'For true Democratic platform'

Senator to press fight

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter, his path clear to renomination, turned to the Democratic Party platform today in search of reconciliation with his vanquished rival, Edward M. Kennedy, before a tough fall campaign against the Republicans.

Convention delegates convened at 11:20 a.m. EDT for their second session with the campaign platform the principal item on the agenda, and with Kennedy vowing to press his fight "for a truly Democratic platform."

Kennedy planned to address the convention tonight, during a prime-time televised debate of the platform plank on the economy — the issue on which he and Carter disagree most sharply.

Carter and Kennedy aides met early today to discuss procedures for negotiations that White House press secretary Jody Powell said would be held today to resolve remaining platform issues.

But even while professing optimism about an eventual reconciliation, two top Carter aides reiterated that there were still serious differences between the two sides.

Hamilton Jordan, the president's campaign manager, said in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" show he is confident that "with hard work in the next few days, the party will come out of the convention unified. But he said of Carter:

"Both he and Sen. Kennedy realize that some of the real differences between them cannot be lightly glossed over."

And Jack Watson, who succeeded

Jordan as Carter's chief of staff, said the administration was still adamant about rejecting Kennedy-backed minority platform planks calling for a $12 billion job program and wage and price controls.

However, former United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young hinted in a CBS-TV interview that the Carter forces might be willing to go ahead with a compromise that generally supported a massive jobs program but without specifying Kennedy's $12 billion price tag.

Kennedy's long-shot hope to take the nomination from Carter ended Monday night when the convention supported a rule binding delegates to abide by the results of state primaries and conventions.

"The effort on the nomination is over," Kennedy told a news conference at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel shortly after that vote.

"I have called President Carter and congratulated him," said Kennedy. "My name will not be placed in nomination."

Powell said the telephone conversation was "a very positive and very productive conversation... They agreed the task now is to get this party together and to deal with the threat that the new Republican leadership poses."

Even before the telephone call, White House staff chief Jack Watson told reporters, "I will say to you unequivocally that the Carter-Mondale people at this convention want to unite the party. We want the senator's support. We need the senator's support."

The key to getting Kennedy's support was the platform.

"I continue to care deeply about where this party stands," Kennedy said in his withdrawal statement. "And I hope the delegates will stand with me for a truly democratic platform."

"I will speak to the convention about the economic concerns that have been the heart of my campaign and about the commitments in the future of the Democratic Party. "I will speak again for the people I have seen and the cause I have carried across this country."

Under an agreement reached last week, Kennedy will lead his fight for changes in the economic planks of the platform in a convention debate during prime television time.

He plans to press for a roll-call vote on a substitute plank that calls for a $12 billion program to create 800,000 jobs.

While Carter has conceded adoption of some Kennedy proposals including one that opposes using high interest rates and rising unemployment to combat inflation, he has stood fast against the $12 billion jobs program and the senator's call for wage and price controls.

At the raucous opening session of the party's 38th National Convention, the Carter and Kennedy forces were geared for a test of strength on the question of the rule.

But overhanging their internal battle was the reality of public opinion polls showing Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan running far ahead of Carter and other surveys forecasting substantial Republican gains in Congress.

So, even as they fought, the Democrats yearned for unity.

Kennedy hinted repeatedly during the final days before the convention, that if defeated, he would join the battle against Reagan.

After he lost the vote on the rule, Kennedy told the Illinois delegation which supported Carter's position by a margin of 153 to 26, that "I look forward to working in the future with all of you."

As the long session neared an end, Rep. Morris Udall, the keynote speaker, urged the delegates to bury their differences and "be gentle" with each other.

He said Kennedy "fought a great fight. We owe him a debt of gratitude... He is a great man and a great American."

Looking ahead to the fall campaign against Reagan, Udall said, "I don't pretend this will be an easy year. We need every part of this Democratic coalition."

Speakers on both sides of the rules debate repeated familiar arguments, while on the floor delegates waved Carter and Kennedy signs and chanted slogans. The only signs that they were listening to the speakers came when they cheered or booed in response to what they said.

Washington lawyer Edward Bennett Williams supporting the move to defeat the delegate-binding rule, told Carter delegates to "vote for him because you want to, not because you have to."

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, arguing for the rule, said "It isn't fair to change the rules now."

When the roll of the states was called, the vote was 1,336 4 in favor of the rule and 1,390 6 against it.

Defeat of the effort to overturn the rule meant that Carter had the means to ensure that the 1,989 delegate votes he won earlier in the campaign — more than the majority he needed for renomination — would be required to support him when the convention votes on the presidential nomination Wednesday night.

Kennedy entered the convention with 1,242 delegate votes.

Did science whiz shoot himself ?

An enigma inside riddle

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — When James Dallas Egbert III disappeared last year, investigators searched a maze of subterranean tunnels at Michigan State University to see if he had been trapped in a real-life version of the "Dungeons and Dragons" fantasy game.

Today, the 17-year-old computer science whiz was in critical condition with a gunshot wound in the head that police say appeared to have been self-inflicted.

