Polish threaten nationwide strike

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Striking Polish workers, still adamant in their demands, resumed negotiations with the communist government today and raised the threat of a "catastrophic" nationwide general strike if they are not given free trade unions.

The threat came just hours after the workers won yet another concession, forcing the government to restore telephone links between the strike area on the Baltic coast and the rest of Poland.

Strike leaders said that concession might soften their position on some items, but they remained firm in demanding trade unions independent of government control.

Florian Wisniewski, a member of the Inter-Factory Strike Committee, warned that continued refusal by the government to meet the demand might trigger a general strike, "and that would be a catastrophe."

It was not known whether the militant workers in Gdansk could orchestrate a general strike nationwide.

Some 20,000 workers at strike headquarters in the Lenin Shipyard here listed as Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Jagielski sought to limit talks to economic issues, leaving out the political items. The talks were broadcast by loudspeaker.

But strike leader Lech Walesa insisted that the discussion center on the demand for free unions, saying if that problem were solved, "then the others will not be so difficult" and some could be dropped.

Walesa told the strikers who occupied the Gdansk shipyard Aug. 14: "We are not waiting for small achievements but for big ones. We stay here for five years if need be."

In other developments, state-controlled Szczecin Radio reported the strike situation at that western port was "beginning to be worse," and residents were growing weary. It said street cleaners joined the strike.

Sources in Gdansk said the strike had now closed 480 enterprises, up from about 400 on Monday. Some estimated the number of strikers doubled to 300,000. Up to 200,000 more workers may be idled because of the lack of public transportation.

In Moscow, a Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman declared today that Soviet-Polish relations remained "good," and said the "events" taking place in Poland are an internal affair.

Polish-born Pope John Paul II, in a message celebrating a Polish feast day, assured his fellow Poles he was near them "in spirit and prayer," the Vatican said. Without direct mention of the strikes, the pope said the church needed strength "particularly in the present moment... for the good of the entire nation and the strengthening of its life in peace and justice."

'WELCOME TO THE WORLD' — Jay Stone, an announcer for a local radio station, found a group of people willing to give him a bath when he returned to earth after spending 100 hours aboard a gondola high above the Highland Mall Shopping Center shortly before 8 p.m. Monday. Stone had undertaken the feat to focus attention on the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy fund-raising drive. More than $4,000 has already been raised locally in the campaign. Stone will present a check to MD officials during next Monday's TV Telethon at Midland Air Terminal.

One of double homicide victims spent last night in Big Spring

By JAMES WERRELL

One of the victims of a mysterious double homicide spent his last night alive in the Big Spring Holiday Inn, and was found dead in a car he had purchased here on Wednesday.

An "odd smell" led to the discovery in Lubbock Monday of the bodies of a man and woman who had been shot and stuffed into a car trunk. Lubbock authorities began today to trace clues to how Jimmy Dewbre of Crosbyton and Deborah Bennett, a former Lubbock resident, spent their last hours.

Police discovered the bodies about 3 p.m. Monday after a store owner reported an "old smell" coming from the trunk of an abandoned white over maroon 1975 Chevrolet Malibu, said Lubbock authorities.

That car had once belonged to Billy Green, Route 1, who sold it to the Western Pontiac-Datsun Dealership, 504 E. FM 700, on Aug. 6, according to Howard County Sheriff's Deputies. The car was purchased from Western by Dewbre, a car dealer himself, on Wednesday.

Local investigators stated that Dewbre returned to Big Spring on Friday, and spent the night in the local Holiday Inn. He checked out of the hotel on Saturday, and he and Ms. Bennett were last seen about 4 p.m. Saturday at a Lubbock bar located six blocks from where the bodies were found, said authorities.

Since the discovery of the dual murder, Howard County Deputies have received statements that a 41-year-old man, formerly of Shallowater, had been spotted driving the Malibu in Big Spring on Saturday. That man is being sought statewide for questioning in connection with the Bible Fund drive efforts renewed

The Howard County Ministerial Alliance is making steady headway in its efforts to raise $10,000 to guarantee the teaching of the Holy Bible on the high school level in Howard County.

As of this morning, a total of $6,485 had been raised in the annual Bible Fund drive.

The campaign is supposed to end by Aug. 31. For that reason, the alliance has renewed efforts to raise the remaining $1,515 needed to insure the program for the 1980-81 school year.

Checks can be made out to the Bible Fund and sent either to Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of the Big Spring First Baptist Church, or the Herald, which is helping coordinate the drive.

Citizens given chance to speak up about proposed tax hike

Citizens will have a chance to speak up about the proposed tax increase and city budget for the coming fiscal year at the regular meeting of the Big Spring City Council, 6:30 p.m. today.

During tonight's public hearing, the council will give its reasons for proposing an almost 23 percent increase in the tax rate for the 1980-81 fiscal year. Those present will have an opportunity to comment on the proposal.

In addition, the council will present

Militants threaten life of U.S. hostages

The Moslem militants holding 49 of the 52 American hostages in Iran say they will be put to death immediately if there is another U.S. military attempt to free them.

The militants added they are moving their captives again to foil a rescue attempt being planned to improve President Carter's chances for re-election.

"Since the issue of the American hostages is a key factor in U.S. policy as the presidential election approaches, the Americans are planning somehow to escape the mortal consequences of this development and to free the hostages before the crucial decision by the Islamic Consultative Assembly," said a statement from the militants broadcast by Tehran Radio.

"If world-devouring America embarks on the slightest military move before the fate of the spies has been decided, both the attackers and the spies will all be dispatched to hell on the spot."

The militants who seized control of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran last Nov. 4 said they were on "full alert" and were moving the hostages they hold to new locations. Those held in the towns of Shiraz, Gorgan, Zanjan and Qazvin have already been moved elsewhere, they said without elaboration.

Today was the 297th day in captivity for the 52 Americans.

Commissioners vote to lower tax rate

Howard County Commissioners voted today to drop the tax rate from 23.75 cents per $100 property valuation to 20 cents per $100 property valuation after holding a senate bill 621 mandated hearing with no taxpayers present.

Commissioners determined how much money would be needed to operate on next fiscal year and set the tax rate accordingly, said County Judge Bill Tume.

The tax rate had been earlier proposed at 23.75 cents per $100 of property value but was dropped to 20 cents.

Although no money was found on either victim, Lubbock Police have not established a motive for the murders.

'I'll be there on Aug. 31'

Willie Nelson promises to sing old, new songs in Big Spring

By JAMES WERRELL

Willie Nelson hadn't given a concert for four days, and the rest, relaxation and mountain air at his home in Evergreen, Colo., had left him in a good mood.

"But I'm in a good mood every morning," Nelson told the local media people who assembled Monday, at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce to talk to him over the phone.

Willie Nelson is easily one of the biggest names in music today. He is also the same Willie Nelson who again assured local fans that he will appear in Big Spring on Sunday.

"I'll be there on Aug. 31. I have a concert in Norman, Okla. the night before, and I'll probably fly into Big Spring sometime the next afternoon," he said.

And he doesn't need a road map to find the city.

"Sure, I know Big Spring. An old friend of mine, Joe Hicks, used to have car lot there, where I played a bunch of times," said the singer. "Big Spring, Midland, Odessa; that's my old running ground."

Nelson promised a two to three hour show with plenty of standards as well as some brand new material.

"We'll be doing all the old ones and some new songs from the 'Honeysuckle Rose' album," he said.

That album consists of the songs from the movie, "Honeysuckle Rose," which featured Nelson in his first starring role as, guess what, a country-and-western star from Texas.

Another recent album, "Willie and Ray Together," featuring Nelson and fellow C&W star Ray Price "has almost gone gold," said Nelson.

Monday. That pairing may provide another treat for the Big Spring audience. Price will appear in Ruidoso, N.M. on Saturday, and "chances are very good that he will join Willie here on Sunday," said local concert coordinators.

"I really hope that Ray shows up, but you know how he lies," said Nelson, joking.

Although he can write songs as well as anyone in the business, Nelson's heart lately has been with the old standards. "Stardust," one of his largest-selling albums is devoted entirely to standards, and nearly every album he has ever done features at least a few of them. So it was not surprising that on Monday he attributed much of his success to the "old songs."

"There is a real appeal to the old songs. They are fantastic pieces of literature and music, and anyone who can sing the melody can record any of those old songs and it will be a hit again," he said. "They may be the old songs, but they're still the good songs."

There is one old song, however, that has given Nelson a little trouble. When he sang "The National Anthem" to open the first night of the Democratic National Convention in New York, the part about the "rockets great glare" and "bombs bursting in air," was mysteriously absent.

