Floods persist as Danielle tapers off

HOUSTON (AP) — Residents along the upper Texas coast were awash Saturday in floodwaters caused by up to 12 inches of rain that fell as Tropical Storm Danielle splashed inland and collapsed.

One unidentified woman drowned and Beaumont police searched for two others who might have been in a car when it plunged into a flooded underpass and sank in 20 feet of water, said Sgt. Martin Goldbeck.

Meanwhile, busy forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami watched Tropical Storm Earl building strength in the western Atlantic.

Another depression was nearing tropical storm strength off Cape Hatteras, N.C.

However, neither disturbance posed any immediate threat to land, forecasters said.

In Port Arthur, an industrial community of 60,000 near the Texas-Louisiana border, at least 40 people were evacuated from the Montrose section of the city's northwest side, said Jefferson County Civil Defense spokesman Bryan Broussard.

The evacuees were taken by truck to an emergency shelter at DeQueen Elementary School, Broussard said.

One officer, who declined to be identified, estimated 60 to 80 percent of all the streets in the city were flooded.

"Our regular police cars just won't make it in the deep water," the spokesman said.

Two city underpasses were flooded and several cars, abandoned Friday night, stood in roof-deep water, said police officer Loddie Valka.

Many streets and highways in nearby Beaumont, a city of 116,000, were flooded in waist-deep waters.

"We've got flooding all over the city," said Police Sgt. Martin Goldbeck. "There was one time when I'd guess just about every street in town had water over them."

He said there was no formal evacuation in effect, although many residents on the south side had chosen to leave.

Goldbeck said, "We've asked people to stay in their homes unless they're seriously threatened, because the traffic will force water into homes that otherwise might not get water."

Some minor street flooding also was reported in the Houston area, authorities said.

Tornado warnings and flash flood watches were issued for most of Southeast Texas.

A tornado touched down shortly after noon Saturday at Port Bolivar, on the barrier island about 50 miles southeast of Houston, said Fire Marshal John Kreuzer.

"It had rained real hard here most of the day. It suddenly stopped and then it popped out of the clouds," Kreuzer said.

No one was injured, but the twister tore off a metal wall of an old county storage barn before going back into the clouds, he said.

Short-lived Danielle — the fourth named storm of the 1980 hurricane season — also spawned a tornado northeast of the small Southeast Texas community of Alvin, about 26 miles south of Houston.

However, the twister moved eastward toward the neighboring community of Friendswood, but never touched ground, said Alvin Police Department spokesman Ruth LaBarera.

A tornado, moving northward, also was spotted in southwest Houston, according to the Harris County Sheriff's Department.

Deputies said there were no immediate reports of injuries, but added that several street signs were torn down and shingles were blown off area homes.

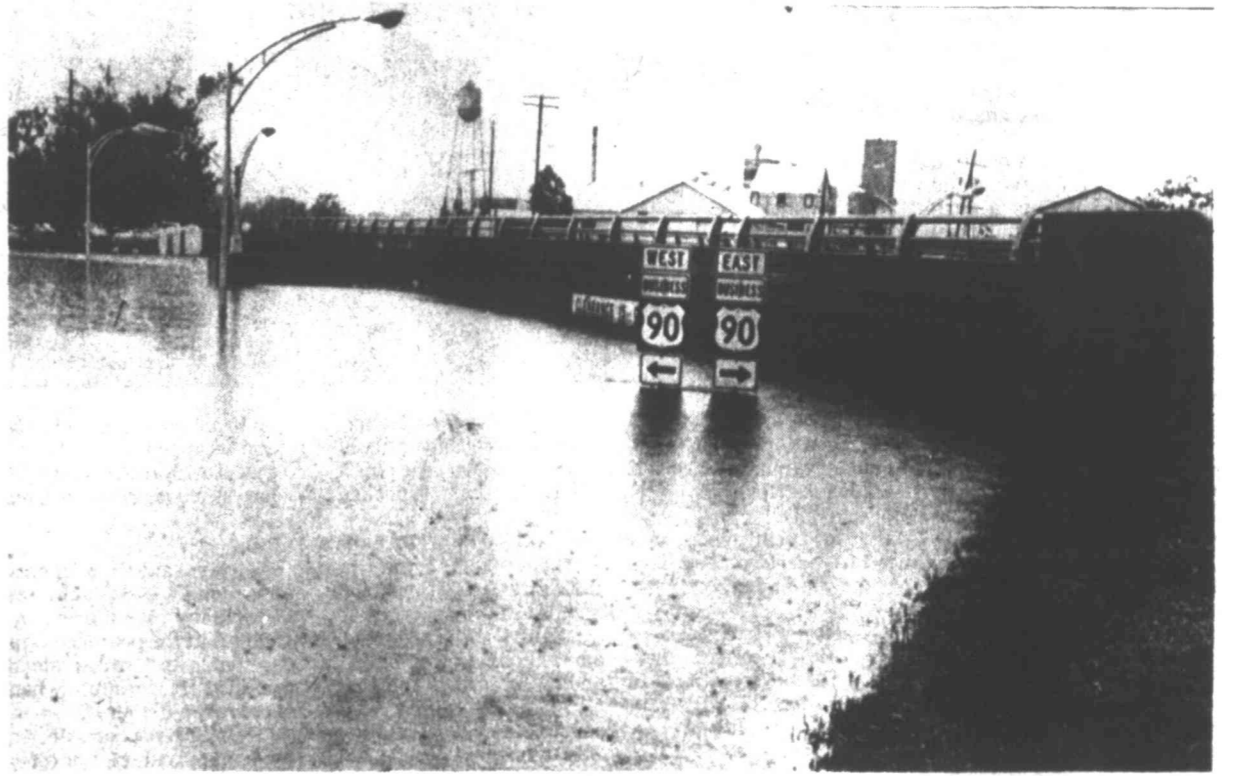

Tornadoes also were spotted near the Stafford-Pearland area southwest of Houston, authorities said.

Danielle, a full-fledged tropical storm for only 18 hours, was downgraded to a tropical depression at dawn. Heavy rains that pounded the area tapered off Saturday afternoon.

By noon, the remnants of the storm were situated northwest of Victoria in South Central Texas. The depression was expected to continue slowly westward at 10 mph, the National Weather Service said.

In 24 hours, Beaumont-Port Arthur had received 17.11 inches of rain, Lakeview had recorded 17.4 inches and nearly three inches had fallen in Houston, the NWS said.

Off the Louisiana coast, the Coast Guard continued to search for a crewman, missing since a maintenance barge secured to an oil rig about 20 miles offshore from Grand Isle, La., capsized before dawn Friday in 12-foot seas.

STORM DROWNING SITE — A 30-year-old woman from out of state drowned in this flooded railroad underpass when she drove into the water at the height of tropical storm Danielle as it passed through the area last night. The underpass has 15 feet of water in it.

Nine other crew members were rescued unharmed by commercial boats or Coast Guard helicopters, said Coast Guard spokesman Doug Bandos.

Later Friday, 12 men aboard a helicopter were dumped into the Gulf of Mexico when Danielle's high winds forced it down, said Coast Guard Petty Officer Kenneth Harry.

"The pilot ... headed back to shore but because they were traveling into the winds, he didn't have enough fuel to make it," Harry said.

The crew was rescued unharmed but the aircraft sank when it slipped off a flotation pontoon as the Coast Guard towed it in, he said.

Oswald's widow asks for exhumation of body

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The widow of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald wants the grave of her former husband opened because of a rumor that "very evil people" may have removed the body.

"The rumor I have heard lately is that his body is no longer in the grave," Marina Oswald Porter told a state district judge Friday during the first day of a hearing to determine if Oswald's body will be unearthed.

"I strongly believe in the possibility that the body will not be there," she said, reading from a prepared statement. "I ask the court to move for the opening of the grave."

The widow of President John F. Kennedy's assassin was called to the stand by an attorney for Oswald's brother, Robert, who is seeking a temporary injunction against exhumation sought by British author Michael Eddowes.

Eddowes has been trying since 1978 to prove his theory that a Soviet agent may be buried in the grave. He contends a Soviet agent named Alex James Hiddell assumed Oswald's identity when Oswald went to the Soviet Union in 1958.

According to Eddowes, it was Hiddell who shot President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, and was shot by Dallas nightclub owner Jack Ruby two days later.

Mrs. Porter, who remarried in 1965, told Judge James Wright she had no doubt that the man buried in that grave 17 years ago was her husband.

"I met a gentleman in Russia and his name was Lee Harvey Oswald," she said in a soft, accented voice. "That is the same man that is buried there."

She said she identified her husband's body at the morgue and at a funeral home after he was shot to death in the basement of the Dallas police station.

Mrs. Oswald said one reason she signed a consent order last October agreeing to the exhumation was to clarify her own status.

"My children and I are illegal aliens, if this is true," she said of Eddowes' theory. "We want to live here without any doubt."

Mrs. Oswald was the final witness

Friday. She was hustled out a side door by an escort of three sheriff's deputies and Wright recessed the hearing until 9 a.m. Monday.

Earlier Friday, Robert Oswald testified he is "very strongly opposed" to the exhumation since he has no doubts that his brother's body is buried in the grave.

Oswald, who earlier testified that he purchased the gravesite in 1963, said he saw his brother "for 8 to 10 minutes" on the day of the death and again at an open-casket funeral in Fort Worth's Rose Hill Cemetery.

Dallas County Medical Examiner Dr. Charles Petty, a defendant in Oswald's suit, testified Friday he agreed to perform an autopsy on the remains "at no expense to Dallas County" after receiving permission to do so from Mrs. Porter.

Wright agreed Wednesday to assume jurisdiction in the case, but transferred Petty's part of the case to Dallas County, at Petty's request.

Dallas County commissioners decided Thursday to prohibit Petty from using the county's forensic lab for the autopsy.

'Execution judge' survives attack

Iran commission discusses U.S. hostages

Iran's Foreign Relations Commission held preliminary discussions Saturday on the 52 American hostages, whose futures depend on the decision of the full Parliament, Tehran Radio said.

In Hasht Par about 100 miles northwest of Tehran, Ayatollah Sadeq Khalkhali escaped an attack by gunmen Saturday afternoon, the radio said. Khalkhali was unharmed, the broadcast said, but his bodyguard was injured and four people were arrested and being questioned.

Khalkhali is the roving Islamic judge whose verdicts have led to the executions of hundreds of Iranians for drug smuggling, sex offenses and other crimes.

The commission's discussions are in preparation for an as yet unscheduled open debate by the Majlis, or Parliament, which Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini has invested with final authority in the "investigation and resolution of the issue of the U.S. spies," the broadcast said.

Debate has been delayed while the Parliament and President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr wrestled over the formation of a new government. The parliamentary hardliners appeared to win the day when Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai was selected.

Rajai's Cabinet is yet to be approved by the Majlis, and there were other indications that debate on the hostages, who were in their 308th day of captivity on Saturday, may be further delayed.

Announcement of the commission's discussions came less than a day after Iran's foreign minister-designate, Hossein Musavi, said the new government's first priority must be to erase the effects of outside influences on Iran, the official Pars news agency said.

The fundamentalist Islamic regime came to power, in part, because of widespread resentment of Western influences under the regime of the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

Speaking to thousands of Iranians gathered at Tehran University for Sabbath prayers Friday, Musavi also criticized a member of the present Cabinet who recently said the success of the new government depended on release of the Americans.

Outgoing Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, known to favor resolution of the hostage crisis, reportedly urged again last week that the Americans, who have been held captive since Nov. 4, be freed.

Bush says Reagan big enough to apologize for his mistakes

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate George Bush said Saturday that Ronald Reagan is a stronger presidential candidate than ever because he was big enough to apologize for a mistake.

In brief remarks to the Texas Republican convention, Bush brought up a comment Reagan made recently about the birthplace of the Ku Klux Klan.

"One of the big and very important differences between Reagan and Jimmy Carter was vividly spelled out this past week when Governor Reagan was man enough to apologize to Governor Fob James of Alabama over a remark that was deliberately misinterpreted and misunderstood," Bush said.

"That misunderstanding has been clarified ... but one thing stands clear in my mind — that Ronald Reagan is a man big and strong enough to make that apology."

Bush went on to list a number of mistakes he said Carter had made, including "foolishly allowing his brother, Billy, to set up a White House meeting for the representative of Libyan dictator (Moamarr) Khadafy."

He said when Carter "makes mistake after mistake in foreign affairs and on the economy, does he apologize? No. What he does is tell us we are suffering from a 'malaise.' We don't have a malaise. We don't have any leadership in Washington."

"We can cure that on November 4th by electing Ronald Reagan the next president of the United States," Bush said.

"I am absolutely convinced if you do your job, Governor Reagan will be the next president," Bush told the Texas convention.

Bush, former Houston congressman and adopted Texan, joined a long list of state and national party officials urging the Texas Republican Convention to dedicate the state party to President Jimmy Carter's defeat.

After Bush's speech, the 3,800 delegates and about as many alternates staged a demonstration as part of a nationwide closed-circuit television appeal seeking volunteers for the Ronald Reagan-Bush campaign.

The last business of the convention was action on a state party platform, that closely followed the national document adopted by Reagan, and selection of a new executive committee to govern the party the next two years.

"With only 60 days left until the election, I feel Reagan will win," Bush told celebrating delegates Friday night at a fiesta in the historic La Villita section.

Reagan sent a personal message to the convention, read late Friday by Anne Armstrong.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Working for us all

Q. Why is it that a major percentage of the Big Spring Industrial Park prospects are customers of Cosden? Aren't they being recruited by Greenville Hahn, an employee of Cosden? Why don't we look for other industries that don't use petrochemicals in their production process?

A. It so happens that Mr. Hahn and Cosden are doing Big Spring and environs a signal service by contacting industries to expand or relocate here. Big Spring is attractive to numerous industries because it is near the great Permian Basin oil fields and to Cosden's refinery. The Big Spring Industrial Foundation works unceasingly to interest scouts for all kinds of industry to Howard County, despite the fact that it is far removed from (1) the great cities and (2) a waterway. Hahn and Cosden do everything they can to enhance Big Spring's image, regardless whether they benefit directly or not.

Live longer and better with a pet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pet a dog. Stroke a cat. Talk to a bird. Watch fish swim. You'll feel better for it, and a University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist says he has proof.

Dr. Aaron Katcher says research indicates cardiac patients and those with high blood pressure live longer and live better when they have pets.

"It helps them survive," Katcher said during an interview in a cluttered third floor office which he uses as director of Penn's Division of Behavioral Sciences.

But Katcher cautioned that though limited studies show potential health value in having a pet, an animal "isn't a cure-all like chicken soup or penicillin."

"They can have a positive effect, a small effect," he said. "They are not a cure for heart disease, but they can help."

"People with heart disease are usually lonely. Pets, especially cats and dogs, are a very important source of companionship. As people get older they are needed less by their family and friends and frequently feel abandoned. This feeling of uselessness results in depression. A pet fills this void."

Besides companionship, Katcher cited other health-related benefits from pet ownership:

—Activity. "Busy people live longer. When you have a pet your day is active. You walk the pet, talk to the pet, go to the store to buy pet food up to an automatic blood pressure monitor, shown at left and wrapped around her left arm, which records data that Dr. Katcher uses to show that petting animals lowers blood pressure in humans.

... A dog or cat gives you a need for exercise. You have to take the animal out for a walk."

—Touch. "Touch has a very calming effect. Pets give a person something to fondle, to touch. You communicate, not with words, but with touch."

—Distraction. "Animals distract you from bad thoughts and worries, another calming effect."

—Safety. "The presence of an animal helps build a feeling of safety, and that's important in a city where people often are afraid to go out alone, or even live alone." Katcher said experiments at Penn's School of Veterinary Medicine indicate that the presence of a dog tends to reduce blood pressure. It goes up when people are together.

"Pets are not substitutes for human contact, but offer a kind of relationship which other human beings do not provide."

"When people talk to people there is a rise in blood pressure, especially in those who talk fast and are energetic, enough to put them in the hypertensive range," Katcher said.

"When people talk to pets or touch them the pressure doesn't rise, and often goes down. They talk more quietly, slowly, the way they talk to a child. And they believe their animals understand them. This is calming."

"An animal doesn't care what happens to you during the day at work or while shopping. The animal doesn't talk back, doesn't disagree, doesn't criticize. It offers a unique companionship, a companionship without criticism."

Katcher said pets have been found useful in treating emotionally disturbed children, and also as aides in therapy in mental institutions.

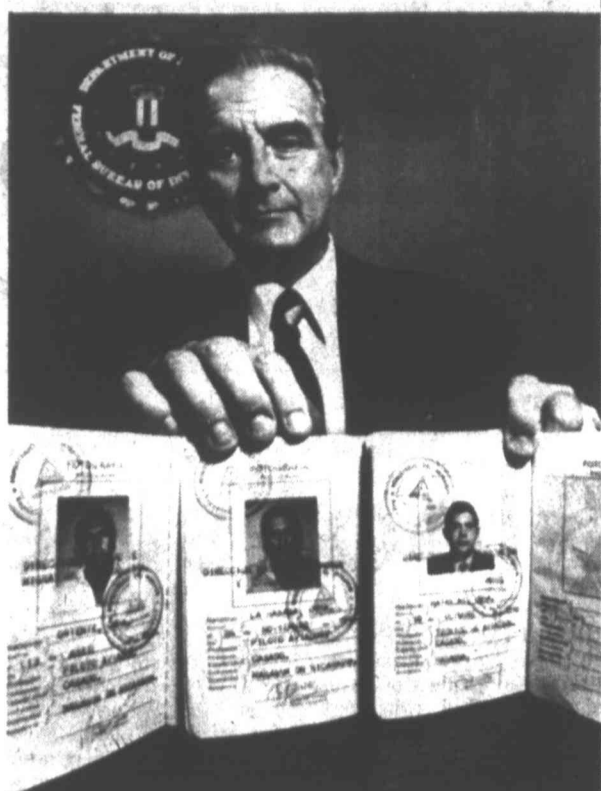

The psychiatrist told about a study in a Lima, Ohio, prison where one cellblock with high-risk convicts was permitted to have birds and small animals like gerbils and hamsters in their cells.

"There was a great calming effect," he said. "A lot of affection is exchanged. You have to touch small pets very gently."

He mentioned other studies that found hospitalized cardiac patients with pets lived at least a year longer than those without them.

Katcher said a lot more research is necessary.

Katcher said choosing the right pet is important. It must be one that can be handled easily, not too aggressive, and suitable to the living conditions.

