell said.

The union has a right to strike after midnight today, Howell said, adding that those union members present must approve a walkout.

Howell said that he is confident there will not be a strike. "We just concluded negotiations in El Paso with Chevron," Howell said. "We had no problems there."

The Cosden-I.U.O.E. talks come in the wake of refinery workers nationwide going back to work after 12 weeks of strike.

Officials with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers said Saturday that nearly four-fifths of the striking 55,000 oil refinery workers ratified contracts at the local level.

Jerry Archuleta, a spokesman with OCAW, said some 40,000 workers will be returning to work.

Meanwhile in Texas, refinery workers at two Texaco plants in the Port Neches-Port Arthur area have approved contracts. But, the largest Texaco plant in Port Arthur has refused to approve a pact until a local issue is settled.

Workers at Union local 4-23 at Port Arthur broke off negotiations over a back-to-work clause.

"They got one of our people discharged, and until they put him back to work, we're standing firm," a union spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said Sunday.

The contract which Texaco workers approved calls for a 52-cent hourly increase on top of a 5 percent raise that went into effect Jan. 8. The contract provides for a 10.5 percent wage hike in January 1981.

The OCAW workers gained $18.50 monthly contributions to a family health insurance plan with an $18 increase to take effect next January. The refinery workers also won a dental health plan.

Roger Staubach retires; Dallas Cowboys 'thanked'

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach announced today he is retiring after 11 seasons in the National Football League, saying he "thinks the Cowboys" for his experience.

"It's a decision based on various reasons," he said. "There's a point in your career when you have to make a decision... you want to spend the quality time with your family."

A series of concussions this past season "was not an overriding factor," he said. "I never worried about injuries."

"It's a fairly complex decision for any athlete to make... being on top and winning the Super Bowl would be nice but there were a lot of good things in the 70s."

"I will not look back on the decision."

He said Coach Tom Landry thought he could have played at least another year but did not try to talk him out of retiring.

The emotional Staubach said the College All-Star game was one of the key times in his life because he learned that the Dallas Cowboys and the Kansas City Chiefs wanted him to play football after a four-year stint in the Navy.

Another important time, he said, was the 1968 Cowboy training camp which he attended on two weeks military leave and proved to both himself and the team that he could play. His retirement became a media event as he spoke to an organized mob of the news media, a sea of cameras and at least 40 microphones strapped to the podium. KRLD Radio broadcast it live and had hookups in St. Louis and Washington.

His meeting with teammates started out in a lighthearted vein but quickly turned serious and there were few dry eyes.

Tex Schramm, club president and general manager, said, "We will miss him. There's not a question that Roger Staubach is this country's greatest sports hero today and maybe of our time. He is unique in that his following spans all age generations."

"He has BEEN the Cowboys for the past 11 years. There is no doubt that our success in the '70s, to a great extent, can be attributed to Roger."

Waiting in the wings to battle for Staubach's job were Danny White and young Glenn Carano, understudies to one of the NFL's all-time stars.

As a collegian at the Naval Academy and an 11-year pro with the Cowboys, Staubach won two coveted awards: the Heisman Trophy at Navy and Super Bowl VI Most Valuable Player.

He was a 10th-round draft choice by the Cowboys in 1964 and served four years in the Navy before he joined the NFL team.

Charmer selected for snakes

A Big Spring beauty was named the 18th annual Miss Diamondback Sunday during the local Jaycees Rattlesnake Round-up.

Beverly Wheeler, 16, was the winner of the beauty pageant which took place in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Beverly, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wheeler, is a junior at Big Spring High.

Beverly said of her competing in the pageant, "Being the 'Snake Queen' would be a great honor to me. Since the snake is a true symbol of West Texas, I feel that representing West Texas would be an honor to anyone."

First runner-up was Kim Deel, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Deel.

Second runner-up was Leanna Tolle, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Tolle.

Third runner-up was Shana Sue Hohertz, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daryle Hohertz.

The name Carr was mentioned twice in the snake competition.

The team of Jack, Barbara and Dalton Carr won first place with the most pounds delivered to the Roundup. The Carrs turned in 369½ pounds in reptiles.

Barbara said the team ventured to ranches and searched pipelines for the rattlesnakes. "We went as far as Big Lake," Barbara added.

Second place winner in the most-pounds contest was Jack Tonn with 237½ pounds. He was followed by L.R. Bonner with 77½.

Johnny and Jimmie Forbes had the longest snake and the serpent with the most rattles. The winning snake was 96 inches long and had 15 rattles with a button.

A tie resulted in the contest for the shortest snake. The team of Alfred Sanchez and Dave Sanford tied with Dalton Carr. Both had snakes measuring 14½ inches.

The three-day snake extravaganza resulted in the collection of 1,002¼ pounds of rattlesnakes, Wayne Pierce said.

Herald want ad helps find pet

Losing a possession or a pet can be frustrating, but your chances for recovering an item or an animal improve if you use a Herald want ad to circulate news of the fact.

One woman said she received "lots of calls" after she advertised the fact that a Toy Silver Poodle had strayed from her home. As it turned out, the second person who called had the animal and returned it to the owner.

The owner not only thanked the finder but the Herald as well, adding such ads "work."

For results, call 263-7331 and talk to one of the Herald's friendly sales people about inserting a want ad in the paper. It's a simple procedure.

20 persons hurt when buses hit

AVINGER, Texas (AP) — Three persons remain hospitalized after the collision of a station wagon and two school buses that were bringing a victorious high school track team home from a meet.

