Hurricane Allen roaring toward Texas coastline

MERIDA, Mexico (AP) — Hurricane Allen roared today toward the Texas coast, less than 500 miles away, gathering strength from warm Gulf of Mexico waters after a Caribbean rampage that left at least 72 dead.

A hurricane watch was announced for the entire Texas and northeast Mexican coasts, and the U.S. National Weather Service said Allen could create hurricane conditions in portions of the watch area within 36 hours if it continued its course.

At 6 a.m. EDT, Allen's eye was near latitude 22.8 north and longitude 90.2

west — 500 miles east southeast of Brownsville, Texas, and traveling west northwest at 18 mph, packing winds up to 145 mph, the weather service said.

Hurricane force winds extended outward 75 miles to the north and 50 miles to the south. Gale force winds extended outward 200 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south.

The weather service warned smallcraft from the mouth of the Mississippi river westward to the Mexican Gulf coast, including the Yucatan Peninsula and around extreme western Cuba, to stay in port.

Gale warnings were discontinued in the Florida Keys at 4:30 a.m. EDT.

Texas authorities were holding planning sessions today with representatives of 35 federal and volunteer relief agencies that would go into emergency action if the storm hit.

Thousands of Gulf homeowners stocked up on candles, food and plywood to hammer down windows. Hospitals boosted orders for bottled water and Red Cross and Salvation Army officials prepared relief centers and placed workers on alert.

Insurance companies sent in teams to handle those who could be displaced, and oil companies evacuated 2,500 workers from offshore rigs and production platforms.

One helicopter carrying 13 people from one platform crashed 60 miles off the Louisiana coast Wednesday.

Coast Guard authorities said at least four of those on board were found dead.

Allen buffeted Mexico's northern Yucatan Peninsula with 185 mile-an-hour winds and 15-foot waves Thursday but caused no injuries or serious damage, government officials said.

Mexico declared a state of emergency on the peninsula's eastern side and Red Cross authorities mobilized relief efforts. Thousands of people fled the storm, including some 5,000 in Cancun, the lush resort on the Yucatan mainland across from Cozumel.

Since becoming a hurricane Monday near the eastern Caribbean island of St. Lucia, Allen has followed a basically west-northwest route in its killer journey across the Caribbean, through the Yucatan Channel and into the Gulf.

Cuban authorities evacuated 200,000 people and 46,000 cows in seven provinces because of the storm.

Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency, reported that Allen battered Cuba's Isla de la Juventud, the "Island of Youth" formerly called the Isle of Pines, 30 miles off Cuba's western coast, ruining citrus and tobacco crops.

There was no word of any casualties on the island, although it was reported crowded with 25,000 high school students from Third World countries studying on scholarships.

ANTI-KHOMEINI PROTEST — Larry Edwards of Newburg, N.Y., hangs a mask of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini from a noose during a pro-Khomeini demonstration by nearly 200 supporters in Lafayette Park across the street from the White House Thursday. Police surrounded the Khomeini supporters to hold back onlookers who jeered and threw eggs.

Salvation Army preparing disaster relief on coast

Lt. Bill Trasher, commander of the Big Spring Salvation Army Post, has been alerted by Lt. Col. Harlan M. Cleveland, Texas Division Commander of the Salvation Army, that the SA has begun preparations for emergency response to the possibility of Hurricane Allen arriving on the Texas coast.

Cleveland has appointed Major Rolan Chambless, City Coordinator for the Salvation Army in San Antonio, to serve as disaster coordinator and public information officer on behalf of the Salvation Army. Chambless has begun the initial efforts and set up a command post in Corpus Christi.

At 5 p.m. today, Chambless will attend a meeting of all civil defense officials called by Corpus Christi Mayor Luther Jones Sr., to discuss contingency planning in the event of the storm's arrival. The Salvation Army has stationed four emergency disaster canteens in the Corpus Christi area, with an additional seven canteens on stand-by status in the Gulf Coast area.

In addition, Major Robert Bagley, Salvation Army Corps Commander in Waco, has been named director of operations for the Army's Disaster Relief team.

Salvation Army corps officers throughout the possible hurricane area are working with local civil defense officials in making preparations for the storm.

All disaster zone commanders for the Salvation Army in Texas are on alert status and all Salvation Army personnel in the state have been notified to be ready to respond to the landfall of Hurricane Allen, Trasher said.

Jury delivers two-year probated sentence

Curran found guilty of aggravated assault

By DON WOODS
Former Policeman Sean Curran received a two-year probation from an 18th District Court jury this morning, which deliberated only 15 minutes.

The five-man, seven-woman jury returned a verdict of guilty of aggravated assault against Curran at 5 p.m. Thursday. He was convicted of shooting Mark Booher, 29, in the head Feb. 26 at the home of Curran's formerly estranged wife, Katherine.

The jury deliberated most of the afternoon on the conviction Thursday. This morning jurors heard emotional character testimony by Janette Rutherford, police dispatcher, who said she had known Curran for two years. The testimony came during the punishment phase. District Attorney Rick Hamby refrained from questioning any witnesses and called none of his own.

Ms. Rutherford said she learned that Curran on one occasion had prayed with a couple during a domestic disturbance, encouraged them to start church and see a marriage counselor. He was "probably more concerned about people than most of the officers, takes more time with them than most."

Curran was more likely to prevent a crime than he was to try to "set up" catch him in the act, she said.

John Curran, father of Sean Curran, said Curran had set up a Teenage Center in New York state to eliminate teenage vandalism. Sean took measures to insure funding for the center. Mr. Curran said the work of the center is continuing.

He said Curran volunteered for the Army so he could become an MP to further his law enforcement career. He had wanted to be a policeman since he was 12, said the father. The elder Mr. Curran declined to tell the Herald his occupation.

Curran testified also on his own behalf. "I had hoped to be able to continue my career in law enforcement. I really don't know what I'm going to do. I guess I'll have to start all over again. If I get probation I'll just have to try to find something decent."

Curran was silent for several moments as Defense Attorney Bob Moore asked him what he had to say to the jury regarding his application for probation. Moore finally broke the pause with questions about his marriage and career.

"We're doing the best we can with it right now," he said of his marriage. "We're going to make a go of it. From the standpoint of this disaster I would say it's been quite hard."

Curran's father-in-law, Bill Sneed, testified that Curran was "a very good husband and father."

Charles Doane, policeman, said Curran had been one of the first officers he had worked with. Curran would often explain matters of "human nature" to persons whose homes he made calls to. He called Curran "one of the most respected and well-liked officers."

Curran, 25, said he attended Catholic College in New York before joining the Army. He received a discharge under honorable conditions and is on reserve status.

After the shooting he gained income as a Schick-Sunn employee during their filming here. He also worked for Midas here, pumped gas, and serviced some water wells. He sought permanent employment with Ozarka Water but employers were reluctant to hire someone whose future plans were uncertain, said Curran.

He was suspended without pay from the Big Spring Police Department after the shooting.

Mount St. Helens leaves dust on towns again

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — A series of blasts from Mount St. Helens — the fifth eruption in three months — spewed plumes of ash and steam more than eight miles high and sent superheated gases down the mountain's north slope, leaving a light dusting over ash-stricken towns.

There were no reports of injuries. The ash plume and seismic activity subsided to nothing by dawn and extremely heavy clouds had enveloped the volcano, said Federal Emergency Management Agency spokesman Joe Sears.

Rain was falling north of the peak and local travelers advisories were issued by the National Weather Service for slippery roadways due to ash fallout mixed with rain.

The eruptions were no surprise to volcano-watchers, and one scientist said "the long-term prediction is for more of the same."

The blasts began at 4:23 p.m. Thursday and continued through the night. One ash plume shot more than eight miles high and others were more than four miles high, but the eruptions were described as the least forceful of the five major blasts that began on May 18.

Harmonic tremors, subterranean shivers that have occurred before other blasts, preceded the eruptions and signaled officials to evacuate scientists and forestry workers from the restricted zone around the volcano.

Pete Rowley, a U.S. Geological Survey geologist said the tremors, believed to indicate the movement of magma, had subsided early today.

After four hours of low-level harmonics on Thursday, Craig Weaver, a USGS scientist at the University of Washington, said "I'm reasonably confident it will erupt within six hours."

But within minutes, seismograph needles in the lab began waving wildly, signaling the start of an eruption.

"There she goes," said Steve Malone, UW seismologist.

The gray and white ash cloud which carried lightning with it assumed an anvil shape as it spread north-northeast from the southwestern Washington volcano. However, erratic wind patterns carried the ash in different directions at various altitudes.

Ash fell lightly in a wide swath at least 100 miles north from Grays Harbor County on the west coast to Wenatchee in Eastern Washington and south to the Portland, Ore., area.

But fallout was light and residents of Eastern Washington, who were hit especially hard by the ash that fell on May 18, breathed an ash-free sigh of relief.

Following the initial eruption Thursday, the volcano "pulsed" in several small blasts between 7 p.m. and 7:30, then erupted again at 10:32 p.m., said Sears. Three sharp pulsations after the 10:32 blast sent higher concentrations of ash around the mountain and to the north-northwest.

During the first eruption, a pyroclastic flow — superheated gas and ash — slid down the mountain's north slope, stopping short of Spirit Lake. The lake was devastated by clouds of superheated gas and rock during the cataclysmic May 18 eruption that killed at least 31 people.

U.S. Forest Service spotter planes sighted a glow within the crater and along the edges of the pyroclastic flow. "It could be hot rocks, but it's more likely burning gases," Rowley said.

Ash was reported more than 100 miles away.

Survey shows delegates sticking with president

NEW YORK (AP) — An overwhelming majority of President Carter's delegates are sticking with him despite the campaign to "open" the Democratic National Convention which opens here on Monday, according to a new Associated Press survey.

Based on interviews over the past week with 2,889 of the 3,383 delegates, the survey found 87.5 percent of Carter's delegate support a proposed rule which would require delegates to vote for the presidential candidate they supported in the primaries and caucuses.

And even if the convention is opened up to allow delegates to vote as they please, 95.5 percent of Carter's delegates would still vote for him as the party's presidential nominee.

Among delegates pledged to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., 97 percent support him on efforts to block the loyalty rule, which already has been approved by the convention's rules committee and comes before the full convention for adoption along with other floor rules on Monday.

The survey showed almost no erosion of Kennedy support if the convention is thrown open; 97.7 of his delegates said they still would vote for Kennedy even if they are released.

Kennedy's hopes for the presidential nomination rest heavily on the rule fight, since Carter has well over the 1,866 delegate votes need for nomination if he can hold them in line. The AP count shows Carter has 1,865.8 delegate votes for Carter and 1,394.4 for Kennedy, with 111 uncommitted.

The new delegate survey reflects similar findings in a June poll which also showed little support among Carter delegates for the open convention movement being pushed by Kennedy backers and others opposed to Carter's renomination or who claim a closed convention would divide the party.

Action/reaction: Chiggers check

Q. Is there any way to check to see if my backyard has chiggers?

A. If you suspect the presence of the little beggars, stand a piece of black cardboard on end where you think they might be. If after a few minutes you see tiny yellowish or reddish mites accumulating on the upper edge, run for your insect repellent. Incidentally, their real name is "Eutrombicula alfreddugesi."

