ASTRO DANCE — After hitting a two-run homer in the fourth inning, Houston Astro Art Howe, center, grabs hands with Astro's Caesar Cedeno (28) and Alan Ashby (14) during National League West playoff action in Los Angeles Monday. The Astros went on to beat the Dodgers 7-1.

Astro fans whoop it up over 7-1 victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Luke-warm Astro fans became dyed-in-the-wool enthusiasts as the Bayou City came alive with celebrations over Houston's brand-new National League Western Division title.

Celebrations popped up across the sprawling city Monday night as folks whooped, hollered, stomped, clapped, but most of all, drank in honor of the orange-clad team who whipped the dreaded Los Angeles Dodgers 7-1 in a one-game playoff.

The game was played in Los Angeles, but fans here were glued to the tube during the afternoon game.

As the Astros pulled ahead 7-0 in the fourth inning Monday afternoon, one patron at a local tavern shouted:

"Seven runs aren't enough! Let's get another touchdown!"

Folks crowded around portable radio and television sets at the office while work chores went begging. Others took advantage of any excuse to cut out early.

At Grif's, a local bar frequented by Astro fans, a small crowd watched the game in rowdy confusion.

See game story Page 1-B

"This is more fun than getting married," cried one woman patron. The victory was all the sweeter because it was the first for Houston in the club's 19-year history. And after the game, the crowd at Grif's swelled to well over 200.

Accountant Jim Fisher and his wife, Sue, showed up in Astro T-shirts after work. Asked what their evening plans would have been had the Astros lost, Mrs. Fisher replied:

"Not only would we not have put on the T-shirts, but we wouldn't be here. We also would have been in a very bad mood."

"It would have been a bad night for our cat."

During a tense moment in the third inning, Astro Alan Ashby ran home and smack dab into Dodger catcher Joe Ferguson, who moved Ashby out of the way with a well-placed knee.

"That was brutal," said one Grif's patron. "They ought to run him out."

"No, no," a companion replied. "We want Ferguson to play. He can't throw and we can steal off him all day."

And that's exactly what happened. In the very next inning, Terry Puhl stole second and third and the Astros scored three runs to pull ahead 7-0.

"I bet this will shut up (LA Manager Tommy) LaSorda," said one caller on a local radio talk show. "He never did believe in the Astros. I bet he does now."

As the final out was scored and fans watched the Astros run out on the field, two men at Grif's gleefully poured beer on each other's head, simulating the locker-room champagne showers.

But no one was more optimistic than Paul Darst, who broke out the champagne and ice with one to go in the bottom of the ninth.

"I've had them ready since Friday," he said.

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi jets today strafed fuel depots and the television station in the Iranian refining center of Abadan, a military spokesman here said, in possible preparation for a thrust deeper into the oil-rich sector of Iran.

Western correspondents reported Iraq's capture of the port area of Khorramshahr, Iran's chief port a few miles north of Abadan. Both are on the disputed Shatt al-Arab border waterway.

The Iraqis claimed 29 Iraqis killed and six wounded in fighting Monday along the 300-mile invasion front. The Iraqis put their own casualties at seven dead and 16 wounded.

The Baghdad communique said the Iraqi raid left the Abadan fuel depots in flames. It also said a satellite ground station in Asadabad, 200 miles west of Tehran, an airfield in the army garrison town of Dezful, and a silo, railway station and fuel depots in the neighboring town of Andimeshk were hit.

The communique also said Iranian warplanes raided civilians targets in Kirkuk and Penjuin, in Iraq's Sulaimaniya province, leaving two civilians dead and nine wounded.

An Iranian communique said two Iraqi planes were shot down by anti-aircraft defenses around Abadan. Iran claimed bringing down 10 Iraqi warplanes and killing 80 Iraqi soldiers in Monday's fighting. Iraq claimed to have shot down two Iranian bombers and a helicopter and destroyed five tanks and three armored troop carriers.

American Petrofina tanker returns with 391 survivors

(Special to the Herald) American Petrofina Inc. Monday announced the U.S. flag 225,000 ton deadweight supertanker, "The T.T. Williamsburgh," left Valdez, Alaska, this morning after returning to port late Sunday afternoon with 391 survivors of the ocean liner "Prinsendam."

The Williamsburgh had departed Valdez Oct. 3 with a cargo of 1,540,000 barrels of Alaskan crude bound for the Gulf of Mexico via Cape Horn.

The 1,100-foot vessel, with a helicopter circle amidships, diverted early on the morning of Oct. 4 to Iraq's air force attacked Tehran, the Iranian capital, on three sides Monday, and there was an unconfirmed report that the local oil refinery was hit, the official Iranian news agency Pars said. Tehran Radio said the raiders killed four people, wounded 60 and damaged a factory and the airport.

Meanwhile, Jordan's King Hussein became the first Arab chief of state to declare open, concrete support for Arab Iraq in the 16-day-old war. He ordered mobilization of all transport vehicles to carry food and supplies to the Iraqi army, was reported lending bases to the Iraqi air force and in a broadcast urged all Arab nations to support the Iraqis against the non-Arab Persians of Iran "because a victory for Iraq will be a victory for all Arabs."

A Kuwait newspaper reported Jordan has massed 40,000 troops on its border with Iraq, awaiting word to join the battle against Iran. There was no immediate comment from Jordan.

Sources in Beirut said the Soviet Union, Iraq's chief supplier of arms, was shipping ammunition, spare parts and other war materiel to its ally via the Jordanian port of Aqaba. The sources said the shipments were coming from Soviet stockpiles in South Yemen and Ethiopia.

Syria became the first Arab country to criticize Iraq publicly. The official newspaper of the ruling Socialist Baath Party said Iraq launched the war on orders from the United States to divert attention from the Arabs' struggle with Israel.

Iraq continued to deny the reports of respond to a disaster call from the burning ocean liner.

The company said, according to reports from Capt. Arthur Ferdic, the vessel and its 29-member crew spent Saturday picking up survivors before steaming back to Valdez.

The cargo of Alaskan crude is expected to arrive at one of the company's lighterage areas about 25 miles off shore at Corpus Christi shortly after mid-November.

decisive Iraqi advances in Khorramshahr, one of the chief targets of Iraq's drive to control the adjacent Shatt al-Arab estuary. It said its forces remained "in full control" of the city.

But Western reporters who visited there Monday reported the Iraqis in firm control of the vital port area. They said Iranian artillery fire could no longer reach the port and the only Iraqis still fighting in the city were small pockets of snipers.

Khorramshahr had been under siege and heavy artillery and air attack since soon after Iraqi forces invaded Iran to secure full control of the Shatt al-Arab, the 120-mile waterway that connects the Iraqi port of Basra as well as Iran's Khorramshahr and Abadan with the Persian Gulf. Iraq claimed several times to have captured the city, and Iran denied the claim each time.

The civilian population was reported to have fled early in the siege.

Shortage of employees

Big Spring Dress Co. will close down plant

By RICHARD HORN
The Big Spring Dress Co., at the corner of Andree and W. 8th, will close Friday, Oct. 10, it was announced yesterday.

John Bridewell, assistant manager of the dress manufacturing company, said that they were notified Oct. 3 of the closing.

The Dress Co. is a division of Jerrell Inc. in Dallas. Jerrell also will be closing the Colorado City Manufacturing Co.

"It was decided that the company should be closed because there is a real shortage of employees that are experienced enough to keep the plant operating," said Bridewell.

"This is not too unusual for West Texas," said Winston Wrinkle, president of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation. "We just do not have a large enough pool of experienced operators to keep two large dress factories in business."

Many of the employees may be hired by Walls Industries Inc. on the Snyder Highway. According to sources at Walls, several applications have been received.

Jerrell Inc. has a lease on the building until 1982. If the corporation decides to drop the lease, control of the building will revert back to the Industrial Foundation.

"So far, we have every reason to believe that Jerrell will continue to pay the lease, although we haven't heard anything yet," said Wrinkle. "If they don't, however, we will be glad to have the building back. It is a fine manufacturing facility."

The Big Spring Dress Co. opened in April 1971. It has kept an average of 80 operators employed in its nine year history, although at the company's peak it hired as many as 150. Fifty-three operators are currently employed at the company.

Murphy Huckabee has been the manager of the company since 1975.

