the left while other candidates are astride horses in the back. Valerie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.G. Adams of Forsan, was awarded a $250 belt buckle and a college scholarship. She will reign throughout the rodeo, which extends through Saturday night.

Among rodeo performers

Sandy Kirby is in catbird seat

By STEVE HERSHBERGER
Sandy Kirby turned in two strong performances Wednesday night to highlight the opening of the Annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo at the Rodeo Bowl.

Kirby, who comes from Greenville, had the highest score in the bareback riding event with a 74. He tied Lee Newman of Weatherford in the bull riding contest. Both scored a 77.

In the bull riding event, Kirby electrified the crowd by riding a bull that only half a dozen cowboys had ever managed to stay on for the required eight seconds.

In the bareback riding, Kirby was the first out of the chutes, riding a high bucking bronc named "Blue Eagle." The Greenville cowboy was only one of four to score in the event that featured some extremely tough — seemingly unrideable brons.

Mickey Young, the leading professional cowboy in the country, came in second in the bareback contest with a 72. Young, who comes from Ferron, Utah, came back on a second try after his bronc, "Rebel Cause," did not buck out of the shoot.

Coming in third was Bob Ribble of Stephenville. Ribble rode "Ace of Spade" and scored a 71. Curtis Molder of Keller rode "Panhandle" for a 70 to come in fourth place.

In the bull riding competition, Newman was the first to score after four riders were thrown off by the twisting, turning, bucking bulls.

Coming in third in the event was Terry Holland of Carthage, scoring a 76.

The 1979 Rookie of the Year, Gary Toole of Mangum, Okla., came in fourth with a 75. Randy Magers of Comanche followed with a 74 and Jess Evans of Marfa had a 71.

The bull riding event featured some notable. The first was cowboy from the Queensland in Australia, Lee Sypher. The event also saw a New York cowboy, Bobby Delvecchio, attempt to ride a bull.

The crowds also saw first hand and the artistry of the rodeo clowns as Quail Dobbs, Mike Moore and Leon Coffee, the first black to work the National Finals, protected the riders by their antics. On one occasion, Moore and Coffee saved a rider from potential injury, by drawing the animals attention away from the cowboy.

In the saddle bronc riding, only one cowboy was able to score. Bruce Watkins, who hails from Australia, rode "So Sorry" for the required time and scored a 70.

In the calf roping event, two cowboys performed in the "slack" to place on the top. Jim Saunders had a time of 8.3 seconds in the event. He was followed by Butch Bode with 8.4 seconds.

The "slack" is the time when cowboys who did not appear in the night's performance can compete. Slack is held usually in the case of a large number of contestants.

Raymond Hollabaugh performed during the regular rodeo and came in third with a time of 8.9 seconds. Hollabaugh was followed by Jim Fuller with 9 seconds and Joe Hall and J.D. Tadlock with 9.5.

In the steer wrestling, Bill Bassler is leading after the first night. Bassler, who performed during the slack, had a time of 4.6 seconds.

Bassler was followed by Tommy Puryear with a time of 4.7 seconds. Doug Hanover with 5.8 seconds. James Woody with six seconds and Jeff Clubb with 7.3 seconds.

In the team roping event, the combo of Bobby Bynum of Sterling City and Tommy Bynum of Snyder came in first, having a time of 8.1 seconds.

Coming in second was a team of Tommy Smithson of Iraan and Herbert Holmes of Sheffield. They had a time of 9.1 seconds.

Chuck Lambert of El Paso and Shannon Boyles of Coahoma came in third with a time of 9.3 seconds.

The best time of roping the calf was turned in by a team of Max Schneeman of Big Lake and Mark Tillman of Uvalde. They roped the calf in 6.2 seconds; but they had broken the barrier at the start of the competition — meaning a penalty of 10 seconds. They had also roped only one hind leg, which added a penalty of five seconds.

In the barrel race, Sharon Youngblood of Lamesa had the best time of 18.24 seconds.

ROOKIE OF YEAR IN ACTION — Gary Toole of Mangum, Okla., named Rookie of the Year by the Professional Cowboy Rodeo Association, shows his winning form in bull riding Wednesday night during the first performance of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo. Gary finished with 75 points in the event, good for third place. The rodeo continues tonight at 8 o'clock.

Carter praises Portugal's stance

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — President Carter arrived in Lisbon today to offer encouragement to Portugal's six-year-old democracy and thank the government for being "among the first of the world's nations to recognize and respond to the threat posed to democratic societies everywhere by aggression in Afghanistan and official terrorism in Iran."

In a toast prepared for a state luncheon given in his honor, Carter said, "People who value freedom cannot stand idly by while others' rights are ruthlessly suppressed and while a system of international order, so dearly won and delicately maintained, is so callously attacked."

Although he referred to terrorism in Iran, Carter did not mention the 53 American hostages being held there. He has seldom talked about them in public on his eight-day European tour. However, before leaving Spain this morning, he told a group of American employees at the U.S. Embassy in Madrid that he has constantly raised the issue in his talks with officials of all nations.

"I urge them to do everything they possibly can," Carter said.

President Antonio Ramalho Eanes, in his banquet toast, did refer to the hostages, saying they "remain victims of an intolerable violation of human rights and of a complete contempt for the most elementary rules of international relations."

"It is urgent for the international community to mobilize all efforts and to adopt efficient measures for the quick solution of this problem," he said.

Carter's plane, Air Force One, landed at Lisbon's Portela Airport, the last stop on Carter's European tour. Eanes, who was elected after putting down an attempted counter-coup in 1975, welcomed the first American president to visit the Portuguese mainland in two decades.

Carter met privately with Eanes, Premier Francisco Sa Carneiro and Mario Soares, leader of the opposition Socialist Party.

Hardly anyone turned out to watch the presidential motorcade drive through the capital at midmorning. White House aides in the travel party said no attempt was made to draw crowds.

A luncheon hosted by Eanes and Sa

Carneiro was the last item on Carter's agenda before his departure for the United States.

While Portugal's left-wing extremists prepared protest rallies before and after Carter's stop, government leaders were determined to offer a warm welcome for the first visit of an American president here since Dwight D. Eisenhower passed through in 1960.

Gen. Eanes downgraded a summer 1974 meeting between then Presidents Richard Nixon and Antonio de Spínola in the Azores by terming Carter's the first official visit by a U.S. president since an army coup toppled 48 years of right-wing dictatorship on April 25, 1974.

Israelis continue military efforts to keep guerrillas on defensive

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli gunboats pounded Palestinian guerrilla bases about 30 miles north of the border in southern Lebanon. A Lebanese captive told Israeli interrogators that two U.N. peacekeepers aided guerrillas who killed three Israelis in a cross-border raid in April.

There were no immediate reports of casualties in the Wednesday night gunboat raid along Lebanon's Mediterranean coast. The Israeli military command gave no details of the attack, the latest in a series aimed at keeping the guerrillas on the defensive.

Lebanese leftist sources said the intruders fired guns and rockets at three sites along the coast, about 30 miles south of Beirut, the Lebanese capital.

The sources also reported daytime Israeli reconnaissance missions over Palestinian refugee camps in southern Lebanon while gunboats patrolled off shore, staying just out of range of guerrilla guns.

Meanwhile, a young Lebanese civilian accused by Israel of aiding Palestinian guerrilla infiltrators claimed Wednesday that two Norwegian soldiers in the U.N. peacekeeping force in southern Lebanon sat in on a planning session for a guerrilla attack on the northern Galilee border kibbutz of Misgav Am.

The guerrillas seized a nursery on the collective farm, killing a 2½-year-old child and two other Israelis. The Palestinians were killed when Israeli troops stormed the building.

The confession by 21-year-old Ibrahim Tawil was witnessed by The Associated Press and Israeli state television.

A Jerusalem-based spokesman for the U.N. peacekeeping force called the charge "absurd and slanderous."

Tawil was captured by the Israeli-backed Christian militia and turned over to Israel in April. His confession was set up as an interview, but The AP was allowed to ask only one question, which was submitted in advance and put to Tawil in Arabic by a military interrogator. The entire session was subject to military censorship.

Replying to The AP's question, he said he had not been pressured in any way to make his statements.

Speaking without emotion, Tawil said he was employed by the Norwegian U.N. force, and was enlisted by the leader of the Arab Liberation Front in southern Lebanon to help the Misgav Am attackers.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: No truth to story

Q. Rumors are flying that the local Veterans Administration Medical Center is going to be closed. Any truth to them?

A. At least four times a year, the administrative staff at the hospital has to go around scotching these rumors. Invariably they are started by VAMC personnel who think they have a pipeline to someone of authority in Washington. Currently, the hospital's Medicine, Surgery and Psychiatric unit is operating at about 72 percent of capacity — normal is 75 percent. The Nursing Care unit, which has 40 beds, is perking along at 100 percent capacity. With a work load like that, the facility is more than carrying its share of the VA patient load.

Tops on TV: Oldies

There's nothing new on the small screen tonight, but a few of the oldies-but-goodies look promising. "Charlotte's Web" airs at 7 o'clock on CBS. The animated classic concludes tonight with Charlotte and Templeton scheming to save Wilbur from becoming Christmas dinner. One of the all-time great romantic pictures, "A Man and A Woman," airs at 8 o'clock on Channel 11. It is the story of a chance meeting of a lonely widow and a widower which results in a touching love affair. If all this leaves you cold, tune in on "Barney Miller" at 8 o'clock on ABC.

Hot weather means higher bills for electricity

Texas Electric's customers are setting new records for use of electricity this summer, and bills will be a lot higher than those of last year's cooler-than-normal summer unless people make every effort to conserve.

Registration scheduled July 7 for 2nd semester

Registration for the second summer session at Howard College will be held Monday, July 7, from 9 a.m. until 12 noon, from 1-4 p.m., and from 6-8 p.m. in the college library, announced Jan Dunagan, Registrar at Howard College.

Classes begin Tuesday, July 8, and end Friday, August 8. Late registration will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, July 8-9, from 7 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. in the Registrar's Office in the Administration Building.

Dr. Bobby Wright, Vice-President for Instruction at HC, would like to remind students who may be interested in receiving a scholarship in Howard College's new agriculture program to contact him at 267-6311, ext. 31.

"Howard College is making available several scholarships to qualified students interested in studying agriculture at the junior college level," said Wright. "These courses will transfer to the senior college of their choice; thus giving the student an opportunity to study and learn at a smaller institution before attending a large university."