Egbert underwent surgery Monday at Grandview Hospital, where doctors removed a bullet from his head. The teen-ager, who had returned to his home town after his month-long disappearance, was found by a roommate who told police he had been asleep when he was awakened by a shot, said Police Sergeant L.M. Kincaid.

Egbert was shot with a handgun recovered at the scene, Kincaid said. Optometrist James D. Egbert II said he had no clues about his son's shooting. Asked whether his son had been unhappy or troubled, Egbert said, "We thought just the opposite."

But William C. Dear, the Dallas private investigator who found Egbert last September, said recently the youth may have been having some family trouble. In a letter written before the shooting to a Dayton Journal Herald reporter, Dear wrote, "He wanted to meet with me concerning some problem he was having around the house."

Dear was unavailable for comment Monday night.

Egbert, who has an IQ of 145, disappeared last Aug. 15 during his sophomore year at MSU. He was found by Dear on Sept. 13 in a location that has never been disclosed, and the reason for his disappearance remained a mystery.

Campus police had speculated that Egbert, a devotee of an intellectual fantasy game called "Dungeons and Dragons," may have vanished while acting out the role of a medieval character who was hiding out in the "dungeons" of steam tunnels beneath MSU.

In the game, a "dungeon master" designs a make-believe prison on paper from which other players must escape by overcoming obstacles. The Egberts said their son had spoken of acting out the medieval game in the 8-mile network of steam tunnels.

After his disappearance, police found a note in Egbert's dorm room saying he wished to be cremated

"should my body be found." But it was never clear that Egbert had written it.

Classmates and campus officials said Egbert, who entered MSU at age 15, was a loner and under a great deal of academic pressure.

Action/reaction: 'Cool' question

Q. I notice bids are being taken for furniture and air conditioning equipment to be used for the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf at the Big Spring Industrial Park. Why can't the school use the air conditioning equipment which was left on the premises when Webb AFB was closed? I used to work there and recall that a lot of it was around.

A. SWCID will be using the existing equipment in the former Webb AFB hospital. However, because the officials have decided to use the bachelor officers quarters as a dormitory, additional air conditioning is needed. Of the nine air conditioning units left in the building after the base closed, only five are in working order. The remainder of the building, which includes the entire top floor, is without air conditioning equipment.

Settlement figure reached by city

By JAMES WERRELL
The city will have to settle with Lan-Tex Corporation before two industrial park buildings can be rented to other companies, said City Manager Don Davis, this morning.

Lan-Tex, a producer of hydraulic valves, had signed a lease agreement with the city to occupy the two buildings earlier this year. The company later decided to nix the move here, but still remained bound by the contract with the city.

Lan-Tex officials have since sought a settlement with the city to satisfy the contract agreement, and allow the city to rent the buildings to other businesses. Meeting this morning, city officials, city councilmen and members of the Big Spring Industrial Commission arrived at a settlement figure that was to be presented to Lan-Tex officials today.

If negotiations are successful, the city council will vote, 6:30 p.m. today, on whether to enter into lease agreements with two industrial prospects seeking to rent the vacant buildings.

"The meeting was essentially a discussion of what we (the city) will do and how much we will negotiate for," said Davis. "The council was there in order to get first-hand exposure to the issues involved, in the event it has to act tonight."

The regular meeting of the council will take place in city hall. In addition to discussion of industrial prospects, members will decide whether to designate a number of areas in the city as school zones.

Zones would include areas both adjacent and near to every school in the city.

Members will also consider a resolution authorizing the leasing of the city-owned Powell Lake Reservoir for oil and gas exploration.

Also considered will be an emergency reading of a resolution authorizing publication of notice of intention to increase the tax rate for the current tax year.

Candidate may leave politics

ROSEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Independent presidential candidate John B. Anderson, saying his campaign is going well, says he probably will give up politics if he loses the November election.

"I won't rejoin the Republican Party," the Rockford congressman said Monday in an interview with the Des Plaines Suburban Times.

Other items of business include:
—A discussion of a proposed rate hike by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

—Discussion of lease agreements with companies seeking to rent property at the Big Spring Industrial Park.

—A second and final reading of an ordinance amending the franchise with Big Spring Cable T.V., Inc.

—Appointments to the Housing Finance Corporation.

—An emergency reading of a resolution authorizing Mayor Clyde Angel to execute an agreement with Shaffer Ambulance Service.

—Awarding of a service pin to Detective David Spilman.

—A discussion initiated by Nelda Reagan regarding city water bills.

—Discussion of granting a temporary permit for a mobile home to Gary Shaffer.

Census loss may not mean decrease in federal funds

WASHINGTON — As more and more city officials complain their populations were undercounted in the 1980 census, the U.S. Census Bureau is taking steps to reduce fears that the undercount will automatically mean the loss of federal funds.

Census bureau spokesmen acknowledge there were problems with the 1980 count. In Texas, they say, many undocumented workers apparently weren't counted and in cities there were some problems with receiving mail forms.

Census spokesmen say the figures are only preliminary ones — subject to an extensive review.

Officials of the city of New York have filed suit challenging what they say is a drastic undercount. Mayors from other cities are following New York's lead, claiming they stand to lose federal money.

