OPEC nations agree on need to cut production

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — The 13 Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries tentatively agreed today on the need to cut oil production, but Saudi Arabia, the world's leading producer, said it would not cooperate without an accord on prices, Venezuelan Oil Minister Humberto Calderon Berti said.

Iranian Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moinefar said after the first round of closed-door talks that oil ministers had agreed on the need to reduce OPEC output to 26.5 million barrels a day. OPEC now produces about 27.5 million-28 million barrels daily.

Ministers of the 13-nation group were scheduled to discuss the sensitive pricing issue later today, but Kuwait Oil Minister Ali Khalifah al-

Sabah said there was "not yet" the basis for an accord.

"We are still arguing," said Calderon, the Venezuelan delegate.

Iraq has proposed that all OPEC nations charge $32 a barrel for their oil. Under the proposal, OPEC hawks — including Iran — would have to drop present prices by $3 a barrel, middle-of-the-roads would raise theirs $2 and Saudi Arabia, which produces one-third of all OPEC oil, would increase prices $4.

But Moinefar said "there was no way" Iran would decrease prices, that he was "sure" there would be no agreement and that along with Algeria, Libya and Nigeria, Iran will continue to sell oil for as much as it can get for it.

Iraq and Iran are at ideological odds and recently have engaged in sporadic fighting along their border. Iraq accuses Iran of being a stooge of the United States.

Conference sources said without a compromise, prices would stay about the same for the rest of 1980. Analysts here say disunity within the oil cartel saves money for oil consumers, including the United States.

The sources said during the session Monday night that Iranian Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moinefar accused Iraq and Saudi Arabia of "serving American imperialism by raising production rates."

They said Iraqi Oil Minister Tayeh Abdel-Karim shouted back that Iraq was the first power in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to nationalize Western-owned oil operations.

The sources said Saudi Arabia's minister did not even attend and Qatar's walked out of the hall in the middle of the session. But the oil ministers of the 13-member nations met again today, without staff assistants, in an effort to reach an agreement on pricing policy and production levels.

"The most important thing is not the price but production," Moinefar told reporters, adding that he and other OPEC militants would press for Saudi Arabia to cut its output. Conference sources said the Saudis, who produce one-third of OPEC's output at 9.5 million barrels a day, were resisting the pressure to decrease production levels by 1 million barrels daily.

Qatar sources, meanwhile, said Iran was also urging a cut in production by Iraq. OPEC's second largest producer with daily production of 3.5 million barrels.

Production levels are a key issue because a "mini-glut" of oil on world markets is making it difficult for those OPEC members whose oil is expensive to sell their crude. OPEC officials estimate the current world surplus at about 1 million barrels a day.

Iraq has proposed that all OPEC nations charge $32 a barrel for their oil. Under the proposal, OPEC hawks — including Iran — would have to drop present prices by $3 a barrel, middle-of-the-roads would raise theirs $2 and Saudi Arabia, which produces one-third of all OPEC oil, would increase prices $4.

But Moinefar said "there was no way" Iran would decrease prices, that he was "sure" there would be no agreement and that along with Algeria, Libya and Nigeria, Iran will continue to sell oil for as much as it can get for it.

Iraq and Iran are at ideological odds and recently, have engaged in sporadic fighting along their shared border. Iraq accuses Iran of being a stooge of the United States.

For different reasons than Iran, Saudi Oil Minister Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani is resisting the Iraqi plan, which would raise the world's oil bill and boost U.S. gasoline and heating oil costs more than 7 cents a gallon.

Yamani told reporters he was "very pessimistic" the pricing-structuring plan would succeed. The Saudis oppose the plan in hopes that a slackening demand on world oil markets will force other OPEC nations to charge less for their oil later this year, conference sources said.

Yamani recently predicted oil prices will collapse by fall because of reduced demand caused in part by the U.S. recession.

Police warn of blitz

Bombs explode in Tel Aviv suburb

Two bombs planted by Arab terrorists exploded in a Tel Aviv suburb today, and the city's police warned that Palestinian guerrilla organizations might be planning a letter-bomb blitz. Meanwhile, President Carter's plan to resume the talks on Palestinian autonomy appeared to be moving forward.

One bomb was planted at a military pickup point in Peah Tikvah for soldiers traveling to their base, and the second in a trash bin in the town, about six miles from Tel Aviv.

Authorities reported no injuries or damage, but said: "Check all your mail carefully for name, return address and size. If you have any suspicions, report immediately to the police."

Arab guerrilla groups have threatened to step up their attacks from Lebanon, and more recently from Jordan, in response to the sudden escalation of violence in the occupied West Bank.

Egypt has accepted Carter's proposal that Egyptian and Israeli negotiators meet in Washington to try and break a month-long deadlock in the Palestinian autonomy talks. Israel has said it may send its negotiator to Washington this week, but has not commented directly on Carter's offer.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie urged Israel and Egypt to work for a political climate that would aid the talks. However, Muskie also denounced new Israeli settlements on the West Bank of the Jordan as disrupting chances for an agreement on the future of the Palestinians living there.

"If negotiations are to succeed, no party should take steps on its own that prejudice the outcome," Muskie said in his first speech on the Middle East since becoming secretary of state last month following the resignation of Cyrus Vance.

President Anwar Sadat, who announced the Egyptian decision Monday, said his government was consulting Washington on a date. Senior foreign ministry sources in Cairo said Egypt proposed the first week of July. Sadat said Egypt would make its decision known "in a few days."

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin has said Interior Minister Yosef Burg, who has led the Israeli delegation at the autonomy talks, may go to Washington this week to discuss a date for resumption of the talks. He declined to say whether Carter had invited Burg.

Burg told reporters in Tel Aviv that he expected a procedural meeting, but would not comment on Begin's statement about a trip to Washington.

"I believe we will not have negotiations about the essence of the autonomy, but about the procedure: when we will meet, which working groups should meet and so on — preparations for the real meeting," he said.

Sadat also indicated that

Washington meeting would be preparatory to full resumption of the talks.

Under the Camp David accords, the Egyptian-Israeli talks were supposed to have produced a Palestinian autonomy plan by May 26. Sadat suspended the talks in early May because of what he called a "dismal political atmosphere" created by Israel in its refusal to discuss the status of Arab East Jerusalem.

Muskie's remarks, delivered at the Washington Press Club, were intended for western Europeans as well as Arabs and Israelis. With the autonomy talks stalled, the Europeans are preparing U.N. resolutions in support of Palestinian "self-determination," a code word for statehood.

Muskie said the Carter administration wouldn't object to new initiatives that further the Camp David process, "but we will strongly oppose any efforts that would derail that process."

Carter and Muskie have warned Europeans against cutting across the Camp David peacemaking process for the Middle East.

Carter says he didn't notice rocks hurled at his motorcade

MIAMI (AP) — President Carter says he didn't notice the rocks and bottles tossed at his motorcade by a jeering crowd, but the mayor of this racially torn city is worried that the incident could spoil any benefits of the president's visit to a riot-scarred neighborhood.

It was one of the most violent encounters in Carter's presidency.

One photographer was hit with a bottle, but no one was reported hurt — or arrested — when 600 people scrambled for safety late Monday as the motorcade was bombarded. Carter had waved to the crowd, at which point the crowd began booing and shouting insults. When the rocks and bottles came, Carter ducked into his car and sped off.

Dade Metro Police Cmdr. Douglas Hughes said "a few kids at the back of the crowd" had thrown the debris.

The incident, which followed demonstrations by blacks and Cuban exiles, occurred as Carter left a meeting with black leaders in Liberty City, the neighborhood burned and looted last month in racial riots that claimed 16 lives. Police in riot gear cleared the block and the only damages reported were broken windows on another motorcade vehicle. Carter's car was nicked by a beer bottle.

"I think the bottle-throwing incident is a natural expression of people who are frustrated," said Mayor Maurice Ferre. "Most of the crowd wasn't involved...I don't think they were throwing bottles at Jimmy Carter, but at the presidency. This is a continuation of the other — it is an expression."

Ferre said he feared "this one little incident that took five seconds" would detract from Carter's attempt to soothe raw nerves in the black and Cuban communities with promises of jobs, justice and compassion.

Ferre said the president did not make specific commitments to provide assistance to the riot area. "It was a bland meeting — we did not come forth with an organized plan. He made no commitments and wasn't asked to make any," Ferre said. "It was a missed opportunity."

"So far as the demonstrators are concerned, I didn't see them," Carter said later on arrival in Seattle, where he is to address big city mayors. "But they have a problem in that area that we're all working together to try to solve."

White House press secretary Jody Powell, asked Carter's reaction to the incident, said, "His feeling was that it was a worthwhile visit and that it was important that he came." Presidential aide Jack Watson said a program of aid for Miami is expected to be ready in two weeks.

Carter's visit was his first to South Florida since the May rioting sparked by the acquittal of four white former policemen charged in the beating death of a black businessman. It also was his first contact with Miami's Cuban exile community. The Freedom Flotilla, which has brought more than 112,000 refugees to the United States, began seven weeks ago.

COMEDIAN BURNED — Comedian Richard Pryor is hospitalized in Sherman Oaks, California with third-degree burns over 50 per cent of his body. Pryor, who is in critical condition, was burned when a cigarette lighter exploded and his clothing caught fire.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Not true

Q. If a private citizen was in a car which had broken down on the highway and a DPS vehicle drove by, is it true that the officers cannot give that citizen a ride into town for help?

A. "It is not true," says James B. Adams, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety. "I get letters everyday from people who were helped by DPS officers when they were stranded motorists." In a telephone interview from his office in Austin, Adams said the type of service rendered depends on other emergencies the officer might have at the time.

A Midland man, J.D. Webster, may represent the Libertarian Party in the November election against Democrat Kent Hance, the incumbent U.S. representative in the 19th District.

Petitions containing the names of 28,698 must be presented to the Secretary of State if Webster makes the race.

