Economy takes near record plunge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy plunged at an annual rate of 9 percent from April through June, nearly the worst quarterly drop in history, the government said today.

The Commerce Department also reported that corporate profits fell precipitously during the second quarter, as the nation's economy felt the full force of the recession.

The 9 percent decline in inflation-adjusted Gross National Product — the total value of goods and services — was only slightly better than the 9.1 preliminary figure released last month.

The worst quarterly fall ever occurred during the depths of the last recession when GNP plummeted a record 9.1 percent.

A Commerce Department economist called today's revision "insignificant."

Last month, when the preliminary figures were announced, the department's chief economist Courtenay Slater said: "The 1980 recession struck with full force during the second quarter, causing large declines in production and employment."

On Monday, the government reported that housing starts rose 4.8 percent to an annual rate of 1.266 million units in July. That follows a revised 33 percent jump in June.

Before then, housing starts had fallen to a 906,000 annual pace, just about half the rate for all of last year.

Despite the improvement, last month's pace was 28 percent below the annual rate in July 1979. For the first seven months of 1980, starts are off 36 percent from the same period last year, the Commerce Department said.

Moreover, the housing recovery is "built on a flimsy foundation," said Kenneth Thygeson, chief economist of the U.S. League of Savings Associations.

Added Michael Sumichrast, chief economist of the National Association of Home Builders: "The upturn will be nipped in the bud if mortgage rates don't stop rising."

Those rates have jumped from as low as 11.5 percent to about 13.5 percent in some housing markets. That means about $90 more a month on a $60,000, 30-year mortgage.

"And over the next several months, interest rates are more likely to go up than down," added Eckstein.

This will be caused by sharp increases in the supply of money; new fears of inflation due to an upsurge in wholesale prices; and evidence that while the recession is not over, the steepest economic decline is past.

"We anticipate a slow, arduous recovery — far different from the housing upturn after the last recession," said Ken Kerin, an economist for the National Association of Realtors.

Sumichrast estimated the high rates could cut housing starts by 50,000 for the remainder of this year and another 100,000 in 1981.

WALKING WEED — No, it is not the latest in urban cowboy hair styles or a plant that sprouted legs. It is just a Mildand ranchhand carrying a large tumbleweed off for burning.

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Helicopters airlifted police reinforcements to this strikebound region of northern Poland, sources said today, as angry workers rejected Communist Party chief Edward Gierek's back-to-work appeal and promise of pay raises.

Poland's head of state Henryk Jablonski today called the strike an "action against the interest of the party, nation and state," Gdansk radio reported.

"This we cannot accept," he was quoted as saying. "What is at stake is the law and order in this country — and something even bigger: Poland, the fate of the nation."

Jacek Kuron, the leader of the dissident Committee for Social Self-Defense, told reporters in Warsaw that helicopters flew more police to the Baltic coast industrial area around Gdansk, where the strike wave began last Thursday in protest against the government's decisions to raise meat prices.

Diplomatic sources also reported police reinforcements arriving in the strike area, and said they were dispatched after striking Gdansk shipyard workers rejected an ultimatum from the local Communist Party chief, Tadeusz Fiszbach, to leave the yards by 4 p.m. Monday.

By late Monday night, the government had still made no attempt to end the strike by the use of force. But the local party committee said in a communique early today "decisive repulsion must be taken" because the striking workers had been joined by "anti-socialist elements, whose objective is to create chaos and disturbance."

With dissident sources reporting more than 100,000 workers on strike at 150 plants in the neighboring cities of Gdansk, Gdynia and Sopot, the nation's 67-year-old party boss told the workers in a nationally televised address they would be given pay raises "spread out over a period of time," but "there are limits that must not be overstepped by anyone."

He rejected the strikers' demands for sweeping liberalizations in the country's communist system, saying Poland "can be a free and independent state with inviolable frontiers" only through socialism, an obvious reference to the possibility of Soviet military intervention if the communist system was endangered.

"Actions that are aimed against the basic foundations of the socialist system will not be tolerated — and nobody can count on compromise on this issue," said Gierek. "If there is no internal peace, all other matters will lose their meaning. Let this truth be present in the minds of every Polish woman and man."

"He acts as if he were talking to children. The speech doesn't change anything," said Anna Walentynowicz, one of the strike organizers at Gdansk's giant V.I. Lenin Shipyard, the center of the strike movement.

"He says we just want money. He does not say anything about how we say we want our rights," said another striker, identifying himself only as Andrzej Z.

"We have nothing to lose. I have six children and I am risking a lot here. But we do not care," said Lech Walesa, a leader of the strike committee named to negotiate with the government.

He and the others said they would

Billy Clayton, Brilab heating up Judge hears more tapes today

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge labored through hours of secretly taped conversations Monday and began hearing more today before ruling on a motion by lawyers for House Speaker Billy Clayton and three other Texas Brilab defendants.

U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor, who must rule on his own jurisdiction over the bribery case, listened to more than seven hours of tapes Monday before he recessed the marathon pre-trial session until 9:30 a.m. today.

Ronald Woods, an assistant U.S. attorney, said five to six hours of the tapes recorded by an FBI informant remain to be heard.

Attorneys for the four defendants had filed about 50 pre-trial motions, but O'Connor restricted the hearing's opening phases to the jurisdiction question saying that "without jurisdiction there would be no point of proceeding."

Defense attorneys argued that federal authorities "artificially manufactured" jurisdiction and keyed the case to an FBI informant the lawyers called a "pathological liar."

Clayton, L.G. Moore, a Deer Park labor leader, and two Austin lawyers, Randall B. Wood and Donald W. Ray, were indicted June 12 in the FBI undercover operation prosecutors say linked labor with bribery offers to public officials.

Defense attorneys are seeking the dismissal of the indictments, which charge the four with extortion, racketeering, fraud and conspiracy, on grounds that the government controlled, orchestrated and artificially executed the conspiracy.

The dominant figure in the six tapes heard Monday was Joseph Hauser, the FBI informant who operated a fictitious insurance firm out of Beverly Hills, Calif.

The indictments allege Hauser and Moore gave Clayton $5,000 and promised $600,000 more for assistance aimed at helping Hauser's fictitious firm receive a $52 million state employees insurance contract.

Clayton has acknowledged receiving the $5,000 on Nov. 8 but said he planned to return the money.

The Monday tapes involved Hauser's activities in Texas from Aug. 14 through Oct. 2, just a month before Hauser and Moore met with Clayton. Included were early meetings with Moore and other labor officials and his first meeting with defendants Wood and Ray, who briefed him on the state employee insurance program.

O'Connor reluctantly ordered the tapes be played after Woods objected to the use of transcripts, which he said included inaccuracies and did not reflect "the manner" in which words were spoken.

Prosecutors have submitted transcripts of more than 100 tapes to the defense.

One defense attorney said the tapes represent hundreds of hours of sometimes-unintelligible conversations but Woods said they are the only evidence in the case.

The Monday tapes began with Hauser meeting Harold Grubbs, education director of a Pipe Fitters Union management-union apprenticeship program committee.

It was Grubbs who introduced Hauser to Moore in a Houston hotel room on Aug. 30. After Moore departed, Grubbs was quoted as telling Hauser that Moore will do "whatever we demand."

During a Sept. 20 meeting, also in Houston, the voice identified as Moore told Hauser during a discussion of the state insurance contract that Woods and Ray had told him "you're good friend with the speaker. Said you get a commitment out of the speaker."

Hauser then told Moore he was ready to make a commitment, "We could lay 25 to 50 on the speaker easy."

Moore later said he would arrange a breakfast meeting with Clayton.

"... I can cut a deal with him," Moore said. "I can say, look Billy, you get this deal and you get this. OK?"

Hauser: "Beautiful."

A poor quality tape of Sept. 21 had Hauser telephoning Moore in Houston from Albuquerque. Moore said he had talked with Clayton by telephone "and am going to set up a meeting between you, the speaker and myself."

Work to eat may become food stamp requirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The law that eased access to food stamps for millions of Americans will also be used to tighten requirements for a special group of recipients under a recent proposal by the Departments of Agriculture and Labor.

The proposal would require "able-bodied" food stamp recipients to conduct their own, intensive job search in order to keep their households eligible for the program. In addition, the USDA would spend some $70 million a year to find those recipients able to work, in order to have them report on a regular basis to state job service agencies.

The proposal comes at a time when the USDA, which oversees food stamp programs, is reporting large jumps in the number of people receiving stamps.

The latest figures, for May 1980, show 21.7 million persons getting food stamps, compared with 18.4 million the year before. In Texas, there were 1.2 million participants in May 1980 and slightly more than one million in May 1979.

Texas in the program received an average $37 apiece last May, compared to $32 the year before. Nationally, the average was $34 and $30 respectively.

The increase in participants and benefits and the proposed tightening of rules are the result of the 1977 Food Stamp Act together with the current recession.

The act set in motion the January 1970 move by the USDA to end purchase requirements for food stamps, which added some three million rural poor and elderly persons to the program who were too poor to pay a portion of the cost of the stamps.

The recession has created its own movement. "In this economy, even the lower middle class has found themselves turning to food stamps," said a USDA spokesman.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: DWI law

Q. What does Texas law say about first-time DWI offenders?
A. The law now requires automatic suspension of a driver's license even for a misdemeanor conviction for driving while intoxicated. Those who have studied the problem say at least half of all traffic fatalities are related to drinking.

Tops on TV: 'Hangar 18' featured

Those who didn't see themselves in the movie "Hangar 18" might find a little satisfaction by watching "P.M. Magazine" at 6:30 p.m. on ABC. The multi-feature show will have a segment dedicated to the making of the movie here, and more than a few locals will appear. After that, the offerings are mostly mediocre until 11 p.m., when Channel 11 will feature the first half of the classic "Judgement at Nuremberg." Maximilian Schell, Spencer Tracy, Judy Garland and a host of other "names" make appearances in the flick.

Calendar: 'Band Roundup'

TODAY
All Rannels eighth grade football players are scheduled to report to the fieldhouse at 6:30 p.m.
Big Spring Band Boosters will stage a "Band Roundup" at 7:30 p.m. at high school. Boosters will serve refreshments to band students.

WEDNESDAY
The Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal Board meeting will be at 1 p.m. in the county courtroom.

City, school officials discuss concert security

A meeting this morning between City Manager Don Davis, School Superintendent Lynn Hise and School Board President Carol Hunter was held to inform school officials of security preparations for the Aug. 31 Willie Nelson concert.