About $80 billion flows from the federal treasury to cities and states each year to fund a variety of programs. Each federal agency uses complex formula and population is one factor.

But two new federal studies point out the complexities of the federal formulas and say no federal agency is prepared for an undercount.

That means city officials won't know for quite a while what the undercount will mean to their federal funding.

Texas laws require immunizations for all persons enrolled in child-care facilities, schools, and institutions of higher education.

Children 18 months to four years old require three doses of oral polio vaccine, three doses of DTP or Td vaccine, one dose of measles vaccine, one dose of mumps vaccine, and one dose of rubella vaccine.

Children five years to 11 years old need three doses of oral polio vaccine, three doses of DTP or Td vaccine, one dose of measles vaccine, one dose of mumps vaccine, and one dose of rubella vaccine.

Children 12 years and older need three doses of oral polio vaccine, three doses of DTP or Td vaccine, one dose of measles vaccine, one dose of mumps vaccine, and no doses of rubella vaccine.

A history of mumps and measles illness is acceptable instead of measles or mumps vaccine, but all new measles histories presented after Sept. 1 must be verified by a physician's written statement. All histories of mumps illness must be verified by a physician's written statement.

Since many types of personal immunization records are in current use, any document listing each immunization received by month and year will be acceptable, provided it has been validated by or for, a physician or public health personnel. If a child has had measles or mumps illness, the document should include the month and year when the disease occurred.

All immunizations should be completed by the time of enrollment. However, if this is not possible, children will be allowed to enter, provided at least one immunization has been started, and all are completed as soon as medically possible.

School lunches will be same price as last year; 50 cents for grades one through five and 55 cents for grades six through 12.

Clayton is being sued

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Farm workers claiming they were paid under minimum wage for two years by Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton and other West Texas cotton farmers — have filed a class action suit in federal court seeking total damages in excess of $18,000.

The Texas Rural Legal Aid, Inc., represented the 63 migrant and seasonal workers in the suit, filed Monday in the court of U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward.

The suit said Clayton and 20 others paid them $1.85 an hour instead of the minimum hourly wage of $2.65 in 1978 and $2.90 in 1979.

The workers seek $500 each for each of four alleged violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act and the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act.

The suit alleges the farmers, all from the Lubbock area, also used an unregistered contractor and failed to keep statutorily required records.

According to the suit, the farmers employed a farm labor contractor by the name of Maximo Bosquez during the two-year period.

Estes home on auction block

By MARJ CARPENTER
The former home of Billie Sol Estes in Pecos is being auctioned off for back income taxes on Sept. 2, with the auction being arranged by the office of the federal deputy marshal in that city. Estes presently an inmate at the Big Spring Minimum Security Camp.

At the time of the original arrest of the West Texas businessman in 1962, the property was claimed as his homestead. The original lien on it was held by the Baptist Foundation.

The home had been built by Estes in the 1950s at the end of South Eddy Street on property that had at one time been part of Pecos AFB.

The home was built on top of an army swimming pool which was the basement. Later, another swimming pool was built in back, along with tennis courts. At the time that the arrest of Estes turned into the story of the year, which later won a Pulitzer Prize for Oscar Griffin, then editor of the Pecos Independent, a lot was said about the lifestyle at the home.

This included not allowing boys and girls to swim in the pool at the same time. The national press commented on that item at length, as well as the fact that Senator Ralph Yarborough was once entertained there at a barbecue during a campaign year in 1960.

A guest home built out front of the main residence during the spring of 1960 was reportedly being constructed for a visit from Former President Harry Truman during the Pecos rodeo week. However, that visit was cancelled and Truman never came.

At one time, three palm trees were shipped in and planted in the middle of the spacious front lawn. One winter, the grass out front was dyed bright green.

A monkey called Cheetah was kept in a cage in the long living room, which had a planter box at the east end that included a small palm tree inside the house.

The Estes family did a lot of entertaining, but much of it was confined to groups from the Downtown Church of Christ, or groups connected with their five children.

For instance, in 1961 a Christmas party was held in the living room for the junior high band, of which Pam was a member. When Jan and Dawn played girl's softball, Estes Enterprises sponsored a team and that team had the only grass practice field and the only water fountain in the league in a lot. Across from the Estes home.

After Estes arrest by the FBI in that home March 29, 1962, several things occurred. For a while, a neon sign was placed in the front yard which said "Home of Billie Sol Estes." Tours were conducted of the home for a fee for a brief period.

During that period, Mrs. Estes appealed to the city zoning board, asking for a zoning change where the home could be converted into a restaurant, but this was denied.

A lighted cross was burned on the front yard one night and a shot was fired through the front picture window about that same time.

In the summer of 1962, around midnight, the family moved out along with the furniture. Two moving vans worked at the front and back doors into the night and by morning they were gone to Abilene to make their new home.

The house stood empty then for several years and vandals broke into the guest house and took away the gold plated plumbing fixtures. Hoboes would sleep in the basement at night, leaving their wine bottles on the premises. Windows were broken.

Man subdued, arrested after spree in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A man who ran over a pedestrian, shouted obscenities and claimed to be Fidel Castro was arrested after exchanging gunfire with an off-duty Dallas policeman.