Webster is an oil man who favors the abolishment of the Windfall Profits Tax and the Natural Gas Pricing Act of

Robert L. Monaghan of Midland has been named a Ronald Reagan delegate to the Republican National Convention this year.

Chosen as alternate delegates to the convention, which will be held in Detroit, were Robert Paxton and Mrs. George Weis, both of Midland.

John Ryan and Mrs. J. Everts Haley, both of Lubbock, will also serve as Reagan delegates to the National Convention.

This will mark the third time Monaghan has served as a convention delegate. He currently is Republican District committeeman for the 25th district.

And away we go with Walt's hot shots: Jimmy Carter seems to feel warm all over as he considers the primary voters, except when he brushes against Ted Kennedy's cold shoulder.

Teddy has a way of turning things around, switching victory and defeat, reversing first place and runner-up. He may tell us not to blame Jimmy Carter too much for what happened to Chap-paquiddick.

Now that Ronald Reagan is assured of the Republican nomination, he is hard at work on the upcoming campaign.

He asked aides for advice but, I understand he has rejected one suggestion for a campaign slogan: "Nuts to Carter."

Ramsey Clark used to play the guitar but not lately. Now he specializes in horning in.

President and Mrs. Carter recently gave a luncheon for the king and queen of Belgium. Afterward, Amy planned her visit for them.

There goes Belgium. Some Republicans are worried about Ronald Reagan because he is an actor.

If he is elected president, they fear that after the band plays "Hail to the Chief," the vice president will step forward and say: "He-e-e-e-e-e-e-e-e-e-e's Ronny!"

Shortages, shortages, shortages. Now our country has even run out of presidential primaries.

Martin County coed wins state 4-H food contest

At first, she made bread so hard the family used it for a doormat — but recently Debbie Glendening's District 6 entrant was coached by Sylvia Hale.

Mary Kaye Halfmann and Denise Schwartz, Garden City, won third place awards for their pork demonstrations. They were coached by Jo Ann Halfmann.

Billy J. Shanks and Brent Culp, Stanton, won first places in safety and accident prevention. They were coached by Roger Fleckenstein.

Miss Glendening, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Glendening of Star Route, Tarzan.

Foods and nutrition are only a small part of the coed's years in 4-H. Throughout those nine years, she has completed many projects, and she has served as a junior leader, teaching younger 4-H members in projects.

In 1979, she won second place in the state safety-demonstration contest. She has completed other 4-H projects in clothing, family living, animal projects, such as sheep and lamb, and horticulture, as well.

Of her foods and nutrition project, she says she has "learned to eat better, especially better foods for my complexion, and I've learned to compare prices."

Apply now for financial aid at Howard College

Students who plan to attend Howard College during the fall semester and are in need of financial aid should apply now for financial aid, according to Cheri Sparks, Dean of Students at Howard College.

Howard College offers a wide range of financial aids. Included among these are grants, scholarships, work study jobs, and short and long term loans. Each year the Financial Aids Office awards more than $250,000 in different types of financial assistance, said Sparks.

"The process of applying is simple and must be done on an individual basis," said Sparks. "Each person should complete the Basic Grant application. These applications are kept in high school counselors' offices and in the Financial Aids Office at Howard College.

"The best way to determine if you qualify for financial assistance is to come by the Financial Aids Office," Sparks concluded.
The Financial Aids Office is located in the Administration Building on campus, or call 267-6311, extension 28.

Cop arrested after fire

HOUSTON (AP) - Arson investigators say a police patrolman arrested Sunday after a school fire is being questioned about 30 southwest Houston fires.

T.E. Smith, 27, a four-year police veteran assigned to a southwest substation, was being questioned by detectives from the police department's internal affairs division.

Smith was charged with arson in the Sunday fire at the Louie Welch Junior High.

J.N. Witt, an arson investigator, said two uniformed officers saw a man running from the fire, get into a car, and speed away without lights. He said the officers made the arrest about six blocks from the school.

Witt said about 100 fires have been set in apartments, trash bins, boats, laundries and buildings in the southwest area in the past four months.

Help 'Charley' find way home, then enjoy reward

'Charley' is a Siamese cat of proud lineage who has logged more flying time than its mistress, Mrs. Robert F. Penner, 2 Highland Cove, but which hasn't been able to find its way home from across town.

'Charley' was taken home by a cleaning woman about a month ago and somehow got out of the house, located on Robin Street. Since that time, it has been several times but is cautious about approaching people.

The feline, called "it" because it has been neutered, has a seal coat with dark ears and legs, blue eyes and a white tummy with a dark line running down the middle of its under-carriage.

The cat is a tireless retriever, is suspicious of children and far more relaxed around adults. It likes to go for automobile rides, invariably will travel curled up between the front seat and the driver's feet. Mrs. Penner, who has advertised several times for knowledge about the whereabouts of the cat and who is offering a reward for its return, can be reached by dialing 263-1544.

'Old West' paintings included in benefit

Marianne Caroselli of San Marcos, who has become well known for her subdued style of "Old West" painting, has the honor of having three of her paintings selected for publication as Christmas cards by the Leanin' Tree Company of Boulder, Colorado. Two cards were reproduced from her paintings in 1979 by the Leanin' Tree Company and ended up being among their top ten best selling cards.

This talented native of New Jersey will be joining other well-known artists in an art show and sale benefitting the West Side Community Center on June 14 through June 20, at the Citizens Federal Credit Union building.

Caroselli says that she has become so inspired with the legends of this land and its heritage, that her art has become a serious endeavor.

Her paintings reflect this love of the west and are devoted to creating a mood known to her as "The Quiet West." She strives to let the viewer of her work feel the mood of each of her paintings and its subjects.

Having studied art since the age of ten, Caroselli received her degree at the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Art in New Jersey. Her background includes several courses in art and sculpturing and has won many awards for both.

Her determination and hard work at her career have resulted in her paintings being collected by numerous individuals and businesses throughout the United States.

Other artists who will be participating in the benefit art show and sale include J. Royal Telford, Corpus Christi; Jerry Seagle, Austin; George Boutwell, Austin; Opal Lewis, Austin; Jim Thomas, Amarillo; F. # What Texas Electric says about setting your central air to save money.

At Texas Electric we are often asked about the cheapest way to operate a central air conditioning unit and still be comfortable.

Here's what we recommend.

- Keep the temperature at 78° or higher. Each degree below that causes the unit to use about 5% more energy.

- Leave your air conditioner's fan switch in the "auto" position. This way the fan only comes on when it's needed.

- Finally, before you leave the house, turn your air conditioner switch to "off." Even though your house may be warmer when you return, you won't be paying to air condition an empty house while you were gone.

For more energy-saving ideas and answers to your questions, call Texas Electric and arrange to attend an Operation Tighten-Up workshop in your neighborhood.

A house can grow old, almost overnight

One of the great thrills in buying your own home is getting it paid off. After that, you trade 12 fairly large payments a year for one or two whopping payments, depending on whether your taxes and your insurance payment come due at the same time.

One thing is for sure. The domicile, which you had always regarded as new or fairly new while you were making those monthly acquaintances on it, suddenly ages overnight, after you have met the final assessments on it. The walls begin to look dingy. The outside paint is peeling. The roof has developed enough peepholes through it to make any housecat look like a leopard at high noon.

THAT'S NOT ALL, the plumbing is developing leaks under the driveway. The house's foundation has developed awesome cracks, which can only cause splits in the sheetrock of the home's interior. The screens, which can endure only so many rainstorms and so many changes in the weather, are rotting away. The crabgrass has paid a return visit after being made to feel unwelcome down the street. The air conditioner's tubing has developed a leak where it connects onto the hydrant outside the kitchen. The air conditioner itself works over such protest it begins to shake the whole house. The caulking around the windows, advertised as something that will outlast the woodwork, has all but gone with the wind.

The $15-per-square-yard carpet you put down may still appear plush in the dark recesses of the parlor but in the aislesways to the back rooms it looks as if a herd of buffalo has surged over it daily, looking for water.

ONE OF THE great losses America has suffered in this generation is the handy man, the jack-of-all-trades who may not impress with his social graces but who could fix just about anything around a house. Within the memory of man, too, he could be coaxed to your place within a matter of days, if not hours. Now, you're lucky if he can look to your needs a month after your initial contact with him and you never get anything but a 'maybe' out of him. He's rarer than a brain surgeon and charges comparative fees for giving you the benefit of his expertise.

The most popular items in the way of reading material these days is "How to Do Odd Jobs Around Your House." Man never knows what he can accomplish until he tries and he soon discovers he can do a lot in the way of fixing leaky faucets, putting down linoleum and repairing garbage racks.

Of course, the really smart homeowner is the one who sees that his wife learns the art of carpentry, plumbing and landscaping. That gives man a true sense of accomplishment. And it is happening in most households where any continuity has been established.

Worth trouble

Around the rim

I have lived through hot days in my life but never as hot as this past Saturday.

Most of you probably experienced the heat but not like I and about 15 others from here and many, many more from towns around.

While most of you were probably staying inside your, cool air-conditioned homes, we were broiling in the 109-degree temperature in San Angelo. We were participating in a softball tournament.

FOR OUR FIRST game at 11 a.m. we all were suited out in our regular uniforms, nylon and all. By the end of the first half of the inning, we had all decided they had to go. It was just too hot.

But we didn't let it bother us too much. We won the game with a fair amount of ease. We had played together as a team like we had never done before that game.

All we wanted to do after that game was go back to the motels and jump into the swimming pools. But our coach said if we expected to eat that day, we had better do it then. We played in an hour and a half and if we lost we played right after that. We did have time to change clothes. There was no way we were going through another game in those uniforms.

The heat was even worse. There was no breeze and the sun just kept beating down. There was no relief anywhere, not even under the bleachers. The sun was slowly sapping the strength and energy from all the players. But we held on to win despite a close game.

We had another hour and a half between games. Everyone headed for a cool spot and cool drinks.

For the third game of the day we finally got smart. One of the husbands of the players got some blankets out of his car and a tarp and put a shade above our dugout. It offered some relief from the sun but not much from the heat. We even brought wet rags to wash ourselves with. It helped while we were damp but once out on the field again, it was hotter than ever.

