Big Spring named in desegregation suit

By DON WOODS
The United States Justice Department charged in a civil suit Thursday in Abilene's federal district court that the Big Spring school system illegally segregates minority students.
The suit was filed by U.S. Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti against the district, School Superintendent Lynn Hise and the seven-member school board.
The suit cites the results of a 1974 administrative hearing in Midland in which an administrative judge found "the district operated and maintained a dual system of education in five district schools."

The hearing was essentially a fact finding mission requested by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The five schools named in the suit were Bauer, Cedar Crest, Gay Hill, Lakeview and Runnels.

However, Gay Hill and Cedar Crest were closed due to the closing of Webb Air Force Base. Runnels became eighth grade only and Lakeview became a Headstart kindergarten school.

"When Webb closed we did everything we possibly could to cooperate with HEW in reorganizing the campus to where they could have no objection to it," said one official.

Board members and other school officials have expressed reticence in discussing the matter until they have seen a copy of the petition.

U.S. District Clerk Georgia Sanders said a copy of the petition has already been sent to the U.S. marshal and would be delivered to district officials sometime next week.

Richard Milstead, school district attorney, said the district had discussed school integration since 1972 or 1973 dealing with the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare at that time.

Big Spring's case was taken over by the Justice Department who charged that one school is composed 100 percent of minorities while another school is more than 90 percent white.

Milstead and school officials were not taken by surprise by the petition's filing. Milstead said school officials had discussed the situation with the Justice Department recently. He did not know if the district had a desegregation plan ready for implementation.

School Superintendent Lynn Hise was not able to comment on desegregation plans without having seen a copy of the charges made against the district.

The suit asks the court to prohibit school officials from discrimination on the basis of race and national origin and to order them to prepare a desegregation plan for the 1981-1982 school year.

One official said today that he felt that the district had complied with federal mandates, Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, when the district was reorganized following the Webb closing.

The Big Spring system entails 10 schools and a 4,874 student population.

Blast rocks underground missile silo in Arkansas

DAMASCUS, Ark. (AP) — A fiery explosion that lit the night sky "like daylight" rocked an underground Titan II missile silo today, injuring at least 22 maintenance workers, the Air Force said. Pentagon sources said a nuclear warhead was atop the missile, but said there was no evidence the weapon was damaged or that any radiation leaked.

Authorities evacuated an area that stretched 10 miles north of the silo and five miles on either side, routing about 1,000 people mostly in the tiny towns of Damascus, Bee Branch and Gravesville. But by late morning, people were being allowed back except within a mile of the facility, according to the Strategic Air Command.

Teams from the Department of Energy and the state health department were sent to the site about 50 miles north of Little Rock to check radiation levels.

Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., said the Air Force told his office there was "no evidence of a plutonium leak, the warhead is intact and the warhead is in the hands of Air Force officials."

Tom Mahr, a public information officer at SAC headquarters in Omaha, Neb., said his latest information was that 22 people were injured, 18 of them seriously enough to be hospitalized.

Sources at the Pentagon said the missile contained a single nuclear warhead, that it was not damaged and that no radiation was leaking.

Gov. Bill Clinton said Air Force officials told him that no nuclear explosion had occurred and that none could have occurred in the silo housing the 103-foot-long intercontinental ballistic missile which is capable of delivering this nation's largest hydrogen bomb to a target 6,300 miles away.

Maj. Lew Lambert at SAC headquarters said the explosion scattered debris around the surrounding area and that Arkansas officials reported some foliage caught fire. By midmorning, he said, the fire had subsided.

It was not immediately known whether the missile itself or only fuel exploded. The silo, covered by concrete doors, was "just a big rubble inside" after the blast, Clinton said.

The explosion occurred as a maintenance crew tried to neutralize a fuel leak in the first-stage of the missile, said SAC spokesman Col. Richard Kline.

Air Force Secretary Hans Mark in Washington said the missile had been undergoing maintenance Thursday night when a three-pound wrench socket fell 70 feet, bounced off a thrust mount, and struck the missile, puncturing the first stage fuel tank holding about 10,000 gallons of fuel. About 24 minutes later, the maintenance crew reported indications of a fire, Mark said, and flooded the silo with water. Civilian authorities were advised to evacuate the area.

It was the second accident this week involving sophisticated Air Force weaponry. On Monday, a B-52 bomber caught fire at Grand Forks Air Force Base in North Dakota. State disaster officials said an intercepted Air Force message indicated the plane may have been carrying nuclear weapons. But SAC refused to confirm that was so.

The explosion occurred about 3 a.m. hours after Air Force officials discovered the fuel leak and spotted "smoke" billowing from the silo, an Air Force spokesman said.

The fuel tank had been punctured by "some form of human error, apparently" and 10,000 gallons of fuel began leaking, according to Clinton. The Air Force said at least 10 workers were injured. Six were taken to Conway Memorial Hospital, most suffering from burns, said hospital administrator Bill Langford. He said four would be admitted in good condition and the others treated and released.

Three workers were taken to Baptist Medical Center in Little Rock, 52 miles away, where one was reported in critical condition, one in serious condition and the third in fair condition. It was not immediately known where the 10th injured person was treated.

Kline said he would "neither confirm nor deny the presence of nuclear weapons" on the missile.

The explosion shook the ground and the area "lit up like daylight," said Tommy Graham, an official of the state Office of Emergency Services, who lives in the area.

"There was a big flash of light, then it was followed by a shock wave a few seconds later," said Tom Scott, a newspaper reporter for the Log Cabin Democrat at Conway. He said there was an acrid odor in the air after the blast and a "large billowing cloud of reddish-orange smoke and flame that lasted about 10 seconds." Small pebbles fell to the ground, he added.

HOG CALL — A participant at the Western Washington Fair in Puyallup, Wash., took a break from her duties to make a phone call. The only way to use the pay phone was to put the receiver into her mask. The fair ends Sunday.

Forth Worth judge refuses to order exhumation of body in Oswald grave

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A judge today blocked exhumation of the body that lies in the grave of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

State District Judge James Wright, in granting a temporary injunction, said "no necessity or compelling reason for the threatened exhumation or autopsy are shown in this record. In short, rumors, speculative theory, conjecture, and public curiosity will not suffice."

Lawyers for British author Michael Eddowes, who tried to have the body dug up, said they were studying the ruling and would decide later whether to appeal.

The dispute started when Eddowes received permission from Oswald's widow, Marina Oswald Porter, to have the body removed and an autopsy held to determine if Oswald or a Russian spy were buried there.

Oswald's brother Robert filed suit to stop the exhumation. He said today at his office in Wichita Falls he would have no comment until he's had time to study the ruling.

One of his attorneys, Craig Fowler, said there probably will be a request by Eddowes' lawyers for a full hearing to decide whether the injunction should be made permanent.

However, Fowler said he had no idea when such a hearing might be requested. And, Fowler said, Eddowes still could appeal today's ruling.

"The law's not going to change, the facts are not going to change. There are several fundamental legal reasons that are not going to change," Fowler said.

"There is no necessity or compelling reason, other than some people's morbid curiosity, to dig up the grave."

Asked if this case will ever die, he said: "I think eventually it will."

But Fowler said he expects the issue to remain before the courts for several years. "Marina can pursue it," he said. "Her children can pursue it. But the law is not going to change."

Wright rejected Eddowes' argument that Mrs. Porter's consent to exhume the body was a controlling factor.

That "is not a correct view of the law," Wright said.

The judge also held Eddowes "mistakenly asserts the point" that Robert Oswald should not be heard in the matter.

The judge denied Oswald's application for an injunction against Rose Hill Burial Park on the city's east side, where Lee Harvey Oswald is buried.

Suspected Somoza assassin shot to death by police

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — Police shot and killed a leftist guerrilla sought in the assassination of Anastasio Somoza and arrested another. The remains of the ousted Nicaraguan dictator were flown early today back to the United States, the country he felt abandoned him in his hour of need.

Police identified the slain man as Hugo Alfredo Irurzun, and said he was killed in a shootout Thursday night in the Asuncion suburb of Lambare after he opened fire on security forces coming to search the house in which he was hiding. Police said they were tipped off to Irurzun's presence by a businessman who recognized him from a photograph shown on television.

Police reported the arrest of another guerrilla suspected of taking part in the assassination. He was not identified. They also said one of Irurzun's cohorts escaped during the exchange, and that the suburb, about nine miles south of the capital, was sealed off.

Authorities said Irurzun was a member of the Argentine People's Revolutionary Army. The government had distributed photographs of him and a female member of the same group shortly after Wednesday's assassination of Somoza, his chauffeur and a financial adviser.

Security forces have thrown a dragnet over this entire California-sized country in an effort to capture the four to six members of the assassination squad still at large. Paraguay's borders with Argentina, Brazil, and Bolivia were sealed Wednesday, opened for five hours Thursday, then closed again. Police detained more than 100 people for questioning, and the right-wing government of President Alfredo Stroessner has offered a $40,000 reward for information leading to the capture of the assassins. Somoza's five children —

Anastasio, Jorge, Roberto, Carolina and Carla who arrived in Asuncion Thursday — left with their father's body aboard a Miami-bound charter flight early today. The family owns considerable property in the Miami area, and it was assumed Somoza would be buried there.

The State Department said Somoza's Florida-born widow, Hope, had requested permission for the body to be transported to Miami. The couple had been estranged for years.

The departure of the body ended what had appeared to be a brewing conflict over who would get it. Somoza's Nicaraguan mistress of 18 years, Dinarah Sampson, had said he would be buried in Paraguay, "the only country that gave him asylum, where the president was his friend and where we spent a year of happiness." She apparently relented in favor of the family, but said she will remain in Paraguay. Sources said she hoped to inherit Somoza's 19,000-acre property in the northwestern part of the country.

Somoza fled Nicaragua for Miami July 17, 1979, as Sandinista rebels prepared a victorious entry into Managua. The United States had long been the Somoza family's most powerful backer, and the West Point-educated strongman had developed an affinity for things American. But U.S.-Nicaraguan relations cooled during the last years of Somoza's reign, with Washington accusing the regime of human rights violations and corruption.

Somoza felt betrayed that his longtime ally did not support him in his battle to retain power. He reportedly feared that Washington might extradite him back to his homeland, and left Miami after only a few weeks.

His anger at the Carter administration grew during exile. He told the West German magazine Quick recently that he intended to return and "conquer Nicaragua." But he added, "I don't give a hoot for help from the Carter administration." He contended the U.S. president had turned Nicaragua over to "the Reds," and asserted that he had "truer friends."

Former police officers to leave Alabama prison

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Three former Houston policemen, convicted on federal civil rights charges in connection with the death of Joe Campos Torres, leave a federal prison camp here today after serving almost nine months of their year-and-a-day sentences.

Torres was beaten in 1977 while in police custody and later drowned.

Terry Wayne Denson, Stephen Orlando and Joseph James Janish were convicted in 1978 and entered the prison unit at Maxwell Air Force Base in December 1979.

The three officers originally were sentenced to five years probation on a felony civil rights violation and to one year in prison on a misdemeanor civil rights charge.

After the government successfully appealed the probation sentence, they were given a year and a day terms on the felony conviction to be served concurrently with the misdemeanor conviction.

The early release was granted because the men earned good behavior credit, said prison Superintendent Joseph Crowe.

"They received one day jail time (before they went to prison) and under the law they are allowed so many days statutory good time which comes off the end of their sentences," Crowe said.

"Then, in addition to

Re-entry of rocket seen

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — When Air Traffic Controller Lonnie Fox saw a brilliant streak of light arch into the Gulf of Mexico near here he thought it was a fiery airplane crash and called the U.S. Coast Guard.

But the North American Air Defense Command says he saw the flaming re-entry of a Soviet rocket that had been orbiting Earth for seven years. It shot into Tampa Bay on Wednesday, and Del Kindschi, a NORAD spokesman in Colorado Springs, Colo., said Thursday it probably was the rocket body that launched Cosmos 549 on Feb. 28, 1973.

Bogus food stamps printed

CHICAGO (AP) — The Secret Service is trying to determine where $1.2 million in counterfeit food stamps were printed, the agent in charge of the agency's office here says.

Kenneth S. Giannoulas said Thursday the phony stamps were in $10 denominations and of "fair" quality. He declined to say how much cash was to be exchanged for the bogus stamps. The Secret Service doesn't think they were printed in Canada or the Chicago area, he said.

Bruno Mancini, 37, of Montreal and Federico Presigiamoco, 48, of New York were arrested Tuesday and charged with trying to sell the bogus stamps to undercover Secret Service agents, officials said Thursday.