"I guess when I sang 'The National Anthem' it just turned out to be my own version. A lot of the national papers liked the new version because they thought I was trying to make a statement about bombs or something," said Nelson. "I wasn't just forgot the words," he added.

Success has come at the end of a long, bumpy road for Nelson. He sold his first song, "Family Bible," for $50; a long way from sold-out concert halls and gold albums. Does he now find himself trying to avoid the fans he sought for so long?

"I certainly don't try to avoid anyone. My fans won't hurt me. All they want is an autograph or a hand shake," he explained. "I can't call success an inconvenience. It's something I've worked all my life to achieve, and I might as well enjoy it," he added.

Nelson hopes to follow the success of his effort with Ray Price with other albums featuring his colleagues. He said he has talked with Merle Haggard and Johnny Rodriguez about recording sessions, and there are plenty of others he would like to cut albums with.

"It used to be that all these people were tied up in contracts with their own companies, but I hope that's changing," he added.

Nelson appeals to fans of a variety of ages and tastes, and hopes to attract such a crowd to the Memorial Stadium, Sunday.

"We got some young people to listen, and kept some older fans. But I hope we keep getting new fans all the time," concluded Nelson.

Those who would like to buy tickets for the concert may do so early at the chamber office. Tickets are $8 in advance, and $10 at the gate. For more information, call the chamber at 263-7641.

Seminar can aid groups in affirmative goals

A seminar, planned for women of the Big Spring area, beginning Sept. 8, will aid employers and organizations in their efforts toward affirmative action commitments. This eight-week seminar, under the direction of Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, will give leadership and personal development to aspiring women. Companies may wish to enroll those women with potential for promotion and advancement within their organizations.

Many special features are built into this seminar which will aid employers as well as women participants. Among these will be progress reports to employers to enable them to know what area the employee is working on each week. This allows the employer to give appropriate support, recognition and encouragement as the employee grows and develops.

A certificate of completion and a letter of commendation will be presented at the conclusion, with copies for the personnel file of the participant. Employers will be asked to present these certificates in ceremonies on the job to give recognition of this extra development effort.

Attempts will be made to cooperate with each employer in developing specific and unique areas in each participant through one-to-one counseling as well as within the seminar meetings.

A letter will be mailed to the employer expressing appreciation of the company's interest in developing women employees and outlining the areas covered in the seminar. This letter and seminar outline can be used as equal employment opportunity documentation for affirmative action commitments.

Employers may secure complete information about the seminar by calling Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery at her office, 110 Permian Building, 263-1451. Deadline for registering for this seminar is the week of August 25.

Police Beat Big damage, little loot

Burglars caused a lot of damage for just three six-packs of beer early this morning.

Intruders tried to break into the Seven-Eleven Store, 300 E. 11th, around 3:30 a.m. today, by kicking in the front door. When that was unsuccessful, they threw a brick through the northeast window of the convenience store, and made their entry that way.

The only items stolen were three six-packs of Budweiser Beer, but the burglary caused $450 worth of damage.

Paul J. McNeece, 307 E. 19th, told police that someone had stolen $166.50 which had been hidden in a shaving kit on top of a water heater behind the door in his bathroom, Friday night. According to McNeece, he and his wife were the only ones who knew where the money had been hidden.

Harold E. McMahan, 1601 N.E. IS 20, believes he knows who stole his 1971 GMC pickup, between 3:50 and 10:55 p.m. Monday. The vehicle was valued at $1,800.

David Reiser, 1417 11th, alerted police that someone has released his yellow and grey cockatiel from its cage in Reiser's garage, Monday night. The bird was valued at $80.

A bogus customer entered the Arcand Electric Company, 906 Johnson, 3:40 p.m. Monday, and when employees turned their backs, stole a black-and-white television set. The tube was valued at $126.

Elvis Johnson, 23, 109 N.W. 12th, knows the man who fired a shot at him with a .22 caliber pistol, 11:25 p.m. Monday. The incident occurred on the 700 block of Northwest Fourth.

Two mishaps were reported Monday. A parked vehicle belonging to Gloria Fay Johnson, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene near the Johnson residence, 5:08 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Velma Sherrod, Garden City, and Choy Pittman, Howard College Dormitory, collided at 400 Gregg, 10:18 a.m.

Pep rally draws crowd Mitchell crop down sharply

Officials of the Starlight Specials, among them coordinator Frank Wentz, said the Monday night Back-to-School Rally, held in the amphitheater at Comanche Trail park, was the best of the four such events staged thus far. Certainly it was one of the best attended.

The junior and senior classes of Big Spring High School tied for first place in the contest to determine which group showed the best spirit. As a result the cash prize was split between the two groups.

More than 1,500 students from Big Spring High School, parents, and patrons attended the gigantic rally, it was sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Council of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

COLORADO CITY — The Mitchell County cotton crop may not top 25,000 bales this year, according to agriculture experts here. Recent rains came too late to help the crop.

Last year, about 83,000 bales were harvested in the county. There are 78,000 acres certified as planted to cotton this year.

Former coach's discrimination suit against BSISD 'stalled'

Former Big Spring High School basketball coach James Griffin's discrimination suit against the Big Spring Independent School District failed to make much headway in Abilene federal court Monday.

Griffin, 33, sued for back pay and reinstatement after the Big Spring school board refused to renew his contract May 12, 1977.

Attorneys representing the school district filed a motion asking for a judgment favoring the school district after one witness had been heard.

The BSISD lawyers maintained that Griffin's suit, which originated in district court, should be barred by a two-year statute of limitations. Griffin should have filed the suit no later than May 1979, the lawyers maintain.

U.S. District Judge Hal Woodard of Lubbock said he would study the defense motion but set no date for the decision. Woodard then recessed court.

Griffin is being represented in court by two Houston attorneys, Bob Hall and Truman Dean. The lawyers maintained that eventually Griffin lost not only his Big Spring home but three vehicles as a result of the school board's decision not to extend his contract.

At the time his contract was terminated, Griffin was being paid $14,650 annually.

Griffin, through his attorneys, maintain that "no serious attempt was made to reach a fair decision" in his case. Eventually, the State Board of Education also ruled against him.

The single witness heard Monday was William F. (Dub) Martin, 45, an administrator in the Big Spring school system when Griffin was on the Big Spring staff.

Hall attempted to discredit Martin's testimony by saying Martin gave conflicting testimony in assessing Griffin's value as a teacher.

Martin made several points of criticism against Griffin, among them:

- Griffin showed a reluctance to do his share of cafeteria duty.
- Griffin never appeared to be a well-prepared teacher.
- The coach was frequently found in the halls

Racketeering sentences

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sentencing in the racketeering trial of six members and associates of the Hells Angels motorcycle club has ended with the sentencing of John Palomarc to two years in federal prison.

The sentencing by U.S. District Judge Samuel Conti on Monday brought to 54 years the total of sentences given the six Hells Angels convicted in the trial. Palomarc, 42, was also fined $5,000 and denied bail pending appeal.

He had been convicted of possession of a firearm by a felon. The jury failed to decide a racketeering charge against him and the government later dropped that count.

China orders equipment

CHICAGO (AP) — The People's Republic of China has ordered $7.5 million in tractors, combines, tillage tools and hay machines from the International Harvester Co., company officials say.

The Chinese Ministry of State Farms and Land Reclamation ordered about 400 pieces of farm equipment for use on a 50,000-acre farm in Heilongjiang Province of northeastern China, officials said.

Famed brothel is sold

SPARKS, Nev. (AP) — Joe Conforte, a former Los Angeles-area fruit vendor who built a multimillion-dollar sex empire in Nevada, has announced the sale of the famed Mustang Ranch brothel.

Principals in the purchase, operating under the corporate name Mustang Ranch, Ltd., were identified Monday as Wayne Drizen of Miami and Gina Wilson, owner of the Salt Wells Guest Ranch brothel east of Fallon. Conforte indicated the sale price was more than $12.7 million, but would not disclose the exact figure.

He said Internal Revenue Service pressure forced the sale — "It's pure economics, pure arithmetic."

Couple claims son scared Civil rights suit filed against Big Spring

A Big Spring couple, Enrique Jr. and Mary Sanchez, have sued the City of Big Spring in Abilene federal court, claiming police officers needlessly frightened their nine-year-old son in 1978.

Specifically, the Sanchezes maintain that two officers then employed by the city, C. Josh Sullivan Jr., and William Price, sought to get their son, Enrique Sanchez III, out of an abandoned house. The incident occurred Aug. 30, 1978.

