LAND HO! — Excited Cuban refugees wave toward land at the Navy pier in Key West, Fla., as they arrived aboard an ocean-going tug boat, "Dr. Daniels" Tuesday afternoon. Over 700 people were aboard, making this the largest single boatload of refugees since the boatlift began two-and-a-half weeks ago. President Carter declared the area a Federal disaster site also Tuesday.

Guardsmen dispatched to Key West

Money on way to Florida

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — With more than 4,000 refugees a day arriving here aboard the "Freedom Flotilla" — most straight from Cuban prisons — another 300 National Guardsmen have been dispatched to Key West.

Elbow-to-elbow crowds swamped makeshift cafeterias and dormitories here and at a "tent city" in the Florida Panhandle, and relief workers pleaded for donations of food and clothing as the unrelenting flood of arrivals swelled past 20,000.

"These people come over here soaking wet from being at sea, the babies have raspy breathing and they need dry clothes," said Red Cross volunteer Anne Hernandez.

Meanwhile, federal officials said supplies and personnel were on the way after President Carter declared a state of emergency, making $10 million available. But volunteer coordinator Arturo Cobo said the federal help was "very slow." The National Guardsmen were to help keep peace and order among the milling refugees.

Prisoners or ex-convicts accounted for four of every five refugees arriving this week aboard small boats from the Cuban port of Mariel, immigration officials estimated. On Tuesday, the first time in the 16-day-old boatlift, the inmates included women.

"I kissed the ground when I arrived here," said Rita Ramos, 24, who had been jailed for putting up anti-government posters. "I don't have the words to explain how I feel...it's freedom."

Federal officials said 122 "hard-core" criminals had been sent to a prison near Talladega, Ala.

Tempers occasionally have flared under the sizzling Florida sun, but there have been "no major problems at all" said National Guard Col. Richard Capps.

Round-the-clock airlifts have carried 3,600 emigrants to Eglin Air Force Base, where they are housed in an overflowing "tent city," hangars, barracks and a gymnasium. Officials said they hoped to begin sending Cubans to sponsors today.

"We're going to have a total of about 10,000 people here in two more weeks to build enough tents to put them in," said Maj. John Toner.

In Miami, two abandoned NIKE missile sites are being readied to relieve overcrowding at Eglin, federal officials said.

Immigration and Naturalization Service officers processed 4,005 refugees Tuesday, including more than 600 from the 150-foot salvage ship Dr. Daniels. Reports from still-jammed Mariel say an even larger vessel, the Americus, would soon return with as many as 900 refugees.

All but a few dozen passengers aboard the Dr. Daniels were from prisons or on parole. The Cuban-Americans who chartered the ship said they weren't allowed to take the 158 relatives they set out to retrieve.

Gov. Bob Graham, who asked Carter for the emergency declaration on Monday, said today that part of the $10 million would be used to repay the state for what it has already spent, especially for the guardsmen.

Graham, appearing on the NBC "Today" show, said 35 to 40 percent of the refugees likely will settle in South Florida because they have relatives among the 500,000 Latins already there.

Bond election shaping up

Improvements won't be cheap

By JAMES WERRELL
The Big Spring City Council learned Tuesday night, how the city might be improved and how much it would cost.

In a special meeting of the council, 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, members of four committees submitted suggestions for improvements of: the water and sanitary sewer systems; streets and storm sewers; parks and recreation areas; and public facilities.

It will now be the duty of a fifth committee, the financial advisory committee, to sift through the suggestions and recommend which are feasible. Working with this committee will be Joe Smith, financial advisor to the city, and Tom Ferguson, city financial director.

"Once the financial committee has looked over the suggestions, it will present a variety of alternatives to the council," said Don Davis, city manager. "The council will decide which projects will be brought before the citizens in the form of a bond election."

Davis estimated that next fall is the earliest possible date for such an election.

STREETS AND STORM SEWERS — Russ McEwen presented the committee's findings in regard to possible improvements to city streets and storm sewers. Streets took the number-one priority.

"The priority of these suggestions was a consensus of the committee, and the final list received a unanimous vote of approval. We are very concerned about the existing roadways which are in dire need of repair," said McEwen.

The project deemed most important was the resurfacing of 30,000 feet of 37 paved streets. According to the committee, the streets were damaged due to freezing, and can't be saved by sealcoating.

Estimated cost if $924,998.

Other proposals included: — Reconstruction of four existing streets. Most extensive work would have to be done on Wasson Road; a project estimated at $563,728.

— Extending and widening thoroughfares to permit easier passage through the city, both east-west and north-south. Four separate proposals were made to achieve this.

— The final proposal for improving streets calls for the widening and strengthening of Birdwell, Gregg and Main Streets along their most traveled sections.

— The widening and sloping of banks along Beals Creek was judged the most important move in improving the storm sewer system. Proposed cost is $175,000.

— Installation of an additional retention dam in the downtown area was also proposed.

— Widening and deepening of the channel of the tributary which is located on the south side of the railroad tracks, providing for drainage of the west side of the city, particularly the Jones Valley area.

— Lining and covering the now-open channel drainage area along Wyoming Street. This will prevent flash flood damage to properties adjacent to the channel way.

Total cost of all improvements proposed by this committee came to $13,480,013.

PARKS AND RECREATION

AREAS — John Weeks submitted the proposals from this committee. Comanche Trail Park was the number-one consideration of the group.

Proposed improvements included the paving of roads around restrooms, paving the parking area west of the Old Settler's Pavilion, additional restrooms, a pedestrian bridge and reconstruction of Whipkey Drive from U.S. 87 to the Community Center.

Other proposals by the committee included:

— New equipment, a new watering system, additional paving and green reconstruction at the Municipal Golf Course.

— Additional restrooms, new pavilions and picnic tables, new fencing, playground equipment, an overnight trailer park and an enclosed fishing dock at Moss Lake.

— New light and sound systems, and a variety of other niceties to be constructed at the Amphitheatre.

— Repaving of roads, a new watering system and erection of a new marker at Mount Olive Memorial Park.

— Various improvements to neighborhood parks.

— Financial assistance from the city in the construction of four new, slowpitch-softball fields at the Roy Anderson Complex.

Total cost for the proposed projects was estimated at $1,308,500.

WATER AND SANITARY SEWERS

Jerry Foresyth made the presentation for this committee. The first priority of the group echoed a concern for which Big Springers have been vocal for many years: the improvement of the drinking water.

In order to achieve this, the committee suggested that a water softening system be added to the city's filtration plant. This would include a lime slaker, sludge collection and pumping capability, sludge drying beds, recarbonization and stabilization equipment and additional detention vessels for settling.

At $2,225,000, this method was judged slightly less effective, but far cheaper than others.

Other proposals included:

— Replacement of pipe lines in the water distribution system.

— Relining of pipes that are still serviceable.

Clark Straughan speaker at GOP county conclave

C. Clark Straughan will be the principal speaker at the Howard County Republican Convention, scheduled to get under way at 1 p.m., Saturday in the District Court Room of the courthouse.

Delegates to the State Convention will be elected during the meeting. Those attending will also formulate resolutions which will be presented at the state convention by the Howard County delegation.

Straughan, a graduate of Texas

— Addition of granular activated carbon filter material with the reactivation equipment. This will be required by Federal law by 1982 anyway, said Foresyth.

— Construction of an elevated storage system on South Mountain.

— Laying of new sewer mains.

— Replacement of damaged sewage lines.

— Improvement of lift stations.

— Purchase of special mud pumps and sludge handling equipment.

Total cost of all proposals is estimated at $6,495,500.

PUBLIC FACILITIES — Charles Lewis presented the proposals of this committee which were what he deemed "catch alls." The number-one priority of this group was the improvement of the Big Spring Police Department building.

"These are just the bare bones. They are packed to the gills over there. These are just the minimum needs," Lewis told the council.

Improvements to the building would include a two-story extension to its east side and an underground emergency operations center. The enlarged space would house offices, classrooms, a communications center and records.

Other proposals by a committee included:

— Construction of a new central fire station either at 18th and Main or 18th and Scurry. This would include men's and women's dormitories and classrooms.

— Renovation of the existing central fire station to be used as an extension of City Hall. Several city departments would be relocated there.

— Construction of a new animal warehouse.

— Construction of a wash rack for specialized equipment.

— Addition of vehicle storage sheds to the city yard.

— Implementation of a computerized fuel dispensing system for the city. Automatic credit cards would be used by city employees.

— New heating and air conditioning systems for the Community Center.

— New air conditioning systems and curtains for the Municipal Auditorium.

Total cost of all projects proposed by this committee is estimated at $3,450,000.

Before moving to Midland in 1975, he worked for Hunt Oil Co., in Dallas. Prior to that he traveled for seven years, studying political systems throughout the world. He lived with the Magway family, former president of the Philippines, who led the guerrilla attack against the Japanese.

He also met Ferdinand Marcos and the premier of Spain during his travels. Straughan and his wife, Vivian, have a daughter, Sabrina, age 5.

He has served as a campaign consultant for several Republican legislative races and has had varied political experiences ranging from his having run for the legislature himself to directing public relations for the Dallas County Republican Party.

Collections show gain

Directors of the Halfway House, which is experiencing serious financial problems, got some good news this morning.

Donations for the 24-hour period ending at 11 a.m., amounted to $1,085, bringing the grand total to $3,411.88.

In addition, accountant Sidney Clark called one of the directors, Polly Mays, to say he is "writing off" a $400 debt owed him by the Halfway House. Because of Clark's generosity, the objective in the campaign has now been reduced to $15,267.

Those who would like to help in the drive can make out checks to the Halfway House Fund and forward them to the Herald, which is coordinating the drive with the directors.

Time is running out on the directors. If the money is not raised within a week, the officers of the rehabilitation unit will have to close the doors of the facility and enter a plea of bankruptcy.

Spotty rains fall in area

Spotty rains, heavy in some areas, descended upon Howard County Tuesday evening.

The official measurement at the Big Spring U.S. Experiment Station was .45 of an inch.

The heaviest fall was reported ten miles south of Big Spring, where .8 of an inch fell.

Light showers fell in Comanche Trail Park but on the east city limits the measurement was reported at .7 of an inch.

"It beats a watering," homeowners were saying. Some have held off dousing their lawns with water until the ground could be saturated by a natural rain.

Officially, Big Spring's measurement for the year is 2.73 inches, far below the average of 4.23 inches through May 7.

The rains could come back tonight, because moisture has been moving into the area from the Gulf of Mexico.

Trustees expected to recommend Big Spring High School principal

Big Spring Independent School District trustees are expected to recommend a new principal for the Big Spring High School at their regular meeting Thursday at 5:15 p.m. in the board room of the high school.

In other business, trustees will consider selection of an architect to build a structure at Blankenship Field with money left over from the donation given to build an all-weather track there. The structure will be used to store track equipment.

School buses will be auctioned off at the meeting also.

In compliance of Senate Bill 621, passed in the past state legislature, ratification of tax assessment on school taxes will be set.

The Social Security Referendum will also be considered.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Turn rows quiz

Q. Is there a law against using county roads as turn rows?
A. Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard said no violation of laws occurs unless the roads are damaged. If the roads are damaged destruction of government property charges may be filed.

(AP LASERPHOTO) GRASSHOPPERS RETURN — Seventeen western states and 32 million acres are threatened by a grasshopper infestation expected in May and June. The Agriculture Department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service says it will probably be the worst infestation in 40 years, with 25 to 100 hoppers per square yard in some areas.

Coffins arrive in U.S.

DOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Del. (AP) — While flags flew at half staff for eight Americans killed in an abortive rescue attempt in Iran, mortuary officials were investigating the possibility that the remains in a ninth coffin could be those of an Iranian civilian, sources said.

The coffins arrived here Tuesday from Switzerland to a salute from a 20-man color guard.

Economic crunch felt

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the government's anti-inflation policies apparently have begun to work — cutting deeply into sales of houses, cars, furniture and appliances — the pressure is on to soften the side effects a bit.

"Fiscal actions of the government should be directed to countering the recession and to softening the economic crunch felt by the unemployed and the poor," the AFL-CIO's executive council said Tuesday.

OPEC meeting opens

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — The OPEC oil ministers began meeting in Saudi Arabia today in an attempt to resolve their pricing differences and restore the unity that enabled them to dominate the oil market.

"The conference is to examine an overall pricing strategy of OPEC in the light of international changes and individual trends among producing states," the Saudi government radio said in announcing the meeting had begun.

"The conference also will discuss energy problems affecting the future of the industrialized world and explore ways of bolstering relations between OPEC and Third World countries."

Labor settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — It took four years, two secretaries of labor, the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, even an outside labor consultant. But at last, the Labor Department and its employees' union have agreed to a new contract.

The department, which is in charge of fostering labor-management peace, announced Tuesday that it has resolved its long-festering dispute with Local 12 of the American Federation of Government Employees, which represents 6,500 workers. The agreement is the first involving a federal department under President Carter's Civil Service Reform Act, which guarantees federal unions the right to collective bargaining.

Lawyer fraud ruling

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Houston may not recover damages for the time city attorneys spent on a constable's appeal of a case involving alleged fraud by a lawyer, the Texas Supreme Court ruled today.

