THEN — Estella Ward was a dispatcher with the Big Spring Police Department in 1976.

She's now a trooper

Persistence pays off

By JAMES WERRELL

Even rigged out in regulation black boots, ammo belt and .357 magnum Colt Trooper, Estella Ward still weighs only 120 pounds.

Ms. Ward, one of only two women State Troopers working patrol in Texas, finds this ironic.

"I tried to get into the DPS (Department of Public Safety) in 1979, but I was 10 pounds overweight," she said. "It took me a year to get up to 128 pounds, and then they worked it all off of me during training. Now I only weigh 120 with my gear and everything."

No matter what the scales say, however, she is a bona fide State Trooper, stationed in Odessa. Fulfilling that ambition included a few dashed hopes and a gruelling 18 weeks of training at the DPS Academy in Austin during the hottest months of the summer.

Ms. Ward, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pioquinto Diaz, 111 N.E. 8th, has "always wanted to be in law enforcement." With that in mind, she took a job fresh out of Howard College, as a dispatcher for the Big Spring Police Department, hoping to someday join the ranks as a patrol officer.

This was not to be. While an employee of the department, she met and married Detective C.P. Ward. She didn't know it then, but, upon applying to become a cop, learned that the department will not hire both members of a married couple.

Down but not out, she applied in 1979 to join the DPS, came up to 128 pounds, and applied again this year. After submitting to a written test, an agility test and an oral interview, her moment finally arrived.

"During the oral interview, they asked me things like how I would feel about working the different shifts, and whether, being a woman, the other Troopers' language would bother me," said Ms. Ward. "I reminded them that I had worked for the police department, and I was aware that law enforcement officers sometimes use colorful language," she added, laughing.

She entered the Austin training session in June with seven other women and 106 men. Two of the women dropped out during the first week, and only 86 of the 114 who started the course finished it.

"Every day began for us at 6:30 in the morning with a few miles of running, situps, pushups, pullups; it was rough," she said. "The DPS quarter-mile had two six-foot walls we had to jump over. That's eight walls to jump every mile."

In addition, she received hours of firearms training with the Colt Trooper, shotguns and a 30-30 Winchester rifle. There were also hundreds of hours spent pouring over the penal code, traffic laws and texts on subjects such as hostage negotiations, in preparation for a weekly Friday-night test.

"We had to learn to change a tire in less than 15 minutes. That was easy. We also had to drag a 175-pound mannequin for a certain distance. The only trouble I had with that was when I set the mannequin down on my toe," she said.

The way Trooper Ward looks at it, she "belonged to the DPS from 10:30 Sunday night until they let us go on Friday." Every Friday, Ms. Ward made a mad dash for Big Spring; six hours, 300 miles. That also meant a return trip to Austin on Sunday.

"I used to groan every time I saw the Austin city limits sign," she said.

Of the six women who graduated from the course, four have taken jobs with driver's license bureaus in the Houston area. One other opted for patrol work in Baytown near Houston. She and Trooper Ward will be the only women DPS Officers doing that kind of work in the state of Texas.

Ms. Ward will work with a partner on the road for the next six months to a year before going it alone. Has it been hard work so far?

"It's pretty hard, but the only thing I'm tired of is being mistaken for a man," she answered. "And having to dress in my little khakis all day long," she added with a grin.

AND NOW — She has finally realized her dream of a career in law enforcement, and serves as the first woman State Trooper patrolling highways in West Texas.

Enemies make counter-claims

Hostage decision near?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq claimed it broke the back of Iranian resistance in fierce battles around Abadan and Khorramshahr on Saturday, but Iran said defenders of its vital oil cities were engaged in hand-to-hand fighting to break an Iraqi siege.

In New York, Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai of Iran told a news conference that Iran believed the United States already had apologized for its support of the deposed shah and that a decision on the 52 American hostages held in Iran since Nov. 4 is "not far away."

Rajai said the Iranian Parliament would decide the fate of the hostages soon. Asked about Iran's condition that America apologize, Rajai said that from what Iran had heard, "for us it seems that this decision in practice already has been conveyed. All it needs is for something to be set on paper."

In Washington, there was no immediate official reaction to Rajai's remarks, but one official said the comments sounded more conciliatory than recent Iranian statements.

At the major war front on the Shatt al-Arab waterway, Iraq said it had crushed "desperate attempts" by Iran to break the siege of the oil refining city of Abadan and the oil port of Khorramshahr, 10 miles away.

Iraq claimed 70 Iranian troops were killed in the fighting and 17 taken prisoner. It said 26 Iraqis were killed and that "remnants of the racist enemy forces have been breaking up on all fronts."

Iran reported an early morning lull in the fighting at Khorramshahr, but a noon broadcast by Tehran Radio said hand-to-hand combat was raging and "bombs and rockets are raining on the city."

Iranian communiques insisted, however, that Iranian forces had recaptured the main supply highways to the two beleaguered cities and managed to keep the roads open.

Tehran Radio said Iraq was hitting Abadan with mortar fire and using "cluster missiles" in attacks on Abadan and Khorramshahr. The broadcast said "defenders of the Islamic revolution are determined to turn the outlying areas (of Abadan) into a graveyard for Iraqi forces."

Baghdad Radio said a merchant ship flying the Panamanian flag sank in the Shatt al-Arab Saturday after being hit by Iranian fire. No other details were given.

President Saddam Hussein of Iraq in a radio message to his countrymen praised the performance of Iraqi forces, adding: "I beseech Allah to give us together the power in this struggle to win the final victory against those Persian racist usurpers who have distorted Islam."

The remarks referred to the fact that Iranians are Persians, not Arabs, and to the underlying religious aspect of the Iran-Iraq war. Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini is trying to export Iran's vision of Islamic revolution. The Iranians are Shiite Muslims and the Iraqi rulers are Sunni Muslims.

Fired matron is ordered restored

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Belle Luna, fired from her city jail job when she couldn't lose nearly 100 pounds, cried with joy when she learned a Common Pleas Court judge had ordered her reinstated.

"I'm so happy," she said as the tears began to flow. "If I could see the judge I would give him a kiss."

Judge Silvestri Silvestri of Allegheny County on Friday ordered the city to rehire Ms. Luna and Lorraine Goodman. The jail matrons were discharged last summer when they failed to meet the city Civil Service Commission's height-weight standards.

Silvestri also directed the city to give a physical examination to Ronald Miller, a trash truck driver applicant; Miller had passed the physical performance test but was refused the physical exam after he was weighed.

Collections in big jump

The Howard County-Big Spring United Way campaign collections took a big jump from Wednesday's report, as the campaign drive has received $52,263.30, or 21 percent of the campaign objective, as compared to Wednesday's 10 percent, announced Russ McEwen, co-campaign chairman for United Way.

"This is a big jump from just Wednesday," said McEwen. "I believe our drive is really getting into gear."

Campaign manager chairman Ron Medley added, "We started slowly, but we are beginning to gain momentum. We are very optimistic that we will reach our 1981 goal of $250,000."

Leading the divisions with collections is the pacesetter division, paced by Ron Medley, Grady Cunningham, Cliffa Slate and Joy Boyd with a total of $26,100; next is the special division, headed by Russ McEwen and Earl Archer, $11,875; CFC, led by John Allman, $7,255.30; out of town, captained by Doug Warren and Renee Cutscher, $3,713; residential, spearheaded by Troy Fraser, Claudene Floyd and Johnnie Lou Avery, $2,135; metro, headed by Pearl Pittman, Dub Moore and Andy Swartz, $1,125; and rural, Jo Ann Poyner, Wendell Shive and Tom Yeats, $160.

The city was supporting it until we got a new city manager last year," Bowman says. "The city manager and the city council decided it wasn't needed. The former city manager and city council stood behind us six years."

Seven hospital officials are charged with fraud

CHICAGO (AP) — Seven past and present officials of Roosevelt Memorial Hospital allegedly defrauded Medicare and Medicaid programs of more than $780,000 in one of the largest such fraud schemes ever uncovered, federal authorities said Saturday.

The defendants used hospital funds for a $19,000 Florida vacation for more than 35 people, parties, weddings and home remodeling, among other uses, according to a 13-count indictment.

Two former owners of the 144-bed teaching hospital on Chicago's near north side were among those named in the indictment returned Friday by a federal grand jury.

The charges, which capped a 10-month investigation, alleged mail fraud and false statements over an eight-year period.

The non-profit community hospital receives $8 million yearly in public money for treating patients covered by Medicare and Medicaid programs. That accounts for about 65 percent to 70 percent of the its income, hospital officials said.

Charged were Dr. Samuel Matlin, 57, former owner and former chief executive officer; Dr. Irving Weissman, 64, also a former owner and home health care director; Robert Bolnick, 53, former administrator; J. Malcolm Beal, 53, former comptroller; Donald Horwitz, 57, former purchasing agent; Richard Wolt, 49, a $86,000-a-year physical fitness instructor at the hospital's now defunct private health club, and Emily Rose, 50, who remains as business manager.

Robert Wilson, a spokesman for the Inspector General's office at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in Washington, said other cases of this type have involved less money and fewer people.

The maximum penalty for mail fraud is five years in prison and a $1,000 fine. The maximum for making false statements is a five-year prison term and $10,000 fine.

Neither Matlin nor Weissman were available for comment. Both resigned last month after a series of administrative changes began in March.

"The actions taken by the U.S. attorney have no relation to the quality of health care provided by Roosevelt Memorial Hospital," said Dr. Robert Weinstein, chief executive officer of the hospital.

Detox center here closes due to shortage of money

By ANDREA COHEN

The Howard County Detox Center officially closed its doors Saturday morning, due to lack of funds.