A. Public records have run in the Herald in three of the last five Sunday issues. They were left out Sept. 28 and Sept. 21 because of lack of space, a problem that generations of newspapers have battled.

Special election will be held

State Rep. Ezell to resign

By WALT FINLEY
State Rep. Mike Ezzell announced today that he will resign his seat in the Texas Legislature "around Oct. 15."

The Snyder Democrat will take the position of director of State Health Planning with the Texas Department of Health in Austin.

Preston Goodwin, staff attorney for the Elections Division of the Secretary of State's Office, said a special election will be necessary to fill Ezzell's unexpired term.

Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring and Knott will be sworn in as representative during the 67th legislative session opening in January.

"Even though there is only a short time remaining in the term, the governor will have to call a special election to fill the vacancy," Goodwin said this morning.

He said there are several other cases where legislators are expected to resign before the end of their terms, and a special election will have to be called in each case.

Texas Gov. Bill Clements was in Odessa this morning to open the Ector County Republican Headquarters and to participate in a political rally with Republican vice-presidential candidate George Bush. Clements could not be reached for comment on when a special election might be called.

In announcing his resignation, Ezzell said: "It has been an honor and privilege to represent the 63rd District in the Texas Legislature during the past six years.

"It is a responsibility I have not taken lightly and I hope that you will continue to share your concerns with those who represent you on all levels of government as you have shared with me.

Ezell, who was defeated by Shaw in the Democratic primary, said "I look forward to the new challenge I begin with the Health Department as I continue an opportunity to work not only with the people of this district but with the citizens of the state of Texas."

"The position with the Health Department will allow me opportunity to continue to work in the area I worked in during my tenure in the Legislature.

"As I bring to a close my tenure as your representative I want to especially thank my wife and children for their willingness to share me with you during the years of service."

Rep. Ezzell has served as chairman of the Health Services committee and as a member of the Higher Education, House Administration and Sunset Advisory committees during the past session.

He was recognized by the Texas Hospital Association and the Texas Medical Association for outstanding leadership during the 66th legislative session. He was also recognized by Abilene Christian University as an outstanding alumnus in 1979.

State Rep.-elect Shaw is a close friend of State Rep. John Bryant of Dallas.

He also is a key strategist in Bryant's bid to be elected Texas house speaker, a position decided by the vote of the 150-member house.

In fact, Shaw received $2,750 from two political action committees, labeled "fronts" for Bryant's election as speaker.

The committees are Voter Action Project and Texans for an Independent Legislature.

Financial aid from VAP and TTL was given to three candidates who defeated anti-Bryant incumbents in primary elections in the spring.

REP. MIKE EZZELL

Shaw got more funds than any other recipient. The money was "spread around" by John C. Poulard, former aide to Bryant.

State Rep. Ezzell, defeated by Shaw in what was considered a major upset by political pros, said VAP and TTL were "created by Mr. Bryant."

Why?
"To help anti-incumbent folks who would not be supporting Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton of Brilab fame, according to a copyrighted story in the Dallas Morning News.

"He (Shaw) figured in the 30-minute (television) production that Rep. Bryant aired across the state," Ezzell said.

"Mr. Shaw appeared in that film four or five times, I understand, as a supporter of John Bryant."

I can vouch for Shaw's appearance in the TV special. I happened to be a passenger in car driven by Shaw which sped back (under 55 miles per hour, of course) to Big Spring from the Texas Democratic convention in San Antonio so we could view the film on the telly.

Shaw said he didn't decide to support Bryant until after the primary election May 3.

One month earlier, however, he is

Recent improvements discussed by directors

The board of directors of the West Side Community Center met at the center Monday afternoon to discuss recent improvements, ongoing programs, recent events, and new projects.

Among the top items discussed were recent repairs and improvements made at the center. Items being repaired included the outside screens, plumbing, and the installation of new cabinets and sink, and the floor in the kitchen of the center's living quarters. Carpet was also obtained from various sources within the community and used to carpet the hallway, TV room, library, and the director's quarters.

It was announced that the first day of the blood pressure checks for senior citizens would begin Nov. 3 at the center. The board agreed to the project and set the first Monday of each month aside for senior citizens and agreed to provide transportation to individuals in the community who might need it.

Madelin Boadle also explained that volunteers had agreed to work with the center and would be donating their talents to teach quilting, crochet, guitar, and exercise. She also stated that 28 of the 35 persons taking the bilingual drivers instruction in August had passed their tests. With 36 more people signed up to take the class, Boadle said she was in contact with the people in Midland who were in charge of the program and hoped they would repeat the class.

The upcoming drive by the United Way was discussed by the board of the West Side Community Center, as well as the reduction of the center's funds from the campaign. It was reported that the center's $1,000 annual "share" from the previous drive would be cut in half. Members of the board, who are also working with the United Way, expressed concern over the reduction and agreed to protest the cut.

Other classes to be presented at the center include classes on nutrition, as well as classes on how to take care of important papers, insurance, and job preparation.

Local United Way begins ambitious fund raising drive

By RICHARD HORN

Howard County has set itself an ambitious goal for the United Way campaign, according to Dr. Charles Hays, president of the Big Spring United Way.

Dr. Hays, speaking at the United Way Kick-Off Luncheon at Howard College yesterday, said that the goal of $250,000 set by the Executive Board and its participating agencies was not "too much", but was more than had been in the past.

"This is not a goal that Howard County is unable to achieve," said Dr. Hays.

The Luncheon served as the kick-off for the United Way campaign for this year. Approximately 100 people gathered in the Cactus Room of the Howard College Student Union Building to listen to speeches and introductions of new members of the Executive Board leading the fund raising drive.

the Salvation Army.

"The agencies represented here make up the goal, you people have got to go out and make the goal a reality," said Dr. Hays. "I think this is the most people to have come out for the Kick-Off luncheon that I can remember," he said.

Campaign vice-chairman Russ McEwen said that if the United Way "does its job", then the agencies will be spared door-to-door fund-raising of their own.

Blackmon faces rape charges

Rickie Lee Blackmon, 406 Douglas, was freed on bond Monday after his arrest on suspicion of raping a neighbor.

Blackmon was arrested Sunday on suspicion of three charges: rape, aggravated assault and criminal trespass. Blackmon allegedly burned the woman with cigarettes.

Campaign chairman Ron Medley predicted that 1981 will go down as the year that the Howard County UW met its goals, and brought in more money than any other year.

"We have a great advantage this year," said Medley. "We have 12 very well managed and well directed agencies. Because of that, we can not only meet our goals, we can exceed them."

He also stated that, if the local goal is met, 92 cents out of every dollar raised will remain in Howard County.

"If the United Way does its job, we can give a few more alcoholics a chance to be respectable citizens, make a few more cripple people walk, and give a few more less-fortunate children a safe place to play," said Medley.

Medley went on to urge all participating volunteers to visit individuals personally, and not by telephone. He also asked that the community be responsive and generous in their donations. "Almost everyone in the Big Spring Community receives benefits from these twelve agencies."

Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin at $25,000 for the rape arrest, $15,000 for aggravated assault arrest, and $10,000 for the criminal trespass arrest.

Those agencies are: The West Side Community Center; the Howard County Family Serv.; the Red Cross; the Central and the Lakeview YMCA; the Girl Scouts; the West Side Community Day Care Ctr.; the Boy Scouts; the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center; the Howard County Detoxification Center; the Big Spring Boys Club; and Business was slow Monday in Glickstein's shoe store on the North Side so, he said, he sat down in his desk chair and fell asleep.

Pot initiative wanted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A coalition wants the California Supreme Court to order a pot initiative onto the state's November ballot.

In a petition filed Monday with the Supreme Court, the Libertarian Law Council and Barton Gilbert of Los Angeles, a coordinator of the initiative campaign, asked that Secretary of State March Fong Eu be forced to certify the measure as having enough signatures to be placed before voters.

The initiative calls for eliminating penalties for private possession, transportation, and cultivation by adults for their own use.

Boy stages 'hot' picnic

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — A trail of dried blood from 20 pounds of purloined chopped meat helped police track down the thief who slipped into a school here and made off with not only the burgers, but also eight boxes of oatmeal cookies, 60 bags of potato chips and 288 pretzel sticks.