Students are also reminded that those planning to attend Howard College during the fall semester and are in need of financial aid should apply now for financial aid, said Cheri Sparks, Dean of Students.

"Each year the Financial Aids Office awards more than $250,000 in different types of financial assistance," said Sparks. "These include grants, scholarships, workstudy jobs, and short and long term loans."

The Financial Aids Office is located in the Administration Building on campus, or call 267-6311, extension 28.

normal summer unless people make every effort to conserve.

Although some of the increased use of electricity can be attributed to population growth in TESCO's service area, most of it reflects the record-high temperatures the state is experiencing, said Hooper Sanders, TESCO manager in Big Spring.

"In this heat, air conditioners are working longer and harder," Sanders said. "We are continuing to recommend that customers take steps such as setting thermostats at 78 or higher and turning them off entirely when no one is at home."

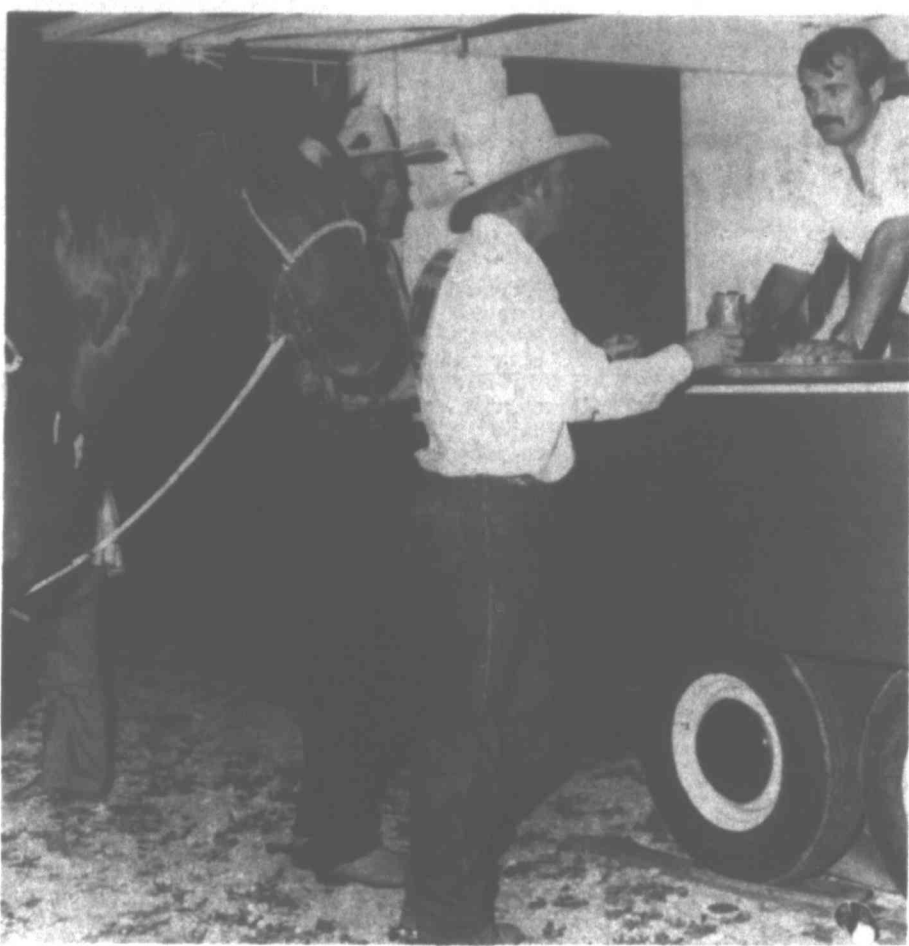

For the first time in history, use of electricity at one time by TESCO customers passed the 4 million kilowatt mark this week. That record was set at 6 p.m. Tuesday when use hit an all-time high of 4,029,000 kilowatts.

Tuesday was not the first day this summer, however, that new records were set. The record, prior to this summer, was set in 1978, when use hit 3,802,000 kilowatts. By contrast, the high point last summer, when temperatures were below normal, was 3,722,000 kilowatts.

The 1978 record was first broken this summer on June 18, with 3,914,000 kilowatts and again Monday, with 3,963,000.

The record set Tuesday was 8.2 percent higher than the maximum use last summer and 6 percent higher than the 1978 high.

Sanders recommended that customers also set air conditioner fans on "automatic."

"YOU CAN LEAD A HORSE TO WATER" — Remember the old saying, which ends with "but you can't make him drink?" This one looks ready to sample anything cold and wet, as Louis Tallant serves a couple of cowboys on a hot rodeo night Wednesday at the Rodeo Bowl. Jeff Wheelis, of Goliad, and Gene Nixon, Marfa, are the cowboys who sought out, or were nudged to, the refreshment stand.

Says witness, in trial

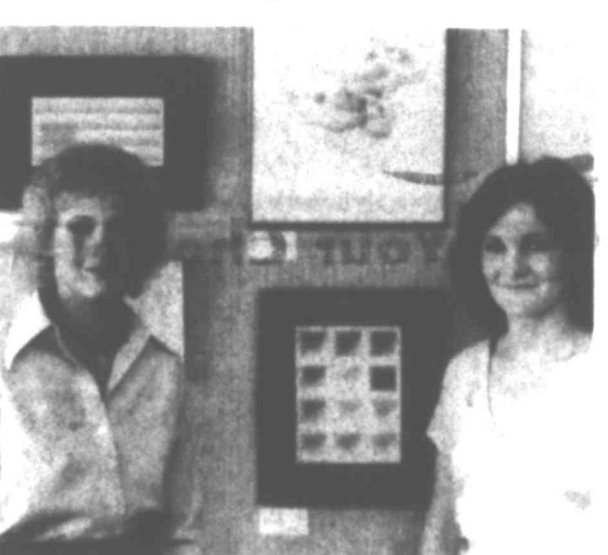

Clanton had no weapon

By DON WOODS
Carl Wayne Clanton did not reach for a pistol before he was fatally shot Dec. 31, according to opening testimony in the involuntary manslaughter trial of Melvin Wayne Warneke this morning.

Bobby Gwen Bailey, 16, who lived with his mother at Clanton's house, gave one and a half hours of testimony. Bailey said Clanton had been slumped over the steering wheel of his truck before the shooting but that he made no gesture that could be construed as reaching for a weapon, nor was there a weapon in the truck.

Warneke entered a plea of not guilty to the charge when the trial began in 118th District Court at 9:15 a.m. Bobby Gwen Bailey, 16, who lived with his mother at Clanton's house, gave one and a half hours of testimony.

Local artists picked

WORK ON DISPLAY — Pat Klotz (left) and Becky Smiley review some of their most recent work currently on display at Citizens Federal Credit Union.

Pat Klotz and Becky Smiley, both of Big Spring, have been selected by the Big Spring Art Association to show their most recent works at Citizens Federal Credit Union.

These two talented artists, who both recently took part in the art show benefiting the West Side Community Center, have both been involved in the advancement of art by the local art association.

Pat Klotz, a fairly new addition to the local art circle, is a native of Dallas with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Advertising Art and Illustration from Texas Tech University. Having been well received by the area show, this versatile artist had one of her pieces accepted in the "1979 Amarillo Competition," a show that is held only once every two years and only 100 pieces were selected from the over 1300 entries from five states.

Discussing her art style, Klotz said "each artist has his own philosophy concerning art — what it is and how it should be done. I am a firm believer in experimentation although I deal with realistic as well as non-objective subject matter." She said "To experiment is to broaden one's knowledge of previously unexplored areas. A departure from the ordinary has the potential to become something exciting and aesthetically pleasing."

"I derive such satisfaction from making concepts and materials work for me," she continued. "Even in experimentation, I feel that I must have certain amount of control over what I am doing. If I am dissatisfied with a piece, I have no right to expect anyone else to be satisfied with it."

Talking about her favorite mediums, Klotz said "my work is a combination of pencil — both colored and lead — and other materials such as paper and fabric. I am hopeful that others will come to realize the versatility of this medium through my work," she concluded.

Smiley's artwork has hung in several group shows, as well as a one-woman show, at Sul Ross in 1979. In addition, such establishments as Las Posada Restaurant collect her work.

She says she enjoys teaching art to both adults and children. "It's a good feeling to help others discover their own 'stored-up' creativity, and in return see them gain self-confidence and self-esteem."

As to her favorite subjects and medium, Smiley said "I enjoy drawing people and portraits in any media except oils, my nose never got adjusted to the smell of oils, so I use acrylics on canvas," she concluded.

Parade begins at 10 a.m.

The annual Highland South Fourth of July Parade will begin at 10 a.m. at the end of Highland Drive.

Five categories of paraders will be featured this year: tricycles and bicycles; three-wheel and motor-driven vehicles; golf carts and riding mowers; and costumes.

First, second and third place winners in each category will receive silver dollar awards. Those wishing to participate in the parade should gather at the end of Highland Drive at 9:45 a.m. The parade will proceed to Goliad, where a memorial program will be held, and prizes will be awarded.

Refreshments will be provided.

4-H club wins award of $200

First place winner in the 1980 Big Spring Rodeo Parade float contest was the Howard County 4-H Club. Three judges selected the top entries.

The 4-Hers were awarded the prize of $200 by the Big Spring Rodeo Association. The $150 second place award went to Club Scouts Den 187. The $100 prize for third place was divided among the Girl Scouts Troop 156 and the National Little League, which finished in a tie.

The long parade, which preceded the first performance of the annual rodeo, was held in some of the year's hottest weather. Temperatures reached 105 and seemed even hotter bouncing off the pavement.

Kime conducting workshop here

P.B. Kime, author of several art books and a leading artist, is currently conducting a workshop in Big Spring. The workshop, which is being held at the Hobby Center, will run through Friday and several area artists have signed up to learn Kime's unique approach to art and painting.

Kime currently lives in Helotes, Texas, and was born and raised in South Texas. He travels extensively and paints on location in western areas of the country, which provides many of the subjects for his western style art.

This talented artist learned much of his technique from the Old European Masters style of oil painting, but modified it to fit the modern day brush. In addition, he also added some new touches to their form of art, including the brilliant colors of Russell, the detailed accuracy of Moran and Paxson, and the vastness of Bierstadt. This unique style is then put to use with his careful on-location research and versatility of subjects.

Because of his approach to art, he is collected by many serious collectors who recognize his quality art. Such people as Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, John Charles Daly, and former Texas governor Dolph Briscoe are among the few who enjoy his realism and authenticity with which he paints the vanishing West.

