

Man killed in mishap

By DON WOODS

A Sweetwater man, James Phillips, was pronounced dead at the scene where his tractor trailer rig plummeted 15 feet from the IS 20 Stink Creek bridge, 11:45 p.m. Tuesday.

A 17-year-old Midland man, Bradford Hughes, slowed down as he approached the accident scene, but was not injured when he was struck from behind by a Yellow Freight Truck from Abilene.

Phillips was westbound with a load of sheetrock when he plunged into the boggy creekbed. The trailer and its load drove the International cab into and across the ground, said Department of Public Safety Trooper Dean Richardson. The sheetrock was strewn across the ground "like a deck of cards," he said.

Phillips was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Richardson said the bridge had been the site of several bad accidents in recent years.

Two occupants in the 1977 Oldsmobile driven by Hughes were injured. They are his father, Kingdom Rush Hughes, 51, and brother, Whitney, 14, both of Midland. They are under observation at Malone-Hogan Hospital. The elder Hughes has a fractured nose and the younger boy sustained facial lacerations.

Richardson said the two accidents occurred 20 to 30 seconds apart.

Assisting at the wreck were Howard County Sheriff's Deputies Raymond Hall, Robert Puente and several city police units.

DEMOLISHED — Two occupants of a 1977 Oldsmobile were injured, but not seriously, and the driver completely unscathed when the car slowed down while approaching an accident scene and was struck from behind, 11:45 p.m. Tuesday near Stink Creek Bridge on east IS 20. The car, however, was demolished.

CRANE MOBILIZED IN LATE NIGHT WRECK — The cab driven by accident victim, James Phillips, Sweetwater, appears at the bottom of Bears Creek. A Bill Hanson Trucking and Oil Field Equipment crane was called out to lift the cab and trailer out of the creekbed. The powder-like substance is pulverized sheetrock. The sheetrock, which had been hauled in Phillips' trailer, had been driven over and wet down by crews washing diesel fuel from the interstate. The 11:45 p.m. wreck was worked by Department of Public Safety Trooper Dean Richardson.

Reagan offers South apology

By the Associated Press

Ronald Reagan, buffeted by outraged southern governors, says he meant no harm by his wrongful claim that President Carter visited the birthplace of the Ku Klux Klan. But Reagan insists that it is the president, rather than himself, who should apologize "for using this issue."

Indeed, Reagan and other Republican leaders took the offensive Tuesday over his Labor Day gaffe, in which he chided the President, who appeared at a huge picnic in Tusculum, Ala., for "opening his campaign down in the city that gave birth to and is the parent body of the Ku Klux Klan."

Reagan found himself apologizing to the South, the state of Alabama, and to Tusculum. But not to Carter, who said in Missouri that "I resent very deeply what Ronald Reagan said...when he pointed out erroneously that I opened my campaign in the home of the Ku Klux Klan."

Carter declared that "anybody who resorts to slurs and innuendo against a whole region of the country, based on a false statement...is not doing the South or our nation good service."

With that, Reagan was back on the attack, saying Carter had "deliberately distorted the intent of my remarks," even though those remarks were false on their face and he has yet to spell out what his real purpose otherwise was in making specific reference to the Klan.

The flap cast a shadow over debate of the issues, though the president, while in Harry S. Truman's hometown of Independence, Mo., said he and Reagan differ "in almost every basic element of commitment and experience and promise to the American people."

Carter said Reagan is unlike other Republican leaders dating back to Dwight D. Eisenhower, in that they were committed to controlling nuclear weapons, and "not launching a nuclear arms race against the Soviet Union which no one could win."

Reagan, in Detroit, blamed Carter for allowing a huge deluge of foreign cars into the country. "The government has a responsibility it has shirked so far," he said. "That is to convince the Japanese that in one way or another...that deluge of their cars into the United States must be slowed while our industry gets back on its feet."

Independent challenger John B. Anderson also courted the Detroit area, but he, too, took Reagan to task for the Klan remark, saying it was typical of the "flip, off-hand" statements which have gotten Reagan into trouble.

At mid-afternoon, Reagan issued a two-page statement in which he said that the "Klan is not an issue in this campaign, although President Carter is attempting to make it one regardless of the embarrassment it causes the people of Tusculum."

While there, Carter denounced the Klan. But as half the world surely knows by now, Tusculum is not the birthplace nor the "parent body" of the racist organization, though one Klan faction did move its headquarters there only last month. It is the birthplace of Helen Keller, whose memory, according to Alabama Gov. Fob James, Reagan had demeaned with his remark.

Reagan did not acknowledge his error in his lengthy statement. According to his own recount of what he said the night before, he had said "that Mr. Carter was speaking in the locale of the Ku Klux Klan headquarters, which statement had been included in a network newscast the evening before."

That version hardly jibes with his choice of words Monday. In any case, Reagan said "I intended no inference that Mr. Carter was in any way sympathetic to the Klan and in no way did I intend to disparage the city of Tusculum or the state of Alabama."

Miller votes no

City tax hike wins approval

By JAMES WERRELL

City taxes will rise by roughly 22 percent during the next fiscal year.

Big Spring City Council members made the tax rate final during a special meeting, 6:15 p.m. Tuesday. All but Councilman Larry Miller voted in favor of the hike.

Miller, who also voted nay on the first reading of the proposal, explained then that he felt he owed it to his constituency to vote against the raise.

Taxes had been set during the 1979-80 fiscal year at $1.65 per $60 valuation. This computes to 99 cents per $100 valuation.

The new rate for the 1980-81 fiscal year has been raised to $1.20 per $100 valuation.

During the same meeting, the council cleared up a technicality that will complete the transfer of former Webb AFB properties to Howard College for the Southwest College for the Deaf. The council had passed a similar resolution previously this year, but the proposal contained no legal description of the meets and bounds of the property.

The new resolution does, and should clear any hurdles for the property transfer.

During a short report by City Manager Don Davis, the council learned that the weekend Willie Nelson concert at Memorial Stadium required approximately $6,800 worth of work and materials by the city. Of that, $6,300 went to pay policemen who oversaw the event; $250 to street-department employees; and $250 for incidental food and drink for officers.

The city will turn the bill over to the Big Spring Independent School District, which will, in turn, receive payment from local and Snyder Jaycees.

Annual county fair starts Sept. 15

The eighth annual Howard County Fair will formally open Monday, Sept. 15, at 4 p.m., and continue through the following Saturday, Sept. 20.

The traditional grand opening of the fair coincides with the opening of the ticket booths.

The Big Spring High School band will offer a performance on the fairgrounds at 7:30 p.m., Monday. The barrow show is scheduled for 7 p.m., the first day and judging of the women's division and agricultural products are slated during the afternoon.

The barrow show will continue through Tuesday. Tom Castle and his band will play for the fair crowds at 8 p.m. Brailer and capon sales get under way at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Senior citizens can gain admission to the grounds free on Tuesday. Elementary school children will be admitted free both Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at appointed hours.

The agri-business luncheon will take place at 12 noon Wednesday. An old fiddlers' contest is down for 7:30 p.m., that evening.

The judging of jackpot lambs is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m., Thursday while Gale Kilgore and his band play on the grounds starting at 7:30 p.m., that evening.

Friday will be a time of visitation by state hospital, VA and nursing home patients. Judging will begin at 10 a.m., that day in the open poultry show. The pet show will begin at 7:30 p.m. Hoyle Nix and his band play for the fair crowds at 8 o'clock Friday.

On Saturday, the final day of the fair, judging of jackpot steers begins at 8:30 a.m. An open and youth horse show is scheduled for 9 a.m. The goat show, down for 5 p.m., is the climatic event.

Cash prizes, ribbons and merchandise are being offered to winning entries in the exhibits.

A petting zoo will again be in operation and a carnival will be open on the midway throughout the week.

Lloyd Underwood is president of this year's fair. Jimmy Bailey is the president elect. Jerry Foresyth serves as vice-president, Geraldine Posey as secretary-treasurer and J. Arnold Marshall the past president.

Directors active in promotion of the fair include Johnnie Walker, Paul Hopper, Floyd (Smitty) Smith, Jerry Roman, Lester Adams, Neil Fryar, William K. (Bubs) Gressett, Skipper Driver, George Weeks, June Nichols, Delbert Donelson, Bill Read, Repps

Guitar, Laverne Gaskins, Charles Hays and Johnnie Lou Avery.

Associate directors are Truett Vines, Linda Fuchs, Don Richardson, Janet Rogers and Andy Vestal.

Neil Fryar is the general superintendent of the fair, assisted by Skipper Driver.

Repps Guitar is chairman of the show's agriculture division. Lloyd Underwood doubles as the head of the operations division. Jerry Foresyth is in charge of special activities. Zula Rhodes heads the women's division. Ruth Mitchel is secretary-manager while Jimmy Bailey is the building manager.

Admission prices for persons 12 and over is $1. Children six through 11 can gain admission to the grounds for 50 cents. Children under six are admitted free.

Action/reaction: Booth space available

Q. I understand all the booth space for the 1980 Howard County Fair exhibits is gone. Any truth to that?

A. While it is true that all 64 booths in the center of the fair building have been rented, there is space along the south, east and west walls available. The 8 X 10 areas sell for $75, if bought by local firms or those doing business in the Howard County trade area. Otherwise, the cost is $150. Those interested can contact Ruth Mitchel, care of the Tax Appraiser's Office in the basement of the Howard County courthouse. Her phone number is 263-8301.

Calendar: Dance club meets

TODAY
The Spring City Dance Club will meet at 8 p.m. at the Eagle's Lodge. Whitaker's Tumbleweed Band will provide the music. Admission will be $1 for members and $1.50 for guests.

The Masters Swim team will begin practicing at the YMCA at 6 p.m. Practice will be every Wednesday. The team is open to adults over 20 who are interested in exercise and improving their swim strokes. For further information, contact the YMCA or David Nelson at 7-5211.

Late registration at Howard College will continue through September 4 at the Registrar's office on campus from 8 a.m. until noon, 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. until 8:30 p.m.

THURSDAY

Last day for late registration at Howard College in the Registrar's office on campus from 8 a.m. until noon, 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. until 8:30 p.m.

Three day Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Services Council semi-annual rummage sale, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., at 1407 Lancaster.

Cheerleading clinic at YMCA, 4:30 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Former probation clerk given seven year probated sentence

Former 118th District Court Probation Clerk Rogello Monje received a seven-year probated sentence from a Richmond, Tex., jury for aggravated assault in the gunshot slaying of Joe Garcia Oct. 21.

District Judge Jim Gregg changed the venue of the case April 18 because of "extensive news coverage and letters to the editor" and an "air of hostility" between the families of the defendant and the deceased.

Garcia died 21 days after being shot. He died Nov. 13, 1978.

The case was prosecuted by Midland District Attorney Vern Martin because 118th District Court Attorney Rick Hamby was personally acquainted with Monje.

Monje was indicted here Dec. 15, 1978 for aggravated assault and voluntary manslaughter in the case. Monje was defended by local attorney Robert Moore.

Tops on TV: Something new

Finally it looks as though TV viewers might get some relief. For one night, anyway. Something new, "Riding For The Pony Express," will be aired at 7 o'clock on CBS. It's a story of two teenage pony express riders who get caught in the middle of a small-town revolution caused by a water shortage. At 8 o'clock, you can watch "They Might Be Giants" on Cable Channel 11. This offbeat movie stars George C. Scott and Joanne Woodward. Finally, at 9:30 p.m., PBS will present "Sitcom." It features Robin Williams and Garry Marshall spoofing their own network shows.

Inside: Estes estate sold

THE MANSION AND guest house where Billie Sol Estes lived in luxury during the 1960s was sold at auction for $61,000. But some people in Pecos say the estate, including pool and tennis courts on an acre and a half of land, was no bargain even at that price. See page 4-B.

TERRY FOX HAD to cut short his run across Canada when doctors found the cancer that had claimed his leg had spread to his lungs. But the 22-year-old, fighting back tears, says, "I'm not going to give up my fight." See page 7-A.

Outside: Rain?

Partly cloudy through Thursday with a slight chance of afternoon and evening rain today and Thursday. High today in the low 90s, low tonight in the mid 60s. High Thursday in the mid 90s. Winds will be from the south and south-east at 15 to 20 mph today, and Thursday, 5 to 10 mph tonight. Chance of rain is 20 percent through Thursday.

Bigger-than-usual pay hikes for state troopers endorsed

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Bigger-than-usual salary increases for state troopers and highway department employees have won endorsement of a House subcommittee.

Under the proposal, Department of Public Safety employees would get a 17 percent wage hike for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1.

Big Spring story

Ed Syers writing about supernatural

Ed Syers, of Ingram, Tex., a well-known newspaper columnist and author, has been visiting in Big Spring.

Syers came here to research for a book he is writing about the supernatural. Syers says he has traveled thousands of miles to accumulate information on happenings that can't always be rationally explained.

He has thoroughly researched 40 of the 52 stories of the occult he plans to include in the book, which likely will appear in print later this year. Syers says he approaches each story with extreme skepticism and will not use it if the facts can not be substantiated.

Syers was attracted to Big Spring by the story of a one-time resident who says he was visited several times by an apparition from the 1700s and who "manifested herself" at least once.

Syers says he remembers Big Spring for its unusual typography, which is unlike any other community in West Texas. He says that regardless of any direction from which one approaches the city, one has to descend into it. Big Spring, of course, is located in a basin below a range of hills.

employees would receive a 13.6 percent jump the first year and 10.2 the second.

The subcommittee, which will make the recommendations to the House Transportation Committee on Sept. 22, voted unanimously Friday for the trooper wage jump.

Chairman Charles Fennell of Holliday, Mary Jane Bode of Austin and Bill Keese of Somerville voted for the highway department request. Ed Emmett of Kingswood, the only Republican subcommittee member present, opposed the hike, calling it excessive.

"Our Department of Public Safety is having a very difficult time recruiting and holding qualified people," Fennell said of the large DPS request. "Our laws are not very good unless they are enforced."

The starting salary for a beginning patrolman after completion of probation is $16,152 a year. Department officials say many big-city police departments and private security companies are hiring away their best troopers and prospects.

