Clayton wants early trial to save political career

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton hope to convince a federal judge to keep a Sept. 8 trial date for the veteran legislator, who says a quick acquittal of Brilab charges is needed to put his political career back on track.

A speedy trial motion and a request to try Clayton separately were among a stack of about 40 pretrial motions still facing Judge Robert O'Connor today.

O'Connor refused Friday to dismiss extortion, racketeering, fraud and conspiracy charges against Clayton, Deer Park labor leader L.G. Moore, and Austin law partners Randall B. Wood and Donald W. Ray.

The FBI Brilab investigation, aimed at alleged corruption among public officials and labor leaders, resulted in the June 12 indictments against the four defendants.

The judge said defense arguments of manufactured jurisdiction and government misconduct in the 10-month FBI undercover operation prompted "grave concerns," but he felt there were very many "grave factual considerations" for determination by a jury.

Clayton and his attorney, Roy Minton, expressed pleasure at O'Connor's ruling, saying that a quick trial and acquittal, not a dismissal, are needed to salvage the speaker's political future.

Minton said he would fight to keep the Sept. 8 trial date and gain a separate trial. He said a trial for Clayton alone probably could be completed in three to four weeks while a single trial for all four defendants could last two months or longer.

The Sept. 8 trial date is up in the air since Mike Ramsey, Moore's lawyer, also is scheduled to be involved in another trial on that day. Normal federal procedure would give precedence to the other trial since it was set first.

O'Connor refused to dismiss the charges after five long days of testimony, the playing of secretly recorded conversations and heated final arguments.

When polled by O'Connor, defense and prosecution attorneys indicated no plans for additional pretrial testimony except on defense motions for exclusion of some of the wiretap conversations.

Most of the more than 100 tapes involve the government's key informant, Joseph Hauser, who began cooperating with the FBI after two insurance swindle convictions.

Operating out of a fictitious insurance office set up by the FBI in Beverly Hills, Calif., Hauser sought the reopening of bids on a $76 million insurance contract for Texas state employees.

The government alleges Moore, after meeting Hauser, sought advice from Wood and Ray on the status of the state contract and then introduced Hauser to Clayton.

Clayton is accused of having received a $5,000 downpayment for a $600,000 bribe Hauser and Moore allegedly promised him for his assistance. Clayton has said he intended to return the money.

An FBI agent testified last week that he could find no record of Clayton reporting the $5,000 as a campaign contribution. Minton argued an office holder need not make such reports until 45 days before formally announcing plans to seek election to another office.

Reagan rally group stops in Big Spring Sept. 23

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Gov. Bill Clements made some schedule changes Friday for his "Texas Roundup for Ronald Reagan" tour of the state during the next several weeks.

He added an Abilene rally for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 23, and shifted some rally times from an earlier, tentative schedule. The site of the Abilene rally, and several others, have not been announced.

Former Gov. John Connally and Clements will be teaming up for the rally effort in 25 nonmetropolitan areas.

The tour is patterned after Clements' unprecedented GOP organizational effort in rural counties in 1978.

Other stops include:
—Saturday, Aug. 30: a 10 a.m. rally at the civic center in Lufkin; a 12:30 p.m. press conference in Mt. Pleasant, followed by a 1 p.m. barbecue at Del Wood Park; a 3 p.m. airport press conference in Corsicana, followed by a 7 p.m. rally and dinner at Corsicana City Park.

—Tuesday, Sept. 2, a noon rally and lunch in Bryan at the Brazos Center at 1 p.m. student forum at Texas A&M's Rudder Tower, followed by a 2 p.m. press conference.

—Thursday, Sept. 4: a 9:30 a.m. rally at the municipal building ballroom in Sherman, followed by a 10:30 a.m. press conference; a noon lunch at Vernon; a 2:30 p.m. airport rally and press conference at Wichita Falls; and a 7 p.m. barbecue at the courthouse in Graham.

—Wednesday, Sept. 10: a noon luncheon rally in Fort Stockton.

—Tuesday, Sept. 23: a 9 a.m. rally in Big Spring; a noon luncheon and press conference in San Angelo; a 3:30 p.m. press conference in Brownwood; and the 7 p.m. rally in Abilene.

—Wednesday, Sept. 24: a 9:30 a.m. press conference in Victoria; a noon luncheon and press conference in Alice.

Location of the press conferences and rallies will be announced later.

$3,597,833 budget approved

County employees get raise

By DON WOODS

Howard County Commissioners approved a $3,597,833 budget this morning allowing county employees a 14 percent pay increase and $161 a month increase for themselves.

Total receipts are estimated at $3,239,633.30 with $3,651,270.26 in total resources available.

Expenditures are estimated up to 26 percent with receipts up 28 percent.

Commissioners' salary increased from $776 a month plus $175 car allowance in the 1979-1980 budget for $912 plus a $200 a month car allowance.

The 1980-1981 receipts will come 60 percent from ad valorem tax with the remainder realized from local sources and various state and federal payments. The ad valorem tax levy is estimated at $1,951,133.30. The federal government will supply a total of $123,000, the state will supply $22,000.

Local sources will supply an estimated $951,000.

Operating items comprise the largest part of the county expenditures at $1,826,752.50. These expenses include office supplies and costs of outside services and charges. The amount budgeted in 1979-80 for operating expenses was $1,332,517.30.

The second highest expenditure in this year's budget is employee salaries at $1,430,104. Last year's salaries and wages came to $1,187,084. The court reporter's salary is budgeted at $17,568 plus benefits for 1980-81. Benefits include travel and conference fees of $1,000 for the court reporter and district judge. Last year's amount was $200.

The budget for the judicial 118th District Court totals $32,000. The county court's total is $11,450. Last year's district court expenditures were $22,442.25. County court's expenditures were $4,387.12 but estimated expenditures were only $3,450.

Operating expenses for the coming fiscal year for justices of the peace Pr. 1 Pl. 1 are $35,877.04, Pr. 1 Pl. 2 is $35,685 and Pr. 2 justice of the peace is $17,718.

District attorney's office budget is $54,135 with a budgeted $16,440 for the assistant district attorney and $6,096 for special investigator. Office secretaries salary is $10,458.

The car allowance for the district attorney's office is $7,800.

District clerk's office expenditures are an estimated $55,542 with the district clerk's salary at $17,094. Salary of deputies totals $21,660 for two persons. Office car allowance is $2,400.

Salary for the county attorney is $19,926. Total office expenses are an estimated $41,487.

Lucey joins Anderson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patrick J. Lucey became John Anderson's vice presidential running mate today, saying he believes the independent ticket "has a real chance to win this election."

Lucey, 62, is a former governor of Wisconsin who served President Carter as ambassador to Mexico but quit to take a senior post in the now-failed campaign of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Lucey told reporters that "I remain a Democrat — I have not abandoned the Democratic Party."

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Not in job market

Q. Is it true that at our local Federal Prison Camp there is a system whereby inmates work for private business firms such as The Western Container Corp. for wages as inequitable as approximately $50 per month? Is it legal for a privately owned business concern to profit from an institution which is federally funded by taxpayer money?

A. There is no inmate at the Federal Prison Camp in Big Spring who is working at any industry for any amount of money, according to John Allman, director of the camp. Allman also states that under the policies of the regional office in Dallas, no inmates are in the job market in Big Spring because of the work load in the prison.

Calendar: Rally

MONDAY

Back-to-School rally, another in series of Starlight Specials, Comanche Trail Park amphitheater, 8 p.m.

Late registration at Howard College will continue through Sept. 4 in the Registrar's office on campus from 8 a.m. until noon and 1 p.m. until 5 p.m.

TUESDAY

Late registration at Howard College will continue through Sept. 4 in the Registrar's office on campus from 8 a.m. until noon and 1 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Howard College Student Government will host a fall mixer and barbecue from 7 p.m. until 1 a.m. in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building. The barbecue starts at 7 p.m. and the dance, featuring the Whiplash Disco Show, will begin at 9 p.m.

Tops on TV: 'Backstairs'

Part 2 of the movie, 'Backstairs at the White House,' starring Olivia Cole and Leslie Uggams, will be shown starting at 8 o'clock on Channel 2. This particular episode was set during Calvin Coolidge's years as president. In it, Leslie Uggams, who plays Maggie's daughter, accepts a job as a White House maid. In 'WKRP in Cincinnati,' Johnny Fever is offered a new job in California at three times the salary he's making. That show gets under way at 7:30 p.m. on CBS.

Inside: Anderson profile

REP. JOHN B. ANDERSON has not exactly been a model of consistency during his 20 years in Congress. He's the first to admit it. And in many minds, doubt remains about the meaning of Anderson's congressional voting record as a measure of his political philosophy. # Dollar coin, $2 bill still are not popular among Americans

By The Associated Press

The dollar bill may not buy what it used to, but Americans are still clinging to the familiar currency. Government efforts to promote a $1 coin and a $2 bill have been unsuccessful, and almost $1 billion worth of the coins and notes are still sitting in storage.

The $2 bill was introduced April 13, 1976. The goal was to abate the growing demand for the $1 bills," said Pete Daly, a spokesman for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

The government hoped to cut the number of $1 bills printed in half, saving an estimated $10 million a year. "It didn't work on a national basis," said Daly.

The government printed 500 million $2 bills between the fall of 1975 and January 1977 — about one-fifth the number of $1 bills printed annually. Daly said 180 million of the $2 bills are in circulation, 100 million have worn out, and the rest — 220 million bills worth $440 million — are in storage in the Federal Reserve System.

The story of the Susan B.

Anthony dollar is similar, but there are possible rescue efforts under way.

The coin, honoring the late suffragette, was introduced July 2, 1979. It is larger than a quarter, but smaller than either a half dollar or the old silver dollar. It is silver colored, but is made of an alloy of 25 percent nickel and 75 percent copper. (The last silver dollar — the one honoring Dwight D. Eisenhower — hasn't been minted since 1971.)

Stella Hackel, director of the Bureau of the Mint, says 800 million of the coins have been produced. Some 300 million are in circulation. The rest — $500 million worth — are in storage and the Mint suspended production of the coin in February, a move it called routine.

"Distribution continues, but not with any great speed," said Ms. Hackel.

The Mint is considering some changes in the coin. One problem with the Anthony dollar, which bears a likeness of Ms. Anthony on one side and an eagle on the other, is that "there is a perceived similarity to the quarter."

To make the distinction clearer, the Mint may alter the composition of the alloy used for the coin to make it copper colored. Copper and nickel would still predominate, but there would be a slight amount of aluminum and silicon, Ms. Hackel said. The Mint also may replace the eagle with the numeral one.

Daly and Ms. Hackel agreed that a major reason for the lack of popularity of the Anthony dollar and the $2 bill is the public's reluctance to accept a new idea. "People cannot become accustomed to changing their habits."

Despite incompetency Tenure system to remain

Marie Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Despite the problem of incompetent professors using tenure to keep their jobs, an Abilene state representative said Friday he sees little chance that the legislature will mandate any major changes in the system.

What might receive a nod from the legislature, state Rep. Gary Thompson said, is a retirement system that encourages older professors who have become non-productive to cut their teaching load in half or more as they near retirement age.

A couple of university's are moving in that direction," he said. Lamar University (at Beaumont) has already instituted such a system and North Texas State University has submitted a proposal to its board.

Thompson, a tenured government professor at Abilene Christian University, said such a system would allow a professor eligible for early retirement to cut his teaching load while receiving paychecks from both the university and the retirement system.

In that way, a professor's pay would not be reduced, he said, but the cut in teaching load would open up positions for young and highly qualified teachers who now are having a hard time finding jobs.

Some sort of inducement is needed, Thompson said, and a semi-retirement package seems to be the most agreeable answer to all concerned.

As it is, he said, new teachers can't find jobs because of tenure and declining enrollment.

As enrollment declines the number of new teaching positions declines.

"Declining enrollment has in some cases created a situation where we have too many tenured faculty members in a department that is not in demand," he said.

But because of tenure, they cannot be cut, effectively preventing a college from creating new positions in those study areas more in demand.

Liberal arts and humanities departments at some Texas colleges are overcrowded with tenured professors, he said, but Texas has yet to experience the problem that other universities in the nation have.

And the problem will be compounded in 1982, he said, when federal law will raise the mandatory retirement age from 65 to 70.

Thompson made the comments following the last tenure hearing scheduled by the House Interim Subcommittee on Academic Tenure.