"We do not have enough financial backing and cannot pay wages to personnel," said Ed Bowman, president.

The Detox Center has been kept open the past year from donations from the Dora Roberts Foundation, several businesses, the county and private donations.

According to Bowman, it would take approximately $25,000 to $30,000 for the doors to reopen for six months.

The Detox Center, located at 2906 W. 13th was opened approximately seven years ago with financial backing from the Texas Commission on Alcoholism and the City of Big Spring. Intoxicated prisoners from the city and county jails went to the Center for an average of five days for a drying out period. In most cases the service was free. Over the last seven year-period, 2,666 persons have been treated. Women's beds were put in approximately five months ago.

"The city was supporting it until we got a new city manager last year," Bowman says. "The city manager and the city council decided it wasn't needed. The former city manager and city council stood behind us six years."

"This city manager let us have the building which belonged to the city of Big Spring, not to Don Davis. I had to fight him to pay the insurance and water bill and they charged us $10 per year."

City Manager Don Davis could not be reached for comment.

According to Bowman, 14 employees make up a full staff. The Center closed its doors with a staff of five.

"It took $60,000 a year to be fully staffed," Bowman continues. "We hired them, but they weren't worth a dime. They wanted a lot of money and they weren't worth it."

"The closing is going to have quite an effect on us," says Melvin Daratt, Big Spring Police Department warrant officer.

"Those who are in jail who are sick are going to have to be turned out. They can go to the hospital if they'll go. If we can't get them well and to the working stage, they'll stay alcoholics."

"If an epileptic came in, someone from the Center would come down and give him a shot. Diabetics would be sent to the Detox. It's a service to the community. It gives them an opportunity to sober up and out of our hair."

Don't say we are underpaid, but the funds were cut.

"It's not up to society to support everyone, like welfare. Welfare is a jinx. It is up to people like you and I to support them?"

"But I have to see it close," he continues. "They do as good a job as the state hospital. The operations are about the same. We'll have to be more careful who we have in jail. If they get sick, we'll have to turn them loose. If they have money, they can go get help. Most don't have the money. Most will go back to the bottle and in order for them to get money, burglaries and panhandling will be on the increase again."

"I think the city, the county, and state alcoholic people should go back to support something like this. When they come to the jail, some are shaking so bad, they can't sign their names or hold a cup of water to their mouths. It's a sickness, but more a self-pride thing."

PASSING THE TIME — Three-year-old Kenny Casbeer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Casbeer of Coahoma, found plenty to do while his parents made the rounds in the annual Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival here Saturday. One of the things that interested Kenny was the fascinating gadget he holds. The show continues through 6 p.m., today in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Tips on makeup

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Ronald Reagan could use a soft permanent. President Carter should have his eyebrows darkened. And John Anderson needs a complete overhaul.

So says Steve Martini, the official White House barber for four presidents before he moved to Florida's Gold Coast.

Martini has cut the hair of Harry Truman, and was the official barber for Dwight Eisenhower, John Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon.

As this year's bid for the president reaches its last days, the candidates may want to consider some of Martini's advice. He knows presidents — and their hair.

Carter often comes across as looking too pale. "a waxen figure," Martini said.

"I think he could use a little darkening of the eyebrows," Martini said. "Good looks involve more than just hair."

Reagan already takes good care of his hair from his days as an actor, said Martini, who once cut the former California governor's hair at a Florida resort hotel.

"I still think he looks very conservative, like he did when he was a young cowboy," the barber said. "He probably should get a nice soft permanent. It would make his hair look more enticing."

And in case you're wondering, Martini, who has seen the governor's hair up close, says there's no artificial coloring there.

"Maybe he's using some kind of rinse that helps take the gray out, but it's not dyed," Martini said.

Martini believes John Anderson needs a "complete overhaul. His hair is over too much on one side and he constantly looks like he needs a haircut. And he should use a good rinse that takes the yellow out of gray hair."

Martini, 68, began his career at the White House in 1952.

Hulk in court

NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Ferrigno, the actor-strongman who portrays the Incredible Hulk on television, is appearing in state Supreme Court in Brooklyn seeking $500,000. And a jury will decide whether to hand the money over.

Ferrigno, 29, testified Friday in an invasion-of-privacy suit he has filed against bodybuilder Dan Lurie.

A former Mr. Universe, Ferrigno claims he posed for photos for an advertising agency for possible use in an advertisement for Coppertone tanning lotion, but that Lurie later used the photographs for ads on his bodybuilding products.

Lewis to return

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Singer-songwriter Jerry Lee Lewis, who canceled a performance after he slipped in a sunken bath tub at his Mississippi farm home, planned to be back on stage this weekend.

J. W. Whitten, Lewis' road manager, said the entertainer was injured Friday when he struck his head on the side of the tub.

Doctors at Methodist Hospital South advised Lewis to take a night off and rest, Whitten said, so he canceled an appearance in Alexandria, La. Lewis was not admitted to the hospital.

Man judged guilty

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — A jury in this West Texas city deliberated for 2 1/2 hours before deciding a Dyess Air Force Base sergeant was sane when he stabbed his wife to death.

Armando Buentello Perez, 29, was sentenced Friday to 49 years in prison for the murder of his wife Kathy, a 29-year-old senior airman at Dyess, after a three-day trial.

Perez is also accused of murdering his mother-in-law, Mary A. Gregg, 50, of Rockport, Tenn. Mrs. Gregg was found with a six-inch butcher knife buried to the hilt between her shoulders.

No trial date has been set for that case.

Bid specifications are approved by council

The Big Spring City Council approved bid specifications for several items during its regular meeting, Tuesday night.

The city will spend up to $3,800 for electric pages and encoders to be used by the Water Utilities Division. Equipment will include two encoders, a remote control desk-top controller and 10 tone and voice pages.

The city will also pay David Thompson $1,074.50 to clear four different vacant lots in the city. Weeds, trash, lumber and all other debris will be removed from lots at 400 N.W. 8th, 108 N.E. 9th, 610 Main, and 306 N. Main.

Bids will be sought for the construction of 576 feet of fencing at the Northside Park. The fence will surround the basketball court and daycare center there.

Councilmen also voted to enter a lease-purchase agreement for several items of heavy equipment. Bids will be requested for a fire department rescue van, an electric boom truck, a bulldozer, a backhoe, two sanitation trucks and a dumpster. Total cost is estimated to be in the area of $400,000.

The city will also advertise for bids for 50,000, 30-gallon garbage bags.

Second and final reading on two zone changes were approved by the council. A lot at 611 W. 4th was rezoned from Single Family to Heavy Commercial. Raymond Hogg will construct a storage building there.

A floor covering and cabinet shop will be established by Bert Sheppard at 1800 Birdwell. The area was rezoned from Neighborhood Service to Light Commercial.

In what amounts to a delaying action, the council set electrical rates in the city at far below what had been requested by the Texas Electric Service Company. TESCO had requested an increase of $122.9 million within the system, and the city countered with an offer of $23.7 million.

If the city had not set the rate scale by Friday, the company could have begun charging at the rate it had requested.

"Of course the company will appeal this increase ($23.7 million). However, the appeal can be consolidated with the rural rate case which will ultimately determine the rate increase granted to TESCO," wrote City Attorney Elliott Mitchell in a memo to the council.

In other business, councilmen: — Gave final approval to the resolution adopting the financial management policies of the city.

— Authorized Mayor Clyde Angel to submit an application to the Criminal Justice Division for third-year funding of the Major Crime Task Force program.

— Authorized the mayor to receive bids for an oil and gas mineral lease within the Industrial Park.

— Gave permission to file tax suits against Freda Jones and Juan Rivas, who, claims the city, owe nearly $2,000 in back taxes.

LITTLE SALES ADD UP TO BIG BUCKS — The annual Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival, which got under way Saturday in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum here, will likely result in sales running well into six figures before it winds up this evening. Here, visitors from over a wide area examine the varied art works and wares exhibited by some of the best known artists and craftsmen in the Southwest. All booth space for the festival was sold months in advance. The exhibit is free to the public. Hours today are from 1 to 6 p.m.

Many Florida snowbirds could roost in Texas

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Florida's loss could be Texas' gain this winter as thousands of retired northerners head south in mobile homes and travel trailers to escape ice, snow and home heating oil bills.

Tourism industry officials say they expect to make "winter Texans" out of some former Florida vacationers who are dissatisfied with crowding and immigration problems there.

An estimated 75,000 to 100,000 winter visitors flock to the lower Rio Grande Valley just north of the Mexican border each winter.

Most stay in trailer parks while others rent apartments and hotel rooms.

They boost the local economy by about $11 million annually and local businesses depend on their patronage.

"We hear from people in the parks that Florida is becoming a congested area and now the Cuban immigration has some worried," said Jon Opelt of the Harlingen Chamber of Commerce.

"In Florida they are tolerant of winter visitors but don't embrace them like the Valley does," Opelt said.

Almost 75 percent of winter Texans come from the Midwest, including the states of Minnesota, Missouri, Michigan, Kansas, Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio.

Gene and Leona Pagel of Wauwatosa, Wis., came to Texas this year after seven seasons in Florida.

"Everything is too busy and too many of the half-way decent trailer parks are right on major highways with all the truck noise," said Pagel. "You're paying for the name of 'Florida,' and it's cheaper living here which is nothing to sneeze about these days," said the retired, 70-year-old engineer.

Pagel used to stay in Sebring, Fla., 80 miles south of Orlando but said the Cuban immigration was not a factor in his coming to Texas.

The phenomenon of trailer parks started 13 years ago when Joan Stanley and her husband opened one in Harlingen. Since then, she has seen the business mushroom into a multimillion-dollar competitive industry with more than 34,000 spaces across the Valley.

