MOTHER NATURE OFFERS OWN SHOW — When Mother Nature gets restless, she can put on one of the best electrical shows anywhere. Well, she got very moody here Monday evening. The above picture, made in total darkness was made at a time it looked as if Howard County's long dry spell might end.

Apparently, Mother Nature exhausted herself with the display of lightning and thunder because the clouds moved on "after loading up" and blessed other areas with rainfall. Most of the county remained 'bone dry.'

Hurricane Allen leaves 8 dead; Jamaica next?

CASTRIES, St. Lucia (AP) — Hurricane Allen thrashed westward across the Caribbean with winds up to 170 miles an hour today in the direction of Jamaica after leaving at least eight dead, hundreds homeless, and much of the important banana crop in St. Lucia devastated.

St. Lucia's officials said they were in the midst of a "national disaster" and that they feared the death toll would rise. The storm left the island's main hospital powerless and minus part of its roof.

The U.S. National Weather Service labeled Allen "the most intense and dangerous hurricane in the Caribbean during this century," as its winds built to a maximum of 170 mph near the center.

Hurricane force winds extended out 40 miles from the center in all directions and gale force winds 175 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south.

Forecasters said Hurricane Allen could hit the United States, but not before early next week.

Residents of the southern parts of the Dominican Republic and Haiti were told to be on hurricane watch, and residents of Jamaica were warned to monitor the situation carefully.

Allen was so intense it brought winds gusts of up to 70 miles and hour and rain squalls to Puerto Rico on Monday.

Dozens of families were reported evacuated there, and some damage was reported in the sparsely populated northern half of St. Vincent, near St. Lucia on the eastern edge of the Caribbean.

Officials in Barbados, just south of the point where Allen entered the Caribbean from the Atlantic late Sunday night, reported 125 homes damaged, power lines down, 20 small fishing boats destroyed and another 75 damaged. An inter-island freighter was aground in Barbados' main harbor at Bridgetown.

But by far Monday's worst damage was in St. Lucia, a tiny island nation of 115,000 people on the eastern fringe of the Caribbean, which the storm's eye sidwashed at about 2 p.m.

The corrugated iron roofs of hundreds of houses were torn off, and other homes were washed away by flood waters. One woman told of gathering people at a church for shelter, only to watch as its roof was blown off.

Telephone and telex lines were down through much of Monday, and service was spotty through the night. Ham radio operators on Barbados monitored calls from St. Lucia for help in the form of food supplies, medicine and blankets.

The British navy was sending a destroyer, the Glasgow, to St. Lucia to render aid, acting on an official request to the British government. The ship was due to arrive this morning.

President defends actions

Carter tried but failed with Billy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's extraordinary defense of his handling of brother Billy's Libyan connection doesn't close the case that has rocked his presidency and his party in the final days of his race for nomination to a second term.

The president's own account Monday night to the public and to the Senate subcommittee investigating the affair acknowledged that it is "not definitive or final." Members of the panel indicated they would withhold judgment until their probe is complete.

And in the highly charged atmosphere of an election campaign, Carter's opponents could hardly be expected to let the matter rest.

But in his 99-page report and the hour-long nationally broadcast news conference that followed, the president insisted that although he may have made some mistakes in getting information about the case out in the open, none of his actions in dealing with Billy and the Libyans was illegal or improper.

The president said — and excerpts from his personal diary confirm — that he tried repeatedly, if unsuccessfully, to dissuade his headstrong brother from making a return trip to Libya last year.

"I'm not trying to make excuses," the older brother said. But "anyone who knows Billy knows that no one can push him around."

The president defended using Billy to get to the Libyan government in the early days of the Iranian hostage crisis and said the mission was at least partly successful in obtaining the support of the radical Islamic regime for U.S. efforts to free the American captives. He conceded, however, that "it may have been bad judgment" to have "enhanced Billy's stature in the minds of the Libyans."

In his statement, Carter reiterated: "I can state categorically that my brother Billy has had no influence on my decisions or on any U.S. government policy or action concerning Libya. I can also state that Billy has never asked me to take any step that would affect any of these actions or policies."

The president also made these sweeping points:

— He never tried to influence the Justice Department investigation of Billy Carter.

— He did not learn until it was made public last month that the Libyan government had paid his brother $220,000.

— He never received any of Billy

Carter's Libyan money. Initial reaction to Carter's explanation was cautious.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the special Senate subcommittee, declined comment, but his vice chairman, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said, "We have heard the president's side of the matter; now we will hear the witnesses and maybe hear the other side."

Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., perhaps the president's sharpest critic on the committee, said there still is "a lot to explore." He expressed particular interest in a conversation between Carter and Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti in which Civiletti told the president that Billy Carter would not be prosecuted if he registered as a Libyan agent.

Carter acknowledged he made a "highly technical" mistake when Civiletti and the White House denied the two men had discussed the Billy Carter matter before a thorough record search revealed they had. But the president insisted nothing in the brief conversation was improper or could be considered an attempt to influence the Justice Department investigation.

Included in the report was the note Carter wrote after the June 17 meeting recounting that Civiletti had told him "Billy ought to acknowledge" that he was an agent for Libya and "there would be no punishment for him."

Billy himself, who watched the televised news conference at an Americus, Ga., motel, said his brother told the truth.

"I won't go so far as to say I enjoyed it," Billy Carter said. "But it was a good news conference."

The voluminous report to the Senate contained dictated notes from Carter's daily journals, handwritten letters and statements from top aides, including national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski and White House counsel Lloyd Cutler.

In it, the president made clear he did not approve of his brother's flirtation with the Libyan regime and said Billy's receipt of funds and possible ensuing obligation "will govern my relationships with Billy so long as I am president."

Carter said he has not gained in any way from the $220,000 his brother received, and "my trustees and I will see to it that no direct or indirect benefit will flow to me in the future."

If Dorothy Moore appointed chief appraiser

Taxpayers may get big break

By DON WOODS

Taxpayers may get two officials in one if Dorothy Moore, tax collector-assessor elect, is appointed chief appraiser by the Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal Board.

The move could also gain taxpayers a break on the amount they pay for the reappraisal, said Mrs. Moore, because the cost would be only one-third as much as the cost of hiring an outside firm, she said.

Mrs. Moore has not applied for the job but she thinks that combining the positions would be a "workable" situation.

"I think it would involve a lot of planning. You've just got to have authority delegated to have good operation and efficient management of the office," she said.

Howard County Tax Appraisal Board members were left in a quandry by the resignation of former Chief Appraiser Earl Dean earlier this year. Because of the shortage of qualified appraisers, board members voted to include $230,000 in the 1981 budget to pay an outside firm to do the appraisal work.

Several counties in the area have combined the positions. Mitchell, Taylor and other Texas counties have tax collector assessors who operate the appraisal office, said Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal Board chairman Roy Watkins.

"Abilene (in Taylor County) has a rather big group of taxing entities," he added.

"It would probably be economical, but that doesn't necessarily mean efficient," he said.

Time divided between the tax appraisal office and tax collector's office would be divided about 50-50, said Mrs. Moore.

Watkins speculated that outside appraisers would have to be hired even if Mrs. Moore could be hired as chief appraiser, but "we can hire cheaper than an outside firm could."

He said the county would save by not having to pay the amount an outside firm would have to charge to make a profit.

Mrs. Moore said she has had her Certified Texas Assessor training. "I don't mean that that's all the cut-and-dried things that you'd have to do but that's one of the prerequisites of the job," she said.

Watkins said what the appraisal district "really needs is experience.