A "natural" cowboy, turned western artist, Kime shows his subjects as well as any living man, having grown up on South Texas farms and ranches.

Rescue officer recovers

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A South Carolina Air Force officer who was critically burned in the aborted attempt to rescue hostages in Iran has recovered from his injuries and will be released from a hospital Friday, doctors say.

Staff Sgt. Joseph J. Byers, 37, of Charleston, S.C., was the most seriously hurt of the five commandos injured in the April 24 mission that left eight servicemen dead. He was burned in the fiery collision of a helicopter and transport plane.

One Marine, who has been in serious condition since the mission, still is hospitalized at the Brooke Army Medical Center here.

Undercover police shot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An undercover San Fernando police officer who was working with officers here on a drug stakeout was shot in the legs accidentally by a Los Angeles detective, officials say.

The shooting of Detective Ricardo R. Rose, 23, apparently was a case of mistaken identity, police said Wednesday. Authorities said the incident occurred Tuesday as police from San Fernando and Los Angeles were waiting for the arrival of a suspected drug dealer who was supposed to be wearing a blue shirt and driving a brown car. Rose was wearing a blue shirt and driving a brown car.

Damage suit overturned

SALEM, Va. (AP) — Attorneys for Janet Goldstein say they will appeal a judge's decision to overturn a $65,000 award she won after her husband was convicted of beating her.

The award — believed to be the first time in Virginia that civil damages were awarded to a woman for injuries at the hands of her husband — was set aside by Circuit Judge L. L. Kootz Jr., who said Wednesday he felt bound by a recent Virginia Supreme Court ruling affirming the common law doctrine of interspersal immunity.

Virginia is one of 13 states in which one partner in a marriage may not sue the other for damages.

Workers' rate is same

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The Labor Department may not force Virginia tobacco growers to pay foreign fieldhands 31 cents more per hour than the going rate for other foreign workers in the state, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. District Judge James C. Turk called the rate, set in an effort to discourage the use of foreign labor, arbitrary and capricious. He urged the department to let farmers bring in 1,100 Mexican laborers at the going rate of $3.20 an hour.

Government attorneys said they would appeal Wednesday's decision, which affects only Virginia.

Radioactive oil misguided

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Forty gallons of radioactive oil accidentally were delivered to a South Carolina used oil dealer when an employee of the Oconee nuclear power plant failed to follow procedures, says Duke Power Co.

A utility spokesman said Wednesday the mistake was discovered within hours and the oil was being returned. Vice President W.O. Parker said the level of radioactivity was so low that "someone would have to sit on the oil tank truck for 422 hours to receive the equivalent radiation dose of one chest X-ray."

Hunt daughter acquires rich silver mine share

DALLAS (AP) — A daughter of Nelson Bunker Hunt has acquired a share in a New Mexico mining project that has a proven reserve of more than 2.5 million ounces of silver. Ellen Hunt Flowers acquired a 4 percent share in the St. Cloud Mining Corp., but has two options on an additional 46 percent.

The agreement provides for St. Cloud Mining Corp., a partnership between Mrs. Flowers and Goldfield subsidiary Black Range Mining Corp., to operate the project.

Goldfield president James Sottile III said that so far as he knew, Hunt's failure to acquire the shares himself was not tied to provisions of his and brother Herbert's $1.1 billion loan, entered into last month to cover their silver losses.

Tom Whitaker, a vice president at Hunt Energy Corp., said in a prepared statement that Hunt "was personally committed to proceeding with the transaction...Under the terms of the recent bank loan agreements, however, he was precluded from doing so."

Whitaker said Mrs. Flowers purchased the 4 percent share with her own private funds. The loan agreement between the Hunts' Placid Oil Co. and a consortium of 13 banks prohibits the brothers from speculating in commodities.

Another part of the agreement states the Hunts will not permit any "entity or business within the Hunt collateral, or for whose liabilities they (or any of them) of the Hunt collateral may be liable, to enter into any commitment or guaranty which could require payment of a material amount of money except in the ordinary prudent course of operating any such businesses or entities."

Weather Dallas man dies from heat stroke

By the Associated Press

No relief was in sight today for Texans sweltering in an extended early summer heat wave that claimed the life of an elderly Dallas man.

Forecasters called for continued fair skies and hot temperatures. Highs were to be mostly above 100, ranging upward as high as 115, except along the coast where readings were to be in the 80s.

Authorities said the Dallas man died of heatstroke. He was found in an apartment without air conditioning and died at Parkland Hospital a short time later.

El Paso was expected to have readings above 100 today for the 17th consecutive day. The border city had a 108-degree reading Wednesday.

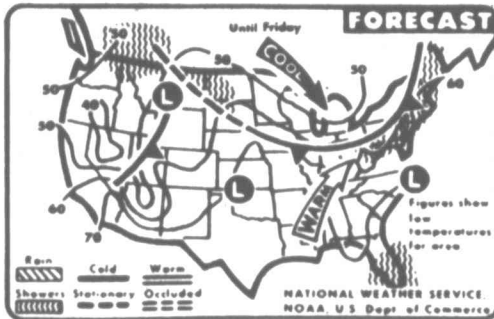

Wichita Falls had the highest reading, a record-breaking 114. It was 109 at Dallas-Fort Worth, bypassing old records set in 1918 and 1927 by 2 degrees.

Forecasters have said that as long as the state remains under the influence of an upper level high pressure system, each day will be a little warmer than the day before.

Some early morning low cloudiness was reported in East Texas before dawn, but that was not expected to spare the area from readings above 100.

The remainder of the state had clear skies and temperature readings in the 70s and 80s.

Early morning extremes ranged from 63 at Marfa and 65 at Dalhart to 86 at Del Rio.

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm weather is expected in the forecast period today until Friday morning for most of the country. Cool weather is expected from the northern Plains to western New England. Showers are forecast for southern Florida and from the Ohio Valley to northern New England.

Short agenda awaits group

The Coahoma City Council will hold its regular meeting, 7:30 p.m. Thursday, at city hall.

Among business items is a resolution to prohibit consumption of alcoholic beverages in public areas. Also, members will discuss renting a water cooler from the Hygeia Water Company.

The Municipal Court Clerk's Training Institute on July 24 and 25 in San Antonio will also be discussed.

Hitler looked on English as Germanic

In times of war, victory often is determined not by bold offensive strokes by this commander or that but by those forces who commit the fewest blunders. It was that way in WWII.

In an interview granted a few years ago, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, one of the top German commanders of the Hitler era in Germany, gave his views on how Der Fuhrer could have won the war.

When asked what was the single most important thing he would have done differently, Kesselring said he would have launched full industrial mobilization immediately when the war started in 1939. By 1940, only 15 percent of Germany's industrial production was devoted to armaments. The following year, it had climbed to only 19 percent. Germany, said Kesselring, did not reach its peak until 1944. By then, it was too late.

THE FIELD MARSHAL was sorely disappointed because Germany did not invade England. From his command post on Cape Gris Nez, he could overlook the entire English channel. British fighter planes showed themselves over the channel only as an exception to the rule. All indications were that, in the event of a German invasion, British bomber forces were not likely to be formidable. Until the middle of August, 1940, said Kesselring, a properly prepared cross-channel invasion would certainly have been successful. To the last, German naval commanders held out against an invasion, however.

Later, success would have depended more than ever on the German Luftwaffe and air borne landings. Even this, Kesselring insisted, a couple of days of concentrated air attack would have carried the invasion to success.

The main trouble, to the field marshal, was that Hitler never made up his mind to invade Britain, although he often contemplated it. The German Fuhrer, Kesselring insisted, simply did not want to destroy the British navy or the empire. The reason: Hitler looked upon them as a Germanic people, too.

It was fairly well known through the German high command that Hitler had a curious predilection for the British. He was certain the British would make peace. He proceeded to offend the British by offering to protect their empire. But, had the British taken Hitler up on his offer, said Kesselring, Stalin (and the Russians) could have been kept out Europe.

THE FACT THAT the English were not attacked when they left Dunkerque was a strategic error, said Kesselring. Hitler halted the movements of a panzer group at the time when one armored division could have mopped up the entire Dunkerque area. It provided an opportunity that seldom comes in war, when you can create a classical battle of annihilation—a Cannae, if you will.

At the time, the German commanders thought there were fewer than 100,000 British and French held in at Dunkerque when, in fact, there were 300,000 who escaped the channel.

The war with Russia was lost, said Kesselring, because Hitler could not get the Japanese to commit themselves in advance to attack in Siberia. It hit from two sides, according to Kesselring. Russia would have collapsed. The Germans should have reached Moscow before the winter of 1941-42 but Hitler threw away a total of six weeks by long pauses for deliberation. That was all the time the Russians needed to regroup, with winter now an ally.

The Germans also blundered by treating the Ukrainians, Byelorussians and Balts (who greeted them as liberators) as anything but allies. If those people had been armed, said Kesselring, they could have protected Germany's rear, freeing the entire German forces for a war of movement.

Victory became impossible for Germany, according to the field marshal, after Germany's defeat at Stalingrad and the subsequent loss of Tunisia. Even then, said Kesselring, it would have been possible to fight to a draw. The German simply could not coordinate their efforts with the Japanese and Mussolini was no help.

"We would have been far better off if Italy had remained neutral," said Kesselring.

What was his most disagreeable surprise in the war? Kesselring says he had many but he picked the Allied landing at Anzio-Nettuno. There, he kept his forces on 24-hour alert for three days. When his staff began to object strenuously, he called off the vigil. The Allied forces landed that very night.

Hitler liked to refer to the Germans as a "super race" although he wasn't a German himself. But the German commanders proved themselves to be very human, as capable as the next man of falling on their faces on occasions.

Around the rim

Don Woods

Sometimes even the most mundane of us are struck by love. I don't know what happens to me when Sheila comes around. Maybe the attraction of opposites is behind my feelings for her.

But I know I don't have a chance. She's of the Snake Handling Antinomian persuasion and she only dates Snake Handling Antinomians.

IT ALL STARTED several months ago when I was browsing an Abilene pet store looking for dog food for the cat.

She was browsing the Mice and Rodent Section looking for food for her own pet; a boa constrictor named Eucalyptus.

I was immediately struck by two things. She had hypnotic eyes a little too close together and she wore on a thin chain a delicate silver turtleneck, the same way some girls wear James Avery crosses and doves.

Under her arm she carried a book, "Snake Handling Antinomians in Light of the Original Greek Text," by Kenneth Wiese.