She said the vacationers arrive in a steady flow after Nov. 1, with big influxes after Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The average stay is 4 1/2 months, although many are showing up earlier this year.

Mrs. Stanley said she went to three travel trailer rallies recently in Texas and Oklahoma and heard several people grumbling about Florida.

"It's becoming crowded there, they say, and the immigration problem in Florida is frightening them," she said.

Opelt said his office gets an average of 100 inquiries a day from retirees responding to ads placed in five national travel-trailer magazines. The mail increased recently following nationally distributed articles about elderly Miami residents arming themselves against criminals.

"We don't put out publicity about Florida. We're just responding to questions we don't want to sell on the negative," he said.

Trustful man is loser

A Muskegan, Mich. man probably wishes he hadn't hitched a ride in the city, Saturday afternoon.

Thad Brown managed to hitch a ride from a man about 60 years old, just outside the Hilltop Lounge, 2:30 p.m. Saturday. The man drove Brown to the Airport Grocery, 3107 W. Highway 80, and asked him to go inside to pick up some beer.

When Brown emerged from the store, the mysterious man in the white pickup had vanished with $200 worth of Brown's clothes.

While Alford Paredes, 611 N.W. 9th, was inside the Super Save Grocery, 4 p.m. Saturday, someone stole a chain-link steering wheel that was sitting in the back of Paredes' car. The steering wheel was valued at $40.

Two stereo speakers and two eight tracks were stolen, and a radio-tape player was destroyed in a car belonging to Gregg Harrington, 1 Crestwood, early Saturday morning. Loss was estimated at $216.

A man loaded 10 boneless chuck roasts, 12 assorted steaks and a number of other items into a cart at the Gregg Street Safeway Store, and walked out without paying Friday. Loss was estimated at over $113.

Burglars rifled the juke box and pool table at Fina's Cafe, 200 N. Gregg, early Friday morning. Loss has not been estimated.

St. Helens erupts for 5th time

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Mount St. Helens confirmed scientists' predictions Saturday with its fourth and fifth eruptions in less than 48 hours, throwing plumes of steam and volcanic ash 25,000 feet into the air, scientists said.

A half-hour eruption which began at 12:35 p.m. PDT was followed at 2:28 p.m. by what spokesmen for the Federal Emergency Management Agency described as a three-minute "toot."

Light winds wafted the initial plume, carrying a "heavy" load of ash in a southeasterly direction toward northern Oregon, said Frank Menard, a U.S. Geological Survey geologist.

Ash from Saturday's second brief eruption also moved in that direction, officials said. Four minutes of harmonic tremors, rhythmic vibrations which scientists say signal the movement of molten rock within the volcano, preceded the day's first eruption, which came in two pulses, said FEMA spokesman Phil Cogan.

That eruption tapered off within a half hour, said Ken McGee, a U.S. Geological Survey geologist. Harmonic tremors lasted until 12:51 p.m., McGee said, and were succeeded by small conventional earthquakes.

Scientists had warned that the volcano had given no indication it was ready to go back into dormancy.

"We are still in an eruption alert," Craig Weaver, spokesman for the University of Washington geophysics center in Seattle, had said Saturday just hours before the noon eruption.

The southwestern Washington volcano, which had been erupting at almost clockwork-like 12-hour intervals since Thursday night, was a little tardy with Saturday's first blast, which came a little more than 15 hours after Friday night's plume, which erupted at 9:12 p.m. PDT.

Scientists called the five blasts part of a single "eruptive phase."

Scientists said they were waiting for a "seismic signoff" from the mountain before declaring the eruptive phase ended.

After previous eruptions, there were deep quakes about six miles under Mount St. Helens to indicate volcanic activity was subsiding, said Don Peterson, a U.S. Geological Survey geologist.

"We don't consider it over until we see earthquakes and we haven't seen that activity yet," said Elliott Endo, a geophysicist with the USGS. "Until such time that we do see earthquakes, we still believe it's possible to have another eruption."

A lava dome that had built up inside the crater disintegrated during the first two eruptions, scientists said.

Scientists said they were waiting for a "seismic signoff" from the mountain before declaring the eruptive phase ended.

After previous eruptions, there were deep quakes about six miles under Mount St. Helens to indicate volcanic activity was subsiding, said Don Peterson, a U.S. Geological Survey geologist.

"We don't consider it over until we see earthquakes and we haven't seen that activity yet," said Elliott Endo, a geophysicist with the USGS. "Until such time that we do see earthquakes, we still believe it's possible to have another eruption."

A lava dome that had built up inside the crater disintegrated during the first two eruptions, scientists said.

GOP gains apt to be modest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a nationwide effort to reverse Democratic control of Congress, Republicans are moving toward scoring only modest gains of about a dozen seats in the House and less than half that in the Senate, according to an informal Associated Press survey.

The survey, based on information gathered last week in all 50 states, including a variety of local polls and interviews with political analysts, suggests that Democrats will easily extend their 25-year control of Congress in both chambers.

If the congressional elections were held now, the survey suggested, Republicans would have a good chance of picking up from nine to 22 House seats that are now Democratic.

But these GOP gains would be partially offset by a potential Democratic pickup of from three to 10 equally vulnerable Republican seats.

Things could change between now and Election Day.

In a number of states, especially in the industrial Midwest, there are indications that a strong victory by Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan could boost the chances of a number of GOP congressional candidates now rated as underdogs.

And there are about 20 races in the House and 10 in the Senate that at this time can only be termed pure tossups.

The survey suggested, however, barring a succession of major upsets, it was unlikely Republicans could hope for House gains much beyond a maximum of about 20 seats even with a Reagan landslide, which itself is viewed as unlikely.

And while Republicans have a mathematical long shot at winning control of the Senate, the AP survey suggested that there is no practical way they can pick up more than six seats at the most, still leaving them far short of a majority control.

Democrats now hold a 273 to 159 majority over Republicans in the House, with three vacancies in seats that had been Democratic. In the Senate, the Democratic margin is 59 Democrats to 41 Republicans.

In the House, in particular, Republican efforts to make sizable gains seem to be fizzling, despite an unparalleled $8 million national television advertising campaign urging Americans to "vote Republican."

14 black children missing

Tensions easing

ATLANTA (AP) — Volunteers searching on Saturday for one of 14 black children who have disappeared or been found slain discovered a skull with a patch of beaded hair in the neighborhood where a 7-year-old girl was kidnapped.

"We found a skull, some teeth separated from the skull, a backbone and more bones near a fence. It was definitely human," said Abraham Murphy Jr., one of the search's group leaders.

The skeleton was uncovered off Hightower Road near Interstate 20 by a young boy who noticed a foul odor, Murphy said.

A police spokesman said he had no information as to the skeleton's age or sex. He said police were analyzing the skeleton to try to determine its identity.

Some 550 volunteers, both blacks and whites, combed wooded areas, abandoned houses and empty lots in the west Atlanta Dixie Hills neighborhood where Latonya Wilson, 7, was abducted last June.

The search seemed to ease racial tensions caused by rumors in the black community that the crimes have been racially motivated, said Mike Langford, a search coordinator.

"I'm not going to say there aren't people who aren't mad and think it's a racial thing," said Langford, brother of Councilman Arthur Langford, whose United Youth Adult Conference coordinated the search. "But this here today helped to alleviate that. It showed white people were concerned with black children and children in general."

The Wilson girl is one of five black children still missing. The bodies of nine others have been recovered. All nine bodies were found near where the children lived.

Civic organizations planned weekend searches for the four other missing children.

Volunteers split into 12 groups to search the 1½-mile by half-mile area, which police had searched twice before, said Sgt. Hill Jones.

Bits of clothing were found, most in or near garbage dumps. One group searching woods uncovered a pile of freshly turned earth marked like a grave with plastic flowers. But police who dug up the spot found nothing.

Many volunteers expressed frustration with efforts by police to solve the killings and abductions.

"I think this is useful because people get frustrated when they can't do anything. This gives them something to do," said Randy Burcotte, who, like most of the searchers, is black. "I think this is a problem of our community, and we need to deal with it. When I say our community, I mean the black community."

White volunteers expressed other reasons for joining the search.

"Mainly I felt this community needs to see white people are concerned," said Sheila McConnell. "Also, it will make an impression on the person who did it."

Budget Board favors move

More parole officers due

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Legislative Budget Board, split on whether the state needs more parole officers, Saturday backed a proposal to pay for 42 additional officers.

The staff proposal called for adding the officers in 1983. The Board of Pardons and Paroles now has 263 officers, each supervising about 50 parolees.

Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, made a motion to deny the extra officers. Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, reacted quickly to Davis' idea.

"They're going to cut down the manpower and then bitch about the job they are doing," he said.

Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, supported Davis' motion.

"That's what you call getting increased productivity," he said.

Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, noted there is support for increasing the number of parolees in order to reduce prison crowding. He said it's contradictory to ask for more parolees without providing more officers.

Davis' motion was defeated, and the board approved Brooks' motion to accept the recommendation for more officers.

The recommended budget would give the Board of Pardons and Paroles $10.6 million in 1982 and $11.3 million in 1983. The board asked for $14.1 million in 1982 and $16.6 million in 1983.

The current annual budget is $9.4 million.

The LBB staff report criticized "inconsistent performance" in the parole system. The report said yearly fluctuations in the number of parolees granted makes it difficult to set future budgets.

"In even years, the number paroled decreases; in odd years, the number paroled increases," the report said.

Three reasons were listed for the decrease during 1980, when an average of 418 parolees were granted per month. The 1979 figure was 645 per month.

The board considered 100 fewer cases per month in 1980, although there were 13 percent more prisoners eligible for parole.