GRAND ISLE, La. (AP) — The Coast Guard continued searching Saturday for an oil field worker dumped into the Gulf of Mexico when a work barge capsized in heavy seas.

Nine other men were rescued Friday as search crews braved 12 foot seas and 35 mile an hour winds pushed by a tropical storm.

The missing man was employed by Land and Offshore Services Inc. of Gueydan, La., but the company would not release his name.

The work barge Star 2, which stood on 90-foot legs, capsized while crewman were sandblasting a Chevron production platform about 20 miles off shore.

Bilingual ed hearing set

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Secretary of Education Shirley M. Hufstедler will open the nation's first public hearing on bilingual education Monday at 9 a.m. at the Institute of Texan Cultures.

Poland has party leader

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — New Polish leader Stanislaw Kania, faced with continuing labor unrest, took control of the Communist Party on Saturday, pledging to honor his predecessor's commitments to the nation's workers and strengthen Poland's ties with Moscow.

Despite a general return to work since strikes swept the Baltic port region and other Polish cities, some walkouts over local demands continued in some regions, a Warsaw trade union daily said.

Kania was chosen early Saturday by the Communist Party's Central Committee to replace Edward Gierk, who took power 10 years ago in the wake of labor unrest that toppled Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Texas museums get grant

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Education Shirley Hufstедler announced grants totaling $10.4 million to 405 museums in all 50 states on Saturday.

The grants from the department's Institute of Museum Services included $262,000 for 10 Texas museums.

Mrs. Lee Kimche, director of the institute, said Texas museums are among the best in the nation.

"From the John E. Conner Museum with its local history collections to the art education program at the University of Texas Art Museum to the Laguna Gloria Art Museum's programs which support regional artists, Texas is a microcosm of the diversity and quality of museums nationwide," she said.

The Conner museum is in Kingsville, Laguna Gloria in Austin.

Cycle wreck injures two

Brian William Bingham and Donna Holden, both of 1003 Rosemont, are "thumbs up" after a motorcycle wreck Saturday on FM 700.

Their thumbs are in casts; one broke the digit on one hand and one on the other.

Bingham failed to negotiate a curve one-tenth of a mile north of IS 20 on a 1971 350 Honda. The bike left the road and turned over in a pasture. They were northbound at 1:25 a.m. Saturday.

The pair was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shaffer Ambulance. They are in good condition.

Mrs. Holden cut her forehead. Bingham complained of an injured left shoulder and left ankle. He received bad facial cuts. Neither were wearing helmets, said Department of Public Safety Trooper Glen Redmon.

Tower speaks to Republicans at convention in San Antonio

By JACKIE CALMES
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

SAN ANTONIO — After celebrating "A Night in Old San Antonio" Friday night, delegates to the two-day Republican State Convention were unenthusiastic about their Saturday morning delegation caucuses.

"This kind of junk just bores me to death," said a woman from the 30th state senatorial district, which includes Big Spring.

But with U.S. Sen. John Tower of Wichita Falls a fellow delegate, her two-hour caucus probably was less boring than most others.

Employing virulently anti-Carter rhetoric, Tower conducted an impromptu Q-and-A session with about 100 of the 107 alternates and 107 delegates eligible to be were from the Northwest Texas district.

He killed time while others counted votes in the caucus' only contested election, that of the 30th district's committeeman on the 62-member State Republican Executive Committee.

Republicans from each of Texas' 31 state senatorial districts Saturday elected one man and one woman to serve on the 62-member SREC, the party's policy-making arm.

Incumbent John Kirchoff of Plainview, who is also the GOP candidate for the 76th District seat in the Texas House, won a second two-year term after surviving a challenge from veterinarian Bob Jones of Childress County.

The vote was closer than expected, 57 to 42, but not as close as when the two ran against each other two years ago. Kirchoff's female partner on the SREC, Jacques Allen of Wichita Falls, was unopposed and won by acclamation.

Mrs. Allen, wife of delegate Dr. David Allen, is also the delegation's convention chairman. As such, she presided over the caucus and nearly forgot to bring up her own re-election bid for a vote.

Kirchoff, in pre-vote remarks, pointed out that 21 of the 29 North Texas counties in the 30th district now have GOP organizations — seven more than when he was elected to the SREC in 1978.

"I will agree Jacques and John have done a real good job," Jones said, adding, "But personally, I feel I would be an excellent choice."

He said his Childress area is more centrally located and thus more accessible to party members than Plainview. One who voted for Jones, delegate Bill Sheppard of Big Spring, agreed.

"And besides, he's an old-time friend," Sheppard said. "I don't have anything against Kirchoff. I don't think anybody does."

Tower led off his stand-up routine with his current pet theme — lambasting President Carter for publicizing news of a so-called Stealth bomber still years from development, that will not be detectable to Soviets.

It was "unconscionable," the 20-year veteran senator said, for Carter "to breach national security on a highly sensitive matter" for political gain.

Tower said that as a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, he was one of five senators to be briefed about the Stealth technology. "So I've known about it for some time," he said.

"The reason Carter did this is two-fold," Tower said. "First, to try to create the illusion of being for the advancement of high technology in national defense."

The second reason, Tower said, was to blunt calls for bombers that can be developed now.

To other questions, Tower said: He does not think organized labor is gaining strength in Texas.

"I'd like to think they reached their peak when they almost beat me," he said, referring to his hair-thin 1978 win over Bob Krueger.

"Under optimum conditions, we (Republicans) could take over the Senate."

The current mix of 58 Democrats, 41 Republicans and one independent could change this year to include 46 Republicans at least and 54 at best, he predicted.

Carter is doing nothing to stem the flow of undocumented workers from Mexico.

Since the federal government creates the problem, Tower said, it should finance education for children of illegal aliens in Texas.

Police Beat Family vehicles victims

A Lincoln Continental belonging to a member of the Mendoza family was shot up and a Cadillac stolen from another member of the family Friday and Saturday.

Santos Mendoza, 901 N. Gregg, reported shots fired at 2 a.m. Saturday into his 1976 Lincoln Continental.

Three shots hit the vehicle. One struck the left top part of the trunk lid. Two bullet abrasions were made on the back left fender. Damage was estimated at $400.

Robert Mendoza, 901 N. Gregg, told police his white and orange 1974 Cadillac El Dorado was taken by unknowns at 11:49 p.m. Friday. Suspicious vehicles were spotted driving slowly on Gregg at the time of the theft. Car value is unknown.

Theft of gasoline was reported to police by Victor Zapata, 1215 Utah, Saturday at 11:55 a.m. The gas was siphoned from his car while it was parked behind Gibson's, he said. A witness said four males stole four gallons of the gas.

A car parked near the intersection of IS 20 and Highway 87 was burglarized. Patrolman Bill Cooper filed a report that a suspect was seen by him removing items from an unattended car. The victim of the burglary is unknown.

A 1978 Impala was reported taken from Al Acuff, 709 Aylford, Saturday. The car is valued at $1,500.

A home at 2505 Wasson was burglarized at 7:02 a.m. Saturday but only a small amount of change was taken.

Wheelcovers valued at $280 and a wheelbarrow valued at $30 were taken from Rutilio Gurrara, 701 S. Settles. The thefts occurred at 9:14 a.m. Saturday.

Motor accidents in the city were few and no one was hurt.

Sandra Goodwin, 4105 Parkway, collided with Lula Boyd Metcalf, 3219 Drexel, Friday at 12:30 p.m. The accident occurred on S. Gregg near 17th Street.

A vehicle operated by Vera Simmons Covington, 4016 Dixon, was struck by a hit-and-run driver 7:15 p.m. Friday. The accident occurred in the Hall-Bennett parking lot near the corner of E. Eighth St. and Goliad.

Vehicles driven by Louise Hillburn Curry, 1407 Mount Vernon, and Will Warren Clement, 1503 Cherokee, collided at the 2800 block of Gregg Street near the S. Service Road of FM 700. The wreck occurred Saturday at 9:45 a.m.

Norfleet relentless tracker

By TOMMY HART
Some readers saw the picture of J. Frank Norfleet in a recent edition of the Herald and asked about his story. It is a good one and is worth repeating.

The bad guys thought they had a real pigeon when they drew the sturdy rancher from Hale Center, Texas, into conversation in a Dallas hotel in November, 1919.

He had just sold a carload of mules in the boom town of Dublin and had gone to Dallas to confer with Capt. Dick Slaughter, hoping to close a deal for the purchase of 10,000 acres of land out of Slaughter's ranch in Hale County.

Ever trusting, Norfleet began talking with a friendly group in the hotel — well dressed, urbane gents who soon found out Norfleet was well-heeled. They decided to shear the sheep right there and unfolded a pretty persuasive tale about making a killing in the stock market. Furthermore, they were willing to share their knowledge.

Norfleet had no way of knowing but he was being introduced to one of the most elaborate swindles of all time. J. Frank was advised to plunge on a certain stock. Naturally, it was a winner. When payoff time came, however, a glib talker calling himself the Secretary of the Stock Exchange explained to Norfleet that since he wasn't a member of the exchange he would have to produce the cash to show in good faith that he could pay off all the losses in case he had lost. The ever trusting Norfleet hurried home, borrowed all the money he could and returned to Dallas to turn it over to his new friends.

Norfleet awakened the following morning to discover his new pals had vanished with the $45,000 of his own money he had put up plus $90,000 he was able to borrow.

It took J. Frank a while to realize what had happened to him. Once he accepted the fact that he had been taken, he set about to bring the rogues to heel.

He remembered the leader was a glib talker. Having transfixed Furey in his mind, he began to recall the little mannerisms that set the others apart. Reassured by his wife that she would run the ranch and furthermore would keep him supplied with expense money, Norfleet set out on one of the most incredible man hunts in history.

His chase lasted four years and he covered 32,000 miles across much of North America and into Cuba. He visited countless police stations, looked at numberless photographs, ran down incredible small clues that invariably paid dividends.

J. FRANK NORFLEET
(Art work by Sarah Higgins)

Norfleet remembered a name he had seen in a little red book carried by one of the con men. The city of San Antonio had been mentioned. Norfleet traveled there and examined the registries of all the hotels until he found a name that was similar to the one used by one of the swindlers. The clue sent him to California. There he arrived just in time to see two of the con men, E.J. Ward and C. Gerber, being placed in jail.

He waited for their release, then brought them back to Texas in handcuffs. They subsequently were tried and sent to prison. From them, Norfleet learned that Furey, the head of the pack of jackals, lived in Los Angeles. Back he went to California.

Norfleet obtained the address of Furey only after searching through thousands of photographs in the police files. He staked out Furey's home and began a vigil that lasted for days. He became friendly with the bunko man's son and learned that Furey was soon to return home.

The Texan asked for the help of the governor's office in shadowing future moves of Furey but learned some startling and shameful facts about the Los Angeles Police Department. It came to light that two of their most trusted lawmen, both darlings of the film colony, were on the take.

Norfleet found out the hard to mingle with people he thought might be susceptible to sales pitches like the one he went for. He fell in with some con artists there but was soon recognized as a human bloodhound and almost came to an early end. In escaping a trap, he forced a man who was in on the scam to go with him and from that individual learned the location of the 'Exchange' — a building located on the ocean front — where Furey was staying.

Enlisting the aid of the Miami police, the Texan stormed the place only to have Furey escape by motor boat. Furey knew better than to stay in that vicinity, so he shipped out first for Bermuda and then for England for several months.

The determined Texan returned home dejected but was soon on the road again. Friends tipped him off that a woman in San Francisco was receiving money from Furey. The woman, evidently Furey's business agent, was receiving wires and letters from Jacksonville, Fla.

He picked up warrants of arrest before he arrived in Jacksonville. This time, he easily located Furey. He met up with the fugitive. A fight ensued but Norfleet was able to withdraw his pistol and subdue Furey.

Furey begged Norfleet to let him go and promised to pay him $20,000 for his release. He also told J. Frank he would have repaid him a long time previously had he been able to. The relentless pursuit by Norfleet had cost him much more money than he had ever taken from the rancher.

He tried to draw on Norfleet after cursing him on the street. The crooked lawman froze however, when he found himself looking down the gun barrel of the gritty Texan. Ultimately, he and his conniving buddy were sentenced to serve 14 years in San Quentin and it was Norfleet's testimony that sent them there.

Norfleet, relying on his instincts, decided that Florida would be a good place to look for Furey and his partners in crime. In time, he showed up in Miami helped Norfleet's cause. A tip sent J. Frank up to Oklahoma City where one of the con-men, Reno Hamlin, had been retained by the sheriff. Shortly thereafter, Norfleet had Hamlin back in Texas and stashed away in prison.

That left only one person in on the original scheme against Norfleet still at large — a man named W.B. Spencer. Once J. Frank got on his trail, he was unrelenting until the swindler was run to earth.

As it so happened, Spencer — by now using the name of Spencewood — was trying another fleecing game in Chicago. J. Frank had a brush with Spencer in Chicago but the fugitive got away.

The bloodhound in Norfleet wouldn't quit. He went to Denver when he heard about an elaborate swindle in the making and helped round up 34 of America's most proficient operators in the stock market exchange racket.

Norfleet, over a period of months, sifted out one clue after another before he followed Spencer's trail to Salt Lake City where the fugitive was being held on a traffic charge. Norfleet clamped the handcuffs on Spencer and brought him back to Texas. Like the others, Spencer, too, wound up in old Stoney Lonesome.

Furey died in prison. Another member of the gang committed suicide behind bars. In October, 1967, Norfleet fled this vale of tears at the age of 102 — truly a legend of his time.

CONTRACTOR DEL SHIREY (R) Chuck Stanley's firm supplies steel

Construction will start in 2 weeks on building

Construction will likely start in about two weeks on a 60 x 142 foot steel building authorized by the Big Spring Industrial Foundation for Round-Up Enterprises.

The contractor is Del Shirey of Big Spring, owner of Spring Country Builders, Inc.

Round-Up Industries, Kansas-based, manufactures fiberglass tanks for use in oil fields. Shirey said that the anticipated time for completion is about 68 days.

Chuck Stanley of Houston, district sales manager for National Steel Products Company, was here the past week to confer with Shirey about the project. The materials going into the structure here will bear the National Steel Products Company Stran name.

National Steel Products Company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of National Steel Corp., Pittsburgh, Pa., the nation's third largest steel manufacturer.

The Big Spring Industrial Foundation obtained a building from D. L. Dorland for the new industry. It will be substantially bigger than the original structure and will have 20-foot walls.

Shirey was the low bidder on the project among three who looked at the plans.

The building which will be renovated is located at the old Howard County Airport northeast of Big Spring.

There's a reason for voter apathy

From time to time, Americans draw fire from politicians, publications and people attentive to the political scene for showing a lack of enthusiasm for voting. More often than not, that lack of decisiveness is identified as apathy.

In view of the all the mud-slinging that has been taking place between the two presidential principals and the two major parties recently, it's a wonder the American voters shows any appetite at all for voting.

Granted that a good fight serves to warm interest in a campaign, there is no excuse for some of the verbal thunderbolts that have recently been traded by Mr. Carter and Mr. Reagan.

SEPTEMBER, THE MONTH when the "second season" for the presidential opponents begins, had hardly arrived before the opponents started trying to bloody each other.

The biggest flap occurred when GOP hopeful Ronald Reagan focused attention on President Carter's decision to start his campaign in Tuscomb, Ala.

After he spotted a man wearing a Jimmy Carter mask at the Michigan State Fair, Reagan said he thought the president was in Alabama, then added:

"I'm happy to be here, where you're dealing at first hand with the economic problems that have been committed, and he's opening his campaign down in that city that gave birth to and is the parent body of the Ku Klux Klan."

That's the kind of credit no community needs and in this case Reagan had been fed the wrong information. Under ordinary circumstances, Carter could have gently chided Reagan for being wrong but the Democrats saw a chance to embarrass Reagan and the GOPs, so their reaction was predictable. Their outcry almost forced Reagan into the bomb shelters.

A HALF DOZEN Southern governors got into the act. Together they sent Mr. Reagan a telegram demanding an apology. Mr. Carter, never one to pass up an opportunity, said Mr. Reagan had insulted an entire region. The Democrats found a few people who were willing to go before the television cameras and say they had changed their minds about the presidential race and would vote Democratic.

In fact, the fencing started long before Labor Day and both sides were guilty of slinging mud. The Democrats were circulating the news that the Klan, always the political whipping boy, was rallying behind Reagan. Reagan countered by saying it was a Democratic plot to smear him and he wanted no part of the odious Klan.

Patricia Harris, who is Mr. Carter's Secretary of Health and Human Services, got into the act by saying that when she saw the name Reagan she envisions the "specter of a white sheet behind him."

Earlier, Reagan had made a few remarks who offered aid and comfort to the Taiwanese but served only to stir up the Red Chinese. The Democrats turned that into a political football, too.

The issues are always lost and the demeanor of the campaign is invariably sullied when candidates turn to this sort of politicking.

And the pundits wonder what contributes to voter apathy.

Cuban firm?

Around the rim

Walt Finley

The Democrat who was accused of shooting J.R. has confessed. "I had to do it," he said. "If the Republicans are elected this fall, they might par-don him."

Beauteous Bertina DeLeon, Herald word chaser, who celebrates her birthday Monday, asked if I had heard about the "redneck" who glanced up and saw the Taco Bell sign in Dallas?

"Lookit—they're only been here two months and them Cuban refugees already done got their own telephone company."

That travelin' man, Kenneth Hart, rolls out another minigag:

TEACHER: Give me an example of a collective noun.

STUDENT: Garbage can.

Leonardo da Vinci said, "Nature never breaks her own laws."

Maybe so, remarked youthful Yolanda Bailon, Herald word maker who observes her 27th birthday Wednesday, "but I'd say this summer in Big Spring has been at least a misdemeanor."

Veterans leader "Skinny" Morrow, who has "lost" 84 pounds since November, says:

Inflation is making passing the buck hardly worthwhile.

Jimmy Carter has some relief in mind for drought-stricken Texans.

He is reportedly sending us 100,000 cases of unsold Billy Beer.

The crusty old Democrat on Main street said the campaign rhetoric is so bad, even his TV set blew a fuse.

A lot of voters are doing that too, Crusty.

Crusty wondered if I had ever thought of running for president on grounds I'd give the voters a laugh. What does he mean by that?

There have been at least two dictionaries published that deal with regional accents. I mention this, so Sports Editor Nathan Poss can understand what I'm arguing about as the OU-Texas football "war" approaches.