As we talked I discovered she had never wanted to belong to the kind of big, showy churches who have signs out front that say, "See Bonkers the gospelpheasant."

She was more inclined to seek out obscure religious groups. She was for a time a believer in janism, a group who worshiped Jane of Dick and Jane fame.

She explained that this denomination is a large religion that believes that large bodies of water may only be crossed by foot.

The group's beliefs spread to the United States in 1971 only after one of their missionaries discovered water skiing.

Janism is held by the Church of Jane rock and the church of Jane non-rock. One group allows rock music to be played in the services and the other doesn't. There is another group also who allows rock music in the church only Thursdays when played by a piano-tuba duet only.

Long range

WASHINGTON — The mainland Chinese, more determined than ever to become a global power, are moving ahead relentlessly to perfect a military machine that will turn their ambition into reality.

I reported on March 26 that they had developed an intercontinental ballistic missile capable of dropping nuclear warheads on the United States or the Soviet Union. The Chinese confirmed this on May 18 by announcing the successful test of such a missile.

Since then we have seen a top-secret Defense Department document giving more details about the Chinese ICBM. The knockout punch now available to Peking is the subject of grave discussions in military circles around the world.

THE PENTAGON projection, written last December, assessed three potential U.S. adversaries — Red China, North Korea and the Soviet Union. It started that the Chinese strategic force "consists almost exclusively of intermediate-range ballistic missiles and a few obsolescent bombers" — in short, no immediate threat to the United States mainland.

But then the report added ominously: "The Chinese expect to have a nuclear capability to strike the Soviet Union west of the Urals and the CONUS (continental United States) within a year."

The document noted that the Chinese had tested their ICBM rocket — the CSS-X-4 — four times in 1979, and estimated the range at 13,000 kilometers, or about 8,000 miles.

"With a 13,000-kilometer range, the CSS-X-4 will give China an expanded nuclear targeting capability, including the capability to strike targets in the United States," the report added. It predicted that "initial operating capability is expected in 1980."

THE CHINESE tested their CSS-X-4 twice in May. According to intelligence sources who monitored both shots, the Chinese missile traveled 6,900 miles to its landing in the South Pacific. This is more than enough range to plastic military targets and population centers in the United States.

The secret Pentagon document predicted deployment of the Chinese missiles sometime this year "at two silos under construction in central China."

Our intelligence resources can't tap into the computers that would identify the targets, but intelligence experts are presuming the Chinese missiles will be aimed at the Russians, for the moment. "They are still the No. 1 enemy," a China-watcher told my associate Dale Van Atta.

PLANTATION POLITICS: Though Congress enacts laws that everyone else must follow, its own members are exempt from a number of them. This is most noticeable in laws intended to

SHE WAS FINALLY introduced to snake handling after uniting with other groups of relative obscurity. She bounced around from the Dr. Seuss Church of Capital Letters to the Eastern High Church of Related Subjects (Rock and Non-Rock).

Her conversion came after exposure to Josh McDowell's "Evidence That Demands a Snakebite." Heresy House. The text includes the basic tenet of the author: "Snake Handling am true and only religion. Am right to be in. If not true I not belong."

McDowell concluded the book with a few words of his own personal conversion: "Me gotta big boa named Barry. Me stick head in Barry mouth and he no bite. I know am true snake handler."

His book, she said, is only five pages long, but full of great wisdom.

In it, McDowell briefs readers on the order of service. Worshippers meet Wednesday and Thursday for parties where the kazoo is played by all.

McDowell took exception in his book to people who use the derogatory name, "squeezers," for the group.

The book includes a frontispiece of a smiling Josh with five-foot rattlesnakes dangling by the jaws on each of his forearms.

I handed her back the book looking, I guess, rather ill.

We never went out because she thinks a person has to handle snakes to be a Christian.

I saw her again a few months ago and thought I had a chance when I learned she had converted to the Ministry of Universal Wisdom and Kennedy Worship. The group believes that Kennedy was shot by green men with a laser beam from a UFO.

Of course, we all know that he was shot by a stray Cuban bullet fired at a security man who discovered the Cubans burglarizing the Dallas Book Depository for propaganda purposes. Am right and only true story!

Diplomatic poker

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — There was a time that, when a head of state came to Washington, after some haggling, he would agree to go along with the U.S. on some foreign policy objective the President had in mind. In exchange for this agreement, the President would announce that he was giving the head of state some of America's latest military hardware.

President Carter seems to have changed the protocol. You no longer have to agree with anything the U.S. wants and you still get the weapons.

LAST WEEK KING Hussein of Jordan was in town and didn't budge an inch on the Camp David accord. The President then announced that, in spite of their differences, he would be happy to sell the king 200-M-60 tanks.

Some people might say this is stupid, but there are others who say that when it comes to foreign affairs Mr. Carter knows exactly what he's doing.

Meanwhile, back at the palace in Amman, Jordan, King Hussein was being congratulated on his successful trip.

"How did you manage to do it, Your Majesty?" a courtier asked.

"I told the President that I would have nothing to do with Camp David or any agreement that the Egyptians and the Israelis came up with."

"He must have been furious," the courtier said.

"He was. He said to me, 'In that case I will only give you 50 M-60 tanks.' Then I got angry and said, 'Your entire Middle East strategy is a shambles and the United States is losing all influence in the area.'"

"That must have hurt him."

"It did. He said I was sabotaging the chance for peace in the Middle East, and I was the biggest stumbling block to any chance of an agreement. He then told me that if I persisted in my intransigent attitude he would only give me 75 tanks."

"You stood up to him, of course?"

"I certainly did. I said that as far as I was concerned my trip to Washington was a waste of time for him and myself. I could see nothing coming out of it except another diplomatic defeat for him, but since he's had so many of them this year, it probably didn't matter."

"How did he take that?"

"He smiled. As you know the angrier he gets, the more he smiles. He said, 'Well, Your Majesty, if you feel that strongly about my handling of foreign affairs, perhaps I'll only give you 100 tanks.'"

"I TOLD HIM I refused to be threatened, and that we have a small country but we have our pride and he could not blackmail me by offering to sell us America's latest tanks."

"Then what happened?" another courtier asked.

The king continued, "Brzezinski whispered in his ear, and then the President said, 'You leave me no alternative. If you leave Washington without signing some sort of an agreement supporting my peace efforts in the Middle East, we will ship you 150 tanks with night-fighting capabilities.'"

Ear infection, perforation a special case

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a hole in my left eardrum. The ear has drained off and on. Sometimes it drains for six or seven days, then quits for a couple of days, then starts again. It is quite painful sometimes. Would penicillin be good for this? Could this lead to something more serious? Can the hole be repaired eventually? — J.D.

Penicillin helps if the germ causing the infection is sensitive to it. You only learn that by examining a sample of the ear drainage to identify the germ. Then the proper antibiotic can be used.

Infections of this kind may require long periods of therapy. The infection has to be brought under control as quickly as possible so that bones of the middle ear do not become infected. When the infection is under control, when the hole in the ear drum can be safely closed. If it is closed before the infection is cleared up there is no place for the infected material to drain. The situation is worse than if there were no hole.

Sometimes stubborn infections have to be treated with both antibiotics and with surgical removal of the infected material in the ear. I am sure your ear doctor will guide you based on the extent of your infection and the germ causing it.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have rheumatoid arthritis and am told I am a good candidate for gold shots. I have been told of side effects and that I would need regular checkups. I would get one shot a week for six months. Could you give me highlights on gold treatments as to results? — Mrs. D.B.

Good results have been reported with gold therapy in some rheumatoid arthritis patients, but it is difficult to tell who will respond. Since your physician feels gold might help you, I would not hesitate to give it a try. It is accepted treatment and at least two-thirds of patients selected for it respond favorably. The gold accumulates in the joints and decreases inflammation there.

You will have to be patient, because it may be three months before benefits are noted. The dosage schedule you mention is a common one. Yes, there are side effects from gold, but there are from most medicines. Hoped-for benefits make such risks worth taking. There may be changes in blood cells and in the kidneys, and rashes may appear. But permanent blood tests guard against permanent damage.

Gold is not new as medicine. It was first used 50 years ago, so there is a good backlog of experience in using it. See the booklet "How to Control Arthritis" for a fuller discussion of treatment. For a copy, send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SLEEPY"

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A friend of mine says the only hell is what we create for ourselves on this earth. He also says we have the capacity to create heaven on earth also, if we will simply try hard enough. He does not believe in either heaven or hell after death. Do you agree with this? — B.I.

DEAR B. I.: I do not agree with this, although I know it is a popular idea in some circles today. The Bible makes it very clear that life does not end with the grave, and that we each will live on into eternity. For some, eternity will be spent in joyous fellowship with God in heaven; for others, eternity will mean the horror of separation from God in hell. The Bible speaks of a day of judgment which will come to all. "Come, you who are blessed by my Father, take your inheritance. . . . Depart from me, you who are cursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels." (Matthew 25:34, 41).

The Bible tells us we are not simply like plants or animals that die and are no more. The Bible says God created us for eternal fellowship with Himself, and through faith in Christ we can have a relationship with Him — a relationship which begins now, and continues into all eternity. The thought of hell is not easy for any of us to face. But the wonderful news of the Gospel is that we need not worry about hell. Jesus Christ died for our sins, and He rose again to assure us of eternal life. All we must do is turn to Him and trust Him as our Lord and Savior.

Your friend is partly correct in one thing, however. Yes, we often can experience something of the unhappiness of hell or the happiness of heaven while we are on this earth. But these are only a foretaste of what the future holds, and should cause us to turn to Christ. This is what I hope both you and your friend will do.

STAND ORDERED SHUTDOWN — Adolph and Betty Gapsis operate a snowball stand in Arbutus, Md., that has been ordered shutdown by a Baltimore County Circuit Court judge because of a zoning violation. The Gapsis, who are both disabled, Betty has undergone hip surgery, and Adolph has muscular dystrophy, have been operating their stand for the last 14 years.

'Is the law always right?'

Disabled couple told to stop sales

ARBUTUS, Md. (AP) — For 14 summers, Adolph and Betty Gapsis have sold flavored, crushed-ice "snowballs" from their front porch. Now the disabled couple's stand has been ordered closed, and their neighbors — including a group of nuns — are fighting mad.

"Is the law always right?" asked Joseph Ambrose Jr., whose funeral parlor is a few doors down from the Gapsis home in this working-class Baltimore suburb. "It's the talk of the neighborhood. Everybody's up in arms about it."