Spill fuel catches fire

BARLING, Ark. (AP) — An overturned truck that spilled diesel oil and gasoline caught fire, destroying two business and injuring two people, authorities said.

The truck, carrying more than 6,000 gallons of diesel fuel and gasoline, skidded Thursday after a left rear tire blew out.

"By the time it stopped the fire was everywhere," said Ray Lovett, whose antiques store was destroyed, along with a tile and ceramic firm. Officials said the driver and a rider were taken to a hospital where one was treated for burns and the other for a broken bone.

Copter crash probed

DAHLONEGA, Ga. (AP) — Military teams are investigating the crash of an Army helicopter in a forest north of here in which all 10 soldiers aboard were injured, one seriously.

The helicopter went down early Thursday on an Army training base in Union County, said Lt. Erling Frasier, a spokesman at Fort Benning.

Aboard were three crewmen and seven students who were undergoing three weeks of training, he said. One soldier was in serious condition at Northeast Georgia Medical Center in Gainesville, and the others were reported in satisfactory condition.

Reporter jailed for refusing to testify about interview

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — An Idaho Statesman reporter was jailed Friday for refusing to testify about an interview conducted with a woman who is wanted for allegedly kidnapping her own daughter.

Despite requests for a stay so an appeal could be filed, Magistrate Karen Vehlow ordered reporter Ellen Marks, 24, jailed immediately until she agreed to testify about where the interview was conducted.

An attorney for the Statesman, Robert Bilow, said that forcing Ms. Marks to testify would "impinge on her and the news media's First Amendment rights because as a journalist she relies on commitments to the public to aid in newsgathering. To take away this commitment would have a chilling effect on the media's ability to gather news."

Ms. Vehlow said that the Idaho Supreme Court has special privilege and must answer questions in court like any other citizen. She said she didn't like jailing anyone.

Hawk Reporter wins first for excellence

The Rocky Mountain Press Association has awarded the Howard College Hawk Reporter first place in the newspaper general excellence category for colleges under 1,000 full-time enrollment, announced Stephen Lacy, journalism instructor at HC.

The award given for the 1979-1980 school year was announced last week.

Earlier in the summer, the association, with members in 12 western states, announced individual winners in newspaper and yearbook categories, but did not announce the general excellence awards.

Last year was the second year in a row the Hawk Reporter was given first place in general excellence.

During spring of this year, the HC newspaper was named best overall newspaper for junior colleges and four-year schools under 6,000 enrollment by the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association.

The Hawk Reporter is printed by the Big Spring Herald.

Howard College Computer Center increases memory

The Howard College Computer Center has increased its memory by 16 times. Now it didn't take a Dale Carnegie course, but simply added a new computer to its facilities.

The new computer, whose name sounds like something out of Star Wars, is called a NCR Criterion V-8455 and has 16 times more memory locations and 12 times as much on line disc storage than they had with their previous computer.

Along with adding a new computer, the Computer Center has also added two new instructors, Terry Hansen and Tony Claxton, for the 1980-81 school year.

Terry Hansen, instructor

and director of the computer center, said that the past five years have brought about immense career opportunities in all computer related fields.

"With the demand for trained personnel so high and the supply of skilled people so low, it is going to take a long time to satisfy the current needs for trained computer operators and programmers," said Hansen. "Anyone who starts in this field any time in the foreseeable future will have great possibilities waiting for them when they get out of school," he said.

One reason the demand is so high is because the technology of the new computer makes them so effective and the parts so advanced that the cost for a computer is now much lower.

Small businesses have been able to purchase computers and need competent people to run them.

PROGRESS — Terry Hansen, left, Tony Claxton, background, and Joy Vaughn, work on the new computer at Howard College. The computer was recently installed and has greatly increased the capacity of the data center. Claxton is one of two new teachers in the computer program at HC. Hansen is now an instructor as well as the director of the computer center.

Howard College Computer Center increases memory

The new computer at Howard College is much more effective, and yet with all the added advancements, it costs only one-tenth more than the old computer.

Leasing and maintenance of the computer is a little more than $40,000 a year.

Hansen points out that a major misconception about computer programming is that there is a lot of math involved in programming. In actuality, courses in business data programming, such as those at Howard College, the highest level of math used is algebra.

However, there are some colleges which require more math for a degree in computer programming, and a student should keep this in mind if he is thinking of transferring to a 4-year institution.

The education needed for a job in a computer related field varies, depending upon the school attended and the type of career itself.

For example, there have been some students who have completed the computer courses at Howard College and have obtained jobs in larger cities making $20,000 a year starting out after only two years of schooling.

It takes only two years of school to complete the program in business data programming at Howard College.

"Teaching is the primary goal of Howard College. However, the computers on campus are also used to process all data for the City of Big Spring as well as data for Howard College," Hansen said.

Severe storm rips through Longview

Severe thunderstorms moved through Central Texas early today only hours after a severe thunderstorm raked Longview in Northeast Texas with lightning, hail, high winds and heavy rain.

Winds gusted to 66 mph at Lake Travis near Austin and to 41 mph at the Austin Airport as the thunderstorm moved through four Central Texas Counties.

Travis, Burnet, Hays and Blanco counties were under a severe thunderstorm warning for about an hour early today.

The roof of an apartment building was torn off at Longview, trees and power lines were downed, streets and underpasses were flooded and lightning touched off fires at an oil tank storage farm and at a Longview home.

The Longview storm was accompanied by winds of 35-40 mph and small hail.

There was no immediate report on the amount of rain at Longview. Lufkin got about .75 of an inch and Beaumont had about .33 of an inch.

Forecasts called for scattered thunderstorms in central and eastern sections of the state and in the Gulf of Mexico off the Texas coast.

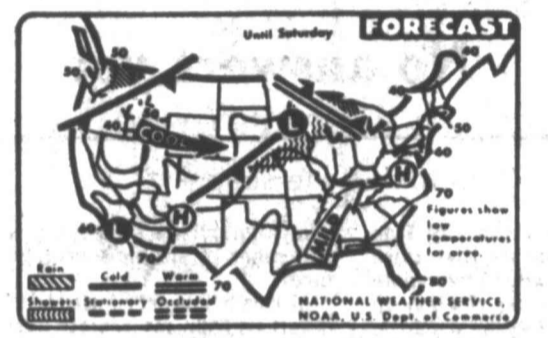

The remainder of the state was to have clear skies and very warm to hot temperatures. Highs were to be mostly in the upper 90s.

Partly cloudy to cloudy skies covered the eastern third of the state before dawn today and skies were clear elsewhere.

Cuban hijacker back in United States today

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — With the cooperation of the Cuban government, two disenchanted Cuban refugees are back in the United States — held on $750,000 bond each — to face trial on air piracy charges and a possible life prison sentence.

"I believe this will stop the hijackings," said U.S. Marshal Hector Gonzalez, who helped bring the pair back from Cuba Thursday after the Caribbean island nation made them available for prosecution in the United States.

The two men are accused of hijacking a Delta Air Lines Boeing 727 headed from Atlanta to Columbia on Wednesday with 111 people aboard. It was the 10th hijacking in six weeks in the United States. Most of them were carried out by disgruntled refugees.

The hijacking came two days after the Cuban government announced that Cubans who left the country in the "Freedom Flotilla" this year made "one-way trips" and warned that hijackers would be severely punished or sent back to the United States.

On Thursday, Havana radio said that Juan Adegas Fresnada, 25, and Chencio Perez Perez, 26, would be sent back to the United States "with the purpose of definitely ending these acts, that may endanger the lives of hundreds of innocent people."

"This is a real breakthrough," said Dennis Feldman, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman in Washington. "Never before has Cuba volunteered to return a hijacker. By denying them asylum, this should bring to an end the current rash of hijackings."

The two appeared before U.S. Magistrate Charles Gambrell, who set bail at $750,000 each and sent them to Lexington County Jail.

They are accused of dousing a flight attendant with gasoline and threatening to set her afire if the plane were not taken to Cuba. They told a passenger they came to this country in the "Freedom Flotilla" but were unhappy with their new lives in New York.

The plane returned safely to the United States after dropping the two men off in Havana.

U.S. Attorney Thomas E. Lydon asked for a high bond because "the alleged offense endangered the lives of (about) 110 people." The two will stand trial "in no more than 60 or 70 days," he said. He said they could receive life in prison if convicted.

Gambrell said that if the pair made bail, they would not be allowed to leave South Carolina. "They will not be permitted to go anywhere by air unless they consent to a search by a proper federal officer before they get on that airplane," the magistrate ordered.

Meanwhile, 80 Cubans entered the United States legally on Thursday, flying from Havana to Miami on a chartered plane.

Upland cotton production estimate dips 700,000 bales

AUSTIN — The prospects for Texas summer crops showed only a few changes from a month ago in the production report released today. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service forecast covers conditions as of Sept. 1.

The Upland cotton production estimate decreased 700,000 bales from the Aug. 1 report, Brown said. The total expected for cotton now stands at 3.6 million bales.

"Poorer prospects for dryland Plains cotton contribute to the lower production forecast," Brown said. Estimated production of American Pima cotton is unchanged at 24,000 bales.

Peanut production this year is expected to be 143 million pounds lower than that of 1979. "Most of our crop is grown on dryland, and the drought made for a smaller harvest," Brown said. The total is projected to be 390 million pounds.

On Aug. 1, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service indicated an expected 10 percent increase in harvest of rice over last year, "but dry conditions and low humidity have taken a toll in this crop also," Brown said. Current estimates place the total at 23,520,000 hundredweight, some 2.5 million less than that reported as of Aug. 1.

Rains from Hurricane Allen and weeks following helped boost expectations for the soybean crop. Estimates are up by 1.2 million bushels to a total of 15,210,000 bushels.

Hurricane winds dropped sugarcane production to 997,000 tons, a 107,000-ton loss.

There is no change in the estimates for sorghum and corn production. "The High Plains production is still questionable. Much of the grain crop there is irrigated, and we are hoping that the harvest will not be any lower than predicted on August 1," Brown said. Sorghum production was expected to be 97,888,000 hundredweight, 28 percent drop from last year. Corn production stands at 108 million bushels, an 18 percent decrease from 1979.

No change in estimates was announced for potatoes, sweet potatoes, or sugarbeets.

Pasture conditions are assessed at 37 percent of normal as of September 1, 2 percent better than on Aug. 1. Last year conditions were rated as 85 percent of normal.

The 12 youths who won T-shirts for submitting the best anti-drug abuse letters, can pick up their prizes at the Herald.

The T-shirts were supplied by American Legion Post 355, Big Spring.

Denise McCulley, Coahoma Junior High student, won a $25 cash award from the Big Spring Herald for submitting what judges determined to be the best letter and was presented with her prize by Herald Publisher Tom Watson.

Contrary to information appearing in Thursday's Herald, Miss McCulley did not win a T-shirt in addition, however.

Course in house plants offered

A course in house plants will be offered by the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College, announced Martha Fierro, director. Classes will meet from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Tuesdays, Sept. 23 through Oct. 7 in Practical Arts Building.

Instructor for the course will be Terri Johansen, local horticulturist. Cost of the course is $9.

Texas pecan crop declines

AUSTIN — It's either feast or famine.

After last year's record 91-million-pound pecan crop, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service estimates that the 1980 crop will drop to around 25 million pounds.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown reports that the drought influenced production estimates, but that a decline is not unusual. "Pecan production is cyclical," he said. "A heavy harvest is usually followed by a light one. It takes two or three years for the trees to bear another big crop."

In the past 10 years Texas pecan production has dipped twice to 20 million pounds and risen to 68 and 75 million. Though large harvests can be anticipated, it may be years before conditions match those which produced last year's bounty.

Ground school for pilots

A course in ground school for pilots will be offered by the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College, announced Martha Fierro, director. Classes will meet from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, Sept. 22 through Oct. 29 in Horace Garrett Building.

Texas to get hefty share of money

There wasn't much said about it at the time but not too long after the Department of Defense came out with the announcement that it would shut down Webb AFB and started sending evaluation teams in here, the power thrust in the agency had second thoughts about the closure.

THE DOD, however, felt that it would 'lose face' by reversing the decision to shutter the local installation and went ahead with its original plans. One wonders what mission the base would have undertaken by now, had the department elect to keep the installation open. Quite likely, by now, the training program would have been widened to include native-born pilots again. The last couple of years Webb served the country, only foreign-born pilots were trained here.

According to Sen. John Tower, who is a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Texas military installations are going to get a hefty share of the congressional allotment for military construction — about $93 million, to be specific.