The subcommittee approved a rider to the Department of Public Safety budget that recommends use of fuel-efficient vehicles whenever possible.

Department officials told the subcommittee they expect gasoline prices to be about $1.75 a gallon for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1, 1981, and $2 the following year.

Keese convinced the subcommittee to include a rider in the highway department's budget urging special consideration for energy-producing areas of the state.

Keese's home county of Burtleson in Southeast Texas has active oil, gas and lignite operations. He said the heavy equipment used in energy industries often damages roads.

If adopted by the legislature next year, the rider would express legislative intent that the highway department give special attention to such areas.

For the record

Energy Conservation Services of Big Spring rather than J&K Industries won a construction contract for the Nutrition Center for the Elderly in the Big Spring Industrial Park last week. J&K had erroneously been identified as the successful bidder in an earlier story appearing in the Herald.

Brenda Tarter appointed Colorado City manager

COLORADO CITY — Brenda Tarter has been appointed city manager by the city council here.

Mrs. Tarter, 35, has served as tax assessor-collector and city secretary here since June 1, 1975.

The motion to appoint her to the city manager's position passed unanimously.

In all, 21 persons applied for the post. Brenda has been serving as acting city manager since the Aug. 4 resignation of Ray Mason.

Mason quit to become assistant administrator of Root Memorial Hospital here.

The motion to name Mrs. Tarter was made by Sam Parham and seconded by Nina Croust.

Mrs. Tarter's starting salary will be $20,000 annually plus $150 in monthly car allowance. She has been receiving $14,000 annually and a car allowance.

Mason's pay was $22,620 a year and a $150 a month car allowance.

When James Campbell quit the city manager's job in late 1978, Mrs. Tarter served as acting city manager for 16 months.

Born in Snyder, Mrs. Tarter graduated from Colorado City High School in 1962. She is 35 years of age. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lewis of Loraine.

She and her husband, Joe, have two daughters, ages 15 and 11. Her husband is a mechanic for Allied Chemical's Plant in Silver.

ARID AREA — Residents in the Wasson addition and others living in the southwestern portions of the city had to get along without water for several hours Tuesday as city workers worked to stop a major leak in a pipe along Thorp Road. The situation here has deteriorated to the point that water is perpetually running on several thoroughfares, among them Birdwell Lane. As a result, chugholes are showing up on streets in numberless areas.

Challenges may delay 1981 remap in Texas

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The 1981 Legislature may not get a chance to perform the important and politically vital task of redistricting if the U.S. Census Bureau, as feared, does not get population data to Austin by next April 1.

That deadline will be impossible to meet, Census Director Vincent Barabba warned this week, if the many challenges of preliminary figures result force the bureau to make wide-scale changes.

Dr. Vic Arnold of Texas Gov. Bill Clements' office said recently 65 percent of Texas cities, and 55 percent of the counties responding to a questionnaire have indicated they want a review and readjustment.

At stake are millions of dollars in general revenue sharing funds and other federal largess, such as Community Development Block Grants.

Also, as a growing Sun Belt state, Texas could add two or three congressional seats to its present 24. State house and senate seats are fixed at 150 and 31, respectively, but how the lines are drawn to accommodate those numbers makes for a decennial political battle.

The Texas Constitution

gives the legislature first try. If it fails, or if the governor vetoes its product, the job goes to five top state officials on the Legislative Redistricting Board. But the courts and the U.S. Justice Department may have the last word.

The 1981 legislative session begins Jan. 13 and adjourns June 1. If the necessary census data — population and ethnic group breakdowns to the level of neighborhood blocks — is received on time, April 1, the lawmakers will have two months to work.

Neither, however, held out much hope that the legislature could do the job in less than two months. But by failing, it would forfeit its chance to the redistricting board.

Already, the legislature has contracted for computers to speed redistricting. But Ms. Ward said little preliminary work is possible without census data.

And the numbers of people aren't the only information required. This time, data on minority population, broken down to the neighborhood block level, will be essential.

Texas' redistricting plan, like that of 21 other states with histories of racial discrimination, is subject to the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Either the U.S. Justice Department or a Washington, D.C., district court must review and approve any plan to insure that lines are not drawn in such a way that minority groups' electoral clout is diminished.

With that, Ms. Ward said, "You can't have racial gerrymandering, so what you're left with is political gerrymandering. And the courts have said they're not going to touch that."

The ones with much to gain from political line games are Texas Republicans. But for them, the games would be lost if redistricting winds up in Legislative Redistricting Board.

The five members are all Democrats — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Billy Clayton, Attorney General Mark White, Comptroller Bob Bullock and Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong.

So, Ms. Ward said, "It's obviously to Clements' interest and the Republicans' best interest to have the Legislature do the redistricting."

Mrs. Gary Pickle gave birth to a girl in an Austin hospital this morning. The Gary Pickles were already the parents of a son.

Deaths

M. McLaughlin

Mickey Ty McLaughlin, 19 months old, died at 11:30 p.m. Monday in Hendrix Memorial Hospital in Abilene following a one-vehicle accident between Snyder and Abilene.

Services will be at 2 p.m., today in Sheppard Chapel of Memories in Crane. Officiating will be the Rev. Jim Hester of Crane. Burial will take place in Crane Garden of Memories.

The child was born Jan. 3, 1979, in Rankin. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McLaughlin of Snyder, and a brother, Tim McLaughlin, of the home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F.F. Turner, Crane; and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McLaughlin of Crane.

Services there will be under the direction of Larry D. Sheppard Funeral Home.

Floyd Stovall

KNOX CITY — Floyd Marcellous Stovall, 64, of Big Spring, a retired state employee, died at 11 p.m. Monday in the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Big Spring following a long illness.

Graveside services were held at 10 a.m. today in Knox City Cemetery, directed by Smith Funeral Home.

Born Oct. 19, 1915, in Knox City, he was the son of the late Rev. Claud Stovall. He retired from the Game and Fish Commission of Texas as a game warden in 1965. He was a member of the First Baptist Church in Abilene. He was a veteran of World War II. He had lived in

Gail rain hits three inches

GAIL — Residents in Gail and environs discovered it can rain in West Texas and, on occasions, very hard.

Moisture measuring up to three inches fell in Gail Monday night. The showers began to taper off about eight miles east of Gail.

Burglars, thieves and vandals were at work again in the city.

Early this morning, intruders broke through a window at Fina's Cafe, 200 N. Gregg, and stole $150 from a jukebox and three cases of beer. Loss was estimated at $174.

Vandals struck at a warehouse belonging to the Texas Electric Service Company at Northeast Second and Goliad, Sunday morning. Company officials counted 17 broken windows and the broken windshield of a truck inside the building that had been smashed by one of the flying rocks. Cost of the damage has not been estimated.

Burglars stole a color television set from an apartment satisfactory condition at Cowper Hospital.

A number of tools were stolen from a tool box in the back of a pickup belonging to Marcus Phillips, 2317 Alledale, over the weekend. Cost of the tools has not been estimated.

Three mishaps were reported Tuesday.

Teachers in New York to ignore order

By the Associated Press

As teachers walked off their jobs in six other states, striking teachers in Rochester, N.Y., pledged to ignore an injunction prohibiting their picketing and remain on picket lines as schools reopened for 34,600 students today.

In Philadelphia, contract talks resumed between striking teachers and the school board in an effort to settle a contract in time for the start of school Friday for 220,000 students.

Teachers also were striking in Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Arizona and Washington.

Rochester, N.Y., school officials said they would staff classrooms today with substitute teachers and supervisors as children ended their summer holidays and returned to schools.

Justice David C. Boehm of the state Supreme Court on Tuesday issued an injunction prohibiting the picketing by 2,300 teachers. But Elmer Henretta, president of the teachers' union, said, "We have no intention of pulling back until we have a settlement."

The dispute focuses on wages.

In Philadelphia, Common Pleas Judge David Savitt barred teachers from blocking entrances to the school administration building and limited pickets to six to a school after 500 teachers locked arms and ringed the administration building Tuesday.

Some 770 other Pennsylvania teachers walked out in four school systems, and 1,200 others in three districts were scheduled to strike later this week.

In Michigan, there were strikes by 3,900 teachers in 19 districts, giving students an extended summer break.

Teacher union officials reported negotiations were at an impasse in nine other school districts where 1,150 teachers and 23,000 students were scheduled to start classes today.

In Sierra Vista, Ariz., school officials planned to keep all six schools open today for 5,700 students despite a planned strike by about 300 teachers.

Illinois teachers were on strike in 11 school districts today, but students returned to class following contract settlements in two districts.

In Washington state, teacher strikes in four districts have delayed class for 30,000 students.

In Massachusetts, schools in 43 districts reopened Tuesday without teacher contracts, and teachers in 76 Indiana school corporations were working without contracts.

At the University of Dubuque Seminary, a theologians' strike continued, but negotiations resumed and picket lines were cancelled. Classes for 140 students are to begin Thursday.

A strike by Ohio Association of Public School Employees, which represents about 1,300 of 2,600 bus drivers, food service personnel, maintenance and clerical personnel, may interfere with the start of class Thursday at 139 Columbus schools.

Also in Ohio, the 160-member Hubbard Education Association voted Tuesday to strike the 3,100-student system, and strikes continued in the Miamisburg school district and the Northeastern Local district.

Accused 'incompetent'

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — A 36-year-old woman charged in the slaying of a former Evansville mayor was sent to a state mental hospital after a judge found her incompetent to stand trial.

The ruling by Floyd Circuit Judge David Crumbo came Tuesday after a hearing that included testimony from two state psychiatrists who interviewed the woman, Julie Van Orden.

Mrs. Van Orden was arrested about an hour after Russell G. Lloyd, 47, a two-term mayor, was gunned down March 19. He died two days later. Police charged Mrs. Van Orden shot Lloyd after telling him she wanted him to get a city building inspector to stop harassing her.

Citizen's plan on ballot

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A citizens proposal to reduce the size of the Illinois House has been ordered onto the November ballot.

The Illinois Supreme Court on Tuesday reversed a decision by the state Elections Board, which had said that the group sponsoring the proposal had not collected enough petition signatures to get the measure on the ballot.

The proposal, sponsored by the Coalition for Political Honesty, would eliminate 59 seats from the 177-member House. The group argues that a smaller House would be more effective and less expensive.

Gang trial to begin soon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jury selection is scheduled to start Monday for 12 members and associates of the Hells Angels motorcycle gang who are being tried on charges of racketeering and conspiracy.

Some of the 12 already have stood trial once on the charges. That portion of the nine-month trial ended in a hung jury.

After the trial, the government obtained a new indictment, which dropped the motorcycle club as a defendant, naming only individuals. That change apparently was because the first jury became hung on the question of whether the club directed and benefited from the activities of those charged.

Chief of staff dies

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The 43-year-old chief of staff of the 82nd Airborne Division collapsed and died while making a speech after having run two miles with his troops, officials say.

Col. Arthur C. Stang III collapsed Tuesday while addressing a crowd attending the installation of a new commander of the division's finance company. He had run from the division area to the field with members of the company. The cause of death was not determined immediately.

Stang became chief of staff Aug. 1 after having served two years as commander of the 3rd Brigade of the 82nd Airborne Division.

Cubans lose requests

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Seven Cuban refugees being held at a federal prison at Leavenworth have lost a bid for release.

U.S. District Judge Richard D. Rogers refused the request on Tuesday, but ordered that immigration hearings for each of the refugees be concluded within two months.

The seven all had been convicted of burglary and were serving prison sentences in Cuba when they emigrated to the United States in June as part of the Freedom Flotilla. They were required to appear before an administrative judge of the Immigration and Naturalization Service to determine whether they should be allowed to stay in this country.

Teachers in New York to ignore order

By the Associated Press

As teachers walked off their jobs in six other states, striking teachers in Rochester, N.Y., pledged to ignore an injunction prohibiting their picketing and remain on picket lines as schools reopened for 34,600 students today.

In Philadelphia, contract talks resumed between striking teachers and the school board in an effort to settle a contract in time for the start of school Friday for 220,000 students.

Teachers also were striking in Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Arizona and Washington.

Rochester, N.Y., school officials said they would staff classrooms today with Congress in position to ease problem

It is reassuring to note that Gaylor Nelson, a Democratic senator from Wisconsin, has introduced legislation in the Congress which would bring some relief to small and family-owned businesses from federal and gift taxes.

If the gains Nelson has set out to achieve are modest, they are at least a step in the right direction. The laws, as they are now written, have an unfair impact on many small businesses.

FEDERAL ESTATE TAXES pose a major obstacle to continued family ownership of businesses. On many occasions, survivors have no choice but to sell their interests simply to pay the taxes imposed by the death of the owner. Some groups have lobbied in Washington in the past to obtain much-needed relief but haven't had enough political clout to get members of congress to listen. Recently, though, the White House Conference on Small Business made estate tax relief one of its five top priorities.

Members of the congress began to sit up and take notice. A number of bills attacking the problem were introduced. By far, the one with the best chance of getting through Congress was the one shepherded by Nelson. The provisions of Nelson's bill, while not answering all the complaints family-owned businesses have with estate taxes, lead the way through reform. Among other things, the bill would raise the amount of assets exempted from estate taxes from $175,000 to $500,000, eliminate all estate taxes when a business is transferred to a spouse and double the annual gift tax exclusion from $3,000 to $6,000.

NELSON'S BILL stands a good chance of being acted upon by the Senate due to the nature of its approach to tax reform. It poses no radical solutions. It is considered a cautious, thoughtful initiative that can allow for analyzing results before adding to the reforms. More ambitious reforms have drawn substantial opposition from the Treasury Department and senators who oppose the concept of ending estate taxes.

The Senate's Finance Department was to take a long look at the proposed legislation recently. Those advocating reform should make their feelings known to members of the Finance Committee through letters, and if possible, personal contact.

Wanted: GOP Strauss

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Midwest Republican governors who persuaded Ronald Reagan to key his presidential campaign to what Reagan calls the "Carter depression" are pressing Reagan for something else: Find a "Republican Bob Strauss."

That word was quietly passed to Reagan by Ohio Gov. James Rhodes during Reagan's campaign trip to Columbus last week. Rhodes and his fellow governors in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin are more worried than they admit about the lack of strong, strategic control of the Reagan campaign.