"Everything is looking real good. The parking and security is all going to be taken care of. Everything is falling into place real well," said Hise. Davis trekked to Athens last week on a fact finding mission to determine how officials there handled the concert crowds.

Hise called the meeting in his office a "planning session."

"We have pretty much formulated all our plans for the concert," said City Manager Don Davis, this morning. "We solicited help from outside law enforcement agencies, and we feel that we have made adequate provisions for security inside the stadium, parking outside and traffic getting there," he added.

Bible Fund drive half way to goal

The Howard County Ministerial Alliance is now more than half way toward its $10,000 goal in its 1980 Bible Fund drive but is fast running out of time.

The alliance had hoped to win up the campaign no later than Aug. 31. That is just less than two weeks away.

The alliance now has raised $5,494. Over the weekend, $1,713 was channeled into the fund. An anonymous giver wrote out a $200 check. Mrs. Fay Grantham, Mr. and Mrs. L.E. McCutchen, Mrs. Jim Hodnett, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Parter and Mrs. Rosemary McDowell each gave $100 while the Elizabeth McDowell Sunday School Class of the First Presbyterian Church raised $143 for the campaign. The East Fourth Baptist Church forwarded a check for $200.

Checks can be made out to the Bible Fund and forwarded either to Dr. Kenneth Patrick, care of the First Baptist Church, Big Spring, or to the Herald, which is helping coordinate the drive.

Rev. Birdwell will be nominated for Bishop at Lubbock meeting

The Rev. Harland B. Birdwell, rector of the Big Spring Episcopal Church of St. Mary the Virgin, since 1968, will be one of the nominees at a Special Diocesan Council at which a new Bishop will be elected for the Diocese of Northwest Texas.

The Council will convene Saturday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Lubbock.

Other nominees will be:

- The Rev. Robert Allen Buck, Rector, Good Shepherd Church, San Angelo.
- The Rev. James Leo Cassidine, Jr., Vicar, St. Stephen's, Sweetwater.
- The Rev. C. Allen Cooke, Rector, St. George's Church, Germantown, Tenn.
- The Very Rev. Otis Charles Edwards, Jr., President & Dean, Seabury Western Seminary, Evanston, Ill.
- The Very Rev. John B. Haverland, Dean, St. John's Cathedral, Albuquerque, N.M.
- The Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, Rector, Church of the Holy Trinity, Midland.
- The Rev. Donald N. Hungerford, Rector, St. John's-St. Barnabas, Odessa.
- The Rev. Claude E. Payne, Rector, St. Mark's Beaumont.

HARLAND BIRDWELL

In a letter written to fellow Episcopalians, the Lubbock vicar commended Birdwell for his devotion to the task assigned him as head of the search sub-committee and for his deferring his own consideration as a nominee to conduct an objective search for candidates in a process "which is inevitably political — the process of people selecting a leader."

The sub-committee respected Father Birdwell's determination to remain faithful to his assignment, and he was not considered by its members.

The Rev. Mr. Carlisle cited five reasons for placing Father Birdwell's name in nomination. They included:

"(1) He is already a recognized leader in this diocese, having held every important position and office which can be assigned or given to a clergyman; (2) he is a scholar and a deep thinker, the kind of thoughtful man required in a time of complex issues and problems; (3) he is a hard worker; (4) he has a great sense of humor which, in my opinion, is critical, and helps give a man some perspective; (5) he loves West Texas and West Texans, which maybe ought to be listed as the first priority of a chief shepherd; and (6) he is admired, respected and loved by the people of his own parish, for his courage, integrity, steadfastness and honesty.

Father Birdwell was raised in Snyder and attended public schools there. He later attended Texas Tech University, the University of Kentucky and the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Kentucky. He has also taken short courses at the Seminary of the Southwest, attended the College of Preachers in 1969, enrolled in the Theological Education by Extension at SMU in 1974-75 and attended the Canterbury Summer School in England in 1979.

He was ordained to the priesthood in December 1965. An ex-Marine, Father Birdwell was in private business from 1949 until 1961. He served as a member of the Snyder city council from 1956 to 1960.

Married to the former Charlene Ellen Smith, the two have a son and a daughter.

WRECKED AUTO LEAVES SCENE — A 1970 International Suburban Travelall traveling on Airport Road rolled three times Monday at 1:30 p.m. Injured was James Terry with a severe scalp laceration.

Pleas for help ignored by man

An unidentified man failed to stop and render aid Monday afternoon after a one vehicle roll over on Airport Road that left James Terry, 15, Rt. 2 Box 118A, in stable condition in Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Charles Wayne Terry, 16, Michael Terry, 18, and James were in a 1970 International Suburban Travelall at 1:30 p.m. Monday when the vehicle left the roadway and rolled three-and-a-half times.

A man stopped at the wreck scene but left the three juveniles despite Charles' and Michael's pleas for help, said Clara Smith, James' mother.

A Price Construction truck driven by David Brumley stopped and took Michael and James to Mrs. Smith's home where Michael took James to Malone-Hogan in his car.

James suffered severe scalp laceration and was admitted for observation.

Chief, three Cisco patrolmen resign

CISCO — Police chief Kenneth Eaves and three patrolmen submitted their resignations Monday, citing a "basic difference in philosophy about law enforcement" between themselves and members of the city council.

A similar situation occurred here about two months ago when city manager John Boland and five city employees resigned.

The patrolmen who quit Monday were Mike Glenn, John Ferguson and Jim Reynolds.

Marilyn Smith has been serving as acting city manager since Boland quit. The five persons who walked out when Boland resigned have since returned to the jobs.

Ms. Smith seemed indifferent to the mass resignations. She was quoted as saying:

"People come and go. I'm sure they (the remaining officers) can handle the job quite capably."

Eaves said his resignation would become effective Aug. 29. Eaves became police chief in July 1979.

Police beat Thieves lift wallets

Thieves stole wallets at two different locations in the city Monday.

Steve Rains, Lubbock, was inside the Gregg Street Safeway Store when he set his wallet down for a moment. When he looked up, it was gone. The wallet had contained a bank card and $350 in cash.

While Donnie Marie Dugger, 113 1/2 E. 16th, was away from her table at Winchell's Doughnut Shop, someone lifted her wallet. It had contained $2.50 in change, three tickets to the Willie Nelson Concert and $33 worth of food stamps. Loss was estimated at $59.50.

Local Arson Investigator Ricky Womack arrested a male juvenile in connection with a case of arson that occurred in July 25. According to Womack, someone put a match to the home of W.M. Brooks at 907 E. 16th, destroying about 75 percent of the residence.

The youth is the only suspect in the case.

Vandals threw a brick and a beer bottle through the plate glass window at the Cain Electric Company, 204 S. Johnson, sometime Monday night. Damage was estimated at $250.

When Helene Langley, 1726 Purdue, decided to wear a pair of octagonal diamond cluster earrings to work Monday, she found they were gone. The earrings, which were valued at $1,000, could have been stolen any time within the last month.

Mrs. Ricardo Monje, 1095 E. 13th, asked several men not to come into her home, 4:50 p.m. Saturday. They did anyway, and beat up a third person inside.

A 22 caliber rifle and a box of shells used by local code enforcement officers were stolen from a city pickup over the weekend. Loss was estimated at $27.

Thieves ripped off a camper top from a Chevrolet El Camino parked at 87 Auto Sales, 1001 W. 4th, sometime Saturday night. It was valued at $200.

A 17-year-old passenger in an auto driven by Connie Abreo, Greeley, Colo., was treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital and released Monday night. The vehicle driven by Ms. Abreo struck a parked vehicle belonging to Leroy Aldridge, 904 N. Gregg, in front of the Aldridge residence, 9:56 p.m. Monday. Becky Abreo was the injured party.

Three other mishaps were reported Monday.

Vehicles driven by Murray L. Petty, 1304 Baylor, and James E. Magers, 1511 Tucson, collided at Wasson and Parkway, 6:12 a.m.

A vehicle driven by Jeffrey A. Nelson, Lubbock, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at 500 Highland, 10:08 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Benny J. Martin, Bowie, and Harold E. McMahan, 1601 N. IS 20, collided at 400 E. Third, 11:49 a.m.

Local brakeman hurt

Acid fumes leak from derailed tank car

EUNICE, N.M. (AP) — An engineer and two brakemen were treated for injuries after two locomotives and three railroad cars — one laden with acid — derailed two miles north of here, state police say.

Acid spilled from the tank car Monday when the Missouri Pacific freight train derailed after a section of the base under the railroad tracks washed away, officers said.

State police said the fumes were from hydrochloric acid and could be lethal. But officials at Lea Regional Hospital in Hobbs, N.M., where the injured men were taken, said the substance was sulfuric acid.

One officer said the fumes could be smelled "pretty strongly" within 300 feet of the wreckage.

A couple who lived near the site of the derailment were evacuated from their home. Officers said it was the only house within two miles of the derailment.

All three were treated for exposure to acid and remained at the hospital for observation, a hospital spokesman said.

The engineer, Robert Waddell, 55, of Monahans, Texas, also suffered a fractured hip and pelvis and multiple lacerations, a hospital spokesman said. He was listed in stable condition.

The other two men — brakeman K.R. Cook, 43, of Monahans, and brakeman John Tovia, 33, of Big Spring, Texas, received cuts and bruises, officials said.

The two engines powering the train and the three cars behind the engines derailed Monday morning, state police said.

Clements roundup for Reagan includes Howard College rally

By DANA PALMER
AUSTIN — Gov. Bill Clements branded Ronald Reagan's Texas campaign with his own mark Monday, announcing a strategy similar to one Clements used in 1970 to become the first Republican governor in Texas in more than a century.

A basic strategy will be to break the traditionally Democratic voting pattern in the rural areas, Clements said during a news conference at Reagan's Texas headquarters.

"I think we started that pattern in 1978," he said. "We have maintained those same contacts. We will build on that."

Clements said the campaign against Jimmy Carter will not be easy despite polls which show the president is not at all popular.

The governor reminded reporters that "my polls at this time in 1978 were just about as bad as Mr. Carter's, and I won."

