Do "Special" Labels Disguise the Truth?

DEAR ABBY: Hooray for Mr. Anderson who objected to the misuse of the words "exceptional" and "special" when referring to Mongoloid, or as you corrected, "Down's Syndrome" children.

Why is it that standard dictionary meanings and words seem to no longer suffice in today's society? Just what metamorphosis is supposed to occur when Negroes are called "blacks" and homosexuals are called "gays"? Neither word is very descriptive of its respective group. When schools/media now insist on calling a retarded child an "underschiever," is that supposed to suddenly make him more intelligent? Or just more content with his lot? Or are we doing it to comfort the "poor parent"?

Abby, one cannot disguise or change the truth by giving it a different label.

I'm signing my name, but if you print this, sign it... DISGUSTED IN BEAUFORT, S.C.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Of all the letters I received in response to Mr. Anderson's (and there were hundreds), yours was the only one that said hooray for him.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grandmother, and as one might expect, I am placed in competition with the other grandmother. I don't believe in buying my grandchildren's love by bringing them presents every time I go to see them. However, the other grandmother does, which is her privilege. We all live in the same city.

The grandchildren have been conditioned (by the other grandma) to expect a gift every time a grandparent visits. I really love them, but I want them to be glad to see me for myself — not for what I bring them.

I become slightly irritated when the little ones invariably come running to greet me with, "What did you bring me?" I refuse to submit to this subtle form of blackmail. Any suggestions?

NO GIFT GRANNY

DEAR GRANNY: Your grandchildren will soon be conditioned to expect no gifts from you. Hang in there and concentrate on cultivating their love in other ways until their values mature — as they will in time.

Is marijuana harmful?

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm responding to the letter from the girl in Odessa, Texas, who stated that because she smoked pot she started breaking into houses and is now placed in a detention home.

I am a mature young lady, 17, who plans to marry next year. I have a job, my own car paid for by me, and am an A-B student. I am also very active in school clubs and activities and I've been getting high since I was 13 and use marijuana regularly.

Let's face facts. Pot does not cause one to do bad things. Put the blame where it belongs and not on pot. — Kim, Galesburg, Ill.

Kim, I agree that pot does not cause one to do bad things but I do believe that being high breaks down one's inhibitions and the result is that the person who is high could do things that he only would think about otherwise.

Your letter gives me an opportunity to answer many inquiries regarding the dangers of smoking marijuana and the letters come from all areas of the United States and Canada. Let's hear what the doctors and scientists have to say about smoking marijuana.

Dr. Constantinas Miras, an internationally known biochemist at the University of Athens, Greece, found after a 20-year study of marijuana that long-term users showed a psychological and mental decline and the user had devastating damage to his brain, liver and eyes and had a slowed speech, lowered inhibitions and suffered from lethargy.

Dr. Loring Chapman, chairman of the behavioral biology department at the University of California at Davis, fed marijuana cookies to monkeys over a prolonged period. At first they were happily stoned, then they became increasingly irritable, to the point of nasty aggressiveness. They bit, hit, and even killed other monkeys where before they had been friendly.

Dr. Luis Souza of St. Dimas Hospital in New Jersey states that research proves that even after the first few experiences with marijuana, there was a complete destruction of the DNA (the chemical which carries an individual's genetic code) component of genes.

Dr. Robert DuPont Jr., chairman of the World Psychiatric Association's drug-dependency section, says that anybody who takes marijuana and thinks that nothing is happening to his body is badly mistaken. DuPont further states that marijuana is a powerful drug that influences the entire body. Marijuana, he says, stays in the body for over a week from a single dose and that if a person is only smoking marijuana once a week, his body would be continuously exposed to the major ingredient — tetrahydrocannabinol (THC).

Furthermore DuPont states that there is laboratory evidence to show that marijuana is more likely to cause cancerlike lesions than in cigarette (also bad for your health) smoke.

And finally (only because I'm running out of space) a conference of 41 scientists from around the world, held in Rheims, France, reported in careful detail the effects of moderate or even casual marijuana smoking. Experiments showed that the brain's neurotransmitters were slowed by pot and the cellular structure was changed.