"They're nice people and everybody here loves them

It's a shame," added Margaret Hayes, who works for Ambrose.

The uproar began last year when Frank and Cathy Neubauer, who moved next to the Gapsis in 1978, complained that the refreshment stand was a nuisance and was located in a residential area where businesses are prohibited.

The couple's lawyer, Charles Kountz Jr., said Wednesday the injunction closing his clients' stand should take effect within a few days. No decision has been made yet on appealing the injunction, Kountz said.

The Neubauers have been told by their lawyer not to comment.

of ice and shave them into snowy crystals. The crystals are poured into paper cones, and the customer's choice of syrup flavors is poured over the shavings.

On Tuesday, a Baltimore County Circuit judge granted a temporary injunction against the couple until their appeal is resolved.

The couple's lawyer, Charles Kountz Jr., said Wednesday the injunction closing his clients' stand should take effect within a few days. No decision has been made yet on appealing the injunction, Kountz said.

The Neubauers have been told by their lawyer not to comment.

"I've never hurt anybody as long as I've lived here," said Gapsis, known locally as "Babe," who is crippled by muscular dystrophy. He and his wife of 32 years, who has undergone hip surgery and moves with some difficulty, have lived here since 1954.

The Gapsis are a well-known and popular local couple. The fact that both are disabled fueled the controversy.

Gapsis, 57, who works as a production supervisor with Westinghouse Electric Corp., said he may soon have to leave his employer because of his ailment.

In gasohol production

Bureaucratic pitfalls

By JIM DAVIS
Harris-Texas Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — A Texas House subcommittee probed for a way to simplify the licensing and funding of gasohol production Monday but found more bureaucratic pitfalls than answers.

"We have horses riding to the four winds," said Rep. Forrest Green, House Agriculture and Livestock Committee chairman. "There's just no one coordinating things."

Green, of Corsicana, is serving on a subcommittee that is searching for ways to simplify alcohol production from agricultural crops. The alcohol is mixed with gasoline to make a fuel sold as gasohol.

Subcommittee Chairman Dan Kubiak of Rockdale said alcohol is a renewable resource that could not depend on foreign oil and help farmers find a stable market for crops.

"Alcohol is as renewable as the sun and the rain," Kubiak said. His committee, possibly after one more meeting, will write recommendations to the 1981 Legislature on ways to aid gasohol production.

The subcommittee heard from several bureaucrats Monday and learned that state and federal regulations don't always follow the same furrow.

One conflict is the requirement that chemicals such as gasoline or kerosene be used to make the product unfit for human consumption.

Hershel Stewart of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms of the U.S. Treasury Department said federal law does not require additives if the alcohol is to be used as a fuel on the producer's premises.

But James Cargal, licensing director of the Texas

Alcoholic Beverage Commission, said state law requires that alcohol be denatured as produced. "That's the way it's always been, as far as I know," he said.

Kubiak said he understood that state law on alcohol production was supposed to track federal regulations and not be more restrictive. He called the state's tough denaturing requirement a deviation from legislative intent.

The legislators were pleased to learn from Cargal that state licensing now takes only a few days if an application is in order. The Alcoholic Beverage Commission previously had been criticized by gasohol advocates for taking too long on applications.

Cargal said the state has issued 121 permits and two or three more working.

New gifts are acknowledged

Recent gifts have brought the special fund being collected for the local Salvation Army post up to $8,135, which still leaves it far short of its $30,000 goal.

One of the biggest gifts, this one for $250, came from a long-time friend and supporter of the Salvation Army. Two other gifts were for $100 each.

A large percentage of the gifts made recently came from farmers and ranchers, who responded to an appeal made directly to them from the Salvation Army board of directors.

To assassinate deposed shah

'Extraordinary efforts made'

By the Associated Press

Iran and Libya are making "extraordinary efforts, fit only for fiction movies" in attempts to assassinate the deposed shah, an Egyptian official said today. Meanwhile, Iranian firing squads executed five more people, including a Jewish man convicted of having sexual affairs with Moslem and Christian women.

Writing in Egypt's semi-official Al-Ahram newspaper, Rashad Roushdy, an assistant to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, said "The Libyan and Iranian revolutionary regimes are in agreement. Extraordinary efforts, fit only for fiction movies, have been undertaken by them to reach the shah on Egyptian soil."

Roushdy, Sadat's assistant for cultural affairs, did not describe any of the previously-undisclosed assassination attempts against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi. The deposed monarch has been living with his family in a presidential palace in suburban Cairo with Egyptian and Iranian security guards. He arrived in Egypt last March after a three-month stay in Panama following cancer treatment in the United States. Roushdy suggested that last week's imposition of martial law on Egypt's frontiers with Libya was designed to prevent further attempts against the shah as well as Libyan nationals opposed to the regime of Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy.

Key TV script stolen

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — Television's most notorious crime, the shooting of oil-rich villain J.R. Ewing of CBS's "Dallas," apparently has prompted someone "who knew exactly what he wanted" to steal the script that may reveal the solution to the case.

Lorimar Productions, which makes the weekly prime-time soap opera, reported Wednesday that someone had broken into a "Dallas" story editor's office. The thief took three versions of a script "dealing with the revelation of who shot J.R.," according to Philip Capice, executive producer of the show.

The script was entitled, "Whodunnit?"

"Dallas" is one of television's most popular shows, and speculation about who shot J.R., played by Larry Hagman, in last season's final episode has become something of an international obsession. Ladbroke's booking house in England has taken thousands of wagers on the caper and Lorimar has taken precautions to keep the culprit's identity secret.

Until this week, while Hagman and the producers wrangled over a contract, no one was certain that J.R. would even survive. Hagman arrived on the set Tuesday. Lorimar has been scripting and filming several different outcomes involving different suspects. Capice said the show's producers have decided on one of the suspects, but added, "It would be counterproductive to say whether this (the stolen script) is the correct one."

Even if it is the right script, Capice said the revealing episode would not be changed.

In filming Wednesday in Dallas, J.R.'s wife, Sue Ellen, was taken into custody for the shooting, the third arrest so far.

Meanwhile, a police officer in Culver City — where the theft of the script was reported — said she thought the script had been recovered, adding, however, that she wasn't sure.

Lorimar denied that report as well as suggestions that a publicity hoax was being perpetrated. "Look, we couldn't afford to pull a stunt like that," said a Lorimar publicist. "We've got sponsors and stations that would come down on us."

According to a report filed by security officers at MGM Studios, where "Dallas" is filmed, the theft occurred sometime between June 3 and June 24, while story editor Andrew Lewis was on vacation.

The script was taken from a loose-ring binder, and the binder was put back in place on Lewis' bookshelf.

OH HEAVENLY DOG — Chevy Chase and his co-star Benji take a pause on the set of the 20th Century Fox summer release of 'Oh Heavenly Dog.' They both play the role of a private eye sent back to earth to solve his own murder.

Features of containers explained to club here

Don't squeeze a certain tissue, but if you want to know if your plastic bottle is doing the job, give it a squeeze. If it gives or feels soft, there's a good chance your drink may have lost some of its fizz.

Western Container Company, Big Spring's newest major industry, is aiming at a bottle that holds its carbonation, is strong, and even recyclable. These are some of the highlights Bob Jackson, who will manage the Western Container plant at Industrial park, told Downtown Lions at their Wednesday meeting. The first big piece of equipment, a large non-lube compressor, is to arrive today, he said. It is non-lube because air coming from it must be absolutely free of any possible contaminants when it goes to expand the PET plastic into the bottle shape in a process called bi-axial orientation.

The complicated process, simply stated, results from piece of plastic about the size of a test tube being pushed into a stretch rod, pushed into it, elongating it to the length of a 2-liter bottle. Simultaneously, air at 450-650 psi, is forced inside, expanding the container (1-11,000ths of an inch thick) to its outer perimeter.

There are two unique features of the Western container — one will be in the precision of its neck which will permit easy and no leak capping. The other will be five dimples on the bottom which will permit the bottle to stand on its own, thus making the process a one-stage affair.

One reason for the surge in popularity for the PET containers is that they are disposable, yet the material is getting to be in demand for recycling more likely as polyester fibers, etc. than as another container. Jackson said. Still another is that there is no sharp or razor effect, such as glass might have, in event a bottle is punctured or broken.

Big Spring, said Jackson, has several advantages in location. One is that it is in the midst of the cluster of 20 bottlers who own Western, thus assuring a built-in market. Another is that many of the bottler trucks pass through here on backhauls, and thus will carry home a load of new empty containers to the bottlers. Still another is its proximity to Cosden, which may become a PET supplier and which has been and will be helpful in research and development, he added.

If all goes well, first bottles may come off the manufacturing line in October, according to Jackson. He predicted that later the plant may be turning out liter or half-liter sizes as technology overcomes the tendency of smaller containers to lose (pressure) more than larger ones, whose material seems to develop a cross-hatch molecular arrangement that holds in the gas.

The meeting was also the occasion for a barbershop group, the Dande-Lions comprised of Lynn Hise, Dan Conley, Frank Wentz, Joe Dawes, Bill Birrell and Bob Castetter.

Pies, quilts raise cash for study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The folks in Brumley Gap, Va., baked pies and quilted to raise the money for a computer study they hope will convince federal regulators to prevent a giant utility from flooding their valley for a huge water power project.

If the experts say the project is economically feasible, the Brumley Gappers and their neighbors in Poor Valley — about 120 families — will have ended up helping the enemy — American Electric Power Co., which wants to flood 1,975 acres to build the world's biggest pumped storage power project.

But the Virginians asked the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Wednesday to wait until August, when the study will be ready, before deciding whether to let the utility start economic, engineering and environmental studies for the project.

The commission overrode its own staff and voted 4-0 to withhold approval for the soil borings, test pits and road building, tests that might disturb crops, fences, livestock and buried, 9,000-year-old Indian artifacts.

That vote brought a shout from the Virginians, who had ridden buses 400 miles to witness the proceeding. Their children wore T-shirts bearing the legend, "Not by a dam site."

But the commission chairman, Charles Curtis, cautioned that the fight is far from over. For a permit to be denied in August, he said, the study by the Energy Systems Research Group of Boston would have to show the project was "so devoid of merit" as to justify preventing the power company from even studying its feasibility.

Most of the families who live in the valley have marginal farms and must work in factories and steel mills of nearby Bristol, Tenn., to get by.

Several of the families who would be displaced have lived in the valley for five generations, said Doris Bech, the mother of nine.