The crash on a remote northeast Texas highway late Saturday injured 20 persons. The two team buses were returning from a Longview track meet with coaches and athletes.

"It was a nightmare," said Anthony Bruce, a member of the Texas High School track team, from Texarkana, Texas. "I was trying to go to sleep and I thought I was having a nightmare. But then I got up and realized what had happened."

"The station wagon crossed over the center line and hit the side of one of the school buses, then ran into the front of the other school bus. Both school buses overturned," said Texarkana official Gary Chamber.

"We put on the brakes and swerved and the other bus hit us," said student Randy Higgins. "We rolled over our side... I just tried to grab and hold on."

The buses were "tore up pretty bad," according to a deputy at the scene.

Ambulance driver Bubba Ellis said, "The car looked like it was about two feet tall. There wasn't much left of it."

Students pulled many of their injured teammates from the buses, but four or five students trapped in one overturned bus had to be cut free with torches, Bruce said.

"There were children laying out in the highway and on the side of the highway," said Marion County Sheriff's deputy Leo Clark. "The driver (of the station wagon) was pinned in the vehicle when we got there."

The injured were treated at hospitals as far away as Longview and Texarkana, as well as local hospitals.

JEWISH FESTIVAL — Passover will be celebrated by Jewish families all over the world starting at sundown tonight and lasting for eight days. The holiday celebrates the exodus from Egypt in ancient times. The pages in the photograph are from the Haggadah which is used during the seder the first and second nights of the holiday.

For Jewish families

Passover celebration

By ANDREA COHEN

Jewish families in Howard County, as with those all over the world, will celebrate the holiday of Passover starting at sundown tonight and continuing for eight days.

The holiday is a festival of the exodus of the Jewish people as they left Egypt in ancient times at the height of the Egyptian persecution.

The first two nights of the holiday are celebrated with a seder (meaning order of the service) where the story of the exodus is told before and after the dinner meal.

According to the Bible, Moses was born during the time of the Egyptian persecution when all Hebrew male infants were drowned at birth. At his birth, his mother put the live baby in a basket and placed it on the Nile, where he was found by Pharaoh's daughter. Moses was brought up as a member of the royal palace.

When he became older, Moses slew an Egyptian taskmaster who was mistreating a Hebrew slave. He escaped to the desert where God called on him in the miracle of the burning bush to lead his people out of Egypt. Moses appeared before the Pharaoh and demanded that his people be let go. The ten plagues reinforced his demand. The last plague, the slaying of the Egyptian first born, brought freedom to the Hebrews.

The word Passover, or the Hebrew word Pesach, indicates the passing over the houses of the Children of Israel during the last plague.

When the Hebrews escaped, the Pharaoh tried to capture his former slaves. Another miracle took place with the Red Sea parting for the Hebrews and then drowning the pursuing Egyptians.

During the eight days of Passover, special dietary laws are followed. Matzah, a flat, unleavened cracker is eaten in place of all leavened foods. It is also referred to as the bread of affliction and symbolizes the hasty departure of the Hebrews from Egypt, since there was no time for bread to rise.

Among the foods not eaten during the eight-day celebration are breads, cakes, biscuits, crackers, cereals, wheat, barley, rice, peas, beans and any grain alcohol or any foods containing ingredients.

During the seder, which is held around the dinner table, symbolic foods are used to tell the story of Passover, as it is read from a Haggadah.

Three matzot (plural for matzah), placed on top of one another and divided by cloths represent the religious divisions in ancient Israel: the Kohanim (the priests); the Levites, (the assistants to the priests); and the Israelites (the rest of the people of Israel). During the seder the center piece is broken and part is used for the afikomen (meaning dessert.) It is then hidden for the children to find at the end of the seder.

Besides the matzot, a seder plate is used. On the plate are a roasted shank-bone to commemorate the paschal sacrifice which the ancestors brought to the Temple on Passover in ancient times; bitter herbs or maror (horseradish is usually used for this purpose) to signify the bitterness of Israel's bondage in Egypt; a roasted egg representing the special festal sacrifice in conjunction with the paschal sacrifice and also representing life; charoset, a mixture of grated apples, chopped nuts, cinnamon and wine symbolizing the mortar which the Israelites used in building the treasure cities for Pharaoh; and a green herb or karpas which is dipped in salt water.

The green symbolizes the coming of spring and suggests the perpetual renewal of life and the ever sustaining hope of human redemption. Some believe the salt water stands for the tears shed in Egypt.

Other symbols used in the seder are four cups of wine representing the four expressions of redemption mentioned in Exodus 6:7: "And I shall bring out," "And I shall deliver," "And I shall take," "And I shall redeem."

"Some of the wine from the second cup is poured out as the 10 plagues are said, symbolizing the sadness of the Jewish people that the Egyptians suffered in ancient times.

The cup of Elijah, the prophet, is placed at the center of the table and is associated with the coming of the messiah. During the seder, the door is opened for him to enter and drink wine from his cup. Since Passover is the holiday of freedom, it renews hope for a time of freedom and peace for all people.

During the seder, the youngest boy at the table reads the four questions asking why Passover is different from any other night. One of the reasons he will read is that "on all other nights we eat and drink either sitting or reclined, but on this night we all of us recline."

Reclining at the table was a sign of a free man in olden times.

Updated look due on prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report scheduled for release today by the Agriculture Department will provide an updated look at what has been happening to prices farmers get for a wide range of products.