Among other things to come from the conference were the findings on frightening effects on the lungs of pot smokers. Macrophages,

Williams' home is shower site

A bridal shower honoring Jackie Foresyth, bride-elect of Dean Swinney, was held recently in the home of Mrs. Ray Don Williams.

Co-hostesses for the event were Sandra Rhodes, Londa Henry, Katherine Gregg, Frances Wheat, Lillian Valdes, Janice Rosson, Jean Wilder, Lucy Odom, Alma Coleman, Ruby Nagle, Patty Horton and Rita Fort.

A basket arrangement of spring flowers centered the refreshment table from which punch and coffee were served from silver appointments.

An assortment of cheese balls, dips, fresh strawberries and wedding cookies were served from tables in the breakfast room and sun room.

Yellow orchid corsages were presented to the honoree, her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Jerry Foresyth and Mrs. Hollis Webb, respectively, and the prospective groom's mother, Mrs. Joe Swinney.

Miss Foresyth and Swinney will exchange vows June 7 in the First United Methodist Church.

Witte presents program to African Violet club

The Texas Star African Violet Club met May 3 in the home of Thelma Montgomery. Hostess was LaVelle Hill.

Twelve members and one guest, Mrs. Louise Dunlap, were present.

A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Hill, president. Discussion on the Garden Club Council's annual salad luncheon was held. Each member is requested to bring a salad and help serve.

The luncheon will be held at the Dora Roberts Community Center, Sept. 29. The club will also assist the Garden Club Council at the Jaycee Fair for display of plants.

The program for the meeting was presented by Pete Witte on growing African Violets for blooming.

The next meeting will be held June 5 at the Dora Roberts Community Center with a potluck dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Son born to former Big Spring residents

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Myers, Ingram, and formerly of Big Spring, announce the birth of their first child, Jeremy Ray.

The infant, born May 2 at 2:30 p.m. in a Kerrville hospital, made his debut weighing 8 pounds 3 ounces. He measured 20 1/4 inches in length.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Morris, Big Spring. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Myers, also of Big Spring.

Jeremy also has great-grandparents, including Mrs. J.T. Gross and Mrs. Lois Redman, both of Big Spring; and Hugh Slagle, Lubbock.

Dr. Wallace: I have a very unusual problem. My mother only allows me to wash my hair once week. I ask her if I can wash my hair more and she always has a reason such as "It's too late," or "You will catch a cold."

My hair is a mess after three days and looks awful. All the kids at school are making fun of me. Please help me. I'm desperate. — Norma, Pottstown, Pa.

Norma: Why not wash your hair early in the evening or as soon as you come home from school? Tell Mom that kids are making comments about your messy, dirty hair. Hopefully, this will do the trick.

But if Mother still is stubborn, stop by and talk to your school nurse (P.E. teacher) and ask her to relay the word to Mother.

Everything doesn't cause cancer

Caution: Everything does NOT cause cancer.

That message comes from the Public Health Service of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare — the same agency that frequently warns people about the things that DO cause cancer.

It is designed to ease some of the fears that people feel when they read and hear almost daily reports of cancer-causing agents in the food they eat, the air they breathe and the places they work.

"One of every four Americans can expect to get cancer," says the Public Health Service. "But the outlook is not hopeless."

To get its message across, the health service has prepared a 14-page booklet, "Everything Doesn't Cause Cancer." It's available, at no charge, from Dept. 650H at the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

The booklet provides questions and answers about cancer and what causes it. Here are some highlights:

Q. What causes cancer?

A. "Most human cancers are probably caused in part by environmental factors," the health service says. Cancer-causing agents — also called carcinogens — include natural and man-made chemicals, X-rays, sunlight and certain viruses. Most chemicals, however, are not carcinogenic, according to the government experts.

Q. How long does it take for cancer to develop once someone has been exposed to a carcinogen?

A. It usually takes somewhere between 5 years and 40 years. Cancers of the liver, lung or gall bladder which are caused by exposure to vinyl chloride, asbestos or benzidine may not show up for 30 years.

