Jobs, unemployment both up in July

WASHINGTON (AP) — In defiance of economic predictions, the number of Americans holding jobs in July rose sharply for the first time in five months, but the unemployment rate crept back up to 7.8 percent, the government said today.

In a report laden with encouraging but also mixed economic signals, the Labor Department said total employment based on its survey of American households rose by 459,000 jobs — reversing four straight months of declines brought on by the recession.

At the same time, unemployment, which had dropped from 7.8 percent in May to 7.7 percent in June, returned to 7.8 percent last month as the number of jobless Americans increased by 201,000.

The department said unemployment rose in July despite the gain in jobs because people entered the labor market at a faster rate than jobs were created.

The figures, combined with a positive Commerce Department report on economic trends issued earlier this week, suggested that the recession is bottoming out sooner than economists had expected.

In fact, the government had been looking for another drop in employment in July accompanied by a larger rise in the jobless rate, which had surged from 6 percent in February.

Only two weeks ago, the Carter administration predicted in a revised economic forecast that unemployment would peak at 8.6 percent by early 1981 and remain there throughout the year. The prediction, however, was based on the very rapid deterioration in economic activity during the spring, a trend that appears to have slowed significantly in the past month.

But department economists also pointed to a conflicting report suggesting that the government may have overestimated the rise in employment in July.

A separate survey of business establishments reported a 240,000 drop in employment, an opposite trend from the household survey.

Department economists sought to reconcile the differences by suggesting that perhaps employment remained essentially stable in July, and that its statistical treatment of the information may have been somewhat off base.

Total employment in July stood at 97 million, a drop of 950,000 jobs since the peak employment reached in February.

The number of unemployed Americans stood at 8.2 million, up about 2 million from the start of the year.

The government also reported that the median duration of unemployment rose in July to 7.1 weeks, and one in nine job seekers had been out of work for at least half a year.

In an encouraging economic development Wednesday, the government reported that its index of leading indicators jumped 2.5 percent in June, the first increase in a year and the largest rise in five years.

COVER-UP VICTIM — Astronaut Steve Bancroft (Gary Collins) comforts fellow astronaut Lew Price (James Hampton) in a moving sequence from the new motion picture "Hangar 18." The two are unwilling scapegoats in a web of government intrigue to cover-up a crashed UFO.

Special showing at Ritz Twin

'Hangar 18' rolls tonight

There are many theories on how to make a winning movie. Two certain ingredients agreed to by most filmmakers are a good screenplay and realistic locations. That's the way Sunn Classic Pictures initiated its shocking new feature film, "Hangar 18" playing tonight at a special showing at the Ritz Theatre. The showing begins at 7 p.m. for those who purchased tickets in advance. The results of the movie are chillingly authentic.

"Hangar 18" tells the bizarre story of a government cover-up of a crashed UFO and its concealment in a large secret NASA complex for analysis. The script calls for a variety of locations, including an air base, a hospital, NASA's Mission Control Center, and, of course, the hangar itself where many of the movie's frightening sequences take place.

Locations were scouted in several states before the producers advance scouting team discovered the abandoned Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring, Texas.

"It was eerie to tour the Big Spring base for the first time," said the film's producer, Charles E. Sellier, Jr. "Most everything was still intact. Surgical instruments in the base hospital, air traffic control equipment in the tower. Even the mess hall looked like lunch could be served at a moment's notice."

Authenticity was important on this project because Sunn's sophisticated research and development system information, confirmed by national polls, indicates that more and more people believe in the existence of UFO's and in the belief that government has imposed secrecy about certain reported "factual" incidents.

"In fact," said producer Sellier, "many people believe a 'Hangar 18' story has already happened."

Sunn's location experience in Big Spring had another benefit. The closing Webb Air Force Base in 1977 dealt the community of Big Spring a cruel blow. "Hangar 18" brought a quick, albeit temporary transfusion.

What happened was not a classic confrontation between Hollywood glitter and the mostly conservative residents of Big Spring. Instead, it was a love affair between the townspeople and the battalion of technicians, craftsmen, actors, and extras.

Sunn Classic Pictures reciprocated the kindness by bringing some $4-million to Big Spring in the span of four months. Local suppliers were used whenever possible, plus some 1,000 local residents who responded to the call for extras.

Two Big Spring residents who answered the call were rewarded with "leading" roles.

Dee Foster and Roy Ritchey, two oil-field roustabouts, were cast in the roles of the UFO crew. The complicated alien make-up was designed and applied (in five-hour sessions) by Kenneth Horn. Also contributing to the alien's eerie "look" was Dr. Morton Greenspoon who crafted the UFO crew's special eyes. Greenspoon has done similar treatments for "The Exorcist" and television's "Incredible Hulk."

(See related story page 2-A)

The spacecraft that carries the two aliens to earth was built on location in Big Spring. Security was extremely tight near the hangar where the craft was kept during location photography. The design of the craft is said to closely resemble a frequently-reported UFO shape.

The cast includes Robert Vaughn, Gary Collins, James Hampton, Darren McGavin, and Joseph Campanella. James L. Conway directed "Hangar 18" from a screenplay by Steven Thornley, story by Tom Chapman & James L. Conway. The film is released in conjunction with the Bantam paperback book, "Hangar 18," novelization by Robert Weverka and Charles E. Sellier, Jr.

Several lead changes occur at second rodeo performance

Thrills and spills continued during the second performance of the 35th annual Howard County Junior Rodeo Thursday.

Fred Cordell's C and C Rodeo Company's stock was just as fast and high bucking as ever. The show saw lead changes occur in several events.

Johnny Casbeer of Midland is still leading the calf roping with his Wednesday night's score of 16.13 in the 13-15 year age bracket but James Zant's 8.8 is the new pace setter in the 16-19 age group. Zant is from Odessa.

Del Rio's Buck Sellers score of 9.5 still leads the Ribbon Roping in the 13-15 age bracket, but the first night's score of 10.0 by Dale Jones, Eunice, N.M. and Randy Bomar's 5.0 now leads in the 12 and under and the 16-19 divisions. Bomar is from Midland.

In Breakaway Roping, the first night's leaders are still in command. In the 13-15 and 16-19 divisions. They are Todd Howard of Midland (boys) with his 3.0 clocking and Brenda Latrell of Lindsay, Okla., with her 3.2. New leaders in the 12 and under emerged, however. They are Todd Howard of Midland with his 3.0 and Connie Kay Everett of Big Lake, in at 4.0.

Nannett Fine of Monahans maintains her lead in the 16-19 division with a 3.5. Kenneth Lewis of Del City now leads in the Steer riding with a score of 64. There are still no qualifiers in the 13-15 bull riding. Phillip Graf of Vernon still leads with a 74 in the 16-19 bull riding.

New leaders came out in last night's show in all three divisions of the goat tying. Lorrie Dee Guy of Abilene with a 15.0 leads the 12 and unders. A tie of 12.0 now has Shelly Jones of Lamesa and Brenda Latrell of Lindsay, Okla., as leaders in the 13-15 group. Jackie Head of Huntsville leads the 16-19 group with a 12.1.

Barrel racing saw a new leader emerge out in the 13-15 group. Karen Snodgrass of Texia, N.M. scored a 18.14. Tandy Jacobs of Vernon, with a 17.19, and Nannette Fine of Monahans, with a 17.89, still lead in the 12 and under and the 16-19 group. In pole bending, a new leader in the 12 under and group for boys saw Jamie Smith of Zephyr achieve a 20.80.

In the other divisions Tandy Jacobs of Vernon and Kelly Jones of Gracemont, Okla., and Sedra Stevens also of Gracemont still lead with their scores of 20.26, 20.73, and 20.44. Buck Thomison of Marfa is the new leader now in the Bronc Riding. The third night's performance begins promptly at 8 o'clock tonight with show announcer Merv Pierce's announcement of the Grand Entry in the Rodeo Bowl.

Billy Carter reverses statement on cable issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Carter, reversing statements he made a day earlier, acknowledged today that someone in the White House gave him a State Department cable concerning his 1978 trip to Libya.

President Carter's younger brother told reporters in Plains, Ga., this morning that he did indeed receive a copy of a cable from the American charge d'affaires in Tripoli saying "that he appreciated me coming there and that it helped his job."

Asked who gave him the cable, Carter replied, "I assume I got it from someone in the White House." Asked if that person was the president, he replied, "I won't comment on that directly. It was over a year ago and I don't remember."

He said the cable is now in his lawyer's possession.

In Americus, Ga. on Thursday, Billy had strongly denied that he had any government cables, that the president ever gave him any or that he ever said anything to Justice Department investigator Joel Lisker.

"I have State Department copies of nothing," the president's brother said at the time. "Jimmy has not shown me anything."

Asked today why he had initially denied receiving any cables, Billy replied, "I didn't realize you were talking about it (the charge d'affaires' memo)."

Billy Carter also had denied lying to Lisker last January about receiving any money from Libya. Today, Billy said Lisker never asked him directly about the money.

"The record speaks for itself," Lisker, who heads the Justice Department's foreign agents registration section, said Thursday.

Also on Thursday, the White House released seven apparently innocuous State Department cables on Billy's visit to Libya and sought to discount any suggestion that the president gave his brother sensitive government information.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell upbraided members of Congress and the news media for their handling of the disclosures of the cables earlier this week.

"I just think that when you're dealing with the integrity questions about the conduct in office of a president of the United States, members of Congress and everybody else ought to know what they're talking about before they leap to conclusions."

Powell, interviewed on ABC TV's "Good Morning America" program, said he saw no impropriety in the president sharing the cables with Billy, especially since they had been made available to syndicated columnist Jack Anderson 14 months ago.

"There is absolutely nothing wrong," Powell said. "If he shares them with the news media, which happens all the time, then there's certainly nothing wrong with saying (to Billy) that reports from Tripoli say the trip went well."

The seven cables were released as a special Senate committee investigating the Billy Carter-Libyan affair agreed to begin hearings Monday and to try to finish gathering most of the evidence by the end of August.

Powell said the president hopes to issue his report to Congress on the matter Monday and hold a news conference the same day to answer questions about it. Carter has postponed a political trip to Cleveland on Monday.

TESCO rate hearing may end early next week

By JACKIE CALMES
Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — When consultant Pat Loconto missed his flight to Austin Thursday morning, he should have taken that as a sign to stay in Dallas.

Instead, he made a later flight and went to the Texas Public Utility Commission to testify — as a group of cities were playing him to do — against Texas Electric Service Company's application for a $123 million rate increase.

Loconto took the stand after lunch, swore to tell the whole truth and nothing but, and waited for questions. None came — not from TESCO attorneys, nor from opposing intervenors representing the consumer group ACORN, electric cooperatives, large industries and retailers. Finally, Fernando Rodriguez of the commission staff, saying he felt he should say something given the trip Loconto had made, asked a couple questions.

Minutes later, commission hearing examiner Mark Zeppa adjourned the hearing until Monday at 10 a.m.

The incident exemplifies how comparatively fast the TESCO rate case has moved, with little questioning or cross-examining of the 11 witnesses who began testifying Wednesday. Examiner Zeppa originally set an Aug. 11 deadline but Thursday he predicted the hearing would end early next week. Zeppa said he would make his recommendations to the three commissioners by early September so they could rule by mid-month.

That would be 11 months since TESCO's last approved increase — $37.9 million in October 1979. By way of explaining the hearing's more rapid pace, Zeppa said participants exchanged questions earlier this week when they tried to settle without going through the public hearing.

Another explanation may be that participants just have fewer questions. Attorney Don Butler, representing TESCO customer cities in the Texas Municipal League, said parties are familiar with each other's approach to the issues since this is TESCO's fourth trip to the utility commission in as many years.

Also, Butler said, they may not press questions when they know generally how the commission will rule. Butler's witnesses, Loconto and Sam Rhodes of the Touche-Ross & Co.

consulting firm in Dallas, testified that TESCO should get $23.7 million in additional annual revenues — $100 million less than the company applied for. Also, they recommended a rate of return on investment of no more than 14.8 percent, TESCO wants 17.5 percent.

In this case, the municipal league represents cities including Andrews, Archer City, Axle, Benbrook, Big Spring, Breckenridge, Burleson, Burkburnett, Crowley, Eastland, Fort Worth, Gorman, Lamesa, Midland, Monahans, Odessa and Wichita Falls. The commission staff recommended a $61 million revenue increase and a 15.5 percent return. Those figures served as the basis of the unsuccessful pre-hearing negotiations.

TESCO's proposal amounts to a 17.7 percent increase in rates systemwide but a 20 percent addition to residential customers' monthly bills.