Brown displeased by loose lips

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public skirmishes between Defense Secretary Harold Brown and some of his top generals are focusing presidential campaign attention on military readiness and the Army's thirst for an ever-higher budget.

Aides to Brown made it clear this past week that the defense secretary is irritated by public and private comments and leaks by high-ranking Army officials questioning the military's readiness, the defense budget, and even Brown's veracity.

Pentagon spokesman Thomas Ross accused the unnamed Army officials of "unfair" sniping and added: "This is a budget tempest in a teapot, obviously part of the jousting to get a larger share of the defense pie."

The concern was highlighted again Friday when Ross acknowledged that Brown misspoke himself recently when, while listing examples to show the military is not standing still, he said an advanced attack helicopter would be in operation by next year. The example was only one of a number Brown gave, but defense officials concede the helicopter is not expected to be delivered until 1983.

"It is unfair to make accusations anonymously and on the basis of one minor mistake in a 5,000-word speech," Ross told reporters.

One reason for such sniping is that Pentagon planners are now putting together their fiscal 1982 budget proposals and it is not unusual for each of the services and advocates of particular projects to push their causes both privately and publicly.

But the Pentagon is fighting has taken on added significance this year because it comes in the final stretch of a presidential campaign that increasingly has focused on military readiness and defense spending.

A week ago, defense advisers to Ronald Reagan accused Brown of trying to "hide the truth" about defense preparedness after a memorandum was leaked saying Brown wants more positive aspects of military readiness emphasized.

Cee City play is moved back

Due to unforeseen date conflicts within the cast and crew of "Wait Until Dark," the upcoming Colorado City Playhouse presentation, it has been necessary to change the production dates of the suspense play.

The play, originally set to open Oct. 23, will now begin Nov. 13. The drama will be presented Nov. 13, 14, 15, 20, 21 and 22.

Box office will begin taking advance reservations on Nov. 10, from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and from 1 p.m. until curtain time Thursday through Saturday. Porter Richardson, director of this playhouse production, noted the extension will add even more polish and professionalism to the production.

He also noted the staging for the play, designed and constructed by Tandy Curlee, is completed and a credit to his ingenuity. Carl Moore and George Womack have designed and set the complicated lighting required for the suspenseful drama.

FARM FORUM

In order to make one thing perfectly clear, the American Farmer is not the cause of inflation. . . in fact he is probably the number one inflation fighter in the country. Producers of agricultural products are now competing in basically a free market. . . they are producing as much as possible and more efficiently than anyone in the world. . . now or ever. Food prices, of course, have gone up during the past two years, but the fact is that 80 percent of the increases came after the farmer sold the food. Major increases came in the costs of labor, transportation, packaging and retail marketing. Overall crop prices were down last year. . . a fact reflected in the 11 percent unit value drop in farm exports. Production meanwhile was up. As long as it stays up farmers will be doing more than their share to keep inflation down.

Area counties would benefit from proposal

Voters in Borden, Glasscock, Sterling and Martin counties probably will encounter no problem with supporting Constitutional Amendment No. 7 in next month's general election.

The proposal, introduced by Representative Susan G. McBee of Del Rio and Senator Ron Clower of Garland, has been blessed by the State Legislature. It would give commissioners courts in sparsely populated counties the authority to decide whether or not county equipment and crews can work on private roads for reasonable fees.

THE PROPOSED legislation applies only in counties with less than 5,000 population and all the aforementioned counties, in or near Howard County, qualify. The proposal is intended to remedy a crucial problem existing mostly in the remote rangelands of West Texas.

In counties so sparsely populated that many include not even one incorporated town and a visit to the nearest grocery store often involves a trip of over 100 miles, there are simply no private contractors around to do the road work for farmers and ranchers. Few of their numbers can afford to own such expensive equipment themselves.

In such areas, the county usually has the only equipment and crews which can do such road work. They are often idle much of the time since roads crossing private ranches and farms in such counties generally far exceed county maintained roads in such counties.

Amendment No. 7 would make it possible for such counties to keep their road crews busy and to better utilize their investment in heavy equipment. All money so earned would be required to be used to improve public roads.

FARMERS AND ranchers who have no other means to do so would be able to keep their roads passable for livestock haulers and range fire fighters.

Amendment 17 let it be said, is 'permissive,' not 'mandatory.' If a sparsely populated county should have private contractors available, or for some other reason use of this authority was not deemed in the public interest, it is highly unlikely that the county officials would authorize its use.

On the other hand, in those areas where this measure is desperately needed, the publicly-elected officials closest to the scene having first hand knowledge of the situation would be the ones to decide whether to authorize the work.

'Trees' by Reagan

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The Reagan forces were sitting back relaxed at headquarters. Ronnie was sticking to the script as they had written it for him, and everything had been going well. Then suddenly, out of the blue, Reagan decided to ad-lib his opinion on the environment, and the sulphur dioxide hit the fan.

One of the aides rushed in with a wire story. "Ronnie just announced the battle for clean air is over and attacked the volcanic eruption of Mt. St. Helens."

"Okay, can the jokes. The election isn't won yet."

"I'm not kidding. He said in Ohio that Mt. St. Helens had released more sulphur dioxide into the air than had been released by automobiles in the last 10 years."

"Automobiles don't pollute with sulphur dioxide."

"Well, don't get mad with me. I didn't tell him to say it."

"GET HIM on the phone... Ronnie, where are you?... You think you're over Los Angeles? Aren't you sure?... You can't see because it's all brown smog down there? Ronnie, why did you get into the clean air thing without checking with us first?... I know it sounded like a good idea comparing Mt. St. Helens with pollution but, Ronnie, you got it all wrong. Cars pollute with nitric oxide, carbon monoxide and other gases. Mt. St. Helens' sulphur is peanuts compared with what man-made pollutants are doing to the atmosphere... I know you're not a scientist, Ronnie... but people want their President to have the facts before he speaks. Can you see the airport yet?... You can't see anything but dirty clouds... Los Angeles isn't going to like what you said about the battle for clean air being won."

"Ronnie, remember how you promised you would not say anything unless we put it on cue cards for you?... I know how much you hate EPA. Everyone hates EPA, but you're not going to win votes attacking it when no one can see Los Angeles."

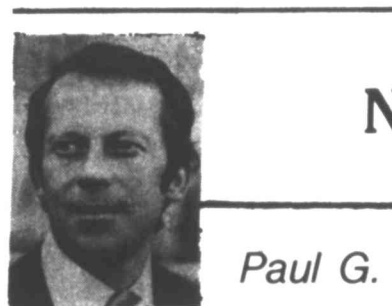

"And while I've got you on the phone, why did you have to attack trees? People love trees... Yes, you did attack them. You said that 93 percent of all nitrogen oxide pollution comes from vegetation. You got nitric oxide mixed up with nitrous oxide. Trees give off nitrous oxide, which is harmless and nontoxic... I'm not loading you down with a lot of chemistry, Ronnie. But this is the kind of stuff the other side can throw at you to prove you don't know what the heck you're talking about. Now all they're going to be asking you for the next week is what do you have against trees..."

"WHAT ARE you coughing for?... The smog is getting into the plane... No, it's not from trees, Ronnie... it's from the automobiles down below that you can't see. You are going to have to make a statement when you land. You want to say everyone is nit-picky and just trying to get away from the real issue?... That's the best you can come up with?... Why don't you say you are still an environmentalist at heart and your words were taken out of context? That should give us a couple of days to come up with something better..."

"By the way, did you really say the oil slicks off Santa Barbara are good for people's health?... I was afraid you did... Yes, Ronnie, it could present a problem..."

"Ronnie, people don't like oil slicks, whether they're natural or man-made..."

"Please don't talk about oil slicks again... We'll send you new cue cards so you won't have to deal with the clean air issue at all."

New drug powerful antacid

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: All three of my daughters are gymnasts. The oldest, my 15-year-old, developed knee pain during our Canadian competition. She competed with help of aspirin, bandages, and ice. She has been off gym ever since with chondromalacia patellae. Our family physician recognized it right away, but I did not get much information. Can you tell me about exercise for it, how much, etc? — Mrs. E.A.

Congratulations to your daughter for her achievements. I am sorry she was sidelined.

The patella is the kneecap. It serves as a fulcrum for the front thigh muscles, giving them advantage in straightening the leg. The kneecap is subject to great force in actions where the leg must be fully bent — climbing stairs, squatting and kneeling. Even a casual step on a stair puts a force on the kneecap equal to two and a half times body weight.

Now, specifically, as to your daughter's injury:

The kneecap is covered with cartilage (chondro). Softening and breakdown of the cartilage covering is the "malacia." This can result from the repeated heavy pressure on the knee that gymnastic training entails. The person complains of pain and stiffness in the knee, especially after sitting for a long time. There may be a grating sensation when the knee bends. The knee may even give way or lock in place. An examination, including X-rays, distinguishes chondromalacia from other problems, such as torn ligaments.

For the present, rest should be the first line of treatment. In time, the cartilage will reform. When the pain disappears, she can return to conditioning of the knee, concentrating on exercises to strengthen her thigh muscles. The stronger they become, the less beating the kneecap takes.

When her doctor gives her the go ahead, she may want to try this one: Get a weighted boot. While she is seated, you lift her leg with the boot on until it is straight out. Then have her tense her thigh muscles as you let go of her foot for five seconds. Her job is to try to keep her knee straightened. Then grasp the leg, and let her rest it awhile. Repeat about 10 times. She should not begin these exercises until her pain has disappeared. Eventually, she should be able to do this exercise without your help.

With rest and a program of muscle strengthening, your daughter's career should resume. I will look for her name in the 1984 Olympics. Incidentally, you might begin such exercises now with your other two healthy gymnasts. Hello to my Canadian readers and cousins.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please describe a "compressed vertebra, thoracic," and what the treatment and prognosis is. Our son was injured in a sky jump accident, and has this. Also, about how long before he can play basketball, etc? — B.B.O.

