Iran boycott drawing support

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration, still waiting for action to go with words of support for its new sanctions against Iran, says it will be the end of the week before it knows how many U.S. allies will join the boycott. So far, none have.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance met with ambassadors from two dozen countries Wednesday, and State Department spokesman David Passage said, "We have been talking with friendly countries and have been consulting with others. We would like to say that all of the replies have been supportive."

But four days after President Carter announced his new sanctions program, the administration has had no more success in eliciting specific promises of allied cooperation than it has had in freeing the 50 American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Passage said it is too early to expect allied action and predicted responses by the end of the week. But there were indications any decisions in Europe might be weeks away.

The administration is hoping a broad program to punish Iran economically will make tougher action, possibly including a naval blockade or mining of Iran's oil ports, unnecessary.

Moslem militants at the embassy have threatened to kill their captives and burn the compound at the first sign of any U.S. military move against Iran. Passage said the administration still holds the Iranian government responsible for the hostages' safety, but Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said it was doubtful the government could stop the militants from killing the Americans.

The administration is asking its allies to take "parallel steps" to match Carter's four-point program that included cutting diplomatic relations with Iran and an embargo on all trade except food and medicine.

"The suggestion was made that we should try to be as supportive as possible, but no specific proposals were made," said Canadian Ambassador Peter Towe, who was among the group of allied diplomats who met with Vance for 45 minutes. "All of us will be reporting to our governments."

Towe noted that Canada closed its embassy in Tehran after engineering the escape of six Americans in February. "We're no longer importing Iranian oil and our trade is insignificant," he said, adding there was little more the Canadians could do to help.

Britain, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands and Denmark said they will delay any action until the nine-nation European Common Market reaches a unified position, and Italian Foreign Ministry sources said that might not come before late April.

In Japan, which imports about 10 percent of its oil from Iran, chief cabinet secretary Masayoshi Ito said the U.S. requests are "quite serious and grave."

Passage did not list the countries the U.S. is pressing for support, but in addition to the Common Market members and Japan, the administration is known to have asked Austria, Norway, Sweden, Australia and New Zealand to impose economic sanctions.

FATHER COMFORTS SON — David Redinger of Vancouver, Washington, offers encouragement to his son, Christopher, 6, while waiting for an ambulance. The younger Redinger suffered minor injuries when he was struck by a truck, background, when he crossed a Vancouver street Tuesday.

Chief Appraiser Dean given authority

Use of one set of figures for land valuations okayed

By STEVE HERSHBERGER
Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal Board voted unanimously Wednesday to give Chief Appraiser Earl Dean the authority to adjust one set of figures for land valuations within the county.

Dean will utilize in appraising property the schedule of values presently used by the Big Spring School District.

Board member Jack Watkins took point with using the Big Spring School District schedules for prime values, arguing that these numbers were the highest in the county.

"We better stay with the county values," Watkins said. The county values, he added, were in the middle of all the taxing entities within Howard County.

The Big Spring School District values for rural land break down like this: For farm land there are three values. Grade one land is $80 an acre; for grade two $70 an acre and grade three $60 an acre.

For grass land, the Big Spring School District values are for grade one $30 an acre; for grade two $20 an acre and grade three $10 an acre.

These values are comparably higher when matched to those of the Coahoma School District.

Coahoma values farm land at three grades: For grade one the value is $65 an acre; for grade two $52 an acre and grade three $20.

For grassland, the Coahoma schools value land at $23 an acre; for grade one; $19 an acre for grade two and $15 an acre for grade three.

Dean said the appraisal office will use these values to bring the ratio between urban and rural land values more equal. The chief appraiser said that urban property is valued now about 35 percent of market value and rural property about 15 percent of market value.

Because Senate Bill 621, which was passed during the last session of the Texas Legislature, requires 100 percent evaluation of property, Dean said that by using the higher schedules of the Big Spring schools, the gap between urban to rural land values could be decreased.

The tax board at the suggestion of Jack Watkins will ask each taxing entity within the county to adjust their tax rate so there will not be a tax increase this year.

"If we can," Watkins said, "I recommend that each of the taxing entities adjust their tax rate to compensate for the difference in land values."

The board set June 16-20 as the days for the Board of Equalization to meet. The tax board will appoint three people, who will meet with county citizens about the evaluation of each resident's property. On June 20, the board will finalize the property values within the county.

The Board of Equalization will address on oil and gas matters on June 16 and 18.

June 18-20, the board will meet with other county residents.

The appraisal board tabled auditing its operations. During the March meeting, several members expressed confusion about several accounts in the tax unit's bookkeeping.

Until the end of February, the appraisal board's books were being kept by the city.

The board learned Wednesday that several accounts are missing, documents needed by an accounting firm to complete an audit.

The board also rejected an agriculture committee, which was proposed by Chief Appraiser Dean. Dean told the board that the committee would work to help the appraisal office verify land capability. Farm and ranch land are to be valued according to productivity and its market worth.

"I need to know what it costs to produce that acre," Dean told the board. He also said the committee would serve as useful public relations with the farmers and ranchers in the county.

Board member Lila Estes said, "You get another committee involved, that is not provided for in Senate Bill 621, it is going to be more confusing."

Howard College vying for top spots

Rodeo competition begins tonight

The battle for a top spot in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association begins tonight as the Howard College Rodeo teams compete with 16 other colleges and universities in the Howard College Rodeo beginning at 8 p.m. in the Rodeo Bowl at the Howard County Fair Grounds.

Howard College goes into tonight's rodeo with the men's team in third place and the women in a strong second.

"We're going into this rodeo with a pretty strong team," said Skipper Driver, coach of the HC rodeo teams. "At the beginning of the semester, James Garlick and Pat Mitchell were the all-around cowboy and cowgirl. But they both had some bad luck and have dropped from the top spot. We had a two-week layoff between rodeos which gave us a couple of weeks to practice and I feel that we are now back to full strength," said Driver.

"Cody Lambert and Annette Mitchell, Pam's little sister, made a good showing at the Frank Phillips Rodeo and I expect them to do well in this one also," said Driver.

There will be 447 contestants from the 16 colleges and universities participating in the nine events. The events that will be held are bareback riding with 38 entries, calf roping with 85 entries, saddle bronc riding with 20 entries and steer wrestling with 48 contestants.

Other events include team roping with 82 entries, bull riding with 53 entries, barrel racing with 48, goat tying with 34 entries and breakaway with 39 contestants.

Those colleges competing will be Texas Tech University, Sul Ross State University, New Mexico State University, Eastern New Mexico State University, Hardin-Simmons, West Texas State University, South Plains College, Cisco Jr. College, Western Texas College, Weatherford Jr. College, and Tarleton State University.

The winner in each event will receive a rodeo buckle donated by the following merchants. In the Men's All-Around — Darden Well Service of Coahoma; Women's All-Around — Harding Well Service of Coahoma; Bareback bronc riding — O.D. O'Daniel Farm & Ranch Supply of Coahoma; Calf roping — Big Spring Savings of Big Spring, Ramada Inn of Big Spring, and Coker's K-Bob's, Inc. of Big Spring; Saddle Bronc riding — Gray Jewelers; Steer wrestling — E.P. Driver Ins. Agency; Team roping — Big Spring Livestock Auction, Security State Bank and Hillman Saddlery.

Others giving buckles are: in the bull riding — Coors Distributors of Colorado; in the goat tying — Corbell Electric Co.; in the breakaway roping — Jay's Farm — Ranch Service Center, and in the girl's barrel racing is the Tree House, LTD and Jack Lewis Buick & Cadillac.

There will be a special event held each night as local businesses, high schools and the media will participate in a calf dressing competition.

There will be eight teams each night, with the top four teams from Thursday and Friday night's competition competing for the grand prize trophy Saturday night.

Each team will consist of three persons. The winners will be decided by the first to get their calf across the finish line.

Today's teams are: The First State Bank, The State National Bank, Security State Bank, The Big Spring Herald, Big Spring Savings, KBST, KFNE, and KBYG.

Friday's teams are: Big Spring High School, Coahoma High School,

Forsan High School, Garden City High School, Sands High School, The Howard College basketball team, The HC Student Government Association, and the HC Administration.

The HC Rodeo is being held in connection with Western Week at Howard College. Today was Western Day. The activities held today were a gunfight, a balloon toss, a tug of war, cow chip throw, three-legged race and a spitting contest. A barbecue, cooked by Mike Bruner, vice president for business affairs, completed the activities.

A dance featuring Jerry Nail will be held each night in the barn at the fair grounds.

The HC Rodeo Queen will be announced at the beginning of the rodeo tonight. Candidates for the Rodeo Queen are: Mariella Wise, Annette Cregar, Lisa Warren, Delaina McQuerry, Juli Britton, Suzanne Johnson, Vickie Jones and Janene Shive.

Tickets for the rodeo are $2 for adults and $1 for students and children. Tickets may be purchased at the gate.

BSISD trustees award contract for all-weather track to Price

By DON WOODS
A contract for an all-weather track was awarded to low-bidding Price Construction Thursday night in the regular meeting of the Big Spring Independent School District trustees.

Price's low bid of $55,362 competed overwhelmingly with the next lowest bid from Ritchie Paving, Wichita, Kan., at $67,775.

The track will be built at Blankenship Field with money donated for the purpose.

A total of $100,000 was donated. Assistant Superintendent of Business Don Crockett said the remainder of the money could be spent for work on the grandstands and a building for storage of track equipment.

Three of the four companies bidding specified a "hot" process for building the track. These were Arco Tennis Systems, Lubbock, $68,463.75; Price, and Vibra Whirl and Company, Panhandle, $62,450.

Ritchie Paving submitted the only bid specifying a "cold" method. The company would have used a process that mixes materials with concrete and water at the site.

The "hot" processes use melted down tire tread. Crockett explained that when there is more rubber content there is more cushion in the track surface.

The track will be black with white lines.

Dr. James Mathews moved to accept the bid on the project to be completed 120 days after the contract is signed. The job will begin after school is completed for the year. The contract will be signed between now and June.

The project will include provisions for metric measurement and items such as field event pits.

In other action, trustees approved a budget amendment of $6,500 for replacing the water system at Memorial Stadium. The system supplies water for rest rooms, dressing rooms, caretaker's apartment and irrigation system. The existing system was installed in 1958.

Crockett said the system was in "bad shape" as far as the lines because of the years of wear on the underground galvanized pipes. He said the caliche had been eaten holes in the pipes.

Crockett said the repairs necessitated over the past year have been excessive. Inspections determined the need for replacement of the whole system.

Maintenance Supervisor Walter Alexander proposed a plan of valves and piping to replace the system. The project will be accomplished between now and the end of summer, with labor being done by the maintenance department.

The budget amendment will be made from surplus funds.

Votes from Saturday's election were canvassed and new School (See Water, Col. 4, Page 2A)

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Voting rules

Q. May all registered voters vote in bond elections or is it just the taxpayers?

A. It used to be that only taxpayers could vote on bond elections — and you had to bring your tax receipt to prove it. That changed. Then, Texas had what was called the "double ballot box" law. Everybody could vote, but the property owners voted in one box and non-property owners votes were counted separately. That was ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1975. Now all registered voters are eligible to vote in bond elections and all votes are counted together.

Calendar: 'Passport To Adventure'

TODAY

"Israel — The Land of the Bible," filmed and narrated by William Stockdale, will be shown at the Howard College Auditorium, 7:30 p.m. This program is the fourth in the "Passport to Adventure" series.

The Howard College Rodeo begins at 8 p.m. at the Howard County Fairgrounds.

FRIDAY

The Howard County Library will have Story Hour for pre-school aged children from 10:00 a.m. until 11:00 a.m.

The Howard College Rodeo continues its second day of activity beginning at 8 p.m. at the Howard County Fairgrounds.

Tops on TV: 'Barney Miller' rerun

Slim pickings on the small screen tonight! You may want to tune in on CBS's new entry, "The Contender," airing at 9 p.m. The title character, Johnny Caper (Johnny Caper?!), battles his way through the regional tryouts for the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team, but has his concentration muddled when he finds that his steady girl is repulsed by pugilism. You may be happier watching the rerun of "Barney Miller" on ABC at 8 p.m. The boys in the 13th Precinct have to deal with a larcenous photographer and a man who claims he is Jesus Christ.

Inside: Reagan in Texas

RONALD REAGAN brought his Republican presidential campaign back to Texas, speaking to close to 1,500 cheering supporters at Amarillo and 1,000 at Lubbock in afternoon airport rallies. See page 6-A.

TEXAS AND TEXAS A&M grabbed the two biggest plums among the Southwest Conference teams on collegiate basketball national letter of intent day. See page 1-B.

Outside: Warmer

Fair and warmer this afternoon. Partly cloudy tonight. Blowing dust this afternoon. Windy and cooler Friday with possible blowing dust. High today in the low 90s, low tonight in the upper 40s. High Friday in the mid 90s. Winds will be from the south at 15 to 25 mph and gusty this afternoon, easterly 15 to 20 mph tonight. Northerly 20 to 30 mph and gusty Friday.

Confusion corrected

Because of an oversight, the Herald omitted one candidate from last Monday's story on reports of campaign contributions and expense by candidates for county offices.