The monthly price report, to be released after 3 p.m. EST, will include preliminary farm prices for March, many of which will be based on quotations as of mid-month.

Farm

Farm income to drop sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government experts say farmers' income will be down sharply this year from the near-record level in 1979, but the big question is by how much.

According to the Agriculture Department's latest figures, net farm income last year was $33 billion, slightly less than the $33.3 billion indicated a couple of months ago, which would have equaled the all-time high set in 1973.

Those income figures do not take inflation into account, but they do serve to illustrate in a general way what is happening to the farm economy when related to farmers' gross receipts, value of inventories and expenses in any given year.

For some time, USDA has been saying 1980 net farm income — the amount left over after paying production expenses — may decline "about a fifth" from last year. That would put the figure at around $26 billion or so.

Howard W. Hjort, the department's chief economist, has declined to project a flat figure, being content for now to stick to the view that income will drop around 20 percent from last year.

One reason for Hjort's caution is that relatively small shifts in farm marketings — meaning gross income — can have a significant bearing on what farmers actually net.

Severe weather, here or overseas, could drive commodity prices up sharply, for example, and boost the dollar value of what farmers sell this year. Conversely, prices could worsen and pinch gross receipts.

"Cash receipts for crops and livestock are forecast to increase about 5 percent (in 1980)," says the latest outlook report by USDA's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service.

"Prices will be higher (than last year) for most crops, but total production will probably be somewhat lower as yields are unlikely to match the record highs of 1979."

But production expenses are projected to rise by about 13 percent this year and thus "will more than offset the gain in cash receipts," it said. "Fuel and fertilizer prices will increase the most."

One indicator of how things are going involves the agency's use of quarterly figures projected as an annual rate. In other words, if the statistics in a three-month period continued unchanged, they would reflect farm receipts, expenses and net income for the entire year.

For example, based on indications for the April-June second quarter, the report projects cash receipts at an annual rate of $135.5 billion. Allowances for values of farm inventories boosted "total gross farm income" to $152.5 billion.

Preliminary figures show cash receipts actually totaled $128.9 billion in 1979 and total gross income, including inventory allowances, $146.7 billion.

But expenses in April-June are projected at an annual rate of $126.5 billion for 1980, compared to $113.7 billion last year. That leaves net farm income, on an annual rate, at $26 billion, compared to the $33 billion in 1979.

Method of selecting jurors changed in 118th

The old method of selecting jurors is undergoing a change in 118th District Court, according to District Judge Jim Gregg.

In the past, a computer simply chose taxpayers' names at random. This summer, however, the computer will be reprogrammed to produce a master list of names as well as summons ready to be dropped in the mail.

Veniremen will be able to mail back a form claiming exemptions to having to serve duty rather than having to call or appear at the courtroom.

In the past, district clerk office personnel used a form that typed names and addresses onto gummed labels and made carbons to use for roll call on jury day.

The new forms have been promised for May 2 but it may take longer for the computer programmer to create a new program for the new forms.

Horticulturist to present fruit and nut workshops

LAMESA — Dr. George R. McEachern, Horticulturist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, will cover disease and insect problems of fruit and nut trees in Dawson County next Thursday.

The first workshop will be at 1:30 p.m. at Welch Farmers Gin designed more for commercial orchard owners. Orchards of D.V. Phipps and Dee Broyles will be toured, according to Dawson County Extension Agent Joe E.

Wise. A second workshop will be held at 3:00 p.m. in the Dawson County Community Building. This session will be designed more for homeowners with fruit and — or nut tree problems.

The Welch Farmers Gin is located in the Welch Community 18 miles north of Lamesa on Highway 137. The Dawson County Community Building is located on South Houston Street, northwest corner of the fair grounds.

Weather

Showers may dot North Texas tonight

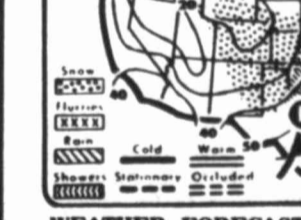

By the Associated Press

Mostly cloudy skies and warm temperatures were forecast for all of Texas today.

Forecasts called for the possibility of showers in Northwest Texas and along the coastal plains tonight and for widely scattered showers in WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy Panhandle, mostly fair central and south. Partly cloudy north and continued fair south tonight and Tuesday. Windy with blowing dust South Plains.

WEST TEXAS — Cloudy and colder with rain or snow north and rain south Wednesday and Thursday. Partly cloudy and warmer Friday. Low Tuesday night and Wednesday night 20s north to 40s south.

FORECAST — A patch of rain is forecast for today into early Tuesday northern Atlantic coast. Snow and rain are expected over the central Plains, northern Texas and New Mexico.

Revival begins this evening

The Rev. J.W. Farmer will be the evangelist for a revival meeting scheduled to get under way at the First Assembly of God Church, located at West Fourth and Lancaster Streets, at 7 o'clock this evening.

The revival will continue through Wednesday night, starting at the same hour each evening.

The public has an open invitation to attend the services.

Choral class casts musical

The Choral Department of Big Spring High School will present the popular Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, The King and I, April 25 and 26 in the high school auditorium.

Starring in the lead roles will be Carrie Little as Anna, Bruce Carroll as the King, Shelley Wood as Lady Thiang, Brad Small as the Kralahome, Charlotte Bell as Tuptim, John Little as Lun Tha, Jeff Harwood as Sir Edward Ramsey, Randy Samuels as the Interpreter, Bruce Webb as Captain Orton, Leslie Overman as Princess Ying Yaowlak, Sean Graves as Chulalongkorn, and George Bancroft as Phra Alack.