Q. How do scientists decide which substances are dangerous?

A. The most common way is to test potential carcinogens on laboratory animals, mainly mice and rats. Because the rodents have a short natural lifetime, cancers show up relatively quickly.

Q. Just because something causes cancer in mice, does that mean it is bad for people?

A. Probably. There are about 30 substances known to cause cancer in humans; almost all of them cause cancer in laboratory animals as well. There are several hundred other chemicals that are under suspicion — we know that they cause cancer in animals; we are less sure about what happens to people. "Nevertheless," says the health service, "materials that cause cancer in one mammalian species are usually found to cause cancer in other species."

Q. The test animals usually are given large doses of the suspected carcinogens. People are exposed to much smaller amounts. Doesn't that mean the tests are invalid?

A. No. Millions of people may be exposed to low doses of a possible cancer-causing agent. But scientists can't test millions of mice to see what effect a low dose of a particular substance would have. The high doses simply mean that any potential cancer-causing effects are much more likely to be detected in small groups of rodents because the cancer rate is sharply increased.

Weather

Fog reduces visibility over Permian Basin

Fog settled on widespread sections of Texas early today, reducing visibilities to as low as half a mile in the Permian Basin of West Texas.

Forecasters predicted partly cloudy skies, warm temperatures and a few scattered showers during the day.

WEATHER FORECAST
 WEST TEXAS Partly cloudy through Tuesday. Widely scattered thunderstorms through tonight, mainly south. Warmer today, highs today and Tuesday mid 70s north to low 90s Big Bend. Lows tonight upper 40s mountains and north to low 60s extreme south.

EXTENDED FORECAST
 WEST TEXAS Clear to partly cloudy and warm Wednesday with increasing cloudiness and chance of showers and thunderstorms after midweek. Slightly cooler by Friday. Highs in the 70s and 80s except 90s Big Bend valleys. Lows in the 50s and 60s except 40s in mountain valleys of southwestern Texas.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is forecast into early Tuesday for much of the West Coast and for northern New York, according to the National Weather Service. Showers are predicted for much of Texas as well as part of New Mexico. Showers are also anticipated in the Northeast from Massachusetts through Pennsylvania.

The 51st state

South Jersey more serious about secession

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — West Virginia did it to Virginia. Maine did it to Massachusetts. Would South Jersey secede from New Jersey to become the 51st state.

Low rumblings in New Jersey's southland threaten, only half jokingly, to tear the state apart at its waist. And the more some South Jerseyans talk about it, the more serious they get.

"Sure we can do it. We have the smarts," said Albert Freeman, 66, a retired Mount Holly newspaper publisher who leads the rebel cause as self-proclaimed "provisional governor of North Jersey."

"There's nothing smarter than a dumb farmer," Freeman said. "And that's North Jersey's opinion of us, that we're a bunch of yokels."

Seaside Heights Mayor George Tompkins has been trying for years to unite South Jersey mayors on statehood.

"I'm very serious about it," Tompkins said. "Oh, it started off as a joke after a couple of things came down the pike from Trenton I didn't like. After a while, though, I talked to a number of mayors about it and they liked the idea."

From Bordentown to Cape May, the rebels' cry is the same: too much South Jersey tax money goes to North Jersey in return for too much control by Trenton read "North Jersey" bureaucrats.

"They're carpetbaggers," said Freeman. "They come down here just the way northerners went to the South right after the Civil War."

The problem is largely one of image.

To most northerners, South Jersey is a weekend at the beach, a sail on the bay, a drive through the Pine Barrens and roadside vegetable stands run by country folk.

To many southerners, North Jersey is a metropolitan blur of Newark, Jersey City, Paterson and Rahway. It seems all state funding goes to Meadowlands Stadium, where the New York Giants play football and harness horses race, to Rutgers in New Brunswick, considered New Jersey's state university, and to webs of jammed North Jersey highways.

"I think we take the brunt of the taxation and we don't get anything for it," said Tompkins. "The state spends all its money on the cities of North Jersey. Eventually, South Jersey will be a giant park for the people of North Jersey."

Freeman said state staffs and agencies are stacked with North Jerseyans from such alien-sounding places as Hackensack, Hoboken and Ho-Ho-Kus.