To justify the increase, the company cites inflation, high interest rates and the cost of its major construction projects — Comanche Peak Nuclear Project and several lignite coal-fired plants. "The company must attract substantial amounts of additional capital during the next several years in order to finance the ongoing construction program," Dr. Charles Olson, a TESCO consultant, testified Thursday morning.

Olson, economist and senior vice president of H. Zinder and Associates of Washington, D.C., said TESCO must be assured of higher revenues so its stock will continue to attract investors despite the troubled economy.

But Butler questioned Olson's conclusions because they relied on data from last March, a time Butler described as one of worse inflation and higher interest rates than prevail now or are likely to exist in the future.

"I didn't deliberately seek out a period of high interest rates," Olson countered, adding that the economic situation still is not much improved.

This week's testimony was devoted to the question of how much revenue TESCO should get. Next week, witnesses will turn to the issue of rate design, or how the increase is apportioned among the residential, commercial, industrial and miscellaneous customer classes.

Argentines flood agents

MIAMI (AP) — Airlines and travel agents here were flooded with ticket orders from Argentines who wanted to fly to Miami, buy up televisions and other consumer goods and return to their homeland before a drastic increase in import duties went into effect.

The duty increase Thursday was designed to protect Argentinian industry from competition by foreign-produced goods. For an 800 TV stereo console, the old duty was $240. The new duty is $640.

Pan American Airways sent an extra 747 jet to Buenos Aires on Thursday and it had 358 people aboard, according to Carmen Konte, a Pan Am spokesman.

No talks set with strikers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — No negotiating sessions have been scheduled between Chevron Chemical Co. and Local 4-447 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union — the only local still on strike in what had been a nationwide walkout.

The OCAW went on strike against the nation's oil refiners in January and settled with oil companies on a local-by-local basis over the ensuing weeks. Local 4-447 went out Feb. 9 because of a special local contract expiration date.

Accord has been reached on wages and benefits for a proposed new contract, but the union and Chevron cannot agree on provisions on seniority, disability and health care.

Cancer death rate increases

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The death rate from cancer in Santa Clara County increased by 20 percent between 1970 and 1978, according to a preliminary county health report.

Dr. Donald Austin, director of the California Tumor Registry in Berkeley, said he couldn't explain the increase, but said he suspected an error might have been made in compiling the information.

The report, issued by the county Health Systems Agency, said the annual cancer death rate was 109.6 per 100,000 population in 1970. By 1978, the rate was 131.6 per 100,000.

Batallion chief suspended

CHICAGO (AP) — A battalion chief in the city fire department has been suspended for improperly combating a small fire at Union Station that grew into a blaze in which a man was killed.

Fire Commissioner Richard G. Albrecht issued the 20-day suspension order Thursday against James Higgins, a 25-year department veteran.

According to a department report, a small fire in a storage room at the station had been declared out for about 30 minutes when the larger fire broke out in the restaurant above the storage room.

Mixed drinks tax

County nets $3,536

Howard County's share of the $23,712.47 mixed drinks tax collected by the state during the second quarter of 1980 amounted to $3,536.87.

Of the $17,827.18 collected in the city of Big Spring in taxes for the quarter, the city's share amounted to $2,644.08.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock earlier in the week said the sale of mixed drinks in Texas during the quarter pushed the yearly total during the first six months to nearly a half billion dollars. Bullock stated mixed drink taxes collected during the April, May and June period amount to $23.6 million. There were $22.1 million in taxes collected during the first quarter.

Bullock said his office is mailing checks totaling $6.8 million to 209 counties and 360 cities as their share of the ten percent gross receipts tax on mixed drinks for the second quarter.

The state's General Revenue Fund will receive the balance, $16.7 million, of the tax money collected during the quarter.

Texas cities and counties receive a 15 percent rebate of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized mixed drink sales.

In Mitchell County, the total tax revenue for the quarter amounted to $2,180.11, of which the county was awarded $327.02. In Colorado City itself, the tax take amounted to $1,662.76, of which $249.42 is retained by the municipality.

Police beat

Man suspected of shooting

A man with a small arsenal in his car is suspected of nearly shooting a woman in the city Thursday night.

According to reports, Alice Siers, Pine Ridge, S.D., was babysitting for her cousin at 405 W. 5th, and was standing in the yard when she noticed a car driving slowly past the home, around 10 p.m. Thursday. As she walked toward the door of the home, the driver opened fire, shooting four bullets in her direction, one of which shattered the glass in the door.

Police were called, and Officer Barry Smith spotted a vehicle matching Ms. Siers' description on the 400 block of South Lancaster. After stopping the car, the officers spotted a 22-pistol, a holster and four spent shells lying on the floorboard.

Also recovered were a 16 gauge shotgun and a 30-30 caliber rifle. All the guns may have been stolen in a burglary in Howard County, outside city limits.

The car's driver, Johnny Petters, 1203 Stanford, was arrested, and faces charges of aggravated assault, carrying a prohibited weapon and theft by exercising control.

A local woman narrowly escaped being raped, early this morning. According to reports, a man unknown to the intended victim entered her home through the back door, 12:55 a.m. today. The intruder threatened to rape the woman, and to kill her and her son if she resisted. At that moment, a bright light shone through the window of the home from the street, and distracted the man.

The woman took that opportunity to flee through the front door, while the foiled rapist fled the way he had entered. The woman called police from a neighbor's home.

Police will investigate a report that two local girls were sexually molested by a local man recently. The mother of one of the victims reported the incident Thursday.

Burglars broke into the Big Spring YMCA, 801 Owens, sometime Wednesday. Stolen were several sets of handball gloves, handballs and $5 in loose change. Loss was estimated at $35.

Vandals shot BBs through a window at the home of P.B. Enfield, 704 Lorilla, sometime Thursday. Damage was estimated at $12.

Lucille Randon, 305 N.E. 11th, told police that a man she knows punched and kicked her, 7:30 p.m. Thursday. She was treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital and released. Eight mishaps were reported Thursday. Vehicles driven by Stephanie Sparkman, Forsan, and George Russell, 1403 Tuscon, collided on the 1500 block of Gregg, 11:06 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Howard McCormick, 1302 Wood, struck an electric pole at 1100 N. Lamesa, 1:35 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Gay Harper, Houston, and Michael T. Terry, Route 118-A, collided in the parking lot of Howard College, 4:03 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Altus Kelly, Gail Route, and Tomas Soto, Coahoma, collided on the 300 block of N.E. 2nd, 5:12 p.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to Bertie W. Arnold, Sterling City Route, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in the lot of Don's Grocery, 6 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Margarita Marquez, 1905 Wason, and Rick Dyer, 602 W. 16th, collided on Wason Road, 10:15 p.m.

Movie filmed here doing well in test market areas

By ANDREA COHEN
"Hangar 18," the movie which was recently filmed in Big Spring has done well in the test market areas, Charles Sellier Jr., producer, says.

"I personally think the movie came out terrific," he said. "I don't think you'll be disappointed. It shows the community and the people in it by a good light. It's an action-adventure film."

Sellier arrived in Big Spring Thursday with 13 other members of Sunn Classic Pictures to attend the special showing of "Hangar 18" tonight.

"We're starting production on our next movie. If you remember what those first days in Big Spring were like, you'll remember it was frenzied. But we came back and took time off because of the love for the town and the appreciation of the people. We came back during this busy time to say thank you."

According to Sellier, the company left Big Spring with raw film, then edited in special effects for two months.

The first cut was three hours long. "In today's market, three hours is too long," he said. The film finally was cut to 100 minutes.

"There are scenes that had to be left on the cutting room floor, some priceless scenes,

But what's left is exciting. It holds your attention. The special effects to the audience will be startling."

"The acting is excellent. I was very happy. (Darren McGavin) is unbelievable. (Gary Collins and James Hampton) have a quality about them. And the locals read well. Except for about 20 to 25 people, the movie is carried by locals."

"People will be watching the film and then saying 'Wait, that's my next door neighbor.'"

According to James Hampton, an actor in the film who is in town for the special showing, the movie is suspenseful.

"It's very tight. I'm happy with the acting. It's a believable picture," he said. "I'm glad to be back," he continued. "I like Big Spring and West Texas. It's nostalgic to come back here."

Hampton just completed a movie for Walt Disney Productions called "Condor Man," a spy spoof set in Europe.

Sunn Classic Pictures is working on a film called Boogens, a horror film being filmed in Park City, Utah. It is a story about a group of miners in an old mining town who put a shaft into a mountain where creatures live. The miners release the creatures on society. The

SONNY, ALVIN SHROYER

Shroyers celebrate 49 years of business here

Today is a significant day for Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Shroyer. Together they are observing their 49th anniversary as members of the Big Spring business community. The Shroyers moved to Big Spring in 1931 after acquiring a service station at 424 East Third Street with Hart Phillips. Two years later, they were franchised as dealers for the Oldsmobile motor car and have served in that capacity ever since.

Two years ago, the firm was incorporated. Alvin was named president, Mrs. Shroyer the secretary-treasurer while their only child, Sonny, became vice-president.

No other GM dealer in Texas can boast the longevity Alvin has. He and his family have expanded their business considerably since they acquired the Olds franchise and even now have a refurbishing program going on at their building.

Mrs. Shroyer is the former Vallie Thorp of San Saba. They were married there June 1, 1928. Alvin and Vallie currently reside at 308 Washington Blvd., a home they built in 1951. Sonny lives at 2910 Goliad Street with his family. His wife's name is Shirley and she is employed as a coordinator at Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Shroyer says she and Alvin have only one hobby outside their work. Both like to hunt. The two maintain a deer lease in the heart of the Texas deer country, along with eight other people. They also maintain the equipment necessary to process their own venison.

At the rate he's going, Alvin hopes to put in another 49 years on the business beat. He and Mrs. Shroyer thrive on work and the chance to get to know people.

Compost pile smelly issue in San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — Something's "in the air" in this West Texas city — the peculiar scent of burning manure wafting from a 25-foot tall compost heap near an exclusive housing development on the east side of town.

The mountain of manure, taller than many nearby homes, caught fire July 21 sending nearby residents into olefactory distress.

But the homeowners' pleas fell on deaf ears, until the smoky scent drifting toward town opened the sinus of a Texas Air Control Board investigator, passing through on a routine check.

The compost pile, maintained for fertilizer in the city's parks, had drawn a barrage of complaints and a horde of ecstatic flies long before the manure started cooking, officials said.

"The parks department lasses it," one official claimed. But TACB investigator Mark Newman didn't, he came to San Angelo to investigate the residents' complaints. He said charges by the air control bureau against the city are "possible but not probable."

Maryland ghost town's band continues to play

(AP LASERPHOTO)

DANIELS, Md. (AP) — No one lives here anymore, but on a quiet summer evening the strains of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" drift out of the Methodist church and across the empty streets.

The church is just about the only thing left in the once-bustling mill town. Over the years, the company-owned town began to deteriorate as the cotton industry shifted to the South. The houses were eventually torn down, and in 1972 Tropical Storm Agnes finished off what remained.

But the members of the Daniels Community Band, some of whom are not much younger than the 101-year-old band itself, faithfully troop in from their new homes to practice in the Gary Memorial United Methodist Church.

William Webb, who plays trumpet and baritone horn, says he keeps the band going partly because it reminds him of his now-deserted hometown. "To me, it's a labor of love. The town is gone, but the band plays on," he said.

"I think we have a real good country band," says Russell Rudacille, who used to work in the mill and joined the band in 1915 when the group was known as The Alberton Cornet Band.

A photograph from that year shows the members of the band in tunics, peaked hats, and sharply creased white trousers emblazoned with dark stripes down the sides.

Rudacille won't say how old he is, except "I wasn't born in this century." He plays the tuba.

"I'm the oldest and the worst musician in the band," said Rudacille, laughing. "I can't see the music too good and that's a big handicap."

But what he lacks in musical talent he makes up for in spirit.

"I love to play 'God Bless America,'" he said.

"Over the years," recalled Webb, "the Rudacilles have been the backbone of the band. Of course there were four brothers."

Brother Lester, now in his 70s, still plays the clarinet. Roy and Bernard are dead. But Russell's son, Earl, and Roy's son, Gary, are in the band, carrying on the family tradition.

The number of band members has fluctuated over the years. There are now between 20 and 25.

"It's a nice, friendly group," said the 67-year-old Webb, who joined the band when he was 10. "Musically, we are not a good band, but we have a lot of fun and we fill a need. We play for the joy of playing. Some of us have very little musical training."