DETERMINED WE WERE not going to lose, we had to rally for a win. It would only be about 45 minutes until the next game so everybody found shade behind the concession stand and rested. We compared sunburns, bruises and stories of how hot we were.

The heat, four games and a good team got the better of us. We lost our first and last game of the day. We would be back on Sunday to battle for the championship.

Sunday was a perfect day for softball. No sun, clouds, cool temperatures and a breeze. Why couldn't it have been like that the day before? We lost that game on Sunday, but we still drove away with third place trophies, two all-tournament players and 15 new uniforms.

Despite the heat, it was well worth the trip.

We'll get 'em next year.

Plots in plots

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — In an earlier column, I told how eight members of Congress were caught in the ABSCAM trap, but seven others were let out before the trap was sprung. Several of the eight were filmed accepting bribes from FBI undercover agents. The same intermediaries who brought in the eight legislators for their payoffs also offered to produce another seven. But curiously, the Justice Department was not interested.

The FBI agents and their star witness, Mel Weinberg, were frustrated and bewildered at a series of orders from the Justice Department in Washington which prevented them from pursuing what they regarded as promising leads.

THIS SENSATIONAL allegation is contained in a confidential book proposal prepared by Bob Greene, whose investigative reporting earned Newsday a Pulitzer Prize. It is clear from the text that one of Greene's informants is the government's own chief witness, Weinberg himself.

Five weeks ago, I reported that the Justice Department had been selective in pursuing ABSCAM leads. I noted that some of President Carter's political opponents had been pursued while some of his supporters had not.

I reported that the FBI had an intense interest in House Speaker Tip O'Neill. There is no evidence that the FBI agents could have netted him, but they were eager to try. Then the Justice Department sent word that "we don't think (the O'Neill investigation) is profitable to pursue."

Here are two other big fish who escaped the ABSCAM net:

House Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J. — Just as the FBI agents were about to draw Rodino into their net, the Justice Department scotched the investigation. They were dealing with Rodino's son-in-law, Charles Stanziale, who now swears he resisted the baited fish hook.

But Greene declares flatly: "Contrary to his public statement, the son-in-law of powerful Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter Rodino eagerly talked with Weinberg and an undercover FBI agent about getting legal fees for his law firm ... and strongly intimated that he could deliver, Congressman Rodino in return."

A SOURCE CLOSE to the investigation told my associate Gary Cohn that the Justice Department "cooled on Rodino just as the agents were getting closer to meeting him." The source insisted that a meeting with Rodino "could have been pulled off," although there is no indication that he would have taken any money or even would have discussed a payment.

The Justice Department's tampering with the Rodino investigation, inside sources suggest, so angered the undercover men that they leaked the ABSCAM story.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. — Justice Department sources first hesitated to pursue the 77-year-old Senate veteran, then gave the go-ahead, then called off the investigation.

By Greene's account, Rep. John Jenrette, D-S.C., offered to deliver Thurmond for $100,000. But, says Greene, Jenrette insisted upon picking up the money himself, contending that Thurmond wouldn't meet with the undercover operatives in person. There is no proof that Thurmond was aware of Jenrette's dickering.

Jenrette was caught on videotape, no further attempt was made to reel in Thurmond.

Significantly, both Rodino and Thurmond, as powers on the House and Senate Judiciary committees, respectively, have been strong supporters of the Justice Department.

The ABSCAM caper was directed personally by Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti and the head of the Justice Department's criminal division, Philip Heymann. Their spokesman has denied any interference with the ABSCAM investigation.

PARTY SURPRISE: The biggest fear in Ronald Reagan's inner circle right now is that Jimmy Carter will get an unexpected boost in the election campaign from an "October surprise." Reagan's advisers worry that a startling news development like last year's "November surprise," the Tehran hostage seizure, will rally support around a beleaguered president.

There's not much the Republicans can do to forestall such an unpredictable blockbuster, so they'll continue to hammer away at the gap between candidate Carter's promises and President Carter's achievements.

Meanwhile, Reagan is working on a "July surprise" of his own for unveiling at the Detroit convention. His choice of a running mate, insiders confide, will be someone who can broaden his appeal, rather than a political carbon copy who might please only a narrow base of ultra-conservative true believers.

INFLUENCE DIGEST: Several Moslem powers, including Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Pakistan, have brought secret pressure on Iran to return the American hostages, end the crisis and restore stability to the Persian Gulf region. ... The gentle Cambodian people are caught between their ancient enemies, the Vietnamese, and their recent oppressors, the Khmer Rouge. The latest intelligence reports indicate that the Khmer Rouge are gaining strength in the jungles of Cambodia. ... The Soviets are pouring so much firepower into Afghanistan that they have been unable to keep up their scheduled shipments to Vietnam, according to classified reports. This may have contributed to the slowing of the Vietnamese conquest of Cambodia.

WATCH ON WASTE: Back in 1976, Energy Department bureaucrats authorized a modest $75,000 solar energy visitor's center in a Los Angeles suburb. But in the Topsy-like way of federal projects, it has now grown into a $555,000 production — more than $400,000 of it financed by Uncle Sam.

Why mumble?

Art Buchwald

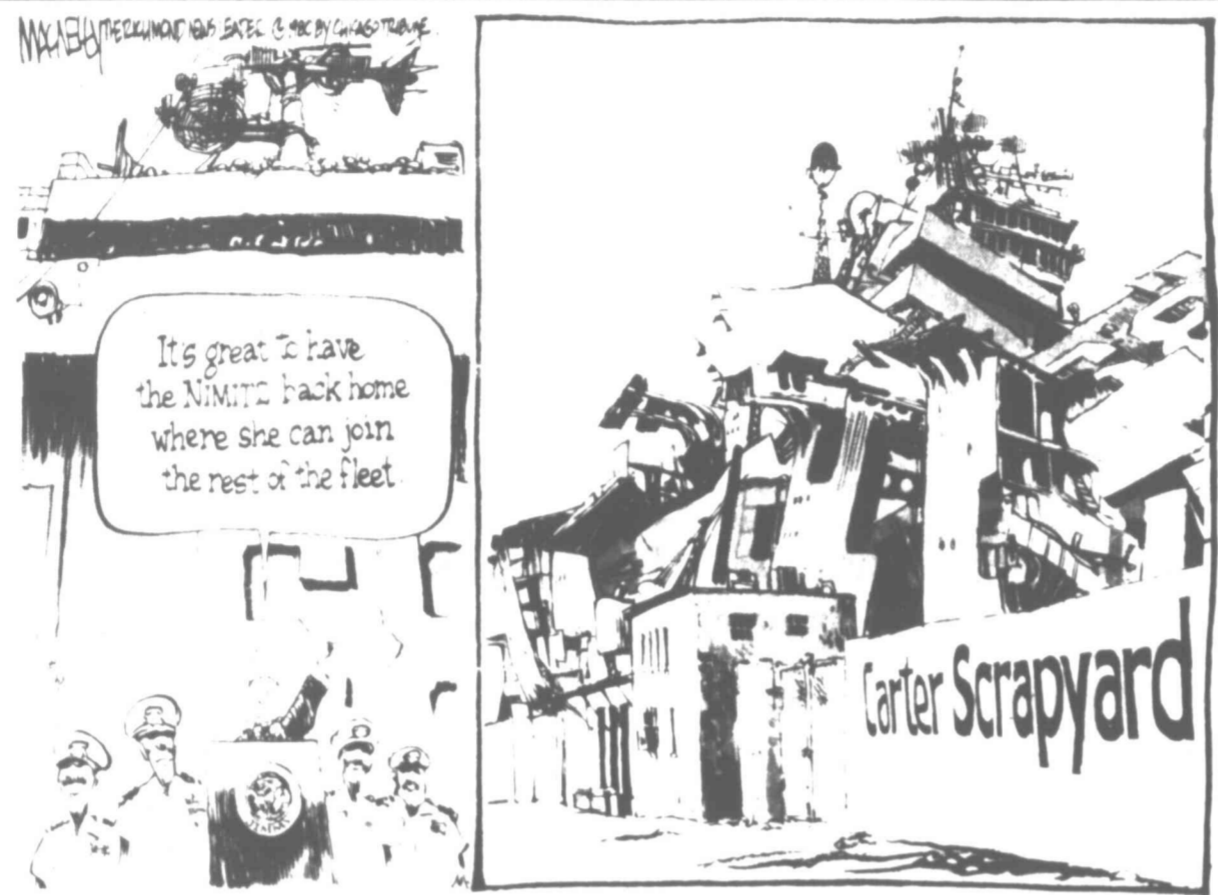

WASHINGTON — It may be my imagination but more and more people seem to be talking to themselves during this election year. All you have to do is walk down the street and you can hear someone mumbling. I was curious to hear what people are saying so I followed one man who was muttering. This is what I heard:

"I can't vote for Carter. Anyone but Carter. But then I can't vote for Reagan either. If I go for Anderson, I'll be throwing my vote away. I better vote for Carter. But Carter doesn't seem to know what he's doing. He got us into a recession, and in four more years he could get us into a depression. I better vote for Reagan. Reagan will get us into a war. It would be terrible to be in a recession and a war at the same time. I better vote for Anderson. What do I know about Anderson? I voted for Carter last time because I didn't know anything about him. I won't make that mistake again. I better vote for Carter."

"I'M NOT SURE I could stand the Georgia mafia for another four years. I better vote for Reagan. But if I vote for Reagan I'll be voting for simple answers to complicated questions. He hasn't said anything original since 'Bedtime for Bonzo.' Maybe I better vote for Anderson. Why should I vote for Anderson? He seems honest — but they all seem honest at the beginning. I'll bet underneath it all he's just another politician on the make. I think I'll cast my ballot for Carter. What I am saying? The reason I'm having all this trouble deciding who to vote for is because of Carter. He hasn't solved any of the problems we're facing. He says one thing one day and another the next. It looks like I have no choice. I have to pull the lever for Reagan. But if Reagan gets in he may have two or three Supreme Court appointments. I couldn't live with the people Reagan would appoint to the Supreme Court."