THEY ALSO fear Reagan's staff still does not understand how much political use President Carter will make of his incumbency — the power of the presidency — to win re-election. What is needed at the top of Reagan's large and expanding staff, the governors say, is a Strauss-type kingpin able to anticipate and counter the wily Strauss. One name mentioned: Stuart Spencer. Spencer is now political "consultant" in Reagan's Arlington, Va., headquarters.

REAGAN'S AWARENESS Doubts about Ronald Reagan's political awareness were raised at the huge political-evangelistic revival in Dallas when he all but ignored the surprise presence of an important visitor: Gov. Fob James of Alabama, a Democrat who has yet to endorse President Carter's candidacy.

James, a conservative with close ties to the evangelical movement, is believed to be leaning toward Carter. But his wife, Bobbie, is considered a Reagan sympathizer. Whether or not the governor backs Carter or stays neutral could be important in a battleground Deep South state.

Considering that background, Reagan's behavior at Dallas was surprising. At a reception, Reagan was introduced to Gov. James for the first time. As he did with everybody else, Reagan gave him an eye-to-eye gaze and a firm handshake and quickly moved on to the next person in line without even noting his unexpected presence. James might well have been the president of the local Elks Club for all the attention Reagan gave him.

PAT SPEAKS FOR POLAND While the Carter administration has kept tight-lipped about the rebellious strikes in Poland, one prominent Democrat — Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York — did not hesitate to urge American workers to make common cause with their Polish brethren.

MOYNIHAN MADE his stand addressing the New York state AFL-CIO at Kiamasha Lake, N.Y. He was astounded that two earlier speakers — Vice President Walter F. Mondale and Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York — said not a word about the dramatic developments in Poland. In fact, not one word about Poland was uttered.

When his turn came to speak Moynihan noted the silence and then, dramatically, asked what was wrong with the workers of New York affirming support for the beleaguered workers of Gdansk. The response was a roar that marked the convention's emotional high point.

ANDERSON'S DECLINE A precipitous decline by Rep. John Anderson is a reputable private poll done for a national candidate the past 10 days strongly suggests that he will fail to meet the 15 percent test established by the League of Women Voters for Anderson's participation in the presidential debates.

The secret nationwide poll shows Anderson dropping to well below the 15 percent tipping point for the first time since he announced his independent presidential candidacy last spring.

Anemia can be related to alcohol

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My husband has been told he has sideroblastic anemia. Examinations have been given puzzle me. His doctor thinks his heavy drinking caused it. My husband is 68. Now they plan to take tests to find out for sure if his alcohol is to blame. He has been ordered to quit drinking for the tests. He is feeling better every day, yet, knowing him, I suppose he is looking forward to the end of the month, when he will be reexamined. I expect he will go back to drinking, and if he does there will be more trouble. Maybe if you explain what it is all about it will change his ideas. — Mrs. W.B.L.

I'll try. Anemia means lack of blood, but I'm afraid that is a gross oversimplification. Let's begin with iron. As you know, red blood cells contain iron, which is packed in the hemoglobin of those cells. If there is a shortage of iron, too few healthy red blood cells are produced. That's iron deficiency anemia.

This is not your husband's problem. He has plenty of iron stored in his body. His problem is that the iron cannot get into the blood cells to become a part of the hemoglobin. That's sideroblastic anemia.

"Sidero" is a Greek term referring to iron, and "blastic" is another Greek term that refers to faulty development of those cells. The doctor's task is to find out where the bottleneck is in your husband's iron-supply system. In this instance he is suggesting excess alcohol intake, a common cause of sideroblastic anemia.

Another form of this kind of anemia is hereditary, but the fact that your husband is feeling better during this period of abstinence certainly seems to be pointing the finger at the alcohol. He would be foolish to start his drinking again. There are other causes of sideroblastic anemia related to a lack of a B vitamin (pyridoxine), which can also be related to alcoholism, since the alcoholic does tend to shortchange himself nutritionally.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a faithful reader. You disclosed Meniere's disease recently, but my specific questions were unanswered. I have this problem. I am taking medicine for it, but am taking medicine for it, but have not had any relief from the nausea and dizziness. I am taking an effective treatment? The attacks are more frequent now than they were a year ago. Will I ever get the hearing back in my ears? — Mrs. E.S.

The three features of Meniere's disease — intermittent hearing loss, ear ringing and violent dizzy spells — are the result of too much of the normal fluid that bathes the inner ear. Balance is controlled in the inner ear, which explains the dizzy spells, which in turn explains the nausea. It is the same kind you would get on a tossing boat.

The ordinary medicine for Meniere's should alleviate the dizziness and hence control the nausea. In your case this does not seem to be working. You may need another medication for the nausea specifically. One of these is prochlorperazine. If you smoke or drink lots of coffee you are probably aggravating the symptoms.

Finally, if none of these steps or your medicine helps, it is time to consider surgery on the inner ear (or the nerve serving it) to end the symptoms. Hopefully, this answer will be of help to other readers who wrote in response to the recent Meniere's item.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please give your opinion of the commercial blood pressure machines which I have noticed recently in shopping malls and other locations. — T.J.F.

Within their limitations, they're fine, although a public place is not an ideal setting in which to measure blood pressure. I suspect one would get a somewhat higher reading because of the tenseness of the situation. Even the machines in doctor's offices have to be continually serviced for accuracy, and it's questionable that the public units get this on a regular basis.

They may serve a purpose, though.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What does the term "born-again Christian" mean? — Mrs. M.C.S.

DEAR MRS. M.C.S.: The expression "born again" is found in the Bible in two places — John 3 and I Peter 1. In the third chapter of John, Jesus was approached by a man named Nicodemus who was a very religious man. Yet Jesus told him that all his theological knowledge and all his good works were not enough to save him. Instead, Nicodemus needed to be born again. He did not understand this, and Jesus explained to him that he was talking about spiritual rebirth. That is, Nicodemus needed to be touched by God and have his heart changed.

How does that happen to us? How can you be "born again," or experience a whole new beginning spiritually? In some ways, it is a mystery because only God can change our hearts — we cannot change them ourselves. And yet Jesus also tells us that when we come to him in faith and trust him for our salvation, then we become children of God. We have been born again spiritually.

You can come to Christ and experience his forgiveness and salvation. What must we do? First, you must be willing to acknowledge that you are a sinner, and you need Christ's forgiveness. Nicodemus was a very good man — far better than most of us — but he was also a sinner whose goodness could never make him acceptable to God. He needed Jesus Christ, and so do you.

Then you must believe that Jesus Christ has paid the penalty for your sins. He was perfect — the sinless Son of God — and yet he loves you and died on the cross to take upon himself the punishment for your sins. You deserved to die as punishment for your sins, and yet Christ died in your place.

Finally, commit yourself to Christ. Invite him into your life and trust him as your Lord and Savior. If you will do that, Christ will come into your life and you will know what it means to be born again.

Fear and pity

Around the rim

I've never met the woman, but the thought of her gives me cold chills.

The closest I've ever come in contact with her is through a television screen. But believe me, I hope I never get any closer to Madeline Murray O'Hair.

As I watched and listened to her on "Speak Up America" several weeks ago, part of me pitied her and another part of me feared her.

I am amazed at how this professed atheist radiates with insensitivity, indifference and raw sarcasm.

TO REFRESH your memory, Ms. O'Hair was the backbone behind the Supreme Court's ruling in the early 60's declaring prayer in public schools unconstitutional.

One of her sons also played a major role in the eventual passing of the declaration. However, as recently as this year, Ms. O'Hair's son claims he has been converted and professes to believe wholeheartedly in the one and only true living God.

He has written a public letter apologizing for his part in the banning of prayer in public schools and says he is aware of the decline in the morals of youth it has caused.

Because of her son's conversion,

Ms. O'Hair readily admitted on "Speak Up America" that she has disowned him.

In one breath, this cold atheist downgraded Christians for being vengeful, hateful, biased and confused, while her next remark plainly defined each of these traits in her own personality and character as she rebuked her own flesh and blood for his change in beliefs.

"WE (ATHEISTS) aren't like you Christians. We don't turn the other cheek," she told a "Speak Up America" host when he asked her if she would ever consider taking her son back.

Ms. O'Hair is well-versed in her philosophy and sharp, quick and cold with her answers. And from what I've seen of her, she seldom gives those she's debating an opportunity to voice their views and beliefs. She wins her game with constant interruptions.

I for one believe that Ms. O'Hair's beliefs, opinions and outwardness concerning her theology should not be taken lightly. Her atheist headquarters is set up in Austin. She's there, she's real and she's influencing many lives.

Like I said before, the woman gives me cold chills.

Jack Anderson,

Abscam continued

WASHINGTON — When Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., goes on trial for his Abscam involvement later this month, you'll be reading excerpts from FBI videotapes which, the government claims, will prove that the congressman took a bribe. Murphy insists that the same videotapes will exonerate him of any wrongdoing.

Yesterday I provided a preview of some damaging evidence — a videotape showing Murphy instructing an associate, Howard Criden, to accept a briefcase stuffed with $50,000 in $100 bills.

MURPHY HAS said he thought the briefcase contained immigration application forms for a (sheik) Arab sheik whose representative asked for his help. The sheik's name were actually FBI agents and a convicted con artist, Mel Weinberg, who cooked up the Abscam "sting" operation.

My associate Gary Cohn has reviewed the voluminous videotapes, which were ordered sealed by a federal judge. In today's episode, a major element of the government's case is laid bare: Criden the unwitting middleman and Laurence Buser, a longtime, trusted associate of Murphy, discuss with Weinberg and FBI agent Anthony Amoroso — the "sheik's" men — a lucrative business deal that is to be financed by the Arab and assured of success by Murphy's influence in Congress.

Unfortunately for the government prosecutors, Murphy himself was not present at the meeting, held in a luxurious Washington townhouse. The government must prove that the deal was cooked up with Murphy's knowledge and approval, and that may not be easy.

BUSER OUTLINED the deal while the hidden cameras recorded it all. The government of Puerto Rico, he explained, was trying to unload its shipping operation, the Puerto Rican Maritime Authority, to private buyers. Murphy, with his clout as chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, would arrange favorable purchase terms for the sheik — and would be a secret partner in the new company.

If necessary, Buser promised, Murphy would see that legislation was enacted to protect the company and ensure a fat return for everyone.

Weinberg interrupted the lengthy presentation and got down to the nitty-gritty: "Will he be a partner in this with us?"

Buser: "Well, he'll be a silent partner, I would imagine."

Criden chimed in, explaining that as head of the Merchant Marine Committee, Murphy "can't be anything else" but a silent partner.

Weinberg: "The main thing is, do you think that Murphy can make the deal?"

Buser: "Murphy can start the deal, I'll finish the deal."

Big Spring Herald

Dear Editor: Last evening on TV I saw a picture which showed an abandoned air field, which was on the outskirts of the Texas town of Big Spring! During WW2 I had trained, graduated as an officer, lived at the hotel in town and later at a private home on Gregg street!

I went on to combat in the ETO with a B24 outfit. After completing 50 missions we were returned to the states and disbanded.

My wife and I had married in Texas shortly before arriving in Big Spring so it was our first home. The incident renewed how many times we both have wondered about the area and how it had changed. The many people who we came into knowing, for a short spell who extended us warmth and friendship.

One knows you can't go back and with age and disabilities, a returning visit seems more distant each year. With this thought in mind I was wondering if someone could or would bring us up to date on Big Spring today.

In closing may I again say that Dorothy and I have never forgotten Big Spring or its people. Although many years have passed, may we again say thank you and wish each of you, good health, prosperity and happiness!

Smoker Puzzle Solved By Merit Taste.

Research establishes low tar MERIT as proven taste alternative to high tar smoking.

There is a difference between other low tar cigarettes and MERIT — a proven difference.

Tests with thousands of smokers provide solid evidence that MERIT delivers the flavor of high tar brands, and continues to satisfy long term.

Smoker Quest Ends

Blind Taste Tests: In tests where brand identity was concealed, a significant majority of smokers rated the taste of low tar MERIT as good as — or better than — leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Smoker Preference: Among the 95% of smokers stating a preference, the MERIT low tar/good taste combination was favored 3 to 1 over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed!

Long-Term Satisfaction: In the latest survey of former high tar smokers who have switched to MERIT, 9 out of 10 reported they continue to enjoy smoking, are glad they switched, and reported MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried!

MERIT is the proven alternative to high tar smoking. And you can taste it.

South African troupe can apply for visa extentions

HOUSTON (AP) — Members of a South African troupe embroiled in a heated contract dispute after refusing to perform its final show may apply today for visa changes or extensions, the Immigration and Naturalization Service said.

INS officials had said Tuesday the 23 cast members faced deportation because their visas expired Aug. 30. "They may ask if they can stay here as students or continue dancing in this country under extended visas," said Robert Schultz, deputy director of the INS office in Houston. "We won't pick them up for deportation in the meantime. We know where they are."

The company's troubles began Sunday night after cast members refused to go on stage for the final performance of a six-week run at Houston's Tower Theater. Members claimed the production company had failed to provide airline tickets back to Johannesburg.

Producer Don Hughes of La Jolla, Calif., claimed the all-black cast had renegotiated its contract a month ago and had opted for a substantial pay increase rather than airfare to South Africa.

The company of "Ipi-Tombi," a musical depicting the disillusionment of natives leaving their homes for the city, performed the matinee Sunday but refused to go on stage that evening, said Janet Spencer, general manager of the theater.

The performance was canceled and about $12,000 in refunds made, Ms. Spencer said.

Hughes charged the troupe resorted to "blackmail" by refusing to perform unless they had the plane tickets in hand.

"What other words could you use to describe what they did? This is not the first time either," Hughes said. "They should be able to buy their tickets. We doubled their salary."

Originally, the cast signed a contract that included a $240 a week salary for 10 shows, room, board and airfare home.

However, some cast members said they were told by friends here they were being underpaid.

In a contract renegotiated by an attorney hired by the cast, each member was to receive $500 a week for eight shows. Hughes said the new contract also allowed $60 a week for food and $60 for lodging, but did not include airfare.