When two much vertical force is exerted on the spine, one of the bony sections (vertebra) may be squeezed (compressed). In your son's case, the compression was in the thoracic (chest) area of the spine. A sudden bending of the body can cause it. I learned as a paratrooper doctor that this is a common injury among jumpers.

The treatment and length of recovery depends on how much of the vertebra was squeezed and whether it is stable; that is, if it is not wobbling out of place. In a simple compression, rest, and sometimes a brace, are all that is necessary. This usually lasts from six to 12 weeks. It sounds as though your son's compression is of the type I described. He should make a full recovery. The doctor will have to rule on when he can return to activity.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I had a torn cartilage removed from my knee because of a football injury. Why did it have to be taken out? Could the doctor sew it back together? — T.W.

Because cartilage lining this joint has very poor blood supply, it will not heal properly, and that is why it cannot be sewn together. It has to be removed if it is causing problems. Nature does regenerate a new car-

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband and I have been married a little over a year. He seems like such a different man now that we are married. I am afraid our marriage is about to break up. Do you have any suggestions? — C.L.

DEAR C.L.: If you are a Christian, breaking up with your husband is not an option open to you. Marriage is not just a man-made institution entered into for convenience, and which can be dissolved when the going gets a bit rough. Marriage is ordained of God, and you took your vows before God to be faithful until death. You and your husband may not have understood all that your marriage vows involve, but that is no excuse for refusing to live up to them now. I know that many people today take marriage very lightly, but God does not and neither should you. "Marriage should be honored by all" (Hebrews 13:4, NIV). What suggestions do I have for helping your marriage? First, you and your husband need to see your need of God, and turn to him for wisdom and strength. He loves you and wants to rule in your lives and in your marriage. If you both selfishly want your own desires, the spark of love will be extinguished. I believe God can give us a true love for others, and can help us love a husband (or a wife) who may seem to be different from the person we married.

Also, remember that true love means not being just interested in your own happiness. You are first of all interested in pleasing your husband and doing what is best for him. Good wives, the Bible says, are "to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children, to be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands" (Titus 2:4-5). Marriage can be a wonderful thing, but it takes work to keep it alive. Pray that God will help you fulfill your responsibilities. You may be surprised to see your husband change and grow also.

Big Hearted

Around the rim

Tommy Hart

It ranks a lot of Americans to be told that they should be frugal and practice self denial when they can see an army of bureaucrats in Washington accepting bloated salaries and throwing about money as it were confetti.

It's always been the policy of the Congress to give the army of paper shufflers about what they want, regardless of what they lust for.

It is not surprising to be told by Sales and Market Management Magazine that the Washington metropolitan area now ranks as No. 1 in "buying power," where the average annual household income hovers just about the $27,000 mark.

TIME WAS when that distinction could be claimed by one of the New York suburbs, Beverly Hills or even Midland, Tex., but no more. The average pay has swelled to such an extent there that it is now 32 percent above the national average.

The average American housewife who does the buying for her kids in some discount store, at which time she is careful not to engage in impulse buying, has little in common with many of the maternal parents in our nation's capital. In Washington, they are apt to indulge their kids at the real fancy places which have doormen out front.

What can one say about the typical worker in Washington? Listen to Edwin Feulner, president of the Heritage Foundation: "The federal government now employs more than 15,000 lawyers — that ought to tell you something."

Big hearted Uncle Sam. He also keeps on the payroll more than 58,000 psychologists and social workers.

Coasting to defeat

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The blunt instrument assault on Ronald Reagan which so outraged editorial commentators has planted fears of war in the minds of American voters that will result in President Carter's reelection unless Reagan's coasting campaign shifts itself to a more active response.

The abrupt turn of events was first reflected in a variety of polls beginning Oct. 7, and accelerated over the weekend of Oct. 11. President Carter's remorseless campaign was working. He had passed Reagan in Ohio, Illinois and possibly Texas, taken a big lead in New York and pulled nearly even in Michigan, Pennsylvania and Florida. The momentum was all with the president three weeks before election day.

THE NON-RESPONSE by the Reagan campaign is a clue to how his big lead was dissipated. At a moment of crisis for his candidacy, the Republican nominee and his entourage were off for one of their periodic transcontinental migrations to California. Reagan himself rested, while his staff leisurely conferred. There was no emergency meeting, because there was no sense of emergency.

By the beginning of the new week, reality was intruding on the Reagan campaign. But it remains to be seen whether the Jerry-built high command can bring itself together for some decisive counterstroke: a revitalized media campaign, a special half-hour televised speech, even a debate challenge.

Actually, polling across the country still shows overwhelmingly negative reactions to both Carter and Reagan (and, lately, Rep. John Anderson as well). The difference is that the public thinks that Carter merely ruined the economy, while Reagan might start World War III. "I can guarantee that the American public will absolutely not vote for anybody it thinks will start a war," one worried Republican strategist (not on the Reagan high command) told us.

This is testimony to the effectiveness of Carter's strategy. Looking at pollster Patrick Caddell's surveys last summer, campaign manager Hamilton Jordan knew from the start that the president's only hope was to paint Reagan as a man of war. "Just wait till we get to the housewives," one Carter strategist gleefully predicted. With Jordan as Mr. Inside and Robert Strauss as Mr. Outside, this has been the whole of the Carter campaign.

Whenever behind in past political campaigns, Carter's response has been to assault his opponent. It has worked before, and it is working this time. The president himself did overplay his personal attack and apologize so that, as one Carter insider said privately, he "could continue to do what he was doing before." More important, media expert Gerald Rafshoon's crisply directed TV spots each night proclaimed the connection of Reagan and war.

This has received incomparable aid from the familiar Republican propensity to sit on a lead, though this time there was no proper lead; Reagan never surpassed 40 or 41 percent, not enough to win unless Anderson's vote held firm. The primary Reagan tactic was caution: Avoid mistakes.

That was embodied in the TV spots prepared for Reagan by Los Angeles advertising executive Peter Dailey. The so-called "California documentary" showing Reagan saving his state from bankruptcy in 1967, has become a staple of prime-time television — unrelated to Carter's attacks or, indeed, to the political world of 1980.

COMPLAINTS ABOUT Dailey's sleepy spots by Republicans who previewed them have resulted in unanswered phone calls and no action. There has been no coordinated media response to the Carter onslaught. "We are coasting," conceded one Reagan insider, unaware that new polling data show them coasting to defeat.

Starting Oct. 7, pollsters around the country began to catch the Carter trend, but the Reagan campaign was oblivious. On Oct. 10, Reagan strategists in Washington brainstormed how to counteract the "October surprise" that they feared the president would conjure up to overtake Reagan. Other Reagan insiders grappled with the "Reagan administration's" transition. One senior Reagan aide confided that the election was won.

Assuming that reality has penetrated this euphoria, no quick response is at hand. It is late in the day for new TV advertising. Some Reagan advisers believe the answer might be to buy a half-hour of prime time for Reagan to go into the American voter's living room to talk about national security, foreign policy and — mostly — peace.

Or, a more dramatic response: Accept Carter's debate challenge, renewed over the last weekend by Strauss. "I think the governor (Reagan) always wanted to debate," one aide told us. But none of his senior advisers did, particularly those former associates of Gerald R. Ford whose first choice for president when the year began certainly was not Ronald Reagan. Their lack of confidence in the candidate led to Reagan coasting, which could well be a slow route to oblivion.

Dear Editor: At the Texas Tech Tax Institute we were privileged to hear Bruce Davie, Staff Representative of the House Ways and Means Committee speak. He attempted to explain the rationale of the "Windfalls Profits Tax" that is excise tax. In the question and answer period he was asked, "Which is the next

Chinese Christian Church finds a home

EAST PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Where basketballs bounced a pulpit stands. Hymnals are stacked instead of barbells. The scoreboard is gone, replaced by a carved inscription in Chinese: "Jesus said, 'I am the truth and the life.'"

After three years of prayer and four months of labor, a former YMCA youth center has been transformed into a house of worship for members of the Chinese Christian Church of Rhode Island. This weekend they're holding a thanksgiving service in three languages to celebrate its new beginning.

"The place was just run down," said the Rev. Micah Leo, church pastor and a chemistry professor at Barrington (R.I.) College. "If you look close you'll find a lot of holes in the walls because they used them as targets to shoot arrows."

More distinct indications that the 91-year-old building has had a former life still exist.

Part of the wooden floor still bears the painted markings of a regulation-size basketball court, complete with scuff marks from years of sneakers. Sculpted wooden archways are scarred by the steel chains that were used to hang gymnastic swings.

Even the smallest noise makes the sanctuary echo like the gymnasium it once was. But the old sounds of whistles, cheers and groans have been replaced by the sounds of pipe organ music, choirsong and whispered prayer.

"This building really is a good place," said the Rev. Bulson Chang, who along with Leo and elder Pon-Sang Chan founded the church in 1977 from a Bible study group at Brown University.

The building represents a turning point in the group's efforts to make the church a more visible part of the community, he said. "We devote it to God for a holy purpose because our group needs it."

The transformation is really a revival of what once was.

Erected about 1889, the building was a United Congregational Church until 1970, when a dwindling congregation and financial troubles forced it to close. The property was given to the YMCA that same year and turned into a center for local youth activities.

Early this year, the Chinese Christian Church learned the YMCA planned to move to new quarters and wanted to sell the old building. The congregation decided to buy and restore it.

"When the church was built," he said, "the forefathers had written in their deed that the church cannot be sold to any other activity except a church." It was partly that limitation which provided the inspiration for the new owners.