The court upheld a Waco Court of Civil Appeals decision awarding the constable damages against the lawyer but denying any money to the city.

The case began when Stanley and Patricia Belvin divorced in 1973. The judge ordered Belvin to pay the $850 fee of his ex-wife's attorney, Daniel Hennigan.

When Belvin didn't pay, Hennigan asked Constable Walter Rankin to seize Belvin's boat as payment of his court-ordered fee. The constable refused. Hennigan sued the constable. A judge ordered Rankin to pay Hennigan $850.

But before the judge entered his final written order, Belvin and Hennigan settled for $800.

Hennigan, however, told neither Rankin nor the court, and Rankin appealed the $850 judgment all the way to the Texas Supreme Court, incurring $888.50 in out-of-pocket expenses.

City lawyers handled the case for Rankin and used up approximately $1,500 of the taxpayers' time, the city said.

Police beat Wallet, $2,400 missing

There must have been a feeling of distress for a Big Spring man.

Joe Roblis of 404 N.W. 11th had a wallet containing $2,400 stolen from him between 8 p.m. Monday and midnight Tuesday at the Ponderosa Motel, Room 23, by a person he knew.

Two cases of criminal mischief were reported.

Bobby Wayne White of 901 N.W. 5th reported his car had been set on fire around 12:50 a.m. Wednesday at his residence. The rear left of the vehicle was damaged.

Danny Crosby of 508 N. San Antonio reported that when he came home Tuesday from work he discovered two holes in the trunk of his 1967 Ford LTD.

Milba Kinnian of 1608 Young reported Tuesday that a neighbor had three weeks ago shot out the back-side window of her residence with a bb pellet. The neighbor agreed to pay for replacing the window, but as of Tuesday had not.

Paul Shaffer of 611 Highland Drive reported Tuesday that he discovered Monday at 8 a.m. the door to an office building at 702 Johnson damaged.

Three auto mishaps occurred Tuesday.

A vehicle driven by Darin Sean Tucker, 21, of 514 Dallas, collided at 8:30 p.m.

Tuesday with a vehicle driven by Sherri Marie Rogers, 17, of Knott Route at the intersection of Dallas and Pennsylvania.

A vehicle driven by Sheridan Laverne Anderson, 29, of Temple collided at 5:05 p.m. Tuesday with a vehicle driven by Cecil Don Stephens, 43, of 804 Birdwell at the Holiday Inn Parking Lot as both were backing out of their parking spaces.

A vehicle driven by Annetta Montgomery, 39, of 804 E. 15th collided at 12:10 p.m. Tuesday with a vehicle driven by Helen Hendricks Stanley, 54, of 1106 Mt. Vernon.

Hospitalized Dick Nichols

Chemical is identified

By DON WOODS

A chemical in the same "family" as three chemicals banned in Texas has been identified as the poison that hospitalized Howard County Commissioner Court candidate Dick Nichols for the second time Sunday.

The chemical, methoxychlor, is a member of the organochlorine group, the same group that banned chemicals includes the DDT, Aldrin and Dieldrin.

Dr. R.R. Patel, Malone-Hogan Hospital, diagnosed Nichols' physical condition as methoxychlor-induced. Patel called the diagnosis "presumptive" because "we have not been able to isolate any material in the blood and urine."

Patel said, though, that Nichols "had been coughing up some stuff that looked like the powder that was on the seed."

Patel also said that the pesticide lab in San Benito, Tex., had identified the powder on Nichols' gloves as methoxychlor. In addition, Nichols' seizures were typical of those experienced by others poisoned by organochlorides, said Patel.

Patel offered an explanation for the absence of the chemical in Nichols' blood and urine. "Once in a while the poison can bind to the body tissue very strongly in a few hours and not be detectable," he said.

Dr. Troy Mollhagen, Texas Department of Agriculture Pesticide Lab in San Benito, quoted the "1980 Farm Chemicals Handbook" as saying injuries caused by methoxychlor were "negligible." The handbook called the chemical an "excellent replacement for DDT." It also said methoxychlor mixed with other chemicals was used for seed treatment as a fungicide and insecticide.

Don Richardson, county agent, said the chemical was used for fly control around animals and had some crop uses. "They use it around dairies and things all the time," said Richardson. Richardson said it had little residual effect and was surprised at Nichols' reaction to it.

Jack Bowmer, assistant director of the agriculture and environmental science division of Texas Department of Agriculture, said he had never heard of anyone having a reaction like Nichols' to the chemical.

"You run into folks sometime who are ultra sensitive to some things," he said.

Patel said, however, that Nichols' reaction was not caused by ultra sensitivity but by the massiveness of his exposure to methoxychlor.

Nichols was initially exposed to the herbicide while cleaning out a planter box on his farm April 20. The planter box had some maize in it treated with the herbicide.

Nichols laid on the ground underneath the planter box where he said some pink dust was. He later coughed up some of the dust.

The seizures began that night and continued until Monday at 4 p.m. when his son, Brent, became frightened and rushed Nichols to Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Nichols won the Democratic primary Saturday for Pct. 3 commissioners' spot. He will face incumbent Republican contender W.B. "Bill" Crocker in the November general election.

Big turnout due Monday

ODESSA — Tickets to the W.D. Noel Appreciation Dinner here Monday night continued to move at a brisk pace as plans to honor one of Odessa's most distinguished citizens neared the final stages.

General chairman Dan Hemphill announced that orders for 1,058 tickets had been received and more were expected during the week.

The dinner will pay tribute to Noel, whose remarkable climb to fame and fortune began in the 1930s as a $175-a-month roustabout in the West Texas oilfields. Today he is considered as one of Texas' 20 most powerful men, according to the May issue of Texas Business magazine.

The magazine acclaimed him as a "quietly magnetic oilman-industrialist who's credit with having helped bring prosperity to thousands of people in West Texas."

The Monday night affair will be held in the Ector County Coliseum beginning at 7 p.m. and is expected to attract many of the top business, oil and government dignitaries in Texas and around the country.

Hemphill stressed that everyone is invited and tickets will be available at the Odessa Chamber of Commerce office this week as long as they last.

Deadly disturbance

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — Three persons died and three others were hospitalized Tuesday in a stabbing incident which McAllen Police Chief Jack Caldwell said was a family disturbance.

Caldwell said a woman called the police department "in hysterics" saying a man was stabbing her children. The chief said officer Ray Sanchez went to the house and was stabbed by a man who was later shot as he tried to flee.

Caldwell said 10-month-old Veronica Zamora and 3-year-old Sonia Zamora died in the emergency room of McAllen General Hospital of stab wounds.

The children's 60-year-old grandmother, Paula Hernandez, was pronounced dead at the scene.

A third child, 5-year-old Araceli Zamora, was hospitalized in critical condition. The police officer and the suspect also were hospitalized in stable condition.

J.D. Burleson Fellows choice

James D. Burleson, Big Spring, a chemical engineering student at University of Texas at Austin has been selected for the Junior Fellows Program for 1980-1981 at the university.

Junior Fellows is an honors program at the university's college of liberal arts. The program gives outstanding student an opportunity to conduct individual research under the supervision of distinguished progressors in their field of interest.

James plans to marry Karen Riley, May 31. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Dewberry, Albuquerque, N.M., formerly of Big Spring.

Howard College entry swings a loop

Cody Lambert competes at Snyder

In rodeo at Hobbs, N.M.

Local team places 2nd

The Howard College rodeo teams placed second in the overall competition in the Men's and Women's divisions at the New Mexico Junior College NIRA Rodeo held May 1-3 in Hobbs, N.M., according to Skipper Driver, coach of the HC rodeo teams.

Wes Smith, freshman from Carlsbad, N.M., and Chuck Lambert, of El Paso, took first place in the team roping event with a time of 6.32.

With this first place finish and with a second place finish at last week's Western Texas College Rodeo, Smith holds second place in the regional standings in the team roping event. He is also holding third place in the region for the steer wrestling competition.

Teammates Cliff Kirkpatrick, freshman from Post, and Tracy Glover, freshman from Midland, placed second in the team roping event with a time of 7.03.

Kirkpatrick, who placed second in the team roping event at the Western Texas College Rodeo last week, is holding down fifth place in the region in the team roping competition. Kirkpatrick also placed fourth at the Hobbs rodeo in the calf roping event with a time of 12.28.

Jessie Doss, freshman from Big Spring, placed sixth in calf roping event with a time of 12.76.

Monty Davis, sophomore from Midland, won the bull riding competition with a score of 76 points.

James Garlick, freshman from Van Horn, split third and fourth place in the bull riding competition with a score of 64 points and fourth and fifth in the bareback riding event with a score of 66 points. Garlick leads the regional standings in the bareback competition, and is in second place for all-around cowboy in the region.

In the regional standings, the HC Men's Team is in second place, just behind Sul Ross State University.

Lawyer due to benefit if women win in suit

Three county officials who attended the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals hearing in New Orleans Monday on the sex discrimination suit filed by two female Howard County Sheriff's Office employees will submit their travel expenses for payment by the county.

The officials County Judge Bill Tune, County Attorney Harvey Hooser, and County Commissioner "Louis" Brown, submitted receipts for airline tickets totaling $360 to County Treasurer Bonnie Franklin. Mrs. Franklin said other expenses will be submitted Monday in commission court meeting for approval.

The two employees Bernice Nail and Rachel Schaffer, are titled "clerks" by the county but claim that their titles were changed from deputy to clerk to justify the lower salary. The two claim that their work is "similar" to work done by male deputies.

Gerald Lopez, their attorney, said the two "do what is considered law enforcement work in the rest of the state."

He said they interview prisoners, act as jail matrons, serve subpoenas, work the teletype machine. Gerald Lopez, their attorney, said the two "do what is considered law enforcement work in the rest of the state."

He said they interview prisoners, act as jail matrons, serve subpoenas, work the teletype machine, and have the authority to arrest people. He said other police department and sheriff offices have expressed a desire to hire the two.

"I thought the judges asked some good questions," said Lopez. He is taking the case on a contingency basis. If the women win the case, Lopez will get a percentage of what they win.

The women are asking for $300 a month raise and $40 a month for uniform fee and possession of a law enforcement certificate.

Malcolm Schultze, attorney for the county, said each side was able to present 20 minute arguments.

The two women filed their initial complaints in July of 1975.

Police say Iranian Embassy death toll hits seven

LONDON (AP) — Police today put the death toll in the Iranian Embassy siege at seven — five terrorists and two hostages — after firemen removed the remains of the last three bodies from the burned-out building.

With one terrorist in custody, police said this confirmed suspicions that there were six gunmen in the Iranian Arab gang that seized the embassy last Wednesday and took 26 persons, mostly Iranians, hostage.

Iran's revolutionary government said it will ask for the extradition of the surviving terrorist, but Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher was reported determined to resist the request.

The siege ended Monday when Britain's Special Air Service commando regiment stormed the embassy, killing five of the terrorists and rescuing the remaining 19 hostages. The terrorists had threatened to kill one hostage every half-hour until their demands were met.

One hostage, press attache Abbas Lavasani, was executed by the terrorists Monday and his body was pushed out the front door of the embassy. The body of a second hostage killed, Ali Akbar Samadzadeh, was taken from the rubble today, police said. Five hostages had been released earlier.

Two hostages remained in a hospital. One, Akmed Dadgar, was reported still in serious condition with gunshot wounds. The other, Charge d'Affaires Gholam-Ali Afrouz, was said to be in satisfactory condition.

There had been confusion about the number of hostages, terrorists and victims ever since the commandos, using "stun grenades," explosive charges and submachine guns, stormed the five-story embassy.

Scotland Yard gave this breakdown on the fate of the gunmen: one was dead on arrival at a hospital shortly after the raid; two bodies were taken from the embassy Tuesday, and of the three bodies located in the guttered building today two were terrorists, the third was a hostage.

Police said they were satisfied no other bodies were in the building.

Autopsies were being performed on the victims and until results were known police would not confirm that the terrorists were killed by commando gunfire. Police also declined to comment on the identities of the gunmen.

The surviving terrorist, whose identity police have not revealed, was held under special armed guard at a London police station. Quoting a spokesman for Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council, Radio Tehran said today that as soon as his name was announced, the Iranian Foreign Ministry would ask for his extradition.

When the terrorists, who claimed to be members of the Arab ethnic minority in southern Iran, seized the embassy, they demanded the release of 91 other Arab-Iranians imprisoned by Iran's Persian government. The Iranian government refused to negotiate with them.

King of the pen Inmates to compete in series of events

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Inmates at West Virginia Penitentiary are stretching their muscles with table games in an effort to be crowned "King of the Mountain" — in a prison Olympics.

A five-month series of skill tests, including checkers, chess, weightlifting, boxing, basketball shooting and track events will culminate next fall in a free-for-all wrestling match in a mud pit, Warden Donald Bordenkircher said Tuesday.

Last November, the maximum-security facility, located in the panhandle community of Moundsville near Wheeling, was the site of a break-out by 15 inmates. One state trooper and one escapee died in a shootout at the prison gates. Thirteen were recaptured and one is still at large.

The games are expected to start May 17 and will continue through Oct. 5. Contestants will earn points according to how they do in each event.