Then in trying to correct the oversight Tuesday, we identified the candidate by his son's name.

The candidate is John Roemer Sr., who is running for county commissioner in Precinct 3. Roemer reported $40 in contributions and expenses of $448.37, including his $300 filing fee.

John Roemer Jr. is running for Precinct 16 Democratic chairman.

Iranian diplomats expelled from America get heroes' welcome

Thousands of Iranians shouting "Death to America" provided a heroes' welcome at Tehran airport early today for 34 Iranian diplomats expelled from the United States after President Carter broke diplomatic relations with Iran.

Tehran radio said crowds shouted and threw flowers at the diplomats and their families, led by Ali Agah, charge d'affaires at the Iranian Embassy in Washington. The welcoming committee included Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghatzadeh and Greek Catholic Archbishop Hilarion Capudji.

Carter announced the break in diplomatic ties and a U.S. economic embargo on Monday after Iran's revolutionary leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, rejected a plan that would have moved the 50 American hostages in Tehran from the hands of the Moslem militants to government control. The hostages today began their 159th day in captivity.

Two of the Americans appeared Wednesday in a broadcast on the government-run Iranian television that billed them as "confessed spies," according to reports from Tehran in today's editions of The Los Angeles Times and The Washington Post.

The Post said the broadcast began saying: "These two are spies and they are going to reveal some shocking things."

The embassy militants identified one of the Americans as Joseph Subic Jr., a 22-year-old Army staff sergeant from Redford Township, Mich. The second man was not identified, but the Times said there was little doubt about the authenticity of the film since English comments were heard clearly from the two men.

In Washington, meanwhile, the Carter administration said it will be the end of the week before it knows if any of America's allies will join the U.S. economic boycott of Iran.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance met Wednesday with ambassadors from two dozen countries to seek support for the embargo.

America's oil-hungry allies in Western Europe were reported maneuvering for more time to consider the Carter administration's appeal for solidarity.

Iran has threatened to cut off oil to any country that joins the U.S. sanctions, but one source said, "There is evidence that the Iranians are having difficulties marketing their oil."

Dallas to host PCA officials

Sweetwater Production Credit Association (PCA) officials will be among 500 leaders of Texas agriculture meeting in Dallas today through Saturday. The occasion is the annual stockholders' meeting of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas.

Directors from Texas' 30 Production Credit Associations and officials of various other financing institutions will convene in the Loews Anatole Hotel, Dallas' newest showplace.

Representing Sweetwater PCA will be T.L. Finley, Lorraine; W.J. Harvey, Jr., Roby; J.D. Crawford, Midland; L.D. Echols, Lamesa; Audrey Head, Snyder; Othell O'Kelly, Trent; and Marvin L. Standeford, Lenora. Harvey serves as the PCA's official voting delegate.

According to Billy R. Hallman, the association's president who will accompany the group, registration is scheduled today, with most business sessions on Friday. Participants' wives will be treated to a two-hour fashion show, "Fashions Through the Ages," tracing clothing through history and concluding with a showing of current styles. Friday night there will be a dinner and entertainment by the "Grapevine Opry," a country-western variety show.

Business sessions will deal with the condition of the FICB of Texas which provides money for lenders to agriculture. FICB of Texas President Jack H. Barton will deliver the report to stockholders.

The meeting ends Saturday morning.

Sweetwater PCA provides agricultural loan funds to farmers, ranchers and producers in 15 counties.

Alexander released

J.C. Alexander, Garden City, was released from custody of Howard County jail when formal charges were not filed by District Attorney Rick Hamby.

Alexander was arrested Monday on suspicion of aggravated robbery of Al Simmons. Assistant District Attorney Don Richard said the charges were too severe for the situation.

Mrs. Charles Johnson allegedly told authorities she observed Alexander beating Simmons. Police allegedly found Alexander later with a bloody shirt and Simmons' wallet in his pocket.

Councilmen to be briefed on city budget Friday

In an effort to help acquaint new council members with Big Spring's financial condition, city officials will conduct a review of this year's budget during a work session at 8 a.m. Friday.

In addition to this work session, City Manager Don Davis will conduct a tour for new members of all the departments in the city's operation. This will take place at a later date.

Police beat Time flies out the door

Thieves and burglars were busy in the city Wednesday.

After entering through the back door of the home of Beulah Burns, 611 Steakley, intruders stole an antique grandfather clock. The timepiece was valued at $2,000.

Thieves stole four wire wheel covers from a Cadillac parked at the United Auto Sales lot, 700 E. 4th. The hubcaps were valued at $472.

While a pickup belonging to Coy Nelson, 1300 College, was parked near the College Park Safeway Store, Wednesday night, thieves ripped off a box full of a variety of tools from its bed. Loss was estimated at $200.

Thieves stole a .38 calibre pistol from the glove box of a car belonging to Melton G. Montelongo, 706 N.W. 7th, while the auto was parked at 803 North Lamesa Highway. The gun was valued at $90.

Sometime during the Rattlesnake Roundup, thieves stole four pairs of mother-of-pearl earrings from a booth operated by Woody Orr, Lubbock. Cost of the jewelry has not been estimated.

Vandals smashed two windows in a garage belonging to the Bob Brock Ford Dealership, 500 W. 4th, Wednesday night. Damage was estimated at $50.

Five mishaps were reported Wednesday.

A vehicle driven by Amparo Franco, 1208 Mesa, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in the parking lot of the K-Mart Store, 9:24 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Delores Wilson, 1602 Lark, and Gary Joe Crane, 1605-B Lincoln, collided at 1800 Gregg, 1:50 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Ray Prater, 3215 11th, and Ralph Emerson, 2711 Rebecca, collided on the 300 block of Scurry, 4:57 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Patricia Ballard, San Angelo, and Ernest Evans, Talpa, collided in the parking lot of Furr's Cafeteria, 12:37 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Ralph Clarke, 3700 Calvin, struck a parked vehicle belonging to Juan Haro, 310 W. 7th, 12:48 p.m.

New mayor Angel says Council needs harmony

By ANDREA COHEN

The congratulations were still being offered in the bank where he served as senior vice president for over 40 years.

Clyde Angel had just completed his first full day as the new mayor of Big Spring.

He said there is no one issue that concerns him. "I think we have an obligation to the taxpayers to see that this city is operated as efficiently as possible and economically as is feasible.

"The most important thing is for all of us on the council to work together harmoniously for the taxpayers and the citizens of Big Spring," he said.

"If any man walks into a public office with preconceived ideas before they find out the facts, both are going to go up in smoke," he added.

Angel, who was sworn in as Big Spring's new mayor at Tuesday's city council meeting, won the election by over 50 percent of the vote against three other candidates. He is replacing Wade Choate who chose not to run again, after serving

CLYDE ANGEL, eight years in the office. The new mayor, who filed for the race two hours before the filing deadline had said before the election, "I have no preconceived ideas about what should or should not be done about city affairs. As a consequence, I will look with an open mind and as logically as I know how at the various problems if I am elected mayor."

He said the reason he ran for the office was because "I have lived here 51 years and I've always been interested in the city. I raised my family here. If there was anything I could do, I had an obligation to do it."

Why does he think he won? "I've lived in the city for 51

Board member Jerry Foresyth was sworn in.

Official vote totals: Valdes, 1,920; Delbert Donelson, 1,707; Carol Hunter, 1,760; Jerry Foresyth, 918; Harold Pearce, 821; Joe Allen Millaway, 117; and Sherry Wegner, 561. Total number of votes cast was 2,463.

Board officers re-elected to their posts were Carol Hunter, president; Delbert Donelson, vice-president; and Al Valdes, secretary.

New Head Coach Ralph Harris was introduced to trustees. He has been working for the district for about a month.

He proposed a "very fundamental" approach to coaching the Big Spring High School football team.

He said he had coached at Sealy, Texas, where the team had lost 18 in a row. The team improved their record in successive years, finally winning due to absenteeism.

He said he had the same experience at Dublin, Texas, bringing the team to "a big turn around."

He said he is looking forward to the challenge of working with the Big Spring team. Another reason for his move here is the ability to work in a larger school. "Every coach wants to work in this district," he said.

Spring training workouts in pads begin May 2 through 22.

In another matter before the board, Don Crockett said the school system loses $5.69 a day per student when students are absent. State funds are appropriated for every student present.

He said state funds totaling $993.75 come in for every student per year.

The school district has lost $238,000 during the last four six-week periods

Also, a building trades project for the fall has been approved. The Building Trades Class will construct a residence in Highland South Addition, 802 Scott Drive. The structure will contain 2,400 feet of living space, three bedrooms, a den, living room, kitchen, two baths and a utility room.

The person sponsoring the project will pay expenses, John Bagnall, vocational administrator, said he has adequate accident insurance.

Trustees went into executive session for consultation with school attorneys about two court cases now pending. One is the case involving ex-coach James Griffin who is claiming racial discrimination as the cause of his firing. Another is by the Justice Department claiming Bauer Elementary School has too many minority students.

City-County Health Unit chief retires April 30

Buck Kirksey, chief of the City-County Health Unit, announced Wednesday that he would retire on April 30.

In a letter to City Manager Don Davis, Kirksey stated: "It is with regret that I leave my position with the department, but I feel that my physical condition has been such for the past several months that I have no choice other than retirement."

Kirksey, a registered professional sanitarian and environmental health specialist, has performed 30 years of service in public health; nearly 10 years in Big Spring and Howard County. He has served in various phases of food sanitation, inspections and investigations, environmental health, air pollution, radiation control, occupational health, venereal disease investigation, administration and other public health related problems.

Moore School reunion booked

The annual Moore School reunion will be held April 20. The group get-together will be in Garrett Hall, First Methodist Church, Fourth and Scurry. The hour will be 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

All former residents in that community or who now live there are invited.

Stock expert to talk here

Dr. Nelson Adams, area extension livestock specialist from Fort Stockton, will present a program explaining recent changes in the federal feeder calf grading system at 7:30 today in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Building.

Recent changes in the grading system have resulted in confusion among many cattle producers, Howard County Extension Agent Don Richardson said.

Car slams into restaurant

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Brake failure caused a car to go out of control and smash into a fast-food restaurant here, says the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Officials said Wednesday that no charges would be filed against 86-year-old Isabelle Bacon, driver of the car. A rusted hole was found in the automobile's brake line and brake fluid had drained from the master cylinder, patrolmen said.

Two persons were killed and six were injured when the car crashed through a Wendy's Old-Fashioned Hamburgers restaurant Tuesday.

Health tests slow moving

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP) — Health officials say they don't expect to know before the end of the week whether 5,000 laboratory tests will show any liver damage to people who inhaled fumes after a chemical spill.

Some 17,000 persons were evacuated from this area last week when a train engine struck a tank car at a rail yard, spilling 6,000 gallons of the industrial chemical phosphorus trichloride. The chemical produces acid fumes that can cause liver damage.

Meanwhile, officials were told the city would not qualify for federal disaster aid because the accident was not a natural disaster.

Fish victims of spill

HOPEWELL, Va. (AP) — Some 200 to 300 catfish found dead in a stream near here probably were victims of a brief chemical spill that filled the air with foul-smelling ammonia fumes, state officials said.

Officials said a pipeline leading from a fertilizer storage tank was cut by a backhoe at an Allied Chemical Corp. plant Tuesday and some liquid ammonia seeped into a stream.

Allied officials said the spill was stopped in a short time, but had no estimate on how much ammonia escaped. Ray R. Jenkins of the state Water Control Board said there had been no decision on whether Allied would be given water pollution citations.

Greek businessmen give

CHICAGO (AP) — An association of Greek businessmen will donate $25,000 to the U.S. Olympic Committee if that group decides to field an American team at the Moscow Games.

John P. Daros, president of the Hellenic Association of Commerce and Industry of Illinois, said his group will replace a $25,000 pledge to the USOC withdrawn by Sears Roebuck and Co. because the committee had not endorsed President Carter's call for a boycott of the Games.

Daros said the pledge would allow the committee to make an independent decision in the matter. If the USOC decides against participation, he said, he would withdraw the pledge.

Parachutes being sealed

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Parachutes used by the 82nd Airborne Division are being closed with a plastic seal after inspection to prevent tampering, Army officials say.

The new safety measures were instituted after the death of an Army officer whose parachute apparently was sabotaged. A parachute rigger has been charged with murder in the March 26 incident.

Maj. Roger Smith, a division spokesman, said Tuesday that sealing packed parachute bags after inspection "leaves no doubt in the jumper's mind that the last person handling that chute was the inspector."

Family of six killed in fire in East Texas

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) — Six persons died early today when fire swept through an apartment complex in this East Texas town, a fire department spokesman said. The fire was at the Lufkin Courts Apartment and broke out about 2:20 a.m. The victims were identified as Ray Charles Bright, 26, his wife, Mary, 26; and their four children, Melinda, Tyrone, Mitchell and Ray Charles Jr., according to Lufkin Fire Department Lt. Charles Selman. Seven units of the apartment complex burned, Selman said. Firemen battled the blaze for about three hours before bringing it under control. An investigation is underway to determine the cause of the fire.

Warmer weather is expected for the southern half.