The culprit was a 13-year-old boy who used the food to hold a barbecue for his friends, police said Monday.

Lt. Brendan Smith said that although the boy's friends ate most of the food, police still were able to salvage some evidence. "They weren't that hungry," he said.

The boy, whose name was withheld because of his age, has been charged with burglary as a juvenile delinquent.

Inmate finds way out

GRATERFORD, Pa. (AP) — Finding a job on the outside was all that stood between prison inmate Richard Smith and parole. So he joined the French Foreign Legion.

For six years, Smith, 32, tried to gain parole from a 4 to 10-year sentence for a stabbing. Each time, it was denied because he had no job waiting. Frustrated, he finally told officials in August he would even be willing to join the French Foreign Legion if it would get him out of jail.

They said OK, and he left for France last week. "I keep thinking of Beau Geste and Tyrone Power," said Montgomery County Judge Vincent Cirillo, who sentenced Smith for the stabbing. "If that's what he wants to do, that's fine."

Power restart delayed

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — The restart of the Sequoyah nuclear power plant probably will be delayed until Thursday due to problems in repairing a leaking water line, the Tennessee Valley Authority says.

The reactor was shut down after the leak was found early Sunday in the water line in the building that houses the reactor. The line carries water to a reactor cooling pump and helps keep seals within the pump at high pressure.

The problem was the second to interrupt electric generating from the newly licensed reactor since it began producing power last Friday.

Between Lone Star Gas, burned woman

Settlement reached in explosion

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for Lone Star Gas Co. and a woman badly burned in a gas explosion at her home last year have refused to disclose details of an out-of-court settlement reached in a $6 million suit.
The blast ripped through Sue Burt's residence on March 19, 1979, almost three months after Lone Star officials said leaks in a gas main in front of her home were "not likely to become a hazard."
Mrs. Burt lost the use of her hands and arms as a result of burns she suffered in the explosion. She said she is no longer able to work and has spent much of the past 18 months since the blast undergoing skin grafts, plastic surgery and physical therapy.
"It's not quite all right with this settlement, but I'm glad it's over," she said Monday after the settlement was reached in state district court here.

The explosion occurred when a firefighter investigating the smell of gas struck a match or a cigarette lighter, an investigator for the Texas Railroad Commission said. Three firefighters were injured in the blast, but none were a part of the settlement.
Company records filed in state district court here show Lone Star officials knew of at least four leaks in a gas main in front of Mrs. Burt's home, but did not consider them to be hazardous.
The explosion tore off the roof of the residence, which was hooked to a private propane gas tank, instead of the Lone Star system.
But two Railroad Commission investigators tied the blast to the faulty main and reported finding no evidence of a propane leak.

For trooper's killer

Police still searching

SLATON, Texas (AP) — Lawmen across Texas today were looking for a Lorenzo man named in a capital murder warrant issued in the shooting death of a young Texas Department of Public Safety trooper here this weekend.
Trooper Jerry Don Davis was found by colleagues slumped over the steering wheel of his patrol car shortly before midnight Sunday.
The 25-year-old officer had been shot once in the head and was clutching a driver's license in his hand, investigators said.
Billy Wayne Alexander Jr., 21, was named in a capital murder arrest warrant issued by Peace Justice Arvin Stafford.
Two witnesses to the shooting were located by other identification found in a car, said a spokesman in the Lubbock County District Attorney's office who asked not to be identified.
The two men were questioned and released on bond as material witnesses, the spokesman said.
A search of a Lubbock residence where Alexander was believed to be living turned up about 30 pounds of suspected marijuana and his checkbook, he said.
DPS Director James Adams lent to Lubbock Monday to coordinate the search.

Davis called his dispatcher by two-way radio late Sunday to say he was stopping a car for speeding on U.S. 84, inside the Slaton city limits.
"That was the last contact," said DPS spokesman Larry Todd in Austin.
The dispatcher sent other officers to the scene when Davis failed to check in after the initial call, Todd said.
The trooper's service revolver still was holstered, Todd said.
The vehicle Davis had stopped a stolen automobile with stolen license plates, was later found abandoned at a deserted farm house, investigators said.
Friends and relatives of Davis, who was single, said he had been obsessed with becoming a highway patrolman, even as a 12-year-old boy.
After working in several Texas cities in various facets of police work, Davis' wish came true. He was commissioned a DPS officer in May 1979 and was assigned to Slaton as a highway patrolman a year later, Todd said.
Funeral services for Davis were slated for 3:30 p.m. in Lubbock today. Law enforcement officers from three states were expected to attend, Todd said.

At Pope John Paul II's first synod

Family issues divide Catholic bishops

VATICAN CITY (AP) — More than 200 Roman Catholic bishops discussing family issues at Pope John Paul II's first synod are divided, with some arguing against a repetition of "the usual formulas" on birth control and other controversial issues and others saying the church "must not be overwhelmed by current opinion."
"There are fathers who have insisted that the usual formulas not be repeated, as if the doctrine had been made for once and for all," Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger of Munich said in a summary of discussions during the first 11 days of the month-long synod. The Vatican released a text of his remarks, delivered at Monday's closed-door meeting.
The other group of bishops believed that "the church must not be overwhelmed by current opinions, as if it were a sociological doctrine, but must prophetically preach the medicine of the Gospel to the ills of the world," Ratzinger said.

"The problem is to reconcile these two tendencies so they complement each other."
The bishops were breaking up into 12 groups, organized according to language, today for more intensive discussions on the role of the family in the modern world.
A spokesman for the American bishops, Archbishop John R. Quinn of San Francisco, called for a dialogue on family planning and the church's ban on contraception, and Cardinal Basil Hume of Britain seconded his proposal.
Others urged the synod to try to agree on ways to allow divorced Catholics to receive the sacraments.

Some African bishops asked for more "compassion" for polygamists in Africa who convert to Christianity, saying church policies had sometimes been too harsh and had misunderstood the centuries-old African custom.
Other bishops strongly reaffirmed the church's opposition to contraception, divorce and polygamy and said no further discussion was necessary.
The chief spokesman for this conservative group is Cardinal Pericle Felici, the Italian prefect of the Vatican's Supreme Tribunal and the head of the church's judicial system.

CRMWD reports Municipal demands for water decline

While September rains were putting water into the Colorado River Municipal Water District lakes, they also were reducing the demand for water to the cities. None complained, however, and least of all the district, for it reported gains of 263,500 acre feet flowing into Lake J.B. Thomas and Lake E.V. Spence during the month.
Municipal demands for September slipped to 1,302,185,000 gallons, a drop of 137,589,000 gallons under the same month in 1979, or down 9.56 percent. The drop from August, when consumption was still near a peak, was 475,000,000 gallons. Municipal use for the year, however, was up by 1,201,830,000 gallons, reaching 11,971,884,000, a gain of 11.16 percent for the year.
Oil repressing demands, supplied almost entirely out of non-potable water, slid slightly in reaching 142,856,000 gallons, a decline of 9.18 percent. Through the first nine months oilfield deliveries aggregated 1,366,020,000 gallons, a decline of 806,559,600, down 37.12 from the same period in 1979.

Total of both the municipal and the oil and industrial deliveries was 13,227,905,000 gallons, a gain of 366,270,000 gallons, or 3.05 percent for the year.
Monday morning most of the runoff into the lakes had ceased, although Lake Spence continued to gain slowly a week after rains stopped. Lake Thomas, at elevation 2233.39 had 65,950 acre feet in storage, or 32.35 percent. Lake Spence, at elevation 1875.15, had 237,250 in storage, or 48.6 percent of capacity.

Auto upkeep can cost you big money

Assuming you have an American-built, standard-size car, are you planning to drive it 100,000 miles or ten years (which ever comes first) before you trade it in on a new runabout?

If so, you can expect to spend $25,000 on it. So says the U.S. Transportation Department.

Gasoline, even at today's prices, will cost you $6,437, that in addition to taxes. Repairs and maintenance will set you back another $4,804.

YOU WILL LIKELY spend $2,445 on insurance — more if you get complete coverage, less if you like to play Russian Roulette and try to get by with little or no insurance at all.