The British company that initially produced the show had to give the South African government about $500 per cast member before they were allowed to leave the country for performances in Monte Carlo, Reno, Las Vegas and Houston, Hughes said.

If anyone wanted to return, it would be their responsibility to go to the South African consulate office and they would be given a ticket to Johannesburg, he said.

Common Cause sets sights on U.S. democracy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Common Cause, born at the dawn of an era filled with political scandal, turns 10 this weekend. But to the self-styled citizens' lobby, which has wrought sweeping changes in the American political system, the last decade has nothing on the future.

To Common Cause, at stake is no less than the survival of democratic government.

"We don't have a government right now that can function as a representative institution," says Fred Wertheimer, senior vice president of the 225,000-member association, which celebrates its 10th anniversary this weekend with parties, picnics and a serious study of the problems of today and tomorrow.

The founder of Common Cause, John Gardner, agrees with Wertheimer.

"Really, the paralysis over the energy question and inflation has said something very important to us in the last two or three years," Gardner, now semi-retired, said in an anniversary interview.

When Gardner launched his crusade in the fall of 1970, the country was rocked with protests and great scandals were near. Now sweeping election reform laws are on the books; government meetings have been opened; office holders and hopefuls must make financial disclosures and there are limits on political contributions.

All came about at least partially as a result of pressure from Common Cause and its members.

But the events of the last decade have only exposed the deeper problems and given Common Cause a new character and mission, Gardner said.

"We have evolved from a group that was primarily concerned with some very serious problems of corruption and failures of accountability to a group that is concerned with the governability of this country," he said, adding:

"I can't remember a time when more people were wondering whether the system can be made to work. They look at the way it's working and they say something's wrong, that it has to be repaired."

"We've got serious problems in making our representative institutions function properly, and that's what we're addressing ourselves to today."

Adair doing okay after rig mishap

CLEAR LAKE, Texas (AP) — Famous oil well firefighter Paul "Red" Adair remains in satisfactory condition at Clear Lake Hospital, recovering from injuries suffered when he was thrown into a pool of hot water while working on a blowout, doctors say.

Adair said he was aboard a tractor dragging a wrecked derrick away from a burning well near Villahermosa, Mexico, at the time of the mishap.

"I was watching to see that it wouldn't hurt the wellhead and got thrown off somehow," he said. "Everytime I've been hurt in the field, somebody else has done it to me."

Adair said he "went flying through the air and hit on my head" in extremely hot water. He said he suffered no broken bones or other major injuries and described his injuries as "bruises."

He was flown to Houston on Monday for a complete checkup.

"I'm just resting now and taking some therapy" for soreness in the neck and shoulders, he said.

"I'll be out of the hospital tomorrow or the next day and then I'll head back to Mexico again."

Marathon of Hope cut short; doctors find more cancer

NEW WESTMINSTER, British Columbia (AP) — Terry Fox cut short his anti-cancer run across Canada after doctors found that the cancer that had claimed his leg had spread to his lungs. But the 22-year-old, fighting back tears, says, "I'm not going to give up my fight."

His Marathon of Hope, launched April 12 in St. John's, Newfoundland, made him something of a hero. He was mobbed by crowds along his route and collected cash and pledges of $1.5 million to $2 million to support cancer research.

But on Monday, as he reached the halfway point in the 4,100-mile trek to British Columbia, he checked into a Thunder Bay hospital. He had been suffering from nausea and shortness of breath for three days, and he thought he was coming down with a cold.

Doctors revealed Tuesday that cancer, which forced the amputation 3½ years ago of his right leg above the knee, had spread. His left lung had collapsed and was useless, they said.

A chartered plane brought him home and he was taken to Royal Columbian Hospital in this Vancouver suburb to begin his second battle with cancer.

"All along I've been trying to set an attitude for people who have cancer," he said. "I'm not going to quit. I'm going to keep on fighting my best."

"We decided the only thing to do is come home to do more tests to figure out the best treatment," said Fox, as he gripped his mother's hand from his hospital bed.

"I'm happy with what I did. I tried my hardest. I did my very best. If there's any way I can finish it off next year or the year after, I'll be there," he said.

"I can't do any more right now. I fainted this afternoon just walking across the road."

Fox said it would take more courage to finish his new bout with cancer than it took to battle the pain of running on an artificial leg, the problems of fatigue and bad weather on his rim.

Fox said he didn't want anyone else to finish his marathon while there still was a chance he could complete it himself some day.

Blair McKenzie, executive director of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, said that despite pleas from the society, Fox had refused to see a doctor until he reached Thunder Bay, fearing they would order him to stop.

Fox said neither the society nor anyone else had pushed him to continue.

"I pushed myself," he said.

Clements blasts tax on profits

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas Gov. Bill Clements blasted out at President Carter's energy policies Tuesday as he and former Gov. John Connally launched a 21-day, two-week tour to campaign for Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan.

Clements maintained the administration's lack of an energy policy discriminates against Texas. He said the windfall profits tax will take an amount of money out of Texas that is more than the state's annual budget.

He said Americans are "fed up" with inflation, an inept foreign policy and deteriorating national security.

"This is not right for Texas and we can't stand any more of it. I am absolutely committed to changing the administration in Washington," Clements told the crowd of Texas A&M University students.

Connally, a former Republican presidential candidate said the United States has not pulled back the needed investments to modernize industry and never has fully appreciated the strength of its agricultural production.

"We are transforming the world every day," Connally said. "We have learned how to come with it. And as a result we have created great competitors for the future."

In a news conference afterward, Clements and Connally stressed the importance of winning the independent vote in Texas.

Connally said he sees Democrats "taking a transitory step" into the independent ranks and that he thinks many young independents will become dissatisfied with local political involvement and later will join the Republicans.

Courts take on issue of exhumation

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A state district judge will determine his own jurisdiction today in deciding whether to exhume the body in the grave of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Judge James Wright will hear motions to move the lawsuit, brought by Oswald's brother Robert, to Dallas. Dallas County Medical Examiner Charles Petty and British author Michael Eddowes, who lives temporarily in Dallas, filed the motions for a change of venue as defendants in the case.

Kenneth Campbell, Oswald's attorney, will argue against the motions on grounds the suit should be heard in the county where the body is buried.

Wright also will hear Campbell's motions to remove as defendants Dallas County Judge Gary Weber and Marina Oswald Porter, Oswald's widow.

If the judge retains jurisdiction, he has scheduled another hearing Friday on whether to exhume the body.

Oswald brought the suit last month after Eddowes obtained permission from Mrs. Porter to examine the body.

Eddowes also obtained an order from Weber and a promise from Petty to examine the body.

Wright said the body buried in West Hill Cemetery on the city's east side is really that of a young man who has an examination will show marked physical differences.

Weak cool front is expected Thursday

By the Associated Press
Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast for most of Texas today. Highs were to be mostly in the 90s, ranging from the upper 80s along the coast to near 102 in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas and North Central Texas.

Wichita Falls was the state's hot spot Tuesday with 100.

A weak cool front is expected to move into the Texas Panhandle Thursday.

WEATHER FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms most sections, otherwise partly cloudy and hot through Thursday. Highs — low 90s Panhandle to near 102 Big Bend except mid 80s mountains. Lows — low 60s Panhandle to low 70s southeast except upper 50s mountains. Highs Thursday upper 80s Panhandle to near 102 Big Bend except mid 80s mountains.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy with no important changes in temperatures. A chance of thunderstorms north Friday and most sections Saturday. Lows near 60 mountains to mid 70s south. Highs near 90 north to near 102 Big Bend.

Sun sets today at 8:08 p.m. Sun rises 5:4 at 7:23 a.m. Highest temperature this date 103 in 1947. Lowest temperature 49 in 1974. Most precipitation 3.02 in 1926.

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm weather is expected in the forecast period, today until Thursday morning, across the southern tier of states and into the Midwest and most of the East. Cool weather is forecast for the Northwest, northern and central Plains. Showers are forecast for the central and eastern Gulf and from the southern Plains to the upper Great Lakes.

Oil industry 'pals'

Bentsen, Tower rated 'best energy voters'

WASHINGTON — A new survey shows that the oil industry still has a lot of friends in the Texas congressional delegation.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America, a Washington-based organization that lobbies for interests of independent oilmen, has given 11 of the 24 Texas House members a composite rating of 100 percent.

That means the congressmen voted consistently with views held by the oil organization on a selected group of energy-related issues, according to the lobby's publication Petroleum Independent.

Five other Texas congressmen received high ratings by the lobby. Only three members from Texas were given low ratings, the magazine said.

The rest of the delegation scored in the 60-88 percent range. Meanwhile, both Texas senators were rated among the "best energy voters." Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., was given a 100 percent rating while Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., voted with the oil group 96 percent of the time. The ratings were made by examining records from the past three congressional sessions in the House, a congressman, depending on the length of time he has been in office, could have been ranked on only one key energy vote. In the Senate, the rating could have been made on as many as 57 votes the organization felt strongly about.

For the current Congress, the House members were rated on nine votes including the Alaska Lands Act, the Windfall Profits Act as well as attempts to reconrol crude oil prices and decontrol and deallocate gasoline.

All 10 Senate votes for this current session were for key measures of the Windfall Profits Act.

CHARLES MANSUR

JOHN SEKNICKA

International firm names two vice presidents

McClelland Engineers, international geoscience consulting firm, has named Charles I. Mansur senior vice-president and John E. Seknicka vice president.

Mansur will continue in his present capacity as St. Louis Division manager. Seknicka will remain as manager of exploration, Houston Division.

Mansur holds the BSCA from the University of Missouri and the MSCE from Harvard. He joined McClelland Engineers in 1969 after serving as president of Fraco Associates Inc., Consulting Engineers.

Seknicka holds the BSCE from The Citadel and the MSCE from West Virginia University. He joined McClelland Engineers, New Orleans Division, in 1966 after discharge from the U.S.A.F. In 1971 he was named Project Manager and in 1974, Assistant Division Manager. He was transferred to the Houston Division in 1976 to assume the duties of Exploration Manager.

Seknicka has considerable experience in the planning and execution of foundation investigations for offshore structures in the Gulf of Mexico, South America, Alaska, and the Middle and Far East. He has also worked on numerous projects involving foundation investigations for retaining walls, docks, petroleum facilities, and buildings.

Miss Texas runnerup robbed

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Shoes and clothing belonging to a Miss Texas runner-up were stolen from a car parked at the riverfront while she and her entourage dined at a riverboat restaurant Monday night, police said.

The car belonging to singer John Gary, 47, of Richardson, Texas, was parked for less than two hours while the Miss Texas runner-up, Bobbie Candler, 23, of Dallas, dined, authorities said. Police said the stolen items were camera equipment valued at $1,575 belonging to photographer David Wilson, 24, of Richardson, Texas, and a suitcase containing $3,525 in gowns, clothing and personal effects belonging to Miss Candler. The three were on a goodwill tour across the United States that brought them through St. Louis.

UT professor-diver blames panic for majority of diving deaths

(Special to The Herald)
HOUSTON — "A 26-year-old man drowned off Bradenton Beach Friday in his first attempt at scuba diving," a newspaper reported. "Police said there was no immediate explanation of why the man died in eight feet of water with a tank full of air and all his safety gear intact."

Dr. Irvin Kraft thinks he knows why. The man probably panicked.

Kraft, a diver for more than 10 years, believes panic is the primary cause of diver deaths, and he has been conducting a study on panic in scuba divers for the past six years.

A clinical professor of mental health at The University of Texas School of Public Health in Houston, Kraft said his studies are among the first to attempt to analyze the problem of panic systematically. Some 400 divers from across the country have furnished information through a detailed questionnaire to help understand why some divers panic and how deaths from panic-related drowning can be reduced.

Panic, unlike anxiety, usually occurs in a life-threatening situation, Kraft explained. Some anxiety can actually be useful in tuning the body up and preparing it for more serious encounters.

Panic, on the other hand, is a state of unreasoning fear. The person acts counter to his training and self-interest for survival, Kraft said.

"Panic is not a primary response pattern of humans," Kraft said, "but is usually a response to a series of events that produce a stressful situation. The situation usually carries with it some degree of strangeness or may even be totally foreign to the diver."

Such stressful situations include: a sudden sensation that the diver is too deep, being caught in a strong current, short of air, exhausted from swimming against swells or fearful underwater life or helplessness.

Body symptoms of panic include dilated pupils, widened eyes, slower blinking, rapid breathing, an increased heart rate and irregular movements.

The key to avoiding panic,

Kraft says, lies in appropriate training prior to the first dive.

"The diver should be taught to search his mind, his body responses and his situation to determine what he is finding threatening or dangerous," Kraft stressed. "The diver who recognizes the signals of panic is free to ask for help from his diving buddy, without fear of reprisal, without fear of being laughed at and without fear of embarrassment."

In his study, Kraft has found that a majority of the divers questioned considered their training in dealing with panic inadequate. Too often, diving instructors fail to have students understand the elements of panic and fail to put beginning divers through stressful situations or to train them in the proper responses to early panic, he noted.

Another major factor that is constantly underplayed in training is open-water or "real diving" experiences. Kraft suggests that it may take up to 10 open-water dives before a student feels confident and free of tensions. Yet many diving programs require only one open-water dive prior to certification. In his sample, Kraft found that 58 per cent of the divers who were certified had either none or only one open-water dive prior to certification.

Another variable that needs re-emphasis is the location of the trainee's diving, Kraft reported. Without additional training, divers trained in one area may have serious difficulty when they take their first dives under different circumstances. For instance, a diver trained in the warm waters of the Gulf who then takes his first dive in the Pacific Northwest may experience undue anxiety when equipped with the hood, full wetsuit and thick gloves necessary for cold water diving.

The instructor represents an authority figure to the students and should be able to serve as a model of composure. Kraft remarked that the instructor should strive to help students develop certain attitudes which will protect them from panic, including calmness, knowledgeability, assurance, alertness and awareness.

Dealing with the apprehensions associated with diving is best handled, Kraft says, through small discussion groups of six or fewer students. During these sessions, they can discuss openly any misgivings they have about diving techniques or equipment.

Another important area the instructor can promote is relaxation, Kraft said.