Campaign plans announced by the governor include:

- A volunteer phone bank, headed by five paid staffers, to reach every registered voter in the state.
- Special rallies, beginning Aug. 27, at 25 locations in the more rural areas, including San Angelo, Brownwood, Big Spring, Victoria, Alice, Corsicana, Bryan, Sherman, Wichita Falls and Fort Stockton.
- Three to four whirlwind tours of the state by Reagan, including one Sept. 16 to the predominantly Mexican-American Rio Grande Valley. A Corpus Christi stop might be added, Clements said.
- Active recruiting of independents, as soon as chairman can be named.
- A Sept. 16 Ronald Reagan-George Bush victory dinner in Houston where Clements hopes to raise almost all of the $2.2 million expected to be spent in Texas on Reagan's behalf.
- "It will be a massive effort on our part," Clements said. The rural rallies, billed as "Texas Roundup for Reagan," will include personal appearances by Clements and one-time presidential hopeful John Connally, the governor said. Tentative plans call for the to a tentative schedule. Clements also announced regional leadership appointments in eight regions of the state and four metropolitan areas.

They include:

- East Texas, Jesse Rookshire of Texarkana, chairman; Steve Lilly of Nacogdoches, vice chairman.
- West Texas, Bob Monaghan of Midland, chairman; Marcus Anderson of Abilene, vice chairman.
- Panhandle, Amarillo Mayor Jerry H. Hodge, chairman; State Rep. Bob Close of Perryton and John M. Ryan of Lubbock, vice chairman.
- North Central Texas, Bob Gunn of Wichita Falls, chairman; Anna Mowery of Fort Worth and June Coe of Dallas, vice chairman.
- Central Texas, Temple Mayor John F. Sammons Jr., chairman, Holly Deeherd of Austin and Bill Bailey of Waco, vice chairman.
- Harris County, Jim Lesch, Hall R. DeMoss and Jerry Smith, all of Houston, co-chairmen.

A tentative list of dates and places on Gov. Bill Clements' Texas Roundup for Reagan tour with John Connally includes:

Sept. 23: 9 to 11:30 a.m. in Big Spring for a rally at Howard College and a tour of the city; noon-2:30 p.m. for lunch, a press conference and a 'community event' in San Angelo; 3:30-8:30 p.m. in Brownwood for a press conference and dinner at a local ranch.

GM recalls some cars

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp has recalled about 85,000 1980 Chevrolet Camaro and Pontiac Firebird cars because of a possible steering gear problem.

GM said Monday that a nut connecting the front lower ball joint to the steering knuckle might not have been tightened fully during assembly at its Van Nuys, Calif., plant. The nut could loosen and fall off, permitting the joint to separate, officials said.

Spokesman Harold Jackson said the wheel would remain attached if that happened, but steering would become suddenly difficult. Ten such incidents resulting in three injuries have been reported.

No injuries in blaze

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP) — No injuries were reported in a fire that filled a three-story Soviet Embassy resort compound with smoke and no investigation is pending, authorities said.

The fire broke out early Monday in a film-screening room of the main building of the Eastern shore complex, fire officials said. After some difficulty in gaining access to the 40-acre compound, firefighters quickly extinguished the blaze.

Fire Chief Charles E. Turner Jr. said an investigation into the cause of the fire by Maryland officials is unlikely because "they are another country and that's their property."

Discrimination claimed

DENVER (AP) — The state Civil Rights Commission will hold a hearing Aug. 25 on a complaint that the University of Colorado discriminated against a multiple sclerosis victim by refusing him admittance to its psychiatry residence program.

Joshua Pushkin, 27, said he filed the complaint after he was told by university officials that he was rejected "because my wheelchair would bother patients."

Dr. Doug Carter, acting chairman of the department of psychiatry, said many factors — including Pushkin's handicap — figured into the decision not to accept him.

Police beat Thieves lift wallets

Thieves stole wallets at two different locations in the city Monday.

Steve Rains, Lubbock, was inside the Gregg Street Safeway Store when he set his wallet down for a moment. When he looked up, it was gone. The wallet had contained a bank card and $350 in cash.

While Donnie Marie Dugger, 113 1/2 E. 16th, was away from her table at Winchell's Doughnut Shop, someone lifted her wallet. It had contained $2.50 in change, three tickets to the Willie Nelson Concert and $33 worth of food stamps. Loss was estimated at $59.50.

Local Arson Investigator Ricky Womack arrested a male juvenile in connection with a case of arson that occurred in July 25. According to Womack, someone put a match to the home of W.M. Brooks at 907 E. 16th, destroying about 75 percent of the residence.

The youth is the only suspect in the case.

Vandals threw a brick and a beer bottle through the plate glass window at the Cain Electric Company, 204 S. Johnson, sometime Monday night. Damage was estimated at $250.

When Helene Langley, 1726 Purdue, decided to wear a pair of octagonal diamond cluster earrings to work Monday, she found they were gone. The earrings, which were valued at $1,000, could have been stolen any time within the last month.

Mrs. Ricardo Monje, 1095 E. 13th, asked several men not to come into her home, 4:50 p.m. Saturday. They did anyway, and beat up a third person inside.

A 22 caliber rifle and a box of shells used by local code enforcement officers were stolen from a city pickup over the weekend. Loss was estimated at $27.

Thieves ripped off a camper top from a Chevrolet El Camino parked at 87 Auto Sales, 1001 W. 4th, sometime Saturday night. It was valued at $200.

A 17-year-old passenger in an auto driven by Connie Abreo, Greeley, Colo., was treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital and released Monday night. The vehicle driven by Ms. Abreo struck a parked vehicle belonging to Leroy Aldridge, 904 N. Gregg, in front of the Aldridge residence, 9:56 p.m. Monday. Becky Abreo was the injured party.

Three other mishaps were reported Monday.

Vehicles driven by Murray L. Petty, 1304 Baylor, and James E. Magers, 1511 Tucson, collided at Wasson and Parkway, 6:12 a.m.

A vehicle driven by Jeffrey A. Nelson, Lubbock, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at 500 Highland, 10:08 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Benny J. Martin, Bowie, and Harold E. McMahan, 1601 N. IS 20, collided at 400 E. Third, 11:49 a.m.

BUSH MEETS PRIME MINISTER — George Bush, left, Republican vice presidential nominee, gestures as he meets with Japanese Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki in Tokyo Tuesday. Bush paid a series of calls on present and former Japanese government officials before leaving for Peking where he once served as chief of U.S. Liaison Office that existed before full diplomatic relations were restored 18 months ago.

Bush visiting Chinese officials GOP candidates back off issue

TOKYO (AP) — GOP vice presidential nominee George Bush said today that Ronald Reagan would not revive a "two Chinas" policy for the United States if the Republican candidate is elected president.

Earlier, Reagan's chief foreign policy adviser, Richard Allen, said the Republican presidential nominee "has no intention of turning back the clock" by trying to restore a "two Chinas" policy. Allen said that Reagan, despite some apparent confusion in previous statements, did not advocate a resumption of official U.S. ties with Taiwan.

Peking's official Xinhua news agency quoted Reagan as telling Bush on his departure from Los Angeles on Sunday that he favored official relations with Taiwan.

"Look, I've lived in China," said Bush, head of the U.S. diplomatic liaison office in Peking in 1973-74. He spoke at a news conference here on the eve of his departure for China.

"I've read the newspapers and stories like that, and it doesn't concern me. I will have a good exchange of views with the Chinese officials."

"Governor Reagan's policy, they will be pleased to learn, is eminently sensible, and continued good relations with the People's Republic of China are a part of it."

Asked whether Reagan was advocating a "two Chinas" policy, Bush replied "No. That should have been laid to rest."

He said the Taiwan Relations Act, passed by Congress after the restoration of ties with Peking, "controls" a president's powers and specifies that relations with the island of Taiwan will be "non-governmental."

Earlier, Reagan adviser Allen told a foreign correspondents' club luncheon in Tokyo, "We do not advocate establishment of government-to-government relations on Taiwan."

He added, however, that Reagan sees closer U.S. ties with Taiwan as being "in no way incompatible" with strengthened relations with Peking.

Allen addressed the press club as Bush paid a series of calls on present and former Japanese government officials. Bush, accompanied by Allen, leaves Wednesday for Peking where he once served as chief of the U.S. Liaison Office that existed before full diplomatic relations were restored 18 months ago.

Bush's principal task in China is likely to be explaining the Republican ticket's position on China and Taiwan — an issue which drew a sharp blast from the official party newspaper in Peking today.

The People's Daily, China's leading newspaper and mouthpiece of the Communist Party, accused Reagan of "interfering in China's internal affairs" by urging restoration of the former "two Chinas" policy that extended full diplomatic recognition to Taiwan.

It called the idea "brazen" and "absurd" and declared that Bush will have to make "necessary clarification" of Reagan's policy when he arrives in Peking.

Reagan helping to unseat Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan, charging that liberal Democrats in the Senate are responsible for a serious military decline of the United States, has jumped in to help a lagging campaign to raise $2.1 million to try to unseat 10 of them in November.

Reagan, in a strongly worded letter mailed to hundreds of thousands of Republicans this week, said the success or failure of the project "will have a dramatic effect on America's international position in the 1980s."

The letter was mailed by the Republican Senatorial Committee, which is raising the money in a special effort to unseat the 10 Democrats. The GOP feels they are the most vulnerable of the Democratic Senate candidates.

Reagan, the GOP standard bearer, said the "Democrats' policy of disarmament and retreat" has placed the Soviet Union in a strong position to gain a "major, perhaps decisive, international victory" in the oil-rich Persian Gulf area.

"The crisis we face today is a direct result of the policies and philosophy of the liberal Democrats who have dominated and controlled the United States Senate for 25 years," Reagan stated.

If the Republicans win all 10 of these Senate races, and don't lose any themselves, they will recapture control of the Senate for the first time in a quarter century. This, said Reagan, "would stop the serious military decline of the United States."

Of the 34 Senate seats up in November, 24 are held by Democrats.

Attached to the letter is the "hit list" of 10 Democrats, the GOP chances of beating each, and the amount of money the RSC wants to hand to each of their Republican opponents.

They are Birch Bayh of Indiana, $241,656; Frank Church of Idaho, $76,380; Alan Cranston of California, $987,548; John C. Culver of Iowa, $139,970; John A. Durkin of New Hampshire, $76,380; Mike Gravel of Alaska, $76,380; Gary Hart of Colorado, $133,610; Patrick Leahy of Vermont, $76,380; George McGovern of South Dakota, $76,380; and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, $216,042.

Weather More rain forecast for Southwest today

By The Associated Press

Widely scattered thunderstorms were forecast for the western half of Texas today.

Forecasters warned of the possibility of locally heavy rain in Southwest Texas where rainfall amounts between 1 and 2 inches were reported during the pre-dawn hours.

The remainder of the state was to have partly cloudy skies and hot temperatures.

Highs were to be mostly in the 90s and range from the middle 80s in Southwest Texas to near 101

Leverage in Congress in contention

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The director of the Texas Municipal League says the 1980 census really is about "who will control Congress" and Texas cities should sue if necessary to assure an accurate count.