The band mostly plays for free, at nursing homes and Fourth of July picnics, and for the local American Legion on Memorial Day.

The band does not have uniforms any more and does not march. It is "a strictly seated band," said Webb, a balding, gray-haired, wiry man. It is a band that plays "for our own amazement," he added.

Its repertoire strongly favors the marches of John Philip Sousa and "old favorites," like "Waiting For The Robert E. Lee" and "Over The Waves."

"We don't play 'The Stars and Stripes Forever' too often, it's fairly difficult," Webb added.

Republican congressmen balking at recent nominations by Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders in the Senate are planning to block confirmation of a batch of presidential nominations they say Jimmy Carter is trying to ram through on the chance he won't be re-elected in November.

GOP officials said the leadership wants to keep key government vacancies open for Ronald Reagan to fill should the Republican presidential nominee capture the White House. The Republican leaders also believe Carter is sending up an unusually heavy load of nominations to strengthen his political support.

Of 139 nominations currently awaiting Senate confirmation, the Republicans are threatening to block all but those considered routine or vital for government services to keep operating.

Exactly how many nominations will be contested as political will be left up to a three-member screening committee made up of minority whip Ted Stevens of Alaska, John Tower of Texas and Mark Hatfield of Oregon.

This strategy was chosen Tuesday at the Senate Republicans' weekly policy meeting, chaired by minority leader Howard Baker of Tennessee, but it was not made public at the time.

"They decided there will not be a blanket hold on all appointments, but rather a case-by-case review by the ad hoc committee," Thomas Griscum, a Baker aide, said Thursday when asked about the effort.

Griscom said the Republicans would oppose an appointment "if it is clearly political and can be held up" without causing a disruption of important agency work.

Weather

'Hottest month' on right path

By The Associated Press

The National Weather Service said early today the state remains under the influence of that massive upper atmosphere high pressure ridge and there will be no immediate end to the current weather pattern.

A few patchy clouds were reported before dawn over eastern sections of the Panhandle, but clear skies prevailed over the remainder of the state.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s and 80s. Extremes ranged from 61 at Marfa in the mountains of Southwest Texas to the mid 80s across much of North Texas and North Central Texas.

Temperatures were expected to reach or pass the 100-degree mark across all of Texas today as August, traditionally one of the hottest months, began.

And the outlook for the next few days shows no indication of improvement.

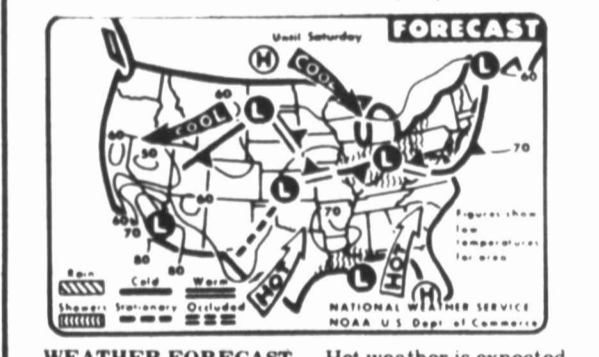

Forecasts called for continued cloudless skies and searing heat.

At Del Rio, Dallas-Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Waco highs never fell below 100 during the entire month of July.

Alaska sues government over oil and gas leases

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Alaska is suing the federal government over its "arbitrary and capricious" decision to sell offshore oil and gas leases in Bristol Bay, a prime world fishery state officials said today.

Gov. Jay Hammond and Attorney General Wilson Condon said they expect California officials to announce a similar challenge over offshore leases scheduled in that state.

The lawsuits will be the first challenge to the Interior Department's five-year leasing schedule under 1978 amendments to the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act, an attorney for the state said.

"The federal government is basically saying it must save Alaska from Alaskans by locking up the state's resources, barring planning and rational resource development," Hammond said.

But, he said, "to explore prematurely and recklessly and develop (the controversial offshore) sales... could have disastrous effects on world-renowned fisheries."

Alaska's challenge comes as Congress is debating how much and to what degree the state's land should be protected from mineral development.

The state's petition for review of the leasing schedule asks that Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus delete from the schedule the 2.7 million-acre St. George Basin area, set for auction in 1982, and the 1 million-acre Northern Aleutian Shelf area, set for sale in 1983.

The areas, which include the Pribilof Islands, a prime nesting and seal pupping grounds and bird rookery, generated a $356 million commercial fishing catch last year. The waters are rich in cod, sole, herring, halibut and crab in addition to salmon.

The areas have never been leased, and could contain a total of about 360 million barrels of oil and 1.4 trillion cubic feet of natural gas, according to the Interior Department.

Hammond said that represents just 5 percent of the petroleum the government estimates is recoverable from the 36 planned offshore lease sales, and only 10 percent of what is estimated in the 10 scheduled sales in Alaska.

Best advice: Avoid heat of sun

Most people know what to do to avoid heat stroke. Anyone living in West Texas who avoids the problem during a summer like we have been having must be doing something right. You're drinking your liquids, staying cool, avoiding strenuous exertion. More and more, the wisdom in the old adage, "only Englishmen and mad dogs get out in the noon day sun" can be appreciated.

Would you know what to do if a friend, a co-worker, a relative or a fellow jogger collapsed at your feet from a heat injury?

Heat injury, let it be added, is a catch-all phrase for several reactions associated with over-exposure to excessive heat — like heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

ACCORDING TO DR. Reuel A. Stallones, dean of the School of Public Health at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Houston, heat cramps is a fairly common syndrome among young, vigorous persons and are associated with painful muscle spasms following strenuous physical activity in a very hot environment. Sufferers usually experience involuntary spasms in the fingers, arms, legs and stomach.

Stallones recommends moving the person into a cooler environment and immediately replenishing the fluid lost during profuse sweating. Salt replacement is sometimes advised, although Stallones warns that those on a salt-free diet and persons with other medical problems should seek medical advice before adding salt.

Heat exhaustion, explains our authority, is characterized by heavy sweating, weakness, nausea, dizziness and a rapid pulse. The skin may appear pale, cold and clammy. The person sometimes passes out, but usually regains consciousness quickly.

This type of heat injury is caused by prolonged exposure to excessive heat and physical exercise, or both, according to Dr. Stallones. Poor health, salt restriction and lack of acclimatization are usually predisposing factors. Acclimatization refers to a person's ability to adapt to changes in temperature, altitude or climate.

PEOPLE SUFFERING from heat exhaustion should be taken into a cool environment and sprayed or doused with water to lower skin temperature. They should be given liquids to replenish the sweat glands. If the victim does not respond to this treatment in a few minutes, medical help should be sought immediately, according to Stallones, because heat exhaustion can lead to heat stroke, the most serious and life-threatening of heat injuries.

Heat stroke usually occurs in elderly persons with cardiac or pulmonary problems and in babies. "Tiny babies do not have well-developed heat regulating systems," Dr. Stallones said, "and the elderly, especially those with cardiac or pulmonary, are more susceptible to all kinds of stress."

Symptoms of heat stroke include high fever, delirium, lapse into a coma and cessation of sweating. The person will appear flushed; the skin hot and dry, rather than sweaty and pale as in the person suffering from heat exhaustion.

"Heat stroke is a medical emergency and the person should be placed in medical care immediately," Dr. Stallones said. The person should be moved to a cooler place and doused with water until help arrives.

Dr. Stallones warned that strenuous exercise or work, when both temperature and humidity are high, is especially dangerous since the moisture-laden air makes dissipation of excess heat through sweating more difficult.

Beast is loose

Around the rim

James Werrell

This Billy Carter thing is a conundrum.

It probably wouldn't be, except for that Watergate thing, which may be the same type of thing, but, then again, may not be at all. We may be comparing apples and oranges, but who wants to risk getting chopped up in the fruit salad?

You can see it on the faces of the TV newsmen and between the black lines of stories in the newspaper: "Look, we're not exactly sure where we're going with this thing, but a lot of us got caught with our pants down before. It's not going to happen again."

Who, with any compassion, can blame the media for their references to a possible "Billygate"?

fool, albeit one of professional stature. He's a lot funnier and not half so sinister as, say, a Robert Haldeman or a John Erlichman.

It's hard to take him seriously as a menace to the American way of life. And his elder brother is no Richard Nixon, either. This, of course, means that Jimmy Carter is either less clever or less devious than Tricky Dick, depending upon your political persuasion.

So far, according to polls, Americans are willing to give Jimmy the benefit of the doubt. He is probably trying to level with us, and his contradictory statements about the mess are probably based in ineptitude rather than deceit, we say.

But, then again, we gave Richard Nixon the benefit of the doubt when the Watergate monster was just an infant. We also gave him 49 of the 50 states in the general election.

So where does this leave us in terms of this latest brouhaha? With some Democrats using it as an excuse to try to shed an unpopular president; with the president himself trying to clear things up as quickly as possible; and with the Republicans hoping the mess will linger like a bad smell in the air until November.

They are all aware that while a cheshire cat is not a dragon, there is no excuse for giving either the run of the henhouse.

NONETHELESS, THERE is irony to be found in all this attention given to Miz' Lillian's second son. We, as a nation, became pretty smug with the dragon of Watergate lying vanquished at our feet.

"If one of those ugly creatures rears its scaly head again, we'll be ready!" we shouted in unison. Thus, when the cry went out that the beast was again loose in the land, we were armed to the teeth.

But instead of a fire-breather, we are up against the cheshire cat; a creature that grins, vanishes, and then appears somewhere else.

Let's face it, Billy Carter is a bu-

Shell game

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Justice Department special counsel Paul J. Curran indulged in a bit of lighthearted hyperbole when he pronounced his verdict on the financial dealings between Bert Lance's National Bank of Georgia and Jimmy Carter's family peanut warehouse.

"Every nickel and every peanut have been traced into and out of the warehouse," Curran declared on Oct. 16, 1979, "and no funds were unlawfully diverted in either direction."

The investigation had been ordered to determine if money from the Carter warehouse — or loans obtained by using its peanut stock as collateral — had been secretly funneled into Jimmy Carter's presidential race at a crucial period in the 1976 primary campaign. Curran concluded that everything had been strictly on the up-and-up.

BUT A PAINSTAKING, three-month review of the Justice Department investigation by my reporters Peter Peckarsky and Peter Grant indicate that Curran's proud boast may have been off by about 18,696,000 nickels — or enough peanuts to make a Republican elephant fat and happy.

Government records on the Carter warehouse transactions show a discrepancy of nearly $1 million worth of peanuts purchased by the warehouse in 1976. Curran reported that Carter's peanut partnership, in which the president owns a 62 percent interest, bought 24,724,505 pounds of peanuts in 1976. But a government document shows purchases of only 20,208,555 pounds.

The 4,515,950-pound difference would have been worth $934,801.65 at the 1976 support price of $414 a ton. There is at least a possibility, if no proof, that the extra peanuts were used to obtain cash that was then diverted illegally to the Carter campaign. This was nearly $1 million, mind you, that slipped through the cracks.

How does Curran explain his massive overestimate of the Carter warehouse purchases? He refused to comment.

AN EVEN BIGGER discrepancy in the Carter peanut transactions was mentioned by Curran and rather breezily explained away. It involves the period from March 23 to May 14, 1976, when the Federal Election Commission held up payment of matching campaign funds while it was reorganized to conform to a Supreme Court decision.

This left the presidential campaign short of funds that Carter had counted on. During precisely that same period — March 23 to May 14, 1976 — Carter's warehouse had an outstanding loan balance of $1.15 million with Bert Lance's bank.

The loan agreement required Carter's warehouse to keep peanuts in bonded storage equal to 125 percent of the loan amount. Yet there wasn't a single peanut in bonded storage during that period.

The Carter explanation, accepted by Curran, is that the loan collateral was in unbonded storage. Oddly enough, initial campaign reports from Carter showed $1.15 million in assets that were deleted from later, amended reports.

And curiously, on May 14, 1976, the very day President Ford signed legislation putting the Federal Election Commission back into business and assuring resumption of matching payments, Carter's warehouse put $665,550 worth of peanuts into bonded storage.

Was the unbonded collateral doing double duty during the seven-week period when the Carter campaign was cut off from badly needed federal matching funds? Paul Curran, the prosecutor selected by the Carter administration to investigate Carter, brushed off the question.

Footnote: Bert Lance sold his interest in the National Bank of Georgia in 1978 to Ghaith Pharaon, who is described in a Senate investigator's memo as "son of the man who advises the Saudi Arabian royal family how to deal with the United States." Pharaon wound up acquiring 98.4 percent of the bank's total stock, a transaction that the memo characterized as "a dubious investment in a bank that had been losing money and doesn't pay dividends."