High hopes to cut $30 million price tag fading

Sunset process will change agencies' standards

By JANN SNELL
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
(Second of three parts)

AUSTIN — If the past is any indication, the 1980-81 state sunset process won't cut much from the $30 million price tag for the agencies currently under review, but it will change somewhat the way agencies do business and impose new ethical standards.

When sunset — the periodic review of agencies — began two years ago, supporters hoped it would whittle down the cost of government bureaucracy. But the hope has faded, and now the process' principle goal is to make agencies more accountable to the public and better able to justify their expense.

The state's sunset process began in 1978-79 with 25 agencies reviewed. Nine were abolished, 12 modified and four combined. One new agency was created.

Although some money may have been saved, most of the abolished agencies existed only on paper and the agencies which were combined still have to perform the same services.

The same options are available for the 28 agencies up for review in 1980-81.

The sunset staff already has made two or three recommendations for each agency. Seven agencies are listed for possible abolition, including: the Real Estate Research Center of Texas A&M University, the Amusement Machine Commission, the State Board of Library Examiners, the Board of Tuberculosis Nurses Examiners, the State Board of Examiners in Social Psychotherapy and the Texas Board of Examiners in the Fitting and Dispensing of Hearing Aids.

The sunset staff evaluated each agency according to several criteria, including whether it keeps its funds in the state treasury, follows open meetings and open records laws, has public members on its board, effectively licenses members of the profession and enforces licensing rules.

The overwhelming majority of the 28 agencies do not have public members on their boards. Sunset commissioners say they want lay members appointed to help protect the public's interest.

One of the major battles of the staff is defining and identifying potential conflicts of interest. No board or commission was found in violation of the law, but half are violating what the commission has determined to be ethical practice.

A common conflict involves board members failing to file sworn affidavits with the secretary of state identifying any possible conflicts of interests. Another consists of boards controlled by "the same profession they were set up to regulate."

A financial statement provides a public record of the individual's interests and help identify issues on which that person should abstain.

Criticism also has been leveled at board members who serve as officers on their profession's associations, which act as lobby groups attempting to influence legislation. Because of the associations' obvious interests, sunset seeks to make illegal such connections between the regulating boards and the regulated.

The State Board of Dental

Examiners received one of the hardest critiques from the Sunset Commission this year regarding conflicts of interest.

Carl Hardin of Austin was executive secretary to the dental board for 35 years while serving as legal counsel to the Texas Dental Association, the dentist's lobby group.

Hardin, currently executive director of the board, stepped down from his post at the association in the mid-1970s. To reward his service to the association, he was given a special retirement fund that he can collect when he leaves the board.

Conservatively, the special trust will amount to $80,000 that he will collect over a five-year period, Norman Nance, the sunset staffer who investigated the dental board, says.

"I learned in law school that it is not improper but the symbolism of impropriety that matters," Sunset Commission Chairman Bennie Bock of New Braunfels told his fellow commissioners during the dental board's public presentation.

Steve Renfrow, a dental association lobbyist, points out that Hardin is an example of the kind of practices that once were accepted without question.

"No one ever questioned us until the early 1970s and then there was a lot of reform legislation," Renfrow says. "We were caught in a bind; it's the kind of thing I can't see ever happening again."

Although no law is broken by Hardin's retirement fund, the staff reporter concludes that the potential for a conflict of interest exists and the close connection between the board and association is in opposition to sunset goals.

Other potential conflicts of interests found by the sunset staff include:

Dr. Frank Mann Jr. of Wharton, a Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners member, is president of his trade association.

Albert Hopkins of Houston and Bill Pittman of Amarillo, State Board of Pharmacy members with substantial pharmacy interests, had not filed personal financial statements with the secretary of state.

Both have filed since the sunset report.

The Texas State Guard has given the guard association free advertising in the "Texas State Guard Bulletin" and distributed the pamphlets at state expense to guard units.

Mildred Thormann, Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners president, also has served as Texas trustees chairman for the Texas League of Vocational Nurses.

In addition to possible conflicts of interest, the sunset staff found that slightly more than half of the boards and commissions had at one time or another violated the Texas Open Meetings or Open Records laws.

The staff also identified licensing and enforcement problems within the boards. Well over half were asked to improve their licensing techniques and even more were asked to strengthen their enforcement procedures.

Often licensing and enforcement problems were a factor in sunset report recommendations to consolidate smaller agencies within larger, more effective agencies.

Bronx man convicted

NEW YORK (AP) — A Bronx man has been convicted of putting a knife to the throat of a 16-year-old girl and threatening to kill her unless she gave him $25 cents.

Angel Lopez, 40, was convicted Thursday in state Supreme Court of attempted armed robbery and faces up to 15 years in prison. Justice Joseph Cerbone scheduled sentencing for Sept. 9.

District Attorney Mario Merola said Lopez confronted Norine Reid on a street near her home last November and tried to rob her. He said the girl's screams brought her mother running to her aid and Lopez fled.

Quake hits Alaska

PALMER, Alaska (AP) — An earthquake centered in a remote area of Mount McKinley National Park has shaken central Alaska, including the city of Fairbanks, but caused no damage or injuries, officials said.

Preliminary readings indicated the Thursday quake measured 5.4 on the Richter scale, according to John Sindorf of the Tsunami Warning Center at Palmer. The National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., said the quake measured 5.

Escapes waive hearing

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Three convicted killers captured near here after escaping from Death Row at a Georgia prison have decided to waive extradition procedures, according to their attorney.

The three issued a statement Thursday through the attorney, James Fuller of Charlotte, that said they were returning voluntarily because they feared retaliation from Georgia prison authorities if they didn't.

Four inmates escaped from the Georgia State Prison at Reidsville July 28. Three were captured July 30 and the fourth was found beaten to death.

Controller lapse serious

BURLINGTON, Mass. (AP) — A lapse by an air traffic controller allowed two airliners to come within two miles of each other, three miles closer than federal rules allow, according to a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration.

The incident Wednesday involved an Eastern Airlines flight that had taken off from Boston for San Juan, Puerto Rico, and a Delta Air Lines flight headed for Boston from Washington, Stan McDonough of the FAA said Thursday.

Grand jury indicts teens

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — A county grand jury has indicted two teen-aged residents of a reformitory on charges of sexually abusing and killing a retired officer of Reader's Digest.

Terrence Losicco, 17, and David Hollis, 16, were charged Thursday with murder, sodomy, robbery and other counts in the May 25 beating death of Eleanor Prouty, 67, at her home in Somers. Mrs. Prouty often hired residents of the reformitory, Lincoln Hall, to work around her house.

Losicco and Hollis will be tried as adults and could be sentenced to 25 years to life in prison if convicted.

Crop-dusting plane crash kills pilot

MIDLAND — The fiery crash of a crop-dusting plane south of here Thursday afternoon killed the craft's lone occupant.

Royce Young of Elgin was spraying crops near the Midkiff community, south of here in Upton County, when a wing of his single-engine plane struck a radio tower, according to Department of Public Safety officials.

The tower collision, officials said, apparently caused the Pawnee craft to burst into flames and plunge into the field one-half mile northeast of Midkiff.

Young was pronounced dead at the scene of the 3:30 p.m. crash by Rankin Justice of the Peace C.G. Taylor.

"I was sitting in my living room by the window when I heard an explosion," said Mrs. Pere Pillows, who lives about two blocks from the pasture where the small plane went down.

"When I looked up, it (the plane) was already on fire," Mrs. Pillows said. "He'd been flying around here about three hours."

Federal Aviation Administration investigators from Lubbock are continuing their probe into the fatal crash, the DPS said.

The single-engine plane was severely damaged by fire, investigators said, and the pilot, who was still in the plane's cockpit when officials arrived, remained unidentified for several hours after the crash.

Armادillos are insect feeders, easy to trap

A common animal seen in flower beds and gardens in this area is the armadillo. It has no front teeth and is a member of the anteater family.

If your trees have suffered scratch marks, it might be that they were caused by an armadillo. The animal digs in such areas looking for insects.

Armادillos are insect feeders; primarily and are seen even more frequently in yards that are infested with grubs. They can sometimes literally tear up flower beds. Freshly watered areas will attract armadillos because the moisture makes the soil loose and causes bugs to come to the surface for air.

The best control is to shoot the animal. Or for the more adventurous, run up on the armadillo and catch it. They cannot bite but do have powerful claws. Before shooting, be sure to check with the police department on the use of firearms inside the city limits. Armadillos are not intelligent animals, so they can be easily caught in a live trap as long as the trap is in their pathway.

You may want to construct a funnel by placing 1"x6" boards up to the door of the cage. There is no chemical on the market to control or repel armadillos but there are chemicals to control the insects and grubs on which they feed. If you control the food supply, you stop armadillos from digging up your yard. PLANS WORKSHOP — Tom Notestine, the well-known watercolor artist from San Antonio, will be conducting a workshop and exhibit in Big Spring beginning this Sunday.

Notestine to hold workshop, art exhibit in Big Spring

Tom Notestine, the well-known watercolor artist from San Antonio, will be in Big Spring beginning this weekend for a workshop and art exhibit. The week-long workshop, which is being held at the Treasure Chest, will get underway Monday.

In conjunction with the workshop, Notestine will also have an exhibit of his recent works at Citizens Federal Credit Union. The exhibit will open to the general public Sunday from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m. and will run through Friday.

Notestine, who originally began his career as an architect in his home state of Kansas in 1958, has done extensive traveling throughout the United States and South American. During these trips, Notestine says that he finds many subjects for his individual art presentations.

Talking about the development of his art, Notestine said "the best advice that I can give an artist is to paint a little each day. When I was painting architecture, I always had two set-ups for watercolors: one at my home, and a small set of paints that I carried each day to the office, painting on my lunch hour.

"Many of these were good enough to enlarge into bigger paintings; and if they weren't, all that practice hadn't gone to waste. If every student drew for ten minutes a day, in one year he would be better at drawing and this would surely reflect in his paintings," Notestine continued.

"I believe in thorough preparation before I start a painting, watercolor or oil," he said. "In my 8'x10' sketch book with a 6B pencil, I make three-value tonal sketches showing the darks, lights and middle tones of every painting I produce. I may make five or six sketches of the subject before I settle on the one I think is best."

Hurricane watch for entire Texas coast

By the Associated Press
Killer Hurricane Allen moved towards the Texas coast early today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue a hurricane watch for the entire Texas coast.

The National Weather Service said the hurricane, packing top winds of 145 mph, moved to within 500 miles of Brownsville before dawn. It was moving at about 18 mph and forecasters said some part of the Texas coast could get hurricane force winds within 36 hours.

Allen was expected to intensify later today, forecasters said.

The hurricane, described as the most powerful ever to pass through the the Caribbean, has claimed at least 72 lives.

Forecasters said hurricane warnings would likely be posted for at least a portion of the Texas coast later today.