It's obvious, I have to forget the two-party system and support Anderson. Hold it, Anderson can't win. All he can do is spoil it for the other two and then it will go to the House, and they'll probably give it to Carter. I might as well vote for Carter in the first place. My wife said she'd never talk to me if I voted for Carter again. She says she's had it with Born Again Presidents. I don't think Reagan's been born again. I wonder if she'd want me to vote for Reagan? I wish she hadn't left home to take a job in California so I could ask her. I guess it has to be Reagan. No, it doesn't have to be Reagan. He never gets his facts straight. That's all right when you're running for office — but it could be real trouble in the Oval Office. I better think Anderson. "Anderson" is just a media star who will burn out once the election is over. Where did he come from? What do I know about him except that he looks different from the others? I have to come to my senses. I'm not happy about it, but I'll go for Carter."

"BUT IF I vote for Carter we'll get the whole damn family in the White House again. I'm not sure I can put up with Amy in her teens, and I know I've had it with Billy. At least with Reagan we don't get a family. It's obvious what my decision is. I'll vote for Reagan and take my chances. Some people say he was a good governor of California. Come to think of it he's the one who said it. Others say he fudged his record. Maybe I should vote for Anderson and forget about the whole thing. But Anderson's record in the House isn't that hot either. He says he's changed his mind on a lot of things. Well, if he can change his mind, so can I."

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Some tips on poisons

SPECIAL NOTE FOR READERS: I received a letter from the poison control center in my area and I thought I should pass on to you the good advice contained in it. Vacations seem particularly dangerous times.

Many children, especially those under five years of age, are accidentally poisoned every year. The tips to avoid this have been offered many times, but they merit repeating. There were a few new ones in the letter I got:

- Lock up all medicines.
- Don't take medicines in front of children.
- Don't call the children's medicine "candy."
- Discard old medicine regularly and dump down the drain.
- Avoid bringing toxic substances into your house.
- Store cleaning supplies out of sight and reach of children.
- Don't store medicines, cleaning agents or pesticides near food.
- Keep all products in the original containers.
- Rinse out containers thoroughly before disposing of them, and
- Have on hand an ounce of syrup of ipecac. This makes the child vomit. You should not give it to a child suspected of taking a poisonous substance until you check with your doctor. Ipecac is not to be given in all cases of poisoning, but it should be available if it is needed.

Keep your doctor's phone number in a readily accessible place and find out if there is a poison control center in your area. Keep that number handy, too. And teach your child never to accept anything to eat or drink offered them by another child without first asking you about it.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am worried about my diet. I read recently about sprue and I had all the symptoms, so I eliminated from my diet all wheat, oats and rye products. That made me feel better. I substitute rice and potatoes. But two years ago I was told I had kidney problems and had calcium stones removed. I was told to eliminate all dairy products from my diet, which I have done. My general health is good, but what if I continue to eliminate dairy products and grains?

—L.H. I am glad you feel better after eliminating wheat from your diet. But I am worried, not only about you missing out on a balance diet, but also about your getting a proper diagnosis.

You may have sprue, that peculiar disease of the intestine caused by the inability to tolerate gluten products (such as wheat). You cannot diagnose sprue just by trial-and-error diet as you have done. There are many more reliable tests available. I urge you to consult a physician for a proper diagnosis and for counseling on your diet. The non-wheat diet is depriving you of considerable nutrients, and there may be no reason for that. You might get a better idea of sprue and diet from the booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints," which is available by mailing 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald. Your letter dramatizes how ill-advised some self-diagnosis can be.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a male, 21. I have recently read where elderly people who have had cataracts removed have had small contact lenses placed inside the eyes to help correct vision. Do you think that would be possible for a person my age, who does not have cataracts, but just bad eyesight? — B.R.

A cataract is an opaque eye lens, which leaves a person without the ability to focus light. So if the clouded lens is removed, the person must either wear special cataract glasses (contacts) or have an artificial lens implanted inside the eye. That is not a "contact" lens, but an actual artificial replacement for the one removed.

You are now wearing glasses or contacts because your vision is not good. Your lens is OK, so removing that would not improve your vision at all. Your problem is correction of the faulty focusing of light. For the person who has had a cataract removed, the need is for a substitute for the missing lens.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am worried about my diet. I read recently about sprue and I had all the symptoms, so I eliminated from my diet all wheat, oats and rye products. That made me feel better. I substitute rice and potatoes. But two years ago I was told I had kidney problems and had calcium stones removed. I was told to eliminate all dairy products from my diet, which I have done. My general health is good, but what if I continue to eliminate dairy products and grains?

FOR M.L. — A short answer to your long question (which is probably what you wanted anyway) is that yes, a man with B-positive blood and a woman with A-positive blood can have an O-positive child. You wouldn't believe how nearly incomprehensible a long answer would have been.

Unless properly treated, both glaucoma and cataracts can lead to blindness. If you are afflicted with either of these ailments, or know someone who is, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for his booklet, "Cataracts and Glaucoma." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Geriatrics is the medicine of older people, correct? When should a person put himself in the hands of a specialist in geriatrics, then? — A.L. 65 — J.K.

Geriatrics is the study of problems of aging, not necessarily of older people. We are all aging, whether we are 45, 65 or 75. Thus, if a 50-year-old were to have a problem related to the aging process exclusively, perhaps a reduced liver function, then the knowledge geriatricians have in the field would be just as applicable to him as to a 70-year-old.

Dear Dr. Donohue: How can you tell whether a headache is caused from overuse of the eyes, as from a lot of intense reading? — R.T.

Eyestrain can produce a dull aching around the eyes or around the forehead and temples. Resting the eyes brings relief, but it is well to have the eyes tested afterward. Often farsightedness or an astigmatism may be contributing to the strain.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: From your experience, do you think there is still a place for doctors and teachers on the mission fields of the world? — M.B.

DEAR M.B.: Yes, definitely. Furthermore, there are many opportunities for all kinds of people who have training in many different fields. If you are a Christian in one of these fields, I believe you should pray seriously to see if it is God's will for you to consider work on the mission field.

One reason is that many parts of the world are closed to evangelists or other missionaries directly involved in religious work. But these same countries will welcome those who have special skills they need — doctors, teachers, technicians, engineers, etc. For an alert Christian, there will often be many opportunities to witness for Jesus Christ in such situations. Furthermore, such a person will usually have his salary paid by the agency or institution for which he is working in that country, and he does not therefore need to rely on financial help from home — help which can then be given to other missionaries.

Remember that God can use you in your career — you do not need to be a so-called professional Christian worker to be used of God. That is true whether you are in this country.

Judge rules voluntary deduction plan illegal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock's union dues check-off plan, viewed as a step up for state employee unions, was shot down Monday by a state district judge.

Bullock said he hoped Attorney General Mark White would appeal to the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here, and a spokesman said White probably would.

State District Judge Herman Jones said Bullock's voluntary payroll deduction plan — which could have included charitable donations and credit union deposits as well as union dues — was illegal.

Jones enjoined Bullock from implementing the check-off system on June 30.

Jones agreed with the Texas Right to Work Committee and other plaintiffs that Bullock could not set up his payroll deduction system without specific authorization from the Legislature.

Warren Craig, attorney for the Right to Work Committee, had called Bullock's action "just an end run around the Legislature."

Craig said lawmakers had rejected, or at least failed to pass, several bills in 1979 authorizing union dues check-off and other voluntary payroll deductions.

Bullock announced the check-off plan after Attorney General Mark White said he could set it up even though he had no specific legislative authorization.

The only taker so far has been the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which has more than 200 members in the comptroller's department.

Union organizers applauded White's opinion because check-off saves administrative costs for a union and avoids unpleasantness with members who fall behind in their dues.

Jones said, however, that White had read the law incorrectly.

Small quake rumbles through Panhandle

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — One woman said her house swayed, but no damage or injuries were reported from a small earthquake that rumbled through the Texas Panhandle and western Oklahoma Monday evening.

The U.S. Geological Survey's Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., said the 5:37 p.m. CDT tremor registered 3.6 on the Richter scale.

The National Weather Service here said the quake, which lasted only a few seconds, was felt 70 to 80 miles from the epicenter in the Miami area of the eastern Panhandle.

"It shook parts of Gary, Hudson, Carson and Potter counties," a NWS spokesman said.

Earthquakes are "not very common, but they're not that uncommon" in the Panhandle, he said. "They're not rare."

"We first thought it was a sonic boom or an explosion," said Fire Chief Pleasant Meadows in White Deer, Texas, northeast of Amarillo.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. An earthquake of 3.5 on the Richter scale can cause slight damage in the local area.

The San Francisco earthquake of 1906, which occurred before the Richter scale was devised, has been estimated at 7.9 on the Richter scale — about 10,000 times stronger than Monday's disturbance in the Panhandle.

Kermit sinkhole quiet as cracks widening

KERMIT, Texas (AP) — The West Texas sinkhole, apparently satisfied with a 50-foot by 8-foot chunk of earth it had for breakfast Monday, was quiet the rest of the day.

Cracks extending from the crater continued to widen, however, and officials theorized a recent rain may have been a factor.

Winkler County Sheriff's Deputy Randy Tenney said the latest cave-in occurred on a corner of the chasm away from Petro Lewis Corp.'s oil well and Shell Oil Co.'s tank farm.

He said Shell workers were draining the tanks closest to the hole and rerouting some pipelines broken when the hole suddenly appeared last Tuesday.

A Shell spokesman, however, said the drainage had nothing to do with the sinkhole.

"We drained 'em when we needed some oil to pump," he said late Monday. "It was just normal usage."

The spokesman also disputed officials' estimates that the crater had grown larger than three football fields. He said a measurement of the hole Sunday showed it was about 465 feet by 200 feet.