Volunteers have been working since last July to patch the holes, paint the walls, replace broken windows and furnish the chapel. They hope by informing the community about the work through a monthly newsletter that more members will be attracted from the state's Chinese population, estimated between 2,000 and 3,000.

Renovation of the building's exterior was due to be completed by today, in time for the thanksgiving service.

More adequate highway funding urged by group

SAN ANGELO — Citing the attrition of inflation and gasoline conservation, members of the U.S. 87 Highway Association Saturday urged more adequate funding for highway construction and maintenance.

The group also went on record supporting the Texas Department of Transportation and Highways in its opposition to a federal edict requiring that contracts go to bidders with the largest number of minority subcontractors rather than low bidders. The Texas December letting has been cancelled because the federal highway funds until Texas accepts the regulation. Such a practice, it was argued, would not increase the already high minority hiring in highway construction, but would only increase the burden on taxpayers.

terminus at Lubbock with I-10. Members also urged the legislature to gear road fuel taxes to a percentage of the unit cost, or in the alternative to add at least 2 cents to the present state gasoline tax, the lowest in the union. Extension of the federal highway trust fund beyond Sept. 1, 1984 was urged. Reports were heard on construction and improvements along the 87 route.

Eddie Jones, Dalhart, where next year's meeting will be held, was named president and Ed Davenport, Brady, was named president-elect. Other officers include Ed Phelps, Dalhart, secretary-treasurer; Lloyd Wilkins, Raton, N.M., Jim Bertram, Lubbock, Bill Willig, San Angelo, and Ed Keeling, Brady, vice-presidents of the various sections of the highway.

Representing Big Spring were Arnold Marshall, Leroy Tillery and Joe Pickle.

By Gov. Bill Clements

U.S. and Mexico urged to strengthen ties

DEL RIO, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements told a Fiesta Amistad audience of 500 people from both sides of the border Saturday that the United States and Mexico must strengthen relations for the good of both countries.

Clements, interrupted by applause eight times, said leaders in the state capitals, in Washington and in Mexico City should heed the cooperation between border cities such as Del Rio and Ciudad Acuna, Mexico.

"The spirit of partnership and friendship and cooperation that is shared between Ciudad Acuna and Del Rio must also be shared by Austin and Saltillo, and most importantly, it must be shared between Washington and Mexico City," said the governor, who has traveled to Mexico seven times during his first two years in office.

"The border is where it begins — where our two nations are the closest. But our efforts must broaden and expand to bring together all of the people of the United States and Mexico and our national governments as two nations committed to each other's future well-being," Clements said.

Clements installed the new officers of the International Good Neighbor Council, chosen at the closing session of the organization's fall convention. They include Octavio Escalante of Monterey, Mexico, international president; Jose Luis Vasquez of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico vice president and Will Segura, of Lafayette, La., U.S. vice president.

The organization also presented Clements with an award for his efforts to open communications with Mexico officials, including an unprecedented meeting of the governors of the four U.S. border states and their six Mexican counterparts in Ciudad Juarez last June.

"He has single-handedly done more than any other individual in the state or the country in opening lines of communication and fostering goodwill between our two countries," said State Rep. Susan Gurley McBee, D-Del Rio. "Gov. Clements is sincerely 'muy simpatico.'"

Del Rio Mayor Herb Whitis also paid tribute to Clements, backing a proposal to build a new railroad bridge to Ciudad Acuna. Whitis said the governor's efforts were "unparalleled in Texas history."

"Wouldn't it be wonderful if our counterparts in Washington and Mexico City could enjoy the success we have had here on the border the past 25 years," Whitis said.

Rep. Tom Leffler, R-Texas, added his wish for closer cooperation between the two countries in the areas of energy, hydroelectric power and agricultural trade.

"The reasons to work with each other far outweigh the reasons to work against each other," Leffler said. "Far too often, regrettably, the U.S. and Mexico have viewed each other as neighbors only in the geographic sense." The Good Neighbor Council approved seven resolutions for cooperative projects in its closing session. The one that drew the most enthusiasm called on the Texas Legislature to abolish the state tax on liquor brought across the Rio Grande.

E.V. Niemeyer Jr., of Austin, said the tax was "discriminatory" because it was collected at the border and not at airports where liquor also is brought into the country by tourists from Mexico.

In seconding the resolution, Raymond Scott of Fort Worth added, "I'll drink to that."

Saturday's Fiesta Amistad included a Grand International Parade from Ciudad Acuna to Del Rio and parties in both cities. The celebration ends today.

Trailer park lashed by twister; 4 hurt

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — An unstable air mass hanging over Texas and Louisiana on Saturday spawned a tornado that lashed a Lafayette trailer park, injuring four people, authorities said.

As the storm shifted back into Texas it "became better organized," dropping hail the size of golf balls in San Antonio, said Robert Johns of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City.

"Tornadoes anytime from October to February are very rare," Johns said. He added the possibility of severe weather would remain through Sunday in the southern United States.

A twister struck the Shinn Place trailer park in Lafayette during a heavy rain and was on the ground about 15 seconds, witnesses said.

One trailer was ripped from its moorings and tossed over three parked cars before it fell the ground in splinters.

Joanne Phillips, her sister Lynn Vezeay and visitor Percy Allemen were thrown out of the home. Ms. Vezeay and Allemen were listed in stable condition at a hospital emergency room.

Miss Phillips, who was unhurt, said she heard a roar as the twister approached and the next thing she knew, she and her sister were lying on the ground outside.

A second trailer was blown to pieces, and a third was overturned and shoved against another trailer, authorities said.

Also injured were park resident Mrs. and Mrs. Winai Detwattananua, both age 26. They were listed in stable condition.

Mrs. Domingue, manager of the park, said she was surprised only four people were injured.

"We're just rejoicing and praising Jesus," she said.

Mrs. Domingue said the three trailers at the perimeter of the 65-trailer park bore the brunt of the high winds.

Vermilion, Lafayette, and St. Landry reported from 3 to 6 inches of rain in six hours Saturday.

A discovery has been assured and an extender finalized in Howard County.

A Canyon reef oil discovery was assured with the flowing of 126 barrels of oil, no water, in 48 hours, at Millwee Oil Inc., Midland, No. 1 Whittaker, in 19-25 H&TC, one mile northwest of the depleted one-well Van-Gris (Wolfcamp) field and four miles west of Vincent.

Flow was through an 8-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,650-62 feet. Testing continued.

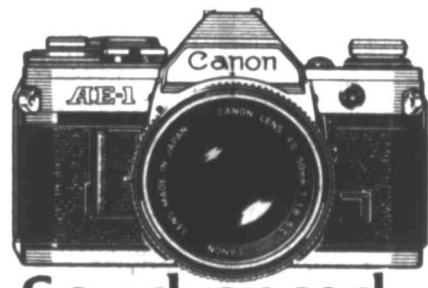

A re-entry operation, it originally was drilled to 7,755 feet by F.W. Holbrook and abandoned Aug. 15.

Fusselman oil production was extended a 1/2-mile south in the Coahoma, North (Fusselman and Clearfork) field of Howard County with completion of Amoco Production Co. No. 115-AA Texas Land & Mortgage Co., three miles east of Coahoma, for 160 barrels of 48.6 gravity oil, plus 10 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 306-1.

Production was through a 12-64-inch choke and perforations at 8,828-64 feet, which had been acidized with 31,600 gallons.

Location is 565 feet from the south and 2,107 feet from the east lines of 5-30-18-T&P.

TV news becomes part of political system

BOSTON (AP) — Television news has become a part of the American political process, but network news bosses insist they aren't creating campaign news, they're just covering it.

"We've been trying to give substance to what's been a rapid campaign," said Burton Benjamin, vice president and director of news for CBS.

The TV news executives also predict the candidate of the future will bypass traditional politicking and build support through the media.

Television news has become part of the American political system simply because it's the best way for voters to see and hear the candidates, said ABC-TV News President Roone Arledge.

"Take it or not, TV has become part of the political system," Arledge told a television industry group Friday.

But Arledge and his counterparts at CBS and NBC agreed that although TV network news may be part of Campaign '80, its role is passive — restricted to reporting the views of the candidates.

The news executives, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Boston-New England Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, also said it's not television's fault the electorate is cynical and that stories on the issues have taken a back seat to reports on campaign strategy.

"People are cynical about the candidates because of the candidates," said Arledge.

The networks "can't make the candidates discuss something they don't want to discuss," Benjamin said.

President Carter has complained several times about network coverage of the campaign, saying the networks are not covering what he calls "the real issues." He contends the networks have covered more of the campaign's style than its substance.

Arledge, Benjamin and NBC News President William Small also took issue with the claim made by the White House, among others, that TV "created" independent candidate John Anderson by giving the Illinois congressman more than his fair share of coverage.

"Our job is to report what's important," Small said. "Anyone who says Anderson is not important is kidding themselves."

"For us not to cover him would have been a dereliction of duty," Benjamin said.

All three network news executives said they would provide live coverage of the upcoming one-on-one debate between President Carter and Ronald Reagan.

ABC chose not to provide live coverage of the Baltimore debate between Anderson and Republican candidate Ronald Reagan.

The networks "can't make the candidates discuss something they don't want to discuss," Benjamin said.

Contamination is suspected

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The pilot of a Japan Air Lines 747 flight from Tokyo that landed Saturday at San Francisco International Airport reported the plane may be contaminated with radioactivity from a Chinese atom bomb test, officials said.

The lesson to be learned, Stenholm told the group, is that "if you want to keep Uncle Sam's hand out of the taxpayers pocket — and the public has told us loud and clear that that's just what they want: lower taxes — then you have to think twice before you look to that same hand for help."