Dear Abby

Speaking Up Not Only Aid for Hearing

DEAR ABBY: My older sister has a hearing problem, and she's driving us all crazy because she won't admit it. Several years ago you had a letter in your column from Nanette Fabray, who pointed out the selfishness of such people. If you can find it, please run it again.

FLORIDA FAN

DEAR FAN: I had to go back into my 1971 files, but here it is:

"DEAR ABBY: There are some 20 million people in this country with hearing problems. Most of them could and should wear aids.

Some say, "I'll wait until I need one." But if you have even a slight problem, you need one now! It is important first to have your hearing checked by a doctor to see if your loss is one that can be corrected. Many people wait until it is too late to correct what might have been a simple medical problem in the beginning. If nothing can be done to restore your loss and if the tests show an aid can help you, then by all means get one.

The woman who feels that wearing a hearing aid will attract attention to her hearing loss fools only herself, and she's usually a pain in the neck to everyone she comes in contact with.

There are many ways of letting others know one can't hear: cupping a hand behind the ear, asking people repeatedly to speak up or repeat things, etc. Everyone knows you have a problem, and everyone wonders why you aren't doing something about it.

I have worn hearing aids for years, so I know the problems of vanity, despair, adjustment, irritation... the list goes on and on. But I do not try to hide my aids, and interestingly enough, most people do not notice I wear one and sometimes two... even on television.

A dear friend opened my eyes about wearing an aid. Many years ago she told me I was being very selfish by making others cope with what was my problem alone. She was right. I had to do something about my hearing and not expect my family and friends to speak louder than was comfortable for them, or repeat things I had missed, turn up the volume on the TV, etc.

If you suspect you have a problem, see an audiologist or a doctor, or even a reputable hearing aid dealer. Take all the necessary tests. No reputable dealer will try to sell you an aid without first making sure there is no way to correct your loss and that an aid will really help you. And if he is honest, he'll put it in writing.

Thank you, Abby. Please print this as a favor to those with a hearing loss as well as those who have to live with them.

NANETTE FABRAY

DEAR NANETTE: Hear, hear!

DEAR ABBY: My wife sleeps in the raw. Then she showers, brushes her teeth and fixes our breakfast — still in the buff.

We're newlyweds and there are just the two of us, so I suppose there's really nothing wrong with it.

What do you think?

ED

DEAR ED: It's OK with me. But tell her to put on an apron when she's frying bacon.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: So yesterday you fell off the wagon? Or maybe you blew your diet? Or lost your temper and shot off your mouth? Well, that was yesterday. Today is a brand-new day with a clean slate, so forget yesterday. Today you can get back on the wagon, resume your diet and take control of your life — just for today. Don't make any long-range promises. Take it one day at a time.

HITCHIN' A RIDE — Robert Howd of Akron, Ohio, gives his pal Pete a ride on his shoulder during an appearance at Dayton's Courthouse Square recently. Howd, one of the few "Hurdy Gurdy" men left, travels the region entertaining Mall crowds, birthday and parties and other gatherings with the little longtail monkey. Pete regularly goes through his routine, shaking hands and accepting coins from onlookers and sometimes planting a kiss on an unsuspecting child.

Can kisses spread VD?

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I read somewhere that venereal disease can be contracted by kissing a person who has VD. Well, wouldn't you know, the guy I have been dating told me last night that he has VD and I have been involved in some passionate kissing with him.

Now I'm afraid that I might have contracted VD, too, because I have a rash on my arm. Please hurry. — Darlene, Tacoma, Wash.

Darlene: If all you did was kiss the boy, you did not contract VD from him. Venereal disease, although highly infectious, can only be transmitted by very intimate sexual contact. The organisms that cause VD die very quickly when they are exposed to the air.

There are rare instances when a person can be infected with VD by kissing but since there was no sexual contact of any kind between you and this boy — you are safe.

Make sure that you inform the boy to seek medical treatment — fast!

Dr. Wallace: I would like to thank you for encouraging lonely teens to join their local church youth groups. Through your guidance, and friends from the church, I joined my church's youth group. I can happily say that this association has filled a very empty void that was once within me.

I now have a much better understanding of myself, my family, my friends and my God. Dr. Wallace, thank you for the advice. I know it helped me and I'm sure other teens feel the same way I do. — Karen, Nashua, N.H.

Karen: Thank you for taking my advice. Church and synagogue youth groups are for all teens — lonely or not.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a girl and have known and liked this boy as a friend for over five years. We have dated several times and he even told me that I was something special. When the word got out that he might be interested in me, people started talking and they were saying that I was not good enough for him. I am considered average while he is very popular.

Now he has changed. When we are alone, he is fine, but when popular kids or his friends walk by, he is very cruel to me. Please tell me what to do. I don't have anyone to turn to. — Connie, Alliance, Ohio

Connie: Your friend is suffering from a bad case of peer pressure and is not mature enough to do what is right.

No matter how much you care for him, do not allow him to play "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." If he can't treat you with respect when his friends or "popular" kids are around, then tell him goodbye.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, Copy News Service, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Prominent women speak on combat participation

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Should women register for military service? And, if drafted, should they serve in combat? One recent Gallup poll found that 58 percent of Americans between the ages of 18 and 24 thought that women should be registered.

Jane's Seventeen Magazine asked several prominent Americans what they had to say.

Gloria Steinem, editor of Ms. Magazine: "In wartime, people should be drafted on the basis of their physical ability to serve, and women should be able to volunteer for combat. The worst thing that could happen would be to have the draft for men only. That would only perpetuate prejudice against women."

Marjorie S. Holt, Maryland congresswoman and member of the House Armed Service Committee: "I'm firmly opposed to using women in combat. And if women will not be assigned to combat-arms duty, there is no reason for them to be included in a conscription."

Millicent Fenwick, New Jersey congresswoman and member of the House Committee of Foreign Affairs: "If women accept the privileges this country has given us, we must also accept the responsibilities. If a draft is necessary, women should be accepted or rejected on the same basis as any potential inductee. The individual's abilities would determine where she would serve."

Phyllis George Brown, former sports commentator and wife of the Kentucky governor: "If the President is forced to call for a draft, then women should participate — but only in support capacities and not in combat positions."

Picnic A-fare Alfresco

The long stretch of summer with its warm lengthening days calls for plans for the good life. What would summer be without a picnic plan? Start with a nearby location...garden or patio will do nicely...add warm sun or a cool evening, warm friends, cool or warm food and you've put action into the plan.

an "excursion or outing with food usually provided by members of the group and eaten in the open." It is safe to say that the word comes via the Greek route for the Greeks had a word for it...Epxvos...which means a "contributing feast." No matter the route, the economics of today's picnicing is the same...sharing and contributing.

History has recorded the love of Queen Victoria for picnics. The English words pic and nic probably came into usage from the German...picken and nicken (to eat and sleep)...what better way to spend a warm lazy summer afternoon than to eat and sleep!

First, there should be food. It need not be as elaborate as that served at Queen Victoria's picnics. It should be tasty, nutritious, and not overly fat and calorie laden.

To get the picnic food underway: a bouillon-flavored cottage cheese dip for crisp garden-fresh vegetables. Add baked chicken breasts and a mixed green low-fat cheese salad with a lemony dressing, a chopped parsley 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion 2 teaspoons beef-flavor instant bouillon 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder Assorted fresh vegetables. In blender container, blend cheese until smooth. In medium bowl, combine all ingredients except fresh vegetables; mix well. Cover; chill to blend flavors. Stir before serving. Serve with fresh green pepper strips, cauliflower florets, green onions, cherry tomatoes and zucchini strips.

fitting lid, combine 2 cups water 2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice 1 cup reconstituted lemon juice or reconstituted lime juice Orange slices or pineapple slices, chunks or spears In 2-quart plastic or glass container, combine sugar and drink mix; add water. Stir until sugar dissolves. Stir in fruit juices. Chill. If desired, garnish with orange slices and fresh mint. Serve over ice cubes.

Note: Recipe prepared as directed provides approximately 185 calories per 8-ounce cup. Values by product analyses and recipe calculation.

Alfresco picnicing was a way of summer life for England's Queen, our Greek, French, German, Danish and other cousins. So, take a page from their lives and live it up this summer without ever leaving home except to bicycle to a neighborhood picnic with a food contribution in the bike basket.

U.S. justices overturn death sentence

Court ruling may affect 20-25 cases

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A U.S. Supreme Court decision to overturn a Texas man's death sentence probably will affect 20 to 25 cases on appeal, an assistant attorney general says.

But "it's certainly not going to turn out Death Row," which now holds 124 inmates, said Anita Ashton.

The Wednesday decision that struck down Randall Dale Adams' conviction revolved around the exclusion of certain prospective jurors under the state's death penalty law.

The court, in an 8-1 decision, did not strike down the state's death penalty law, but said a portion of it was unconstitutionally applied in Adams' case.

As a result, Texas' juror qualification law "probably is not going to be used any more to qualify jurors," said Assistant Attorney General Doug Becker.

From a defendant's viewpoint, he predicted, juries will be even tougher.

Adams, who now is entitled to a new trial, was convicted for the 1976 murder of Dallas police officer Robert Wood.

Prosecutors said Wood had stopped Adams the night of Nov. 28, 1976 for driving without headlights. They said Wood did not realize that the car had been stolen and was shot down as he approached the car.

Under a law known as Section 12.31b, prospective jurors in Texas capital cases are asked to take an oath that the mandatory life-or-death punishment for a murder conviction "will not affect" their deliberations.

Without striking down Section 12.31b, the Supreme Court said the law was unconstitutional as applied in Adams' case.

"Such a test could, and did, exclude jurors who stated that they would be affected by the possibility of the death penalty, but who apparently meant only that the potentially lethal consequences of their decision would invest their deliberations with greater seriousness and gravity or would involve them emotionally," Justice Byron R. White wrote for the court.

In the present case, Texas has applied Section 12.31b to exclude jurors whose only fault was to take their responsibilities with special seriousness or to acknowledge honestly that they might or might not be affected," White said.

In a 1968 decision called Witherspoon vs. Illinois, the Supreme Court said jurors cannot be excused just because they voice general reservations about capital punishment.

The 1968 ruling, reaffirmed Wednesday, said jurors could be excluded from sitting in on capital cases only when they say they would automatically refuse to impose the death penalty or that their scruples against capital punishment are so strong as to affect their decision about the defendant's guilt.

"If they use Witherspoon, probably some people will be excluded from jury service who would be allowed to sit on juries under 12.31b," Becker said.