Thompson, chairman of the subcommittee, said he expects the panel to issue a preliminary report on the tenure question in mid-September.

"I don't see any chance for radical change — for example, the abandonment of the tenure system, mainly because Texas is in a competitive situation with all the other states in attracting good faculty," he said.

Without a tenure system, he said, the good professors would migrate to the states with the protective tenure system.

Digest Young girl strangled

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 6-year-old girl who was jumping rope with a clothesline was strangled when the rope became entangled on a wrought-iron railing outside her home, police said.

Dana Jones of southwest Philadelphia was pronounced dead Saturday.

Her mother, Edna Jones, had left her playing on the front steps and found her 15 minutes later dangling from the rope by her neck. Police said the rope apparently snapped on the railing atop a four-foot retaining wall leading down to a basement garage.

The Medical Examiner's office is investigating.

Cuban refugee buried

MIAMI (AP) — Manuel Rodriguez Jr., the first person to die as a result of disturbances at the nation's four Cuban refugee resettlement camps, has been buried here, and his father has promised to find out who killed his 19-year-old son.

The teenager died Tuesday in Pennsylvania of head injuries he received during an Aug. 5 disturbance at the Fort Indiantown Gap refugee camp. "The government has to know who killed my son," his father Manuel Rodriguez, said Saturday.

The father arrived in the Freedom Flotilla May 17 and has a waiter's job. His son arrived six days later.

Quake hits California

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — A mild earthquake registering 3.9 on the Richter scale wakened many residents here but caused no damage to the Lawrence Livermore nuclear weapons laboratory, officials said.

The University of California Seismographic Station at Berkeley said the tremor at 5:41 a.m. Sunday was centered about nine miles southeast of Livermore.

The laboratory sustained $15 million to $20 million in damage from a quake Jan. 24 that registered 5.5 on the Richter scale. A second quake, measuring 5.8, occurred two days later.

Computer error costly

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Because of a computer mistake, the 12,000 large glass panels delivered to the newly completed, 17-story Lutheran Brotherhood Building were 3 inches too long for their aluminum frames.

And the glass, made by Pittsburgh Plate Glass from a tempered mold, can't be cut, construction officials say.

Frank Pallilo, whose Glen Cove, N.Y., firm subcontracted for the glass and manufactured the frames, blamed a computer for the mistake.

New panels are being manufactured in Pittsburgh and construction at the $30 million glass tower could be delayed four to five weeks, said Pallilo.

Michigan boy serious

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 13-year-old Michigan boy whose right arm and leg were severed in a train accident remained in critical condition after doctors at Jewish Hospital used tissue from the leg in reattaching the arm.

A second boy, who lost his right arm in the same incident, was in fair condition after an operation in Michigan, doctors said.

Richard Grinage, 13, lost his right arm and leg when he and 8-year-old Abdullah Frazier, both of Pontiac, were under a boxcar in a Grand Trunk Western Railroad yard Friday and the train began to move. Grinage's leg was too damaged to restore, so doctors used flesh from it to fill a gap in his arm to the point where it was severed.

Yearbook for HC arrives

The 1980 Howard College yearbook will be distributed in the college business office beginning Tuesday, announced Steve Lacy, journalism instructor at Howard College.

Students who were enrolled full-time during the fall and spring semesters of the 1979-80 school year will receive a Hawk Review free.

Those who were enrolled full-time for one semester will have to pay $5 and those who were not enrolled full-time will have to pay $10 for a copy.

Jay Stone will descend today

Members of ABATE (All Bikers Aim Toward Education) are being urged to gather on the Highland South Shopping Mall parking area fronting on US 87 South shortly before 8 p.m. today when Jay Stone returns to earth from his 100-hour stay high above the earth.

Touchdown is scheduled to take place at 7:52 p.m., today. The women associated with ABATE have raised an estimated $2,200 for the Jerry Lewis MD Campaign and expect to collect more at this evening's ritual.

The ABATE people were especially busy from 6 a.m. Saturday to 2 a.m. Sunday, stopping cars to appeal for personal donations.

Researcher says veterans are dying from radiation exposure

DALLAS (AP) — Military atomic bomb explosions at distances as close as five miles.

The blasts were part of Defense Department experiments conducted from 1945 until 1962 when a nuclear test ban treaty stopped the activity, the researcher said.

Henry Vyner said the government has repeatedly turned aside health complaints from about 200,000 soldiers who witnessed were detonated in the South Pacific during the 1940s and 1950s, government records show.

Vyner, working under a government research grant in Berkeley, Calif., said the radiation exposure has caused the veterans countless health problems and has killed many more.

In a copyright story Sunday, Vyner told the Dallas Morning News he believes many of these veterans are susceptible to leukemia, skin cancer, muscle diseases and genetic defects.

"In one group of six veterans I have studied, each of them had the same type of muscle deterioration," Vyner said. "Right now I'm doing research on a type of muscle disease never before diagnosed. It's my feeling that exposure to radiation may have caused the disease."

The Veterans Administration does not take the problem seriously, Vyner said.

"Many of these men are told that nothing is wrong with them. The Veteran's Administration comes along and tells them they aren't ill, and that is like a slap in the face to these men, many of whom were super patriots," he said.

A spokesman for the VA in Washington said 12 of 800 veterans who complained of radiation exposure have been granted disability payments. Julian Morrison said applicants must show signs of illness while in the service or within 1 1/2 years from discharge.

Vyner contended many of the veterans don't show signs of radiation exposure illnesses until many years later.

Edwin Still, assistant director for the Nuclear Defense Agency, said the men were not "exposed to unsafe levels."

Police Beat Marijuana arrests are made

Two local men were arrested on suspicion of possessing over two ounces of marijuana, 8:30 a.m. today.

James Cudd, 17, 2404 Robb, and Jeff Gregory, 17, 2760 Lynn, have been charged with possession of over two, and under four, ounces of marijuana. Their bond was set at $7,500 apiece by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin.

According to arresting Officer Barry Smith, the two men had been idling near parked cars at Birdwell Park, drawing Smith's attention. When the patrolman questioned the two suspects, he noticed the smell of marijuana smoke, he said, this morning.

Searching a nearby bush, Smith found a plastic bag containing just under three ounces of marijuana, and arrested the two men on the spot.

Another local man, Phillip A. Price, 17, was arrested Sunday night on suspicion of possessing marijuana and other controlled substances, and as a minor possessing beer. Price was arrested on the 1600 block of S. Gregg, after a car driven by another man was stopped there for a traffic violation.

Price was suspected of underage drinking, and was transported back to the

Police Beat Vandalism

Vandals either shot or punched a hole in a plastic advertising sign belonging to Richard C. Nunez, 701 N. Scurry. The sign, which was located at 1205 E. 3rd, was valued at $350.

While a car belonging to Mike Pitts, 3706 Caroline, was parked on the 1600 block of Lancaster, Sunday night, vandals smashed the passenger window. Damage was estimated at $100.

Burglars pushed open the door at the home of Rafael Rodriguez, 805 Willa, early this morning. Stolen were a wall clock, a stereo system and turntable and an eight-track tape recorder. Loss was estimated at $320.

Thieves took a radial tire, wheel and hubcap from a car belonging to David Morgan, 1204 E. 16th, while it was parked at the College Park Safeway Store, Sunday night. Loss was estimated at $125.

When James Beasley, 623 Baylor, checked his jewelry box, he found that two gold rings had been stolen. Loss was estimated at $150.

Thieves may have gotten more than they bargained for from the home of Josephine Sarmiento, 306 N.W. 11th, between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m. Saturday. They made off with her 20-pound two-year-old raccoon and its cage, valued at $55.

Joe Torres Jr., 1600 E. 16th, has been charged with injury to a child after allegedly causing an accident that pinned a seven-year-old local girl between two parked cars, 2:12 p.m. Sunday. Ann Marie Granado, 7, 1325 E. 16th, is in satisfactory condition at Cowper Hospital with a broken pelvis, today.

According to reports, a car driven by Torres in the lot of the Southland Apartments, went out of control, crossed the lot, and crashed into the back of a car, pinning the youth between the struck car and the back of another parked auto.

Eva Marie Pounds, 1211 Madison, was treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital, and released, Sunday night, following a two-vehicle collision. Vehicles driven by William Pounds, 1211 Madison, and Sherry Collins, 4101 Parkway, collided at Wasson and Alamesa, 4:07 p.m. Sunday.

Two other mishaps were reported Sunday.

A vehicle driven by Sylvia Miramontes, 207 Edwards, struck a light pole in Comanche Trail Park, 8:40 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Darrin Crook 4200 Bilger, struck a city sign at Wasson and Belvedere, 8:05 a.m.

Anderson: A look at his record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John B. Anderson has not exactly been a model of consistency during his 20 years in Congress. He's the first to admit it.

"My philosophy evolved," says the Illinois Republican who is seeking the presidency as an independent. "When I came to Congress in 1961, I was labeled a conservative — correctly because of many positions that I espoused. There is little question in anybody's mind that today I am a moderate."

In many minds, doubt remains about the meaning of Anderson's congressional voting record as a measure of his political philosophy.

Labor unions, for example, fervently oppose Anderson, saying he consistently fought programs they considered key tests for friends and enemies in Congress.

AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland, asked if organized labor might support Anderson over President Carter, replied: "Good God, no!"

Dick Murphy, a lobbyist for the Service Employees International Union, says simply, "On the incendiary issues, he has been absolutely wrong."

Among those issues are Anderson's votes against a 1978 labor law reform bill and opposition to a proposal that would permit a single striking union to close an entire construction site.

But over the last 10 years, Anderson repeatedly has broken with conservative Republicans and voted for social and foreign affairs legislation, such as federal funding for abortions, ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, the Panama Canal treaties, the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), all major civil rights bills of the 1960s and federal controls on handguns.

In short, Anderson's public record is a moving target.

Part of the ambiguity arises from Anderson's days as a rock-ribbed conservative who gradually moved to the center, then increasingly joined Democrats on social issues, while voting with conservative Republicans on economics.

One person who knows Anderson well in the House is Rep. Tom Railsback.

In an interview, Railsback said Anderson's change in political outlook over the years is genuine and can be explained as a broadening, greater concern for national versus local issues.

"John Anderson has always had good political instincts and I think, like a lot of us, he became more concerned about national issues," he said. "He is not a right winger and I don't think he ever was a right winger."

Only during the last several months of his presidential campaign has Anderson appeared to make superficial political appeals to enhance his liberal image and play down his conservative voting record in Congress, Railsback said.

Railsback, who will campaign in support of Reagan, says nonetheless, that Anderson's basic instincts would make him a good president.

As Anderson campaigns, the most consistent question about his record comes on an amendment to the Constitution, which he first proposed as a freshman House member in 1961, then again in 1963 and 1965.

Now dubbed the "Christian Amendment," it suggests that the U.S. adopt Christianity as a national religion.

"This nation devoutly recognizes the authority and law of Jesus Christ, Saviour and Ruler of Nations through whom are bestowed the blessings of Almighty God," the amendment said.

It was qualified to declare that there was no intention to establish a national religion. Specifically, "This amendment shall not be interpreted so as to result in the establishment of any ecclesiastical organization, or in the abridgement of the rights of religious freedom, or freedom of speech and press, or of peaceful assemblage."

Congress would also be encouraged to exempt non-believers from any requirement that they pledge themselves to Christianity.

"It was a mistake," Anderson says now. The congressman says he did not then understand the full implications of the legislation.

Critics ask how a politician with a graduate degree in law from Harvard could have put his name on legislation that violated traditions of church-state separation.

And as late as 1971, Anderson was a co-sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit prayer in public schools. He now notes that later in 1971 he changed his view and voted against a school prayer amendment.

CALIFORNIA CAMPAIGN STOP — Independent Presidential Congressman candidate John Anderson spoke before members of the One Percent Club at the Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles Saturday. The club had collected the 101,000 signatures needed to get Anderson on the presidential ballot in California. Anderson criticized Carter for "playing politics with the defense and security policy of the United States" as he completed an eight-day coast to coast campaign trip.

Anderson also has a mixed record on environmental issues.

Environmentalists note that Anderson has said his administration would license no new nuclear power plants until tough new safety rules had been put in place for the nuclear industry.

But a review of his voting record shows the nuclear industry has had no more loyal ally in Congress than Anderson.

Similarly, Anderson correctly portrays himself as an opponent of the Vietnam war. But he consistently voted against cutting off funding for the war.