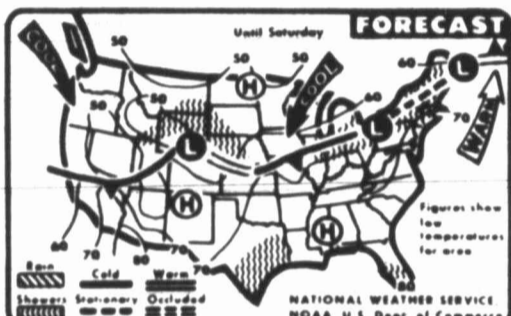

Forecasters called for a chance of showers and thunderstorms for portions of South Texas and Southeast Texas as well as for far West Texas.

The remainder of the state was to have clear to partly cloudy skies and very warm to hot temperatures. Highs were to range from near 90 along the coast to 103 in North Central Texas and as high as 110 in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

A few showers and thunderstorms were reported in the Gulf of Mexico off Corpus Christi early today and some isolated showers were located east of Laredo.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s. Extremes ranged from 61 at Marfa to 83 at Galveston.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Clear to partly cloudy through Saturday with a slight chance of thunderstorms extreme west through Saturday. Highs 90 to 102 except near 110 Big Bend. Lows 65 to 78 except near 60 southwestern mountains.
EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Widely scattered thunderstorms with no important temperature changes. Lows 70s except 60s mountains. Highs mid 90s north and mountains to near 100 Big Bend valleys.

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm weather is expected in the forecast period, today until Saturday morning, for most of the country. Cool weather is forecast for the Pacific Northwest coast and Minnesota. Showers are forecast for the northern Plains, east Texas, southern Florida and from the Midwest to New England.

Wanted man arrested in Texas

CARROLLTON, Texas (AP) — A man sought by South Carolina authorities for killing another man by plunging a three-foot sword through him has been arrested in Carrollton, authorities said.

Joe Melvin Ridley, 33, was arrested at his sister's home early Thursday on a warrant charging him with the murder of Troy Harper, 53, of Starr, S.C., according to Carrollton Police Lt. Pete Cole.

Texas and South Carolina authorities had been looking for Ridley, of Anderson, S.C., on a variety of charges.

Cole said Ridley used an alias when he was arrested last May in Carrollton, a city of 50,000 near Dallas. He said authorities in the two states didn't know they were looking for the same man until Anderson County Sheriff E.E. "Duck" Cooley gave a description of Ridley that matched that of the man wanted in South Carolina.

Ridley was charged with murder on Monday after Harper died at Anderson Memorial Hospital. Harper was stabbed with a cavalry sword at a party near Starr, S.C., July 29.

Anderson County authorities had issued a warrant charging Ridley with Harper's death and with stabbing Harper's son-in-law and another man at the party.

Cole said a 15-year-old Carrollton girl reported that on May 23 a man broke into her home, tied her up and tried to rape her. A man who identified himself as Tony Joe Porter was arrested for the crime, the officer said.

Since authorities had no record of previous arrests for a Tony Joe Porter, Cole said, they released the man on $15,000 bond. "It caused a big disturbance in the neighborhood after we let him go. We knew he was a dangerous individual, but since we could not find a record, we had to let him go," Cole said.

Carrollton police later found out that the man they arrested was actually Ridley and that he was wanted in Dallas for aggravated assault on a woman.

Ridley made his way to South Carolina, where he was arrested by Anderson police July 13 on robbery and auto theft charges. He was out on $10,000 bond on those charges when Harper was run through with the sword and the others stabbed, police say.

Cooley telephoned Carrollton police Thursday to say he had learned that Ridley was at the home of his sister, Mary Ann Garner, according to Cole.

Reunion of S.L. Hull family held in Stanton

STANTON — Eighty-nine people were present here Sunday for the reunion of the S.L. Hull family.

Mr. and Mrs. S.L. Hull moved to Howard County in 1906. Of the 11 children born to the couple, only three are alive now. They are Earl Hull, Floyd Hull and Leona Baugh, all of Big Spring.

Floyd himself was unable to attend the reunion because he is confined to a hospital in Galveston.

Thirty members of the Earl Hull family were present for the reunion.

Dona Hull, wife of the late Elmer Hull, is confined to a rest home in Stanton. Her particular family was represented by 27 people, among them five generations.

The reunion took place in the Stanton Community Center. People attended from as far away as Denton, Fort Worth, San Angelo and Odessa.

The reunion took place in Big Spring for many years but has been held in Stanton in recent years.

Plant in China given $2.5 million contract

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Sigma Coatings, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of American Petrofina, Inc., today announced it has been awarded a $2.5 million contract to supply the protective paints for all sea-going containers produced by a new container manufacturing plant presently under construction in the People's Republic of China.

The contract was awarded by Javelin Co., Ltd., a Hong Kong based firm which is under contract to the People's Republic of China to establish the plant, to supply raw materials, and to market the containers.

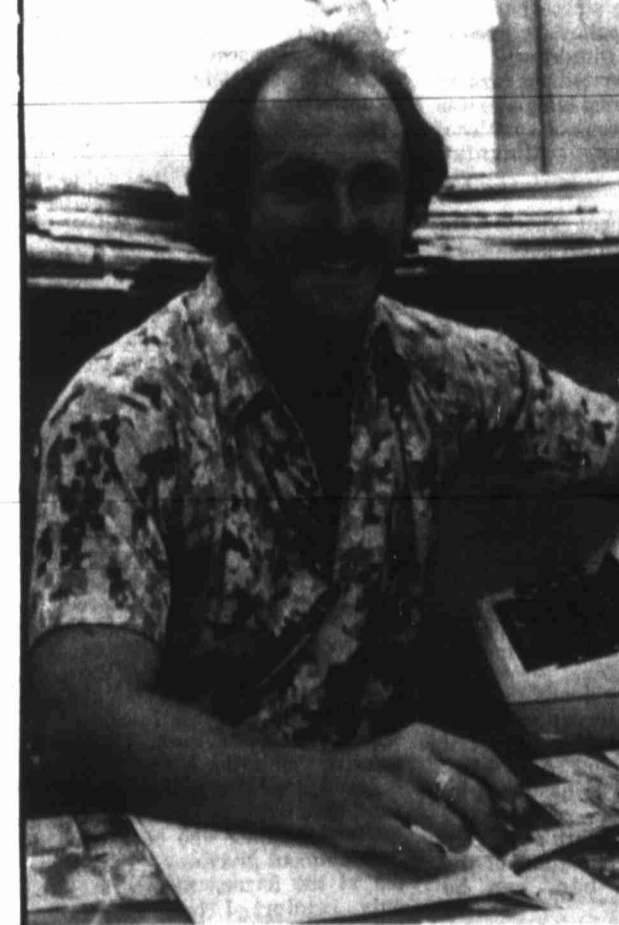

Sigma Coatings, Inc., is part of the worldwide network of plants and sales organization in over 100 countries. All material for the new contract will be manufactured and shipped from Sigma's Harvey, Louisiana, plant to Sigma Coatings Hong Kong, Ltd., which is responsible for the local sales and service to Javelin.

G.P. Mitchell, vice president, marketing, for Sigma Coatings, Inc., a marine paint and industrial coatings manufacturing company, said competition for the contract was very keen.

First shipment on the exclusive supply contract will be made this month. "It is very important to produce a durable, long-lasting coating because wind, rain, sand, seawater and salt-laden air continuously attack containers," added Mitchell.

Clearing litter everybody's problem

There are some people who think that litter propagates, like vermin. That's not true, of course, but it accumulates so rapidly and is so persistent a problem it simply 'outdoes' Mother Nature.

Man's penchant for throwing away things rather than disposing of them in recommended manners has posed a problem ever since Adam walked the earth. Never in history, however, has the problem of coping with it bugged man like it is doing now.

Motorists by the millions throw their waste onto roadsides, then pay the state a premium to pick it up for them.

The discouraging thing about the problem is that some civic-minded group can set about to clean up a specific area and leave it spick-and-span, only to have the litterbugs eliminate all traces of their good work within a matter of weeks.

THE AREA around the original "big spring" here should be one of the real beauty spots in West Texas. In order to maintain a spotless appearance, however, a guard with a rabid skunk would have to watch for violations on an around-the-clock basis. Some of the gentry who sneer at man's efforts to make a place liveable throw their empty cups and beer cans into the water, deliberately desecrating the place.

Much of the trash left along public thoroughfares has been deposited there by lazy people who didn't want to take their debris all the way to public dump grounds. Many new roads have been 'christened' by such slovenly citizens.

The flagrant violations of anti-dumping laws should be prosecuted to the fullest when the guilty party can be brought to heel.

AMERICA IS SUPPOSED to be the showcase country of the world but for cleanliness most cities in America can't compare with metropolises in some parts of Asia and Europe, where the citizens take immense pride in the preservation of urban beauty. Too, the laws against violators of littering codes are harsher in those communities than they are here.

Many lawmen, of course, are aware of anti-dumping laws and dislike litter as much as the rest of us but they can spend very little time in trying to catch the violators. They were, after all, hired to investigate more serious transgressions.

Trash dumping can quickly turn a beauty spot into an eyesore. Citizens who see people in the act of depositing trash should report them to authorities. If the problem is ever going to improve, the police can't be expected to work out the solution by themselves.

A lot of litterbugs are hooked on the practice and the only way they can take the cure, in all probability, is to be caught and prosecuted by the law.

Everyone should take pride in the way our parks, roadways and countryside looks. Regrettably they're not. The problem won't diminish until society makes an example of those caught in the act of littering.

Few capable

Around the rim

Steve Hershberger

The cries heard throughout the land for a man capable of leading this country through its present challenges reminds me of a series of books the historian James Flexner wrote several years ago about George Washington.

The series, consisting of four books, examined Washington's role in the establishment of our federal system. Called "Washington: The Indispensable Man" series, the books contained the authors claim that this nation could not have survived its early years under the Constitution if Washington had not been president.

I made a list of presidents who could be classified as absolutely necessary to the well-being of this country. Men who came to our rescue at difficult times.

After Washington, I contend, the United States did not have an indispensable leader until the voters in the northern states elected Abraham Lincoln president in 1860.

Lincoln brought this country through a divisive civil conflict between the states. If he had lived, the country would have administered Reconstruction easier and the bitterness from the war between the states would not have lasted until late in this century.

It was over 60 years until the next indispensable man emerged to lead this country. This time it was Franklin Roosevelt, who was able to effect Keynesian economics, to bring this country out of a depression. Roosevelt also steered this country through World War II.

Some 30 years later, a modest, middle American was elevated to the presidency after the former chief executive resigned in disgrace. The man was Gerald R. Ford.

Many may question this choice, but my criteria is indispensability, not intellectual greatness. Because of his personality and his approach, Ford restored the faith the American people had in the presidency. He reunited a divided nation after Nixon split the country asunder with the Watergate Scandal.

One fact becomes clear about these men. Outside of Washington, all men had really unimpressive abilities. But, more importantly, they arose to the occasion.

May backfire

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — In a scathing, secret memo, State Department strategists have warned that President Carter's "chaotic" attempts to undermine the revolutionary regime in Iran could play into Soviet hands.

