Black leader shot today near motel

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Vernon E. Jordan Jr., president of the National Urban League, was shot early today as he stepped from a car after returning to a motel. Police said they had no suspects and no motive for the shooting.

"This was not a racially motivated incident," said Frank Heyman, Fort Wayne city controller. "In fact, there is really no racial tension in Fort Wayne."

Jordan, 44, one of the nation's most prominent and respected black leaders, was in critical but stable condition after surgery at Parkview Memorial Hospital, said hospital administrator David Ridderheim. Doctors expressed "guarded optimism" about the chances for his recovery.

He received bullet wounds in the stomach, where doctors found four bullet fragments, and in the leg, hospital officials said.

President Carter, in a statement issued by the White House, said, "I was shocked and saddened to learn of the shooting. Vernon is a valued leader and a personal friend. All of us are praying for his speedy and full recovery."

TULIA TORNADO DAMAGE — A large radio antenna, located in Swisher County about 60 miles south of Amarillo, was toppled by a tornado Wednesday night. The twister caused scattered damage throughout the Tulia area. Tulia is located in Swisher County about 60 miles south of Amarillo. There were no injuries reported as of midnight Wednesday. ## Renovation set

Settles Hotel due new name

By DON WOODS

Renovation on the former Settles Hotel will begin in 45 days, according to hotel owner William P. Wortley, Dallas.

The name Jodi's Court has been selected for the renovated building. Wortley said he plans to convert the Settles into apartments that will be used primarily by persons having business with the federal prison.

"We're going to do a renovation now that the interest rates are down. We are converting it all to apartments," he said.

The project had been considered two years ago but interest rates were too high then to begin, he said.

"We've reserved $4.7 million dollars," said Wortley. The project is being financed by the UTHE Mortgage Company in Dallas.

Wortley's firm, which deals strictly in real estate, owns 10,000 apartments, six major hotels, five office buildings and three major shopping centers, he said.

He will arrive in Big Spring June 9 to begin operations on the renovation.

"Midland and Odessa have been very good to us. We're hoping Big Spring will be as well," he said.

Why was the lobby stripped and all the elegant wooden paneling taken from the halls?

"All they're doing is getting rid of all the old stuff," said Wortley. He said it was 50 years old and needed replacing.

Workmen began May 12 removing the ceiling fans from one of the hotel rooms; before the tenant had moved out.

She said she had paid up to June 1, but was ordered out May 20. Earlier she had been informed by a notice from hotel owners Wortley and Harry D. Hawn, that she would not have to leave until June 1.

State representative brings speaker race here

By STEVE HERSHBERGER

State Rep. Gibson "Gib" Lewis said Wednesday at an afternoon press conference in Big Spring he is six pledges short of election to Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

"I have over 70 pledge cards from people I think will safely be re-elected," said Lewis, a Democrat from Fort Worth's District 32-4.

A total of 76 votes is needed to be elected to the top spot in the Texas House.

Lewis came to Big Spring to confer with state representative elect Larry Don Shaw, who has publicly remained uncommitted in a race, which Lewis says is between himself and Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas. There are three other candidates in the speakers race, Rep. Bennie Bock, D-New Braunfels, Rep. Tim Van Dohlen, D-Goliad, and

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston. Washington is one of nine blacks serving in the Texas House.

Lewis said, "Larry is very important to me in my speaker's candidacy." The Fort Worth Democrat, who was traveling with another member of the Texas House, Rep. Charlie Evans, D-Fort Worth, said the trip was designed to discuss issues and goals with the newly elected representative from Howard County.

"It is very important that the speaker of the House know each member's district."

Much of the Fort Worth representative's support is coming from west of Dallas. Lewis said with the exception of two returning members of the House, every representative from West Texas has committed to his candidacy. Those two who have said they are not supporting are Lynn Nabers, D-Brownwood, and Bill Heatley, D-Paducah.

Lewis said he may withdraw if candidacy for the speakership of Billy Clayton, the present speaker, is cleared of his Brilab charges and decides to run for another term at the top spot of the Texas House.

"We will have to reanalyze," Lewis said.

The reason, he added, "Billy Clayton will not be in the race unless he has 95 to 100 firm pledges." Lewis said that Clayton already has the support of a majority of the house membership.

Lewis, who is president of Lewis Tape and Label Products, was first elected to the Texas House in 1970. He has served continuously since then.

During the 63rd Session, he was given the chairmanship of the Natural Resources Committee. He has maintained the position through the last three sessions.

The Fort Worth representative said the difference between the two leading speaker candidates is ideology.

"He is a liberal," Lewis said. "I am a conservative."

He added, "I still consider Texas a conservative state."

Lewis said the major issue on the legislative calendar will be redistricting. The legislature is mandated during its next session to redraw congressional, state senatorial and state representative districts according to census data and the judicial requisite of "one-man, one-vote."

About this task, Lewis spoke of the need to protect the rural areas of the state.

"I feel very strong about the integrity of the rural districts," Lewis said. "Every effort should be made not to ride roughshod over the rural areas."

Other responsibilities the legislature will be confronted with Lewis said are "meeting the demands of Texas." He listed providing for the state's education needs and fixing teachers' salaries to keep qualified people in the pedagogical professional as major priorities.

As for the constitutional workings of the legislature, Lewis said he does not favor annual sessions.

"I don't think annual sessions would be a good idea," he remarked. "We are able to handle the problems of the state in 140 days." He said if the legislature became a full-time job, the two chambers may start passing needless pieces of legislation.

"The only thing that saves us sometimes is the time runs out," he said smiling.

Shooting erupts in Iran

Students blame 'internal mercenaries of Americans'

By the Associated Press

Shooting erupted outside the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and at a residence in the northeastern Iranian city of Mashhad where some of the American hostages are held but there were no injuries, their captors said today.

The militants at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran said revolutionary guards fired in the air Wednesday night when they saw a suspicious-looking car near the occupied mission.

But the car disappeared and there were no reports the people in the car fired at the embassy, a spokesman said.

The militants who reported they were holding the Americans in Mashhad, 440 miles northeast of Tehran, said in a statement carried by Iran's official Pars news agency that the gunmen opened fire at the residence then fled.

The Mashhad students blamed the shooting on "internal mercenaries of Americans staging another plot in order to create obstacles in the way of exporting and spreading our Islamic revolution."

They said President Carter was resorting to "suicidal efforts and tries to stop the trial of the American hostages in any way he can."

They said Carter fears a hostage trial would disclose the operations of the "great Satan," a phrase the militants use to depict the U.S. government.

The students' statement said the United States was trying to "change the determination of our people on the extradition of the deposed shah."

But they said they were sure the people of Mashhad will "frustrate all conspiracies of the American government regarding keeping the hostages."

The militants holding the 53 hostages since Nov. 4 reportedly dispersed their captives to 17 Iranian cities after the aborted U.S. rescue attempt April 25. But State Department sources say they have reason to doubt that the hostages were actually scattered around Iran.

The militants also have said they will try some of the captives as spies and hold on to all of them unless the deposed shah is returned to Iran to face trial.

The Carter administration is delaying a call for new sanctions against Iran in hopes the latest World Court decision will speed the release of the hostages. But Austria's chancellor, just returned from Tehran, reported only "a fair chance" that will happen.

State Department spokesman Thomas Reston told reporters in Washington on Wednesday, "We want to try to gauge the reaction to the decision out of Iran for the moment" before asking for further sanctions, presumably before the U.N. Security Council.

The Carter administration is expected to act within two weeks because "if we don't act by then, the court ruling will lose much of its meaning," said one U.S. official, who asked not to be identified.

The Carter administration moved for sanctions against Iran in the Security Council last January, but was blocked by a veto of the Soviet Union. Some of America's European allies and Japan imposed limited sanctions last week to support the United States.

On Saturday, the International Court of Justice at The Hague ruled that the hostages should be freed immediately and that Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's regime should pay damages to the U.S. government.