He said the Texas statute left room for a juror who, while opposed to the death penalty, could honestly answer the jury's charge in such a way as to result in a death sentence.

Becker said it was now up to District Attorney Henry Wade of Dallas to decide whether to retry Adams or to seek commutation of his death sentence to life imprisonment.

"If the sentence is not commuted, the DA would have to retry him or let him go," he said.

Becker said the court's decision will affect cases from Dallas more than others because 12.31b was used routinely in juror qualification. "Houston never did use it, he said.

Little League sets city playoff pairings

The Big Spring Little League City Playoffs will begin next Monday, June 30, and run until the championship game on Thursday, July 3.

District Little League proxy Jack Barber has announced the pairings for next week's contests. A total of 11 contests will be played toward naming the new city champion.

The first three teams in each of the four leagues automatically qualify. Third place teams visit the second place teams of another league in Monday's first round, with the winners of those games then meeting a first place team on Tuesday night.

The two-time defending champion in the city tournament are the American League's Hawks, who finished second in the regular season in that circuit and will be able to defend their title when they play host to the third place team from the International League, which has not yet been decided.

Here are next Monday's pairings, with the first place team in which the winner will square off against.

International No. 3 (Rockets, Comets or Stars) at American League Hawks. Winner faces Texas League champ Red Sox.

(2) Texas League Tigers at National League Rangers. Winner meets International League champion (Rockets, Comets or Stars).

(3) National League Devils at International League second place (Rockets, Comets or Stars). Winner travels to play American League champ Colts.

(4) American League Falcons at Texas League Cardinals. Winner faces National League champion Yankees.

UGSA banquet Saturday

The United Girls Softball Association will hold a season ending banquet at the Dora Roberts Center on Saturday at 7:00 p.m.

Al Valdes, well known local figure that has been a part of baseball throughout his life, will be the featured speaker at the affair.

The banquet is to honor all of the girls that have competed the past year. All of the girls will receive trophies for their participation, with medallions awarded to members of the first place teams in Division I, II and III.

Immediately following the banquet, the UGSA will hold an important meeting for the election of officers for next season. League president Jane Upton, who has served in that capacity for the past nine years, has already stated that she will remove herself from the brass at the end of the season.

The All-Star teams will be named during the banquet, with all of the elite members receiving their caps during the announcement.

The local UGSA All-Stars will travel to Snyder to the state tournament. The winners of that tournament will advance to the regional affair in Hobbs, New Mexico, with the winner of that advancing to the national tournament in Denison, Texas.

Rangers win second straight

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Texas Rangers have won two games in a row for the second time in a week, and manager Pat Corrales says he hopes the team is finally out of its month-long slump.

"Baseball is baseball. You play lousy for X-number of days, and all of a sudden the team turns around and starts doing the things it's supposed to," Corrales said.

The Rangers played the way they are supposed to Wednesday night, and veteran pitcher Ferguson Jenkins needed only an hour and 55 minutes to wrap up a 6-1 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

Buddy Bell drove in two runs with a double and a triple, and Richie Zisk drove in three runs with a pair of singles, one with the bases loaded.

"Having Bell back in our lineup makes our team a lot stronger. And Zisk, (Rusty) Staub and (Al Oliver) Ollie are all hitting the ball better. And Mickey (Rivers) is getting on again," Corrales noted.

Rivers, who had three singles, got Texas' first run off loser Mike Parrott, 1-8, in the first inning. He singled, moved to second on Bump Willis' sacrifice, and scored on Bell's two-out double to left. Staub singled to right for a 2-0 lead.

Jenkins, 6-5, gave up his nine hits over seven different innings. The only run he allowed was in the sixth, when Dan Meyer doubled. Tom Paolillo drove the Mariners' only walk of the evening and Leon Roberts singled to center.

NEW YORK (AP) — Even though Americans will not be participating in the Summer Olympics in Moscow, Americans will be able to see more of the competition than originally planned after the boycott.

According to Thursday's editions of the Daily News, NBC will send a crew of about 50 newsmen and technicians to cover the Games that are scheduled to run July 19-August 4.

The reports on the Olympics will be shown on NBC's news shows throughout the day as well as on its "Sportsworld" weekend series.

The 50-member crew is considerably smaller than the 650 people NBC had planned to send to beam back 152½ hours of coverage.

California's Bobby Grich, who had 789,351 Kansas City's George Brett led the third basemen with 1,374,873 votes, far ahead of New York's Graig Nettles, with 801,127. At catcher, Boston's Carlton Fisk led with 1,283,722-1,048,304 advantage over Kansas City's Darrell Porter.

Boston's Fred Lynn led all outfielders with 1,205,100 votes, while teammate Jim Rice was third with 1,019,025. New York's Reggie Jackson was second at 1,098,882.

The voting ended Wednesday, with the starting teams for both leagues to be announced on Tuesday, July 1. The All-Star Game will be played at Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles on July 8.

Israeli concedes Borg defeat

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King showed all her old fighting spirit today in defeating Anne Smith 6-3, 7-4 to reach the third round of the Wimbledon tennis championships.

King, 36, six times Wimbledon singles champion and a winner of a record 20 titles overall here, had a bye in the first round and was playing her first match of the tournament. She saved two set points as Smith, 21 next week, of Dallas, hit some fine shots and battled to the tiebreaker.

King is the No. 5 seed. Wimbledon's fourth day was scheduled to start two hours early because of the backlog caused by rain. But the rain returned briefly and held up play for 40 minutes on the center court and for longer elsewhere.

Greer Stevens of South Africa, the No. 11 seed, comfortably defeated Paula Smith of the United States 6-1, 6-4 in the first round. The pair had waited in the locker room most of Wednesday but never got on court.

Later in the day, Shlomo Glickstein, who just over a year ago, was a sergeant in the Israeli army, faced Bjorn Borg, the world's No. 1 tennis star.

"It's a great opportunity for me," said Glickstein after he had upset Raul Ramirez of Mexico in the first round. "I am sure I will learn a lot from the match and gain a lot of experience, and I hope to do my best."

But when he was asked about his chances of winning, Glickstein just rhapsodized about Borg, who is bidding to win Wimbledon for the fifth straight year.

"Borg is just a great player," said this virtually unknown Israeli, who is one of the few men from his country who have played at Wimbledon. "He's out there on the court to win. His concentration is unbelievable. Psychologically

Houston retaliated against LA starter Bob Welch in the second inning with five straight hits and two runs on Alan Ashby's single and Forsch's double.

The score remained deadlocked until the seventh when Forsch walked Garvey and Ron Cey reached base on Enos Cabell's second error of the game. Yeager cleared the bases with his homer.

Palmer celebrates raise with win

By the Associated Press Jim Palmer scored a pair of victories Wednesday night.

First the 34-year-old Baltimore right-hander scattered eight hits as the Orioles beat the Toronto Blue Jays 6-3 for Palmer's 232nd career triumph. Then, after the game, it was announced that he had agreed to a two-year contract extension with the club.

Contract terms were not disclosed, but Palmer previously had rejected a three-year extension valued at about $1.3 million. He has complained that his $260,000 salary was no longer commensurate with what was being paid other pitchers of his stature.

"I think this indicates the new management is more progressive in paying higher salaries," Palmer said, referring to Edward Bennett Williams, who took control of the Orioles last winter. "It indicates that other players, if they need a job over the long haul, will be paid in line with what other players are paid. The key to having a good ballclub is to keep good players here."

One of those good players, Ken Singleton, continued his hot hitting against the Blue Jays. He had two hits and drove in two runs, giving him 23 hits in 46 times at bat over the last 13 games.

He also has had 10 walks and 12 RBI during that span while raising his batting average from .236 to .286.

In other American League games, the Boston Red Sox

'Sets energy policy for next 10-15 years'

Synthetic fuel bill clearing last hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation creating a government corporation with a $20 billion bankroll to launch a synthetic fuels industry in the United States is nearly over its final congressional hurdle. The House was expected to give easy approval today to a compromise bill supporters say will help the nation begin moving toward breaking its dependence on foreign oil. One week ago, members of the Senate spent several hours praising the bill as being a "milestone" and "the largest, most flexible set of energy initiatives ever enacted by the Congress" before approving it on a 78-12 vote. Congressional conferees — 35 from the Senate and 23 from the House — had been working since late last year to fashion details of the bill. Favorable House action sends the measure to the White House. The importance President Carter attaches to the legislation — especially in an election year — is indicated by plans the administration is making for signing the measure into law. White House spokesman Ray Jenkins said late Wednesday that "more than merely a signing ceremony" will be used to call attention to the bill. This is "a very significant" measure that "sets energy policy for the next 10 to 15 years," he said. Plans are not final, but Carter may visit a synthetic fuel project, such as a coal gasification plant, in connection with signing the bill, Jenkins said. The bill creates a federally owned synthetic fuels corporation which will oversee a five-year, $20 billion program of loan and price guarantees aimed at building plants to produce so-called synthetic fuels. Synthetic fuels are manufactured from non-petroleum materials, such as coal, or extracted from material such as oil shale or tar sands. A seven-member board of directors to be appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate will oversee the corporation, which is anticipated to be in full operation by June 30, 1981. The legislation sets a goal of producing the equivalent of 500,000 barrels of oil a day by 1987. That's about 4 percent of current U.S. oil consumption. By 1992, with an additional $68 billion, the legislation envisions a synthetic fuels production level of 2 million barrels a day. Only governors, three aides and 10 federal officials may attend the closed sessions on narcotics smuggling, illegal aliens and border pollution, organizers said. Conference organizers confirmed Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo will not be at the meeting. Earlier reports from Texas Gov. Bill Clements' office said the Mexican president might attend the meeting. Officials in Mexico said they were told California Gov. Edmund G. Brown would not be present to lead talks on ecology and pollution. Gray Davis, Brown's chief of staff, will take his place, according to organizers. Committee members said California politician and former activist Tom Hayden would return from a trip to Israel to attend the meeting. It is apparently a personal visit for Hayden. Manuel Bernardo Aguirre, governor of the state of Chihuahua, and Gov. Bruce King of New Mexico are co-chairmen of the conference. At open sessions today, Gov. Roberto de la Madrid of Baja California and Clements will head discussions on tourism. They will chair talks about undocumented workers during Friday's closed door meeting.