The plaintiffs maintain that the officers used threatening gestures and shouts and brandished a weapon. The boy was dragged through a window in a cruel and brutal manner," according to the suit, and later thrown into the back of a police car.

The Sanchez boy was taken to the police station where he was retained about an hour. The plaintiffs maintain that the experience led to "uncontrollable crying" by the boy to the extent that the youth required treatment in the hospital emergency room after he was released. No charges were filed against the boy, the suit maintains.

The parents are seeking $60,000 for mental anguish and $50,000 in exemplary damages.

Patrick A. Abeyta, a Lubbock attorney, is represented the Sanchezes in the suit.

Price is still a member of the Big Spring police department but Sullivan currently resides in San Angelo.

Anderson: His stand on domestic issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — To women, advocates of federally-funded abortions, energy conservationists, and supporters of gun controls, John B. Anderson is a political liberal.

To those opposed to new federal programs to aid the poor, to supporters of big cuts in federal taxes and to labor unions, the independent presidential candidate is a confirmed fiscal conservative.

On most issues of the 1980 campaign, Anderson has been mapping a middle ground between the deeply conservative views of Republican Ronald Reagan and the record established by Jimmy Carter during his four years in the White House.

"Governments can create an atmosphere that is conducive to the advancement of public good," Anderson said on June 18, "but government is no substitute for the energies and talents of the private sector."

Anderson's most striking proposal so far, made while he was still seeking the Republican presidential nomination, calls for a 50 cent-per-gallon increase in gasoline taxes. Revenues from the tax would go to reduce Social Security taxes for most Americans.

The tax idea is typical of the pragmatic, sometimes unconventional, approach Anderson takes to national problems, an approach that makes it difficult to tag him with political labels.

On the gas tax proposal, Anderson combined liberal Democratic suggestions — that some way must be found to force energy conservation — with Republican insistence on tax reductions.

The tax also represents another consistent theme of Anderson's campaign, a belief that the federal tax system should become the major instrument to put new life into a listless economy, help reduce inflation and unemployment and improve productivity.

The 58-year-old Anderson argues that with the right tax incentives American businessmen could spend more on research and new equipment to provide new jobs.

But unlike Reagan, who supports an across-the-board tax cut of up to 30 percent over the next few years, Anderson says his proposals would be selective, targeted to solve specific problems.

On energy, Anderson supports an end to government control of natural gas and oil prices. He was the senior Republican on the House Energy Committee, which partially enacted Carter's energy program, first proposed in 1977.

But unlike most Republicans, he believes that to reduce American imported oil, some way must be found to reduce U.S. consumption of gasoline.

That is a fundamental break with Reagan, who says that only if oil companies are permitted to operate without interference will they find and develop conventional and unconventional sources of energy, including crude oil reserves.

Urging a new spirit of American self-sacrifice, Anderson says that by shifting revenues from his gasoline tax to reduce Social Security taxes, he will return proceeds of energy conservation to the economy.

By adding 50 cents to the current 4-cent-per-gallon federal gasoline tax, Anderson hopes to eventually cut back foreign oil imports, from 8 million barrels daily to about 7 million barrels, and make a significant reduction in the nation's $100 billion imported oil tab.

The congressman estimates that Americans would cut their consumption of gasoline by about 10 percent, with the $55 billion in anticipated additional revenues put in the Social Security system.

About $4 billion would go for increased benefits for all Social Security retirees, and $46 billion would be applied to reducing Social Security taxes for American workers, a cut averaging about $120 a year for most workers.

An additional $5 billion would go for tax breaks for businesses hit by the declining consumption of gasoline.

In more than a year of running for president, Anderson has established a reputation for touching off political controversy by taking strong positions on issues in appearances before groups with militant beliefs directly opposite from his own.

Last winter, Anderson left members of a New Hampshire anti-gun control organization reeling when he said the federal government should register handguns if the states do not.

In Detroit, hit hard by layoffs from the auto companies, Anderson said he flatly opposes federal loan guarantees for the staggering Chrysler Corp.

Before a meeting of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce, a group that excludes women from membership, he made a strong pitch for the Equal Rights Amendment and was booed.

Much of Anderson's early campaign has been focused on getting on ballots. He faces state laws that discourage efforts made outside the two established political parties.

As a result, many of his specific programs have yet to be heard. A series of issues speeches is planned for the fall.

He also has proposed a tax break for small businesses that move to or remain in deteriorating inner-city neighborhoods.

ODESSA — Although a officer is out of the academy for a month, the pay is boosted to $1,020. The salary then grows on a graduating scale to $1,210 after five years.

Starting salary for officers in Midland is $1,068, elevating to $1,297 after 30 months. In Lubbock, the base pay is $1,081 a month but all people in the department are due to benefit from a 14 percent pay hike in October. After the first year, the salary in Lubbock goes to $1,223 and peaks at $1,287 at the beginning of the fourth year on the force.

San Angelo's current base pay for officers is $985 but a 21 percent pay boost will go into effect in October. The minimum pay then goes to $1,192.

Odesa has lost 21 officers through resignation since Jan. 1.

Clements beckons to Mexico for visitors

Texas Gov. Bill Clements took another step in cementing relations with Mexico recently when he issued first copies of a colorful new Texas tourist brochure to Mexican Consul Victor Romero in Austin.

THE BROCHURE is printed entirely in Spanish. Even those Americans who can't speak or read a word of Spanish will, no doubt, be impressed by the brochure. Echoing the governor's hopes for closer international ties, Consul Romero said that tourist literature in Spanish is a courteous and effective way to serve visitors from across the border.

"This promotes people-to-people contact," the consul also said, "which is the best way to strengthen bonds between nations."

The Spanish-language brochure portrays Texas vacation opportunities in every season of the year. Color photos depict rides at Six Flags over Texas and Astroworld, sunny beach and golf scenes, plus an action shot of the Dallas Cowboys and an interior photo of Houston's Astrodome. Night-clubbing opportunities and elegant dining are not ignored.

Present for the ceremony was Mark Goode, engineer-director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Goode's department operates the state's tourist bureaus and prints a variety of Texas travel literature, including the new Mexican brochure.

GOV. CLEMENTS personally requested the brochure and is the latest in a series of international initiatives launched by the state's chief officer. Since he was sworn into office 18 months ago, Gov. Clements has paid protocol visits to all Mexican border states, and has hosted each of those state governors in Austin.

A chill set in between Mexico and Texas last year when the Mexicans appeared to be doing little about the Campeche oil spill but Gov. Clements cooled tempers on this side of the border by counseling Texans not to take any legal action in the matter.

The environmental damage along Texas beaches was considerable but the oil was spilling onto Mexican beaches at the time, too. Ultimately, the spewing oil well was capped and the beaches were cleaned.

Working together in such matters is much, much better than throwing verbal poniards at one another.

Welcome respite

Vacations. The idea is great. But it always seems that I need to go back to work to recover from the vacation.

This month I took a week of the two I have coming, and traveled with my fiancé to visit his sister in Shreveport, La., and his brother in Tulsa, Okla. We covered many miles in one short week. The only thing making the journey bearable were stopovers in Dallas on the way to Shreveport and on the way back from Tulsa.

IN SHREVEPORT we had to contend with two very active boys, aged four and two. There was a third, three-month-old Natalie, who demanded her share of the attention. Also a trip to Shreveport, would not be complete without a little water skiing. (I was going along great until Barry's shirt went flying out of the boat and they made me stop to back track for the shirt.)

Also there was shopping and a movie and coping with three kids while trying to eat Chinese food. Then it was on to Tulsa.

The drive through East Texas, was beautiful. It was dark by the time we reached Tulsa. It was not so pleasant then. Trying to keep abreast of all the signs concerning road construction, Barry missed the turnoff we were supposed to take. Trying to get back to it was almost impossible. There were no signs giving advance notice. When you saw a sign for the exit, that meant turn then. If you were in the wrong lane, like we happened to be, it was another wild goose chase to get back in the right direction.

Thirty minutes later we arrived at our destination.

Tulsa was a really nice town. Not the evil we thought it to be the night before. There is a very nice bicycle trail that runs along the Arkansas River. Except for an unpleasant odor, the experience was delightful, the exercise well needed.

THE LAST FEW DAYS of our vacation was filled with lots of activity. Swimming, tours of the town and tennis. The most enjoyable was the tour of downtown Tulsa. The area was closed off to through traffic and an outdoor mall replaced it. The area is full of shoppers and businessmen and women taking time out for lunch. All of the older buildings have been restored or remodeled on the inside—all leaving the original look of its beginning.