That prosecution of the group would "almost inevitably result in dismissal" and that a government appeal would likely "produce undesirable precedent, which might limit the executive's options in future crises."

The Soviets appear to be trying to destabilize and dismember Iran, the memo notes, by stirring up minority discord. As the country disintegrates into hostile ethnic factions, the Soviets seek to subvert and subjugate the separate factions, thereby bringing Iranian territory under Kremlin control piecemeal.

But Jordan has taken exception, in a private memo to the president. He noted that prosecution would be "politically popular" and that the trial would be "an extended process." The inference, in other words, is that the case wouldn't likely be defeated or dismissed before the election. He argued that prosecution of the Clark group was "necessary to maintaining the role of presidential leadership."

THE SECRET MEMO accuses the White House, ineffect, of advancing the Soviet strategy by our own clumsy, covert efforts to divide the minorities and disrupt the Iranian government. But unlike the Soviets, the memo charges, the clandestine U.S. operations lack central control and policy objectives.

YOUR NUMBER OR YOUR LIFE: The days of the masked highwayman, brandishing a pistol and shouting "Stand and deliver," are long gone. Likewise, the era of Tommy gun-toting bank robbers will soon be swept into the dustbin of history as the fast-approaching cashless society takes over.

As examples, the CIA has been broadcasting from Egypt appeals to Iranians to "take up arms" and has supported Iranian exile groups, with no control over what these groups do. The CIA has also made on-again, off-again contacts with former military officers in Iran. This has succeeded only in having some of the unfortunate officers hauled before firing squads.

By sabotaging key computers across the country, for example, terrorists could make the simplest transactions impossible, creating financial chaos and panicking the public.

All the while these undercover operations have been going on, the State Department has kept its diplomatic hands off Iran and has adopted the wait-and-see attitude that President Carter promised our European allies last June he would maintain.

Organized crime could subvert a computer system and skim off billions undetected. Individuals with a knowledge of electronics could get away with millions before their system was discovered. Already, the incidence of computer crimes is growing yearly.

In frustration, the strategists have called the Carter policy "clinically schizophrenic — withdrawn, confused, and characterized by bizarre fantasy." This scathing language was addressed to the president's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski.

These ominous warnings are detailed in an unpublished manuscript by August Bequai, a Washington, D.C., lawyer. While noting that old-fashioned armed robbery, forgery and counterfeiting will disappear along with currency, coins and checks, he adds: "New categories of crimes will take shape, and a new class of electronic felons will bilk the public of billions."

The State Department experts were too discreet to discuss the president's motives in the memo. But privately, they suspect he wants to bring down Ayatollah Khomeini's regime before the November election and take credit with the voters for the achievement, an inside source told me.

UNDER THE DOME: Rep. Robert Edgar, D-Pa., a Methodist minister, has been given a moral rating of only 8 percent by an outfit called Christian Voice. On the other hand, Rep. Richard Kelly, R-Fla., who was recently indicted in the ABCAM scandal, got a rating of 100 percent.

What the experts fear is that the Soviet Union, not the United States, would pick up the pieces. Because Iran dominates the Persian Gulf, fountainhead of the industrial world's oil, it is vital to U.S. interests to foster a stable, democratic government in Iran. This must "evolve from the current situation," without foreign interferences, urges the secret memo.

Three former congressmen, Pat Jennings, D-Va., James O'Hara, D-Mich., and Frank Evans, D-Colo., were enlisted by agrusiness interests to help push through the House Interior Committee a bill that gives farm farmers a break on federally subsidized irrigation water. Rep. Phil Burton, D-Calif., who opposed it as "an infamous giveaway," took a wry dig at the former members: "The only comfort I can take as a Democratic liberal is that in this period of unemployment this legislation has provided a lot of meaningful employment to a great number of our friends, former colleagues, old fraternity buddies."

Footnote: The president's political whiz kid, Hamilton Jordan, wants to play politics with another aspect of the Iranian problem. A Justice Department task force has been investigating whether ex-Attorney General Ramsey Clark's recent mission to Iran, in violation of the president's travel ban, can be prosecuted.

THE CONFIDENTIAL conclusion is that the Clark group "did not violate, except in a very narrow and technically questionable sense, any law or statute of the United States."

Embracing Reaganism

Evans, Novak,

WALTHAM, Mass. — The overwhelmingly Democratic blue-collar voters in this Boston suburb, who gave Jimmy Carter a landslide over Gerald R. Ford in 1976, have not only turned against the president but have embraced the basic economic and defense policies of Ronald Reagan.

That is the inescapable conclusion from interviewing in precinct 7-1 just 10 days before the Democratic National Convention. It was selected for us by Patrick Caddell's Cambridge Survey Research as prototypical of blue-collar precincts that heavily supported Carter four years ago in one of his best states. Is it possible that such a Democratic stronghold in the only state won by George McGovern in 1972 could embrace the hero of the Republican right?

IT IS OUT OF 79 registered voters interviewed in precinct 7-1, this was the outcome (in votes, not percentages): Reagan, 37; Carter, 12; Rep. John Anderson, 22; Ed Clark (Libertarian), 1; would not vote, 2; undecided, 5.

If Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie is substituted for Carter, Reagan's margin shrinks (Reagan 30, Muskie 26, Anderson 19). But that is still a shockingly poor Democratic performance among voters that include only 12 avowed Republicans. Nor can Anderson's independent candidacy be blamed; more of the 22 Anderson voters prefer Reagan to Carter in a two-man race.

Reagan is the 47-year-old wife of a telephone lineman, a Democrat who backed Carter last time but prefers Reagan this time. "My problem is the cost of living," she told us. "Carter just hasn't done anything about it."

The 79 voters interviewed were even more pro-Carter in 1976 (69 percent) than the precinct at large (64 percent). When asked how they voted then, many voluntarily added, "Sorry to say," after saying Carter's name. The most frequently given reason by Carter-switchers for supporting Reagan was voiced by a 40-year-old nurse: "Just to get rid of Carter."

These voters give Carter a favorability rating of only 21 percent (compared to 67 percent for Reagan, 63 percent for Muskie, 53 percent for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and 46 percent for Anderson). But the upheaval in precinct 7-1 cannot be explained by Carterphobia that will dissipate once the Carter campaign paints Reagan as a missile-rattling warmonger.

That was shown by answers to questions prepared for us by Caddell: 3-to-1 supporting higher national defense spending; 3-to-1 favoring the Republican platform plank calling for "military superiority" over the Russians; 4-to-1 disagreement with the proposition that Reagan as president would bring nuclear war closer; 5-to-1 preference for Reagan over Carter in dealing with the Russians.

BUT IT IS NOT their sense of a diminished America in the world that most bothers these middle-income Americans. Unable to make ends meet while earning a higher salary than they ever dreamed possible (the precinct's median annual income, $19,500). These voters rate Reagan as poorest of the three candidates in ability to quickly end the recession (Anderson is, curiously, the highest by nearly 4-to-1). But it is not recession that worries precinct 7-1 today.

Asked to name the nation's two biggest problems, 47 voters mentioned inflation ("the economy" was second with 20 mentions; only seven named unemployment).

B-12 deficiency usually appears late

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is pernicious anemia inherited? I have two relatives who have it, and our family doctors have different opinions about this. If it is inherited should I have periodic tests or should I wait for symptoms? What, by the way, are the symptoms? — B.L.

There's no clear evidence that pernicious anemia (lack of vitamin B-12) is inherited. I must add, however, that it shows up in some families with greater frequency than in the population at large. That does not mean your chances of getting it are great. I hope this doesn't confuse you. There is a difference between being predisposed to developing an illness and being born with genes for it.

Pernicious anemia is the inability of the body to handle the vitamin, a condition most commonly appearing after age 60. You needn't worry that a terrible disease will strike you suddenly simply because you have two relatives with the illness. The body has a large store of this B-12; so deficiencies do not show up suddenly or dramatically.

You should establish contact with your doctor and tell him your family history, then have checkups your doctor would ordinarily have. Your doctor will be alert to the problem, and you can lead your life without adding unneeded worry.

Symptoms might include weight loss and problems associated with anemia. A burning tongue is often reported. The treatment is to give injection of the vitamin, since the anemia does result from an inability of the intestines to absorb the B-12 normally from food.

The family history is something to be aware of, and it might prove a blessing of sorts in prompting early diagnosis at some distant point in your life. Tell your doctor and let him worry about it.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What advice do you have for people who are a few dollars too rich for welfare and too poor to have doctors and get prescriptions? What happens to a person who, because of such a situation, stops taking the following medicine — Dyazide, digoxin, and Isordil? What happens if I have a heart attack? No pills, no assistance. Do you just sit at home and wait to die alone? You are the only doctor I have now. Your column is the first thing I read. — A.S.R.

Truly, I am upset by your letter. A columnist writing general health information, even though he is an M.D., should not be the only doctor you have.

And I am angry to think that you have to worry about obtaining health care and medicine because of lack of money. Certainly, you must have consulted a doctor in order to have got the prescriptions for your drugs. Talk matters over with him. I am sure he does not realize your financial problems. Then call your county medical society to see what can be done about getting your medicine.

This is not "charity." You have a much right to expect help for your health problems as you do for your food and shelter.

Don't stop your digoxin (which helps your heart to pump), your Isordil (isosorbide dinitrate, which is for dilating the arteries to your heart muscle) or your Dyazide (triamterene and hydrochlorothiazide, which is to control your blood pressure). If you are not getting any results from your local agencies, write me again — right away.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I take Naprosyn for arthritis. Does it have both anti-inflammatory and anti-pain properties? How does it compare with aspirin in effect? — N.T.

Naprosyn (naproxen), as well as being a pain reliever, is an anti-inflammatory agent. It is useful in arthritis. The manufacturer claims that it is equivalent to aspirin in effects.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a 13-year-old granddaughter who has a back problem called Scheuermann's disease. Could you please give me some information about it? I can't seem to find any reference. — Mrs. H.R.G.

Look under "kyphosis dorsalis juvenilis," another name for it. It is a disturbance that weakens the bones of the spinal column, especially of the upper back. There may be some back pain with it and some bowing of the back. The usual treatment is rest until there is satisfactory evidence that the bones of the spinal column are regaining their strength. A back brace or traction may be needed by some youngsters, and exercises tailored to the individual help. With this condition there is usually a point, at age 16 to 18, when the progression of the problem stops.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I used to believe in God, but I don't anymore. Can you give me any reason for changing my mind? — S.T.

DEAR S.T.: I suspect that you originally had little reason to believe in God and it was therefore not a big step for you to give up your belief. But the Christian is much more than a person who believes in God or Christ. He is a person who has acted on that belief, by committing his life to Jesus Christ as his personal Lord and Savior. This is the step that I pray you will make some day, because this is the most important thing you can do in life.

Yes, there are various reasons I could give you for believing in God. I could talk about the wonderful and intricate order we see in nature. I could talk about the way belief in God has changed the lives of individuals and even whole societies for the better.