The Air Force alone will dedicate $1.91 million toward new facilities at Bergstrom AFB, $2.15 million for construction at Brooks AFB, $2.3 million for work at Carswell AFB, $2.7 million for building at Dyess, over $1 million for improvements at Kelly AFB, over $4 million for additions to Lackland, over $7.8 million for a major undertaking at Randolph Field, over $1.7 million for facilities and systems at Reese AFB and over $1.3 million for an undertaking at Sheppard AFB.

ARMY, NAVY, the Army Reserve, Naval and Marine Corps Reserve and the Air National Guard are also going to come in for hefty shares of construction money. Tower says the Senate Armed Services Committee restored $11.1 million in projects originally in the Administration budget which were deleted in its amended request, and added $9.3 million in high priority projects.

Had Webb remained open, it, no doubt, would have benefitted handsomely from the Congress' decision to beef up the nation's defense. As it was, the Department of Defense got too rash in its austerity program and then didn't have the courage to reverse its decision.

Bop or not

Around the rim

James Werrell

Hair today, gone tomorrow! Boy, the battles I fought over hair, the long kind, back when hippies and flower children walked the earth.

Parents: "But your hair would look so much nicer if you'd just take off a few inches here, and an inch or so here."

Coaches: "Whatsamatta, punk, break your razor?"

School Administrators: "Mr. Werrell, I'm afraid that if you refuse to cut your hair; if you continue to come to school looking like some Haight-Ashbury beatnik, we will have to advise your parents that you have been suspended."

The barber: "You're going to pay me two bucks for that!"

the main concern being what was inside them. Male Rapunzels flourished.

Free at last, free at last. Except that it now seems I'm part of ancient history. The grooming section of the New York Times Sunday Magazine features a full-page story entitled "The Great Short-Hair Revival."

"Suddenly, men of all types — artists and musicians, lawyers and businessmen — have been opting for short hair," states the article.

But that's not all. It also looks like "the short, short hair among young people (today) is just as much a 1980's rebellion as long hair was in the 60s."

AS THE ARTICLE points out, a lot of hippies are now closing in on 40 with kids in their teens who don't want to look like their parents did 20 years ago. Crewcuts are considered radical, along with a style called the bop which features mostly short hair with a lock dangling on the forehead. Elvis Presley wore a bop in the 50s.

O.K., so the quandary arises: Do I leave my hair long and continue to uphold the values and styles of my own generation; in other words, to look my age? Or do I move with the mainstream, chop it all off, and try to look like a member of the B-52s?

To bop or not to bop, that is the question. Right now I'm leaning toward really long hair, love beads and fringed leather jackets. You know, the conservative look.

Anti-political politics

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — The country is turned off on politics. So prominent leaders are particularly vulnerable, and negative attacks succeed.

That is the lesson in the latest round of primary elections. It explains the dismal nature of the presidential campaign, and points up the opportunity for John Anderson.

THE TURNOUT provides the best measure of the anti-political mood. In the New York senatorial primary, less than 30 percent of the eligible Democrats went to the polls. And less than 24 percent of the eligible Republicans. There is no recent Republican precedent, but on the Democratic side, despite a star-studded cast and huge spending, the total vote fell below that in the Senate primary four years ago.

In Florida, a state fraught with political tensions arising out of fast growth and racial trouble around Miami, less than 35 percent of the registered voters participated in the Republican and Democratic primaries for a Senate seat. "You wouldn't believe the lack of interest," Eugene Patterson, of the St. Petersburg Times, remarked the day after the vote.

In Connecticut, the only primary took place on the Republican side. Of the more than 400,000 eligible voters, only a little more than 100,000 went to the polls.

Colorado provides a technical exception. More than half of the eligible voters cast ballots in the Republican primary for the Senate. But there was a pre-established turning away. Thirty-seven percent of the Colorado electorate is registered as independent — a higher figure than for either Republicans (35 percent) or Democrats (28 percent).

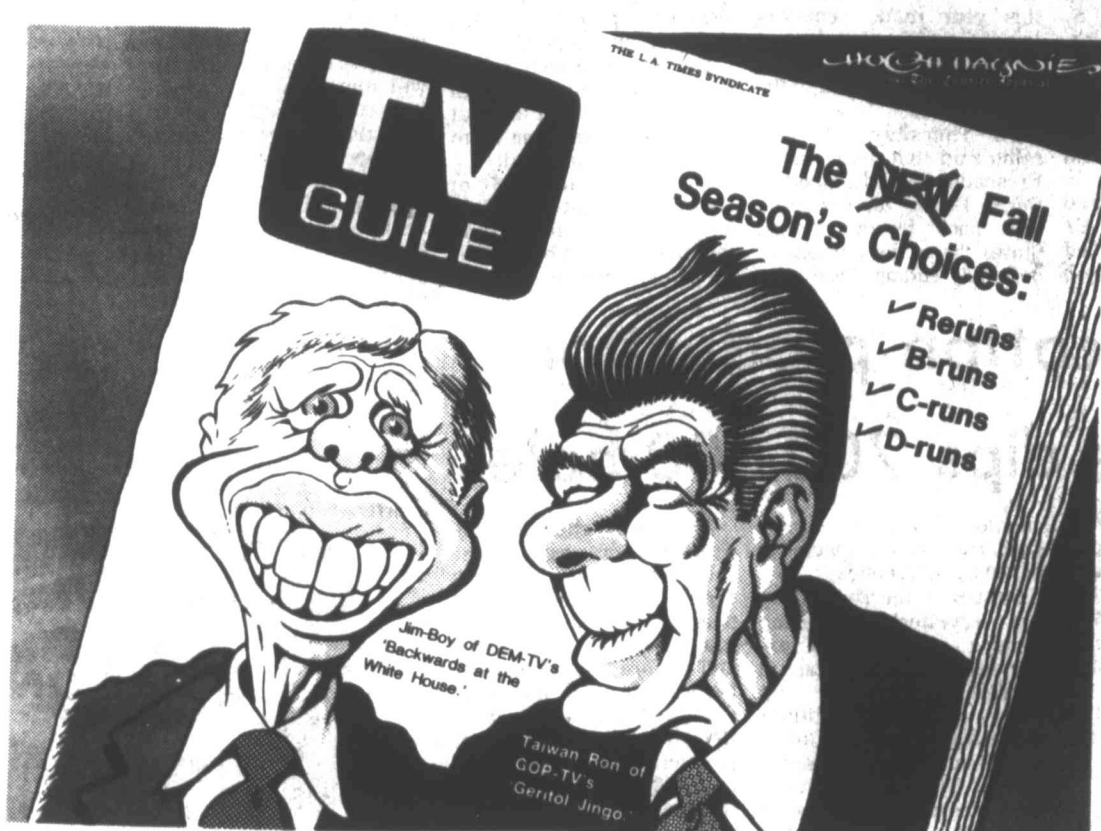

Jacob Javits, the three-time senator from New York, was the outstanding figure to go down. In his case, a true giant bit the dust. But notables were also defeated on the Democratic side in New York. Bess Myerson, the former Miss America who spent heavily on television, ran a bad second to Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman. John Lindsay, the former mayor of New York City, was also beaten out for third place by a virtually unknown district attorney from Queens, John Santucci.

In Florida, the sitting senator, Richard Stone, barely finished first and will have to face a runoff. In Colorado, former Secretary of the Army Bo Callaway lost the primary. Only in Connecticut, where former New York senator James Buckley won, did fame pay off.

ANALYZING THE whys and wherefores of primary elections is a markedly chancy business. But in the case of Sen. Javits there seems little doubt. He was done in by an obscure local official, Alfred D'Amato, who waged a nasty personal campaign that emphasized the senator's age and health.

The campaign against Sen. Stone centered on his vote for the Panama Canal treaty. Buckley won in Connecticut because he had the support of the ideological conservative lobby — itself an anti-political force. As to Colorado, the same animus found expression in another way. Mary Estill Buchanan won the Senate nomination thanks mainly to a widely-publicized court fight that got her name on the ballot only six days before the election. The connection between these disparate results and the presidential election hardly needs underlining. Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan embody the anti-political mood.

Both are amateurs in national government. Both run against Washington bureaucracy. Both contend that, as Carter once put it, the country "deserves a government as good and loving and honest as the American people."

Report unusual breast secretions

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I had a baby eight years ago and liquid has come out of my breasts since. Sometimes it is clear and sticky and at other times brownish, I've had no pain or lumps. Is this dangerous? — F.B.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a senior citizen, a woman, and lately have noticed a clear fluid leaking from my breast. Should I be worried? — Mrs. A.S.B.

These two questions need separate answers because of the two very different situations of the women. They are lumped together to make the point that secretions from breasts can arise in a number of different settings.

Both women should bring the situation to the attention of a physician for the obvious purpose of ruling out the presence of malignancy, even though cancer is only one of the many possible causes of breast secretion.

F.B. is still having secretions from the breast eight years after having had a baby. If it is milk, and I can't be sure from the description that it is, then the persisting lactation can be what is called galactorrhea. This condition is sometimes associated with benign enlargement of the pituitary gland, which can stimulate milk production. Scanty menstrual periods are often a part of the picture. Milk production should stop shortly after the baby stops nursing.

Mrs. A.S.B. has clear fluid draining from her breast. Crystal clear fluid can represent a benign condition, such as growths of the milk ducts. But here, too, malignancy has to be ruled out.

I have not really answered either woman. Neither should become panicky, but both should talk over the symptoms with their doctors. Breast secretions more often than not stem from benign causes, but the smart woman gets the word from the horse's mouth. Eight years is far, far too long to live with an unexplained symptom.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Perhaps you can settle a long-term dispute between myself and one of my law partners. He has hypertension, and because of this I believe that he should avoid eating pork. His argument is that pork has no ill effects on persons with hypertension and that eating it is as good as eating beef. What do you say? — Ms. W.W.

I thought the same as you did, that pork, for reasons unclear, was not recommended for those with high blood pressure. I wasn't sure, but I figured it had to do with a higher sodium content. I want you to know, ma'am, you have given me a tremendous headache. I have just gone through book after book listing the contents of foods.

My sodium theory is wrong. The average sodium content of a pound of pork is 320 milligrams, and that for a pound of beef 295 milligrams — not much of a difference. Further, a three-ounce serving of lean cooked pork contains only 75 milligrams of cholesterol. That's certainly not excessive. However, when pork is prepared commercially, as with canned ham, the sodium content skyrockets.

So you have to keep an eye out for the method of preparation. I rest my case, and assume the argument in your law offices can be settled out of court.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can a child have arthritis without showing visible signs before the age of seven or eight? What are the tests to determine if a child has arthritis? — Mrs. V.L.

Arthritis, juvenile or adult, implies that the joint inflammation can be detected with the eye or by the feel of the joint. A child can have joint pains (arthralgias) without any visible signs. All arthralgias do not lead to arthritis.

It is true that some blood tests for rheumatoid arthritis that are reliable for adults don't always work for children. But there are many other blood tests, along with X-rays of the joints, that can establish a diagnosis of rheumatoid arthritis in a child.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I would appreciate knowing whether or not peanut butter or avocados contain high levels of cholesterol. — Mrs. V.H.

Cholesterol is found only in animal products. It is not present in plants. There is no cholesterol in cereals, fruits, nuts, vegetables, or in the oils from them. So avocados and peanuts are safe. You sent me scurrying to my kitchen cabinet to check my peanut butter jar. Mine contains peanuts, dextrose, hydrogenated peanut oil, corn syrup and salt. It's the crunchy kind.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I'm a worrier. I'm concerned now that the fumes from gasoline might be harmful to me. Do you think so? — B.K.

I have no evidence that the addition to alcohol to gasoline is any more or less hazardous to health than if you take your gasoline straight. In either case, take care of your catalytic converter and all will be well.

Perhaps some petroleum engineer (which I am not) will elaborate on this for us.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have had a lot of trouble with alcohol over the years. I will go without a drink for months and then lose control. Last week I accepted Christ into my heart, but now I am fearful that I still will not be able to resist temptation in the future. — Mrs. S.W.R.

DEAR MRS. S.W.R.: It is good for you to have healthy respect for this problem you have had, because Satan will still try to tempt you and make you stumble. But now you have something you have not had before — the power of Christ. He can give you strength, if you will only be open to his continual help.

There is a wonderful promise about temptation — any kind of temptation — in I Corinthians 10:13: "No temptation has seized you except what is common to man. And God is faithful; he will not let you be tempted beyond what you can bear. But when you are tempted, he will also provide a way out so that you can stand up under it."