The Saudis inherited a $830,000 Carter debt and immediately granted the president more favorable repayment terms, which was worth $60,000 to him in 1978 alone. For two years, the president remained under heavy financial obligation to the Saudis while he was making presidential decisions favorable to Saudi Arabia.

Yet Curran, according to the Senate memo, "considered but rejected the idea of investigating whether Carter's indebtedness to a Saudi-controlled bank constituted a conflict of interest."

NAZI NET LOOSENING: Thirty-five years after Hitler's monstrous regime tumbled in ruins, hundreds of Nazi war criminals are still at large in the United States. They found refuge here after World War II, lying about their part in the Holocaust, and have done everything they can to cover their tracks since then.

The Justice Department has roughly 350 open cases in its files on suspected Nazi war criminals. But despite good intentions, the department's overburdened anti-Nazi sleuths have been able to bring deportation actions against only 18 individuals.

The key to successful prosecution is documentation. Yet there is disturbing evidence that the Berlin Document Center, one of the most valuable sources of information on Nazi war crimes, has grossly inadequate protection against fire and theft. The evidence is contained in a confidential report prepared for Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont.

Circus politics

Joseph Kraft,

WASHINGTON — Dense thickets of baffling problems stretch before the American people for the rest of this century. A hope was that the presidential campaign would illuminate political solutions. But the Billy affair assures that much of the campaign will be dominated by a scandal peripheral to the country's serious business.

At the core of the true trouble lies slow economic growth. A declining national surplus makes it increasingly hard to accommodate demands for higher consumption, more welfare, a better quality of life and stronger defenses.

A MULTITUDE OF reasons enters into the slowing of growth. Persistent inflation stimulates recessions and curtails recoveries. Energy shortages fuel inflation. A small propensity to save on the part of the "now" generation makes less money available for investment innovation. New entrants into the work force reduce output per worker. Self-protective arrangements by business, labor, minorities and various other groups strain the welfare state and reduce the capacity of the private sector to respond to challenges. All these phenomena make for a weaker American position abroad.

No sure line of escape has yet been traced. But a start lies in public awareness of the trouble. Otherwise there can be no consensus for the sacrifices required for a safe transit of the danger zone ahead.

The presidential campaign held out a possibility for deeper understanding. The Republican strategy has been to make President Carter the issue. In the process it might have become clear how inadequate mere moralism was as a guide to public policy.

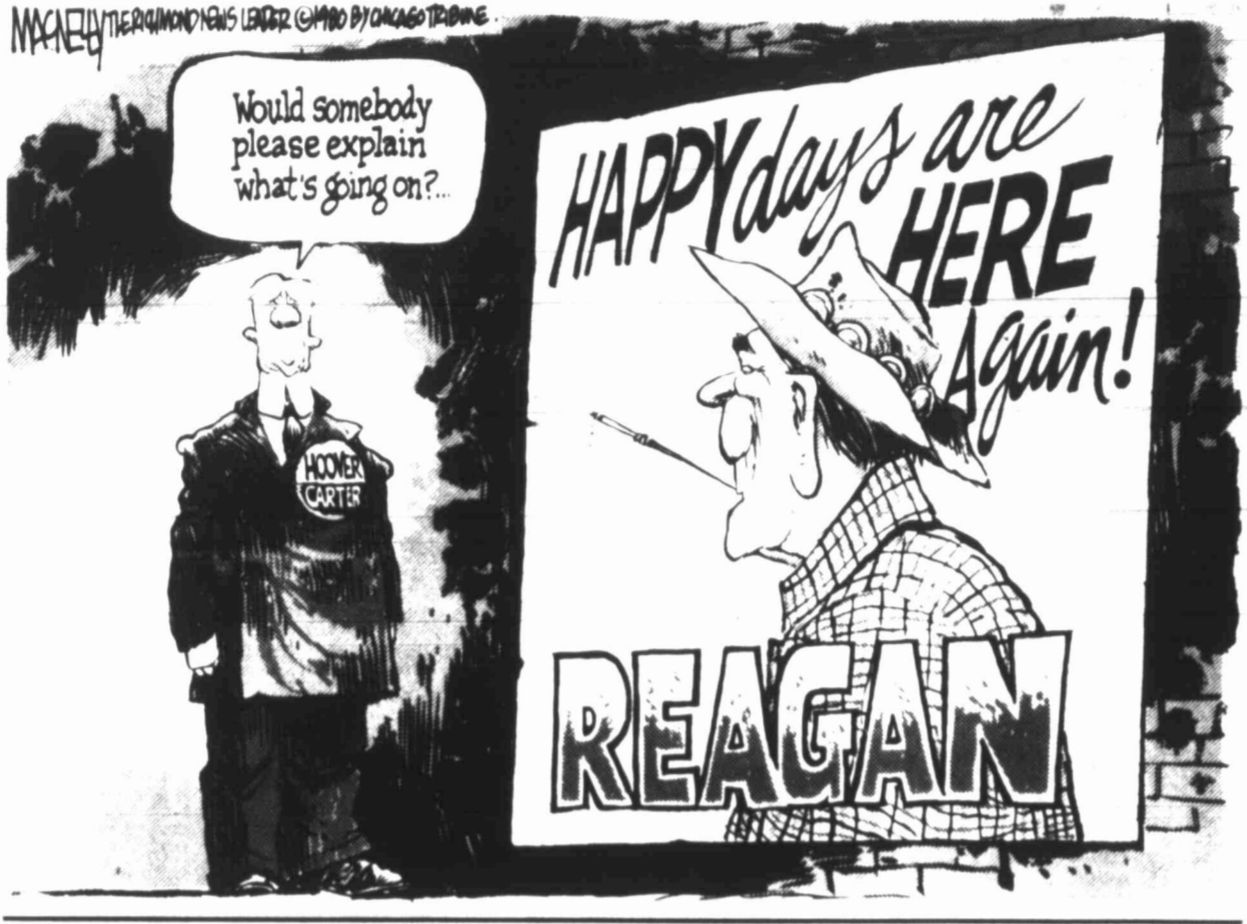

The Carter strategy has been to make Ronald Reagan the issue. In the process the perils of oversimplification might have emerged.

The Billy affair, however, guarantees an orgy of investigations by the Congress and the press into the wrongdoings of the Libyan government, the swindler Robert Vesco, and the President's goofy brother. Any immediate Democratic hope of making Reagan the issue is now shattered. Oversimplification will not go on trial until at least the first presidential debate in September.

As to Carter's moralism, it is apt to emerge reinforced. There is no smell of Watergate about the present mess. All signs suggest the fix was not put in — not for Libya, nor for Vesco, nor for Billy. If anything, the Administration will probably look good on what the President's counsel, Lloyd Cutler, calls "impropriety on the law enforcement side."

Indeed, far from being an instance of wrongdoing, the whole sad business provides new evidence of the harm done by sanctimonious piety. In keeping with the pretense of virginal purity, the Carter Administration arranged a kind of divorce between the White House and the Justice Department.

THE DEPARTMENT did not keep the President abreast of its investigation of his brother. When Billy stepped into dangerous waters, Jimmy was under no pressure to bring to bear the kinds of discipline Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon applied to their erring siblings. So Billy carried his clownish greed into an embarrassing affair of state.

How kidneys work as filter

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: When my son was 12 he had acute glomerulonephritis. At 18 he had nephrosis. He recovered total kidney function and we were told that the two illnesses were not related. He is now 21 and active in sports, but all he has been told is not to take aspirin or other over-the-counter drugs. Can you comment? — Mrs. B.I.

Nephrosis is a general term used to describe many kidney diseases.

The kidney's job is to filter blood. For this it has two basic structures. The first is the glomerulus (gloh-MER-you-luss). Think of that as a ball of tiny, tightly-packed blood vessels. Blood enters the glomerulus, which squeezes the fluid the way juice is squeezed from the pulp of an orange.

Another part of the kidney (the tubules) helps by filtering the fluid it gets from the glomerulus, removing waste products and returning the desired portion of fluid back to general circulation. The unwanted waste portion is diverted to the urinary tract. This is how blood is kept purified.

If something is amiss specifically in the glomeruli, the illness is called glomerulonephritis. If only the tubules are affected the term nephrosis is used by itself.

In your son's case it seems that both mechanisms described above were affected at different times (the first and second attacks). Since he recovered total kidney function the outlook should be excellent.

He has been warned about aspirin and other over-the-counter drugs as a precaution. Many drugs have been implicated in kidney ailments. Although he has full function, he has had no sense in unwittingly jeopardizing his health by using medicines which might expose him to another peril, no matter how slight.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My doctor has diagnosed my condition as "familial Mediterranean fever." Please tell me what it is and its symptoms. — H.Y.

Familial Mediterranean fever is an illness that seems to run in some families of Mediterranean coast area extraction, especially those of Jewish, Arabic, Armenian and Italian background. I gather from your full name that you fall into this category.

Many theories have been advanced to explain this strange illness, but up to now no satisfactory answer has been given. There are recurrent episodes of fever, with abdominal and chest pain. The pain results from inflammation of the abdomen and chest linings. Attacks usually last a day or so, and the interval between attacks can be anywhere from two weeks to a year.

The abdominal attacks can be so severe that occasionally a patient may be operated on because it appears as though an emergency is occurring, like an acute appendicitis or bowel obstruction. It is wise for persons with this to carry the medical identification of their problem.

Arthritis may also be a part of Mediterranean fever. Colchicine, a drug used for gout, is sometimes used to treat people with familial Mediterranean fever. Don't confuse this with Mediterranean anemia, a different problem which, however, is most common among Mediterranean races.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What exactly is an ectopic click? My doctor said I had one and ordered an EKG. Yes, he said "EKG," not "ECG." Any difference?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I can't understand myself. I hate myself because I am fat, but when I get depressed about this all I do is eat more. What is wrong with me? — A.T.

DEAR A.T.: What you are doing is illogical, as I think you know. You seem to be trapped in a vicious circle. The more you eat, the fatter you get, and the fatter you get the more depressed you get and the more you eat. Somehow you have got to break out of this. What you are doing is not only ruining your life physically and emotionally — but also is wrong in the eyes of God. Yet I am convinced God wants to help you, and will if you allow Him to.

First of all, it is very important for you to realize that God loves you. You say you hate yourself — and your overeating may even be an unconscious way of punishing yourself because you have such a low view of yourself. There may be reasons for this — reasons which stem from your

— Mrs. C.T.

A click is an extra sound that is heard when the heart pumps. The word "ectopic" means out of cycle.

Most such clicks are innocent and do not mean any serious heart trouble. A few can be associated with damaged heart valves, hence your doctor's insistence on an electrocardiogram (ECG) to determine this. A click is a little like a murmur, but of a shortened variety. Murmurs are longer sounds.

I say "EKG" all the time just out of habit. The "K" is from the German equivalent of the English word "cardio." I suppose I should use the "C" in deference to the English language. There is no difference in meaning.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please tell me the reason for prescribing amitriptyline? — H.P.

Amitriptyline is prescribed for depression and for relief of anxiety. Don't take chances with "kidney trouble" — it could be dangerous. Read the booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need to Know About Them." For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

childhood, for example. But how does God see you? He loves you! That does not mean He is pleased with the way you are abusing yourself, but it does mean He cares for you very much.

How can you hate that which He loves? It is wrong for you to hate yourself, whatever the reasons may be since God loves you so much that He is willing to send His only Son into the world that we might live through him (I John 4:9). Have you ever thanked God for his love, and asked His Son to come into your life and be your Savior and Lord?

Then live each day for Christ. As part of that, allow Him to give you a purpose for living and to fill your life with acts of love for other people. Also, take practical steps to deal with your weight problem. Let other Christians know frankly that you need help in this; you may be surprised to find others who have had the same problem in the past, and who can help you in practical ways every day.

Dear Editor:

Yesterday, (A Sunday), I blew a fuse. Of course, all the electricity to the house went off. No air conditioner, no refrigerator, no clocks, nothing. A quick trip to the grocery store and I found out because it was Sunday I could not buy a package of 30 amp fuses. The attendant said I could buy all the beer or cigarettes I wanted but no fuses.

I called the police dispatcher and all she could suggest was I call a plumber to put one in or do without electricity until Monday. Who can afford to pay a service charge for someone to put in a 35 cent fuse? After calling around lots of places, I finally found a locally owned grocery that said sure it would sell me a package of fuses. Thank God for it or I'd still be in the dark with spoiled meat and milk and everyone late for work this morning.