The man was being held today on two charges of attempted capital murder and one charge each of aggravated assault, failure to stop and render aid and aggravated kidnapping.

Macario Mendoza, 18, was in serious condition late Monday at Presbyterian Hospital where he was being treated for injuries he suffered when he was struck by a car driven by the man.

Witnesses told police the incident began when the man stopped his car on a busy street, began screaming and beating on other several stopped cars. The man then drove away at a high rate of speed.

The car he was driving, police said, left the street, jumped a curb and struck Mendoza as he and two other persons walked on the sidewalk.

"The driver was wild looking, like he was high on something," said Bert Schoolcraft of Richardson, who witnessed the car striking Mendoza.

Officers said the car struck two other vehicles before it was stopped. They said the man got out, taking a duffel bag and a gun. He left the car on foot.

Marcia Miller Snowden, an off-duty policewoman who was shopping nearby when she saw the incident. Mrs. Snowden said she identified herself and told the man to stop. She said he turned and fired several shots at her.

Dan Haines, 28, of Dallas, said he offered to attempt to stop the man by running over him with his car in a parking lot.

"Before I could back up to hit him, he lurched in the window and grabbed my shirt. He said 'I'm going to kill you,'" Haines said.

Mrs. Snowden said she fired four shots at the man before he fell to the ground and was apprehended. The man was not hit by the officer's gunfire.

THE ONE WAY
by B.W. Briggs

BY WHAT AUTHORITY... This past week my family attended a gospel meeting at Sand Springs. With us was one of our elders and his wife. Along with many others we were encouraged to remember one germane principle taught in the scriptures. Make sure you have authority for what you believe and teach! Isn't that an important factor to you? Do you appreciate being told to obey someone or something where there is no authority or grounds to do so? Roy Lanier, Jr. began by saying that Jesus was questioned as to his authority. He pointed out from the Matthew 21 context that the chief priest had that right to question him. Indeed they did! It was the priest who was responsible for instructing the people. In fact, Hosea's message of doom for Israel was in part because the priest had failed to instruct the people that they might know Jehovah. In this context Jesus is questioned as to his authority. Through hindsight we can see the great folly in challenging the Son of God. However, if we had been there in the capacity of a priest, we might have made the same grievous mistake! We know, however, that Jesus later gave them the answer to their question. In fact, he had already attempted to tell them who he was and by what authority he operated. This makes me want to tell you by what authority I can say one must be baptized in order to be saved.

The authority I have is the inspired word of God known as the Bible. Just before his ascension Jesus commanded the apostles to go into Jerusalem where they would tarry until they were clothed with power from on high. Now Acts 1 and 2 reveals that event occurring. But from Jerusalem repentance and remission of sins would be preached in the name of Jesus. Well, to make a long story less expensive, they were asked by those gathered what to do, in view of their guiltiness. They were told by Peter, "repent and be baptized, every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto (or for; not because of) the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." There is Bible authority for teaching that baptism is imperative and germane to salvation. In Acts 22:16 Paul (Saul then) was instructed to "arise and be baptized, and wash away thy sins calling upon the name of the Lord." That Bible verse gives me the authority to say that baptism washes away your sins. In 1 Peter 3:20-21 I'm told that even baptism, doth now save me. I know that baptism either saves you or it does not! 2 Peter 1:20-21 instructs me that it cannot mean one thing for you and one thing for me. Some have told me that while the Greek translates "for" or "unto" the remission of your sins, the real meaning is found in the secondary meaning of "because" you have been saved. I'm not interested in the secondary meaning because that tells me someone is playing with a loaded deck. I want the primary meaning where truth is. And that truth lies in the fact that baptism is "for" the sending away of your sins; not "because" they have been sent away!

Dear Abby
Clean-Plate Phobia
Puzzles Mate

DEAR ABBY: Please don't tell me I have a crazy husband. I already know that. What I need is some advice on what to do about it.

About two years ago George got on this "cleanliness kick," and now he absolutely refuses to eat anywhere but home! His reason: He doesn't know how clean the kitchens, pots, pans, utensils, silverware, etc., are in other homes. Neither is he convinced that the food was prepared by one with clean hands.

A restaurant? Forget it. George says that even the best of them have roaches and rats!

Naturally we do a lot of entertaining at home, but our friends aren't able to reciprocate. I have quit making up excuses. When we're invited to someone's home, I simply say, "I have a crazy husband who won't eat anywhere but home, but we'll be glad to come after dinner."

In case you think my husband is a total nut, Abby, he owns his own business and his annual income has been in six figures for the last 10 years. He's the only millionaire I know who carries his lunch. What's wrong with him?

LONG ISLANDER

DEAR LONG: Your husband is a mysophobiac — one who has a morbid fear of filth or contamination. It won't kill him, but it's unfair to you. Invite a psychiatrist to dinner.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a pest I'll call Cindy. We have nothing in common except that our husbands are best buddies, and now we are neighbors.

Cindy makes a habit of coming over here uninvited when her husband works late. She has two whiny, cranky kids, ages 2 and 3, who are still in diapers and on the bottle. I have no children by choice and do secretarial work at home, so it's not as though I'm a lady of leisure.