Chancellor Bruno Kreisky of Austria, who spoke with Iranian leaders in Tehran Sunday and Monday, told reporters in Athens, Greece, where he is on a state visit there was only "a fair chance" that the hostages will be released sooner or later.

adding that Iran "is not ready to give in to any kind of pressure."

Iran has already called the world court decision "meaningless," and when its new Parliament convened for the first time Wednesday the question of the hostages was not addressed either by Khomeini or President Abolhassan Bani Sadr.

However, the student militants reiterated their demand that the captives not be freed until Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, ousted by Khomeini's revolution 16 months ago, and his health are returned to Iran.

Khomeini has said the fate of the hostages rests now in the hands of the Majlis. But Iranian officials said Wednesday the hostage debate will not begin until late June.

294 will graduate tonight from Big Spring High School

Graduation ceremonies for 294 seniors at Big Spring High School will get under way in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at Howard College at 7:30 p.m., today.

The class numbers 294, smallest in several years. Last year, a total of 364 were awarded diplomas.

Two absentee voters mark Demo ballots

Absentee voting for the June 7 run-off totaled two ballots cast in the office of County Clerk Margaret Ray.

A total of 67 ballots have been mailed out but none returned. The June 7 election will decide the outcome of three statewide judicial races. There is no Republican run-off.

Categories of persons eligible to vote absentee include:

Persons 65 or older.

Persons expected to be absent from the county on the regular voting day.

Persons with a physical disability or sickness.

Persons whose religious beliefs prevent them from casting ballots on the regular election day.

Elections administrators, election clerks or poll workers.

Persons unable to vote on the regular election day because of confinement in jail.

Principal speaker at the ceremony, which will be the second to be held in the coliseum, will be Larry Don Shaw, state representative-elect from the 63rd District.

Superintendent of schools Lynn Hise will preside at the ritual. Student speakers will include Missie Baker, Bruce Carroll, Joe Willie Jones, Carrie Little and Chris Smith.

Craig Fischer and Morris Molpus will introduce the graduates after they have been certified by John F. Smith.

Presenting the awards will be Carol Hunter, president of the Big Spring school board, and Bert Harris, another board member. They will be assisted by Harold Bentley, assistant superintendent, and Smith.

The program will be closed with the students' rendition of the school song, "Dear Old Big Spring High."

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Snakes crossing

Q. Is there some place in the United States where they close a segment of a highway in order to allow snakes to cross the road? Seems ridiculous.

A. It's true. Twice a year in the Shawnee National Forest, the U.S. Forest Service closes a two-mile stretch of highway so local snake population can migrate to and from their winter and summer homes. Rattlesnakes, copperheads and water moccasins wriggle down from the hills to summer in the swamps, then charge uphill again for the winter.

Howard College Summer Session Registration.

FRIDAY

Late registration for the summer session at Howard College continues from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the Registrar's office on campus.

The Howard County Library will have Story Hour for pre-school aged children on Friday from 10 a.m. until 11 a.m.

Senior citizens dance at the Senior Citizen's Center at the Industrial Park, building no. 487, former officer's club of WAFB. Parking is East of the building. Live band, $1 charge. 8-11 p.m.

Spring City Theater presents 3 one-act plays, Howard College Auditorium, 7 p.m.

The 1980 Big Spring Memorial Day Men's Open Church Slow Pitch Softball Tournament, Johnny Stone Park.

The All Veterans' Council will meet, 7 p.m., in the VFW Post Home in Silver Heels.

Tops on TV: Chevy Chase test

Whatever happened to Chevy Chase? Part of the answer to that question can be found tonight when the "Saturday Night Live" alumnus hosts "The Chevy Chase National Humor Test" at 8 o'clock on NBC. Guests include Martin Mull, Pam Dawber and Tom Scott. For more comedy, tune in on "Ladies And Gentlemen-Bob Newhart" at 9 o'clock on CBS. A full lineup of stars will be featured in a series of sketches satirizing various American lifestyles.

Inside: Lower interest rates

IN A MOVE that may mean lower interest rates for consumers, the Federal Reserve Board is cutting the fees it charges to lend money to the nation's banks. Meanwhile, more Americans are filing unemployment claims than at any time since at least 1967. See page 3-A.

HC Associate Degree Nursing Program taking applications

The Howard College Associate Degree Nursing Program is now taking applications for the next class, beginning fall semester, 1980.

The primary goal of Howard College School of Nursing is to educate nursing students, who upon graduation, are qualified for beginning staff positions in medical, surgical, pediatric, obstetric, and psychiatric nursing areas of hospitals and similar community facilities.

Applicants accepted for admission are selected by the Admissions Committee on the basis of the following criteria: high school transcript and/or GED results; college transcripts, including 14 semester hours of required pre-requisite courses; ACT results; performance on pre-entrance nursing interest and aptitude tests; health records; personal interview.

Applicants are considered for admission regardless of race, creed, sex, age, marital status or ethnic group.

Applications can be requested from the office of the Director of the ADN Program, Lettie Lee, at Howard College, or by calling (915) 267-6311, ext. 75.

The Howard College Associate Degree Nursing Program is accredited by both the Texas State Board of Nurse Examiners and the National League for Nursing. Only one class is accepted each year. Deadline for applying for admission to the next class is May 30.

Two tornadoes hit Panhandle

By the Associated Press
Two tornadoes roared through Tulia in the Texas Panhandle late Wednesday, damaging homes, businesses and power lines.

There were no injuries. The tornadoes were part of a thunderstorm system that roamed across much of Northwest Texas late Wednesday before moving into Central Texas and Oklahoma early today. The system weakened considerably before dawn, the National Weather Service said.

At Tulia, one home was destroyed and two were heavily damaged. Two businesses suffered extensive damage and several others suffered damage to doors and windows. Lakeview Cotton Gin, located outside Tulia, was destroyed. A grain elevator and an electric power station were also heavily damaged.

Bob Carlson, a Tulia resident, watched as the first tornado hit the ground and another formed just as the first one reached the town.

The first one struck Tulia, but the second one "was on the ground and then as it approached town, it lifted," said Carlson.

Carlson credited the tornado warning sirens, sounded several minutes before the twisters hit, with saving lives.

"We had a long, long time there to get ready for it. We knew it was coming. You could see it," he said. "There was no question about what was happening. It was on the ground, dirt was flying around it and it was extremely large."

Carlson said it was hard to believe that no one was injured. Rescue units and repair crews rushed to Tulia from several towns, including Amarillo, Lubbock, Canyon and Silverton.

Most electrical power was restored within 3 hours although some of the town remained without electricity at dawn today.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast through early Friday for much of the nation, according to the National Weather Service. The showers will extend from the northern Plains, across the Great Lakes to the East Coast and south to Texas.

In addition to the tornadoes at Tulia, severe thunderstorms roamed across much of Northwestern Texas during the late evening and night.

Baseball size hail was reported south of Lubbock and another tornado was sighted near Spur.

Highs were to be mostly in the 90s except for the Panhandle where readings were to be in the middle 80s and in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas where the mercury was expected to climb above the 100-degree mark.

Skies were clear in East Texas and extreme Southeast Texas early today.

About 5,500 Cubans in state Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., May 29, 1980 '3-A

Texas likely to get refugees

States New Service
WASHINGTON — Government officials have identified Texas as one of several states where Cuban immigrants are most likely to settle after being released from refugee camps.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services expects the exiles to locate in states with already a large number of Cuban-born residents. And Texas, with an estimated 5,500 of the residents, ranks eighth among the states in Cuban population.

The expected migration has already touched off concern among state officials over how much money the state and local governments might have to pay to provide services for the refugees.

Several states have begun lobbying the federal government to grant the Cubans official refugee status so all of their medical, welfare and educational costs will be picked up by federal policies.

"It's no longer a Florida problem. It's a national problem," said Lily Young, a refugee specialist with the National Governors' Association. "I don't think the states will be willing to go with anything less than a 100 percent reimbursement from the federal government."

The Department of Health and Human Services (formerly the Department of Health, Education and Welfare) has estimated that the actual cost per refugee will be about $1,200, but other officials believe the price tag could be as high as $2,500 a year. About 85,000 Cubans have fled to the United States in recent weeks.