Parking, tolls and garage expenses will tally up to $3,298 in some areas, but not here necessarily. Local motorists, when they drive into the great cities, are reminded how expensive it is to leave their vehicles in parking lots or garages, when here they can leave their cars a block or so away in free parking zones and heel-and-toe it to where they're going.

Over a decade, automotive taxes likely will run the owner $1,597, says the Department of Transportation.

The government agency's study also reveals that depreciation is the greatest single cost of owning and operating a car over a ten-year period. A house, if properly cared for, can only appreciate in value over a decade but a car, something few working people can do without, starts depreciating the moment you drive it off the dealer's lot.

GASOLINE COSTS, the Transportation Department also says, could vary from fuel costs for a subcompact car with comparable mileage by as much as $1,705, although all car manufacturers have become acutely aware that one of the first questions all customers ask is: "How many miles to the gallon will it get?"

How much does it cost to drive a car? The Transportation Department says you can expect to pay 24.6 cents a mile for a standard make car, 18.5 cents a mile for a subcompact and 36.2 cents per mile for a van.

It's advisable not to start up your car's engine until you have to and never leave your engine idling for more than 30 seconds at a time.

God doesn't vote

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — God is really getting a workout during this election year. There was a time when the TV preachers devoted their programs to telling us how angry God was with the way we were behaving in our private lives, which of course is their business.

But now we're being told that God has a vested interest in who we put in public office — and some fundamentalist sects known as the "Moral Majority" are spending loads of money to defeat anybody whose voting record doesn't go along with their interpretation of the Bible.

THEY ARE CALLING for a holy war against those who are for the ERA, abortion, school busing and against the B-1 bomber.

I always thought the nice thing about God was that he stayed out of American politics.

But after watching the TV shows for the past few weeks, I was beginning to wonder.

So when I spoke to God the other night I asked, "Who are you going to vote for this year?"

God seemed very angry. "I never take sides in an American election."

"But there are a lot of people down here who say you want Reagan?"

"That's ridiculous. I hardly know the man, though I have seen his movies."

"But the Bible thumpers keep quoting you all the time. They say you've definitely made your mind up and we better all go along with you or we're headed for damnation."

"With all due respect to these people, they don't know what in the devil they're talking about. I've told them time and time again that I don't give political endorsements. If I did, I wouldn't be God. I have a good mind to sue them for using my name without my permission."

"I don't blame you," I said. "And I for one never believed them when they kept quoting you on the political issues."

"WHAT SCARES ME," God said, "is that these TV ministers are not only telling the American people whom I support but they're raising all their money in my name. They keep warning the viewing audience that if they don't send in their checks, I'm going to be very upset. I don't deal in money — never have and never will. But they're telling those poor souls out there that if they don't come up with a contribution they won't have salvation. I'd appreciate it if you would put the word out that anyone is free to send in any amount of money to a TV minister, but their money isn't buying a place in heaven. It's buying limousines and private airplanes and $500 suits for the people who are making the pitches."

"God, you sound mad."

"I am mad. I'm trying to keep the whole world from blowing up and those preachers down there say my only concern is to defeat George McGovern in South Dakota."

"I wish you could somehow get the message over that you aren't for or against anyone running in our elections this year. It would certainly clear the air for all of us."

"I can't do it. I believe in the separation of church and state. I've stayed out of American politics since 1776 and that's why you people are still around. I'm sorry. I have to go now. I have the Moral Majority on hold."

Teenage breast cancer rare

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I hope this question is important enough to print in the paper. I would like to know if teenage girls ever get breast cancer. If so, what are the statistics? — Worried Teenager

Cancer of the breast is extremely rare in children; in fact, it is very rare in women under 20. It is such a rarity in a young girl that a case of it would be written about in fancy medical magazines. In the few cases of breast cancer that have occurred in young females, the cancers have been very slow-growing ones and breast removal has resulted in cure. Many young girls become frightened when they notice one breast enlarging. It is almost never a reason to consider cancer. Breasts in young females often develop at different rates.

You really put me on the spot when you use the word "ever." When you talk about the human body, you must remember the great diversity and unpredictability of biological happenings. That's why it's so difficult for a doctor to ever say "never." Just about anything is possible. If you have reasonable cause for your fears, be examined. This will ease your mind about breast cancer.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Will you please tell me a little bit about paronychia? I noticed a red place on my cuticle one evening, so I soaked the finger in hot salty water. By next morning, when I could see a doctor, it was full of pus, extremely sore, and I was running a

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know that the Bible talks about Jesus's second coming, but isn't this just really a way of talking about death? I mean, when we die we will see Jesus in Heaven, and therefore there is no need for him to come again to earth. — Mrs. E.M.N.

DEAR MRS. E.M.N.: No, the second coming of Christ is not just another way of talking about death. Virtually every book in the New Testament speaks about the second coming, and it is always presented as something other than our going to be with Christ in Heaven. Jesus said, "If I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself" (John 14:3). The angel who announced the ascension of Jesus into Heaven told the disciples, "This same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven" (Acts 1:11). Paul said believers are to be "looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Savior Jesus Christ" (Titus 2:13).

The second coming of Christ will mark the final stages of God's redemptive plan for this world. This world has been twisted by sin, but when Christ comes again he will recreate and make all things new. "Nevertheless, we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (II Peter 3:13). No, we may not understand now all that God will do when Christ comes again, but some day we will see "a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away" (Revelation 21:1).

Are you ready for the second coming of Christ? The Bible says many will be unprepared, and that Christ will come unexpectedly. Now is the time to repent and "prepare to meet thy God" (Amos 4:12).

fever. The doctor drained it. How could this have happened so suddenly, and what caused it anyway? It really scared me, and I would like to know what to do to prevent it happening again. — D.E.

A paronychia (par-oh-NICK-ee-yuh) is an infection of the skin around a nail. It often results from tearing of a hangnail, which may set up conditions for staph bacteria infection. Your fever reflected the seriousness of your infection. So did the speed with which your infection developed. Most paronychia do not become inflamed so quickly.

Hot soaks often manage the problem, but if the infection is deeper than the topmost layers of skin, then the infected area must be opened and drained. Antibiotics may be required afterward. If the area is not drained, an abscess can form beneath the nail bed.

The fungus, candida, is another cause of paronychia, especially in hands that have been immersed in water for long periods. Antibiotics won't help that. Did your doctor identify an organism?

To avoid any paronychia, it is important to trim all hangnails carefully. If you have to keep your hands in water for long periods, wear rubber gloves. For more information, study the booklet "Solving Your Nail Problems." For a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My question relates to back rubs. My wife gives me a half hour back rub each night before I go to sleep. She uses Johnson's Baby Oil and rubs it in all the way from my neck to the lower buttocks. It feels very good, especially after 15 or 20 minutes. The question: Is it harmful in any way — medically or mentally? For instance, would the body absorb too much of the oil or would it damage the nerves with all that petting, which is so smooth and relaxing? — D.M.

Nothing harmful, medically or mentally. You've made millions of husbands jealous. Does your wife have any unmarried sisters?

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

What a change!

Around the rim

Marie Homeyer

I know that some of you out there were very skeptical at first. But Big Spring High School head football coach Ralph Harris should have made believers out of you by now.

Not only has the team won two games this season, the Steers have developed into a team that can take on any team in the district and give them their money's worth.

Several weeks ago, while on assignment as alias Bill Forshoe in Levelland, I noticed the difference as soon as I walked into the stadium. There were more than just a handful of Big Spring fans on hand to cheer their team to victory. The last two years the only people in the stands were band members, players' parents and school officials. This year they have come out in fashion.

THE DIFFERENCE is in the team. This year they are playing exciting football. When they have possession they acutely accomplish something, not just run three plays and punt the ball.

Their record doesn't do them justice. Although they have lost two games, they have played their hearts out, giving everything they have to beat a team that has them out-manned and out-weighted.

I particularly noticed the difference this past Friday night in the home game against Abilene High School. The contrast was remarkable. Last year, I attended a home game against Abilene Cooper. The stands were almost bare except for a few season ticket holders that looked like they were there out of obligation, not out of desire to cheer their team on to victory.

This past weekend the stands were almost full and the crowd was very enthusiastic. They were yelling almost all the time, they were standing and cheering the team when they scored and when they were down on their luck.