In addition to the students who will play the principal characters, approximately 75 choir members will play the parts of wives, slaves, priests, dancers, and children.

Production staff will include Tammy Spears and Laura Warren, pianists; Pepper Sullivan, lighting director; Beverly Wheeler, choreographer; and Dawn Estes, chorus director.

Admission prices will be $5 and $3.50, and tickets will be available after April 1 from any cast member.

Proceeds from the musical will help pay for the Meistersingers' trip to the Festival of the Rockies at Estes Park, Colo. in May.

Beauceants celebrate 20th anniversary

The Big Spring Assembly 211, Social Order of the Beauceant, celebrated the 20th anniversary of their organization the evening of March 25. Members of the Big Spring Commandery No. 31 of the Masons were special guests at the dinner in the Masonic Hall.

Five charter members and 14 past presidents attended. A birthday theme was used in the decorations. Regular meetings of both groups followed the dinner.

Nursing home residents sing-a-long with Mu Zeta

Members of Mu Zeta visited the residents of Parkview Manor March 24 evening for a sing-a-long of old favorites and religious songs.

A business meeting followed at Herman's Restaurant.

Elected to serve as the 1980-81 officers were Lisa Murphy, president; Sharon Richardson, vice president; Peggy Payne, secretary; Connie Edgemon, treasurer; and Kay Moore, City council representative.

Many hardships endured by pioneer Texas women

The Study Club of Forsan met March 3, in the home of Mrs. Jon Hope.

Hearing of the hardships endured by these women made club members very aware of the great strides in modern conveniences they now experience.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jim Alexander and Mrs. Jon Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver announce son's birth

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Weaver, 1615 Jennings, announce the birth of a son, Jeremy Blake, March 4, at Midland Memorial Hospital. Jeremy Blake made his debut weighing 9 pounds 2 ounces and measuring 21 3/4 inches in length.

Mrs. R.H. Weaver, Big Spring Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walker, Paducah, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jeter, Ft. Worth and Mrs. Anna Jeter, Paducah.

Great-great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. V.E. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Weaver, both of Big Spring. Jeremy was welcomed home by his brother, Quade, 10.

Winners not pictured are Felicia Ford, Miss Southern States; Sherrie Vaughn, first runner-up; and Michele McNamara, first runner-up.

Why do guys back off?

By Robert Wallace, Ed D.

Dr. Wallace: It seems that every time I start dating a guy, it only lasts for about a month. As soon as the month goes by, I never see or hear from him again.

My last boyfriend dropped me like that. When I called him, he said that he still wanted to be my friend and to keep in touch.

Well, it's been two months since then and he hasn't called me. I've called him twice and left a message to call me, but he never called. What's wrong? — L.L., Lodi, Calif.

L.L. Obviously, you are doing something to drive these boys away, and the problem must be discovered before there can be a solution.

Go to a trusted girlfriend (or your school nurse) and tell her your situation. Then list each boy that you dated and step-by-step discuss everything that took place during that time. After you have run the course on the boys you dated, look at the common things that happened in each relationship.

With a little soul-searching and lots of help from your girlfriend, you should find your problem. The solution is all yours.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 12-year-old girl who has a big problem. A girl and I were as close as any two friends can be. About three months ago, she got a horse and she started hanging around another girl who also has a horse.

At school I would ask her if she wanted to do something after school but she would always say that she was busy. I found out that she was at the other girl's house.

I don't know what has happened to our friendship. Can you help? — Freda, Wheeling, W. Va.

Freda: Your girlfriend places more value in a material thing (the horse) than in your friendship. You could say that she is a "fair-weather friend." If a problem would develop between her and her new friend, she would be calling you.

Don't chase after your "girlfriend." Be friendly and talk to her at school, but choose another girl to be a best friend.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Family communication program is presented

The Fairview Extension Homemakers Club met March 18 in the home of Mrs. H.F. Awtry at 2 p.m. Mrs. C.A. Smauley, president, presided.

Mrs. Awtry gave the devotional from James 3:5-12 and the thought for the day, "One volunteer is better than ten forced men." Roll call was answered by the eight members present naming their favorite flower or plant.

Big Spring State Hospital received 12 dozen cookies from the club March 24.

Mrs. Ina Richardson gave the program, "Communication with the Family," stressing the importance of beginning early communicating with children. The poem, "Children Learn What They Live," by Dorothy Law Nolte was handed to each member. Mrs. Richardson won the door prize.

The next meeting will be April 1 in the home of Mrs. D.F. Bigony.

Dear Abby: She's Not the One Who Should Feel Guilty

DEAR ABBY: I am a 38-year-old woman, living with my parents. (I am all the family they have.) Last year my mother (64) had a stroke which left her partially paralyzed. She walks with a cane and is confused at times, but she's cheerful and uncomplaining. My father, 67, is a practicing physician, but he is no help at all. Over the years he has paid very little attention to Mother or me. He comes home, eats, reads the newspaper, watches TV and goes to bed. If Mother needs the bedpan he comes looking for me to take care of it. When I go out, he forgets to give Mother her medication. We have a woman come in five days a week to stay with Mother until I get home from work.

I'm engaged to be married this fall. It will be my second marriage and his first. We will be living only 10 minutes from my parents, so it's not as though I'll be deserting them. Although I realize that I do have a life to lead, I can't help feel a little guilty getting married with the situation like this. I'm not young anymore, and want to have a family while I'm still able.