But don't get me wrong. I'm not trying to write her off at all," he said.

Many services that the appraisal office will have to do under SB 621 mandates are already being done by the tax collector-assessor's office, said Mrs. Moore. These services include property renditions and affidavits by senior citizens.

Watkins said, though, that county taxing entities may have reservations about the double function of the tax collector assessor. "There is a feeling against a move like this in some entities because the person is elected to a county office," he said.

Howard County registrations for military draft hit 562

Howard County registrations for the military draft totaled 562 Monday.

Examination Specialist Charles Dickson, local postal employee, said government analysts expected 600 men to register; about two percent of the county population.

Dickson said late registrants might bring totals closer to estimates.

Registration has gone "smoothly" and no women have registered here, he said.

The 1980 registration law, signed by President Carter in June, requires every man's name, address, phone number, Social Security number and birth date if born in 1950 or later.

Failure to register could mean a fine of up to $10,000 and/or five years in jail.

Col. Robert Kinscherff, chief of the Selective Service office in Dallas, stressed that no draft is anticipated; the purpose of registration is to get a list of all men available should a national emergency develop requiring their service.

Those born in 1962 will have to register next January. After that each male must register when he reaches his 18th birthday. The only men not required to register are those on active duty in the armed forces or at military academies, and non-immigrant aliens.

Weather

Front brings cooler temperatures, rain

Thunderstorms were forecast today for southern and western sections of Texas.

The cooler weather was triggered by a cold front that entered the Panhandle Monday, triggering a strong southerly wind and some shower activity.

A surface low pressure trough over far West Texas triggered some thunderstorms in Southwest Texas Monday. Some isolated thunderstorms produced more than an inch of rainfall. Grand Falls in Warm County, about 20 miles south of Monahans, got 1.25 inches of rain.

Several locations in the Permian Basin got between .33 of an inch and .75 of an inch.

Southerly winds continued early today to move moist air northward across the state, providing cloud cover for central and eastern sections of the state.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s and 80s. Extremes ranged from 63 at Marfa to 88 at College Station and 87 at El Paso.

"We haven't seen the last of the 100-degree days," said Bill Scott, a NWS meteorologist at Fort Worth.

Confirmation hearing

Lubbock native may become first Texan on energy panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Hughes, in line to become the first Texan on the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, did not let his Senate confirmation hearing slip by without a touch of humor.

After a long grilling about natural gas prices was finished, the next senator on the panel turned to simpler matters and asked why Hughes wanted to be a FERC commissioner.

"Well, I'm beginning to wonder," the assistant Texas attorney general flippantly asked before giving a more complete answer about his commitment to public service.

The intensive questioning from Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, was prompted by a speech Hughes gave to an industry association.

"The whole thrust of the speech is for higher (natural gas) prices," Metzenbaum said at the Senate Energy Commission's hearing Monday.

Hughes said his speech to the Interstate Oil Compact Commission did not represent an endorsement that might prejudice his ability to determine cases as a commissioner.

"I was trying to be very careful to quote the various positions that have been put forth," he said. "All I was trying to do was merely point out the testimony and evidence."

At FERC, Hughes would fill the vacancy created by the resignation of a commissioner from Arkansas.

Energy committee aides said a vote on Hughes' nomination probably would not be scheduled until after the recess for the Democratic national convention next week.

Confirmation by the full Senate then would be required.

Hughes, 44, was named head of the energy division at the attorney general's office last year. The Lubbock native became an assistant attorney general in 1974.

At the hearing, Hughes said he would disqualify himself from Texas cases at the start of his 4-year term if he is confirmed.

The nominee said he had suggested six months as an appropriate length of time to refrain from participating in any cases directly involving the state.

He also told the energy committee that he would disqualify himself throughout his term from hearing any cases he had worked on as a lawyer.

FERC has jurisdiction over rate and marketing statutes for interstate wholesale power transactions and for natural gas, including the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 that gradually removes price controls.

Texas and its neighboring states challenged the constitutionality of the act.

Hughes said he worked on the lawsuit because it was part of his duties but he personally believes the act has served a purpose.

"I would have no problems as a commissioner of FERC administering its provisions," he said.

The new Cubans offer hope of Hispanic power

MIAMI (AP) — Hispanic politicians trying to organize their giant "silent minority" are looking to Miami's Cubans for impetus.

"Hispanics must stick together. Our ability to attract attention or respect is very, very limited. I don't see another community that can set the pace the way Miami can," said Graciela Olivarez, director of the U.S. Community Services Administration and among the highest-ranking Hispanics in the Carter administration.

Hispanics will become the United States' largest minority in the 1980s and could number 37 million by the year 2010, White House policy analyst Roberto Anson told the Global Conference on the Future in Toronto in July.

Although the nation's Hispanic population, growing by nearly 15 percent a year, is estimated at over 23 million, fewer than one-sixth of Hispanic-Americans are registered to vote.

There are only five Hispanic congressmen and one lieutenant governor among the nation's top federal and state elected officials. And Hispanics complain they get short shrift from government programs.

officials are excited by increased political participation by Cuban-Americans.

They note that unlike Mexican-Americans and Puerto Ricans, who left their homelands for economic reasons, the Cuban influx that began with Fidel Castro's revolution in 1959 includes many well-educated members of Cuba's former elite.

Cuban-Americans now number nearly 1 million in the United States, their ranks swelled by more than 117,000 refugees in the "Freedom Flotilla" that began in mid-April.

"They ran every system in their country: Political, economic, educational. There is no other sizable group in this country that can claim that. And their younger generation certainly has role models already present in their community," said Ms. Olivarez of the early Cuban immigrants.

In what the Florida Democratic Party's immediate past chairman, Alfredo Duran, calls "a realization of permanent status as Americans," Cuban-Americans — their expectation of Castro's ouster undermined by 21 years of waiting — have been registering to vote in Dade County at a much greater pace in recent years.

Duran, son-in-law of former Cuban President Carlos Príos, was one of the first Cubans to run for office in Miami. He recalled his unsuccessful 1974 bid for Dade County school board.

"Bilingual education was my key issue, and it became a flagword for anti-Cuban sentiment. They would yell, 'Go back to Cuba,' and say that if I got elected, we'd have all the kids dancing the rumba in school."

Duran said the lesson was that Cubans couldn't "run as Cubans." He said he believes Cuban-Americans are now more sophisticated politically.

Cuban-Americans follow U.S. domestic issues and don't base their politics on which candidate talks toughest against Castro, Duran said, adding: "On Cuba, we are now like the Jews with Israel. It is very important, but it is not the only issue."

He said young Cuban-Americans are more liberal than their parents, most of whom are conservative Republicans. For the first time, there are more Cuban Democrats — about 52,000 — than Cuban Republicans — about 42,000 — in Dade County. There are an estimated 511,900 Miami residents of Hispanic origin.

A key problem in shaping the Hispanic coalition is that Cubans, generally in a higher economic bracket than other Hispanic-Americans, may not identify with Hispanics.

"I can see where, as a group, they may not really associate their particular situation with that of anyone else," Roybal said. "One of the things we find is that Hispanics many times divide among themselves, instead of coordinating activities."

Duran is optimistic. "We're in different geographic areas — the Puerto Rican community in the northeast United States, the Mexican community in the southwest."

Heart of Brilab trial at issue

Attorneys want tapes released

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys for House Speaker Billy Clayton and three others indicted in the Texas Brilab investigation say they want copies of 48 tape recordings that prosecutors have not released.

