Carter, Reagan close in on nomination

By the Associated Press

President Carter and Ronald Reagan are closing in on the delegate strength needed to clinch nominations for the White House, and both aim to get there before the month is out, with primary elections to spare.

While Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Republican George Bush talk of comebacks in the 15 primaries still to come, the frontrunners' numbers tell more than the challengers' words.

Democrat Carter and Republican Reagan added to those numbers Tuesday with victories in the Maryland and Nebraska presidential primary elections.

The president moved within 301 delegates of a nominating majority; to wrap it up he needs just 26 percent of the Democratic delegates yet to be selected.

Kennedy would have to gain nearly 79 percent of the remaining delegates in order to catch Carter.

For Bush, the numbers are even more ominous. He'd have to win 97 percent of the remaining Republican delegates in order to achieve a nominating majority. The former U.N. ambassador bluntly described his comeback strategy as "a tough scenario."

Carter won Maryland with 47 percent of the vote to 38 percent for Kennedy. In Nebraska, it was Carter 47 percent, Kennedy 38 percent.

The president picked up 32 delegates in Maryland to Kennedy's 26. The Nebraska delegate score: Carter 14, Kennedy 10.

Kennedy, campaigning in Albuquerque, N.M., noted that there wasn't much distance between the candidates in Tuesday's delegate count. But since Carter is the overwhelming leader, even a tie is very much to the president's advantage.

Reagan beat Bush 48 percent to 41 percent in Maryland, and won Nebraska's preferential primary with a towering 78 percent of the vote.

Nebraska Republicans elected their delegates separately, and Reagan delegates led for all 25 convention seats. Rep. John B. Anderson, who is out of the Republican race and running as an independent, took 6 percent of the vote and no delegates.

Reagan, campaigning in Saginaw, Mich., said his two victories convinced him, "I'll be the winner." He said he might gain the 998 delegate votes he needs "before the big final Tuesday." That's June 3 when nine states, including Reagan's California, hold GOP primaries.

Bush, in Las Vegas, said his motto was "on to Michigan, on to Oregon." They vote next week, Michigan for 82 Republican delegates, Oregon for 29.

Bush said his only chance is to do well in those primaries and "get a psychological boost" for the final contests. "It's a tough scenario, but that's all that's left," he said.

His strategists already have acknowledged that a defeat in Michigan next week might force Bush to reassess the campaign he still insists will go on to the GOP convention.

Kennedy said "I had expected to do better" in the Tuesday primaries. But he repeated that "I'm going to the convention. My name will be submitted for the nomination, and we'll call the roll."

Kennedy also said that the California primary on June 3, for 306 delegates, is one "we have to win."

Robert S. Strauss, Carter's campaign chairman, said California might not make any difference, suggesting that Carter may wrap up his majority before the June 3 primary windup. "We never thought so before today," he said.

Four men fall short of sky high adventure

By STEVE HERSHBERGER

A state senator and three of his friends barely escaped injury Monday afternoon when a motorhome they were traveling in caught fire, then exploded.

Sen. John Traeger, Eddie Klein, James Nolte and Bob Dyess, all of Seguin, were traveling north on Highway 87 on their way to a fishing trip to Alaska.

According to Dyess, the trailer in which the four rode experienced transmission trouble about 20 miles south of Big Spring. The vehicle was stopped and a tow truck was called for from Big Spring. Nolte, the mechanic and driver, put in five quarts of transmission fluid and the contingent resumed traveling.

"We got about three miles," Dyess said. "The thing (motorhome) back-fired three times. Before we could get it stopped, fire was already coming out from under the fender."

The vehicle was destroyed in a matter of minutes the gas tanks exploded, sending a cloud 150 feet in the air. About three or four minutes later, the propane tanks blew up. Dyess said. All four men got out of the vehicle just in time.

"We lost everything but the clothes on our back," Dyess said. One thing which went up in the flames was the men's cash, hidden in a safety box in the motorhome.

The men had traveled extensively in the motorhome. They had taken the camper to Florida, Las Vegas and New Mexico. Before leaving Seguin for their trip, which was to last 34 days, the men had installed a new motor in the vehicle.

The contingent's plans have been altered following the mishap.

"Three of us are going to continue the trip," Dyess said. Instead of going to Alaska, the men will travel up to British Columbia, Canada, and then back down the Oregon and California coasts.

Sen. Traeger traveled Tuesday back to Seguin to get his station wagon. The three men will continue the trip in that vehicle.

"We had it all planned," Dyess said of the trip. "Everything was working smoothly."

Dyess has a brother, Ezra Dyess, and a sister, Mrs. James Haynes, who live in Big Spring.

He added philosophically, "I guess it couldn't have happened in a better place."

ONLY HULL REMAINS — This is the skeleton of a motorhome which blew up Monday afternoon 20 miles south of Big Spring on U.S. Highway 87. Traveling in the trailer were State Sen. John Traeger of Seguin and three of his friends, James Nolte, Bob Dyess and Eddie Klein.

TESCO to ask 17.7 percent hike

Texas Electric Service Company, which serves 78 cities in Texas, will file a request for a 17.7 percent systemwide increase in revenues Thursday.

"The primary reason for this request is the impact of inflation on the cost of providing electric service to our customers," said Hooper Sanders, manager in Big Spring.

The request, which will be filed with the Public Utility Commission in Austin, would provide an additional $123 million in revenues.

"Costs associated with providing electricity to the people we serve are higher today than they were a year ago because of inflation," Sanders said.

Hardest hit by inflation, he said, are construction costs for the power plants being built to provide customers with electricity made with lignite and nuclear fuels.

He also noted that the costs of service lines, distribution substations, meters, labor, office supplies and almost all other items necessary to provide electric service have gone up.

Despite the rising costs of power plant construction, "the people we serve benefit very directly from the use of lignite to make their electricity, just as they will from the use of nuclear fuel," Sanders said.

"Because of progress so far in our construction program," he said, "we now make almost half the electricity for our customers with lignite instead of with natural gas and oil."

TESCO's major long-term contract for low-cost natural gas is scheduled to expire at the end of this year.

"When that Old Ocean contract expires," Sanders said, "our customers' electric bills will go up because the gas we have under the contract will have to be replaced with gas or oil at today's prices."

However, he noted that their bills will still be lower than they would have been if the company had not built lignite-fueled generating plants.

"These plants become money savers for our customers as soon as they go into operation. And because of this lignite fuel, our customers will continue to save money throughout the lives of the plants."

"By continuing its construction program and thereby holding down the use of natural gas and oil, the company can continue to help minimize the effect rising oil and gas prices have on customers' bills," Sanders said.

In addition, the lignite plants and the Comanche Peak nuclear plant, which is under construction near Glen Rose, are necessary to help make sure the people served by TESCO continue to have the electricity they need for their homes and their jobs, he said.

Customers' bills will increase next year both as a result of the rate increase and as a result of the expiration of the Old Ocean natural gas contract.

A typical residential customer whose electric bill averaged $40 a month would pay about $5 more per month because of the need to replace the Old Ocean gas with market-priced gas. The customer also would pay about $10 more per month because of the rate increase, if the full amount were approved.

As a result of both factors, the customer's typical bill would increase from $40 to approximately $55 per month. The actual increase will depend on such factors as the time of year and the customer's conservation efforts.

Although the increase conceivably could take effect on June 19, in the past the PUC and city councils have postponed the effective date to study the request further. Therefore, it is not expected to take effect before next fall.

Action/reaction: Insurance payments

Q. If a person makes payments on his home and includes insurance payments with house payments, how can the amount paid for insurance be found?

A. You need to contact the financial institution that carried the loan on the house to find out how much of the payments were for insurance. Or, the people who carried the insurance should be able to tell you how much you paid per year. You can divide that amount by 12 to get your monthly payments.

Halfway House debt reduced

The Halfway House debt has been reduced another $354.35 by creditors who say they are writing off commitments wholly or in part owed them by the rehabilitation agency.

Pete Hull, who operates Giant Food Store here, canceled $305 of the $608.33 which was owed his firm for groceries. Perco Car Care Central informed Helen Smith, executive director of the Halfway House, that it would donate the $49.35 owed it to the drive in hopes the HH could remain open.

That brings the overall debt of the Halfway House down to a more manageable $14,014.65, still high but not as menacing as it was.

An even $400 in donations was made to the fund during the 24-hour period ending at noon today, raising the grand total to $7,859.88.

That leaves the board of directors a little more than $6,000 shy of its goal. Although time is running out in the campaign, the officers have renewed efforts to raise the remainder of the money and keep the facility open.

Those who would like to donate can make their checks out to the Halfway House Fund and forward them to the Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring, 79720.

Support builds for windfall tax break for royalty owners

WASHINGTON — Attempts to exempt small royalty owners from the recently approved windfall profits tax are gaining momentum on Capitol Hill.

The legislative moves come at small royalty owners in Texas and around the country are receiving drastically reduced checks as a result of the windfall profits tax legislation designed to collect the excess income resulting from decontrol of oil prices.

A bill to exempt persons receiving income from wells producing less than 10 barrels of oil per day already has received the support of 38 House members, most of them from southern and midwest states. It was introduced last week.

The Texas sponsors include Reps. Jack Hightower, D-Vernon, Eligio de la Garcia, D-Mission, Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, and Martin Frost, D-Dallas.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. Keith Sebelius, R-Kan., says the windfall profits tax bill signed by President Carter April 2 "is inequitable" because it taxes small royalty owners at the same rate as oil industry giants like Exxon and Mobil.

Wilson said many of the royalty owners in Texas are elderly and widowed and depend on the small checks from their "stripper" wells.

"I'm for any kind of decontrol I can get," said Wilson.

Sebelius says he is sure "those who pushed for this (windfall tax) legislation will soon recognize their catastrophic folly. We are finding in the state of Kansas — and I am certain my colleagues from other oil producing states will find the same — that royalty owners are extremely unhappy to be paying the same rate of tax as the major oil companies."