As far as I'm concerned that blue law would only be good if people still had outdoor toilets and that's the only place it should be used.

Suicide instead of prison for mother

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Fri., August 1, 1980 5-A

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A 53-year-old woman, who fired five shots outside a courtroom at the man who killed her son, committed suicide to join her dead children rather than "go to prison" for the attack, authorities said.

"She just couldn't accept what happened," Redondo Beach police Detective Mike Minard said Thursday. Helen Soncarato was found dead in her home Monday, apparently killed by a drug overdose, Minard said. She was to have been sentenced on Tuesday. The judge in her case said he had no plans to send her to jail. Mrs. Soncarato left a page-long note, allegedly explaining why she killed herself.

"What she indicated (in the note) was that there was no other way," said Minard.

She wrote that she preferred to go to the "other place" — an apparent reference to an afterlife — to join her daughter, who died some years ago, and her slain son, rather than "go to prison" or face a court-appointed psychiatrist, authorities said.

The note was in the possession of the coroner, who was to perform toxicology tests to determine the exact cause of her death, according to Los Angeles County Coroner's investigators.

Mrs. Soncarato had been charged with assault with a deadly weapon for the June 4 attack on James Hyland, 32. He shot and killed her son in self-defense Oct. 4 during a quarrel at Hyland's Redondo Beach home.

Carmine Joseph Soncarato, 24, broke into Hyland's home after learning his girlfriend, Victoria Crenshaw, had gone there after an argument. Ms. Crenshaw corroborated Hyland's statement that Hyland shot Soncarato in self-defense with a gun hidden beneath the dining room table.

Hyland was booked for investigation of murder, but never charged with that crime.

On April 30, he entered a no contest plea to drug charges after detectives, armed with search warrants, found cocaine, hashish and records of narcotics dealings in his home.

At his sentencing in the South Bay Court Building in Torrance, Mrs. Soncarato fired five shots at him. No one was injured, and Hyland was sentenced to six months in county jail.

After the shooting, police found a letter Mrs. Soncarato was carrying that expressed disappointment in the justice system, said Deputy District Attorney Tim Smith. "She was obviously mentally distraught," he said.

Judge Burch Donahue said Thursday he would not have sent Mrs. Soncarato to prison. Instead, he had planned to grant her probation with psychiatric treatment.

CANDIDATES CONFER — Independent presidential candidate John B. Anderson answers questions for reporters after his Capitol Hill meeting with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. Kennedy said if he should win the Democratic presidential nomination he would include Anderson in any debates.

No Carter, no Anderson? Candidate eases stance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Independent presidential candidate John B. Anderson, following an unusual meeting with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, says he would think about dropping his election bid if President Carter does not become the Democratic presidential nominee.

Anderson said Thursday after the hour-long session that if the Massachusetts senator or someone other than Carter were nominated by the Democrats, "it would only be prudent...to perhaps consider what my position then would be."

Previously, Anderson had always insisted that he was in the race to stay, no matter who became the Democratic nominee.

The Kennedy-Anderson meeting, at Kennedy's invitation, marked a discussion between political "odd fellows," a conservative-to-moderate House member for 20 years and a liberal Democrat who believes government has a major role to play in solving many social and economic problems.

Kennedy said if he pulled off an upset at the Democratic National Convention and won nomination, he would direct the Democratic National Committee to cease its current legal efforts to keep Anderson off the ballot in some states.

He also pledged that, unlike the president, he would agree to a three-way televised presidential debate with Anderson, Kennedy and Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan.

Both men had effusive praise for the other, but they also said no deal had been made regarding support of one for the other.

Kennedy aides said, however, that the Anderson statement would send a signal to Democrats that there might not be an independent candidate to siphon off votes in the fall election should Kennedy be the party's nominee.

Later Kennedy said he was "increasingly hopeful and optimistic" that he would win the open-convention rules fight that is his last chance to take the nomination from Carter.

Kennedy phoned Reagan and got his agreement to debate Kennedy, should he be the Democratic candidate, and an aide said Kennedy told the Republican: "I plan on being the nominee."

However, The Washington Post reported in today's edition that it had taken a survey that showed 54 percent of Democratic delegates against the open-convention rule favored by Kennedy and 41 percent for it. The Post said it surveyed 591 of the 3,331 delegates between July 22 and 29.

There were also these political developments:

—Reagan provided the first peek at his personal finances by releasing copies of his 1979 income tax returns. They showed he paid $230,886 in federal income taxes and $82,050 in California income taxes last year on an income of $515,878.

—Anderson asked a federal court to order the Federal Election Commission to declare him eligible to receive federal campaign funds after the election.

In a suit filed in U.S. District Court in Washington, lawyers for Anderson said if he gets the requisite 5 percent of the vote and is on the ballot in 10 states he should be eligible for funds which could total $20 million.

The money would not be available until after the election, but Anderson's campaign officials could borrow money if an FEC ruling denying him funds were reversed.

After his meeting with Anderson, Kennedy said he liked the congressman's approach to some economic issues.

Anderson said while they had frequently disagreed in the past, "it is clear to me we are in agreement on a wide range of issues."

The congressman said his candidacy is based in part on what he sees as the failure of the major parties to provide adequate choices for the voters. If the current unrest within the Democratic Party should produce someone acceptable to him, Anderson indicated much of his reason for running would dissipate.

Both Kennedy and Anderson insisted no deal had been forged between them, no promises made that the senator would support Anderson if Carter is nominated, no pledge from Anderson to abandon his independent quest for the White House if Kennedy found a political miracle and won the nomination.

Nonetheless, Anderson aides said privately that if Carter is nominated, they believe Anderson will benefit by appearing together with the senator, and possibly attracting votes that would otherwise go to the Democratic nominee.

Texas Baptist president returns after 30 years

Dr. Carlos McLeod is shouldering the burden of the presidency of the largest Southern Baptist Convention as he returns to Big Spring Monday where he got his start 30 years ago.

McLeod was elected president of the Texas Southern Baptist Convention in October in Lubbock by vote of messengers from state churches.

The Plainview First Baptist pastor will speak on "The family" Monday at 7:30 p.m. at College Baptist Church, 1106 Birdwell Lane.

McLeod led singing at East Fourth Street Baptist Church at one time. He also preached at the old Crestview Baptist Church, now known as Northside Baptist.

Memories were good of Big Spring and its people.

"Oh my, yes. It's been a long time ago. I was just married when I was there. We lived in a little brown house behind the church. I imagine it is still there. Some of the finest people I know live in Big Spring. I have wonderful memories of that city," he said.

McLeod, 52, is originally from Farmersville, 40 miles northeast of Dallas in Collin County. He received his honorary doctorate from Wayland Baptist College. He also has a degree from Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth.

He has one overriding burden for the state.

"For each person to have a personal relationship with Jesus Christ as their lord and savior, and to get back to the deep kind of meaning that local churches should have in our lives."

For Baptists, he also has one major desire.

"We Baptists have what we're calling Bold Mission. Thrust and our goal is by the year 2000 every person in the world will, at least, have a chance to hear the good news of the love of Jesus Christ, that we will carry out our commitment to Bold Mission.

"Always the challenge is that our people simply become aware of the 80s. It is characterized by some people as a time of survival and that the situations we are facing today could mean that our life, at least, could change," he said.

Another burden is the topic of his talk Monday, the family.

"The family is in trouble. We in the work of Christ have a tremendous opportunity to be what we say we have to be, he explained.

The controversy among many evangelicals over inerrancy, the belief that the Bible is true in all areas, including science, in the original manuscripts, does not seem to be a problem in his denomination, said McLeod.

"There was a feeling among some people there were a few teachers in the schools but for all practical truth we have never gotten away from the belief," he said.

McLeod also spoke to the charge from Russian Baptist dissidents that Soviet secret police, KGB agents, have infiltrated the Russian denomination.

"I was in Toronto at the Baptist World Alliance. There was a group that picketed the BWA. There was a feeling that the alliance was not doing enough to get the dissidents out. Rev. (George) Vins, the man who seemed to be leading the group, had a separate meeting (from other BWA delegates)," said McLeod.

"They (the BWA) don't want to do anything to destroy our churches in communist controlled countries," he concluded.

The annual Texas Baptist Convention meeting will be at Sam Houston Coliseum in Lubbock Oct. 28 through 30 this year, said McLeod.

One of the days will be devoted to a Bold Mission rally for all Baptists. Leaders are praying for 15,000 to attend.

McLeod is making a special trip to Big Spring. The rally is sponsored by Big Spring Baptist Association, Baptist Men and WMU.

The Texas delegation is larger than the membership of the other 10 states combined. McLeod has been at Plainview for 10 years.

Soon at Hillcrest Films on the family change lives of many 'Focus on the Family,' a film series created by James C. Dobson, Ph.D., has changed the lives of thousands of families.

Big Spring citizens will be given the opportunity to view the seven-part presentation beginning this Sunday evening at Hillcrest Baptist Church, 2000 FM 700.

Films will be shown weekly beginning Aug. 3, with the exception of Labor Day weekend. The last film will be shown Sept. 21.

Two showings will take place each Sunday, the first from 4-5 p.m., which will allow those from other churches the time to return for their own regular Sunday night services.

The second showing will be held from 5:45-6:45 p.m. The public is invited to attend either presentation.

However, a nursery will be provided only during the second showing.

"This film series has brought families together, changed attitudes and brought joy to the lives of many people," said Dr. Phillip McClendon, Hillcrest pastor.

"We encourage the entire family to attend," he added. Films included in the series are "The Strong-Willied Child," "Shaping the

Will Without Breaking the Spirit," "Christian Fathering," "Preparing for Adolescence; The Origins of Self-Doubt," "Preparing for Adolescence; Peer Pressure and Sexuality," "What Wives Wish Their Husbands Knew About Women - The Lonely Housewife," "What Wives Wish Their Husbands Knew About Women - Money, Sex and Children."

Dr. Dobson has had wide experience both as a teacher and as a psychologist. He makes technical procedures not merely understandable but interesting and often humorous.

He is Associate Clinical Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Southern California School of Medicine; attending staff, Children's Hospital of Los Angeles; co-editor of "The Mentally Retarded Child and His Family" and the author of many books.

Dr. Dobson is an active Christian layman and regularly teaches a church school class.

Make sure you and your family attend "the presentations of these life-changing films."

It is open to the public, free of charge and recommended for all denominations.

President's wife reported free

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Victoria A. Tolbert, wife of slain Liberian president William R. Tolbert, was set free July 12 after being held by authorities there since her husband's April 12 assassination, a Southern Baptist official reports on his return from a visit to that country.

She was reported living comfortably in Monrovia, the capital.

New minister received

Rev Robert E. Lee "Bob" McCray filled the pulpit of the First Church of God, 2009 Main, for the first time Sunday, beginning his new ministry there. Rev. McCray and his wife, Jean, with son, John, 24, and daughter, Ann Rochelle, 16, came from a pastorate in Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. McCray is an ordained minister and John a licensed minister trained in Christian Education. John will lead the youth group of the church.

Ann plays the drums and plans to play in the BSBS band.

Another daughter of the McCrays, Kimberly (Mrs. Christopher Clemece), visited Sunday with her husband from Amarillo where Chris attends Amarillo College.

The family was honored by the congregation with a covered dish dinner after services.

author-director of the show, originally commissioned by the Italian government and first performed at the Spoletto Festival.

It opened on Broadway in May after a year-long tour of 66 U.S. cities to wide critical acclaim.

"It's theater that stimulates, that pushes, pulls and sometimes almost pummels its audience into a catharsis of emotion," says Ms. Carroll, award-winning actress and writer-director whose works often contain strong religious elements.

One of the unusual features of the current show is the portrayal of Jesus by a black ballet dancer, Elijah Gill from Henderson, N.C., who with all his leaps and spins conveys immense dignity and power.

He never speaks or sings a word, but masterfully displays the character through his dancing.

The New Life employs the use of music, dramatics and other media to proclaim Jesus Christ. The group assists congregations and Christian gatherings by providing unique multi-media sensory worship experiences.

The New Life is on their summer tour and will stop here in route to Fort Collins, Colo. where they will present "Glory Water" for 4,200 youth registered at The Youth Gathering.

Glory Water is an original presentation and was written, produced, and presented by Professor Jim Koerschen, New Life director.

The New Life conducted extensive tours throughout Texas and the Southwest since its inception in 1975.

Their musical has been presented in several Texas cities since its premiere at Concordia Lutheran Campus this spring.

Glory Water presents several stories from scripture where Christ used water in His ministry.