They also complain many of the 93 tapes they have heard are of poor quality with words that are impossible to understand.

In a pretrial hearing Monday, U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor heard arguments about release of the tapes and a request from government attorneys for a hearing on whether the tapes may be used as evidence in the Sept. 8 trial.

The first four persons indicted in the FBI's undercover operation were Clayton, labor leader L.G. Moore, and Austin attorneys Randall B. Wood and Donald W. Ray.

Roy Minton, representing Clayton, said some of the tapes "are sorry as hell. Really, really bad. Some of it sounds like Chip and Dale (cartoon chipmunks) for 30 seconds, then God knows what."

Prosecutors released eight more tapes to the defense Monday, but said many of the others have no connection with the case.

Defense attorneys said they want to listen to all of the recordings and Mike Ramsey, attorney for Moore, said he would file a motion soon asking that all the tapes be turned over to the defense.

"How do we know if they are relevant or not until we hear them," Ramsey said. "I just don't think it is right for the prosecution to say what is relevant and what is not without our side listening to it."

The tapes, certain to be the heart of the trial, were made from Nov. 19, 1979 until Feb. 8, 1980.

The indictments accuse Clayton of taking $5,000 from Moore and FBI informant Joseph Hauser in November, after the two men visited Clayton's office to talk about the $70-million-a-year state employee insurance program.

The indictment also alleges Clayton was to have received an additional $600,000 if the insurance contract was awarded to a firm Hauser allegedly represented.

Clayton has said he received the money from Moore, but insisted he thought it was a campaign contribution and had put it in a safe place with the intention of returning it to the labor leader.

The federal grand jury reconvened Monday and heard testimony from Charlene Womack, secretary for Houston City Councilman Jim Westmoreland. It was Mrs. Womack's second appearance before the panel.

William Pakalka, representing Mrs. Womack, said his client was in the grand jury room 20 minutes to explain contents of certain documents from Westmoreland's office.

Pakalka said Mrs. Womack had filled out some of the documents which were presented to the grand jury last month. He declined to disclose the nature of the papers.

Westmoreland, Councilman Homer Ford and former Councilman Frank Mann have testified previously before the grand jury about a city insurance plan.

Texas gets $2 million in relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — About $1 is headed to Texas from every $8 of heat wave relief that the federal government has made available so far this summer for lower income people.

President Carter signed a bill Monday that allows $21 million — including a $2 million allocation for Texas — to be distributed by the Community Services Administration as energy assistance funds.

fans and coolers, rental or purchase of small air conditioners if medically necessary and payment of household utility bills if life or health were endangered by the heat.

The bill by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, removing a June 30 deadline for the CSA to distribute energy assistance funds raced through Congress last week.

"It is easy to ridicule cooling assistance as a luxury. It has taken 2,000 deaths, 2,000 tragedies — many of them needless — to drive home the fact that one can die just as surely and as cruelly from the heat as from the cold," Bentsen said when he introduced the bill.

THE ONE WAY by B.W. Briggs WE MEANT WELL!... I wonder how many parents have said this about themselves while facing the fact that they were wrong. How many times have we said this concerning some ill advice given to someone we thought we were helping. That's what happens when human opinion is used for a foundation. In some cases it works, while in other cases it fails! At any rate, our advice is fallible and never secure enough for another's stability, let alone our own. The only insight that we can find to be infallible and always secure is the insight and counsel from the Word of God, which is God's spoken will! I have begun this article in this fashion because there is a axiom in religious life that torments the authority of Christ and His spoken direction. It is the fact that most people live on "hand me down religion." You know, "it was good enough for Paul and Silas," or "my Momma and Daddy believed that way and so..." That type of concept into "the faith" is wrong. What was good for Paul and Silas is not what most people are living by and advocating publicly! Jesus' message divided homes because of the cost of discipleship. Jesus warned us that we must count the cost before we shoulder the cross. The reason lies in the fact that we who are really "in Christ" have already decided to finish the race. Taking up a cross means that you will deny anything that stands between you and the will of the Master! You are in essence a dead man on furlough. The only reason you live in the flesh is because God has not required you to die for His great and powerful purposes. You reject all in the flesh and those of the flesh. Yes, even your family! Even that Mother and Father who believed something other than the truth. Even though they loved you and cared for you, if they disobeyed Jesus in this lifetime, "they'll be lost eternally. But don't take my word for it or any other human. Listen to what the Son of God said in the following passages! (Mt. 10:20-23, 34-39; Lk. 12:51-53, 14:25-35). Have you read them? Please do! Remember, "parent religion" cannot save you or your children. The only way into Christ and eternal life is by obedience to His commands. You must obey what the Bible says regardless of parent or family pressure. If you start out and then look back, you are unfit for God's Kingdom (Lk. 9:62). Build your hope on the Son of God, friends, not your parents or family! WEST HIGHWAY 80 CHURCH OF CHRIST

FUND FOR ANIMALS PRESIDENT — Cleveland Amory, president of the Fund for Animals, kneels near a burro in a corral at the edge of the Grand Canyon in Arizona recently. The Fund is leading a round-up operation to remove wild burros from the canyon and put them up for adoption, in an effort to prevent the shooting of the animals. The National Park Service has declared the burros a threat to the canyon and has said they will have to be shot if not otherwise removed.

Wildcatters enjoy biggest boom in years

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas wildcatters, independent oil hunters who say they almost went broke seven years ago, today are enjoying the biggest oil boom Texas has seen in more than 20 years.

Backers for new oil drilling projects are almost standing in line to invest their money in a high-stakes gamble that there's oil in them there holes.

"We're seeing doctors, lawyers, anyone that has some money to invest," said Ed McGhee, executive vice president of the International Association of Drilling Contractors.

Reports from the Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates the state's oil and gas industry, show the number of active Texas drilling rigs has jumped by 30 percent over last year, from 722 in 1979 to the current number of 938.

"There's a lot of security people coming in, selling limited partnerships, and also a couple of big companies, like General Electric. Even the banks are getting back in," McGhee said.

One industry expert calls it "the biggest boom in 24 years" and another said the charge of investors trying to get into the business sometimes resembles a stampede.

Most of the drilling is in traditionally oil-rich West Texas, around San Angelo, Midland and Lubbock. Railroad commission figures indicate 235 rigs are operating in that area.

Next is the upper Gulf Coast, north of Corpus Christi, where 130 rigs are pumping crude, commission officials said.

The Texas trend is echoed nationwide, according to industry figures. The number of active drilling rigs has increased from 2,022 in the first six months of 1979 to 2,685 from January through June of this year, and at one time the total hit 2,900.

Italy's Communist party unites against terrorists

ROME (AP) — Italy's Communists and other leftist political parties, after suffering at the polls because of Red Brigades violence, have organized their full forces to protest the suspected neo-fascist bombing at the Bologna railroad station.

Left-wing parties and unions took the lead in organizing Monday's demonstrations and strikes to denounce the presumed terrorist attack Saturday, which killed 76 people and injured 160. Red banners were prominently displayed at most of the assemblies and marchers shouted leftist slogans.

More than 40,000 people assembled in the Communist "showcase" city of Bologna while 30,000 marched to the Colosseum in Rome. Other demonstrations were held in Milan, Venice, Genoa, Palermo, and many smaller cities.

For the past four years Italy's chronic urban guerrilla violence has tended to weaken the left and particularly the Communists, the largest Marxist party in the West.

The Communists have repeatedly condemned violence and praised democratic methods. But the party has acknowledged that some voters identify it with the far-left gangs that have murdered judges, business executives, journalists and other so-called "agents of the state."