COACH HARRIS and his staff deserve much credit for the way they have instilled a sense of pride into the players, their new-found self-confidence and the desire to give their all for the team. And in the process they have instilled a sense of pride into the Big Spring community.

Residents now do not have to avoid the subject, roll their eyes in hopeless misery or even cut down the coach for not doing his job. Of course, the Steers have a lot more improvements to make. But not all can be accomplished in one short year. But if they improve by next year as much as they have improved this year, look out district 5-SA. The Steers will be in the running.

Coach Harris, his staff and his players have done a commendable job this season. I wish them all the luck in their remaining district games.

WASHINGTON — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, long ballyhooed as the free world's shield against the armed might of the Soviet Union and its satellites, could crumple like a sheet of tinfoil in the event of a conventional war in Europe.

This is the conclusion of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, who weighed the outcome of a prospective conflict with the communists in their current top-secret military posture statement. Their estimates are couched in the patois of the Pentagon. But when translated, they spell danger.

THE SOVIETS AND their Warsaw Pact allies might "not achieve a quick victory" in a non-nuclear war, says the posture statement. But "NATO cannot be entirely confident that it could defend successfully against a major conventional attack without resort to nuclear weapons."

The most likely battlefield for a NATO-Warsaw Pact confrontation is in what the brass hats call the "Central Region" — through West Germany. This region is "critical," according to the Joint Chiefs, "for it includes the areas traditionally used as invasion routes across Europe." And it is here that the Western allies would enjoy the greatest advantage because "the disparity between NATO and Warsaw Pact ground manpower is not great."

But there is a catch: The communist forces would be combat-ready a full two weeks before NATO's units and thus could "deploy considerably greater combat forces in the Central Region, outnumbering their NATO counterparts in armored division equivalents by a ratio roughly between 1.5 to 1 and 2 to 1."

And there are some other disadvantages: "The Warsaw Pact enjoys a 3 to 1 advantage in tanks, a 2 to 1 advantage in armored personnel carriers and a 3 to 1 advantage in artillery tubes in the Central Region. Reinforcement, assuming both sides reinforce rapidly and more or less simultaneously, improves the situation for NATO only slightly. Indeed, the balance could worsen for NATO if decisions to mobilize and reinforce are not taken quickly."

THE CLASSIFIED POSTURE statement maintains that NATO forces "might be successful" if combat is restricted to a front where the "defender can take advantage of prepared positions." Overall, however, NATO's defenses are "vulnerable to breakthroughs" and the organization "has inadequate forces available for reinforcements or to provide a mobile reserve."

All of that is a "best-case" scenario; it assumes that communist forces would invade precisely where NATO is strongest. What if the Russians and their friends chose not to be so cooperative? According to the Joint Chiefs:

"Defense of the Northern Region is hampered by limited in-place forces and consequently depends heavily on Reserve mobilization, timely external reinforcement and adequate repositioning of equipment and supplies."

"The Southern Region suffers from its geographic separation from the rest of Allied Command Europe, poor air defenses, and lack of sustainability of the regional forces there."

A number of additional problems worry the Joint Chiefs. Supply levels "for some NATO nations are insufficient to provide for more than a few days of intensive combat." And the Western allies are vulnerable to surprise attack from the communists, who are capable of concealing their intentions very well.

Footnote: Confidential military sources told my associate Dale Van Atta that, grim as it is, the posture statement is the most optimistic assessment that could be made of NATO strength.

POLITICAL BUSES? In the final days of the fiscal year — which ended Sept. 30 — the Carter administration assigned express-lane priority to the distribution of millions of dollars in federal funds for bus transportation in such key election states as California, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

In an 11-month period prior to August, the Department of Transportation ladled out less than half of a budgeted $830 million to help communities buy new buses and modernize their garage and repair facilities.

Suddenly, in September, there was a suspicious spurt in the government largesse. By the close of the fiscal year, the Transportation Department had committed virtually every penny of its bus fund.

A few weeks ago, for example, an Orange County, Calif., application for funds to purchase 105 buses was suddenly approved. An application by Sacramento, Calif., officials for money to buy 40 buses had been pending for over a year; it was also abruptly ratified.

Detroit and Pittsburgh were also cleared for bus funds in the last weeks of September.

HOSTAGE RELIEF: For the three years that Peace Corps volunteer Richard Starr was held captive by rebels in the jungles of Colombia, South America, the U.S. government steadfastly refused to pay a ransom to gain his release. It arranged a loan for the $250,000 requested by his captors and dispatched one of my associates to pay off the kidnapers and bring Starr home.

Now Congress is coming to the conclusion that the government does owe something to Starr. As part of a special Hostage Relief Bill — which would provide benefits to the Iranian hostages and their families — the lawmakers have stipulated that Starr also receive tax, health and education benefits. The bill has now been passed by the House and the Senate.

WATCH ON WASTE: Since 1970, the Federal Aviation Administration has given away 60,000 acres of public land and $25 million of public funds — ostensibly for the construction and expansion of public airports. But the airport managers have allowed the taxpayers' property to be used for such things as dog pounds, golf courses, animal clinics, sewage lagoons and industrial park complexes. Under the law, the FAA bureaucrats could take the land back; but they have chosen, for the most part, to ignore the problem.

Vincent Baptist Church is setting for wedding

The Vincent Baptist Church was the setting for the Oct. 1 wedding of Virginia Rose LaRue and Gary Dean Gordon.

The couple exchanged vows and rings before an altar centered with a candelabra enhanced by pastel flowers and flanked by spiral candelabras. Rev. Richard Dickerson, pastor of New Hope Baptist Church and the bride's uncle, officiated the rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac LaRue, Vincent. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gordon Jr., Lubbock.

Wedding selections were sung by Laroy Shaffer accompanied by Libby Anderson, organist.

The bride was escorted down the aisle wearing a floor-length white organza gown styled with an empire bodice with high rounded neckline and long sleeves featuring Cameo lace insets sprinkled with seed pearls.

The chapel-length mantilla veil of illusion was edged in matching lace. A cascading bouquet of yellow roses, baby's breath and miniature carnations atop a lace-covered Bible completed the bridal ensemble.

Rhonda Barnett attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Connie Brooks, Seminole, cousin of the bride; Allison Watts, Lubbock and Kathy Bryant, Ricky Gordon attended his brother as best man.

Groomsman were Harold Clayton, Bobby LaRue, brother of the bride and Jay Pruitt, brother-in-law of the groom. Charles LaRue, brother of the bride and Jay Brooks, cousin of the bride, seated the guests.

Candlelighters were Allison Redding and Robert

Dickerson, Cleburne, cousin of the bride. Della Dickerson, Cleburne, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. Stacy Perry, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table, covered with a floor-length white lace cloth, was centered with a pastel floral arrangement and featured a fountain wedding cake. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Guests were registered by Nancy Dickerson, the bride's aunt. Julie Redding, Nancy Dickerson and Gail Perry, cousin of the bride and Debbie Hodges served at the bride's table.

The groom's table was covered with a floor-length brown linen cloth, centered with a chocolate cake decorated with chocolate roses and silver candleholders. Vicki Pruitt, Lubbock, sister of the groom, served at his table.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and is employed at Rip Griffin Truck Service Center.

The groom is a graduate of Lubbock Monterey High School and is an employee of Dawson Geophysical.

Following a wedding trip to Cloudford, N.M., Mr. and Mrs. Gordon will be at home in Big Spring.

Dear Abby

Lovers' Opening Night Gets Mixed Reviews

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother of a 17-year-old girl who would rent a motel room for her daughter and the girl's boyfriend so they could have a lovely "first night" experience together?

The boy is my son, also 17. (I will call him John.) John and this girl (I'll call her Jane) are both in high school. They became madly infatuated in just two weeks' time during the summer. Jane told her mother of her desire to go all the way with John, so the mother had a long talk with them, and the three of them planned this all-night session for the two young lovers.

When John told me of these plans, I couldn't believe it, so I phoned Jane's mother and she admitted she had made all the arrangements. She said she liked John and wanted her daughter to be comfortable for her first sexual experience. Can you believe this, Abby?

I told John that I was very disappointed that he was allowing Jane's mother to run interference for him. We then discussed the various methods of birth control and the seriousness of his commitment to this girl. He said he was not "in love" with her — it was just a summer romance.