First Christian gets new pastor

First Christian Church has received a new minister, Victor Sedinger, Lubbock, will begin his ministry here Aug. 3.

He and his wife, Carolyn will move to Big Spring with a son, Adam, and a daughter, Leah.

Sedinger is a graduate of University of Texas Arlington and Brite Divinity School at Texas Christian University.

He has served in churches in Fort Worth, Graham and Lubbock.

Sedinger replaces Rev. William Smythe who left after Christmas last year. Marshal, interim pastor, Masters is leaving Thursday.

Flashy religious hit has power and bounce

NEW YORK (AP) — It's the wildest, loudest, friskiest portrayal ever of the passion story — Jesus his execution and resurrection — but somehow it mostly comes off as rambunctiously reverent.

"He rules!" the chorus blasts it out. "Didn't I tell you? There'll never be a man like him!" When the power comes, the Jesus power.

And the audience is swept up into the compulsive sound and dancing fervor, clapping, whistling shrilly, stomping, standing and swaying and then shouting out its affirmation.

"Yeah! Yeah!"

That's after the robust resurrection scene in the current Broadway hit, "Your Arms Too Short to Box with God," a flashy, bouncing musical rendition of the Jesus story in song and dance.

It begins on a gentle note, a choir softly singing the Beatitudes. "Blessed are the meek, the merciful, the poor, the persecuted, the peacemakers. But it quickly turns tempestuous as the preacher exhorts the audience.

"Hey Lord! We're gonna have a good time!" He gets the audience clapping and rooting for it. "Don't be afraid to raise your voice. The Lord said make a joyful noise. Yeah, Lord, we're gonna have a good time. Say yeah!"

"YEAH!" That's the sort of tent revival enthusiasm built up repeatedly between audience and performers, a kind of high powered reflection of the black-church style, done by a black cast.

It's earthy, joyous, gutsy Gospel," says Vynnette Carroll, artistic director of the Urban Arts Corps, and

St. Paul presents musical

"Glory Water," a Christian witness musical drama, will be presented at St. Paul Lutheran Church 7:30 p.m. Monday. A Concordia College, Austin, group called "The New Life" will perform the musical.

Youth revival set to begin

Prairie View Baptist Church is having a youth revival today through Sunday. The church is hoping to bring many youth to a greater understanding and maturity in their Christian lives, not only for those in their church but for others which they have invited as well.

A fresh, young revival team is being brought in for the effort. Will Davis, an athletic young man, is a dynamic speaker. The music evangelist, Steve Carrell, is very gifted and has sung solos for the Baylor University concert choir. In an invigorating new twist a young woman, Lea Turner, is coming to handle recreation and fellowship.

Services are at 7 p.m. today, 7:30 p.m. Saturday, and at 11:00 a.m., Sunday. Refreshments will be served after each service. The church is eight miles north on Highway 87, then west on 2230. Everyone is welcome.

Carter plans to unveil new economic program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Replying to Ronald Reagan's tax cut proposals, President Carter plans to unveil a major economic-revitalization program, possibly as early as next week, according to congressional sources.

The sources said top administration officials discussed the plan to propose a long-range economic strategy with House Democratic leaders Thursday.

The sources, who asked not to be identified, said the policy — which apparently has not been worked out in detail — would amount to Carter's response to Reagan's $36 billion tax cut plan, which the White House contends is an irresponsible, quick-fix approach to the nation's serious economic troubles.

But the sources said few details were discussed in the 90-minute meeting, apparently because the administration has not decided exactly what form its policy will take.

Tentative plans for announcing the new policy call for its unveiling next week, with the president offering additional details at the Democratic National Convention, which begins Aug. 11, the sources said.

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller was likely to be asked about the administration's economic strategy during testimony before the congressional Joint Economic Committee today.

Reagan, the Republican presidential nominee, has called for immediate enactment of a 10 percent across-the-board personal income tax cut and faster business tax writeoffs for new equipment — to take effect Jan. 1.

He argues that tax cuts are needed to stimulate the sagging economy, encourage business investment in new machinery and relieve the growing tax burden on Americans.

Administration officials have denounced that proposal as inflationary and have urged delay in enacting even a more limited tax cut at least until after the November election.

"You don't counter that (the Reagan plan) by playing the same game," said one source. "They (administration officials) are not talking about any kind of short-run policy."

Representing the administration at the Capitol Hill meeting were Miller;

Strike begins after 'impasse'

Musicians compound film woes

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With talks at an impasse and a strike deadline passed, the film industry's musicians apparently went on strike today, compounding the woes of producers who lost 60,000 striking actors 11 days ago.

Negotiations reached a "total impasse" and broke down just two hours before a midnight PDT strike deadline.

Neither the union representatives nor officials of the producers association could be reached for comment after the deadline passed, but the halt in talks virtually assured the musicians would go on strike.

There were no announced plans by the musicians regarding the use of picket lines.

Negotiations between the American Federation of Musicians Union and representatives of the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers broke off late Thursday.

A work stoppage by the 5,000 musicians would halt all scoring sessions at most major studios and networks. It could cut down the supply of new programs since some shows shot before the actors' strike began July 21 have not yet been scored and could not be broadcast without music.

With the halt of filming and taping, and the prospect of a fall without new TV shows, network officials are already scrambling for contingency programming.

The "total impasse" reached Thursday night, according to AFM president Victor Fuentetaja, involved the musicians' insistence on receiving compensation for reruns of TV programs and films.

"We've always felt this was an inequitable situation," he said, citing residual payments to actors, directors and writers for prime-time network TV shows that are repeated.

However, a management negotiator, who requested anonymity, said there was a significant difference between paying residuals to a few actors and doing the same for an orchestra with 50 members.

In contrast to the musicians' issues, the dispute between the actors and producers revolves around actors' demands for contract provisions to cover compensation for home video cassette sales.

There were no comprehensive figures available, but union and studio officials have said the actors' strike has caused widespread layoffs of non-acting studio personnel.

Autoworker who took captives was reacting to 'conspiracy'

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The veteran autoworker who held 17 people captive at gunpoint in a General Motors Corp. body plant "felt that society and the people he worked with were against him," his lawyer said.

Franklin Rainey, 47, of Detroit, was admitted to the psychiatric ward at Pontiac General Hospital for three days of observation after his surrender Thursday.

His lawyer William Waterman said Rainey apparently suffered "a classic psychotic breakdown. You could tell there was really some psychosis."

"He thought there was a conspiracy between black and white people on the job against him and they had told people in Detroit he was less than a man, a faggot."

Waterman said Rainey came to work prepared to deal with the imagined conspiracy with a hammer taped to his leg, a bag of bullets, food and a rope.

Rainey could be charged with felonious assault, but Pontiac Police Capt. Robert Wachal said police would wait for a doctor's evaluation before deciding if Rainey would be prosecuted.

The 5½-hour drama began at 5:35 a.m. when Rainey, a glazier with 26 years' seniority at the plant, walked into the paint shop administrative offices, pulled a .357-caliber Magnum from a brown bag and began taking hostages.

He gradually released them, and at 11:04 a.m., accompanied by Waterman, he surrendered to police.

The 56-acre plant in Pontiac, one of five GM facilities in the city of 85,000 residents, usually employs 4,500 production workers but 2,000 second-shift workers were laid off in the spring.

Iran delays discussion on hostages

Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr was quoted today in a Japanese newspaper as saying the Iranian Parliament will open its debate on the fate of the 52 American hostages after a new Cabinet is formed.

Bani-Sadr made the statement in an exclusive interview with Jun Fukunishi, the Iranian correspondent for the newspaper Mainichi Shimbun.

However, there was no indication of an end to the political wrangling between Bani-Sadr and Moslem hardliners in the Parliament that has delayed the president's appointment of a prime minister and Cabinet.

Asked when the Parliament will take up the question of hostages, who began their 372nd day in captivity today, Bani-Sadr was quoted as saying, "The matter will be taken up at the Parliament after a Cabinet is shortly formed. What we must do is to create an atmosphere where opinions can be exchanged freely at Parliament."

On Thursday, a member of the legislature said Iran would not be moved by a request from 187 members of the U.S. House of Representatives that the Parliament give top priority to the hostage debate.

AN ANGEL ARRIVES — Tanya Roberts, the newest "Charlie's Angel" is shown upon her arrival at a New York hotel Thursday. Miss Roberts was in New York for television appearances.

Florida's image still sunny despite unrest

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — As he lazed on the lounge chair and watched children frolic in the famed Fontainebleau Hotel's swimming pool, Mark Thomas felt far removed from the social unrest — and potential danger — only a causeway away.

"Of course, having children, we were concerned when we heard about the riots in Miami. But we were told the problems were confined to a small area of the city, and there's no reason for us to go there anyway," said the visitor from London.

"That's one tourist attraction we can overlook, thank you," he chuckled.

This has been a year of unrest in the nation's "Sunshine State," where over 35 million tourists spend $16 billion a year and pour $780 million — one-fourth of all tax revenues — into state coffers.

Three days of May race riots in Miami left 18 dead and caused over $100 million in property damage. Then came three days of rock-throwing, sniper fire and looting in the Gulf Coast city of Tampa. Two weeks ago, a predominantly black Miami housing project erupted into three days of violence.

And this week, Orlando — neighbor of Disney World, Sea World, Circus World and Cape Canaveral — was disrupted by its first major racial disturbances in memory.

Tiny Key West, meanwhile, is trying to overcome misconceptions about the 117,000 Cuban refugees who began coming ashore there in April.

Despite all that, tourist hotels are booked up, airlines report heavy business, beaches are lined with tanned and lobster-red bodies and thousands of families pack Florida amusement parks.

"We're not having a great summer, but it seems we're pretty much holding our own with last year. In view of all the things that are occurring around the state, we're grateful," said Dean Gaiser, state assistant director of tourism.

In fact, although the Miami riots — most of which occurred five miles and across a bay and a canal from Miami Beach — were the nation's bloodiest in a decade, Dade County tourism is booming.

"They're not seeing any indications that (the riots) have hurt business," Gaiser said. "The international business is the real plus for the Miami area."

Some 1 million foreign visitors, including 200,000 Britons, have more than negated a drop in domestic tourism attributed more to inflation and the high price of gasoline than to racial strife.

Local hoteliers say the May riots caused scattered cancellations, but most foreigners figure they can bask on the beaches without worrying about unrest downtown.

"We've been very hesitant about going over to Miami. We were told by the hotel people here that it could be dangerous, so we haven't ventured far," said Peter Lockett, an Englishman staying at the Sea Isle Hotel here.

"Frankly, I wouldn't steer people over to Miami," said Eddie Devine, a manager for Intasun, an aggressive British tour group. He said Britons are content with the sun by day and hotel entertainment by night.

"I suspect at night," he said, "most watch TV in their rooms with a six-pack of beer."

Although Orlando's disturbances made headlines nationally, officials don't expect a tourist backlash.

"I wouldn't think so. You're never sure how people are going to react, but I know that the disturbances are certainly totally divorced from any area tourists would go into," said Charlie Ridgeway, a Disney World spokesman.

Disney World, which doesn't disclose its attendance, is having a solid summer, Ridgeway said, and he doesn't foresee any dropoff.

"Our visitors do stay in Orlando (19 miles away), but the areas where the hotels are on the outskirts of town," Ridgeway said. "I think the disturbances have been overplayed."

Gaiser said the Tampa-St. Petersburg tourism "has been holding about the same."

"We haven't detected any pattern we could relate or attribute to any disturbances in Florida. Our attraction has had an excellent summer...We're up about 10 percent in tourists," said Rod Caborn, marketing manager for Busch Gardens, Tampa's main tourist attraction.

Black ministers patrolling streets

Rioting 'coming to an end' in Orlando

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Riot-equipped police met little resistance early today as they swept through a predominantly black neighborhood following a third straight night of sporadic violence.

Two officers received minor injuries and at least 30 people were arrested as police and troopers cordoned off a 20-square-block area of this Florida city.

Early this morning, police were "putting away the riot helmets, so it looks like it's coming to an end," said Orlando police spokesman Michael Burns. But increased patrols would continue in the area all night, he said.

The only property damage reported late Thursday was a shattered window at a convenience store and the firebombing of a boarded-up liquor store. That blaze was extinguished quickly by passing police officers.

More than 60 people have been arrested here during three nights of trouble sparked by the arrest of a robbery suspect. Two other Florida cities have erupted in race rioting since May.

Black ministers, who took to the streets early Wednesday trying to restore calm, again volunteered to patrol the streets Thursday night to help coax youths to return home. But police said that tactic met with little success.