"We should take whatever legal action is necessary to receive our collective due," Dick Brown said Monday at a meeting of Gov. Bill Clements' Mayors Council.

A major area of concern is the count of illegal aliens, and Brown said every 450,000 illegal aliens "means one congressman" for Texas.

"Our collective interest is in seeing that Texas receives maximum leverage in Washington," Brown said.

Mayors and city officials at the meeting almost uniformly complained of undercounts and said excessive "vacancy rates" reported by census takers showed the count was defective.

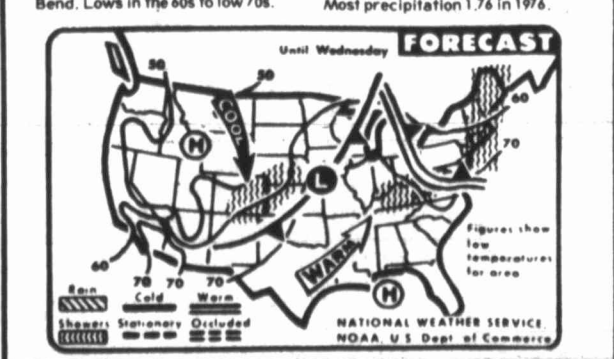

Lila Cockrell, mayor of San Antonio, said her city would decide this week whether to sue to force the Census Bureau to keep its San Antonio offices open until an accurate count is completed.

She said San Antonio was undercounted by 100,000 — enough to warrant a state representative in next year's redistricting — yet the Census Bureau wants to close its offices there by Aug. 25.

The census is in its "Follow-up Two" phase in which census takers are trying to find the people they missed April 1.

Vic Arnold of Clements' office said the state would help any city that wants to protest.

Farm Ag energy conservation awards program announced

The United States Department of Agriculture has announced an energy conservation award program for participants who significantly reduce energy consumption. The application should support a goal that has achieved at least a 5 percent reduction in individual energy use per unit of output when compared to last year.

The crucial importance of energy to agriculture does not appear on a chart or graph. Agriculture production consumes just over three percent of the nation's total energy. But dependent on this relatively small supply of energy is America's production of food and fiber. About 93 percent of this (8 billion gallons) as compared with 74 percent of the energy used nationally is petroleum based. (For example, almost as much energy is used on the average farm in the form of fertilizer as in the operation of tractors. Fuel cost in agriculture has risen faster than that in the general public by skyrocketing nearly 400 percent since 1973.)

New methods are being sought to reduce the need for petroleum based fuels. Farmers can possibly intensify their past efforts and save an additional 5 percent in energy use through such items as proven conservation practices, weatherization of farm businesses, buildings, and residences, and solar use of grain storage, to name a few.

Some firms asking: 'what recession?'

What recession? While car sales and the transportation industry may be hurting, a lot of other industries may be asking that question, according to Nation's Business Magazine.

Not all firms making vehicles are complaining either, according to the publication. Sales of motorcycles, mopeds and top-line bicycles are booming. The concerns making roller skates are cashing in on good times, too.

Distillers aren't singing the blues, either. Prices are up, but people are doing more entertaining at home and, although some corporate clients are cutting back on costs, they are still giving cocktail parties rather than seated dinners.

THE OIL INDUSTRY is booming as never before and several of the oil companies have reported record profits. Production of coal, in greater use because of short supplies of oil, was up 10.5 percent during the first five months of 1980.

Because the military is going to add a lot of hardware, the defense industries seem perched on the edge of a boom. The research department of E.F. Hutton reports that utilities, food, tobacco, drugs and cosmetics are industries in relatively good shape.

Don't overlook the people in the repair business, whether they fix automobiles or home appliances. People are trying to make their expensive items last longer and are prone to consult and hire the services of the mechanics and the machinists to keep them going for longer periods.

High technology companies, particularly those doing research and development, are still considered major growth area. Office equipment, on the other hand, is too dependent on capital-spending cycles to consistently do well.

SURPRISINGLY, THE DRY cleaning business isn't complaining. People are buying fewer clothes and taking better care of the ones they have. Too, more clothes are being made of natural fabrics such as silk and wool, which most people find look better when cleaned professionally. In that endeavor, business is invariably better in the fall than during the summer.

Owners of home repair centers offer few complaints about the economy. The industry has been helped, too, by the increased number of products designed to help the amateur do a competent job.

Catalog sales are up considerably, spurred by the fact that more families are staying home and thumbing through the publications hawking the goods of mail order houses.

More families have been planting home gardens, so the seed and nursery businesses naturally have felt the impact. Upwards of 39 million families may have planted home gardens to supply their own tables.

Baby foods are practically recession proof — the Gerber Company alone reported sales of $600 million in 1979.

Pet food sales are still rising. Insurance sales remain high — people are simply afraid to be caught without some form of protection.

Economic conditions offer a mixed bag. It all depends on what you do and the kind of clientele with which you deal. For many, things couldn't be better.

Depends on hype

Around the rim

Tommy Hart

This and that:

Consider the mood of that trucker who stopped after seeing a woman standing helplessly beside the road with a flat tire on her vehicle.

After the trucker had changed the tire, the woman suggested to him: "Please let the jack down easy. My husband is sleeping in the back seat."

Had it not been for an organization known as the Save The Redwoods League, which spurred the state of California to action, the stately redwood trees might even now just be a memory.

THE ORIGINAL REDWOOD empire fringed the California coast for 500 miles, from Monterey to Southern Oregon.

Four fifths of the forests were cut before the Save The Redwoods League finally influenced the California assembly to take action to save the remaining 300,000 acres. Of this, 86,723 acres is publicly owned.

Officially, the stately redwood is the sequoia sempervirens, translated as "ever living sequoia." It's named that for good reason. The earliest redwood fossils date back some 130 million years. Redwoods used to grow even in the temperature arctic but dramatic climate changes reduced their range. Although it grows now only in a delicately balanced climate, a redwood in its proper habitat may live 2,200 years and grow 350 feet tall.

One of the things that changed with the advent of television is the heavyweight championship fight, and not for the better.

About all you can see today when superreadnights go against each other with the championship on the line are Muhammad Ali's tonsils, whether or not he is fighting.

A fight half a century or so ago was something to be felt rather than seen. It called for neighbors to gather on someone's front porch and wait for the owner of the radio to isolate the program offering Graham McNamee or Clem McCarthy, whose breathless descriptions of what was going on at ringside can't be matched today.

RADIO WASN'T ALWAYS consistent in those days. Sometimes, when the action was at its best, the sound would fade away or the static would drown out entirely the voices of the announcers and you could only imagine what was going on. Sometimes you put your ear as close to the radio as possible, in hopes of picking up just a word or two that might indicate how the fight was progressing.

Willard ... Dempsey ... Tunney ... Sharkey ... Levinsky ... Stribling ... All great names in a noble sport. All came across larger than life. Today, the game depends on hype — Ali admits he capitalized on the attention-getting antics of wrestler Gorgeous George to rivet the attention of the public and the press on him.

Today TV offers such a clear and detailed picture the viewers seldom see anything at all.

Did great job

Art Buchwald

NEW YORK — As a member of the print media, no one stands in as much awe as I do of the electronic media. It is not when they have a good story that they're at their best — it's when they have no story at all and have to stick with it that they really shine.

All three networks excelled last week at the Democratic convention.

I guess the highlight was Wednesday evening. I was watching one of the major channels and there was absolutely nothing going on. The network team rose to the occasion.

"LET'S GO NOW to Tammy Dumbarton. Tammy, you had an earlier report that nothing was going to happen in the next hour. Can you confirm that for us?"

"Yes, Lester. I've been talking to the Rhode Island delegation and they have told me they don't plan to do anything."

"That's very interesting, Tammy, stay with it. Let's go to Carlton Finks who is talking to a lady delegate from Delaware."

"Lester, as you know, nothing has taken place here for the last two hours and with me now is Mrs. Cynthia Grogan, a Carter delegate from Delaware who says she has nothing to say. Mrs. Grogan, is this true?"

"That's correct. On behalf of the entire delegation from Delaware I have no news to report."

"I'm sorry, Carlton. I have to switch to the Waldorf where Temple Star has the latest news on what is going on at Kennedy headquarters."

"Lester, I'm standing in the empty lobby of the Waldorf Astoria and over to my right, out of camera range, is the cashier's window. Sen Kennedy checked out of here sometime today. He came down the elevators and walked out the Park Avenue exit with his family and got into a car."

"What do you think it all means, Temp?"

"Lester, it's too early to say, but I've talked to one of the senator's campaign aides who was closeted in the suite and he said none of it means anything. I'm trying to get confirmation on this now."

"You do that, Temp, and we'll get back to you. Now let's go to Eldon Lloyd who has been standing out on Eighth Avenue and can give us an up-to-date report on the situation there."

"LESTER, THE traffic on Eighth Avenue is moving very well. Three buses have passed by in the last half-hour going north, and about six minutes ago I saw a 1961 Buick. You don't see many of those around any more. There is something going on in Pennsylvania Station. I believe an Amtrak train is running late, but none of the Amtrak people will talk about it."

"Eldon, will you hold off on that Amtrak report? We've had a bulletin that they're run out of coffee in the Garden concession stand just below us. Ron Peterson is trying to get over there now. Ron, can you get to the stand and check it out?"

"I'm working my way over now, Lester. As you can see, the floor is jammed with people. Okay, here I am. Sir, is it true your concession has run out of coffee?"

"Yes, we have. Hi, Mom and Dad and Danny and Eddie and Sue and the guys at Feagan's Bar."

"What do you plan to do about it?"

"Nothing."

"It certainly could be. Well, as you have seen and heard, there is nothing going on here, and we'll stay with the story until its conclusion. In a moment we'll be back with latest coverage of the Democratic convention on our 72nd hour in captivity."

Jaundice: Two basic causes

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please, what causes yellow jaundice? What must I do to get rid of it? — G.R.

First, an explanation. Pigments cause color, whether of paints, plants, dyes or skin. Every day, millions of our worn out red blood cells break down. They all have pigment in them. The liver normally assures that all this old pigment is properly processed for removal from the body in the stool or urine.

There are two possible reasons why some of this pigment accumulates in the body to turn the skin yellow (jaundice). The rarer of the two is having too many red blood cells being broken down at once. That is called hemolytic anemia. The liver gets so swamped with pigment that it cannot handle it all. Some ends up in the skin, causing the color there.