When John left for this date I told him I wanted him home at a reasonable hour. Well, he stayed out all night, and needless to say there has been a great deal of tenseness between us ever since.

I'd appreciate your comments. And have you heard of this before?

SHOCKED IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR SHOCKED: No, this is a first. However, what's done is done, and perpetuating the tenseness for something your son did with your permission makes no sense to me. As I understand it, you approved of his having sex with the girl, but demanded that he come home "at a reasonable hour."

It's commendable that your son was open and honest with you and that you were able to discuss methods of birth control with him, but he is a minor and so is the girl, and as a responsible parent you should have urged self-control.

Jane's mother deserves high marks for having built an open and honest relationship with her daughter, but as a responsible parent she should not have condoned and arranged for this weddingless wedding night.

WELCOMES PRESIDENT — Opal Johnson, right, state president of American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., was welcomed recently by local chapter historian Kathryn Thomas. Mrs. Johnson, who resides in Houston, was in Big Spring for her official visit.

Gold Star Mothers welcome president

Members of Big Spring's Gold Star Mothers organization welcomed State President Opal Johnson on her official visit recently at the home of Mrs. Della Nobles, chapter president. Approximately 20 people, including members and guests, were treated to a luncheon in recognition of the president's visit.

Mrs. Johnson, a retired nurse, has been active in the organization for the past three years. Her son, Robert Johnson, was killed in 1967 in the Vietnam War.

Mrs. Johnson is a resident of Houston where the Robert Johnson Memorial School is located. The institute was established in memory of her late son.

The president's official term will end in April, at which time the state convention will be held in her hometown.

Cub Scouts earn badges

Garden City Cub Scout Pack No. 113 held their Bobcat ceremony Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Scout Hut.

Cub Scouts earning their Bobcat badges were Cody Hare, Hari Bahmige, Jim Pearce, Joey Lister, Jeff Skelton, Greg Huffman and John Esparza.

The awards were presented by Lanny Skelton, cub master. Susan Skelton is the den leader and Linda Huffman, the assistant den leader.

Travis Pate, president of the Garden City Lions Club, the sponsoring organization, was a special guest.

The seven requirements for earning the Bobcat badges were to know the Cub Scout Promise, the salute, the handshake, the laws of the pack, Cub Scout Motto, what the word Webelos means and the Cub Scout sign.

Refreshments were served to cubs and their parents following the ceremony.

Volunteers study foreign language

The opportunity to learn a foreign language challenged the Malone-Hogan Hospital Volunteers at the general meeting Sept. 30 in the classroom of the hospital.

Carla Warrington, Communications Specialist with the Southwest College Institute for the Deaf, traced the history of the school, located at the former Webb Air Force Base. There are only two other schools for the deaf in the nation.

It is projected 44,000 deaf students will need such facilities in the near future because of the Rubella epidemic in the 1960's. Ninety percent of Rubella babies have some hearing loss.

"We are starting to see Rubella again because of lack of immunization. Prevention is so important!" said Mrs. Warrington.

The State of Texas is a forerunner in working with the handicapped child because of Public Law 1914 which guarantees equal education to the handicapped.

Training of deaf children should be started when they are babies.

"Most of what hearing people learn, they learn through hearing. Deaf people have to work very hard to learn because of their disability," she said.

Mrs. Warrington, who has a Bachelor's degree in Deaf Education and a Masters' degree in Special Education, is one of ten employees in the Communications Division of SWCID. The Division offers support systems for the students such as interpreting telephone calls and taking notes in class; audiological and speech therapy services.

The specialist taught the volunteers the manual alphabet, including spelling words, and distributed copies of the alphabet.

In keeping with their philosophy of community service, the volunteers will participate in the sign language courses scheduled by the hospital in the near future, to enable them to communicate with deaf

Women's roles are reviewed

The Altrusa Club of Big Spring held its Sept. 25 meeting at the Holiday Inn. Doris Guv, president, presided.

The program was given by Sara Beth Reid on "A Woman's Ways," depicting her roles as wife, mother, homemaker and bread earner. She stated that more responsibility now falls on a woman.

"We continue to grow and learn everyday even when we are not in school," she revealed. "The need for women to help earn the living continues to increase, but we also belong in the home building our families."

Mrs. Reid read an article concerning an 86-year-old lady who has been running the Nocona Boot Factory. She started in the business at the age of 12 and designed her first pair of boots at the age of 14.

Her philosophy is, "It's not what you know, it's what you do with it."

Altrusa member Ruby Billings celebrated her 87th birthday Sept. 26.

Bonnie Bennett reported on the "Womanless Wedding." She said that the men would be ready in approximately six weeks and no admission would be charged.

Donations will be taken at the door.

A scholarship application will be presented at the Oct. 9 meeting by Mollie Smith at the Holiday Inn Patio Room beginning at noon.

TWEEN 12 and 20

They love 'em and leave 'em

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

By ROBERT WALLACE, Ed. D.
Copley News Service

Dr. Wallace: I really related to the girl in Columbus, Ohio, who fell in love with a "carny." Last May, the carnival came to town and my best girlfriend and I fell in love with a couple of "carnies." The last day the carnival was in town, this girlfriend and I skipped school and ran away with them. We got caught two days later and when we did, the carnies only laughed and said, "Good luck, girls." Now I know they only wanted us for our bodies. So girls, if you have any notion of falling in love with a carry, please remember my little story. — Connie, Porterville, Calif.

Connie: Carnies have been known to "love 'em and leave 'em." The carnival is a fun place to go to with a boyfriend but not to look for one.

Dr. Wallace: My problem is my divorced sister. I mow her lawn because she cannot do it and she can't afford a gardener. We came to an agreement on the price she is going to pay me, but she always tells me that she feel embarrassed because the pay is so low.

But when I finish the job she always pays me less than we agreed upon or she doesn't pay me at all.

Actually, I wouldn't cut her lawn at all, but my parents make me because they feel sorry for her. Please help. — Gary, Astoria, Oregon.

Gary: Next time ask her to pay you before you start your work. If that doesn't work, be satisfied with any money that you get because it looks as though you would have to cut her grass for no pay if your sister wanted it that way.

Look at it this way. You are helping your sister and at the same time you are getting some of the best exercise available.

P.S. I wouldn't be giving you this advice if the person involved wasn't your divorced sister.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miamians arm against crime

MIAMI (AP) — From riot-scarred Liberty City to the posh islands in Biscayne Bay, people are learning how to shoot.

Shopkeepers are gunning down thieves. Homeowners are barring windows. Residents are packing up and moving out.

The "Magic City," long a center for tourism and international commerce, has become a city of fear. And its new, frightening reputation is spreading.

"I've always been proud to say I'm from Miami, but you go to other parts of the country now and tell them you're from Miami and you get a look like, 'Gee, I'm sorry,'" said one northwest Miami woman.

The mood in Miami is violent and authorities blame several things: racial tensions worsened by May's riots, the influx of thousands of Cubans from the "Freedom Flotilla"; the bloody "Cocaine Cowboy" drug wars, and the feeling that law and order are breaking down.

"We can expect continued violence," says Dr. Arnold Lieber, a Miami psychiatrist who says Dade County's population is emotionally overburdened. "Last year, the city was depressed. At this point, the general population is no longer merely depressed, it's desperate."

"It's no big mystery that there is a lot of stress in this city. ... There is a great deal of change going on," he said. "People feel helpless and powerless and tend to fly off the handle."

An all too graphic example of such stress was provided recently. Lydia Morales paid with her life for a traffic accident police said "wasn't even a fender bender." She was killed by the furious driver of the second car, who also critically wounded her husband. The man is still at large.

Miami's list of such dangers grows longer every day. Last week, police in Fort Lauderdale, just 20 miles to the north, advised motorists to keep their windows rolled up, responding to several incidents where fleet thieves dashed up to cars at stoplights and ripped jewelry from drivers' necks.

"People are going back to Wild West days," said police Homicide Sgt. Mike Gonzalez.

In 1979, when the national murder rate was 10 deaths per 100,000, Dade County's was 20 per 100,000. This year, the county's rate is running at 31.4 deaths per 100,000 people, already 70 percent higher than last year's, say authorities. So far, more than 400 people have been killed compared to 360 during all of last year.