He now says he wanted to give then-

President Richard M. Nixon time to negotiate an end to the war without interference from Congress.

One action dramatizing Anderson's reputation as a political free spirit came in 1974 when he became the first Republican to publicly call for Nixon's resignation in the midst of the Watergate scandal.

Anderson also voted for the Kemp-Roth 30 percent tax cut bill, now embraced by Ronald Reagan. But now Anderson says in campaign speeches that it was a bad idea that would result in arbitrary cuts in the federal budget without any resulting benefit to the economy.

As the chairman of the House Republican Conference, Anderson said, he felt obligated to vote for the tax cut bill with a personal conviction.

Reagan cancels Bush commitment

By The Associated Press

President Carter is ready to sidestep both John Anderson and recent tradition in his bid to have an early debate with Ronald Reagan. But for Reagan, the immediate priority is getting things straight with his own running mate and the world's most populous nation.

White House Chief of Staff Jack Watson said Sunday that while Carter remains prepared to take on challengers other than Reagan, he will insist that the first debate of the fall campaign be "one on one."

And that, said Watson, might entail finding a sponsor other than the League of Women Voters, the traditional organizer which already has slated three debates, possibly including Anderson, with the first scheduled for Sept. 18 in Baltimore.

Already, Watson said, the White House is evaluating offers for a Carter-Reagan confrontation prior to that date.

On the West Coast, meanwhile, Reagan's GOP running mate, George Bush, returned from a three-day trip to China characterized as a flop by his hosts. That reaction, expressed by the official New China News Agency, hardly came as a surprise in light of Reagan's call for an official U.S. link with Taiwan at the same time Bush was trying to assure the Chinese leadership that no such thing would occur.

Reagan's public statements "canceled out" the commitments offered by Bush, the New China account said. Chinese authorities also warned that any change in the U.S. stance toward Taiwan could jeopardize a developing anti-Soviet alliance, and perhaps even result in a breakoff of Sino-American relations.

Bush ducked reporters upon his arrival at Los Angeles Sunday, but he suggested earlier in Honolulu that the whole controversy stemmed from semantic confusion. "You gotta know exactly what you mean," he declared.

Reagan and Bush conferred privately today in a quest of that exact meaning, and planned to issue a formal statement later at a news conference.

For the record, Bush noted to the Chinese leadership that the administration is barred by law from establishing a government liaison office with Taiwan.

Reagan, meanwhile, said in Dallas last Friday that the possibility of establishing such a direct link "is incorporated in what Congress passed."

In any case, said Bush, a Reagan administration had no intention, even if it could, of re-establishing diplomatic ties with Taiwan. Reagan, asked for a yes or no answer on that question in Dallas, replied: "Ah, I guess it's a yes."

The United States severed official links with Taiwan last year when it established an embassy in Peking, replacing the liaison office once headed by Bush. U.S. interests on Taiwan are now represented by the American Institute, a technically private foundation funded by the U.S. government and staffed by State Department personnel on temporary leave.

Last May 17, Reagan declared that "One of the first things I look forward to most is to re-establish official relations between the U.S. government and Taiwan."

Reagan's press secretary, Lyn Nofziger, attempted to play down the flap on Sunday, saying "This campaign is not going to be won or lost on China. It's going to be decided on Jimmy Carter's record of incompetence."

But in Washington, Watson declared that "there's tremendous uncertainty right now" about where Reagan stands on foreign affairs.

As for the prospect for presidential debates, a League of Women Voters official in Baltimore, Pat Chase, said "We are very confident the details will be worked out and the first debate will be here" despite the threat voiced by Watson.

Watson said other organizations had made offers to sponsor a direct matchup between Carter and Reagan in the near future and "We will be meeting with Mr. Reagan's advisors to discuss it."

Anderson, who has been given until Sept. 10 to come up with a 15 percent showing in the national polls in order to participate in the league's program, said Watson's remarks reflected an attempt "to manipulate the debates in order to benefit Jimmy Carter."

Anderson's ratings lately have been below 15 percent, but he hopes for a surge when he names his running mate, perhaps within the next day or two. In Wisconsin, former Democratic Gov. Patrick J. Lucey was still reported to be toying with the idea after a weekend meeting with Anderson's wife, Keke. But there was no confirmation that Anderson had made Lucey a formal offer.

Hot, sunny weather returning to state

Another sunny and hot day was in store for all of Texas today.

Forecasts called for clear skies and hot temperatures statewide. The only precipitation mentioned was the possibility of some late afternoon and evening thundershowers in the mountains of Southwest Texas.

Highs were to be mostly in the upper 90s, ranging from the low 90s along the coast to as high as 107 in portions of North Central Texas.

Wichita Falls was again the state's hot spot Sunday with 108. It was the 65th day of 100-plus.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Fair and hot through Tuesday with widely scattered thundershowers south-west. Not as hot panhandle Tuesday. Highs 93 to 104 except near 90 mountains. Lows 64 to 75 except near 40 mountains. Highs Tuesday 88 panhandle to 105 Big Bend.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Fair and no important temperature changes Wednesday through Friday. Highs in the 90s. Lows in the 60s and low 70s.

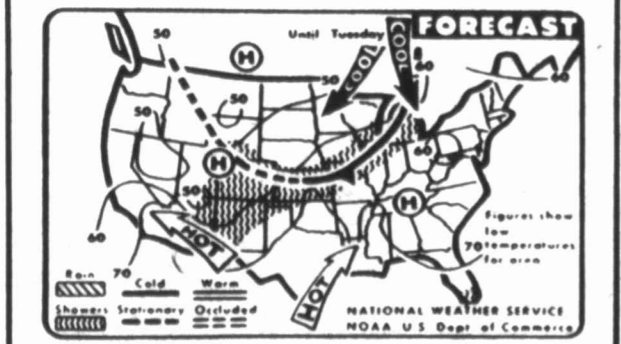

weather in Wichita Falls, tying a record for 100-degree days set in 1934. The record was expected to be broken today.

Clear skies were reported over most of the state before dawn although a few low clouds were reported over far West Texas where some shower activity was reported during the night.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 61 at Marfa and 66 at San-derson to 82 at Abilene.

WEATHER FORECAST — Widely-scattered showers are expected in the forecast period, today until Tuesday morning, from the Southwest, across the Plains to the upper Great Lakes. Hot weather is forecast from the Southwest to Texas and Kansas. Cool weather is expected from the Northern Rockies to the Great Lakes.

FBI sought information on Oswald's scars, marks

DALLAS (AP) — FBI agents tried to find out information about identifying scars and marks accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald may have had — four years before the killing of President John F. Kennedy, according to a published report.

Quoting an unnamed source "close to the FBI's ongoing probe of the Oswald affair," the Dallas Morning News reported Sunday that agents questioned Oswald's brother six months after Oswald defected to the Soviet Union in 1959.

The agents specifically asked about a scar behind Oswald's ear resulting from a reported mastoidectomy, the report said.

The scar is one of the major points in a theory that a Soviet impostor took Oswald's place in a plot to assassinate Kennedy, the newspaper said.

Agents began their queries after Oswald's mother, Marguerite Oswald, insisted it "couldn't have been her boy" who defected, and that the agents were simply "following a logical lead" that was "worth checking out," the source said.

The Warren Commission said Oswald was the lone assassin responsible for killing Kennedy in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963. The Oswald grave is in Fort Worth's Rose Hill Cemetery.

British author Michael Eddowes wants the body in the grave exhumed and examined, believing it is a Soviet agent who carried out the assassination while posing as Oswald.

One of Eddowes' contentions is that Oswald had a mastoidectomy scar which was not found during an autopsy performed on the man arrested for killing Kennedy. Eddowes also claims a two-inch height difference was discovered in a comparison between Oswald's military physical description and the autopsy.

World of animals always fascinating

Most everyone agrees that life as we know it would be much harsher, much less fun were it not for the animals that seek to co-exist with us on this minute station in space.

Man looks to the cow, the pig, the goat, the sheep and sometimes the camel for meat with which to decorate his table. Because man is carnivorous, he has also been known to feast on the variety of deer, the buffalo and even the elephant. With increasing frequency, he looks to the chicken and other members of the bird species to satisfy his appetite.

THE DOG HAS COME TO look upon man as his best friend, mainly because of his association with the biped has, over the years, robbed him of his skills as a hunter. The cat, too, has become domesticated to a point but he is much better prepared to return to the jungle and kill what he has to eat, if he is forced to.

Many of the animals were put here to help mankind. Even the snake contributes by helping control the vermin that are loose upon the earth. It is continually being stressed by environmentalists that if the balance of animal cannot be eliminated and its ranks reduced without dramatically affecting other species, including man.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Services recently listed the black rhinoceros as an endangered species. The agency did it with the hope of helping the nations of Africa preserve their rapidly dwindling herds.

The ruling focuses world-wide attention to the strange market that has literally put a price on the heads of all the estimated 14,000 remaining black rhinos.

The horn of the black rhino bring enormous prices in parts of the world, notably in Southeast Asia. Some people insist it has great medicinal value (although scientists argue to the contrary). In India, the rhino horn is pulverized, made into a potion and sold as an aphrodisiac.

Nomads in Mongolia conduct much of their trade in livestock, according to the National Geographic Society. Under this system of barter, a horse is worth 10 goats, but a camel is worth two horses. (Who needs money?)

MAN MAKES GREAT fun of the turkey's stupidity but Benjamin Franklin once wanted to adopt him as the national bird. The country could have done worse. Did you know that the wandering bird wasn't named for Turkey? That name became affixed during the bird's circuitous route through the Middle East. Curiously enough, when the turkey first reached northern Europe, it was credited to a land even farther east than Turkey — India.

The turkey is called gallo d'India in Italy, dindon in France and Indianer in Viennese German.

Turkeys have to be taught to eat. Otherwise, they literally starve to death with food in front of them. Some of the pompous birds have even become hypnotized by bobbing their heads back and forth as they drink water and have drowned themselves.

Humans can seem pretty dull to other humans but the world of animals is forever fascinating to man. May the beasts always endure.

Made for TV

Around the rim

Andrea Cohen

There really is quite a difference between attending a national political convention and following the events on television.

You don't have the advantage, or disadvantage of seeing one television reporter interviewing another reporter. You also have the advantage of listening to a speech straight through. If you decide it has no importance, you can stop listening, by your own choice, not by a network anchorman. If you want to keep listening to a speech and the networks decide to cut away, you have nothing to worry about.

A NATIONAL POLITICAL convention is staged for television. Everybody knows that. It's the ultimate television media event. Both parties get more free air time than any other time during the election year and both parties take full advantage.

However, when you attend it, you somehow forget it is a television event and remember it seems to be for all the press.

Oh sure, you see the national television reporters. But they are a few in the bunch. There are thousands of reporters, photographers and technicians of every type working. The rumor was there were almost four media people of some type for every one delegate.

On television, it may look very glamorous, watching a politician's family watching their relative speaking on the podium. You may get to glance at them for a few seconds when the network feels like showing them.

But when you're there, you see that their seats in the stands are far enough away from the podium to know they probably can see just as much as you, as you roam around the floor or sit in a delegation.

And you also see 500 photographers standing in one area, fighting for space to get pictures of that family.

You also don't feel the presence of the television cameras that much. After a few minutes, you forget they're there. You do remember it is staged for the tube when the stories start passing around the floor that Kennedy just pulled out of the race a few minutes before.

How did that story get started? The networks covered his press conference at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where Kennedy headquarters are set up. But the delegates get the news on the floor from someone sitting next to them.

But you never forget the press as a whole because there were just so many.

One photographer, in all his wisdom, said that at future conventions, they should keep the delegates out of the hall so extra press people can be let in. "Let the delegates vote by phone," he declared.

I don't think he was far off. You begin to wonder who the networks are covering. The events, or themselves. New York is probably the most fabulous city in the world. Prices are too high, people are crazy and it's probably the world's biggest zoo.

With the thousands more that were in the city for the convention things were even more crazy.

A beer easily went for two dollars. A simple lunch for three cost nearly $30. A fondue lunch for a friend and I cost over $20. A turkey sandwich and a drink cost over $6.

But inflation really hit the hardest when it came to campaign buttons. Medium size buttons were selling for three dollars and up in some areas. They brilliantly brought the price down to two for five dollars. They willingly told the public they would be collectors' items someday. I don't think they did too well financially.

The ultimate was at a party at the Waldorf-Astoria after the convention the last night. Beer was $2.40, a bar drink sold for $3.50.