Please advise me.

S.O.S.

DEAR S: Proceed with your marriage plans, and don't feel guilty. You'll live near enough to your mother to look in on her often. And I beg you to ask your father to please show a little more concern and compassion for your mother. I wish you joy. You deserve it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been told that in Hawaii when a girl wears a flower over one of her ears, it means that she is "taken" (has a boyfriend), but if she wears a flower over the other ear, it means that she is "looking," or available. I am going to the islands soon and would like to know which ear is which.

RAY

DEAR RAY: A flower over the left ear (same side her heart is on) means, "I'm spoken for." A flower over the right ear means, "I'm unattached." A flower over both ears means, "I'm spoken for, but let's negotiate."

Daughter born to Schwartz'

Floyd and Martha Schwartz, St. Lawrence, announce the birth of a daughter, Kamie Brooke.

The infant was born March 18 at 10:37 p.m. in the Midland Memorial Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds 13 ounces and measured 20 inches in length.

Grandparents of Kamie include Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Chuck) Doe, Garden City; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schwartz, St. Lawrence.

Mrs. Gladys Doe, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stephens, Garden City; Mrs. Ida Schwartz, Wall; and Mrs. W.L. Kadlcek, Eola, are the great-grandparents. Nicole Dyan, the couple's 2 1/2-year-old daughter, welcomed her sister home.

He embarrassed Adolf Hitler Star of '36 Olympic dies

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Jesse Owens, the black 1936 Olympic track star whose four gold medal victories embarrassed Adolf Hitler's theories of Aryan superiority, died today at a Tucson hospital, authorities said.

Owens, who had been suffering from a lung infection and inoperable lung cancer, died at 3:40 MST at the University of Arizona Health Sciences Center, said hospital spokesman Hal Marshall.

He was 66.

His wife Ruth was at his side, another spokesman Pat

Benchik said.

Owens first was hospitalized Dec. 12 in Chicago where his illness was diagnosed as adenocarcinoma, a cancer doctors said usually is associated with heavy cigarette smoking. Doctors said Owens had smoked about a pack of cigarettes a day for 35 years.

In January, Owens began undergoing treatment in Tucson. Early in March he returned to the Phoenix area, where he has operated a public relations firm, but a week ago he was transferred to Tucson for further treatment.

Owens was 22 when his record-setting performance in Berlin shattered German leader Adolf Hitler's hopes for Aryan supremacy at the Games.

Owens had recently opposed President Carter's call for boycotting the Moscow Olympics, saying politics have no place in the Games.

Such was the magnitude of Owens' Olympic feat in the 1936 Berlin Games that it became a standard, a yardstick by which other accomplishments were measured.

When swimmer Mark Spitz won an extraordinary seven gold medals in the 1976 Summer Games in Munich, it was compared to Owens' record. And when Eric Heiden swept five gold medals in speed skating events at the 1980 Winter Games in Lake Placid, N.Y., again it was Owens' name that surfaced for comparison.

Perhaps the best indications of his greatness, though, was that it took four decades before the last of his 11 world records in track and field vanished from the record books.

"I looked upon them as a part of history," he said in 1975, shortly after his name disappeared from the list of record-holders. "I was proud to be involved in that history-making process, but I have nothing but admiration for the kids coming along today."

Owens was not able to use his Olympic victory for a movie or sports career because of the racial situations at the time. However, ultimately, he became a successful businessman, a national spokesman for the American Olympic movement and the State Department's "Ambassador to Sports."

And 40 years after President Franklin D. Roosevelt failed to invite him to the White House, President Gerald R. Ford

LeFridge named West's M.V.P.

Howard College Hawk Queen star JoAnn LeFridge was named Most Valuable Player for the West in the East-West Junior College National All-Star Tournament, Saturday night.

The five-foot, five-inch guard traveled to Hutchinson, Kan. to lead the West to a squeaky 90-89 victory over the East squad. This caps a career of being named All-Conference and All-Regional during the last two years.

She was high-pointer for the West, sinking 16. Ms. LeFridge went five-for-seven from the floor, and six-for-six from the free-throw line.

camera when you're just standing around," he said.

A rainout of Friday's play had set up a double round of 36 holes for Sunday.

But steady rains Saturday night again flooded the Harbour Town Golf Links and made morning play impossible. The final round was reset for Monday.

The round was played in gusty, tricky winds which sent score soaring and played a part in the most critical shot of the day, a tee shot that set up Pate's double bogey on the par-3 17th hole. It happened well after the national television cameras had ended their coverage.

"I just got my body in front of it," Pate said. "With the wind, it went well to the right."

He flubbed his chip from wet rough, got on in three and 2-putted. He went from one ahead to one behind.

Mahaffey, who beat Pate in a playoff for the 1978 PGA title, shot a 70, and was tied with Tewel at 207, six under par. Tewel, seeking his first victory in five years of tour activity, shared the second-round lead with Pate and clung to a piece of it with a 72.

Pate shot a 73 and was tied with Johnny Miller at 208. Miller reeled off one string of three birdies and finished with 68, matching the best score of the day.

It was another two strokes back to Gary Player, Bob Murphy and Leonard Thompson at 210. Player had a 69, Murphy 70, Thompson 73.

Defending champion Tom Watson was well back at 214 after a 73.

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — With four players locked within a single shot of each other going into today's rain-delayed final round of the $300,000 Heritage Golf Classic, a variety of possibilities exist.

One that does not exist, however, is that John Mahaffey will be wearing a live television microphone.