In particular, a Communist report said that the surge of Red Brigades violence was partly responsible for the party's sharp losses in the June 1979 national elections.

The Communists' vote fell from 34 percent to 30 percent in that ballot a year after the Red Brigades kidnapped and killed former Premier Aldo Moro.

The Communist losses were confirmed in regional and local elections two months ago. Political analysts say that the party has also shed some support among voters who think it's too conservative. Some leftists believe that the Communists have "sold out" because of their long-range goal of government together with the more conservative Christian Democrat party.

In any case the Communists took full advantage of their opportunity to condemn the "Bologna Massacre." Party Secretary Enrico Berlinguer wrote that the deadly blast demonstrated the weakness of the government of Christian Democrat Premier Francesco Cossiga, whom Berlinguer has pledged to try to topple.

"Among all the comments on the Bologna disaster, nobody has pointed out the most obvious and worrisome political element: the emptiness of the government, the desolate failure of the political leadership to take innovative adequate for our grave problems," Berlinguer wrote in a front-page editorial in the party daily L'Unita.

"This ineptness among the country's rulers objectively favors subversive, anti-democratic efforts."

Other leftist parties also mobilized to protest the blast, believed to be the work of neo-fascists because of similarities to previous attacks claimed by the right.

COME AND BRING A BIBLE

It's Not Enough

Frequently, a family will tell us we were recommended by friends we had served. Such testimony makes us proud, of course...but it also inspires an even greater desire to continue earning that trust and confidence.

This desire is not just a wish, but is our course of action every time we serve.

President vs. brother

Carter's conflicting concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter says he acted "more as a president than a brother" with Billy, but concedes that even a president lacks the authority to order his brother around.

"I can't condone what he has done. I'm not trying to make excuses," Carter said Monday night. "Anyone who knows Billy knows that no one can push him around."

With those rueful declarations, President Carter became perhaps the first Oval Office occupant to devote almost an entire nationally broadcast news conference, an extraordinary hour-long session, to questions about a wayward brother.

In an effort to clear his administration of any allegations of wrongdoing due to his brother's controversial relationship with the government of Libya, the president also made public, for the first time, excerpts from his personal diaries. They portrayed a man beset by the kind of conflicting concerns that may be found in almost any family: a desire to help and a fear of embarrassment.

Despite the political headaches Billy Carter is causing just before the Democratic National Convention meets to consider his older brother's renomination, the diaries and statements bespoke both a brotherly and an official concern.

On the one hand, while Billy underwent treatment for alcoholism, the president sent a handwritten letter of encouragement that ended, "I love you, Jimmy."

On the other, the president dictated a June 28 entry in his diary that showed frustration over his brother's initial refusal to register as an agent of Libya, a move being pushed by the Justice Department.

"He doesn't believe that he needs to file," Carter lamented in his journal. "This can become an embarrassing incident later on, particularly with the American Jews."

President wins support

Governors stress unity

DENVER (AP) — The Democratic governors are telling the Democratic presidential candidates to stop the bloodletting and get back to the business of beating Republicans.

It is the latest and boldest move by the governors since they took up the unity mission when the party fell apart in 1972, and which they exercised in giving former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter his final boost to the presidential nomination and a party comeback four years ago.

Most of the Democratic governors are still behind Carter, but they signaled strongly on Monday that they are more interested in party survival than this quarrel with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the remaining challenger to Carter's renomination.

In a show of independence, Democrats caucusing at the National Governors' association annual meeting, pointedly declined to vote a new endorsement of Carter's re-election.

And they refused to back the president in a fight with Kennedy over a proposed rule which would bind Carter's delegates at next week's Democratic National Convention in New York.

Soviet boy, sister wards of state

CHICAGO (AP) — Twelve-year-old Walter Polovchak, who ran away from home and won political asylum when he learned his family might return to the Soviet Union, has been ordered by a judge to visit his parents three times a week.

"I don't want to tear this family apart," said Circuit Judge Joseph C. Mooney on Monday.

The ruling involved custody of Walter and his teen-aged sister and apparently does not affect Walter's political asylum status. Federal officials say the grant of asylum allows Walter to remain in the United States if he chooses.

Mooney named the boy and his sister Natalie wards of the state, adding he intended to return Walter to his family "at the first opportunity."

He said as soon as he is convinced the family can live in harmony "then the court will walk away." Mooney expressed concern that Walter could run into trouble if he ran away from home again.

Walter ran away from home last month when he learned that his parents, Michael and Anna Polovchak, wanted to return to the Ukraine. He was named a temporary ward of the state pending the hearing Monday and has been granted political asylum.

His 17-year-old sister Natalie, who also wants to stay in the United States, is free to remain because she had her own visa when the family arrived seven months ago. She was added to the custody hearing at the request of the state.

Mooney found that the two were in need of state supervision, making them wards at least until a further hearing on their status Sept. 9.

Through a translator, he told the parents, "We want to make certain they don't run (away) again... I'm afraid the next time Walter runs, he may not run to his cousin Walter. He may run somewhere where he will be harmed."

"It's my decision that if at all possible the children be placed with your sister and brother-in-law in Chicago," and that the cousin with whom the children have been staying not be involved, Mooney told the parents. "Three times a week, and three at least, I want them to visit their parents."

After his ruling, Mooney met with attorneys for the parents, the children and the state and ordered psychological evaluations of the entire family, said Rick Michael, a Cook County assistant state's attorney.

"I think it's wrong, I'm against it," said Richard L. Mandel, lawyer for the parents, after the judge's announcement.

Julian Kulas, the boy's attorney, said he was happy with the court's order, and added: "Well, Walter's very pleased that he doesn't have to go back to his parents. He's not very happy about changing his physical place of residence."

Walter had testified he left home because he was afraid his father would tie him up and put him on a plane to the Soviet Union.

During the hearing Monday, a child psychiatrist called by the parents' lawyers testified the boy would suffer psychological harm if he is not returned to his parents.

Dr. Ner Littner said Walter might be displaying rebelliousness typical of children his age. "If a child is able to rebel and get away with it, he is liable to grow up and rebel at future problems," he said.

ON CAMPAIGN TRAIL — Republican Vice Presidential candidate, George Bush, stops to speak to Mrs. William S. Mayfield, of New Orleans, La., shortly after Bush spoke to the National Bar Association in Dallas, Texas, Monday evening. Bush started his campaigning with several stops and short speeches in the Dallas area Monday

Bush attacks Carter's policies on minorities

DALLAS (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate George Bush opened his first official campaign stop with a blast at the Carter administration's minority policies and a promise the GOP could do better.

Bush, hoping to lure many Democratic black voters in this conservative Texas city to the Republican camp, charged the current administration had failed to remove "the growing cancer" of racial bias from national politics.

"Four years ago, Jimmy Carter raised the hopes of America's poor and disadvantaged with his promises. He inspired dreams of a better life," he told the predominantly-black National Medical Association.

"Then he dashed those hopes and dreams on the shoals of a failed presidency."

The former CIA director and United Nations ambassador also mingled with members of two other black organizations — the National Nurses Association board of directors and the National Bar Association.

He was to return to his summer home in Maine today.

In his first speech since being named Ronald Reagan's running mate, Bush cited grim unemployment figures released last week to launch his anti-Carter attack.

"With the overall national rate of unemployment rising slightly to the unacceptable rate of 7.8 percent in July, the number of unemployed blacks and members of minority groups increased from 13.6 to an intolerable 14.2 percent," he said.