A new addition was made to my "family" while in Tulsa. I purchased a puppy. I had been in the market for one for quite some time. Through an ad in the paper I discovered the breed of dog I had been looking for at a much cheaper price that I had seen anywhere else. After being reassured that the puppy could make the trip home without any difficulty, I decided to buy one.

The puppy made the trip home great. He slept most of the way. I wish I could have. I was exhausted when I got home. I have just now recovered, I think.

But I can't wait until October when I get to "take a rest" from work. This time I'll be roaming about in Navasota, trying to visit all my old friends I haven't seen since I moved to Big Spring.

You can sue

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — With all the bad news on the front pages lately, there was good news for husbands, wives and lawyers a few weeks ago. The Massachusetts Supreme Court ruled that a wife could sue her husband for negligence if he did a lousy job shoveling snow and ice off the sidewalk in front of their house.

The case, and I did not make it up, concerned a Shirley Brown of Wakefield, Mass., whose husband William got up at 7 a.m. on Dec. 21, 1978, and shoveled the sidewalk before he went off to work. At about 8 a.m., Mrs. Brown left the house and slipped on the shoveled walk, breaking two pelvic bones.

MRS. BROWN charged that William was "careless and negligent in the maintenance of the walks" and failed to leave them in a safe condition for his wife. She also maintained in the suit that it was part of her husband's duties and responsibilities to keep walks clear and to spread sand and prevent them from getting slippery.

For years courts have been reluctant to allow spouses to sue each other for negligence, so Brown vs. Brown opens up a whole can of beans for married couples, the legal profession and insurance companies. If there is a plethora of Brown vs. Brown cases, all homeowner policies will have to be rewritten and the rates could go sky-high.

If a wife can sue a husband for neglecting his household chores, there is no reason a husband can't go to court when a wife neglects hers.

Let me give you some examples based on personal experience. Under English common law, one of a wife's duties is to put out the trash. Recently I was playing with the dog and tripped over a Hefty bag my wife had carelessly thrown in the driveway. I scraped my elbow badly. Had the Brown vs. Brown case come down earlier I would have immediately called my lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, and started the legal ball rolling. But being ignorant of my rights all I did was warn her that if she couldn't be a better job with the trash I would no longer permit her to watch television after she did the dishes.

I have always maintained that it is a wife's duty to repair anything in the house that goes wrong. I hate to spend money on electricians and plumbers when it isn't necessary. A month ago I asked her to change the motor on our garbage disposal unit, a simple job that any housewife should be able to do. When I came back from playing tennis all the parts of the motor were on the floor and she was crying.

I had to pay $250 to get a man in to do it right. This was an open-and-shut case of negligence in maintaining household equipment, and I can't believe that any all-male jury in the land would not have ruled in my favor and I know I could have taken the case to court.

I BELIEVE ONE more example is sufficient to make my point. Three weeks ago my wife was on a ladder painting the ceiling when I walked by on my way to the kitchen to get a Lite beer. I happened to accidentally brush the ladder and the can of paint came tumbling down and fell on my toes, causing me anguish and pain. Having failed to put up a sign warning passersby that she was painting the ceiling made her guilty of violating every safety regulation in the book, and if I had known about the Massachusetts Supreme Court ruling I would have slapped her with a subpoena on the spot.

There are people who say Brown vs. Brown could endanger the sanctity of marriage. But I believe it could bring people closer together. Many divorces come about when one party thinks that he or she has been injured by the other.

Give me your tired, your sore, Your befuddled Kennedyites yearning to break free, The wretched refuse of your convention floor, Send these, the homeless Democrats to me... I lift my hopes much higher than before!

Spina bifida can be minor or serious

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My daughter was born with spina bifida, myelomeningocele. People have often asked me delicate questions such as "What did you do wrong when you were pregnant with her to cause this?" or "What is wrong with her back?" Our society is not acquainted with this commoncrippler of newborns.

I realize this is a big topic to discuss, but I'm counting on you — CF. You are absolutely right. Most people are not aware of spina bifida (SPY-nuh-BIFF-ih-duh). I am counting on you to dismiss indelicate remarks as reflecting ignorance and not meanness. I'll do what I can to try to dispel some ignorance.

Spina bifida results when the sections of the spinal column do not completely fuse. That leaves a gap in the infant spine, usually low in the spinal column (lower back). If the defect is large, the covering of the spinal cord, the meninges, and the cord itself (the myelo part of that long medical term) can bulge through (the "cele" reference).

Various neurological problems can result — bladder nerve difficulties and trouble with muscles of the legs. The problems range from quite minor to quite serious. Treatment depends on the degree of nerve damage. If the bladder is not working, a catheter is used to empty it of urine. Braces and physical therapy help if the legs are affected.

I know this is but a brief discussion. If you think I should explain more, please let me know. I will bring the subject up again. If ever a little girl with a problem needed a good mother, this little girl has found one, if the unpublished portion of your letter is any indication.

I am sure there is a local chapter of the national foundation dedicated to research and information about this common problem. You will find further discussion in the booklet "Backache and Spine Problems." For a copy send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My wife, who is 73, had a stroke 18 months ago affecting her right side and her speech. Six months afterward she started to have seizures. They lasted for five minutes before her body finally relaxed. Will you please explain just what happens to her body when she has one of these? — R.S.

Scar tissue forms in the affected part of the brain after a stroke. It's the same as a scar that forms after a skin cut. This "brain scar" can stimulate nearby brain nerve cells to "fire." That spontaneous firing of electrical activity by the brain cells causes a convulsion. A jumbled series of messages goes out from the brain to the muscles of the body, and they tighten and relax repeatedly. After the convulsion, the person is usually very drowsy. Such scar tissue can take months to form sufficiently to cause trouble, hence the delayed effect after your wife's stroke.

There are drugs to control these seizures, and the level of those drugs in the blood has to be adjusted to individual needs. Your wife's doctor should be consulted about these seizures. If this has not already been done, there may be used to adjust the dosage should the seizures continue. Sometimes all it takes are these drugs (which your doctor can tell you about) and a bit of phenobarbital to keep the patient seizure free.

Dear Dr. Donohue: When my son was getting his immunization shots I was asked if he had any allergies. At the time I was unaware that he was allergic to eggs. He breaks out on his face and his eyes swell. My son broke out a number of times before I realized what was causing it — the eggs. Now I am concerned that the people who immunized him earlier did not know about this allergy. Does this mean he is not immune to the diseases for which he was vaccinated, etc.? — Mrs. D.G.

Your son is properly immunized. The reason you have to tell your doctor about egg allergy is to avoid an allergic reaction from the shot. Some vaccines use viruses that are grown in eggs. Some of the egg protein can remain with the virus in the vaccine and cause a reaction in people allergic to eggs. The immunization is not affected. Apparently your son just did not get an allergic reaction to the vaccine.

FOR MRS. T.W. — I know of no medicine that will have an effect on stretchmarks. They result from weakenings at stress points in the skin and so far as I know only time has an effect. They tend to fade eventually.

Did you know that 80 percent of stroke victims resume to some degree their former lives? The booklet "Stroke Recovery — Hope and Help" describes the causes and treatment of stroke. For a copy write Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Dear Editor: In yesterday's paper a Mr. Bob Covington claimed that some "chicken hawks" had scared all of the martens and other birds away from his house.

These "chicken hawks" are actually Mississippi kites. They are insect eaters and prey or attack on no other animal, bird, or plant. Although many times, I have seen grackles, hummingbirds, kingbirds, and many other smaller, more agile birds attack the kites; I have never seen, or heard of a kite harassing any bird besides the larger hawks and falcons.

I don't know what scared away the martens, cardinals, and mockingbirds, but it certainly wasn't the kites.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I had an auto accident while I was stoned on drugs, and one of the passengers in my car was killed. I am filled with guilt and remorse over this. Can God help me deal with this? — T.Y.

DEAR T.Y.: Yes, God wants to help you if you will turn to him and allow him to enter your life. We have to commit our sins and mistakes to God, and ask him to take them and forgive them. We also can ask him to take them and turn them into something which will bring blessing to others. I know it is hard for you to imagine that God could bring any good out of this tragic event — but he can if you will let him. For example, because of this event you have started to think about God for the first time in your life. I believe God is speaking to you through this happening, and want to bring you to himself. This would be the most important thing which could happen to you.