"That will not happen," Mahaffey said Sunday after a double bogey by Jerry Pate put Mahaffey and Doug Tewel in a tie for the lead in the weather-plagued, twice-delayed event. Pate and Johnny Miller were a single shot back.

"I say too many things under my breath for me to be wearing a mike," Mahaffey said.

Tom Kite, Bruce Lietzke and Lanny Wadkins were wearing live mikes Saturday when they said some things on national television which, Kite admitted, would better be left unsaid.

The remarks — with Kite, Lietzke and Wadkins criticizing John Schroeder as a slow player — stirred up a controversy among the four touring pros.

"Obviously I'm very upset," Schroeder said when given an opportunity to rebut the remarks on national television Sunday. "It really shocked me. It shows no class, the poorest kind of judgment."

Kite said he knew he "was wired for sound" but did not expect the remarks to be relayed on national television. "We were standing around waiting to hit. You don't expect to be on TV. I just got my body in front of it," Pate said. "With the wind, it went well to the right."

Pate shot a 73 and was tied with Johnny Miller at 208. Miller reeled off one string of three birdies and finished with 68, matching the best score of the day.

It was another two strokes back to Gary Player, Bob Murphy and Leonard Thompson at 210. Player had a 69, Murphy 70, Thompson 73.

Defending champion Tom Watson was well back at 214 after a 73.

TV. I just got my body in front of it," Pate said. "With the wind, it went well to the right."

He flubbed his chip from wet rough, got on in three and 2-putted. He went from one ahead to one behind.

Mahaffey, who beat Pate in a playoff for the 1978 PGA title, shot a 70, and was tied with Tewel at 207, six under par. Tewel, seeking his first victory in five years of tour activity, shared the second-round lead with Pate and clung to a piece of it with a 72.

Rockets win home playoff berth

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Houston had an incentive, while pride was all the Indiana Pacers had going for them as they completed their fourth season in the National Basketball Association.

Billy Paultz scored 28 points in leading the Rockets to a 121-106 victory which gave them the home court advantage in their playoff battle with the San Antonio Spurs.

But, for the Pacers it was time to look ahead to next season as the club missed the NBA playoffs for the fourth consecutive year.

"Home court percentages are lower in the playoffs than during the regular season," said Houston Coach Del

Harris.

The Rockets and Spurs will battle for the right to play Atlantic Conference champion Boston, but Harris isn't looking ahead. He's concerned over a sprained ankle which Moses Malone aggravated Sunday, although he said he expects Malone to play.

While Harris was looking to the playoffs, Bobby Leonard, was discussing what Indiana needed to become a playoff contender.

"We're going to have to improve in the middle area," said Leonard. "James Edwards is just not an aggressive player. He's a very likeable kid to coach and he doesn't give us any problems. I thought at one time he was coming on, but he's just not a challenger against the big people."

Leonard, who some say may be leaving the club he has coached since 1968, had his team compiled a 37-45 mark and finish in a tie for fourth with Cleveland in the Central Division.

"It's really been tough the last month because of all the internal problems we've had," said Leonard. "The players are aware of this. There's no happiness among the players, fans or coaches unless you win. That's the name of the game, winning.

believe me, this is a tough business for everyone."

"At one time I thought I could adapt a player to our system, but it's becoming harder and harder to fit players in."

Leonard sounded like someone ready to leave his position.

"Sometimes you can stay too long in a place. Now if we had cracked it here this time, made the playoffs, it might be different," he said and also made it clear that he had been relieved of responsibility as general manager.

"I've only got one job. You can throw out titles. I've only got one responsibility now and that is to coach," he said. "Any other thing is not our responsibility."

The Rockets led at half-time 55-54. Houston took the lead for good at 61-59, with 9:39 remaining in third quarter.

In addition to Paultz's efforts, Robert Reid scored 21 points for Houston.

The Pacers were led by George McGinnis' 19 points. Billy Knight and Mickey Johnson added 18 points apiece.

The victory gave the Rockets the home court advantage because they had a better record in the division. The two teams each finished 41-41 and split their six games.

WINS KEMPER OPEN — LPGA golfer Nancy Lopez holds the winning ball up after winning the Women's Kemper Open in Costa Mesa, Calif. Sunday with an even par.

Nancy is back

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Nancy Lopez-Melton, back in the winner's circle for the first time in six months, was so happy she wanted to cry.

"It just felt like the pressure came off my shoulders. I felt so good I wanted to cry," said the 23-year-old Lopez-Melton after her 2-stroke victory Sunday in the $150,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament at Mesa Verde Country Club.

"It felt like the first win," said Lopez-Melton, who came from a 2-stroke deficit with five holes remaining to defeat JoAnn Washam and Debbie Massey for the $22,500 first prize.

Consecutive birdies, including a 40-foot putt at No. 16, paved the way for Lopez-Melton as Washam bogeyed three of the last four holes.

The tour's top winner the last two years, Lopez-Melton fired a 2-under par 69 on the final day for an even-par total of 284 on rounds of 72, 66, 77 and 69. She wiped out four bogeys during the final round with six birdies.

Her first victory of the year moved Lopez-Melton into second place on the LPGA's 1980 money list with $55,785, leaving her $23,200 behind leader JoAnne Carner, who shot 78-78 for the opening two rounds here and missed the cut for the first time in her career.

Lopez-Melton said the first victory of her career, back in 1977, was more memorable, "but with all the pressure I put on myself, this was different. It feels great. The pressure I was putting on myself was killing me."