A more common cause is disease of the liver, which, as you recall, is the used-pigment processing plant. If processing lags, pigment piles up, and again jaundice results. Finding out why the liver has gone on strike and what must be done to get it back to work is essential. Once the basic problem is taken care of, whether of too many red blood cells releasing pigment or too few liver cells taking care of waste disposal, the jaundice goes away.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My doctor told me I have a cyst on both of my kidneys. He does not seem worried about this. I am just getting over a bladder infection. Could this be because of the cysts? All the doctor will say is to have it X-rayed every six months. If he isn't worried, why this? He says there is no way to get them to go away. I am 35. — Mrs. B.N.

Solitary kidney cysts are usually limited to a single kidney, are benign and do not affect kidney function. Enlarged cysts sometimes must be drained with a needle or removed to avoid pressure against the kidney and interference with its function. This is the reason for your follow-up X-rays.

I cannot associate your bladder infection with the cysts, unless they have become infected — another possibility your doctor wants to investigate. That's a different story. If the kidneys are working well and if the cyst diagnosis is certain, periodic observation is the accepted course of action. There is no way to get them to go away except through drainage or removal. Various kidney ailments are discussed in greater depth in the booklet "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need to Know About Them." For a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: We surely would appreciate some advice on the care of our 89-year-old mother, whom we love very much. She had a stroke a year and a half ago and may have had some lighter ones since that time. She looks well and has not lost much weight, but we have a hard time giving her her meals. She has such a difficult time swallowing. She chokes and gags and has a difficult time with the mucus. We were wondering if there was something to do about this mucus problem. We just don't think she would be happy in a home. — D.H.N.

The mucus buildup is probably not the result of an overproduction of it, but of the inability of your mother's mouth, throat and tongue muscles to swallow correctly as a result of her strokes. It is hard to say if there is a way to help her with this. You might ask your doctor if your mother is a candidate for a feeding gastrostomy. A tube is placed in the stomach. The tube opens on the outside and nourish-

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband is preoccupied with his work, and now that our last child has gone away to college, I feel depressed and useless. Are there any steps I can take to overcome this? — Mrs. B.L.

DEAR MRS. B.L.: I suspect there are many people who have felt as you do. In fact, I cannot help but think that your husband may feel the same sense of emptiness when he retires unless he makes some changes in his life. Your life has apparently been centered in your children, just as his life seems to be centered in his work. When a person loses something (or someone) which has been at the center of life, it is often difficult to adjust.

What is the solution to your problems? First I want to tell you directly that your life is not useless or worthless in God's eyes. You are very precious to him, and I am convinced he wants to help you and use you in new ways for his purposes. Therefore, the first step is to commit your life to Jesus Christ if you have not done this. Christ wants to be the center of your life, and he wants you to do his will.

ment is given directly through the tube.

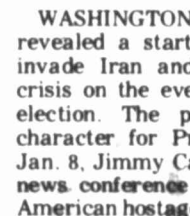

Although this may sound like a major procedure, it is not. By using this technique, your mother can be spared the arduous task of trying to swallow food. It also would eliminate the great production of saliva caused by the eating process. You have my admiration for the devoted care you are giving your mother.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What do you think of brain scans and all those X-rays given for one who has had a stroke? Mightn't they cause brain cancer? I cannot keep from worrying. — Mrs. C.P.F.

You can stop worrying. These tests will not cause brain cancer. They are necessary and safe tools used to study the brain and the flow of blood to it. The hazards of radiation used medically is vastly over-dramatized.

Did you know that 80 percent of stroke victims resume to some degree their former lives? The booklet "Stroke Recovery — Hope and Help" describes the causes and treatment of stroke. For a copy, write Dr. Donohue, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Will OK come?

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Yesterday I revealed a startling Carter plan to invade Iran and create a military crisis on the eve of the presidential election. The plan is not out of character for President Carter. On Jan. 8, Jimmy Carter was asked at a news conference about rescuing the American hostages from their Iranian kidnappers. A military rescue, he warned, "would almost certainly end in failure and almost certainly end in the death of the hostages." This was the assessment, indeed, of the military experts.

THEN THE PRESIDENT'S popularity began to plunge in the polls. The public mood, as charted by the polls, indicated that he could lose several crucial presidential primaries to challenger Ted Kennedy. A major complaint against the long-suffering Carter, the polls also showed, was his tendency to mope about the hostage crisis rather than do something about it.

So he ordered a military rescue attempt. Sources who helped plan the April mission believe Carter was more concerned about his own political fate than the fate of the hostages.

The mission, as Americans are painfully aware, turned out to be a fiasco.

Now once again, the president's reelection is in jeopardy. He is lagging behind Republican candidate Ronald Reagan in the polls. Unfortunately for the besieged Carter, election day will fall on the anniversary of the hostage seizure. This will remind the voters forcefully of the hostage horror as they are going to the polls.

If it appears that he has mishandled the problem, they might express their displeasure on the ballots.

Conversely, political studies show that Americans have always rallied around their president during a national emergency.

IT IS AGAINST this background that Jimmy Carter has ordered preparations for a limited invasion of Iran. For planning purposes, D-Day has been set in October on the eve of the election. Troubled planners suspect that Carter has been guided more by his political studies than their military assessments.

It has taken my associate Dale Van Atta three months to piece together the elusive, secret details because, in the name of national security, the invasion plan has been carefully disguised. Only a selected few are privy to the president's real intent.

Deceptive cover plans and alternate plans have been devised to mislead the thousands of people who necessarily must prepare for any major military operation. Even some of the top tacticians, who meet "Behind the Green Door" as the entrance to the Pentagon operations room is sometimes called, are ignorant of the final plan.

The alternate plans have interlocking elements, which would explain the military preparations without betraying their true purpose. For example, the Saudi Arabian rulers are so worried about an Iranian-style revolt that they have asked for U.S. military support in case the royal family comes under siege.

President Carter has secretly agreed to the request, and some planners have been told this is the reason for all the military activity in the Persian Gulf. Other cover stories have been invented about stand-by forces and training exercises.

But documents so secret that even the classification stamp is classified, identify Carter's real target as Iran. Sources familiar with these documents fear that the limited invasion Carter favors could ignite into a major war. The ostensible objective of saving the hostages, they add, is not likely to be achieved.

Footnote: Of course, the president can always call off the invasion plan and then pretend it never existed.

WHAT'S IN AN ACRONYM? A letter from Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, arrived recently at the National Institutes of Health, addressed to one Oda C. Nih. Enclosed was a memo marked "confidential," outlining an action plan to put conservative Republicans in control of Congress.

It is, Tower wrote, "important that labor and the liberal Democratic Party be kept unaware of our plan until it is too late," and added that Ms. Nih was one of the "few people ... I can count on not to copy and distribute (the memo)."

Unfortunately for Tower's hopes of secrecy, there is no Oda C. Nih at NIH. After searching the agency roster diligently, NIH officials decided the name was a bulk-mail computer's translation of "Office of the Director of Administration, National Institutes of Health," or, acronymically, ODA, NIH.

In a tongue-in-cheek letter to Tower, NIH General Counsel Joan Z. "Jody" Bernstein wrote, "I must warn you that I fear your security has been breached." During the search for Ms. Nih, she explained, a great many people saw the confidential memo, including possibly some members of "the liberal Democratic Party."

Noting that such correspondence could "induce violation of the Hatch Act," Bernstein asked that Ms. Nih's name "be removed from the computer which created her."

WATCH ON WASTE: Three days before the end of the last fiscal year — when unspent funds would be returned to the Treasury — the Bureau of Indian Affairs laid out $109,025 for 28 golf carts for its Albuquerque area office. The same day, the Albuquerque office decided it needed more than $60,000 worth of lawn mowers and snowplows — although, as government inspectors learned, the groups that were to get them hadn't put in a requisition. As for the golf carts, a BIA spokesman said they aren't for use at any country club, but as economy replacements for vehicles like pickup trucks.

Ex-convict held in death of young girl

DALLAS (AP) — An ex-convict who had been released from prison only a month ago was being held in the brutal rape and strangulation of a 14-year-old girl during a party early Sunday.

The suspect was released from prison July 13 after serving three-and-a-half years of an eight-year sentence for the 1976 rape of a 51-year-old Dallas woman. The woman died two weeks later of injuries sustained in the attack.

The man was being held without bond in the slaying of Tonna Maria Longan, an eighth-grade honor student at Rusk Middle School whose partially nude body was found in the backyard of her former boyfriend's house about 12:40 p.m. Sunday.

Homicide investigator John Landers said she had been raped, sexually mutilated, beaten with fists and strangled. Police and medical authorities placed the time of death about 1 a.m.

Friends told police Miss Longan had met the suspect at the home of her former boyfriend, 19-year-old Gerald Friend. The three were among about 35 guests at a party across the street Saturday night, friends said.

Miss Longan's death was reported about 1 p.m. Sunday by the ex-convict, who had returned to Friend's home, saying he wanted to help take out the garbage.

"He had been over several times and watched us do remodeling work without lifting a finger. It was real unusual for him to offer to do anything," Friend said.

Friend said the man returned to the house and said, "There's some girl laying in your back yard. I think she's dead."

Friend, who dated Miss Longan for four months before they broke up three weeks ago, said he "grabbed him and said, 'You're staying here'."

Landers said the suspect had scratches on his forearms and dried blood under his fingernails.

The suspect has been convicted on three drug charges, police said.

Miss Longan was described as a "beautiful girl" who aspired to be a model.

The victim had planned to enter Thomas Jefferson High School this fall. She was an honor student at Rusk, where she was enrolled in the advanced student program and active in soccer, said her mother, Lou Longan.

Former Rusk assistant principal Joe V. Davis said he had noticed changes in Miss Longan after her seventh grade year, however.

"She would be absent a lot, and would skip classes and leave the campus," he said. "Some of her friends said she was hanging with an older crowd than she should have. I was a little concerned about her, like we would be for all our students. Hearing this, though, this is awful."

Child's health letter topic

Most parents try to provide the very best for their children and one of their greatest concerns is the health of each child.

The County Extension Service will sponsor a series of five letters about understanding the importance of a child's health for parents of young children. Topics to be covered in the series include: general facts about children's health, when to call a doctor, childhood diseases, children's teeth and family medical records.

Those interested in enrolling should contact the County Extension Office at 267-1821. Those who enroll can expect to receive a different letter once a week beginning Aug. 25.

Your children can learn about health too by reading the "Children's Feeling Good" letters attached to the parent's letters.