What you have done in the past cannot be erased. But God still loves you, and that is a marvelous truth I want you to come to accept. He loves you so much that He wants to forgive you of all your sins — not just this act, but everything you have ever done which was wrong in his eyes.

How is this possible? It is possible because Jesus Christ suffered and died to take away your sins. He is God's Son, sent to earth to reconcile us to God, our Creator. Sin deserves punishment, but on the cross Christ, the innocent Son of God, took upon himself your sins. You deserved to die as punishment for your sins, but Christ died in your place. Why did he do that? Because he loves you and wants you to become his child.

By a simple prayer you can invite Jesus Christ into your life. Acknowledge your sins to him, and open your heart to him as your Savior and Lord. Then you will not only know the joy of forgiveness, but you will also know his strength and purpose for a new life of following him.

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — There was a moment of high danger last April as American commandos, huddled in helicopters, rattled toward Iran. Hundreds of miles away, Israeli intelligence specialists were routinely monitoring radio communications. They picked up some suspicious transmissions and easily detected the hostage rescue operation.

Acting quickly, they began sending out confusing signals to disguise the telltale U.S. transmissions. Incredibly, the Americans had overlooked this elementary precaution. But fortunately, the Israelis covered for them, or the ill-fated mission might have fared even worse.

THIS HAS BEEN reported by a Pentagon evaluation team in their secret findings. The report speculates that the Soviets, their surveillance capabilities unmatched, must have detected the signals. But thanks to the Israelis, the Soviets may not have interpreted the sounds correctly.

The Pentagon planners also seemed not to anticipate that anything would go wrong during the rescue attempt, though it was a mission of mind-numbing complexity and split-second timing. So when the unexpected happened, as another top-secret report to Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, makes clear, the commanders of the operation had no preplanned responses ready.

Worse yet, there was such poor overall coordination that unit commanders made individual, sometimes contradictory, decisions. And when the officers on the scene sought guidance from the Pentagon on handling the unexpected developments, the top brass in Washington passed the buck right back to them.

"(It is) clear that there was very little planning for unexpected contingencies," the report to Tower states. "What do you do if you hit bad weather? What do you do if there is an emergency involving fire? What do you do if you can get down to five aircraft at Desert Site One? What do you do if some Iranians who observe the mission escape?"

All of these accidents — and more — happened. Yet no coordinated responses had been planned. Adding to the potential for confusion, the Senate report contends, was the fact that each unit commander — in charge of helicopters, transport planes and ground troops — "felt responsible for his part of the action and operated in isolation except when the force was married up for rehearsals."

The report explains: "Historically, it has been unwise to so fragment command. In this case, no one at Desert Site (One) was responsible for making decisions. The man who was, was in the White House, thousands of miles from the scene of the action."

The weather over the Iranian desert — the unusual "suspended dust" phenomenon — and the reactions to it illustrate the weaknesses in the rescue mission command setup.

THE LEAD C-130 transport was the first aircraft to hit the suspended dust fog, but though the planes were engulfed in it for 45 minutes, the commander "elected not to report" the unusual condition. When the Marine helicopters hit the dust, the flight leader landed briefly and reported to the Pentagon.

He was "not provided any guidance," the report notes. "The (Pentagon) asked, 'What are you going to do?' Since the other aircraft had not turned back, the flight leader decided to go on." It was a hairy experience, flying blind, but six Marine choppers made it to Desert Site One.

There was similar lack of coordination in the matter of radio silence and radar avoidance. The Marine copter pilots were "very worried about going too high to get out of the weather, out of fear of being 'painted' by Iranian radar and thus compromising the mission," the report notes. But the "Air Force was much more relaxed, and flew all the way at a higher altitude."

Likewise, the Marines maintained strict radio silence, even in the extreme danger of the dust fog. But when the first C-130 landed, the impact broke its non-interceptable radio. The Air Force pilot then "went ahead to report his arrival on an open net (work), thus possibly compromising the mission, even though another secure radio was available at the site," the report states.

Although President Carter denies it, our investigations have found that he has ordered preparations for another rescue attempt, though the obstacles now are enormously more difficult.

SPOILING THE SPOILS: Win or lose in November, Jimmy Carter appears determined to leave his mark on the upper echelons of Washington bureaucracy — and leave few political spoils for a victorious Ronald Reagan.

A flood of presidential appointments to vacancies on various regulatory and advisory commissions has issued from the White House in recent months.

I KNOW GOD... I AM JESUS' FRIEND ... I LOVE JESUS... JESUS LOVES ME... GOD LOVES ME... I AM IN JESUS... MY PRAYERS ARE ALWAYS ANSWERED..... I don't really know how many times I have heard different individuals use the above statements to affirm their relationship with God. I suppose the number would reach into the hundreds. Isn't it odd that someone might make one of the above statements, and in so doing, convince us entirely of that relationship? And isn't it equally odd that they could convey that thought and apply it to you? Yes! People are being brought into relationship with God because of the Gospel message via humanity! One person tells another — and so on and so on — That's God's plan which cannot be improved upon! But friends, how do we know the above to be true? How can I know with confidence that I am indeed a friend to the Lord, or that I know Him that is true? And how can I know that I am abiding in Him, and that He is abiding in me? Some people will tell you that you must wait for the Holy Spirit to "move" you. Some have even instructed you to lay your hands upon the TV and receive forgiveness and the Holy Ghost. Well, let me suggest the Biblical way to know the above! We know God only by keeping His commandments. Therefore, I must study and then apply (1 Jn. 2:3-4). I prove my friendship to the Christ, and His to me by keeping His commandments—not merely by saying we're friends (Jn. 15:14)! I can know that I love Him by my actions toward His given will (Jn. 14:15, 21, 23-24; 15:10). If I disobey Him, I prove that I do not love Him (Jn. 14:24; Matt. 7:21-23). And in keeping His word we have assurance that He and the Father will love us and continue to love us (Jn. 14:21, 23; 15:9-10). I can also know that I am IN CHRIST by keeping His commands (Jn. 15:4, 10). And I have blessed assurance that my prayers will be answered if I keep His word (Jn. 15:7). All of the above affirmations can be known. But they can only be known by those whose lives are in reality certified by the keeping of the Word. (Jn. 12:48ff.). Before any of the above can be known or matured, one must first "get into Christ". You cannot abide or maintain a relationship with the Christ until you are "in" Christ. Paul stated that FAITH, or those "in" THE FAITH, could be known by the fact that they were wearing Jesus. They put on Christ! And how did they put on Christ? The same way you must! (Read Romans 6:1-5; Galatians 3:26-29; Col. 2:12; 3:1-3).

Study club begins year with gourmet brunch

The Forsan Study Club had their first meeting of the year Aug. 23 at 11 a.m. in Garrett Hall of the First United Methodist Church. The theme of the year will be "A Rainbow of Unity, Communication and Service."

The meeting was called to order by Shirley Summers, president. For roll call each member brought an item for Girl's Town. Carole Hope gave a short history of the Club Collect and Sharon Cregar led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Jackie Hendricks, the Western District President, came from Midland and presented a Federation message. She gave the history of the General Federation of Women's Clubs from the 1800s to the present.

With appropriate music playing in the background, she gave important historical events of each decade followed by what GFWC was accomplishing in each era.

Susan Alexander, Scholarship Chairman, presented the Forsan Study Club Scholarship to Kelli Kendrick who will be attending Western Texas University in Snyder.

The Membership Chairman, Kathy Pickett, introduced two new members, Susan Gaston and Regina Gaston.

The Yearbooks were presented by Emily Elrod, Chairman of the Yearbook Committee. The front of each book was decorated with a colorful rainbow, hand painted by Sue V. Holgun.

The kick-off meeting was a gourmet brunch featuring curried chicken crepe cups, quiche, broccoli cheese crepes, fruit cups a la mode, and cinnamon rolls. To coordinate with the theme, the tables were covered with pastel tablecloths with a rainbow centerpiece.

Stacey Gray, president of the 1905 Hyperion Club, presented the Forsan group with an invitation and a challenge to assist with the Western District Convention to be held in Big Spring in March of 1981.

There were 17 members and six guests including Jackie Hendricks, Helen and Kelli Kendrick, Stacey Gray, Sue Stripling and Sonnet Summers, present.

TWEEN 12 and 20 — Forget the guy and start living

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 17 and my boyfriend is 18. My problem is that he is always on the go and there is no way I can contact him. He calls me once every week or two. But when I try to see him, he either doesn't show or makes excuses.

I'd like to give him up, but I love him so. Right now I'm waiting for his phone call and wanting to be with him. What shall I do? — Phyllis, Wenatchee, Wash.