I want you to notice several things about that verse. For one thing, it warns us that just because we are Christians, it does not mean that we will no longer have temptations. In fact, the opposite may be the case, because Satan wants to defeat us. But notice also the promises. There are two of them: You won't be tempted beyond what you can bear, and God will provide a way of escape. That last promise is interesting to me. It suggests that we cannot assume we can play and toy around with temptation, and somehow expect God suddenly to give us a massive surge of spiritual power to turn it down. God may do that at times, but here the Bible suggests his normal way of working is to provide an escape. I don't know what that may mean for you but (for example) it may mean that when you know you are going to be in a situation where alcohol will be readily available, God's way of escape for you will be for you to stay away and not run the risk of getting involved.

Don't concentrate on your possible failures. Concentrate instead on your relationship with Christ. Grow closer to him through his Word and through prayer. The more you love Christ (and the more you realize he loves you), the less you will want to get involved in your old patterns and habits.

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Ordinarily I do not report developments that raise questions about a political candidate in the last days before an election. In fairness to the candidate, he should be allowed sufficient time to answer the questions raised before the voters go to the polls.

But the case of Sen. Donald Stewart, D-Ala., is different. The senator has made my reports on his 1978 campaign finances an issue with his constituents, who will vote in the Democratic primary runoff next Tuesday. So the charges are no last-minute surprise.

AT THE SAME time, Stewart has steadfastly refused to provide convincing answers to the questions raised by my reports. If Stewart won't give me the answers, maybe he'll give some to the voters of Alabama before Tuesday. In that hope, I'll report the latest developments in the Stewart case.

The FBI and a federal grand jury have been investigating Stewart's campaign finances and the statements he has made about them. Some of Stewart's personal bank records were turned over to Justice Department attorneys in Birmingham on Sept. 2.

Because of Stewart's stubborn refusal to give satisfactory answers to financial questions, I asked my associates Jack Mitchell and Tony Capaccio to investigate. I also enlisted the services of a respected Birmingham attorney, W. Eugene Rutledge, to help research the public records. Some of the findings raise nagging questions about the senator's strange finances.

According to the public record, for example, Stewart's personal share of the mortgage debts on various properties in which he has sole or partial interest is at least $393,000. Yet his only income in his financial report for 1979 appears to be his $60,862 Senate salary, plus a modest $4,500 in speaking engagement fees and a maximum of $2,500 in rental income.

IMMEDIATELY AFTER his election in 1978, Stewart managed to make a down payment of about $28,000 on his Washington home, valued at approximately $150,000. Incredibly, that was a year when he reported earnings of only $24,000, had borrowed more than $239,000 for his Senate campaign and was already engaged in a number of sizable mortgage ventures.

Although Stewart refused to answer questions from my reports about his financial status, he was clearly worried about their investigation — so worried, in fact, that he called Rutledge at 1 a.m. on Sept. 3.

Rutledge was sound asleep. Stewart asked the startled attorney if he had filed a complaint about him with the Justice Department. Rutledge answered truthfully that he had not.

Stewart then demanded to know if Rutledge had "done a report for Jack Anderson." The attorney acknowledged that he had examined the public record at my request.

Then, as Rutledge recalled, the conversation, Stewart said, angrily: "Gene, I'm going to get you after the election." He then wanted to know where Rutledge was — a strange request from someone who had just placed a call to a man's house at 1 a.m.

When Rutledge hesitated, the senator chided him, saying, "What's the matter, Gene, are you afraid to tell me where you live?"

"Look it up in the phone book," advised the lawyer, before hanging up and going back to sleep.

Footnote: The 40-year-old Stewart came to Washington with promise of a bright future. He brought with him a populist reputation for taking on the big utilities, and he quickly impressed his Senate elders by working hard and learning the legislative ropes. By burning the midnight oil, Stewart became assistant majority whip and landed choice committee assignments.

But his finances have raised a cloud of doubt that could eclipse Stewart's promising career. He would do well to give Alabama voters better explanations than he has provided so far.

NOSE-COUNT NO-NO'S: The White House was warned by its former counsel, Robert Lipshutz, that it's against the law to demand political favors in return for federal jobs. That doesn't appear to have deterred President Carter's aides during the national nose count.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: I heard, on ABC-TV news Wednesday morning that Congress says that the Government can't afford to pay the military personnel a comparable wage. I think that that admission is a bald-faced lie. America can (and must) afford higher pay for the military.

Any legislator (or elected official) who states that we cannot afford a liar, (and) I would gladly face him and say so. I can also prove to him that he is a liar. That proof is "Stop all this bleeding heart give-a-way to the deadbeats of the U.S. and the world. Then there would be more than enough to support a military (Army, Navy, and Air Force) that would be second to none. If he is not lying, then he does not know what his responsibilities are and should not be in Washington, therefore he should be removed.

I think that every able bodied person should be required to work to earn his bread. There are far too many, national and international deadbeats who take the attitude that the American taxpayer owes them a living. I do not agree with that idea. I owe them absolutely nothing. It is the handouts to them that has drained our national treasury and put us in the financial bind that we now find ourselves. Let's stop this senseless, feather-brained give-a-way and use that money to rebuild our military. To continue this asinine give-a-way program our nation does not have many more years to survive.

How can the give-a-ways be stopped? I do not mean reduced, diminished or lessened. I mean stop all of it. We can achieve this by writing to our legislators (all three of them) the state's governor and nation's president to let them know what we want. Your letter should not appear to be a request. It should give the impression that it is a demand that he function for the best interest of the nation, not for the selected few. If he is unable to function in that capacity then out he goes to be replaced by a competent person.

Get those letters in the mail, let the elected officials know what is expected of them. Each letter makes a small dent. A bag full leaves a lasting impression.

Malone-Hogan Clinic administrator elected

M.A. (Mickey) Cappadonna, Midland Memorial Hospital trustee and president of Midwest Electric Company, recently was elected president of the Regional Advisory Council for the Allison Permian Basin Cancer Therapy Center at the Council's organizational meeting.

R.L. Heith, administrator of Malone-Hogan Clinic in Big Spring, was elected vice president.

Pat Dishman, MMH public relations director, will serve as secretary.

Thirteen members of the Council were present and the heavy rains throughout West Texas last week were blamed for the absence of the other members.

"The Allison Cancer Center was created with the idea that it would be a regional center and this council will provide the means by which each of the 17 counties in Health Systems Agency 12 has direct communications with and input to the center," Cappadonna explained.

Lee Schlichtemeier, MD, medical director of the Allison Center, met with the group and discussed his plans for implementing top quality cancer therapy in West Texas.

Dr. Schlichtemeier is a radiation oncologist currently practicing in Dallas. He and his family will move to Midland later this year. The Allison Center is expected to open in the spring of 1981.

Members of the Regional Advisory Council, by counties, include: James E. York, W. Sam Glenney and William H. Lauderdale, MD, from Ector County; R.L. Heith and Doctors Neil Sanders and Buerk Williams, Howard County; Judge Max Townsend, Gaines; and Judge Leslie C. Pratt, Dawson.

Also Judge Roy D. Bennett, Andrews; Judge Jim M. Burkett, Borden; Tom Angel, Martin; Mrs. Mary Bell Jones, Loving; Judge Frances Clark, Winkler; Judge D.W. Parker, Glasscock; Judge Richard Sitz, Ward; Homer Grooms, Crane; and Judge Peggy Garner, Upton.

And Judge W.O. Pigman, Reeves; Judge Charles Warnock, Pecos; and Judge Charles Stavley, Terrell. Midland County members are Cappadonna, Mrs. Mary Virginia Saxe and James W. McGee, MD.

Midland, Ector and Howard Counties have three members each with the other 13 counties having one member each. Members will serve rotating terms of 1, 2 and 3 years and may be re-appointed.

Next meeting of the Regional Advisory Council will be Dec. 10 at Midland Memorial Hospital, Midland.

On the light side Perseverance pays off

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Angle Frather begged her husband to let her play just one more roll of nickels in the slot machine before leaving Harold's Club casino for the night.

The machine whirred, four little-men symbols lined up in the windows and Mrs. Frather became the winner of what the club said was the world's largest nickel jackpot — $17,126.35. The previous record for a nickel slot, $13,266, was paid at Harold's Club in June 1975, club officials said.

"I saw three men in the barrel line up and looked down to see what I'd won," she said after hitting the jackpot Wednesday night. "When I looked back, the fourth had dropped down."

Mrs. Frather, 51, of Magalia, Calif., and her husband, J.H. Frather, plan to invest their winnings in real estate. Mrs. Frather said she had never won much before playing slot machines, but she figured she's ahead after years of "donating to the slots."

Hard labor: Filling potholes

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — In a touch of poetic justice, Pulaski County's chief administrator was sentenced to four hours filling potholes in the Batesville Pike.

The administrator, William E. Beaumont, landed the penalty at his own request after pleading no contest to a misdemeanor charge that he had retaliated against a county employee for testifying before a grand jury.

The grand jury criticized Beaumont in March for having road crews work on private property. He was accused of ordering Roger Watson, 47, to fill potholes on Batesville Pike without a flagman.

"I couldn't think of a better punishment," said Chancellor John Lineberger, a special circuit judge in the case.

"I consider it an appropriate way to settle this — that it started on Batesville Pike and it ended on Batesville Pike," Beaumont said Thursday. "Now we can settle down to serious business of the county."

The charge carried a maximum punishment of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Singing telegrams back

UPPER SADDLE RIVER, N.J. (AP) — Singing telegrams are back, with tuxedoed professionals warbling anything from popular tunes to operas in person.

Western Union began a singing telegram service using company messengers in 1933. The messengers were replaced in the 1940s by telephoned songs, and the entire service was canceled in 1974 because of lack of business, the company said.

"But based on new tests, there appears to be a marvelous marketing opportunity," Donn G. Dutcher, a company spokesman, said Thursday. Western Union has contracted with Musicbox Inc., a New York concern, to provide performers in most major cities. Singing telegrams by telephone will be available everywhere.

An in-person performance costs $40, and a telephoned greeting costs $19.

Eleven cases of typhoid fever confirmed in state

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Eleven cases of typhoid fever have been confirmed in an outbreak that the Texas Department of Health says has been traced to YMCA Camp Grady Spruce on the shores of Possum Kingdom Lake in Palo Pinto County.

The department said Thursday 26 other summer campers have had "symptoms compatible with a typhoid infection."

The department said the confirmed cases included 10 campers and one nurse who had attended the Aug. 5-19 camp session. Ten of the cases — nine campers and the nurse — occurred at the main camp.

The other confirmed case occurred at another camp. The department said it has made telephone contact with 101 of the 130 persons who attended the main camp during the mid-August session.

Of those, the department said, "50 campers are well, 14 have had symptoms clearly not related to a typhoid infection, 26 campers had symptoms compatible with a typhoid infection, nine campers have been confirmed as having typhoid fever, and two suspected cases proved to be negative."

The department said its investigation is still going on, and parents of children who attended camp July 22-Aug. 5, as well as the later session, also are being informed of the situation.

SWCID still taking enrollment applications

With an Oct. 1 deadline for enrollment in the preparatory program, the South West Collegiate Institute for the Deaf at Howard College is continuing efforts to enroll hearing-impaired students.

Currently, SWCID has 23 students enrolled in the preparatory program and six students who are taking courses on the Howard College campus, said Davis.

Davis said this week he is receiving about a half a dozen requests daily for information and applications to the new institute.

"Most people we get requests from are under the impression that we are closed for the semester, but we will be open for admission through October 1," Davis said. "I am sure we will have more students enrolled by Oct. 1, but I'm not sure how many."

'You Can Make It Happen With Beef' program slated

There are many ways to stretch the family food dollar. Some of those will be demonstrated by Kathrine Tewari, consumer advisor for Furr's Inc., at the "You Can Make It Happen With Beef" program, which will be sponsored by the Tejas CowBelles Saturday, at 11 a.m. in conjunction with the Howard County Fair.

The program will be held in the Dora Roberts Fair Building. Mrs. Tewari will have tips on buying, storing and cooking the least expensive cuts of beef to serve a gourmet meal. The program is open to the public.

The Tejas CowBelles is a chapter of a national association of women interested in the future of the beef cattle industry. Visit their booth at the County Fair and plan to attend the "You Can Make It Happen With Beef" program on Saturday.

Estate planning course shaping

A course in Estate Planning will be offered to all interested persons on Sept. 29. This course is co-sponsored by the Howard County Extension Program Building Committee and the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College. A few of the topics to be discussed will be tax considerations in estate planning, reasons why a will is important including protection for surviving minor children, planning and organizing in business situations, and many other topics concerning protection of property and investments.