Given the cruel political hoax of promising to deliver jobs and a better life, then failing utterly not only to deliver on that promise, but even to curb the growing cancer of black unemployment, can anyone be surprised that Jimmy Carter now finds it more comfortable to campaign in the White House Rose Garden than in the turbulent ghettos he visited as a candidate in 1976?" Bush asked.

The former Texas congressman then recalled Treasury Secretary William Miller's remarks before congress last week that the nation had had three months without any significant increase in unemployment.

"A shrewd observer once said that if you set your performance standards low enough even a train wreck can be chalked off as a success. Obviously the Carter administration applies that 'train wreck' logic in appraising its own economic record."

He said the failure of the Carter administration is not simply a personal failure of leadership.

"It is also the failure of a party grown fat and bloated by more than a quarter-century of holding power in Congress — the failure of ideas and programs whose time has long since come and gone."

Bush outlined the Republican plan for "national recovery" that included strengthening international relations, solving inflation and unemployment and support of civil rights laws, then encouraged his audience to join the "grand new party."

"I come to urge you to join this great new coalition and regardless of past party affiliation, to enter into the coming campaign with open minds — just as we, as a grand new party under the leadership of Ronald Reagan, welcome you to our ranks with open arms," he said.

Texas Tech researchers dispute TSFDA fish testing

SAN BENITO, Texas (AP) — Fish caught in the Arroyo Colorado are all right for consumption, say two Texas Tech researchers, whose laboratory tests contradict the findings of two other laboratories.

The tests by the researchers at Texas Tech's medical branch at San Benito show the amount of pesticide residue found in edible portions of the fish comply with standards of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Dr. Tony Mollhagen and Dr. William R. Elliott said their tests showed levels of 06 parts per million of DDE, a breakdown product of DDT, and 3.1 parts per million of toxaphene. Under FDA standards, fish are unsafe for eating if they contain at least 5 ppm of pesticides.

Tests by Raltech Scientific Services of Madison, Wis., and Columbia National Fishery Research Laboratory of Columbia, Mo., showed 31.5 and 25.6 ppm of DDE and 24.8 and 25.6 ppm of toxaphene, respectively.

Elliott said there is no record of anyone ever dying from DDT in their system.

The Tech researchers said their laboratory methods are superior to others because of a confirmation technique that double checks the results.

The Texas Department of Health made its own tests on the fish and said its report should be complete by late next week.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service sent a letter to the Environmental Protection Administration, asking that it ban fishing from the stream or post warnings about the pesticides found there.

IMELDA MARCOS

Merrimack remnants found?

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The salvage expert who wrote "Raise the Titanic" says a large cluster of underwater junk he found in the Elizabeth River must contain remnants of the Confederate ironclad Merrimack.

Clive Cussler also said Monday there's a "90 percent chance" the wooden wreck his divers found in the James River off Newport News is the Florida, the Southern scourge of Union merchant ships.

The Merrimack, renamed the Virginia when the Confederates won the ship from the Union, was run aground in 1861 and scuttled when Northern troops took over the naval shipyard.

A German diver raised the Merrimack's hull in 1876, Cussler said, but there should be plenty of debris left.

Cussler, whose eyes light up at the mention of any major wrecked ship yet unopened, takes on a special glow about the Merrimack. Because "the North wrote the history books," Cussler said, the Merrimack's most famous Union foe, the Monitor, has gotten most of the attention.

"The Merrimack sank three ships. The Monitor never sank a thing," the 49-year-old Denver resident said.

Philippine royalty here

NEW YORK (AP) — Imelda Romualdez Marcos, first lady of the Philippines, is in this country to secure two large loans for her country, according to a published report.

The 51-year-old wife of President Ferdinand Marcos flew to Washington on Monday to sign for two loans totaling $83 million from the World Bank, the New York Daily News reported.

A bank spokesman was quoted as saying the loans would be used for watershed management and a livestock and fisheries project.

Mrs. Marcos, who arrived in New York last week, dined with former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and his wife, Nancy, undertaking the banking trip.

Perjury charges ruled out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Local prosecutors, in a postscript to the Marvin vs. Marvin "palimony" case, say neither actor Lee Marvin nor his onetime live-in girlfriend will be tried for perjury.

"We decided that given the circumstances, we couldn't prove beyond a reasonable doubt that either of them had committed perjury," district attorney's spokesman Al Albergate said Monday.

Neither Marvin nor Michelle Triola Marvin, who sued for half of the almost $4 million the actor acquired in their six years together, could be reached for comment.

Last year, Superior Court Judge Arthur Marshall rejected Miss Marvin's claim that she had an implied contract with her former lover. He awarded Miss Marvin $104,000 for "rehabilitative purposes."

Two months later, her attorney, Marvin Mitchellson, asked the court to reconsider its decision in the light of a column by Jimmy Breslin in the New York Daily News. In the article, Breslin quoted Marvin as saying he "learned how to lie" during the trial.

Persons entering 'Y' must present membership cards

The Big Spring YMCA organization will, beginning Friday, require all persons entering the building to present their current membership cards at the front desk.

If for any reason you do not have a card and are members, please contact Charlotte Hensley, membership secretary at 267-8234 or come by 801 Owens before Friday.

Examining trial for four members of family scheduled

An examining trial for four members of the Mendoza family arrested in a drug raid last month has been scheduled for Aug. 19 in the Justice of the Peace Courtroom, second floor of the courthouse, at 1:30 p.m.

Abeyta requested the trial by letter to Justice of the Peace Bobby West. An examining trial includes presentation of evidence but no jurors. The purpose is for a magistrate to determine if a case is worthy to be held over for grand jury action.

Former employee sued by City of Lamesa

LAMESA — The City of Lamesa has filed a suit in district court here, alleging that a former employee, Madalena Morales, is not eligible to receive unemployment compensation which, if won, could void a decision made by the Texas Employment Commission.

Payments totaling $1,143 have been made to Ms. Morales.

The city is contending that Ms. Morales voluntarily resigned her job and later passed up the chance to go to work for the City of Lamesa in a comparable or better position.

A spokesman for the city said it decided to seek judgments on the matter in the courts only after exhausting all appeals procedures set up by the TEC.

The city does not pay unemployment taxes. Therefore, any unemployment compensation paid to a former employee by TEC is reimbursed completely with city funds.

Base stealing ace becomes manager in Seattle

Wills makes baseball history

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The pathetic Seattle Mariners, losers of 10 consecutive games and 21 of 25 contests since the All-Star break, have taken what President Dan O'Brien called a "new direction," with former base-stealing star Maury Wills at the helm.

The Mariners announced Monday afternoon that Darrell Johnson, the only manager the American League team had ever known, was being dismissed and Wills, a star shortstop mostly with the Los Angeles Dodgers during his playing days, was his replacement. Wills made his debut as a major league skipper Monday night, but it made no difference as the Mariners lost their 10th straight, an 8-3 setback at the hands of the California Angels.

As far as being baseball's third black manager is concerned, Wills said: "I hadn't thought of it. But many times I wondered why I didn't get an offer to manage in the major leagues. I did a lot of soul-searching. I didn't come up with anything feasible."

Johnson, who managed the Boston Red Sox to an AL pennant in 1975, lasted 3½ seasons with the Mariners, who were formed as an expansion team in 1977. Johnson, 52, guided his teams to records of 64-98, 56-104, 67-95 and 39-65 this season.

Bullpen Coach Don Bryant was also dismissed by the Mariners. "We appreciate everything Darrell has done," O'Brien said during a news conference at Anaheim Stadium. "But we want to take a new direction and we think we have the man to do it."