Gov. Brendan Byrne's staff is 20-1 North Jerseyans, according to Freeman. All seven Supreme Court justices are North Jerseyans, and the state Board of Education is stacked 21-4, Freeman said.

These city slickers, Tompkins said, control South Jersey's beaches, bays, farms and pineyards through a network of agencies created by, of course, a hostile Legislature run by North Jersey politicians.

Freeman proposes that South Jersey's eight counties secede along the northern borders of Ocean and Burlington counties, freeing more than 1.8 million South Jerseyans from Trenton's grasp, leaving 5.4 million in North Jersey.

"There's a natural barrier. Monmouth and Mercer counties are both New York-oriented. We're more Philadelphia-oriented. We're an entity and we're a viable entity," Freeman said. "We have everything we need to sustain ourselves."

Camden would be the capital of the new state.

But doubters exist even among South Jersey's biggest supporters.

Paul Merkosi of The Atlantic City Press once wrote sarcastically that the capital should be not at Camden but at Ancora, site of a state psychiatric hospital.

Vineland Mayor Patrick Fiorilli, who has battled Trenton often, says secession is out of the question.

"Vineland is 19 miles south of the Mason-Dixon line. If we wanted to secede, we would have done it in the 1800s," Fiorilli said. "We've been neglected, but we think New Jersey's a great state and we're getting a little recognition now."

Freeman launched his campaign in January 1976 with an off-the-cuff editorial in the Burlington County Herald. To foster the idea, he has handed out more than 4,200 certificates of South Jersey citizenship.

Tompkins has written to Maine and West Virginia officials to ask how their states did it in the 1800s.

It all sounds like fun — until talk turns serious about county committees gathering petitions to force the question on a statewide referendum.

U.S. closes visa office to Cubans

'Intolerable and dangerous situation'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing what it calls an "intolerable and dangerous situation," the United States is closing its visa office in Cuba after Friday's melee, which has left 380 Cubans stranded inside the U.S. diplomatic mission there.

The decision Sunday will cut off legal immigration to the United States from Cuba but will not affect the illegal sealift operation that has brought more than 12,600 Cubans to Florida from the port city of Mariel since mid-April, U.S. officials said.

In Friday's brawl, American diplomats in Havana said, busloads of security agents attacked a large group of Cubans, mostly former political prisoners, who had gathered at the U.S.

Interests Section in the one-time American Embassy to seek visas. Fifteen people were injured, five seriously.

Under U.S. guidelines for immigration from Cuba, former political prisoners are given preferential treatment. But the group that massed at the interests section Friday, which included 250 former prisoners, has complained about long delays in the processing of their visa applications.

State Department spokeswoman Anita Stockman reiterated Sunday the U.S. position that the Cuban government was responsible for the delays.

Granma, a Cuban government newspaper, said Saturday this allegation was a "cynical lie." It added that Friday's large gathering in front of the interests section was "evidently organized" by the United States and was therefore a "new provocation."

In explaining the U.S. decision to close the visa office in Havana, Ms. Stockman said the "present situation, with its lack of security or protection for people who have legitimate business with us is intolerable and dangerous."

"The United States cannot continue to operate these programs without the guarantees and cooperation of Cuban authorities." Diplomatic functions not related to the issuing of visas will continue, she said.

Pope expresses sorrow over nine African deaths

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP) — Pope John Paul II today expressed sorrow for the nine persons trampled to death at a Mass in Zaire, then carried his pilgrimage to the Congo Republic to urge the nation's Marxist leaders not to interfere in the work of the Roman Catholic Church.

The pontiff crossed the muddy Congo River by ferry from Zaire earlier today to begin the second stop on his African tour.

In remarks prepared for a meeting with the Congolese president, the pope called the church "a spiritual institution" that "transcends national boundaries." He said it has a mission of saving souls while the state's task is to keep order in society. A realization of this difference, the pontiff said, will prevent confusion and conflict in church-state relations.

He sounded a similar note in a homily prepared for delivery at an open-air mass in Brazzaville.

"I have no doubt that the authorities will continue to give you genuine freedom of religion, as well as the possibility to work as good citizens for the development of your country," the homily said.