There will be two sections offered: the first session will be held from 2-4:30 p.m. and will be geared toward the interests of the housewife and the retired citizen, while the second session will be held from 7:30-10:00 p.m. and will be of interest to the general public. Both classes will meet in the Tumbleweed Room of the Student Union Building on the Howard College Campus.

Dallas trustees okay sex education classes

A sex education program was approved by a majority of Dallas school trustees Thursday after numerous arguments that the program would lead to increased promiscuity among teenagers.

The trustees, acting as the school board's evaluation committee, sifted through the several hours of the public's sometimes emotional advice before making their decision.

The action still must be ratified by the full school board next week before being implemented in the 1981-82 school year.

Dallas Independent School District Superintendent Linus Wright cited the high pregnancy rate and increase in venereal disease among Dallas teen-agers, telling trustees and the 75 people at the meeting he recommended the program as a last resort.

"I would prefer that this be handled in the home and church, but it's not," he said. "We need to address this problem, because nobody else is."

He said a DISD survey shows 80 percent of the district's parents favor the program.

As currently proposed, the three-week parenting and sex education program would be incorporated into health and home economics courses in the fifth and seventh grades and high school level.

The tests our kids have to take at school are almost as hard on parents as they are on the kids. During exam time, kids, regardless of age, are irritable and fussy; it's hard to get any work out of them, and everything has to "give" in favor of the exams.
God has testing times for His children, also. These are times when we are given opportunities to prove our knowledge and understanding and faith in Him. Responsibilities and assignments confront us daily, and we find that all of life is a kind of school. A child of God should be diligent and aim for a good grade in managing his opportunities. He is to try hard and earnestly endeavor to be found trustworthy when tested.
We would do well to be prepared for surprise quizzes each day. With God's Word as our textbook, the Holy Spirit as our teacher, and daily conferences with our heavenly Counselor, we will successfully finish the course.

A LONG WAY

They've come a long way. They were married in this same church fifty years ago, when she was just twenty and he was twenty-two. Youth seemed eternal. Life promised a succession of sunny days.

But it wasn't to go on that way forever. Their first child died at birth. Then financial troubles, a business failure, the loss of a home when they couldn't meet the mortgage payments. Sometimes it seemed as if the clouds outweighed the sunshine.

But there were good times, too. Times of joy and laughter, success, wonderful children, wonderful grandchildren. Through it all, their faith and love for each other never faltered.

Throughout our own life, can we all say as much?

Hillcrest set to host convention

A Texas Baptist Regional Sunday School Convention will be held at Hillcrest Baptist Church in Big Spring Monday.

The regional convention is one of 27 being conducted by the Sunday School Division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas with the theme "Basic Building Blocks for Growth" and will feature 10 conferences to help Sunday School workers strengthen the church's Sunday School program.

A cradle roll conference is planned for each of the locations this year in an effort to enlarge and reestablish a viable ministry for expectant parents and parents of young children.

The conventions are designed for pastors, ministers of education, Sunday School directors and other general officers. They also are designed for adult division and department directors, adult teachers, adult outreach leaders, adult directors and leaders of youth, older children, younger children, older preschoolers, younger preschoolers and those involved in cradle roll.

The convention will be conducted from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and from 6:45 to 9:15 p.m. For more information about the convention in your area, contact the Big Spring Baptist Association.

WCG start studies on pioneers

The Women of the Church of God met in regular session recently in the home of Rev. and Mrs. W.R. Hutchings.

Kathryn Thomas presented the worship using the scriptures of Acts 9:36-43, and Prov. 31:20 which depicts a truly pioneer woman, Dorcas, who allowed God to demonstrate through her the unique abilities of love and good deeds towards others. The speaker also mentioned an interesting story of a Texas pioneer woman, Annie Tafolla, and her daughter, Eloise, who translated the story of Dorcas in Spanish for use by all our Spanish speaking friends.

Vera Blackburn, Missionary Education Director, introduced the new fall study program, "Pioneer Women." Our first study theme: "Bee in Her Bonnet" was presented by group participation on the following topics which pioneer women initiated.

The pastor, evangelist, black and whites working together; Library in Braille; First Church of God Missionary Movement; and Prison Ministry.

Women's aglow hears wife, mother speak

Clydene Thomas, wife, mother, Aglow area board treasurer, past president of Lubbock's Aglow chapter, president of the PTA, active Political Process member and secretary treasurer of the newly formed American Christian Liberties Union spoke at a recent Women's Aglow meeting.

"I desire to see women set free to move, and be the person that God has ordained that they should be. To be healed from poor self-images and inferiority complexes," she said.

She spoke Friday at Dora Roberts Building, Comanche Trail Park, Blue Room.

The First Baptist Church of Big Spring continues its month of special services Sunday with several features.

Guest organist will be Harold DeCou of Phoenix, Ariz. A concert pianist, DeCou will offer a 20 minute concert during the morning worship service in the main auditorium and then play an afternoon dedication service on the new chapel organ at 3 p.m. The service will be followed by a reception in the church parlor.

DeCou will return for the 8 p.m., evening service. Time of the service is ordinarily at 6 p.m., but has been moved back for this one occasion.

The Mount Bethel Baptist Church Choir will also be featured at the evening service, which marks the beginning of revival for the church.

Services for the week will be at 10 a.m. and again at 7 p.m., Monday through Wednesday.

The evangelist for the Sunday night through Wednesday services will be Dr. S.M. Lockridge.

Guest musicians for Monday through Wednesday will be the Dietz brothers from Amarillo.

Born and raised in Texas, Shadrach Meshach Lockridge is a graduate of Bishop College, Dallas. He is also a product of the Southwest Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. He is Moderator of the Progressive Baptist District Association of Southern California. He is also president of the California Baptist State Convention.

He has preached in crusades, revivals, evangelistic conferences, rallies in North and South America, Asia, Africa, Europe and the Caribbean.

He has been a guest speaker on nine Billy Graham crusades. He was twice a guest in the White House in Washington. Recipient of three doctor degrees, the Rev. Mr. Lockridge participated in the international Congress on World Evangelization in Lausanne, Switzerland. He is constantly in demand as a speaker and cannot begin to respond to all the speaking invitations extended him.

A switch in time...

Jews would rather switch than light Sabbath fires

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli scientists have developed a special switch, incorporating a complex electronic circuit, which is to be used only one day a week in cases of dire need.

What does the switch do? It turns on a food warmer.

The Sabbath switch is one of dozens of inventions by the Institute for Science and Halacha, which seeks technological gimmicks to help orthodox Jews live normal lives while abiding by 2,000-year-old religious law, called Halacha in Hebrew.

By a bizarre marriage of Talmudic reasoning and electronic wizardry, the switch and other gadgets in a recent exhibition by the institute circumvent Biblical proscriptions against work on the Sabbath and other arcane regulations.

"For us, technology is a double-edged sword," said Chaim Friedberg, one of the institute's technical experts. "It causes problems, but it also provides the solutions for problems." The exhibition displays everything from hospital nurse-call systems and telephones that are permissible to use on the Sabbath, to attachments to industrial cooking systems which solve problems posed by Judaism's strict prohibitions against mixing milk and meat.

An example of the kind of problems orthodox Jews face is the Biblical prohibition against lighting or extinguishing a fire on Saturday. Rabbis interpret the rule as forbidding electric lights, automobiles, glowing heating coils and other appliances. So how does one run a hospital or army during the Sabbath?

The institute found the solution, Friedberg said, in a little-known rule in the Talmud, a 5th-century religious law book.

It says that if a breeze from an open window threatens to blow out the ritual Sabbath candles, it is permitted to shut the window, even though that will make the candles burn more brightly. The scientists and rabbis of the institute put their heads together, and came up with the "gramma switch."

"The name comes from the ancient Hebrew word meaning "causation," explained Friedberg. "It applies the principle of preventing a preventive action."

The switch looks and works pretty much like an ordinary light switch, but it gets around the Biblical rule against lighting a fire on the Sabbath. The switch can be incorporated into essential hospital equipment, like food warmers, a security fence, or for that matter, says Friedberg, a Saturn space rocket. It costs $30.

"The switch still doesn't solve all the religious legal problems," said Friedberg. "You should still check with a rabbi about its use, and it should only be used in cases of dire need."

'Piety and learning'..?

Prayer in school looks improbable, aides say

WASHINGTON (AP) — A move to circumvent the Supreme Court and restore prayer in public schools doesn't have a prayer in Congress this year, aides say.

After a high-pressure drive, a House Judiciary subcommittee completed five days of hearings last week on a Senate-passed bill that would remove from Supreme Court jurisdiction state laws relating to voluntary prayers in public schools or public buildings.

But a subcommittee members generally agree there won't be any legislation on the issue coming out of the House in the waning weeks of this session.

"We gave them (prayer proponents) their best shot at it," said one subcommittee aide, who asked not to be identified. "And they didn't convince anybody that I know of."

He said Republicans agreed with Democrats that Congress can't pass a law every time it doesn't like a Supreme Court decision.

Assistant Attorney General John M. Harmon testified at the hearings that the bill — originally sponsored by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and pushed in the House by Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill. — is unconstitutional. He said it "would undermine the Supreme Court's role in protecting the integrity and supremacy of federal law."

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., a Roman Catholic priest and legal scholar, also advised that the issue be left alone. "We are mistaken and misled if we believe that the public schools can somehow combine piety and learning in an eminently satisfactory way," he said.

If Republican Ronald Reagan is elected president in November, Kastenmeier said, "I assume there will be another major push."

Nuns never replaced who left due to standard slump

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fifteen years after the Second Vatican Council, which tried to make the Catholic sisterhood more attractive but set off a mass exodus of nuns, orders are still having trouble filling their ranks. But some feel stronger for it.

There were 180,000 nuns in the United States in 1965. By 1979, there were only 120,000 nuns, and half of them were said to include women either at or over retirement age — despite Vatican II's relaxing of standards of conduct and dress.

Gone are the days when a sister could not have a "particular friend" in an order because all sisters were equal and one could not be liked more than another. Also, a nun need no longer ask the Mother Superior for permission to go on an errand, or must she wear prescribed undergarments and stockings.

Still, church orders have been unable to replace the large number of nuns who left Vatican II deprived them of a sense of community that traditional church doctrine had maintained, according to Sister Elizabeth Thoman of the Sisters' Communications Network.

The Sisters of the St. Joseph Air dolet in suburban Bel-Air have only four novitiates to replenish their aging ranks. But Sister Thoman and others believe post-Vatican II orders are stronger now as sisters realize community can be achieved in diminished circles.

"In the women's movement there is a whole trend toward networking, toward bonding. In religious life we've already got that," she said.

Smaller numbers may also mean tougher standards for prospective sisters, said Sister Thoman, member of a small midwestern order.

"We don't want to talk to anyone until they are 22 or so, with college or some work experience," she said.

Old-fashioned garb worn at church banquet

St. Paul Lutheran Parish Workers held a Mother-Daughter Banquet Thursday, Sept. 11 at the Big Spring Country Club.

A Mexican dinner was served and the room was decorated in a Mexican theme with pinatas and a Mexican oriented center piece using fresh flowers and a set of marble bookends obtained in Mexico.

Each member brought a daughter or adopted a daughter or mother for the evening. Thirty-nine women were in attendance.

Daughters came dressed as their mothers dressed when they were attending school. The earliest costume was 1900 style and the most recent the 1950s.

Surprise honoree at the banquet was Evelyn Pachall, a dedicated Parish Worker of many years. Although she has no daughter of her own, she was adopted by the Parish Workers. She came dressed as she once did while she was in school — big bow in her hair and large bucket lunch pail.

China Long was the emcee for the evening. She related some humorous incidents that occur between mothers and daughters. Leighrene Kohl led the devotion.

Frankie Noyala wins BSAA scholarship

One guest, Carmina Farmer, was welcomed at the September meeting of the Big Spring Art Association. Hostesses were Martha Conway and Nancy Martin.

Plans were made for a membership show in February. The miniature area show will be held in December with the time and place to be announced at a later date. A miniature sell will also be held with the show.

Frankie Noyala, a 1979 graduate of Big Spring High School, was the recipient of the BSAA scholarship award.

The new yearbooks are now ready. Because of the rise in printing costs, each member will be asked to purchase a book for 50 cents.

Deloras Warren, San Angelo, presented the program, painting an oil landscape of the Davis Mountains. Ms. Warren conducts workshops and demonstrations for art groups throughout West Texas.