'Only a maniac would do that' Amarillo woman slain

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Keys to a locked front door were found about 20 feet away and authorities say "blood and clothes were everywhere" from there to a back room, where the nude, mutilated body of a 25-year-old woman was found Wednesday night in a furniture store.

A pathologist sought to determine today if Sherry Lynn Welch, 25, of Canyon, was raped or otherwise sexually molested before she died from repeated knife wounds to the back as she fought off her attacker.

Her body was found lying face down in a designer furniture store, "Reflections," where she worked in Wolfen Village, a southwest Amarillo shopping center. Potter County Justice Roy E. Byrd said Mrs. Welch was stabbed 16 times in the back and the wounds were as large as 2 inches wide.

"We could not tell how many wounds there were to the front, but you could tell she was fighting the knife. Looks like we have a maniac on the loose. Only a maniac would do that," he said.

Byrd said the woman "was totally nude except for the collar of the blouse, which was still around her neck."

The front door of the store was locked, apparently at the normal closing time of 5:30 p.m., and detectives said they were unsure whether she opened the door for the killer or whether she was met inside the building by someone who was hiding inside when she locked the doors.

The keys were lying on the floor nearby, and her ravaged, blood-spattered clothes were found in a path leading to the back room. Byrd said it appeared robbery was not a motive, because the victim's wallet, purse and rings were by the body.

There were conflicting reports about who found the body. Police said originally that the store owner found the body. Other reports said her husband, Tex Lynn Welch, made the discovery.

An Amarillo pathologist, Dr. Jose Diaz-Esquivel, was called to the scene but said he was unable to determine immediately whether the victim was raped or otherwise sexually molested. Police issued an all-points bulletin for a blue Cadillac occupied by four persons and involved in a hit-and-run about the same time the murder was thought to have occurred.

FCC opens door to stereo AM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stereophonic radio broadcasts, limited in the past to the FM band, will soon become a reality on AM as well, because of action by the Federal Communications Commission.

For many of the nation's AM broadcasters, whose audiences in recent years have switched increasingly to FM because of its stereo signal, the move could spark a resurgence of listener interest.

John B. Summers of the National Association of Broadcasters hailed the FCC's decision Wednesday as a "milestone."

And the company whose method of stereo AM broadcasting was given a monopoly by the FCC, Magnavox Consumer Electronics Corp., was "delighted."

Magnavox, picked from five firms that submitted proposals, will have to share its system with other manufacturers — but will receive a royalty in return.

A company representative said Magnavox was surprised at the speed with which the FCC made its decision and could not immediately speculate on how much money might come from the royalties.

Commission officials said they expected the real market for AM stereo receivers to be in the automobile industry, since many people might be slow to trade in their home receivers.

Radios capable of receiving stereo signals on both the AM and FM bands could be produced for only $2 to $8 more than radios now on the market that receive monophonic AM and stereo FM signals, those officials said.

Neither FCC nor Magnavox officials would speculate on how soon the first stereo AM units would appear on the market or how soon broadcasters will begin to alter transmitting.

Stereo AM signals will have slightly less fidelity than stereo FM. And he added that despite the greater range of AM signals, stereo reception will probably not be possible more than 50 to 60 miles from a transmitter.

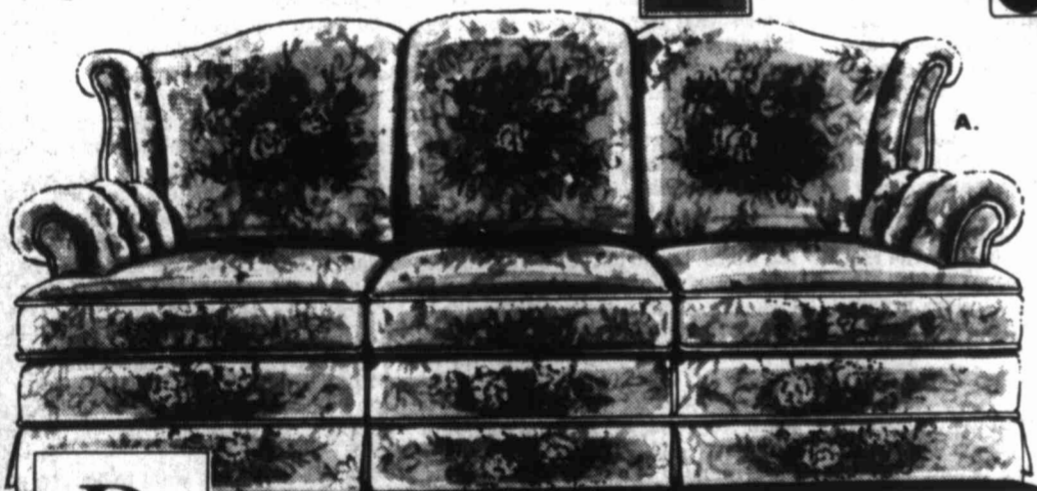

Existing AM receivers will translate stereo signals into monaural sound, just as FM radios with only one speaker combine stereo FM broadcasts into a single sound.

The FCC said it was selecting the Magnavox system to prevent the chaos that would result from having competing systems on the market.

The companies whose systems were rejected were Kahn Communications Inc., the Harris Corp., Belar Electronics Laboratory Inc., and Motorola Inc.

In 56 comparisons over the last three years, certified Lockett 77 from Pioneer produced an average gross income of $309* per acre... giving it a $42 per acre advantage over competitive varieties.

Why such an advantage? Outstanding seedling vigor with excellent cold tolerance and seedling disease escape help Lockett 77 make a good stand. Added to that are multiple disease tolerance, hardy plant characteristics, and early maturity... a combination that helps Lockett 77 deliver outstanding performance.

Farmers who've grown certified Lockett 77 are well pleased with results. Jack and Paul Hopper at Knott recorded a lint yield of 1,553 lbs./planted acre in 1979. Ben Roming at Lariat got 830 lbs./A. And over the last four years at Tell, Texas, Clinton Halford averaged 975 lbs. of lint per acre with certified Lockett 77.

Many continue to work after age 65

Almost half of this nation's gainfully employed are continuing to work after they reach 65, according to a survey of 582 firms by Hewitt Associates, a Chicago-based firm.

An average of 45 percent of salaried workers continue on the job after age 65, the study showed. Sixty-four percent of the firms canvassed require retirement at 70 years of age while 33 percent have no mandated retirement milestone.

The Age Discrimination in Employment Act, upping mandatory retirement to age 70, went into effect Jan. 1, 1979.

The survey taken by Hewitt Associates revealed that the older workers are more prone to keep working if they are employed by smaller firms than the great corporations.

An increasing number of workers plan for years toward retirement at 65, only to discover after a few months they can't tolerate the free time. If they are barred from returning to their old companies, as is frequently the case, they hire on at other firms and often, with their expertise, turn out to be among the most valued hands their new employers have.

The quickest way to grow senile, some people will tell you, is to retreat to the easy chair after entering retirement and doing exactly nothing to keep your mind active.

The Hewitt survey also showed that dental coverage for salaried workers has become more the rule than the exception. Fifty-nine percent of survey respondents now provide dental benefits, while another 15 percent are considering such insurance.

Use of preventive health-care programs is on the upswing in efforts to curb medical care costs.

Physical exams are offered by 83 percent of the companies participating in the survey. Alcohol and drug abuse control programs are in use in 34 percent of the firms canvassed.

Eight percent of the companies offer smoke-control plans, another five percent encourage employees to control weight through educational programs.

Nearly a fifth of the companies surveyed provide recreational facilities or health and athletic club memberships for workers.

Courthouse capers

Around the rim

Don Woods

It was well said by another, "If you can't say something nice . . . be a newspaperman."

The Howard County Courthouse has been my beat for the last year and five months. Petty jealousies and law avoidance have plagued this landmark since I got here.

me of some relative concepts from the Bible.

Society has not always been run by men, but was once governed personally by Yahweh himself, the God of the Jews. His people, though, wanted to take the reins of their lives into their own hands.

I Samuel 8 brings these facts into focus. The Jews wanted a king like other nations. Their prophet Samuel told them how it would be, that the king would send their young men to war and force their daughters to be cooks. He said the king would take their best fields and give them to his servants.

Yahweh knew men in government would not work out because of the shortcomings we all have. Needs, God always provided began to be provided by others. Men in government didn't know where to draw the line on their own power and their power grew. The population enjoyed the new system because they found man easier to trust than God.

BECAUSE THEY WEREN'T operating by God's best plan, power began to corrupt resulting in belief by some officials that they are above the law.

Watergate, Koreagate and Abscam are some examples of things that happen when officials feel that they don't need to answer to the same laws that the rest of the population answers to.

Didn't Nixon use this excuse, that he was withholding certain information for the good of the citizens? Many officials, locally and nationally, think correctly concerning their responsibility to their constituency. There are others, though, who are responding only to the selfishness inherent in all of us. That's understandable, but not excusable.

THERE IS NOT a way right now for us to return to a theocratic form of government. The next best thing is officials to return their authority to the one who gave it to them. God could govern society again through the people we have elected.

Elected officials have a real responsibility to their constituency, to give answers to their constituents. Like Jesus (John 8:12), there is no authority that exists that didn't stem from God.

Disgraceful retreat

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Brief hours after Reuters flashed the text of a purported top-secret message from Jimmy Carter to Ayatollah Khomeini, the Lebanese ambassador to the U.N. commented quietly to friends at a Manhattan party: "It is really disgraceful, but I can believe he wrote it."

That snap reaction by so sophisticated a diplomat to the letter President Carter insists he never wrote — or even underwrote — is shared by those here who have watched frantic Oval Office maneuverings in the hostage affair. Trusted officials who have served under Carter see the letter the Iranian government claimed it received from Carter as reflecting the style of the president and his closest political aides.

With foreign affairs specialists supplanted by Carter's political inner circle in managing the hostage crisis, there has been unseemly haste in trying to retrieve not only the hostages but the president's fading fortunes by whispering to Tehran what it wants to hear. The word "disgraceful" used by the diplomat in New York is echoed in Washington, where a sense of shame is growing.

NOBODY DISPUTES the White House claim that the "letter" never was written as such. Surely, it includes some rhetoric more familiar to Soviet communism than the Carter White House. But not all parts of the letter. One longtime Carter student who has worked closely with him sees phrases as "pure Carter, vintage Carter from way back. No one in a foreign country could have dreamed that up."

What in the letter is "vintage Carter"? It attacks U.S. involvement in Chile as a "serious example of American intervention." It notes that these actions by earlier administrations have been condemned by Carter. That sounds unmistakably like Carter statements of the past.

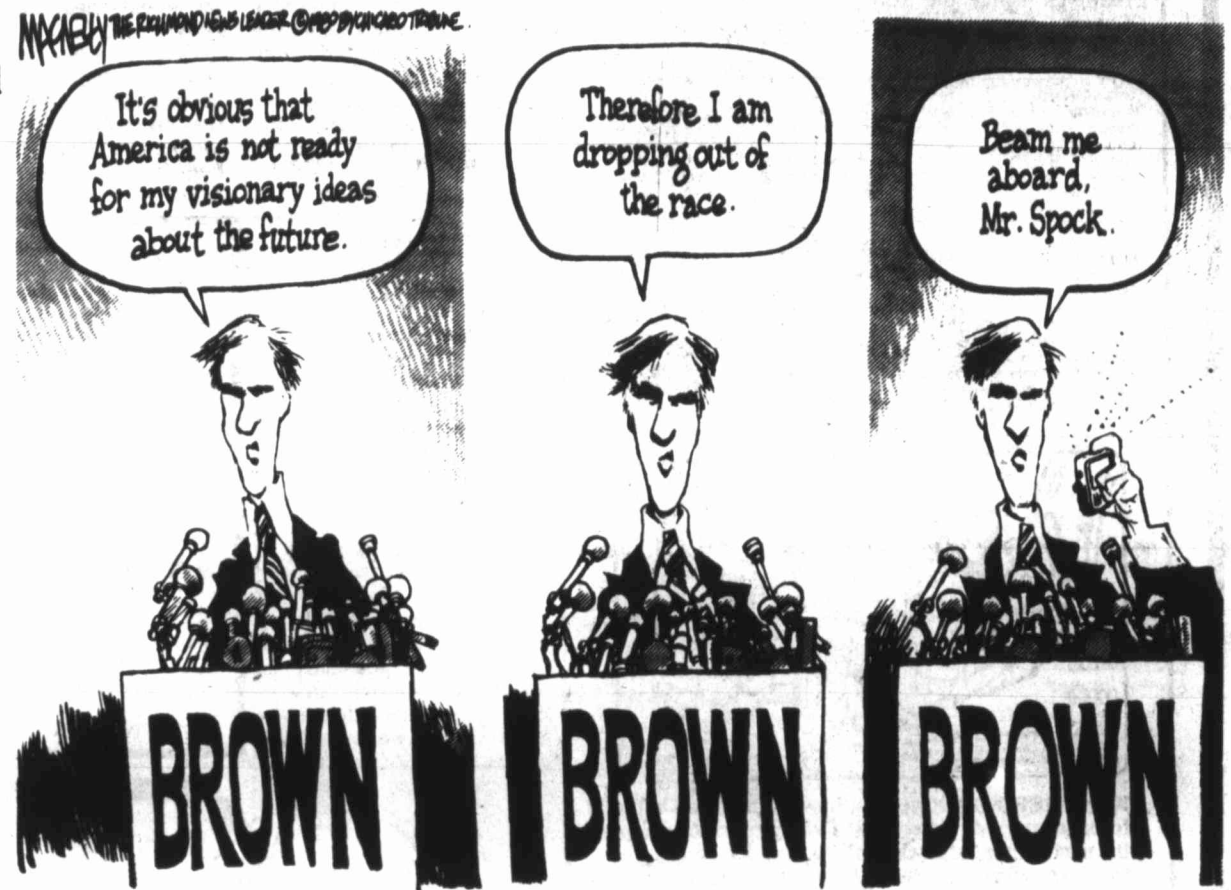

So does the change that "my government inherited a very delicate international situation, product of a different policy, of other circumstances which have led us all to commit errors in the past." To knowledgeable colleagues of Carter, that recalled the president's 1977 declaration at Notre Dame that the West should no longer have "an inordinate fear of communism."