Private session slated today

Mexican, U.S. officials meet

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Mexican and U.S. border state governors will discuss the ticklish topics of drugs, undocumented workers and pollution during private sessions today and Friday. The meeting, sponsored by the Southwest Border Regional Commission, is the first to involve officials from all states on both sides of the border. Cultural exchange programs, tourism, ecology, industry, twin plants, commerce and agriculture are subjects of the opens Rig count is increasing. The number of working oil rigs in the state continued to rise this week. As of Monday, a total of 941 rigs were making hole, compared to 934 for the previous week. This is slightly below the 944 total for last month, but well above the 892 total for this time last year. The national total also showed a gain, rising from 2,797 for last week to 2,806, as of Monday. This exceeds both the 2,786 total for last month and the 1,998 total for this time last year.

Local firms help make day camp big success

One of the most successful Cub Scout day camps for the Lone Star District was concluded last week. The final event, a cookout, drew more than 100. Activities — which had to be moved to various locations due to rain — included crafts, physical fitness, nature study, first aid, skills, flag ceremonies and games. Also, boys worked on their Wolf and Bear achievements. Jannie Reid served as director of the camp that drew 27 regular attendees. Staff members included Marlene Warner, Juanita Stonerook, Robert Oliver, Sheral Powers, Danny Reed, Sr., Sherman Powers Sr., and Keith Tucker. Glenn Pierce served as the camp cook. Camp continued over five days, and among special activities was a visit by one of the big fire trucks supplied by the city fire department. A number of individuals and firms made extra contributions to insure success of the event, said Mrs. Reed. Included were Dairy Queen, Pizza Hut, Safeway, Winn-Dixie, Furr's, Chamber of Commerce, Cactus Paint, McDonald's KBYG and KBST, Chapman Meat, Mrs. Nixon, Larry Speck, First Methodist Church, and Big Spring Fire Department.

The noon-hour is a time for soap opera addicts

DALLAS (AP) — The noon hour. Women scurry from downtown office buildings to a nearby department store, giving up their mid-day meals for a day-time addiction. Not sales Soaps. "There's just no cure for this," said one woman who has been skipping lunch for heartbreak since she took a full-time job eight months ago. She's too embarrassed to tell her name.

They stand sometimes three-deep in front of a row of color television sets, snacking and exchanging gossip — but only during commercials. Most stay from noon until 1 p.m., although one woman sticks around for the noon-to-3 p.m. block. "It's a good relaxer and takes my mind off work," said Vera, a "club" member for almost two years. "When I go back to the office, I'm ready to work." Regular viewers have even formed an informal club, analyzing plot twists and catching up regular viewers who have been on vacation. Their eyes are riveted to the set during the dramas, but they turn down the sound for chit-chat during commercials. "They adjust the color — as far as they're concerned, that's their TV," said Rod Bailey, a salesman at

Sanger-Harris. "A lot of times I have to step in front of the viewers to show a television that they're watching to a customer and they don't like that, depending on what's going on." But, Bailey admits, he won't discourage the ladies. He hopes they will buy from him when they're ready to purchase a new set for the house. The scene is similar at Neiman-Marcus. "When there's a real good plot — like Anne breaking out of the loony house or Devon's affair with Sean, 20 people will be watching," said salesman Joe McMahon.

"And I know I'd better not change the channel." McMahon goes so far as to record "big" episodes — weddings and funerals — on video tape cassettes to show to regulars and fellow employees.

Draft opponents shift fight to courts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of President Carter's plan to renew draft registration, possibly as early as July 21, are shifting their fight from Congress to the courts.

The American Civil Liberties Union called a news conference today to announce it will file suit seeking to have the registration plan declared unconstitutional because women are exempt.

Opponents contend putting the burden only on men violates the Constitution's Fifth Amendment guarantee of due process under the law.

The ACLU suit also will seek an injunction against starting registration until the court challenge is settled.

The House voted 234-168 Wednesday to give final approval of Carter's request for $13.3 million to register all 19- and 20-year-old men this summer. Both the House and the Senate previously rejected Carter's original proposal to register women as well as men.

Carter is to issue a proclamation next week renewing registration for the first time since 1975. Knowledgeable sources said July 21 is the likely effective date.

All men born in 1980 would be required to fill out registration forms in local post offices that week and all men born in 1981 would be required to register the following week. The maximum penalty for failing to register is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine, but no judge has ever imposed the maximum.

Further congressional action would be needed to actually draft those being registered.

On the light side And they're cute, too

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Silent testimony from a pair of unusual witnesses helped convince Washoe County Commissioners that Rudy Cleye's llamas are not a public nuisance.

A neighbor of the Washoe Valley llama breeder filed the complaint, saying the animals smelled bad. Cleye disagreed, saying llamas have no unpleasant odor. He said neighbor Walter Faught probably was smelling cows or horses in the area.

To prove his point, he paraded two of the llamas into Tuesday's commission meeting. After looking at the animals — and taking a couple of sniffs — commissioners agreed with Cleye that the animals didn't stink.

And when Fernando and Poco Llama cuddled up to him and batted their long eyelashes, Commissioner Bill Farr admitted they were pretty cute, too. "A lot of humans have a greater odor," he added.

Runaways leave in style

RICHMOND, British Columbia (AP) — Two modern-day Huck Finns took the luxury approach when they ran away from home — in a $23,000, 23-foot mobile home.

Police, who thought they were just stopping a stolen mobile home Tuesday night, found a 12-year-old boy behind the wheel, perched on pillows so he could see over the wheel.

Both the boy and his 10-year-old accomplice had been missing from their suburban Vancouver homes since Friday, police said. They have been returned home, and the case referred to family court.

"They were just little fellows, even a little small for their age," said Royal Canadian Mounted Police Sgt. George Loepky. "They were just thrill-seeking, I would guess."

Three other boys, ages 9, 10 and 11, and all from Richmond, were in the mobile home. Police said they were just along for the ride.

City turns down grant

BELLEVEUE, Wash. (AP) — The Bellevue City Council has said thanks, but no thanks, to a federal grant of $94,000.

The council voted on Monday to turn down the Department of Energy money that would have been used to revise city land-use codes to encourage energy-efficient development.

"In a time when we have high inflation, high unemployment and are in the midst of a recession, one of the contributors to those problems has to be cities going to the federal government and asking for funds," said Mike Evered, a councilman in this city of 65,000.

Area residents earn degrees

FIRST FEDERAL HONORS

MR. AND MRS. HERB KEATON
A PART OF
HOWARD COUNTY'S HERITAGE
FRIDAY, JUNE 27

MR. AND MRS. HERB KEATON
Mr. and Mrs. H.G. Keaton, 801 Marcy, have lived in Big Spring since 1927, moving here from Weatherford. Keaton actually went into the cotton merchandising business with J.O. McCrary in 1925, the same year he married Martha Morton daughter of a Methodist minister in Weatherford.

The Keaton-McCrary Cotton Company sold cotton to mills in Georgia, North and South Carolina and Alabama until they retired Nov. 1, 1979, one month before Keaton's 77th birthday.

Keaton owns 2,000 acres of land on the Andrews Highway that he farmed himself for over 20 years. In 1938, he ventured into the cotton gin business as a sideline, buying a one-third interest in the Coahoma Gin with Grady Acuff, then another Coahoma gin. Eventually he owned 14 gins, including the one at Lomax. He later sold eight of them.

Keaton owned one-half interest in the Miller-Oldham Company, the International Harvester Agency and had IH stores in Stanton, Midland, Snyder and Big Spring, which he sold five or six years ago.

Mrs. Keaton, an accomplished musician and charter member of the Big Spring Music Club, played the piano and organ and sang in the choir of the First United Methodist Church 25 years. Until recently, she played in the Music Club ensemble. Keaton sang tenor in the choir over 40 years in addition to singing solos and in duets. Keaton sang "Open the Gates of the Temple" at the dedication of the original First Presbyterian Church and the same solo at the dedication of the First United Methodist Church. Marilyn (Mrs. Don) Newsom, daughter, sang a duet with him at the dedication of the new sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church in recent years. Carrying on the musical tradition of the family, daughter Mrs. Margy Keaton Ledbetter, Houston, sings contralto in the Christ's Church Episcopal there.

Keaton has served on the Board of Stewards at the First United Methodist Church and is still serving on the District Board of Trustees. He also has served on the Board of Finance.

Mrs. Keaton taught the adult Philathea Sunday School Class and has served as president of the Women's Work. She is a charter member of the Big Spring Music Club and has been a member of the 1930 Hyperion Club for 40 years.

The Keatons have in addition to the two daughters, four grandsons.

By Judiciary Committee

Shield law approved

By JIM DAVIS
Herald-News Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — A shield law for reporters, courtroom access for television cameras and attorneys fees for persons who successfully enforce open meetings and open records laws won approval of the Texas House Judiciary Committee Friday. Shield laws give reporters the right to protect the identity of news sources. A subcommittee headed by Rep. Danny Hill of Amarillo prepared the recommendations after holding hearings in Marshall and Amarillo on free press and fair trial questions. Committee adoption means the items will be included in a report to the 1981 Legislature.

"I'm not particularly crazy about a shield law," Hill said, adding that being in politics increased his doubts about certain aspects of journalism.

But he said, "It certainly would be a curtailment of the media if they can't keep informants in confidence."

The committee recommended granting the same access to pretrial proceedings as given to newspaper and magazine reporters. But it said each judge should decide whether to allow cameras or tape recorders into the courtroom during a trial.

State law currently prohibits media cameras or tape recorders in courtrooms.

Hill said televised court proceedings could increase public awareness of how the judicial system works. Certain restrictions on where the cameras could be set up and what they could record would protect the dignity and fairness of the proceedings, he said.

The subcommittee's report says the law could be designed to prohibit televising the defendant during the trial unless he or she gives written consent.

"The defendant may wish to present his side of the story to the public in an effort to vindicate himself," the adopted report says.

Rep. Melchor Chavez urged the other seven committee members to take more time in studying the issue.

"I can see cameramen falling all over themselves (in filming trials)," the Harlingen Democrat said. "I just don't like cameras in the courtroom."

Rep. Kector Uribe of Brownsville said the law would have to make sure that the jury was not intimidated by the presence of electronic media.

The committee adopted a recommendation that the legislature, the State Bar and professional journalism associations work together to set up rules of decorum for media in courtrooms.

Judiciary Committee Chairman Ben Z. Grant of Marshall argued for allowing successful plaintiffs in open meetings and open records cases to collect attorneys fees from persons sued.

Otherwise, he argued, a person who sues to enforce the law is penalized even if successful.

The committee adopted the recommendation unanimously.