My bashful aunt, Marie Chastain, sent me a copy of the version called "What makes You Thank Okies Tawk Funny?" published by Ken Rigsbee, Bartlesville, Okla.

Here are some of Ken's definitions:

Tourists coming

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — It has just been announced that, for the first time, more foreign tourists visited the United States than American tourists went abroad. These foreign tourists know a bargain when they see one — and the U.S. is now one of the cheapest countries in the Western world.

This may be hard for Americans to swallow, but it's a fact of life, and since our economy depends on such hard currencies as the Japanese yen, the German Deutschmark, the French franc and the British pound, we all have to make a better effort to see that these tourists get their money's worth.

Here are some helpful hints to accommodate visitors from other countries.

MOST OF THEM have cameras, and they are dying to take pictures of the "natives" that they can show when they get back to Hamburg or wherever they came from. Don't get angry when they ask you to pose for a photo with your family on the front steps of your house, or when you're taking out your trash in the morning. Don't ask them for money before you agree to allow them to shoot your picture. If they offer you a few Danish kroner or a Swiss franc you may accept it, but be sure to say thank you.

Foreign tourists are great shoppers. If you are a store owner or salesperson, always wait on them first, because the more money they spend, the better our foreign balance of payments will be.

The exchange rate on the dollar changes every day, so there may be some delay in the transaction as you try to figure out what their traveler's checks are worth. Be patient and keep your temper, even when they call you a thief and complain that they could get a higher rate at their hotel.

People from abroad have their own conceptions as to what the United States is like, mostly based on our movies and television shows. They expect to get mugged in New York, mowed down in Chicago, gouged in Miami, and scalped by Indians in Phoenix, Ariz. They will be very disappointed if their fantasies are not fulfilled, and will go back home and say the U.S. is not what it is cracked up to be.

If we want Austrian shillings and South African rand, we must all play the roles expected of us. For example, if you see a foreign tourist in Central Park, and he hasn't been mugged yet, you owe it to your country to push him down and say "your money or your life." Something like this could make his whole trip.

FOREIGN TOURISTS are very insecure when traveling in America. It does no good to remind a Japanese visitor that, if it wasn't for the Americans, they still might be making rice paper fans instead of Toyota cars.

Above all, don't mention Pearl Harbor unless they want to bring it up. But it's perfectly all right to ask them, "Is Tokyo Rose still very popular in Japan?"

European tourists are particularly sensitive about the Marshall Plan, so I wouldn't say anything about it. If you happened to be in the Air Force during World War II, don't tell a German tourist who you enjoyed clobbering Stuttgart. They don't want to hear about it, and it really has nothing to do with the bargains they can get here in blue jeans.

The important thing to remember is that America's main interest in tourists is how much money they leave behind. As the poor relations of the Western world, we have to swallow our pride and get on our feet so that in the distant future we all might be able to travel again.

Early days of training hazardous

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Do you have specific advice about exercising during particularly hot days, especially now, when the boys and girls are getting into heavy conditioning for fall sports? —Mrs. P.W.

I can turn to the experts for some answers.

Dr. Albert Paolone of the Biokinetics Research Laboratory at Temple University's College of Health has some thoughts which were passed on to me. I'll try to capsuleize.

As you know, when you exercise you dissipate heat by sweating. In a hot environment (defined as one that exceeds the skin temperature, which is about 92 degrees) your body gains heat from that environment, creating a double heat problem. Since most pre-season conditioning is carried out in relatively hot temperatures, precautions should be taken.

Thirst is normally a good barometer of our liquid needs. This may not work in hot, humid weather. Dr. Paolone suggests that the exerciser may need to drink beyond his immediate thirst. He suggests drinking 12 to 14 ounces of liquid before beginning vigorous exercise. This may have to begin 15 to 20 minutes before the activity because that volume may be difficult to force down suddenly.

Another tip: If you exercise daily, watch for gradual progressive dehydration. An indication of this would be weight loss, usually about 4 percent of body weight, or five to six pounds in a 150-pound person.

Dr. Paolone urges coaches to view the first two or three days of practice as critical, and he advises going slowly to allow the body to adapt. Athletes should practice in light clothes those first days, and practices should be scheduled during the coolest parts of the day. Liquid during breaks is advised. Dr. Paolone notes that breaks are often too brief to allow each athlete to get to the water bucket. He advises against salt tablets and suggests a bit of extra salting of food and sticking to plain water.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My son is in football. Last year they played a lot on artificial turf. He complained a lot about pain in the foot, where the big toe joins the rest of the foot. I think it's the artificial turf because he never had the problem in other years. What do you think? Can you help avoid this this year? —Mrs. T.D.

You have nice initials for a football player's mom.

I think you are right about the artificial turf. When linemen tackle or block on artificial turf there's less give, so the foot slips in the shoe. Jamming the big toe forward. The same thing happens to receivers when they have to make a quick stop during a pass pattern. The big toe is jammed and sprained.

Ice, compression and elevation helps relieve the pain. This year, be sure your son wears stiff, solid shoes that will stop the forward movement of the toe. Sometimes a toe can be broken and feel much like a sprain, so injuries of this kind have to be assessed carefully. Various foot problems are discussed in the booklet "Relief and Care of Your Feet." For a copy, write me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: This is probably your dumb-headed question of the week. Why do we get tired and have to rest? —Dumb.

Your brief question (not so dumb) should get a long answer for a full explanation, but let's keep it brief. Exhaustion results when fuel supply to muscles is gone. The fuel is the stored muscle sugar (glycogen). Also, oxygen is needed to burn that muscle sugar, so exhaustion results when we push muscles past their ability to get enough oxygen.

Why does training help? It increases muscle ability to store sugar and get the oxygen. But there is a limit to what we can do, no matter what the training. Even Achilles had a weak spot.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Last summer I did a really dumb thing. Our family reunion was, as usual, on the hottest day of the year. I spent the whole day playing football (touch) and at my age (49) I guess that wasn't too smart right there. I spent that whole night sicker than a dog. My wife tells everyone I had heatstroke. I think she was exaggerating a bit. But what did I have? Any advice for this year's do? —M.V.

Three kinds of heat-induced injuries can happen to anyone who over exerts himself in hot weather: Your body is making heat from the muscular activity, and the hot humid weather makes it more difficult for skin to dissipate heat. If heat builds in the body, disaster can result.

The mildest form of heat injury is heat cramps. The body temperature and pulse stay normal, but the muscles cramp up. When that happens, get to a cool place, obtain some water and rest for 12 hours. Do not use salt tablets. You can put a half teaspoon of salt in a quart of water and sip a little of it.

The next most serious form of heat illness is heat exhaustion. Here there is extreme weakness and copious sweating. Sometimes there is nausea and vomiting. The body temperature is normal or only slightly elevated, and the pulse increases slightly. The skin is moist. Again, what is needed is a cool environment, replacement fluids and rest — only now the rest period should be a couple of days long.

The worst heat injury is heat stroke. Here the person becomes unconscious, the skin red, hot and dry and the body temperature as high as 106. This is a medical emergency and requires immediate hospitalization. While being transported, the person should be sponged with cold water to help dissipate some of the body heat.

From your letter I would guess that what you had last summer was heat exhaustion. This year use your head. Consumption of alcoholic beverages at such events (which has been known to occur) may produce unwise athletic ambition.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I would like to start reading the Bible, but I don't know where to begin. Should I just start in Genesis and try to read straight through, or what? —N.T.

DEAR N.T.: I am thankful you are interested in reading the Bible. This is the most important thing you can do to strengthen your spiritual life. The Bible is God's Word, and "is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness, so that the man of God may be thoroughly equipped for every good work" (2 Timothy 3:16, 17).

It would perhaps be better if your reading of the Bible started in the New Testament with one of the Gospels, such as John. The reason is that when you understand who Jesus Christ is, why he came to earth, and what he did to make salvation possible for you, then you will have a better understanding of what the rest of the Bible is all about. The Old Testament points to Christ; in it you find the failure of humanity to follow God as they should, and you see the need of Christ and his forgiveness. In the New Testament you see God's fulfillment of his promise to bring forgiveness and reconciliation.

There is one thing I particularly want to point out, however, about reading the Bible. No matter what you are reading, remember that it is God's Word which was given to us so that our lives might be changed. It is not just an interesting history book, or a volume of moral ideals and philosophies. No, it tells us about God, and his will for our lives. So, as you read, pray first that God will speak to you through it, and that He will help you obey and act upon its truth. "Do not merely listen to the word, and so deceive yourselves. Do what it says." (James 1:22).

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

We have done it again! Who is the saint? Who desecrated the Sabbath?

When Christ walked upon the earth, He walked among the sinners, for he said, the well hath no need for the physician, but the sick. There are far more sick people in the world than those who attended the Willie Nelson Concert.

There are far more football and fishing widows, than Willie Nelson ones. There is far more money invested and lost in gambling, on football, than the price for the $8 ticket to a concert. There is by far more worms drowned, and lures hung under rocks in the lake, than the amount of barbecue consumed at that concert, on the Sabbath. I am neither for or against Willie Nelson. My free agency says I can take him or leave him. I am against many of the things he does, but I do not have to follow his examples.

There are more alcoholics, drug addicts, pill poppers, adulterers, the gamblers, liars, and you name it at a Billy Graham Crusade than Willie Nelson has ever laid eyes on. But they hide behind religion. At least he has the guts to admit his faults.

I did not attend the concert, and neither would I attend a football game, or go fishing on the day I claim the Sabbath. I see no difference in how you desecrate the Sabbath. A sin is a sin. It is either black or white. There is no gray.

If a family is close and teaches the truth, that is all they can do. It is up to each individual as to what he will do. He can choose for himself. If he has been taught well enough, he will know what is right and what is wrong. But Christ said, all are sinners. So who made Willie Nelson a legend in Big Spring? The saint, or the sinner??

Parents, teach your children to hate the sin, not the sinner. For Christ died for all. Black, white, rich, poor, fat, skinny, tall, short and He said, "Love ye one another; do good to them that hate you and persecute you and spitefully use you. For all have come short of the Glory of God. Love ye one another as I have loved you." Christene Horn 505 Dallas St.

Dear Editor:

Just want to let the Jaycees know how much my family and I, plus my aunt and uncle from Odessa, enjoyed the friendly hospitality shown by the people of Big Spring, and the Willie Nelson show.

The police were friendly and the restaurant we ate at after the show made us feel so welcome. Just one thing bothers us: The many water leaks that your city has as we drove around for a while before the show.

It really gives your city a sore eye. I am a frequent visitor to Big Spring, and what I observed was the same pipes have been leaking for a good period of time. I guess if that happened here in Midland after a period of time, new faces would be seen in our City Government. Thanks again for a swell Labor Day weekend.

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each officer for his work in making the Willie Nelson Concert a success. Many of you worked 16 to 18 hours and others gave up their day off without complaints. As usual their work was excellent and I salute their team effort.

I must give special recognition to Capt. Claude Morris who served as project director and to Sgt. Jimmy Wallace, who was assigned to coordinate all traffic.

Sherrill Farmer
Chief of Police
Big Spring

Dear Editor:

A "thank you" to the Jaycees of Big Spring and Snyder and to the officials of the community which approved the Willie Nelson Concert. The concert was very good and the people which attended were most orderly and well mannered.

I was disappointed to read in the paper the criticism by those who were against the concert for it was just one more criticism against those from outside our City who wish to come in either to start an industry or to bring something new to the community. To those who find fault, I would only wish that they remember the expression, "If you can't say anything good, then don't say anything at all." Recently we received a new industry, Oilfield Industrial Lines, Inc., as well as a tentative agreement with another oilfield related company. We have everything going for us and negativism of the minority of this community will certainly hurt the majority if we don't stand up and let our voice be heard.

The Jaycees certainly took a lot of criticism, but it was obvious that their cause was worthwhile. I believe the community should also thank Willie for attending and for putting on such a fine concert, even in light of the criticism of those who wish to destroy rather than build.

Furthermore, let's pull together as a community for we have everything to gain and nothing to lose. If we only sit around and complain and reject outsiders, Big Spring will be what it was 30 years ago when Midland and Odessa took the opposite initiative and progressed to the status that it is at this time. The criticism of Willie Nelson was just one more example of a few people's negativism. If Willie Nelson is good enough for the President of the United States, he is certainly good enough for the City of Big Spring.

Let's build this community with positive thinking and develop the resources we have.

'GETTING TO KNOW YOU' Father and son

Special parent-child clubs formed by YMCA

A unique opportunity for parents to spend time with their children in a one-to-one basis is being provided by the Big Spring YMCA through its special parent-child clubs. Bob Cappel, executive director of the Y, announced Saturday. Activities range from cookouts and craft projects to trips and games. Registration for programs begins at 6:30 p.m. for Indian Guides and 7:30 p.m. for Indian Princesses at the YMCA. The registration is slated to be held on Thursday, September 11th at the YMCA. Now in their 15th year, the Big Spring YMCA's parent-child programs include Y-Indian Guides for fathers and their sons, and Y-Indian Princesses for fathers and daughters. "One aspect of these programs that makes them unique is the requirement that parent and child participate together," Cappel said. "The Y offers a variety of separate programs for youngsters and for adults. But a youngster can't join Y-Indian Guides, for example, unless the father does too." Another aspect of the programs that makes them unique is the meetings... usually twice a month... are held not at the Y but in the homes of participants. "Although Y staff are always available to advise and expedite, the actual programs are developed primarily by the participants themselves," Cappel said. Last year, 20 parents and children participated in the 2 programs in Big Spring. Interested parents who are not able to get to the Y for registration should call 267-8234.

Cop indicted in rapes out on $180,000 bail

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A veteran Shreveport policeman charged in a series of rapes is free on $180,000 bond put up by a local nightclub owner. Bond for Edward Lynch, who had been in jail since he was indicted June 12, was paid Wednesday by a letter of credit from businessman Boyd Gammill, who once hired Lynch as a security guard. Two days earlier, District Judge Fred Sexton ruled that Sheriff Don Hathaway had a right to reject Gammill's original offer of personal security. Freeman said he rejected the first offer, made several weeks ago, because Gammill did not bring documents to support his financial statement. Lynch was dismissed from the city police force the day a parish grand jury indicted him on three counts of rape and one of attempted rape. He was reinstated by the Municipal Fire and Police Civil Service Board and put on suspension by Police Chief Cliff Heap. Lynch, an eight-year veteran on the police force, is accused in a series of attacks tagged as the Shreve City rapes after the area where they occurred. In each case, an evidence-conscious rapist wore ski-mask and gloves and spent hours after the rapes cleaning up and making the women bathe to remove evidence of the rape. A similar incident occurred the day after Lynch was jailed. But prosecutors said that did not change their case against him, and speculated that two men might have been committing similar rapes in the area.

Carter to skip Houston convention

By WALT FINLEY
President Jimmy Carter will not be able to speak to the Texas Democratic Convention Sept. 26 or 27 but Howard County delegates continue to gear up for the Houston event dedicated to the defeat of GOP presidential nominee Ronald Reagan.

Carter is expected to be in Texas the week of Sept. 14-20, state Carter-Mondale headquarters spokesmen confirmed.
"There were just too many conflicts to work out the convention appearance, said Bob Beckel, state campaign director. "The president will not be able to make an appearance in Houston this time. We have not worked it all out but he probably will be in South Texas."

Deputy executive director of the Texas Democratic Party June Middlebrooks said plans were under way to change the site of the state Democratic convention in Houston, since the president will not appear.

State Democratic Chairman Billie Goldberg is expected to announce the new site Monday.

Senatorial District 30 delegates, including Big Springers, will be housed in the Shamrock Hotel, Main and Holcombe, phone 713-668-9211, according to Howard County Chairman Cecil Riordan.

Tentative schedule of the 30th caucus is scheduled to kick off at 1 p.m. Friday, Sept. 26 in the Grand Ball Room of the Shamrock includes:

1. Roll call of counties.
2. Election of a caucus chairman, a caucus secretary and other officers as may be necessary to conduct business.
3. Election of committee woman and committee man.
4. Election of one member to each permanent committee of the convention: Credentials, nomination, platform, rules, canvassing and resolutions.
5. Announcements and further action, followed by adjournment.

The state convention is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. Friday and 11 a.m. Saturday.

Number of 1980 district 30 delegates follow:

Archer 3, Baylor 3, Briscoe 2, Callahan 5, Childress 3, Cly 5, Cottle 2, Dickens 3, Fisher 4, Floyd 4, Foard 2.

Hale 11, Hall 3, Hardeman 4, Haskell 5, Howard 9, Jones 8, Kent 1, King 1.

Knox 3, Mitchell 3, Motley 1, Nolan 6, Scurry 5, Shackelford 2, Stonewall 1, Throckmorton 1, Wichita 38 and Wilbarger 6.

My first exclusive of the year. The name of the next president will positively include the letters "A", "E" and "R."

This is heartening news for Jimmy Carter, Ronald Reagan and John Anderson.

"Texas has been the eye of the storm in every presidential election this century and it is the battleground again this time," State GOP Chairman Chet Upham told the State Republican Executive Committee in San Antonio.

"We are going to have more operations going in Texas and more volunteer workers than ever before," Upham emphasized.

"We have a structure in place that is better than it has ever been before in Texas," said Ernest Angelo, Midland, state campaign director for Reagan-Bush, in San Angelo.

Last month in Abilene, Angelo said Reagan should be rights win by a landslide, but he expects the race against President Carter to be close.

BILLIE GOLDBERG

Angelo was guest lecturer in a political convention seminar taught by Dr. Gary Thompson at Abilene Christian University.

"I think the potential is there for a landslide, but the probability in it will be close, said the former Midland mayor.

"I think Reagan would have beat him fairly soundly in '76" if Reagan had been the Republican nominee in place of Gerald Ford, he said.

Angelo faulted the newsmen who swarmed to the Republican National Convention in Detroit, for, in his view, blowing the ERA issue all out of proportion to its importance.

He also was critical of the coverage of the vice presidential selection developments, but offered the largest portion of blame to Ford.

Ford, Angelo said, in sitting for a television interview by Walter Cronkite, CBS political vet, "once Ford got started, he couldn't stop."

Asked to compare the 1964 Barry Goldwater candidacy and the 1980 Reagan candidacy, Angelo said there are "more differences than there are similarities."

The dominant conservatives are more politically mature in 1980 than they were in 1964, and there are fewer Rockefeller-type liberals to contend with.