"We'll have the brain games, like chess and checkers, and the necessary brawn games — boxing, wrestling, track events, obstacle courses, things like that," Bordenkircher said.

"Then in the fall, we'll take the top 10 winners in each weight class, put them in a mud pit, and let them go at it."

"It's going to be a no-holds-barred wrestling match — everybody jumps in the pit and when the referee blows the whistle the last guy still in there is the King of the Mountain."

Will perform a Gala concert at 7:30 p.m. May 15 in Big Spring High School Auditorium. Tickets available at Chamber of Commerce, Citizens Federal Credit Union and First Federal Savings and at the door. $4.00 general admission.

Not everyone applauds rescue attempt

It will not come as a surprise to many readers that everyone is not enchanted by the drama of the Refugee Sealift, now going on in Florida and Cuba.

The Herald has carried stories recently, relaying information on the agonies and the ecstasies of the people involved because a resident and a former resident are participating in the transfer of people who desperately want out of the island country.

It is conceded that some of the refugees are people fresh from Cuban jails and others are mental cases whose treatment will continue (or start) here if they are allowed to say. For the most part, however, the people seeking to relocate are not felons, are not suspected of being Cuban agents but instead are freedom-loving persons who saw their one chance to escape the tyranny of a man who carefully built a regime of the refugees out of Cuba, that it is merely creating one. Some have gone so far as to say that the nation is digging a hole from which it cannot extricate itself, that the challenges will be overwhelming when the authorities have to relocate the newcomers. When that time comes, say the censors of the plan to allow them entry into this country, they will create economic problems which the country cannot easily overcome.

It is conceded that some of the refugees are people fresh from Cuban jails and others are mental cases whose treatment will continue (or start) here if they are allowed to say. For the most part, however, the people seeking to relocate are not felons, are not suspected of being Cuban agents but instead are freedom-loving persons who saw their one chance to escape the tyranny of a man who carefully built a regime of feared by withholding food and privileges from the masses if they did not work and did not express admiration for his twisted ideology.

IF NOTHING ELSE, the exodus of the people is a testimonial to the attractions and the opportunities of the greatest country the world has ever known and a stinging indictment against a Marxist philosophy that was forced on the people against their will. Hundreds of thousands of immigrants came to the New World in the early years of this century, attracted by opportunity and love of liberty. America absorbed that influx quite well, in fact profited hugely by their settlement here.

The refugees are, it is conceded, straining the social systems in Miami and South Florida and have fostered a high level of resentment among many of Florida's Anglos.

A big question looms. Do we seal fast and for all time a gateway that has always been open to political refugees for 200 years? What is our moral obligation to a people who look to us for help, who ask only for a chance to prove themselves as advocates of a free society?

What is going on in Florida at the present time is illegal. There are those who say America could cut off the flow of inbound people merely by applying the law. If the problem bothers you a great deal, you have company. It worries the president of the United States to the point that he is doing nothing about it. And it, no doubt, would worry the president-elect—no matter who he might be.

Early on, one person acutely conscious of the beleaguered was moved to say: "Really, I don't know what to do, but I must do something." Society in general must feel much the same way.

Crunch is on

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — It isn't just the commercial banks and credit unions that are being tough about loans. The Sperm Banks are also starting to be much more discriminating about their borrowers.

Johnson Masters, president of the First National Sperm Bank of Washington, told me, "The crunch is on. Any woman could come in here six months ago and get a test tube. But now we're in a spot where we can only service our most preferred customers."

"What happened?" I wanted to know.

"People are starting to withdraw their deposits and put them in Government Research grants, which pay a much higher interest. We've tried everything to keep our customers happy, but it hasn't worked. We've offered them free subscriptions to Playboy magazine, videocassettes of X-rated movies, and all-expense weekends at out-of-the-way motels. But it hasn't stopped the flood of withdrawals."

"ONE OF THE biggest setbacks we had this week was when a Nobel Prize-winner came in and cleaned out his account. We asked him what he was going to do with all the test tubes, and he said he was going to trade them for soybean futures."

"If other Nobel Prize-winners do the same thing your bank could be in a lot of trouble," I said.

"We are already. As you know, our loans are made to women who are shopping around for the best fathers that money can buy. But at present interest rates, most of them can't afford a Fuller Brush man. It's pitiful for one of our loan officers to turn down a perfectly healthy woman and tell her she isn't eligible for a loan."

"But somebody must be still getting them, or you wouldn't be in business."

"In order to qualify, a woman must have at least a 145 IQ, a Ph.D. from Harvard and type 120 words a minute."

"Your terms are tough," I said.

"It isn't us," Masters said. "Sperm banks all over the country are facing the same problem. The Federal Test Tube Bank Board keeps raising the rates on what it costs us to borrow from them. We have no choice but to pass it on to the customer."

"But what you're saying is that only the best and the brightest can afford to have a Nobel Prize-winning baby?"

"That seems to be the way the Fed wants it. Their intention is to slow down the birth rate in the country by making it harder for would-be mothers to get credit."

"IT REALLY is a supply and demand situation. There was a time when someone could walk in off the street and get any kind of baby she wanted at six percent. But those days are gone forever. Men are not going to open passbook accounts with us, when New York Hospital will give 17 percent on a 90-day certificate of deposit."

"What's the answer?" I asked.

"We have to think of new ways of attracting Nobel Prize-winning depositors. Tomorrow we're running a full-page ad announcing that if they open an account with us, we will give them either a brand-new calculator, a new microscope, or a white rat of their choice."

Nothing dramatic about preventive medicine

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Why don't you ever stress preventive medicine? Wouldn't you advise a regular annual physical examination for anyone over 40? —H.J.

Preventive medicine is often viewed as undramatic medicine. It's tough to build a medical TV drama, for example, around a perfectly healthy individual who is so because he has had regular physical examinations. A medical show's ratings would plunge. The examination of apparently healthy people, though, is not a waste of time and money. It is, in the business vernacular, "cost effective" to be able to spot early signs of illness or misdirections in lifestyles. We all grow old and eventually we die. We can all slow down the physical part of aging and perhaps stick around several additional years by taking care of the correctable problems as soon as possible.

So, yes, I would advise healthy adults to undergo a physical examination if they are past 35 and haven't done so. How much of an examination need be done on a yearly basis after that depends on the age and health of the patient. Certainly, not every test done in the initial physical need be repeated annually. There's another important, less tangible, aspect to this that bears a mention. In addition to discovering potential illness, a physical examination helps establish the physician-patient relationship. This can be difficult for both the patient and doctor to achieve in the setting of an acute (dramatic) illness.

I have to disagree with you. Preventive medicine is really what a column of this kind is all about. You can read preventive medicine between the lines. Many of the problems discussed might easily have been avoided or alleviated with earlier detection and treatment. The most important question the physician asks is the opener, "How do you feel?"

Dear Dr. Donohue: Every time I eat anything with sorbitol in it I get a very bad case of diarrhea. My daughter has also found this to happen to her. Why? Other people I know don't have the problem. —M.S.

Sorbitol is a carbohydrate that's added to food as a preservative, a sweetener or as a texturizer. Please don't ask me what a texturizer is.

In any event, sorbitol is not broken down in the intestinal tract the way other substances are. It therefore does two things: It attracts water from outside the intestines and acts as a laxative — hence your diarrhea.

You and your daughter may be extra sensitive to this effect of sorbitol. I don't know how to explain it, except that variations exist from individual to individual. It's hard to explain why one person who inhales ragweed pollen will sneeze while another will not.

I suppose your answer is in reading labels.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My husband has angina pectoris. He smokes, but says smoking has nothing to do with his angina. I don't believe him, and neither does his doctor, for that matter. Give him a good medical reason for not smoking, please. He reads the column daily. —Mrs. T.F.

I'm always being cast in the role of the villain. But since you ask, yes, smoking has a definite negative effect on angina pectoris. Briefly, it decreases the oxygen-carrying ability of the blood. Since the blood supply getting through to his heart muscle is limited because of artery deficiency, what does get through had best be in as good shape as possible. Smoking doesn't help this in the least. Also, the nicotine narrows the blood vessels.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have an unusual question to ask concerning my husband. His arms, hands and legs jerk spasmodically the minute he goes to sleep, much like a dog does sometimes when it dreams. Is this an indication of some medical problem, or is he just a twitchy sleeper? Please reply. I'll need to purchase some shock absorbers for our box springs if it doesn't stop soon. —Mrs. R.W.P.

It could be a medical problem or it could be that he's just a twitchy sleeper, as you say. Some forms of seizures (noturnal myoclonus) come on only during sleep or shortly after the onset of sleep. Your husband should contact a physician. And you should go along to the doctor's office with him so you can describe what happens to him during sleep. I have no advice about your box spring problem. Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure?

If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have failed God so many times after making promises to Him that I have almost given up trying to be a Christian. Is there any way to get out of this? —L.M.

DEAR L.M.: The problem is that you are trying to live the Christian life only in your own strength. It is important for Christians to live for God by seeking to do what He wants us to do, but we cannot do this in our own strength alone. Instead, we need the strength of God Himself. That is one reason why God the Holy Spirit has been given to us — to help us and strengthen us so that we can live for Christ. As the Apostle Paul said, "I pray that out of his glorious riches he may strengthen you with power through his Spirit in your inner being" (Ephesians 3:16).

Yes, you have made promises to God. But have you ever really yielded yourself to Jesus Christ as your personal Savior and Lord, asking Him to come into your life and rule it completely? Being a Christian is not just a matter of turning over a new leaf. It is a matter of receiving a new life — the life of God Himself within us. The place to begin is to confess to God that you are not able to love as you ought to in your own strength, and that you need Him to live in you and through you. Make that commitment to Jesus Christ, and then ask him to help you. He has promised to do that.

Then search the Bible to see what God teaches us about the Christian life. (I would particularly call your attention to the New Testament letters, as well as the Gospels.) Notice the importance given to turning our backs on things that displease God, and putting in their place those things which honor Him. "Put to death, therefore, whatever belongs to your earthly nature, as God's chosen people, holy and dearly loved, clothe yourselves with compassion, kindness, humility, gentleness and patience" (Colossians 3:15, 12).

Each day come to God, seeking His strength not only to resist temptation but to serve Him.

Relearning Language

Around the rim

Robbi Crow

Ever since I was old enough to walk to school, book satchel and Barbie Doll lunch pail in hand, I knew that 10 apples take away 5 apples equal 5 apples.

For years and years, that formula, as such, was drilled into my head by my elementary teacher who clutched that mathbook much in the same manner a preacher would a Bible during a hell, fire and brimstone sermon.

Then all of a sudden, another teacher comes along, uprooting everything I'd ever been taught in the past.

"No," she said gruffly. "Ten apples take away 5 apples doesn't equal 5 apples. Ten apples take away 5 apples equal 6 apples."

Huh? you say.

WELL, IN ACTUALITY, this incident never really occurred, but it's a fairly accurate example of what I've been going through the last year or so.

Unless I just never paid much attention in my English classes at school, I believe that I was taught the word 'couple' takes on singular verbs. For example, "the couple was lost," "the couple was married," etc.

But that's not necessarily so, according to the Associated Press Stylebooks placed in various locations around the Herald for staff reference.

And whether or not any of us agree or disagree, the AP style is just about considered gospel around here.

The stylebook reads:

"COUPLE: When used in the sense of two persons, the word takes plural verbs and pronouns — The couple were married Saturday and left Sunday on their honeymoon."

It's not that I disagree with the noun verb agreement, in fact, I think it makes a lot of sense, but that's not the way I was taught in school.

It was hard enough for me to learn to begin with, but for me to finally learn it and then have to relearn it another way — that's mean.

IT SOMETIMES bothers me that people reading stories in the paper containing phrases such as "The couple were" (especially in weddings, and especially when read by people who were taught by the same English teachers that I was taught by) believe it's either a grammatical or typographical error.

It's neither. It's just the way the AP stylebook says to do it. I'd tell you to look it up yourself, but I doubt you keep an AP stylebook handy around your house.

So I guess you'll just have to take my word for it. (P.S. Just as I was about to finish up this rim, I decided to ask Tommy Hart which was the correct way, "the couple were married" or "the couple was married.")

He said either way was correct. So I guess this rim really doesn't make a whole lot of sense, does it?)

Dear Editor:

When the 'boys' from Cannibal Draw (old time east siders) gather for their third annual reunion May 23, a number of things will be discussed. The most important, perhaps, is the proposal to hold a joint meeting for eligible men, their wives and sisters as well as all the women who qualify. Of course, all qualified men who don't have a wife would be expected to bring a female friend.

Our main objective this year is to spotlight all blood brothers. If you attend with one or more of your brothers, you will be considered a VIP.

It's a more common relationship than you might think. Consider the fact that 64 of the 101 are eligible for the VIP rating for that reason. One family has four brothers still living and all will be eligible to attend. It's entirely possible all 64 brothers will be in attendance at this year's reunion.

I suggest that all members living here who have brothers living elsewhere contact them and urge them to be here for the reunion.

We are hopeful that at least 55 people will attend this year's reunion and would not be surprised to see that number exceeded.

Those who have questions about the reunion can contact me at 267-8913.