Under federal law, persons classified as refugees by the attorney general are eligible for the same government programs as low-income Americans. This includes food stamp benefits, welfare payments, Medicaid, subsidized housing and vocational aid.

But the Carter administration, concerned about the cost of such an undertaking, has not yet decided how it will designate the Cubans. One possibility is to grant them political asylum en masse, which would entitle them to a few government programs paid for by both the state and federal governments.

Another possibility would be to let the state and local governments assume all refugee costs.

Recent discussions in Austin between Gov. William Clements and representatives of the Cuban-American community in Texas included no discussion of state or local financial responsibility, according to John Ford, the governor's spokesman.

The Cuban-Americans told Clements they expect 3,000 to 4,000 Cubans from the recent influx to settle in Texas, mainly in areas where numbers of Cubans have already settled, including Lubbock, Amarillo, Austin, San Antonio, Houston and Dallas.

Feds act to reduce interest rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move that may lead to lower interest rates for consumers, the Federal Reserve Board is cutting the fee it charges to lend money to the nation's banks. The action underscores a recession that has sent claims for unemployment benefits to the highest level on record.

Several analysts predict the 675,000 first-time unemployment claims filed during the week ending May 17 could mean an annual unemployment rate of 7.5 percent in May. That would translate to about 500,000 more jobless people than the month before.

Despite those warnings, Treasury Secretary G. William Miller told Congress Wednesday that the worst of the recession "may be behind us."

Miller conceded that the nation's slide into recession has been "quite steep," but added that declining interest rates and lean inventories should prevent the downturn from being as severe as the 1974-75 slump.

He again rejected an immediate tax cut to stimulate the faltering economy, saying "inflation is, and must remain, our No. 1 priority."

The Federal Reserve Board's decision to reduce its discount rate for the first time since 1976 — from 13 percent to 12 percent — reflects the recent, dramatic plunge in short-term interest rates referred to by Miller.

Treasury bill rates have fallen below 8 percent and many major banks have lowered their prime lending rate — the interest they charge their best customers — from 20 percent to 14 percent in recent weeks.

These so-called market rates have plummeted as demand for consumer and business credit declined and the U.S. economy entered its first recession in five years.

By cutting its discount rate — the interest charged for loans to member banks — the Federal Reserve Board may have set in motion even further declines in the prime rate, said David M. Jones, an analyst with the Wall Street brokerage house of Aubrey G. Lanston & Co.

The discount rate was pushed to a record 13 percent Feb. 19 as part of the Federal Reserve Board's effort to tighten the nation's money and credit supply and stifle an inflation rate then running at 18.1 percent a year.

Inflation at the consumer level has since dropped to an annual rate of 11.4 percent.

Severe drought threatens North Dakota wheat crops

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Wilted grass has turned the pastures brown. Farmland is unplanted, too dry for seeds even to germinate. There's not enough feed to make cattle ranching worthwhile.

There hasn't been a good rain in North Dakota since August.

This week's scattered showers have done little to stem the growing worry over the state's prolonged drought, which farmers say may produce a serious crop failure similar to ones in the 1930s.

The extended dry spell has left hundreds of thousands of acres of farmland unplanted because crop seeds won't germinate without moisture. In addition, dry pastures are forcing cattle ranchers to cut the size of their herds.

Art and Fern Spanier have been farming near Langdon in the northeastern part of the state for more than 30 years and "it's never been this dry, not for this length of time," said Mrs. Spanier.

"These conditions are similar to 1934 and 1936," said Vincent Dolechek. "Pastures are brown. Hay land isn't doing anything. Whatever green grass that was left is withering, drying up."

"Our last good rain was 1.16 inches last August. Since then, hardly anything," said the 61-year-old farmer from Dickinson in the southwestern part of the state.

North Dakota is the nation's leading producer of hard durum wheat, which yields flour for macaroni-type products. It is also a top producer of sunflowers, whose oils have cooking and commercial uses.

The lack of rain was aggravated by a below-normal winter snowfall, which usually provides spring moisture. Also, record-setting temperatures were recorded last week, with the mercury reaching 106 degrees May 22 in Williston in the western part of the state.

As a result of the drought, many livestock producers who thought they had enough hay to take their cattle through the coming winter are using their precious reserves now. Thus, they're selling cattle to conserve.

The scarcity of feed and hay, in turn, is forcing up those prices and even more cattle are being sold. Some cattle are being slaughtered ahead of schedule, which will affect beef supplies.

Unusual pay boost granted

ODESSA — Citing the "damaging effects" inflation has on pay checks, the Ector County commissioners have granted an unusual — if temporary — pay hike to employees of the county.

For the next seven pay periods, the county will pay Social Security taxes for the county workers. The arrangement means the employees will be netting an extra 6.13 percent of their salaries. The boost will have to be reported as added income to the federal government next year, however.

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is excellent for thinking out an expansive plan that could bring you added income in the days ahead. Follow up with secondary plans to gain your aims.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go after your goals in a positive manner and don't let delays discourage you. Show that you can overcome obstacles.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make sure you handle business matters well though it may take longer than you thought. Persevere and get good results.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) State your aims more clearly to associates and you get fine cooperation from them. Take no risks in motion.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get an early start on some vital work and clear up a problem that has been bugging you. Take health treatments.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A financial matter has you worried early in the day, but a closer look later finds you with more money than you need.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A fine time to make long-range plans for future operations. Work at a measured pace. Show that you have wisdom.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are able to work well with others who have the same mutual interests. Contact persons who can help you get ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are now able to see practical matters in a clear light, so carry through with them and accomplish a great deal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Gain the cooperation of associates and get along better in the future. Be more willing to do your share of work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure to get private plans working successfully by serious application to them. Stop worrying so much.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Your social life can improve by making the right plans. Come to a better accord with the one you love.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get busy attending to outside tasks early in the day since you could have interruptions later. Think constructively.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can accomplish a great deal in life since there is an ability here to carry through successfully with a plan. Teach to be well controlled at all times and not to give way to temper tantrums.

Farm Tips

By DON RICHARD
Agricultural Extension Agent
Howard County

Late Spring and summer is a busy season for the local county extension office. Calls are made daily about the care and management of fruit trees. Some of the frequent questions concerned with fruiting, fertilization of trees and summer pruning.

(1) Fruit thinning is the only way to increase size and quality of fruit or peaches and pears. The thinning is to do it early in the season.

(2) Fertilize young trees showing yellowing of leaves. Iron deficiency (Iron ch) has yellow leaves with veins, while poor drainage causes yellow leaf wilting. A treatment of half pound of 12-12-12 (equivalent) placed at 12 inches away from each tree is recommended for problem.

(3) Summer pruning. Remove unwanted branches in May and June, thus reduce the severity of dormancy pruning. Keep the center of the tree open for maximum sunlight for fruiting.

Judging Contest

SAN ANGELO — State 4-H Wool and Judging Contest will feature several hundred boys and girls here Friday.

Site of the annual contest will be the Angelo University Center Management, Instruction and Research, about 10 miles north of the city and off Hwy. 87.

One purpose of the program will be to train which senior team represent Texas in the National 4-H Wool Judging Contest, June 12 at Sonoma, Calif.

The national contest is part of the 4-H National Wool and Textile Show, June 10-11-12.

Judging on Friday will begin at 8 a.m., said Jack Groff, Agricultural Extension Service sheep and specialist and superintendent of the contest. Registration begins at 5 p.m.

Tips for care of summer fruit trees

By DON RICHARDSON
Agricultural Extension Agent
Howard County

Late Spring and early summer is a busy season at the local county extension office. Calls are received daily about the care and management of fruit trees, particularly peach and plum trees. Some of the more frequent questions are concerned with fruit thinning, fertilization of young trees and summer pruning.

(1) Fruit Thinning — The only way to increase fruit size and quality is to thin fruit or peaches and plums 6 inches apart. The secret to thinning is to do it early and never look down.