Go fly a kite

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP) — Back in 1976, when Marblehead's fire department was looking for a way to get rid of thousands of nesting starlings, they decided to take a shot with the Bicentennial militia.

But the militia's musket fire had little effect. Then the firemen decided to try hosing down the birds, but aside from some wet feathers, there were no visible results.

Even the tape-recorded, amplified screeches of birds of prey didn't move the pesky starlings.

This year, fire Chief Edward Creighton decided to improve on the bird-of-prey idea by sending up a falcon.

Well, actually it's a kite shaped to look like a falcon, and it's held up by a helium balloon. But it works.

"It's doing the job," said Captain Stan Atkins. "A few of them snuck back in, but it got most of the birds out of the area."

Unfortunately for the firefighters, the starlings simply found a new nesting area — near the firehouse.

Honesty in politics

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — When Ernie Alloy decided to run for re-election as chief constable in Tucson's First precinct, he had to fill out a form listing his campaign expenses and receipts.

Since he hadn't received or spent any money, he decided to attach an explanation. "Used my old campaign signs from last election — 1976," he wrote.

Pima County Treasurer Jim Kirk didn't have that problem. He spent $59.89. And he didn't get very specific, either. In the column labeled "purpose," to show what he spent the money on, he wrote, "To win the election."

Putting voters to sleep

DES MOINES, Iowa — Aqua Sleep Man may or may not be a real person, but he's still on the ballot for U.S. Senator from Iowa.

State Attorney General Tom Miller announced Tuesday he is unable to disqualify Aqua Sleep Man as an independent candidate.

Those who know Aqua Sleep Man know him as the cartoon-figure advertising spokesman for Aqua Sleep World, a Des Moines waterbed store.

And Miller received an objection from Garry De Young, another independent candidate for the seat now held by Sen. John Culver, a Democrat.

"I am running a serious campaign for the United States Senate and have worked very hard on very limited resources and do not feel that a Senate campaign is anything frivolous or to be made a mockery of," De Young said in his letter to Miller.

But Joe Kolstad, owner of Aqua Sleep World, said the character is "a very real person. He is 32 years old. He resides in Des Moines and has lived in Des Moines all his life."

Surrendering of negatives refused

Daily Texan editor goes to jail

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Daily Texan Editor Mark McKinnon went to jail for almost two hours Tuesday rather than obey a judge's order to hand over unpublished photographic negatives of the alleged disruption of a former Iranian ambassador's speech.

"We are determined not to hand over the negatives," said McKinnon as a bailiff led him away to jail.

McKinnon, editor of the University of Texas student newspaper, was released on $1,000 bond, pending a hearing Thursday on his claim the contempt order was unconstitutional.

But the hearing probably will not take place because the issue will be moot if the trial of 16 Middle Eastern students accused of disrupting the speech has concluded by then, said Jim George, McKinnon's attorney.

County Court-at-Law Judge Jon Wisser ordered McKinnon jailed and fined him $100 after McKinnon again refused to hand over negatives sought by the prosecution as evidence.

Thirteen Iranians and three Palestinians are charged with disrupting the Jan. 31 speech by Fereydoon Hoveyda, who represented Iran in the United Nations under the late Shah.

Hoveyda spoke in the University of Texas student union building.

Wisser heard final arguments in the students' trial Tuesday night and informed attorneys he will reach a verdict before 9 a.m. Thursday.

The judge permitted one of the students, Mehran Ebrahimi, to speak for the defendants.

Ebrahimi claimed the United States was grooming Hoveyda and others for a takeover of Iran from the Ayatollah Khomeini and was sending them to college campuses to portray themselves as "a progressive anti-shah element."

He said Hoveyda represented "a regime that killed our brothers and sisters and destroyed our economy and, with that, our independence and freedom."

Bill Allison, attorney for the students, said their "passion" was similar to that of America's founding fathers, who felt "the same kind of rage when our country was being gutted and raped by Great Britain."

Allison said the state had failed to prove its case against any student because identifications were shaky and witnesses' accounts conflicted.

Jeff Blackwelder, assistant county attorney, said the state had proved its case and referred to the students as "intimidators" who had interfered with society's right to a "free flow of ideas."

"Our society has a very real interest in the free flow of ideas, but because of the de facto censorship engaged in by this small group of people, society's interest in the free flow of ideas was put in jeopardy," he said.

Blackwelder urged Wisser to convict all 16 and serve notice that "freedom of speech is going to be protected in Texas."

Through much of the trial, McKinnon's predicament got more attention than the case of the Iranian and Palestinian students.

George said a decision will be made later whether to appeal his $100 fine for contempt of court as a test of whether Texas judges can compel newspapers to produce unpublished photographs sought as evidence in criminal trials.

George said this might not be the best vehicle for a test case, however.

"There are lots of potential procedural problems that would not present the issue in as clear relief as would be best for the press generally," George told reporters.

"It was illuminating," McKinnon said of his first experience with jail.

Farm Cotton harvest fraction of '79's record breaker

By DON RICHARDSON County Extension Agent

The 1980 cotton harvest appears to be only a fraction of 1979's record breaking yields. Estimates by many producers in the county point hopefully for a quarter bale per acre average. Some producers have indicated they may not harvest some fields at all due to the poor crop.

Excellent prospects early in the season gave early promise of another good year but the prolonged national heatwave of 1980 altered conditions. Many fields literally "burned up."

On top of the hot and dry conditions, the unlikely event of a bollworm outbreak occurred, something that has not happened for 15-20 years. The sparse crop was further damaged and at present this pest is still being battled particularly on the irrigated crop lands when prospects of a better crop, coupled with anticipated improved cotton markets make an expensive insect control program somewhat more practical.

Nonetheless, a majority of Howard County's estimated 110,000 acres of cotton land is anticipated to be harvested. Cotton producers in the area have readily accepted the module method of harvesting this crop and with such a short crop expected, proper use of this method is of utmost importance.

Considerable losses were sustained in 1979 from weather damaged modules.

Seed cotton harvested with excessive moisture increases the total weight, reduces gin turnout and results in high ginning costs. Grade and value of cottonseed drops and germination of seed can be reduced from 90 percent plus to zero percent in a matter of days if the temperature in modules approaches 120 degrees Fahrenheit.

To avoid modules with excessive moisture, do not defoliate too early. Harvest only mature cotton. Harvest at least 65 percent open bolls prior to defoliation and 85 percent open bolls prior to desiccation.

Allow 5-6 days for leaves, stems and branches to dry and cure out. This reduces trash and moisture in seed cotton.

Check modules with a moisture meter. Seed cotton at 8-10 percent moisture is optimum level. Watch for damp cotton during the early and late periods of the day. See your Gin supply dealer for seed cotton moisture meters.

Building the proper module is important. Pack uniformly with slightly rounded top. Provide extra compaction at ends to reduce handling loss. Place last dump in middle of module. Tarp on rounded top to reduce water damage. Check modules after rain or snow. Improperly built modules (those with depressions or valleys) accumulate moisture that leads to lint and seed deterioration.

Tarp should be considered as insurance against weather damage. Tarp should be 12 feet wide and 6 feet longer than the module. Do not use plastic tarps. Use cotton tarps that permit movement of air. Do not use black poly twine as tie down to avoid lint contamination.

Check temperature daily until the module's temperature starts to decline. Thereafter check once a week. Unfavorable high temperatures usually occur the first week of storage.

Take temperature readings at waist high level at three locations along the module. Temperature probes may be obtained by gin supply dealers.

Expect a temperature rise the first three to five days. A total temperature rise of 15-20 degrees F. would be considered normal. A rapid overnight temperature rise to 15-20 degrees F. indicates module has excessive moisture. A temperature rise to 110 degrees-120 degrees F. during a short time period indicates a module in trouble. Expect lower lint and seed quality with additional cost for the ginner.

FEATURED IN SHRINE CIRCUS — Some people may say that Miss Marke's act is strictly for the birds. Whatever, the act the woman and her birds stage during the Shrine Circus is one of the highlights of the show. The circus gives two performances here during the Howard County Fair Friday, Sept. 19. The scene will be the Rodeo Bowl. Merchants will pass out tickets to local youngsters. Adults can purchase advance tickets to the circus at any one of the three local banks for $2.50 each. At the gate, the tickets will be $3. This is the sole fund raiser staged by the Big Spring Shrine Club annually. Proceeds above expenses go toward the support of Shrine burns centers.

Vietnam war hero gets GOP nod in Alabama

By the Associated Press
 Vietnam war hero Jeremiah Denton has won the Republican nomination for the Senate in Alabama, while the Democratic incumbent, Donald Stewart, was forced into a primary runoff.

Meanwhile, in North Dakota, Bismarck lawyer Kent Johannesson won the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate in Tuesday's voting and state Attorney General Allen Olson became the Republican candidate for governor.

nomination for North Dakota's only seat in the U.S. House of Representatives was too close to call today.

With 87 percent of the ballot boxes reporting in the Democratic senatorial primary in Alabama, Stewart had 193,265 votes, or 49 percent, to 140,616, or 35 percent, for Jim Folsom Jr. State Sen. Finis St. John had 45,239, or 11 percent, while Margaret Stewart, no relation to the senator, had 17,019, or 4 percent.

Folsom, the son of ex-Gov. James

E. "Big Jim" Folsom, will meet Stewart in a runoff Sept. 23.

Denton, who drew national recognition for his unswerving loyalty during more than seven years as a war prisoner in Vietnam, defeated Armistead Selden, a former Democratic congressman who changed parties, in the race for the Republican senate nomination. With 77 percent of the Republican ballot boxes reporting, Denton had 68,410, or 64 percent, to 38,169, or 36 percent, for Selden.

John Buchanan, an eight-term veteran from Birmingham who is also a Baptist minister, was defeated by Albert Lee Smith for the Republican nomination for the House of Representatives. Smith will face Democrat Pete Clifford of Birmingham in the general election.

With all boxes counted, Smith had 25,531, or 55 percent, to 20,691, or 45 percent, for Buchanan.

Rep. Bill Nichols of Sylacauga effectively won an eighth term in Congress by trouncing his opponent, Charles Baiker of Jacksonville, in the Democratic primary. Nichols is unopposed in the general election.

Buchanan and Nichols were the only two of the state's seven representatives who faced primary opposition.

In North Dakota, with 963 of 1,242 precincts reporting in the race for the Senate seat vacated by Milton Young, Johannesson had 24,182 to 7,154 for Mike Saba, a Bismarck businessman.

The Republican candidate is Rep. Mark Andrews, who is vacating his House seat.

With 967 of 1,242 precincts reporting in the race for the Republican congressional nomination, state Sen. James Smykowski, a farmer from Cayuga, had 32,696 to 29,865 for Dr. Lee Christoferson, a neurosurgeon from Fargo.

Tax Commissioner Byron Dorgan is the Democratic nominee.

In the Republican gubernatorial contest, with 965 of 1,242 precincts reporting, Olson had 47,477 to 14,877 for Labor Commissioner Orville "Ike" Hazen.

Gov. Arthur Link was unopposed for renomination as the Democratic candidate.

Committee to meet this weekend

Texas GOP platform should not embarrass Reagan, liaison says

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Texas Republican platform should not contain any planks that would be divisive or embarrass presidential candidate Ronald Reagan, Gov. Bill Clements has advised.

The governor sent Jim Kaster, Clements' legislative liaison, to the opening meeting of the party's Temporary Platform and Resolutions Committee Tuesday to make it clear Clements does not want the convention Friday and Saturday to consider any planks on the Equal Rights Amendment or the so-called pro-life issue.

The committee today began hearing testimony with a noon Thursday deadline for formulating the platform.

"He (Clements) is concerned that we don't get divisive things in the state platform. He (Clements) feels that we have the national platform and that that addressed the meaningful issues," Kaster said as the committee began three days of meetings to put together a state platform for the next four years.

"We know there are strong feelings held on both sides of some of the issues. He (Clements) would hope this would not be in the platform, particularly if it is counter to the national platform. Governor Reagan is coming to the state Sept. 16 and it would be very embarrassing to the governor to have to explain we in Texas did away with or voiced opposition to things that are in the national platform. That would be very difficult and very embarrassing."

Richard Sanchez, a San Antonio member of the 20-member committee, pinned Kaster down to exactly which issues Clements felt would be divisive by objecting that he did not want the committee to become "rubber stamp" for a Clements platform.

"Actually what the governor has told you to tell us is don't do anything — don't think anything counter to what is already in the national platform, right?" Sanchez objected. "I just wanted to be sure because if I'm just going to sit here and rubber stamp everything the governor wants done, I'm on a parking meter and I can just go ahead and leave and save myself a few dollars."

Committee chairman Ray Barnhart of Pasadena and State GOP co-chairman Ghet Upham of Mineral Wells assured Sanchez that Clements had no intention of imposing his will on the committee and was only making recommendations as the titular head of the state party.

Earlier Sanchez won approval of a resolution to open the Tuesday meeting, originally planned as an executive session, and all other business of the committee to the news media when one reporter showed up.

Kaster told the nine members of the committee present Tuesday that Clements wanted approval of resolutions supporting initiative and referendum, electronic surveillance, budget execution power for the governor and a method whereby governors can remove appointees on a two-thirds vote of the state senate.

In the informal session Tuesday, the temporary committee decided on Barnhart's suggestion to confine the platform to state-oriented issues on which Texas candidates would seek office.

In an interview, Upham said Republicans hope to double the number of state representatives and senators and pick up three congressional seats on the November general election.

For John Anderson

Times are rough

Marie-Hanks Austin Bureau
 AUSTIN — These are rough times for the independent presidential campaign of John B. Anderson, both nationwide and in Texas.

A Newsweek reporter who has been traveling with Anderson reported in last week's edition that the candidate recently appeared to be depressed.

That's an understandable condition for Anderson as his gutsy but underfinanced and underorganized campaign grinds on, lacking the flash that it needs or even the spark it once had.

The public opinion polls — those fickle and cold dragons of the 1980 campaign — have been decreasingly kind to Anderson in recent weeks. The pain is particularly acute for the candidate at this time.

Anderson needs a 15 percent poll rating to be eligible for the League of Women Voters' presidential debates, which are his best chance, maybe his only chance, for a November victory.