Last evening Cindy came over (at dinnertime, as usual) and kept saying, "I really should go home and fix dinner for me and the kids because Dick (her husband) is working late tonight." I took the hint and invited her to stay and eat with us.

Immediately after dinner my husband left the room, and I had to entertain her.

Cindy smokes constantly, and always my cigarettes because she doesn't want her husband to know she smokes. She's always borrowing groceries from me and never pays back anything. Last night she used my last drop of milk to fill her baby's bottle!

When I tell my husband I am sick of Cindy, he says, "Be nice to her. She's my buddy's wife." What should I do?

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR (?)

DEAR LOVE: Nobody can impose on you without your cooperation — not twice, anyway. Cindy doesn't sound too bright, but she may need your friendship, so sit her down and have a heart-to-heart talk with her about the ground rules of visiting. And tell your husband if Cindy doesn't play by the rules, he will have to entertain his buddy's wife — and kids.

DEAR ABBY: Like so many others, I never thought I'd be writing to you. However, something has been on my mind lately and I hope you can help me.

My husband passed away recently. While I was with my brother, someone who didn't know us assumed that my brother was my husband because I was wearing my wedding ring.

His comment made me think, Abby, must I remove the wedding ring given to me by the man who gave me the happiest days of my life? I'm still young and I realize that some day another man may enter my life, but right now I wish to display my love for my late husband by wearing my wedding ring.

Is that wrong?

YOUNG WIDOW IN PA.

DEAR WIDOW: No. Continue to wear it as long as you are not receptive to attention from other men. Strangers, on seeing a woman with a wedding ring, will assume she is married, and therefore not available.

Group helps overeaters

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McKee were honored by their children with an informal party Saturday evening in their home, on Route 2, Snyder Highway, in observance of their 60th wedding anniversary. Cake and ice cream were served.

The McKees were married Aug. 11, 1920, in the home of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. M.W. Walker, Big Spring. The late Archie Yell, a Methodist minister, performed the ceremony.

McKee was born April 21, 1900 in McKinney and came to Howard County in 1905. Mrs. McKee was born October 31, 1904 in Howard County. McKee farmed until 1945, then operated a blacksmith shop until 1962, then went to work for Howard County Road & Bridge Dept. until his retirement in March, 1972. Mrs. McKee was employed at the Big Spring State Hospital for 15 years and retired in May, 1972. They are members of Salem Baptist Church where Mrs. McKee has taught a Sunday School Class for a number of years.

Nine children were born to Mr. and Mrs. McKee, Mrs. L.B. (Frances) Thomas, Mrs. Jack (Rachel) Shaffer, Mrs. Roy (Neva) Shaffer, Mrs. B.L. (Mary) Eggleston, Mrs. Henry (Sue) Adams, all of Big Spring; Raymond McKee of Salado, Mrs. John (Karen) Murphy and Mrs. Ray (Delores) Andrews of Odessa, and Mrs. Ronald (Jennie) Shaw of Snyder. They have 22 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

hers stayed on the street. It was a pretty bad skid and we were both lucky to have our cars still sitting on four wheels. I thought the woman would get out and help. Instead, she squealed away in reverse without a backward glance. She could have left me dead for all she knew.

The message I'm trying to convey is — teens aren't the only guilty parties. Adults are just as bad. — Nancie, Huntsville, Ala.

Nancie: I didn't mean to put the finger on teen-agers as bad drivers. In fact, with their coordination and good vision, most teens who have driver's licenses are better drivers than their elders.

But it's the rambunctious few who give teens the bad driving rap.

God bless Overeaters Anonymous! It lifted a great burden off of my shoulders. — Darlene, Santa Barbara, Calif.

Darlene: Thanks for taking the time to share your experience. I agree, Overeaters Anonymous is a very worthy organization and teens who have a weight problem should contact O. A. It works!

Dr. Wallace: I am writing to reply to your article on teen deaths in auto wrecks.

I feel you were too hasty in pointing your finger at teens and inferring they are the only guilty parties.

I've had my license two years and I've never had a wreck until two weeks ago. I was going 15 mph in a 25 mph zone. It was raining pretty hard and the roads were slick. A woman who appeared about 50 years or older came at me from a side road doing about 40 mph. She ran the stop sign and hit me. We skidded forward and sideways 20 feet. My car landed in a yard and Daria: High School can and will be the most exciting of your school years and your new school will offer a wide selection of co-curricular programs.

Join as many clubs as you can that catch your fancy. Purchase a student body card (San Diego high schools use them). They offer great financial discounts for games, dances, etc.) and attend as many school activities as time and homework allow.

I might add that San Diego is one of the truly great cities on earth. Consider yourself fortunate.

Corn, soybean prospects are sharply down

WASHINGTON (AP) — This summer's withering heat and drought have slashed 1980 harvest prospects sharply for many farmers, particularly those who grow corn and soybeans.

The Agriculture Department said Monday the corn crop now is estimated at 6.65 billion bushels, 14 percent less than last year's record of 7.76 billion.