(2) Fertilize young trees — Many young peach trees are showing yellow reddish tinted new leaves which indicates nitrogen deficiency. (Iron chlorosis has yellow leaves with green veins, while poor drainage causes yellow leaves with wilting.) A treatment of a half pound of 12-12-12 (or equivalent) placed at least 18 inches away from each trunk is recommended for this problem.

(3) Summer pruning — Remove unwanted shoots in May and June, thus reducing the severity of dormant pruning. Keep the center of the tree open to receive maximum sunlight for fruit coloring and flower bud formation. Direct the growth of young peach trees into the permanent scaffold system.

Excessive, vigorous upright shoots, which shade fruit wood should be removed with early summer pruning. Sucker and water sprouts which grow up the center of the tree should also be removed.

Stripping the major scaffold limbs of all new growth decreases yield. Just side shoots which develop along the scaffold limbs can be headed back to slow growth and encourage fruit bud formation in the center of the canopy.

A mature tree should not develop until more than 12 to 18 inches of formal growth has occurred. Cut back on next year's fertilizer and do not prune as hard during the dormant season. Over fertilization does not increase yields but only increase pruning costs.

Summer pruning is necessary to properly train vigorously growing young trees. At planting time, 3 to 4 ft. of nursery stock is pruned to a single trunk and headed back to a height of 24 inches tall. All branches are removed and the lower 18 inch of trunk is wrapped with aluminum foil, felt paper or any other opaque material.

This wrap inhibits suckers along the trunk and protects the back from contact herbicides.

After growth begins, select three vigorous shoots arising from the top six inches on the main stem. They should be evenly spaced along the trunk and one should be directed into the prevailing wind. Cut back all other shoots to prevent competition with these three scaffold limbs.

Allow these three limbs to grow as much as possible. Remove the aluminum foil in July to prevent the bark from growing into the foil. All new shoots must be cut back periodically to 4 1/4 inch stubs. This "trashy trunk" helps reduce sand blast and sunscald.

During the first winter, cut off all branches arising from the main stem except the three scaffold limbs. These limbs should be 32 inches long with sub-scaffolds chosen to develop the horizontal spread of the tree. Watersprouts and suckers arising on the lower parts of these main branches should be removed.

For additional information on the culture of fruit trees please contact the Howard County Extension office located in the basement of the County Courthouse or by calling 267-6671 during any week day.

Judging contest to draw hundreds to San Angelo

SAN ANGELO — The State 4-H Wool and Mohair Judging Contest will draw several hundred boys and girls here Friday.

Site of the annual event will be the Angelo State University Center for Management, Instruction and Research, about 10 miles north of the city and a mile off Hwy. 87.

One purpose of the May 30 program will be to determine which senior teams will represent Texas in the 20th National 4-H Wool Judging Contest, June 12 at Sonora.

The national contest is part of the 3rd annual Sonora Wool and Mohair Show, June 10-11-12.

Judging on Friday at the MIR Center will begin at 9:30 a.m., said Jack Groff, Texas Agricultural Extension Service sheep and goat specialist and superintendent of the contest. Registration begins at 9.

First City National Bank of San Angelo will sponsor the awards and trophies that will be presented Friday.

Groff said contestants will

Cowper's lab is a family affair

"All in the Family," is not only a delightful TV series of former days, it is the philosophy practiced by the Robert S. Ross family, 1024 Ridgeroad Dr.

Ross taught his three children, Robert Jr., Irma and Yolanda to be laboratory and x-ray technicians at Cowper Clinic and Hospital under the ICT program of Big Spring High School. Even his daughter-in-law, Irene, assisted in the laboratory a year.

Ross, a certified laboratory technician, has worked a total of 29 years in Cowper's laboratory and x-ray departments. Ross received his training in 1942 at San Antonio while doing a five year stint in the U.S. Army. Believing that a person trained in this field can always get work anywhere, he thus influenced his three offspring.

Born in Del Rio, Ross received his high school diploma in 1947 through the Adult Basic Education program at Howard College and attended an additional year to get his Arts and Science diploma.

Ross originally worked at Cowper's five years, then at the Veterans Administration Hospital five or six years before returning to Cowper's for the past 25 years.

Robert Jr. is a certified x-ray technician and full-time employee at Cowper's, the very place he was born. His wife, Irene, worked with the family team a year. The couple has three children, two boys, David and Michael, 13 and 4 and a daughter, Sandra, 9. All three of these children were born at Cowper's and were also as were their two aunts.

Irma, the eldest, works part-time on weekends at Cowper's while attending the Malone-Hogan Radiology School which Ross believes to be the best in the area. Irma has worked at Cowper's off and on for ten years, having attended Howard College then Texas Woman's University and received a scholarship from the Altrusa Club to continue her studies in radiology.

Yolanda, the youngest, is a freshman journalism major at Howard College, and has just been named the Hawk Reporter editor for 1980-81. Yolanda is now serving as co-editor of the newspaper. She served as news editor of the Big Spring High School newspaper her senior year. Yolanda works part-time in Cowper's laboratory and x-ray lab.

All four of the Ross family are electrocardiogram technicians.

It's not all work and no play for the Ross family. Robert Ross Sr. plays a saxophone in the La Sombra Band and sings. This is a six-piece combo consisting of a guitar, bass, drums, two trumpets and two saxophones. Thomas Loague is the main vocalist. Ross is a tenor. The band plays for private parties and weddings.

Following in dad's footsteps, all three Ross children played in school bands. Robert played the saxophone and Yolanda the clarinet in Runnels Jr. High School band. Irma played the clarinet in the BSHS band and grandson David plays the drums in Goliad Middle School band.

Robert Jr. enjoys doing body work on automobiles and plays some golf.

Irma likes to go camping and fishing. The family went on a camping trip to Denver, Colo. in 1977.

Yolanda enjoys playing racquetball at HC and traveling, having recently returned from a meeting of the Texas Interscholastic Press Association in Beaumont.

Margaret Ross, the mother of this remarkably close family, likes to raise flowers, especially roses, and cares for the family pets, two dogs and two cats.

The Ross family is active in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, and has a strong influence on the community. The Ross family also like to eat. Following are some of their favorite family recipes which they wish to share with Herald readers.

Yolanda Ross' CHILE CON QUESO

1 can diced green chiles (4 ounces)
1 pound pasteurized processed cheese spread, cut into cubes
1 can (1 pound) whole tomatoes, drained and finely chopped
1 tablespoon dried minced onion
Corn Chips
Heat all ingredients except corn chips together in chafing dish, fondue pot or sauce pan over low heat until cheese is melted. Serve with corn chips. Serves party of 12.

RICE DELIGHT

2 packages (3 1/4 ounces) vanilla pudding
3 cups milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups cooked rice (2-3rd cup before cooked)
1/2 cup flaked coconut

1/4 cup each raisins, citron and nuts.
Heavy cream, whipped and sweetened to taste.

In saucepan, combine pudding and milk. Stir over medium heat until pudding thickens. Cool. Stir in remaining ingredients, except whipped cream. Chill until ready to serve. Serve in bowls topped with whipped cream. Serves 8-8.

Irma Ross' AVOCADO DIP

4 avocados (medium size)
1 can English peas (drained)
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 jalapeno pepper
2 tablespoons vinegar from jalapeno peppers
1/2 onion (chopped well)
1/2 tomato (chopped)
Garlic, salt and pepper to flavor.

Mash all avocados, then put in blender. Pour in English peas and mix, add mayonnaise and lemon juice and mix. Cut jalapeno peppers in small pieces and put in blender with vinegar, onion and tomato and mix all together. Add spices, garlic, salt and pepper to taste.

Mrs. Robert S. Ross Sr.'s TACOS

12 corn tortillas
Oil for frying
1 1/2 pounds Chorizo sausage, (or ground beef), fried and chopped
2 cups finely shredded lettuce
2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
2 tomatoes, diced
1 can (7 ounces) Taco sauce.
Fry one tortilla at a time in about 1/2 inch hot oil over medium heat until it becomes soft (just a few seconds). Fold it in half and hold slightly open with tongs or two forks so there is a space between the two halves of the folded tortilla for filling to be added later. Fry the tortillas until crisp and light brown, turning as necessary. Fill tacos with Chorizo sausage or beef, lettuce, cheese, tomatoes and taco sauce to taste.