Phyllis: You don't have a boyfriend, and if this guy has a girlfriend, it's not you. Do yourself a favor. Stop waiting and start living.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 16 and my mother's whole life is for me to be popular. She keeps after me to date popular boys and even arranges dates for me with boys of her influential friends.

I really don't like to date. I would rather ride horses and swim or play tennis. When I tell mother that I don't want to date, she says that there is something wrong with me. Is there? — Heather, Windsor, Ontario, Canada

Heather: There is nothing wrong with you. Your mother's need for your popularity results in a boost to her ego. Mothers like yours are making a big mistake. If Mother persists in making dates for you, see that they ride horses, swim or play tennis.

Edna Womack guest speaker

The Cactus Chapter American Business Women's Association met at K Bobs Restaurant at 7 p.m. Aug. 18.

Mrs. Edna Womack was the speaker of the evening. She outlined the work garden clubs are doing city and statewide as well as internationally.

The vocational talk was given by Ester Trantham, a retired nurse.

Secretary Margaret Wise read a letter from the Duane Osborne family thanking the Cinderella Pageant Committee and Cactus Chapter for sponsoring the pageant.

A committee for Torchbearer-Friendship Expansion was named to function this year, and a vote on scholarships was taken.

The upcoming Enrollment Tea will be held at the Dora Roberts Community Center Sept. 14 from 2-4 p.m. Admittance is by invitation only. However, anyone wishing more information should call Lucille Brown 267-8093.

The chapter voted to send Nelda Colclazer as delegate to the National Convention in Phoenix, Ariz. Oct. 27-Nov. 2.

"Well, I believe I'll take the black one."

...said one automobile buyer and humorist in the early days of the American automobile, the days when black was the only choice.

Maybe that's the origin of the expression, "basic black."

There was also a time when family members wore black armbands and covered household mirrors with cloth for several months following bereavement. Today, mourning behavior is not circumscribed by custom, but by "basic beliefs."

The point is, there is a strong spirit of individuality in funeral service today. Directors at Nalley-Pickle always arrange the final tribute to each family's distinct wishes, placing the emphasis on choice, not custom.

Killer well will be drilling into burning offshore well

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The owner of an offshore natural gas well burning in the Gulf of Mexico says a "killer" well will be drilled at an angle to intersect with the wild well and choke it off with mud.

The job of drilling the new well and pumping down the mud to cut off the fuel source could take more than three weeks.

"It's a big torch," said Jim Stewart, an operations manager for Mesa Oil Co. of Houston, Texas, of the well spewing flames 200 feet high Monday about 100 miles south of Lafayette.

Southern High Plains cattle, calves total 430,000 head

AUSTIN - The Southern High Plains cattle and calves numbers totaled 430,000 head on July 1, a 10.25 percent increase over 1979. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

In the July 1 inventory by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, the biggest increase came in feeder cattle at 155,000 head, a 76.74 percent jump over the same period last year. Brown attributed the increase to the summer drought as ranchers brought more cattle into feedlots for relief from dry and barren pastures.

The inventory included 108,000 beef cows and 2,000 milk cows.

STEER RETURNER ... When Big Spring opens the 1980 football season in Snyder next week, a vital player both offensively and defensively will be center-defensive end Scott Barnes. Barnes, who started at offensive guard last year, is one of the leaders of Coach Ralph Harris' first team at BSHS. Barnes is a 175-pound senior. For more on the Steers and the rest of the area high school football teams, check out the Herald on Friday for the annual Football Magazine, put together by Sports Editor Nathan Poss and Photographer Bill Forshsee.

Steer volleyballers look good in scrimmage

LUBBOCK — The Big Spring Steers girls volleyball team warmed up for their opening game in Andrews on Thursday in excellent fashion here the past weekend in a seven-team scrimmage.

The Steer varsity outscored Lubbock Monterey 31-6 in the opening 30-minute scrimmage, with the Junior varsity then playing evenly with Lubbock High's varsity in another half hour scrimmage, as was the time for all of the action during the day.

The Steer girls varsity then slammed Lubbock Estacado 20-6 in another session, before playing a very tough Lubbock Dunbar team almost evenly to cap the day's work.

Big Spring Coach Patty Purser was pleased for the most part with her team's play, but did state that they need more work defensively, which they will concentrate on in practice this week.

Purser praised numerous performers, including Shell Rutledge for her blocking, Dee Earhart, Pam Caudill and Bea Magers for their setting, Sandy Puga for her backcourt play, and Elise Wheat and Magers for their spiking.

The Steer girls varsity, JVs and freshmen play in Andrews on their opener Thursday, with the varsity then going to Snyder this weekend for a tournament.

Sox win Ozona Tourney

OZONA — The Big Spring Red Sox came away with top honors in the Ozona Tournament here Sunday, with the performances of Ernie Garcia, Fernie Paredes and Ismael Solis sparking the championship honors.

The Red Sox opened the tournament by taking a 6-1 win over Sonora, with Solis hurling a one-hitter in the contest. Pete Amaro, Garcia and Paredes each had two hits each.

Meanwhile, the Big Spring Yankees were not as fortunate, blowing a 5-2 lead and eventually losing by a score of 6-5 to Ozona. Chris Uchman was the losing pitcher for the Yankees.

Sonora then won third place, taking a 3-0 win over the Yankees. Ricky Myers was the losing hurler.

The Red Sox then showed no mercy on host Ozona in the championship game, taking an early 4-2 lead, and then using an eight-run fifth inning en route to a 12-2 win.

David Cruz was the winning pitcher and John Paredes slamming a home run and Garcia, with Morelson having two hits each.

Paredes was honored as the Most Valuable Player in the tournament, while Garcia and the Yankees Johnny Mize were named to the All-Tournament team for their outstanding hitting.

The Red Sox now have a record of 22-8, while the first year Yankees end their season with a 5-3 mark.

BSHS Sports Booster Club sets big meeting tonight

The Big Spring Sports Booster Club, which has been set up to assist all of the sports at the local high school, will hold a very important organizational meeting tonight at 7:30 in the BSHS cafeteria.

Co-president Sherry Bordofski reported that announcements on some of the things the Booster Club will be working on in the upcoming month and throughout the year will be revealed tonight. The Booster Club is hoping that all interested parents and fans which would like to help support the BSHS program be in attendance.

Currently, the Booster Club has no funds, but plans are in the making. One is the five dollar membership fee, with another being the selling of caps and jackets with the Steer logo for five and 15 dollars, respectively.

Another fund raiser will be the "Meet the Coaches Night" at the Howard County Fair Barn. A tasty assortment of barbeque will be served at that function.

Cottons Chippers conclude season with tourney title

TAHOKA — The Cotton Chippers of Big Spring concluded a most successful fast-pitch softball season here this weekend, taking top honors in the seven-team Tahoka Tournament.

The Chippers opened the tournament by taking a 5-4 win over Levelland in 12 innings. Johnny Mize was the winning pitcher in that contest.

The Chippers then won their semifinals match over Lubbock by a score of 3-1, with Cotton Mize hurling the victory. The win gave the elder Mize a mound record of 9-0 for the year.

Lubbock came back and won their way through the loser's bracket, but were again foiled by the Big Spring crew, with the final score being 20.

Johnny Mize hurled the win for the Chippers, who thereby finished the season with a sparkling mark of 74-24.

Talent still there for another SWC title

Can Cougars repeat 79 heroics?

HOUSTON (AP) — There were mysterious ingredients that went into the Houston Cougars' baffling 11-1 record and Southwest Conference football championship in 1979.

Like: —Defensive tackle Hosea Taylor leaping high to block an Arkansas field goal attempt in the final seconds to preserve Houston's 13-10 victory.

"Their center stayed down," Taylor recalled. "I jumped up on his back and the ball hit me in the head. They taught us to get the job done the best way we could."

Or: —Flanker Eric Herring's circus catch that resulted in a last second victory over Texas A&M.

"I knew the pass was going to be high and I went up with the idea of slapping it down so I could try to catch it," Herring said. "But it just stuck in my hand."

Incredible plays happened repeatedly during the Cougars' title run last year but as exciting as those moments were, the Cougars would prefer to win without them.

"It's a lot of fun for the fans to watch but the players don't like them too much," center Randy Swisher said. "Last year we didn't seem too fired up, we'd be satisfied with a 17-13 victory. I think maybe this year we can have a few 27-0 scores and work together. I think we'll be more emotional."