Well, it was a good party anyway. The band was great, and everyone seemed to dance the night away. The party, which had large portions of the California and Texas delegations in attendance seemed to have too many rumors. Was Kennedy going to come down and speak? The most persistent rumor was that Linda Ronstadt was going to come in and sing. I never believed either rumor, and neither happened. My friend and I just had a very good time. Nobody wanted to see the convention end. But it finally did. Then we went through the agony of trying to find a taxi.

Taxi drivers are charging a dollar minimum and then 10 cents for every ninth mile, not including the time the meter runs while you wait at a red light.

And for that five dollar taxi ride, you can still see a maniac driving through the streets of New York. These men all have different faces, but I think they're all the same person. They all drive the same. And they're all nuts. They go through red lights, weave in and out of traffic with barely any room and screech around curves. It's been like that since I took my first cab ride when I was a kid. Some things never change.

YOU GET to see some strange things at a national convention. One was watching a major national reporter being quite arrogant and making a fool of himself in front of the other press. Another is watching Gov. John Y. Brown of Kentucky, probably more famous for being married to Phyllis George, a former Miss America and sportscaster trying to act like a big deal, which he certainly was not. Not at this convention. He has only been governor eight months.

The first night he and his wife happened to be two of only a handful of celebrities on the floor, so the press was making quite a fuss over them. The Kentucky delegation was sitting near the front of the podium at the center aisle. The press had a field day. More than one member of the press got a good laugh when the couple pretended to listen to the speaker, especially with the press all over them. But pictures were being taken left and right and they certainly didn't want to smile at the cameras looking like publicity seekers.

I've been asked if Kennedy's speech sounded as good on the floor as it did on television. I didn't see it on TV, but it was fabulous and something to remember. He had people on the edge of their chairs. And the demonstration after his speech was much more by far than Carter received after his. Kennedy probably won more than he lost this time. Stay tuned for 1984.

I've also been asked if Carter's speech sounded as good on the floor as it did on television. I didn't see it on TV, but it was fabulous and something to remember. He had people on the edge of their chairs. And the demonstration after this speech was much more by far than Carter received after his. Kennedy probably won more than he lost this time. He had people on the edge of their chairs. And the demonstration after this speech was much more by far than Carter received after his. Kennedy probably won more than he lost this time. Stay tuned for 1984.

A very kind secret service man told me Kennedy was definitely going to go up on the podium, with Carter, in a display of unity. It didn't matter. I wasn't leaving because there was no way to do so. The Carter people gave out extra floor passes and the floor was jammed. There was no way to get out even if I wanted to. Kennedy finally made it to the podium, not looking too pleased. The biggest suspense we on the floor had was whether the net holding the balloons was ever going to open and release the darn things. We finally did get a trickle of balloons.

The best off-the-floor quote was by Howard Cosell, telling a very surprised Phyllis George in front of many people that he didn't approve of her marriage. Jokingly the Governor of Kentucky agreed. Then Cosell started flirting with her.

The highpoint of the convention, for me, was the benediction given by Martin Luther King, Sr. the last night. I felt like I could go on forever.

ball stadium? The money allotted by the Jaycees isn't nearly enough to cover the amount of abuse and damage there will be.

Most important of all is the detrimental effect this will have on our youth (as well as adults). They, and we, have enough problems already without adding to them.

I realize the Jaycees want to raise money for a good and worthy cause, but do they want to be responsible for what comes with this kind of attraction? Isn't it possible for them to bring in an entertainer who can be an example to others instead of a man of questionable values?

I urge the Jaycees, our school board, our citizens, and especially all Christians to consider the aspects of Mr. Nelson's coming.

Thank you very much.

Defense blooper

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — When Ronald Reagan flew east from California last Sunday, the script called for a series of talks on national security that would show him to be a sober, prudent man of peace. Instead, by a single speech, Gov. Reagan demonstrated the same capacity for irresponsibility on defense that Jimmy Carter has so painfully put on the record in 44 months as President.

In consequence, the serious defense debate which the country deserves has been badly compromised. The most critical issue before the nation has become a football in a contest as to which candidate is the least competent.

Three speeches on national security were planned for Reagan's first campaign foray following the Democratic Convention. First, on last Monday he was supposed to talk about peace to the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Chicago. On Wednesday he would talk to the American Legion in Boston about the need to make the country strong. Finally, in Dallas on Friday, he would address the subject of friends and allies.

A DRAFT OF the Chicago speech was prepared by one of Reagan's well-balanced foreign policy advisors, Richard Allen, and sent to Santa Barbara where the governor was vacationing. Reagan found the text dull and began fiddling with it himself. He turned for help to some of his ideological advisors. As a result the language was made more spicy, and the thrust changed.

Peace, to be sure, was the central theme. "Clearly," Reagan said, "world peace must be our number one priority. It is the first task of statecraft to preserve peace."

In addition, Reagan made a good rebuttal to the charge his election would promote an arms race between the U.S. and Russia. "We are already in an arms race," he said. "But only the Soviets are racing."

But then Reagan introduced a wholly gratuitous reference to Vietnam. He called the war "a noble cause." He strongly implied that victory would have been possible if only "our government" had not been "afraid to win."

Thus instead of uniting the country behind a prudent policy, he worked to redivide the country on a subject famous for fostering the most furious discord. At the same time, by implying the war had been winnable, he reopened an endless debate that leads nowhere.

The diversion is the more grievous because there are truly important defense issues at stake. The fact is that the U.S. is not well equipped to meet its security responsibilities. Nobody knows it better than the Carter Administration — which is why the President and his Assistant for National Security Affairs Zbigniew Brzezinski, have laid down a veritable artillery barrage of bogus claims and cloudy stories.

FOR EXAMPLE, there is the president's ceaseless talk of a Rapid Deployment Force — which far from being a force is merely a headquarters. There is the leak about a new bomber — called the STEALTH, because it is designed to minimize detection by radar — whose future development has apparently been made known in order to justify the administration's cancellation of the B1 bomber.

Then, there is Dr. Brzezinski's leak about a new strategic doctrine that purportedly stresses nuclear bombardment of Russian military targets as distinct from large cities.

WALDEN

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Eczema can be controlled

Dear Dr. Donohue: I've had eczema for 24 years and wished I didn't. I've been wondering about it for a long time. Is it curable or is it forever? Is it an infected skin condition that flares up every so often? Is it a disease of the blood? Is there a chemical that can be put in the blood to help get rid of it? Also, if I get married, is eczema inherited? Will my children get it? Glad for any information. — R.J.

Eczema is a general name for many skin disorders. What they all have in common are redness, itching, weeping, oozing and crusting of skin. There are at least 14 varieties. Even poison ivy can be called eczema. The common kind of eczema is called "atopic." There may be some inherited tendency to get this, and there is an association with allergies, like hay fever or asthma. That can account for flare-ups. The skin of the face, neck, the front of the elbows and the backs of the knees are often eczema sites.

It is not a disease of the blood, nor is it caused by a deficiency of some substance you can take as a supplement. Eczema does run in some families, but just why this happens is not clear. This does not mean that every child or any child of a parent from such a family will necessarily have the problem.

As in your case, eczema is a chronic disease, but most often it can be controlled. Certain tricks help. Avoid irritating garments, like wool. Stay away from harsh soaps. Use cool compresses or baths to relieve the hot burning and itching. An antihistamine used from time to time will help control itching. Steroid creams rubbed gently into the skin three or four times a day are the mainstay of treatment for flare-ups. Your doctor can suggest such a cream for you.

I hate to suggest that eczema is forever, but I must be honest and say that most often it is. So you had best find out just what medicine has in its little black bag to help you control it as much as possible.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been using Monistat cream to get rid of a vaginal yeast infection. I keep getting it back and the doctor keeps prescribing the cream. Could I become sterile from a yeast infection? What is the reason for it? — Mrs. L.L.

Vaginal yeast infection is most commonly due to the fungus candida (CAN-di-duh). These yeasts are found in many women without producing symptoms. If they start to multiply, discharge and itching occurs.

While you do not mention estrogens, they can favor the growth of yeasts; such complaints are common during pregnancy, when estrogen levels rise normally. Some women report the discomfort before each menstrual period, when estrogen levels are particularly high. The birth control pills favor growth of candida. Diabetics are prone to such infections.

Whatever the cause, complete eradication is difficult, and the yeast do tend to recur. The antifungal suppository you are using (miconazole nitrate) usually does the trick, but it has to be used for the full 14 days suggested, even if symptoms disappear before then. Perhaps you're stopping too soon.

The yeast can also thrive in the rectal area, and may contaminate the vagina from that point. A rectal reservoir of the yeast can be eliminated by oral antifungal medication. You must avoid tight-fitting clothing, like nylon pantyhose. Your spouse (if you have one) may also be harboring the yeast, so he should be checked.

No, you will not become sterile from a yeast infection. Other organisms that cause vaginal infections, such as trichomonas, and a bacterium called hemophilus should be ruled out. They would not respond to antifungal medicine.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a spot on my back near my left shoulder. I started out as a small, white spot. It is getting large and my clothes rub it all the time. My doctor tells me it is "lichen sclerosus et atrophicus." He says there is no real cure for it. Can you tell me anything about treatment for it? — E.M.M.

That long phrase refers to small, flat or slightly raised ivory-white plaques on the skin. They slowly enlarge and eventually form a scar. It is much more common in women than men. The cause is not known, but your doctor is right. There is no uniformly successful cure. Many approaches have been tried. Steroid ointments and sometimes steroids injected into the affected skin have been used.

Vaginitis can strike any woman at any time in her life. You can read about the causes — and cures — for this troublesome complaint in the booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment." To get a copy, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why do Christians disagree with each other about so many things? I am confused over all the denominations. — Mrs. C. H. B.

DEAR MRS. C. H. B.: In actual fact, you would, I think, be surprised just how much agreement there really is between various Christian denominations. Yes, some may emphasize certain things, or may disagree about some matters that are not essential doctrines or practices. But on the major truths we find in the Bible you will find basic agreement among all churches that are truly Christian. The unique authority of the Bible, the divinity of Jesus Christ, the need for men to be saved, the centrality of Christ's work on the cross for our salvation, the resurrection of Christ — these and other central doctrines clearly taught in the Scriptures will be held in common by every Christian group which looks to the Bible.

Many of the denominations in our nation did not originate because of deep differences in doctrine or belief; many were actually founded by immigrants from European countries who brought with them the religious practices they had followed in their native countries. There are other reasons as well for the denominations we have, but don't let these things confuse you. The important question is this: Who is Jesus Christ? After all, it is Christ who can save you, not your membership in any religious organization by itself.

Give your life to Jesus Christ. By faith invite him into your life, and trust him to save you and make you his child. Then know that you are part of God's family — all those who have truly committed their lives to Christ. Then look for a church where Christ is preached and where you will have opportunities to grow in your relationship to Christ, and to serve him. "Grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ!" (II Peter 3:18).

Shoplifters costing consumers $16 billion a year

ATLANTA (AP) — Each time a teen-ager takes a $2 lipstick from a five-and-dime, the retailer charges the loss to the rest of his customers. The total bill for pilfering from stores around the country is costing each American household $200 a year, a new study says.

Five cents of every retail dollar goes to cover a store's loss to its more lightfingered customers, says the study, which concludes that shoplifting now costs Americans $16 billion annually.

"We are subsidizing shoplifting," says Dan Robertson, director of marketing at Georgia State University, who was among the speakers at the first National Shoplifting Prevention Conference. The conference opened in Atlanta Sunday and runs through Tuesday.

The thrust of the conference, sponsored by the Atlanta-based National Coalition to Prevent Shoplifting, is to identify who shoplifters are and how to cure their habit.

Robertson said his figures are double previous estimate of dollar losses to shoplifting, but he called them "conservative" because they include only losses and not stores' costs to prevent shoplifting.

The figures are based on a five-year study, financed by the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, designed as evidence for lawmakers considering tougher measures against shoplifting and for retailers planning campaigns against it.

The survey included 49,000 interviews with youngsters and 3,500 interviews with retail store owners and managers, and covered 20 states.

"Every household in America gets a bill of $200 per year for shoplifting, in the form of higher prices in the store," Robertson said Sunday, adding the "subsidy" is the markup merchants use to recoup their losses.

Retailers say two-thirds of the shoplifters who are caught are juveniles, and the crime is on the rise. Robertson also said children as young as 3 and senior citizens have been caught stealing.