But I am convinced there is one crucial reason or more, which you must face above all else. That is the fact of Christ. Jesus asked His disciples once, "But what about you... Who do you say I am?" (Matthew 16:15). This is the important question — who is Christ? He claimed to be the Son of God — in fact, He claimed to be God in human flesh. If that is true, it makes all the difference. You can not only know that God exists, but you can know Him personally by faith in Christ. So I invite you to look at Him. Take the Gospel of John (which was written for people like you) and read through it carefully. Ask yourself what kind of person Christ was, and what proof He offered for His claims—including His resurrection.

There is one other thing I want to say. If you come to Christ and decide to become His disciple, it will not be easy for you. I am sure there are certain things you will have to give up, and most of all you will have to yield yourself to His Lordship and control. But don't be afraid to yield to Him, and don't be afraid of what He might do in your life. There is no higher, better life than a life lived for Christ.

Big Spring Herald

Midland second costliest place to live in Texas

MIDLAND — Only Beaumont among Texas cities outranks Midland as the costliest place to live. The latest report, issued in April, covers the first quarter of the year. The American Chamber of Commerce Researchers Association, which released the report, uses 100 percent as the national average on the cost-of-living index. Midland had an index of 106.9, meaning that residents would normally pay nearly $107 for items which figured out to $100 in the average city. Houston ranks at 104.3 in the same survey. New York City's survey rating is the highest — 127.5 — and Rapid City, S. Dak., the lowest — 83.5. Temple has the lowest rating in the state — 91.2.

Water still bubbles, but baths are dingy

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Visitors still come to bathe in the bubbly mineral spring waters that made this small upstate city famous. Some bathers come from as far as Europe and Japan.

But they don't flock here the way they did in the spa's heyday three decades ago, when nearly 200,000 treated themselves to the bubbly waters annually. Now the baths draw only about 20,000 people a year.

The Depression-era pipes are plugged with minerals and the bath houses are a little dingy. State workers say their budget barely goes far enough to keep the city's treasure clean and presentable, and that the state makes no money on the baths.

There's a move among residents to turn what was designed as a center for the ill into a center for the healthy. They say a new generation of customers could be attracted — if someone could take the right steps to make up for years of neglect.

"The baths are the heart of the city, and the heart's not beating," said Michael London, who with his wife, Wendy, runs Mrs. London's Bake Shop, a restaurant and bakery in the renovated downtown area of this city of about 22,000.

London says Saratoga's baths could be like those they visited in Austria — modern, efficiently run and popular. He is among business people and residents advocating a private takeover of the baths to reverse their decline.

Such a reversal would come very dear.

Stephen Dyer, general superintendent for the baths, said no estimate has been made on a repair project, but turning even one of the two remaining bath houses into a truly modern facility would cost "millions."

For $13 in peak season, a bather can buy 15 minutes privately submerged in naturally carbonated water, followed by a mineral oil massage and a nap in warmed sheets. The water, heated to body temperature, relaxes tense muscles and, some say, stimulates circulation and relieves arthritis symptoms.

The waters, depending on the spring from which they flow, contain varying amounts of salts and minerals — such as calcium, potassium, magnesium and iron — and some radioactive elements. The state warns that drinking some of the waters in large amounts for a long time could be a health hazard.

When they were built in the 1930s, the baths were touted as a health spa, and doctors were on hand to help bathers with arthritis, circulatory ailments and other ills.

Local student on honor list

AUSTIN — The College of Communication at The University of Texas named 316 students to the 1980 Spring Semester honor roll.

To qualify for the honor roll, students must have completed 12 or more semester hours of graded work with a grade-point average of 3.5 or higher and no grade less than a C (A equals 4 points).

The honor lists, announced by Dean Robert C. Jeffrey, includes Ethel Irene Little, 6 Highland Cove, Big Spring.

Energy — New venture in Howard

R. A. Mendenhall Associates Ltd., Midland, will drill the No. 1 Quinn, a 10,400-foot wildcat in Howard County, 3/4-mile northeast of a depleted undesignated San Andres discovery, 2 1/2 miles west of the Moore (San Andres) field, separated by a 7,900-foot failure, and nine miles southwest of Big Spring.

Location is 2,310 feet from the north and east lines of 16-34-15-T&P.

The San Andres discovery, Tom Brown Drilling Co. Inc., Midland, No. 1 Quinn, drilled to 9,820 feet and abandoned Sept. 28, 1967 was reentered, cleaned out to 3,364 feet and finished Sept. 5, 1969 to pump 19.25 barrels of 29 gravity oil, plus 38 barrels of water, through perforations at 3,287-317 feet.

ROUND WE GO

Going around in circles used to be fun. Now it has become the identifying mark of human bewilderment. For millions of people life seems a whirling confusion that takes them nowhere...

All religions have one thing in common: they stress the belief that life has purpose which man needs to seek, discover and fulfill. In short, religion is the cure for going around in circles.

Christianity inspires people to seek life's purpose in the love and will of God. When we join with others in the worship and work of our churches we discover goals for living and the spiritual strength to reach them.

When the merry-go-round has ceased to be merry it's time to get off. Yes, and time to get on with purposeful Christian living.

Fast Arabians create cooler sectarian heads

By NICOLAS B. TATRO
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Despite the street battles, the strikes and the shortages that beset this divided capital city, nearly 10,000 Moslems and Christians head for the Palace of Peace every weekend.

The Palace of Peace is a horsing track that features only Arabian steeds. It is also virtually the only gathering spot where politics and religion don't really matter.

There is no talk of politics, and tensions seem forgotten inside the Palace of Peace.

A Christian banker joined hundreds of other fans from both sides of the city in cheering on a heavily favored black Arabian named Abu Lail, Father of Night, even though the owner was of Palestinian origin and chose the green, white, black and red colors of the Palestinian flag for his stable.

In the owner's box, several elderly men smoking cigars peered off 10-lira notes worth $34 each as they placed bets with a runner who would bring them their tickets and collect a tip if they won.

"After five years, the people are accustomed to it," Sami Shatilla, a 6-foot mustachioed horse owner, said with a shrug.

One Palace of Peace habitue said, "I know of one man here who bets as much as $3,500 a race" — proof positive that business is still good, at least for some, in the city once known as the Switzerland of the Mideast.

Attendance was off somewhat, he explained, because a bomb had exploded that morning in a movie theater across the street from the track, killing five people and injuring 20.

She is an inspired teacher who reaches down into the very depths of one's soul, and shows us gently how to apply God's will to our daily life. Sister Margarita is a woman truly fulfilled by the love of her Lord, yet truly human, warm-hearted, and gifted with a deep understanding of the needs in most people's lives.

In addition to the above work he has been an instructor in Sunset School of Preaching, Lubbock, Texas and has done evangelistic work in 15 states and 15 foreign countries.

Jesus will speak to you through her, so come and hear more about the wonders of the Lord Jesus. The public is invited to attend.

Evangelist scheduled

The Birdwell Lane Church of Christ will present a series of gospel messages, Sunday through Wednesday, Parker Henderson is the featured speaker.

Henderson is a veteran missionary with 27 years experience. The Henderson family worked in Thailand for more than 22 years. He was the first American missionary to Thailand arriving in Bangkok in Feb. 1958. While in Thailand he organized and directed the Bangkok School of Preaching. Larry, their older son, currently directs the school. The Hendersons now make their home in Trinidad. He is director of the Trinidad School of Preaching.

The Birdwell Lane Church of Christ extends an invitation to all in the community to hear this outstanding evangelist. Byron Corn is the local minister.

TRUDY HENDERSON

Young mother set to speak

Trudy Staples is a vivacious young mother of four children with a victorious story to tell.

An evening with Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone gave her solutions to a life she felt was one long, monotonous, "religious task." Life changing events transpired leaving Trudy changed. She is a pastor's wife and a partner in an interior design company.

Her dynamic speaking can be heard Saturday, 9:30 a.m., Dora Roberts Community Center, Blue Room, Comanche Trail Park.

Women's Glow Fellowship, who will sponsor Mrs. Staples, is formed to glorify God in all areas of life, win souls, and encourage each woman to be a member and to participate in the activities of her local church.

Sister set for church

Sister Margarita Jimenez, a Sister of the Order of St. Joseph, will be speaking at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, Monday. She will speak to a woman's group at 9:30 a.m. and to the families at 7:30 p.m. She will inspire you to want to live in touch with Jesus, and then go on to show you how to follow his will day-by-day.

She is an inspired teacher who reaches down into the very depths of one's soul, and shows us gently how to apply God's will to our daily life. Sister Margarita is a woman truly fulfilled by the love of her Lord, yet truly human, warm-hearted, and gifted with a deep understanding of the needs in most people's lives.

Berea youth revival set

Berea Baptist Church will have a revival beginning tonight through Aug. 9 at 7:30 p.m. The youth led revival is being led by Charles Colvin, minister of youth at Immanuel Baptist Church in Odessa.

Music will be led by Conley Cook, Immanuel Baptist music director.

Beverly LaHaye vocal as Godly ERA opponent

By DAN TEDRICK
Associated Press Writer
EL CAJON, Calif. (AP) — In a Happy Valley of orange groves and macademia nuts, far from Washington's Phyllis Schlafly and Florida's Anita Bryant, Beverly LaHaye is emerging as a leading anti-feminist voice, claiming God is on her side.

"there are 70 million Americans out there who believe as we do."

The airwaves around Springfield, Ill., were inundated recently with her 30-second television commercials and radio spots against the Equal Rights Amendment, then before the Illinois Legislature. A teenage girl expressed concern about the draft. A housewife worried that her place in the home was threatened.

The non-profit Concerned Women for America paid $30,000 for the TV commercials, said Mrs. LaHaye. Their role in the narrow defeat of ERA in Illinois is generally regarded as minor, but she also met with Illinois legislators and criticized President Carter's "interference" at a news conference.

An estimated 105,000 members pay $10 annually for their monthly newsletter from her year-old Concerned Women for America, and it claims 11,000 new such "members" every month.

It is "the right of Americans to live together without marriage but don't call them families," she said. "God ordained the institution of the family and then we tear it down."

Conservatively, says his attractive, soft-spoken wife,

"If it becomes necessary, we will go to other states."

she vows, listing as targets of her women followers "the destructive" White House conferences on the family, those who live together without marriage, abortion on demand, big government and homosexuality.

works against non-Christians.

LaHaye, pastor of Scott Memorial Church, oversees their Family Life Seminars financed by mailings and speaking tours. LaHaye also promotes Christian candidates for public office and Homosexual rights attorney Robert Lynn described them as "neo-conservative, part of a national movement" and says LaHaye's wife is being groomed to take over Miss Bryant's anti-homosexual work. But Joan Casale, who heads the ERA Task Force in San Diego, said in an interview: "I consider Beverly LaHaye a figurehead for her husband, and lacking the knowledge and capabilities to be a Schlafly."

The LaHayes, who married 34 years ago, have four children and five grandchildren and have written several books including "The Act of Marriage" and "Spirit-Controlled Family Living."

"We'll work cooperatively with Phyllis as we have in the past," says Mrs. LaHaye of the organization she conceived in 1978 and incorporated in January 1979. "Our mailing certainly is larger than hers. Anita, we're all so saddened about her divorce. We're in a state of shock."