SUCH SUBTLE EXPRESSIONS of Carter's convictions about the contemporary world could not have emanated from national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski. Carter associates strongly suggest that Hamilton Jordan, on his mysterious trips to Paris, Panama and perhaps elsewhere, has specifically emphasized this aspect of Carter's world view to persuade the Iranians to free the hostages.

Although Brzezinski's National Security Council staff pulled the early bureaucratic strings in the hostage crisis, Brzezinski now is out on the fringes. The string-pullers today are Jordan and the other intimate political aides brought from Georgia by Carter.

Desperation of the Jordan inner circle peaked after Sen. Edward M. Kennedy broke through in the New York and Connecticut primaries. Moving toward the next primary in Wisconsin last Tuesday, the president engaged himself in a sudden test of will with the Iranian revolutionaries.

With the clock ticking away toward the Wisconsin test, a Paris-based Argentine lawyer named Hector Villalon was clearly encouraged to put on paper what he had been hearing, directly or indirectly, from Carter mediators — including Jordan — about Carter's innocence in the long U.S. friendship with the deposed shah.

'Unseen' gallbladder can mean trouble

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been told I have a non-functioning gall bladder, one that cannot be seen on X-rays. The X-raying was done twice. Why the second test? What does this mean? — Mrs. L.C.

Last question first. Nine times out of 10 the inability to see a gall bladder on an X-ray film means it is diseased. The usual cause is gallstones.

The X-raying is done this way: The patient swallows a dye tablet. The dissolved dye is supposed to end up in the gall bladder if all is well. There, it shows up nicely on X-ray film. If gallstones block the passage of the dye the bladder will not show on the film. The gall bladder is "non-visualized" and "non-functioning." If the first test does not show the bladder, a stronger dose of dye is given as a check.

A less common reason for non-visualization is inability of the dye to get past a diseased liver. (The dye has to first pass through the liver to get to the gall bladder.) Too, some people cannot absorb the dye into their blood to begin with. Then, of course, the gall bladder would not show on the X-ray.

I'm curious as to why gall was picked on for the expression, "He/she has a lot of gall." I also do not know why the spleen was picked on for the expression, "to vent one's spleen." I did learn recently how the custom of "blessing" someone who has sneezed originated. It was explained in a book I read dealing with the 1665 plague in London. A sneeze was recognized as an early symptom of the disease. The blessing was more than an empty gesture in 1665 in London, where thousands of deaths resulted. Today, I imagine, it's done to ward off the common cold.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I hope you can come up with a suggestion as to how to get rid of a pesky soft corn that keeps coming back between my small toe. I have had it removed about five times and even had it cut out once. Within a month it is back again. I am in my 80s. — Mrs. S.D.

Corns result from pressure. Prevention and treatment must focus on eliminating the pressure. Even a soft corn that appears between the toes is due to pressure, often from a bony spur.

Padding with soft foam rubber is useful, and softening the corn with lanolin may help. Most probably, though, it will have to be pared by an expert. Ultimately, however, you will have to reduce the pressure so that it will not re-form. That may mean removal of the bony spur also. There's a more in-depth discussion of corns in the booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet." For a copy, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Big Spring Herald

To The Editor:

I have not spoken out in quite some time, but I sadly feel a need to do so at this time.

Where are we going?? Why are we here?? What next? Where is it all going to end??

When I was a child, we were taught that a young girl would and could not be a little lady until she learned to embroider, crochet, or knit. At least she had to learn to make quilts to take with her when she became old enough to become some one's new bride. She had to be smart enough to do more than boil water without burning the pan. She had to know more than run to a quick food place to prepare a meal.

A young man had to be able to make a living for his new bride without putting his soul into hock for the rest of his life at 20 percent interest. He had to live by his wits and his brawn, and not by cheating and lying and welfare.

We were taught to be culturally refined.

What has happened to that word REFINED???? In the dictionary to refine means to make better. To free from impurities; to polish; to make pure; to cultivate; to excel or improve. We were taught to read from the best of books, learn the best music and see the beauty of nature.

What has happened to all of this?? Where did we go wrong?? How can we teach the youth of our country anything these days, when there is absolutely nothing left for his imagination. He can not even think for himself and have visions of the future, because it is all laid out for him in black and white.

The child of the yesteryear was not stupid nor dumb. Especially if he was raised on or had the opportunity to visit farms. If he lived in a two room half dugout, or a small town house, he was not raised in ignorance of life, death, or reproduction. Sex was not a secret. Sex was Sacred. It was not flaunted in a child's face from every magazine stand, every movie, every TV ad and every word that proceeded forth out of the mouth of man.

He was taught that reproduction was to come from a Mother and a Father who had love for one another so strong that they stayed together as long as they both lived.

He was taught that to have a child out of wedlock was a sin, and that the girl was a fallen angel. Now, a girl who has been around and done all that there is to be done is a Sex symbol.

Man can not defend a woman's honor any more, because he does not recognize a lady. The dress standards, the language, the makeup and personality of our female race is no longer a mark of distinction.

One out of every seven teenage girls have had or are about to have a child. One of every three boys are becoming fathers. To the painful knowledge of the girls and their mothers they are very aware that they are a part of the population explosion that is being grumbled about. The boys aware or not are helping the cause.

And what is being done about it?? The teachers have been informed in school, that they will now teach Sex Education. It seems that kids are pretty well taught already. But, Mamas and Daddies want them UNTAUGHT. They want to undo all the damage that has been done. Where to start?? There are three ways to teach a child. EXAMPLE, EXAMPLE, EXAMPLE. When an innocent little baby was brought into the world, he did not know all that was going on around him, until he got big enough to focus his eyes, and learn to use his mouth to form words. So it had to be an adult that taught him what he knows.

School was no longer a place to learn to read, write and do your numbers. School had become a playground of activities of all sources. Smoking areas were built. The younger children were put in a do your thing class room (pilot program).

The older children were required to read a Playboy Magazine article about their State Senator in order to pass a test in Government. The literature teachers required reading of books that had so many four letter fifth words, in order to get a grade. Whose requirements were these?? The innocent new born babe?? I think not.

I was not only startled, but horrified when my oldest son came home and stated that he had to have a Playhouse magazine for his government class. I thought he had just gone off the deep end. When my younger children brought their books in and showed me their required reading, I immediately went to our public library and questioned the public reading material only to be informed that there was freedom of the press, and you could read or let alone. BUT, it was required of my child to read WHOSE REQUIREMENT?? NOT MINE!!!!

The movies, the television and the live theatre has become so involved with their ratings of PG, R, X, and G, they do not even draw a line anymore as to what is fit or unfit. Because if you go to a G, you get the advertisement of the X. Who demands these ratings. The adults! Who screens? The Adults! Who attends?? The adults! And where is the child?

No longer are children taken to funerals. It might upset them and give them horrifying nightmares. Yet these same children are allowed to watch (with parents or without) the most gory blood and guts shoot-em up movie, or the most horrible monster filled space out film.

The most devastating filthy language script is heard right in their own homes through their own TV sets, and it is adults who are producing these plays and movies. So what do we expect from our tomorrow's leaders. Our youth of today have no way to turn. They are frightened, confused, misguided, and completely at the mercy of non-caring adults.

But, they put on a big show of I know all about life, and don't tell me what to do. Deep down they are crying for help, and desperately denying the fact, for fear they will be laughed at from their peer pressure groups. They want to be accepted. In what?? They don't really know. They just don't want to be left unwanted. They are pushed into adulthood before they are ready. WHY?? Because Mamas and Papas are divorcing, having affairs, staying out all night in drunken stupors, or so tripped out on nerve pills.

Mama and Papa want to be free, so they give Jr. a car and tell him to go. He isn't trained to work and earn the car. He isn't given responsibilities so that when he becomes the aware, or unaware father, that he knows how to make a living.

Mamas and Papas want so many new-fangled things that they are not content to help their children grow up into decent young adults.

They both are working so they can pay those bills. No longer do the bills cover just the major things in life. There are boats, cars, modern appliances that give us a little more free time, and a million other things that we can not afford, and do not need, while our children suffer the consequences.

Granted, this does not apply to everyone everywhere, but the majority of our children are having problems.

And while our neighboring towns are doing without water, even to flush their commodes, we are worrying about gasoline and oil.

Our wonderful America is so involved in the Oil Crisis and getting wealthy, we are letting our youth of America go down the drain, and in turn we are swiftly running out of water.

What will our tomorrow's leaders be like?? What chance are we giving them??

What kind of examples are we placing before them. Who am I?? Where did I come from? Where am I going? Where does the answer lie?

Lubbock, Amarillo hold rallies

Reagan brings campaign to Texas

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Ronald Reagan brought his Republican presidential campaign back to Texas and spoke to 1,500 cheering supporters at Amarillo and 1,000 at Lubbock in afternoon airport rallies Wednesday.

Lubbock and Amarillo were his only Texas stops. He flew in from Washington, D.C., and went from Amarillo to Grand Island, Neb.

Reagan did not mention his opponents for the GOP nomination, instead criticizing Carter for his economic, energy and foreign policies.

He blamed the Carter administration with doing more to cause inflation than to cure it. He drew an ovation in Amarillo when he renewed his call for a 30 percent tax cut over the next three years.

President Carter has opposed such a cut, saying it would force inflation higher. Reagan disputed that. "This won't lower government revenues. It has been done four times during this century, and the increase in prosperity was immediate and great each time," Reagan said in Amarillo.

Reagan said President Carter's latest plan to fight inflation was the fourth one the president has put into effect since 1976. He said during that time, inflation has risen from 4 to 19 percent.

"The greatest deception of all is that Carter makes us believe that inflation is our fault," the former California governor said. "The president just cut $13 billion from a budget he said was austere two months ago."

Reagan said the federal bureaucracy must be trimmed and called government spending the prime cause of inflation.

"Government is the cause of inflation, and it's time to cut the government down to size," he said.

"We must reduce government in power and size and cost and bring government back to where it is in the control of the people," Reagan said, suggesting that many of the federal programs, particularly welfare, be returned to state hands.

He promised personnel cutbacks if nominated and elected.

"In the first 24 hours I'm in the White House, I'd like to freeze the hiring of any new federal employees, even those who might fill spots that are vacant."

Reagan said the crisis in Iran poses greater hazards to the United States than the nation faced in World War II.

"We're in greater danger now than we were the day after Pearl Harbor," he said.

"President Carter said he wouldn't stand for Soviet troops in Cuba, but he's standing for it. He said he wouldn't stand for the Russians' crossing the Afghan border, but he's standing for that," Reagan said.

"We're the one nation which can prevent the holocaust. We must immediately rebuild our military and make it so strong that no nation would dare lift a hand against us," he said.

He said America should have stood by the deposed Shah of Iran during last year's revolution in that country. He declined to be specific about how the United States should handle the crisis today.

But he said, "Nothing that Carter has done so far couldn't have been done in the first week."

THE ENGINE THAT COULD — A temporary stretch of track in foreground awaits passage of Jesse Wade's 253-ton antique locomotive at Quincy, Ill. On Wednesday, Wade successfully crossed over the Mississippi River from Quinsippi Island on a condemned bridge that skeptics feared would collapse. The ex-Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad No. 3007 will eventually end up at Wade's nature reserve.

Officials quiet about departure of Iranian pilots

By The Associated Press
Military officials are keeping quiet about how and when Iranian student pilots training at Air Force bases, who must be out of the country by midnight Friday, are going to leave the country.

The order forcing them to leave, which came in the wake of the President Carter's move to sever diplomatic relations with Iran, effects 99 Iranians stationed at four bases in Texas.

A Laughlin Air Force Base spokesman at Del Rio said Wednesday that the Pentagon told the public information office to say nothing about any arrangements.

He said all travel plans are being handled by the Iranians themselves.

The news blackout is designed to save the Iranians from publicity and harassment, a spokesman for the Secretary of the Air Force said.

"They're in a very awkward situation. We're trying to make it as easy as possible," the spokesman said.