Cracks surrounding the sinkhole have crept to within 100 feet of the oil well and 300 feet of a highway, which has been closed to the public. Shell's tank farm remains several hundred feet from the cracks.

Petro Lewis workers capped the well with cement last week as a precautionary measure.

Rabies vaccine to be replaced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The painful series of rabies shots that has protected Americans from the fatal disease for decades probably will be replaced by a newly approved vaccine, specialists say.

The Food and Drug Administration approved the safer, more effective vaccine Monday. It was developed in France and used for years in Europe.

The vaccine's U.S. distributor says all state health departments should have initial supplies of the vaccine by the end of the month.

The new vaccine is made from rabies viruses grown in cultures of human cells, instead of in duck eggs like the old one. The new vaccine protects virtually all people exposed to rabies and has far fewer adverse reactions than the duck egg type, the FDA said.

An added feature is that the new vaccine provides protection after five injections instead of the 23 required with the older type.

"This is a momentous day for rabies protection in this country," said Dr. William Winkler of the Federal Center for Disease Control, who said the new vaccine should replace most of the demand for the old one.

Winkler said in a telephone interview that about 30,000 persons get precautionary rabies vaccinations each year in this country, usually after having been bitten by animals suspected of having the disease.

Winkler noted that the new vaccine, like the duck egg variety, is not useful after symptoms of rabies develop. The rabies virus attacks the nervous system and after symptoms such as muscle spasms and headache occur, the outcome is almost always fatal, he said.

Aggressive preventive measures to reduce exposures in the last 20 years has cut confirmed human cases to less than five per year in this country, but the disease usually means death unless treated early, he said.

Big Spring Employment puts right person in job

Success is finding a job or in finding the right person to fill a position is better assured by consulting a professional employment service such as Big Spring Employment Agency, located in the Coronado Plaza.

Finding the right persons for the right job is the duty of Mrs. Sue Brown and Mrs. Ruby Taroni, the experienced personnel counselors at Big Spring Employment.

Each employer has the right to demand the person best qualified for the job, considering the requirements of the work, the salary to be offered and the availability of applicants. With this in mind, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Taroni carefully evaluate each applicant before he (or she) is sent for an interview.

They spend many hours screening job applicants so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the job opening. The agency refers only those who measure up to the job's requirements.

Thus, fewer rejections plague the employer or the applicant. The employer sees fewer people, and fewer rejections make for better public relations. There is also a smaller personnel turnover, and the efficiency of employees tends to rise.

Many highly qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own identity.

Big Spring Employment carries on an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, exposing applicants to personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

Both the employment counselors and the employers may refer to these tests as an indicator of future possibilities.

All services are handled on a confidential basis. From the minimum-wage clerk to the highly-paid executive, job applicants come to Big Spring Employment because they know private agencies are specialists in job-hunting and can, because of experience and contacts, place them in desirable jobs sooner than they could locate jobs themselves.

Applicants desiring employment in other parts of the state or country can be referred for interview through associated agencies.

THE ONE WAY THE THIEF ON THE CROSS PART II

By B.W. Briggs

As we ended in Part I, Jesus had authority to forgive sins in any way he desired. (Jn. 18:36, Mk. 2:5-12, Lk. 17:48-50, 19:9-10). To position ourselves as living under the same will and period as the thief, is to completely sever ourselves from Christ. (Gal. 5:4, Heb. 10:1-30). We are living under a different will today! Baptism as pictured in the new will of Christ was not in effect before the cross. What about the rich young ruler? Was the command to him a universal one? If so, to be a child of God with eternity in reach, we must sell all that we have! Jesus had prescribed other conditions for forgiveness that are not universal. (See Luke 18:18-23). A will is only in effect after the death of its maker. The Old Testament is of none effect today! (Col. 2:14, Rom. 6:14). We live on this side of the cross under a new will, while the thief lived on the other side of the cross under the old will. The cross stands between the old and new covenants. (Heb. 7:12, 9:15). Salvation today is not effected by what Jesus did prior to the cross — that is as far as conditions of salvation. People are commanded what to do today. (Rom. 10:9-10; Mk. 16:16). The thief received no commandment as to pardon Christ present will has conditions of forgiveness. His will continues to the end of time. (Heb. 7:12, 24:25). Therefore, the old will or covenant has no effect as to the present conditions or will for the pardon of mankind. The cases of salvation before the cross were not cases of "gospel conversions." The gospel elements had not yet taken form or fulfillment. (1 Cor. 15:1-7). Therefore, since the gospel is the death, burial, and resurrection of Christ, it couldn't be obeyed until that same message had fulfillment! (Lk. 24:44 f.; 2 Thess. 1:3-10). Jesus had to die before the new will was of effect. (Heb. 9:15-17). Note, if you will, some conditions for a will to be effective. 1) TESTATOR — will maker of sound mind and age. (Lk. 3:23). 2) LEGACY — something to bequeath. (Jn. 10:10; 2 Cor. 8:9). 3) HEIRS — those to receive the estate and its benefits. (Mt. 11:28, Tit. 2:11). 4) CONDITIONS — must be clearly stated by the maker and carried out to the fullest by the heirs. (Lk. 6:46; Jn. 12:48 f.). 5) WITNESSES — must be competent. (Lk. 24:38, Acts 1:8, 21:22-23; 26:1-18). 6) DEATH — the testator must die before the will is operative. (Jn. 19:30, 33-34). 7) EXECUTORS — they administer the will and the estate therein — The apostles did that very thing on Pentecost. (Jn. 14:26, 16:13; Lk. 24:44, Acts 2:22-41). They read the will of Christ on that day! (Acts 1:3, 2; Mt. 16:16; Mt. 28:18-19; Lk. 24:46-47; Mt. 16:18-19). Note also that every new testament examples of salvation included baptism. Where is an example of salvation where baptism is excluded? The New Testament knows nothing of an un-baptized saved person! Acts 2:37-38 proves that the people were commanded to be baptized as well as Mark 16:16 for the remission of sins. I'm not a Greek scholar — but the scholars, whoever they be, that formed the translating committees "all" translate the Greek word eis into "for" or in the name of Jesus — showing a different baptism than that before the cross. (Acts 19:1-7). Baptism is definitely connected with the Holy Spirit, or why Acts 2:38 and Acts 19:1-7 with Paul's questionings? Someone might say, "George Washington and Abraham Lincoln never paid income tax, so neither will I!" But even our constitution does not recognize an ex post facto law. (Article 1, Section 9). Many people use the same reasoning in an attempt to negate the true meaning of verses like Acts 2:38, Mark 16:16, and 1 Peter 3:21. The debate obviously is not with man — it's with God! Whatever Jesus did prior to the cross does not effect His will of today. If I gave out $100 bills to everyone today, would that mean that everyone automatically comes into my will? NO! Only those who are included in my will and who obey its terms (conditions). If Jesus had said, "He that believeth in me, and is baptized, shall become a millionaire, he that believeth not shall not," how many would misunderstand? I venture to say that wet millionaires, he that believeth not shall not," how many would misunderstand? I venture to say that wet millionaires would not be lacking among us! If Christ did not mean what he said in Mark 16:16, then language has no meaning! Please consider Hebrews 5:8-9 and Matthew 7:21-23. The only way to God is in Christ. (Acts 4:12; Heb. 9:15; Gal. 3:26-27; 2 Cor. 5:17). I know that it seems we in the churches of Christ harp on Acts 2:38 alot. But allow me to explain why this verse is such a key one between our differences. We believe John 3:16 and like verses just as you. We believe that FAITH IS IMPARTITIVE TO SALVATION. How could we not? The scriptures are there in plain sight? We agree with you that REPENTANCE IS IMPARTITIVE TO SALVATION. How could we not? The scriptures are there in plain sight! Again, we agree that CONFESION IS IMPARTITIVE TO SALVATION. How could we not? The scriptures are there in plain sight! I once said all I hear was silence on some of the verses listed above in support of baptism for salvation. Well, that's not totally true. Many of you have expressed your position and understandings concerning the function of baptism. But silence still exist as to why you would fight it so, by understanding it to be for the remission of sins? Is it the thought of water? From Jesus' baptism to Saul's God chose the element! Not mankind! Can you counsel God? Do you like the prophet Jonah know more than God. I am certainly not a scholar — but by all means, friends, I'm not wiser than God Almighty! We believe in "water-salvation" only to the point that scriptures teach that at baptism, in water, is the point where the blood of Christ cleanses you! At least that is why we believe that one is born again in the act of baptism. Next week we'll look at another point!

Bells sound warning

Infant's next breath could be his last

BARBOURVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Kitty Cooper dreads the sound of bells in the night because they may be a signal that her 13-month-old son has stopped breathing again.

"The first time it happened, he was just four weeks old," Mrs. Cooper said recently. "It was my anniversary and, thank God, I hadn't drunk too much champagne."

That night she was restless and decided to check on Alex, her new baby.

"I reached over to his crib, he sleeps right next to us, and felt him. He felt like he wasn't breathing, but I thought it was just my imagination. So I put my finger under his nose and still couldn't feel anything. Then I turned him over and saw that he was blue."

She woke her husband, Bob, but he was unable to clear away the mucus that had formed in the baby's throat. They rushed Alex to the hospital and on the way, she said, the baby began breathing again.

Had he not awakened, the Coopers were told, their son probably would have been a victim of the so-called "sudden infant death syndrome" that annually claims 7,000 infants in the country.

Since that first episode, Mrs. Cooper said, her son has stopped breathing at least 50 times. Now when he does, the Coopers are alerted by a bell on a monitoring device they attach to Alex whenever they put him in his crib.

The device, featuring an electrode attached to the child's body, is set to sound the alarm if his breathing or heartbeat stops for as long as 20 seconds.

"We started out at 10 seconds and eventually will go to 25 seconds," Mrs. Cooper said. "At first, my son would stop breathing two or three times a day. Then, it was once a week. Now, he stops about every two months."

When he does, the Coopers must stimulate him to get him awake and breathing again. They tickle, pinch, or slap him, if necessary.