The shoplifter's booty usually comprises small, high-value items such as cosmetics, jewelry, clothing, record albums or tapes.

Of the juveniles interviewed, 35 percent said they shoplifted "because they did not have the money" to buy the goods, Richardson said.

Some gave more than one reason for shoplifting, and the survey found 27 percent did it on a dare, 27 percent as a thrill, 24 percent on impulse, and "9 percent said they did it to get even because of high prices."

"Almost half told us they have shoplifted and... six out of seven who told us they shoplifted indicated they were not caught," Robertson said.

But many retailers and lawmakers are getting tougher. In Georgia, for example, there is a mandatory one-year jail term without suspension or probation for a third conviction. A large Southern retail chain now prosecutes every shoplifter caught, Robertson said.

Taylor Hoppers return from five-week tour

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Hopper, 1001 N. Gregg, recently returned home from a five week tour of ten of the United States.

A tour of Washington, D.C. including Arlington National Cemetery and the U.S. Capitol Building highlighted their trip.

Joining them in Richmond, Va. were Mrs. Hopper's brother, Curtis Cook with his wife and son from Tulsa, Okla. and Rev. and Mrs. Richard Cook, Odessa.

The party returned via Kilgore where a reunion of the descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook was held. Mrs. Hopper's sister, Mrs. Myrtle Winkler and Daniel Ryan, a grandson from California, met the group in Kilgore.

First child is born to James Cunninghams

Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham, Odessa, announce the birth of their first child, a son, Joshua James, born at Women and Children's Hospital, Odessa.

The infant made his debut Aug. 18 at 6:42 p.m., weighing 8 pounds 3/4 ounce and measuring 21 inches in length.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walters, Richardson. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jay Cunningham, 2324 Brent Dr.

Great-grandparents of the new arrival include Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Hardy, Garden City; Mrs. Eva Cunningham, Big Spring; Mrs. Conner O'Neal, White Deer; and Mrs. Katherine Walters, Baltimore, Md.

Tween 12 and 20

Earn right to privacy

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I have no privacy at all. My parents make me leave my bedroom door open all the time. When I want to change my clothes, I must do it in the bathroom downstairs.

My mom does this because she thinks that I'm either smoking or drinking if I close my door. Once she caught me in the liquor bin (I was just looking for some cooking sherry for some stew I was making).

When I tell them that they are too suspicious, they tell me that they can't be too careful with a teen-ager.

What can I do about this? They are driving me to drink. — Candice, London, Ontario, Canada

Candice: Somehow I get the impression that you might have visited the liquor bin when you weren't looking for cooking sherry. Still, a teen needs privacy at times, but in your case you must earn it. By doing extra chores, ask if you can have your room door closed anytime you want with the right of your parents to enter anytime they want if they knock.

If they agree — stay on the "straight and narrow."

Dr. Wallace: I'm a girl and plan to be a medical doctor. Can you please tell me the percentage of female doctors now practicing medicine? — Sandra, Battle Creek, Mich.

Sandra: About one doctor in 10 is a woman, but the percentages are on the rise. Nearly 30 percent of medical school applicants today are female. I hope that you push the percentages up higher.

Dr. Wallace: How old do you think a girl should be when she first starts dating?

Readers Not Too Tired to Write

DEAR READERS: TIRED IN LINCOLN, NEB., wrote: "At age 50, after 30 years of marriage, I would like to forget about sex altogether. Believe me, I've paid my dues. I suspect that many (if not most) women get very little physical satisfaction out of sex; they just go through the motions because they want to do something for the men they love. I can't believe I'm the only woman who feels this way. Please poll your readers, Abby, and if they're honest, I think you'll find I'm right."

Well, here's an update on my survey, and there are literally bushel baskets of mail that are yet to be tabulated:

TOTAL RESPONSES TO DATE: 106,448
Agreed with TIRED: 81,055
Disagreed: 46,393

Some sample comments:

"I'm 50, raised two children, married 29 years, cared for a semi-invalid mother, moved 14 times, worked almost my entire married life as a nurse, and believe it or not, it's my husband who's tired!" RICHMOND, VA.

"I always took a couple of stiff drinks to face what was waiting for me in the bedroom. I'm 63, and still hate sex, but I sure love booze." BALTIMORE

"There must be something wrong with TIRED. I'm 81, and when my husband was alive I thought sex was the most fun in the world, but now that I'm a widow, it's kind of hard to find someone to play with — especially in a small town where everyone knows your business." HAVING FUN AT 81

"I'm 51, and now that our kids are out of the house we can make love in the afternoon, make all the noise we want, and I don't have to worry about getting pregnant. This is the best time of my life!" HAPPY IN DENVER

"How can I enjoy sex when my husband comes to bed with his teeth out, needing a bath, and belching onions in my face? I'm 55 and agree with TIRED." NO NAME IN CLEVELAND

"I'm pushing 85, and hope that the last healthy breath God gives me will be spent in an intimate embrace with my man." M. IN SAN DIEGO

"I'm glad for the chance to express my feelings. I agree with TIRED. My husband is 82, a severe arthritic, and he's never tired. He claims that sex is beneficial to his health. The only place he doesn't have arthritis is you-know-where. Don't use my name. I'm 58 and have felt this way for the last 20 years." A. IN SYRACUSE

"At 50 I got nothing out of sex. I thought I went frigid, but something happened somewhere around 53, and now we're more compatible sexually than we've ever been. Hard work and money worries make a man a poor lover." N.Y.C.

"I've been a widow for 12 years. My husband and I both enjoyed sex until he died. He was 90. I could still enjoy it, but who would have me?" JUNE, AGE 81
(More on the survey next Monday.)

Thanks to the pros at Pat Walker's, I lost 27 pounds!

Margaret Moore's True Story:

My hips and thighs were my biggest problem.

Even though I've been a member of a health spa for a long time, I could never get the results I wanted. At 5'4", I weighed 139 pounds, and my hips and thighs stayed the same size no matter what I did.

When I heard about Pat Walker's, I thought it sounded like an easy way to lose weight. A friend told me that you don't change clothes or muss your hair when you use Pat Walker's Symmetricon passive exercise unit — and she was right. You just relax in a nice private treatment room while the Symmetricon tones and firms your figure.

Thanks to those sessions, and my consultations with the Pat Walker's counselors about good eating habits, I've lost 27 pounds. Best of all, I've trimmed 5 inches off my hips, and 4 1/4 inches off my thighs. Plus, I have a lot more energy now to do the things I enjoy, like golfing.

Pat Walker's is everything I hoped it would be.

Make an appointment now for a free, no-obligation consultation at Pat Walker's. # Desert badlands new playground for foreigners

BRYCE CANYON NATIONAL PARK, Utah (AP) — With dozens of other tourists, Katherine Morel hugs the guard rail to take in the awesome sight of Bryce Canyon's sandstone spires. The view is worth the trip, says the Frenchwoman, but she has a complaint — too few Americans.

The hot desert badlands of southern Utah have become an international playground. With currency exchange rates favoring foreign wallets, tens of thousands of Germans, French, Belgians, Israelis, Japanese and other foreigners are jamming the roads.

They've brought some changes. Bilingual tour guides and information clerks are in demand, and small town motel clerks are becoming expert at playing charades with guests who lack the English to say, "My room door is stuck" or "Where do you rent a horse?"

Bryce now posts signs in German and French, and its restaurant is thinking of adding menu items for international palates.

But park officials say most visitors seek the same things as their American counterparts — a good time, magnificent scenery and a chance to take hundreds of photos to show the folks back home.

Zion, Bryce Canyon and Grand Canyon national parks lie within a 100-mile-around circle in Utah and Arizona. Nearby are Cedar Breaks and Natural Bridges national monuments and Capitol Reef, Arches and Canyonlands national parks. A visitor can land in Los Angeles or Denver, rent a car or join a tour and hit all the parks within a week.

Since December, the French franc has gained in value from about 20 cents to a quarter. Other currencies also have gained.

Mrs. Morel said that's why she, husband Bruno and son Nicholas came to the United States this year.

Arriving in Los Angeles from their home in Tours, France, they rented a car and headed for San Francisco. From there, it was east to Yellowstone, then south through Salt Lake City to the parks.

"There's too much driving, but if you only have the chance once or twice in your life, you want to make the most of it," she said.

"Everyone among our friends in France was going to America this year," she said. "In some places there are more French than Americans. We don't try to talk to them; we want to talk to Americans."

Through June 30, more than 1.7 million visitors had trekked to Bryce Canyon, Zion and the Grand Canyon. Bryce superintendent Bob Benton estimates at least one out of five comes from outside the country.

"I've actually gone out for three hours in the park and haven't heard anyone speak English," Benton says.

The parks don't keep figures on where visitors are from, but Steve Tedder of TWA Services, a lodging and food concessionaire, estimates foreign visitors have accounted for 30 percent of the 269 tours booked into the three main parks so far this summer.

Park employees say most internationals seem to be from West Germany, although Israel, Belgium and Australia also are well represented. And since Bastille Day — the July 14 start of France's vacation season — there's been a flood of French.

Laure Willot, a French native working at Bryce, said she tailors nature talks in her native tongue to include several bits of information many Americans take for granted — that most parks have a lodge and restaurant, trails to hike and free brochures.

"France has very few parks and no activities," she said. "Most French people don't even know they have national parks."

Zion also has interpreters and multi-lingual guidebooks, but Assistant Chief Ranger Larry Florea said he wants to keep the park American in flavor.

"I think they come here to find out what we're all about," he said. "They don't want us to make any changes."

Victor Jackson, a writer and interpreter at Zion, said foreign visitors have two things in common — they don't want to appear foreign and they're willing to spend money.

"They don't want to be identified as internationals," he said. "They're very proud of whatever English they know — no matter how little."

He said they are fascinated with cowboys, Indians — anything to do with the West. And with the exchange rate, he said expensive photo books,

Indian jewelry, rugs and western trinkets are hot items at bookstores and curio shops.

Jackson and other park officials say they're glad to have the foreign visitors, and would like to see more.

"They tell me they love the space, the room, the natural beauty," Jackson said. "It's the same thing that impresses our people."

Wahoo heads wrestling action here tonight

Former football star Wahoo Daniel spotlights the billing tonight at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum when the Southwest Championship Wrestling returns for their wild and exciting action.

McDaniel, an all-stater griddle at Midland, was All-American as OU and All-Pro for the New York Jets and Miami Dolphins back in the early days of the AFL.

Widely popular as a wrestler, McDaniel will face Tully Blanchard for the Southwest Heavyweight title in the spotlight match.

There will also be other thrilling matches, most noticeably being the tag team affair between Larry Lane-Relampago Leon going against Black'Gordman-Tank Patton.

Action gets underway at 8:30 p.m. with tickets on sale at the door.

61 wins Selective Drive

The quartet of Howard Stewart, Robert Rodriguez, Dr. Lee and Bill Rains teamed for a round of 61 to capture top honors in the Big Spring Golf Association's Selective Drive Tournament here Sunday afternoon at the Comanche Trail Course.

Their sparkling round was just one shot better than the foursome of Jimmy Roger, Paul Beasley, Ansel Finley and Tommy Lucas, who had a 62.

One stroke back with a 63 was Jerry Barron, Luven Flores, George Cole and Robert New.

The top three teams received gift certificates for their play.

Frustrated Mauch retires from twins

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Moments after Gene Mauch announced his resignation as manager of the Minnesota Twins following Sunday's game, rookie outfielder Rick Sofield sat on a chair in the Twins' clubhouse and cried.

"We were all hoping it wouldn't happen," said Sofield, who said the players knew about a news conference called for 10 minutes after the game, a 3-2 loss to Detroit.

"I wish I could hit three thousand and make him stay. I would do anything for the man. But something made him quit and it's sad because we need him."

But Mauch, the dean of major league managers with 21 years of service, said that not only didn't the Twins need him, they would be better off without him.

"For a lot of years, I threw around a lot of words to a lot of players," said Mauch, 54. "They were words which meant a lot to me, words like pride, dedication and responsibility."

"It's time for these players to hear some new words from a new voice," he said. "I hate the word 'quit' and I don't think that's what I'm doing. I'm not satisfied that I'm making contribution enough to stay around and it irritated me to the point that I suggested to (owner) Calvin Griffith that it would probably be a good idea for the team to function in a new atmosphere."

"He agreed."