One estimate by the Senate Finance Committee staff is that small royalty owners receiving a $4.75 payment on a $38 barrel of oil are paying an extra $1.71 because of the tax.

Hearings on a similar Senate bill, co-sponsored by both Sens. Lloyd Benetsen and John Tower of Texas and senators from Kansas and Oklahoma, will be held later this month.

So far, about 20 senators have thrown their weight behind the measure.

During the long and torturous debate on the windfall profits tax earlier this year, there were a number of attempts to exempt small royalty owners from taxation. Senators from oil-producing states argued that small royalty owners were teachers, retired persons and others who need the extra income — though small — to financially survive.

Thus, the Senate approved a measure in its version of the bill to exempt the first 1,000 barrels of production per day from the high taxation.

However, House members were much tougher on smaller royalty owners and independent producers. House members from the Northeast argued that small royalty owners usually didn't reinvest the earnings for new production and shouldn't be exempt from anything.

Jury hands down 40-year sentence

Cedric Ray Jefferson, 313 NE 10, received a 40-year sentence in state prison from an 118th District Court jury Tuesday afternoon.

He entered a plea of guilty to rape. A hearing was held Tuesday morning to set punishment.

According to the victim's testimony, Jefferson was at her home close to two hours. After breaking through a kitchen door, he attempted to rape her again after the first time.

"Rick (District Attorney Hamby) asked for an excess of 35 years. The jury basically agreed with the prosecution's position and quickly reached a verdict of 40 years," said Assistant District Attorney Don Richard.

Jurors began deliberation around 2 p.m. and returned an hour later.

Battle of New Orleans brewing in Big Spring

By DON WOODS
Travel expenses totaling $1,266.67 incurred by three county officials during a May 4 through May 6 trip to New Orleans were not presented Monday for commissioners' court approval because $444.07 in receipts for meals have not yet been provided.

The three officials; County Judge Bill Tune, Hooser, and Commissioner Louis Brown were attending an appellate hearing in Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans concerning a sex discrimination suit filed by two female sheriff's employees.

Commissioner William (Bill) Crooker said the county's legal representative Malcolm Schultzze counseled commissioners to attend the New Orleans hearing to show support of the county's position.

Crooker had been planning to attend the hearing but changed his mind because of non-county business demands. (He is the owner of Mr. G's Garden Center, 2301 Scurry).

Meals were the most expensive items on the trip, having cost $444.07. Hotel expenses were the next most expensive item at $363.27. Officials stayed at the Hyatt Regency which costs over $60 a night per person.

Weather Showers spreading over most of state

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms moved eastward out of West Texas today, spreading over most of the state.

Forecasters warned that some of the thunderstorms might be locally heavy.

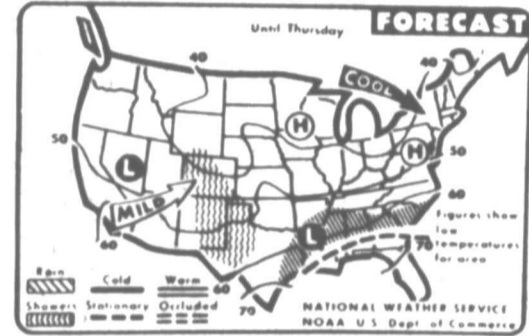

Highs were to be mostly in the 80s and 90s although readings in the Panhandle were expected to remain in the 60s and Northeast Texas was to have highs in the 70s.

Severe thunderstorms spawned tornadoes and heavy rain in South and South Central Texas Tuesday.

Muskie urges European allies to impose sanctions

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie, in his diplomatic debut, urged the European allies today to implement economic sanctions against Iran in the interest of the trans-Atlantic partnership and the Americans held hostage more than six months.

Muskie's call for solidarity came at a closed meeting of the NATO Defense Planning Committee. Some of the Europeans have threatened to ease the sanctions rather than lose current lucrative contracts.

"I understand the ability of some to wash their hands of this problem," a U.S. official said. But he stressed that the fate of the hostages, while not technically a NATO issue, is of vital concern to the United States.

In his speech, Muskie pressed for a relentless economic and diplomatic campaign against Iran and for "the fullest possible implementation" of the sanctions approved by the European Economic Community last month but now under review.

On Tuesday, Muskie appealed to the European allies to put heavy economic pressure on Iran and challenged the Soviet Union to withdraw from Afghanistan.

He also called on the allies to sidetrack their Mideast peace initiatives on behalf of the Palestinians.

Here for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's semiannual spring meeting, Muskie said the Carter administration has "a right to expect a commitment" from its allies that they will not water down the sanctions they threatened to invoke against Iran this weekend.

"The Iranians are truly concerned about European sanctions, and it can only mean that, if applied, the sanctions would have an impact," Muskie told reporters on his flight from Washington.

The nine nations of the European Economic Community, eight of them members of NATO, agreed last month to cut off all exports to Iran except food and medicine unless there was "decisive progress" by May 17 toward the release of the 53 American hostages in Iran.

Lately, however, some of the European governments have been considering exempting existing lucrative contracts. The foreign ministers of the nine nations — Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Ireland, Belgium, Denmark, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — will meet in Naples this weekend to decide how far their governments will go, and Muskie was meeting with all of them but the Irishman at the meeting of NATO foreign and defense ministers today.

In Washington, President Carter said he expects the European allies "to keep their commitment" to carry out the sanctions.

Turning to recent initiatives by European oil customers of the Arabs to get the Palestine Liberation Organization involved in Mideast peace negotiations, Muskie said he would urge the European allies "not to take any steps to divert attention from the Camp David process that might have the effect of relaxing the pressures on the Egyptians and Israelis."

While Egypt and Israel are negotiating, he said, "any other process would undercut the Camp David agreements and start us down another road and involve delay."

Muskie said at his meeting with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Vienna Friday, he would confront the Russians with this challenge: "I am saying to them that the burden is on you to demonstrate to us that real normalization is truly your objective, Afghanistan, which you created, is the test."

He said the Red Army's occupation of Afghanistan in late December was a "sea change" in relations between the superpowers, and the long-delayed SALT 2 treaty to limit strategic nuclear weapons as well as cultural, scientific and business contacts are at stake.

Because of the Soviet action in Afghanistan, defense ministers of the European NATO nations agreed at a meeting Tuesday to upgrade their forces and reaffirmed their 1978 commitment to increase defense spending by 3 percent a year through 1983, a U.S. diplomat reported.

However, the American, who declined to be quoted by name, said some countries — among them Turkey, Portugal, Denmark, and Belgium — would probably fail to meet the goal.

The source said there was unanimous agreement that the Europeans must increase their role in their own defense so the United States can give more attention to trouble spots in the Middle East and Southwest Asia.

The United States wants the Europeans to increase their reserve forces so that American forces at home earmarked for use in Europe in an emergency can be slated for use elsewhere.

Arkansas power company defies federal health order

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Power & Light Co. has defied a state Health Department order by releasing radioactive gas into the atmosphere from a damaged nuclear plant, raising the issue of whether the state can regulate such plants within its borders.

Arkansas Power & Light said the Health Department had no such authority. Utility officials said the first release was at 5:07 p.m. Tuesday at the Arkansas Nuclear One Reactor near Russellville and lasted 66 seconds.

The company said the actions "have not threatened the health or safety of the people of Arkansas and were taken with the authorization of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission."

The gas was trapped in the containment building of Unit 1 of the plant in Russellville after a seal on a reactor coolant pump failed Saturday. About 45,000 gallons of radioactive water spilled into the containment building, producing an accumulation of radioactive gas in the building.

The utility said it planned to vent the gas in small increments over a period of several days and that it should be completed by noon Thursday.

Earlier Tuesday, Dr. Robert Young, director of the state Health Department, ordered the release of the gas delayed 48 hours.

Arkansas Power President Jerry L. Maulden told a news conference Tuesday night that the NRC, not Young or the Health Department, had regulatory authority over the nuclear facility.

Tornadoes rip through Michigan town, outlying areas; five killed

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Downtown Kalamazoo looked like a jigsaw puzzle with several pieces missing today after several deadly tornadoes ripped through the city and outlying areas, killing five people and causing $40 million in damage.

"It reminds me of a bombed-out city," said Gov. William Milliken after a 45-minute tour of the damage Tuesday night.

Two tornadoes in Kalamazoo, a city of 90,000, and twisters in four adjacent townships in Van Buren County — Bangor, Arlington, Waverly and Ardena — injured 65 people and left about 1,200 people homeless, officials said. Kalamazoo Mayor Edward Annen Jr. said the damage figure could increase after more inspection today. Milliken declared a state of emergency in Kalamazoo and the four townships.

City officials originally said seven people had died but that figure was reduced to five early today when it was discovered that one of the reported victims had not died and another had been counted twice, according to officials at Bronson Methodist Hospital.

By early this morning, Kalamazoo police had reported one looting arrest and one arrest for a curfew violation. Red Cross officials said most of the homeless apparently were staying with friends and relatives although three emergency shelters were established.

The tornadoes touched down during the Tuesday evening rush hour, tearing apart the city's pedestrian mall, sparking scattered fires and knocking out utilities. The top of the 10-story Industrial State Bank was ripped off and virtually every window broken, said witnesses.

"It happened so fast, you hardly had time to collect your thoughts or prayers," said the Rev. Lewis Briner. Clifford Smith said he tried to turn his car around and escape when he saw a funnel cloud about half a block away.

"The next thing I knew, I was gone," Smith said. "I could feel it lift up the car."

Smith's airborne auto was slammed against the side of the federal building, but he escaped uninjured.

The Kalamazoo twisters followed by one day tornadoes in Missouri and Pennsylvania that did millions of dollars worth of damage. In Missouri, 33 people were hurt, most of them in Sedalia, where the mayor estimated damage at $45 million to $49 million.

In Kalamazoo, two women, Christina Wellington, 26, and Lucia McFall, 64, both of Kalamazoo were crushed when winds blew off the back wall of a department store. Mazie Gilman, 31, of Kalamazoo died inside a laundromat when a wall collapsed on her, police reported. Ten other persons inside the laundry escaped serious injury.