The child suffers from apnea, or cessation of breathing. The critical stage is usually during the first 18 months.

"It's caused by an immature brain stem," said Mrs. Cooper, who has become something of an expert on the problem. "The children literally go to sleep so soundly that they forget to breathe. By the time they're 18 months old the brain stem usually has matured."

For the first two weeks after their son's initial attack, the Coopers took turns staying up with him at night. Several weeks ago, several mothers of similarly afflicted children formed a regional SIDS support group. Kitty Cooper was elected president.

"We're growing fast," she said.

Members are working with Cabell-Huntington Hospital to get a monitoring device, which sells for $1,500 and rents for $150 a month, to be loaned free of charge to low-income families. They also keep up with the latest developments, and give each other sympathetic support.

Ego needs attention

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm an 18-year-old guy who has good looks, a great build and a fantastic girlfriend.

My problem is that girls keep coming over to my house and are calling me on the phone all the time.

I'm true to my girl and tell them I'm going steady, but that doesn't seem to stop them. It seems that I have a problem that I can't handle. What should I do? — Steve, Goshe, Ind.

Steve: It appears to me that these girls continue to "bother" you because your ego needs this attention.

What you should do, if you do not want this attention, is to politely but firmly inform the girls that their attention is not appreciated. Believe me, when the young ladies get this message, they will leave you alone.

Dr. Wallace: I have a very upsetting problem and I hope you can possibly help me. I have been married for six months now. I got married when I was 19 and I'm now 20. Shortly after my 20th birthday, my husband left me. He has been gone for a month.

We fought just like all newly married couples. The difference is, he was married once before.

He is now living with his folks and says he is not coming back. He has filed for divorce.

I love him very much but nothing I say will change his mind. Is there a way to get this marriage annulled? Or can you suggest possible ways of getting him back? — Dana, South Lake Tahoe, Calif.

Dana: First contact a competent attorney who will be able to determine if the marriage can be annulled. You will also need this lawyer to protect your interests in case of a divorce.

Now, getting your husband to return sounds like an improbable task. But nothing ventured, nothing gained. Go to his parents and ask their advice. No one knows him better.

Dr. Wallace: I have a 21-year-old cousin whom I met at a family wedding. He asked me to dance and was very sweet to me. That happened about a year and a half ago.

Now this guy is in prison and I heard from my mother that he was asking about me and this made me very happy.

I think I love him and was wondering if I should write to him and tell him how I feel about him.

I'm 16 years old. I haven't seen him since the wedding. — Kris, Delphos, Ohio

Kris: No. Do not write to him and tell him your feelings. If you do write to him, remember, he is family, so keep your letter impersonal.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20 in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Give dad a laugh for Father's Day

Today's sons and daughters who'll remember Dad on Father's Day, June 15, probably feel the same love and respect for him as did their ancient counterparts, but they do tend to express it a bit differently.

Some 4,000 years ago, a Babylonian youth named Elmesu took "pen" in hand and composed what could be considered the first Father's Day card.

His writing instrument was probably a sharpened stick and his stationery was a clay tablet that is still in existence. He simply wished his father "Health and Life" and "Lasting Well-being."

Today, according to Bob McCloskey of Hallmark Cards, more than 75 million cards will be given to Dad on his special day.

But typical of the greeting card sentiments Dad is most likely to receive is this 1980 Hallmark offering:

"Happy Father's Day to a Dad who gets all our love, all our respect...all our broken gadgets, all our clogged drains, all our stuck windows, etc., etc., etc."

greetings.

"The best humor always tends to have a touch of reality at its core," said McCloskey. "Let's face it, poor old Dad has probably been taken for granted all year. On Father's Day he finally gets some recognition. If it's laced with a little humor, that's all the better. Maybe it will help him make it through the rest of the year."

McCloskey said that Father's Day has become one of the strongest holidays for contemporary or gag

Bless the Kids, Beasts—Don't Let Them Roast

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for using your column last summer to remind people never to leave their pets in the car during the hot summer months. Will you please do as much for children?

So often children are told to wait in the car while Mother goes into an air-conditioned store for what she thought would take only a few minutes, but she's delayed and doesn't get back to the car until an hour later.

Leaving youngsters in a car unattended is cruel and thoughtless.

As the song goes, "Bless the beasts and the children, for in this world they have no choice, they have no voice."

CONCERNED IN COLUMBUS

DEAR CONCERNED: Read on for a letter from a clergyman in Kentucky:

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to tell you about a strange coincidence. I quote from your column (last August) in the Louisville Courier-Journal:

"DEAR PET OWNERS: With summer here, please do not take your pet along for the ride and leave it locked in the car while you run errands and shop.

"When the temperature is 85 degrees outside, the temperature inside a parked car (even with the windows slightly open) will reach 102 degrees within 10 minutes. And in 30 minutes it will reach 120 degrees!

"The normal body temperature of a dog is approximately 102 degrees; it can withstand approximately 108 degrees for a very short time before suffering irreparable brain damage or death.

"Never leave a pet in a parked car in the sun—even with the windows open."

Abby, on the same day in the same newspaper, this news release appeared: "Bond was set at $10,000 each yesterday for an Ohio couple charged with second-degree murder after their 2½-month-old son apparently suffocated in a car at Mammoth Cave National Park."

The couple had left the infant in their car while they went on a three-hour cave tour. The temperature outside the car was in the 90s, and observers said the windows were left open about 2 inches!

Abby, now that summer is here again, please emphasize the importance of protecting children as well as pets. I am sure you can put this better than I have.

JAMES H. RUCKER, ASHLAND, KY.

DEAR MR. RUCKER: You put it well enough. The facts speak for themselves. Thanks for a timely reminder.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Mayor supports Sportsacular

Mayor Clyde Angel today announced his support for the ERA Real Estate-Bob Griese Sportsacular, a major athletic event for area youngsters, which will help raise funds for the "Fight Against Muscular Dystrophy." The athletic event will be held Saturday, June 14 at Steer Park across from BSHS.

"We hope to collect $1-million nationwide for the Muscular Dystrophy Association," said Lila Estes, Owner-Broker, ERA-Reeder Realtors, local sponsors of the event.

Mayor Angel said, "We are building character by getting our young people involved in helping others. ERA Real Estate's efforts for the muscular dystrophy campaign should be commended. I fully support this event and urge Big Spring residents to support it by pledging a donation to the Muscular Dystrophy Association."

As many as 500,000 youngsters across the country will participate in 10 athletic events and accumulate points worth pledges to MDA. Local youngsters may register and pick up pledge cards at ERA-Reeder Realtors, which is located at 506 East Fourth.

The money raised will be part of ERA Real Estate's total contribution to MDA. In three years, ERA Real Estate has contributed over $2.3 million to eradicate this fatal disease. Estes said prizes will be given for both athletic and fund-raising accomplishments. Prize sponsors in Big Spring include Big Spring Hardware, Big Spring Athletics, Big Spring Movie Theatres, Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream Store and Gamco.

ERA Real Estate's sponsorship of the Sportsacular is appropriate, Estes said, because the company is also the only corporate sponsor of the U.S. Olympic Committee representing the real estate industry, and is also involved in raising funds to help send U.S. athletes to the International Olympic Games.

Youngsters aged 4-14 are eligible to compete in the affair. There will be 10 events for youngsters to compete in. They are the 50-yard dash, the dash, the 100-yard dash, crab race, sack race, long jump, frisbee throw, soccer kick, softball throw, sit-ups and reverse running.

Tallant Printing takes third in San Angelo

The Knott Women's Softball Team placed third this past weekend in the Weavels-Super Sports 1980 Women's Invitational in San Angelo.

Coached by Grady Grantham, the team defeated the San Angelo Super Sports, HNG from Sonora and the Ozona Blue Demons before losing to the Abilene Lumber "J's" on Saturday. The team advanced to the championship round on Sunday. They were defeated then by the Blue Demons.

Amber Grigg and Jamie Berry were selected to the All-Tournament team. Each will receive an individual trophy for the honor. Each member of the team received individual trophies for their third place win and a team trophy.

Other team member participating in the tournament were Lea Hughes, Rene Beall, Debbie Webb, Cathy Blagraves, Tammy Dyer, Susan Martin, Jan Maxwell, Zaida Bilbo, Carolyn Bluhm, Sandra Hodnett and Marie Homeyer.

The Abilene Lumber "J's" won first place and the Ozona Blue Demons second.

Grantham also won 15 new uniforms, a $600 value, and a glove in the tournament-sponsored raffle held at the awards ceremony Sunday.

IOC might bend rules for Olympics

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The door was still ajar Tuesday for athletes from the United States and other boycotting countries to get into the Olympic Games as individuals.

The executive board of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), meeting in Lausanne less than six weeks before the opening ceremony in Moscow, awaited a report from Arpad Csandi, its Hungarian member and technical adviser.

The board adjourned earlier than expected Monday night to give Csandi a chance to contact the international sports federations to see if they would agree to a bending of Olympic rules.

Lord Killanin, IOC

president, gave Csandi the job of trying to find a way past a situation that has blocked individual athletes from the Olympic Games for the last 84 years.

"I may be able to tell you more in 24 hours," said Killanin in an interview — a clear sign that something might happen.

Under the Olympic charter, athletes have always been prepared and entered for the Olympic Games by the National Olympic Committees which have been the basis of the Olympic movement. IOC members fear that if this rule is changed the movement might be undermined.

When the U.S. Olympic Committee responded to President Jimmy Carter's call and decided to boycott the games in Moscow, many American athletes who wanted to compete despite the Soviet military action in Afghanistan found their entry barred.

The national committees of Canada, Japan and West Germany, among some 36 countries altogether, followed the U.S. line.

But the Japanese women's volleyball team wants to go for a medal in Moscow.

Masaji Kiyakawa of Japan, a vice-president of the IOC, pushed the claims of the Japanese volleyball women at the executive board meeting Monday.