Martin draws prison term

Darrell Wayne Martin, 1904 Main, entered a plea of guilt to probation violation Friday on 118th District Court and received eight years in state prison.

Martin pleaded guilty to a burglary that he was arrested for Sept. 20, 1979. He was transferred and released on personal recognizance bond Sept. 25, 1979.

Modelmakers come into the limelight

DETROIT (AP) — They sand wood, mold plastic and cast in metal the miniatures that become prototypes for America's cars. Modelmakers often toil in the shadows of their counterparts on the assembly line, but now they're in the spotlight as subjects of the largest health screening program in the nation's history.

Modelmakers are getting cancer, and their union and the world's largest automaker want to know why. General Motors Corp. on Monday began medical examinations of some 4,000 employees. GM decided this spring to offer the examinations of model shop employees in 21 cities after three independent studies showed wood modelmakers seemed more likely to get cancer of the colon and the rectum than could normally be expected.

One study, commissioned by GM and the United Auto Workers, of 1,623 workers in 14 model shops found 14 cancers of the colon and rectum. Six cases would normally have been expected.

Employees are being asked to submit voluntarily to X-ray, blood and urine tests to check for cancer of the skin, mouth, throat, larynx, lung, kidney, bladder, prostate, colon and rectum.

"It doesn't look like there'll be many (who refuse), based on our orientation sessions," said GM spokesman Bruce MacDonald.

"We're not sure what we're dealing with as a causative agent. Is it something in the workplace? Is it something in the workplace interacting with something somewhere else?" asked GM's medical director, Dr. Robert Wienczek.

A UAW spokesman who asked not to be named said, "We're very glad to see the program finally beginning. We thought it was necessary to clear up any questions employees might have about their own health."

Among those being tested are modelmakers and other employees around the shops, from janitors to supervisors.

They are being asked for medical, dietary and job histories. Unlike the assembly line worker, who may stay in a single plant for most of his working life, modelmakers often are itinerant, learning the trade at one company, then joining another.

Highly skilled professionals, the average modelmaker is 40, much older than the average autoworker, Wienczek said.

Data collected so far suggests the highest cancer rates are among modelmakers who have been in the trade for between 5 and 15 years, the doctor said. The cancer rate is less not only in those who have worked fewer years, but also in those who have worked far longer.

The examinations will take six months to complete and will be repeated after a year.

Cause still a mystery

Spina Bifida common defect

August has been designated as Public Awareness Month for the second most common birth defect in the United States. This common crippler of newborns isn't Cystic Fibrosis, Multiple Sclerosis or even Muscular Dystrophy.

Occuring more frequently than those three defects combined is Spina Bifida. According to the National Institute of Health, Spina Bifida strikes 11,000 newborns each year.

Spina Bifida is a congenital defect often referred to as open spine. The condition involves malformation of the spine and damage to the neurological system.

The defect can result in a wide range of disabilities including weakness or paralysis of the legs and problems with bladder and/or bowel control.

Approximately 85 percent of the children born with Spina Bifida also have Hydrocephalus, a condition of improper circulation and accumulation of fluids in the brain. This can be controlled by a surgical procedure called shunting.

The cause of Spina Bifida remains a mystery. Public awareness of the condition is a relatively recent phenomenon because research of Spina Bifida and programs for treatment have been developed only in the past two decades.

Prior to the 1960's, the majority of children born with Spina Bifida died shortly after birth or suffered multiple handicaps and retardation.

Today, because of medical advances, children born with Spina Bifida can be expected to have normal intelligence, normal lifespans, and be able to become contributing members of society.

The Spina Bifida Association of America, with chapters throughout the United States, consists of parents and physicians of persons with Spina Bifida, adults with the defect, and other interested persons.

Medical costs are extraordinary for those born with Spina Bifida, with current estimates being $100,000 to treat a Spina Bifida child for the first four years and more than $250,000 in a lifetime.

Society should be made aware of the problems and needs of individuals with Spina Bifida.

The association is striving to relate progress in the fields of research, medicine, education and legislation which have offered hope for tomorrow.

Although there is no local chapter, there are several children of this area suffering from Spina Bifida.

Persons interested in making donations to aid with continued research of this defect which strikes 2 out of every 1,000 children born in the United States, can mail them to Spina Bifida Association of Texas, Inc., Houston Chapter, P.O. Box 15195, Houston, Tex. 77020.

Continental Singers to appear tonight

The Continental Singers and Orchestra, currently on their yearly 75-day summer tour, will present a live 90-minute concert of contemporary Christian music tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Their performance includes contemporary gospel music, spirituals, anthems, and hymn arrangements. This year's program, entitled "...And There Was Light" will feature selections from a new youth musical by Cam Floria and Jeff Kennedy by the same title. Also included will be medleys of favorite praise songs as well as contemporary gospel songs like "Jehoshaphat's Song" by Don Francisco and Dallas Holm's "Rise Again" and great standards such as "How Great Thou Art."

The 25 vocalists and an 11-piece orchestra are highly trained and talented musicians selected by audition from thousands of high school- and college-age young people from across the nation and in foreign countries. Auditions are held after each local concert for singers, instrumentalists and technical staff. The program has proven so popular among young performers wanting to join the tours that they have grown from one group in 1967 to 12 groups this year.

Since Floria organized the first group, various editions of the Continental Singers and Orchestra have made more than 5,000 live domestic appearances and over 1,400 foreign appearances before more than 3.5 million people. The philosophy of Floria is that "regardless of the country or religion, music is the common language."

Traveling from 100 to 500 miles seven days a week by bus, boat and plane, they will perform nightly during the summer tour. Concerts are held in churches, auditoriums, outdoor pavilions, military bases and hospitals. They are completely self-contained with their own sound and light equipment.

Local auditions for next summer's tours will immediately follow their performance tonight.

Dear Abby

Bells May Ring Over Ma Bell's Lines

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend and I were all set to get married when I pulled overseas duty. (I'm a private in the U.S. Army.) We decided that since I would be gone for a year, we should postpone the marriage until I got back home.

Well, three weeks after I got here (please don't say where), I got a letter from my girlfriend back home (don't mention the town), telling me that she is in a family way!

She can't afford to come where I am to marry me, and I am not able to get back home, so we are in a fix!

I have heard that there is a way to get married by "proxy." I think it's by telephone with a clergyman on both ends. Anyway, I would sure appreciate it if you could tell me if it's possible, because I love this girl and she loves me, and we want our baby to be legitimate. Thanks for any help you can give me. Please don't tell me I should have thought of this before. Love is sometimes stronger than logic.

Is this proper? After all, don't they symbolize death?

A once-in-a-lifetime adventure for the Permian Basin's outstanding high school seniors of 1981 is getting very close.

The event is the Permian Basin Fair and Exposition Junior Miss Pageant to be held Sept. 13 in conjunction with this year's fair at the Permian Playhouse beginning at 8 p.m.

The American Junior Miss Program, observing its 24th year, was launched by the Mobile, Ala., Jaycees in 1958. Mobile is the site for the National Finals that are held in the spring of each year.

The Permian Basin Junior Miss will compete for the state crown in New Braunfels in January.

Heading the selection of the judging team will be Bill Rea. Judging will be in accordance with the National program, placing emphasis on scholastic achievement, mental alertness and judges conference, poise and appearance, youth fitness, creative and performing arts.

The winner will receive a $700 scholarship and trophy as well as the opportunity to serve as hostess for the 1981 Fair and Exposition and compete for the state crown.

First runner-up will receive a $300 scholarship and trophy.

The purpose of the pageant is not only to recognize outstanding high school girl seniors but also to promote some regional identity and publicity statewide for the Permian Basin.

Any girl who will be a high school senior in 1980-81 and would like more information should contact Rick Miller at 333-4106.

CHEERS FOR HEADLINER HERO — A toothless young Kansas City Royals fan, Chris Jensen of Tulsa, Okla., holds up a newspaper spotlighting Royals star batter George Brett as he cheers for Brett during batting practice before Monday night's game against the Texas Rangers. Brett extended his hitting streak to 30 games going three for five in the Royals' 6-3 victory.

Wants to renegotiate or be traded

Dorsett upset with contract

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Running back Tony Dorsett of the Dallas Cowboys is unhappy with his contract and wants traded unless the National Football League team bolsters his paychecks, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette reported in today's editions.

The former University of Pittsburgh All-American was telephoned at the Cowboys' training camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif., and he reportedly said he was displeased with the five-year, six-figure contract he signed in 1977.

"This is a very touchy subject," Dorsett was quoted as saying in a story by Post-Gazette sports writer Vito Stellino.

"I'm going to wait and see what happens. I hope it can be worked out, but if it isn't, I'll definitely have to consider the alternatives."

The alternatives were spelled out by Stephan Sokol, a Pittsburgh attorney who started representing Dorsett a month ago, along with Kellen McClendon.

Sokol, the Post-Gazette said, reported the Cowboys have agreed to extend or renegotiate the contract. But he added that the two sides are bogged down on terms.

"I've asked the Cowboys to trade him if they don't want to pay him," Sokol was quoted as saying.

"I told them they could look around to find another place for him to play. There are other teams that would be willing to pay him."

Conceding the Cowboys would be unlikely to trade Dorsett, Sokol said his client might be forced to an "act of protest." The Post-Gazette said Sokol suggested Dorsett might leave the Cowboy camp.

"The next step is going to be a difficult step," Sokol said. "I don't want them to think we're trying to back them into a corner, but we've indicated Tony is ready to do what is best for his interests."

Sokol said Dorsett "didn't get the great contact that everybody thought he got." He said the pact, negotiated by Los Angeles agent Mike Trope, is supposed to be worth a million dollars but that it is worth less because so much of it is deferred.

Sokol said Dorsett, whose salary has been reported at more than $200,000 a year, only received $80,000 last year and is scheduled to get $100,000 this year. He said the rest of the money is deferred until the year 2004.

"Tony likes to play for the Cowboys," Sokol said. "We want what we believe he is worth. There are at least 13 backs in the league making more money than Tony."

Sokol said he and Cowboy Vice President Gil Brandt have talked about a five-year contract starting this year.

The Post-Gazette speculated that Dorsett is seeking between $350,000 and $400,000 per year.

Oilers Carl Mauck setting the stage for showdown with Pokes

HOUSTON (AP) — It didn't take Houston Oiler center Carl Mauck long to begin his annual roasting of the Dallas Cowboys.

"Well, we're playing the Cowgirls this week," Mauck said moments after Sunday's 20-17 victory over New Orleans. "I was a little rankled about a comment Reverend (Tom) Landry made when he said the Rams were the big preseason test for the Cowboys."