At Texas A&M, officials said 14 Iranian students on military visas also have been ordered to leave the country by Friday midnight. All are enrolled in the university's Naval ROTC program and are members of the cadet corps.

Dr. Wayne Gosnell, the university's director of international services, emphasized that the deportation is not connected to any adverse activities by the students.

"These young men have been model students and conducted themselves in a commendable manner," he said.

Other Iranian students at Texas A&M are enrolled on the same type student visas as thousands of other Iranians in the United States and are not affected by President Carter's edict — at least not immediately, Gosnell said.

Some of the pilots are expected to apply for political asylum, a spokesman at the regional office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in Dallas said.

"Since the asylum program began last November, we've had some — a very small number — of pilots apply. Based on that experience, I would imagine that we will have more," said regional commissioner Durward Powell.

No applications had been received at the San Antonio district INS office. An official in the Dallas district said his office has been contacted by a U.S. military officer seeking information for some of 38 Iranians at Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls.

The Texas bases have assigned an officer to act as a liaison between the pilot trainees and the INS.

Co-worker may have led to discovery of body

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A co-worker of kidnapping suspect Nathan Edward Cowger said his recollections of a previous trip to a hilly, wooded area in northeast Oklahoma County may have provided the link that led FBI agents to the body of 88-year-old Ella Shelton Wednesday.

Mrs. Shelton, whose hands and feet were bound with tape, was found wearing a blue bathrobe about 10 a.m. Wednesday morning. She was lying on her back with her legs secured to a slender hickory tree, officers said.

Mrs. Shelton's body was identified by dental and medical records and by comparing an X-ray of the woman's spine, the medical examiner's office said.

John Warren, FBI spokesman, said Mrs. Shelton's body was found 100 yards inside a stand of trees in the middle of an open field by about 25 FBI agents, Oklahoma County deputies and Oklahoma City police officers.

Oklahoma County Deputy Sheriff Bill Hooten said the body had what appeared to be a pillowcase tied around the head. He said the body, which is believed to have been at the scene 22 to 23 days, had no visible signs of injuries.

It was discovered in advanced stages of decomposition 27 days after the elderly woman was kidnapped.

Warren said the FBI's investigation revealed that Cowger, 25, of suburban Midwest City, who is charged with extortion by threat in connection with Mrs. Shelton's kidnapping, frequented the area and had friends living in the vicinity.

Property owner Harold Manwell said he recalled seeing a pickup matching an FBI description speeding through the area the morning of March 13.

"This is out in the country, and anytime you see a strange vehicle, you observe it and remember it," Manwell said.

The property was used by neighbor Randy Hayes for racing a dune-buggy, Manwell said.

Hayes said that he and Cowger worked together at Transcon shipping lines until late February, when Cowger was fired for alleged insubordination.

"He had come out a few times to ride with me in those hills," Hayes said.

"I guess it was about March 12 or so that he called me to ask what I was doing and whether I wanted to have a beer and go ride around."

Hayes said they raced through the rolling hills on Manwell's farm for four or five hours before they parted company.

Hayes said while he was away from home the next day, his mother, who lives nearby, said she spotted a truck which looked like Cowger's.

Cowger, a former Ohio man who had been living in Midwest City, was arrested about 6:10 a.m. Saturday at the Youngstown, Ohio, airport while attempting to board a flight to Chicago.

Mrs. Shelton's daughter, Jewell Shelton, a vice president of Fidelity Bank here, paid a $25,000 ransom in Denton, Texas, for Mrs. Shelton's return, but never heard from the abductors.

Agents said a portion of the $25,000 ransom was recovered when Cowger was arrested.

The seven-page federal complaint lodged against Cowger alleges a woman who was "well-acquainted" with him identified a taped voice of a caller's ransom demands as his.

The complaint said FBI agents talked Friday with Liz Seism, who lives in the same apartment complex in Midwest City where Cowger lived.

Search warrant returns filed Monday said one bloody white sock was found at the Shelton home in The Village, a suburban city, and another was found in Cowger's pickup, which was located Friday at Will Rogers World Airport here.

Cowger allegedly instructed Ms. Seism to "get rid" of two suitcases containing pictures of Jewell Shelton, jewelry and "a set of false teeth," the complaint said.

Searchers dragged the North Canadian River for the suitcases, but had not found them because of high water. John Warren, an FBI spokesman, said a decision will be reached later on whether to continue searching for the suitcases.

The FBI said earlier that authorities had learned Cowger, who moved to the Oklahoma City area from Ohio about a year ago, was in the construction business and had built a patio at the Shelton home last year.

Funds, people are available for counting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Census Director Vincent Barabba is telling Hispanics that enough personnel and funds should be available to count them properly.

He offered a forecast Wednesday before a Hispanic audience that about 80 percent of the nation should be counted by the end of the week, less than two weeks after census day.

Barabba said the successful early count means fewer people have to be found in the harder, follow-up portions of the census to round out a complete and accurate count.

The census will be moving shortly from the "It's not too late" to be counted campaign to a "Were you counted?" stage, he said.

Barabba said information for the upcoming drive will be distributed in English, Spanish and 32 other languages.

Hispanic leaders who shared the conference platform with Barabba, however, claimed that an undercount of their community is virtually assured.

"The census has experienced one obstruction after the other, a series of obstructions that has been aimed at the heart of the Hispanic community," Ruben Bonilla, national director of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said.

He said raids by Immigration and Naturalization Service officers the month before April 1, census day, reinforced community suspicions that the census information might be used to locate illegal aliens.

Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti declared a moratorium following a March raid in Phoenix, Ariz., but Bonilla said the damage was done already.

He said a March raid also took place in Austin, Texas.

Barabba agreed that the raids had hampered work done to spread the word about the confidentiality of census information.

"These raids have affected the atmosphere of cooperation which we have worked so hard to develop," he said.

Lupe Saldana, national chairman of the American GI Forum, placed the blame for any Hispanic reluctance to participate in the census squarely on the Justice Department, which supervises the INS.

"Our entire community has been affected by the climate of fear," he said.

Medic Alert saves 2,000 lives in 12-month period

President Jimmy Carter has issued a proclamation declaring April 6-12 as National Medic Alert Week. Medic Alert is an emergency medical identification system. They maintain a 24-hour answering service and issue emblems to people with hidden medical conditions ranging from heart problems to serious medication allergies.

In a recent 12-month period, the organization reported some 2,000 lives were saved through their services. Carter stated in the proclamation, "Today approximately forty million Americans are afflicted with diabetes, heart conditions, epilepsy, allergies and other medical conditions that are difficult to detect or identify in an emergency. This year many of these people will become involved in emergency situations and, because of delays in diagnosing and treating their hidden medical problems, may suffer additional injury or even die. "When the victims of medical emergencies are unconscious or otherwise unable to communicate, their Medic Alert tags and the information services with which they are registered can spell the difference between successful treatment and serious, even fatal, complications."

The Medic Alert Week Resolution (H.J. Res. 434), was introduced in the Congress by two California Congressmen, Tony Coelho (D) Merced and Norman Y. Mineta, (D) San Jose. Senator Cranston and Hayakawa sponsored the resolution in the Senate.

Alfred H. Hodder, President of Medic Alert stated, "Medic Alert's mission is to save lives and to provide daily protection to people with hidden medical conditions. The peace of mind afforded to Medic Alert members on a daily basis allows them to carry on normal lives knowing that they are protected. "Medic Alert members are therefore able to maintain fully productive lives both vocationally and socially."

For information about Medic Alert, write to the non-profit, charitable and tax-exempt organization in Turlock, Calif. 95380 or call (209) 632-2371. Regional offices are in New York City, Chicago, Salt Lake City, and Orlando.

Legend of Sand Dollar revealed

Mary Arnold Hefley and Ina Richardson were hostesses at a "Dutch Treat" dinner-meeting Tuesday evening for the Past Matrons' Club of Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, in the Big Room of Alberto's Crystal Cafe.

Violetta Ballou read the Easter message from the Worthy Grand Matron Kathy Johnston, Grand Chapter of Texas, Order of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Johnston gave the thought for April — "Happiness is a prayerful heart."

President Candy Andrews called for reports from Mrs. Hefley, Sue Stripling, Mae Hayden, Thelma Helton, Ruth Pittman, Vera Gross, Zan Ryan, Vi Ballou, Doris Mason, Dorothy Hull, Ila Keathley, Pearl Ulrey, Ortry Boatler, Mrs. Richardson and Gertrude Cantrell.

Ina Richardson gave the program "Legend of the Sand Dollar." She told the members that the Sand Dollar is one of nature's most unusual specimens of marine life. The markings on the shell symbolize the birth, crucifixion and resurrection of Christ.

On the front of the shell is an outline of the Easter Lily, with a tiny five-pointed star of Bethlehem in the center. The reverse side shows a Christmas poinsettia. Legend says, when broken, the shell releases five little Doves of Peace. The Sand Dollar is characterized by five narrow openings representing the four nail holes and the wound in the crucified body of Christ.

Mrs. Richardson displayed specimens of the Sand Dollar during the program.

The members sang "Happy Birthday" to Pearl Ulrey, Sue Stripling and Candy Andrews.

Mae Hayden and Zan Ryan will serve as hostesses for the next meeting May 13, at Alberto's Crystal Cafe, 7 p.m.

Ladies luncheon Saturday

A ladies covered dish luncheon will be held Saturday in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church of Coahoma beginning at 10:30 a.m. Mrs. Clyde Angel will be guest speaker. She will present a book review.

Honored guests at the luncheon will be women in their twenties. They will not be required to furnish a dish. All community women are invited to attend. The purpose of this luncheon is to bring the ladies of the area closer in fellowship and friendship.

Barracks and Auxiliary to meet April 16

Because of the conflict with the District 19 Convention which will be held in Lubbock on April 12, the Veterans of World War One, Barracks No. 1474, and their Auxiliary, will have their regular meeting April 16, at 10:30 a.m. at Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center, 2805 Lynn St.

Election of officers for the ensuing year will be held, and all members are urged to attend and participate. Following the business meetings, there will be a covered dish luncheon, games and fellowship.

Tween 12 and 20 First date jitters

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Mike, 15, from Huntsville, Ala., is planning to ask a girl out and it's his first date. He doesn't drive so he is asking our teen guest writers to make suggestions. Barbara Watts, 16, from Hayward, Calif. and Brian Ralston, 17, who lives in Dubuque, Iowa, will do the honors.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 13 and have never been on a date. I am planning to ask a girl at my school to go out but I do not know where to take her. Since I don't drive, I would have to ask my dad to drive us there then pick us up and that would be embarrassing. I'd also like to hear what your teen guest writers have to say — Mike, Huntsville, Ala.

Hi Mike: There are many fun places to take a date in Huntsville, Ala. I've been there. You live in a marvelous city. Some of these places are the roller skating rink, bowling alley, movie theater, a nice restaurant or to a school function.

You could enlist the aid of a cousin, older brother or an older friend as your chauffeur for the evening. Forget the embarrassment. She will be impressed — Dr. Wallace

Hi Mike: On my first date, the boy took me ice skating (we have indoor rinks) and we had a great time. His dad took us there and my mother picked us up and dropped us off at a restaurant near my house, then he walked me home and his dad picked him up from my house. Neither of us was embarrassed because our parents chauffeured us.

I think your first date should take you and your date to a school activity (game, dance, play, etc.). That way you are both on familiar ground and with people you both know and can talk to. If you have a second date, then I'd go to a community activity (movie, miniature golf, bowling, etc.). By this time you both will be more comfortable with each other — Barbara, Hayward, Calif.

ward, Calif.

Hi Mike: I'm not a double-date fan but I think you should consider it for your first date. My first date was a disaster for me because I was so nervous and I didn't know what to say. We went to a movie and her parents took and picked us up. I had such a traumatic time that I did not date for six months.

If I were you I'd make the first date a movie or school-related double date and I'd walk if the theater or school is close by. But if you and your date enjoy each other's company anywhere you go will be fun — Brian, Dubuque, Iowa

If you would like to be a teen guest writer, please write to me in care of this newspaper, stating your sex and age.

For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

The value speaks for itself in a voice that says Howard Miller.

The solid oak case is over 6'2" tall and carved in the elaborate country French manner.

And every hour, it plays your choice of three English cathedral chimes — Westminster, Whittington or Winchester.

A Currier & Ives period reproduction enhances the moon phase dial, with its raised Arabic numerals and contrasting hour ring of silver.

And all the while, the great brass lyre pendulum gleams dramatically as it swings behind beveled glass.

Value in any language. Ask for Cabernet.

One Roommate Too Many

DEAR ABBY: I share a one-bedroom flat with my girlfriend. (She is also a girl. We are both straight.) About a month ago she asked me if her boyfriend could stay over for the weekend since I was leaving town. I said OK.

When I got back, the boyfriend didn't leave. Instead, he started sleeping on the sofa in the living room. Meanwhile my girlfriend was spending about half the night out there with him on the sofa and I had the bedroom (two beds) to myself.

Now it turns out that the boyfriend lost his job and he is bunking with us — indefinitely. He's a nice enough guy, but it is very crowded with the three of us in this little flat.