And away with go with lingering "hot shots" following the GOP and Demo national conventions.

The Texas delegates went to New York and the Democratic convention prepared to stand fast and do battle if it took all week — and it was over in one day. What a waste of true grit.

After Teddy Kennedy didn't even drop in to pass the time of day with the Texans, anyone could have known he was an also-ran.

Jimmy Carter has reaffirmed an ancient political truth: If you have the votes you don't need a long speech.

LUNCH AND COMPANY — Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan chats with Roy Jones and other workers who joined him for lunch after Tuesday's tour of the Chrysler Corp.'s Jefferson Ave. assembly plant in Detroit. The plant has just begun production of the K-car front-wheel drive automobile. Reagan purchased a soft drink and sandwich from a machine in the lunchroom.

Teaching irrefutables

Too busy to argue religion

(First of a Series)
By DON WOODS
The Bible is the textbook in Elizabeth Johansen's class where she is too busy teaching irrefutables to argue religion.

If her Bible students want to discuss issues that Christians differ on, such as baptism, she "hits the top of it" by covering viewpoints of the various denominations. If students want to know more she refers them to their pastors.

If students want to get into arguments she avoids them. "Arguing is used by students mainly to kill time," she said.

She ought to know because she has been teaching the Bible here for 35 years. Her elective course is not funded by state or local tax money because federal law forbids it.

The local Ministerial Alliance, an affiliation of area ministers, has been raising funds for her salary and operating expenses for as long as she has been teaching here.

The Bible Fund articles which have appeared on page one of the Herald recently encouraged locals to donate to the fund.

Besides teaching the Bible she taught English in the high school until 1965.

On the first day of her Bible classes she refers the students to maps — of cities, oceans, countries, the world and the solar system. Reminding them that people use maps to get from place to place, she asks them what kind of map they would use to get through life.

The students get her point. The Bible is a map, of sorts, she says. The books are streets and the chapter and verse references are addresses.

She uses a workbook of questions to help them through the myriad names and places contained in the Good Book. The workbook is available for $1.50 at Book Ends. The Ministerial Alliance defers part of the cost.

Mrs. Johansen moved to Big Spring in 1945 specifically for the purpose of filling the vacancy in the Bible class.

She had not imagined that she would be settling in the area that the ladies who sponsored her master's degree were from. The Presbyterian, a local ladies' auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church, was looking for someone to sponsor and a friend of Mrs. Johansen from Austin recommended her.

Mrs. Johansen was surprised one day by a letter in the mail offering her a scholarship to Presbyterian School of Christian Education, Richmond, Va.

"I was interested in some kind of religious work," she said, so she took them up on it. She belongs to the First Presbyterian Church in Big Spring but does not try to mold her students into Presbyterians.

ELIZABETH JOHANSEN

Previous to taking her master's degree, she taught in rural Panhandle schools. She was director of Christian Education in Lubbock and El Paso for three years with Presbyterian churches.

She taught in a South Carolina orphanage for four years. Before that she received her undergraduate degree in education from University of Texas in Austin.

A far cry from the typical educator, she prays in class every day and regrets the effects Madeline Murray O'Hair has had on the educational system. "It's kind of sad the way she runs this country. She has gotten too many things done," she said.

Mrs. Johansen's son, John Jr., went to seminary, a fact that Mrs. Johansen and her husband Johnny share smiles about. "I didn't tell him to go either. I'm real proud of him," she said.

John, Jr., who has a bachelor's degree in journalism and a master's degree in counseling, plans to be a Presbyterian minister. He received his counseling degree from Denton.

Mrs. Johansen's influence has left its mark on several generations of students, though she minimizes her role in their lives. "I just don't really think that I can say I caused them to be ministers," she avowed, though some of her students have entered the clergy.

"One boy told me he went to Hardin-Simmons and made an 'A' without much trouble," she said.

Many of her financial supporters are former students. Some of them are former students whose parents are also former students.

Some churches remember her in their annual budgets and a couple from Kansas named Lawrence send $10. every year. She doesn't know who they are.

Mrs. Johansen is a woman of diverse interests. Her active temperament seeks stimulation from painting, writing, and playing piano and organ.

Her writing career was furthered recently by the publication of her article in Mature Living, a Southern Baptist publication for senior citizens. The story, which was called Mama's Secret Desire, ran in this month's issue.

The story is a true one about her mother's selfish dealings with those close to her. Her secret desire had always been a red dress, but it remained unfulfilled until her 100th birthday, when she revealed how long she had wordlessly wanted it.

Similarly, Elizabeth Johansen's budding writing career is fulfilling her secret desires, as she is recently finding time to write and create a symbolic "red dress" of her own.

Reagan remarks not forever damaging?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former Texas Gov. John Connally does not see that recent criticized remarks of Ronald Reagan will have any permanent damage on the campaign. "That was a good step forward," Connally said when asked for a new reference about Reagan's "foot-in-mouth" remarks.

"However, it will not really hurt at this point. The campaign is just beginning ... but I do not recommend that he keep it up."

Connally, who was here to address the Texas Republican Convention, said the only advice he had given Reagan was to stick to standard issues "such as 10 percent inflation, 10 percent prime rate, high taxes and unemployment."

Connally also said he thought President Jimmy Carter's announced Sept. 15 trip to Texas, the day before Reagan's long scheduled trip to San Antonio, the Rio Grande Valley and Houston was no coincidence.

VICKY CLARK WITH PAINTING
...will be in Big Spring

Winner of many awards will offer course here

Vicky Clark, winner of many West Texas art awards, will be in Big Spring this week teaching pastel painting.

Ms. Clark will be at the Art N Craft World in the Colege Park Shopping Center Monday through Thursday from 9:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Her family is one of the pioneer ranching families in Seminole, Texas. Many of her paintings of Western scenes and portraits done in pastel reflect her background.

Ms. Clark has won 29 art awards and has had several best of show paintings.

She teaches oil and pastel workshops and has done demonstrations for clubs and art associations in the West Texas area. She studied art at Abilene Christian University and kept up art studies through workshops of well-known artists of the southwest.

Having had several solo shows in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, Ms. Clark has her paintings included in several public collections such as Abilene Christian University, Post National Bank, Seminole State Bank and Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Jenrette case something out of a television film

WASHINGTON — The trial of Rep. John R. Jenrette for bribery is unfolding with a cast of characters who could have stepped out of made-for-TV movie.

There are con artists conning con artists, a beautiful wife and her alcoholic congressman, government agents and at least one flamboyant lawyer.

The wood paneled courtroom in the U.S. District Courthouse is the setting, where one segment of the scandal of called Abscam will be replayed in the next two weeks.

Jenrette, a three-term congressman is accused of two counts of bribery. He and his former associate John R. Stowe are also charged with conspiracy.

FBI agents posing a representative of Arab businessmen offered bribes and filmed the transactions which resulted in the indictment of six congressmen and 12 others.

The characters will appear on videotape, on six TV sets in the courtroom. And they will come back in person on the witness stand.

In his opening statement, Jenrette's lawyer Kenneth Robinson compared the trial to "a coming attraction" and proceeded to scribble the principal's names on a chart for the benefit of the jury.

Melvin Weinberg, chief witness credited with engineering ABSCAM, reportedly plans a movie and a book out of the story.

The lawyers contrast each other. Robinson, attorney for Jenrette, builds to a crescendo a rapid-fire rhetoric, drawing the drama in broad strokes.

He describes Jenrette as the poor son of a carpenter who made something of his life and built a mansion on the golf course. "From the time he got to Congress, it was downhill."

John Kotelly, representing the government is concise and businesslike, reciting the indictments.

"This trial will be a mickocosm of his life," said Murray Janus, his attorney.

"Stowe is not a mayor or a congressman, but an ordinary man who happened to be the victim of all these circumstances," said Janus. He wanted to invest in a luxurious hotel in the Bahamas. And when that vision seemed unrealistic, he dreamed of reviving a munitions plant in South Carolina, with the money he earned, Janus said.

Jenrette, slim and sober, jots down notes during the proceedings as his wife Bitsa sits in the front seat. The ex-beauty queen and striving country and western singer resembles Mo Dean when her husband went through Watergate hearings.

Jenrette predicted FBI agents scheduled to appear

Texas women's rights to have abortions 'seriously threatened'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The president of the National Abortion Federation said Saturday she sees a "serious threat" to Texas women's rights to have abortions.

Terry Beresford of Baltimore, Md., spoke at a news conference before delivering the keynote address to the annual meeting of the Texas Abortion Rights Action League.

About 100 persons were pre-registered for the meeting.

"Texas is one place where we see a serious threat, so we are very much supportive of the political efforts of TARAL in reaching and mobilizing the public," Ms.

Beresford said. She said it was "perfectly clear" it would take political action to keep abortions from being driven underground, where medical quality would suffer.

Ms. Beresford said she sees a threat to abortion rights in an alliance between the "New Right" and the "Protestant Fundamentalist Movement" as exemplified by the recent National Affairs Briefing attended by Ronald Reagan in Dallas.

"If you look at the amount of money pocketed by some of these fundamentalist preachers, it raises questions about what they mean by 'moral majority,'" she said.

Ms. Beresford said that when leaders of the conservative religious movement speak of "traditional family values" they are harking back to "a mythological American family at the turn of the century, which never existed."

They also are awakening nostalgia for a time when two million illegal abortions were performed each year, "many of them fatal," she said.

Peggy Romberg, executive director of TARAL, said "pro-choice" Texans are mobilizing for the November legislative elections after winning victories in 11 of the 12 districts they had targeted in the May primaries.

Choice-PAC, the abortion rights political action committee, lists 29 legislators — including speaker candidate John Bryant, D-Dallas — as "pro-choice candidates for the Texas Legislature (who) need your help."

Ms. Romberg said Bryant was far from 100 percent in TARAL's corner, but "Gib Lewis' voting record is absolutely zero on our books." Lewis, D-Fort Worth, is Bryant's chief opponent for speaker.

Recent figures won't give Carter boost in November

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do those encouraging employment statistics in August mean President Carter could go into the November election bolstered by a robust economy?

Probably not, but there seems to be widespread agreement that the recession is ending sooner than expected, which surely won't hurt the president's re-election chances.

"At this point I'd say there is a 50-50 chance that July was the bottom," said George Perry, an economist with the Brookings Institution, an economic think tank here.

Unemployment fell to 7.6 percent in August, down from July's 7.8 percent.

That would be better than the 8.5 percent rate the administration had projected, and could partly defuse Ronald Reagan's charge that the president had been battling inflation with high unemployment.

Perry said mortgage interest rates remain high, which will continue to slow the housing industry. He said the Federal Reserve Board, which makes the decisions on interest rates, "has an impossible job in trying to worry about inflation and recovery at the same time."

The administration predicted worsening unemployment through the end of the year and expected the recession, which started in January, would last most of the year. Most private forecasters had agreed.

Lawrence Chimerine of Chase Econometrics, a private forecasting firm, said Friday the worst was over but that there may be "a little bit more recession" left and unemployment could go back up again.

Perry and Chimerine concurred that the recovery from recession, when it comes, is likely to be painfully slow, which means Carter is in no position to go overboard in celebrating the end of the recession to American voters.

"I think the recovery will be very long and very slow," said Chimerine. He said inflation is continuing to erode Americans' incomes, and, without income gains, "we can't get a strong recovery."

besides the unemployment figures that the recession may be winding down.

Homebuilding is steadily improving; auto sales are creeping back although they remain much below a year earlier, and auto layoffs dropped below 240,000 in late August for the first time since June.

In addition, the government's index of economic indicators, which foreshadows economic trends, rose by a record 4.6 percent in July, the second large monthly gain in a row. And new factory orders rose 5.7 percent, the first increase since January and the largest for any month in nearly 10 years.

Perry said he August's industrial production index will show its first increase in seven months, although the figures aren't out yet.

One of the most encouraging aspects of the August employment report, released Friday, was a rebound in manufacturing employment of 90,000, coupled with an increase in the manufacturing workweek of one-half hour to 39.6 hours.

FARM FORUM

By RONNIE WOOD

Agriculture is still on top! Although only about 4.5% of the population today work on farms, another 25% are employed in related industries. Food transportation, marketing, financing, manufacturing, chemical development and textiles are a few businesses which push the nation's number one position, accounting for nearly 25% of the Gross National Product. As bad as things have been economically, Americans still spend only about 17 percent of their income after taxes for food. In a majority of the world's countries the amount of income paid for food exceeds 40%. In just 25 years the percentage of disposable income spent for food in the United States has decreased more than 28%! Equally as dramatic as this decrease is the increase in selection and quality of foods available — last time anybody counted there were better than 11,000 food selections.

Closed caption TV shows announced

The National Captioning Institute (NCI) has announced that it will close caption for hearing-impaired viewers many of the most popular shows on ABC, NBC and PBS this fall season. In addition to the network programming, NCI will caption "specials" and commercials for 19 advertisers, various syndicated programs, and several hundred hours of programs for the U.S. Department of Education.

"We will be captioning 22½ hours of programs each week for ABC, NBC and PBS by the end of 1980," said John E.D. Ball, president of NCI. "We started with 16 hours last March, so we have increased the amount of closed-captioned programming by 40 percent. When we add the captioned programming we are doing for advertisers and syndicators, the number of hours should be closer to 30 each week by the end of the year."

The roster of shows to be televised by NBC this fall includes five hours of closed-captioned shows per week: "Little House on the Prairie," "Disney's Wonderful World," "Diff'rent Strokes," and "The Sunday Big Event." In addition, NBC will have NCI caption the 12-hour blockbuster — "Shogun."

ABC will also broadcast five hours of closed-captioned programming each week. Its shows are: "The Friday Night Movie," "Three's Company," "Barney Miller," "Eight is Enough," and "Love Boat."

Both networks' program schedules are subject to change as a result of the current actor's strike, and viewers should consult their TV listings to identify closed-captioned shows.

PBS has scheduled 12½ hours per week of closed-captioned viewing by the end of the year. The following shows will be broadcast with captions: "Cosmos," "Masterpiece Theatre," "Once Upon a Classic," "From Jumpstreet," "Great Performances," "The Body in Question," "Here's to Your Health," "Connections," "Nova," "Soundstage," "Up and Coming," "3-2-1 Contact" and "Over Easy."

Syndicated shows that have adopted captioning include "Robert Schuller with the Hour of Power," and "Jack Van Impe Presents..." In addition, beginning in September, NCI will caption the 24-hour "Monte Carlo" series. The costs of captioning the series will be borne by 20th Century-Fox Television and the sponsoring advertisers: Gillette, Nabisco, Inc., Warner-Lambert and Quaker Oats.

Closed captioning has become a popular vehicle for several major television advertisers. Procter & Gamble; Sears, Roebuck and Co. and Kraft, Inc., have all announced that they will have their first-run specials captioned by NCI.

Companies which now have their commercials closed captioned are: Ace Hardware, American Telephone and Telegraph, Armour-Dial, Block Drug, Britsol-Myers, Fisher-Price, General Telephone and Electronics (GTE), International Business Machines (IBM), Kraft, Inc., New England Telephone, Noxell Corporation, Polaroid Corporation, Procter & Gamble, Quaker Oats Co., S.C. Johnson & Co., Sears, Roebuck and Co., Seiko Time Corporation, Warner-Lambert and Nabisco, Inc.

"The support of the captioning service by advertisers has been overwhelming," stated Ball. "We know of one agency — Foote, Cone & Belding, Los Angeles — which has adopted a policy of urging all its clients to have commercials captioned."

NCI recently signed a three-year contract with the U.S. Department of Education to close caption 600 hours of programming. All the programs will be made available to schools around the country and many will be broadcast by PBS.

Auditions for 'Our Town' set at Globe

Auditions for Thornton Wilder's American Classic, "Our Town" will be held 7 p.m., September 15, 16, and 17 at the Globe of the Great Southwest. Produced in conjunction with the Odessa High School Drama Department, the production is under the direction of Terry Marrs. There are roles open for 8 men and 3 women.

"Our Town" depicts the triumphs and tragedies of community life in the small village of Grover's Corners during the early 1900's. The action of this Pulitzer Prize winning play traces the fortunes of two neighborhood families, the Gibbs and the Webbs, as their children grow up and face the joys and pathos of life. As the Stage Manager in the play says, "This is the way we were in our growing up and in our marrying and in our doctoring and in our living and in our dying."

The play is filled with a variety of rich parts such as the all knowing Stage Manager, Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Webb, and others. For this production, younger parts will be played by students of the O.H.S. Drama Department while community actors are needed to play the older parts.

Terry Marrs, director of the production, has extensive directorial experience in both educational and community theatre.

'Big Brawl' amiable hokum

THE BIG BRAWL is amiable hokum, an Americanization of the Kung Fu genre that has fascinated Asia and other parts of the world. The film's one great asset is Jackie Chan, whose winning personality is augmented by physical skills that are well nigh incredible. The shopworn plot portrays him as the pawn in a 1930s gangster war over a slugging tournament in a small Texas town. Forget the plot and watch the young Chan zip through a series of encounters with the athletic grace of Gene Kelly in his prime. The supporting cast includes Jose Ferrer as the chief gangster, Kristina De Bell as Chan's girlfriend, and Mako as his uncle and mentor. Rated PG; mild swearing and dynamic action.

Scientist probes flowering plant revolution

By THOMAS HARNEY
 Smithsonian News Service
 The ancient leaf fell from a shrub along the shoreline 110 to 120 million years ago, sank into the mud, slowly dried and with the passage of time left its imprint in the rock as a fossil. Deeply buried, it probably would never have come to light had it not been found at a construction site near Baltimore, Md., by the Smithsonian Institution's Dr. Leo Hickey.

The small leaf, oddly shaped with disorganized vein patterns, came from a new group of seed plants that appeared on land about 130 million years ago. In doing so, they profoundly altered the course of life on Earth.

"The development of flowering plants created a revolution that opened up vast new resources of food and ways of life for animals," Hickey says. "The ascendancy of the flowering plants may have paved the way for the replacement of the dinosaurs by mammals 50 million years later."

Today, almost all the plants we see and eat are flowering plants. Yet their origins are still not clearly understood. Charles Darwin, the great evolutionist, called their emergence "an abominable mystery."

Hickey, a paleobiologist at the National Museum of Natural History, is probing this mystery. He does not have to go far to find the clues for his study. The Smithsonian museums on the National Mall in Washington, D.C., are built virtually on top of the world's most accessible fossil deposit of these earliest flowering plants — the Potomac Formation.