Tipping of the Brush honors went to Linda Rupard for her watercolor of a Gulf Coast fishing shack. It will hang at Citizens Federal Credit Union during the month of October.

A six-week workshop is now in progress at the Hitch-N Post, featuring George Maxwell. Carolyn Walker will have a workshop there Oct. 8-10 from 9-4 p.m. Cost will be $45.

The Big Country Art Association will be in Cisco Sept. 27 at Cisco College.

Willie Carter, Mrs. Martin and Londa Henry will be exhibiting at City Hall during September. At Citizens Federal Credit Union, Bernice Cason and Janie Harmon will be exhibiting.

Committee is chosen

The Genealogical Society met in the Howard County Library at 7:15 p.m. Sept. 11. Albert B. Watkins, president, presided over the seven members present.

The Daughters of the American Revolution and the Genealogical Society are combining their talents and sharing a booth at the Howard County Fair this week. The space is being sponsored by Big Spring Hardware.

It was announced that the "Signal Peak" publication for the Genealogical Club will be used every three months. The club now has a Telephone Committee to call members prior to each meeting.

Welcomed as a new member was Ima Higgins. She was appointed to the Telephone Committee. Also on that committee are Bernice Cason and Nadine Hodnett.

The next meeting will be held at the Howard County Library at 7:15 p.m. Oct. 9.

Yearbooks distributed

Mrs. Jean Prudhomme presided when members of the Child Study Club met Sept. 10. Sixteen members and four guests were present.

Yearbooks were assembled and distributed by Mrs. Linda Walker. The books include a list of all members and dates of future meetings.

The club voted to retain its membership in the Women's Federation Club Alliance.

Nita Tarbet presented the program. She spoke of the staff and students of the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf and explained different forms of sign language.

Dear Abby

Parents Pay the Fiddler; They Call the Tune

DEAR ABBY: I hope and pray that you will print this letter, as this problem has plagued my friends and me for many years.

I'm a 19-year-old girl, living with my parents and attending a very strict Baptist college. My parents are paying for my education.

Abby, I've been listening to rock music for over eight years without my parents' knowledge. They found the tapes and were crushed. They say they can no longer trust me. I apologized for having kept it from them, but explained that I didn't tell them because I knew rock music is against their beliefs. They say that rock music destroys young people and that I cannot keep the tapes in the house. I told them that I have developed my own convictions, and as long as I don't disturb anyone with my music I should be allowed to keep the tapes and listen to them.

Who is right? Must I get rid of the tapes and turn my radio dial to the religious station? Or should I be allowed to make my own choice of music as long as I don't bother anybody? ME IN SOUTH CAROLINA

DEAR ME: As long as you live in your parents' home and they are paying for your education, you must follow their rules. Once you are on your own, you may do as you please.

DEAR ABBY: I live in Pearl City, Hawaii, and I'm shocked and appalled at the ignorance of some of our fellow Americans who still think Hawaii is a "foreign country." When I travel to the mainland, I am amazed at the number of people who say, "I'd love to go to Hawaii someday; I've never been out of the United States." I'm also asked, "Is this your first trip to America?"

I've even been asked, "Do you have running water, being that you're so isolated from everything? And how does life in America compare to Hawaii?" The list goes on and on. Will you please inform people that Hawaii is now one of the 50 states of the union? Also, we no longer live in little grass shacks. Thank you!

ALIVE AND WELL IN AMERICA

DEAR ALIVE: You can bet your ukulele. Let it be known that on Aug. 21, 1959, Hawaii became the 50th state to join the union, and has been a part of America ever since!

DEAR ABBY: With the changing times (and less emphasis on the more formal aspects of a wedding), my wife and I are often faced with an embarrassing dilemma. We are both pastors who officiate at many weddings. We are seldom invited in advance to the rehearsal dinner or the wedding reception, but when we start to leave, the bride says, "Please stay. We thought you knew you were invited."

We never presume that we are invited unless we have received an invitation beforehand. Abby, we have small children and must make arrangements for having them looked after, just as all the other invited guests who have been officially invited.

Please remind your readers that if the officiating pastor(s) is expected to stay for the rehearsal dinner and reception, an invitation should be sent.

Auxiliary names new officers

New officers of the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary were introduced Tuesday night at the organization's first fall meeting.

They are Rosemary Mathews, president; Jean Spaulding, vice president; Madeline Schwarz, secretary-treasurer; and Jane Thomas, corresponding secretary.

Part of a network of medical auxiliaries across Texas and America, the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary assists in the Texas Medical Association's programs for the advancement of medicine and public health. The group is comprised of wives, husbands and widows of physician members of the Texas Medical Association.

One project of the local group this year will be fund raising for the American Medical Association's Education and Research Fund, according to Mrs. Mathews.

Next meeting of the auxiliary will be Oct. 21 when the members will join the Permian Basin Medical Society in hearing the TMA's executive director C. Lincoln Williston speak on "What's Ahead for Texas Physicians."

Charles Hays speaks about new institute

The Big Spring-Howard County Retired Teachers' Association held its monthly luncheon Sept. 15, in the Cactus Room of Howard College with Dr. Laurence H. Snively, president.

Speaker, Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College, was introduced by program chairman Linnie Keese.

Dr. Hays spoke about the new Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf. Housed in the old Webb Air Base Hospital property, it seeks to shed that appellation by calling itself simply "The West Campus of Howard College."

The institute has enrolled students from almost every state in the United States, plus four foreign students. Enrollment will continue through Oct. 15. Preparatory work through college level work will be taught.

Dr. Hays noted that the average hearing-impaired high school graduate is able to read only on a third-grade level. Therefore, only about 10 percent of deaf students are achieving any degree of success at the college level. In fact, only about 20 percent even try college.

Southwest Collegiate Institute for the deaf is starting a college from scratch with the express purpose of taking care of the other 80 percent of students.

The institute offers a wide range of fields, including such things as dental technician, computer processor and auto mechanic.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Make good life for yourself

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 17-year-old girl and need your advice. When I was 13, my older brother (he has a mental problem and is still at home) tried to rape me. He told me then that if I told my parents, he would kill me and I believed him.

It wouldn't have done any good to tell them because they are both alcoholics. They both work but they hit the bottle every night and on the weekends they never draw a sober breath.

I'm a senior but my parents don't care what I do or when I come home. Twice I have been busted for a curfew violation. I'm really confused about my life and need a few words of encouragement and advice. — Lisa, Torrance, Calif.

Lisa: Study hard and get the best grades possible your senior year and then plan to get out of your house as soon as possible after you graduate. Start making plans now. Don't delay another day.

Since your parents don't care about what you do, you should. It's your life and it can be a wonderful future so don't mess it up now. Please write to me every month or so and let me know how you are doing.

Dr. Wallace: My boyfriend enlisted in the Army about a month ago and since I was a good friend of his family, I continue to see his parents.

A couple of weeks ago my boyfriend's dad said that he wanted to have sex with me. I told him no but he said he would still try until I said yes.

I really don't know what to do about it. I can't tell my parents or his wife and naturally I can't say a word about it to my boyfriend. Besides, I kind of like the guy. He really isn't a bad fellow.

Please tell me what to do. I'm 19 years old. — Lisa, Elyria, Ohio

Lisa: Stop visiting your boyfriend's parents' house and don't be alone anywhere with this man. If he should pester you in any way, inform him that you will have a little chat with his wife.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 15-year-old guy and my girlfriend is the same age. When she left on her summer vacation we were very much in love, but when she came back, she was an entirely different woman. I still care for her very much but she doesn't seem to feel the same way that I do. What happened and what should I do? — Tim, Burlington, N.C.

Tim: Women have been known to change their minds quite often when it comes to romance. Tell her how you feel, but don't chase after her. If she really cares for you, she will show it.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 26-cent, stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

Cactus Chapter has enrollment tea

"Strike It Rich" Enrollment Tea was held Sept. 14 in the Blue Room at the Dora Roberts Community Center by the Cactus Chapter, American Business Womens' Association.

Nelda Colclazer, president, introduced the guests and officers. The program was given by Thetus Dunagan, narrator, Margaret Wise, and Virginia Bryant. A skit was performed which explained the objectives, special interests, and advantages of belonging to ABWA.

Refreshments were served. Regular meeting of the chapter was held Sept. 15 along with a salad supper in the Youth Recreation Room of the First United Methodist Church.

The program was given by Kelly Drapper from Fayer Flowers, on flower arranging. The first part of the program was a puppet show explaining different kinds of arrangements.

He then made several arrangements, revealing new kinds of ideas.

The vocational talk was given by Louise Proctor, an employee of Citizens Credit Union.

An official clearance was read for a Torchbearer Chapter in Lamesa. Any lady who is gainfully employed and interested in becoming a charter member of that chapter should call Mrs. Colclazer at the First National Bank in Big Spring, 267-5513 or 263-6177 in the evenings.

Members were reminded of the Harvest Sale to benefit the Chapter's scholarship fund. The sale will be at the Highland Mall, Nov. 15.

Thetus Dunagan was elected an alternate to the National Convention in Phoenix, Ariz. Oct. 30-Nov. 1. Several letters from women running for national offices were read.

A memorial service was observed for a charter member, Eunice Hickson. Doreen Dolan, Mrs. Hickson's niece, accepted the white carnation, a symbol of ABWA.

Installation for six new members were given. They include Claudia Speckles, Nadine Long, Odell LaLonde, Mickie Fletcher, Ruby Grigsby, and Francine Minchew. A transfer from Dayton, Ohio, Carol Wornouth, was welcomed to the chapter.

Leaders association discusses projects

Members of the Glasscock County Adult Leaders Association met recently to elect officers for the 1980-81 year. Norman Kohls, county extension agent, attended the meeting and as well as two new members, Kenneth and Mary Lou Schaefer.

New officers elected were Wendell Jones, president; Eugene Jost, vice president; Barbara Halfmann, secretary-treasurer and Doris Schwartz, reporter.

Fund raising projects sponsored by the group netted enough to pay for the 4-H van repairs. A committee was appointed to set up rules for its use. Fund raising projects were a benefit dance and auction of items donated by area merchants and concessions at the tractor rodeo and trailer sale at the St. Lawrence gin.

The decision was made to sponsor the tractor rodeo as an annual event.

Kohls explained the Shooting Sports project to the group and felt it would be well received in the county if someone were found to lead it.

Kenneth Schaefer announced that he is building a training arena and track and would volunteer his facilities and time to anyone who would develop a horse project.

Suggestions were made as to who in the county to honor as the "Friend of 4-H" at the Oct. 7 Awards program.

Steers test win streak in Levelland tonight

By NATHAN FOSS
Sports Editor

LEVELLAND — When the Big Spring Steers hit the field tonight to contest the Levelland Lobos, they will have a chance to match a season opening record that dates back to 1967.

That record is for three straight wins to open a grid campaign, something that has not occurred since that season 13 years ago. At that time, the Steers, under their first year head coach Spike Dykes, defeated Lamesa, Plainview and Snyder to open the season.

This time around, the Steers will again have a new head coach as they try to match that '67 crew, as Ralph Harris is at the Big Spring helm.

Arriving in March, he quickly began revamping the Big Spring football program, and the hard work has paid off thus far with wins over Snyder and Sweetwater, respectively.

This is quite an improvement over the past few years, as the Steers had won only once in the past two years, and only three times in the past four campaigns entering the 1980 slate.

But even with the 2-0 record, Harris sees many areas of improvement that will be necessary if the Bovines are to continue their winning ways.

The first emphasis of improvement will be in the offensive play of the Big Spring team. After jumping out to a 13-0 lead in the second quarter against Sweetwater, the Steer offense sputtered in the final two-and-a-half stanzas, allowing Sweetwater to remain in striking distance.

"We need to put four quarters of good football together offensively," Harris said yesterday. "We gave the ball away early against Snyder, and then came back and played good football from an offensive standpoint. Last week, we started out looking good, but then tailed off."

Harris indicated that he feels that much of the problem last week of rolling in with keeping things rolling is the fault of the coaching staff.

"We had increased the mental load, and decreased the physical part of playing offense," the Steer head coach continued. "We were making some proper decisions, but not enough. And the added mental factors didn't allow us to be as aggressive physically as we should have been against Sweetwater. That was caused by confusion, and we've worked this week to simplify matters to overcome this."

The Steers have shown flashes of an excellent running attack, as both Bobby Earl Williams and Richard Evans have looked impressive at times. But there is more to running an attack than just the two pigskin carriers.

"We have two priorities going into the Levelland game," Harris stated. "The first is to make good decisions in running the option and being aggressive in doing that, and the second is to be able to run our play action passing game to our receivers."