Helen Keller anniversary observed by American Bible Society members

NEW YORK — One hundred years after the birth of the most famous and accomplished blind woman in history, the eyes of a nation are focusing on the continuing needs of the blind.

In honor of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Helen Keller, the American Bible Society — the nation's leading supplier of Scriptures to both the sighted and the visually handicapped — has launched a drive to focus attention on the spiritual needs of the blind.

She read one set so much that she wore the raised dots off the page. Another set was destroyed by a fire which engulfed her home in Westport, Connecticut in 1946. Still another Braille Bible belonging to Miss Keller is on permanent display in the library at Bible House.

Miss Keller's life-long hope was that blind people throughout the world would be given access to those same things sighted people have.

On June 27, 1880, Helen Adams Keller was born on a farm near Tuscumbia, Alabama. At the age of 18 months, her sight and hearing were wiped out with one bold stroke of an unknown disease. After losing her vision and hearing, she also lost her powers of speech, an ability she never fully regained.

It was this system of Braille, and the Bible in Braille, that enabled Helen Keller to reach outside her dark and silent world.

For those with impaired vision, ABS has produced a large print Bible in a readable, low-glare type. For blind readers, ABS publishes both complete Bibles and individual books of the Bible in Braille. For those unable to read Braille, the Scriptures are available on both records and cassettes.

ABS also works with millions of blind people around the world in conjunction with its 63 Bible Society partners that make up the United Bible Societies. This international fellowship of Bible Societies works to provide Braille Scriptures for blind people in a variety of languages. Last year, special projects by ABS were targeted to provide Scriptures in Malagasy, Africa, Colombia in South America, Pakistan, and Romania, among others.

In spite of her multiple handicaps, she turned away from a life of obscurity and instead devoted herself to bringing attention to the needs of those like her. Through her work, the lives of thousands of people were given the opportunity to be enriched and useful. Without her work, the talents of those handicapped people would never have been realized.

"I cannot recall a further-reaching benefit to the

During her lifetime, Miss Keller possessed several 20-volume ABS Braille Bibles

Last year, special projects by ABS were targeted to provide Scriptures in Malagasy, Africa, Colombia in South America, Pakistan, and Romania, among others.

Miss Keller often said the source of her faith, hope, and courage was in the Scriptures.

"I am always glad to bear witness to the blessings the Bible has been to me. Ever since I was a little girl, I have read it constantly for courage and for joy," Miss Keller said when she spoke before the staff of the American Bible Society on March 11, 1932.

Enrollment is expected to reach 75. A staff of 10 will conduct the school.

Here in the U.S.A., many letters to the Bible Society from blind and visually-impaired people throughout the nation describe the great impact of ABS Scriptures in their lives.

The ties between Miss Keller and the Bible Society were close because one of the historic and continuing concerns of ABS has always been providing Scriptures for the blind and handicapped.

In closing the leader asked each to put on the "clear glasses of Love" to break down barriers.

Commemoration exercises are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, August 16, 1980. This is the Third annual Vacation Bible School to be conducted by Evangel Temple Assembly of God.

Helen Keller died peacefully in her sleep on June 1, 1968. She had lived 87 years almost all of them in a physical darkness and silence most of us will never know. Yet her courage and faith led her to illuminate the world. God had greater things in mind for the little blind girl from Tuscumbia, Ala. than a life hidden away from the world.

Dear Abby

Trashy Mail Needs Boss's Handling

DEAR ABBY: My boss is the president of a good-sized corporation. I am his secretary. He has instructed me to open all his mail and mark each piece with "date received." Abby, he is always getting sex mail with very embarrassing pictures, and he orders slides of trashy sex. I feel like quitting my job because I resent this sort of thing so much. He's a middle-aged man, well-respected in this community and has a lovely wife. I can't imagine why he wants anything so trashy coming through his office. If my husband knew about it he would insist that I quit my job. What should I do? My job would be ideal if it weren't for this problem.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Since your boss is "always" getting mail of this kind, you should be able to identify it readily by the envelope. Don't open it. Simply mark "date received" and give it to him unopened.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know of a way to test one's own breath to find out if it is unpleasant or offensive? My employer, who is young enough to be my son, always takes several steps backward whenever I approach him, as though my breath is offensive to him. No one else — man or woman — does this. Nor have I seen my employer react this way to anyone except me.

BAD BREATH (?)

DEAR BREATH: If your doctor, dentist and best friend have assured you that your breath is not offensive, perhaps your employer is either allergic to, or offended by, that "fresh fragrance" you've been complimented on so often. Quit fretting about it. Tell your employer what's on your mind and clear the air!

Oldest living member honored

Over 50 members and visitors of Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday night for their regular meeting. The chapter celebrated "Mary Ehlmann Night," surprising Mrs. Mary Ehlmann who will be 97 this month. Mrs. Mary Anne Hartin, worthy matron, recognized her as the chapter's oldest living member and presented her with a life membership certificate.

Mrs. Ann Russell, immediate past matron, presented her past matron's report to the chapter. Fifty-year memberships were mailed to two members who now reside out of town, including W.O. Low of Pinedale, Tex., and Mrs. Mollie Crawford, now a resident of Boerne, Tex. A special reception followed the meeting in the banquet hall. A large cake centered with an OES emblem and the words "Happy Birthday Mary" was served to the guests. Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Christine Riordan, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Suttles, Mrs. Mildred Buchanan, Mrs. Jennie Barnes, Mrs. Bonnie Hicks and Mrs. Janie Stansel.

Viet Vets:

Beware Agent Orange poisoning symptoms

Cancer in Vietnam veterans and birth defects in their children are among the horrors associated with what is alleged to be Agent Orange poisoning, according to a report in the current Family Circle.

Possibly thousands of the 2.4 million Americans who served in Vietnam may have been accidentally poisoned by the Agent Orange herbicide, 10.6 million gallons of which were sprayed in Vietnam as part of a massive U.S. defoliation program designed to destroy the jungle cover in which the Viet Cong hid.

Agent Orange contains dioxin, "perhaps the most lethal substance known to man," says the article. Three ounces of this potent poison could wipe out the entire population of New York! "It is now beginning to appear that dioxin is the most powerful carcinogen known," Dr. Matthew Meselson, professor of natural sciences in the Harvard University biochemistry department, asserts in Family Circle.

"Nobody argues about the toxicity of this poison."

Family Circle advises Vietnam veterans to see their doctors at least once a year for basic cancer tests. If vets show any of the symptoms listed below, or if they think they may have served in contaminated areas of Vietnam, they should call their local V.A. office immediately or contact the Vietnam Veterans of America, who maintain a hotline service devoted to Agent Orange advice: 800-424-5402.

Alleged Agent Orange poisoning symptoms:

Cancer — especially testicular and tumors not normally found in young men.

Birth defects in the children of vets — often deformities of the heart, spine and extremities.

Chloracne — sores appearing mysteriously on the body, ranging from pimples to large cysts.

Loss of sex drive. Changes in skin color and sensitivity to light.

Racquetball:

The fastest growing sport in the country

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Most people are unaware of a quiet revolution taking place in the sports world. The bloom is off the tennis boom; jogging has probably peaked; and the softball explosion has come and gone. But between 1976 and 1979, according to the latest A.C. Nielsen survey, racquetball was the nation's fastest growing participant sport, says writer Gail Shuster in a recent issue of Seventeen.

Although racquetball has yet to win the media exposure of the other three sports, in the last three years, participation has increased 283 percent, to include almost 14 million players. What's more, roughly 30 percent of today's players are women or girls, and more than half are teens.

"Racquetball demands the physical and mental discipline of tennis, but it's tougher to play," says Shannon Wright, the number one-ranked pro on the women's racquetball circuit. "You have to be in better shape." An hour of rigorous racquetball can burn up to 322 calories, while an hour of tennis uses 444, cross-country running 666, swimming 522, and volleyball 204.

Usually, racquetball is played off four walls on an indoor court. The standard court is 40 feet long and 20 feet wide, with markings similar to a tennis court. A ball may ricochet off any number of walls during a rally, but it must touch the front wall before it bounces on the floor. The next player must then hit the ball before it bounces to the floor a second time.

"Racquetball is an ideal sport for women," says Jennifer Harding, the number two woman on the pro tour. Since agility and stamina are extremely important, women can compete against men more successfully than they can in a sport that relies solely on muscle power.

Another reason to quit smoking

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Teens: While reading the Sunday paper, my eye was drawn to an article by the Associated Press regarding smoking. Please allow me to quote.

"The government will begin testing tomorrow for a new peril in smoking — carbon monoxide. The surgeon general called carbon monoxide a possible critical factor in heart disease and other ailments and that breathing it reduces the ability of blood to carry oxygen."

So — if you smoke this a good time to stop. If you are considering starting, don't!

Dr. Wallace: I'm 15 and have very strict parents who will not allow me to date until I'm 16 but they allow me to see my boyfriend at my house. This might sound like a dumb question, but why do parents restrict girls from dating but say nothing about their boys? My boyfriend is also 15 and has been dating other girls for six months. I'm envious. Barb, Teel City, Ind.

Barb: Girls can become pregnant, therefore, the closer parental concern. Don't feel so bad, in ancient Rome, many fathers would chain their daughters by the ankle when they prepared for sleep so they wouldn't sneak out and see their boyfriends after their parents were sleeping.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 13 and my boyfriend is 21, but for the last six months, I have never seen him. Our only communication is a phone call once a week. The last time he called, he said that he was saving his money to marry me.

He says that he wants to take me out but the last two dates we had scheduled, he stood me up. I love him but I don't know what to do. Help. — Melody, Elizabethtown, Ky.

Melody: This guy appears to be a first-class louse who is much too old for you. Twenty-one-year-old men who pursue 13-year-old girls must have problems.

When this guy calls again, tell him goodbye forever — and mean it!

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TwEEN 12 and 20, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Campers report on Samboree

The Western Drifters Good Sam Club met July 29 for their monthly business meeting and potluck supper.

A report of the Good Sam Summer Samboree was brought by four couples from the local club who attended, including The Neal Bryants, The Victor Jacksons, The Milton Browns, and The Vern Vigers. They reported good organization and cooperation for all activities.

Vern and Evelyn Vigar displayed the certificate and patches they received as part of their Life Membership in the National Good Sam Club.

This is earned by signing 33 new members to the national organization. They are the only ones in this area to receive this honor. They are now a part of the Crimson Circle who have done likewise.

Notes were read from the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and the family of Mrs. Leown Marshall. These were in appreciation for the donation made in her memory by the Western Drifters Club. She was the mother of Buddy Marshall, a charter member of the club.

The campout in July was rather sparsely attended due to vacation time. Only four rigs gathered at Florey Park in Andrews the weekend of July 19-21. The Marvin Callahans and The Vern Vigers were the co-hosts for this outing.

The August campout will be in Buffalo Gap Aug. 15-17. The Vigers will be host couple. Reservations can be made by calling Sandy Wright.

State Meet attended by Mrs. Janet Rogers

Janet Rogers, Howard County extension agent (home economics) is among about 200 home economists attending the 37th annual Texas Association of Extension Home Economists (TAEHE) state meeting, Aug. 6-8 in Lubbock.