Coach Bill Yeoman offers a hearty amen. "We'd prefer more consistency this season," Yeoman said. "I thought we dissipated way too many scoring opportunities last season. We got inside Baylor's 10-yard line three times without scratching."

Quarterback Terry Elston, who came off the bench to engineer most of the comebacks, has moved into the starting assignment this year and he says he's ready for the challenge.

"I don't feel any different right now, except that I've had to work a lot harder," Elston said. "I was okay running last season but the question was could I pass. I worked hardest this summer on passing and I think I'm better."

In addition to Herring, Elston will have speedy split end Lonell Phea as a regular target this season.

"He can scald the earth," Yeoman said of Phea. "He got behind Nebraska a couple of times in the Cotton Bowl and if they're not careful, he'll get behind everybody. He's a little like the roadrunner. I haven't seen him run down yet."

Nor has Yeoman often seen opponents take advantage of mammoth Taylor and his mammoth teammate, defensive tackle Leonard Mitchell.

"Leonard is the better athlete of the two," Yeoman assesses. "He's got the great change of direction. Hosea I think is more intense and they've both got excellent speed."

Mitchell, a double letterman in football and basketball, dropped basketball last season to go through UH's weight program.

"He's so much stronger in his upper body than last year," Yeoman said. "If he can get his upper body strength to match his leg strength, he's going to be an awfully hard youngster to block."

Borg, McEnroe don't look sharp as tourney begins

Top seeds remain questions in US Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody said it would be easy.

John McEnroe began defense of his U.S. Open title today with a sore ankle and bruised confidence, playing some of the worst tennis of his career. Not exactly the ingredients of which championships are made.

McEnroe is seeded second behind five-time Wimbledon champion Bjorn Borg of Sweden, who has never won the Open. Borg faced Guillermo Aubone of Argentina, listed a lowly No. 182 in the latest computer rankings, in his first-round match today, while McEnroe took on Christophe Roger-Vasselin of France.

Under normal circumstances, McEnroe, the feisty left-hander from nearby Douglaston, N.Y., could be expected to cruise past the Frenchman. But these are not normal circumstances.

"I'm not playing the way I should be," said McEnroe, who lost to John Austin 7-6, 6-4 in the opening round of a tournament in Atlanta last week. "Losing in the first round did not help my confidence but I just played badly, probably as badly as ever."

"My ankle didn't bother me at all against Austin. It was fine, but my play sure wasn't."

"I hope I can play a lot better than that. I needed work in Atlanta and didn't get it. I've played too much since Wimbledon," added McEnroe, who lost in the finals there to Borg, who is also the French Open champion this year and in pursuit of tennis' Grand Slam.

"There's no way you can say he's not the No. 1 player, even though he's never won the Open. He's beaten me in big matches and won all the big tournaments... he's only lost one match on the court all year."

That was to Guillermo

Vilas, seeded fourth here, in the National Cup. There, Borg has been invincible, though he might be at less than his best at the National Tennis Center.

A knee injury forced Borg to withdraw from the Canadian Open final against Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia Aug. 17. The physician at that tournament, Dr. John Schaman, said Borg shouldn't have played at all.

"He came to the tournament with an infected blister on his right hand," said Schaman of Borg, who was married last month and had not played competitively since Wimbledon. "It was a problem that could have kept him out for a long time."

Then he hurt the knee and the condition worsened. He had to be helped off the court during practice because of it."

Ironically, it was at the Canadian Open that McEnroe injured his ankle and was forced to withdraw in the second round. But Dr. Irving Glick, the Open's physician, says he has been reassured by McEnroe that the ankle is fine. "He'll be able to play and be effective," Glick predicted.

As for Borg, Glick said the big test would come when he does some hard running, from the starts and stops on the cement surface.

With the health and psyche of the top two players in doubt, third seeded Jimmy Connors, a three-time Open champion; Vilas, the 1977 winner; No. 5 Vitas Gerulaitis, a finalist last year, and No. 11 Roscoe Tanner, appear to have legitimate shots at winning.

Tanner, in the midst of a lump that has seen him without a tournament victory in more than a year, eliminated Borg in the quarterfinals last year.

There is also some doubt about the condition of some of the top women's seeds.

Tracy Austin, who was 16 when she became the youngest Open champ last year, is seeded first but comes off a startling upset by 15-year-old Andrea Jaeger at Mahwah, N.J., last week.

Still Austin may be in better shape than No. 2 seed Martina Navratilova, who is plagued with a back ailment.

Y soccer offers some advantages

The Big Spring YMCA, as the major YMCA's across the United States, has this year decided to go strictly with soccer and dissolve the football program for three very important reasons.

First of all, is the safety factor, being a non-contact sport the possibility of injuries are reduced by 75 percent, and for children in the elementary age group the injury factor in football is one out of three. In soccer, the game is not restricted only to boys, as girls may play and be as effective on the field.

Second is the participation factor. In football, the majority of the ball handlers are those kids whose skills are developed or their bodies have grown above the average, whereas in soccer all the players become at one time or another a "ball handler" in every game. In every "Y" soccer game every player will play at least one half of every game.

Last, is the cost factor. The cost of a uniform for soccer is $15.00 including shoes, a complete football uniform excluding shoes could cost as much as $95.00.

The YMCA urges the parents of all the youth to weigh the difference and consider the welfare of each child before enrolling in any activity.

If you have any questions or need more information contact Jerry Zambrano at 267-8234 or come by the "Y" at 801 Owens. Applications for "Y" youth soccer are available at all area 7-11 stores or at the YMCA.

Taiwan represents Far East again

Little League World Series has familiar team

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — At the Little League World Series "Made in Taiwan" represents top-quality baseball.

In recent years Taiwan has dominated not only the Far East region of Little League but has taken seven of the last nine Series' finals.

This year's Taiwan team is from the Hua-Lian Little League.

Last year, Taiwan's Pu-Tzu Town Little League defeated a team from Campbell, Calif., 2-1. Taiwan again is dominated by strong pitching, with seven hurlers on the 14-boy roster.

Fine coaching and hard work are among the reasons for Taiwan's success.

"My kids are very strong physically, which enables them to do many things well," Taiwan manager Hsiaw Chang-Con said through an interpreter. "I feel our overall game is sound. Our boys are hitting well and the defense is solid."

The Belmont Heights Little League from Tampa, Fla., faced Darlington American Little League's team from Pawtucket, R.I. in the U.S. East-South showdown.

On Wednesday, U.S. Central meets U.S. West at 2 p.m. Grandview National of Des Moines, Iowa, is the Central entry and Kirkland National Little League of Kirkland, Wash., represents the West.

The European entry, Torrejon U.S. Air Force Base of the Madrid Little League in Spain, will play Canada's Trail Little League team from Trail, B.C. at 5 p.m.

The semifinal will be Thursday and the final Saturday. The championship game will be, shown ABC.

"This will be a great series. There are some fine All-Star teams in competition," said Creighton Hale, Little League president. Hale greeted athletes at a banquet Monday night.

The Little League, which dates to 1939 when it was started with three local teams, now has membership of over 14,000 teams and three million players in 26 countries around the world.

Veeck remains in hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago White Sox President Bill Veeck remained hospitalized in fair to good condition today after being admitted to Illinois Masonic Medical Center with respiratory problems.

Veeck, 66, was admitted to the hospital Sunday night and received oxygen in the hospital's intensive-care unit, a hospital spokesman said.

He is receiving inhalation therapy and is likely to remain in the hospital a few days, the spokesman added.

Veeck's hospitalization came only days after the White Sox board of directors approved the sale of the American League baseball club to Edward J. DeBartolo of Youngstown, Ohio, for an estimated $20 million.

Veeck put together a group which purchased the ball club five years ago for about $11 million. The agreement last Friday to sell the club must be approved by the White Sox stockholders and the American League, but Veeck said Friday he felt that was "merely a formality."

"Once it happens, I'll be unemployed," Veeck said last week. "I have not given one moment's thought as to what I'm going to do."

Sambito honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Detroit Tigers infielder Tom Brookens, who went 16-for-29 and hit .522 over the past week, was named the American League's Player of the Week.

Brookens hit safely in all seven Detroit games during the week, stolen bases, and went five-for-five in one contest.

Houston Astros relief ace Joe Sambito took National League honors for winning one game and saving another after appearing in six games last week. He pitched a total of 82-3 innings, allowed no runs on two hits, walked none and struck out seven.

New Little Football League sets registration this week

The third and fourth graders from Big Spring, Forsan, Coahoma and the surrounding areas will have a chance to play tackle football this year, as the Big Spring Little Football League has been organized.