Raymond Moyer, 67, of Kalamazoo was killed after being blown off the top of a fuel truck, and Francis Hardy, 49, of Paw Paw, died when a tree toppled onto him as he rode his motorcycle through a downtown park.

The governor sent 230 Michigan state police troopers to Kalamazoo and said a request for federal disaster assistance would be made after discussions with local officials.

Winston Wrinkle calls for election of Reagan

Winston Wrinkle said the "election of a president in 1980 may well be the most important decision Americans will make during the remainder of the 20th Century" is a talk made before the West Texas Republican Women's Club here earlier this week.

"Our future as a nation is at stake," Wrinkle said. "We cannot accept continued inflation, a mismanaged energy crisis, the erosion of the dollar, and the loss of our personal hopes. We must stop the decline of our leadership in the world, the weakening of our defense capability, and the aimless drifting from crisis to crisis."

"We can solve our problems. We can do it with American ingenuity, common sense and strength of purpose," Wrinkle added, "but we must have wise and experienced leadership from the president of the United States. Of all the candidates, only Ronald Reagan has the proven leadership we need."

a ceiling on federal spending and a crackdown on waste. At the same time, he favors incentive tax cuts to increase economic productivity. He believes the U.S. must become self-sufficient in energy, so no one can ever blackmail us again," Wrinkle told his listeners. "Reagan favors an end to restrictive controls, so we can use all the resources now available to us. Further, he feels America must regain its leadership in the world, rebuilding our defense capacity, reassuring and strengthening our allies and restoring our own confidence to defend vital U.S. interests in an increasingly troubled world."

Wrinkle reminded his listeners that Howard County voters in the Republican Primary earlier this month favored Reagan by a margin of five to one.

Phone trouble:

Just call Olen

PATERSONVILLE, Ohio (AP) — If there's telephone trouble in St. Louis, Dallas or New York, the phone company can mobilize hundreds of men and millions in equipment. Hereabouts, you just call 83-year-old Olen Shaffer.

Shaffer is the lone repairman for the Patersonville Telephone Company, which has 264 customers and one pay phone. It is the tiniest telephone system in Ohio, a David prospering in Goliath's backyard thanks to owners Scott and Neva Toot.

"We're doing great. We've even doubled the number of subscribers since taking it over," said Mrs. Toot.

Since acquiring the company — which now grosses nearly $100,000 a year — in 1971, the Toots have buried all but two miles of its telephone lines, established direct dialing and installed automatic exchange equipment.

The nosy mom problem

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Phil, 17, from San Mateo, Calif., has an unusual problem and would like suggestions from teen guest writers. Judy Goff, 17, from Hagerstown, Md., and Ed Malmquist, 17, who lives in Galesburg, Ill., will do the honors.

Dr. Wallace: I have a most unusual problem. I'm going with a girl 18 who is attending San Diego State University. We plan eventually to get married. Nancy is a Catholic and I'm Protestant and my mother does not want me going with her for that reason.

Nancy and I write to each other three times a week and call once every two weeks. My problem is that my mother has been opening her letters to me. The mail comes when I'm in school and I know the letters have been opened when I get them. I think she uses steam and then glues the envelope shut after she reads the letter. Please tell me what to do. I'd also appreciate some advice from your guest teen writers. — Phil, San Mateo, Calif.

Phil: First of all, your mother is making a serious mistake by snooping in your mail. Trust between parents and teens is a two-way street. Be honest. Tell Mom that you think she is opening your letters from Nancy and ask her to please stop. Usually, this will be sufficient even if Mother denies the act. — Dr. Wallace

Hi Phil. Nosy moms can be a "pain in the neck" but I can think of things they do that cause a pain somewhere else. Your problem would be solved if you had Nancy write to you at a friend's address. Why give your mother the temptation? — Judy Hagerstown, Md.

Hello Phil. I've seen my mom open and reread letters (addressed to my grandmother who lives with us) and yes, she uses steam to open them.

Why don't you get a post office box? They are very reasonable and in your case, well worth it. Don't tell your mother and watch how frustrated she becomes. — Ed Galesburg, Ill.

If you would like to be a guest teen writer, please write to me, in care of this newspaper stating your sex and age.

Dear Abby

Deserted Wife Still Gets Desserts

DEAR ABBY: A year ago, after being married 30 years, I came home and found a note on the kitchen table saying, "So long!" My husband and I had been bickering for several years, but I never thought he'd leave me. (He is 65 and I am 60.)

I worked our entire married life, as we have no children. He refuses to sit down and talk to me or anyone else. All he says is there is nothing to talk about. We both belong to two groups that meet once a month for dinner. When he sees me at these affairs, he sits with me and even pays for my dinner. When I run into him into restaurants, he'll join me and pick up the check, but as soon as I ask him what the future is for us, he turns me off and clams up.

I'm still living in our home and paying all the bills. He knows that I have a well-paying position and can support myself, so he makes no effort to send me any money.

I am going crazy wondering what his intentions are. What do you suggest? Should I just sit tight until he makes a move?

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Since he left a note saying "So long," and hasn't lived with you since, you can assume that he has deserted you. A lawyer can tell you where you stand legally. Socially, you're a woman without a husband.

DEAR ABBY: I recently came across a book that described masturbation as a "valuable tension safety valve."

As a woman of 77, brought up to believe that "self-abuse," as it was called in my day, would lead to idiocy, I was startled and confused.

During all my 44 years of married life (and five children), I never once experienced an orgasm. Now, as an old widow, I self-induced one, and found it wonderful! Am I on the path to perdition? Is single ecstasy wicked?

Being of a logical turn of mind, I cannot see how an occasional self-indulgence is harmful. Certainly no one else is involved or harmed. How can such a glorious, exciting and relaxing experience be wrong, harmful or dirty?

ANONYMOUS, PLEASE

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Masturbation is normal, natural and universal. The only harmful aspect is the guilt it produces in those who have been programmed to believe it is wrong, harmful and dirty.

DEAR ABBY: I have a next-door neighbor who invites me and my family over for dinner often. (I'll call her Millie.) I really enjoy her company, but her cooking is the absolute pit! You wouldn't believe what she can do to a simple roast and mashed potatoes. When I tell my kids we are eating at Millie's, they say, "Oh, Mom, do we have to go?" It's so bad, I've seen her own family leave the food practically untouched.

When I invite Millie and her gang here for dinner, there is never anything left over. Last time I made hamburgers, and her kids said, "Mom, find out how to make these — they're great!" Abby, the recipe was so simple, a 5-year-old could have thrown it together in 10 minutes.

I hesitate to offer Millie any help because she really doesn't seem interested in cooking. It's just another chore to her. Several times when she's invited us to dinner, I have tried to get out of it by saying, "I'm sorry, I've already got my dinner scheduled." Then she says, "Well, bring it over and we'll pool our dinners." I end up pooling mine, and she ends up shucking hers. So what should I do?

MILLIE'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Next time Millie invites you, remind her that her kids liked your hamburgers, then tell her if she'll have the ingredients ready, you'll show her how to make them. (The best way to learn cooking is by looking.) And if that doesn't work, accept one invitation in three.

Justin David Morris is born on Mother's Day

Justin David, newborn son of Jeff D. and Karen L. Morris of 616 Dallas, made his arrival on Mother's Day, May 11, at 11:33 a.m.

The infant, born at Malone-Hogan Hospital, made his debut weighing 8 pounds 9 1/2 ounces. He measured 19 1/2 inches in length.

Maternal grandparents of Justin are Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Spradling of Big Spring. Paternal grandparents are David B. Morris, Altus, Ark., and Billie M. Booth, Milwaukee, Wisc.

Justin David is the couple's first child.

McCurry's announce birth

Mr. and Mrs. Kimbell McCurry, Big Spring, announce the birth of their first child, a daughter Megan Ruth. The infant made her debut at 1:03 p.m., May 4, at Malone-Hogan Hospital, weighing 7 pounds 9 1/2 ounces.

The maternal grandparents are Richard R. Darner, Dallas, and Corinne H. Darner, Wichita Falls. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle L. McCurry, Wichita Falls. Megan Ruth's great-grandmother is Mrs. C.O. Darner, Phoenix, Ariz.

For the record

In a birth announcement headlined "First child is born to Mr. Mrs. Donnie Hale," May 5 issue, Brinna Dawn's great-grandmother's name was misspelled. The correct spelling is Olivia I. Mackenzie.

The Herald regrets any embarrassment or inconvenience caused by this error.

1970 Hyperion Club installs new officers

The 1970 Hyperion Club met May 9 at the home of Mrs. Jay Wallace for their spring luncheon and installation of new officers. The outgoing officers were co-hostesses for this event.

In a candlelight ceremony, Mrs. G.R. Robinson installed the new officers for the 1980-81 club year, explaining the duties of each office.

Installed were Mrs. Ray Alexander, president and council representative; Mrs. A.J. Pirkle, vice-president; Mrs. Jerry Phillips, secretary; Mrs. Jimmy Anderson, treasurer; Mrs. Curtis N. Strong, historian; Mrs. J. Robert McKenzie, reporter; and Mrs. Jay Wallace, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Alexander presided over the business meeting that followed, during which Mrs. Travis Hunter was accepted as a new member, and plans for the next club year were discussed.

Committee members appointed by Mrs. Alexander included: Program and yearbook committee, Mrs. A.J. Pirkle, Mrs. Bill Sheppard, and Mrs. O.H. Ivie; project, ways and means committee, Mrs. C.L. Carlisle, Mrs. John Key, and Mrs. Paul Rawlings; social committee, Mrs. Willie P. Lane, Mrs. Warren Wise, and Mrs. Howard Mott; telephone committee, Mrs. Skipper Driver and Mrs. Adolph Supak; friendship committee, Mrs. Delbert Donelson, Mrs. James Lee, and Mrs. Dennie Warrington.