With a theme of "Changing Reflections" for this year's meeting, home economists will scrutinize their changing roles and responsibilities during the 1980's at workshops and in general sessions, the agent said.

Programs and discussions will focus on today's most pressing "people concerns" — economic conditions, energy, social conditions, marketing and policy, land and water resources, and leadership development.

Keynote speakers include Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Dr. Jennie C. Kitching, assistant director for home economics. In addition, several other speakers will address the major concerns.

Also, ceremonies for the recipients of the national Distinguished Service Awards, tours, an entertainment segment and installation of officers, along with several other award presentations, will complete the three-day program.

5-A-A-A-A-A Executives meet here today

The District 5-A-A-A-A-A Executive Committee met here today with 1981 spring sports schedules, eligibility reviews and ticket prices on the agenda.

Numerous items were to be aired. Among those included making schedules for baseball, tennis, golf, cross country, swimming and gymnastics, as well as the reviewing of a few eligibility cases. Ticket prices for the 1981 football season were also to be discussed.

The meeting today is one of two general meetings that 5-A-A-A-A-A holds during the year. In these meetings, the eight member schools in the district send their superintendents, athletic directors, principals and head football coaches to participate.

High school stars battle in Oil Bowl

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — High school all-stars from Texas and Oklahoma lock horns tonight in the 43rd annual Oil Bowl to decide who plays better football.

Though some die-hard fans would take any win to contest, many high school football players contend this game is the deciding factor in the age-old rivalry.

"Both states feel they have the best football team," said Oklahoma coach Ditz McIlvain.

"And nobody is going to be able to convince an Okie or a Texan that his football team is not the best," he said.

Many feel this is Texas' year to brag, since the team has been favored by two touchdowns, primarily because of backfield depth.

Texas quarterback Alfred Anderson of Waco Richfield and fullback Pat Coryatt both are headed for Baylor University this fall. Running back Victor Langley of Richardson will join Ohio State and wingback Freddie Wells of Lewisville will play for Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Oklahoma's backfield includes quarterback Curtis Cain of Putnam City North, running back Albert Jones of Lawton High, fullback Bryan Dalton of Lawton MacArthur and wingback Kevin Harlan of Ponca City.

"Although Texas has an outstanding backfield we have some attack on defense," said McIlvain.

Temple coach Bob McQueen, offensive coordinator for Texas, said he has installed what Oklahoma defensive coordinator Bob Auten calls a "super complicated offense."

However, McQueen, known as a "running coach," said he has fewer plays going into this game than ever before and promises "more passes than running plays."

Seattle uses kickoff return in 14-10 win

SEATTLE (AP) — Cornell Webster raced back Tim Mazzetti's opening kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown Thursday night as the Seattle Seahawks posted a 14-10 victory over the Atlanta Falcons in the National Football League exhibition opener for both teams.

Webster, a 4-year veteran cornerback from Tulsa, took the kickoff on his own 2-yard line and ran up the middle and then down the right sideline as the Seahawks took a 7-0 lead just 18 seconds into the game. After that, it turned out to be a defensive struggle between two clubs that had more than their share of defensive problems last season.

Seattle went with three quarterbacks — Jim Zorn, Sam Adkins and rookie Dave Krieg. Adkins was the only one to get them on the scoreboard again, driving Seattle from the Atlanta 47 for a touchdown that broke a 7-7 tie with 6:17 left in the opening half.

After first round of PGA

Stadler takes narrow lead

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Craig Stadler, despite what he described as an erratic day, believes he's in fine position to capture the 62nd Professional Golfers Association championship.

"I've only shot under par four times on a Thursday and I either won or finished high," said Stadler who had a 34-33-67 opening round Thursday, over the 6,964-yard par 70 Oak Hill Country Club course. "That sort of pumps me up. I'm looking forward to tomorrow."

The 27-year-old Stadler, a five-year touring pro who won the Bob Hope and the Greensboro, said he was fortunate because he had to scramble to have pars Thursday. But, he added, every time he made a shot to get the par, he came right back with a birdie on the following hole which enabled him to take a one-stroke lead over a group of five — Howard Twitty, Bobby Walzel, Curtis Strange, Gil Morgan and Bob Murphy.

"I didn't play real well at times but then I play awfully good at times," said Stadler, a winner of $183,297 this year, good enough for fourth place on the money list.

"Every time I made a bad shot, I made a good shot to save par. That made the day."

"It was a fun day," said Stadler, the only player in the second half of the field who played in the afternoon to break par.

Favorites Tom Watson and Lee Trevino, who also played in the afternoon, came in at 75 and 74, respectively, while Jack Nicklaus, another considered in the class of the field, shot an even par 70.

However, Watson and Trevino showed no outward concern for their plight.

"I still believe that over par will win," said Watson, who couldn't recall the last time he played a round without at least one birdie.

"I have to think 280 is still a good target for me. And it is usually easier to play in the morning. By the afternoon, all the greens are spiked up."

Trevino, who won the U.S. Open here in 1968, said he also believes a morning round, which he and Watson have today, will enable him to get back into the hunt.

"I had to fight very hard for the 74," he said. "I had a lot of crucial putts. But there will be one round where the winner will shoot a 73 or 74. It is impossible for a person to play four rounds and keep it in the 67 or 68 range."

In all, 19 players in the field of 150 shot par or better, including Nicklaus.

At 1-under par, two strokes behind Stadler, were defending champion David Graham, Ben Crenshaw and Hale Irwin.

Bradley uses five-par excellence to rally into Toronto LPGA lead

TORONTO (AP) — After the first three holes Pat Bradley figured she was going to be in for a long afternoon. It was — to her advantage.

Bradley opened the $150,000 LPGA tournament Thursday by bogeying the first hole with a 3-putt green. After missing the next two greens in regulation she salvaged par through some good chipping.

Bradley regrouped in a hurry and by the end of the day she held a three-shot lead over the field with a dazzling 8-under-par 65.

"Kathy Whitworth was six under before I even got to the first tee and after the first three holes I think she had gone seven under," said Bradley. "I knew I had my work cut out for me."

Bradley, one of the long hitters on the women's tour went to work on the pars. At St. George's Golf and Country Club, there are six of par fives with five greens attainable in two big shots.

Bradley was seven under on the par five's logging five birdies and one eagle.

Gary Player wouldn't trade experience for major titles

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — South Africa's gutsy Gary Player hasn't given up hope of matching Jack Nicklaus' cache of major titles but never at the expense of his cherished role as "golf's world-girdling ambassador."

"One day I may look back and say, 'Why didn't I give myself a better chance in America?'" said the 44-year-old fairway gypsy from Johannesburg, seeking his third PGA championship at Oak Hill here this weekend.

"I may ask myself, 'What would have happened if I had played 28 tournaments a year on the U.S. tour instead of 14? How many more major crowns would I have won?'"

"Right now, I don't regret any of it. I've traveled 5 million miles — 200,000 miles a year, crossing oceans, playing everywhere golf is played and sometimes where it isn't. I've accumulated countless friends. I have broadened my education and viewpoint."

Player has won 119 tournaments since turning pro in 1957 but none that gave him greater satisfaction than his victory earlier this year on Africa's black Ivory Coast.

"I won after shooting a 64 to beat out Peter Townsend at Abidjan," Player related. "After I sunk the winning putt, a horde of the black Africans rushed in, lofted me onto their shoulders and carried me 400 yards in the air. When one of them got tired, another moved in to take his place."

"President Boigny personally presented me the champion's trophy — pure ivory. What a thrill it was for me — a white South African — to get such a reception."

Player is one of four men to have won each of the four Grand Slam championships — the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and PGA. The others are Gene Sarazen, Ben Hogan and Nicklaus.

Nicklaus is the undisputed king with five Masters, four PGAs, four U.S. Opens and three British Opens. Player is the closest challenger with three Masters, three British Opens, two PGA crowns and one U.S. Open.

"I am as interested as Jack in winning the majors," said Player.

Braves manager suspended for spitting incident

ATLANTA (AP) — Manager Bobby Cox of the Atlanta Braves said late Thursday night he will request a lie detector test at a hearing today on his appeal of an indefinite suspension for a spitting incident with umpire Jerry Dale.

Cox said he was "completely shocked" when he got a telephone call Thursday from National League President Chub Feeney advising him of the suspension.

Cox got a one-day reprieve and was allowed to manage the Braves in a 4-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday night by filing an appeal to Feeney's decision.

The manager was to meet with Feeney in New York Friday to state his case.

WIMBLEDON REMATCH — Number two seeded Evonne Goolagong (left) and top seeded Chris Evert Lloyd, won quarterfinal matches at the U.S. Open Clay Court tennis championships in Indianapolis Thursday.

Goolagong, the Wimbledon champion, has never won the clay tourney while Evert Lloyd is five-time women's champion. Both will have to win semifinal matches before the Wimbledon final is replayed.

As ace hurlers Jim Palmer, Ron Guidry square off in opener,

Yankees, Orioles begin crucial week tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees juggled their pitching rotation to have ace left-hander Ron Guidry ready for tonight's opener of the three-game weekend series against the Baltimore Orioles, but even Guidry isn't sure if it was the right move.

"It's not my decision. It came from the top. Therefore, I can't do anything about it," said Guidry, who came to Yankee Stadium Wednesday night ready to pitch against the Texas Rangers, then was told to take the night off and rest up for tonight's game against the second-place Orioles.

"I don't know if it'll have any effect on me, waiting a couple of more days to pitch, but obviously I would like to pitch when I'm supposed to pitch," added Guidry.

"What concerns me most is that I've only pitched twice now in 16 days. I really wanted to get back out there."

Guidry, 12-6, will get his chance tonight against Baltimore veteran Jim Palmer, 11-8, in the first of eight meetings between the two clubs in the next 11 days.

The Yankees have occupied first place in the American League East since May 14. But Baltimore has been a hot team of late, winning its last six in a row and 13 of its last 15 to trim the Yankees' lead to 5½ games. That's the closest the Orioles, defending A.L. East champions, have been since May 20.

"We're admitting this is a big series," said Yankees General Manager Gene Michael, when asked why the club shuffled its pitching rotation. Rudy May stepped in for Guidry Wednesday and beat Texas 2-1 with last-out relief from Rich Gossage, but that was only the first half of the gamble. The second half comes tonight.

"We felt it would be better to have Guidry pitch against the Orioles twice instead of once, as it had been originally planned," explained Michael. "We also didn't think Tommy John would want to pitch three times, once with three days rest."

The Yankees will send Luis Tiant to the mound against Baltimore's Steve Stone on Saturday, with John pitching for New York on Sunday against the Orioles' Mike Flanagan. A crowd in excess of 150,000 is expected to attend the three games.

Then come three night games against the Chicago White Sox at Yankee Stadium before New York travels to Baltimore for a five-game series starting Thursday night.

"This is the time," said Yankees outfielder Bobby Murcer. "The games in August and September are the ones in which you can win or lose pennants."

Rudy's win gave us a great psychological boost," said New York slugger Reggie Jackson. "and also made for a nice day off. But now it's up to the rest of us to go out and win this thing."