Perhaps more dramatically, the new estimate — based on field surveys as of Aug. 1 — was down 9 percent or more than 630 million bushels from USDA's initial forecast a month ago of 7.28 billion bushels.

It is the first decline in U.S. corn production since bad weather shriveled yields in 1974, reducing the harvest to 4.7 billion bushels, a 17 percent drop from 5.67 billion bushels produced in 1973.

Overall, the department's "all crops" production index for 1980 was shown for the first time this year at 133 percent of crop production in 1967, a base year used for comparison. Last year, the index rose to an all-time high of 144 percent.

Even so, the index as of Aug. 1 was the second highest on record, according to the report.

Smoking heroin 'no no'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drug authorities say they are worried by an increased flow of heroin into the United States from poppy fields in Iran, Pakistan and Afghanistan and a dangerous new trend of smoking the heroin rather than injecting it. Some are calling the situation "the Ayatollah's revenge."

U.S. authorities say that despite the strong stand of Iran's revolutionaries against drugs, they have been unable or unwilling to stop massive exports of opium from the country.

The supplies of "Persian" heroin are extraordinarily pure — 92 percent in one sample compared to as low as 2 to 4 percent in heroin obtained from other countries, according to four doctors from the Haight-Ashbury Free Medical Clinic in San Francisco. At $600 a gram, the Persian heroin is a bargain they said.

In an article on their findings written for the California Society for the Treatment of Alcoholism and Other Drug Dependencies, the doctors said the more potent Persian heroin was causing veteran users to switch and attracting "new recruits into addiction."

"Clearly, the popularity and potency of Persian portends problems for treatment agencies for years to come," the doctors wrote.

Accompanying the increased use of Persian heroin is an upsurge in addicts switching from injections, the common method of using heroin, to smoking it.

The doctors said there had been reports of increased heroin smoking in various sections of the country and they are concerned that the practice will spread among young Americans who have already smoked marijuana but who dislike injections.

"Smoking has a middle-class appeal," said Dr. John A. Newmeyer, one of the authors of the article.

'Golden Acorn' division to hold reunion in Florida

On Sept. 24-28, the 87th (Golden Acorn) Infantry Division of World Wars I and II will hold its 31st Annual Reunion in Port St. Lucie, Fla., at the Sandpiper Bay Resort.

The 87th Infantry Division was activated and trained as a combat Infantry Division in both World Wars. In 1917 the Division joined Gen. Pershing's A.E.F. in France, and as it was being assigned to the Western Front, the Armistice was signed. In World War II, the Division went into action at Metz, France. During 154 days of almost continual combat, the Golden Acorn fought in France, Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany.

It advanced more than 345 miles in the European Theater, taking 63,338 prisoners and liberating the department's Crop Reporting Board, in its initial estimate of soybean production this season put the harvest at 1.88 billion bushels, a 17 percent decline from last year's record of 2.27 billion.

But farmers are expected to have record harvests of rice and wheat, the report said.

Rice production was estimated at 146.1 million 100-pound bags or hundredweight, up 7 percent from 136.7 million in 1979. The boost is due to a larger acreage, however, because the yield per acre is expected to decline sharply.

This year's wheat crop, most of which has been harvested, was estimated at a record of 2.32 billion bushels, up 9 percent from 1979 production, virtually the same as the July estimate.

The 1979 wheat crop came within one million bushels of the previous high of more than 2.14 billion bushels in 1976.

Cotton production, estimated for the first time this season, was put at 12.8 million bales, down 12 percent from 14.6 million in 1979.

Sorghum grain, also surveyed for the first time, was estimated at 552.7 million bushels, a 32 percent decline from the 1979 harvest of 814.3 million.

Corn is the largest grain crop grown in the United States and, as livestock feed, is a vital element in the production of meat, poultry and dairy products for American consumers.

Along with wheat and soybeans, corn also is a leading commodity among U.S. agricultural exports to scores of foreign markets, including the big overseas buyers such as Japan and the Common Market countries.

Grain prices at the farm have risen lately from earlier slumps. The most recent five-day average prices computed by USDA show wheat at $3.83 a bushel and corn at $2.91 a bushel.

A year ago wheat prices at the farm averaged $3.71 a bushel and corn $2.49 a bushel, according to USDA records.

Meanwhile, the production report said 1980 corn yields are expected to average 93 bushels an acre, compared to 99.3 indicated last month and the record of 109.4 bushels for the 1979 crop.

Wheat yields, including all types, were estimated at 32.5 bushels per harvested acre, compared 31.8 in July and the 1979 record average of 34.2 bushel an acre.

Winter wheat production, which makes up about three-fourths of the U.S. output, was estimated at a record of 1.87 billion bushels, up 16 percent from 1.61 billion produced last year and 1 percent more than the July forecast. Yields were estimated at 35.9 bushels an acre, compared to 36.9 in 1979.

Producers made up for the reduced yield by having more acres of winter wheat for harvest this year.

Durum wheat was estimated at 100.2 million bushels.

Yankees place third in Abilene Tourney

ABILENE — Charlie Vernon hurled a three-hitter to pace the Big Spring Yankees semipro baseball team to a 13-0 win over the San Angelo Astros in the battle for third place in the Abilene Tournament.