One hundred and thirty million years ago, the Earth's land masses were combined into two supercontinents separated by a seaway along the equator. The earliest known flowering plants grew on either side of this seaway, gradually spreading from there. The Potomac Formation was deposited on the coast of one of the northern continents as the Atlantic Ocean opened up. It forms an outcrop — a rock formation exposed at the surface of the ground — in a 15-mile-wide belt from Wilmington, Del., to Richmond, Va.

So, while colleagues pack gear for fossil-hunting expeditions to remote and exotic areas of the world, Hickey throws his pick and shovel into his car and drives out into Maryland or Virginia to a fossil locale like Dutch Gap, Va.

"Dutch Gap is a marvelous place to collect," Hickey says. "The Union Army cut a canal there during the Civil War to reach Richmond and exposed a rich bed of fossil plants. The heat and the Confederate snipers probably kept the Union soldiers from realizing they had stumbled on a treasure chest of fossil plants."

Fruits and flowers of the earliest flowering plants are seldom found, Hickey explains. "Most of what we know about them comes from their leaf imprints in the mud or sand in which they were buried and from their pollen." Only the soft tissue of the leaves left fossil records — an imprint of the complex carbon compounds.

When the mud or sand, under pressure, hardened into rock, the imprint of the leaf and dark film of carbon remained as a permanent fossil record. It is for these fossils that Hickey searches as he chops rock out of the Potomac Formation outcrop.

Back at the Museum, Hickey photographs the leaf imprint under a microscope. High-contrast photographs often show fine detail better than the fossil imprint itself. When Hickey began analyzing thousands of Potomac Formation fossil leaves in the Smithsonian's collection, "there was no accurate system to tell one early leaf from another," he says. "People just made superficial comparisons of ancient leaves with modern ones and guessed about the identities of the leaves."

"Paleontologists in the 19th century tried to identify plants from their leaves, but they did a poor job, making wildly incorrect identifications," he says. "The resulting misidentifications retarded the study of flowering plants evolution for 80 years."

Despite these earlier failures, Hickey believes that a systematic approach to fossil leaves could succeed. One of the things that encouraged me," he says, "was that drug companies had developed methods to recognize certain species of contemporary plants from the vein patterns of small leaf fragments."

And succeed he did. Hickey has developed a classification system that, for the first time, makes it possible to decipher the history and development of the earliest flowering plants.

SASSAFRAS IMPRINTS — Dr. Leo J. Hickey, a scientist at the Smithsonian's Museum of Natural History, has developed a classification system that, for the first time, makes it possible to decipher the history and development of the earliest flowering plants. About 130 million years ago, flowering plants caused a revolution by opening up vast new resources of food and ways of life for animals. Looking for clues to the past, Hickey uses a microscope to examine fossil leaf imprints — such as the ancient sassafras leaf at right.

First Baptist Church opens new facility

A brief dedication service at 2 p.m. will mark the beginning of open house for the new facilities of the First Baptist Church today. Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor, urged everyone to inspect and then use the buildings.

Dr. Patrick, Mayor Clyde Angel, Dr. Charles Warren and Clem Jones, co-chairmen of the building committee, together with Mrs. R.B. Reeder, widow of the late honorary chairman, and Mrs. Norman Read, daughter of a charter member of the church, will figure in the ceremony. Public officials and Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors also will take part. Members of the congregation will conduct small group tours to 5 p.m.

Among units to be visited will be the chapel, parlor, and the family life center. Included in the latter are the fellowship hall for large gatherings and banquets as well as for games and skating; the physical fitness room and lockers; indoor walking and jogging track; bowling alley; arts and crafts room with kilns; check-out and storage; new main kitchen. Also to be shown are new and remodeled religious educational spaces.

"In some respects, this is a departure from the old format for church plants," Dr. Warren explained. "But we hope that this will meet today's needs and gear us for service in the Big Spring area tomorrow. We want to emphasize that these facilities are not just for our members, but they are open to others in a Christian atmosphere."

General contractor was R.B. Sneed Company, and the designer was John W. Gary Company, architects, who also designed the first units occupied in December 1965.

Dr. Robert F. Polk, secretary for stewardship for the Baptist General Convention of Texas and pastor when the present facility was built 15 years ago, will speak at the 10:50 a.m. worship. Dr. E. Edward Schmeltekopf, assistant to the executive secretary of the BGCT and who directed the church's Together-We-Build program, will speak at 6 p.m.

Other activities marking the dedication of the completed plan will continue throughout the month. On Sept. 14 Dr. Patrick will preach at both worship services, and at 3 p.m. Mrs. Terry Newman will present a concert on the ebony concert Yamaha grand piano given by her mother in memory of T.H. McCann, a long-time lay leader.

Then on Sept. 21, Dr. Patrick will speak at 11 a.m., and at 3 p.m. Harold DeCoo, Phoenix, Ariz., concertist, will be at the console of the Allen electronic digital computer organ given by Mrs. C.B. Lawrence in memory of her husband, Charles B. Lawrence, and son, Wendell. Dr. S.M. Lockridge, for 28 years pastor of the Cavalry Baptist Church in Los Angeles, Calif., will begin a four-night revival meeting at the 8 p.m. worship. Phil and Andy Dietz will be in charge of music for the meeting.

On Sept. 28 at 11 a.m. Dr. Grady Lowrey, director of recreation for the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, will speak at the 11 a.m. service. Dr. Carlos McLeod, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Plainview, and now president of the BGCT, will speak at 6 p.m. to climax the dedicatory events.

How times have changed

Republicans are everywhere

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
 AUSTIN — Two decades ago Republican leaders were so scarce that a sidewalk poll could have gone on for days without anyone naming one.

Today you may run into a GOP leader on a street corner ready to pump your hand and put in a plug for Ronald Reagan.

In fact, if you live in Amarillo, Corsicana, Bryan-College Station, Wichita Falls or several towns near those cities, you may have had your hand pumped by a Republican superstar.

Those areas already have been visited by Gov. Bill Clements and former Gov. John Connally in their "Texas Roundup for Reagan-Bush." Two dozen Texas cities will have been scoured for votes by the time their tour ends Sept. 24.

They'll be on the road together a total of six days during that time and Clements will do a seventh — a big commitment for two such important folks.

But both Clements and Connally are determined and confident types. They say they are determine to carry Texas for Reagan, and they sometimes seem almost cocky in declaring that they will do so.

Both have more riding on this election than just the will to help out the party.

Clements is state campaign chairman for Reagan-Bush and his political prestige is at stake.

A Republican victory in Texas this year, particularly if it includes significant GOP gains in the Texas Legislature and U.S. House, could set up the governor as the undisputed political king of Texas. He thinks he is already but some skeptics say his 1978 election has a quirk.

Clements will have to be cranking up his re-election campaign in a year or so and a big Reagan victory could make that effort easier.

The governor says he definitely will not take a cabinet post or any other job if Reagan becomes president. Believe him. He honestly thinks that being governor of Texas is better than anything Reagan could offer.

The situation is different for Connally. He tired quickly of the governorship when he was a Democrat back in the '60s. His political ambitions turned toward Washington, D.C., long ago, and a Connally out of power is an unhappy Connally.

He denies he has any interest in a cabinet post, but don't be surprised if he should change his mind if the opportunity arises.

Connally won't have that opportunity if Bush has a say, however. The two Texans have little love for one another.

A Texas newspaper publisher once told a reporter who wanted a month off: "If I can get along without you for a month, I can get along without you."

Apparently Gov. Clements doesn't support that view. Two top-level members of his staff have taken leaves of absence to work on the Reagan-Bush campaign.

Bill Lauderback temporarily leaves the long title of deputy director of the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council to become the almost-as-long-titled Statewide Coordinator of Democrats and Independents for Reagan-Bush. He is one of the governor's top energy advisors.

Mark Heckmann, Clements' deputy press secretary, has become communications director for the Texas campaign.

Considering the governor's claim that his staff is lean and without waste, one can't help wondering how two top staffers can leave for two months without reducing efficiency.

Clements is making clear that he's the boss in the Texas campaign, and that's causing some longer-term Reagan supporters to grouse.

The governor appointed his friend Peter O'Donnell Jr. of Dallas as campaign financial coordinator.

Harris, Steers not satisfied after win

Thursday morning, waiting in the BSHS coaches office for head grid mentor Ralph Harris to return from an assembly in school, Athletic Director Ron Logback walked in.

Logback was the head football coach-AD the past two seasons until the local school board decided to separate the jobs last December.

Well acquainted with the Steers and their opponents, our conversation concerned the Big Spring team's season opener against Snyder.

"If Big Spring can beat Snyder Friday night," Logback professed, "they'll have to be the most improved Class AAAAA team in the state."

"I wasn't for sure if he was totally serious, but I tell you the truth, I believe that he said."

And after watching the Steers rally to overcome Snyder 14-13 Friday night with a somewhat young team, I, for one, doubt if any grid team in Texas has improved more dramatically.

Maybe a few improved just as much, but none more than the Steers displayed Friday night.

No doubt much of that credit belongs to Ralph Harris and his hard working staff, who came in last March and have worked extremely long and hard to turn the sagging football program in Big Spring around.

But at the same time, it takes some willing players to do that, young athletes that refuse to listen to cynical townspeople that continually tell them they can't win.

Together, they got the Steers grid record off to a 1-0 start Friday night, but Harris knows that the job is far from through.

"No doubt I'm very happy to win," said Harris Saturday afternoon in his office. "But we do have so much improvement to do."

"We should have taken control against Snyder earlier in the game than we did," Harris noted. "But we didn't, giving the ball away so much early and letting them get that lead."

"But despite the fact that we were down," the first year BSHS mentor continued, "the whole sideline was real confident that we were going to come back and take control."

When Big Spring fell behind last year in the charitable way like they did Friday night against Snyder, it seemed that many times they folded. But that's one of the major points of improvement that Harris and his staff have emphasized in their short tenure here.

"That's the reputation here," he said in reference to the question concerning the above paragraph. "Everywhere I've gone as a head coach, the kids have not surrendered, which makes me fortunate. But that's one thing we try to put into our whole program."

"I'm telling you, there is some good talent here," he stated. "The kids are physically tough, and they're getting mentally tough."

Speaking of physically tough, the Big Spring front defensive four looked just that way all of Friday night, as did the entire defense. Snyder's longest drive to a touchdown was 37 yards, which was their longest march of the night.

That front four consisted of tackles Tony Molina and Gregg Jones, as well as ends Scott Barnes and Greg Schooler. Others who saw action there included Lupe Ontiveros and David Shanks.

"Our front four just simply dominated the war-up front," Harris said proudly. "Our leading tacklers were our linebackers, which is the way it should be."

That's because our front four cleared for them Friday night."

The Steer linebackers are so young they would make most coaches cringe with the thought of sending them into varsity warfare. Middle linebacker George Bancroft is a sophomore, an outside linebacker Darny Stephens and Mike Sauls are a sophomore and a junior, respectively.

"They've got a long way to go," the Steer coach said of his linebackers, "but I was real proud of the job they did on Snyder. They did an excellent job of hunting up somebody to stick their hat on."

The Steers secondary, playing mostly in man coverage, never was burned, and led by Bobby Earl Williams, also delivered some excellent blows. Other secondary mates of Williams were Todd Darden, Reggie Anding and Richard Evans.

"Our defense really rose up and took on the challenge," Harris noted.

Another big factor in the win that not only ended an eight-game losing streak for the Steers, but an eight-game loss skein to Snyder was a timely kicking game, as both punter Scarbro, place kicker Chuck Gibbs and the rest of the members of the specialty teams played important roles.

"It (the kicking game) was a pleasant surprise, and a big, big factor in the game," Harris delighted in telling. "A gigantic portion of what allowed us to get back into the game was in the kicking game, when we recovered that punt and went on to score our first touchdown. And Bobby Earl's (Williams) block of that extra point proved big."

"All phases of the kicking game," Harris explained, "were good because we sacrificed some time in other areas this past week. It paid off, too."

But Harris realistically pointed out that much improvement is needed, pointing to the fact the Steers didn't score when they had a chance in the fourth quarter to all but ice the contest.

"Now we've got to get some of that killer instinct," he philosophized, emphasizing the last two words of the sentence. "Of course, Big Spring hasn't been in that position often in the past."

A question this writer wonders about is will the Steer gridgers, having achieved a big comeback, upset win over Snyder, get the bighead for next week's opponent, Sweetwater. Needless to say, Big Spring is not accustomed to winning, which could possibly give some members of the team a little too much confidence after Friday night's thriller.

But Harris disagrees. "I don't believe a one-game winning streak is going to make us too cocky," he answered to the question. "But much of that will be the responsibility of the coaching staff. We must make them realize that we're working hard for Sweetwater, because they have some good capabilities, which they showed last night in beating Clyde 48-0. They have real good speed, and named the score of that game."

"But we're going to have to perform better offensively," he stated. "We can't afford to do the things that got us in jail like we did against Snyder."

A big concern of Harris as his staff and the Steers prepare for Sweetwater is their slow starts. They began slowly in the Snyder game, in the Lamesa scrimmage, and even in their intra-squad scrimmage a little over two weeks ago.

"We've got to get ready to play in a hurry, and that's my responsibility," said Harris. "It'll catch up with us, because our schedule gets tougher as it goes along."

Rangers can't overcome Money of Brewers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Don Money crashed a three-run homer and Gorman Thomas added a pair of RBI singles to back the 10-hit pitching of Mike Caldwell and lead the Milwaukee Brewers to a 6-2 victory over the Texas Rangers Saturday night. Money's homer off Texas reliever Sparky Lyle gave Milwaukee a 5-0 lead in the fifth. Cecil Cooper singled and Thomas walked before Money belted his 17th homer of the year.

Chrissie wins US Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Chris Evert Lloyd wore down 18-year-old Hana Mandlikova with her steady baseline strokes and captured her fifth U.S. Open tennis title with an emotion-charged 5-7, 6-1, 6-1 victory Saturday. Bjorn Borg, the No. 1 men's player in the world, kept his hopes alive for his first Open championship by rallying from a two-set deficit and winning his semifinal match against unseeded Johan Kriek of South Africa 4-6, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

Borg, the top seed who has now won the last 13 five-set matches he's played, will face the winner of Saturday's second semifinal between defending champion John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors.

Lloyd, who won the Open from 1975 through 1978 before being dethroned by Tracy Austin in 1979, called her triumph this year "the toughest Open of all. I'm thrilled. I felt the most emotion this tournament. I really wanted to win it."

Lloyd's victory, a popular one with the capacity crowd of 18,586 at the National Tennis Center, capped a remarkable climb back to the top of women's tennis. She dominated the sport in the late 1970s, but lost her keen competitive edge about two years ago.

Now the queen of tennis has regained her throne.

She began her comeback in March, after taking three months away from the sport. "For six weeks I didn't pick up a racket," she recalled. "Then one day I went out and hit some balls with John (husband John Lloyd, a British pro). It was fun for me. That was when I knew I was ready to come back."

And come back she has, winning six of seven tournaments since rejoining the tour and compiling a stunning 42-1 match record — losing only to Evonne Goolagong in the Wimbledon final.

In Friday's semifinals Lloyd beat defending champion Tracy Austin, the No. 1 player in both the seedings and the computer rankings and the only one she had not previously beaten since her return to action. And Saturday she rallied to defeat Martina Mandlikova, the ninth-seeded Czech with the big serve and volley game.

Expos use Giants errors to win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Montreal Expos capitalized on a record-setting three errors by center fielder Larry Herndon for five unearned runs in the fourth inning and coasted to a 9-0 victory over the sinking San Francisco Giants Saturday.

Scott Sanderson, 14-8, who pitched the first seven innings, and Bill Lee combined on a seven-hitter for Mon-real. The Giants, losing their fifth straight game, were shut out for a third straight time by the Expos.

The Expos scored three runs off Ed Whitson, 9-10, in the third inning.

Herndon's three errors in the inning established a new National League record for an outfielder.

The major league record is four, last done by Herschel Bennett of the St. Louis Browns in 1925.

THE WINNER — Chris Evert Lloyd holds her trophy for all to see after her victory to win the women's singles title at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships in New York Saturday afternoon. The third seeded Mrs. Lloyd defeated Hana Mandlikova 7-5, 6-4, 6-1.

Notre Dame stabs Purdue

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Mike Courcy, Notre Dame's "mystrh-mac" quarterback, threw for one touchdown and ran for another Saturday and Phil Carter rushed for 142 yards to lead the 11th-ranked Irish to a 31-10 victory over Purdue.

The Irish had the advantage before the game started as Mark Herrmann, Purdue's passing great, was unable to play because of a sprained thumb suffered in practice earlier in the week.

Herrmann was replaced by freshman Scott Campbell, who gave a good account of himself and in one stretch completed 10 passes to lift the ninth-ranked Boilermakers from a 17-0 deficit to within 17-10 in the first half.

Courcy opened the second half with a 57-yard pass to Tony Hunter, and seven plays later, hit Hunter with a nine-yard touchdown pass and the Boilermakers never recovered.

Late in the fourth quarter, Courcy scampered 14 yards around left end for a touchdown which clinched the outcome.

Carter scored one of ND's touchdowns on a one-yard plunge and carried 29 times for his 142 yards, while Courcy completed 10 of 13 passes for 151 yards. He also gained 59 yards rushing.

Campbell completed 17 of 26 passes for 178 yards. His 10 completions in a row came on his last attempts in the first half, when the Boilermakers put together all of their scoring on a 26-yard field goal by Rick Anderson and a four-yard touchdown run by Wally Jones.

Braves continue streaking ways

ATLANTA (AP) — Bob Horner smashed a two-run homer and the streaking Atlanta Braves beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 Saturday for their sixth consecutive victory.

Winner Phil Niekro, 13-14, gave up only two hits in seven innings, struck out five and walked one before needing relief help in the eighth from Gene Garber, who earned his seventh save.

The victory was Atlanta's 16th in the past 19 games and marked their 10th triumph in 11 meetings against Pittsburgh this season.

Dr. Morgan curing Jimmy Classic

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Dr. Gil Morgan, the veteran golf-playing optometrist from Oklahoma, overtook young John Cook on the 49th hole and charged to a 2-stroke lead Saturday in the third round of the $300,000 Jimmy Fund Classic.

Morgan, playing just in front of Cook, fired a sizzling 33-34 for his third consecutive subpar round and a 54-hole score of 203 — 10 under regulation — at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Cook, leader by 3 strokes at the halfway mark of the 72-hole test, slipped to a 1-over-par 72, which dropped him into a second-place tie with Bobby Cole and Jack Renner at 205.