Inevitably, Kiyakawa was supported by another vice-president, Vitaly Smirnov of the Soviet Union, who for obvious reasons wants to get as many athletes from as many countries as possible in the Olympic Games opening in Moscow July 19.

Moves to bring individual athletes into the games have failed in the past. This happened after World War II, when displaced persons without nationality were barred from competing.

It happened again at Montreal in 1976 when James Gilts of Guyana, a sprinter, was refused entry as an individual after his country had joined a boycott by the African countries.

The executive board showed no sympathy Monday with Count Jean de Beaumont of France, who proposed moving the IOC session from Moscow to Lausanne in the week before the Games.

At that meeting the IOC will elect a new president to succeed Killanin, who is ending his eight-year term, and will discuss proposals for a permanent Olympic site in Greece and other problems of the future.

De Beaumont argued the mood in Moscow would be wrong for making such long-reaching decisions.

Killanin commented: "The Russians have been planning for years for our session in Moscow. We cannot move the session any more than we can move the Olympic Games themselves."

Martin blasts umpires for double standard

OAKLAND (AP) — What's good for baseball player Bill Madlock should be good for baseball umpire Dale Ford, according to Oakland A's Manager Billy Martin.

American League President Lee MacPhail will have to decide whether, as Martin charges, Ford pushed the manager during an argument early in Sunday's game against the Boston Red Sox.

"If Madlock can be suspended and fined, so should an umpire. There should be no double standard," said Martin, citing the case of the Pittsburgh Pirates' third baseman now under suspension for sticking his glove in an umpire's face.

Ford denied pushing Martin during their argument, which followed

Martin's ejection from the game, and the umpire also denied Martin's charge that he challenged the manager to fight after the game.

"I'd say he was the one doing the challenging," said Ford, who is in his fifth season as a major league umpire.

He said he "might have brushed" Martin as they faced off near home plate, but said the allegation he pushed the manager was "an out-and-out lie."

Martin said television tapes will prove him correct, and he said a radio reporter's tape of the postgame confrontation also will support his story. Ken Kaiser, a former professional wrestler in the 250-pound range who was Sunday's third base ump, stepped between Martin and Ford in the second inning and also after the game.

Ford noted that this was his first run-in with Martin, and he said, "After this one, I don't believe it'll be my last."

Both Ford and Martin talked by telephone Monday with MacPhail to give their versions of the action, which started after Ford ruled in the second inning that the A's Tony Armas struck out on a swing he tried to check.

Martin said he merely yelled from the dugout asking Ford to check on the call with another umpire and that Ford ejected him before he left the dugout. Under baseball rules a manager automatically is ejected if he comes out of the dugout to protest a strike call.

"He took one step onto the dugout and that's when I ran him," said Ford.

Richie Phillips, executive director of the Major League Umpires Association, said in Philadelphia Monday: "From everything I have received to this moment, I would say that the association will support Dale Ford in every way, but before making a definitive statement, I want the opportunity to look at the (video) tape, to see the written report and to hear the cassette of the conversation between Ford and Martin."

He added: "I have always had a great deal of respect for Dale Ford as an umpire and for Billy Martin as a manager. I know that he (Martin) is somewhat feisty, and has been somewhat problematic to some of the umpires over the years, but I've always had great deal of respect for him as being a great competitor."

Site of US Open appears racist

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The prestigious golf club which this week will host the U.S. Open Championship lost Richard Nixon as a member more than a decade ago because of its allegedly discriminatory admission practices.

As the Republican presidential nominee, Nixon in 1968 was a member of the Baltusrol Golf Club, where this year's U.S. begins Thursday. Faced with charges that the club had a discriminatory membership policy, Nixon at first promised to make changes "from within."

A month later, after the New Jersey Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union challenged Nixon by saying there were 10 blacks and 10 Jews seeking membership, Nixon resigned his membership.

"I believe it appropriate that I disassociate myself from all organizations," Nixon wrote to the club's board of directors, "and activities not related to the commitment I have undertaken by acceptance of the foregoing nomination."

Twelve years later, Baltusrol (named for Baltus Roll, the victim of an unsolved murder in 1831 on what was to become the club's grounds) has a membership of about 500, with "a few Jews and no blacks," according to John McGuire, a club member and tournament organizer.

"There are no blacks here and we're not going to find them," he said Monday. "Because of our admission procedure, blacks have not reached the point in our socio-economic strata to apply for membership."

"The real point is they must first worry about educating their children, paying the mortgage, dealing with everyday expenses, before joining a club like ours," said McGuire, a Newark lawyer. "In general, the percentage of blacks has not reached that point. It's a fact, unfortunately."

Baltusrol's admission procedures are actually quite similar to most private golf clubs. A prospective member must have a sponsor, someone to second a nomination, then four letters from members to the admissions committee.

Then, the prospective member is invited to the club to meet the admissions committee before his name is released to the general membership, which is asked for input. To be admitted, the prospective member must be approved unanimously by the club members.

McGuire said it costs about $5,000 for the first year of membership, which includes the initiation fee, purchase of stock in the club and the annual dues, about $1,250 a year.

Purdue's Carroll heads NBA draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The Golden State Warriors opened the 1980 National Basketball Association college draft today by selecting Joe Barry Carroll, the 7-foot-1, 240-pound center who led Purdue to the NCAA semifinals last season.

The Warriors had obtained the first pick in the draft on Monday from the Boston Celtics, giving up their starting center, four-year veteran Robert Parish, in return. The clubs also swapped their other first-round choices, Boston winding up with the third pick overall and Golden State the 13th. Boston had originally obtained both those picks from Detroit in the M.L. Carr-Bob McAdoo compensation deal.

Monday's trade, which Warriors executive Scotty Stirling called "the first step in the major restructuring of our club," gave Golden State four of the first 25 picks in the 10-round draft — Nos. 1 and 13 on the first round and the first two picks on the second round.

Carroll, who averaged 22.8 and 22.3 points per game in his last two college seasons, is expected to replace the 7-foot Parish as the Warriors' starting center. He was rated by all the scouts as the outstanding center available, although some had doubts about his aggressiveness and intensity.

Because of trades, Denver, Golden State, New Jersey, Philadelphia and Utah had two picks apiece on the first round of the 10-round draft, while Houston, Indiana, Los Angeles, Milwaukee and Phoenix had none.

The Utah Jazz, picking second, took guard Darrell Griffith, the explosive 6-4 star who led Louisville to the college championship. Griffith is a tremendous jumper and a fine shooter who was rated by most scouts as the most talented player available in the draft.

Boston, choosing third, opted for Kevin McHale, a 6-11 center from Minnesota who may be shifted to power forward in the pros.

The Chicago Bulls used the fourth pick in the draft to take guard Kelvin Ransey of Ohio State.

Denver was up next and selected 6-9 forward James Ray of Jacksonville, an outstanding shooter with great quickness and leaping ability.

The next two picks were New Jersey's — their own and one obtained from Portland in last year's Maurice Lucas-Calvin Natt trade.

The Nets chose Mike O'Koren, a slick-passing 6-7 forward from North Carolina who was rated the top small forward in the draft and Mike Gminski, a 6-11 center from Duke who led the Atlantic Coast Conference in scoring and rebounding.

Philadelphia, picking eighth, selected Andrew Toney, a 6-3 guard from Southwestern Louisiana.

The San Diego Clippers, desperate for help at forward, picked 6-7 Michael Brooks of LaSalle.

Portland completed the top 10 choices by selecting guard Ronnie Lester of Iowa.

Chicago then stunned the crowd by trading Ransey, whom it had taken with the No. 4 pick, to Portland for Lester, the 10th pick.

Julie Wilson

Fifteen year old Julie Wilson has a summer job. Most of her classmates don't, because many jobs require that a girl or boy be sixteen before he or she is old enough to be hired.

Not only does Julie have a job, she is the manager of her own business, as well. She's Herald carrier for Route 238. For only an hour or so a day, she receives enough money each month to keep herself well-stocked in clothes.

Julie likes her Herald route and especially enjoys her early morning Sunday deliveries. She gets out and delivers to her subscribers in the 100 blocks of W. 24th, E. 18th, E. 19th, E. 20th, E. 23rd and E. 24th; 1800-2400 Main and Scurry; 1900-2400 S. Gregg; 100-300 W. 20th and W. 22nd; and 100-200 W. 21st. She has been a carrier since May.

Julie's route is near her house which makes her deliveries even more convenient. She lives at 1505 Runnels with her parents, Richard and Judy Purser.

In her spare time, Julie likes skating, swimming, and skiing. She enjoys sports during the school year, also, where she participates in basketball and volleyball. She is in the school band and is a 10th grader at Big Spring High School.

If you are younger than that "magic age" of sweet sixteen, and eleven or older, a Herald route is a great way to earn money. And even if you are sixteen or older, it's a great chance to run your own business. Call the Herald at 263-7331 or stop by the circulation department for a route application.

Little League

SENIOR LEAGUE
The McAlister Elks used the three-hitter, 10-strikeout pitching of Tommy Robinson in taking a 9-2 win over the Big Spring Hardware Khenas in action Saturday night.
Tommy Robinson and Adam Rodriguez sparked a big fifth inning for the Elks, blasting homers. Others contributing to the Elks attack included Rodriguez, who had three singles and a double, as well as James Walker, Russ Shuler, Steve Rossell, Luis Ontiveros and Danny Chavez, who all had hits.
Mark Worro of the Stars hit the first pitch of the game for a home run, and later added a single and that was most of the power for the losing team. Sam Watson did have a double for the Stars.
Freddie Hernandez was the losing hurler.