"I guess he feels like their preseason is over now that they've beaten the Rams. Well, I'll tell you, I'm real serious about this game this week."

Three seasons ago, when the Oilers defeated the Cowboys in Houston, Mauck invited all Cowboy fans living in Houston to move to Dallas.

While Mauck moved into action against the Cowboys, Oiler wide receiver Ken Burrough remained in Houston with a knee injury that will keep him out of Saturday's game.

Burrough injured the knee against the Saints when he tried to throw a block for running back Earl Campbell.

"We've got receivers and quarterbacks to do the job until I get back," Burrough said. "My foot caught in the turf and he hit me from behind. I'm glad it came loose or I might have been hurt real bad."

spokesman said

Waters, who missed last season after surgery on his right knee, twisted the knee against the Rams but the injury is not thought to be serious.

Left corner Benny Barnes will test corrective surgery on his foot against Houston.

If Hughes is forced to undergo surgery, Landry has indicated his intentions of making Dennis Thurman the starter, instead of calling on retired star Cliff Harris.

Injuries to Cowboy pass defenders could cause changes

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Dallas defensive backs Randy Hughes and Charlie Waters, both hurt in the Cowboys' 19-16 preseason victory over the Los Angeles Rams, may be available for duty against the Houston Oilers Saturday.

A spokesman for the Cowboys said Monday free safety Hughes and strong safety Waters were hit by old injuries in last Saturday night's game in Anaheim.

Hughes, who suffered a separated shoulder for the second time in recent weeks, will have a special brace fitted, the quarterback with Tim Clifford. Such is not the case at Notre Dame and Michigan.

At Notre Dame, Mike Courey, Tim Koegel and Gary Knafelic are battling for the No. 1 position. At Michigan, John Swangler is making a remarkable comeback from knee surgery, but if freshman Steve Smith lives up to his billing, he could be the man.

"I have not yet seen a freshman quarterback win a Big Ten championship," Schembechler said, "not Art Schlichter, nor Rick Leach."

Purdue will be awesome with an offense led by Herrmann, but defense is another matter where the Boilermakers lost a lot of talent.

"We're bigger and faster," Coach Jim Young said, "but not better."

Indiana also figures to be a title contender. The Hoosiers keep edging closer to the top each year, and Coach Lee Corso is looking for improvement in his defenses.

"You win with defense, a kicking game and your offensive line," Corso said. "If you win without them, you're lucky and luck goes only so far."

Iowa could take the darkhorse role in the Big Ten, but the others don't appear to be ready for title contention.

In the unpredictable Mid-American Conference, Toledo appears ready to dethrone Central Michigan.

Iowa won its last five in Hayden Fry's first season. As a result, for the first time in Hawkeye history, all home game tickets have been sold in advance.

"We've made progress. The youngsters know they can win," Fry said. "Our offensive line is two deep. We made progress on defense, but we're still weak."

Major League Roundup

Brewers quietly sneak into AL East picture

By The Associated Press

Today's American League headlines again deal with the New York-Baltimore East Division pennant chase and the assault of Kansas City's sizzling George Brett on the 400 mark. But something new has been added — the Milwaukee Brewers.

While the Baltimore Orioles edged New York 6-5 and pulled within 2½ games of the Yankees in the AL East, and while Brett went 3-for-5 in Kansas City's 6-3 triumph over the Texas Rangers, boosting his average to .404 and giving him a 30-game hitting streak, the Brewers quietly sneaked to within 6½ games of the top with a noisy 12-5 route of the Detroit Tigers.

"I think it has been on the verge of happening for a long time and now it is kind of snowballing. The momentum is there. The more it rolls, the more it's going to gather," said Gorman Thomas, who crashed a grand-slam homer to help the Brewers to their seventh consecutive victory.

Elsewhere, the Minnesota Twins downed the California Angels 8-3 while the Cleveland Indians took the opener of a two-all doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 4-2 but dropped the nightcap 7-2. Boston, Oakland, Seattle and Toronto were not scheduled. In the only National League contest, the St. Louis Cardinals mauled the Cincinnati Reds 10-1.

Milwaukee's Ben Oglvie hit a bases-empty homer, his 30th, one pitch after Thomas' sixth-inning grand slam. That put the game out of reach after Milwaukee converted three Detroit errors into a five-run fourth inning.

"Six-and-a-half out with a month-and-a-half to play — that's plenty of time. We're right back in it," said Brewers Manager George Bamberger. "All year long we have not had a big winning streak. It looks like maybe we've got something going now."

Royals 6, Rangers 3

Brett singled his first three times up, running his string to seven straight hits over two days as he became the 28th player in major league history to hit safely in 30 consecutive games.

"I'm not worried about the hitting streak," he said. "There's enough pressure just in the pennant race without putting extra pressure on myself."

Over his 30-game streak, Brett has 57 hits in 122 at-bats for a .467 average with six homers and 42 RBI.

"I'm busting my rear to get every hit I can, but not because of the streak," he said. "I want Kansas City to have the best record in baseball and win the World Series and be able to walk down the street wearing a big diamond ring with green emeralds in it."

Meanwhile, Willie Aikens drove in four runs with a two-run homer in the third inning and a two-run single in the fourth while Rich Gale won his 10th game in a row with help from Jeff Twitty and Dan Quisenberry, who picked up his 26th save.

Orioles 6, Yankees 5

Al Bumbry, Rich Dauer and Mark Belanger drove in two runs apiece and the Orioles held off an eighth-inning rally to tighten the race in the East Division. The victory enabled the defending AL champs to take the five-game series 3-2 and register their sixth victory in eight games against the Yankees in the last 11 days.

Oscar Gamble's homer gave the Yankees a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning but Baltimore came right back and took a 3-2 lead in the bottom of the fourth on Doug DeCinces' double, a walk, Belanger's RBI-single, Bumbry's double and Dauer's sacrifice fly. The Orioles added three more in the fifth on Belanger's double, Bumbry's single and Dauer's infield out.

"I felt that if we came out of this stretch — playing in New York, then in Kansas City and then coming home against New York — four, five or six games out, we'd have a shot said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. "We're 2½ out, but I'd rather be zero."

Yankees, Orioles

set crowd mark

BALTIMORE (AP) — The five-game series between the New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles that ended yesterday drew a total attendance of 253,636, the largest total crowd ever to watch a set of regular-season games between major league baseball teams and the sixth ever to top 200,000.

The old record of 218,948 was set between Aug. 29 and Sept. 1, 1963, when 218,948 attended a series between the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers at Dodger Stadium.

Twins 8, Angels 3

Jose Morales had three hits and John Castino and streak for Minnesota earlier in the season. It also pushed his batting average to .404. Over the past 30 games, Brett is hitting .467 with 57 hits, 29 runs and 42 runs batted in.

The last time a major leaguer averaged .400 or more in a season was 1941.

"My teammates are pulling for me to keep getting hits, and I'm busting my rear to get every hit I can. But it's not because of the streak or the average. There's enough pressure without me putting added pressure on myself," Brett said.

"I'm doing everything I can because I want Kansas City to have the best record in baseball. That's the incentive I have. I want to win the World Series and walk down the street wearing a big diamond ring with green emeralds in it," Brett said.

Jaeger advances in Women's Cup

MAHWAH, N.J. (AP) — Andrea Jaeger scored a 6-2 victory over Renata Tomanova of Czechoslovakia to advance to the second round of the $100,000 Women's Cup tennis championships.

In other matches, top-seeded Tracy Austin beat Betsy Nagelsen 6-0, 6-3; Regina Marsikova of Czechoslovakia beat Argentina's Ivanna Madrugá 6-4, 7-5; Terry Holladay defeated Leslie Allen 4-6, 7-5, 6-2; Bettina Bunge outdueled Sharon Walsh 3-6, 6-2, 6-3; Sylvia Hanika of West Germany crushed Yvonne Vermaak of South Africa 6-2, 6-1; and Sandy Collins beat Betty Stove 3-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Third-seeded Evonne Goolagong withdrew from competition because of a recurring back injury.

"I guess having to part with anyone like that is as tough as anything in the business."

John Mendenhall and Gordon Gravelle knew the New York Giants didn't want them. But they learned something else Monday: neither do the Green Bay Packers nor the Los Angeles Rams.

Cardinals fire GM

ST. LOUIS (AP) — John Claiborne, fired as general manager of the stumbling St. Louis Cardinals after only 22 months on the job, says he saw it coming.
"as you look back, at the fact the team is doing poorly and the club is losing pretty big sums of money, you can see the signs," the 41-year-old Claiborne said.

Claiborne said he was told of the decision by club President August A. Busch Jr. Monday morning in a "friendly atmosphere or a meeting where you're getting fired."

Stewart doing fine

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A spokesman for one of the nation's most enduring screen stars says "there's no cause for alarm" about the condition of James Stewart, who is being treated in the coronary care unit of St. John's Hospital here.

The 72-year-old actor was admitted to the hospital last week after suffering an irregular pulse. He was resting comfortably Monday.

John Strauss, a spokesman for the actor, said Stewart had not suffered a heart attack and appeared to be "in great shape" when he saw him last week. A hospital spokeswoman said there was no word on when the actor would be released.

Stewart, who appeared in such films as "Rear Window" and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," won an Academy Award for "The Philadelphia Story" in 1940.

Mayor Ed Koch, a survivor of many political battles, prefers burnt almond.

Then there's Kermit the Frog. When asked to name his favorite, the Muppet responded: "Green fly. Especially the kind with real green fly particles, not synthetic."

Seeing red over ad

MONROE, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio nurseryman is so mad over the Yellow Pages, he's seeing red. "Yellow Page Gooof Hurts Family Biz" reads the green and white billboard in front of Jay Frick's sod nursery near here.

Frick's billboard usually carries a humorous message, such as "work is the curse of the drinking class." But Ohio Bell omitted his ad from the latest Dayton-Kettering telephone book and he says that isn't funny.

"That just about scuttled our business," he said, adding his business was listed correctly in other area phone books.

Ohio Bell representative Beth Allen said complaints like Frick's are often the result of a printer's mistake or a misunderstanding with the salesman when an advertising contract is drawn up.

"We will make an adjustment if they have a contract and the ad does not appear due to a printer's mistake," she said.

Shoelaces trip up thieves

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — It didn't take long to trip up those responsible for the theft of 10,000 pairs of orange shoestrings worth $2,700, police say.

The first clues on the heist came when dozens of boys and girls were spotted sporting the flashy shoelaces.