Third base coach Johnny Goryl was named interim coach. He will inherit a team which is 54-71 and more than 25 games behind Kansas City in the American League West.

Mauch, who also managed the Philadelphia Phillies for nine years and the Montreal Expos for seven, was on the second year of a three-year contract extension with the Twins.

He leaves behind a young team which, over the years, has been decimated by free agent defections from such stars as Larry Hise, Bill Campbell, the late Lyman Bostock and Dave Goltz.

Many observers felt that Mauch could no longer stand Griffith's refusal to enter the bidding war for free agents and his reluctance to improve the team, which has drawn only 705,000 fans this year.

Mauch, whose career record as a manager is 1,524 victories and 1,705 losses, produced a 378-403 mark with Minnesota. Tiger skipper Sparky Anderson said Mauch's losing record was in no way indicative of Mauch's managerial ability.

"There's no way to prove it, but he might be the best manager who ever lived," said Anderson. "He's given 21 years of everything he's had and he never cheated this business for one minute. He's No. 1 on my list."

Jacobsen breaks into PGA winners circle

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — Ready or not world, Peter Jacobsen has arrived.

Jacobsen rolled in a dramatic 15-foot birdie putt Sunday on the final hole of the $250,000 Buick Open to win his first PGA title after four years on the tour.

"What a great feeling! This is the day that I've been looking forward to for a long time," said Jacobsen, whose only other tournament victory was the 1979 Australian Open. "I felt if I could win there, I could win on the Tour."

Jacobsen and his wife, Jan, had their first child, Amy, five weeks ago. And when the 26-year-old had a bout with loneliness this week, he called his home in Portland, Ore., and told Jan to bring Amy and catch a plane for Michigan.

"I missed them so much, I figured I might as well have them with me," Jacobsen said. "It looks like Amy was a good omen."

Jacobsen's 12-under-par 276 was one stroke better than Mark Lye and Bill Kratzert. It was worth $45,000 and brought Jacobsen's earnings for the year to $102,838.

"It's a fulfillment of a goal I had for myself when I came out on the tour," said Jacobsen.

Astros win 10th straight game

Ryan's two-hitter stops Cubs

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's exhausted bullpen staff got together prior to Sunday's 2-1 victory over Chicago and composed a message to Astros starter Nolan Ryan which read "You're going nine tonight." Ryan got the message.

He tugged once at the bill of his cap, got that determined look in his eye and went out and pitched the 17th two-hitter of his career, boosted his record to 9-8 and posted his fourth straight victory in August.

It was Houston's 10th straight victory and tied Los Angeles and Montreal for the longest streaks in the National League this season.

"To win the division you've got to have a hot streak and we're in the middle of one," Ryan said. "If you go by the odds, we're due to lose one and we probably will on the road. But we've got to keep it going."

Ryan had a no-hitter going through four innings until Larry Blittner broke it up with a triple to deep right-center field to open the fifth inning and scored the Cubs' only run on Tim Lincecum's sacrifice fly to center fielder Cesar Cedeno.

Prior to yielding the hit to Blittner, Ryan shook off several signals from catcher Luis Pujols.

"We couldn't get together on our signals, he wanted me to throw a fast ball away, I think," Ryan said. "What did I throw? A mediocre fast ball down the pipe."

Ryan and Pujols got together the rest of the game, however, with Ryan yielding only a single to Blackwell in the eighth inning. Blackwell advanced to third base on a sacrifice and grounder but Ryan got

Landry concerned with secondary

Win was costly for Dallas

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Tom Landry has 20 years of experience as a National Football League coach. This week he is going to need every day of it to piece together the puzzles of his injury-decimated secondary.

The Dallas Cowboys extended their National Football League exhibition season victory streak to three Saturday night with a 20-13 victory over the Houston Oilers but the pleasure was barely worth the strain.

Running back Tony Dorsett suffered a bruised thigh. Tight end Jay Saldi got bruised ribs. Rookie running back James Jones

Jaworski not slow starter in 80

By the Associated Press
Ron Jaworski's main claim to fame so far in his National Football League career has been his catchy nickname, "The Polish Rifle."

The veteran quarterback from Youngstown State University, not generally recognized among the NFL's elite signal-callers, did gain in stature last season by leading the Philadelphia Eagles to a playoff berth.

And his performance in his team's three preseason games this season has not pitcher Mike Vail on a fly ball to right fielder Jeff Leonard to end the threat. Ryan shared hero honors

NL Roundup Phillies 7, Giants 1

Mike Schmidt hit his 35th homer with a man on to break a 1-1 tie in the third inning, and Greg Luzinski, playing his first game since July 5, followed with a solo shot to pace Philadelphia over San Francisco.

Dick Ruthven, 12-8, pitched a seven-hitter and Pete Rose had three hits to give him 3,513 for his career, one behind Tris Speaker in fourth place on the all-time list. Rose also tied Speaker for 10th place on the all-time list of games played with 2,789 and tied Frank Robinson for ninth place on the all-time list of runs scored.

Pirates 5, Reds 2

Steve Nicosia, Mike Easler and Lee Lacey slammed run-scoring doubles to power the Pittsburgh attack and left-hander John Candelaria pitched a five-hitter to complete a three-game series sweep over Cincinnati. Candelaria, 9-13, surrendered a one-out single in the first to Junior Kennedy, then retired the next 12 batters in a row and finished with his seventh complete game, a team high.

Dodgers 3, Mets 2

Dukey Baker and Rick Monday hit homers in the first two innings and Burt Hooton and Steve Howe combined on a four-hitter as Los Angeles held on to beat New York.

Hooton had a no-hitter for six innings before a walk, the Mets' first hit on Joel Youngblood's single, a sacrifice fly by Jose Moreno, an infield out and Claudell Washington's RBI single brought New York back. Howe came in with two outs in the eighth and blanked the Mets to gain his 11th save.

Expos 12, Padres 9

Montreal overcame a seven-run deficit with a seven-run sixth inning highlighted by Chris Speier's three-run double and then tallied three more times in the seventh as Warren Cromartie singled home the tie-breaking run.

Gary Carter capped the seven-run rally with a two-run double in his second at-bat of the inning. Gene Tenace hit a three-run homer for San Diego.

Braves 10, Cardinals 5

Bruce Benedict keyed a six-run third inning with a two-run single and finished with four hits for the first time in his career as Atlanta won its sixth game in seven decisions by beating St. Louis.

Benedict also had a run-producing single in the second inning to put the Braves ahead 2-1.

bruised a knee. And, for the third time this season, Randy Hughes dislocated his shoulder.

The Cowboys ordered surgery for the free safety, who will be lost at least eight weeks.

And Coach Landry ordered up some midnight oil so he could study the situation.

Retired Cliff Harris, now in the oil business, has said he would come back if the Cowboys asked. So far they haven't.

Landry would only say "That's a possibility."

He added "I don't know what we will do in the secondary until the final cutdown."

damaged his credentials. Jaworski's strong right arm produced one touchdown and set up another Sunday as the Eagles beat the New England Patriots 23-17 in the only NFL game of the day.

Jaworski completed 14 of 24 passes for 165 yards while playing only the first half in his team's third straight victory.

"It's been my best training camp and I'm happy with that," Jaworski said. "For the most part, I've been a slow starter, and now that

In winning World Series of Golf Watson too much in final round

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ray Floyd glanced at the huge scoreboard showing Tom Watson a runaway winner of the World Series of Golf.

"He's doing some things that are phenomenal," Floyd said. "You can't explain why he's in a stretch like this. Go watch him play. You'll come away scratching your head too."

Indeed, Watson is phenomenal. Consider what his closing 5-under par 65 for a 72-hole total of 270 did for him Sunday at the Firestone Country Club.

—The $100,000 payday pushed his 1980 earning $510,258, making him the first golfer in history to surpass a half a million dollars in a single season.

—It all but locked up his fourth straight player of the year, money-winning and Vardon Trophy titles, unprecedented in the sport. Watson's current per-round average of 69.94 strokes is lower than any Vardon Trophy winner in the last 12 years.

—His seventh victory this year, counting the British Open, lifted his four year total to 22. During that stretch, Watson's earnings have been $1.6 million.

The superstar credits consistency and dedication for his streak of five victories each in 1977, 1978 and 1979 before his peak this season.

Watson destroyed any would-be challengers Sunday by shooting six birdies before his lone bogey at 18, where he caught a pair of bunkers.

Floyd closed with a 65, too, but finished three shots behind with an 8-under par 272. His second place check of $55,000 was more than he ever made as a winner in 18 four years.

"He (Watson) played well. I played well. I honestly felt if I shot 65 in the final round, I could win the tournament. I'm very proud of what I did," said Floyd.

Jerry Pate closed with a 67 for 73 and the third-place check of $34,500. Hale Irwin and Lee Trevino shared fourth at 274 for $19,600 payoffs. Irwin shot 66 and Trevino 69.

It was a frustrating day for Jack Nicklaus, who had to win this $421,900 event to stand a chance of challenging Watson for Player-of-the-Year.

The 40-year-old Nicklaus hurt his back hitting practice shots and was forced to withdraw during a tournament for only the second time in his 19 four years. However, he was six shots off the pace at 1-over par 211 after three rounds.

IMPORTANT SAFETY WARNING to owners of older John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractors

Maintaining the safety equipment on your older John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor can be especially important. The original boot (or cover) for the battery's positive post on Model 60, 70, 100, 110, 112, 120 or 140 Tractors manufactured from 1963 through 1974 may have suffered from age or may have been lost or damaged. And if that positive battery post is not properly covered, there is danger of a spark causing a fire and bodily injury if you accidentally touch a metal gas can to the positive battery post when refueling the tractor. A more serious fire can result if you are not using a safety-approved gas can.

If you own one of the above models, John Deere wants to make absolutely certain that your tractor has the battery's positive post properly isolated. To make it easy—and safer—for you, we will send you a new cover, free. Just fill out the coupon provided below and mail it to the address shown. It comes complete with installation instructions and is not difficult to install. But if you prefer, after you have received your kit, make a date with your John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor dealer and he'll install it for a small service charge.

Remember, safety and maintenance go hand in hand. The operator's manual can help you. Read it again. Keep your tractor as safe as it was when it was delivered.

It could be the most important thing you do today.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, AUG. 26, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: It is advisable that you carefully consider the tasks facing you and that you make plans to gain your most cherished aims. Take positive steps to overcome obstacles.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) First consult with a trusted adviser and then come to a better agreement with associates. Strive for true support.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Look to good friends for the help you need to gain personal aims. Show that you have a cooperative spirit.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Listening to the recommendations of officials is wise today. Take no risks where your reputation is concerned.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have new ideas and plans in mind that require more study before putting them in operation. Be wise.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have several ways of solving certain matters, so be sure to pick the right one. Try to please loved one more.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Put your views across to associates and reach a better understanding. Strive to make the future brighter for all.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make definite plans to improve your environment since it has long been on your mind. Avoid the expenditure of too much money.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be more precise in the handling of an important financial matter and avoid possible trouble later. Safeguard your health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Home and close ties need more attention now, so be willing to spend more time on just that. Be logical.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Good day to garner that data you need at the right sources, so get an early start. Think along optimistic lines.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Ideal time to go after personal goals since you can gain them very easily now. Take time for pleasure tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Cultivate a friendship with one who can help you advance in career matters. Be sure not to lose your temper with anyone.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who is imaginative and inventive, so permit your progeny to work out ideas that could bring fame and fortune upon reaching maturity. Teach to live on the highest moral plane that is possible.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Guidry's relief keeps NY ahead

By the Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles are providing no relief for the New York Yankees — that will have to be Ron Guidry's job.

While the streaking Orioles continue to be a headache for New York in the red-hot American League East race, the Yankees are utilizing the Cy Young winner in the unusual position of a bullpen pitcher.

The left-hander provided two scoreless innings of relief Sunday to help the Yankees post a 4-2 victory over the California Angels. "I've had good success as a starter, but I'm just as happy relieving," said Guidry, who allowed three hits and struck out two in the seventh and eighth innings before Rich Gossage pitched the ninth for his 22nd save.

"I've just been tired," Guidry explained. "I've only been in the majors 3 1/2 years and I only weigh 150 pounds, but I've already pitched 1,000 innings. I've got a right to be tired."

The victory maintained a tenuous half-game lead for the Yankees over the second-place Orioles, who stopped the Oakland A's 3-0 for their eighth straight victory.