He doesn't appear to be looking too hard for a job (he's getting unemployment) and frankly, I am fed up with this arrangement. He has been here exactly 30 days, and he never mentions moving.

How much longer should I let this go on before I say something?

HAD IT IN BUFFALO

DEAR HAD IT: Give him until sundown tonight. Then tell your girlfriend and her boyfriend that there is more of a crowd than you bargained for. The squeaking wheel gets the oil. So squeak!

DEAR ABBY: My brother's only son was killed two years ago. He was only 16, and his parents are still grieving for him. We never mention the boy's name unless they do, because we know how heartbroken they are. Now the problem:

A cousin recently had a baby boy. And what does she do? She goes ahead and names the baby after our brother's dead son. She and her husband thought they were "honoring" the dead boy by naming their son after him. I happen to think it was a cruel and thoughtless thing to do because now every time my brother and his wife hear that name they will think of the son they lost, and their grief will be renewed.

I can understand naming a child for a dead father or grandfather to perpetuate the family name, but a cousin? Please give me your opinion as I, too, am heartbroken.

LONE STAR STATE

DEAR LONE: You could be mistaken. Perhaps your brother and his wife feel honored that a child has been named for their son. Judge the deed by the intention. I am sure your cousin and her husband wanted to give only pleasure to the grieving parents, but they should have asked first.

Diamond Jubilee wraps up

By MICKIE DICKSON
Dr. Don McDonald, DVM, regaled approximately 150 1905 Hyperion Club members and their guests with the homespun humor of his profession April 4 at the finale of their Diamond Jubilee celebrations.

The superb friendship Barbecue supper was served at the Rich Anderson's Muleshoe Ranch at 6:30 p.m. north of Vealmoor.

The Diamond Jubilee celebrations began the morning of April 2 with a coffee and antique show at the Heritage Museum with the other six Hyperion clubs' members as guests.

A Federation Tea was held April 3 at the Country Club featuring Mrs. Clyde Angel giving the history of the club to all the Federated Clubs of the Western District. Mrs. H.B. Bratton, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, was scheduled speaker, but was unable to make it because of car trouble.

Dr. McDonald is a graduate of Sterling City High School and has his Bachelor of Science and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degrees from Texas A and M.

McDonald interned in the University of California in Davis, Calif. He returned to Texas A and M for two separate stints at teaching, serving as the Head of the Equine Medicine Section the second time. He practiced with Dr. H.F. Schwarzenbach his first year out of college, then with Dr. H.E.

Thompson for three years after his first teaching stint at A and M. McDonald is now practicing from the McDonald Ranch on which he was born, building a clinic and breeding horses. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chesley McDonald, Sterling City. He is married to Sandy Cushing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Cushing, Big Spring. Her father is principal of Marcy School.

Rich (J.R.) Anderson, the host, introduced Dr. McDonald, whom he'd known all his life, in glowing terms. The good doctor replied that he knew now how a pancake feels when it has syrup poured all over it.

Relating a story of a man who wished to buy one of Rich Anderson's fine hunting dogs, Dr. McDonald advised the man not to say anything derogatory about Anderson's dog. The man ignored his advise and remarked to Anderson that the dog was 'sorta dumb looking.'

Anderson angrily informed him that he could talk about anything under the sun but his dogs. "Just take him out and try him," he remarked. The man took the dog for a while, then brought him back. Anderson asked how he did. The man said, "Well, except for a stupid habit of stopping dead still with his tail pointed, one foot up and nose pointed for which I half killed him to break him of, he did alright." After another amusing anecdote or two, Dr. McDonald then delivered his talk on "Feeling Good About Ourselves," stating that we should have confidence in and be perfectly honest with ourselves.

Naming three things needed to improve the character of our country, Dr. McDonald stated that there should be more participation in government by good people. The second principle was to improve our home life since the home is the backbone of our nation. The third principle was to obey Paul's admonition in 1 Thessalonians 4:11 "That you study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands." Hard work established our country and hard work will be necessary to save it.

A square dance group, the Borden County Stars, from Gail, entertained with exhibition square dancing. Couples dancing were Ben and Netta Jarrett, principal of Borden County High School and business teacher; Beverly and Joe Copeland, special education and kindergarten teacher and science teacher and Jean and Buster Taylor, beauty operator and Texas Highway Department employee, also ambulance driver; Larry and Wanda Smith, County commissioner and former resident of the Muleshoe Ranch.

A four-tiered 75th anniversary cake was cut and served with coffee following the entertainment.

Over 100 guests attended the opening Diamond Jubilee coffee and antique show at the Heritage Museum April 2 where they viewed many family heirlooms of the 1905 Hyperion members. The 1905 celebrants wore period righted 1870 and Gaskell's Compendium of Forms also copyrighted 1880-1881.

Mrs. Reagan also displayed a folding chair from the Alex Mitchell family who lived on 4th and Gregg Streets. This was covered with needlepoint which Mrs. Reagan made.

Mrs. D.O. Gray displayed a beautiful 1880 pewter butter dish which belonged to Rev. and Mrs. Russell Collmer, former missionaries to South America. The Collmer's received it as a wedding gift in Philadelphia, Pa. Mrs. Collmer brought it to Gray's Jewellers to have it cleaned. Mrs. Gray told her it needed to be re-plated with silver, but she didn't want to spend the money on it. Mrs. Collmer said, "You take it." Mrs. Gray demurred, saying, "I can't take a gift like that." However, Mrs. Collmer persisted and she finally accepted it.

Mrs. Clyde Angel displayed hand painted china which was a wedding gift to her grandmother 100 years ago. Also a Royal Vienna hand painted china vase and bowl which was a wedding gift to her that had been in her family many years.

Mrs. J.C. Pickle displayed her grandfather's pocket watch mounted in a small display case and a bone handled straight-edge razor.

Approximately 85 people made their way to the Country Club April 3, to attend the Federated Club Tea held by the 1905 Hyperions. Besides the other Federated Big Spring Club, the Women's Forum, representatives came from clubs

Mrs. S.M. Anderson showed quilts made in 1900 by her grandmother, Mrs. J.H. Williams. Mrs. J.C. Pickle had on display her cousin Mattie's "crazy quilt" which was a wedding gift to her parents 80 years ago.

A 1900 "memories" jar was displayed by Hazel Reagan which had seashells, rings, bracelets, tiny animals and objects stuck into the plaster which covered it.

Mrs. Anderson also displayed a fifth grade McGuffey Reader copy-in Coahoma, Pecos, Midland, Odessa, Midkiff, Sterling City, Big Lake and Stanton. The new District president, Jackie Hendrix, attended from Midland as well as Mrs. John Cearley, Pecos, the present Western District president.

Mrs. Norman (Florence) Reed, 85, attended who was at the first district meeting in 1906 as a little girl. "My papa took me," said Mrs. Reed, "There was a lot of singing and art." The Reeds had a ranch north of Coahoma for ten years, lived in Coahoma 21 years then moved to Big Spring in 1951 when she joined the 1905 Hyperions.

Annie Matt Angel dramatically reviewed the history of the club from Mrs. B. Reagan's history from 1905-1936, then gave some of the current history which she wrote herself.

Mrs. Chesley McDonald, president, named the 46 presidents preceding her term and the group waited for the arrival of Mrs. H.B. Bratton, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs until 5 p.m. It was later learned that Mrs. Bratton had trouble with her car air conditioner and was held up three hours getting it repaired. One of the incidents in the history of the 1905 Hyperions related by Mrs. Angel at one time was when there were no air conditioners in cars. The ladies took handicapped children to Midland for treatment before Big Spring had a Rehabilitation Center. One very hot day with five or six hot little youngsters in her car, Mrs. Angel said, "How about a Coke?" One little boy chirped, "What's wrong with a hamburger?" Mrs. Angel said she fortunately had enough money in her purse for hamburgers and Cokes all around, so she said, "Not a thing."

The ladies of the 1905 Hyperion Club are to be congratulated on their 75 years of study and service to the Big Spring community which includes the library, the courthouse lawn, incorporation of the city and the first dump ground, story hours in the park and at Westside Community Center as well as transportation to and from Midland for the handicapped. Another of their projects was the first drinking fountain in public schools in the old central Ward Elementary School Building.

Recipes

Members of the 1905 Hyperion Club share favorite family recipes with Herald readers, beginning with Annie Matt (Mrs. Clyde) Angel's Banana Oatmeal Cake which was served at their March meeting in the home of Mrs. S.M. Anderson.

Annie Matt Angel's

BANANA OATMEAL CAKE

1 stick oleo
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 cup oatmeal
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups plus 2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 bananas, mashed
1 teaspoon vanilla
Melt oleo in boiling water, mix in oatmeal and let stand 20 minutes. Add sugars and eggs. Sift flour with soda and baking powder. Add mashed bananas and vanilla to egg mixture alternately with flour. Mix well and pour in greased, floured 9x13 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

ICING

6 tablespoons oleo
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup coconut
3/4 cup chopped nuts
Mix all ingredients and spread on hot baked cake. Put under broiler and slightly brown.

Mrs. Chesley (Cecile) McDonald's

ENGLISH TOFFEE

Grease 2 quart Pyrex casserole and sprinkle 1 cup finely chopped pecans over bottom, then sprinkle one 6 ounce package chocolate chips over nuts. Place in a 300 degree oven and bake entire time you cook candy. 1 cup butter (not oleo)

1 cup sugar

3 tablespoons water

1 tablespoon white Karo

Stir in a large saucepan until it starts boiling rapidly over high heat. Turn down to medium heat and cook until 255 degrees on candy thermometer. Pour over melted pecans and chips from oven and place in refrigerator until cool. Break into pieces.

Mrs. Chesley McDonald's

CHOCOLATE CHIP CAKE

1 box Duncan Hines yellow cake mix
1 small box instant vanilla pudding
1 small box instant chocolate pudding
5 eggs
1/2 cup Mazola oil
1 1/2 cups water
Mix together in large mixing bowl and add one 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate chips. Bake in well greased and floured bundt pan for 1 hour at 350 degrees.

Mrs. J.D. (Corene) Elliott's

FRESH ORANGE JUICE CAKE

1 package yellow cake mix (not the extra moist kind)
3/4 cup fresh squeezed or fresh frozen orange juice.
1 package orange Jello
4 eggs
3/4 cup salad oil
Combine ingredients and mix well, beating about 4 or 5 minutes in mixer. Place in greased and floured oblong pan and bake at 350 degrees about 30 to 40 minutes. Take out of oven and prick holes with fork in warm cake and pour glaze over it.

GLAZE

1/2 cup orange juice
1 heaping cup powdered sugar
Mix together into a thin glaze and pour over warm cake. Let cake cool before cutting.

Mrs. D.O. (Stacey) Gray's

ANGEL PIE

MERINGUE

4 eggs, separated

1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar

1 cup sugar

Beat egg whites until frothy, add vanilla and cream of tartar, beating slightly. Gradually add sugar, beating well after each addition. Continue beating until stiff and glossy. Do not underbeat. Spoon meringue into a well-greased 9 inch pie plate. Use spoon and shape meringue into a pie shell, swirling sides high. Bake at 275 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 250 degrees and bake 30 more minutes or until lightly browned.

PIE

1/2 cup sugar

4 egg yolks

3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

2 tablespoons grated lemon rind

1 cup whipping cream

2 tablespoons sugar

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Gradually beat in 1/2 cup sugar, lemon juice and lemon rind. Cook in top of double boiler until smooth and thick, then cool slightly. Combine whipping cream and 2 tablespoons sugar, beating until light and fluffy. Spoon half into meringue pie shell. Spread with lemon filling and top with remaining whipped cream. Cover and refrigerate 24 hours. Serve chilled.

Corene Elliott's

GROUND ROUND MEAT LOAF

1 pound ground round

1/2 cup cracker crumbs

3/4 cup milk

1 egg

1 1/4 teaspoons salt

3/4 cup chopped green pepper

1/2 cup chopped onion

1/2 cup grated carrots

Crush crackers with rolling pin. Combine crumbs, milk, egg and salt. Add peppers, onions, carrots and beef. Place in oiled pan and bake at 350 degrees about 1 1/2 hours. Yield: 6-8 servings.

Forsan fem netters capture 5-A title

The Forsan girls tennis team captured the District 5-A championship here Tuesday afternoon at the local tennis center.

The Buffalo Queens tallied 25 points to take the championship, with Plains and Stanton finishing in a tie for second with 15 points. O'Donnell and Whiteface each ended with 10 points to tie for fourth place.

The Forsan win was spearheaded by the doubles championship of the duo of Tina Nix and Donna Anderson. They defeated Melissa Baker-Johna Fitzgerald of Plains, 6-7, 6-2, and 6-3.

Also claiming important points for the Forsan girls was Sherri Bennett who defeated Tori Duval of O'Donnell 6-4, 6-4.

Lisa Culp of Stanton won the girls' singles championship in the District 5-A meet, defeating Sandy Guerrero of O'Donnell by a score of 6-3, 6-2.

O'Donnell scored 40 points to edge past the Forsan girls total of 34 in the junior varsity competition.

Terry Duval of O'Donnell won the girls' junior varsity singles, defeating Laura Ross of O'Donnell by a count of 4-6, 6-1, 6-3. Gina Strickland of Forsan defeated Toni Clark of Forsan for third place in the girls' singles.