"Most of the people getting killed are criminals and mostly they've killed each other — that's one of the nice things about criminals," said Dr. Ronald Wright, associate county medical examiner.

But enough innocent people have died to prompt hundreds of Dade residents to flee northward to "safer" counties.

"It's a mess down there," said a woman who moved from Miami to Osceola County in central Florida. "It's too full of tension. I have a little boy I want to raise in a decent atmosphere."

"My kids couldn't take lunch money to school because it would get stolen," said a Miami man heading for Asheville, N.C. "My wife was scared to death."

"I had a ridiculous phone call this morning," said Ed Catzin, who runs a Ryder truck rental agency in Dade County. "This woman called me up and said she wanted to leave. She didn't know where she wanted to go, she just wanted to get out of Dade."

Real estate researcher Kenneth Kreizinger of Fort Lauderdale said extensive population movement is evident in southeastern Florida.

State Fair prices continue yearly rise

DALLAS (AP) — It costs 50 cents more to get into the State Fair of Texas this year. And the buck doesn't stop there.

With inflation acting like a rollercoaster that can only go straight up, fair prices are, well, fairly-padded.

To pass through the State Fair gates costs an adult $3, compared to $2.50 last year and $2 in 1978. Children aged 5 to 12 get in for 100 pennies.

In 1898, it was only two bits for anybody over 12 years of age "whether in carriage, on horse or foot."

Then fork over $2 for official State Fair parking.

The increased prices of the fare at the fair may be hard to digest too. With a nickel more here and a dime addition there, lunch on a budget goes begging.

Wholesale meats prices are up 18 percent this year, fair officials say, and hence the slightly-upped food costs. Hamburgers jumped a quarter to $1.50 and corny dogs increased from 80 cents to 90.

If you take a cotton to cotton candy, expect to pay 80 cents, 20 cents more than 1979. And the traditional ear of corn costs an untraditional dime more at 90 cents.

A typical fast-food meal for two parents and two children — four hamburgers, four fries and four small drinks — runs $11, a price that may be hard for some families to swallow.

Admission into the fair gates is just that — admission. Cash or coupons are required for entrance to rides and other attractions.

Rides cost from 60 cents to $1.50 each, or coupons can be purchased in books of 18 for $5 and 40 for $10.

A try at the brass ring on the merry-go-round costs three coupons or 90 cents — the same amount buys you a peek at "Little Ricky Donovan," billed as the world's smallest man. In what may be sexist price-setting, fairgoers can see the world's smallest woman for small potatoes, two coupons or 60 cents.

One merchant, who travels from fair to fair hawking her wares, sells huge hats for $15, $20 if you buy two. She calls fairs her "business." And business here at the world's largest state fair is good, she said.

Despite the extra pinch to the pocketbook, fairgoers interviewed during the opening days didn't seem to be complaining much.

Supreme Court denies appeal of Philadelphian

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court on Monday turned down the appeal of a Philadelphia area resident who claims the Air Force has made it difficult for him to find jobs by coding his discharge paper with damaging information.

The court gave no reason for refusing to hear the suit, believed to be the first of its kind. It was filed with the court in June by Edwin Crosby, formerly of Concordville who now lives in Syracuse, N.Y., and was listed among the hundreds of other cases denied reviews on the opening day of the court's fall term.

Crosby had hoped the Supreme Court would overturn lower court rulings that upheld the Air Force's long practice of coding discharge papers with numbers summarizing their reasons for discharge.

The numbers — known as separation designation numbers, or SDNs — have been used by all branches of the military since 1950, when much of its personnel information was computerized. Many of the SDNs describe personal problems, and Crosby charged that his right to due process was violated because he was never told what his number, 265, meant.

According to papers filed in his suit, employers with government connections were able to learn that Crosby's number meant "character and behavior disorders," and may have turned him down for a job because of it. Crosby, a mechanic with the Air Force in the late sixties and early seventies, has held mostly menial jobs since his discharge in 1971.

Though the suit mentioned only Crosby, he has argued that thousands of veterans may have been unknowingly stigmatized by the coding system, still used internally by the military.

Crosby contended not only that the number wrongly described his reason for discharge in 1971, but that he had no opportunity to correct it. Crosby was discharged after refusing a second tour of duty in Vietnam and, according to court papers, Air Force officials told Crosby they were releasing him because of apathy. This, Crosby argued, should have earned him the SDN number 46A, which means "apathy and defective attitude."

Instead, Crosby's discharge paper was stamped with the SDN 285, a broader classification that Crosby complained was more damaging. Yet he could not contest the number, he said, because he was never told the meaning of his SDN.

"Such information was not brought to petitioner's attention at the time of discharge nor did petitioner ever have a meaningful opportunity to discover the significances of this coded information until years later (1975), after he'd gone about utilizing the DD Form 214 (discharge paper) in seeking post-service employment," the suit states.

Forgery rap hits woman

Ginger Ann Randolph, 3216 Auburn, is under arrest on a Howard County Grand Jury indictment for forgery by check.

She was arrested by Howard County Sheriff's Deputy Raymond Hall at the courthouse Monday. Ms. Randolph is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond set by the grand jury.

Ms. Randolph, also known as Ginger Good, allegedly attempted to pass to Pat Schrumms on June 1, a $302 hot check against a National Cash Register account in the Union Bank located in Oklahoma City, Okla. The check was purported to be a payment for expenses.

Stops Dodgers for NL West title

Astros survive

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ken Forsch, soaked in champagne, predicted his Houston Astros would beat the Philadelphia Phillies in the National League playoffs — yet he was so excited he couldn't predict what he would do.

Forsch, 12-13 on the season, must face Philadelphia ace Steve Carlton tonight in the opener of the best-three-of-five series for the title.

"I'm so excited about our beating Los Angeles that I haven't even thought about the next game," said Forsch. "I'll think about it on the plane trip to Philadelphia."

He doesn't think the West's single game playoff after a deadlocked finish would hurt the Astros, explaining, "We might have arrived in Philly and got all nervous waiting for the game."

Houston finally, after 19 years, won its division with a convincing 7-1 victory over the Dodgers, who had beaten the Astros three straight to knot the regular season at 92-70 and force the single game playoff on Monday afternoon.

"I've been waiting for this 14 years," declared an equally champagne-soaked Joe Niekro, who pitched the victory and allowed only six hits.

"I started out with my knuckler, went to the fast ball and then back to the knuckler."

He befuddled the Dodgers, who had won the past three games with home runs but didn't get a ball to the fence this time.

Niekro's teammates had jumped on Dodger starter Dave Goltz for four runs in the first three innings and added three in the fourth. Four were driven in by first baseman Art Howe, who hit a two-run homer in the third and a two-run single in the fourth after Rick Sutcliffe had relieved Goltz.

The Dodgers never could fathom Niekro, who notched his 20th victory of the season, and even the fans became frustrated.

In the last of the fourth, as the Dodgers scored their only run, debris was hurled onto the field. When a roll of toilet tissue was hurled out of the left field bleachers, home plate umpire Doug Harvey sent the Astros to their dugout and halted play.

The suspension lasted only

As BSHS visits San Angelo in volleyball

First half title on line tonight

SAN ANGELO — Two teams with chances at the first half District 5-AAAAA volleyball square off tonight at 7:00 p.m. in the final round of competition when the San Angelo Bobcats play host to the Big Spring Steers.

San Angelo, the defending

5-AAAAA champion, enters the contest with a 5-1 mark, and is tied with Abilene Cooper for the first half lead. Big Spring, meanwhile, is one game back from the co-leaders with a district mark of 4-2.

A Big Spring win could possibly throw the race into a three-way tie, but only if Cooper loses its first half finale to Abilene High.

That is highly unlikely, however, as Abilene is 0-6 in the first half.

Permian slams Steer netters

State ranked Odessa Permian totally dominated the Big Spring tennis team over the weekend in a two-team tournament, with Big Spring's Kip McLaughlin the lone BSHS netter to pick up a point. Final score was Permian 7, Big Spring 1.

McLaughlin, who increased his record to 6-1 for the season, defeated Permian's Casey Porter 6-1, 6-1.

Big Spring returns to action on Thursday afternoon, at which time they play host to Midland High. The Steer netters then venture to Andrews on Friday and Saturday for a tourney there.