TOASTY CHEESE BAKE

8 slices white bread
butter or margarine
1/2 pound ground beef
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon mustard
2 tablespoons chopped celery
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup shredded sharp

American cheese
1 egg, slightly beaten
3/4 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Toast bread and butter both sides. Cook and stir meat, onion, celery, prepared mustard and 1/2 teaspoon salt until meat is brown and onion tender. Alternate layers of toast, meat mixture and cheese in greased baking pan, 9x9x2 inches. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over layers in pan. Bake uncovered 30-35 minutes at 350 degrees. Yield: 4-6 servings.

CHILI-CHICKEN

16 ounces uncooked noodles
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 cans (10 1/2 ounces each) cream of mushroom soup
1 can (8 ounces) pimiento, chopped
2 tablespoons finely chopped pickled hot green chili peppers
3 or 4 cups cut-up cooked chicken
Salt and pepper
2 or 3 cups shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

"Cook noodles as directed on package and drain. Cook and stir onions in butter in a large skillet until tender and stir in soup, pimiento and chili pepper.

Layer half the noodles and half the chicken in a greased 4 quart casserole, season with salt and pepper. Top with half the soup mixture and half the cheese. Repeat layers. Bake uncovered about 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Yield: 8-12 servings.

TOMATO CHILE FILL-UPS

6 large, firm tomatoes
1 large avocado
1 can (4 ounces) diced

green chiles
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon minced onion
Lettuce

Wash tomatoes and scoop out pulp, reserving it. Set tomatoes upside down to drain while mashing and mixing avocado with 4 tablespoons of a mixture of mayonnaise, lemon juice, celery and onion. Fill tomatoes with mayonnaise-avocado mixture. Set stuffed tomatoes on salad plates lined with lettuce leaves. Mix tomato pulp and reserved chiles with additional mayonnaise for dressing. Serve dressing separately in a bowl. Serves 6.

CHILES RELLENOS

1 can (7 ounces) whole green chiles
1 package (8 ounces) Jack cheese
1/2 cup flour, seasoned with salt and pepper

3 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons flour
Oil for frying

Drain and slit each chile lengthwise, just enough to remove seeds if desired. Cut cheese into strips 1/2 inch thick and long enough to fit into chiles. Stuff each chile with a piece of cheese. Dredge stuffed chiles in seasoned flour. Set aside.

Beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Beat egg yolks until creamy. Fold yolks into whites, adding 3 tablespoons flour while folding. Dip each stuffed chile into the batter and set on a small dish. Slide coated chile from dish into deep, hot oil (about 400 degrees) to fry about 2 minutes or until golden brown, turning once, gently. Drain rellenos on paper towels. Serve with heated hot sauce. Makes 6.

SPANISH RICE

1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons oil

1 pound ground beef
1/4 pound sausage
1 cup quick-cooking rice
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup grated Jack or Cheddar cheese
2 cans tomato sauce

Saute onion in oil in a large skillet. Add beef and sausage, cook until lightly browned throughout. Drain excess fat. Add tomato sauce and rice and simmer on low heat for about 5 minutes or until rice is cooked. Add salt and pepper. Stir and spoon into serving dish and sprinkle with grated cheese. Serves 4.

POTATO CHIP BEEF CASSEROLE

1 pound ground beef
4 ounces uncooked elbow macaroni
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
3/4 cup milk
2-3rd cup catsup
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1/4 cup chopped green pepper

1-2 tablespoons instant minced onion

1 teaspoon salt
1 cup crushed potato chips

Cook and stir meat until brown. Drain off fat. Cook macaroni as directed on package and drain. In ungreased 2 quart casserole, mix all ingredients except potato chips.

Cover and bake at 40 minutes at 350 degrees. Uncover and sprinkle with potato chips and bake 5 minutes longer. Yield 4-4 servings.

Dear Abby

Festive Rites Sound Wrong to Reader

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just received a very puzzling invitation from the daughter of friends we have known for many years, and we don't know what to make of it.

It reads: "Join us in celebrating a festival of love and witness the commitment of oneness between Junie and Lennie, to take place under the stars in the presence of those they love and those who love them. Fruit, cheese and wine will be served."

Abby, we haven't seen Junie since her first communion, and we have never met Lenny.

The location of this event is a public park, and a response is requested.

What do you make of this? No mention of "marriage" or a clergyman is made. Exactly what is a "festival of love and the commitment of oneness?"

It sounds to us as though they are formalizing a living-together arrangement. We think we should go as a gesture of friendship to Junie's parents. But is a wedding gift in order? NOT WITH IT IN YAKIMA, WASH.

DEAR NOT WITH IT: It is obviously not your average traditional wedding. It sounds more like a do-it-yourself exchange of vows without benefit of clergy. And yes, a gift is in order.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother recently remarried after having been a widow for 11 years. She is a dear, sweet woman, and I couldn't love my own mother more.

She and her new husband visited us last Easter, and during the evening he made me a little uncomfortable just by the way he kept looking at me. He followed me into the kitchen once and said he wanted to give me a little kiss. I gave him my cheek but he grabbed me and said, "No, not THAT kind..." Then he tried to kiss me on the mouth. I got away from him and kept my distance all evening.

Now he calls me on the phone when my husband is at work, saying he wants to drive over to see me. I am afraid of him. I am 27 and he is 74.

Please tell me how to handle this. They live about 40 miles from us and we see them quite often.

AFRAID

DEAR AFRAID: Tell him that if he doesn't leave you alone, you will tell your husband about his aggressiveness. And if that doesn't cool him off, make good your threat.

DEAR ABBY: Many people have negative feelings about nursing homes, so we, the members of the Dear Abby Fan Club at the Marion County Convalescent Center in Marion, S.C., wish to express our views.

Our home is state-licensed, with a professional staff to care for our needs. There are nurses for our aches and pains, a doctor when necessary, a dietician for balanced meals, activities for entertainment and a social worker to solve our worldly problems. These professionals maintain our health, but more important, our independence and dignity. And thank God for the volunteers!

We no longer worry about the accidents that befall the elderly who live alone — or the other dangers, or the loneliness. We are not a burden to our families. Oh, yes, we were welcomed into our loved ones' homes, but we have lived a long time, Abby, and can see the extra work load, the expense. How would you like a babysitter when the family has plans?

We have many friends our age with the same interests here. We share each other's joys and sorrows. Of course we have our problems, but we work them out because we have chosen to make Marion County Convalescent Center our home. Love,
YOUR FAN CLUB, JENNY TURNER, SECRETARY

CONFIDENTIAL to those who have sent for Abby's booklets: Please, please be patient. I am literally deluged with orders and am getting them out as quickly as possible.

Do you wish you had more friends? Get Abby's booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby, Popularity, 132 Laaky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Big Spring girl scouts to celebrate May 31

Big Spring Girl Scouts celebrate their 1980 theme, "Girl Scouting: Where the Future Begins," May 31, with displays, an art and craft contest, and a talent show at Highland South Shopping Center. The affair begins at 10:30 a.m. with a Flag ceremony and singing. Art and craft items will be set up by 10:15 a.m. Judging will begin at 11 a.m. Displays of campsite safety, physical fitness, and careers will be open from 10:30 until 2 p.m. Two special booths will be set up. One will be Girl Scout Day Camp registration, the second will depict Girl Scouts from the past to the present. A register book will be available for all Girl Scouts whether they be girls or adults, men or women, past or present. The talent show will begin at 2 p.m. Come and find the many interesting facets of Girl Scouting. The West Texas Girl Scout Council is a United Way agency. For more information call 263-1364 or drop by 2003 Gregg Street.