Sign-up times for the newly organized league will be from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 today, Thursday and Friday. Those wishing to sign-up must do so in the foyer of the BSHS gymnasium.

League president Dennis Wells and vice-president Jerry Robinson emphasize that this league for the third and fourth graders is not to be confused with the Pee-Wee League, which is for fifth and sixth graders.

Those wishing to play should bring a parent or guardian, as well as a birth certificate and a five dollar fee.

The league will hopefully have five teams, with 20 players per team. Of course, that is contingent on the number of youngsters signing to play.

Games will be played on the field on the campus of Howard College that is located between Memorial Stadium and the American League Park on Saturday mornings, with four 10-minute quarters being put in effect.

Pee-Wee football sign-up today

The Big Spring Pee-Wee Football League will continue to hold their sign-ups for the upcoming season this Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at the Howard College S.U.B.

The Pee-Wee League consists of fifth and sixth graders from Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan, with those wishing to register must have birth certificates and be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

There is a 10 dollar player fee. Currently, seven teams are set up, with sponsors being Harding Well Service, Security State Bank, First National Bank, Incom, Cosden, BPO Elks, Tomco, Optimist, Downtown Lions and Fraser Industries. Games will start on Saturday, September 13 at 1:00 p.m. at Blankenship Field, and will run through the All-Star game on approximately November 1.

Fergie busted in homeland

TORONTO (AP) — Ferguson Jenkins of the Texas Rangers, will appear Wednesday in provincial court in nearby Brampton, Ontario, charged with three counts of possession under the Narcotics Control Act.

A native of Chatham, Ontario, Jenkins was arrested Monday at Exhibition Stadium as the Rangers prepared for their game with the Toronto Blue Jays.

A police spokesman said a check of the Rangers' luggage when it arrived Sunday night at Toronto International Airport showed that one bag contained four grams of cocaine, two ounces of marijuana and two grams of hashish.

Jenkins arrived in Toronto Sunday morning for the Rangers' three-game series with the Blue Jays and was scheduled to pitch against the Blue Jays today. However, a team spokesman refused to comment on the charges or whether he would play.

Dodgers issue warning to Phils

By the Associated Press

Relief pitcher Tug McGraw's intentional walk to pinch hitter Joe Ferguson turned into a two-run single. His walk to Bill Russell turned into a free-for-all.

Los Angeles snapped a 4-4 tie in the ninth inning when Dusty Baker singled home a run and the Dodgers added three more to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 8-4.

After Baker's run-scoring hit, McGraw tried to intentionally walk Ferguson to load the bases and set up a potential double play.

On the second pitch, Ferguson leaped across the plate and drove the ball into right field, scoring two runs.

That brought shortstop Bill Russell to the plate.

McGraw's first three pitches to Russell were well inside and had Russell leaning over backward. The fourth one hit him.

Russell rushed the mound but never reached McGraw as both benches emptied. The umpires tossed Russell out of the game, which brought Los Angeles Manager Tom Lasorda screaming onto the field. Lasorda also was ejected.

McGraw, however, only drew a warning.

Davey Lopes, the veteran Dodgers' second baseman, was especially incensed.

"There will be a day when McGraw hits (bats) and he'll be dead, and you can put that in the newspapers," said Lopes. "That was bush. He's got his day coming. I don't care if it's eight years from now."

"I thought he had a little more class. I guess he doesn't."

Lasorda charged that McGraw should have been ejected from the game.

"It was as plain as the nose on your face that McGraw was trying to hit him. He should have been thrown out and heavily fined."

In other National League games Monday night, Montreal defeated San Francisco 3-1, Atlanta outlasted Pittsburgh 8-6, Cincinnati blanked Chicago 2-0 and St. Louis stopped Houston 3-1.

Cardinals 3, Astros 1

A run-scoring double by Mike Phillips backed Don Hood's four-hitter as St. Louis snapped Houston's 10-game winning streak.

Phillips' hit scored Terry Kennedy and, one out later, Ken Oberkfell's grounder scored Ken Reitz with the eventual winning run.

Reds 2, Cubs 0

Tom Seaver and Mario Soto combined in a two-hitter as Cincinnati blanked Chicago 2-0, hiding the Cubs their seven straight loss.

Seaver, 5-7, rendered just one hit over 3 1/3 innings in his strongest performance since coming off a disabled list Aug. 4.

American League President Lee MacPhail was unavailable for comment, but Bob Fishel, assistant to the president, said the league had received no official notification of Jenkins' arrest.

AL Roundup

Are Royals getting jealous?

By the Associated Press

George Brett is doing it all for the Kansas City Royals this year — well, almost everything.

Currently sporting a major league-leading .398 average, Kansas City's fair-haired third baseman has been carrying a big stick since the All-Star break.

But he's only one of the reasons that the red-hot Royals are running away with the American League West pennant these days. Another is Clint Hurdle, hitting .302 after a 3-for-5 game helped the Royals beat the Milwaukee Brewers 9-3 Monday night.

"A lot of other guys on this club deserve more publicity than they're getting," said Hurdle, "and if you keep reading the papers, guys are going to get mad because George gets so much publicity."

"But we've got to be realistic," he added. "George is hitting close to .400 and he's the big story. Our attitude is that this is George's time. He deserves the publicity. Our time will come. We'll all get the recognition if we win the playoffs and the World Series."

Another reason for Kansas City's whopping 17 1/2-game lead is Dan Quisenberry, the submarine-delivery specialist who leads the majors in saves with 30. He nailed down Monday night's victory.

Elsewhere in the AL, Seattle beat Baltimore 10-5; Oakland walloped New York 9-1; Cleveland edged Minnesota 4-3; Texas turned back Toronto 5-1.

Mariners 10, Orioles 5

Jim Anderson's two-run single capped a six-run first inning that sent Seattle past Baltimore and halted the Orioles' winning streak at eight games.

Winner Glenn Abbott, 9-9, gave up 10 hits before getting eighth-inning relief help from Shane Rawley, who earned his 12th save.

A's 9, Yankees 1

Mike Norris pitched a seven-hitter and Rickey Henderson collected four hits to lead Oakland over New York before the biggest regular-season crowd in the A's history.

Norris, 18-7, won for the eighth time in his last nine starts before the sellout crowd of 49,300 on half-price night at the Oakland Coliseum. He struck out seven, increasing his American League-leading total to 138, and reduced his earned run average to 2.21, also best in the league.

The Yankees remained a half-game ahead of the Orioles in the AL East.

Rangers 5, Blue Jays 1

Ken Clay and John Henry Johnson combined on a four-hitter and John Grubb had three hits, including a home run, as Texas defeated Toronto.

Clay, 2-0, acquired in the trade that sent Gaylor Perry to the New York Yankees Aug. 13, gave up two hits in six innings before Johnson took over to gain his second save.

Aid to the needy will slow if help refused
 UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie offered to step up U.S. aid to developing countries to combat starvation and help meet rising oil bills. But he said the oil cartel and the communist countries must do their share or the American people will slow down the flow.
 Speaking at the opening Monday of the third special U.N. General Assembly session on the world economy, Muskie offered the Third World financial aid, modern technology and a lowering of tariff barriers among other reforms. But he warned:
 "The American people will insist that their contributions have an effect, that people's lives must actually be changed for the better. We can assure that only if other nations are also prepared to do their part."
 He said members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries have a "unique responsibility" to cooperate since their oil increases in the price of oil have slowed development and been a major cause of inflation.
 "First," he said, "they must adopt stable price and supply policies to avoid further trauma to the international economy." And they should increase their aid programs and recycle more of their oil revenues directly to poorer nations, he said.
 He emphasized that all the aid the developing countries are scheduled to receive next year will pay for only half their oil needs.
 Muskie also called on the Soviet Union and its communist allies to abandon their traditional aloofness toward international efforts to settle world economic problems and to participate in the global negotiations next year that the special session is to prepare for.
 "Empty bellies will not be filled by polemics," he said. "No nation or group of nations has grounds to remain aloof from this struggle."
 Another major Western industrial power, West Germany, responded positively to the idea of global negotiations. Ambassador Ruediger von Wechmar said his government would support formation of a special U.N. body to deal with energy problems.
 But the representative of a leading OPEC member, Kuwait's Ambassador Abdalla Yaccoub Bishara, said his country was opposed to such a panel. The only U.N. energy role, he told a news conference, should be aiding developing countries to find oil or alternative sources of energy within their own borders.
 The developing countries also made clear that they were looking to the Western industrial countries and Japan, not to OPEC and the Soviet Bloc, for help.