Wills played with the Dodgers until 1966, when he was traded to the Pittsburgh Pirates. He went to the Montreal Expos after the 1968 season and was traded back to Los Angeles during the 1969 campaign. He had a lifetime batting average of .281 in 14 big league seasons and finished his career with 586 stolen bases.

NEW ON THE JOB — Seattle Mariners' new manager Maury Wills listens closely as umpires point out foul territory at Anaheim Stadium Monday night. Wills took over the managing job Monday as the Mariners took on the California Angels. Wills becomes the third black manager in the history of big league baseball.

White Shoes ready to dance

HOUSTON (AP) — In the Houston Oilers football seasons generally referred to as BC (Before Campbell) the most exciting player on the field was a 5-9 jitterbug from Widener College with an irrepressible smile and unbelievable moves.

Billy "White Shoes" Johnson would spin, twist, duck and run his way into the end zone and flash that smile and do his touchdown dance. While building to their playoff prowess of the past two seasons, the Oilers looked to Johnson to make things happen.

By the end of the 1977 season, Johnson was the National Football League all-time leader in career punt returns with a 13.1 average.

Physicals set for Thursday

Local athletes are reminded that anyone from grades seven through 12 will receive their physicals for the upcoming year during the coming week. Big Spring Athletic Trainer Everett Blackburn emphasizes that any athlete, boys and girls included, that plans to participate in any sport during the upcoming year must pass the physical.

Johnson is making his second comeback attempt and won't even consider the possibility that it's all over. The smile is still there and, Johnson says, so are the moves. What is not there, is a hesitancy to run.

NEW YORK (AP) — For Reggie Jackson, Monday was a memorable night as a prelude to what he expects to be a more memorable occasion in the near future.

JR recovering, but slowly

HOUSTON (AP) — Controversy and anger hovered outside his hospital room but inside, Houston Astros pitcher J.R. Richard — recovering from a stroke that could have been fatal — had other matters on his mind.

Richard's description of the stroke came after Dr. Charles McCollum, the surgeon who removed the blood clot, and Dr. Harold Bristolford, the team physician for the Astros, was reluctant to say specifically if Richard might be able to pitch again this season.

Cliff Harris would come back if asked

DALLAS (AP) — Cliff Harris says he would come out of retirement and rejoin the Dallas Cowboys if coach Tom Landry asked him to do so, but that prospect does not seem likely, according to the coach.

Coach Landry and everybody know how I feel. They know if the predicament becomes serious I would help them out, but I don't think they think it's serious at this time."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day brings some delays or obstacles in the path of your goals, so make sure you are working at the right pace and with the correct information.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Being patient at your work brings fine results now. Use more care in handling routines. Show that you have wisdom.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You may not get the financial results you want in the morning but later they materialize, so be calm.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You arise feeling frustrated, but by knowing the reason for this, you soon get back on the beam and accomplish much.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you try to relax you can soon relieve pressure that seems intolerable. Avoid a troublemaker.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to help others who need assistance and later they lend you a helping hand. Avoid temptation to spend too much money.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Know what is expected of you by higher-ups and gain their respect. Don't take any risks when dealing with outsiders.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have good ideas that should be carried through later in the day for best results. Make this a worthwhile day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get an early start to handle important business matters so you can engage in social activities later in the day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Wait until the afternoon before dealing with a difficult associate for best results. Plan for the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Good day to take on difficult work that becomes easier for you now. Take treatments to improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have a heavy work load, so get an early start and you can plow right through it easily. Relax at home tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Wishes of some family members may not meet with your approval, but come to a happy compromise. Be logical.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have the capability of solving difficult problems, so give the best education you can and success is bound to follow. Give as fine an ethical training as possible. Don't neglect sports early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

FLAIR GEOMETRICS — The Flair, the geometrically designed hair collection for fall and winter from the 68,000 member National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, features special asymmetric shapes for men and women, which are in both short and mid-lengths. The hair may be styled either dry or with light oils, and may be accented with techniques such as partial crimping. Flair asymmetric cuts are ideal for the extensive line of preppy fashions enjoying new popularity this fall and winter.

For Fall and Winter

Geometric hair with flair

Geometric hair shapes in varying lengths provide proportional complements to Fall-Winter's fashion apparel, according to the 68,000 member National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

A Fall-Winter collection of both balanced and asymmetrical hair designs, labeled The Flair, were created by association Coiffure Design leaders in lengths ranging from the shoulder to the ear to balance classic Fall-Winter apparel fashion lines, which includes full skirts, blazers-jackets and plenty of warm sweater designs.

Max Matteson, association Styles Director from Grand Rapids, Michigan, explained that the geometric Flair cuts,

"Provide free movement and ease-of-care by day with built in design for quick avant garde hair-styling by night."

"Today's active career oriented women require uncomplicated hair shapes that easily can be converted to something with Flair for evening," Matteson said.

By day, The Flair cuts are designed to swing and move in classical and sometimes preppy form. By night, they are restyled into chignon, braids and asymmetrical pony tails with plenty of ornamentation ranging from brightly colored hair extensions (hair pieces) to precious metals, jewels, flowers and feathers.

The hair extensions, the newest Flair additions include brightly colored hair pieces, sometimes in up to three different colors that are most popularly placed on the side of the head. There are also sculpture-like wire forms covered in natural hair that are merely positioned on the top of a sleekly combed head of hair.

The balanced geometric Flair hair shapes have equal length throughout the cut, giving the finished look a tremendous sense of balance. The asymmetrical cuts have unequal length on one side, providing a tremendous variety of styles and creative options.

"Like any great works of art, hair must have sound structural design. Each one of the cuts featured in The Flair meets this requirement. The geometric guides and design lines in each Flair style were cut into the hair perimeter, either symmetrically or asymmetrically," Matteson said.

"Once design is accomplished, texture is the next objective," said Matteson. "The Flair contains some beautiful examples of texture through the use of round waves, short fringed bangs, ponytails and the like. The Flair offers a vast assortment of decorative changes, and by the simple addition of a hair extension or ornament, a woman can change a day style into an evening version."

There are versions of The Flair for men, and Matteson sees more men coming into today's cosmetology salons for cuts and body perms as well as style changes.

Mrs. Alexander receives highest VHTAT honor

Mrs. Jack (Fern) Alexander, former Homemaking Department head at Big Spring High School, was named Outstanding Vocational Teacher of the Year by the Vocational Teachers Association of Texas at the organization's awards banquet.

The event took place July 30 in the Grand Ballroom of the Dallas Hilton Hotel. Mrs. Alexander received the prestigious honor in recognition of her service to the teaching profession.

A letter received by Mrs. Alexander from Mrs. Billie Chapman, VHTAT executive director, stated:

"The many letters submitted by your colleagues and friends are a tribute to your dedication. To have touched so many lives in such meaningful ways is a beautiful legacy to one's life."

Colleagues submitting letters of recommendation for Mrs. Alexander included Sue Wilbanks, Charlotte Hamilton, Virginia Martin, Wanda Walker, Alma Wrightsil, Nancy Annen and Billie Grisham.

MRS. JACK ALEXANDER

as Homemaking Department head at the local high school for the past 13 years, retiring last May.

The award winner received her B.S. degree from Texas Women's University, Denton; and her master's degree from Texas Tech University, Lubbock. Present at the banquet to witness the presentation were Mrs. Alexander's husband, Jack; her daughter and grandchildren, Beverly Thomas, Greg and Brian of Denver City; another daughter, Sherri Key, Big Spring; a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Alexander of Dallas; and a sister, Mrs. Ben Cowling, Kermit.