In the Steers first two games, there has been only one reception by a wide receiver, that by Mark Warren for a scant five yards.

"I'm confident our receivers can catch the ball and be good ones," said the Big Spring coach. "But we haven't been able to get them the ball yet. They (the receivers) have been doing a good job of blocking, however."

"I'm not blaming the kids for the problems our offense has had thus far," Harris continued. "It's time for the coaching staff to come through as teachers."

"And it's not as bad as it sounds," said Harris. "We haven't arrived, but we're not back on square one, either."

The Steer defense, along with the kicking game, has been the solidifying force in the Big Spring wins thus far.

"I feel we're progressing defensively," Harris continued. "We're not satisfied yet, but very happy with as far as we have come in this time."

"Of course," he stated, "a lot of times early in the year the offense will stop itself. That's certainly what we've done offensively. But others do that, too, and that's the reason we must continue to improve and play well defensively."

The Steer defense, led last week by linebackers Danny Stephens, Mike Sauls and Tom Tall Vela, as well as defensive linemen Scott Barnes, Lupe Ontiveros, David Shanks and many others, limited the Sweetwater team to only 24 yards rushing.

Harris hopes that they can accomplish that again, although the Levelland team has an offense that could explode from their tailback position.

Their two tailbacks (Ron Anderson and Willie Jones) are very dangerous if they get past the line, but are not tough inside runners. Fullback Don Collins is the Lobos inside threat, and these three runners are the bulk of the Levelland ground game.

Lobo quarterback Tom Anderson is what Harris refers to as simply "an execution quarterback." He basically hands off and throws the short passes to his receivers off play-action or bootleg type plays, and can't be counted on to hurt the Big Spring team on the ground.

Anderson is a left-hander, so much of the Lobo attack is

Robert Lee invade Forsan at 8 tonight

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes, fresh from a 14-0 win over the Garden City Bearkats, will be shooting for their second consecutive win tonight when they play host to the Robert Lee Steers in an 8:00 p.m. tilt.

The Buffs jumped out to a 14-0 lead last week in the first half, then relied on a stingy defense to stop their opposition. But Forsan Coach Ron Taylor hopes that his offense picks up this week, as he feels they played poorly in the second half of the Garden City game.

The Buffs, who are now 1-1, will be facing a team with the identical record in Robert Lee.

The Steers opened the season with a 12-6 win over the Sands Mustangs, but then lost the Coke County Championship game last weekend to grudge rival Bronte by a score of 25-0.

Taylor sees the strength of the Robert Lee team as being their defense. "They are real aggressive defensively," said Taylor. "They have a lot of young kids that really get after it."

Leading the Steer charge is sophomore middle linebacker Mike Gibbs, a 220-pounder who Forsan has a great deal of respect for.

The Forsan team will be without the services of standout senior D.F. Stanley, a leader of the team in the first two games. Stanley is nursing a bruised left thigh, something he played with considerable pain in the first two games.

Replacing him will be sophomore Bobby Little.

Coahoma has tough test in Tahoka

TAHOKA — Two teams that appear to match up quite well battle tonight when Class AAA foes Tahoka and Coahoma meet here in a non-district affair.

Both Coahoma and Tahoka come into the game with records of 1-1, and both have suffered their losses to Stanton.

Tahoka opened their season by losing 19-7 to the Stanton team, while Coahoma blew an 18-point lead in taking a 20-18 loss to the same team.

In their other games, Coahoma defeated Wall by a score of 22-0, while Tahoka scored a 15-0 win over Seminole.

Coahoma has an attack that features the passing of 6'5" QB Phillip Ritchey and the receiving of Manuel Martinez, Randy Clanton and Shayne Mayhall. The Big Red Machine also has the power to go overland with such runners as Jay Hall, Rodney Whitworth and Clint Elliot.

Tahoka, meanwhile, is an explosive team spearheaded by tailback Tracy White. They will run a variety of offensive sets, including the Wing-T, Power-I and feature some unbalanced line.

A factor working against the Coahoma team are injuries, as Hall, Whitworth, Elliot, as well as guard Bart Griffith, will only be going at three-quarters speed due to ailments.

Stanton hosts Golden Cranes

TAHOKA — The undefeated Stanton Buffaloes return for their home opener tonight against yet another Class AAA opponent when the Crane Golden Cranes invade.

The Buffs, who participate in Class AA in schoolboy football scene, have pulled two upsets over Class AAA teams thus far this year, and both on the road. They opened the season by coming from behind to take a 12-7 win over Tahoka, and then rallied from an 18-point deficit to take a 20-18 triumph over Coahoma.

Crane is not as highly touted as either Tahoka or Coahoma, but Stanton mentor Steve Park is hoping to avoid the third game letdown that his team had last year. In 1979, Stanton won their first two games over the same teams, then were tied by a McCamey team that had no business doing so.

The Golden Cranes bring a good running back to town in the form of Bryan Cunningham, who has carried for 179 yards and a 6.6 per carry average in two contests. Crane will run the veer offense.

"Third Game"

Sands at Throckmorton

THROCKMORTON — The Sands Mustangs picked the worst time of the year to visit Throckmorton, facing the Greyhounds on Saturday afternoon in their Homecoming affair.

Sands will carry a record of 1-1 into the contest, with their triumph being an impressive 39-12 rout of Water Valley last week. The Mustangs lost their season opener to Robert Lee by a score of 12-6.

Throckmorton, meanwhile, is 0-2, having lost to St. Joseph's by seven points and to Archer City by a count of 27-0 last week.

Throckmorton runs a variety of sets, which could cause problems for Sands, but the Mustangs look to be a much improved team over last season thus far.

"They run a little of everything," said Sands mentor Jim White. "We match up pretty well against them, and I feel we have a good chance at winning."

Wolves, Denver City go for win

DENVER CITY — Both Denver City and Colorado City will be seeking their first win of the 1980 campaign tonight when they square off here at eight.

Denver City fought highly touted Kermit before losing 8-0 last week, while Colorado City is coming off a 7-6 setback at the hands of Post.

The contest is a non-district affair.

Niatross continues winning easy

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Niatross, $2.20 in both heats, shattered six world records and became harness racing's richest horse ever by winning the Little Brown Jug in impressive straight heats to continue his assault on racing's Triple Crown.

Niatross beat Trenton Time in the opening heat, and Storm Damage in the second.

Yankee rally too much for Blue Jays

By The Associated Press
The Toronto Blue Jays are playing the role of "spoilers" these days — but the only thing they spoiled Thursday night was Manager Bobby Mattick's appetite.

"All he had to do was get three outs," Mattick said of Dave Stieb, who was trying to protect a four-run lead in the 10th inning over the New York Yankees, "but sometimes that's hard to do."

It was not only for Stieb, it was impossible. He let the never-say-die Yankees catch up with four runs. Then, New York's finest went on to beat the Blue Jays 8-7 in 13 innings.

The dramatic Yankee comeback came in the completion of a game that was suspended by rain Wednesday night and preceded a 2-1 loss to the Blue Jays in the regularly-scheduled game.

The split left the American League East leaders with a five-game lead over Baltimore after the Orioles defeated the Detroit Tigers 7-3.

Elsewhere in the AL, Boston beat Cleveland 8-3; Kansas City downed California 5-2; Texas outscored Oakland 10-6; Milwaukee beat Minnesota twice, 9-8 and 5-0, and Chicago edged Seattle 5-4.

Willie Randolph's three-run triple capped New York's four-run rally in the 10th against Stieb. Then the Yankees won the game two innings later when Bucky Dent doubled home Johnny Oates from first base with two out.

The game had been halted by rain the night before after Toronto scored two runs in the top of the 10th off Ron Davis on a third-strike passed ball by catcher Rick Cerone, Ernie Whit's single and a three-base error on the play by right fielder Reggie Jackson.

When play resumed Thursday night, the Blue Jays added two more runs on Roy Howell's two-run, inside-the-park homer.

The Blue Jays won the regularly-scheduled game behind the two-hit pitching of rookie Luis Leal, who was a last-minute replacement for Stieb. Mattick had originally counted on Stieb to start the regular game, but changed his plans after the pitcher was roughed up by the Yankees.

The loss was only the second for the Yankees in 17 games this month.

Orioles 7, Tigers 3
Dan Graham pulled Baltimore into a tie with a leadoff home run in the seventh inning and then Ken Singleton's two-run single put the Orioles ahead of Detroit for good.

Scott McGregor, 19-7, fifth game in a row with one and one-third innings of relief help from Tim Stoddard. Stoddard notched his 23rd save after fanning pinch hitter Champ Summers with two runners aboard in the eighth.

Rangers 10, A's 6
Mickey Rivers went 4-for-6, setting a club record for hits in a season, to lead Texas past Oakland behind Danny Darwin's strong relief pitching.

Rivers, who had 184 hits twice for the New York Yankees, raised his season total to 204. His two hits Wednesday night had tied the Ranger record of 200 set last year by Buddy Bell. Rivers' average climbed three points to .331, also his highest ever.

MOVING UP — Kansas City Royals' George Brett slaps out a single against the California Angels on Thursday night. Brett went two for three at the plate and raised his batting average to .398.

Morgan powers Astros by Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Morgan, who took his free agency to Houston, stomped on the fingers of his former teammates, the Cincinnati Reds, dangling on the edge of the lead in the National League West.

"The Reds are absolutely not out of the race, but to be perfectly truthful about it, they certainly don't have a good shot," said Morgan, who two run home run helped drub the Reds 10-2 and put the Astros back in contention with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"We had them where we wanted them but they got away. That's happened to us a lot this year," lamented Cincinnati third baseman Ray Knight.

The Reds returned from a 10-4 road trip last week, only to lose five of seven at home. Now they head for Los Angeles tonight.

"Our job is just a little tougher than it was," said Reds Manager John McNamara. "By this weekend we should know for sure where we stand" in the race for the division championship.

Morgan and Jose Cruz each blasted homers as the Astros scored nine runs in the last three innings.

"I don't think that I try any harder against the Reds than I do against the others," said Morgan, who played on five championship teams in Cincinnati.

"This is what the game of baseball is all about. This is the reason you do those two extra pushups in spring training. It's all so that you can be in top shape for these last few weeks of the season when the pressure is great. You just have to be ready for the things that happen down the stretch," Morgan said.

Dave Bergman opened the seventh inning rally with a pinch hit, game tying single for winning pitcher Ken Forsch, 12-12.

No love lost between Erxleben, Saints fans

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — "Everyone's acted like I shot somebody," is how placekicker Russell Erxleben describes the reaction of New Orleans fans to his missing three of five field goal attempts.

Earlier this week, Erxleben's frustrations poured out in a New Orleans convenience store. A fan asked him how much longer he expected the Saints to keep him on the roster. Erxleben knocked the man in the jaw.

"There's nothing you can do. I hated doing it, but I'm tired of trying to please everyone," the former Texas Longhorn star told the Austin American-Statesman in a telephone interview.

After the Saints lost Sunday to Chicago, New Orleans Coach Dick Nolan relieved Erxleben of his placekicking chores at Erxleben's request. Now the 23-year-old Seguin native, the 11th player taken in the 1979 draft, will handle only punting.

"This is a football-crazy town and they love their football, but people ask the dumbest questions. They'd ask, 'Why did you miss it?' I'd say the coach told me to," said Erxleben.

"Another one asked me if I had tried to commit suicide. I said, 'Yes, but I missed to the left,'" Erxleben said.

The fans and press in New Orleans had good reason to expect a lot from Erxleben, considered the finest kicker in Southwest Conference history. He set kicking and punting records at UT, booming long, high punts and drilling 49 of 78 field goal attempts and 120 of 134 extra points.

Nolan called on castoff Benny Ricardo to relieve Erxleben. Last year Garo Yepremian, cut by Miami, replaced Erxleben after the rookie pulled a leg muscle.

Erxleben, a 44.2-yard career punter at UT, is averaging only 31.9 yards per punt this year. He said, however, that several of the short punts were downed inside the opposition's 10-yard line. He said he also kicked six times into a 35-mile-an-hour wind.

"They're always putting 'million-dollar kicker' in front of my name. I mean, why can't I just be the kicker for New Orleans?" he said.

"I haven't panned out. I know that but when we lose to Chicago 22-3 and they have it as my fault, I don't know what I can do," he said.

"When I missed a field goal at Texas, I didn't think about it. They dwelled on the (missed 30-yard) field goal at San Francisco all week. I must have seen it on TV a million times."