Ricky Myers was also a major factor in the Yankees win over San Angelo, capping an outburst in the fifth inning with a grand slam home run.

The Yankees opened the tournament by taking a 7-5 win over the Baird Rangers, but were then defeated by the Abilene Jets 13-5 in the semifinal contest.

That set the stage for the third place win for the Big Springers. Abilene went on to win their own tourney, defeating Santa Anna by a score of 19-6 in the championship tilt.

The two wins in the tournament boosts the Yankees record to 5-1 for the year. They are a newly formed team, and manager Chris Uchman has stated that the games this year are only a warmup for next year, when the Yankees will play a full schedule.

Vernon was named the Outstanding Pitcher in the tournament, and also placed second in the balloting for the Most Valuable Player. He had an impressive batting average of .700 for the three games.

The Yankees will return to action next Sunday, at which time they will compete in the Ozona Tournament.

Red Sox boost mark with twinbill sweep

The Big Spring Red Sox swept a double-header from the Midland Rebels here Sunday afternoon, thus increasing their season record to a mark of 20-8.

The Red Sox showed no mercy in the opener, drilling the Tall City crew by a score of 23-3. That contest was called after four and one-half innings because of the lopsided score.

Sammy Rodriguez, in a rare mound appearance, was the winning pitcher. He benefited from hitting help from the entire Red Sox team, with John Morelino's homer the biggest blast.

The Big Spring crew then came back to take an 8-6 win in the nightcap, using the relief of John Morelino to put out the Midland fire.

Frankie Rubio slammed a three-run homer in the second win, with Morelino and Tommy Olague each slapping three hits apiece.

The Red Sox will return to action on Thursday, at which time they will face the Snyder A's. That game will be played in the Roy Anderson Complex.

Girls physicals set

All girls that plan to participate on any athletic team at Big Spring High School, Rannels or Goliad Junior High are reminded that physical examinations will be given beginning tomorrow afternoon.

Screenings will be given to all of the female athletes beginning tomorrow afternoon from noon to 3:00 p.m. at the BSHS girls PE gym.

The girls will then report to the Malone-Hogan clinic on Thursday from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. for the remainder of the physical.

Girls aged from seventh grade to senior year must pass the physical before being allowed to compete in the upcoming year.

BSHS volleyball coach Patty Purser also has announced that girls practice for the sport has already begun, and those that have overlooked the beginning of practice should contact her immediately. Practices are from 8:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. each morning, and from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. in the afternoon.

Purser stated that anyone wishing to participate in volleyball must also pass the physical before beginning practice.

Fusina steals show in Bucs win

HOUSTON (AP) — The new Houston offense ushered in by quarterback Ken Stabler took two pages of statistics forms to fill in players who caught passes but it was Tampa Bay's Chuck Fusina who got the statistic that counted—a 21-7 exhibition victory.

Stabler, noted for his diversity on offense, played his first game in an Oilers uniform as 13 Oilers caught passes. Fusina, meanwhile, played the winning hand in the National Football League exhibition game in the Astrodome.

"I was jittery at the start but after I quit worrying about getting the ball from center it started to be fun," said Fusina, who completed a 13-yard touchdown pass to Gordon Jones in the first quarter.

The quarterback duo of Fusina and Mike Rae, combined with a 61-yard halfback pass by Jerry Eckwood for a touchdown, were good enough to beat the Oilers.

Fusina completed five of 13 passes for 61 yards while Rae hit eight of 15 for 83 yards. Eckwood led all rushers in the game with 45 yards on nine carries.

Houston's Earl Campbell, who led Oilers rushers with 44 yards on nine carries, ran

Fidrych makes return with Tigers tonight

DETROIT (AP) — Forget about the stiff shoulder, the cortisone shots, the stiff back, the heat treatment, the injured knee, the rehabilitations, the tendonitis, the demotions to the minor leagues and the hypnosis.

For better or worse, Mark "The Bird" Fidrych is back — again.

The popular Detroit Tigers right-hander will attempt his fourth comeback in four years tonight when he takes the mound against the Boston Red Sox in a sold-out Tiger Stadium.

The irrepressible Fidrych, the American League's 1976 Rookie of the Year, was back in Tiger Stadium on Monday night, clowning around in the outfield and joking with teammates, reporters and friends before Detroit's 8-7 victory over Boston.

He vowed he would be the Bird of old, talking to the

AL Roundup

Vets put Yankees back on winning track

When in trouble, go to the veterans.

That's what the New York Yankees did Monday night after dropping three straight games to the Baltimore Orioles over the weekend. With their American League West lead shrinking to 2½ games, the Yanks needed a boost. They got three of them — from Reggie Jackson, Aurelio Rodriguez and Rudy May, who total nearly 40 years of major league experience among them.

Jackson slammed his 400th career home run. Rodriguez contributed a dramatic two-run blast in the bottom of the ninth and May threw a four-hitter as New York edged Chicago 3-1.

"That's going to be a classic, winning the game that Reggie hit No. 400," said May, 10-5. "Tonight was no time to lose after the Baltimore series."