H.M. Underwood

Dear Editor:

Sir, in reference to your editorial, Sunday, April 27, concerning gun control, you only succeeded in labeling yourself as a liberal. Your reasoning is that if guns of law-abiding citizens are confiscated it will reduce crime, and at the same time, you liberals support a policy of "go soft on the criminals." And because criminals and potential criminals no longer fear the law the crime rate continues to rise regardless of the gun control laws presently on the books.

It is true that 105 law enforcement officers were killed in the line of duty last year. But what you fail to do is to break down the figure on how the officers were killed. Most were killed while answering robbery-in-progress calls, domestic disturbances, traffic stops and during drug busts. These situations have always been dangerous to police.

Police Commissioner Robert J. McGuire of New York will also be the first to admit that New York's strict gun control laws have done nothing to reduce a steady increase of murders committed with guns. In fact the homicide rate there increased from 3.7 per 100,000 people in 1960 to 6.5 per 100,000 in 1968. The rate almost doubled in eight years despite gun control. The rates are even higher now.

In closing, what other rights to the constitution would you take from us? Surely not the first amendment "freedom of speech, or of the press."

Troy M. Hogue
P.O. Box 391

Dear Editor:

I take issue with your April 27 editorial when you come out loud and clear for registration of all firearms. I did not know that we had someone in our news media in Big Spring, who would so blatantly suggest "putting the cart before the horse." I take issue with this because one can legislate all of the gun control, registration, etc. that one desires, but we'll not get the guns that are going to do the killing!

If we are going to do any legislation toward this matter, it should be for an automatic sentence of 31 minutes in the electric chair for anyone guilty of a capital crime where a gun is used — then enforce that law. This would be a deterrent toward so many of the hoodlums that we have running around carrying, as you quote, "Saturday night specials."

By your editorial of subject date, you have joined the ranks of former San Francisco Mayor Alioto, Ed

Asner, Johnny Carson and a lot of other people who are leaning toward communism.

Gun registration is the first step toward confiscation by the government. You have seen it happen — we have all seen it happen, and we suddenly become a nation without any defense of our homes, our businesses, and everything else that is worth while that we have lived a lifetime working for.

Your editorial seems to me to be a spin off from Sen. Teddy Kennedy, who has been preaching this doctrine for several years now. I guess I'm old fashioned. I'm sure that I am, because I'm just old fashioned enough to believe that when you place a woman in the back seat of your car and run your car off a bridge into the lake and drown her, that ought to be a crime in itself, but as you and I know, Mr. Kennedy says it isn't.

Truett Thomas
Cowper Clinic and Hospital

Dear Editor:

If I were called upon to write a periodic column on "What's Good in Big Spring, Texas" I would probably begin by writing about Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Maybe I would call it Rehab '71 — because that is when I learned how very fortunate we Big Springers are.

Sunday, July 18, 1971, my 16 year old son, Daniel, was struck down on his way from church. After three weeks in the Odessa Hospital Intensive Care Unit and three weeks in a private room very close to the nurses station, Daniel was brought back to Big Spring in an ambulance. There was little flesh on the stiff frame that was paralyzed on the right side and the left limbs moved spasmodically. He could not speak and became nauseated when his head was lifted.

As I left Odessa the doctor expressed sincere regret that he could give me no hope that Daniel's condition would improve. However, he advised me to contact a professional therapist to teach me exercises to try to limber Daniel's joints and perhaps even teach him to feed himself.

We arrived home on a Friday and I immediately contacted the Rehab Center. Jim Thompson had already heard about Daniel and promised to come to see Daniel after 5 p.m. Monday afternoon.

When Daniel could tolerate sitting on the edge of the bed (with Jim's help) Jim requested we bring him to the center. For many months Daniel went to the Center five days a week. He was able to drive alone to the Center the last few months. After graduating from Howard College, Daniel worked for the City of Big Spring one year before attending Hardin-Simmons in Abilene. He is now completely independent, employed full-time and plans to continue his education later.

One of the first things I noticed at the Center was a little sign "Expect A Miracle." I believe miracles only come from God but He surely uses efficient and dedicated people like those at the Center to accomplish them. We must say "Thanks" not only to those employed at the Center but to all those who had any part in providing the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for we who have needed it. This is one of many good things in Big Spring.

Pesticide suit filed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department, claiming chemicals are escaping from the site of a former pesticide plant, has asked for a court order to protect the surrounding neighborhood in Mission, Texas.

Chemicals such as DDT, chlordane, lindane and malathion were manufactured at the plant from 1960-1972.

A suit was filed in U.S. District Court in Brownsville, Texas, against Franklin J. Dusek, the current owner of the property; Helena Chemical Co. and Tex-Ag, Inc., the former owner and operator of the plant.

Filed at the request of the Environmental Protection Agency, the suit charges that the Resource Conservation Act and Recovery Act and the Clean Air Act were violated when wind blew the chemicals over the surrounding area.

The suit asks the court to order the defendants to seal the surface of the 6.4 acre site to prevent chemicals from escaping, to fence the site and to remove pesticide dust from the neighborhood.

The neighborhood includes homes, an elementary school and a bus depot.

The suit also asks that the defendants be required to provide preliminary health examinations for the area's residents to determine the extent of their exposure to pesticides.

Bike rodeo is slated Friday

The Immaculate Heart of Mary School will sponsor a bike rodeo from 1 to 3 p.m., Friday on the school grounds.

Students from grades one through six are eligible to take part in the rodeo. Members of the Student Council will be in attendance to help stage the events.

Members of the Department of Public Safety and the Midland College faculty will attend to offer safety tips.

Those competing will run a bicycle obstacle course and undergo written tests on safety.

Jo Ann Fletcher has leukemia

The Jo Ann Fletcher Fund has been started at the Security State Bank here for a young housewife, victim of leukemia. The money will be used to defray the soaring medical expenses of the woman.

Jo Ann is the wife of Tommy Fletcher and the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Fletcher of Big Spring. Jo Ann is now undergoing treatment at Scott and White Hospital in Temple. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reda of El Paso, Jo Ann is the mother of a five-month-old girl who is currently staying with her grandparents in Big Spring.

Mrs. Fletcher's illness was diagnosed only last Saturday.

This story about Big Spring dogs just might grab you!!!

Local animal wardens handled 552 cases during April, six of them bites. Five of the bites were by dogs, with only one by a cat.

The total number of dogs impounded was 915, with only six redeemed or adopted, and the rest destroyed or on death row.

A total of 89 cats were picked up by the wardens, and none of them were adopted or redeemed. The wardens also removed 92 dead dogs, 53 dead cats and 111 other dead animals from city streets during the month.

Texas court to review false imprisonment case

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today agreed to review a Dallas false imprisonment case in which a jury said a store must pay Roy Strange $8,500 for allegedly threatening to jail him if he did not pay for a $15.99 pair of shoes in his possession. The 5th Court of Civil Appeals in Dallas said the store, Treasure City, was entitled to a new trial because of jury misconduct. Strange said the incident at a checkout counter on the day of the store's "grand opening" — Feb. 27, 1977 — humiliated him and damaged his reputation. On the store's motion for a new trial, the jury foreman and another juror testified jurors had discussed whether Treasure City or an insurance company would pay any money awarded to Strange and whether Strange's lawyer would get one-third. Strange, a black man, had "gotten a fair shake," the judge's charge to the jury. They said a woman juror had told the other jurors "she had personal reasons to give as much money as possible to Mr. Strange."

Also, they said, jurors discussed whether there was a better method of figuring damages than submitted in

Pope speaks out on birth control

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Pope John Paul II, praising Africa's tradition of family values, today strongly reaffirmed the Roman Catholic Church's ban on contraception, abortion, divorce and sterilization.

The pontiff also urged Christians to take part in politics as activists for good. He has recently made known his opposition to Catholic clergy holding elected office, however.

The pope's statements on birth control were his first on the subject since beginning his six-nation, 10-day African trip Friday. They are expected to stir controversy in Kenya, a country with an annual population growth rate of about 4 percent, one of the highest in the world.

"Your faithful upholding of the church's teaching contained in the encyclical 'Humanae Vitae,' "the pontiff told Kenya's 15 Catholic bishops, "has been the expression of your pastoral concern and your profound attachment to the integral values of the human person."

"Humanae Vitae," a document of the late Pope Paul VI, bars artificial means of birth control.

On the eve of the pope's arrival in Nairobi, a leading Anglican in Kenya, Canon Kenneth E. Stovold, asked in a letter to a local newspaper, "Is it too much to hope that his associates here will ask him the pope to refrain from reference to birth control, as in a few words he could spoil all the good work done by our government and the Family Planning Association."

If it antagonizes Kenya churchmen, Pope John Paul's speech might hurt efforts toward greater Christian unity, one of the themes of the pope's two-day visit to this east African nation. In a meeting with non-Catholic Christian religious leaders, the pope said divisions impair the vitality of the Christian community.

The pope met with the bishops after celebrating an outdoor Mass for an estimated 250,000 Kenyans in a Nairobi park. To the delight of the huge crowd, he was made a ceremonial tribal chief, donning African gear and beating on a drum.

Robbery reversal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Dallas man given life in prison in a 1976 aggravated robbery won a new trial today because a judge improperly allowed him to represent himself.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals said the trial court judge did not adequately determine that Robert Sterling Geeslin was competent to handle his defense.

The trial court appointed a lawyer to handle the case, but Geeslin decided to handle it himself.

"The record fails to show that the appellant was made aware of the dangers and disadvantages of self-representation. The trial court only warned the appellant that there were rules of procedure and evidence to be followed," the opinion said.

The case was sent back to Dallas County for possible retrial.

Geeslin was assessed the life sentence because of a previous conviction.

Blood donated at prison camp

The Federal Prison Camp conducted its quarterly blood donation day the final day of April.

According to Shirley Goetz, director of Donor Services for United Blood Services of San Angelo, 23 units were donated by the Camp employees and members of their family. Mrs. Goetz commended David Huff, Camp Hospital Administrator and drive coordinator for the efforts shown by everyone and expressed the gratitude of United Blood Services to John Allman, Camp Superintendent, for his cooperation and that of the Camp.

Farm

Farmers still biggest landowners in U.S.

AUSTIN — In today's urbanized world of subdivisions and shopping centers, it may come as a surprise that farmers are still the largest group of private landowners in the United States, says Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

"Farmers and farm managers make up less than 2 percent of the U.S. adult population, but they own 46 percent of all private land," said Brown, commenting from a recently-released U.S. Department of Agriculture study of American landownership. The survey, conducted in 1978, also shows that over 8 percent of all landowners are farmers.

Brown noted that the last government survey of landownership in 1946 showed there were slightly more than 6 million farmland owners, of which 70 percent were actual farm operators. "Today, there are still about 6 million farmland owners, but the number who actually operate farms has dropped to around 33 percent."

Since 1975 alone, Texas has lost over 16,000 farmers and about 1.3 million acres of farmland. This has been duplicated on a much larger scale nationwide. Individual farms have become fewer, but have grown larger in size.

"The continuing loss of farmers and ranchers, coupled with declining farm acreage, should be one of this country's priority concerns," said Brown. "Some think that we don't need farmers as long as we have supermarkets, but we have to realize that what concerns agriculture, concerns us all," he said.

Time, numbers running out fast on Bush, Kennedy

By the Associated Press
President Carter and Ronald Reagan are three-quarters of the way to rival nominations for the White House, and while their challengers insist they still can find openings, the time and the numbers are running out fast.

have better elections days ahead. But unless those days come soon, they won't matter.
Kennedy and Bush won in the District of Columbia primaries. Kennedy easily outpolled Carter. Reagan wasn't even entered in the Republican election.
All in all, Carter gained 161 delegates Tuesday, running his total to 1,306 of the 1,666 it will take to win renomination. Kennedy picked up 63, for a total of 721.
Thus, Carter needs 360 of the 1,264 delegates still to be chosen in order to fashion a majority.

Kennedy said he has no thought of dropping his challenge to Carter.
"I never thought it was going to be easy," he said. "We realize we are the underdogs. But that's going to make us work a little harder, and that's what we intend to do."
In Tuesday's Republican competition, Reagan won 108 delegates, Bush 32. That gives the former California governor 744 votes for nomination, while Bush has 170. It will take 998 to win.
Reagan must win 254 more delegates from 930 still to be contested.

"I'll still keep on campaigning," Reagan said in Los Angeles. "I want to see that final figure."
He said he wasn't going to press Bush to withdraw as a candidate, although he already has suggested that his rival is close to the point at which there will be no mathematical excuse to keep going.
Reagan said he might soon start thinking about a vice presidential running mate. Bush said he wouldn't accept if asked. Senate Republican leader Howard Baker said he would.

In Reagan's behalf, Senate Republican leader Baker had a similar message for Bush: "The longer he stays in, the longer it'll postpone the day when we can all rally behind the man who, barring extreme unforeseen circumstances, is going to be the Republican nominee."
Bush's campaign manager, James Baker, insisted there was still time for a comeback.
"We've been buried three times in this campaign," he said. "We fully expect to be back."
But the Bush strategist acknowledged that to do it, Bush will have to upset Reagan in the California presidential primary on June 3. That finale is for 168 Republican delegates, winner take all. And Reagan is rated a heavy favorite in the state that twice elected him governor.
"I acknowledge to you the numbers can be very difficult without California," Baker said.