Prospective parents honored with shower

Expectant parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Perkins, were honored with a miscellaneous baby shower May 8 at 6:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

Special guests attending included Mrs. Annie Mae Perkins, mother of the father-to-be; Shirley Albert and Alice Boucam, both sisters of the future father.

Pink and blue cloth overlaid with white lace enhanced the refreshment table set with crystal appointments.

A cake, decorated in pink and blue, and chips and dips were served to the 20 guests present.

Hostesses Mrs. Robert Forney, Mrs. W.F. Harrell and Mrs. Scott McKnight presented the couple with a baby bed.

Baby Perkins is expected in July.

MERIT Stands Alone.

Research underscores MERIT as proven taste alternative to high tar smoking.

One low tar cigarette offers proof—not claims—that there is a satisfying alternative to high tar smoking. That alternative: MERIT.

MERIT Taste Key To Success.

Latest smoker studies provide documented evidence in key areas of taste, ease of switch and ability to satisfy long term.

Blind Taste Tests: In tests where brand identity was concealed, a significant majority of smokers rated the taste of low tar MERIT as good as—or better than—leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Smoker Preference: Among the 95% of smokers stating a preference, the MERIT low tar/good taste combination was favored 3 to 1 over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed!

Long-Term Satisfaction: In the latest survey of former high tar smokers who have switched to MERIT, 9 out of 10 reported they continue to enjoy smoking, are glad they switched, and report MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried!

MERIT is the proven alternative to high tar smoking. And you can taste it.

Prison site rests in Clements' hands

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he knows that the possible location of a state prison in Starr County hinges on his yes or no.

"That's why I'm governor," he said Tuesday in response to reports that Starr County officials consider him the key to the controversy.

The State Board of Corrections negotiated secretly to pay $7.8 million for the 5,293-acre La Casita Farms and then voted to approve the purchase a day before a supposed deadline set by the owner.

However, Clements and Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong blocked the deal until it could be investigated and local residents given time to learn more.

Clements and Armstrong sit on the approval board which reviews land purchases for the prison system. The three-member board will decide the matter May 22.

"The communities themselves need to be a strong advocate and part of the process," Clements told a news conference.

He was in the Rio Grand Valley for a series of public appearances and political receptions.

In a meeting with local newspaper editors, the governor emphasized the state should not build prisons where people oppose them. But he added he could not understand why the relatively poor, rural county did not want the maximum security facility.

"We should not do something that the people of the community don't want to happen," he said.

"I don't know why in the world they would object to a prison. I personally think it would be a good thing for the county."

The prison would employ 300 with an annual payroll of $3 million.

County officials say they are afraid of losing tax revenues when the property goes off the rolls. Businessmen are concerned that industry will not locate in a prison community. And officials of the crowded school system fear a worse situation if prison employees with school age youngsters move to town.

Clements, the state's first Republican governor since Reconstruction, has traveled to this traditional Democratic part of Texas several times since January. His frequent visits are seen by some local observers as an attempt to boost Republican strength for the upcoming presidential battle.

South Texas was considered a key factor in putting Texas in Jimmy Carter's camp in 1976. The failure of Democrats to turn out the vote in this overwhelmingly Hispanic area two years ago is considered one factor in Clements' win.

The governor told editors he is traveling all over the state and said he did not think his trips to the Valley were that numerous.

"It's part of trying to keep up with what's going on in the state, particularly as we move into the November election process," he said.

Clements said Ronald Reagan will carry Texas in November but it will be a close, 52 percent-48 percent split over President Carter.

In another matter, the governor estimated 3,000 to 4,000 Cuban refugees from the "Freedom Flotilla" will settle in Texas.

Britons ignore call for day-long strike

LONDON (AP) — Most of Britain's 26 million workers ignored a call for a 24-hour nationwide shutdown today by labor unionists opposed to the economic policies of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and her Conservative government.

As the shutdown appeared to be developing into a massive rejection for union bosses and militants, Conservative lawmakers introduced a motion in the House of Commons "congratulating the people of the United Kingdom for ignoring the day of no work."

The Day of Action called by the Trades Union Congress, a loose confederation of 112 labor unions, to protest mounting unemployment, worsening inflation and severe cutbacks in government spending got off to a half-hearted start.

The response to the shutdown plan appeared patchy and London was affected only slightly. Most major industrial concerns reported "more or less" normal turnouts by their employees.

The Confederation of British Industry, representing more than 12,000 major employers, reported the effect "in most areas appears to be minimal. Most workers are making this a day of action by working normally."

None of the nine London-based national newspapers published after print unions staged a walkout, although provincial papers were on the streets. The anti-union, rightwing Freedom Association published a 12-page tabloid in London and all 250,000 copies were sold out by dawn, the Association said.

Most public transportation was running. The state-run British Rail system said some intercity trains were not operating but most local trains were running "almost normally."

FEATURED SOPRANO — Bessie Hunter will perform the role of Bess in the concert version of George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" Thursday performed by Midland-Odessa Symphony Orchestra. The concert will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Big Spring High School Auditorium. General admission tickets are $4.

Hunt begins for musical best in Texas

CHICAGO, Ill. — High school band directors throughout Texas are taking part in an important musical search for 102 outstanding high school seniors to represent their states in the 1980 McDonald's All-American High School Band. The only music recognition program of its kind in the U.S., the All-American Band brings together the 102 to perform in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade and Carnegie Hall in New York City and at other concert performances. For band directors, the program provides recognition for top musicians at a price in line with their budgets — all expenses for Band members are paid by McDonald's Corporation.

Annually, high school band directors are invited to nominate their most talented students to the All-American Band. From the thousands of nominees, 102 musicians — two from each state and the District of Columbia — are chosen by a selection committee of music educators. The final 102 for the 1980 Band will be announced in early October.

In addition to performance opportunities, the All-American Band program also provides members the chance to audition for scholarships and instrument awards. Scholarships to the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, and Livingston College at Rutgers University are awarded to selected members.

Music education clinics for Band members are sponsored by Yamaha International Corporation. Yamaha also awards new, professional-model instruments to several selected players in the Band and provides all baritone, sousaphone and percussion instruments used by the Band in its parade and concert appearances.

According to Paul Jeffrey, associate professor of music at Livingston College and a member of the All-American Band's Selection Committee, "The economy is hitting the nation's high schools, too. Band directors are faced with tighter budgets than ever before."

Ryan returned to Big Spring

Earl Boyd Ryan, Snyder, was returned to Big Spring Monday from Snyder by Howard County Sheriff's Deputy Milton Kirby on a revocation warrant.

Ryan entered a plea of guilt of DWI June 5, 1975. He has allegedly failed to report to his probation officer or pay probation fees totaling $190.

Assault rap is dropped

A complaint by assault victim Mary Helen Lopez was dropped by District Attorney Rick Hamby when he said he determined that she had told the story several different ways.

Joe Lopez, Martin Diaz and Rafael C. Lopez were released Monday. They had been charged with the assault.

Mrs. Lopez claims she was assaulted and threatened with a knife April 23. Charges were filed April 23.

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to improve public relations in your line of endeavor and to take advantage of opportunities coming your way. Follow up with positive plans to gain your goals.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contact those who can assist you in gaining your fondest aims. Sum up the day's accomplishments in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 21) You have fine ideas for adding to income, so put them in operation without delay. Obtain financial advice you need.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Go after whatever is of greatest interest to you now and get fine results by being persistent. Be active and happy.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Go after your personal aims in a positive fashion and get excellent results. Work at a measured pace.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have to cultivate your friendships more if they are to grow and be lasting. Be sure to exercise caution in motion.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Involve yourself more in public affairs and gain added prestige. Good day for expansion in career activities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have a good chance to make real progress today, so don't waste valuable time. Strive for increased happiness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to work well with others who have the same mutual interests. Be clever in the handling of money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you listen more carefully to what allies have to say, you can gain fine mutual results. Use common sense.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Have a serious talk with associates early in the day and come to a solid agreement. Undo a wrong you have done to another.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Take an active part in outside activities and enjoy life more. You have a special talent that needs expression now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) This is a good time to improve conditions at home. Following the advice of a financial expert can be beneficial at this time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be resourceful and good in handling emergencies, so give the best education you can afford and a fine future is assured. Give fine religious training and permit to participate in healthful sports. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Mutscher: An unholy alliance of destroyers

Dirty thirty dwindle to filthy four

By STEVE MCGONIGLE
Corpus Christi Caller Staff Writer
Specialist in North-Houston Austin Bureau

The once Dirty Thirty of the Texas House are now but a Filthy Four.

Gone are two more names from the roster of legislator reformers whose efforts during the 1971 Legislature ensured "Sharpstown" would remain one of the most unsavory words in Texas politics.

As of Saturday night, Dave Allred of Wichita Falls and Fred Head of Athens joined the ranks of departed members of the rag-tag coalition of liberal Democrats and conservative Republicans that became a thorn in the side of former House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher, Jr.

Democratic voters in Wichita Falls ousted Allred, a seven-term House member and son of former Gov. James V. Allred, in favor of former Wichita Falls Mayor John Gavin.

Fred Head, 41, saw his bid for an eighth term in the House crushed by real estate man Elton Bomer of Montalba.

Another Dirty Thirty ex, Rep. Ben Z. Grant of Marshall, opted to run for a state district judge instead of a sixth House term.

The Dirty Thirty was born March 15, 1971, during a vote on Rep. Frances "Sissy" Farenthold's resolution calling for a joint House-Senate probe of the so-called Sharpstown Scandal.

It had been almost three months since the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission had accused Mutscher, Gov. Preston Smith, Mutscher lieutenants Rush McGinty and Rep. Tommy Shannon, Houston banker-developer Frank Sharp and many other prominent businessmen of involvement in a plan to manipulate stock in a Sharp-owned insurance firm.

After Mutscher refused to recognize the Corpus Christi representative's motion, Rep. Lane Denton of Waco in a well-planned parliamentary move, forced an appeal of Mutscher's ruling to the full House.

The membership upheld Mutscher 118-30, but the rebels succeeded in putting the House's attitude toward Sharpstown on the record.