The naming of former Wisconsin governor Patrick J. Lucey as his running mate drew needed headlines and television news spots last week, but they weren't all positive.

The initial reaction of the public was "Patrick J. Who?" and the stories pointed out that Lucey was the only Democrat with any credibility who would join the independent's campaign.

He offers neither geographical nor ideological balance to the ticket.

Things weren't helped by Lucey's emphasis on his view of himself as "not a champion of lost causes or hopeless crusades."

That made many headlines focus on the lost-cause denial. Causes that are not lost don't have to be defended so.

The Anderson campaign has one strong point: Its dedicated and hardworking volunteers. But they can be a campaign weakness also when the going gets rough.

That's clear in Texas. Operating out of skimpily furnished headquarters in half a dozen Texas cities, the dedicated Anderson volunteers fought the odds to collect enough signatures to get Anderson's name on the Texas ballot in November.

In Austin, where the University of Texas provides a big chunk of the volunteers, they are planning a door-to-door canvassing effort and are seeking desperately to raise campaign money.

Several hundred persons are listed as volunteers in Austin, but it's not clear how many will be out on the hot pavement when the call comes.

The local groups operate basically on their own, with kind words and organizational help but no money from the national Anderson campaign.

It will be interesting to see how well these volunteer groups hold together as the November election nears and, probably, Anderson's chances of victory decline.

The Dallas office already has fallen to organizational problems and intra-campaign feuding. State campaign officials shut down the operation last week, saying it wasn't being run properly by the volunteers.

An angry volunteer said the entire campaign is marked by ill will.

At this point Anderson has the image of, at best, a spoiler — someone who can affect the election but not win it.

Even if his popularity should rise dramatically, the electoral college system's winner-take-all ways appear to be an insurmountable obstacle to him.

The odds against Anderson capturing the electoral college vote in Texas are huge. It appears now chance that he may not even be a factor in the Ronald Reagan-President Carter fight.

This is reflected in the way the Texas Democratic Party has lessened its attack on the Anderson ballot petitions.

Party officials have said they may sue to keep Anderson off the ballot if a computer check showed many of the petition signers voted in the Democratic primary.

But the party has put the computer check on a back burner while working on other computer-involved campaign activities.

Pro sports still just big business

PROFESSIONAL SPORTS. MONEY. GLORY, and all that good stuff. TV exposure, million dollar contracts, good looking groupies by the hundreds.

That's the way most people see it, and what else can be expected. It's the image presented by the media, whether it be television, a newspaper or the radio. But behind all the glorious respect and unlimited supplies of money that many sports enthusiasts envision when they think of a pro athlete, there is something else that in many cases is not considered. That something is the cruelties that pro sports can become to those that have contributed something to it. It's a topic that is rarely discussed.

In pro football, it is usually brought into focus about this time of the year, when NFL clubs reduce their rosters to the final limit of 45. It's a fact of life, but each year, a young rookie or relatively inexperienced player unseats a veteran, someone that a follower of that particular team has come to feel as one of the "family."

IT HIT HOME DURING LAST WEEK'S CUTOFF from 60 to 50, as the Denver Broncos released 13-year NFL vet CHARLIE WEST from their roster, opting instead to go with rookie MIKE HARDEN, a third round draft pick from Michigan.

West, well known locally as a star athlete at Big Spring High School in the early 1960s, is 34-years old. A former second round draft pick of Minnesota in 1968, he no doubt knew that he might be cut during this training camp, as both his age and the economic situation came into focus.

Nevertheless, he did nothing but work toward maintaining his physical well being in the off-season. Following knee surgery after a playoff loss to Houston in late December, the former Steer great worked hard after hour, week after week, and month after month toward the 1980 season.

The Denver organization let West, who still holds the NFL record for the longest punt return in history, know that they were seeking to draft some defensive backs, but that they were pleased with his performance in 1979, a season in which he started seven games at free safety, playing an integral part in the Broncos drive to the NFL playoffs.

But as training camp opened, West intimated to me that if cut, it would be strictly a financial move on the part of the Denver organization. As Charlie explained: "It boils down to paying my salary for my experience and proven performance versus the younger player that doesn't command half as much money, if that."

ANOTHER CASE THAT COMES HOME TO PEOPLE IN THIS AREA is the remembrance of DON

CHARLIE WEST REACTS DURING 1979 GAME

MAYNARD, the former Colorado City schoolboy who later was an All-Pro wide receiver with the New York Jets.

Maynard played in pro football for 15 seasons, and was one of the most vital members of the Jets team that gave the upstart AFL a chance to crash the established NFL for good, as they stunned the highly favored Baltimore Colts in Super Bowl III on January 12, 1969.

Maynard continued accepting Joe Willie Namath's famous passes for the next four years, finally breaking the NFL record for most pass receptions in a career and the most yardage pass receiving in a pro career. In fitting fashion, he established his legendary reception mark on a December, 1972 Monday night contest against the Oakland Raiders before national cameras. The speedster had established his pass receiving yardage mark a couple of seasons earlier.

His timing on routes with Namath never seemed better.

BUT THE CRUEL BUSINESS WORLD OF THE NFL took over the following pre-season. On the final cut date, the Jets, with then coach WEBB EWANK and the chincy management wanting to reduce the payroll, axed Maynard in favor of a rookie receiver that lasted only three years in the league.

The move came at a time that hit Maynard between the legs. The city of New York had planned a Don Maynard Day for sometime early in the 1973 season, but the move stifled any such doing.

Instead, the St. Louis Cardinals picked the all-time leading pass receiver up. Maynard reported to their camp, but left almost immediately. His picture had been destroyed.

Maynard will admit that the manner he was "retired" leaves a somewhat bitter taste in his mouth, despite the countless assortment of his glory days in pro football.

But as Maynard lost his desire when the Jets released him, West still hopes that somebody will pick him up. As he said just two weeks ago before being cut, he just wanted to play one more year before announcing his retirement.

From a personal standpoint, it depresses me. Both Maynard and West have been personal friends for the past 20 years, dating back to when I started grade school.

But realistically, in this land of the free, home of the brave, the competition for financial success and a profit is still the number one goal of businesses. Which any NFL club is.

AND WHILE MANY ENVY THE PRO CONTRACTS of today, remember, there are two sides to every coin.

BSHS girls sweep past Andrews

The Big Spring Steers girls volleyball team bounced back from their first loss of the season by routing Andrews here Tuesday night by scores of 15-11, 15-2.

The win, which gave the Steer girls a record of 3-1, was played in Poverty Pavilion on the campus of Howard College. Big Spring Coach Patti Pursler indicated that the BSHS gymnasium should be ready for the next home game, however, which will be on September 23 against Odessa Permian.

There were numerous stars in the Steers win over Andrews. Janie Phillips was the high point server, and the Steer girls also benefitted from four service aces from Dawn Estes.

Shell Rutledge, the lone sophomore on the BSHS team which includes five seniors and six juniors, was praised for her net play, while Bea Magers and Sandy Puga were outstanding in their setting. Shawn Koger was lauded for her court coverage in the triumph.

The Steer girls next contest will be on Friday morning at nine o'clock when they meet Denver City in the San Angelo Tournament. The San Angelo affair is a 24-team, double elimination tourney.

Big Spring girls were also victorious in both the junior varsity and freshmen games.

In the JV contest, the BSHS girls won by scores 15-10, 15-8. Leslie Overman was praised for her setting in the contest, while Laura Baum and Sylvia Randle were outstanding at the net.

The Steer freshmen girls defeated their Andrews counterparts by scores of 15-11, 15-10. Paula Spiers played a good game at the net, with Vicki Halfmann drawing mention for her setting.

The wins gave both the Steer JVs and Freshmen teams records of 2-0.

At Snyder Friday

Steers cool down for opener

The Big Spring Steers, with their season opener only two nights away against Snyder, will begin tapering off from the strenuous physical work and begin full scale mental preparation for their Friday night bout.

Big Spring Head Football Coach Ralph Harris, who will make his debut Friday night as the Steer boss, stated earlier today that conditioning has been the basic goal for his squad during the early practices this week. He and his staff were pleased with the improvement, but now must ready the Steer gridders for other important tasks. "Our concentration has been real good this week," he stated. "We've worked hard, but that's over for now. It's time to relax physically and build the confidence needed to win against Snyder."

Harris saw both some positive and negative signs in the Lamesa scrimmage, and hopes the work this week will help overcome these.

Offensively, Harris cited needed improvement when the Steers were in scoring territory in the scrimmage last Friday. "We need more meanness in us in the offensive attack when we get the change to score," he stated. "We got down there and didn't bear down enough to get it in."

Harris was more pleased with the play of his defense, and the improved play of tackles Gregg Jones and Tony Molina.

"We need to see the picture more quickly," the first year Big Spring mentor stated. "We're not seeing some things quickly enough on defense to move and correct them. But as far as problems physically, there was nothing wrong. We played aggressively and with plenty of enthusiasm."

The Steer gridders should enter the season opener, relatively injury free. The only injury Harris noted was that of backup offensive tackle Donnie Tubb, but he is expected to play. All of the starters appear to be 100 percent healthy.

Harris termed Snyder as well coached, talented, yet unpredictable. The basic reason for not knowing what to expect is the fact that the Tigers, like the Steers, are a young team.

"They have excellent talent throughout their program," Harris stated, "and it's obvious that they have a good program year 'round." "They also have above average size," he continued, "and have fair speed. Actually, most of their speed is in the form of two or three people."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, SEPT. 4, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early morning confusion can soon be dissipated by adopting a new attitude. New conditions later in the day make it possible for you to achieve much of value.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make those improvements at home that will bring more harmony and happiness. Study new worthwhile outlets.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make long-range plans to have more profitable days in the future. Adopt a more logical outlook on life.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A good time to engage in some new enterprise and gain more prestige. Maintain a cheerful manner at all times.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you pursue personal aims in a positive fashion, you can gain them easily. Take steps to improve your health.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Confer with influential persons who can give you the advice you need. Strive for harmony with family members.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) After business matters are properly handled, get together with good friends and enjoy social pleasures. Be poised.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can communicate very well now with higher-ups and can easily advance in career activities. Use care in motion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) New situations come up in which you can gain benefits if you handle them well. Express happiness with family members.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Go through with whatever you have in mind in connection with a close tie and get excellent results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Ideal day to make new deals in connection with associates with good results. Don't be too demanding of others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Schedule your work well in the morning and then all works out smoothly the rest of the day. Use common sense.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Use practical sense in all your business dealings at this time. You can realize a most cherished aim if you apply yourself more...

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will understand what is needed to get ahead in any matter, be it of a personal or business nature and can bring harmony between arguing factions. This is a devoted and loving person here and will be happy in marriage.

Outstanding UT shot-putter goes back to Iceland

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Shot put-discus star Oskar Jakobsson of Texas, whom Longhorn Coach Cleburne Price said has the potential to be the greatest weightman in Southwest Conference history, apparently has decided to skip his junior year and return to his native Iceland.

Jakobsson, 25, married and the father of a three-year-old son, did not enroll for fall classes that began Tuesday. He reportedly had indicated to friends he would resume his job as an electrician.

In two years at Texas, Jakobsson, 6-foot-5 and 255 pounds, garnered 187 points in meets, including 14 for second- and third-place finishes in the shot put and discus, respectively, at the NCAA Championships here in June.

He was named the team's most valuable performer both years.

"It was just too expensive for him here," said Fridrick Oskarsson, a Longhorn triple jumper from Iceland. "They didn't get into student housing, so they had to get a more expensive apartment off campus. Then they had to get a car to get around. ... It's just money, that's a shame."

Final day brings Oiler changes

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers placed two players on injured reserve Tuesday, then added two others to its roster, said officials of the National Football League team.

Wide receiver Kenny Burrough and rookie middle guard Daryl Skaugstad have been sidelined with knee injuries. All-Pro guard Bob Young and running back Adger Armstrong were chosen as their replacements.

Young, a 15-year NFL veteran, was released by the St. Louis Cardinals prior to the opening of the 1980 season. Armstrong, a former Texas A&M standout, was cut Monday from the 45-man squad.

Fritsch charged

DALLAS (AP) — Houston Oilers kicker Toni Fritsch has been given an eight-year probation sentence following his guilty plea on a manslaughter charge in the death of a woman in an automobile accident.

Fritsch, 34, entered the plea Friday in the May 26 death of Nelda K. Burks, 41, of Plano.

Landry confident of improvement

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry says the noisy RFK Stadium crowd in Washington doesn't bother him, but the former defensive back quickly adds he doesn't have to suit up either.

The Dallas Cowboys have never beaten the Washington Redskins on a Monday night in Washington and that's the chore the defending National Conference Eastern Division champions face next week.

"There's just something electric about playing in that stadium," Landry said Tuesday at his weekly press luncheon. "It's a great experience."

Landry added "It doesn't intimidate me — but then I'm not out there on the field."

Landry said the National Football League opener for both teams was not exactly a make-or-break situation for the Cowboys.

"It's just important that we play well and will be a big plus if we win," said Landry. "We don't win too many times up there even when we are at the top of our game."

"I think we will get better as the season rolls on. We've got to get used to the offense under (quarterback) Danny White and our secondary needs to jell. Football is a confidence thing and we will be OK once we get the confidence factor going."

Landry rated Philadelphia and Washington ahead of his Cowboys right now in the NFC East but added "I think we are capable of winning the division. Of course, not many people agree with me on that."

Landry announced Tuesday that second-year man Ron Springs was the No. 1 fullback, replacing nine-year veteran Robert Newhouse.

"It was a tough decision to replace Newhouse," Landry said. "Newhouse is a tremendous player ... but we had to go with Springs' ability to catch the ball and block. Both are excellent runners."

He continued "One of our priorities in camp was to get the fullback into our passing offense. Springs runs routes and catches the ball. Robert is a small target. Springs will add more to our offense."

Landry said tailback Tony Dorsett, who missed last week's exhibition loss to Pittsburgh, was recovering rapidly from an injured thigh and should be 100 percent for the Redskins.

Pressed whether he would take over the play calling duties from assistant Dan Reeves who has been handling the chore in preseason, Landry said he would work with Reeves on calling plays.