Jim Nelford and Mike Reid were another stroke back at 206.

"Saturday's a day you can make a good move as some people have a tendency to relax," Morgan said.

AT LAST — Jubilant Macalester College players carry their coach, Tom Hosier, off the field after ending their 50 game losing streak Saturday by beating Mount Senario College (Ladysmith, Wis.) 17-14 on a field goal in the final 11 seconds. Hosier is beginning his second year as head coach and has had as his main goal the ending of the longest losing streak in NCAA history.

Tech routs UTEP

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Quarterback Ron Reeves, who underwent surgery on his throwing shoulder during the off-season, threw three touchdown passes to lead Texas Tech to an easy 35-7 win over Texas-El Paso in a non-conference football opener for both teams Saturday night.

Reeves tossed scoring passes of 15 yards to Renie Baker, 27 yards to Mike Jackson, and flipped a short pass to Anthony Hutchison, who streaked 65 yards for a touchdown.

Greg Tyler scored on a four-yard scamper early in the fourth quarter and Wes Hightower dived into the end zone from the one-yard-line to wrap up Tech's scoring.

UTEP's only score came in the third quarter on a 76-yard drive capped by a nine-yard touchdown pass from Paul Sieczkowski to Frank Jarzombek. The drive was kept alive by a roughing the kicker penalty against Tech when the Miners were punting on fourth and 21.

All three of Reeves' scoring passes came in the first half as Tech took advantage of Texas-El Paso's mistakes and seized good field position.

UTEP quarterback Sieczkowski ran several plays from the pro-style shotgun formation, but it did not seem to surprise a tough Tech defense.

One long-pass thrown by Sieczkowski from the shotgun formation was intercepted by Leonard Duncan, who returned the ball 33 yards to the UTEP 27 to set up Reeves' touchdown pass to Jackson, with only four seconds left in the half.

After scoreless 24 minutes

Big second half gives Coahoma 22-0 win

WALL — The Coahoma Bulldogs broke open a scoreless deadlock with two third quarter touchdowns and then reced onward for a 22-0 opening night triumph over the Wall Hawks here Friday night in a non-district contest.

Coahoma moved the ball well throughout the contest, but key penalties stopped scoring drives in the first half, keeping the scoreboard dead until the third stanza.

But Coahoma finally broke the spell, as quarterback Philip Richey connected with split end Shayne Mayhall on a 35-yard scoring pass. Robert Walker booted the extra point and the Bulldogs led 7-0.

Just minutes later, Wall failed to get a punt off deep in their own territory, with Coahoma taking possession on the Hawks six yard line.

Sophomore tailback Rodney Whitworth wasted no time in converting the opportunity, racing in from that mark to give the Bulldogs a 13-0 lead.

Bronte outlasts Forsan Buffs

BRONTE — The Bronte Longhorns outlasted the Forsan Buffaloes here Friday night by a score of 20-13 in a contest that saved all of the fireworks for an exciting final half.

quarterback Ernie Strickland ran over from the three to score. Strickland then booted the extra point and the Buffs led 7-0.

Bronte iced the game in the final stanza when Cody McClure, who rushed for 111 yards on 21 carries, dove over from the one to give the Longhorns their final 20-13 advantage.

F. Stanley. "Our seniors played a very inspired game," said assistant coach Roger Hudgins. "If we can continue playing like that, I think we'll sneak up on some people as the year rolls along."

The contest, which was the season opener, was scoreless in the first half, although the Forsan crew threatened.

With 4:45 left in the third stanza, Bronte's Tim Colter ran over from the three, and Zuniga's kick gave the host Longhorns a 14-7 advantage.

The seniors are in the form of only four people, but they drew the praise of the Forsan coaching staff. These four are Strickland, James Bristo, Brent Nichols and D.

The Bulldogs will travel to Three-Way next Friday for another non-district battle.

Forsan finally broke the ice in the third stanza, as struck right back, as senior D.F. Stanley ran over from the 26 to bring the Buffs within one at 14-13.

But the kick failed, and the Longhorns maintained a one-point advantage.

Clanton had three receptions for 43 yards to pace the Bulldog receivers.

Most of the scoring in the contest took place in the initial stanza, but it was the Wildcats that benefitted the most.

Grady opened the scoring when Larry Key recovered a Grady fumble in the end zone. Key then kicked the two-point conversion to give the hosts an 8-0 lead.

Jackie Vining then capped the scoring for the evening later in the second stanza, accepting an 18-yard touchdown pass from Lynn Key.

Clanton had three receptions for 43 yards to pace the Bulldog receivers.

Harris wins BSHS debut Steer comeback topples Snyder

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

SNYDER — If the decade of the 80s changes as dramatically as the Big Spring Steers football team did during the middle portions of the second quarter, watch out.

The Steers, whipping boys in recent years for most of their opponents, ushered in the new season by rallying from a 13-point deficit and taking a hard fought 14-13 win over the stunned Snyder Tigers here Friday night.

The game, which gave first year Steer Head Football Coach Ralph Harris a triumph in his debut, also ended a pair of eight-game losing streaks for the Big Spring gridders. The Bovines were nursing an eight-game loss streak dating back to last year's win over Hobbs, and had not beaten the Snyder team in their last eight meetings.

And if you were a gambling type of person and watched the first 18 minutes of the contest, you probably would have bet most everything you owned that the streak would have continued to nine.

But it was not to be! After two Snyder punts and a Big Spring punt, the fireworks were unveiled late in the first stanza.

On a first down from their own 20, Big Spring junior halfback Richard Evans broke free and scampered 57 yards to the Snyder 23. But an official's flag for clipping nullified the nifty run, instead bringing the ball back to the Steers 18 yard line. On the next play, a Big Spring fumble was pounced on by Snyder defensive lineman Oziel Gonzales on the Steer 12.

But Big Spring stiffened, as David Shanks dropped Snyder QB Mike Roemisch on first down for a four yard loss. On third down, Greg Scarbro forced Roemisch to unleash his pass early and incomplete, and the entire Steer front four caused a poor pass on fourth down, enabling the Big Spring crew to maintain the 0-0 tie.

But the Steers quickly gave the Tigers another chance to score, as on third down on their ensuing possession, Bobby Earl Williams, who had an extremely difficult time holding onto the football in the early going, fumbled, with Snyder recovering on the Bovine 23.

This time the hosts cashed 12-6 over Sands

Late score gives Robert Lee win

ACKERLY — Buck Duncan ran eight yards on a quarterback keeper to paydirt with only 1:29 remaining in the contest to boost the Robert Lee Steers to a 12-6 season opening win over the much improved Sands Mustangs.

Despite the improved play of his Mustangs, Coach Jim White was frustrated following the loss because of the numerous penalties. His Sands gridders were penalized 130 yards in the contest, which snuffed out most of his Mustangs offensive attack.

Super Joe tough
CLEVELAND (AP) — Joe Charboneau, Jorge Orta and Toby Harrah clouted home runs to back the solid pitching of Len Barker as the Cleveland Indians downed the Kansas City Royals 8-3 Saturday night.

The three homers paced a 11-hit attack behind Barker, 18-8, who surrendered six hits and struck out nine in 7 1/2 innings. He leads the American League with 159 strikeouts this season.

in on the opportunity, as elusive tailback Keith McClain crashed in from the three on the fifth play to light the scoreboard.

But Williams began his road to redeeming himself, breaking through the Snyder front wall and leaping high in the air to block Glen Parham's PAT attempt.

Big Spring took the following kickoff, and three plays later continued with their charitable ways, as Snyder safety Casey Peterson made a diving interception of a tipped Tracy Spence pass on the Steer 37.

McClain broke through for 21 yards and a first down at the 16 on the first Snyder play of the drive, with a penalty worth eight yards (half the distance) when the aggressive Williams piled on.

It gave the Tigers a first and two, and Roemisch then ran for five to the Steer three and a first and goal. Three plays later, however, Williams threw McClain for a seven yard loss, and it appeared the Big Spring crew would escape without damage.

But on fourth down Roemisch scrambled and drilled a strike to Matt Taggart in the end zone and the final Tiger touchdown of the evening. Parham booted the PAT successfully this time, and Snyder had what seemed to be a comfortable 13-0 lead.

The Steers made their initial first down of the night on their next possession, but the Tigers held and Greg Scarbro punted.

But the Snyder return man mishandled the ball, and a herd of Steers converged on the loose pigskin, with 117-pound Todd Darden coming up with the ball for the visitors on the Tiger 28.

Williams cracked the Tiger line three straight times for a first down to the 13, and Evans then broke through for 12 yards and a first and goal at the one.

Evans scored on a short burst the next play, with Chuck Gibbs extra point boot narrowing the Snyder lead to 13-7 with 4:20 to go in the half.

McClain, who had run quite freely in the early going, was then slammed to the ground viciously on two straight carries, and Roemisch, following an incomplete pass, punted 42 yards to the Bovine 33.

Williams then led the Steers on a quick, two-play 67-yard drive that put the Steers on top for good in the season opener.

On first down, the talented 185-pound junior burst through for 18 yards and into Tiger territory at the 49. On the following play, Spence, Roemisch then punted, and Richard Evans broke through on the second Steer offensive play for 17 yards and a first down at the Tiger 40.

Snyder held, and Scarbro punted 21 yards to give Snyder one final possession at their own 12 with but 35 seconds remaining.

Roemisch hit Parham for 13 yards, and then hooked up with younger brother Brent for 12 yards and a first down at the 37.

But with the time clicking off, the Snyder signal caller hurled a desperation bomb downfield. Williams then nailed the final blow in the Steers win by leaping high to intercept the pass on his own 25 with four seconds remaining.

A win is a win, but it no doubt was pleasing to Harris, his staff and the players for the way they battled back after the early adversity.

The defense and the kicking game were no doubt the cornerstones of the win, but even bigger was the fact the Steers didn't fold, something that seemed to be a habit in the past few seasons.

"They never gave up," said a composed Harris. "They've got so much invested, it's hard to. Even when we were down, there was a great feeling over there on the sidelines."

"Everything came together just like we planned it."

Austin passes by Bobcats

AUSTIN — Stephen F. Austin High School proved to be a rude host here Friday night, hammering out a 20-10 victory over the San Angelo Bobcats.

The visiting Central team got on the boards first on a 24-yard field goal in the second period.

Stephen F. Austin didn't score until the third round. Mike Lindbauer zipped 55 yards across the double stripes to put Austin ahead after intercepting a pass and Ray Kidd kicked the PAT.

Central came back to go ahead in the fourth when Steve Yarborough raced five yards across the double stripes. Fields made it 10-7 with the PAT.

After that, it was all Stephen F. Austin. Robert Kimble put Central ahead to stay when he took a pass from Wayne McDonald. The play covered 72 yards. Kidd made good on the point try.

Lindbauer then gathered in a pass from McDonald and roared 45 yards for the clinching score. The try for the PAT failed.

Odessa's rugged defense held Amarillo to 67 yards rushing and 49 passing.

Cooper edges Brownwood

BROWNWOOD — Abilene Cooper edged Brownwood High, 13-12, in their season's opening game here Friday night.

Brownwood scored first in the second quarter after intercepting a pass and returning it 20 yards. The PAT try failed.

Cooper also scored in the second quarter when Reed took a seven-yard pass from Lanny Dycus. The Cougars failed to convert, however.

Brownwood gained 115 yards rushing and 99 passing to 91 and 160 for Cooper.

Slaton romps

IMPORTANT SAFETY WARNING

to owners of older John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractors

Maintaining the safety equipment on your older John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor can be especially important. The original boot (or cover) for the battery's positive post on Model 60, 70, 100, 110, 112, 120 or 140 Tractors manufactured from 1963 through 1974 may have suffered from age or may have been lost or damaged. And if that positive battery post is not properly covered, there is danger of a spark causing a fire and bodily injury if you accidentally touch a metal gas can to the positive battery post when refueling the tractor. A more serious fire can result if you are not using a safety-approved gas can.

If you own one of the above models, John Deere wants to make absolutely certain that your tractor has the battery's positive post properly isolated. To make it easy—and safer—for you, we will send you a new cover, free. Just fill out the coupon provided below and mail it to the address shown. It comes complete with installation instructions and is not difficult to install. But if you prefer, after you have received your kit, make a date with your John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor dealer and he'll install it for a small service charge.

Remember, safety and maintenance go hand in hand. The operator's manual can help you. Read it again. Keep your tractor as safe as it was when it was delivered.

It could be the most important thing you do today.

While Landry sees close defensive battle

Pardee impressed with Danny White

WASHINGTON (AP) — Danny White, replacing superstar Roger Staubach, and the Dallas Cowboys begin defense of their NFC East title against arch-rival Washington Monday night in a nationally televised game that could indicate how far either of the perennial powers could go in the National Football League this season.

The Redskins are slight favorites in the season opener, having never lost a Monday night game in RFK Stadium in eight outings. A major key to the contest will be whether quarterback White, a five-year man out of Arizona State, can take charge of the Cowboys in replacing Staubach, the team's on-field leader who retired to the broadcast booth this year.

Redskins Coach Jack Pardee thinks White can be potentially more dangerous than Staubach, especially with the run, despite his inexperience.

"We have all the respect in the world for Danny," said Pardee. "He's been around. He probably used the whole off-season looking forward to this first game.

"Right now, White is more mobile than Staubach who would slide in his last year or two. White will try to get more yardage when he runs than Roger did. We've got to make sure we keep him contained."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said it will take time for the Cowboys to adjust to White. "Danny is maturing fast, but it will take time," he said. While the Cowboys are going with a different quarterback and a different fullback, Ron Springs for Robert Newhouse, they still have the same offense line. On defense, the front four has been bolstered by the return of end Ed "Too Tall" Jones after a year's absence but are suspect in the secondary hurt by retirement and injury.

"The Cowboys are still the Cowboys," said Pardee. "The only difference is the No. 11 jersey (White). They are still running the same plays and giving you a lot of different looks. They've been successful doing things a certain way for a long time and they aren't about to change much now."

Offensively, the Redskins will rely on the quarterbacking of Joe Theismann and the kicking leg of Mark Moseley. With John Riggins retired by the team, the Redskins will use three fullbacks—Clarence Harmon, Wilbur Jackson and rookie Rickey Claitt.

On defense, the front four has aged and the linebacking corps has suffered injuries but the veteran secondary is among the best in the league. "Washington is a great defensive team," said Landry. "Against Washington, field position dictates everything. They are basically a field position team, a turnover team."

"Washington is a good offensive team that is probably more multiple than we are. They are a tough recognition team. They miss John Riggins, obviously, although Clarence Harmon is a fine receiver and running back."

"If both teams play well," said Landry, "it will be a close, tough, defensive football game."

In 22-6 win over Garden City

Big plays spark Irion County

MERTZON — Irion County used two big plays in taking a 22-6 win over Garden City in the grid opener for both schools here Friday night.

Both of the big plays were passes that produced two touchdowns for Irion County, as Garden City, in their first game under new head coach Stu Cooper, battled on even terms the rest of the way.

The host Hornets struck quickly in the first quarter. After Garden City was forced to begin action on their own seven following a fumbled kickoff, Irion County held and took over in good field position.

The Hornets then drove for the touchdown, with George Savalas getting the honors on a seven-yard run. Tommy Clark then passed to Savalas for the two-point conversion and an 8-0 Irion County lead.

The two teams battled back throughout the remainder of the first half, but Irion County managed a final blow before the intermission when Clark hurled a 36-yard pass to Roy Burks to give the Hornets a 14-0 lead. The PAT failed.

After a scoreless third stanza, Clark hit Fabian Valencia with a pass in the flat at the 30 on a fourth and 22. Valencia broke a tackle and then raced to the end zone to cap the Hornets scoring for the night. Garden City made one attempt at a last gasp rally when fullback Billy Kelso broke free on a dive play and outraced defenders 60 yards for the Bearkats score. A pass for the two-point conversion failed.

Cooper had mixed emotions about the outcome of the contest, but did state that he feels his team has improved over last season. "The penalties killed us. (Garden City had 81 yards in infractions). We had two drives that were killed by penalties. And the two touchdown passes really hurt. We can't allow those things to happen."

"But the coaching staff felt good with the effort," Cooper continued. We were solid for most of the game, but not good enough."

A big hindrance to the Bearkat attack happened early when starting center Bryan Stringer dislocated his hip in the fourth play in the game. This caused problems with the bread-and-butter traps of the Bearkat offense.

Garden City returns for their home opener next week when they play host to Forsan.

Stanton rallies by Tahoka

TAHOKA — Craig Eiland passed 10 yards to David McReynolds for a touchdown with 5:38 remaining in the game to propel the Stanton Buffaloes to a big upset win over the Tahoka Bulldogs in a rugged defensive struggle here Friday night.

Tahoka entered the season opener ranked 13th in Class AAA, while Stanton is a Class AA participant.

The game was a scoreless struggle throughout the first three stanzas, although Tahoka made threats inside the Stanton 30-yard line in the third period.

But Bulldogs tailback Tracey White, who rushed for 64 yards in the contest, bolted over from the eight just six seconds into the fourth quarter to put Tahoka on top. Kevin Elmore booted the PAT to give Tahoka a 7-0 lead.

Stanton didn't waste any time retaliating, however, as sophomore Tony Hernandez took the ensuing kickoff and raced 90 yards to narrow the Tahoka lead to 7-6. The tying PAT failed, and Tahoka held onto their slim lead. But with six minutes remaining to play, a Tahoka return man mishandled a Stanton punt, with alert George Lewis pouncing on the pigskin to give the Buffs possession just ten yards from paydirt.

At that point, Eiland hooked up with McReynolds to boost Stanton to the win.

Both defenses were extremely stout in the contest. Stanton managed only 184 yards total offense, with 126 of that coming off Eiland's arm. Tahoka, meanwhile, managed 162 yards total offense. Stanton's defensive charge was led by the play of linebackers Johnny Christon and Greg Douglass, end Lee Byrd and safety Kevin Newman.

The Buffs will try for the second straight win over a Class AAA foe next week when they invade Coahoma for their yearly grudge match.

Memorable controversies highlight Texas-OU grid book

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Oklahoma tackle Ed Rowland clearly was offside in blocking a Texas punt that won OU's first national football championship in 1950, concludes the author of a new book on the "most bitter rivalry in college sports."