An Associated Press-NBC News Poll among Democratic voters in Indiana indicated that many of them didn't think highly of either Carter or Kennedy. In that survey of 2,000 voters, 58 percent of those who cast ballots for Carter said they did so because they don't like Kennedy or because they wanted to support the presidency in a time of crisis. And about half of those who said they had voted for Kennedy said they didn't necessarily support him, but were opposing Carter and the administration.

Carter collected 68 percent of the Democratic vote in Indiana, 70 percent in North Carolina and 75 percent in Tennessee to win — as expected — in all three states.
Reagan gained similar runaways. He had 74 percent of the Indiana GOP vote, 67 percent in North Carolina, 74 percent in Tennessee.
Rep. John Anderson of I Republican embarked on an independent presidential campaign, was nonetheless on the GOP ballot in all four primaries. Anderson gained 29 percent of the vote in the District of Columbia, where he and minor candidates are only opponents to Bush. Anderson got 10 percent of the Indiana vote, 5 percent in North Carolina and 4 percent in Tennessee.
At the White House, Press Secretary Jody Powell said it was all over for Kennedy. He said Carter and Reagan will be the nominees, and suggested that choice may affect the judgment of voters in the 16 remaining primaries.
Powell also said "there is very little doubt" that Anderson's independent campaign would help Reagan.
In Indianapolis, Tim Kraft, deputy manager of the Carter campaign, said the president can count on enough delegates now to be "a little over 200 shy of the number needed to nominate." Kraft said that should give Kennedy second thoughts about continuing the contest.
Donald Michael, a Carter backer who serves as Indiana Democratic chairman, said it would be best for the party to remain split and worked for unity behind a Carter ticket.

California is the linchpin of Kennedy's comeback effort. The state will apportion 306 Democratic delegates.
Kennedy strategists, anticipating Tuesday's setbacks, said they would have a better chance in upcoming prigan and Oregon vote the following Tuesday. There are four more primaries on May 27, and the final eight are on June 3.

Miss Farrow is appearing in the Broadway play, "Romantic Comedy" and her mother is currently in "Morning's at Seven," also on Broadway. Summer Song, 5, sits between her mother and grandmother, and Fletcher, 6, is at left.

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

About two months ago Dale and Patricia Steffy, husband and wife, were given space in this column to tell their story about not being capable of having children and asking anyone to contact them who could provide information regarding adopting a baby. This has spurred two more letters and I want to give these couples equal time.

Ken (31) and Joyce (30) Clark live at 550 Center St., Walnut Creek, Calif. 94595. Phone No. 415-937-9785. Ken is working on his master's degree and is a business executive and Joyce is an educator. Both are Caucasian and they have been married seven years.

Jimmy (29) and Gloria (25) Victor live at 2700 Rosewood Lane, Pampa, Texas 79065. Jimmy is a diesel mechanic and Gloria is a happy housewife, and they will pay all medical and legal expenses.

Jimmy and Gloria are Caucasian and have been married four years.

Please contact these couples if you can help.

Dr. Wallace: My parents and I are having a disagreement and I hope you can solve it. I think parents should not snoop in a teenager's room but they disagree.

A while ago, they found some stuff that didn't belong to me. It was a weapon and some pot that some guy stole and I was just holding them for him.

My parents think that since they pay the bills, they can snoop in my room any time they want to. I think that teens have the right to privacy.

Please tell me your views.

— Pat, Lake Charles, La.

Pat: Let's define snoop. Webster says, "to pry in a sly, secretive, or meddling way." Therefore, I do not think parents should snoop in a teen-ager's room, and yes, teens need privacy. But I do believe it is the parents' responsibility to know what is in a teen-ager's room and if there is reason for suspicion, the parents should investigate the room with the teen-ager present.

If I had discovered a weapon and pot in my son's room, snooping would be the last thing he would be concerned about.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a sophomore and have been dating a certain boy for about a year. Last week I told him that I no longer cared for him. He said he could handle it but instead, he called four of my friends and told them something.

Whatever it was, two of them won't talk to me and the other two are constantly telling me that I don't know what trust and love are.

Should I just ignore my friends' recent attitude or should I explain to them the real reason why I broke up?

— Marie, Wheeling, W. Va.

Marie: The reason you broke up is your business and you don't have to share the reason with anyone, but in this case if the reason is not too personal, tell your friends, then ignore further discussion.

Incidentally, don't be too disappointed with this "certain boy." He cared for you and his actions were the result of frustration.

Dr. Wallace: My parents refuse to allow this guy (our neighbor) and me to associate even though we care a lot about each other. My parents think this guy is no good because he was sort of a hood when he was in high school. Well, that was over eight years ago and he's not a hood anymore.

My parents still think this way because nosy neighbors (who aren't angels themselves) have told them wild stories about him. I'm 18, in college and much more mature than my parents think. They believe this guy, who is now 24, is too experienced and will take advantage of their little baby girl who just happens to be a grown-up young lady. Please give me your point of view. — R.R., Elizabethtown, Ky.

R.R.: I feel that your parents should question your friends and boyfriends, but since you are 18 and have graduated from high school, you should choose your friends and dates. It is hoped that the good training you have received at home will be in evidence when you make these decisions.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

Party is a hit

The recent seventh annual chuck wagon party held in the Dora Roberts Community Center was a great success.

A record crowd of 417 people was served barbecue and all the trimmings, including numerous salads by Don Newsom and his staff.

Frances Wheat, museum president, presented Bee Zinn, general chairman of the party, and Erna Balch, membership chairman, with plaques. The plaques were created from old 1910 phonograph records, by Doris Rudd, who decorated and worded each record, describing the special talent of each of these two women in making the party the success it was. Bee for her capable handling of details and Erna for bringing in 155 new members.

The program was another top-quality ingredient. Gerri Atwell, curator, apologizes for the difficulty so many of the guests in the back had hearing the program and said, "We hope to have the chuck wagon party in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum next year."

Mrs. Atwell also expressed appreciation for and pleasure in the large crowd, the delicious food and the excellent way the whole affair was handled. She expressed special thanks to John Dibrell for name plates for Endowment members on the museum's wall plaque.

Gay Isn't the Same As Happy

DEAR ABBY: My heart goes out to the heartbroken parent of a gay daughter. Thank you for recommending Parents of Gays. They have been a godsend to us and other parents who ask themselves, "Where have we gone wrong?" My husband and I are very grateful that our gay daughter has found a warm and stable relationship with a person she loves and who loves her.

Her housemate is as welcome and accepted into our family as the man who married our other daughter. Because being gay has caused our daughter so much pain, I will be the first to admit I wish she were not gay, just as I wish my hair wasn't curly and my husband didn't smoke. But these are things I cannot change, so I have learned to live with them. I hope the parents of that gay daughter will accept her and the girl she loves, and get on with living the rest of their lives.

CONTENT PARENT

DEAR PARENT: Curly hair can be straightened and your husband can quit smoking if he really wants to, but in my opinion, the fundamental cause of homosexuality is biological — either genetic or hormonal. Otherwise, how can one account for the fact that homosexuals have brothers and sisters who are straight though raised in the same environment? However, it is possible for psychological factors to influence one's natural sexual preference after birth.

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a European-born gentleman (Hungarian) who, upon greeting a woman, always gently kisses her hand. I think this is a lovely gesture. Can you tell me where the custom of kissing a lady's hand originated, and the reason for it?

ANNETTE IN BURLINGAME

DEAR ANNETTE: It originated in France. And although there is nothing in literature explaining the reason for it, I suppose a man has to start somewhere.

DEAR ABBY: The other day you had a letter in your column from a woman who signed PRETTY FEET. She said her husband was crazy about her feet and was really turned on by them. She wanted to know if maybe he was some kind of "nut."

You told her that he was no nut; he had a foot fetish, and it was nothing to worry about.

Well, Abby, you'll never know how much that explanation meant to me. You see, ever since I was a little kid, I'd get real excited over girls' feet. I never understood why. I used to feel ashamed when I'd ask a girl if I could kiss her foot. I'm sure a lot of girls thought I was weird.

I'm a grown man now, and I'd still rather hold a girl's foot than her hand. Thanks for printing that letter. It's a great relief to know I'm not alone.

Skin problem solutions revealed by 'Seventeen'

NEW YORK, N.Y. — How much do you know about good skin care? Below, the experts answer questions about common skin problems, in April's Seventeen.

Is it true that your skin becomes accustomed to products if you keep using them? "Your skin can become accustomed or 'toughened,' to certain products in the same way your skin becomes toughened to the sun's rays when it produces a tan," says Dr. Jonathan Zizmor, a New York dermatologist. "However, the product will still be effective."

How can I tell if I need a moisturizer? "If your skin feels tight and dry after washing, you might benefit from using one," says Dr. Zizmor. "You should also consider your coloring: If you have fair skin and blue eyes, chances are you'll need a moisturizer earlier than if you have dark eyes and an olive-toned or an oily complexion. Also if you live in a dry climate."

When is the best time to apply a moisturizer? "A moisturizer seals in the moisture — water — that's in the skin by preventing its evaporation into the air," says Dr. Zizmor. "The key is to lock in the moisture you already have by applying a moisturizer to slightly damp skin."

Is it true that chocolate won't make you break out? Most likely, although chocolate can make certain individuals who are sensitive to it break out (if you react within twenty-four hours after eating chocolate, you may be one of these). Be aware that certain food substances might be acneogenic — they will not cause acne but might increase the chances of blemishes.

First woman's seminar in P.A.

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Doing a good job in your profession — be it law, accounting, teaching — may get you promoted into a management position.

But how do you manage if your training did not include managerial skills?

To help meet that need among a segment of middle- and upper-level managers in the public sector, the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs, associate director of the UT System's Institute for Higher Education Management, will interview two managers of professional women: Hazel Baylor, associate commissioner, Texas Department of Human Resources, and Harmon Lisnow, deputy director, Texas State Comptroller of Public Accounts.

The professional development seminar for women managers will be held in the East Campus Library Lecture Hall (general sessions) and Thompson Conference Center (concurrent workshops) on The University of Texas campus.

Topics will range from bargaining and negotiating to thinking on your feet.

Enrollment will be limited to 60 at a fee of $75 per person. Reservations and checks for the seminar should be sent to the Office of Conferences and Training, LBJ School of Public Affairs, Drawer Y, UT Station, Austin 78712.

Following will be a program entitled "Women as Managers: How Are We Doing?" Martha Williams, associate director of the UT System's Institute for Higher Education Management, will interview two managers of professional women: Hazel Baylor, associate commissioner, Texas Department of Human Resources, and Harmon Lisnow, deputy director, Texas State Comptroller of Public Accounts.

The May 29 afternoon program will feature concurrent workshops on bargaining and negotiating by Albert Chammah, UT Austin associate professor of management; financial analysis by Camille Cates Barnett, assistant city manager of Dallas, and management style and options by D. Maitland Huffman, UT Austin associate professor of management.

Two general sessions on May 30 will be devoted to programs entitled "Thinking on Your Feet" and "What Management Wants in a Woman Executive."

Two private communication consultants from Austin, Barbara Miller and Margaret Keys, will handle the "Thinking on Your Feet" segment, demonstrating pitfalls in professional women's styles of presentation that affect credibility and effectiveness.

Municipal demands for water are up

Municipal demands for water continued to gain through April, but industrial and oil company deliveries dropped, according to the monthly production records of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The oil-industrial figure was down by 159,000,000 gallons, but 141,000,000 gallons of the loss came from the cut-off of deliveries to Texas Electric Service Company's electric generating plant in Ward County. This disparity will continue through June, the anniversary of the cut-off order to conserve well supplies for municipal use.

For April, the municipal total was 1,247,718,000 gallons, up 5.63 percent. The oil-industrial total was 150,386,000 gallons, down 51.47 percent from April last year.

Through the first four months of this year, cities used 5,819,226,000 gallons of water, a gain of 4.66 percent. Oil-industrial deliveries stood at 601,826,000 gallons, 665,100,000 gallons less than for the first four months of 1979, but 530,000,000 gallons of this were in the TESCO cut-off.

Deliveries to the cities in April included Odessa 559,641,000 gallons, up 9.87 percent; Big Spring 216,072,000 gallons, up 6.10 percent; Snyder 93,490,000 gallons, up 9.66 percent; Stanton 10,650,000 gallons, up 25.45 percent; Midland 367,000,000 gallons, down 3.58 percent.

Aliens forced to kick back part of wages to employers

DALLAS (AP) — Job-hungry illegal aliens who make the dangerous and arduous trek to Texas to find work at a living wage are being forced to kick back some of their earnings to unscrupulous employers for "the privilege of staying on the payroll," authorities say.

U.S. Department of Labor strike forces investigating alleged federal labor law violations in Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston during recent months have uncovered $1.2 million in underpayments owed to more than 4,000 illegal alien employees.

Investigators noted a Houston area employer who forced undocumented workers to kick back $50 a month just to keep a job and another Houston businessman who charged $25 to cash payroll checks for illegal aliens who lacked proper identification.

Bill Belt, regional administrator for the Employment Standards Administration in Dallas, said the $1.2 million represented only "a small percentage" of the money owed undocumented workers.