As the vote was posted, a lobbyist was heard to remark, "Those dirty bastards, those thirty, dirty bastards," and the anti-Mutscherites had a name.

Allred, 46, says he was done in by an electorate grown apathetic in its cynicism about all things political, not because of his Dirty Thirty background.

Head says he can't explain his loss.

Their departures leave Democratic Rep. Paul Moreno of El Paso and Republicans Fred Agnich of Dallas, Bill Blythe of Houston and Tom Craddock of Midland as the final four Dirty Thirty members.

Gone before are the likes of Sissy Farenthold, Lane Denton and Tom Moore, Jr. of Waco; Charles Patterson of Taylor; Maurice Angly of Austin; Lindsey Rodriguez of Hidalgo; Curtis Graves, Rex Braun and Edmond "Sonny" Jones of Houston; and Dick Reed and the Rev. Zan Holmes of Dallas.

Switched to the Senate side of the capitol rotunda are Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi, Bob Vale of San Antonio and Walter "Mad Dog" Mengden of Houston.

Last year, Truan and Vale became members of another anti-establishment clique — the Killer Bees.

Former Reps. Neil Caldwell of Alvin and Ed Harris of Galveston sought and won district judgeships. Tom Bass of Houston is a Harris County commissioner; John Hannah of Lufkin is now U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Texas.

The only active candidate for office other than a seat in the Texas House is Bob Gammage of Houston, who is running for Congress.

Attorneys Bill Bass of Ben Wheeler and John Bigham of Temple, steelworkers union official R.C. "Nick" Nichols of Houston and funeral home owner Jim Earthman of Houston are back home plying their respective trades.

To their detractors, they were militants and radicals engaged in political warfare.

Mutscher, who they hounded tirelessly during the 1971 Legislature, once tagged them "an unholy alliance of destroyers." Admirers saw them as heroes — gutsy outsiders no longer willing to play the insiders' game.

They don't have much contact any more, but they still delight in seeing one another and bemoan a bad turn in a former soulmate's political fortunes.

Farm CAST will conduct special study on future of sheep industry

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Council on Science and Agricultural Technology (CAST) will conduct a special task force study on the future of the sheep and goat industry at the request of Rep. Charles W. Stenholm, (D-Tex.), it was announced recently.

"CAST members met with Congressional leaders in March and expressed their interest in responding to copies that we felt were timely and needed," Stenholm explained. "In view of the ever-increasing difficulties faced by the sheep and goat industry in Texas, as well as other Western states, I felt this was an excellent opportunity to have some of the best, most thorough minds in the scientific community review those problems from every angle possible."

Stenholm said he had been assured that the controversial predator control issue would receive a comprehensive examination. "I also suggested that the study attempt to break new ground or compile the most current studies dealing with ways to combat the predator problem," he said.

Federal rules would create 'nightmare of paperwork'

AUSTIN — Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today that proposed changes in federal regulations governing aerial spraying of pesticides would result in a "nightmare of paperwork" and would actually worsen the problems they seek to correct.

Brown submitted testimony to the Environmental Protection Agency and Federal Aviation Administration concerning a petition by the Friends of the Earth (FOE) organization which asks that restrictions on aerial spraying of pesticides and pesticide drift by severely tightened.

He noted that one of the proposals would require aerial applicators to obtain written permission from all property owners within 1,000 feet of a spray site. "If each of the 120,000 private, commercial and non-commercial applicators in Texas sprayed only one field apiece, it would require regulators to examine over a half-million signed documents, as well as follow up with physical inspections," said Brown.

Program to help preserve family farm moves along

AUSTIN — A new state-sponsored program designed to help preserve the family farm in Texas moved one step nearer implementation as a nine-member advisory council voted to sell $10-million in bonds as soon as possible, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

The Family Farm and Ranch Security Program (FFRSP) advisory council, appointed by Gov. William P. Clements, held its organizational meeting Thursday in Austin.

The advisory council directed its financial advisor to begin preparing necessary documents for the bond sale. The bonds may be advertised for sale within 90 days, Brown said.

The group elected as its chairman Jack Barton, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank in Houston. Dr. John A. Hopkin, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Texas A&M University, was elected vice-chairman. Renal B. Rosson will serve as secretary. Rosson is general legal counsel for the Texas Department of Agriculture and FFRSP director.

Other members of the advisory council include Kenneth Irwin, Gruver State Bank, Gruver; John W. Jones, Commercial National Bank of Brady; Eristus Sams, a general farmer at Waller; Jerry Holton Jones, a cotton farmer at Lubbock; Felix Parmley, a dairy farmer from Nacogdoches; Charles Wilson, a grain farmer at Quanah and J.T. Garrett, a livestock farmer from Danbury.

SPECTACULAR SETTING — Rod Kennedy's Quiet Valley Ranch as seen from the top of Hawk Mountain overlooking the outdoor theater, the site, May 22-26, of the ninth annual Kerrville Folk Festival. The stage is at the lower right while the edge of the camp grounds can be seen in the upper left hand corner. The flat areas that look like lakes in the background are actually large meadows of grass and are often filled with cattle. The spectacular setting of the Kerrville Music Festivals is one of the charms which draws family audiences from more than three dozen states and many foreign countries each Memorial Day weekend. The atmosphere is informal and the fans are there to listen to music resulting in a hassle-free weekend for everyone. This year's festival includes performers like Guy Clark, Willis Alan Ramsey, Townes Van Zandt, Steven Fromholz, and B.W. Stevenson.

Kerrville Folk Festival opens May 22 with terrific line-up

KERRVILLE — The Kerrville Folk Festival's ninth annual edition opens Thursday, May 22, for a five-day weekend of music and reunions of good camping friends at Rod Kennedy's Quiet Valley Ranch, nine miles south of Kerrville on Texas Highway 16.

The festival runs May 22-26, closing at about midnight on Monday night. Memorial Day when the 43rd performer completes the fifth night's evening concert. All together there will be five evening concerts and a dozen daytime events, some of them being held at the Texas State Arts & Crafts Fair on the Schreiner College campus twelve miles from the ranch.

Camping out, cooking out, relaxing under the stars in lawn chairs with beer and barbecue, good music and a warm appreciative crowd in the lovely setting of the Texas Hill Country all combine to make the Kerrville experience something special.

The opening night line up is typical in its diversity and strength with the 5:30 warm up by Eagle Bone Whistle, an electric traditional band that specializes in Irish Reels. The 6 p.m. evening concert opens with last year's winner of the "Great Texas Harmonica Blow-Off" David Kreichbaum and his band of selected musicians from El Paso and Austin.

Two emerging Texas song writers follow with Tim Henderson of Austin offering an assortment of humorous songs and romantic frontier ballads, and lovely Tish Hanley returning to her native Texas from Red River, New Mexico to sing some lyric, stunningly beautiful original songs.

Butch Hancock, originally of Lubbock, now of Austin, returns to the festival with his own nationally popular ballads like "West Texas Waltz", "Dry Land Farm" and "Fools Fall In Love" backed by his own band. He'll undoubtedly reappear on the festival later in the schedule with Joe Ely.

Steven Fromholz is next, start of "Outlaw Blues," writer of "I'd Have To Be Crazy", original member of "Frummock", and with two Capitol LP's and his new Felicity album to his credit.

Tickets will be on sale at the gate 24 hours a day and buyers of ticket for three or more days of the festival can camp out at the festival. For additional ticket, concert

Brothers hang on for survival

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A dramatic battle for survival was won Tuesday night by two San Antonio brothers who traveled almost a mile in turbulent, rain-swollen waters of a storm drain before literally hanging on for dear life to a ladder leading up to a manhole to waiting police and firemen.

The drama began about 8 p.m. when violent thunderstorms lashed San Antonio, dumping up to two inches of rain in some parts of the city as winds whipped close to 60 mph in some places.

Police and fire units, meanwhile, had rushed downstream and were flipping open manhole covers, trying to determine the whereabouts of the two brothers.

Finally, after being carried almost a mile, Leonard said he grabbed the railings of a ladder at a manhole. Leonard said he struggled to get onto the ladder and hold his brother.

Police and fire units pulled them from the ladder. The two were rushed to Bexar County Hospital where they were treated for minor bruises and shock and later were released.

His brother, Leonard, 16, tried to reach him and followed Daniel as the swirling waters carried him downstream.

"I tried to throw tree branches in for him to grab, but I couldn't reach him. It was funny at first, then I got scared and wanted to get him out," Leonard said.

Leonard then said he fell in, but was surprised by the depth and swiftness of the current. The powerful water carried the pair into part of the channel which goes underground, and Leonard recalled, "When we started going underground, I didn't think we were going to get out alive."

In the darkness of the storm drain, Leonard managed to catch up with his little brother and the two clutched each other as the rapidly rising waters roared through the culvert.

Gas donated to INS office

WASHINGTON (AP) — A private organization is offering 500 gallons of gasoline to the Immigration and Naturalization Service to increase the Border Patrol's rationed supply.

"In a recession, we can't afford to accept unlimited illegal immigration, to leave our borders open," Roger Conner, executive director of the Federation for Immigration Reform, said Tuesday.

The organization, which sought to have illegal aliens excluded from the census count used for legislative apportionment and distribution of federal funds, said fewer illegal immigrants are being apprehended along the Texas border.

FAIR pointed to the reduced gasoline supplies for INS vehicles and the transfer of agents from Florida to Texas because of the Cuban refugee influx as the causes.

PERFECTING THE OPTION — Big Spring Steer quarterback candidate Tracy Spence (with the football) breaks through the line on an option play during a short scrimmage yesterday at the local practice field. Providing downfield blocking for Spence is wide receiver Reggie Anding (far right). The Steers, under new Coach Ralph Harris, work out on Monday through Friday at the practice field by BSHS, and move to Memorial Stadium on Saturday for a full scale scrimmage.

Harris, coaching staff hoping to find answers to positions

Big Spring football coach Ralph Harris and his coaching staff have learned a great deal about the gridders in the spring training sessions thus far, and the prospective team is also having to absorb many new ideas rapidly.