Author Robert Heard also found in researching the 74-game Texas-Oklahoma series that the Longhorns' undefeated 1962 team beat OU, 9-6, on a field goal on an extra fifth down.

Heard, who lives in Austin, spent a year completing his book, "Oklahoma vs. Texas: When Football Becomes WAR."

He recalled that in 1950 Oklahoma was ranked No. 3 in college football and had won 23 straight games prior to meeting Texas at Dallas. The Longhorns were No. 4 but were a 6½-point favorite.

Texas led 13-7 with less than five minutes to play when Rowland, a Texan, blocked Billy Porter's punt and OU recovered at the Texas 11-year-line. OU's Billy "The Kid" Vessels scored from the 11, and the conversion gave OU a 14-13 victory.

Heard said sports writers "turned this game into one of the series' two most controversial, together with" the 1947 game in which Sooner fans thought a call by official Jack Sisco had cost OU a victory.

Both Oklahoma and Texas won the remainder of their regular season games in 1950, with OU winning the first national football title by either team. Texas finished No. 3.

"Was Texas Robbed?" asked an Austin headline.

Flem Hall of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram said he had studied the game film frame-by-frame and felt Rowland had made a "perfect charge" against a Texas team that had only 10 players on the field.

Sports Editor James Rech of the UT student newspaper said he studied the film, and Rowland was at least a foot across the line when the ball was snapped.

Heard also viewed the old game film and said, "Rowland took a crowding stance that would remind modern fans of Pittsburgh's Mean Joe Greene. His helmet was so close to the imaginary line from the nose of the ball that any forward movement at all by him would put him over the line."

"Because of the angle of the camera," said Heard, "the Texas center's arm is seen just above and beyond Rowland's helmet. By running the film over and over, it is obvious that Rowland's helmet shoots forward before the center's arm moves. Rowland clearly is offside on the play."

The loss to Oklahoma forced Texas' Blair Cherry out of coaching, said Heard, adding, "He revealed later that he made up his mind to quit during the two weeks following the game. He received abusive mail and his phone rang constantly late into the night."

In 1962 Heard said both former OU Coach Bud Wilkinson's newsletter and the pressbox play-by-play sequence recorded five plays on a Texas series that began on the OU 17½ and ended with shoeless Tony Crosby's 26-yard field goal.

"Surely some mistake had been made," thought Heard, going to the game films. "There is was — exactly the way Wilkinson and the play-by-play writer had described it," he said. "No penalty. No time problem." Crosby had kicked what turned out to be the winning points on fifth down.

"Between plays," said Heard, "the cameraman took a few frames of the sideline and the first down and chain marker. Although it is a fleeting glimpse, it appears the man holding the down marker started to turn the '2' over to show the '3' when something distracted him and he let the '2' drop back in place."

Local soccer program deemphasizes pressure

The start of a youth sports league is usually not the stuff of which news articles are made. However, the YMCA's youth Soccer leagues are different from any other youth sports programs.

The difference lies in the "Y's" belief that sports for youngsters should be fun; not the competitive "pressure cookers" in which youngsters are all too often subjected to verbal abuse for failure to make the big play. What happens when the emphasis is put on fun? In Y soccer leagues, everyone who wants to play gets to. There are no youngsters warming the bench for most of the game.

As for competition, Y leaders try to put that in proper perspective. Y participants play to win. But they also learn that losing is not the disaster it might appear to be.

The total cost of participating in Y soccer is included in the activity fee, which also pays for balls, goals, officials and the entire uniform the participant is required to wear. A "Y" T-shirt, no other cost to the participants. As we have in the past, sportsmanship awards will be given to all participants. Since parents and coaches are sometimes offenders in pushing the win-at-all cost philosophy, special meetings for both parents and coaches are built into Y programs to insure the philosophy is adhered to.

Topples Lubbock by 7-0

Lamesa pulls upset

LAMESA — The Lamesa Golden Tors used a second quarter touchdown and a defense that stopped numerous Lubbock Westerner drives deep in their territory here Friday night, taking a big 7-0 win.

The conquest allowed new Lamesa grid mentor Jim Warren to take a win in his debut. It also equalled the total number of wins Lamesa achieved last year in a 1-9 season.

Lamesa's score came on a nine-play, 80-yard drive culminated by a three-yard run by Bernard Williams. The big plays in the drive were passes from the arm of Sam Hansard of 24 yards to Mark Ray and 25 yards to Williams. Williams' reception set up a first and goal at the three.

Will Wright booted the PAT for the final point of the night.

Lubbock's drives were stopped on two interceptions and a couple of fumbles. Lubbock had one final drive to Golden Tor 25-yard line late in the contest, but Hansard intercepted Westerner QB James Jackson's pass in the end zone with 53 seconds remaining.

"This is the most important win for Lamesa in seven years," Warren noted following the game. "We played when we had to."

Lamesa meets Brownfield next week.

Action by anti-abortion group in Odessa illegal

ODESSA, Texas (AP) - A publicity stunt by an anti-abortion group, intended to embarrass two doctors who perform legal abortions, backfired when the anti-abortion group discovered it had broken the law.

Odessans For Life had called a Friday news conference to display what they claimed were bottles of human tissue and fetuses they found by rummaging through trash bags behind the doctors' offices.

City Attorney Joel Roberts said throwing fetuses in the garbage is not against city ordinances, but he said the abortion group violated the law when they went through garbage bags in city receptacles without written permission.

Currently, animal carcasses are the only such things that cannot be disposed of in plastic garbage bags, he said.

One doctor said he sends his material to a pathologist out of the city for disposal anyway. The other would not comment.

James Luck, Ector County health inspector, would only say that he preferred that fetuses be incinerated or buried.

JUST FOR YOU — If you're over 60, the fair has designed a division especially for you who wish to compete with others in your age group. Crafts and Hobbies and Clothing Construction are the categories available. In charge of the Over Sixty Division are, left to right, Mrs. B.A. Bunn, handwork chairman; Mrs. Lee Porter, co-chairman; and Mrs. Ben Boadle, chairman.

PRETTY DISPLAY — Mrs. L.Z. Rhodes, general superintendent of the Women's Department, says displays in that division will have a new look. Twelve new glass display cases have been added to the department in which beautiful but delicate items will be placed for show. Here, Mrs. W.H. Christensen, chairman of the Hobbies and Crafts Division, and Mrs. Henry Beckcom, display only a few of many creations to be seen at the fair.

At Eighth Annual HC Fair

Women's Department gets new look

By ROBBI CROW
Family News Editor

The Women's Department at this year's Howard County Fair is going to have "a new look," says the division's general superintendent, Mrs. L. Z. Rhodes.

"To begin with, we have 12 new glass cases in which to display fragile things," Mrs. Rhodes revealed.

"We also have some afghan racks which are sure to make that display much nicer and better taken care of," she added.

The festivities of Howard County's eighth annual fair will kick off the morning of Sept. 15 and won't simmer down until late Sept. 20. And one thing is for certain, fair goers won't want to miss the expanded Women's Department.

Leaders putting forth their time and effort to bring about the face lift in this department include:

Hobbies and Crafts — Mrs. W. H. Christensen, chairman; Macy Schwarz and Newcomers Handcraft Club members, co-chairmen.

Culinary — Lola Mitchell, coordinator.
Baked Goods — Mrs. Dale Soles, chairman; Mrs. Myrl Soles, co-chairman.

Canned Goods — Mrs. L. J. Davidson, chairman; Mrs. Alvis Jeffcoat and Mrs. Rodney Fuqua, co-chairmen.

Textile Division — Mrs. Jerald Burgess, clothing chairman; Helen Larson, co-chairman; Mrs. B. A. Bunn, handwork chairman.

Youth Division — Mrs. Lloyd Robinson, chairman.

Over Sixty — Mrs. Ben Boadle, chairman; Mrs. Lee Porter, co-chairman.

Flower Show — Mrs. Lavelle Hill, chairman.

Art Exhibit — Terry Patterson, chairman; Howard Armstrong, co-chairman.

If you're interested in entering any of these divisions (with the exception of the Flower Show and Art Exhibit) take note of the following rules and regulations.

1. Exhibits will be accepted between 7:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Sept. 15.

2. Judging will be at 1:30 p.m. Sept. 15.

3. Exhibits will be open to the public at 4 p.m. Sept. 15.

4. Exhibitors cannot pick up exhibits before 10 p.m. Sept. 20. Items may be picked up between 2-5 p.m. Sept. 21.

5. Blue, red and white ribbons will be given. Ribbons for participation will be given each entry.

6. Entries in the Youth Division will include all area youth, not just 4-H and FFA.

7. No soiled articles will be accepted.

8. All items entered must have been completed in the past three years and must not have earned first place in a previous fair.

9. Premiums will be awarded in accordance with the merits of the article exhibited. Judges will not award prizes to an exhibitor by exchange.

10. An exhibitor cannot enter more than one article under any one class number in a division.

11. All exhibits must be the work of the exhibitor. All articles must be complete.

12. No articles can be exhibited to compete for more than one award.

13. No professional work will be accepted unless there is a division for such.

14. Canned fruits, vegetables, pickles and relishes will not be judged unless in regulation jars. All jars must be sealed with rings left on. Jellies, jams, etc., must be in standard glasses or pint jars. Paraffin will be accepted — all jelly glasses or jars must have tops. No mayonnaise, coffee or cold jars will be judged. All jars must be labeled as to contents and dated.

15. Baked articles must be placed on cardboard squares or circles and must be completely covered with cellophane that is taped on the underside of the container.

"As another added highlight to this year's Women's Department," continued Mrs. Rhodes, "we will feature special baked days which will allow the ladies to bring their food in day by day and retrieve it in time to take home and feed their families. This will eliminate waste.

Bake days are:
CAKE DAY — Sept. 15, entries accepted from 7:30 a.m.-1 p.m. Pick up Sept. 16 at 10 a.m.

PIE DAY — Sept. 16, entries accepted 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Pick up Sept. 17 at 10 a.m.

BREAD, ROLLS AND DONUT DAY — Sept. 17, entries accepted 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Pick up Sept. 18 at 10 a.m.

COOKIE DAY — Sept. 18, entries accepted 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Pick up Sept. 19 at 10 a.m.

DECORATED CAKE AND CANDY DAY — Sept. 19, entries accepted 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Pick up Sept. 20 at 10 a.m.

Although it is too late for you to submit your favorite recipe for publication in the Howard County Fair Cookbook, you'll still have the opportunity to test tasty treats submitted by others. Cookbooks can be purchased at the fair from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. daily and all day Sept. 20.

Prize-winning recipes from this fair will be used in future cookbooks.

Adding competition excitement to the canned goods division will be special premium awards.

To further stimulate the art of home food preservation, Ball Corporation is offering three dozen wide mouth Mason Quart Jars, three dozen 1/2-pint can or freeze jars, six dozen quilted Crystal Jelly Jars and eight Ball Blue Books.

The two best exhibits canned in Ball Jars and sealed with Ball Caps shall be selected from each class indicated below to receive the following:

Fruits — first place, two dozen wide mouth Mason Quart Jars, 1 Ball Blue Book; second place, one dozen wide mouth Mason Quarts Jars, one Ball Blue Book.

Vegetables — first place, two dozen

1/2-pint can or freeze jars, 1 Ball Blue Book; second place, one dozen 1/2-pint can or freeze jars, one Ball Blue Book.

Pickles and Relishes — first place, two dozen eight-ounce Quilted Crystal Jelly Jars, one Ball Blue Book; second place, one dozen eight-ounce Quilted Crystal Jelly Jars, one Ball Blue Book.

Jams and Jellies — first place, two dozen eight-ounce Quilted Crystal Jelly Jars, one Ball Blue Book; second place, one dozen eight-ounce Quilted Crystal Jelly Jars and one Ball Blue Book.

An exhibitor may not win more than one prize.

If you're over 60 years of age, a special division in the Women's Department has been devoted to those of you who wish to compete with members of your own age group.

Categories available include Crafts and Hobbies and Clothing Construction.

Rules and regulations will be the same as listed in the Regular Adult Division in the fair official catalogue.

"The age is the only difference," Mrs. Rhodes points out.

However, participants must choose which division in which they wish to compete. The Over Sixty Division and other divisions cannot be entered with the same item.

"All divisions in the Women's Department are not restricted to women," Mrs. Rhodes revealed. "We may call it the Women's Department but we don't want to exclude me from competition at all."

In concluding, the department superintendent said "We hope the Women's Department is an educational department that will motivate others to try new things. After all, that's what the fair is all about."

For more information concerning entries in the Women's Division or any division, write the Howard County Fair Association, P.O. Box 2256, Big Spring, Tex., 75720.

Flower Show

The Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs will sponsor the horticulture display this year in conjunction with the fair.

Although the Flower Show is a division of the Women's Department, competitors must follow specific rules and regulations designed for this division only.

The display is open to anyone in Big Spring or Howard County. Horticulture must have been grown by the exhibitor in Howard County.

The two divisions are:
1. Container plants — foliage plants, flowering plants and hanging baskets.
2. African Violets (must be named); and Cacti and or Succulent plants.

GENERAL RULES

1. Entries must be made by any amateur gardener who is a resident of Howard County.

2. The Flower Show Committee is not responsible for properties, but will exercise care to prevent damage.

3. Entries will be accepted from 8-11:30 a.m. Sept. 15. All entries must be approved by the Classification Committee before recorded by Entries Committee. Classification may make sub-division when necessary.

4. No conservation material may be used other than education exhibits. Plants restricted in District I are: Sotol, Yucca Torreyi, Blue Bonnet, Indian Paintbrush and Standing Cypress. The use of wild flowers not on the conservation list are encouraged to be used in Educational and Conservation.

5. An exhibitor may make only one entry in any class or sub-division, but may enter as many classes in horticulture as desired. All container grown plants, hanging baskets may be pre-registered.

6. Entries may not be removed before 9 a.m. Sept. 20 but must be removed by 9 p.m.

TEXTILE DIVISION — Clothing construction is an important category at any fair and at Howard County's eighth annual exhibition, the same holds true. Are you handy with a needle and thread? If so, get your latest creation ready for competition in the Women's Department. Pictured is Mrs. B.F. Larson, co-chairman of the Textile Division.

From JANET ROGERS
County Extension Agent

Opportunities for sewing professionally have never been better, so think about starting your own sewing business.

More and more women are employed outside the home and in need of expanded wardrobes, so potential clients are increasing.

In addition to the financial rewards of having your own sewing business, self-confidence and respect are extra rewards for the successful seamstress.

This "personal hobby" for many women can turn into a profitable experience, often at a little additional expense.

Check locally to determine sewing and alteration charges or fees in your area. This will "pay off" in helping you establish your fees.

Some fees are set by the garment type, but they may also be influenced by fabric and extra detailing.

It's advisable to seek an attorney's advice in developing a contract for sewing services and an accountant's advice for necessary business records.

Studies show that many professional seamstresses don't take advantage of tax deductions, keep complete business records or have adequate insurance.

Also, you can advertise your services in the newspaper's classified section to get started, but remember that most people choose a seamstress from personal referrals and word-of-mouth.

Knowing what clients want will help you understand your skills are unique, and the more skillful you are, the more demand there will be for your expertise, so, in deciding, be sure to consider these major factors: client desires, needs.

Clients often are interested in paying someone with skills in handling special fitting problems, redesigning garments or sewing special fabrics.

Many want unique or special looks not available in ready-to-wear garments.

Some feel they will save money compared to buying ready-mades, but they don't feel they have the time or skills to sew for themselves.

Once you decide to venture into your own business, you will "be your own boss" of course, but it's also wise to be business-minded.

For example, so that both parties will have maximum satisfaction, it's important for the customer and the professional seamstress to agree in advance on labor charges, customer or seamstress-supplied materials, number of fittings, down payment, method of payment and completion date.

With these thoughts in mind, there's really no reason, if you want to try, why you can't be a success in your own sewing business!

Food workshop scheduled for 4-H leaders, parents

The 4-H Foods and Nutrition Project is one of the major 4-H projects which will be emphasized this fall.

Youth of all ages both boys and girls will develop skills to plan, purchase, prepare and serve tasty attractive and nutritious meals and snacks. They will learn the principles of nutrition as they relate to good health, physical fitness, and attractive appearance. The importance of including foods from each of the four food groups in the daily diet will also be taught.

The highlight of the 4-H Food Project will be the County 4-H Food Show. Each food show contestant will prepare a dish from either the main dish category, side dish category, bread and desserts category, or snack and beverage category. The youth will be judged on their nutritional knowledge, and the appearance and the taste of the product which they prepare. All 4-H'ers will be recognized and awarded.

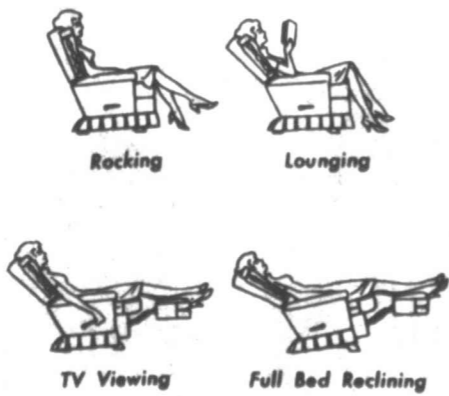

Parents and 4-H leaders from Howard County who would like to teach a 4-H Foods and Nutrition Project are encouraged to attend a Sept. 20 and 21 weekend workshop at the Texas 4-H Center near Brownwood. Topics to be covered at this workshop will include teaching methods, method demonstrations, food show preparation, and recreation.

Instructors for this workshop include Dr. Rose Postel, Extension Foods and Nutrition Specialist, College Station; Mrs. Janet Yeates, Area 4-H and Youth Specialist, Bryan; and members of the Texas 4-H Center Staff.

Weekend workshops, conferences, forums and camps bring 4-H leaders and resource instructors together for sharing knowledge skills and recreation. In this way the benefits of 4-H training are multiplied to reach every area of Texas.

Carpool Central will save time and money

Having trouble working out how to get your children to school? Want to save time and money on gasoline? If your children go to College Heights Elementary, the College Heights Connection could be your answer.
"Our Carpool Central may be able to put College Heights parents in touch with others living near them who want to share driving their children to school," said Kay Roberts, that PTA's vice president.
Letters about the carpool matching service were sent home with each College Heights child this week. Parents interested in carpooling should return the information form to school and will be contacted by PTA about other families living near them who might want to carpool, according to Mrs. Roberts.