Big Spring Art Association projects summer workshops

At the May meeting of the Big Spring Art Association, Carolyn Walker, Colorado City, gave a demonstration of Indian pots on an Indian blanket on masonite board using pastel under painting with oil glazes and varnish to create an interesting semi-abstract painting. Discussion was had about giving an art scholarship at Howard College. This will be voted on at the next meeting. Tipping of the Brush went to Roberta Ross for a rub-out of a deer. This painting will hang at the Citizens Federal Credit Union during June.

Handicapped have sports

Opportunities in sports for the handicapped are unlimited, according to the current Family Circle. The magazine notes that there are now about 100 national organizations devoted to various sports for the handicapped. "Name a handicapping condition and a sport," Dr. Julian Stein of the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, says in the magazine, "and there is certain to be an organization devoted to them." To find out what programs are available in your area, Family Circle suggests you write to: The National Handicap Sports and Recreation Association, Capitol Hill Station, P.O. ### In French Open

Unbelievable comeback keeps Connors alive

PARIS (AP) — It was a classic choke and a classic display of a tour-hardened champion's nerve and intestinal fortitude.

The scene was Roland Garros stadium, setting of the French Open, with 18,000 fans hooting football-style on Wednesday for unheralded Frenchman Jean-Francois Caujolle to put the seal on the seemingly impossible: a three-set upset of Jimmy Connors.

Caujolle had gracefully played the slow clay courts to cut down the American's power game and easily won the first two sets 6-3, 6-2. In the crucial third set, the tall, loose 27-year-old Frenchman with the long wavy black hair twice broke Connors' serve to lead 5-2. Connors, serving, slipped behind 30-40, setting up match point.

This was the moment a young Frenchman dreams of.

On other courts Wednesday, other American stars, John McEnroe and Vitas Gerulaitis had won their matches as expected, and so had Eddie Dibbs. But on the big center court, the third-seeded Connors came within one point of one of his worst drubbings and Caujolle a single point from instant stardom.

After a long volley Caujolle tried with a passing shot wide. Match point was saved.

Connors served at deuce and won the point. His advantage. He served again, and long rally followed — the two left-handers pounding ground strokes across the clay, until Connors dared a drop shot. It was a winner, and the game went to Connors. Caujolle led 5-3.

Connors, clowning on a disputed call, drew more hoots from the frustrated French crowd, and he fought to a break point on Caujolle's serve. The Frenchman cooled down, smashed an ace by Connors. It was back to deuce.

But for Caujolle, it was not to be. Connors won the next point and then broke the Frenchman's serve to make it 5-4 and leave Caujolle so furious that he batted a ball out of the stadium.

Connors held his serve and then broke Caujolle's, and with it the Frenchman's will, his concentration and

Mavericks stick to game plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What did the Dallas Mavericks get in the National Basketball Association expansion draft?

A center with a gimpy knee, a couple of pesky point guards, a long-range bomber who specializes in shooting three-point goals, a smattering of decent veterans and a bunch of young players who will get their chance to prove whether they belong in the pros.

That was the consensus of opinion among the league's coaches and general managers meeting here this week. The big item on the opening day's agenda was the announcement of Dallas' selections from the expansion pool, and the Mavericks stuck to their game plan.

"We wanted to go for youth whenever possible, with some veterans blended in for their leadership qualities," Rick Sund, player personnel director of the Mavericks, explained Wednesday. "We feel we got some solid players, with good fundamentals, from winning backgrounds, and those are the players we wanted."

The Mavericks resisted the temptation to pick some of the well-known players who were put up for grabs by the 22 existing teams, each of whom was permitted to protect eight men on its roster. Although the list was not made public, among those available were Rick Barry of Houston, Doug Collins of Philadelphia, Spencer Haywood of Los Angeles, Nate Archibald of Boston and Bobby Dan- dridge of Washington.

But the Mavericks shied away from players with big contracts or histories of injury or personal problems.

"I think they put together a pretty good list," remarked New Jersey Nets General Manager Charlie

Theokas. "They got some young players who ought to help them down the road."

"The one player who really surprised me by being available was Tommy LaGarde," said Al Bianchi, assistant coach of the Phoenix Suns and one of the most highly regarded basketball coaches in the business. "It's tough to find good big men, and he's a quality player. He might be their best pick."

LaGarde was Seattle's starting center before suffering a knee injury early in the 1979 season. But he played all 82 games in a reserve role for the Sonics last year, and if he's healthy he could give the Mavericks someone to build around.

The two point guards who should prove useful to Dallas are Mike Bratz and Billy McKinney, backup playmakers last season for Phoenix and Kansas City, respectively. And the three-point bomber is Joe Hassett, whose long-range shooting was the deciding factor in several games for the Indiana Pacers last season.

If Dallas had to field a team today, it's starting five might list LaGarde at center. Winford Boynes of New Jersey and Richard Washington of Milwaukee at forward and Bratz and Austin Carr of Cleveland at guard. But any or all of them, as well as the other players picked, may be used as trade bait by the Mavericks, who begin competition as the NBA's 23rd franchise next season.

Another girlfriend dies

Tragedy strikes Dorsett

DALLAS (AP) — Tragedy has struck Dallas Cowboys running back Tony Dorsett for the second time in less than a year — a young woman friend has died.

Princess Collins, 22, a Dallas fashion model, collapsed and died Monday after suffering an epileptic seizure. Epilepsy is not ordinarily fatal, doctors said.

Miss Collins had been dating Dorsett occasionally since the death of his fiancée, Gigi Anita Clayton, last June, a family member said. Miss Clayton died of a nerve disorder, Guillain-Barre syndrome, which also rarely causes death.

Miss Collins had been a model since she graduated from Dallas' South Oak Cliff high school at age 16. She briefly attended Mountain View College, then moved to New York, and recently returned to Dallas, where she lived with her grandmother.

Surpassing Ali-Frazier

Big bucks await Leonard-Duran

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Sugar Ray Leonard is excited about his June 20 date with Roberto Duran for more reasons than the $10 million he will earn for lacing up the gloves.

"This fight, I believe, without doubt will surpass Ali-Frazier," the World Boxing Council welterweight champion told a news conference Wednesday via phone hookup at Giants Stadium.

The news conference was called to promote closed circuit telecasts of the June 20 showdown in Montreal's Olympic Stadium.

"This is the most anticipated fight," he continued. "My feelings, vibrations, are so strong that this will be a great fight. This fight is much more dramatic than Ali-Frazier."

The fight is expected to become boxing's all-time moneymaker. Co-promoter

Bob Arum said the gross should be in the neighborhood of $30 million, surpassing the $21 million gross for the first of the Joe Frazier-Muhammad Ali classics.

"The way I fight, Duran will be a surprise to him and to boxing people," said Leonard, who has won all of his 27 professional fights since taking home the gold medal from the 1976 Montreal Olympics.

"I have a very difficult defense to penetrate," Leonard said. "Duran can dominate if you stand straight up. He's never been hit to the body himself. He's never been hit with a good body shot."

Leonard expects Duran, who loves his nickname "Hands of Stone," to come out smoking in the first round and keep up the pace for as long as possible. The lightning-quick Leonard anticipates no problem avoiding Duran's bombs.

"I'm sure Duran will try for the early knockout. He fights one way and that's being aggressive. He's a brawler and he comes from all directions," he said. "He's going to bring the fight to me. I'm very confident, just like I was in Montreal."

The 14 closed circuit locations in New Jersey will provide about 40,000 seats. Arum said he expects about 1.5 million fans to view the fight in theaters in the United States and Canada, in addition to the live gate of 60,000.

Cowboys sign top draft pick

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys announced Wednesday the signing of top draft pick Bill Roe, a linebacker from Colorado, to a series of one-year contracts.

Roe, 6-foot-3 and 220 pounds, was taken in the third round of the 1980 National Football League draft. Dallas had traded away its first two picks to acquire Baltimore defensive end John Dutton in October.

"He's an impressive physical specimen," coach Tom Landry said of Roe.

"We're going to try him at strong linebacker first, let him compete with others to try and firm up that position."