Goliad girls win trophy

DENVER CITY — One of the girls volleyball teams at Goliad JHS came away with the consolation championship in the Denver City Tournament here the past weekend.

The Goliad girls started off things by taking an 18-20, 4-15 loss to Brownfield, but bounced back to defeat host Denver City 15-6, 15-5 to advance into the consolation finals.

The Big Spring fems defeated Plains for the consolation trophy, taking a 15-12, 15-6 triumph.

Coach Linda Jones was generous in her praise of the Goliad team. Those drawing mention for their serving were Tammy Green, Lisa Phillips and Monique Jones, while excellent court coverage was exhibited by Keri Myrick, Lana Fletcher and Elizabeth Hernandez.

Jones felt a key to the trophy won at the tourney was in the play of people coming off the bench. Included for their performance in that department were Suzanne Bowers, Millie Correa, Clara Hamilton, Denisa Brown, Joy Tate and Michelle Padron.

Cowboys win Little Football tilt

The Caldwell Electric Cowboys took a 28-6 win over the Pepsi Spirits in Little Football League (3rd and 4th grade) action Saturday afternoon.

Carlton Clark scored on a 58-yard run and Dennis Hartfield on a 49-yard scoring jaunt to highlight the Cowboys win.

The Cowboys are now 1-0 for the year, while the Spirits are 0-1-1.

GET BACK... Big Spring running back Bobby Earl Williams (35) gives the finishing touches on a stiff arm to Abilene defensive end Kevin Kinder (67) during fourth quarter action of the Steers exciting 28-21 loss to the War Birds. Williams and the Steers served notice to other 5-AAAAA teams that they will no longer roll over and play dead, in the win, as the youthful team played the 26-point favorite Abilene team on even terms. Williams, a 185-pound junior, was impressive in rushing for 163 yards on 12 carries.

Permian sweeps cross-country

Odessa Permian swept both the varsity and junior varsity competition in a cross-country meet held this weekend.

Big Spring finished fourth in the varsity competition and second in the JV action. Five 5-AAAAA teams were represented in the meet, including Big Spring, Permian, Midland, Midland Lee and Abilene Cooper.

Big Spring Coach Randy Britton described the varsity performance as "adequate, but nothing to shout about," but was very pleased with the performance by JV runner James Hodges.

Hodges ran his fastest time ever in finishing second.

Big Spring will host a cross-country meet for the District 5-AAAAA schools here Saturday morning at 10:00 a.m. at the Comanche Trail Park.

In win over Seagraves Stanton ends frustration

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

The years of football frustration for the Stanton Buffaloes in regard to powerful Seagraves are finally over, and Buff Head Coach Steve Park used only three words in summing his team's 27-21 win Friday night.

"It was great!"

Great it was, as the Seagraves team is the one main reason that the always tough Stanton team has been kept out of the state football playoffs in recent years.

In fact, it's been so long since Stanton has beaten Seagraves that Park couldn't really say when, for sure. "Some fans told me the last time we beat them was back in '67 or '68," Park said Saturday morning from his office. "All I can say is that it's been a long time."

The win definitely puts the Stanton team in the driver's seat in the District 5-AA race, even though the contest was only the first one of the league schedule. Seagraves, you see, has dominated the district throne room in the 70s.

The win, which is the fifth without a loss for Stanton this season, is another mark of a team that has fought back from early adversity.

In their season opening upset win of highly regarded Tahoka, returning All-South Plains quarterback Craig Eiland was injured. Originally called a muscle tear in his calf, it was later diagnosed as a broken tibia.

Eiland, who still suits up and handles the Stanton place kicking chores, is expected to be back in full motion before long, but he will probably have a hard time winning his job back from the speedy Curtis Williams.

Williams, a fleet 140-pounder, has given the Stanton team a running dimension that creates havoc on enemy defenses, and with that threat the aerial lanes are beginning to open up, as Seagraves surely found out the hard way.

He connected for three scoring passes against Seagraves, with the first coming on Stanton's initial play from scrimmage offensively.

"We've been running the same play on the first play of the game every week now off the six hole," Park related. "So this week we faked the play and Curtis found (David) McReynolds open for a touchdown."

Park praised his successfully converted quarterback, but didn't stop there.

"Curtis did a heckuva job," Park stated, "but it was a total team effort. The kids got out and played just a heckuva game."

There were numerous stars for Stanton, too many for any single mention for outstanding play. But Park did note some that exemplified the Stanton win.

"Our left guard, George Lewis, stayed up all Thursday night with the flu," Park explained. "He was still pretty sick at game time, but got out there did a great job. And Greg Douglass, who plays both ways, lost a lot of weight in the game. After the game, there wasn't a dry spot on him."

"We had a lot of kids hurting both before and during the game," Park continued, "but they sucked it up and got after it."

But there still remains five more District 5-AA games on the Stanton slate, and Park realizes that although the win over mighty Seagraves was a gigantic one, there is still a long road to be travelled toward the league title.

"They'll all be tough," said Park. "Plains and Morton will be tough, and everyone else has the ability to beat us. We've got to forget about last night and get ready for everybody."

significance attached to that particular number.

"Oklahoma was ranked No.5 when Stanford beat them," the Bruin coach reminds you of the shocker two weeks ago. "And we're No.5 now. Do you think there's a parallel there? I hope not."

UCLA plays Stanford this weekend in Los Angeles in what Donahue sees as a true measure of UCLA's 1980 season.

"Up to this point, I'd say this was the strongest team we've had here at UCLA," says Donahue. "But we'll know for sure after the Stanford game. Stanford is capable of beating any team in the country."

Although Donahue feels that Stanford's offensive line is "vastly superior to Ohio State's," the 17-0 shutout of the Buckeyes in Columbus will long be considered by many to be the highlight of UCLA's 1980 season. The fourth straight victory by UCLA kicked them up six spots in the polls, from 11th to fifth. Ohio State, meanwhile, skidded from second to No.9.

Ironically, the UCLA victory not only helped the Bruins but also gave a lift to their fierce cross-town rival, Southern Cal. The Trojans moved up from No.4 to No.2 after a 23-21 decision over Arizona State.

There was a new No.3 team, too, after Nebraska was upset 18-14 by Florida State. Texas took over that position, moving up two spots in the wake of a 41-28 triumph over Rice. Nebraska, meanwhile, plunged to 10th.

Alabama, meanwhile, was a near-unanimous choice for No.1 after a 45-0 rout of Kentucky that gave Bear Bryant his 300th coaching triumph. The Crimson Tide received 60 of the 63 first-place votes from the national panel of sports writers and sportscasters for a total of 1,252 points.

Southern Cal, with 1,227 points, had one of the other votes for first place along with No. 4 Pittsburgh and UCLA.

single him to third.

Morgan struck out before Jose Cruz hit to Mickey Hatcher at third for a throw to home in plenty of time to get the runner. Only catcher Joe Ferguson emulated a grounded whale and dropped the ball, allowing the run to score. Cedeno's sacrifice fly brought in the second tally as both runs in the inning were unearned.

Outfielder Rick Monday of the Dodgers said he was proud to have been a member of a team "held together with tape, band aids and wraps."

"This band-aid brigade never gave up," he said in reference to the comeback by the injury-riddled club. "We came back here (Los Angeles) trailing by three and talking about winning it. People looked at us like we were crazy. We came close."

KNOW YOUR CARRIER

Timmy Allen

Thirteen year old Timmy Allen has been a Herald carrier since August. It's a job in which Timmy has full control of the business. He has the responsibility of delivering the Herald, collecting for it, paying the Herald for the papers, keeping financial records and making a profit. A bit of selling of new customers is also a part of Timmy's route business.

He is the son of Robert and Oleta Allen of 504 Circle. His neighborhood is his delivery area, making his route convenient. He manages Herald route 157, a route that encompasses homes on 100-500 Circle, 600-700 Birdwell, and the 1500-1600 blocks of E. 5th, E. 6th, Sunset and Vines. The profits he makes off this route are being saved for a ten-speed bike.

Timmy is a seventh grader at Galiaud where he participates in the school band. In some of his spare time he enjoys building models.

If you are interested in learning and earning through a Herald route, call 263-7331 or stop by the Herald Circulation Department at 710 Scurry for a route application.