Gomez greets new Astros unsuccessfully

HOUSTON (AP)—Five years after leaving the Astros, Preston Gomez would need a press guide to recognize the Houston Astros lineup now.
"I was talking to Cub batting instructor) Billy Williams today," said the Chicago manager, who absorbed a 6-2 loss from the Astros Monday night.
"The turnover in this ball club has been tremendous, and it's only been four or five years since I left."
Ken Forsch, J.R. Richard and Cesar Cedeno are the lone regulars remaining from Gomez' 1974-75 tenure. Enos Cabell and Jose Cruz were added the year of his departure.
"They moved Puhl (Terry) up through the system," said Gomez, who is in his maiden season in Chicago after coaching at St. Louis and Los Angeles after his dismissal from the Astros in August of 1975.
"But everybody else has been acquired, even the pitching staff," he said.
But it was home-grown Forsch who roped the Cubs Monday as he banged out two hits and knocked in a during a six-hit, third-inning rally off Cub starter Dennis Lamp, 4-6.

Forsch, 7-4, lasted 5 2-3 innings before the Cubs touched him for a run on singles by Steve Ontiveros and Tim Blackwell and a double by Mike Tyson. Randy Niemann and Frank La Corte finished up for Forsch, who said his pitching has been better.
"I don't think I had exceptional stuff. Tonight, they were hitting the ball hard. The sixth wasn't anything like I wanted it," Forsch added.
The Astros also turned on Lamp, sparked by a two-base throwing error by Cub left fielder Dave Kingman. Cruz, Denny Walling, Cabell, Cedeno, Alan Ashby and Forsch produced four runs in the third on six consecutive singles, with the last three collecting RBIs. Cruz knocked in a first-inning run with a single after Joe Morgan doubled.
Houston recorded its other run in the seventh on a walk to Ashby, a single by Rafael Landestoy, and an RBI single by Puhl.

The Cubs picked up their other run in the eighth off La Corte after a walk by Jerry Martin and Ivan De Jesus' double and an error by Puhl in right field.

ELUSIVE ALI—Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali looks from the car window of his chauffeur-driven limousine as it sped away from Federal Court in New Orleans Monday. Ali, who is facing a $20 million suit accusing him of making racial slurs in 1978, was granted drive-in privileges inside the federal complex, apparently to avoid newsmen.

AL Roundup

Jackson defies pitching odds

By the Associated Press
Reggie Jackson has been hitting pitchers right and left these days — mostly left. Despite swinging from the left side of the plate, the Yankee slugger has been defying baseball logic by hitting southpaws with an unaccustomed regularity.
Eight of his 11 homers have been socked off left-handers, including one Monday night that helped the Yankees beat the California Angels 8-7 in 10 innings.
"I usually hit better against right-handers," said Jackson, who can enjoy it but can't explain his success against southpaws.
In addition to his dramatic solo homer in the ninth inning off Dave LaRoche, which tied the game at 7-7,

Jackson had a two-run double off LaRoche in the seventh, when the Yankees scored four times to wipe out a 4-0 Angel lead.
"My thought was to give the team, the manager and myself the best chance," said Jackson, recalling his thoughts before the seventh-inning double. "I wanted to get the fat of the bat on the ball with a good compact swing."
In the only other American League games Monday night, Baltimore beat Oakland 3-2 and Seattle edged Boston 8-7 in 13 innings. Rain washed out the contest between Kansas City and Cleveland.
After Jackson tied the game in the ninth, Bob Ken Singleton sent Kelly to third with a single and Murray followed with his sacrifice fly to right.
"The ball wasn't too deep and I knew the right fielder had a strong arm. But I wasn't going to wait until the 22nd inning," said Kelly after beating Tony Armas' throw to the plate.
Mariners 8, Red Sox 7
Juan Beniquez hit his first homer of the season in the 13th inning, lifting Seattle over Boston. Beniquez hit the first pitch from Dick Drago, 2-3, with one out. Dave Heaverlo, 4-0, worked the final 2-3 innings to pick up the victory for Seattle.
Behind 5-0 after three innings, the Mariners finally caught Boston at 6-4 in the seventh on Tom Paciorek's run-scoring single and Jim Anderson's sacrifice fly.

MIT costs $100,000

BOSTON (AP) - Seven years ago, when The New York Times offered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology $50 for the call letters of its FM radio station, MIT said no.

But this spring, millionaire-sportsman Ted Turner got the letters WTBS for $100,000, the Boston Globe reported Sunday.

Turner wanted the call letters for his Atlanta television station, the heart of his network, Turner Broadcasting System.

The newspaper said Turner offered MIT $50,000 up front to make some improvements, $25,000 when it gave up the call letters, and $25,000 when the Federal Communications Commission actually assigned him the letters.

The MIT station is now called WMBR-FM.

Now who wrote 'whodunit'?

WONDERING "whodunit" isn't unusual when it comes to a mystery thriller.

But when the book is "Murder in the White House," the question "whodunit" means "who wrote it?"

The listed author is Margaret Truman Daniel, but literary skeptics are scrutinizing the best seller for telltale signs of a ghostwriter.

"Murder" is her fifth book, with a first printing of 55,000 copies, a TV movie in the works and a six-figure payoff.

The daughter of President Harry S. Truman has acknowledged getting help seven years ago for a biography of her father.

No Saturday mail delivery? U.S. would be one of few LONDON (AP) - The U.S. Postal Service wants to cut out Saturday mail deliveries, but other countries deliver letters six days a week and seem happy to go on doing so. The Soviet Union has seven-day deliveries.

An Associated Press survey of 15 European countries and Japan showed all but Portugal have Saturday mail delivery of some kind.

While Turkey does not deliver ordinary mail on weekends, it does carry express letters, and Finland and Japan will deliver Sunday if the sender pays extra.

In Britain, Post Office spokeswoman Kathy Blundy said there was talk a few years ago of stopping Saturday deliveries so the mailmen could have the day off.

"But since they got a raise I don't think any more has been said about it," she said. Seeking to cut costs, the Belgian Post Office has long wanted to end Saturday delivery, but the nation said no, as newspapers and magazines there are bought through the mail. Parcels are not delivered in Belgium on Saturdays, however, nor is advertising matter posted in mass - known as junk mail.

An internal U.S. Postal Service study obtained from a congressional source Monday said elimination of Saturday mail delivery in America - a likely result of congressional budget cuts - would also hurt mail service the rest of the week.

Some other countries limit Saturday delivery to first-class letters and hold over second-class mail bearing lower-priced stamps until Monday.

France scores tops for number of deliveries: two morning and one afternoon in Paris and other big cities Monday through Friday, and two on Saturday morning.

Britain, Switzerland, Belgium, Turkey and the Soviet Union have two deliveries daily Monday through Friday. On Saturday, all the countries surveyed, except France, have just one delivery. The Soviet Union delivers on Sunday.

"A French postal spokesman said there never has been any suggestion there of stopping Saturday delivery, but it has been under discussion in Denmark and elsewhere.

Britain's General Post Office, founded in the 16th century and a pioneer in 1840 of the pre-paid post with adhesive one-penny stamps, persevered with Sunday deliveries into the early 1960s. After they ended, Sunday mailbox pickups stopped in 1978.

Other countries are considering curtailment of pickups from several daily to one or two, as wages and overtime rates soar and labor unions seek an ever shorter working week.

AP members' group announces information retrieval plan

ATLANTA (AP) - Home computer owners will be able to "dial" news stories from The Associated Press and a group of the cooperative's member newspapers under an information retrieval experiment announced today by AP President Keith Fuller.

Fuller said that a minimum of 11 AP member newspapers will work with the AP and CompuServe Inc., a Columbus, Ohio, computer firm, to provide information to people with personal computers.

Beginning this summer, the newspapers and AP will provide news, business, sports and feature data to CompuServe computers in Columbus. Any individual will be able to get this information by dialing special telephone numbers. Users of the system will pay $5 an hour for the service.

The first of the 11 newspapers to participate will be the Columbus Dispatch, Fuller said. Each paper will experiment for a six-month period, providing news, features and advertising material in its community.

"At The Associated Press, we believe that any information retrieval system must revolve around the newspaper in the community," Fuller said. "We strongly believe our member newspapers and radio and television stations are in the best position to be the successful information processor in this new technology."

CompuServe is an established national remote computing services company, recently acquired by H&R Block Inc. It also provides computer programming and games through an existing personal computing network available in more than 250 cities.

The experiment with CompuServe is one of five information retrieval projects in which the AP presently participates.

The others are in Miami with Knight-Ridder where 150 homes can gain access to AP information through a TV set; with Mead Data Corp. and its news library service; with Dow Jones & Co. by providing current stock quotations for its news retrieval service; and by the AP Political Databank, a constantly updated events file on the 1980 national and state political campaigns, with The New York Times Co.

Consumer watch Test your money I.Q.

By The Associated Press How much do you know about your money?

There never seems to be enough of it, of course. And what there is, doesn't go as far as it used to.

It is also, important, however, to know the rules and regulations that govern the way you borrow and spend. You can test your money I.Q. with the following quiz, based on information from Citibank, the nation's second-largest commercial bank.

Mark each of the statements "true" or "false," then check the answers that follow. Guesses don't count. "If you have to guess," say the bank economists, "you don't know."

Here are the test statements:

1. If you borrow money from a bank and default, the bank has a "right of set off," allowing it to take money to pay off the loan from any checking or savings account you have with the bank.

2. You are not liable for your spouse's debt if it was signed for without your knowledge.

3. If you authorize a deduction from your day-to-day savings account and the bank takes it from your checking account, you can be charged for an overdraft if the checking balance wasn't big enough to cover the withdrawal.

4. Under a new regulation, if you take out a bank loan, the bank can insist, as a condition of lending you money, that you authorize automatic deductions from an account you have at the bank.

5. State laws set the maximum amount of personal credit you can get from a lending institution through either a credit card or a loan.

6. If you change your marital status, you must tell your creditors in order to reestablish your creditworthiness.

7. If you're taking a credit scoring test and you think you'll get a low score on a specific question, you may do better to leave the answer blank.

Here are the answers: 1. True.

2. False. In you have a non-working, homemaker spouse in a separate-property state a court may hold you liable for debts incurred for necessities. So far, most cases have involved working husbands and non-working wives, but Citibank experts say that in the future, a working wife may be held responsible for some debts of a homemaker husband. You would also be responsible for your spouse's debt if the loan was granted on the basis of joint creditworthiness.