"I really can't pinpoint what the problem is. I do know I want to do so good I can taste it. If it took running 100 miles a day, I'd do it...."

"Right now, I don't have any confidence, and the only way I'm going to get it back is to do something good," he said. "I want football to be fun, and right now it isn't."

McKay defends Tampa Bay OB

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Doug Williams, like now retired Roger Staubach, is a scrambler. And like Staubach, the young Tampa Bay quarterback is developing a knack for winning games at the last minute.

Twice this year Williams has taken the Buccaneers to victory after the two-minute warning.

He will be on display in Texas Stadium Sunday against the Dallas Cowboys who are learning to live without Staubach and trying to find the groove with Danny White.

"Scrambling bothers a defense and straightens out a pass rush and really isn't too dangerous if the quarterback is intelligent about it," said Tampa Bay Coach John McKay. "I don't know how many times Roger Staubach used it to help Dallas over the years."

McKay has taken some heat for sticking with Williams, who is a strong-armed passer but inconsistent.

"I like him and most people don't," said McKay. "All I know is we win and the other team loses."

Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said of Williams: "He's very strong and a good athlete. Nobody throws as hard as he does. He has an excellent arm."

Williams threw a 15-yard touchdown pass with 1:45 to play to defeat Cincinnati. He dove a yard for a touchdown with 57 seconds to go to beat Los Angeles.

"Doug has done a fine job in both games although we haven't protected him very well," said McKay. "It's awfully hard to throw against the Rams and Doug did well not to force the ball. He was patient and threw the ball away and did not get intercepted. He was doing exactly what he was told and did not deserve to get booed."

Williams has completed only 47 per cent of his passes in two games. He has two touchdown passes and one interception.

He has scrambled 11 times for 62 yards, a 5.6 average.

50,000 expected for TCU-SMU

By The Associated Press
Ron Meyer and F.A. Dry have downplayed it publicly but Saturday night's Southern Methodist-Texas Christian matchup is more than just the Southwest Conference football opener for both teams.

Meyer and Dry, who used to be such good friends that Dry and his staff were invited to play in an SMU golf media tournament, barely speak now.

The hard-feelings started several years ago. It has simmered around such topics as Dry's son, Mike; TCU's re-scheduling of a night game to day; Mike Ford's injury; Auburn contacting SMU coaches for information on the Horned Frogs and other assorted grievances.

Both coaches will give you bitter examples about the other that they won't take public.

The Mustangs of Meyer and the Horned Frogs of Dry get after it before some 50,000 fans in Texas Stadium in the only SWC game on the card.

In the other games, the SWC hopes to regain some prestige after winning only two of seven interconference tussles last weekend.

While SMU was a 15-point pick over TCU, oddsmakers rated Texas a 29-point choice over Utah State in Austin; Arkansas a 14-point nod over Oklahoma State in Little Rock; Houston a 10-point pick over Miami (Fla.) in the Astrodome; the Texas Aggies a 2-point underdog to Penn State in Kyle Field; Rice a 15-point underdog to Tulane in New Orleans; and Baylor and Texas Tech prohibitive favorites over West Texas and New Mexico, respectively.

Asked about the TCU-SMU rivalry, Dry said "It's a colorful game. I'm not sure Auburn is as good as SMU. Ron has a good football team."

Meyer returned the plaudits, saying "This is the most dangerous TCU team we've faced."

Asked about the knee injury to quarterback Ford suffered in the game last year, Meyer said "Revenge is a poor motive...injuries occur. It's a very intense rivalry, no bigger, no smaller.

If we should win it would tie the series throughout history—that's what you're looking at."

TCU leads the series with SMU 28-27-7 but the Mustangs have won the last eight games. Dry has never beaten Meyer.

For Arkansas and Texas, it marks their return to action after the Longhorns' 23-17 victory over the Razorbacks Sept. 1.

Reds face must win games against LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, who lead the National League West by one game over Houston, would appear to have a distinct advantage tonight when they open a three-game series with the still-hopeful Cincinnati Reds.

Jerry Reuss, who has beaten the Reds four times this season and has won 11 of 12 decisions against the contending clubs in the NL, will start on the mound for Los Angeles, against Cincinnati's Paul Moskau.

The Dodgers retained their one-game edge by defeating San Diego 7-3 Thursday night, with their biggest offense in two weeks.

In the only other NL games played Thursday, Houston beat Cincinnati 10-2 and Atlanta sneaked by San Francisco 2-1.

Los Angeles clubbed three Padre pitchers for 13 hits, three of them homers. Most productive were Steve Garvey and Dusty Baker, who combined for only eight hits in 55 at-bats on Los Angeles' recent trip to Houston, Cincinnati and Atlanta.

Ron Cey and Mickey Hatcher hit consecutive homers in the eighth inning off the Padres' Mike Armstrong.

The Dodgers had a 5-1 lead and starter Bob Welch had restricted San Diego to four hits over seven innings. But in the eighth, the Padres filled the bases with only one out and Bobby Castillo took over. He gave up a bloop single to Dave Winfield that scored two runs.

Castillo, who has won his last four decisions, earned his fifth save and has allowed only four earned runs in his last 13 appearances.

Welch, 13-9, gave up three runs on six hits, including Perkins' second home run. The victory was his third straight.

Rick Wise, 6-8, took the loss, giving up five runs on seven hits in 41-3 innings.

Reuss, 17-5, will attempt to match his career high in victories tonight. He won 18 games in 1975 at Pittsburgh. Moskau is 9-7.

Runnels girls split pair with Snyder

The Runnels girls volleyball team split a pair of games with Snyder Junior High in action here Thursday afternoon.

The Runnels White team scored a 17-15, 15-7 win over the Snyder Black team, with Della Correa's 13 serving points leading the way. Tonya Gilstrap had seven and Theresa Martinez five. Correa was also praised for her play at the net.

The Runnels Red team lost to the Snyder Gold by 9-15, 11-15. Teresa Adamson played well in the backcourt, while Bach Van Co drew praise for her play over the full court. Trish Clemons was lauded for her setting and spiking.

The White team is now 2-0 on the year, while the Red team is 0-2. They will both return to action Monday, at which time they visit the same Snyder teams.

Steer volleyball team rallies for win over Midland

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Steers girls volleyball team remained unbeaten in District 5-A AAAA play here Thursday night, rallying to take a hard earned 13-15, 15-16, 15-11 win over the Midland Bulldogettes.

Both teams entered the game with district opening wins.

Navratilova wins

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Top-seeded Martina Navratilova outlasted Barbara Potter 7-5, 5-7, 7-5 in the third round of a women's $200,000 tennis tournament.

Sissy Doss was the leading server for the Steers, with 13 of her serves ending in Big Spring points. Shell Rutledge had nine service points, with Bea Magers adding eight. Pam Caudill and Dawn Estes five each, and Elise Wheat with three. Magers was praised for her spiking at the net, as she registered two timely kills, among other outstanding plays.

Big Spring Coach Patti Purser was happy with the win, but felt the Steer girls need to improve their blocking. She was pleased with the play of the BSHS team in the other areas, however.

The win gives the Steer girls a 2-0 district record and an 8-3 mark for the year. They are currently tied with Abilene Cooper for the 5-A AAAA lead.

The Big Spring JV squad was not as fortunate, however, taking an 11-15, 15-8, 9-15 loss to Midland JVs.

The Big Spring girls return for their home 5-A AAAA opener on Tuesday night, at which time they play Odessa Permian. A freshman game is set for 5:00 p.m., the JV tilt at six and the varsity at seven.

SELECT A CELICA AND BE A SPORT.

THE 1980 TOYOTA CELICAS

Select any Celica. You can't go wrong. These are the original sporty cars. The ones that proved that sporty doesn't have to mean temperamental, or expensive.

Celica Supra
Luxury that's almost unbelievable. With standard features like air conditioning, AM/FM stereo radio. And performance to match. A 2.6 liter, 6-cylinder fuel-injected engine. 5-speed overdrive transmission. Even a 4-speed automatic overdrive transmission and cruise control you can order. Celica Supra...the ultimate Celica.

Celica GT Liftback
Pure Celica excitement. The Celica GT Liftback is lean, clean, and a little bit mean. 2.2 liters of overhead cam engine powers it. And a 5-speed overdrive transmission handles that power superbly. Even tungsten halogen high beam headlights are standard.

Celica GT Sport Coupe
The Celica to select if you prefer your car with a trunk. And a European profile that's turning on car buffs everywhere. Celica GT Coupe standard features include reclining front bucket seats. And full instrumentation.

Celica ST Sport Coupe
At $5,879, it's the lowest sticker-priced Celica. Manufacturer's suggested retail price. Actual retail price may vary. Price does not include tax, license, transportation, Calif. emissions or optional or regionally required equipment. The Celica ST. It's a lot of car...for less.

The Celicas. Looks that are already classic. Exciting performance with total economy. And dependable as only a Toyota can be. Why wait? Go in to your Toyota dealer. He'll show you how easy it is to be a sport.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be sure you first investigate thoroughly any new project you want to engage in. Spend your money wisely.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Some family members may not agree with your views now, so try to understand their better.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are filled with new ideas but you have to study them better before you put them in operation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Not a good day for serious talks with allies, since they are busy with other things. Be more willing to cooperate with others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't try to force your ideas on others and avoid getting unexpected rebuffs. Express happiness with congenials.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make plans to have more favorable conditions around you in the days ahead. The evening is fine for social activities.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can understand both sides of a problem and intuitively will know how best to solve it. The field of law is particularly good in this chart. Give spiritual and ethical training early in life.

B.T., Ruth Faulkner back in Saudi Arabia

B.T. and Ruth Faulkner are back in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, where B.T. is employed by the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

The couple spent several months in Oklahoma City while he underwent medical treatment. He is following a limited schedule in Jeddah and expects to be in Saudi Arabia no more than one year.

During his illness, the Faulkners received scores of cards and letters from their friends here. Several people here initiated calls to inquire about B.T.'s health.

B.T. notes that the temperature has been peaking at about 108 degrees in Jeddah but from November through February will be range from a high of 85 to a low of 65 degrees. It never gets below 60 degrees in that part of the world, according to B.T.

The Faulkners say anything will grow in that area if it gets proper watering and the time to plant a garden is now. There hasn't been any rain in Jidda since 1979, however.

B.T. says he and his wife take the Herald but it generally is about three weeks late. They read it avidly, nonetheless. Their mailing address is USAED, Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, APO New York, N.Y. 09697.

B.T. and Ruth are the parents of Ben and Mike Faulkner, both of Big Spring.

Big Spring Area gains 14 registered nurses

Results released by the Texas State Board of Registered Nurses Examiners this week show that 14 of the 16 students enrolled in the two-year Associate Degree Nursing Program at Howard College passed their state exam, announced Mary McClendon, R. N. and acting director of the Howard College ADN Program.

"The overall pass rate of the graduating class of 1980 was 87.5 percent," said Mrs. McClendon. "This means that of the 16 graduates, 14 are now licensed by the State of Texas as Registered Nurses."

Most scores were above the state and national averages, added Mrs. McClendon.

"We are very pleased with these results as it reflects the concentrated efforts of students and faculty. To this date, 93 percent of the ADN graduates of Howard College have been licensed," said Mrs. McClendon.

"We have been very fortunate throughout the years with our nursing program in having such exceptional classes in the program," said Mrs. McClendon. "Since the program started in January of 1976, we have had a total of 62 students graduate and become Registered Nurses."

Dr. Charles Hays, President of the Howard County Junior College District, said, "We are pleased with our record in the nursing program, and even more so, we are pleased that Howard College is doing its part in helping fulfill the need for medical care in Howard County and the Permian Basin."

The 1980 graduating class is as follows: Annette Beams, Lois Belew, Frieta Boyce, Sherri Holdampf, Brenda Kemper, Maurine Mitchell, Diana Powell, Gail Roach, Karen Stevens, Nancy Vassar and Leslie Yarbrough, all of Big Spring.

Others graduating were Jean Kampbell, Peggy Rankin and Freida Henderson, all of Snyder.

Now the critics have discovered PENITENTIARY:

BOSTON HERALD AMERICAN

"One of the toughest prison films ever made. The boxing sequences make 'Rocky' look like patty-cake, patty-cake."

BALTIMORE NEWS

"Realistic and gritty in a way 'Rocky' never was."

SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE

"A frightening picture of prison life. Fight scenes so brutal and realistic, they are both beautifully awesome and painful to watch..."

LOS ANGELES TIMES

"Comparisons to 'Rocky' are inevitable, but 'Penitentiary' is too vital and personal to be a copy of anything."