"Everywhere we looked we saw kids wearing them," Jo Ann Ballard, director of the Neighborhood Christian Center, said Monday.

The shoestrings had been donated to the center, sponsored by Second Presbyterian Church, and were free for the asking.

"Police said they arrested four juveniles in connection with the theft, but Mrs. Ballard said she would ask the Juvenile Court judge "to send them to me."

"Our idea is to build relationships with kids," she said. "Those shoelaces may have given us better publicity than anything we've had before."

Wildcat strike? Look out!

DETROIT (AP) — The term "wildcat strike" may take on an entirely new meaning if a new union catches on.

"United Pets of America" has been organized by four United Auto Workers members intent on spoofing organized labor. The UPA's only local—738, which corresponds to UAW on the phone dial—has seven rank-and-file members, all dogs. But any pet—cat, bird, rabbit, goldfish, hamster—can join.

"We give them rights and everything," says Dave Laidlaw of suburban Redford Township, a laid off, 29-year-old General Motors Corp. employee. "We were sitting around one day, looking at my collie, King, and just decided that pets need unions too."

The union contends dogs with two years' seniority should not be fed dry food two days in a row, while management must notify pets of vacations one week in advance.

Louisiana's first for hot salt water

Drilling begins at geothermal well

SWEET LAKE, La. (AP) — One of the country's biggest rigs is ready to begin drilling today for fizzy, boiling hot salt water in Charles Precht's rice field here.

The well will be the first of at least three designed to see if water trapped in sand miles beneath Louisiana's rich black soil can become an important new source of energy.

"We'll spud in probably some time Tuesday," C. David Mitchell, site manager for Magma Gulf-Technadri, a three-company joint venture that is drilling the well, said Monday night.

When it's done, brine filled with rushing bubbles of natural gas will rocket through a hole nearly three miles long and 20 inches across at the top.

Project manager Bob Rodgers estimated it will take about three months to drill the well — called a geopressured-geothermal well — and at least another six months before officials know if the heat and gas will pay for bringing the water to the surface.

The federal Department of Energy is paying Magma Gulf-Technadri $8.4 million over two years to drill and test the well as part of an $88 million, three-year geopressured-geothermal program.

If the well makes a profit, the department will get its money back.

"We're certainly doing it to see what it has as far as commercial value," Rodgers said. "If it's not commercially feasible, we'll back off and do something else."

Another $400,000 for testing is coming from the Gas Research Institute, headquartered in Chicago.

The institute is interested because vast amounts of natural gas — nobody knows how much — are dissolved beneath a unique 200-mile-wide area stretching along the Gulf of Mexico from New Orleans to Brownsville, Texas.

As O. Carroll Karkalits, dean of McNeese University's School of Engineering and Technology, explains it, the water was once part of the Gulf of Mexico. Sudden deposits of soil trapped it in sand and sealed it between layers of clay. The heavy soil above the water and heat rising from the earth's core create a huge pressure cooker where temperatures range from 240 to 350 degrees Fahrenheit.

It took a lot of pressure to dissolve the gas, and that same pressure hurls the water up through the well. When it reaches the surface, natural gas bubbles out for the same reason club soda and champagne fizz when they're uncorked.

Ideally, Rodgers said, the water will be hot enough and fast enough to drive a turbine for a small power plant, in addition to carrying methane. The heat — expected to be about 300 degrees Fahrenheit — could also be used to heat or cool buildings, he said.

But it will take both the heat and the gas to produce enough energy to make the well worthwhile, he said. And he's not making any bets on the results.

"You have a lot of people who will say this or that, but we're scientists. ... We would prefer to maintain a sort of noncommittal attitude. We can't make prognostications until we have the water," he said.

Rodgers said he is a geology professor at Pan American University in Edinburg, Texas, as well as an employee of Technadri — a Houston energy company. The other two companies in the joint venture are Gulf Geothermal Corp. of Baton Rouge and Magma Power, a California company involved in geothermal energy projects in the western states.

Only one other well — in Brazoria County, Texas — has been drilled especially to see whether the geopressured-geothermal program will work. Tests there are just beginning, officials say.

El Paso woman

wins beauty title

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Diana Durnford, 21, of El Paso, who likes to cook and dance and someday wants to host a talk show, is the new Miss Texas USA and will represent Texas at the Miss USA Pageant next spring.

"One of my big idols is Phyllis George. I think I'm good at talking to people and bringing out their best qualities," said Miss Durnford, a junior at Texas-El Paso studying communications. "I would like to host a talk show."

A panel of nine judges gave the brown-eyed, brown-haired, 5-foot-7 coed 28 points Monday night, making her the winner in the statewide pageant over Miss Dallas County, Lu Ann Caughey, who scored 22.

The other three runners-up, in the order the judges placed them, were Miss Humble, Debbie Maffett; Miss Sandia, Bambi Hamm; and Miss Dallas, Randi Hall.

More relief centers open for hurricane stricken areas

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Hundreds of South Texans held out their hands to "Uncle Sam" in the wake of Hurricane Allen's destruction, as two more federal assistance offices opened today.

A little more than a week ago the storm destroyed 620 residences and severely damaged another 3,200 homes in nine counties.

Damages are estimated to reach $600 million, says Texas Gov. Bill Clements.

Offices opened last week Corpus Christi, Alice, Kingsville, Port Aransas, and Harlingen, without enough trained staffers to handle the heavy turnout.

More than 1,500 persons sweltered in the 90 degree heat for up to eight hours until the Corpus Christi office opened. Many fainting and only 350 people were processed the first day.

"Over 5,500 people have registered through the centers and have received applications," said Heather Schoen, of the federal emergency management agency in Corpus Christi.

New offices open today in Edinburg and Port Isabel, and a Brownsville center opens Thursday.

Hurricane victims, from the homeless to those needing help with minor repairs, were encouraged to come by the centers where representatives of federal, state and local disaster relief agencies would be available. Agencies include the Small Business Administration, Internal Revenue Service, Farmers Home Administration and temporary housing programs.

Centers do not give out money immediately but instead take applications and later send someone to verify the claimed loss.

The Red Cross operates 16 assistance centers throughout South Texas that are separate from the federal offices. Persons needing immediate, but temporary help should apply, said Phil Gaddis of the Red Cross in Corpus Christi.

He said the latest totals show almost 13,000 were displaced or otherwise affected by the storm.

"It's kind of interesting that we are getting into seven days after Allen made landfall and we still have 25 mobile aid units out in the field," Gaddis said. "It shows the freaky kind of flooding in patches it caused."

Edinburg in Hidalgo County suffered a week of four-foot flooding. City officials used water pumps from the State Highway Department to drain 95 percent of the water this weekend, Edinburg Acting City Manager Romeo Villarreal said.

"My biggest problem is mosquitoes. We've had machines out but it seems like they're not doing anything to help and we're using the strongest stuff allowed for populated areas," Villarreal said.

Five disaster shelters remain open in the Edinburg area and are housing 291 persons, Gaddis said.

Red Cross shelters at one point numbered 443 with 252,000 persons throughout South Texas, he added.

Residents of nine counties — Cameron, Willacy, Kleberg, Jim Wells, Nueces, San Patricio, Aransas, Hidalgo and Brooks — are eligible for disaster relief under a presidential declaration.

Cameron and Hidalgo County officials complained last week that only one center — in Harlingen — had been opened for the three counties declared disasters in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

A company that thrives on failure

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) - Champagne corks pop off with gay abandon - at the wrong time. Ann-Margret falls off a stage swing in Las Vegas and is seriously injured. Ford Motor Co. is charged with reckless homicide in the fiery crash of a Pinto.

Enter Failure Analysis Associates, a company that thrives on misfortune, analyzing why and how and if products fail.

"When there's failure, there's always human error," said Charles Rau Jr., the company's 38-year-old general manager. "No one's going to intentionally make a part that's going to fail."

In the case of Ann-Margret's swing, "It turned out to be an engineering problem. It turned out not to be adequate for holding up pretty ladies."

On the Pinto, Failure Analysis compared the car to others of its size. "The Ford Pinto was no worse than most of the subcompacts. There were some considerably better, but there were many that were worse. Why single them out?" Rau said.

A jury in Indiana acquitted Ford in March. One reason was Ford's argument, based on Failure Analysis work, that the Pinto that burned was like other subcompacts of its day.

The champagne cork matter is still under wraps, but Rau said engineers believe it's also a design problem.

Failure Analysis has been in operation since the early 1960s, first as a consortium of Stanford University professors and later as a company with a staff of 80.

Much of the expansion stems from an explosion in the products liability business. When companies have product problems, they often are targets of lawsuits seeking large awards.

"What they come to us for are specific problems or when they need an independent view," Rau said. "More often than not, we're providing a skill that doesn't exist in the company, even Fortune 500 companies."

"I think we're a pretty practical group of guys, problem solvers, technical sleuths. One man from England called us the pathologists of things inanimate."

Rau, a Stanford Ph.D. in metallurgy, joined the company in 1974 when it had 12 employees and grossed $250,000. Last year, revenues topped $4 million. Rau declined to give the company's profits or how much it charges per case.

"In 1974, we changed from a pick-up team to a more professional full-time organization," Rau said. "It's a high-technology business that we're in."

Although the company started by analyzing failures, its mission has expanded. Companies are becoming more and more concerned about preventing failure, and are bringing in consultants to study their products.

"We started off doing all the post mortems. But as the cost (of failure) goes up and up, companies are spending more and more before accidents occur on failure prevention work," Rau said.

Now, Failure Analysis is working on a computerized system for inspecting railroad tracks. The company has already done extensive studies of derailments.

Company officers are reluctant to talk about specific cases.

"If we find something wrong, we make our client aware of that immediately. We have gone so far as to terminate our involvement with a client if we feel he's not proceeding in good conscience to address any serious problems, something that's a serious risk to people," said Rau.

"We're not going to be a party to allowing a really unacceptable risk to continue," he said, adding such incidents have been rare.

Rau said few companies provide the services of Failure Analysis, although there is some competition, from the Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio, in metallurgy, and from the Highway Safety Research Institute in Chapel Hill, N.C., on cars.

The company, with offices in Los Angeles, Houston and Phoenix, also looks at plane crashes. "We will often work on whether a pilot could have done certain things or whether there were mistakes sitting there waiting to happen (because of design problems)," Rau said.

"You can always make things safer. The question is, how safe is safe enough? What kind of risks are you willing to take?" he asked.

"Nothing's break and everything does break with a certain percentage. My feeling is we have to decide what sort of risks are acceptable for the kind of society we're living in."