In other AL action, Kansas City stopped Cleveland 7-5; Detroit nipped Minnesota 3-2; Toronto edged back Chicago 7-3. Texas beat Milwaukee 4-3 in 11 innings and Boston outscored Seattle 10-7.

After Guidry did his work, Rich Gossage hurled the last inning for the Yankees to pick up his 22nd save.

The Yankees won the game with a two-run seventh capped by Bobby Murcer's sacrifice fly, and added an insurance run on Bob Watson's RBI single in the ninth.

Orioles 3, A's 0
Mike Flanagan pitched a seven-hitter to lead Baltimore over Oakland. Flanagan, 13-9, allowed only singles and struck out three while walking two in his second shutout of the season. The loser was Matt Keough, 13-12.

Royals 7, Indians 5
Frank White tripled to key a six-run third inning and also doubled, drove in two runs and scored once as Kansas City held on to beat Cleveland.

Rangers 4, Brewers 3
Al Oliver's two-out single off the glove of second baseman Ed Romero scored Mickey Rivers from second base in the 11th inning as Texas beat Milwaukee.

Giants' 14th game-winning RBI of the season gave the victory to John Henry Johnson, 1-2, who came in to pitch the 11th.

Tigers 3, Twins 2
John Wockenfuss hit a solo home run and Dan Schatzeder hurled a seven-hitter as Detroit beat Minnesota.

Red Sox 10, Mariners 7
Boston built a 9-1 lead with five runs in the second inning and four in the third and then survived a Seattle homer barrage.

Blue Jays 7, White Sox 3
Damaso Garcia's solo home run triggered an extra-base barrage in a four-run second inning that carried Toronto past Chicago.

Reader response

Dearest Nathan,

Being of sound mind and body, I try not to read your article at a regular basis. But as I turned to the August 15 sports page I noticed the headline, College football in the 70s "Who was best." Being an avid college football fan, I consider myself the best person to advise you of the best college football team in the 70s.

Note, I know that you are one of the greatest supporters of the Southwest Conference which I know you feel is an obvious powerful conference. But as you talk about the BIG EIGHT CONFERENCE, or as you refer to them as the Big Two and Little Six, The Big Eight is no slouch conference.

As I close this letter of information, I hope that I have answered the question "Who was the best college football team in the 70s?". Which there is no doubt in my mind or yours would have to be THE UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA.

Sincerely, Brad Cavnar

SPORTS EDITOR'S REPLY

Brad: Thanks for your propaganda about OU football. Between you the Herald's own Walt Switzer Finley, I don't know who has the most red blood.

There is no doubt that Oklahoma has to be considered one of the outstanding college powers of the 70s, if not the best. Personally, if you would have read the column entirely, you would have noticed that I did not name one team as being the dominant in the decade, because that's pure opinion, just as the polls are.

I also know that the Big Eight is no slouch conference. In the early 70s, it was probably overall the toughest in the country, but the power of each conference seems to run in cycles.

The only logical way to do that would be to look at the record of each league against outside competition. In that respect, the Southwest Conference was the best in 1979, winning 70 percent of the time.

But even if one considers a conference's record against outside competition, there are other factors. One big factor is the quality of opposition, and then the arguments start again.

Brad, I think you misunderstand the difference between a sportswriter and a sports information director. Presently, I'm a sportswriter and you a frustrated SID in the wrong state. But one thing I can tell you, neither one of us is of sound mind and body.

And another thing, one more of your bloody "Big Red" newsletters and I'm going to tell the whole story on who wrecked the van at church camp last year. Whether you did it or not.

EXPLANATION OF TAX INCREASE NOTICE SHOWN BELOW

In compliance with state law your county must run in a public newspaper the amount of income increase for the 1980-81 county budget. The Commissioners' Court wants all taxpayers to note your local taxes have dropped from $.2375 per hundred dollar evaluation to $.20 per hundred. This amounts to a 15% decrease in your taxes.

If your property did not increase in value (all property owners who had increases were mailed notices of that increase during May 1980), then you will have a $.0375 per $100 or 15% decrease in taxes owed for 1980.

There has not been an increase in the last 11 years but this will represent the second decrease during this 11 year period.

NOTICE OF TAX INCREASE

The Howard County Commissioners' Court proposes to increase your property taxes by forty-four (44) percent.

A public meeting to vote on the increase will be held on August 26, 1980, at 10:00 A.M. in the Howard County Commissioners' Courtroom in the County Courthouse, Big Spring, TX.

The Commissioners' Court has considered the proposal and voted in a public hearing on the tax increase as follows:

FOR the proposal to increase tax rate:

Bill Tune, County Judge

O.L. Brown

Paul Allen

David Barr

AGAINST the proposal to increase tax rate:

None

ABSENT and not voting:

William Crooker

'J.R.' thrills fans at Tennessee outing

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Actor Larry Hagman says it's going to be a while before anyone knows who shot ornerly J.R. Ewing, the character he plays on the television show "Dallas."

"It doesn't look like 'Dallas' will be on until October or November due to the actors' strike," Hagman said during weekend appearances on the Grand Ole Opry and at the Opryland U.S.A. entertainment park.

"The real ending may be shot the day before it goes on the air," he said while answering questions from fans during Texas-style 95-degree heat at an outdoor theater.

He said parts of 10 fall shows have been filmed but endings to these shows have not been done.

"I think there are about three different possibilities," Hagman, 48, said without elaboration about his assailant.

Ewing was shot by an unknown assailant on the show last spring, triggering a world-wide guessing game about who did it.

"I'm going to be in an iron lung for four or five shows," the terrible Texan said.

Comedienne Minnie Pearl gave Hagman one of her famous straw bonnets Saturday and he wore it during an appearance on the Grand Ole Opry. He received spirited applause when he walked out on stage with it on instead of his usual giant cowboy hat.

Miss Pearl, who went to school with Hagman's mother, actress Mary Martin, called him "a charming, delightful fellow" and presented him with a gold record comparable to the key to the city.

Hagman said the "Dallas" cast gets along well despite reports to the contrary.

"We're a family," he said.

Asked by a fan how it feels to be a cult figure, he said, "It happened so fast. I've spent 31 years in the business and it's nice to have this much acclaim."

He said he really is not mean in real life like Ewing.

"I wish I had my kids here to let you know how nice I am. That lady has been married to me for 26 years," he said, gesturing to his wife.

"There's no way I'd treat my wife like I do Sue Ellen," he said, referring to Mrs. J.R. Ewing on "Dallas."

Hagman said he believes the "Dallas" characters Bobby and Pam will get back together and said Lucy will be married on the show to a new character.

Political rallies set Aug. 27

Texas Republicans jumping gun

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—There's an old political saying that general election campaigns begin the day after Labor Day, and that's almost true this year.

Texas Republicans plan to jump the gun by holding "Texas Roundup For Reagan" rallies on Aug. 27 in Hereford, Amarillo and Pampa with Gov. Bill Clements and John B. Connally, a former Democratic governor, as the main attractions.

The GOP nominees, Ronald Reagan and George Bush, are due Sept. 15-16 for a campaign trip to San Antonio and the Rio Grande Valley with a big fund-raiser in Houston.

Other presidential campaigns in Texas start later.

"Essentially we will kick off right after Labor Day and run in eight or nine weeks of hard work before the election," said Skip Hogan, deputy coordinator of the Jimmy Carter-Walter Mondale campaign in Texas. The first scheduled visit of Carter to Texas will be at the Sept. 26-27 State Democratic Convention in Houston.

Planners of Rep. John B. Anderson's presidential campaign say they will kick off during the first week in September also, with a Texas trip planned by the independent candidate later.

He has made two previous trips to the state, says David Clayton, Houston, state field director.

Ed Clark, the Libertarian Party presidential candidate, has a tentative trip to Texas set for Sept. 8-9, probably to the Austin, San Antonio, Dallas and Fort Worth areas, said Michael Grossberg, Austin, former state chairman. Actually, much of the state party effort will be spent in support of David Hutzelman, Houston, Libertarian candidate for the unexpired term on the Texas Railroad Commission.

Texas Republicans, spurred by public opinion polls that show Reagan ahead in Texas, have a battle plan to organize the entire state for the Reagan-Bush ticket. There will be 12 regional organizations including special efforts in the metropolitan areas of Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Fort Worth. More than 30,000 volunteers are being lined up to man telephone-calling banks in at least 25 Texas cities.

Much of the actual Texas campaigning will be done by Clements and Connally who have promised they will appear at least once in each of the 25 non-urban areas of the Texas Roundup for Reagan. Each will include public rallies along with organizational meetings for Reagan voters.

There also will be an intensive statewide Reagan-Bush organization for disenfranchised Democrats and independents, Clements said.

Texas Democrats supporting the Carter-Mondale ticket face the problem of working Kennedy supporters and independents into their campaign organization in hopes of attracting more voters. The administrative lineup will be announced later.

Democratic National Committee Chairman John C. White said he would not lead the Democratic drive in Texas but he would spend plenty of time here.

"I will probably spend more time in Texas than in any other state," said White, who is a probable candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1982, "but that does not mean I'm going to run the campaign."

White said he would make an early trip to Texas, maybe around Labor Day, and then spend the last week in Texas.

Gary Mauro, executive director of the state Democratic headquarters, predicts the Democrats' computerized voter list will be more effective than the Republicans' phone banks.

"The voter turnout in 1980 will be very, very good," said Mauro on a recent radio panel program. "Most Texans really care who their next president will be and really want to vote."

Farmers' paychecks not up with inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although the figures vary greatly according to methods of pay, the latest surveys on wages paid to hired farm workers suggest their paychecks have not kept up with the general rate of inflation.

In the first six months of this year, for example, inflation—as measured by the Labor Department's consumer price index—accelerated at a 14.8 percent seasonally adjusted annual pace.

Wages paid to farm workers, on the other hand, appear to be rising at less than the double-digit rate of inflation in the general economy.

A look at what happened last year offers some further indication of how farm wages are stacking up with the overall costs of living.

The inflation index in 1979 rose 13.3 percent on the average over the 12-month span.

According to quarterly surveys by the Agriculture Department, wages paid to hired farm workers in 1979—also computed as an average over the year—rose 9.7 percent, from $3.09 an hour in 1978 to $3.39 last year.

The latest report shows a similar pattern so far in 1980. It was based on a survey made during the week of July 6-12 in which 1.79 million paid employees were reported working on U.S. farms, about 1 percent fewer than a year earlier.

As the survey regularly provides, it also considered wage rates based on different methods of payment—by the hour, week or month, as the case may be. Wages paid for piecework also are included.

The survey also includes average wages paid in addition to perquisites that employers often provide, such as housing, meals or combinations of those benefits.

Analysts, in another step, then compute an hourly average wage paid to workers that encompasses the various methods of payment and use that rate to illustrate changes in the earnings of hired farm workers.

Cotton output may decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—World cotton production in 1980-81 is expected to decline about 1 percent, largely because of a reduced U.S. harvest this year, says the Agriculture Department.

The department's Foreign Agriculture Services said the outlook in global cotton output is for about 64.9 million bales, compared to 65.5 million in 1979-80.

U.S. production, estimated as of Aug. 1 at 12.8 million bales, is expected to be down from 14.6 million last year. Cotton production in other countries in 1980-81, however, is expected to be up from 50.8 million to around 52.1 million bales, the agency said.

Man exposed to radiation still having side-effects

"GLOVEBOX" DAMAGE—This is what the americium-recovery room looked like after the chemical explosion on Aug. 30, 1976 which severely injured Harold McCluskey. The oblong window at upper left blew out because of the blast, spraying McCluskey with radio-active matter and other debris.

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP)—Harold McCluskey's vision is still foggy, and he occasionally gets strange "pinprick" sensations. But four years after he was contaminated by an almost-lethal dose of radioactivity, he's alive and holding up "pretty well."

"I was not supposed to die. I was not supposed to have any hair on my head," says the retired nuclear laboratory worker. "I'm alive and I have a head full of hair."

His doctors say McCluskey is the only man in the United States to ever take such a huge dose of alpha-particle radiation—which differs from radiation from X-rays or atomic blasts—and live.

McCluskey, now 68, was hounded with radioactivity after a chemical explosion in a Richland nuclear laboratory on Aug. 30, 1976. He had been extracting americium—a metal used in petroleum exploration equipment, medical labs and smoke detection devices—from high-level radioactive waste, using gloves and working through a glass window.