Playing in the same threesome with Judy Rankin, Lopez-Melton and Washam had decided prior to the round that they would put their friendship aside to concentrate better.

"We were rooting for each other to the point that we were taking away from each other's game," said Washam, who roomed with Lopez-Melton during the week. "We decided to go out and play golf."

Big John meets Hercules

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — "Anybody want some catfish?" Big John Tate asked, turning to a roomful of newsmen.

"No, thanks," came a chorus of replies.

Big John poured a half-bottle of hot sauce over a pair of fried catfish, took care of a small hill of home fries and okra and chased it down with a jar of Gatorade.

"Hey, anybody feed the mongoose?" the hulking WBA heavyweight champion asked.

"What mongoose?" somebody asked.

"Take a look in that cage over there," Big John said.

A few guests eased apprehensively toward a wire-covered crate on the floor and sighted a long, furry tail.

As they leaned forward for a closer look, wham! Open flew the top and an animal-looking object leaped out.

"There was a scurry for the door."

"Haw, haw!" bellowed the champ. "fooled ya. It's just a dead ol' possum's tail."

Such is the looseness and informality at Ivy Glyn, training quarters for the World Boxing Association's champion, who defends his title here tonight against Mike "Hercules" Weaver.

It's part of ABC's four-hour, three-city parade of champions on TV.

Win, lose or draw, you've got to like Big John Tate, a hulking giant of a kid with a naive and a boyish naturalness that belies his 6 feet, 4 inches, 235 pounds of raw violence when he enters the ring.

There is a little of Muhammad Ali in him — a feel for people, a hidden generosity, an earthy wisdom that does not come from formal education — without the bombast of the man who calls himself "The Greatest."

"I don't want to be the richest man in the world," Tate said. "I'd like my tombstone to read, 'He was a good ol' boy who was very fortunate.'"

Once sensitive and reclusive after being stopped in the first round of the 1976 Olympics by Cuba's deadly Teofilo Stevenson, Big John acknowledges time has mellowed him at the ripe old age of 25.

"I like to talk to you guys now," he said, as writers with pads crowded around him. "I didn't used to. I resented the press. They were always trying to make me look stupid."

"They said I was too slow. They said I didn't have any reflexes. They shamed me about my lack of schooling, always asking if I had learned to read and write. They insisted I was dumb."

"It doesn't bother me anymore."

Tate recalls that even Ali underwent the same sort of debasement in the early stages of his career.

"They called him a loud-mouth kid, they said he talked all the time," Big John said. "They said he was a coward who ran in the ring, was afraid to fight. He made people like him."

"I'm not mad because people don't recognize me," Big John said. "I've got good friends. I've been lucky. And I beat everybody they put in front of me. What else can they ask?"

What happened at player-owner meeting? Nothing!

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Strike two or play ball?

That question will almost certainly be answered in Dallas Tuesday, but a bet on at least the setting of a strike date by major league baseball players is as safe as a wager on Spectacular Bid.

Representatives of the Players Association and team owners met for more than nine hours Sunday with Ken Moffett, deputy director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. And, in the word of the union's executive director, Marvin Miller, "nothing happened."

The Players Association's executive board will meet in Dallas Tuesday to determine when and if a strike will be called. The "if" no longer seems to apply.

"This was a complete waste of time," Miller said of Sunday's meeting with the owners. "There isn't the slightest basis for their calling the mediation service with no intention of negotiating or listening to our viewpoint."

"This entire day was spent on the owners' demands, nothing on the players' proposal."

Miller was asked if he anticipated a long strike.

"I certainly don't anticipate a short one, not if they have the strike insurance I keep hearing about," he said. "I think they (the owners) are doing everything possible to provoke a strike. It's as clear as can be. They're acting like 4-year-olds."

Miller said there was no doubt in his mind that the owners were trying to break the union. He said there could be no other reason that they would be willing to take such financial losses.

"I think they're successful in terms of provoking a strike," he said. "Willie Stargell would give them a star."

Moffett said there would be another meeting but he wasn't sure when.

"I'll be in touch with both sides after Tuesday," he said. "I would have to say the meeting today was basically one where we explored the compensation issue, which seems to be the most important issue on both sides. It's the only issue we really went into."

"We made no progress as far as coming to an agreement on this issue is concerned. A lot of suggestions were made in both private caucuses and in joint meetings. Neither side made any concessions. It's going to take a while, there's about a hundred issues and we only talked about one."

Moffett referred to a proposal by the owners to adjust the amount of compensation a team receives after losing a free agent. The owners proposed that a team signing a "highly sought" free agent be required to give up a player, rather than an amateur draft choice, in return. The free agent's new team could protect only 15 of its players in that selection process.

The only other strike in major league history occurred in 1972. It lasted 13 days, including the first nine days of what became a shortened season. The current difficulties seem much more extreme.

Four dates have been mentioned as possible strike days — immediately; on April 9, the scheduled opening day of the 1980 season; Memorial Day weekend and July 10, immediately after the All-Star game.

Miller met with the California Angels prior to Sunday's meeting with the owners and mediator. It was the 26th and final team he had discussed the situation with, and the Angels voted 30-0 for authorizing a strike on or after Tuesday. That made the total vote 967-1.

The lone dissenter was reportedly Jerry Terrell of the Kansas City Royals.

"I don't intend to make any recommendations, it's up to the players," said Miller, referring to when a strike should be called. "The executive board will make that decision."