The figures lend weight to claims by Gov. Bill Clements and others that unscrupulous employers are exploiting many of the at least 3 million undocumented workers in Texas. Clements contends the bulk of those workers are underpaid and living in squalor in order to send money home to Mexico.

The extent of the debt is difficult to uncover, because illegal aliens hesitate to report abuses for fear of being deported to Mexico.

"These people are not going to come to us. They are afraid to come to us. They know we are a government agency. They don't know we can help them," said Belt.

"The real tragic part of it is that until this kind of practice stops, these kinds of employers are going to continue to exist because the individuals are afraid to come to us, are afraid to go to any other government agency to report they are being abused," said Belt.

Labor Department spokesmen in Washington say they have uncovered $15 million in back wages due 94,000 undocumented and American workers during the first six months of the fiscal year that began in October.

Belt said the 16 agents in the three city investigation focused on the construction, hotel-motel and restaurant industries, which earlier investigations showed relied on illegal aliens willing to work long hours for low pay.

Alleged American woman spy reported transferred

By the Associated Press

An unidentified gunman ambushed the 24-year-old son of Iran's Anglican bishop and killed him with four shots through the head and neck, it was reported today. The young man worked as an interpreter for foreign reporters in Tehran.

Meanwhile Ayatollah Mohammad Beheshti, a top Iranian revolutionary leader said the end of the Iranian Embassy siege in London would not speed release of the American hostages. He said a parliamentary debate on the fate of the Americans would not be held at least until mid-June.

In another development, an alleged American woman spy who was arrested two days ago and has not been publicly identified was reported transferred to the custody of the Iranian Foreign Ministry.

Bahram Deghani Tafti, an Oxford graduate, was ambushed Tuesday night as he drove to a hotel in central Tehran from a college in the north of the city where he was a lecturer, according to reports reaching London.

The gunman reportedly forced Tafti out of the car before shooting him.

The night before his death, Tafti told foreign reporters his apartment had been broken into and that he was worried about his safety. British newspapers reported.

The British Embassy in Tehran confirmed that Tafti, who held dual Iranian-British citizenship, had been found slain.

Tafti's father, Bishop Deghani Tafti, heads Iran's 4,000-strong Anglican community. Since Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolution 15 months ago, he, his family and his employees have been targets of violence.

The bishop left Iran after escaping an assassination attempt last October and now resides in Cyprus. A week ago, the bishop's Scottish secretary, Jean Waddell, was shot and critically wounded when gunmen broke into her Tehran home. Last year, the bishop's English-born wife, Margaret, was shot in the hand when gunmen broke into their house in Isfahan, 210 miles south of the Iranian capital.

Informed sources told a Western reporter in Tehran today that an unidentified American woman arrested Monday night and accused of working for the Central Intelligence Agency had been turned over to the custody of the Foreign Ministry.

The militia-like revolutionary guard claimed it had documents proving that the woman worked for the CIA.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said today the department still had no confirmed information on the case. The Swiss Embassy, handling U.S. affairs in Tehran, said it had asked the Foreign Ministry for information but thus far had received none.

Spoiled foreigners in have-not society

PEKING (AP) — The dreaded Mrs. Wang is the nearest thing to a dictator in Peking. Strong men quail when she appears on their threshold.

A beaming, rosy-cheeked member of the proletariat, Mrs. Wang runs a housing compound for about a thousand foreign diplomats and journalists.

She runs it with glacial indifference to the dismayed cries that greet sky-high estimates on the cost of installing kitchen shelves, painting a room or hooking up air conditioners.

She knows that foreigners, no matter how much they complain, have nowhere else to go. She and her small army of plumbers, carpenters, electricians, painters, garbage collectors and engineers are part of the Diplomatic Services Bureau. They and they alone are allowed to work for the inmates of this "waigoren" (foreign) ghetto, one of three in Peking.

The inhabitants of these ghettos are the spoiled elite of a have-not society. Within the snug cocoons of their guarded and walled compounds, they live lives of luxury laced with boredom. If it wasn't for Mrs. Wang, many wouldn't have much to talk about.

The Services Bureau serves, coddles and occasionally rips off the estimated 3,000 diplomats, foreign correspondents and their families now in the Chinese capital.

It supplies not only living quarters but also specialized personnel to smooth life's little wrinkles. These include interpreters, cooks, drivers, maids, office boys and telex operators. A prospective employer must take what he is given, and that varies from excellent to dismal. The ghettos abound with horror stories of cooks who can't cook, drivers who can't drive and interpreters who need interpreters.

Monthly salaries range from 180 yuan ($120) for the most menial tasks to 1,000 yuan ($666) for the most skilled, but the worker takes home only about 60 or 70 yuan. The rest goes to the state.

The apartments provided the bourgeois elite vary in size — one to four bedrooms — and in price, from 400 to 1,200 yuan. Though the rooms are often large, heat is chancy, hot water is available at odd hours and the drains are smelly. Cockroaches command the kitchens.

Yet, life can be beautiful. Many of the cooks are masters of their art — able, with little notice, to whip up sumptuous dinners for a dozen guests. Part-time waiters or waitresses are available for about $15 an evening. They mix the martinis, empty the ashtrays, pass the munchies and serve the dinner. When it's over, they wash up and tidy the apartment.

If one wishes to entertain out rather than at home, the ghetto dweller has dozens of splendid restaurants from which to choose. The prices also vary — depending on where patrons sit.

Foreigners almost invariably are taken to a special, screened-off room, where the price is always seven to 10 times more than that paid by the Chinese.

In the leading Mongolian restaurant, for example, one American paid 25 yuan for a dinner behind screens which barely equaled in splendor one eaten later with Chinese friends, at a cost of three yuan apiece.

Despite all the luxuries, foreigners in Peking find existence can be hostile or hazardous.

The hazards come not from violent crime — it is comparatively rare — but from driving along Peking's streets, almost always jammed with bicycle riders. These two-wheeled anarchists ride against traffic and zig-zag between lanes. The adventure acquires particular zest at night because headlights are forbidden.

Another hazard is climate. January begins with penetrating cold and skin-cracking dryness. Wheezes, sniffles, coughs and galloping pneumonia move in, nourished by air laden with soft coal gas.

Spring brings young buds but also Gobi Desert sandstorms. Summer heat prostrates. Only autumn — long, cool and dreamy — is truly pleasant.

Hostility, always subtle, is sensed in the persistent measures to discourage contacts between Chinese and foreigners. Even while reaching out to the West, Chinese newspapers, politicians and bureaucrats remind the citizens of the dangers of revealing state secrets to foreigners.

Yet many foreigners do mix with ordinary Chinese. Language is important but not absolutely essential. Despite official warnings, most Chinese are eager to befriend sympathetic foreigners.

And like their grandparents and great grandparents, they are marvelously inquisitive about a visitor's "dabitz" — big nose.

Man rapes 17-year-old girl after breaking into auto

DURANT, Okla (AP) — Police in two states are looking for a man who broke into the disabled car of a 17-year-old girl late Monday and took her to a Texas field where he raped her at gunpoint.

Bryan County deputy sheriffs said the girl was returning from work in Denison, Texas, when her car had a flat tire on the Denison Dam about 10:30 p.m. She called for her on her CB radio, police said, but before her boyfriend responded to the message relayed by CB operators, the man drove up to her car. Deputies said the men shoved the electric window of the victim's car back into the door, ripped out her radio microphone and hit the girl in the face with the butt of his pistol before forcing her to drive back toward Denison with him.

She was released by the man about 5 a.m. Tuesday after he raped her in a field in Fannin County, Texas.

Bryan County authorities have asked the FBI to join the investigation because the girl was taken over a state line.

'Close call' at O'Hare

CHICAGO (AP) — An American Airlines DC-10 and a Britt Airways plane had a "close call" during a six-second air traffic control computer failure at O'Hare International Airport, investigators say.

The Federal Aviation Administration was investigating the incident, in which the two aircraft came within 1 1/2 miles of each other as they approached the airport Tuesday.

"On a scale of 1 to 10, the close call ranks as about a 5 as far as near-hits are concerned," said an FAA official.

The agency said American Airlines Flight 184 was descending Tuesday afternoon to land on runway 32

Left and the Britt Swearingen twin-engine turboprop was also inbound.

A six-second computer failure occurred at the air traffic control center at O'Hare, officials said, and radar targets become mixed when the computers return to regular status.

By coincidence, traffic controllers were changing positions at the time so the mixup was not noticed until the last moment.

Both planes landed safely.

An American Airlines spokesman said he was unaware that an inquiry was under way. "A distance between planes of 1 1/2 miles is not that unusual. I don't see what they are investigating," he said.

TRUCE — Ed McMahon, left, offers handshake to "Tonight" show host Johnny Carson during Tuesday night's taping at NBC studios in Burbank, Calif. ## Southern Baptist leader blacklists seven profs

DALLAS (AP) — An influential Southern Baptist leader, intent on purifying the 13-million member denomination, has blacklisted seven seminary professors for failing to interpret the Bible literally.

Dr. Paige Patterson, president of the Criswell Center for Biblical Studies in Dallas, said Tuesday he released the list in response to an editorial by Dr. Presnell Wood published recently in the Baptist Standard, a weekly denominational publication.

The list was incomplete, Patterson said, but "representative of our concerns."

Wood's editorial quoted Patterson as saying a "very large contingency (of Baptists) in significant denominational posts" no longer believed the Bible to be totally true.

The editor replied, "That's a strong charge. But who? Where?"

Named by the fundamentalist leader were Dr. C.W. Christian and Dr. Robert Patterson, of Baylor University in Waco, Texas; Dr. Glenn Hinson and Dr. Eric Rust of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.; and Dr. Temp Sparkman of Midwestern Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Mo.

Also included were Dr. Fisher Humphries of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisiana and Dr. Frank Eakin of University of Richmond, Virginia.

Patterson quoted a text by Christian which said "... the question between evolution and Genesis already has been decided for us in favor of Darwin."

Christian, a professor of religion at Baylor for 25 years, charged that Patterson "is lifting the quote right out of context. The book is not attempting to give anyone a theology, but to suggest issues they might confront."

Patterson and Houston Judge Paul Pressler were instrumental last year in the election of Dr. Adrian Rogers, a minister and Biblical conservative from Memphis, Tenn., as convention president.

They contend the conservative faction could gain control of the denomination within 10 years, with the primary target being denominational seminaries.

"Every quote I have heard that he is using is in some sense out of context and he ignored the positive statements that would refute his accusations," Christian said.

"Patterson has publicly declared his intention of taking over the Baptist convention of Texas, and the tradition of these people who make such moves is to attack the people in our institutions," he said.

ABC takes top slot in week's rating race

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS listed the four highest-rated programs, but ABC won the network's prime-time ratings race for the second week in a row.

The 1979-80 season ended April 30 with CBS on top by one-tenth of a ratings point. ABC has won both weeks' competition since then.

CBS' "Dukes of Hazzard" was the top-rated show for the period ending May 4, according to the survey by the A.C. Nielsen Co. It was followed by "M-A-S-H," "60 Minutes" and "Flo," with ABC's "That's Incredible!" fifth.

The rating for "Dukes of Hazzard" was 24.8. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, just under a quarter saw at least part of the program.

ABC had seven shows in the second 10 in the ratings, and compiled a score for the week of 16.7 to CBS' 16.3. NBC was third at 14.5.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 16.7 percent of the country's TV-equipped homes were tuned to ABC.

A couple of specials provided a bright note for NBC. The Country Music Association awards show was No. 6 in the ratings and the John Denver-George Burns motion picture, "Oh, God!" was 11th.

CBS scored with "Gideon's Trumpet," a "Hallmark Hall of Fame" presentation starring Henry Fonda. It was No. 16 for the week while ABC picked up points with "Battle of the Network Stars," 21st, and "Ann-Margret's Hollywood Movie Girls," 25th.

NBC suffered at the bottom of the ratings, with four of the five least-watched programs — CBS' "Tim Conway" show was 59th, followed by NBC's "BJ and the Bear," Part II of a "Disney's Wonderful World" presentation of "The Secret of the Lost Valley," and a two-part repeat of the movie "The Towering Inferno," with the conclusion 62nd and the first installment 63rd.

The week's Top 10 shows: "Dukes of Hazzard," with a rating of 24.8 representing 18.9 million homes, "M-A-S-H," 24.5 or 18.7 million, "60 Minutes," 24.2 or 18.5 million, and "Flo," 23.3 or 17.8 million, all CBS; "That's Incredible!" 22.3 or 17 million, ABC; Country Music Awards Show, NBC, and "Three's Company," ABC, both 21.6 or 16.5 million; "Dallas," 21.3 or 16.3 million, and "Real People," NBC, and "Vegas," ABC, both 19.8 or 15.1 million.

The next 10 programs: Movie "Oh, God!" NBC; "Eight is Enough" and "Love Boat," both ABC; "Charlie's Angels" and "Benson," both ABC, tie; "Hallmark Hall of Fame-Gideon's Trumpet," CBS; "Happy Days" and "Laverne and Shirley," both ABC, tie; "30-20," ABC, and "Diff'rent Strokes," NBC.