"We've given them a lot to learn thus far," Harris said during a break in yesterday's practice session. "So much that it's making them drag their feet a little bit the past couple of days."

The Steers scrimmaged for over two hours on Saturday morning, and the session gave Harris and his staff a chance to see the strengths and shortcomings of his team as they prepare for the 1980 season.

"We need to find a quarterback, a tight end and some linebackers," Harris stated. "We've got some football players, though."

Harris said that the quarterback position right now is between three players, seniors to be Ben Watson and Chuck Gibbs, and junior to be Tracy Spence.

Watson has missed all of spring training on a choir trip, and Gibbs and Spence are operating Harris' split backfield option attack right now.

"Neither one of them have varsity experience right now (Spence or Gibbs), but they're both coming along," the new Steer mentor stated. "Watson's very fast and is the strongest one, but he might end up at running back."

Harris was somewhat concerned about the dragging practice sessions on Monday and Tuesday, and did state that the BSHS gridders have some necessary improvement to make in the mental aspects of their approach to the game.

"We're not going to peak too early," he said. "There's no question about that. But I think we're going to come around in time."

Nothing's for certain as 76ers, Lakers resume series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rebounding and the homecourt advantage are always considered important factors in National Basketball Association confrontations, but they don't seem to mean a thing in the current championship series.

Other items pointed to in crucial games are age and experience, but those, too, seem meaningless as the Philadelphia 76ers and Los Angeles Lakers go at each other.

The best-of-seven championship series is tied 2-2 with Game Five to be played tonight at the Forum. Game Six will be played at Philadelphia's Spectrum Friday night with Game Seven, if necessary, at the Forum Sunday afternoon.

The series is deadlocked even though the Lakers own a staggering 200-145 advantage in rebounding, meaning that Los Angeles has topped Philadelphia by an average of nearly 14 rebounds per game thus far in the series.

And the homecourt advantage? It meant a lot to both the Lakers and the 76ers during the regular season, but the teams have split a pair of games in Los Angeles and two in Philadelphia.

As for age and experience, in Game Four last Sunday, the 76ers were led by 23-year-old Darryl Dawkins, who scored 26 points and grabbed 10 rebounds, while the Lakers were paced by 20-year-old rookie Earvin "Magic" Johnson, who had 28 points, nine rebounds and nine assists.

In addition, second-year guard Maurice Cheeks of the 76ers and third-year backcourt standout Norm Nixon of the Lakers have contributed greatly.

Although there have been a number of surprises in the series up to now, the superstars — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Julius Erving — will undoubtedly continue to have a lot to do with what happens the rest of the way.

Abdul-Jabbar has averaged 32 points, 13 rebounds and five blocked shots a game, but the Lakers hope that in Game Five their superb center will have more than the one free throw opportunity he had Sunday.

"I've faced this since I started playing basketball," said Abdul-Jabbar. "I guess it's because I'm taller than everybody else. But in game this physical, it's highly unusual that I'd go to the line once."

Genuine Risk is Preakness choice

BALTIMORE (AP) — Genuine Risk, the filly trying to become the first of her sex to win the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, has been picked as the favorite in the second jewel of the Triple Crown.

Earle Hart, who establishes the odds at Pimlico Race Course, Tuesday selected Genuine Risk to go off at 9-5 with the West Coast favorite, Codex, close behind at 2-1.

Colonel Moran, the winner of the Withers Stakes at Aqueduct, was Hart's third choice at 4-1.

Lucky Pluck, meanwhile, became the ninth entry in the May 17 race. Hart made the horse, which is headed from Suffolk Downs to Baltimore, a 20-1 shot. The Michigan-bred gelding, which won Sunday at the Boston track in a six-furlong contest, has won three of 26 starts and has earned $27,338.

Hart, meanwhile, rationalized Genuine Risk's one loss to Plugged Nickle and Colonel Moran in the Wood Memorial.

"I've got to go with the filly. I think she's done everything," he said. "I don't know anything much about Codex except what will have beaten him."

Jack Klugman, owner of Derby show horse Jaklin Klugman, arrived Tuesday at Pimlico and learned his horse was given 5-1 odds by Hart.

Although he said he was optimistic his horse would do well in the Preakness, he added, "Off the Withers, I think Colonel Moran is a big contender."

Williams named Diamonds coach

DALLAS (AP) — Greg Williams, who led the Rice Owls to the Southwest Conference championship in 1971, has been named head coach of the Dallas Diamonds team of the Women's Basketball League.

Williams, former assistant coach for the Houston Angels of the WBL, replaces Dean Weese, fired near the end of last season and Ray Scott, who served as interim coach between Weese's firing and the end of the season.

Williams is to be paid $30,000 in his first season. The Diamonds finished their first season in the WBL with a 7-28 record.

Patriots sign UT's McMichael

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots have signed a third-round draft choice, nose tackle Steve McMichael of the University of Texas and cut a free agent tackle, Drake's Jack Matia, because he failed a physical examination, the National Football League team said.

McMichael, 22, 6-foot-2, 245 pounds, signed a series of three, one-year contracts for an undisclosed amount of money, the Patriots said Tuesday. He is the second of 12 draft choices to sign.

Matia, 6-foot-7, 280 pounds, was cut because of a bad knee, said the team. He was one of 10 free agents at a three-day camp in Foxboro.

Gary Gee and Andrea Fowler earn top awards

Coahoma honors athletes at banquet

Gary Gee and Andrea Fowler took top honors at the annual Coahoma All-Sports Banquet held in the school's cafeteria on Monday night.

The affair was sponsored by the Coahoma Bulldogs Booster Club.

Gee was named the Most Valuable Boy Athlete. A senior, he lettered in three sports—football, basketball and track. Gee is a two-time All-District offensive back, he also was All-District defensively from his cornerback position the past year. He has also been outstanding in track and field, advancing to the state Class AA meet in each of the past two years in the high hurdles.

Fowler was named the Most Valuable Girl Athlete. A junior, Fowler was the leading scorer for the Bulldogs girls basketball team that advanced to the district championship game, finally losing to Merkel. She also was named All-District in basketball. In track, Fowler advanced to the regional meet in the hurdles.

Rhonda Griffin was named the Outstanding Girls Basketball player, while Ron Belew was honored as the Outstanding Boys Basketball player. Both the Coahoma boys and girls teams advanced to the District 6-AA championship game before losing, enjoying excellent seasons.

Spot Paige was named the Outstanding Football Player. Paige was a versatile performer for the Bulldogs for three seasons, as he started at both fullback and linebacker, as well as handling all of the punting and kicking chores. He was an All-District performer.

The Coahoma Booster Club announced that Griffin and Jerry Roever were the recipients of Booster Club Scholarships. These are 300 dollar scholarships awarded so that deserving individuals may further their education.

Coahoma Athletic Director Roy Winters expressed that the coaching staff and players at Coahoma HS all deeply appreciate the outstanding support that their Booster Club provided throughout the year and at the successful season ending banquet.

standing Girl netter award went to Kelly Anderson.

Fay Fryar, who went to the regional track meet in four events, was named the Outstanding Girls Track performer. The Outstanding Boys Track Award went to Larry Newton. Newton won the District 6-AA meet in the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes, advancing to the regionals, where he placed sixth in both events.

Rhonda Griffin was named the Outstanding Girls Basketball player, while Ron Belew was honored as the Outstanding Boys Basketball player. Both the Coahoma boys and girls teams advanced to the District 6-AA championship game before losing, enjoying excellent seasons.

Rookie catcher propels Birds

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dan Graham shook things up when he was recalled by the Baltimore Orioles last week, and now the rookie catcher is about to bring about another major change.

After Graham socked a solo home run and drove in the tie-breaking run with an eighth-inning single in the Orioles' 4-3 victory over Texas Tuesday night, Manager Earl Weaver announced the shocking news.

"He's starting Wednesday night," said Weaver, who is known for his lineup juggling. "I have to start him or I'll be run out of town."

It might be the first time this year we've had a duplicate starting lineup."

Graham was brought up from the Orioles' Rochester farm club of the International League to try to add some offensive punch to the attack the defending American League champions.

To make room on the roster, the Orioles placed veteran catcher Dave Skaggs on the reassignment list, a move that upset many of the Baltimore players who had come up through the minors with Skaggs.

But Graham has quickly made points for the Orioles' recall decision. He hit a homer in his first game with Baltimore and went 3 for 4 Tuesday night as the Birds snapped a three-game losing streak. For his first week in the majors, he's 4 for 8.

Graham said he went up to the plate in the eighth, "looking for a fastball" from Jim Kern, who had relieved Texas starter Ferguson Jenkins in his bid for a 250th major-league victory.

"I'd never faced Kern before but they told me he'd be coming with the fastball, and that's what I got," Graham said. "He didn't get it where he wanted."

With two outs and the score tied 2-2, the left-handed hitter smacked the first pitch from Kern to center field to score Pat Kelly with the tie-breaker.

Eddie Murray then scored all the way from first base for the Orioles fourth run when center fielder Mickey Rivers misplayed the ball for an error.

"I had to have a strikeout at that point," Texas Manager Pat Corrales said of his decision to pull Jenkins with one out in the eighth. "There were too many things that could have happened. I couldn't worry about personal goals at that time."

Kern, who was sidelined earlier this season with an arm injury, said he was having trouble with his delivery that made it difficult to release the ball.

AL Roundup

Lynn cycles Bosox to win

When is a triple better than a homer...and a double...and a single.

Fred Lynn's drive off the wall in center field in the eighth inning went for a triple as he hit for the cycle for the first time in his career to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 10-5 victory over the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night.

"I'd rather have the triple because I've never hit for the cycle," Lynn said. "I only had one triple last year. So I've gotten my quota for this year. I made good use of it."

Lynn doubled in the first inning when the Red Sox scored once, hit a two-run homer off loser John Verhoeven to give Boston a 6-5 lead in the fourth and singled in a run in the sixth before his run-scoring triple in the eighth completed the cycle.