It has been speculated that the players wouldn't strike immediately so that they could collect a few paychecks before going out. Players don't collect their regular salary during spring training. They're only given expense money.

Representatives of the owners at Sunday's meeting were Ray Grebey, the chief negotiator; Chub Feeney, president of the National League; and Lee MacPhail, the American League president.

Orioles hurting

MIAMI (AP) — Baltimore Oriole manager Earl Weaver didn't have too many good things to say about his team as they stretched their exhibition baseball losing streak to six in a row.

"The pitching is bad, the defense is worse and the hitting stinks," Weaver said Sunday after the Birds' 7-4 loss against the Texas Rangers. "I'm definitely concerned. There are no bright spots."

John Ellis launched a six-run second inning with a solo homer and hit a run-scoring sacrifice fly in the fifth. Both rallies came off Scott McGregor, who allowed 11 hits in five innings while dropping his third decision of the spring.

Also in the second inning, Mickey Rivers, Bump Wills, Al Oliver and Buddy Bell, rapped consecutive two-out singles off McGregor. Three of the six hits in the inning were fly balls which dropped in the outfield.

"Scotty is just pitching poorly right now," Weaver said, "but he wouldn't look bad if we weren't so bad on defense. The grenades are falling in the outfield — they're moving away from the balls. In the four-run inning, we gave them five or six outs."

In the six-game losing streak, Baltimore pitchers have allowed 41 runs and 82 hits.

"You can get stale, but not for 10 days," Weaver said.

Softball teams meet Tuesday

A meeting of team managers in the Big Spring Industrial Slowpitch League will be held 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Reddy Room of the Texas Electric Service Company.

All entry fees are due.

City will pick up leaves placed in bags

As warm weather approaches and citizens begin various spring cleaning projects, they should remember that the city will pick up grass clippings, leaves, etc., that are placed in plastic bags and left at the normal trash collection point. Also, tree trimmings that are cut and bundled into 3' lengths and not more than 30 pounds will be collected on the normal collection days.

Large loose piles of clippings and - or tree trimmings that are left in the alleys will not be cleaned up by the city crews.

The city landfill, located east of FM 700, between E. 11th Place and I-20, is open 7 days a week, and individuals who wish to take their own debris may do so without charge.

SIGNAL HONOR GIVEN TO JACK MARGOLIS
Jo Ann Stauleup presents plaque

Jack Margolis is named VAMC 'Boss of Year'

Dr. Jack Margolis, chief of staff, has been chosen "Boss of the Quarter" for the first quarter of 1980 at the VA Medical Center. The award, a part of the federal women's program, was presented to Dr. Margolis by Ms. Jo Ann Stauleup, Federal Women's Program manager, during the director's staff conference, March 18.

Margolis has been chief of staff at the VAMC since Jan. 16, 1977. Prior to that time, he held the position of chief, medical service from March 4, 1957. Margolis entered on duty at the VAMC Oct. 3, 1955.

Nominations for "Boss of the Quarter" award are submitted in writing by employees of the medical center and must contain justification for the honor.

Margolis' nominating document read, in part, "Picture an individual who is open, honest, sincere and forthright in his manner of leadership; a professional, confident in his own ability and judgment; who is interested in others and receptive to their ideas; who allows for creative thought and stimulates others to assume responsibility; a leader who insists on building on the strengths he sees in others and appreciates the least kindness; is gracious and a true gentleman. A big man with a heart to match, our chief of staff, Dr. Jack Margolis."

Prager will deliver talk

A.J. Prager will present a special program commemorating the Jewish Passover at St. Paul Lutheran Church Maundy Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The program will present the Passover as it was celebrated by the Jews in Jesus time and today.

Prager in giving his talk, will use special foods and appointments such as wine cups, plates, and candles to illustrate his talk on the Passover Festival.

Immediately after Prager's talk, the members and guests of St. Paul will participate in the celebration of Holy Communion.

April 4, Good Friday, Rev. Kohl will conduct a Tenebrae service. This type service makes use of special candles and lights which are extinguished during the service in commemoration of the crucifixion and death of Jesus. The adult choir will present special musical selections.

The public is invited to attend any or all of these special services during Holy Week.

LVN course director still being sought

LAMESA — Howard College is still accepting applications for a director-instructor of the Licensed Vocational Nursing program who is to get under way in Lamesa Aug. 1, according to Theron Lee, director of the school's Lamesa campus.

The director must be a registered nurse with at least three years experience as an RN since licensing. Applicants should be available to take over the position June 1.

Application forms can be filled out in the Lamesa campus. Fourteen student applications for the course have already been received, according to Lee.

The LVN program will run 30-40 hours a week for a total of 1,800 hours over a period of one year. Students will be eligible to undertake the test offered by the State Examining Board upon successful completion of the course.

Tuition for the course is $180. Other expenses (like uniforms, books and etc.) will bring the total cost to almost $500.

'Nijinsky' called vulgar

SAN FRAN (AP) — The film "Nijinsky" presents a "vulgar and gross and totally untrue" version of the life of one of the world's greatest ballet dancers, says his daughter, Kyra Nijinsky.

Margolis' nominating document read, in part, "Picture an individual who is open, honest, sincere and forthright in his manner of leadership; a professional, confident in his own ability and judgment; who is interested in others and receptive to their ideas; who allows for creative thought and stimulates others to assume responsibility; a leader who insists on building on the strengths he sees in others and appreciates the least kindness; is gracious and a true gentleman. A big man with a heart to match, our chief of staff, Dr. Jack Margolis."