Former strong linebacker Thomas Henderson was dismissed by Landry in the middle of the season, and the player who stepped into the job, Mike Hegman, has been indicted on forgery charges.

The Cowboys said Roe has moved to Dallas and is participating in the team's voluntary off-season conditioning program.

Hawk Queens bolster squad for a repeat of WJC title

Howard College Hawk Queens Coach Don Stevens, eager for a repeat of the Western Conference championship next year, bolstered his squad for the 1980-81 season with the signings of four high school performers during the past week.

The quartet of Hawk Queen signees all will come with excellent credentials attained during their high school career, as each was honored at least once on their respective All-District squads.

Stevens recruited for all positions in the four-woman haul, as two of the performers are listed as guards, with one forward and one apparent post.

The guards are Mary Kay White of Eldorado and Kellie Mull of Denver City.

Mull is the most impressive of the recruits on paper, as her awards could fill up a page. A two-time All-District basketball selection, she also was All-District and All-Regional in volleyball, as well as going to the state meet in tennis both as a junior and a senior.

She averaged 18 points per game the past year in basketball, as well as hauling down 8.6 rebounds and earning a reputation for excellent defense.

As well as exhibiting extreme prowess on the athletic field, the 5'7" Mull had a four-year scholastic average of 95.42.

KELLIE MULL

CARRIE LEE LUTRICK

MARY KAY WHITE

"Kellie Mull will be a big asset to not only the women's basketball program, but to the campus as a whole," said Coach Stevens. "Her many talents and interests will contribute much to the other areas of campus life."

White was a two-time All-District selection who was a prolific scorer. She averaged over 24 points per game as a junior, and had a point norm of 16.8 during her senior season.

White was also active in track, tennis, band and student council work during her high school career.

"Mary Kay has good quickness and is aggressive," said Stevens. "She will be filling one of the guard positions for us next year."

Stevens tallest recruit of the four was 5'10" Cindy Bell of San Angelo Central. Playing both the post and wing positions, Bell averaged 11 points per game and pulled down a most impressive 14 rebounds per contest in earning All-District 5-AAAA honors.

Stevens seemed to indicate that he considered Bell somewhat of a sleeper. "I feel that Cindy is potentially a great player," the Hawk Queens mentor stated. "She is just now ready to develop into the kind of player that she is capable of being. I expect Cindy to become one of the league's outstanding players."

The final Hawk Queen signee, Carrie Lee Lutrick of Abernathy, comes in with some very impressive basketball notices.

A three-time All-District performer, Lutrick led her

Abernathy team to a 24-7 record in her senior season, averaging 14 points per game shooting a potent 54 percent from the field.

The All-South Plains performer was consistent throughout her high school playing days, averaging in double figures in scoring in each of her varsity seasons.

She will play for the North in the annual North-South All-Star game in San Antonio this summer.

Stevens was naturally very happy to sign Lutrick, who also was a member of the National Honor Society for three years. "Carrie Lee comes from a fine basketball program," said Stevens.

"Her coach (Diana Lewis) is an excellent one, and her players are always fundamentally sound and have great attitudes."

Chaos created by Cuban influx

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free..."

The United States is a nation of immigrants and those lines engraved on the Statue of Liberty fail to stir only a few of us whose forebears came to this Country looking for personal freedom and economic advancement.

But, the argument that "as immigrants ourselves, we cannot restrict the flow of other immigrants to this country" just does not realistically apply today. Refugee laws enacted in the past did not — could not — foresee the massive influx of immigrants possible during this period of our history. A land that once cried out for people has rapidly become populated to the point that we can foresee the possibility of our borders bursting at the seams. We are no longer an adolescent nation straining to grow, but one that has grown to maturity and as an adult, must balance our emotions with realism.

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm
Congressional Comment

The chaos created by the Cuban influx has been an emotional one. And one which we must now, painfully, face with realism. If we were to react emotionally, we would throw our borders and shores open to all. To react with maturity requires much more careful thought.

The President has ordered an immediate halt to the small boat sealift from Cuba and has announced that the U.S. is prepared to start an airlift or sealift if Castro would accept the plan. Castro, however, rejected the proposal and seems determined to create more problems. As a nation, in control of its own destiny, we cannot allow these actions by a foreign dictator to return us to policy dictated solely by emotionalism.

We must (by fair and reasonable means) limit the number of refugees from Cuba entering our Country. While I am very sympathetic to their needs, I believe that our nation cannot afford to allow a free flow of refugees in the country. We cannot forget that at present there are over 1 million other would-be refugees who are on waiting lists to enter this country legally. And all who enter must be absorbed into the economy in a manner which will not cause further domestic economic problems nor add to the already overburdened taxpayers' responsibilities.

Some mechanism must be devised within our immigration laws to see that this is accomplished in a fair and equitable manner for those wishing to immigrate from all areas, not just Cuba. As a state sharing a border with Mexico, for instance, we are perhaps more aware than most of the needs for a controlled policy allowing immigration.

Efforts to improve and revise our immigration laws have been undertaken in Congress several times in the past few years. Each time the House approved a new proposal, however, the Senate Judiciary Committee rejected it. In my view, Congress must accept its share of the blame for the situation at hand.

Appeals court split in search of car decision

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A sharply split Texas Court of Criminal Appeals says evidence obtained in a warrantless "stop" and search of a car cannot be used even if the auto was motionless when approached by police.

The 5-4 decision sustained an earlier ruling by a three-judge panel of the court, which the state had asked the court to reconsider because of its possible effect on law enforcement.

The full court upheld the panel's decision reversing the Bellville conviction of Winnie R. Ebarb, who was assessed a $500 fine and one year on probation on charges of carrying a pistol.

Austin County Sheriff T. A. Maddox assembled what the court majority called a "posse" — including the local district attorney — to search for Mrs. Ebarb after an unnamed tipster told him she was carrying illegal pills and a handgun.

Maddox did not obtain a warrant.

The posse, in two automobiles, caught up with Mrs. Ebarb after the car in which she was riding pulled into the driveway of her son's apartment and came to a stop. The son was driving. Maddox walked up to the car and asked Mrs. Ebarb if he could search it. She said, "Certainly," and got out. Maddox found a pistol in plain sight on the front seat. No drugs were found.

The high court said the fact that Maddox "stopped" Mrs. Ebarb without a warrant based on adequate justification for such an action made the results of the search inadmissible in court — thus nullifying her conviction.

Judges Leon Douglas, W.C. Davis, Tom Davis and Carl Dally dissented.

Donna Camp places fifth

Donna Camp, a freshman business transfer student from Coahoma, recently took fifth place in the Payroll Accounting competition at the Office Education Association National Leadership Conference held in Minneapolis, Minn., according to Reva Adams, division head of business at Howard College.

Miss Camp was among six other OEA students who attended the national leadership conference in late April. She had the honor to attend the national conference by placing second in Payroll Accounting and Fifth in Job Application-Accounting at the State Leadership Conference held March 27-28 in Fort Worth.

Debbie Clark, sophomore and veteran administration representative at HC, placed seventh in Accounting Practice. She placed second in Accounting Practice, first in Job Application-Accounting, fourth in Accounting Concepts, and fifth in Business Law at the state conference.

Sonya Worthan, sophomore at HC, was elected national secretary at the convention. She had previously held the national treasurer position.

Cindy Butler, freshman at HC, ran for Central Regional Vice President and made it to the primary, but was defeated.

Four persons contending for two constables jobs

STANTON — Four persons are contending for two constables jobs in Martin County some people argue should be eliminated entirely.

Wes Morgan, currently a Martin County justice of peace, is an avowed candidate for the constable's job in the same precinct (Two). Janice Weston, a secretary for a local car dealer, is offering for the office in Precinct One.