Last year's batting champion had a slow start at the plate, but he now has three homers in the last three games, and 13 hits and 10 RBI in his last five outings.

In other American League games, Baltimore beat Texas 4-2, Detroit edged Oakland 4-3, Kansas City stopped New York 4-1 and Chicago nipped Milwaukee 6-5 in 10 innings. Seattle at Toronto and California at Cleveland were rained out.

The Coca-Cola Colts increased their season record to 2-0 by taking an easy 19-4 win over the Cain Electric Cougars in American Little League action Monday night.

Harry Marquez was the winning pitcher in the contest, limiting the Cougars to three hits. Colin Carroll was the loser for the Cougars, who are now 2-3 on the year.

Dave Shorter had a double and a single for the Colts with Jimmy Rogers adding two singles. Sam Ross had a triple and Neely McCormick a single.

Jim Clark had two singles for the Cougars, with Victor Coats adding a single.

The Rainbarrel Gifts Braves took a 10-6 win over the Small Fishing and Rental Warriors in American Minor League action.

Frankie Juarez hurled a shutout in handing the Warriors their first defeat of the year, with Abner Shelman accepting the pitching loss.

The Braves were led by the hitting of Paul Bailey and Shannon Jobe, while the only Warriors hits came from Aaron Allen and Calvin Harrison.

The Warriors dropped to 3-1 with the loss, while the Braves are now 2-2.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE
The Rockets scored in every inning in powering past the Talons by a score of 21-4 in International League action Tuesday night.

The Rockets were led in the hitting department by the muscle of Sammy Baucham, who had a double and two singles. Chance Harrison, who had two triples and two singles, and Gilbert Garcia, who had a triple and three singles. Others connecting safely for the Rockets were Ruben Trevino, Jeff Ford, Chad Rader, and Dale Kennedy.

The Talons had only four hits in the contest. Connecting for singles were Tim Scott and Steve Rodriguez, while Heath Robey and Marcus Ramos each singled.

Baucham was the winning pitcher in the contest, with Harrison and Jerry Ybarra providing relief help. The trio walked seven and whiffed eight. The Rockets are now 4-1 in league play.

Ramos was the losing pitcher for the Talons, who now have a record of 2-3.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Scott McKinney raced home on a wild pitch in the bottom of the sixth to lift the State National Bank Cardinals to a 5-4 win over the Dillard's Yankees in National Little League action Tuesday night.

McKinney had doubled and advanced to third on an error to set up his late heroics.

The Cardinals punched out nine hits in the contest, with Joe James and Kevin Freeman both having a single and a double, while Todd McKinney had two singles. Others hitting safely once in the Cardinals attack included McKinney, Lance Soles and Chad Wash.

The Yankees had seven hits in the contest. Kim Anding had a triple and a single, while Todd Harness had two singles. Lee Morris, Sammy Watson and Tom Cates also connected safely.

Freeman was the winning pitcher for the Cardinals, who now sport a record of 3-2.

For the Yankees, now 2-3, John Olson absorbed the mound loss.

Age plus youth overcomes Astros, Ryan

HOUSTON (AP) — The unaffected Glen Falls, N.Y. native out-duelled Houston starter Nolan Ryan en route to his second victory of the season but he says he doesn't think about such things when he's on the mound.

Palmer evenly distributed five hits before tiring in the eighth inning and needed brief relief help from Fryman before registering his 10th consecutive decision over the past two seasons.

But it didn't start out that way as the Expos took advantage of Ryan's slow start and poor fielding for a 2-0 first inning lead. Rodney Scott went to second base when Ryan threw his grounder past first base.

Scott stole home to score the first Montreal run and Larry Parrish's double gave the Expos a 2-0 first inning lead. Scott singled to open the third inning and scored on Andre Dawson's double.

Terry Puhl singled to open Houston's first inning and scored on the first of three singles by Denny Walling. Puhl doubled in the fifth inning and scored on a sacrifice fly by Craig Reynolds.

"He's a very nasty pitcher," Walling said of Palmer. "I didn't think he had quite the stuff tonight that he had against us in Montreal. He tore us up."

Islanders take NHL series lead with wild win over Flyers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Perhaps it will take another 46 years before somebody scores a power play goal in overtime, in a National Hockey League playoff final. And if it does take that long, it's doubtful anyone will remember that Denis Potvin's tally at 4:07 of extra play was only part of the strange proceedings that marked the New York Islanders' 4-3 triumph over the Philadelphia Flyers.

It was strange because the overtime wouldn't have been needed if Potvin hadn't nudged the Flyers' first goal into his own net Tuesday night. It was strange because after all the predictions of brawls and stick attacks on Philadelphia forwards by New York goalie Bill Smith, the only "fight" involved the Flyers' mid-mannered Jim Watson.

Stranger still was referee Andy Van Hellemond's decision to call Watson for holding John Tonelli at 2:08 of overtime. In overtime, it is assumed the referee will take the little ball out of his whistle, skate with his eyes closed, and only punish offenses that result in loss of life or limb.

"They aren't called very often, but if there is an infraction, it should be called — and that was an infraction," said Coach Al Arbour after his Islanders improved their road playoff record to 8-1 and boosted their overtime record to 5-1 by taking the first game of their first-ever Stanley Cup final. I'm a Pepper Tourney slated Memorial weekend

The Second Annual I'm a Pepper Women's Open Slow-Pitch Tournament will be held on Memorial weekend, May 24-26 at the Johnny Stone Memorial Park.

The entry fee for the affair is 65 dollars per person. Tournament Director Nadine Teague has stressed that the entry deadline for the tourney is Friday, May 16. The 65 dollars included the use of the local YMCA's Women Health Center and tee shirts for 14 players and one coach.

Trophies will be awarded for the first four finishing teams. Individuals on the winning team will also be presented trophies, as well as the MVP and the All-Stars.

The games will have a one-hour time limit. No innings will start after the hour, and the 15-run rule will be in effect after five innings.

14 players is the limit per team, and each team must put at least eight on the field for the game.

Checks for teams wishing to enter should be made to Nadine Teague, C-O YMCA, Box 1428, Big Spring.

NEW YORK (AP) — Papp's company performs Fund-raising for Joseph Papp's Shakespeare-in-the-Park Festival is off to a hearty start with Citibank announcing a $150,000 outright grant and up to $100,000 more to match donations of theatergoers. Papp, the founder of the 24-year-old festival who has become a major Broadway producer as well, said the bank had "come to the rescue" of the festival. Papp's company performs plays free at the Delacorte Theater in Central Park and in trailer tours that bring theater to parks in every borough each summer. The festival will not include Shakespeare this summer. Instead, the festival will present a new production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" at the Delacorte, featuring rock star Linda Ronstadt.

Everett fights blood test order

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Actor Chad Everett, fighting a 1974 paternity suit, has asked the state Supreme Court to reject an order requiring him to take a special blood test. Everett claimed on Tuesday that a Los Angeles Superior Court order directing him to submit to a Human Leukocyte Antigens (HLA) blood test violates his constitutional right against unlawful searches and seizures. Filed on behalf of the child, Dale Andre Lee Everett, by his guardian, Caryl Warner, the lawsuit seeks to have the actor declared the youngster's father. The suit claims Sheila Scott is the mother. The former star of "Medical Center" claimed there was no cause of action since the dispute was resolved through a settlement agreement he and Miss Scott reached in a previous paternity action. Superior Court Judge Billy Mills agreed and dismissed the suit. A Court of Appeal reinstated the case. In the earlier action Everett, the child and Miss Scott all submitted to standard blood tests that did not exclude Everett as the father. Everett has denied he is the father.

Dime-a-gallon gas fee may not get off ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is asking a federal appeals court to overturn a lower court and let President Carter's dime-a-gallon gasoline fee take effect Thursday as planned. But even if the levy does get off the ground, Congress appears ready to make it short-lived.

The administration was filing briefs today to support its contention that the fee is legal and needed to cut gasoline consumption and dependence on foreign oil. On Tuesday, Carter called the levy "extremely important for our nation to maintain."

Hours earlier, federal judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. ruled here that the president had exceeded his authority by trying to impose the charge on all gasoline, whether refined from domestic or imported oil. Robinson said a 1962 law gives the president the power to regulate only imports.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said the three-judge appellate panel would be asked for a quick hearing, but Powell would not predict if that could come in time for the levy to be imposed on schedule.

The administration is coupling its judicial appeal with an effort to save the fee in Congress, where repeal efforts were gaining steam. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller arranged to take the administration's case to a House Ways and Means trade subcommittee today.

The panel was then planning to vote on legislation that would abolish Carter's fee and send the repeal measure to the full Ways and Means Committee, where a vote Thursday was considered likely.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, told reporters Tuesday, "I think the oil import fee is dead. We're just arguing about how to bury it." And House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., although supporting the fee, predicted the House would overturn it "in a walk."

In the Senate, where similar legislation has been introduced, a 75-19 non-binding test tally Monday indicated broad support for repeal.

If repeal succeeds, or if Robinson's ruling holds, the drive to produce the first balanced federal budget in 12 years could be in jeopardy.

The Senate has voted to use $100 million of the $10 billion estimated annual revenue from the fee to balance the fiscal 1981 budget. The House, however, is not relying on fee revenues for its version of a balanced spending program. The differences will be resolved in a conference committee.

On the light side

No silver lining

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The collapse of the silver market is being felt at the city sewage treatment plant.

A consultant says the plant is now discharging only $4,300 worth of silver a day into the Providence River, compared to $17,000 worth in January — before the silver prices plunged.

This city's large jewelry manufacturing industry accounts for the flow of silver into the sewage plant and the river.

When silver was peaking at $50.36 an ounce in January, the annual silver flow from the plant was figured at $6.2 million. It's estimated at $1.5 million at today's prices, the consultant said.

The plant is not equipped to remove the silver, and its present value makes sale of the sludge to a recovery firm economically infeasible, he said.