"I've been around awhile and you learn. Last year, I learned to pitch out of the bullpen (with Montreal) and I have confidence now whether starting or relieving."

May has become a regular in the Yankee rotation after doing a stand-out job as the team's long relief man.

"What I have to do to help this club win the pennant, I'm going to do it."

Jackson has been doing everything possible to keep the Yankees on top of the AL East. The homer came in the fourth off rookie Britt Burns, 10-11, and was Jackson's 31st, tops in the majors. He now has 84 RBI, tying him with Boston's Tony Perez for the major league lead.

"I hope that takes the pressure off the team," said Jackson. "I know it takes the pressure off me. I hit a homer a week for 30 weeks but it seemed to get harder for this one."

Rodriguez was elated with his contribution and even happier when management presented him with a bottle of champagne.

"I feel great," he said. "I hit one home run here last year against the Yankees' Don Hood. The fans didn't like that one so much."

"I know a lot of people do not expect me to hit home runs but I'm glad. In this race, every game you win means a lot."

Orioles 2, Royals 1
An eight-hitter by Dennis Martinez and Eddie Murray's sixth-inning solo homer were the keys for Baltimore, which won its 10th straight.

George Brett singled in the first inning to extend his hitting streak to 24 games.

Tigers 8, Red Sox 7
An eighth-inning throwing error by Rick Burleson led to two unearned runs and Detroit also got a three-run homer from pinch-hitter Richie Hebner and a two-run shot by Tim Brooks. Tony Perez and Fred Lynn homered for Boston.

Pearson, Hughes to return vs LA

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Injured starters Randy Hughes and Drew Pearson returned to practice Monday and probably will play Saturday night at Anaheim Stadium in an exhibition game against the Los Angeles Rams, the Dallas Cowboys said.

Both were hurt in an intrasquad scrimmage Aug. 2. Hughes, a free safety, injured a shoulder he dislocated last year and Pearson, a wide receiver, suffered a hairline fracture of his collarbone.

The Cowboys, who beat Green Bay 17-14 Saturday night at Texas Stadium in their pre-season opener, break training camp at California Lutheran College on Aug. 22 and return to Dallas.

Five schools placed on probation Pac-10 divided by two

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The presidents and chancellors of Pacific-10 conference schools have tackled the issue of widespread transcript and academic credit scandals in the conference — in effect creating a Pac-5.

At a meeting Monday in Denver, the panel of chief executives cut in half the number of schools eligible for the 1980 Pac-10 football crown and for postseason football competition. The panel dealt out a variety of penalties to the universities whose athletic programs have been cited with academic violations. Oregon was the hardest hit, receiving two years' probation.

The panel's unanimous ruling eliminated five schools — Southern California, UCLA, Arizona State, Oregon State and Oregon — from contention for any bowl berth, including the Rose Bowl. The panel decided, however, that all conference games played during the 1980 season will count in the standings.

Reaction from the affected schools ranged from bitter melancholia to apologetic acquiescence, but one voice said it didn't matter too much.

"We're sorry the five colleges have been ruled ineligible," said Bill Nicholas, chairman of the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena, "but those things happen. People will still come to the Rose Bowl game."

Elsewhere, however, comments were less sanguine.

Southern Cal football Coach John Robinson: "We're very disappointed about the decision."

UCLA Coach Terry Donahue: "The incident for which we are being penalized occurred three years ago. I am embarrassed that the academic integrity of UCLA has been subject to question, and I feel very sorry for our players and coaches."

Arizona State Coach Darryl Rogers (whose school already has forfeited its 1979 victories after investigation found that eight players were ineligible because they had received credit for coursework they never did): "We've already been penalized more than any other school. Things that have happened to ASU have already done damage."

Oregon State Coach Joe Avezzano: "We're just going to have to sacrifice for past mistakes...I'm not sure we weren't on a runaway car ready to self-destruct, and I think that having someone come in and help clean up your house makes you more aware of the situation and puts everything maybe back in the proper perspective."

Oregon athletic director John Caine: "The conference has acted thoroughly and promptly. Obviously, the penalties are hard to accept because they mean that we will not be able to participate in a bowl game this season. However, we are pleased that there is only a one-year penalty involved."

The five universities were penalized for "violations of conference rules and standards in the areas of unearned credits, falsified transcripts and the unwarranted intrusion of athletic department interests into the academic processes of the respective universities," the panel's report said.

Reds tighten race in NL West

Los Angeles defeated Atlanta 3-2. San Francisco edged Houston 5-4. Pittsburgh beat New York 2-1 in a game called because of rain after 5½ innings. St. Louis walloped Montreal 16-0 and Philadelphia and Chicago played to a 5-5 tie in a game called after 10 innings by darkness at Wrigley Field.

Ken Griffey had three hits for the Reds, including the game-winning RBI-single in the seventh.

Braves 3, Dodgers 2
Rick Matula and Rick Camp combined on a five-hitter and Chris Chambliss smashed a two-run double as Atlanta beat Los Angeles.

Matula, 7-10, struck out four and walked four, including two in the ninth, before needing Camp's relief help. Camp recorded his eighth save.