"The type of crowd we're talking about, if they were inclined to listen to a minister in the first place, they wouldn't be out there doing what they're doing," said Lt. Tom Wylie.

Wylie said patrolmen met only scattered resistance as they approached congregations of blacks and urged them to disperse.

Orange County Sheriff Melvin Coleman suffered a minor cut on his face when his car was hit by a rock. An Orlando policeman suffered a bad leg bruise when he was run over by his own patrol car.

The neighborhood, about 19 miles east of Disney World and other area tourist attractions, was sealed off late Thursday when sporadic rock and bottle throwing erupted. Helmeted police carrying nightsticks, mace and shotguns patrolled the area four to a cruiser.

They warned black youths to go home and arrested those who refused.

VIOLENCE IN ORLANDO — Several black women were arrested during the disturbance in the predominantly black, West side of Orlando. It was the third night of violence, that police now feel is coming to an end today.

In grocery market lines

Shoppers get some relief

Grocery shoppers got some relief from rising prices last month. An Associated Press marketbasket survey shows the increase during July was less than one-fourth as steep as it was during June.

There were several discouraging notes, however. Among them:

—Egg prices went up — an apparent result of the heat wave that killed millions of chickens and caused hens to lay fewer eggs.

—Summer barbecues got more expensive. The price of chopped chuck went up in more than half the cities checked and the price of frankfurters rose in almost as many places.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and non-food items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list when the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the check.

The latest survey showed that the marketbasket bill rose at the checklist store in eight cities during July, up an average of 2.3 percent. The bill dropped at the checklist store in five cities, down an average of 1.8 percent. Overall, the average marketbasket bill was seven-tenths of a percent higher at the start of August than it was a month earlier.

In contrast, during June, the AP marketbasket bill was up in 11 cities and down in only two, for an overall increase of 3.1 percent — almost 4½ times as big as the July rise. The marketbasket bill at the checklist stores has gone up an average of more than 7 percent this year and is about 12 percent higher than it was at the start of August 1979.

Food items accounted for a disproportionate share of the July price rise. Foods represented 79 percent of the items checked by the AP, but accounted for 89 percent of the increases. Eggs and chopped chuck each went up in seven cities; frankfurters increased in six cities.

No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents. The AP did not try to compare actual prices from city to city. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase or decrease.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter.

PEACE

Peace can be a moment of stillness, steeped in the beauty of God's world, shared with those you care about.

Yet there is no definition that can fit every human experience of peace. That's probably why the Bible speaks of the peace of God which passeth all understanding.

And the way to find peace — the best way — has always been to seek God. As we turn to Him in prayer and fix our thoughts upon his truth we know a calmness and confidence that neither nature nor companionship alone can provide.

If you haven't already begun the quest for peace — start this week in your place of worship.

Names in the news

ROBERT EVANS — SORAYA KHASHOGGI

Identity of father unknown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Soraya Khashoggi, who is seeking a $2.5 billion settlement in a divorce suit against a Saudi Arabian billionaire, has refused to identify the father of her new child.

Mrs. Khashoggi gave birth to the 8-pound, 9-ounce girl Thursday, according to lawyer Marvin Mitchellson, who is representing Mrs. Khashoggi in the divorce.

Mrs. Khashoggi had five children during her marriage to the Saudi arms dealer and had one child before that. She has been estranged from her husband for six years.

Her divorce suit against Adnan Khashoggi, which is pending in court in Los Angeles, asks for half of his fortune. Khashoggi's lawyers are contesting the location of the action. They want the case tried in London.

Producer to be sentenced

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Evans, the producer of such movies as "Love Story" and "The Godfather," will be sentenced Oct. 7 on a conviction for possession of five ounces of cocaine.

Evans, 50, of Beverly Hills, Calif., pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor in U.S. District Court on Thursday, as did his brother and brother-in-law. The pleas were entered as part of a bargain in which prosecutors agreed not to press for other indictments.

Prosecutors said the cocaine was purchased from a federal undercover agent for $19,000 in May.

Each of the three men could receive up to a year in jail and a fine of $5,000.

KAROLYN ROSE — GENEVIEVE GILLES

Roses granted divorce

CINCINNATI (AP) — Karolyn Rose has been granted a divorce from her husband, Philadelphia Phillies first baseman Pete Rose.

Mrs. Rose filed for divorce last September, accusing her husband of gross neglect of duty. Rose, who formerly played for the Cincinnati Reds, did not contest the divorce, granted Thursday by Domestic Relations Judge George Paul.

Paul set a hearing next month on a property settlement. The Roses, married for 17 years, have two children.

Mistress contests will INDIO, Calif. (AP) — A new set of documents filed in a challenge of Darryl F. Zanuck's will contends the movie mogul's signature on the will was forged by his daughter.

The contention came in an affidavit filed Thursday in Riverside County Superior Court by attorneys for Genevieve Gilles, 34, who says she was Zanuck's mistress for eight years. She contends earlier wills named her as an heir to 45 percent of Zanuck's estate. Miss Gilles was not mentioned in Zanuck's most recent will.

The affidavit by Thomas Shirley, a friend of the Zanuck family, said Zanuck's daughter, Darrylyn Pineda, told him in 1975 that she signed her father's name to the will that was submitted for probate.

It is this will, dated Oct. 31, 1973, which is being challenged by Miss Gilles who seeks a $15 million share of Zanuck's estate.

Zanuck, head of 20th Century Fox Studios for 40 years, died in Palms Springs last year. He left the bulk of his estate to his wife and children. Ms. Pineda was not immediately available for comment.

DPS pessimistic about gas prices

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Department of Public Safety is pessimistic about the future price of gasoline.

Col. Jim Adams, DPS director, told examiners from the Legislative Budget Board and the governor's office Thursday he expects gasoline prices to hit $1.75 a gallon in 1982 and $2 in 1983.

"And some consider that to be conservative," Adams said.

The DPS budget request to the next Legislature includes $6.8 million in 1982 and $7.8 million in 1983 for gasoline for highway patrol cars, compared with $3.1 million in 1981.

Adams said he thinks Texas will meet this year's federal goal of 40 percent compliance with the 55 mph speed limit.

"My problem is the 50 percent next year. We need additional visible (highway patrol) units. We don't have what you would call saturation coverage," he said.

Adams said he also wants the Legislature to get rid of the long-standing prohibition against the use of aircraft, including helicopters, for speed law enforcement.

"I think this is an area the Legislature should leave to the judgment of a law enforcement agency," Adams said.

He said aircraft "have been accepted in almost every state as a valid, effective weapon for speed law enforcement."

Adams said if the provision is removed, he would do a "very thorough study" of the cost effectiveness and usefulness of aircraft before using them to identify speeders.

"We only have seven aircraft, and we are making full use of them now in law enforcement and criminal investigations.

Deregulation foes resort to 'scare talk'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Texas, complains that opponents of his amendment to the railroad deregulation bill are resorting to "scare talk."

He denied that the amendment could lead the federally subsidized Conrail system to bankruptcy.

"Conrail this week issued a letter to the members of Congress threatening to come to Congress for more money or — God forbid — apply for bankruptcy if my amendment stays in the bill," the Houston congressman said Thursday at a news conference. "That is scare talk."

The Conrail system was put together from six bankrupt railroads primarily serving the East Coast.

Eckhardt said there is no dispute about Conrail's troubles, but it would not survive without more federal money regardless of the outcome of the battle over his amendment.

"The bill will simply not affect Conrail in the least," he said.

Edward G. Jordan, Conrail's chairman, wrote all House members that bankruptcy, nationalization or massive abandonments could result for the system if the bill passed as amended. The bill's sponsors abruptly pulled it from the floor last week after Eckhardt's amendment was approved narrowly.

Rep. James Florio, D-N.J., the chief sponsor, has said he does not want to complete action on the bill until he is certain he has enough votes to reverse the outcome.

Eckhardt said a misconception has arisen that his amendment would set a ceiling on the rates railroads could charge.

"This has been a persistent rumor, a persistent assumption that is hard to get rid of," he said.

The amendment sets a lower threshold for the Interstate Commerce Commission to be able to review a railroad rate in cases where a shipper is dependent on one railroad for service.

Several South Texas utilities have engaged in long fights with railroads over the rates charged for hauling coal from Wyoming and Montana.

Eckhardt said Conrail should not have any trouble demonstrating that it needs higher rates than more profitable long haul railroads.

"What we are attempting to do is set a threshold level that will be meaningful to all sections of the country," he said.

Opponents of the amendment say it would reduce the railroads' rate flexibility and make them less able to compete with other forms of transportation.

Eckhardt said the bill without his amendment "simply permits the railroads to write their own ticket."

UIL vs. the athlete: Something's got to give

IN THE DEAR OLD US OF A, land of the free, I sometimes wonder if the Texas University Interscholastic League (UIL) is a socialistic plot from the far corners of the earth.

At heart, I know that the UIL is not trying to keep the thousands of high school athletes in this state from improving their skills. Yet, at the same time, it seems that the best way to please the Lone Star State's powerful governing body would be to totally eliminate practice, whether during the season or in the offseason.

Of course, that would be impossible to control, as are many of the things in the UIL rulebook.

The latest incident involving the UIL vs. the high school athlete involves a case out of Houston.

Two weeks ago, US District Judge George Cire declared the UIL rule that penalized high school athletes from competing in summer camps unconstitutional in the case of Larry and Alex Harris, a pair of brothers who just happen to be the sons of Houston Rockets basketball coach Del Harris.

THE WAY THE UIL RULE READS NOW is that if a high school player participates in a summer basketball camp, he or she will be ineligible to compete on a varsity level the following season.

But Cire, in a type of case that seems to be a common occurrence lately in the summer months, nixed the state's school-boy (and girl) governing body on the Harris' grounds that the ruling prohibited their family from making decisions involving their own family.

The UIL will not go down without a fight, however, as the case would possibly go before two higher courts before a final decision is made.

And before you think I'm totally against the UIL, that's not the case. They do have some most valid points in which they base their rulings on such cases.

The basic reason for the rule is that the UIL feels that it discriminates against people that can't afford to send their children to camp.

That makes sense. No doubt it is much easier for the president of a bank to send his or her child to camp than it would be for a husband-less wife on food stamps.

Another UIL contention is that some of the more unscrupulous high school coaches would conduct their own summer camps and force their athletes to be in attendance. There is no doubt that that would happen somewhere.

Both sides have valid viewpoints.

ONE PERSON THAT SHOULD UNDERSTAND THE UIL vs. the high school athlete is Howard College Athletic Director-Basketball Coach Harold Wilder. Wilder runs a one-week basketball camp for boys, and then another session for girls, during the summer months.

"I can see the UIL's viewpoint of summer basketball camps being discriminatory against the minorities," says Wilder, whose successful summer camp features some outstanding high school and collegiate mentors.

"But at the same time," Wilder said, "I don't see how the UIL can tell a person what he or she can and can't do on their summer vacation on their own."

"When they (the UIL) say it discriminates against minorities, to me, that's just a theory," said the Howard College Athletic Director.

"Look at it like this, and this is on a nationwide example," he continued. "I go to basketball games, both as a coach and observer, and no matter where it is, the minorities are dominating the sport."

"I really can't think that going to summer basketball camps are going to change that around, do you?" he asked, at the same time stating a most valid point.

Wilder went on to explain that he knew of only two states (Texas and Ohio) that had rules penalizing the high school athlete from participating on the varsity level if he or she had attended a summer basketball camp.

"And ironically, both are pro-football states," he added.

BUT THE QUESTION I ASK THE UIL is this. Are summer camps so outrageously priced and geared toward the rich that an aspiring athlete hoping to improve his or her skills can not go unless they come from a family well off financially?

Take the case of Monette Wise, who will enter the ninth grade at Big Spring High School, and is successfully active in many sports.

Monette was told by her parents that they would not foot the bill of 110 dollars for Wilder's one-week Camp of Champs.

But being an athlete that would value the instruction offered from the knowledgeable staff at the Camp of Champs, and wanting dearly to improve her skills, Monette scraped enough baby-sitting appearances and other odd jobs in the months working up toward the July week to pay her own way.

Could not any athlete, if the desire is there, also do likewise?

Monette, who was named the Most Valuable Player in her age group at the Camp of Champs, felt her saving for the week was well worth the instruction that she received.

IS THE UIL ABOVE THE UNITED STATES constitution, and above the competitive spirit of freedom this country was founded upon? Do they feel it is their duty to penalize a high school athlete for having the desire to better his or her abilities?

Probably not, but just that it is their obligation that everyone have the same chance to compete, under the same practice schedule, and under similar facilities.