Swallows find new roost

PICO RIVERA, Calif. (AP) — Every year fewer swallows come back to Capistrano — too many people, too much noise, the orange groves that once attracted them almost gone. But bird-lovers will be happy to learn they've apparently found another place to roost — Pico Rivera.

Robert and Rachel Tapia, though, aren't too happy about it — the birds apparently have singled out their home in this industrial suburb of Los Angeles, about 50 miles northwest of Mission San Juan Capistrano. Hundreds of swallows occupied the house during the weekend, entering via its chimney, Mrs. Tapia said Monday.

The swallows made their move at 8 p.m. Saturday when 6-year-old Robby Tapia called his parents outside to see the birds circling overhead.

"My husband and I were watching thousands of beautiful birds swirling over our house when our other son (3-year-old David) called, Mommy, Mommy, the birds are in the house," Mrs. Tapia said.

When the Tapias ran inside, they saw that the birds had rushed down the chimney and broken through the metal fireplace screen into the family room and kitchen.

Bridge unseen until collapse, captain says

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The captain of the Summit Venture, the ship that slammed into the Sunshine Skyway Bridge last week, killing at least 34 people, says he didn't see the bridge until it collapsed over the bow of the vessel.

Capt. Hsiung Chu Liu was not at the helm at the time. The ship was being guided out of Tampa Bay by John Lerro, an area pilot.

Liu told a Marine Board of Inquiry Tuesday he saw nothing ahead when Lerro ordered that the vessel be thrown into reverse and to drop anchor. There was a blinding rainstorm at the time, he said.

The five-member board, composed of three Coast Guard officers and two members of the National Transportation Safety Board, planned to question Lerro and other members of the vessel's Chinese crew. The hearing is expected to last two weeks. The hearing resumes today.

The 608-foot freighter crashed into a bridge piling Friday morning, and the 1,400-foot center span of the bridge collapsed. Eight vehicles, including a Greyhound bus with at least 23 people on board, fell 150 feet into the bay.

Three more bodies — two women and a man — were found Tuesday in the bay near the bridge, bringing to 34 the number of bodies recovered. Police said they believed the wreckage under the bridge held another victim, the missing husband of a woman whose body was found. He would be the 35th victim.

Two suits were filed Tuesday in the case. One, filed by the state of Florida, sought $75 million damages and asked a federal court not to allow the Summit Venture to leave Tampa. The other suit, filed by Hercules Carriers Inc. of Liberia, owners of the ship, asks to be declared blameless and requests a finding that the accident happened because of bad weather.

Liu testified he first became concerned something was wrong when Lerro, 37, ordered lookouts to stand by the anchor. That was at 7:31 a.m., three minutes before the crash.

Ninety seconds later, Lerro ordered a hard left turn, the anchor dropped and the ship to full reverse, Liu said. But the Summit Venture plowed ahead, smashing into the bridge, he said. The ship bounced off the bridge, veered left and swung right, still moving ahead for two to three minutes, he said.

Liu said he didn't know why Lerro ordered the emergency maneuvers, but said they didn't help. It takes four minutes to stop the vessel, he said.

Visibility was so poor in the rain, he said, he couldn't see the bow of the ship or the buoys marking the channel.

Airlines given okay to increase fares

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has given U.S. airlines authority for the largest air fare increases ever, but doesn't expect any immediate, dramatic ticket price hikes.

And if air passengers are abused by too-high fares, the board said, it could change its mind.

The CAB ruled Tuesday that carriers can: —Charge whatever they feel the market will bear on flights up to 200 miles; —Raise fares as much as 50 percent on flights of 201 to 400 miles; and —Raise fares 30 percent on longer flights.

The increases apply to flights in the 48 adjacent states. The board expects to decide by Friday on international fare hikes and within two weeks on fares to Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

Present ticket prices are based on a standard industry fare level set by the CAB. The board said airlines can file for the new rates immediately and that some could take effect by Thursday.

The Airline Deregulation Act of 1978 calls for lifting all air fare ceilings by the end of 1982. The board's action Tuesday, a major step in that direction, will give members a chance to assess the impact of fare flexibility to see whether it feels changes are needed in the law.

The move also is aimed at aiding an industry hard pressed by soaring fuel prices and other operating costs. Industry profits dropped dramatically in 1979, and in the last three months the industry reported its worst quarterly financial showing ever.

To help carriers offset climbing operating costs, the board in the last 16 months has granted fare increases totaling 37.2 percent, including a 5.4 percent rise May 1.

Because of the uncertainty of what might happen in a flexible fare atmosphere, the CAB voted to make its decision an interim one of indeterminate length.

Board member George A. Dalley noted that complete fare deregulation is inevitable in 2½ years and added: "Clearly, Congress wanted us to use this time to gain some experience. I favor lifting the ceilings to give us a chance to look at the impact."

Rail system deadlock broken in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A legislative deadlock that could have ended all service over the bankrupt Rock Island Railroad has been broken, and congressional leaders now expect final action on the bill in 10 days.

After feuding for a month over development of new highspeed, intercity rail passenger corridors, House and Senate negotiators reached a compromise on that plan Tuesday.

The agreement, which could be ratified by the full House and Senate before the end of next week, opens the way for preservation of service by other railroads over about half the Rock Island's 7,000 miles of track, primarily by setting up a plan to protect employees who lose their jobs because of the court-ordered liquidation of the line. It also authorizes $750 million to complete the $2.5 billion improvement program on Amtrak's Northeast Corridor between Boston and Washington.

"All in all it was a matter of compromise and we did get a bill I think we can live with," said Senate Commerce Committee Chairman Howard Cannon, D-Nev.

The Senate and the Carter administration had supported the Rock Island and Northeast Corridor sections of the $1 billion rail package. But both opposed the House plan for $105 million to begin work and buy equipment for 13 proposed intercity passenger corridors with a reservation of another $850 million in oil "windfall profits" taxes to build them.

Transportation Secretary Neil Goldschmidt warned the president could veto the entire package if the so-called emerging corridor section was retained.

In an attempt to break the impasse, the Senate agreed last month to an administration proposal for a $5 million study of the new corridors and then finally accepted $38 million for that study plus another $25 million for new Amtrak equipment.

Cannon said both he and administration officials are concerned about the higher amount for the study, but he did not believe it would prompt a veto of the entire bill. He also said the final funding for the Northeast Corridor makes it clear to Amtrak that it's "the end of the road, and they're going to have to start recovering from the farebox the money needed to bring them into balance."

Farm-belt lawmakers, led by Kansas Republican Sen. Nancy Landon Kassebaum, had been pushing for quick passage of the bill so continued service over much of the midwestern Rock Island could be preserved as the harvest season begins.

Since federal operating subsidies expired March 23, half the Rock Island's 13-state system has been shut down and some 17 other railroads have been running the other half under government authority that ends May 31.

The Rock Island section of the bill extends that authority indefinitely, provides $15 million in government funds for emergency operating subsidies and allocates another $25 million to help non-railroad interests buy segments of the Rock Island other railroads are not interested in.

DO WELL IN DISTRICT COMPETITION — The Glasscock County 4-H girls pictured here excelled in district competition and two of them will be going on to state. The two small girls in front are Jackie Halfmann and Michele Pechacek. Others, from the left, are Denise Schwartz and Mary Kay Halfmann, both of whom will be in the state meet, Lisa Halfmann, Karen Halfmann, Stephanie Frerich and Cecelia Hirt.

Glasscock County 4-H Music special members going to state set Saturday

GARDEN CITY — Denise Schwartz and Mary Kay Halfmann will be going on to State 4-H Competition after winning the Pork demonstration at the district level. The girls have an impressive demonstration that shows how to make German sausage from pig to sausage rings.

Lisa and Karen Halfmann are the paramedics in the Glasscock County 4-H group. They competed in the Safety demonstration contest. Their subject: Snake Bites. They cover information from how to tell if a snake is poisonous, to what to do if you are bitten by a poisonous snake. Karen and Lisa get one's attention with the rattle of a real live stuffed rattlesnake.

Stephanie Frerich and Cecelia Hirt placed first in Horticulture preparation and use. Their topic was slaw and their final product was a red cabbage slaw with avocados and green grapes and poppy seed dressing.

Have you ever sat around the house and listened to the drip of a leaky water faucet? Maybe you need the help of the Powder Puff Plumber queens, Jackie Halfmann and Michele Pechacek. These two 4-H'ers placed first in the Home Environment Demonstrations with a presentation on fixing a leaky water faucet.

District 4-H Method Demonstration is usually held in May. 4-H members who enter contest take another step in expanding their educational experiences. Preparation for a contest include planning, decision-making, the accumulation of new information and skills and a challenge to develop greater self-confidence.

A country western music special program will be offered at the Kentwood Older Adult Center starting at 7 p.m., Saturday. Joe Dunn and his 'Dimmitt Bunch' will furnish the music. String music, vocals and novelty numbers will make up the program.

The group has performed here on two previous occasions and proved to be a crowd pleaser each time.

There will be no admission fee and the public is invited to attend.

No details released on witches' settlement suit

DIMMITT, Texas (AP) — Attorneys have declined to reveal details of a wrongful death suit settlement reached between self-avowed witches Louise Stone and the parents of a teenage girl killed on the Stone's property.

Roxanna Casas, 15, was killed instantly Halloween night 1977 by a shotgun blast that hit a pickup truck as it turned into the Stone's driveway. Two of three other youths riding in the vehicle were wounded by the blast.

Jurors in Plainview acquitted Stone of murder in the case Feb. 1. Criminal charges are still pending against Mrs. Stone.

Raul and Karen Casas, sued the Stones for an amount to be set by the court. Attorneys for both sides came to terms Friday.

and District Judge Van Stovall signed an order Monday dismissing that suit.

The Casas' attorney, John Maner of Lubbock, said Tuesday the suit was settled in favor of the Casas and the money was paid. The Casas had no comment on the case.

"The law in Texas provides for no pain and suffering element in the death of a minor" when death occurs instantly, Maner said. "The damages are limited."