College Heights PTA offered a carpool matching service last year, too. One mother in a College Heights carpool then reported that the carpool cut her school driving by two-thirds, from 24 to 8 miles weekly.
Persons desiring more information about the College Heights PTA Carpool Central may call 263-3404.

Tami Shafer, Ray Hill exchange vows recently

Wedding vows were spoken by Tami Shafer and Ray Hill in a candlelight ceremony performed Aug. 1 in the Vincent Baptist Church.
The Rev. Ben Neel, pastor, officiated the 7 p.m. rite before two spiraling candelabrum flanking an archway entwined with greenery and white flowers. A seven-branch candelabrum centered the setting.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaRoy Shafer, Coahoma. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Glasscock, Snyder.
Wedding selections were performed by the bride's father, vocalist, who was accompanied by Libby Anderson, organist.

When given in marriage, the bride wore a Mori Lee gown of organza and Chantilly lace. The Queen Anne neckline was accentuated by an all-lace bodice punctuated with seed pearls. Full bishop sleeves added a soft touch, ending in fitted lace cuffs.
Layers of ruffles edged in lace marked the hemline of the full skirt which flowed gracefully into a chapel-length train.
Completing her ensemble was a lace-embellished English riding hat featuring a rouche illusion back and face blusher. She carried a nosegay of blue carnations touched with white silk flowers and baby's breath.

Streamers of blue ribbon and lace held the arrangement.
Serving the bride as matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Terry Shafer of Vincent. Bridesmaids were Julie Dozier, Andrews; and Rhessa Wolf, Vincent, cousin of the bride.
Doug Hill, Snyder, attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Clay Hill, Levelland, and Michael Glasscock, Brenham, both brothers of the groom.
Guests were seated by Tony Shafer and Terry Shafer, both brothers of the bride; and Ricky Glasscock, brother of the groom, Midland.
Serving as flower girl was Lisa Neel, Vincent. Ring bearer was Tim Hill, Levelland, nephew of the groom.
Following the exchange of vows, the newlyweds were feted with a reception in the church fellowship hall.
Members of the houseparty were Angeline Autry, Stephenville; Patty Hogan and Beth Young, Big Spring; Lana Hill, sister of the groom, Snyder; Phyllis Glasscock, sister-in-law of the groom, Brenham; Connie Glasscock, sister-in-law of the groom, Midland; and Martha Hill, sister-in-law of the groom, Levelland.
The bride attended Coahoma High School, Howard College and Western Texas College in Snyder. The groom attended Snyder High School and is employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.
Upon returning from a wedding trip to an undisclosed location, Mr. and Mrs. Hill will make their home in Snyder.

Dear Abby

Grieving Friends Need Your Presence

DEAR ABBY: As a professional counselor, I encounter many people who don't know how to handle grief or the loss of a loved one. They are grieving alone because their friends are afraid to visit them. Why do friends stay away? Because they don't know what to say.

I have learned more from dying and grieving people than I have from books. Perhaps these tips on how to give support to those who are terminally ill or are struggling to cope with a tragedy or loss will be useful to your readers. Please feel free to edit as you see fit and use in your column.

PHYLLIS W. HENDERSON, STAUNTON, VA.

1. When there's a terminally ill person in the family, everyone asks the family, "How is he?" Those who must live with that person need to hear, "How are you?" The family is hurting, yet they're treated as if they were invisible.
2. Don't worry about what to say. Speak from the heart. Or say nothing. Sometimes just hugging or holding someone can convey more than words.
3. Don't worry about what to bring someone who is very ill. Bring yourself. And give of yourself. Don't be like the person who runs in and says, "I've come to cheer you up... I'm double-parked. Gotta run. Bye!"
4. Be there later. Chances are, their numbness will wear off long after the crisis or the funeral, but by then, everyone's gone home. Anniversaries, birthdays and holidays are hard times to be alone.
5. Don't shut children out. If there are children in the family, listen to them, and don't hide your tears. You should teach them that tears are healing. (They are.) Ask each child if he/she wants to attend the funeral, and accept each answer as right for that child.
6. Don't stay away. Go even if you have a knot in your stomach. Go even if you're afraid you might say all the wrong things. Chances are they won't remember your words, but they'll feel your touch and remember that you came when they needed someone.

DEAR ABBY: What is the difference between a mule and a donkey? What exactly is an ass? Is an ass the same as a jackass? And have you ever heard of a hinny? And which of these is sterile?

STUPID CITY KID (AGE 36)

DEAR CITY KID: A mule is the offspring of a male ass and a female horse (mare). A mule is almost always sterile.

An ass is a donkey. And a jackass is specifically a male donkey.

A hinny is the offspring of a she-ass and a stallion. A hinny is also usually sterile. (Class adjourned.)

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for publishing my 1971 letter urging people who are hard of hearing to wear hearing aids. The good news is that through the advances in medical research and surgical techniques, my hearing has been completely restored!

Although I have never had nerve deafness, there are wonderful advances being made to help those with a nerve loss.

The Ear Research Institute in Los Angeles has a research program where it has implanted 100 totally deaf people and brought them into a world of sound. This research program must be kept going because we hope that one day in the not too distant future, help will be available to all who suffer the devastating handicap of deafness.

Bless you for being such a sweet, funny, caring person.

NANETTE FABRAY

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that men never make passes at girls who wear glasses?

NEARSIGHTED

DEAR NEAR: It depends on their frames.

DEAR ABBY: I'm almost 18 and have a strange question. My boyfriend and I are on the brink of a breakup. We've simply lost our love — but that's not the problem. We gave each other expensive graduation gifts, and now that we're breaking up, he insists on giving back the gifts. I spent about $100 for his gift, and he spent even more on mine. I want him to keep my gift, because when I gave it to him I loved him. However, he wants me to return the gift he gave me.

What is proper?

GIFT PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: A high school graduation gift is a gift — unlike an engagement ring that carries with it a commitment to marry. Tell Big Spender that you do not want your gift returned, and you want to keep his. Period.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Honky-tonk wedding

Tune sets mood

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — The groom paced nervously in his ivory tuxedo near the pool tables while the bride donned her white gown and veil in a dressing room across the spacious bar.

When guitarists Larry Edwards and D.J. Brown struck the opening chords of David Allan Coe's "Would You Be My Lady?" the couple marched up the dancefloor "aisle" to a stage usually reserved for singers of sadder songs.

Sandra Garvin did indeed vow to be Johnny Watkins' lady, and he vowed to be her man.

After Justice of the Peace Ruth Nicholson pronounced them husband and wife, the couple wheeled around to join in the applause from family, friends and club employees.

A waitress served drinks, the two-tiered cake was cut, and the honky-tonking commenced.

The Thursday evening event was a new kind of function for the folks at Santa Fe Junction, a popular country and western nightclub here.

But Mr. and Mrs. Watkins, both 23, said it seemed the appropriate spot for their wedding.

"Tom and Millie (Sullivan, the owners) are some of my best friends," said Watkins, a self-employed dance instructor. "And I just wanted to get married here."

Membership drive begins PTA 'shooting for the stars'

"Hangar 18's" stars are joining Big Spring's PTAs, and you can, too," is the invitation issued by the local council of the Parent-Teacher Association to parents, teachers, relatives, friends and neighbors of the city's elementary students.

"Join the Stars in PTA," which kicks off tomorrow, links Big Spring's five PTAs in a unified membership campaign for the first time, according to council president Leslie Earnst.

College Heights, Kentwood, Marcy, Moss and Washington are the five elementary schools which have PTA units.

"We are shooting for the stars this year," said Mrs. Earnst. She explained that PTA workers at the recent membership workshop decided to shoot for 100 percent membership.

Five "Hangar 18" stars — James Hampton, Darren McGavin, Gary Collins, Robert Vaughn and Joseph Campanella — have become honorary members of the Big Spring Council of PTAs. Local Hangar 18 stars are joining, too. So far, the casts at the five PTAs include Winston Wrinkle, Clyde McMahon Jr., John Key, Rick Hamby and Hal Boyd at College Heights; George Quintero and Steve Lewis at Moss; and Tom Watson and James Werrell at Kentwood.

Schick Sunn Classic Productions in Salt Lake City has sent Hangar 18 posters and pictures to be used by each PTA in publicizing the campaign.

Big Spring Movie Theaters has donated free Hangar 18 tickets as prizes in the membership campaign. The movie is slated to come to Big Spring in January.

One lucky PTA member at each school will win four "Hangar 18" tickets. Two more free "Hangar 18" tickets will be awarded in each school to a teacher — in most schools the one whose class records highest PTA membership.

"Hangar 18" T-shirts and posters also will be awarded to several students at each school. Children can qualify for participation in this special drawing by selling PTA memberships.

The month-long membership campaign gets under way tomorrow when students take home "Join the Stars in PTA" letters. Spacships like the U.S.S. PTA at College Heights will be manned mornings by PTA volunteers in the entries of several schools. Students may drop in membership envelopes as they arrive at school.

"PTA membership is a bargain that packs a lot of power," reminded Mrs. Earnst. From each membership, 20 cents goes to a national PTA project and 40 cents to Texas PTA activities. The rest remains in the individual school PTA unit.

Cost of PTA memberships is set by each school's unit. They are — College Heights, $1; Kentwood, $1.50; Marcy, $1.25; Moss, $1.10; Washington, $1.

Special emphasis this year is on the fact that PTA needs the support of everyone, even those who cannot participate personally, according to Mrs. Earnst.

"Some can give time...some talent...some financial support...some all three," assured Mrs. Earnst of the role that's waiting for all Big Springers as stars in PTA.

Local radio stations are featuring PTA on their talk shows. China Long airs her PTA interview on KBST (1490) at 9 a.m. today, and Jim Baum airs his PTA show on KBYG (1400) at 7:10 a.m. Tuesday. Daddy Don Brooks hosted three PTA members on KHEM's This, That and the Other Show Aug. 30.

Membership chairmen are College Heights, Jane Cox (267-1978); Kentwood, Shelane Roberts (267-2798); Marcy, Janet Murley (267-6277); Moss, Sheila Michie (267-6547); and Washington, Linda Baker (267-5325).

Tickets for the luncheon are $3.50 and the public is cordially invited. Funds will be used to help with civic beautification.

The Garden Council has been responsible for keeping the downtown planters supplied and for plants around public and historic buildings, rest homes and in the city parks. In addition, they sponsor the litter drives.

Mrs. Edna Womack said, "We have replaced the plants in the downtown planters four times due to vandalism and neglect. Most merchants forget to water them except for Swartz and Inland Port who take excellent care of theirs."

Altrusa Club joins forces in illiteracy eradication

The Altrusa Club of Big Spring met Saturday at 7:30 a.m. for a Continental Breakfast at the Holiday Inn to commemorate World Literacy Day as proclaimed by the United Nations and mayor Clyde Angel.

World Literacy Day is aimed at increasing awareness of global literacy problems. It marks the day in 1965 when the World Congress of Ministers of Education on the Eradication of Illiteracy opened in Tehran, Iran.

The local Altrusa Club is "making war on illiteracy by providing reading materials and volunteers to work with underprivileged and slow learners," said the organization's president, Mrs. Paul Guy.

It is inferred from the growing reserve of non-readers, she continued, that mankind has outgrown the ability to read, together with the need to do so. Learned scholars are not coming up with net-world conclusions and hypothesis for the alarming advancement of illiteracy.

"Instead they are making us aware of frightening statistics," Mrs. Guy revealed.

Reports conclude that by 1990, the number of illiterates worldwide will nearly double.

The Altrusa Club meets the second and fourth Thursday at noon each month in the Holiday Inn Patio Room.

The organization's aim for the current year is to join all forces in the eradication of illiteracy.

Athletic benefits outweigh liabilities

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a good high school athlete and plan to participate in college athletics this September. Since I'm a girl, my parents are concerned that I will be injured since girls' athletics in college are highly competitive.

Do you know how frequent and how serious sports-connected injuries are for women in college? My brother plays football for the University of Washington in Seattle and he has never had a serious injury.

— Connie, Everett, Wash.

Connie: A survey that appeared in the Journal of the American Medical Association indicates that well-trained women athletes suffer fewer athletic injuries than do men but the women seem to have more trouble with kneecaps (more complicated than men's) and joints (women's are looser).

The largest number of injuries for women were found in basketball, volleyball and gymnastics. I'm all for athletics. The benefits far outweigh the liabilities.

Dr. Wallace: I am an easy blusher. Whenever I feel the slightest bit uneasy, I turn "beet red."

What causes blushing, and why am I the only one that I know who blushes? —

Charlene, Odessa, Texas

Charlene: Everyone blushes. You just happen to blush more often than most. Blushing is a reaction of the nervous system which regulates the opening and closing of blood vessels of the skin. When extra blood rushes to the surface of Charlene's skin we can say that Charlene is blushing.

date with this boy. But, remember it's what your parents say, not what I think, that counts.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"WAR ON ILLITERACY" — Members of the local Altrusa Club are joining all forces in the war against worldwide illiteracy. Here, Mrs. Paul Guy, Altrusa president, looks over a piece of paper with Mayor Clyde Angel proclaiming Sept. 8 as World Literacy Day.

Study shows divorce no bar in job search

NEW YORK (AP) — Being divorced generally doesn't pose problems for people looking for a management job. Sometimes it's even an advantage. But being in the process of getting divorced is a real disadvantage.

These are among the conclusions of a survey among heads of management-level personnel agencies across the United States and Canada.

The survey was taken by National Personnel Associates, a network of 237 personnel agencies that cooperate in filling jobs at the $18,000-$75,000 level.

Sixty-one percent of the survey respondents believe a divorced job applicant is not at a disadvantage, while 31 percent believe there is a disadvantage. Eighty-four percent believe that being in a divorce process is a disadvantage while 10 percent disagree.

Many of these agency heads, who exchange thousands of resumes and employer job listings yearly in their cooperative efforts to fill jobs, expanded on their questionnaire comments.

"Divorced persons are hot employment candidates because they are independent of family. Employers feel they devote more to the job and career than married or single people," commented Phil Orlesky of Fort Garry Personnel Services Ltd., Winnipeg, Manitoba. "Unfortunately, people going through a divorce are considered somewhat unstable or unpredictable," he added.

"The divorced person is more apt to be apartment-oriented, so high mortgage interest costs on the purchase of a house are not a big factor and this is an advantage," says Chuck Hankins of Hankins Personnel Services, Lima, Ohio.

"In the past, being divorced may have been a drawback. Now it indicates greater ease in relocation and that is one of the biggest pluses a management applicant can have," said Jerold E. Timpon of Bowman Associates Inc., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Charles B. Delbridge of Associated Personnel, Decatur, Ill., says, "A female candidate who is in the process of getting a divorce is at a disadvantage because the employer might feel that she will go back to her husband and stop working."

"A divorce of less than two years is a complete red flag. If getting divorced is mentioned no one will talk to the applicant," comments Evelyn Thomas of Salesmen Only Inc., Rosemont, Ill.

On the other hand, Helen Piers Browning, CPC of Mutual Personnel Service, Macon, Ga., feels, "A divorced female with children is highly prized for long-term, management-oriented positions because she will have to work and will make the necessary life adjustments to succeed."

"A divorced man is often shunted aside in sales because he lacks the proper domestic base for entertaining clients and projecting a sense of long-term stability. We have some clients who will interview divorce-in-progress people and the recently-divorced but will not interview long-term divorced males because something is probably wrong with them," says Marilyn Asselin of Baker Personnel Service in Springfield, Mass., points out that different employers have very different attitudes. A major consideration is "whether or not the employers themselves are divorced," she says.

Some survey respondents advise persons in the divorce process not to change jobs if they can avoid it.

"These managers aren't in an emotional state to make such an important decision affecting their career," says Clark Hager of Jobs Company, Spokane Valley, Wash. Don Riker of Riker Personnel, Indianapolis, adds, "A person going through a divorce should not consider a new job at the same time. It will have a negative effect on his job search abilities."

Many survey participants commented that even with disadvantages, persons seeking a management-level job should approach the task with confidence.

"Everything can be a disadvantage when you are seeking a position," said W. T. Cretney of Cretney & Associates Inc., Cleveland. "Too old, too young, not enough experience, too much experience, etc., etc., etc. However, each person needs only one position. It's our job to help the employee find it."

Long-time friends are reunited at Lake Whitney

In May of 1948, a group of young girls graduated from Big Spring High School. They have remained friends and through the years have kept in contact with one another.

Their first reunion was held in Big Spring at the home of Mrs. James Duncan in 1961.

Those attending were Mrs. Bill (Lillian Tamsitt) Condra, Austin; Mrs. J. D. (Jerro Bankson) Wysong, San Antonio; Mrs. Toby (Frances Wilson) Cook, Lake Kiowa; Mrs. Carl (Clarice Terry) Nance, Midland; Mrs. Bill (Jean Pearce) Campbell, Mansfield; and the host, Mrs. Glynn (Helen Montgomery) Snyder.

NEW FACILITIES INCLUDING THE

Family Life Center and Chapel

Fifteen years ago, acting under what we believed to be the leadership of God, we embarked upon the First Phase of a facility which we hoped would help meet the challenges of today's world in serving Christ in this community.

Today, from 2-5 p.m., Open House will be observed in the hope that everyone will take a few moments to inspect the completion of the Second Phase of the original master plan of the plant.

You always are sincerely welcome to the church, but today during Open House hours a number of our members will be on hand to assist you in touring the facilities with focus on the family worshiping and doing things together.

The new elements--the Family Life Center, The Chapel, the new Parlor for weddings and receptions, the Activities centers, the Recreational units, the additional religious Educational spaces--all of these are designed as part of a total ministry to the whole person...to be positive Christian alternatives.

This is a time of thanksgiving that God has let us try to serve people not only now, but tomorrow. All these things are His; we would like you to see them and then to use them.

MADEEN R. BLAIR
Artist of the Month

Madeen Blair named September Artist of Month

Madeen R. Blair started painting 23 years ago under the instruction of Rene Mazza.

While traveling on the Fine Arts Circuit Show at that time, she collected more than 50 ribbons and awards as well as several Fine Arts honors within a four-year period.

"Then I started working and let my art just slide by for about 20 years," recalled the artist. "Then about a year and a half ago, I felt a great need to get back to my art."

After a 20-year absence from art, Mrs. Blair has indeed come back. In fact, she has been chosen as September Artist of the Month by the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

She enrolled at Howard College, taking water color, line drawing, free-hand drawing, figure drawing, color and design.

"Now I hope to study and work at my art for the rest of my life for it is the thing I enjoy doing most," she concluded.