Garner paces Pirates

There isn't a lot of visual artistry in his game; that's why Phil Garner is called "Scrap Iron." The Pirates second baseman participated in two of Pittsburgh's four double plays in a defensive struggle with Los Angeles Tuesday, but it was his Baltimore chop through the infield that proved the artistic highlight of the night.

Garner's chopper bounded over the head of shortstop Bill Russell and brought home Bill Robinson with the winning run in the ninth inning as Pittsburgh captured its sixth game in eight, 2-1. Robinson and Bill Madlock had singled successively, and reliever Steve Howe loaded the bases with an intentional pass to Lee Lacy.

The Pirates' four double plays, a game high this season, kept lefty John Candelaria out of trouble much of the game.

Astros 8, Expos 4
Jose Cruz drilled three hits and drove in four runs to help Houston's Joe Niekro survive a 3-hour, 50-minute rain delay and beat the Expos. Enos Cabell had a career double and Cruz drove in two more runs with a single to cap the Astros' five-run first inning.

Niekro, 41, sat through the rain delay in the fifth inning and returned to complete a double and Cruz drove in two more runs with a single to cap the Astros' five-run first inning.

Phil 10, Braves 5
Pete Rose, who came into the game hitting .203, broke out of his slump with two of Philadelphia's seven doubles, and the Phillies rallied to beat Atlanta.

Rose had a leadoff double in the first and scored, and he began Philadelphia's four-run third with his second double.

Mike Schmidt drove in four runs for the Phils, three with a bases-loaded triple in the eighth.

Earlier in the day, however, Brooks' wife Patti said that her husband had "definitely signed a contract" with the Swiss team and that their family was "definitely going to Switzerland."

Brooks admitted that he's been contacted by actor Glenn Ford, who is reportedly trying to buy the Flames, and Jerry Buss, owner of the Kings.

Brooks refused to comment in detail on the reports, but did tell reporters it might be possible for an NHL team to purchase his contract from the Davos team in Switzerland.

Brooks, who led the Olympians to the gold medal at Lake Placid in February, recently signed a contract to coach the Davos hockey team in Switzerland.

According to the Tribune, Brooks has been approached by officials from the Colorado Rockies, Los Angeles Kings and Atlanta Flames.

The Lakers — with Jamaal Wilkes and Michael Cooper sharing the defensive chores against Erving — played the Philadelphia forward very aggressively, at times leaving other 76ers open. But Erving's teammates were unable to take up the slack.

While Erving was practically neutralized, Abdul-Jabbar was going about the business of dominating the game. The 7-foot-2 Laker center scored 33 points, missing just seven of 21 floor shots, and had 14 rebounds, six blocked shots and five assists.

Darryl Dawkins, the 76ers' muscular center, picked up three quick fouls and played just 18 minutes before fouling out. That left the job to Caldwell Jones, the 7-footer who is used to be Philadelphia's pivot man but was moved to power forward this season.

Although careful not to reveal much about new strategy for containing Abdul-Jabbar, 76ers Coach Billy Cunningham hinted that he might use the quicker Jones on Abdul-Jabbar from the start and put Dawkins on Jim Chones, the Lakers' power forward.

The series shifts to Philadelphia for the third game on Saturday and the fourth on Sunday. If necessary, the fifth game will be at the Forum on May 14, the sixth in Philadelphia on May 16, and the seventh at the Forum on May 18.

Los Angeles Lakers have to stop Julius Erving. The Philadelphia 76ers have to stop Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

The Lakers, who had little success containing the Laker center in the opening game of the National Basketball Association championship series, will undoubtedly bring new strategy and new determination into tonight's second game at the Forum.

The Lakers, who had more luck holding down the 76ers' high-scoring Dr. J, hope for a repeat performance.

Los Angeles, with a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven playoff final after winning 109-102 Sunday, tries to make it two in a row at home in the nationally televised contest set for an 11:30 p.m. EDT tipoff.

"We will definitely have to be more assertive and open it up more," said Erving, never much of a force in the first game although he did score 11 points in the closing quarter to finish with 20.

Super Mex still exciting crowds

By the Associated Press

It was an off-day for Lee Trevino, so where could you find pro golf's garrulous, free-spirited "Super Mex?" — upstairs, hitting golf balls, that's where.

He is like the postman who spends his holiday taking long hikes in the country. He never tires of golf — or people.

On this occasion, the little shot-making magician was stealing the show at the New York Coliseum, demonstrating a training gimmick called "Sweet Spotter."

"I just touched you," gushed a middle-aged woman. "Maybe I'll play better golf."

"You got it, ma'am," responded Trevino politely. She went away, beaming.

A man in the long queue awaiting an audience with the game's most captivating personality presented him with a handful of umbrellas, one of them with a putting blade at the end of the handle.

"You sure these things are not lightning rods?" Lee said. "Don't want anything else to do with lightning."

Trevino has not fully shaken the harrowing memory of the summer of 1975 when he was struck by lightning while playing in the Western Open — a bolt that almost wrecked his career.

The 40-year-old Mexican-American, a grammar school dropout, Marine gunner and one-time golf hustler, is now back — better than ever, by his own admission — and injecting a breath of fresh air into a tour suffering from a blandness and lack of identity.

"I'm playing better than I ever did," he said, "and I keep finishing second. I was 19 under par in Hawaii — and second. Fourteen under par at New Orleans — second. Eighteen under par at Houston last week — lose the playoff."

"Tom Watson can hold them off for a while, but I'm the last of the Old Guard still hanging in there. Tom is 30. I'm 40. Tom is the best. But I'll get my licks in," he said.

Super Mex has been doing just that. Besides his three second place finishes this year, he has won the Tournament Players Championship (TPC), the tour's showcase, and boosted his earnings to $186,181, second only to Watson's $246,525.

Trevino burst upon the bigtime golf scene at Baltusrol in Springfield, N.J., in 1967, stealing some of the thunder from Jack Nicklaus, the winner, and Arnold Palmer, who finished second.

A wisecracking Yogi Berra, he went on to become Nicklaus' chief challenger and a crowd favorite.

He beat out Nicklaus for the U.S. Open crown at Oak Hill in Rochester, N.Y., in 1968 and three years later beat Big Jack in a playoff for the title at Merion in Ardmore, Pa.

Little League

NATIONAL LITTLE LEAGUE
The Security State Tigers took a 9-7 win over the Sonic Sonics in National Minor League action Tuesday afternoon.

The Sonics took an early 2-0 lead, but the Tigers came back, finally snapping for five runs in the fourth to take a 9-4 advantage.

Winning pitcher Thomas Moore struck out eight for the Tigers, while Jody Strong was saddled with the loss.

The Tigers, now with a record of 1-1, were led in the hitting department by Tony Stuteville, Joel Jennings and Mark Lynch, who each had two hits.

Collecting one hit each were Robert White, Tracy Hudgins, Scottie Reasner, James Riffey, Kevin Morrison, Tommy Whitters and Kit Kraus.

Randy Thomas' homer and single paced the Sonics, with a double and a single by Wade Salvato helping. Others connecting safely for the Sonics were Jody Strong, Jeff Rhodes, Mark Swank, Juan Hagan and Jeremy Hagan.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
The Cain Electric Cougars exploded for a 16-3 win over the Barber Glass and Mirror Pirates in American Little League action last night.

Collin Carroll was the winning pitcher for the Cougars, who are now 2-1 for the season. The Pirates, with Tom Cruz taking the hurtling loss, are now 0-3.

Carroll and Victor Coles led the Cougars hitting charge, collecting two singles each. Others hitting safely for the winning Cougars included Jim Clark, Jon Tinsol and Sammy Kerby.

The Pirates received hits from Cruz, Shawn-Eason and Joe Cruz.

TEXAS LEAGUE
Arthur Hilaro hurled a one-hitter to lead the Albertor's Casa Blanca Red Sox to an 8-1 triumph over the American Legion Cardinals in Texas League action Tuesday night.

The only hit off Hilaro was a home run by Michael Lane for the Cardinals lone run.

David Rodriguez had a double for the Red Sox, with David Rodriguez taking the pitching loss.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE
The Talons took a 15-9 win over the Stars in International League competition here Tuesday night.

Marco Ramos was the winning pitcher for the Talons, who now have a record of 2-1. The Stars are 0-3.

Toby Hinton was the hitting star for the Talons, as he had a double and a single. Ramos and Robey added singles, with Kyle Jones collecting a triple.

Sending Nelson Norman to the minors Rangers acquire Bud Harrelson

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Veteran shortstop Bud Harrelson will join the Texas Rangers tonight, replacing 21-year-old Nelson Norman, who has been told to report to the Rangers' Class AAA Charleston, W. Va., farm team.

Harrelson, a 35-year-old switch hitter, broke into the major leagues with the New York Mets in 1966 and played with them until 1978, when the Philadelphia Phillies signed him.

He played with the Phillies for part of 1978 and 1979 and went through spring training with them this year.

Rangers president Eddie Robinson, in announcing the acquisition of Harrelson, said Tuesday night he still considers Norman "our future shortstop."

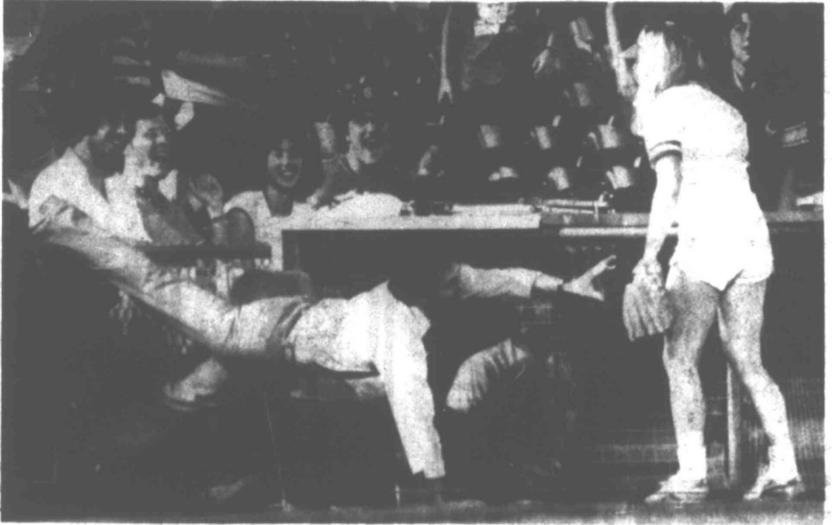

Club officials were disappointed in what they felt was lackadaisical play by Norman in spring training.

When the Major League Players Association walked out in the final week of exhibition play, Norman was the only Ranger who did not attend voluntary workouts, and he made a team-leading four errors in the 17 games he played before he was benched last week.

Norman cried in a towel after Corrales told him after Tuesday night's 7-2 victory over Boston that he was being sent to the minor leagues.

"It's not doing Nellie any good not playing. I told him I didn't even know if the other guy (Harrelson) could play, but Nellie has got to get his confidence back," Texas manager Pat Corrales told sports writers.

"I still think he (Norman) can play in the big leagues, but this is something we felt we had to do. We'll know by the June 15 trading deadline if Harrelson can play."

A LITTLE ANXIOUS — An unidentified fan at Arlington Stadium stretches as far as he can trying to talk ballgirl Cindy Crawford into giving him a foul ball she retrieved in Monday night's game between the Boston Red Sox and the Texas Rangers. His efforts paid off as Cindy decided to give him the baseball. Texas won the game, 11-3.

Medich continues Bosox mastery

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Six years ago, on Aug. 4, 1974, the Boston Red Sox beat the New York Yankees 7-3, and the losing pitcher was Doc Medich.

He hasn't lost to Boston since, however.

Hurling a six-hitter, striking out seven and walking only one, Medich beat the Red Sox for the eighth straight time Tuesday night, getting 14 hits from his

Texas Rangers teammates in a 7-2 victory.

Another Texas player, third baseman Buddy Bell, continued his hitting prowess against Boston, and the combination was too much for the Red Sox.

Bell had four singles in five at-bats, driving in a run, to raise his totals in five games against Boston this season to 3 homers, 4 doubles, 10 RBIs, and 13 hits in 24 at-bats for a .542 average.

Medich, 2-0, went the distance and had trouble only in the third inning when Dwight Evans homered, Jerry Remy doubled and Rick Burleson singled to give Boston a 2-0 advantage.

But Bell singled in the fourth, sixth, seventh and eighth innings, and Texas got at least one run each time.

Rookie Bruce Hurst, 2-1, held Texas to only one hit the first three innings — Richie Zisk's second-inning triple to right field. But Al Oliver, Bell and Zisk singled in succession in the fourth to cut Boston's lead to 2-1.

With one out, Oliver hit a high curve ball for a single, and Bell followed with his second single of the night, putting runners on first and second. After Zisk flied to right for the second out of the inning, Billy Sample tagged a curve ball.

"When he hit it, I thought it was an out. Then I saw it hit the fence," Hurst said. Texas took a 3-2 lead on the standup double, Pat Putnam singled to score another run, and the Rangers moved into a 5-2 edge when Jim Sundberg's single off reliever Dick Drago went through Evans' legs in right field.

Third baseman Butch Hobson then booted Pepe Frias' grounder, but Drago got Mickey Rivers on a fly to center to end the inning.