The pontiff arrived here to a joyous welcome from Congolese Catholics and the tolling bells of the Sacre Coeur Cathedral.

After a five-hour stop in the Congo, the pope was flying back to Zaire for an overnight stay in Kisangani, the chief city in northern Zaire.

The Congo, a former French colony now run by a military regime, has an estimated 600,000 Roman Catholics among its population of 15 million. In March 1977 the archbishop of Brazzaville, Cardinal Emile Biayenda, was murdered, apparently by relatives of President Marien Ngouabi, who was killed in a coup a few days earlier. But the Vatican says church-state relations have improved considerably since then.

In Kinshasa, Zaire's capital, the fatalities occurred Sunday when the iron gates to the plaza in front of the People's Palace were opened at dawn and the huge crowd rushed forward. Hospital officials said seven women and two children died in the crush.

"People just swept in," trampling others underfoot, said Sister Gertrude Kosecka, a Polish missionary in Zaire for 40 years who was caught in the crush and suffered chest injuries.

The pope was not told of the deaths until later and went ahead with the Mass, which he celebrated on the white concrete steps of the building. But an evening program of folk dancing and other native entertainment was canceled at his request.

The Mass lasted five hours, and during it the pope consecrated eight new bishops, including seven Africans from Zaire, Burundi and Sudan and a French-Canadian missionary living in Djibouti.

Seated on an ebony throne about 50 feet from President Mobutu Sese Seko, Zaire's authoritarian leader, John Paul urged the new bishops to speak out on the "ethical aspects of society each time that the fundamental rights and liberties of people and the common good demand it." There was no visible reaction from Mobutu.

The crowd roared in approval when the pope shifted from English and French to give greetings in four local dialects: Lingala, Swahili, Tshiluba and Kikongo.

Since his arrival in Zaire last Friday at the start of a six-nation tour, the Polish-born pope has been met with an overwhelmingly enthusiastic reception. His bodyguards have had a hard time containing the crowds, which blocked his path during a visit Saturday to a lepers' hospital on the banks of the Congo River.

John Paul, making the second visit to Africa by a pope, moves on to Kenya Tuesday and then to Ghana, Upper Volta and the Ivory Coast. The Vatican estimates there are 53 million Roman Catholics among the 440 million people of Africa.

AN EYE ON HIS TEAMMATE — Texas Rangers short stop Nelson Norman (rear) keeps an eye on teammate second baseman Bump Willis as Willis fields a fly hit by Gary Roenicke of the Baltimore Orioles in the eighth inning Sunday night at Arlington Stadium. Baltimore won the game, 9-5.

Not only do they have pitching...

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If execution accounts for much, watch out for the Houston Astros as contenders again in the National League West. Manager Bill Virdon's club, touted for Nolan Ryan and its pitchers, also came up with two sparkling plays afield Sunday to boost its early season record to 16-6.

Luis Pujols, a bull-necked young catcher, blocked off the plate to tag out Keith Hernandez of the St. Louis Cardinals in the first inning. Later, with three outs to go, first baseman Art Howe chipped in a game-saver which preserved the margin of Houston's 4-2 conquest. The importance of Howe's accurate throw to third for a forcout after scooping up Tony Scott's two-on, none-out bunt was acknowledged by Virdon.

"If the ball's bunted that direction, that's the play he has to make," the Astros' boss observed. "It's important for us, because we don't really score an abundance of runs."

Right-hander Ken Forsch, 4-0, also praised Pujols for the catcher's tag on Hernandez near the start.

The runner beat the throw," Forsch said of Pujols' plate-blocking maneuver ahead of a throw that arrived from Terry Puhl in right field. "He hung in there. It reminded me of Johnny Bench."

Pujols' putout permitted Houston to get out of the inning with only a 1-0 deficit and forge a 1-1 tie in the second on Enos Cabell's double and Jose Cruz' single.

Single runs were added in the third, fourth and sixth by Houston to make it 4-1 preceding George Hendrick's leadoff triple, Ken Reitz' sacrifice fly and Tony Scott's single in the St. Louis seventh. Then the Astros' defense and relief pitching took over.