"Sometimes he will call the plays when I'm working with the defense," said Landry. "Danny and I think the same."

And who will get the blame if something goes wrong? "I guess that means you'll have to blame us both," Landry laughed.

WASTING NO TIME ... As dove season opened Monday, many area hunters wasted no time in greeting the flying species. One such person was Larry Miller, attempting to gun down a dove in an East Howard County field.

Phillies hang tough to win

By The Associated Press — Vida Blue was tough — the Philadelphia Phillies were tougher.

"It took some grinding, but we did it," said Philadelphia Manager Dallas Green after his Phillies scored a hard-earned 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants in 13 innings Tuesday night.

Philadelphia managed to win despite a strong pitching performance by Blue, who allowed but two hits and one run to the Phillies over 10 innings.

"It was our best team effort of the year, by far," said Phillies reliever Warren Brusstar. "It took everybody to win it."

Brusstar created the most perilous situation of the game for the Phillies and pitched out of it in the 11th inning. The Giants loaded the bases with none out on a single, walk and bunt single.

The next two batters, Milt May and Rennie Stennett, hit ground balls and the Phillies threw home for forceouts.

Brusstar fell behind 3-1 to pinch hitter Joe Strain. Strain took a pitch for a strike and fouled off three pitches before grounding out.

The victory kept the Phillies in first place in the National League East by percentage points over the Montreal Expos, 2-1 winners over San Diego.

Dodgers 6, Mets 5
Derrel Thomas singled home the decisive run as Los Angeles scored three times in the sixth and held on to beat New York. The victory was the Dodgers' sixth straight and 13th in their last 15 games as they moved into a tie with idle Houston for first place in the NL West.

Dave Goltz, 7-7, Bobby Castillo and Don Stanhouse permitted only four New York hits. Stanhouse hurled the final two innings for his fourth save.

Bruce 10, Cubs 5
Dale Murphy tripled with the bases loaded and Jerry Royster hit a pair of triples, leading Atlanta over Chicago for the surging Braves' 13th victory in 16 games.

Doyle Alexander, 13-7, was the winner, with Gene Garber working the last few innings. Mike Krukow, 8-14, was the loser.

Cardinals 12, Rzdts 4
Keith Hernandez smashed three hits, drove in three runs and scored four times and Ted Simmons collected two hits and knocked in four runs to lead St. Louis over Cincinnati.

Winner Bob Forsch, 11-7, scattered 11 hits in 71-3 innings before needing John Littlefield's relief help. Littlefield gained his eighth save of the season.

The Cards totaled a major league record-tying four sacrifice flies. Previous major league teams to total four sacrifice flies in one game were the New York Mets in 1967 and 1973 and the Boston Red Sox in 1913.

AL Roundup

Fidrych finally gets win

By The Associated Press — Mark "The Bird" Fidrych says he now can look forward to a future that many thought didn't exist as recently as one month ago.

Fidrych, the American League's top rookie in 1976, won his first game for Detroit in nearly 2½ years Tuesday night, seven-hitting the Chicago White Sox for an 11-2 victory in the first game of a doubleheader. The Tigers swept the twinbill, 6-1, behind Milt Wilcox's eight-hitter in the nightcap.

"People were writing that I was finished, but I don't read the papers that much," Fidrych said. "I don't hold anything against those guys. That's part of life. They don't know what I was doing down in Evansville."

"This one moment just makes my year happier," Fidrych said. "I can't think about the past, now I can only look to the future."

The 26-year-old Fidrych was with Evansville of the American Association when the 1980 season began, starting his fourth year on one of the longest comeback trails in baseball. He finally returned to the Tigers on Aug. 12, losing two decisions before the long drought came to an end.

"It really felt good to finally get a win. The guys have been working hard and scoring runs for me, but I haven't been doing my job," Fidrych said. "I haven't had any consistency at all. I don't know why. All I know is I like the way it came out tonight."

"It's been a long time since I've been able to satisfy the fans in Detroit," Fidrych said.

New York, meanwhile, defeated Oakland 6-1 and maintained a 1½-game lead over Baltimore in the AL East. The Orioles thumped Seattle 10-4, Boston clobbered California 10-2, Texas edged Toronto 3-2 and Minnesota downed Cleveland 5-3.

The only well-hit ball off Fidrych was Harold Baines' two-run homer.

Champ Summers, Alan Trammell and Tim Corcoran hit homers for Detroit in the first game. The Tigers won the nightcap with four runs in the fifth inning, ignited by John Wockenfuss' two-run single.

Yankees 6, A's 1
Rudy May scattered six hits over eight innings, and Bobby Brown paced New York's 10-hit attack with a two-run homer.

May, who came out of the bullpen in midseason, earned his 12th victory with ninth-inning relief help from Rich Gossage. Gossage struck out two of the three hitters he faced. May lost his shutout when Tony Armas cracked his 28th homer in the seventh inning.

In addition to his homer, Brown scored two runs and stole a base to lead New York to its fifth victory in six games.

Orioles 10, Mariners 4
John Lowenstein and Dan Graham rapped consecutive homers in the first inning to get Baltimore started against the Mariners. Lowenstein's homer, only his third of the year, came with two aboard.

Graham, Rich Dauer and Kiko Garcia, each drove in two runs to help Jim Palmer to his 15th victory of the season. Palmer won his sixth game in seven decisions with some relief help from Dave Ford.

Red Sox 10, Angels 2
Glenn Hoffman and Rick Burleson each drove in a pair of runs to pace Boston to its ninth victory in a row. The victory kept Boston 6½ games behind the Yankees.

Carlton Fisk and Larry Wolfe hit consecutive homers in Boston's three-run eighth, and Dave Stapleton capped the inning with an RBI-double.

Rangers 3, Blue Jays 2
Ferguson Jenkins tossed a six-hitter, and Texas scored a pair of runs in the first inning on a single by Al Oliver and a sacrifice fly by Rusty Staub.

Mike Richard's bases-loaded single scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth before Toronto cut the lead to one with runs in the eighth and ninth innings.

No big surprises in US Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Connors didn't let thunder, lightning, rain, low-flying bats or some fine tennis by South African Bernie Mitton bother him Tuesday night.

The third-seeded Connors advanced to the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open with a 7-6, 6-4, 6-4 victory over Mitton under the lights at the National Tennis Center. The match also was played with lightning flashing above, strong winds whipping through the stadium, thunder and, with the second set tied 4-4, a drenching rainstorm that forced a 50-minute suspension of play.

"Considering the conditions, I thought we played some good tennis," said Connors. "It started to get so windy we couldn't time the balls well. Then at 4-4, I asked Mike (Blanchard, the tournament referee) to keep his eyes on the lightning, make sure it didn't get too close. With my (steel) racket, I'd get zizzled."

Instead, Connors sizzled after the rain delay, running out the set. Then, early in the third set, came another interruption.

Two objects swooped down to court level, then began flying around the stands.

Were they bats, Connors was asked?

"I don't know," he quipped. "I didn't get close enough to see."

In today's feature match, Roscoe Tanner was hoping to repeat his quarterfinal upset of top-seed Bjorn Borg of Sweden. Tanner scored a four-set triumph over Borg last year in a night match, but they were scheduled for an afternoon appearance this time.

The women's top seed and defending champion, Tracy Austin, opened today's proceedings against No.13

Pam Shriver, providing a matchup of the teenage sensations of the last two Opens. Shriver, 18, reached the finals here two years ago, falling to Chris Evert Lloyd. Then Austin beat Lloyd for the title last year.

Lloyd, seeded third, battled Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia and, in a night contest, No.14 Wojtek Fibak of Poland played Johan Kriek of South Africa in the only other matches involving seeded players.

Connors felt he had fallen into some bad habits this week but, overall, was playing up to par.

"I shouldn't be in a position where I have to be down for breaks, but I have been," he said. "I want to grip it out on my serve and make the other guy feel like he's playing catchup."

"I've played well but I want to play better in the next round and the next."

No.10 Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia scored the biggest upset Tuesday by blasting No.7 Harold Solomon 6-1, 6-0, 6-0. Lendl was joined in the quarterfinals by Elliot Teltscher, who simply overwhelmed No.13 Brian Gottfried with his passing shots, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1, and defending champion John McEnroe, an easy 6-2, 6-4, 6-2 winner over France's Pascal Portes.

Among the women, No.8 Andrea Jaeger stopped Renata Tomanova of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-0; No.14 Ivanna Madruga bested Candy Reynolds 5-7, 6-3, 6-3, and unseeded Barbara Hallquist beat Lucia Romanov of Romania 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Final cut shocks Viking guard

By The Associated Press — Guard Mel Mitchell felt he finally had made the National Football League. Today, he's on the outside looking for a job.

"I was shocked, but then these things happen in football," the former Tennessee State guard said Tuesday after being cut by the Minnesota Vikings.

Only last Saturday, following Minnesota's 38-16 preseason victory over Cleveland, he was awarded the game ball for his play.

"I didn't think I had done anything wrong," Mitchell said. "I thought I had contributed. But the coaches have to keep the guys they think will be best for the team. And I'm sure Coach (Bud) Grant did what he thought was best for the team."

Mitchell, reportedly from a large family, sent home all of his money except $5 each week while in training camp. He was a fourth-round draft choice of the Miami Dolphins in 1976, was released in 1977 and signed by the Detroit Lions, who released him in 1978.

He signed again with the Dolphins last year and was cut again.

This time, though, was different. Or so he thought.

Grant had called Mitchell "the hardest working player I've ever had."

"Behind his quiet exterior, Mel is a very intense, very bright young man," Grant said after telling Mitchell he had been cut. "He didn't cry. He understood. He's disappointed."

"It means a lot to anyone who gets cut. The only difference is that he comes from a little tighter straits than some other people."

But the acquisition of veteran tackle Nick Bebout from Seattle on Monday made Mitchell expendable as the Vikings got down to the NFL's 45-player limit.

"I'm not going to give up," said Mitchell. "I hope I can play somewhere. I know I can play. I know I'll keep trying until they say, 'Mel, don't try anymore.'" McGriff, a former Florida A&M standout, was even a longer shot since he had been cut by the Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Canadian Football League before he showed up at the Steelers' training camp.

"I felt good about the way I had played, but you still never know," McGriff said.

Pecos complex sold at auction

Estes estate no bargain even at $61,000 price

PECOS, Texas (AP) — The mansion and guest house where Billie Sol Estes lived in luxury during the 1950s was sold at auction for $61,000. But some people here say the estate, including pool and tennis courts on an acre and a half of land, was no bargain even at that price.

The complex, built while the convicted swindler was amassing a personal fortune, has been damaged by vandals, scorched by fire, and ravaged by years of neglect since Estes moved to Abilene in 1963 after his financial empire collapsed in a flurry of federal fraud indictments.

It was bought Tuesday by a privately-sponsored home for women in trouble. The home has occupied the property for the past three years, providing a temporary residence for unwed mothers, battered or deserted wives, and other women suffering from personal trauma.

"It would take another $40,000 to $50,000 to repair it to anywhere close to what it was," said a Pecos building contractor who asked that his name not be used. "I wouldn't have bid more than $35,000 for it. They were lucky to sell it for what they did."

In Abilene, Estes' wife Patsy said she was pleased with the outcome of Tuesday's sale, held to pay back taxes owed by her husband. "I'm glad. I'd rather see the house used by those girls than anything else," she said.

Mrs. Estes said she was surprised "in a way" that the home sold for only $61,000, but "I knew it was run down. I went through it a few months ago and it looks pretty sick."

But the women living there and backers of the home cheered when their bid went unchallenged as a crowd of about 75 spectators stood on the steps of the Reeves County Courthouse.

"Praise the Lord," the women shouted. Some of them wept.

There were only two other bidders — a Pecos chiropractor and two partners who wanted to turn the mansion into a restaurant, and a retired contractor from Terrell who was considering moving here.

The estate was appraised by local taxing authorities at $82,115, and the Internal Revenue Service appraised it at $57,500.

But when Estes, 55, now an inmate in the federal penitentiary at Big Spring, built the homestead after he moved to this West Texas town in 1951, it was the largest and finest home in Pecos.

The three-level, eight-bedroom, six-bathroom complex had three fireplaces, and 7,949 square feet of living space.

Today it has fallen into a state of disrepair.

The tennis courts, where weeds now grow through cracks in the concrete, are used as a playground for children of the residents. The backyard swimming pool has been filled with dirt and turned into a vegetable garden.

"But for us girls, it's our home," said Doyleene Norman, one of the temporary residents. "It's our family home."

ESTES ESTATE FALLS ON HARD TIMES — Two temporary residents survey signs of deterioration such as the damaged eave, which are evident throughout the former mansion and estate of convicted swindler Billie Sol Estes. The estate is now a home for unwed mothers, deserted or battered wives and other women in trouble who need a place to stay for a while. It was sold at auction Tuesday for $61,000.

Mrs. Bush is ready for campaign to close

HOUSTON (AP) — Two years of non-stop campaigning for her husband George has transformed Barbara Bush into a nervous but excited party spokeswoman with a penchant for jogging.

And with the general election only two months away, the wife of the Republican vice presidential nominee says she'll be relieved when it's over.

"I'm counting the days," she says. "But don't kid yourself, this is the most exciting thing I've ever done."

Mrs. Bush begins her new role today in Louisiana as a spokeswoman for the Republican ticket — a role she says she's still unfamiliar with.

"I'm a little nervous because I haven't campaigned for the Reagan-Bush ticket before," she said in an interview with the Houston Post.

"I am not an authority on Gov. Reagan's programs yet, but I'm fast becoming an authority. The thing that is going to make campaigning very easy is that Jimmy Carter is a failed president."

Rigorous campaigning and "political necessity" have turned the slender, silver-haired Texas woman into a dedicated jogger.

"You can't campaign and keep up a tennis or golf game," said Mrs. Bush, who runs daily, most recently on the three-mile track at Houston's Memorial Park. Her time: 10 minutes per mile.

Friends have said Mrs. Bush is never one to mince words.

And she freely criticized the media for its coverage of the Bushes' recent trip to China. She said her husband went to China not as a government representative but to tell Chinese leaders about Reagan and to hear what they had to say.