Mrs. Alexander has six children and seven grandchildren. Her daughter Beverly is a homemaking teacher in Denver City.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander have been residents of Big Spring for the past 30 years. They live at 8 Highland Heather and are active members of the First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Alexander is past president of Delta Kappa Gamma; vice regent of Daughters of the American Revolution; and a member of the 1948 Hyperion Club.

She also belongs to the American Home Economics Association and the Texas Council of Family Relations.

The newly named Outstanding Vocational Teacher of the Year was also presented with her 25-year pin at the banquet.

Oldsters Not Ready For Wheelchairs Yet

DEAR ABBY: I am 79 years young, and as an avid reader of your column I was sadly disappointed in your response to the gentleman from Minneapolis who requested your definition of "old age." You replied: "To recycle an old cliché, old age, like beauty, lies in the mind of the beholder. But I would say that you reached it when:

"You need your glasses to find your glasses."

"You walk into another room and wonder what you went there for."

"People start telling you you're looking good, but no one says you're good-looking."

"You pass up a romantic encounter because you're worried about your heart."

"You think today's policemen look like kids."

Your characterization of older people as sightless, absent-minded, ugly and sexless is unworthy of the usual thoughtful insights your readers expect of you.

President Eisenhower once said, "I'm saving that rocker for the day I feel as old as I really am."

I know that he would consider the following more apropos of old age then your reply:

"There is only one thing that old age can give you, and that is wisdom." — S.I. Hayakawa

"Old age is ready to undertake tasks that youth shirks because they would take too long." — Somerset Maugham

"As soon as a man acquires fairly good sense, it is said that he is an old fellow." — Ed Howe

I'm told that President Eisenhower never used that rocking chair. With kindest regards,

CLAUDE PEPPER, FLORIDA, CHAIRMAN, U.S. HOUSE COMMITTEE ON AGING

DEAR REP. PEPPER: I beg your forgiveness, and the forgiveness of all others whom I may have offended.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a girl, just turned 15. I am allowed to date guys who drive regular cars, but my father won't let me go out with a guy who drives a van. I think that's dumb, but as long as I am living under his roof I have to do what he says and keep my mouth shut, right?

My next question is this: When a guy calls up and asks me to go out with him, is it OK if I ask him what I should wear, or isn't that considered cool?

DUMB QUESTIONS

DEAR QUESTIONS: No questions are dumb if you really want to know the answer.

In response to your first question: Right.

And when a guy asks you for a date, it's not only "cool," it's smart to ask him what he has in mind. You wouldn't dress the same for a movie date as you would for a basketball game.

DEAR ABBY: I am a pushover for young people. Four young employees who work with me have borrowed money from me for "personal emergencies." The smallest amount was $300. Not one of those who owes me has ever mentioned the debt, or made any effort to repay even a part of it. One debt is three years old. (By the way, I didn't ask for any interest on my money, nor did I ask anyone to sign a note.)

All four co-workers are very friendly to me, and none seems embarrassed about his non-payment. I am far from wealthy and could use the cash myself, as I shall be retiring soon. How shall I handle this?

TIMID

DEAR TIMID: Try this: "Look, my young friend, you have owed me $ for months. I've said nothing, hoping you would recognize the importance of keeping your credit good. You will hurt yourself in the future more than you hurt me now if you don't face up to the responsibility of paying your honest debts, so how about it? (P.S. Never lend money — not even to your brother — without an IOU.)"

Do you have questions about sex, love, drugs and the pain of growing up? Get Abby's new booklet: "What Every Teen-ager Ought To Know." Send $2 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

'Brown Bag Specials' continue at TESCO

The third in a series of "Brown Bag Specials" sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas Electric Service Company will be held Wednesday.

This week's topic will be "Energy Efficient Microwave Cooking" and will be presented by Cheryl Oren, Home Economist, Texas Electric Service Company.

The program, which is open to the public, will be in the TESCO Reddy Room, 409 Runnels and will begin at 12:10 p.m. and adjourn by 12:50 p.m. Participants are asked to bring a sack lunch. Coffee and tea will be provided.

For further information call Janet Rogers at 267-8469 or Cheryl Oren at 267-6383.

Health, food professionals to examine nutrition trends

Physicians, nutritionists, educators and other food, nutrition and health professionals will meet at the Texas Tech Regional Academic Health Center in El Paso on Sept. 18 and 19 to examine nutrition trends for the '80's.

The conference, Trends in Nutrition, is sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture, Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center at its Regional Academic Health Center, Department of Pediatrics, University of Texas at El Paso College of Nursing, R.E. Thomason General Hospital, and Texans Associated for Nutritional Advance (TANA), a private non-profit corporation created to bridge the gap between scientific knowledge and its application to the nutritional needs of Texans.

Keynote speaker will be Buford L. Nichols, M.D., Department of Pediatrics, Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, a well-known international authority on child nutrition and the founder of TANA.

Conference topics are Nutrition and Obesity, Nutrition and Chronic Disease, the Socio-Cultural Aspects of Nutrition, Nutrition in Maternal and Infant Care, Nutrition and the Adolescent, Maintenance Nutrition for the Adult and the Elderly. Since nutrition has scientific, cultural and consumer aspects, communication among professionals in their various areas of interest will be stressed.

Registrants will be given a packet of U.S. Department of Agriculture publications, written in Spanish and English, which have been especially prepared to help families shop for foods that will meet their nutritional needs.

This program has been designed for the needs of primary care by physicians, nurses, dietitians and other health professionals. This conference meets the criteria for 8 credit hours in Category I of the Physician's Recognition Award of the American Medical Association and the New Mexico State Board of Medical Examiners Required Education Category 4.

The University of Texas at El Paso College of Nursing will award 14 continuing education units to each participant completing this unit of instruction. Approval of 14 CEAP points have been requested from the Texas Nurses Association. Approval for Continuing Education credits have been requested from the American Dietetic Association.

For registration information, contact Susan Larson, Office of Continuing Education, Texas Tech Regional Academic Health Center, 4000 Alberta, El Paso, Tex., 79905; phone: (915) 533-3020.

Tween 12 and 20 School nurse can help abused friend

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Please, please answer my letter in the newspaper. My good friend is being physically abused by his parents. He has told me things they have done to him, and I'm shocked (I can see the bruises and cuts). It's getting worse but he is afraid to tell anyone and doesn't want me to do anything, but I feel I should. Hurry, please write your answer. — Tom, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Tom: Go to your school nurse and share with her your friend's physical condition. She will know what to do. School nurses rank with the best in educational circles. If you are not fortunate to have a nurse at your school, talk to your principal.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 13-year-old girl who is very confused. At school, I really like a certain teacher and I want to go out with him even though I know that he is married. I know this sounds stupid but that's how I feel. My friends think that I'm crazy but I think I love him. He is so cute and sexy. — C.R., Columbus, Ohio

C.R.: You're not crazy. Many young ladies have crushes on a particular male teacher. But let me assure you that it is only a crush. Nothing will ever come of your infatuation except that this teacher probably likes you as a student and wants you to excel academically.

'What's Your Line?' theme of Altrusa orientation

Mrs. Paul Guy presided when members of the Altrusa Club of Big Spring met at the Chamber of Commerce for orientation July 31 at 7 p.m. "What's Your Line?" — With Wise Words for Worried Workers" was the theme for the event.