The Forsan duo of Kelly Kraus-Tiffany Danaghe defeated Clark-Sanders of O'Donnell for the JV doubles title, while Dianne Bates and Sherri Callihan of Forsan topped Bishop-Oliver of Seagraves for third place in JV doubles.

The Forsan Junior High girls won their end of the 5-A Meet, as they tallied 35 points. Anton and O'Donnell tied for second with 20 points.

Dana Cannon of Forsan won the JHS singles title, beating Cindy Robinson of O'Donnell 6-0, 6-0. Lisa Burt of Forsan defeated Ella Jordan of Anton 7-6, 6-4 for third place.

CENTER BATTLE — Jack Sikma of the Seattle SuperSonics (43) tries to keep Bob Lanier of the Milwaukee Bucks (16) from a good rebound position under the basket in Wednesday night's National Basketball Association Western Conference playoff game. The Bucks beat the Sonics, 114-112.

As UT, A&M, SMU make big hauls

Wacker chooses Texas

By the Associated Press
Texas and Texas A&M got the two nicest plums among Southwest Conference schools on Wednesday's national collegiate letter-of-intent signing date.

Southern Methodist already had two prize recruits wrapped up in Plano's 6-7 all-state center Kirk Lundblade and Highland Park's 6-7 John Briggs.

But the Longhorns' Abe Lemons won the services of high school all-America Mike Wacker, a 6-8 forward from San Marcos who had narrowed his choices from 100 schools to Texas, Baylor, Texas Tech and Texas A&M before making his decision Wednesday night.

And the Aggies' Shelby Metcalf persuaded McKinney's Reggie Roberts, a 6-2 forward who was a Class 3A all-state selection.

Wacker, who earlier had indicated he would wait until Thursday to decide on a school, told the San Marcos Record late Wednesday he finally decided on Texas, just 30 miles north of San Marcos. He said the opportunity to play with 6-11 freshman center LaSalle Thompson was a major factor.

"Texas gave me an overall feeling I liked, but LaSalle Thompson was a big plus in my decision. He is a good center and it would really be good to play alongside him," said Wacker, the only Texan named on Parade Magazine's high school all-America team.

Wacker, the state's most highly sought high school basketball player, said his final decision was between Texas and Baylor. He averaged 23 points and 10 rebounds for San Marcos High School last season.

In the 6-2 Roberts, who averaged 24 points and 12 rebounds per game, the Aggies found a blue-chip guard to throw the ball to "the Wall." Roberts is a mere shrimp in size to Texas A&M's "Wall" which consists of 6-11 Rudy Woods, 6-7

Rynn Wright and 6-6 Vernon Smith.

"He's got exactly what we're looking for in a replacement for David Britton," Metcalf said. "He has good speed, good quickness and good jumping ability."

Roberts said the opportunity to step right into the starting lineup was a factor in his choosing the Aggies.

Other than Lundblade and Briggs, who were both recruited by new SMU coach Dave Bliss while he was at Oklahoma, the Mustangs also signed Indiana all-stater Dave Gadis, a 6-0 point guard who averaged 21 points and 9 assists last season in Indianapolis.

Slow-Pitch meeting tonight

There will be an Industrial League Slow-Pitch meeting tonight at eight o'clock at the Johnny Stone Park in order to seed the teams for the upcoming opening tournament, which is slated for next week.

All managers of teams that will play in the Industrial League this year need to be in attendance tonight.

NBA Playoff Roundup

Celtics use muscle to outlast Rockets

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics grabbed the inside track in their playoff series with the Houston Rockets in the most obvious way — by seizing control of the inside game.

While the Rockets relied on Mr. Inside (Moses Malone with 27 points) and Mr. Outside (Calvin Murphy with 23), the Celtics used a host of Mr. Insides to turn back threats Wednesday night.

The result was a 119-101 victory over the Rockets in the opener of their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series.

The second game of their Eastern Conference semifinal is set for Friday night.

"These playoff games are going to be won inside on the boards. You're not going to win with 20-footers," said guard Chris Ford, who led Boston with 19 points. "We were looking to pass the ball around and move it inside."

They succeeded at that when it was most significant.

Boston never trailed, but Houston moved to within 69-68 with 6:16 left in the third period. Then Ford and Dave Cowens scored 24 of Boston's next 40 points as the Celtics streaked to their biggest lead, 109-88.

In that span, Boston made 18 field goals, with only two coming from beyond 15 feet. Eleven of the baskets were layups and two were dunks.

Boston also dominated the boards by outrebounding

Houston 48-38 for the whole game.

But Celtic Coach Bill Fitch disagreed with Ford's emphasis on the importance of the inside game.

"It's not quite that simple in my mind," Fitch said. "It's going to be won in a lot of areas, outside and inside. In the playoffs, you can't get to a situation where one thing is going to be the key, inside or outside."

"Defense is the whole key to any success we had tonight. We played it to start the first quarter and we really got cooking in the second half again" after letting a 39-23 first-quarter lead dwindle to 61-56 at halftime.

Malone thinks part of the Celtics' success is based more on force than finesse.

"Once I got the ball I knew I could score on them (Cowens and Rick Robey). They're not the greatest defensive centers. They just hack you to death," Malone said. "You can't write us off. It's just one game. I can hack as good as they can."

Dawkins led Philadelphia overcomes Atlanta

Fouls played a big part in Philadelphia's win. Sixers star Julius Erving missed most of the second half because of foul trouble, but center Darryl Dawkins picked up the slack, scoring 11 of his 22 points in the final period and dominating play.

Both Atlanta centers, Wayne "Tree" Rollins and Steve Hawes, fouled out trying to stop Dawkins in the fourth quarter, when Philadelphia came back from a 78-71 deficit to win.

Moncrief guns down Sonics in overtime

Rookie guard Sidney Moncrief scored all six of Milwaukee's points in overtime as the Bucks beat the Sonics, avenging their overtime loss to Seattle in the series opener and taking the home-court advantage away from the Sonics.

Guard Brian Winters led Milwaukee with 28 points, including a three-pointer from the left corner in the final minute that tied the score 106-106. Seattle had a chance to win it in regulation, holding the ball for the final 21 seconds, but failed to get a shot off.

Nixon's shot boosts Lakers past Suns

Lakers guard Norm Nixon hit a 17-foot jumper to break a 128-126 tie with 20 seconds left in overtime, and after Phoenix's Paul Westphal missed a jumper, Nixon added one of two free throws with 10 seconds to play. Mike Bratz missed a three-point try for the Suns in the closing seconds and Nixon got the rebound as the buzzer sounded.

Westphal led all scorers with 37 points, including all eight of the Suns' points in overtime. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Lakers with 32 points, Nixon and Jamaal Wilkes had 26 apiece and Magic Johnson 25.

Walter Carter celebrates birthday in dunking fashion

Former Hawk sets unique record

By TOMMY HART

Walter Carter, a handsome Virginian who played basketball for Howard College in the early 60s, has returned to the sports pages.

Now 36 years of age, Walter celebrated his birthday recently by dunking the basketball 177 times in an hour's time. He read that the Guinness Book of Records had no standard for slams and thought it would be an achievement to establish one.

A fifth grade school teacher at Shoemaker Elementary School in his home town, Gate City, Va., the 6-4½ Carter picked a local gymnasium to start his feat. He set out to dunk only 100 balls in an hour but had slammed that many in 30 minutes.

Remarkably, all the dunks were one-handed. After 104 right-handed slaps, he switched to the other hand to rest his shoulder and hand.

At one time, he hit 38 shots in succession. He had three other streaks of 26, 22 and 22 before missing.

Carter tore the hide from the inside of his right hand making contact with the rim after starting on the second 100.

Walter's son, Steve, a junior center for Gate City's varsity team, kept a supply of basketballs sprayed with an adhesive substance to assure a firm grip. Walter made 20 foot runs from the left corner of the court for his right-hand dunks. He sifted to the other side of the court for the left-handed shots.

"The secret of dunking is timing and gripping the ball," Carter said. "High school kids could master it like hitting free throws if they practiced it as much. The dunk is an achievement. It's the home run of basketball. Oh, it's not as tough as hitting one off Steve Carlton."

Carter was not known as a dunk artist in high school. He found it easier to connect from 20 feet out.

He has managed to stay trim by dieting properly (he counts calories as carefully as witnesses counted his dunks) and by lifting weights three times a week.

Carter also played football at Gate City. A quarterback, he missed part of the basketball season his senior year after suffering a broken leg in football. Still, he finished as the No. 3 scorer in the state with a 24-point average, a feat which won him a spot on the official Prep All-American team. He played in the Wigwam Wiseman All-America game at Houston, starting for the East squad.

He averaged over 20 points a game at Howard College and Howard Payne University. He says the three best big men he ever opposed were Mel Counts, Bud News Barnes and Mel Daniels, and that Don Kessinger, who later was a stellar big league baseball shortstop, was the best guard he went against.

In a letter to the Herald, the soft-spoken Carter wrote:

"They say people want money, fame, romance and health. Guess my main ambition is to live 120 years."

Steer netters prep for 5-AAAA meet with win

The Big Spring varsity tennis team warmed up for the District 5-AAAA meet this weekend in Abilene by taking a 12-6 win over the Sweetwater Mustangs in action here Tuesday afternoon.

The district affair will begin on Friday in Abilene, with the final round of competition slated for Saturday. The top two finishers in both the singles and doubles competition at the 5-AAAA meet will advance to the regional competition Gilbert in the singles competition, while the duo of Franklin-McMahon triumphed in their doubles match.

The Big Spring girls also shone in the affair with Sweetwater, as the singles performances of Alyssa Burns, Debbie Fulcher, Kim Madry and Amy Burleson all won their matches. In doubles competition, the Big Spring pairs of Burleson-Dawn Estes, Burns-Diane Ladaga both won.

Rote, Malaise to be inducted into Basketball Hall of Fame

WACO, Texas (AP) — Kyle Rote, Dub Malaise, Carroll Broussard, Clifton McNeely and Benny Tompkins will be inducted Saturday into the Texas High School Basketball Hall of Fame.

Rote will be the first athlete to be installed into both the high school football and basketball halls of fame. Better known as a football star at SMU and the New York Giants, Rote was an all-state basketball all-stater at San Antonio Jefferson and led the Mustangs to the state tournament in 1947.

Malaise played for his father at Odessa High, was the most valuable player in the Texas High School coaches' game his senior year and later went on to become an all-Southwest Conference star for Texas Tech.

McNeely was an outstanding scorer at Slidell and later posted a 321-43 record while coaching at Pampa, including four state championship teams.

Broussard was a two-time all-state player at Fort Arthur. Thomas Jefferson and later made all-Southwest Conference three times at Texas A&M.

Umpires call for meeting

The Big Spring Umpires Association will hold a meeting on Saturday morning at 10:30 at the local Chamber of Commerce meeting room.

Red, Mariners take opening day wins

By the Associated Press
The last thing pitchers Dave Heaverlo and Frank Pastore expected was to be heroes. In fact, neither had any idea he'd be playing baseball Wednesday.

But Heaverlo picked up a save in the Seattle Mariners' 8-6 American League victory over the Toronto Blue Jays and Pastore registered a win — on a three-hit shutout, no less — in the Cincinnati Reds' 9-0 National League triumph over the Atlanta Braves.

Wednesday, Heaverlo, a reliever with the Oakland A's, received what he considered terrific news — Charlie Finley put Heaverlo on waivers and the Mariners claimed him.

"I told the people who picked me up at the airport to hurry up and get me to the ballpark," said Heaverlo. "I thought I might be able to get into the game."

That he did as Seattle Manager Darrell Johnson, looking to protect a two-run lead, summoned Heaverlo in the eighth inning.

The Mariners got their season off with a four-run first inning, capped by Ted Cox's two-run double. Joe Simpson's two-run homer provided the winning runs for starter Mike Parrott while Bruce Bochte and Rodney Craig had three hits each.

John Mayberry slammed a pair of home runs for Toronto but that didn't save starter Dave Lemanczyk from being the loser.

The Reds got a boost from Pastore after receiving a jolt from ace hurler Tom Seaver. The star right-hander had to beg off his opening day start due to the flu and the 23-year-old Pastore was handed the ball by Reds Manager John McNamara.

"I really wasn't surprised that I had such a good game," said Pastore. "I expect to do well every time I go out on the mound or else I wouldn't be here."

George Foster and Junior Kennedy helped make Pastore's chore that much simpler. Foster knocked in four runs with a double and homer and Kennedy had a double and triple to drive in three runs as the Reds routed Braves ace Phil Niekro.

Masters open today

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — It's a celestial trip for Fuzzy Zoeller, the defending champion who has his own definition for the Masters golf tournament.

"Heaven," Zoeller said Wednesday during a news conference on the eve of today's opening round of the 44th Masters, the season's first major test of golfing greatness.

"I've never been to Heaven, but this is as close as I'll probably ever get to it right here," he added.

Zoeller is among a select international field of 91 players who begin the quest for one of the game's most prestigious titles today over the beautiful 7,040-yard, par 72 Augusta National Golf Club course, a colorful layout with lush green grass and azaleas and dogwoods in full bloom.