But to me, that's a form of socialism. And in the competitive world of sports, it just can't mix.

Something's got to give.

Pete Rose, wife legally divorced

CINCINNATI (AP) — Carolyn Rose was granted a divorce Thursday from Philadelphia Phillies first baseman Pete Rose.

A hearing was scheduled for September for a property settlement. Custody of the couple's two children, Fawn, 16, and Pete, 11, also will be discussed at a future hearing.

The Roses were married on Jan. 25, 1964, in Cincinnati.

Senior League All-Stars move toward final round

ABILENE — The Big Spring Senior League All-Stars advanced to the final round of the loser's bracket at the Sectional Tournament, scoring a 6-2 win over Dennison in action Thursday night.

The win also allowed the Big Springers to gain a measure of revenge, as Dennison handed them their only defeat in the double elimination affair thus far.

Big Spring will now face Weatherford tonight at 7:30 in Sears Park. The survivor of that match will meet Sabine tomorrow in the first of a possible two cham-

In advancing to Sectional finals

Local Big League crew takes pulsating win

ABILENE — Doug Horton scored the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning, and then the defensive play of Tommy Olague and Waine Shipman stopped an Arlington threat in the top of the seventh, allowing Big Spring to emerge with a 7-6 win and remain alive in the Big League Sectional Tournament here Thursday night.

The Big Spring crew, with one loss in the double elimination affair, will now face unbeaten Abilene in the championship round tonight. The game will begin at eight. A Big Spring win would force another deciding game.

Arlington took a quick 2-0 lead in the top of the first off Big Spring starter Adam Rodriguez, but it was short lived.

After James Walker and Tommy Rodriguez walked for Big Spring in their half of the first, Blake Rosson delivered an RBI single and Olague's double scored two runners and put the score at 3-2. Russell Stukel was then safe on an error, and Lupe Ontiveros capped the five-run uprising with a two-run single and a 5-2 Big Spring lead.

Big Spring increased their lead to 6-2 in the second inning when Oscar Limon, who was safe on an error, scored on a Blake Rosson triple.

Arlington scored once in the third to narrow the lead to 6-3, and then used a bases loaded triple off Shipman in the top of the sixth to tie the score.

But Big Spring quickly regrouped in their half of the sixth, as Horton led off the inning by drawing a free pass to first. He advanced all the way to third with some excellent base running and the help of a Shipman sacrifice bunt.

Horton then scored the game winning run when the Arlington third sacker mishandled a ball hit by Walker.

But Arlington made one last gasp attempt to salvage a win and remain alive in their final at bat.

After a leadoff single and a walk issued by Shipman, the Arlington runners advanced to second and third with two outs.

Arlington shortstop Jimmy Foust then smashed a grounder in the hole between first and second, but Big Spring first baseman Olague made a diving catch to stop what probably would have scored both Arlington runners.

Olague then tossed to Shipman, who alertly covered the bag for the final out of the game.

Rosson led the Big Spring hitting attack with a perfect three-for-three night. Walker, Stukel and Ontiveros had singles, with Olague having a double.

Big Spring manager John Velasquez has indicated that he will send Shipman to the mound tonight to try and stop Abilene, who defeated Big Spring on the opening night by a score of 3-0.

In that contest, Abilene's Mac Rogers hurled a two-hitter. He will probably pitch tonight and try to repeat that feat, which would wrap up the tournament for his crew.

When UGSA Tourney begins today in Hobbs

Big Spring girls aim for regional title

HOBBS, NEW MEXICO — Three of the best UGSA Division I teams in the Southwest will be gunning for the regional championship here when action gets underway at 4:00 p.m.

The teams are Big Spring (West Texas champion), Hobbs (New Mexico champion), and the winner of the East Texas district.

The Big Spring girls advanced to the regional affair by winning four consecutive games with their backs to the wall in the West Texas Tournament last week in Snyder.

After opening with a 14-13 triumph over Odessa, the Big Spring girls were handed a 10-6 setback at the hands of Snyder.

But Big Spring, led by All-Tournament performances of Paula Clanton, Lori Gonzales, Melissa Martinez and Missy Wilson, topped Odessa 13-2, Snyder 11-6 and 8-5 to advance into the regionals.

Pairings for the two-day, double elimination tournament were to be drawn at noon today, so none of the teams were aware of their first round opponent today.

Marilyn Wade is the manager of the Big Spring team. Dwight Perkins is the coach, and Larry Tubb serves as an assistant. Coordinating the fens activities is Oleta Allen, while Eileen Clanton serves as scorekeeper and Frances Ferguson is the chaperone.

Members of the team not mentioned above include Adella Ramirez, Janette Ferguson, Lori McElvaney, Jenny Smoot, Karen Tubb, Danelle Castillo, Monica Armendarez, Katrina Thompson, Lisa Alvarez, Nikki Rodriguez, Patricia Saldivar, Rachel Tedesco and Michelle Baker.

Local girls title should read 'state'

The Big Spring United Girls Softball Association team which is competing in the Regional Tournament in Hobbs, N.M., this weekend has been identified as the 1980 State champion on trophies awarded to the club.

The resident club, competing in the 8-to-10-year-old bracket, won the right to play in the Hobbs meet and the privilege of representing the Lone Star State in a tournament held last week in Snyder.

Big Spring will not play beyond Regional, no matter how it fares in Hobbs, according to Manager Marilyn Wade.

In some stories released to the news media the past week, the local team was identified as the district champion but the information etched on the championship trophy, identifying Big Spring as the state titlist, is correct.

TWO FOR ONE
Twins Amy and Tammy Osborne to audition for movie roll

Twins audition for movie part

Two stars in the making?

By ROBBIE CROW
Family News Editor
It all began in a Cinderella Girl Pageant, but who knows where it will eventually lead. Not one, but two new stars — movie stars that is — may be in the making this week at Civic Center Music Hall in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Local twins Tammy and Amy Osborne, 10-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Osborne, have been asked to audition for a movie to be produced next spring by Columbia Productions in a re-creation of the Broadway hit "Annie."

"Monday we received a long-distance call from the girls' grandmother in Amarillo," explained Mrs. Osborne. "She informed us that she had talked with the society editor of the newspaper there who informed her of a talent search for a new Annie for the movie production of the Broadway hit."

Just this spring, Tammy and Amy represented Big Spring at the State Cinderella Girl Pageant in Denton.

"As a part of Tammy's talent presentation," Mrs. Osborne continued, "she sang the song 'Tomorrow' taken from the Broadway play."

Tammy was chosen Best 10-Year-Old and Amy won the Best Song and Dance Award.

The fact that the girls were twins seemed to excite the editor, according to Mrs.

Osborne and he called Columbia Productions in an attempt to set up an audition for the girls.

"After a series of telephone calls," she continued, "a Mr. George Grube from Columbia Productions telephoned and filled us in on all we needed to know."

The girls had to be between the ages of 7-10, between 4' and 4'8" in height and know how to sing, dance and act.

"They are to report to the Civic Center Music Hall at 10 a.m. Aug. 4 ready to go," stated Mrs. Osborne who is still recovering from what she terms "a state of shock."

Grube informed Mrs. Osborne that although talent is even more important.

"He said they had everything up there from fake freckles to orange hair and stuffed dogs, but they're looking for someone more natural," she commented.

"There will probably be 50,000 girls trying out," she laughed.

Although she feels the fact that Tammy and Amy are twins should be a point in their favor, Mrs. Osborne says they're not going expecting a lot.

"We just feel honored for the experience the girls will receive. My husband and I, as parents, wish them the best of luck and feel they have as good a chance as any," she said.

"We wouldn't rob them of the opportunity to audition."

It's no secret the Osborne twins are talented. Both can sing and dance.

"I've never pushed them," Mrs. Osborne added, "it's been something they've wanted to do on their own."

Amy says becoming a movie star would be a dream come true.

"And I keep having dreams of people asking me to sign my autograph," added Tammy.

For the past week, these hazel-eyed, blonde-headed cuties have been coached by the 1979 Starlight Special Talent winner, Felicia Ford.

"She's been helping us with our song and teaching us how to breathe correctly when we sing," said Tammy.

Mrs. Osborne claims most of their appreciation goes to Nelda Colclazer, Gail Earls and Esther Trantham of the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association. The organization sponsors the Cinderella Girl Pageant.

"I think the pageant really helped them (the twins) grow a lot. It taught them to be more expressive," said the proud mom.

"I'm very flattered the girls will get to take part in the auditions and I think it will be an experience they'll never forget," she concluded.

Dear Abby: Wedding Dinner May Require Separate Checks

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is being married to a young man whose parents we have met only once, when the couple announced their engagement last June. They live 90 miles from us.

I wrote to the mother of the groom, explaining that we planned a catered reception and dinner, but because we are on a very tight budget she should limit her guest list to 100 people. (Our list is also limited to 100.)

She sent a list that numbered 140, explaining that she couldn't possibly trim it because they "owed" so many people. Her guests were mostly friends — not relatives.

I wrote back saying our budget would allow for only 200 and no more. She phoned to say that she could eliminate only two, and that was final.

Abby, the invitations must be mailed soon. I have two choices: Either trim my own list to 22 so she can have her 128, or trim her list myself and take the consequences. In view of her unreasonable attitude, would I be justified in doing this?

WEDDING HEADACHE.

DEAR HEADACHE: Don't trim her list unless you want to start World War III.

Tell her you regret that your budget doesn't allow for any more than 200 guests, so she will either have to trim her list to 100 or pay the tab for the extra guests who cannot be eliminated.

DEAR ABBY: Can a girl get pregnant from kissing with her mouth open?

NEEDS TO KNOW IN JEANEAU.

DEAR NEEDS: No. But it's a good beginning.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Pictures described with signs

Nature signs were introduced to Sign Language Club members and guests Tuesday night.

Cards of scenic pictures were distributed to those in attendance as they gathered into groups. The pictures were described in signs.

Refreshments were furnished by Lola Cockerham and Ramona Herbert to the 23 people present.

Doris Arcand, standing in for John Marshall, called the meeting to order.

Those interested in the club are invited to next week's meeting on Aug. 5 at 7 p.m. in the Adult II Classroom at College Baptist Church.

DEAR ABBY: How do you feel about a girl who gets pregnant from kissing with her mouth open?

NEEDS TO KNOW IN JEANEAU.

DEAR NEEDS: No. But it's a good beginning.

Lots of people listening; no recession on Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — When E.F. Hutton talks, people listen — and when people listen, E.F. Hutton makes money.
These days, lots of people are listening.

from 867.92 to 935.32, and many other measures of stock prices set all-time highs.
"Brokers no longer have to hide in alleys whenever they see a customer on the street, the way they do in bear markets," said Robert Stovall, a market analyst at Dean Witter Reynolds Inc. and a 25-year veteran of the business.

Even more important to the level of brokers' profits has been the unprecedented pace of stock-trading activity. More than 7 billion shares have been traded since the start of the year on the New York Stock Exchange, and last year's record of 8.15 billion is likely to be surpassed soon after Labor Day.

A big chunk of the typical brokerage house's earnings comes from commissions on stock trades.
On top of that, business boomed during May and June in investment banking, particularly sales of new bond issues by corporations.

Brokers also operate many of the largest money-market mutual funds, which have been the hottest new product in the financial world.
In the month just ended, the Dow Jones industrial average reached its best level in three years, jumping about all those things, I go and pray as fast as I can to get it off my mind," she said.

Her husband, Lee Douglas Page, 39, was killed by police gunfire last Oct. 25 when he stepped from the front door into the midst of a standoff between a gunman and police.

The gunman took Page hostage and was forcing him to drive away when police opened fire on the car, shooting out the windows and blowing out the tires.

Man saved from bad snake bite
MONROE, La. (AP) — A 24-year-old man bitten by a krait — a snake far more poisonous than the deadly cobra — has been saved by a blood transfusion from a man who says he has survived more than 100 poisonous snake bites, officials said.

James Lee, 24, an amateur herpetologist, the study of snakes, was in serious condition today at St. Francis Medical Center. He was bitten on the finger Wednesday while feeding one of the six kraits in his collection of 30 snakes.

"He still cannot move his eyes. He cannot lift his eyelids more than about halfway. But he is alert. He is conscious. He never lost consciousness through the whole thing," said Dr. Ernie Rutherford, who is treating Lee at St. Francis.

The blood transfusion came from Bill Haast, operator of the Miami Serpenterium Laboratory.
"It turned out to be very fortunate for him that we both have the same blood type — A-Positive," said Haast.