Cabell's boot of Garry Templeton's grounder to third became the Astros' first error in nine games, but Joe Sambito took over for Forsch and negated it by striking out pinch-hitter Ted Simmons.

Pujols' interference from behind the plate put Hendrick on base to start the Cards' ninth and Reitz singled. Then came Howe's key play and two strikeouts by Frank LaCorte, the third Houston hurler.

'I've never felt pain like this' Ranger ace injured!

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Baltimore has won three of its last four games, indicating to Oriole manager Earl Weaver that "we might finally be back on our way."

But the Texas Rangers got a much gloomier outlook from Sunday night's 9-5 loss: another serious dent in the pitching staff.

Steve Comer, complaining that "I've never felt pain like this," gave up a two-run homer to Ken Singleton and lasted only one-third of an inning before he left with a sore shoulder.

"I've had pain before but not like this," said Comer. He noticed the soreness during his pre-game warm-ups and it got almost unbearable in the first inning, he said.

"This is the first time my shoulder has ever hurt, and I'd say it could be serious. At 26, I'm pretty young to call it quits, so I've got to be optimistic, but I've never felt pain like this before," said Comer, whose 17 victories last season topped the Ranger staff and were fifth in the American League.

Singleton's fifth homer of the season came on a 3-1 changeup and cleared the fence in right-center after Pat Kelly had singled off Comer's hand.

"It was quite obvious from watching Comer warm up for the first inning that he wasn't 100 percent and that we were going to tag him," Singleton said.

That was a good feeling, considering that Comer had the Orioles in his back pocket last year, taking three victories against them in as many starts, including one shutout and a 0.75 ERA.

After Singleton's home run, Comer hit Eddie Murray on the foot and gave up a single to Terry Crowley, and Ranger manager Pat Corrales brought in Dave Rajsich in relief.

But the Orioles pounded Rajsich in the second inning for five more runs, all Dennis Martinez would need for his first victory.

76ers blow it in third quarter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Doctor's housecall at the Forum was delayed until the fourth quarter. Darryl Dawkins spent most of the day on the seat of his pants. And in the third quarter, Philadelphia couldn't throw a pea in the ocean.

That's how it went for the 76ers in Game One of the National Basketball Association championship series Sunday.

The Los Angeles Lakers got their customary superb performance from Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, some outstanding defense on Julius Erving and ran the 76ers halfway to San Diego during the third period in taking a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series with a 109-102 victory.

The teams were deadlocked 53-53 after an evenly played first half before the Lakers exploded, scoring the first 12 points of the third quarter and 31 to Philadelphia's 17 in the period.

The 76ers made 54.5 percent of their field goal attempts in the first half but were a miserable 3-of-20 in the third quarter.

Los Angeles had an 84-70 advantage entering the final 12 minutes. Erving, a virtual non-entity for the first three quarters, sparked a 19-2 Philadelphia surge that drew the 76ers to within four, 92-88, midway in the final period. That was as close as they could get.

The Lakers scored eight of the game's next nine points to make it 100-89 and the 76ers weren't closer than six after that.

Abdul-Jabbar had game-high totals of 33 points, 14 rebounds and six blocked shots. Erving, meanwhile, finished with 20 points — 11 in the final 8:39 — seven rebounds and two blocked shots.

Other major offensive contributors for Los Angeles were Norm Nixon with 23 points and six assists, Jamaal Wilkes with 20 points, 5 en rebounds and six assists, and rookie Marvin "Magic" Johnson with 16 points, nine rebounds and 10 assists.

Defensively, Wilkes and reserve Mike Cooper shared the bulk of the work on Erving.

The 76ers had better scoring balance than Los Angeles — six players scored in double figures — but it wasn't enough.

Dawkins, Philadelphia's 6-foot-11, 250-pound behemoth center, was limited to 18 minutes playing time because of foul problems. He had 12 points and only three rebounds.

"I felt the big key was the way we started the third period," Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham said. "We went 4-21 without a point and we allowed them to start their running game. We did have some good shots, but you must credit their defense. We had the shots we were looking for."