Discussing problems among local health planning groups, Stenholm said he is a strong advocate of the philosophy that the best place for control of local services is at the local level.

"But conversely, that means that the best place for funding is also at the local level."

"As a Congressman, I am not going to tax the people I serve and then turn around and hand that money out — at either the local or federal level — without someone being accountable," he continued. "And that, generally, is where the problems begin."

Stenholm outlined problems encountered after health planners had asked Congress for funding of a network of Health Systems Agencies to assist in areawide planning to improve the health of area residents, increase quality of health services, restrain increases in costs of providing those services and to prevent duplication of health resources.

"No one can say that the HSAs are not the proper focus for coordinating planning and activities on a state, area and local level," he said, "and the job they have done in Texas is a

Controls come with gift of money, Stenholm says

ABILENE — State and local health officials are among those who are "finding out the hard way that when you get federal money, you get federal controls," Congressman Charles W. Stenholm told the West Texas Chapter of the Texas Public Health Association meeting here Friday.

"That's a lesson everyone who looks to Washington for any kind of funding has to accept," Stenholm said. "While I'll be the first to say it isn't the best way — the most efficient way — it is Uncle Sam's way."

The lesson to be learned, Stenholm told the group, is that "if you want to keep Uncle Sam's hand out of the taxpayers pocket — and the public has told us loud and clear that that's just what they want: lower taxes — then you have to think twice before you look to that same hand for help."

"No one can say that the HSAs are not the proper focus for coordinating planning and activities on a state, area and local level," he said, "and the job they have done in Texas is a prime example of the efficiency of local control. Congress approved a total of $1.037 billion from 1980-82 to fund the HSA program, but now questions have been raised concerning just who controls that $1.037 billion of the taxpayers' money."

Stenholm pointed out that "this is just one example among many of the strings attached to federal money. Someone has to be held accountable for that money. And, to be blunt, I guess that comes down to me. I'm accountable."

Looking ahead to the 97th Congress, Stenholm said he expected further attempts to pass a National Health Insurance Program, which he opposes, and to place a government cap on hospital costs, a measure that was defeated in the 96th Congress.

Total expenses to hospitals for both inpatient and out-patient services rose 15.3 percent this year.

Law suit filed over listings

MIDLAND — A law suit has been filed in Midland federal court over a dispute involving yellow page and white page listings in Odessa telephone directories covering four years.

Former U. S. Magistrate Jim Bobo and his law partner, Glenn Pipes of Odessa, contend in the law suit that Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., has cost them $15,000 in business during the years 1976 through 1980 because of incorrect listings of their business and residential addresses.

Pipes alleges that his name was misspelled in the 1977 directory.

The attorneys are seeking triple damages in the amount of $45,000.

"Students win more than awards and scholarships when they participate in the VFW Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program," said Commander M.H. Spivey, of VFW Post 2013, in discussing the broadcast scriptwriting program conducted annually by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary.

Some of the fringe benefits, according to Commander Spivey, are increased self-confidence and poise, experience in communicating with others and valuable training in self-expression. For the state winners, there is also the broadening experience of a five-day tour of Washington, D.C., and the opportunity to make lasting friendships with the other state winners.

In the 19 years that the VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary have sponsored the Voice of Democracy Program, more than 3,000,000 high school students have participated.

New concern over inflation

NEW YORK (AP) — Another surge in the nation's money supply has renewed concern among economists about rising interest rates and the Federal Reserve Board's strategy in fighting inflation.

The explosive growth in the money supply for the first week of October exceeded most expectations and wiped out two weeks of declining figures.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported Friday that the nation's basic money supply, known as M1A, which includes cash in circulation and commercial bank checking accounts, leaped $4.1 billion in the week ended Oct. 8, to a seasonally adjusted average of $385.8 billion.

Economists were not unanimous that the latest figures would prompt the Federal Reserve Board to tighten credit controls when its policy-making Federal Open Market Committee meets Tuesday to consider growth targets for the money supply in the fourth quarter. But all said it would have at least a short-term impact on interest rates in the money markets.

Trading had already ended for the week on the New York Stock Exchange when the figures were released late Friday, but bond prices fell about one-quarter of a point, or $2.50 for each $1,000 face value, after the report.

Lawrence A. Kudlow, chief economist at Bear, Stearns & Co., said the eighth week of growth in the money supply over the last 11 weeks "suggests monetary control has not been re-established" by the Fed. The growth in money supply includes a record $9.7 billion jump in M1A in the week ended Aug. 6.

"The inference is that at some point before or right after the (November) election, Fed (credit) policy will have to be tightened and interest rates will have to rise," said Kudlow.

"The psychology of inflation is fueled by budget deficits, which are unlimited, and money growth, which is uncontrolled," he said. The Fed said that M1B, a broader measure that includes funds in checking-type accounts at other financial institutions, soared $5.1 billion in the week ended Oct. 8, to a seasonally adjusted average of $409.7 billion.

Demos facing strong challenges

PRAYING AT VALLEY FORGE — Brian Sullivan takes the role of Gen. George Washington on Bible Class float.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anyone looking for action among Texas' 24 congressional districts on election night might do best by starting in Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth.

Most observers are predicting one of the closest races in the state will be the bitter 5th District rematch between incumbent Democrat Jim Mattox and Republican Tom Pauken in the Dallas area.

The other contest that crops up near the top of those lists of expected-to-be-close races is in the 8th District of the Houston area, where veteran incumbent Bob Eckhardt, a Democrat, is up against a strong challenge from Republican Jack Fields.

And, while it is generally not considered to be anywhere near as close a contest as those two potentially down-to-the-wire battles, the 12th District race in Tarrant County is hard to beat for interest.

It definitely will be attracting the most national attention.

That Fort Worth district is where House Majority Leader Jim Wright has been caught up in his hottest campaign in years by Republican conservative Jim Bradshaw, a former mayor pro-tem.

Bradshaw, attracting such colorful supporters as oil millionaire H.E. "Eddie" Chiles, contends that Wright has lost touch with the district by spending more than 25 years in Washington.

The Republican says the demands of the leadership position have forced Wright to adopt a more liberal posture.

Wright, in line to be the next House speaker, can point to his clout in Washington and claim it brings benefits to the district.

He also suggests that if he had not won the House leadership post, it would be in the hands of a liberal.

His supporters prefer describing the opposition as extremist rather than conservative, not representative of the majority of the district.

Wright is regarded as one of the most effective campaigners in the state and the congressional recess allows him to spend a solid month in Fort Worth before the election.

The conclusion for most observers is that it will be a tough race ending in a solid victory for Wright.

Republicans doubled their membership in the Texas congressional delegation two years ago, raising it from two to four.

Democratic hopes for regaining one of those seats are centered on the 22nd District in the Houston area, where incumbent Ron Paul of Lake Jackson is matched against Democrat Mike Andrews, a Houston attorney.

The district see-sawed between conservative Paul and liberal Democrat Bob Gammage in the past three elections.

Andrews, a moderate-conservative who has the support of the downtown Houston business establishment, defeated Gammage last May in the Democratic primary and has gone on to attack Paul as ineffective.

Paul is an ardent supporter of reducing government.

The district is expected to vote strongly for Republican Ronald Reagan for president, and that turnout could be the deciding factor.

Only two congressional seats — both held by Democrats — were opened by retirements this year in Texas, and both generally are expected to remain in Democratic hands.

In the 4th District, where longtime Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney is stepping down, former state Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is favored against Republican John Wright, a Tyler businessman.

State Sen. William Patman of Ganada, the son of former longtime Rep. Wright Patman, is considered to be running ahead in the heavily Democratic 14th District against Republican C.L. Conklin, a Corpus Christi physician.

Patman, however, has a liberal reputation in the basically conservative district, which should make the race more interesting.

The seat was opened when freshman Rep. Joe Wyatt of Victoria resigned, citing personal reasons.

Bible Class has winning float in local parade

For the third year in a row, the Bible Class won first place in the Parade Float Contest staged as a part of Homecoming activities at Big Spring High School last week.

"Prayer at Valley Forge" was the theme used by the class. It portrayed Gen. George Washington kneeling in prayer in the snow. Paper mache was used to depict snow.

Washington's men wounded, hungry and surrounded by hostile forces seemed in a hopeless situation but somehow they came through the ordeal after kneeling in prayer.

The class has been studying Moses' prayers in Exodus. The students also prayed for the husband of teacher Elizabeth Johansen, Johnny Johansen, is recovering from a heart attack.

"God hears (prayer) 1777-1981" was the sign appearing on the float.

KIM CHAPPELL, Statue of Liberty

The Statue of Liberty symbolically represents what the Americans of Revolutionary War times were fighting for, although it wasn't in existence then. Kim Chappell assumed the role of the Statue of Liberty in the parade. Kim is the club sweetheart. She stood on the gooseneck of the trailer in the parade.

Brian Sullivan, club president, took the part of Gen. Washington. Rudy Guerra was the wounded soldier. Danny Hernandez depicted the threatening savage who never quite let his arrow go.

Float workers wanted to show Valley Forge as cold and ominous and the Statue of Liberty as the only touch of beauty.

The gooseneck trailer was loaned by Johansen Landscape Company and was driven by Carl Johansen.

Aikens puts name in books as Royals even World Series

(AP LASERPHOTO)

KNOCKDOWN — Kansas City Royals slugger George Brett falls down and away from a pitch by Philadelphia Phillies pitcher Dickie Noles as catcher Bob Boone reaches for the pitch in the fourth inning of Saturday's World Series game in Kansas City. Umpire Don Denkinger watches the play.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Slugging Willie Aikens smashed his way into the World Series record book Saturday with a pair of tremendous home runs that led the Kansas City Royals to a 5-3 victory over Philadelphia in Saturday's fourth game of the battle for baseball's world championship.