In the seventh, Bump Wills walked, stole second, and Remy's error at second let Oliver on base and moved Wills to third. Bell then singled another run home. Sundberg doubled in the eighth and later scored on Wills' sacrifice fly for Texas' final run.

"We haven't put anything together yet," Red Sox manager Don Zimmer said of the three errors his team committed. Boston had four errors in Monday night's first game of the three-game series.

"We started out playing poorly this season, and then we had five pretty good games coming into Texas. But we just haven't put it together yet."

AL Roundup

Blue Jays 3, Angels 2
Pinch hitter Roy Howell's two-out, two-run homer in the seventh inning lifted Toronto to its fourth consecutive triumph. Howell, who didn't start because of a touch of the flu, connected off Don Aase after Damaso Garcia singled.

"I asked him if he could pinch hit and he said he could," Toronto Manager Bobby Mattick said. John Mayberry homered in the second on Toronto's first run.

Indians 4, A's 3
Hassey and Gary Alexander singled runs home in the eighth inning and Duane Kuiper added an RBI single in the ninth as Cleveland broke a four-game losing streak behind Len Barker's seven-hit pitching. Mike Hargrove, who earlier extended his hitting streak to 17 games with a single, walked with one out in the eighth, went to second on Toby Harrah's single and scored on Hassey's single, breaking a 1-1 tie. The A's made it close with two runs in the bottom of the ninth.

White Sox 2, Royals 0
Richard Wortham allowed three hits in seven innings in his first start of the season before getting relief help from Ed Farmer, while Wayne Nordhagen and Junior Moore delivered run-scoring singles. The loser was Larry Gura, who was bidding for a Kansas City club record third consecutive shutout. He surrendered a run in the second inning on Chet Lemon's double and Nordhagen's single.

Rangers 7, Red Sox 2
Billy Sample's two-run double triggered a four-run sixth inning that helped Texas defeat Boston behind the six-hit pitching of Doc Medich. Red Sox rookie Bruce Hurst had a four-hitter and a 2-1 lead going into the sixth but Al Oliver and Buddy Bell singled and Sample doubled, giving Texas the lead. Bell led the Rangers' 14-hit attack with four singles. In five games against Boston this season, Bell is 13-for-24 — a .542 average — with three home runs, four doubles and 10 runs batted in.

Tigers 8, Mariners 5
Detroit's Champ Summers extended his hitting streak to 18 games, collecting three hits to boost his average to .408. Summers singled a run home in the first inning when the Tigers grabbed a 3-0 lead. He added a double in the third and another in the seventh, driving in one of Detroit's four runs in that inning.

Yankees 6, Brewers 5
Bucky Dent belted his second home run of the season and New York's third of the game with one out in the ninth inning to give the Yankees their fourth consecutive victory. Dent's homer came off Reggie Cleveland, the third Milwaukee pitcher. Reggie Jackson and Bob Watson hit solo shots off starter Mike Caldwell. Cecil Cooper drove in three Milwaukee runs with a double and a grounder.

Jackson left the game in the fifth inning with a strained thigh muscle and is expected to miss tonight's game.

Cheryl Welander named Forsan valedictorian

Cheryl Welander and Valerie Stevens are the valedictorian and salutatorian of Forsan High School's senior class with four-year grade averages of 95.95 and 90.35 respectively.

Cheryl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Welander of Sterling City Rt. 1, Box 8, is president of the Student Council this year and has also been head cheerleader, a member of the National Honor Society, and class treasurer. During her junior year, she was class treasurer, class favorite, and a member of the Honor Society. Participating in the golf program as a sophomore, she was also class president. Cheryl was a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes during her freshman year.

Miss Welander has been active in the Forsan band during her high school years.

As a freshman she participated in the Sweepstakes Band and Howard County Honor Band Awards. She also earned a Division I Class I flute solo and a Division I Class II Ensemble I. As a sophomore she placed in the All-Region Band.

Cheryl served as Band Secretary during her junior year, and received the honor of being named to the Sweepstakes Band, All-Region Band, and Howard County Honor Band. Recognized by her fellow band members as Band Favorite during her senior year, she was again named to the Howard County Honor Band, served as section leader and received a Division I Class I flute solo award.

In University Interscholastic League competition, Cheryl was active in Drama and UIL One-Act Play during her freshman year and Persuasive Speaking as a sophomore. UIL Typing and Poetry Reading were her activities as a junior.

This year, as a senior, she garnered an award as state qualifier in Prose Interpretation, and finished second in state competition.

Cheryl plans to attend either Howard College or Texas A&M University and work toward a degree in English.

Valerie Stevens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stevens of Sterling City Rt. 1, Box 157-F-1. She has been active in basketball during her four years at Forsan High School.

As a sophomore her team were District champs. It was successful in the All-Tournament Howard College Queens' Classic her junior year. As a senior, she participated in wins at Crane and Sterling City tournaments, and the team was District Champ, as well as Bi-District and Regional. Valerie was named to the All-District squad.

Participating in tennis and band during her freshman and sophomore years, Valerie helped win the Sweepstakes Band Award during her freshman year.

Miss Stevens has served on the student council for three years, being class representative during her freshman and sophomore years. A member of the National Honor Society as a junior and senior, Valerie was cheerleader during her sophomore and junior years. She was elected Football Sweetheart as a freshman and Homecoming Queen as a sophomore, when she took part in UIL Typing.

Planning to major in Early Childhood Education, Valerie will attend Howard College.

Forsan High School commencement exercises will be at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, May 22, in the auditorium.

Mondale pledges stronger U.S.-Yugo ties

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Vice President Walter F. Mondale arrived today for the funeral of President Josip Broz Tito, pledging stronger ties between the United States and Communist Yugoslavia.

"It has not changed with the passing of their great leader," he said. "I am here today to assure you that the relations of friendship and mutual understanding which Tito helped build between our two countries will be sustained and strengthened in the future."

Mondale was the first major Western political figure to arrive in Belgrade for the Thursday funeral. He originally was to have made his statement at the airport, but American officials said Yugoslavia had asked that no airport statements be made because of the heavy crush of arriving dignitaries.

The American delegation included President Carter's mother, Lillian, and elder statesman W. Averell Harriman.

Mondale said after making his statement that some meetings were planned during his two days in Belgrade, but he declined to say with whom the sessions would be held. His press secretary, Al Eisele, said no meeting was planned with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, due to arrive later in the day.

Father surrenders after 32-hour siege

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The father dressed his younger sons in good clothes and sent them from the house. Then, 32 hours after he first threatened to blow up himself and the boys, he walked out hand-in-hand with his oldest son and surrendered to police. Officials said 7-year-old

Kevin Lehman had refused to leave his father, who was described as distraught over an impending divorce, before the incident came to a peaceful end Tuesday. Two younger children were released five hours before Lehman's surrender. The youngest reportedly also had begged to stay with his father. Kevin was led away to relatives as Kim Lehman, 28, was taken to jail and booked for investigation of aggravated burglary and aggravated assault. No bond was set. The incident, the sixth involving hostages in Utah this spring, began Monday when Lehman threatened to blow up himself and his three sons in the suburban home of his father-in-law, Norman Garrett, officials said. Authorities said Lehman, who recently resigned as service manager for Garrett's auto dealership, claimed to have a bomb strapped to his waist and he was armed with a pistol and other weapons. Sheriff's Capt. Bob Jack said the bomb was a fake—three 12-volt batteries bound together with silver tape. Monday, deputies detonated a black powder bomb found at Lehman's home on the other side of the county, leading them to believe Lehman's threat was genuine. Lehman, estranged from his wife, told officers he took his children hostage because he feared he wouldn't see them if he and his wife were divorced, said psychiatrist Dr. Lane Smith, who helped negotiators. "I want you to understand that this is a good man," Smith said. He said Lehman "was making a solution to what he saw as a very difficult situation. It was not a good solution."

Ezzell facing busy schedule

State Rep. Mike Ezzell, who returned recently from Chicago where he attended a Health Science Research meeting held at O'Hare Field, will be in Austin Thursday and Friday for a Health Systems Agencies Sub-Committee meeting. The first session gets under way in Room 100-E of the Reagan Building at 10 a.m. Ezzell will leave Austin Friday afternoon for Robert Lee, where he will attend a community banquet, scheduled for 7 p.m. The banquet will be held in the high school cafeteria. Next Monday, Ezzell will be in Harlingen for a subcommittee meeting on the Standing Orders and Nursing Shortage Issues. That session gets under way at 11:30 a.m. in the council chambers at Harlingen City Hall. Ezzell returns to Austin May 13-14, at which time he will be available at the legislative office.

Wilson faces burglary rap

Frank Edward Wilson, San Angelo, is in county jail on a charge of burglary of the building of Danny Kennemer on April 27. Wilson was arrested May 1 and transferred to county jail Monday. Bond was set by San Angelo Justice of the Peace Ruth K. Nicholson at $7,500.

BACKSTAGE VISIT — Actor Jim Dale, right, star of the Broadway show "Barnum," is visited backstage by fellow actor Kirk Douglas and singer Diana Ross at New York's St. James Theatre Tuesday night.

Federal Reserve Board eases credit restraints

WASHINGTON (AP) — After months of tightening credit, the Federal Reserve Board has begun loosening its vise-like hold on loaning money at a time it could help the nation's foundering economy. Starting today, large commercial banks that borrow frequently from the Federal Reserve no longer will have to pay a three percentage point interest surcharge. The discount-rate surcharge — which pushed the borrowing costs of many large banks to 16 percent — began March 14. Its elimination will lower commercial banks' borrowing costs, and the "savings" then can be passed along as somewhat lower lending rates to the banks' corporate customers. The Federal Reserve left unchanged its 13 percent basic discount rate, which has prevailed since mid-February for most bank borrowing. Market analysts do not expect Tuesday's decision by the Federal Reserve to have a marked effect on consumer lending rates, which have been declining in recent weeks. But most agreed that the action was a signal that the Federal Reserve believes the nation's economy has begun to cool and that less special restraint is needed. The surcharge was designed to help stem the boom in corporate borrowing. The Federal Reserve also put controls on many forms of consumer credit to reduce borrowing. The result has been a slowdown in the nation's overall economy, with the developing recession likely to help curb the near-record inflation rate. At the same time, however, more than 1 million workers may lose their jobs.

Big Spring State Hospital escapee burglary suspect

A Big Spring State Hospital escapee was arrested on suspicion of burglary Sunday of the home of the Rev. Alex Ruiz, Route 1 Box 367. A burglar got away with $34.25, but the money was recovered and returned to Ruiz. The suspect was released to state hospital officials. The suspect was arrested on foot by Coahoma Police Chief O.D. Majors in Coahoma. The incident is the second burglary incident in as many weeks that a state hospital escapee has been suspected. The other one was the burglary of Hanson's Self Service, Lamesa Highway. District Attorney Rick Hamby is evaluating the cases to determine if charges will be filed.

Confession 'old story' Youth held in stabbing of 4-year-old

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld the 20-year prison term given a Hutchison County man who made an obscene and blatant confession after his arrest in a 1976 shooting death. Deibert Lee Thomas was convicted of voluntary manslaughter and also ordered to pay a $10,000 fine. "This case involves an old story of one woman and two men, plus whiskey and a gun," the appeals court opinion said. Thomas shot his former wife, her mother, and her boyfriend in November 1976, according to the opinion. James Anderson, the boyfriend, died. "After an overnight search, Thomas was arrested after a struggle with police. The officers tried to read him his constitutional rights. Thomas told them he did not care about his rights, stated he had shot the victims and adding, 'I hope they all die.' Thomas' appeal said those statements should not have been admitted as evidence at his trial, but the court ruled they were admissible as "spontaneous declarations, provoked by the excitement of the arrest." The court also said Thomas' written statement about the shootings included similar statements.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A 16-year-old Orlando youth was held on attempted murder charges in the stabbing of a 4-year-old boy found sobbing and bleeding beneath a pile of cement blocks and construction debris, police said. The child, David Shane Harrison, was in fair condition at Florida Hospital, after surgery on a puncture wound in his stomach. Sheriff's officials declined to identify the youth arrested or give any details other than to say the victim had "a casual acquaintance" with the older boy. "The whole incident, just makes us sick to our stomachs," said Orange County sheriff's department spokesman Richard King. A second teen-ager walking through the garbage-strewn area just outside suburban Winter Park found the boy Monday afternoon. A neighbor, Ann Marie Jones, said the child was laying on his stomach under a pile of broken blocks and building materials. "It was obvious that there was too much weight for him to get out from under it," she said. "I kept talking to him for fear he'd go into shock..." "He seemed relieved that somebody had found him. He'd been there long enough for the blood to have dried..."

'Bodiless' murder sentence
 DALLAS (AP) — A jury has assessed a 30-year jail term for Jimmy Russell Williams, whom it earlier convicted of murder although a body was never found. Williams, 21, was convicted of killing his cousin, John Alan McGraw, 26, of Fort Worth on Dec. 2, 1978. Witnesses to the shooting testified Williams shot McGraw without warning on the front porch of Williams' home in Pleasant Grove, a Dallas neighborhood. Williams' trial may be the first under a 1974 penal code revision that allows filing of murder charges even when the victim's body has not been found.