Baby's birth announced

Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas Parker, Forsan, announce the birth of a daughter, Dawn Alei, born July 14 at 11:23 p.m. in Malone-Hogan Hospital.

She weighed 8 pounds 10 ounces and measured 21 inches in length at birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Don DeBeery, Edenburg, are Dawn's maternal grandparents. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. D.W. Parker, Garden City.

The infant's great-grandmothers are Mrs. Eva Parker, Garden City, Mrs. Zella DeBeery, Mercedes, and Mrs. Effie Akin, Harington.

Welcoming the new arrival home was the couple's 7-year-old son, Jason.

Mrs. Camile Patterson, chairman of Altrusa Information Committee, presented a program entitled "What Is Altrusa," discussing the purpose of the organization and obligations of membership.

The purpose of the organization is: (1) to afford a main channel through which executive business and professional women representing a wide variety of occupational fields but with similar civic and Altrusian motivations can work together thereby making possible the promotion of their common interests, and more effective the contribution of their combined services to civic, national, and international understanding and betterment.

(2) to extend the field for friendships and contacts among professional women beyond the bounds of their own professional groups. Each new officer presented her duties and plans of work for the coming year. The duties and plans of committee chairmen were also revealed and money-making plans were presented to the group.

Light refreshments and a period of fellowship paced the orientation period.

Recruiting of nurses becoming big industry

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Finding nurses for hospitals has become a big industry complete with high-priced recruiting and bounties, according to a House subcommittee.

The National Association of Nurse Recruiters reports hospitals spend up to $4,000 to lure a single nurse into their facility. The average recruiting cost is $1,010 per nurse.

The Subcommittee on the Nursing Shortage, which issued its recommendations Monday, said the shortage could get worse if pay and working conditions for nurses does not improve.

Texas is short 9,000 nurses, the subcommittee said. "A persistent and growing problem in health care delivery has been a shortage of nurses that affects, to some extent, all areas of this state," the report said.

"One blatant example of the nursing shortage in Texas is the curtailment of some services by hospitals due to the unavailability of nurses," according to the subcommittee headed by Rep. Bob Simpson, D-Amarillo.

"The competition has moved some hospitals to offer 'bounties' and provide special incentives for new nurses," the report said.

Bringing in non-Texan and foreign nurses might provide the best immediate relief, the report said. The Texas Tourist Bureau and other state agencies should start "selling Texas," the subcommittee recommended.

Major efforts also are needed to bring more

Carter trying to quell rebellion against him

NEW YORK (AP) - As his rivals for the White House court black votes, President Carter is trying to quell the political rebellion against his renomination at next week's Democratic National Convention.

Carter insisted Monday night that he would not capitulate to dissidents in his own party and release his delegates to vote for whomever candidate they wish at the party's nominating convention.

"These are not my delegates, they're the voters' delegates," Carter said in a nationally televised news conference.

A spokesman for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy responded in Washington that "if President Carter really believes that the delegates represent the voters back home then he should let the delegates freely proclaim that support for him is as strong in August as he claims it was throughout the campaign."

In the news conference, Carter also brushed aside concerns over his badly trailing Republican nominee

Ronald Reagan in public opinion polls. The unusual hour-long news conference was held primarily to respond to questions about the administration's handling of Billy Carter's involvement with Libya.

Disclosure that the president's brother received $220,000 from the Libyan government and suggestions that the administration mishandled the case have fueled demands that Carter allow Democratic delegates the freedom to shift their support to another candidate if they believe Carter cannot be re-elected.

Carter told the news conference that "neither I nor any member of my administration has violated any law or committed any impropriety" in the Billy Carter case.

However, he admitted to mistakes and misjudgments in the administration's handling of the case, though he said these were technical in nature.

Meanwhile, Kennedy, Reagan and independent presidential candidate John Anderson sought support from blacks with speeches to the annual convention of the National Urban League. Carter is scheduled to address the group on Wednesday.

Reagan told the league convention today that the answer to the economic plight of blacks is to "get the economy moving again. Instead of fighting over who gets the last piece of a shrinking economic pie, let's help America produce a bigger pie so that everyone will have a chance to be better off."

In their speeches to the Urban League, Anderson and Kennedy criticized Reagan and the Republican platform adopted at the GOP convention in Detroit last month.

Anderson said the league platform "offers black Americans only cutbacks and rhetoric."

Kennedy accused Reagan of offering slogans without substance and said that only two years ago Reagan had described equal employment opportunity as a "bureaucratic witch hunt."

City files $5,690 suit

The City of Big Spring filed suit Friday in 118th District Court against Asociacion de Contrastistas, Incorporated, for their alleged default on a contract to remodel the Day Care Center at NE Eighth and Runnels.

The city is asking $5,690 for cost of completing the work allegedly undone by the builders. The company had agreed to complete the work in 60 days for $20,543.

On April 24, the city agreed to allow the company another 17 days, but the company filed notice of default May 22.

Man robs bank, then stops to wait for police

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - Witnesses said the man robbed the bank and then sat down in the lobby to wait for police.

Santos Casarez Rios, 74, later told police he wants to go to prison to die because no one cares for him.

Rios was charged Monday with robbing the U.S. National Bank and is being held under $20,000 bond.

Police said Rios was not armed when he handed a teller a note demanding money. Rios was said to have sat down in a chair after a teller placed $10,000 in a bag.

TCCE presents award to Albright at meeting

W. L. (Bill) Albright, executive vice president of the North Channel Area Chamber of Commerce in Houston, has been awarded the annual Distinguished Service Award by the board of directors of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Executives (TCCE) at the 74th annual conference of the organization.

Albright formerly was executive vice president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

Making the presentation in San Antonio was Roger Westrup, Bellaire, incoming president of the TCCE, and chairman of the Awards Committee. Westrup recognized Albright for his outstanding contribution to TCCE and his fellow chamber executives.

Albright is in his eighth year of chamber management. He has served as a member of the TCCE board of directors and with the education membership under this professional development program.

The Texas Chamber of Commerce Executives has dedicated itself to higher efficiency and professional standards in management of Chambers of Commerce in Texas since 1906. The TCCE works to promote the system of free, competitive enterprise with emphasis on individual freedom of choice and individual acceptance of responsibility, and to make the public aware of the positive role of the Chamber of Commerce.

Albright is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce Executive Association of West Texas and is a member of the board of directors of Texas Industrial Development Council.

Prior to moving to Big Spring, he served as executive director of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce.

Albright has also been named a Registered

McKinnon quits as Chamber director, issues apology

COLORADO CITY - Mac McKinnon, immediate past president of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, has resigned from the Chamber's board of directors after issuing a public apology to the operators of a drive-in restaurant here.

McKinnon said he erred in suggesting that coaches, managers and players in a softball tournament patronize only those merchants who had advertised in the tournament program.

In announcing his decision, McKinnon said he felt he could no longer be a 'positive influence' as a director although he remained 100 percent behind the Chamber.

McKinnon also forwarded a $100 check to the Chamber to reimburse the organization for a hot dog supper sponsored by the Chamber for principals in the tournament.

Schaeffer posts $10,000 bail

Billy Dale Schaeffer, 1904 Goliad, was released on $10,000 bond Monday after his arrest on suspicion of nine burglaries. Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin.

Schaeffer was arrested by police Wednesday with Glen Sitton, 17, and a male juvenile.

Police said burglars had devised a system to determine when residents would be on vacation so they could rob their homes.

BIRTHDAY TRIBUTE - The British Post Office's tribute to Britain's Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, a commemorative 12p stamp issued Monday, her 80th birthday.