"And that was accomplished in spades," she said.

The trip received a lot of attention when Reagan and Bush apparently made conflicting policy statements regarding China and Taiwan.

The Chinese Communist Party newspaper accused the former California governor of "shocking interference" in China's internal affairs about statements Reagan made supporting an official government relations with Taiwan.

But Mrs. Bush said the Chinese rhetoric was a result of internal politics, similar to political talk that occurs in the United States.

Closer to home, the mother of five contends one would be hard-pressed to find any conflict in the Bush household.

She said a magazine reporter followed her for three days — from the convention in Detroit to Houston to their summer home in Kennebunkport, Maine.

"When they were finished, they could only do two pages on me, they found me so boring. I know we are boring. I like husband, I like my mother-in-law, I like my children and they like me. I like Houston. I know that's boring, but that's too bad."

If her husband becomes the nation's No. 2 man, Mrs. Bush says that as "second lady" she'll promote the advancement of reading programs.

"A great many American children are cheated because they haven't learned to read in the classroom. It's something I can put all my energies into — and I've got lots of energy."

And what happens if the Reagan-Bush ticket loses?

"That's sort of exciting, because we have no idea," she said.

Fall session of local YMCA is under way

The fall session at the Big Spring YMCA started Tuesday. This session, as well as all other sessions this fall, will be four weeks long. The new brochure is out with a list of the classes and their times that are being offered.

Classes in racquetball, swimming and aerobic dancing are some of the classes that are again being offered. Soccer has been expanded from first and second grades to also include third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades this year. Co-ed volleyball will also again be offered. Some of our new programs are youth racquetball, after-school fun club, Teen Tutors, and rent-a-kid. High school students interested in being tutors are asked to apply at the Y.

There will still be family swim, adult swim, and recreational swimming. Some of the times are different, so come by the Y and pick up a new brochure to keep for reference.

Co-ed volleyball held a managers meeting Monday night. Entry deadline is Sept. 15, with the season starting Sept. 16, and running through Dec. 9. Co-ed volleyball is a team of three men and three women.

Again this year, a baby-sitter will be available at 50 cents per child per hour for those who have children. As this is an adult program, we ask that no child be in the gym. They may watch TV, or go to the game room if not with babysitters.

Shana Hohertz and Lana Warren from the Big Spring Cheerleading Squad will be holding cheerleading clinics for those girls in one through six grades. These girls will be cheering for the corresponding grades in soccer.

The clinics will teach the newest NCAA yells, chants and the proper social skills. The third and fourth grades clinic will be from 4:30 to 6 p.m. on Thursday. Friday, is the day for the fifth and sixth grades.

If you have any questions, you may call the Y at 7-8234, or come by 801 Owens.

Health officials say spraying to begin soon

HOUSTON (AP) — Health officials say an intensified county-wide spraying program to control mosquitoes carrying St. Louis encephalitis will begin as soon as fogging equipment is delivered and workers are trained.

City and county officials estimate from 300 to 400 workers have been recruited to spray ditches containing stagnant water where the mosquitoes tend to breed.

A sixth confirmed case of SLE was reported Tuesday by health officials in Harris County. The latest confirmed case was a 56-year-old man, suspected earlier this year of carrying the virus causing sleeping sickness.

Last week, the County Commissioners authorized the purchase of 300 hand sprayers from a Pennsylvania firm.

Stop fantasizing about sister

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Beverly from Beatrice, Neb., has a very popular sister but feels somewhat jealous of her. Tom Overmeyer, 16, who lives in Fresno, Calif., and Maggie Colfax who hails from Springfield, Ohio, will offer their thoughts with mine. Welcome!

Dr. Wallace: My older sister is very beautiful and popular with both boys and girls. She is a cheerleader and is senior class president.

Unfortunately for me, I am not beautiful and popular and did not make the cheerleading squad. My only saving grace is that I am a member of the honor society.

My problem is while I love my sister, there are times when I feel good when she has a problem. I know this is wrong, but what can I do to stop feeling this way? — Beverly Beverly: Stop fantasizing about your sister's life and start living your own.

The correct hairstyle, use of cosmetics, and the right type of clothing will do wonders for your looks and personality. — Dr. Wallace

Hi Bev.: Let's face it. Brains are much more important than beauty. You are lucky to have the "smarts." I never heard of a dumb person getting a new brain, but persons who are not beautiful can have nose jobs, face-lifts, hair transplants, bust enlargers and hip slimmers.

And with all your brains, you will have enough money to make yourself beautiful. Start thinking about the "new you" and you won't have time to be jealous of your sister.

Did you ever see a picture of Mario Thomas (Danny Thomas' daughter) before her nose job — pure ugly. — Keep Truckin' — Tom Hello Beverly: You are spending too much time feeling sorry for yourself. Beauty comes from within and popularity is the result of participation. Get involved and start enjoying your high school days. — All the best, Maggie.

Pastas are thrifty, hearty, nutritious and delicious

COLLEGE STATION — Serve pasta for hearty eating at mealtime, says Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Pasta includes all members of the spaghetti, macaroni and noodle family, she explains.

Mrs. Sweeten is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The bland flavor of pasta complements a variety of foods from mild cheeses to highly-spiced, tomato-based sauces.

In addition, pasta, a good source of food energy, the B vitamins and iron at low costs, help stretch the food dollar by making meat and other protein foods go farther.

Pasta also supplies small amounts of protein which is supplemented in meat, poultry, fish, cheese, eggs and milk — foods often combined with pasta, the specialist points out.

Pasta dough may come in 150 different shapes, ranging from alphabet shapes to wide lasagna-type noodles. Among the most unusual shapes are the Italian varieties such as the green noodles containing spinach or the cresta di gallo shaped like a rooster's crest.

Store pasta at room temperature in a closed container to keep dust, moisture and insects out for up to one year, except egg noodles. Keep egg noodles no more than six months, she recommends.

Cook pasta to tender yet firm stage but not sticky. Add pasta to rapidly boiling, salted water, and cook only until tender.

Thick pastas require more water.

Avoid overcooking pasta — it becomes soft and mushy. Shorten the cooking time if pasta will be used in a combination dish that needs further cooking. Cook pasta just before serving, Mrs. Sweeten continues. If you must cook it ahead, keep it hot in a strainer over hot water, and add cooking oil, butter or margarine to reduce sticking.

To use pasta in salads, add salad dressing while pasta is still hot to prevent sticking and to help blend flavors.

Use different kinds of pasta interchangeably in most recipes that call for a given weight of uncooked pasta. However, if the recipe calls for one cup or one and one-half cups, accurate substitution may be hard.

A one-half cup serving of macaroni provides 130 calories, spaghetti, 173, and egg noodles, 117.

For diets which restrict the use of eggs, select pastas other than egg noodles to avoid this ingredient, the specialist advises.

Dear Abby

Sexual Harassment Works Both Ways

DEAR ABBY: Numerous organizations have been formed to protect women against sexual harassment by their supervisors, but to my knowledge none has been formed to protect us men.

As president of a large corporation and formerly holding numerous executive positions, I know that women are equally aggressive in offering their favors, but more subtle in their approach, i.e.:

"My husband is out of town, so why don't you come over and swim with me in our pool?"
Or, "I'm so tired. Will you buy me a drink after work?"
Or, "My car has broken down. I'll pour you a cool one if you'll drive me home."

I've had female employees lean down and brush my arm with their breasts, or sit unnecessarily close while taking dictation, exposing a leg up to the thigh through a slit skirt. I've had them tell me they admire my body. Some have even come right out and said they'd like to go to bed with me! Of course, a man who turns down a lady's favors hurls the ultimate insult.

I seriously question that any woman must submit to sexual overtures to hold her job. I suspect if she gets involved with her boss, it was her idea.

So how about an organization to protect men from aggressive female employees? This letter will never see print, but at least I got it off my chest.

HARASSED IN GARLAND, TEXAS

DEAR HARASSED: I'm all for equality. Why don't you round up other men who need protection against female harassment and form a protective society?

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for saying in your column that doctors can treat kids for VD without telling the kids' parents. I never knew that. I am a 16-year-old boy who has been worried about having VD for the past three months, but I was afraid to do anything about it.

After I read your column, I called our family doctor and asked him if he would see me without telling my folks. He said to come right down and everything would be confidential. I went and found out I had gonorrhea. That wonderful doctor treated me for it and didn't charge me anything. I'm saving my money, and come Christmas he's going to get a very fine present from me. Thank you, too, Abby.

WINNETKA READER

DEAR READER: If there are any other young readers out there who are afraid to see a doctor, telephone your county public health department (the number is in your telephone directory), level with them, and they will provide a confidential examination and treatment if necessary. If they refuse, write to me immediately, and I will tell you where you can get help.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who had four small children, passed away, and two years later our son-in-law married a widow with one child.

We were told that we may not have our four grandchildren visit us unless we take all five! Our son-in-law is bending over backward to show no preference for his own children over his stepchild, but we think he is going too far. What do you think?

GRANDPARENTS OF FOUR—NOT FIVE

DEAR GRANDPARENTS: Give him your fullest cooperation. He sounds like a wonderful person, deserving of all the help he can get.

Girl scouts to register

Girl Scout registration is being held this week through Friday, in the elementary schools.

Survey forms are available to girls interested in becoming scouts through the local schools.

Troop organizers are Mrs. Guy Burrow, 263-8952, at Moss Elementary; Mrs. R. M. Oliver, 263-3704, at College Heights; Mrs. James Anderson, 263-1484, at Kentwood; Mrs. Charles Burdette, 263-2079, at Marcy; Mrs. Jake Glickman, 263-3419, at Washington; Mrs. Ralph Reinert, 267-1550, at Immaculate Heart of Mary School and Mrs. Lupe Ortiz, 263-4631, at Bauer Elementary School.

Schools and areas not listed may get information and forms at the Girl Scout District office, 2005 Gregg, or phone 263-1364 Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons between 1 and 5 p.m.

Homemakers meet Thursday

The Young Homemakers Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Homemaking Living Room at Big Spring High School Thursday evening.

Women between the ages of 18 and 34 are cordially invited to attend this first meeting of the school year. Mrs. Alma Wrightsill, homemaking teacher, is the sponsor.

Names in the news

ANDRES SEGOVIA JAMES WOODS

Guitarist has high price

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Music-lovers paid up to 200,000 lire — $240 — for a ticket to hear a one-hour recital by Andres Segovia, the 86-year-old virtuoso guitarist.

Segovia, who performed at the ornate La Fenice theater Tuesday night, was given a royal welcome. Mayor Mario Rigo and government dignitaries headed by Senate President Amintore Fanfani waited outside the theater to greet Segovia.

Segovia, a Spaniard, was given the Grand Cross of Cavalry, one of Italy's highest civilian honors.

James Woods weds model

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Woods, the bad-guy actor in such films as "The Onion Field" and "In the Heat of the Night," has married model Kathy Greko.

Woods, 33, who just completed filming of his latest movie, "Fast-Walking," was married to Ms. Greko, 23, in Las Vegas, Nev., over the weekend, according to his agent, Mel Asch.

Woods, who played a killer in "The Onion Field," has his first romantic lead role in "Fast-Walking," in which he plays a prison guard opposite Kay Lenz.

He also played the doomed artist Carl, opposite Meryl Streep, in the television miniseries "Holocaust."

BETTY FORD GOLDIE HAWN

Mrs. Ford on care panel

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Betty Ford's battle against drinking and drug use has given her useful insight for her new position as member of a state health care advisory committee, according to California's health director Mrs. Ford.

The former first lady, who was treated for an alcohol and drug problem in 1978, will serve on a committee on hospital care for people with similar problems. Health Director Beverlee Myers said Tuesday.

Mrs. Ford and her husband, former President Gerald Ford, live in Rancho Mirage, near Palm Springs.

Goldie sued for divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Goldie Hawn has been sued for divorce by her husband of four years, singer Bill Hudson.

The Superior Court suit was filed Aug. 15, court records show. Representatives of Miss Hawn or Hudson could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

The couple has two children. Miss Hawn, 34, rose to fame as the non-stop giggler on the 1960s television series "Laugh In" and won an Academy Award as best supporting actress in the 1969 film "Cactus Flower."

She makes her debut as executive producer in the forthcoming film "Private Benjamin," in which she also stars.

Hudson is a member of the Hudson Brothers singing group.

Government launches another abscam trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — With one conviction on the books, the government is launching into the second abscam trial as jury selection begins in the case of Rep. John Jenrette.

The three-term South Carolina Democrat and his friend and co-defendant, businessman John Stowe, insist they are innocent of the federal charges. Jenrette was indicted on one count of conspiracy and two counts of bribery; Stowe was charged with conspiracy and with aiding and abetting bribery.

Assistant U.S. Attorney John Kotelly and defense attorneys were preparing to question about 100 prospective jurors. U.S. District Judge John Garrett Penn, expecting to seat a jury today, scheduled the prosecution case to begin Thursday.

For observers, the trial promises sharp contrasts between Kotelly, considered cool and low-keyed in the courtroom, and Jenrette's attorney, Kenneth M. Robinson, a flamboyant South Carolina native whose emotion-packed arguments have led to acquittals in a string of tough cases.

For Jenrette, the trial is a fight "for my political life and a great part of my other life." The 44-year-old congressman is seeking re-election after a narrow victory in the Democratic primary run-off vote in June.

The trial is the second stemming from Abcam, the 14-month investigation that has yielded indictments against six members of Congress and 13 others.

The first Abcam trial, in federal court in New York City, ended Saturday, when jurors convicted Rep. Michael "Ozzie" Myers, D-Pa., and three other men of bribery and conspiracy. All four say they will appeal.

Attorneys on both sides in the Jenrette case, and the others to follow, saw the Myers trial as a crucial test of jury reaction to the government's undercover tactics, its videotaped evidence and one of its key witnesses, convicted swindler Mel Weinberg, who helped FBI agents carry out the undercover "sting."

As part of the investigation, codenamed Abcam for Abdul Enterprises, FBI agents posed as representatives of a fictitious Arab sheik willing to pay bribes for help with immigration problems and for other favors.