There is no clearcut favorite for the first time in years.

Tom Watson, riding a string of three consecutive Player of the Year awards, is winless since the tour left the West Coast seven weeks ago.

Jack Nicklaus, the perennial Masters choice, is in a comeback fight, trying to recapture the magic that made him perhaps the greatest golfer in history. He hasn't won anything in 21 months, and said Wednesday he has prepared more diligently for this Masters than he has in several years.

RECOLLECTIONS — Olympic hockey coach Herb Brooks did some looking back during a press conference Wednesday in which he announced his resignation as coach of the University of Minnesota hockey team. Listening is Paul Giel, athletic director. Brooks, who led the Gophers to three national championships in his seven years there, led the Olympic team to a gold medal. Future plans are uncertain.

Watson still ranks as the top money winner on this year's tour, riding a pair of victories to a $140,275 total, about $23,000 ahead of the runnerup, Craig Stadler, only other two-time winner this season.

Zoeller, a 28-year old Indiana native, defied tradition here last year with the victory in his first Masters appearance. It came on the second hole of a sudden death playoff against Watson and Ed Sneed, who had entered the final round six shots ahead of the eventual champion.

"What happened last year happened last year," Zoeller said. "I don't want to dwell on that. I felt very good last year when I came in here and I feel very good this year."

Asked to rate his chances of repeating, Zoeller said he would place himself in the Top Ten.

However, if he does manage to claim his second straight green jacket, the symbolic award awaiting the winner, he would become only the second repeat champion in history. Nicklaus put together consecutive titles in 1965 and 1966.

Zoeller says he will use the same plan of attack he used in 1979 — relying entirely on his caddy, Jerry Beard.

"I'm going to let my caddy do the work," he said. "He's like the jockey on the back of a thoroughbred. He controls me all the way."

Swimmers set records in Austin

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Floridian Rowdy Gaines, who says he was less than excited about the U.S. Indoor Swimming Championships before his race, got interested enough to shave down and suffer his way to an American record in the 100-meter freestyle.

"The last five yards hurt a lot," Gaines said Wednesday night.

The Auburn University swimmer from Winter Haven, Fla., was clocked in 49.61 seconds, making him the third man to break the 50-second mark. He missed South African Jonty Skinner's world mark by .17 of a second.

April Bass Club Tourney set for Saturday, April 12

Vic Keyes emerged as the champion of the March Tournament of the Big Spring Bass Club. He won with 14 fishermen competing. Royce Cox finished second, while Mike Murphy was third and Donnie Baker fourth. Keyes had the big bass of the day at seven pounds, six ounces.

The fishing for the tournament was held on four lakes. They were Lake Colorado City, Lake

Champion, Lake Nasworthy and Twin Buttes.

The fishing time for the April tournament will be from 5:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Weigh-in will be at the main ramp at Twin Buttes from one to four in the afternoon. There is a three-fish limit with a 12-inch minimum. Entry fee for the April tourney is five dollars, with a one dollar optional calculca. The Castle Gap entry fee will be 12 dollars.

Joe Morgan hopes to help Astros hitting psyche

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's J.R. Richard is a natural as the Astros' opening night pitcher against Los Angeles tonight—the 6-8 strikeout artist has an 11-0 record against the Dodgers.

Richard will duel LA's Burt Hooton as the Astros kick off their season before an expected crowd of about 35,000 in the Astrodome. It is an important beginning for the Astros, who will play the Dodgers and Cincinnati 14 times in their first 19 games.

The biggest problem area for the Astros has been a weak hitting attack but second baseman Joe Morgan says he's been trying to get his teammates to think positively.

"When I was with the Reds the last few years, I felt the Astros were completely psyched out on the road into thinking they had no home run power," Morgan said. "They don't have much but they have some and I'm trying to convince them to use it on the road."

The road may be the Astros' best hope of showing their power. The Astrodome's 340 foot left and right field lines and 406 foot stretch to center field give little hope at home.

"People say we have no offense or hitters, but we might prove some of them wrong this year," Morgan said. "You have to remember there are 81 games on the road and there's a lot of places the ball will jump out. The Dome isn't one of them but there are always other parks."

Rangers meet Guidry, NY

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Texas Rangers hope to break a long standing jinx tonight in their American League opener against the New York Yankees.

Lefty Ron Guidry has never had any problems buzzing his fastball past Ranger hitters in compiling a 6-0 lifetime record against Texas.

He beat the Rangers three times last year.

Texas counters with ace lefty Jon Matlack, who is 3-2 lifetime against New York but has been something of a terror in Arlington Stadium.

Matlack, making a comeback after surgery which removed floating bone chips in his elbow, has a 15-4 record in his home park.

"With a healthy Matlack we have a solid shot at the pennant," said Ranger Manager Pat Corrales. "He had a great spring."

Corrales added "Jon is the type of pitcher you look to first then you build the staff around him. We had a lot riding in spring training on him, or on his elbow. So far we've been elated."

Afghan rebels slay more Russian officers

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) - Moslem rebels battling Afghanistan's Soviet-backed regime said today they killed 10 Russian officers and captured 400 government troops and 446 automatic weapons in heavy fighting in the north of the country.

Afghan government forces also reported victories in northern Afghanistan, where they said the agents of "American imperialists, (and) Pakistani and Chinese interventionists" were "crushed and peace returned to the area."

The Kremlin, which sends tens of thousands of troops to Afghanistan in late December, has consistently said it intervened because the United States, Pakistan, China and other countries were interfering in Afghan affairs.

Stanton Jaycee Bluegrass Jamboree booked Saturday

Musicians Club to present opera review in Midland

To truly enjoy an opera performance, one must know the story, the music, and the background of the opera. With such knowledge, the opera-goer can relax and enjoy the beautiful singing and exciting drama.

The Musicians Club, TFMC, will provide area residents an opportunity to learn about Johann Strauss comic opera, "Die Fledermaus," by presenting a brief, informative, and entertaining study of the work. The event will be held on Sunday, April 13, at 2:30 p.m. in the Choir Room of the Midland College Fine Arts Building.

Bertha S. Johnson, well-known for her interesting presentations, will direct the study which will be interspersed with excerpts sung by the principal singers in the cast. Mrs. Johnson has had a life-long love for opera and music; she teaches piano and is a church organist and a member of the Musicians Club.

Jane Ward, District 32 Opera Chairman, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, is in charge of arrangements. The cast members performing will be Rodney Miller, Louis Kluck, Janice Archer, David Baulch, Sharon Hyde, Walter Wright, Loretta Bybee-Riek, James LaFontaine, and Elaine Berman.

"Die Fledermaus," Midland's first local opera production, will be presented by the Midland College Fine Arts Department on April 20 and 26 in Theatre Midland. Robert LaFontaine of the Midland College faculty is director of the production. The public is invited, and it is hoped that all those planning to see the opera performances will attend the preview, which will last about one hour. Refreshments will be served. Tickets to "Die Fledermaus" performance may be purchased at this time.

PUBLIC NOTICE
 NOTICE TO BIDDERS
 Sealed Proposals addressed to T.L. Rees, President, Board of Trustees, Colorado Independent School District, Colorado City, Texas, shall be received in the Board Room located in the Administration Building, 534 East 11th St., until 7:30 P.M., Monday, April 14, 1980, at which time they shall be publicly opened and read aloud for the furnishing of all labor, materials and equipment for performing all work required for the School Plant Additions for the Colorado Independent School District, Colorado City, Texas. Project A - Kelley Elementary and Project B - Hutchinson Elementary, in accordance with plans, specifications and contract documents as prepared by Huckabee and Donham, Architects and Planners, Andrews, Texas. Lump sum proposals will be received for two separate bid items, each for the General Construction of Air Conditioning Additions to Cafeterias at Kelley and Hutchinson Elementary buildings, including plumbing, electrical and all related work. A Cashier's Check, Certified Check or acceptable Bidder's Bond payable to the Colorado Independent School District in the amount of not less than 5 percent of the largest possible total for the bid submitted must accompany each bid. Attention is called to the fact that the contractor must comply with all Federal, State and Local Labor Laws. The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the Colorado Independent School District, Colorado City, Texas, and furnish a Performance and Payment Bond in the amount of not less than 100 percent of the contract price, conditioned upon the performance of the contract. Attention is called to the fact that the Owner is exempt from the payment of the State Sales Tax normally levied against material costs, in order to take advantage of this exemption, materials and labor costs must be identified by the successful bidder. In developing this division of labor and material costs, the bidders are cautioned to include all costs and allowances not representing direct material costs with labor. The contract sum, as identified by the Base Bid, shall not include any allowance for the payment of State Sales Tax on materials required to complete the work. The successful bidder, upon award of the contract, will be furnished with a permit number which will enable him to purchase the required materials without payment of such taxes. Specifications and plans may be obtained from the Architects in accordance with the stipulations set forth under Deposits and Refunds. The bidder acknowledges the right of the Owner to reject any or all bids and to waive any informality or irregularity in any bid received. In addition, bidder recognizes the right of the Owner to reject a bid if the bidder failed to furnish any required bid security or to submit the data required by the bidding documents, or if the bid is in any way incomplete or irregular. 20th March 1980 April 9, 1980

Gubernatorial candidate to be paroled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ramsey Muniz, a two-time Texas gubernatorial candidate for La Raza Unida Party, is to be paroled Dec. 15 from federal prison where he is serving a five-year prison term for marijuana smuggling.

Justice Department spokesman Robert Stevenson said Wednesday the national appeals board of the U.S. Parole Commission granted the parole for Muniz, 34, who is now serving his sentence at the Federal Correctional Institute in Memphis, Tenn.

Stevenson said any decision to move Muniz to a federal prison in Texas before his parole would have to be made by the Bureau of Prisons.

There had been reports that Muniz would first be sent to an institution at Seagoville, near Dallas, and later to a halfway house for prisoners about to be released on parole.

Muniz was the third party's gubernatorial candidate in 1972 and 1974, losing both times to Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

In February 1977, Muniz plead guilty to a charge of conspiring to smuggle marijuana into the United States and was sentenced to five years in prison.

Muniz was a linebacker for Baylor's football team and later graduated from law school, but lost his license following the conviction.

Decontrol of oil prices unfair

$33 billion 'windfall' for Texas is expected

WASHINGTON — A coalition of congressmen from the energy-poor northeast and midwest have joined the ranks of those who claim the scheduled decontrol of oil prices is unfair.

But this time it's not the oil companies under attack. Instead, it is the estimated "windfall" of tax revenues Texas and seven other states will gain during the next decade that concerns the group.

According to Treasury Department figures released by the Northeast-Midwest Congressional Coalition, Texas will receive $33.2 billion in extra revenue through 1990 because of President Carter's phased decontrol of oil prices.

Alaska is slated to be the big winner in new revenue from severance taxes on the increasingly valuable crude, with 10-year assessments expected to be $37.3 billion.

The states expecting significant increases include California, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Wyoming, New Mexico and Kansas.

The Treasury Department figures show Alaska's annual tax take from decontrolled oil will be triple the state's 1978 $1.1 billion budget. Wyoming's receipts will be double its 1978 budget each year until 1990.

Texas, with a $3.3 billion 1978 budget and $680 million surplus that year, will receive slightly more than $3 billion annually in new tax money.

The coalition called the increases "Massive" and its members predicted a growing distortion of federal-state relations based on the revenues.

"Oil rich states can expect significant increases in general revenue-sharing funds, for example," said Rep. Tom Tauke, R-Iowa, a member of the 18-state coalition that includes representatives from Maine to Maryland and Minnesota to Illinois.

"(This is) because part of the formula is based on per capita tax receipts; the amount of revenue states raise on their own," he said.

"Because of the huge increases in tax collections formulas will be artificially tilted. The eight major energy-producing states are likely to get more federal money and the other 42 states are likely to get less."

Even more important than unfairness in federal programs, said Rep. Frank Horton, R-NY, are the changes in business practices that may come about due to the flow of more than $100 billion in the next 10 years to Texas, Alaska, California and Louisiana alone.

"Between 1970 and 1977, our states lost more than 750,000 manufacturing jobs," Horton said. "How many more jobs might we lose because energy-rich states will be able to offer industry more favorable business climates, lower taxes, and assurances of stable energy supplies?"

If you don't read TIME Magazine you should. You're paying for it.

In the fall of 1978, voters approved a constitutional amendment allowing family farmers to pay property taxes based upon the production value rather than the sky-rocketing market value of their land. Unfortunately it took an act of the legislature to put this change into effect, and the special interest lobbyists descended on the Capitol like a swarm of locusts.

Before it was all over, the legislators (including our own state representative, Mike Ezzell) voted to give the family farmers tax break to the agribusiness corporations (that are buying out Texas family farmers), to land speculators, and to the giant timber companies. In fact, Temple-Eastex, a subsidiary of New York-based TIME Inc., will be the biggest single beneficiary of the tax break that was designed to save the family farmer.

How does that affect you and me? It means that the lost tax revenues? You and I are.

So the next chance you have to read a copy of TIME, read it over to cover. You're paying for it.

We can do better. We can't afford not to.