The blast also contaminated nine other workers and caused $500,000 damage to the recovery room. The others were decontaminated and back on the job within days, but McCluskey was hospitalized for more than five months and is still getting treatments.

Ninety-five percent of the heavy metal has been removed from McCluskey's system, said his physician,

Dr. Bryce Breitenstein, director of the Hanford Environmental Health Foundation in Richland.

Americium acts much like lead, forming deposits on the liver and bones, and special chemical that "gloms onto the americium and forces it into the urine" has been used to treat McCluskey, he said.

McCluskey's facial burns have healed and the acid burns are gone. But because of "residuals on his corneas," his vision is blurred.

"Bright sunlight bothers my eyes, but I have special glasses," said McCluskey, who started as a construction worker in 1951 at the Atlantic-Richfield Hanford Co., now Rockwell Hanford.

Awarded $275,000 in an out-of-court settlement, McCluskey also has his medical bills taken care of by the company.

Stenholm endorses bill barring abortion money

By MARYBETH KERRIGAN
States News Service
WASHINGTON — How the Texas delegation voted the week ending August 21:
HOUSE
On Wednesday the House passed the Treasury-Postal Service Appropriations bill. In its original form, the bill was not controversial. But before leaving the House floor, the bill was festooned with amendments. And should it survive Senate scrutiny, the amended bill will affect much more than the prize of a stamp in 1981.
Three amendments to the bill are particularly noteworthy.

ABORTIONS FOR FEDERAL EMPLOYEES:
The House voted Wednesday to forbid federal employees from having abortions at the government's expense. The vote was 228-170.
The amendment prohibits the use of federally financed employee health insurance plans for abortions by government employees.

Under the terms of the Federal Employees Health Benefit Program, the government now pays 60 percent of the insurance premiums, while employees pick up the rest of the tab.
Last year, about 20,000 government employees had abortions financed by their federal health insurance plans.

VOTING YES: Reps. Hall, Gramm, Leath, Hightower, Wyatt, de la Garza, White, Stenholm, Loeffler, Kazen.
VOTING NO: Reps. Wilson, Hance.
NOT VOTING: Reps. Roberts, Pickle.
REAPPORTIONMENT: Illegal aliens will not affect the reapportionment of congressional districts, the House decided Wednesday.

By a vote of 322-176, the House agreed to an amendment to the Treasury-Postal Service appropriations bill prohibiting congressional reapportionment based on 1980 census figures, which include illegal aliens as well as U.S. citizens.
Congress' 435 seats are divided among the states every 10 years, based on population shifts reflected by the decennial census.

VOTING YES: Reps. Hall, de la Garza, Loeffler.
VOTING NO: Reps. Wilson, Gramm, Leath.
Big Spring's kids can be helping Jerry's Kids by attending next Monday's benefit show at the Ritz Theater. The program starts at 11 a.m.
All money raised at the show will go into the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Fund. Lewis, coincidentally, will be emceeding a nationally televised show that day. Last year, over $30 million was raised in the drive and Lewis said he hoped to top that figure this year.
The movie which the kids will be seeing next Monday is "Baker's Hawk," starring Clint Walker and Burl Ives.
By donating a dollar or more toward the MD campaign, the public can gain admission to the theater.

Hightower, Wyatt, White, Stenholm, Hance, Kazen.
NOT VOTING: Reps. Roberts, Pickle.
HOUSE
The House would like to limit the Internal Revenue Service's policy-making powers. So, by a vote of 300-107, the House Wednesday passed an amendment to the Treasury-Postal Service appropriations bill prohibiting the use of IRS funds to repeal the tax-exempt status of private schools suspected of not complying with federal desegregation or affirmative action requirements.
The amendment directs the IRS to leave punitive measures against non-complying private, religious, or church-operated schools to the courts and Congress.

VOTING YES: Reps. Hall, Wilson, Gramm, Leath, Hightower, Wyatt, de la Garza, White, Stenholm, Hance, Loeffler, Kazen.
NOT VOTING: Reps. Roberts, Pickle.
ALASKA LANDS:
Senate environmentalists and pro-developers ended a four-year wrangle Tuesday by passing a bill placing 106.2 million acres of Alaska land under federal protection. That vote was 78-14.
The Alaska lands bill, often called "the conservation bill of the century" and considered a major priority by President Carter, has a history of controversy. The Senate debated the issue of preserving Alaska lands for four years, with conservationists squaring off against states' rights and energy-development forces.

Names in the news

KERMIT THE FROG MARGARET TRUDEAU

Kermit heads campaign
NEW YORK (AP) — He was greeted by clicking cameras and went right to work. "I'm sending out some letters, getting my picture taken. I'm beating last year's record for $4 million in fund-raising. We're going for $10 million."
The name of this consummate fundraiser? Kermit the Frog, the "first chairman" of the 1980 UNICEF fundraising campaign.
With his long, green skinny legs stretched out before him, Kermit sat at a table at the organization's headquarters Saturday talking about the international campaign that benefits children. His constant companion, Muppet creator Jim Henson, was beside him.
Asked if he had told fellow Muppet Miss Piggy about his new duties, Kermit said slowly, "Well, yes. I have. She gave me 25 cents. She handed it to me right then and there. er, maybe it was $1 or $5."
Orr told NACO's Washington staff during a recent briefing that his goal for his new constituency — county government officials — was to build a strong coalition. "As Bob Strauss (head of the Carter-Mondale reelection committee) told us in his address before our conference, we represent all citizens, everywhere. We have to put our shoulders to the wheel and make the impact of those voters felt. We have to assert our-

Hutton back on Broadway
NEW YORK (AP) — In 1940, Betty Hutton made her Broadway debut at the Alvin Theater in "Two for the Show," and catapulted into films with her "incendiary blonde" looks.
So there's a touch of nostalgia as she returns to the Alvin 40 years later as Miss Hannigan in "Annie."
She'll be filling in for Alice Ghostley while Miss Ghostley takes a three-week vacation.
Miss Hutton, 59, has had a long bout with alcohol, pills and breakdowns, but says, "I'm OK now."
"I almost committed suicide," she said during a rehearsal. "I owe it all to God. I'm a Catholic now. My family is back again. I'm working. And it's fabulous."

Mrs. Trudeau into comedy
NEW YORK (AP) — "I'd rather be the butt of a good joke than a bad rumor."
So saying, Margaret Trudeau has decked herself out as damsel in distress, tied to the railroad tracks, crying for help. She also appears as a bird-brained zoo keeper, clad in hiking shorts and a bush helmet, who loses a boa constrictor on a talk show.
And, of course, she ends up with that classical slapstick accessory, the pie in the face.
These are among the "good jokes" on "Big City Comedy," a Canadian version of "Saturday Night Live," where she makes her satirical TV debut this fall. People magazine says
The show also will be syndicated in the United States.
After flings with rock stars, photography and the disco set, and with a movie to her credit, the ex-wife of Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau says she's "very happy and quite fulfilled."
She lives in a small red-brick house near the prime minister's residence in Ottawa, and mothers her three children, ages 8, 6 and 4, on alternate weeks. "I feel I'm pulling my weight as a parent," she says. "Maybe in three or four years I'll spend more time on a career and on myself."

Says new NACO president

'Last bastion of democracy'

WASHINGTON, D.C. — This year's National Association of Counties (NACO) President Roy Orr is a conservative Democrat who believes that county government is the "last bastion of democracy in America."
"It is this level of government — the primary conveyor of services — which is closest to the people," he says. "As such, it is vital we at NACO continue to lead development of modern management techniques."
At 47, Orr is in his second term on the commissioner's court in Dallas County, Tex., where he represents his hometown of Desoto and surrounding suburbs.
He has strong ties to constituents, a paneload of whom flew up to Clark County (Las Vegas), Nev., in a chartered jet for boisterous celebration of Orr's inauguration during the National Association of Counties' Annual Conference last month.
"Local politicians can get things done that are impossible for other government officials," he said. "For instance, in my area we have a small community we call Smithfield, with a subdivision of about 70 houses that share a well."
"Well, during a dry time even a deep well can go dry, and you know, you can do without oil longer than you can do without water!"
"So, one of my constituents called the National Guard. He called the Corps of Engineers. They offered to do a study to solve the problem... but this man needed water that night. It was a Sunday and he called me at home. I called up our road department and got them to bring in the water trucks. We had to haul water that night and all the next day."
"That's being responsive! You could go forever and a day and not get that kind of thing done. Too many government officials forget that we're here to serve people."
Orr told NACO's Washington staff during a recent briefing that his goal for his new constituency — county government officials — was to build a strong coalition. "As Bob Strauss (head of the Carter-Mondale reelection committee) told us in his address before our conference, we represent all citizens, everywhere. We have to put our shoulders to the wheel and make the impact of those voters felt. We have to assert ourselfes to promote revenue sharing, to promote payments-in-lieu-of-taxes and other legislation that helps county government," he said.

As a member of NACO's Board of Directors and the Tax and Finance Steering Committee of the organization, Orr will be in Washington, D.C. frequently this year to testify before Congress.
He also has other far-reaching plans and ideas. "I would like to see NACO form its own captive liability insurance program to save money for member counties," he noted. "Thirdly, I would like to see those counties that can afford it maintain and expand the good programs developed by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration."
His slogan for this year is "communication, cooperation and unity" among counties, and between officials and their constituents.
"We politicians get all kinds of calls for help," he mentioned. "I average about 72 calls a day. They want to talk to me personally. But sometimes people are surprised when I call back myself. Some people think you change when you are elected to public office. That's just not true. In some ways you just don't change," he said quietly.
"I live within a mile of where I was born, three blocks from where I was married and where my wife was born," he said during a recent interview, instructing NACO staff to tell fellow officials he was "just a plain ordinary guy."
He grew up wearing second-hand clothes, rode horses all his life but now prefers the golf course to the ranch and wears well-tailored, color-coordinated sportswear that set off his electric brown eyes.
Orr was one of six graduates of his high school class in a town that boasted 150 people in 1950, had grown to 1,969 by '60, and now has a population of 20,000.

"Our town didn't have an insurance agency, so my brother Fred and I started an insurance company," he said. "We didn't have a Chamber of Commerce, so we started one of those."
He and brother Fred, a former representative to the Texas state legislature, have become known to some as the "Orr machine."
"We didn't have a bank, so we started a bank. We didn't have a boy scout troop, so I became a boy scout leader. My wife, Janice, would get so ticked when I would go off with the boy scouts — that was before we ever had a son!" he said with a grin.
The couple now have two married daughters, an unmarried daughter, a son and four grandchildren.
Amid all this economic and social activity, Orr began his political career as a member of the Desoto School Board, later serving as its president for six years. In both 1968 and 1972 he was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention.

In 1971, Orr was elected Mayor of Desoto and has also served as Chairman of the City Charter Commission, President of the Chamber of Commerce and Lion's Club. He continues to serve as a very active elder in the Desoto Church of Christ.
His neighbors have honored him with awards including naming him "Man of the Year Under 35," "Man of the Year Over 35" in Desoto and "Man of the Year" in Oak Cliff.

During 1972 long-time friend Lew L. Sterrett, then Judge of the County Commissioner's Court, appointed him to fill a vacant seat. He has won one contested and one uncontested election since then. Incidentally, Sterrett, now 80, officiated at Orr's inauguration in Las Vegas.

East Texas fire danger increasing

LUFKIN, Texas (AP) — A relentless heat wave, combined with low humidity and dried out woodlands, may soon prompt the U.S. Forest Service to declare a state of "extreme fire danger" in 52 East Texas counties, a fire official said.
Lou Sloat, heading a temporary command post established here, said, "In the past five days we have had 193 wildfires covering 3,694 acres in a 52-county area."
Over the weekend, 15 firefighting crews were needed to contain a wildfire in Trinity County that burned 210 pine plantations, Sloat said.
The Forest Service declared the area in "high" fire danger Friday, and said continued adverse weather could bring about an "extreme" fire danger classification by Wednesday, Sloat said.
There has been no significant rainfall in the heavily-forested section this month and humidity is generally in the range of 20 percent with temperatures approaching 100 degrees daily, National Weather Service reports show.

Finance is Orr's forte. During his two terms Dallas County became first in Texas to employ a budget officer to increase the county's ability to plan for the future. Orr instituted "zero-based budgeting" in a modernized management system that was recently rescheduled so the fiscal year coincides with tax collections.
Orr is proud his county is one of few in the nation maintaining two AAA bond ratings.