"Kareem had a great game. We did as good a job as you can do against him."

It might have been good enough had it not been for that horrendous third period.

"Our running game got us ahead," Abdul-Jabbar said. "When we're able to run, we can do that to a team — any team. We had them in a hole, they had to play catch-up, and they couldn't do it."

Connors: "There is no No. 2"

DALLAS (AP) — Jimmy Connors says he may move ahead of John McEnroe as the No. 2 tennis player in the world but that's not the ranking he wants.

The 28-year-old Connors, playing as he did when he dominated tennis in the mid-70s, decisively whipped the 21-year-old defending champion John McEnroe 2-6, 7-6, 6-1, 6-2 Sunday to earn the $100,000 first place prize in the World Championship of Tennis Finals.

"That's a big step toward my goal" said a pleased Connors, whose settled family life has given his game new life. "There is no

No. 2 — only No. 1. I'm not fighting to be No. 2. I've got to forget this match."

Connors has taken dead aim at unseating Sweden's Bjorn Borg as the No. 1 player in the world.

"I'm getting close to the way I played in 1974," said Connors. "I'm working hard on it. When I was 19, 20, and 21 all I had to do was play. But I have lots more on my mind now and I have to work harder."

Connors turned to McEnroe during the award ceremonies Sunday and told him: "Mac now knows what I was like in my prime."

McEnroe said that it was Connors at his best.

"I can't relate to playing him in 1974 because I thought he was invincible back then," said McEnroe. "He was attacking today, missing no volleys and coming in more than usual to the net."

McEnroe refused to blame a sprained ankle he has been nursing for the defeat before about 15,000 fans in Reunion Arena.

"He just played better," said McEnroe, who defeated Borg for the 1979 WCT Finals championship. "I wasn't moving to the ball well. I was up for the match but as it went on I was wearing down."

I think I need to cut my travel schedule. Also, I'm a few pounds overweight."

Connors has added 10 pounds to his frame and showed increased stamina at 155 pounds.

"I thought he was getting a little tired out there in the last two sets," said Connors, who broke McEnroe's service five straight times after winning the second set tie-breaker 7-4.

"I gained a lot of confidence in the tiebreaker," said Connors, who was the crowd favorite as McEnroe once again had a shouting match with the umpire, Zeno Pfau.

"It's nice to have the crowd on your side for a change," said Connors. "But I try just as hard whether the crowd is with me or against me. I certainly don't regret anything I've done in the past." Connors joined Australia's Ken Rosewall as the only two-time winner of the WCT Finals.

"I'm in good company anytime I'm alongside Ken Rosewall," Connors said.

WCT WINNER — Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., hits a two flisted return of a John McEnroe volley during the championship match of the World Championship Tennis tournament in Dallas, Texas Sunday. Connors hit a winner on this shot and also was a winner for the day as he defeated McEnroe 2-6, 7-6, 6-1 and 6-2. Connors picked up $100,000 first place money.

A 60 wins it

The golf team of Robert Caffey, Jerry White, Henry Mexia and Rusty Touchstone combined for a score of 60 to win the Big Spring Golf Association Louisiana Draw Golf Tournament at Comanche Trail Park Sunday.

Second place team with a score of 62 consisted of Joe Sharpnack, Tommy Young, Bob Hicks and Carlos Humphry.

There was a three-way tie for third place. The teams were Keith Hamilton, David Hansen, Mike Tredway and Doctor Lee; Marc Wilkenson, Jim Roger, Terry Vaughn and Billy Davey; and Bob Waters, Milt Brown, O.A. Madison and Juan Montelongo.

A total of 52 players participated in the tournament.