Distance performances prove worth while

New York's Ray Burris, back after more than a month on the sidelines, and San Diego's Bob Shirley, a relative newcomer to the starting rotation, pitched their first complete games of the season Thursday.

Burris, out since July 3 with a broken thumb, fired a six-hitter as the Mets downed the Montreal Expos 7-1. It was his 18th starting assignment. Meanwhile, Shirley, making only his fourth start after working out of the bullpen until July 18, allowed only four hits as the Padres whipped the Houston Astros 5-1.

In other National League action, the Pittsburgh Pirates flattened the Chicago Cubs 11-3, the Atlanta Braves edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 and the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2. Cincinnati and San Francisco had the day off.

"I haven't had to wait this long for a win since there was a blackout in New York in 1978," said Burris, who notched his first triumph since June 8. "I had to wait two months for that game to finish."

Burris was pitching for Chicago against the Mets in New York when the game was suspended because of a citywide power failure and resumed on the Cubs' next visit.

"This time, the Mets supplied some power in the form of home runs by Jerry Morales and Joel Youngblood off Fred Norman while Burris blanked the Expos until Rowland Office's homer in the seventh inning.

"I felt that if I stayed in front of the hitters and followed my game plan, which meant keeping the first two hitters off base, that I'd have a good game," said Burris.

Despite his long layoff, Burris did not walk a batter. Padres 5, Astros 1

Jerry Mumphrey rapped out three hits and drove in three runs in support of Shirley's pitching as San Diego snapped a 10-game losing streak in Houston's Astrodome and a four-game skid over-all. Mumphrey drove in San Diego's first run with a third-inning single and added a two-run double in the sixth against loser Joe Niekro.

Despite the setback, the Astros maintained their half-game lead over Los Angeles in the NL West when the Dodgers also lost.

"We hadn't won here in a long time," said Shirley. "A complete game like that really helps out. We only had six all year before tonight and that will give our bullpen a chance to rest for a while."

Pirates 11, Cubs 3

Bill Madlock hit a two-run homer, pitcher Eddie Solomon cracked a pair of doubles and Tim Lincecum drove in three runs with a double and two singles to highlight a 16-hit attack. The triumph moved the Pirates within 1½ games of first-place Montreal in the NL East.

Solomon allowed early home runs to Mike Tyson and Jesus Figueroa but then settled down and pitched his

MC signs California ace

MIDLAND — Leif Hodges has become the first California player signed by Midland College men's basketball coach Jerry Stone.

Hodges is a 6-5, 195-pound, forward and post player from Fairfax High School, Los Angeles, where he was coached by Marty Beigel.

Hodges averaged 17.7 points and 8.6 rebounds per game as a senior, when he made two All-Tournament teams and was named to the Los Angeles Times' All-Westside team this spring. He was named to the All-League team in both his junior and senior years, was his team's Most Valuable Player selection in 1980, and was on the city championship team as a sophomore and junior.

He joins a very successful junior college basketball program at Midland College. The MC Chaparrals finished with a best-ever 27-6 record for the season in 1979-80, 14-4 for conference play, and second place finishes in both conference and the regional junior college tournament.

Cubs overcome home run barrage

By the Associated Press

Rick Adams singled home Jamie Hamilton with the winning run in the 12th inning Thursday night as the El Paso Diablos took a 7-4 Texas League baseball victory over the San Antonio Dodgers.

In other Texas League games, Shreveport shut out Jackson, 12-0, Arkansas beat Tulsa, 7-3, and Midland edged Amarillo, 11-9.

Joe Hicks had a two-run homer to help the Midland Cubs take an 11-9 victory over the Amarillo Gold Sox.

The victory moved the Cubs into a first place tie with the Gold Sox in the Texas League West.

The Cubs had to overcome an Amarillo home run barrage as Tom Vessey, Frankie George and John Alvarez each had solo homers.

A single by Gary Krug in a five-run outburst in the eighth inning drove in what turned out to be the winning run.

Bob Blyth, 7-5, was the winning pitcher. The loser was Daniel Boone, 5-3.

Texas Coast braces for Hurricane Allen

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The National Weather Service issued a hurricane watch for the entire Texas coast at 5 a.m. today as killer Hurricane Allen moved within 500 miles of this South Texas port city.

The government of Mexico also issued a hurricane watch for the northeast coast of Mexico.

Allen was continuing to move to the west northwest at 18 mph at the time the hurricane watch was issued by the National Weather Service at Miami, Fla.

Forecasters say if Allen continues on the present course at the current speed hurricane conditions could be in effect along the Texas coast within 72 hours.

They said hurricane warnings would likely be issued for portions of the watch area later today.

Highest winds in the hurricane were at 145 mph.

Allen continues to be an extremely dangerous hurricane and is expected to strengthen again later today, forecasters said.

At 5 a.m. when the watch was issued, Allen was located near Latitude 22.8 North and Longitude 90.2 West.

Small craft from the mouth of the Mississippi River westward to the Mexican gulf coast including the Yucatan peninsula and around western Cuba were urged to remain in port.

The watch was issued only hours before the Disaster Emergency Management Agency was to hold a meeting in Dallas to organize 35 federal agencies and volunteer relief organizations that might be called upon should the hurricane strike the Texas coast.

On Thursday, oil companies evacuated more than 2,500 employees from offshore rigs, disaster workers poured into the state and coastal residents stocked up their supplies of food, bottled water, plywood and blankets.

"We're just about clean out of candles," said Rod Nichols, a Houston supermarket manager.

John Stewart, another supermarket employee, said he made plans Thursday to restock his dwindling supplies of powdered milk, canned meat, batteries and stereo.

About 400 Red Cross workers nationwide were placed on alert and at least 100 were en route to the Texas coast, spokeswoman Jo Anne Jones said in Dallas.

"These are disaster preparedness people with experience in survey, mass feeding and shelters. There are more than 400 on standby in the Midwest and as far away as Washington. They are preparing to set up shelters and get ready for mass feeding," Ms. Jones said.

The workers, backed by more than 100 radio-equipped emergency vehicles, planned to stage a watch from stations in Beaumont, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Victoria and Houston.

Maj. Roland Chambliss, coordinator for the Salvation Army in San Antonio, said the local unit was on standby to join units from other Texas cities. He said mobile canteen units were fully equipped with food, coffee, water, clothing, blankets and medical supplies.

Bob Rushlow, a Houston lumber yard manager, said

992 rotary rigs busy in Texas

A total of 992 rotary rigs were turning in Texas during the week ending Aug. 4, one less than the preceding week but exactly the number active a month ago. On Aug. 6, 1979, the rigs making hole in Texas numbered 757.

A total of 3,040 rigs were turning throughout the United States during the week ending Aug. 4. The total a week ago was 2,971 while 2,911 were drilling a month ago. Last year, 2,171 were busy in the country at this time.

residents had depleted his store's supply of masking tape by noon Thursday and that he had very little plywood left.

Bottled water suppliers said hospitals and industrial companies were increasing their orders in anticipation of the storm, and at least one plant has initiated round-the-clock operations.

Terry Sharp, a bottled water plant manager in Houston, said his firm has boosted its regular eight-hour operation to a 24-hour a day effort to keep up with demand.

Sharp said the plant would operate on its new schedule until the storm either runs into something or has gone on through.

People are taking extra precautions because they know "there's a real, live giant storm out there," Sharp said.

Shell Oil Co. began evacuating 500 of its 1,400 offshore employees and contract workers Thursday, and Amoco Oil Co. began evacuating all 665 employees from offshore rigs on Wednesday. Amoco spokesman Ken Cole said the first phase of an emergency procedures plan was in effect at the Texas City refinery.

Gulf Oil began evacuating its 1,300 to 1,400 offshore employees Thursday. Exxon began shutting down its two mobile drilling rigs in the Gulf and evacuating 125 employees on deepwater rigs. Another 125 would be evacuated today if threatening conditions persist.

Texaco had not yet decided whether to evacuate its offshore personnel, a spokesman said.

Volunteers with previous disaster experience were contacted by the Red Cross in San Antonio and courses in basic disaster shelter operations for new volunteers were quickly scheduled.

Padre Island National Seashore Rangers were placed on yellow alert Thursday, and Coast Guard helicopters swept the area ordering beach-goers to leave.

The area of Nueces County south of Mansfield Channel already had been cleared, but Rangers said it could take until sometime today to clear and barricade beaches to the Willacy County line.

At South Padre Island on the lower Texas coast, Fire Marshal Fred Jacobs said residents had begun boarding windows on beach houses and stocking up on supplies.

"We're going into a preliminary stage of planning. We don't evacuate until the warning is issued. Right now it doesn't look overly good," Jacobs said.

He estimated it would take a minimum of four hours to evacuate the island across the 2-mile long causeway to Port Isabel.

Jacobs said he would notify construction projects to start battening down equipment and supplies.

If a warning is sounded, residents will be told to evacuate through radio and civil defense, he said. A door-to-door check then will start and anyone staying behind must sign a form releasing the city from responsibility for the person's safety.

Jerry Johns, president of Southwestern Insurance Information Service, Inc., said the insurance industry is dispatching disaster teams to the Texas Coast to help "rehabilitate people who have been displaced due to high winds and water."

Steve Hacker, executive vice president of Professional Insurance Agents of Texas, said preparations were being made for an influx of hurricane damage claims. Thousands of the necessary forms were en route to Austin and would be available to agents, he said.

The Disaster Emergency Service, meeting Thursday in Austin, Texas, delayed a decision on whether to activate local and regional disaster services until Allen makes it clear which way it is headed. Spokesmen said a decision would be reached before 4 p.m. today.

A spokesman for the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council said at the meeting that unlike last year, officials don't expect gasoline supplies to be a problem if Allen hits Texas.

He said the Highway Department has ordered crews to clear all construction equipment from evacuation routes.

Lone Star Gas Co. planned to send about 40 employees and 25 vehicles, including a new communications van, to the coast to attempt to provide a steady supply of gas to its 65 industrial customers near Houston.

The last major hurricane to hit Texas was Celia, which ripped into Corpus Christi in 1970. Two relatively small hurricanes hit the coast in 1971.

At the Corpus Christi Tourist Bureau, Kathy Heimann said, "If the tourists are already here, they are not leaving yet. We'll probably have a better idea tomorrow morning. There have been quite a few cancellations for people planning to come this weekend, especially at Port Aransas and on Padre Island."

Ralph Thompson, director of the South Padre Island Tourist Bureau, said he has received a few calls about the hurricane.

"I tell them that there's no reason for them to worry, there will be ample time to evacuate," he said. "We've had more hurricane scares than hurricanes."

Thompson said next to hurricane destruction, the worst thing facing the island is having business scared off unnecessarily.

"I was just figuring out this morning that we could conceivably lose in a peak week in August over a million dollars," he said.

Lynette Nolte, manager of the Port Aransas Chamber of Commerce, says no one is leaving because the hurricane is so far away.

"The storm, I understand, is at the Yucatan Peninsula, that's quite a ways from us," she said. "We're always given a good 48 hours notice. I think it's a good idea for people to keep a lookout, but so far it's business as usual. We have plenty of time to evacuate."