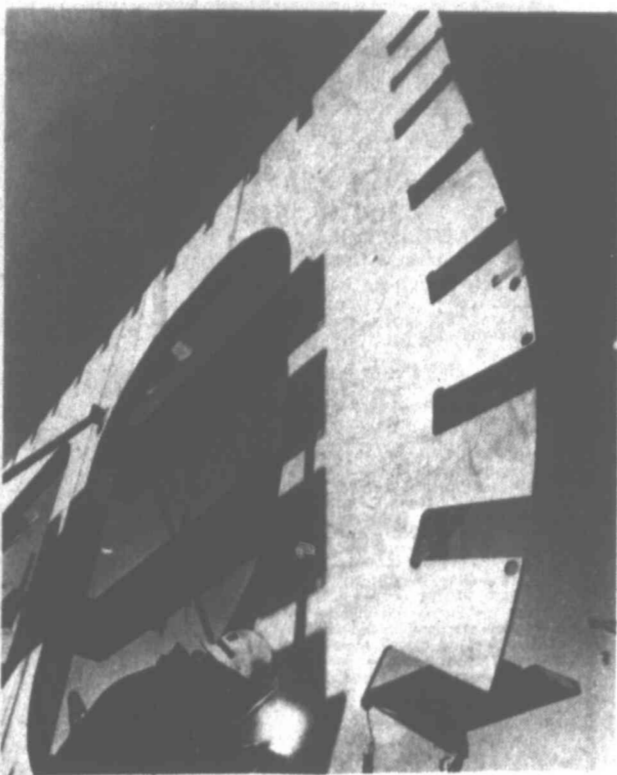

Two Martin County residents, Robert Jeffcoat and Lonnie Long, will seek the offices as write-in candidates, Jeffcoat in Precinct One and Long in Precinct Two.

Jeffcoat is manager of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company office here. Long works for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

When the last man to hold the job of Martin County constable, Marshall Yates, served in the 1960s, he was paid $100 a month.

Constables, under state law, are empowered to carry firearms and work on warrants issued by the justice of peace's office.

Sheriff Dan Saunders says a constable can take a lot of the work load off the sheriff's office if he does his job properly.

Oklahoma gains Senate approval to acquire Rock Island Railroad

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — It took some personal lobbying by Gov. George Nigh and the full force of the Senate leadership Wednesday to gain Senate approval of a bill to provide $12 million for acquisition and rehabilitation of discarded Rock Island railroad track.

State Sen. Finis Smith, D-Tulsa, came surprisingly close to derailing the proposal, but Nigh's lobbying outside the Senate chambers and some fast-paced parliamentary maneuvering by the leadership kept the bill on track to passage.

Smith hit hard at the bill during three hours of discussion, saying it offered the potential for "the most unconscionable abuse of the public trust of any bill I've seen in the 15 years I've been here."

But in the end the bill was approved by a 26-19 margin, one more than the needed majority.

Sen. Herschel Crow, D-Altus, Senate author, held the bill on the calendar on a motion to reconsider. A vote on the emergency clause, making it effective as soon as it is signed into law by the governor, will occur later. It takes 32 votes to adopt the emergency.

The bill will allow the state Department of Transportation to spend up to $12 million to acquire and rehabilitate an estimated 580 miles of the 1,100 miles of railroad track abandoned when the Rock Island Railroad went out of business.

Several senators said they couldn't vote for the bill because they had little information about how the money would be expended.

"I don't know if this is a race horse, a work horse, a quarter horse, a cutting horse or a glue horse," Sen. John Young, D-Sapulpa, said of the proposal.

Sen. E. W. Keller, R-Bethany, said the measure should be entitled "the I-don't-know bill."

Young tried to delay action on the bill until senators could get more information on the state's acquisition and rehabilitation plans, but his motion failed, 22-19.

The Senate leadership also was successful in keeping Smith from offering an amendment to provide that counties where the abandoned rail lines are located would use gross production tax funds to buy the railroad right-of-way and keep title to the property.

Senate President Pro Tem Gene Howard, D-Tulsa, warned that if the state doesn't move to acquire the right-of-way, rail service could be permanently lost to parts of Oklahoma.

Howard said the salvage value of the trackage would be more than the $12 million initial expenditure and insisted the rest would be the business of operating railroads.

Sen. Gideon Tinsley, D-El Reno, said if service isn't restored on the abandoned rail lines, highway maintenance costs would soar because of the need to use trucks to get the wheat harvest to market.

But foes of the bill said private enterprise would step in and restore rail service where it is justified economically and the less government in the rail business the better.

They warned it would lead to the state spending as much as $100 million in future years in railroad aid.

Surgery may be harmful to your health

ATLANTA (AP) — Intestinal bypass surgery has been a popular and highly effective way for obese people to lose weight, but now a doctor says it leads to complications that mean they could lose their lives.

Arthritis, kidney and lung disease have developed in more than 15 percent of the surgery patients, and the technique leads to deadly complications in 4 percent, according to a study by Dr. Peter D. Utsinger, associate professor of medicine at Temple University and a researcher at Germantown Hospital in Philadelphia.

The procedure, already on the decline, won't be used at all after the next few months, Utsinger predicted.

Utsinger is presenting his findings today at the Arthritis Foundation's annual scientific meeting in Atlanta.

Intestinal bypass surgery — performed on about 3,000 Americans each year since the '60s — involves tying off part of the small intestine to decrease the amount of food digested.

"We believe that bypass surgery overwhelms the digestive system," Utsinger said. "It seems that in a desperate attempt to do the job of absorbing digested food, the blood also absorbs organisms which normally would remain in the bowel. These organisms circulate throughout the body and then settle into joints and other organs and tissues, leading to damage."

Patients who suffer from "bypass disease" can relieve the problem by having sutures removed and the intestine returned to full size.

"Thank God for these patients," Utsinger said. "If you release the valve, everything goes away."

At least 5 percent of the bypass patients have had to have the operation reversed, he said.

Utsinger said in an interview Wednesday that "dead organisms leaking out of the bypassed portion... are causing the problems."

Organisms — called bacterial antigens — may cause arthritis, he said.

The bypass technique, developed in the 1960s, has been used on more than 40,000 Americans. But the problems are emerging only now because there is a two-to-six year delay between the operation and onset of disease, Utsinger said.

"Over the next month or two, people will accept the premise that the operation should be discontinued," he said. "The trend will then be toward other types of bypass — stomach bypass for instance — a new procedure with no more than several hundred performed."

He urged meticulous follow-up procedures to catch any complications that develop from new techniques.

"The patient needs to be told how highly experimental these operations are," he added. "They are told on one hand that being overweight is bad, but they need to know more about the operation being done."

Among the persons to have had intestinal bypass surgery is trumpeter Al Hirt. He said his weight had gone from 333 pounds to 290 pounds within a month and a half of the operation in 1972.

Stamford residents stunned by suicide

Stamford, Texas (AP) - This stunned West Texas town is still at a loss to explain the death of Dr. James Enfield, found hanged in the First Baptist Church where he was pastor.

The pastor's body, clad in khakis, was turned toward the wall near the opening of the church's baptistry. A sawhorse used in the current remodeling of the church was near the body.

"He was my pastor and I wanted an autopsy so bad, but his wife, Joan, said she didn't want it and I thought that was the least I could do for her," Mrs. Nancy said.

"Some people are just not accepting it," she said. "They say, 'You'll never convince me it was self-inflicted.'"

The last sermon Enfield preached Sunday night concerned the importance of family life, Armentrout said, and he mentioned the joy of his own family, which includes two daughters, Lisa, 15, and Jami, 11.

Enfield became pastor of this town's largest church three years ago. It has approximately 1,000 members on its rolls and 700 resident members.

Musician is discharged
Edward R. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith of Big Spring, was recently discharged from the United States Army at Fort Bliss.

SP4 Smith was a featured player in the dance band, jazz and rock combo and the concert band. He also played in the marching band and served as a funeral bugler for the Fort Bliss National Cemetery.

SP4 Smith traveled widely throughout the southwest with band, playing for festivals, parades and concerts. During his tour of duty he played for such dignitaries as Omar N. Bradley, the General of the U.S. Army, Congressman Richard C. White and the governors of Texas, New Mexico and Mexico.