Velez ties record, Porter comes home

By the Associated Press
It was a special day for designated hitters Otto Velez and Darrell Porter. While Velez tied an American League record with four home runs in a doubleheader, Porter made some significant history of his own with a triple and a single.

victory over Cleveland. Then he launched the Blue Jays to a 7-2 triumph in the nightcap with a three-run homer in the first inning.
Velez became the 11th AL player to connect for four homers in a doubleheader. Graig Nettles of the New York Yankees was the last entry in this category in 1974.

came to bat in the first inning. In his first appearance Friday night, the home fans welcomed him back with an enthusiastic two-minute standing ovation.
Porter tripled in the first for his first hit of the season, driving in Hal McRae. "I thought it was gonna be an out, to tell you the truth," he said. "It carried farther than I thought it would. It's that extra five pounds I'm carrying."

all day, did he?" said Boston Manager Don Zimmer.
The meaty part of Velez's bat looked awfully big, too. "I hit a couple of fastballs and a slider," said Velez, whose home run output went from three to seven, while his runs-batted-in total doubled from 10 to 20.

long home run. He then triggered a six-run fourth inning with a leadoff single.
Jackson hit the deck in the second inning off loser Jerry Kosman, 2-2. Jackson exchanged words with Kosman and catcher Butch Wynegar and then drilled a 430-foot homer to dead center, his sixth of the season and 375th of his career.

Phillies give Lasorda grey hairs

By the Associated Press
The Philadelphia Phillies won the appeal, but lost the game.
Even at that, Manager Dallas Green wasn't completely dissatisfied. "I've been trying to build character, so I've got to be pleased to see that kind of effort," Green said. "The easiest thing to do when you're losing 9-0 is just play out the game and go home."

the Dodgers with their winning runs.
With one run across, the Dodgers' Dusty Baker hit into a force play, scoring another run. But Baker had batted out of turn in Ron Cey's place and after the Phillies appealed, Cey was declared out and the runners sent back to their bases.

Astros stopped the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2; the Cincinnati Reds swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 5-4; the San Diego Padres beat the New York Mets 4-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the nightcap 6-2, and the San Francisco Giants split a pair with the Montreal Expos, winning the opener 8-4 and losing the second game 6-4.

struggling like a dog with rabies," said Pirates catcher Est Out. "After that, he started to pop the fastball and really got things together. We got himself together, and we gave him a lot of support."
Reds 3-5, Cubs 2-4
Cesar Geronimo's first homer of the season helped Cincinnati snap a five-game losing streak by beating Chicago in the first game of their doubleheader.

But the second victory of his career didn't come easily for the 25-year-old Wake Forest product.
Strange entered the final round with a bulging, six-stroke lead, watched it dwindle and disappear in the face of Trevino's final round 65, a 6-under-par performance that put him in a tie at the end of the regulation 72 holes.

Strange wins playoff

HOUSTON (AP) — Perhaps taking a tip from country singer Kenney Rogers, Curtis Strange isn't yet counting his money.
He's waiting 'til the dealing's done.
"I do this for a living. I don't like to go home and lay around. I like to work," Strange said after a playoff victory over Lee Trevino Sunday in the rich Houston Open Golf Tournament.

That's as good as I can play," Trevino said. "I'm probably deserved it. He played far better than I did for three days. I played a little better the last day."
Strange had played the first 34 holes in 1979, 1980 under par and the best three round total in 10 years of PGA Tour activity. It put him far in front. But he could do no better than par 71 in the last round, while Trevino kept edging closer and closer.

Lady's day in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It was a day for the lady, and it signaled more than just another step in the liberation of the not-so-weaker feminine sex.
It hailed the end of a second "Golden Age" — not only in thoroughbred racing but in the whole broad realm of sports.
"The super horse binge is over," laconically remarked veteran trainer LeRoy Jolley the day before he watched his sleek chestnut filly, Genuine Risk, beat 12 male rivals in the 108th Kentucky Derby.

staying power, but added: "We have little speed in this race — no rabbits."
Even the veteran Jacinto Vasquez, the winning jockey, was skeptical before the filly's owners had overridden trainer Jolley and decided that Genuine Risk should challenge the guys and not try to win the filly Triple Crown, a coveted honor.

Now comes the Preakness and, after that the Belmont — the celebrated Triple Crown. Genuine Risk is a good race horse but no one seriously expects her to be another Secretariat or Seattle Slew — not with colts such as Codex, Temperance Hill and Colonel Moran joining the ranks at Baltimore.
We are entering a new age — the age of the 80s, and we may go decades before we see a period like the 1970s in sports just as the Golden Twenties were an era unto themselves.