Their second straight victory at home enabled the Royals to tie the best-of-seven series at 2-2, with Game 5 scheduled for Sunday. The teams return to Philadelphia for the sixth game Tuesday night.

Aikens exploded his third and fourth homers of this series in the first two innings as the Royals rushed into a big early lead. Then Dennis Leonard, loser of the first game, made the bulge stand up with a gritty nine-hitter before being relieved in the eighth.

Aikens also had two homers in the opening game of the series and became the seventh man in history to hit four or more homers in a single series. Duke Snider did it twice, and the others to accomplish the feat were Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth, Hank Bauer, Gene Tenace and Reggie Jackson, who owns the single-series record of five homers.

Four players — Gehrig, Ruth, Snider and Mickey Mantle — all had two-homer games twice in their careers, but Aikens became the first man to do it in a single series.

Aikens also became the fourth player in series history to hit homers in consecutive innings. The others were Ruth, who did it twice, Jackson and Ted Kluszewski.

The Royals came out swinging against Philadelphia starter Larry Christenson and it paid off.

Leadoff man Willie Wilson, battling a 1-for-13 series slump, opened with a single to left. Before Christenson threw a pitch to the next batter, Frank White, he threw over to first, hoping to keep the speedy Wilson close. But the pickoff attempt was in the dirt and skipped past Pete Rose into right field. Wilson raced around to third base on the error.

After White flied out, George Brett drilled a 1-1 pitch down the right-field line, scoring Wilson. It looked like a double, but Brett hustled it into three bases, sliding hard into third. He needn't have bothered, because Aikens was up next.

The strapping first baseman hit an 0-1 pitch on a line over the 385-foot sign in right field. The ball fell just short of the waterfalls that decorate the area beyond the outfield wall in this beautiful ballpark.

That made it 3-0 for Kansas City, but the Royals didn't stop there. Designated hitter Hal McRae drilled a base hit to center and hustled it into a double. When Amos Otis followed with another double for a 4-0 lead, it finished Christenson, with Dickie Noles relieving. Christenson had made 22 pitches in his brief stay and allowed 12 total bases.

A walk to Clint Hurdle and an infield single by U.L. Washington loaded the bases, but Noles retired Wilson to end the inning.

The Phillies nicked Leonard for a run in the second. Garry Maddox dropped a one-out single to right. Manny Trillo forced him at second, but when Washington's relay was wild for an error, Trillo advanced to second. Larry Bowa followed with an RBI single, making it 4-1.

But the Royals got that back in their half with Aikens. This time he hit a monster of a homer, high and deep into the Royals' bullpen in right. The ball bounced once and then disappeared into the tunnel behind the warmup area.

The crowd of 42,363 demanded a curtain call from the slugger, and Aikens came out of the dugout, waving his hat to acknowledge the cheers. The home run was the last of the Royals' scoring for the afternoon, but not the last of the cheering as the Kansas City crowd hailed the Royals through the closing innings of the game.

The two homers gave Aikens seven hits and eight runs batted in for the four games of the series. His batting average so far is a remarkable .467.

In the fourth, Noles sent Brett sprawling with a pitch just under his chin. Kansas City Manager Jim Frey dashed from the dugout, gesturing and shouting at the Phillies' pitcher, and for a moment it seemed this series might have a beanball brawl on its hands.

But the umpires interceded and after calming Frey down, warned both managers that any more close pitchers would result in expulsion of the pilot and the pitcher involved. The threat worked, and peace prevailed the rest of the way.

Leonard had an early four-run lead in the opener but squandered that one. This time the Kansas City righty held the Phillies off, protecting the 5-1 bulge until the seventh. Then he surrendered a run when Trillo doubled, moved to third on Bowa's single and scored on Bob Boone's sacrifice fly.

In the eighth, the Phillies picked up another run. Rose opened with a double and that brought in Dan Quisenberry, ace of the Kansas City bullpen. Rose advanced to third on an infield out and scored on Mike Schmidt's sacrifice fly. But it was the last gasp for the Phillies.

The come-from-behind style that has marked the club in its travels through the National League Championship Series and the first two games of this World Series wasn't there on Saturday.

Over stumbling SMU

Wild play sparks Cougar win

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Wide receiver Lonell Phea emerged from a wild scramble with a fumbled football in the end zone for Houston's only touchdown Saturday and the Cougars beat back a Southern Methodist rally for a 13-11 Southwest Conference victory over the Mustangs.

Houston evened its record at 3-3 for the season and jumped to 2-1 in SWC play while the Mustangs fell to 4-2 and 1-2.

The madcap third quarter play which gave Houston a 10-3 lead it never lost started on a 20-yard run by Teraid Clark who fumbled at the SMU 10. Wide receiver Eric Herring knocked the ball forward to the 3 where Phea tried to pick it up but knocked it into the end zone where he scored.

The defending SWC champion Cougars also got field goals of 39 and 25 yards from David Humphreys in the defensive dominated game that was regionally televised.

After a scoreless first quarter, Humphreys kicked a 39-yard field goal late in the second quarter to give Houston a 3-0 halftime lead.

Eddie Garcia's 43-yard field goal tied it before Phea made his alert play. Humphreys' second field goal put the Cougars up 13-3 before SMU came back in the fourth period.

SMU quarterback Mike Ford completed five passes on a 61-yard drive including 23 and 13 yarders to Anthony Smith to setup his one-yard sneak.

The Cougar defense led by linebacker Steve Bradham intercepted four Ford passes. Bradham had two including one at midfield late in the game.

Bradham's final interception came after Jared Moore had recovered Clark's fumble at the Mustang one-yard line. SMU drove to its 47 before Bradham made his big play.

Bama awesome in 27-0 win over Vols

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Peter Kim boomed four field goals and Ken Coley and Major Ogilvie scored touchdowns as top-ranked Alabama turned to an unyielding defense and buried Tennessee 27-0 in a regionally televised Southeastern Conference football game Saturday.

The Crimson Tide, reeling off their 27th consecutive victory, held Tennessee to minus 2 yards on offense in the first half and turned aside three third-quarter threats with two pass interceptions and a blocked field goal.

The outstanding defensive effort, led by Mike Pitts, Thomas Boyd and Jeremiah Castille, enabled Alabama to hand Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant his 302nd career victory in his chase of the all-time record of 314 held by Amos Alonzo Stagg.

It also was Alabama's 25th consecutive SEC victory and its 10th in a row over Tennessee in one of the top college football rivalries in the South. It gave the Tide 33-27 series advantage.

USC tied

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Tailback Marcus Allen rushed for 159 yards but Oregon's surprising defense stifled the rest of the Southern Cal offense Saturday as the Ducks stunned the second-ranked Trojans with a 7-7 Pacific 10 Conference football tie.

Oregon, 2-2-2, would have won the game but lost a fumble on the Southern Cal 1-yard line late in the first half.

The Trojans, 5-0-1, entered the contest on a 25-game unbeaten streak but were in serious trouble all afternoon.

JC paces OU win

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Quarterback J.C. Watts ran for three touchdowns and 137 yards and freshman halfback Buster Rhymes blazed for a score on a 100-yard kickoff return to highlight Oklahoma's 35-21 Big Eight Conference football victory over Kansas State Saturday.

For Philadelphia today

Dallas secondary ready

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dallas cornerback Aaron Mitchell is nicknamed "A.M.-P.M."

"They're wide awake when he hits 'em and their lights are out when he walks away," says Charlie Waters.

the Cowboys' 32-year-old strong safety.

Mitchell is one of two "kids" in the Cowboys' defensive secondary, a unit that drew chuckles at the start of the season but now gets a heap of respect, having allowed only three touchdown passes, while chalking up 12 interceptions.

The other new face belongs to Steve Wilson, a converted wide receiver. Both are 23 years old and both are expected to start at the corners Sunday when Dallas meets the Philadelphia Eagles here in a shootout for first spot in the NFC East. Both clubs are 5-1.

"I guess it's a good sign that our defensive system is working," Waters said this week. "I'm most amazed by the poise the kids have shown."

It was defense, especially the secondary, that came apart on the Cowboys last year as they gave up over 30 points in four of their last six regular season games.

Waters, who was sidelined with a knee injury in 1979, deserves much of the credit for putting things back together in 1980, even though he insists the key to Dallas's defensive success is the line.

"Hell, any NFL team could play with four rookie defensive backs if the horses up front do their job," he says.

"But the Eagles are impressive," Waters admits. "They really are. They have a veteran offensive line that is comfortable together and we have to make them uncomfortable."

"We gotta pressure (quarterback Ron) Jaworski, control (wide receiver Harold) Carmichael—at least on the big plays—and it would be nice if we could semi-control (halfback Wilbert) Montgomery."

Jaworski has noticed Dallas's improved defensive play.

"They seem to have better motivation, 'cause they're really flying around the ball," he says. "The secondary has been noticeably tougher."

Nebraska crushes Okie State

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Reserve I-back Craig Johnson rushed for three touchdowns and quarterback Jeff Quinn passed for two more as 10th-ranked Nebraska crushed winless Oklahoma State 48-7 in a Big Eight football clash Saturday.

Johnson, subbing for the injured Jarvis Redwine, scored on runs of 3, 17 and 1 yards as he rolled up 105 yards in 20 carries before a Nebraska homecoming crowd of 76,021.

Oklahoma State's Cowboys, 0-5, scored their lone touchdown following a Nebraska fumble on the Cornhusker 26 early in the second half when quarterback Houston Nutt hit Ron Ingram with a 14-yard scoring strike.

After grabbing a 14-0 lead before Oklahoma State's first snap of the ball, Nebraska, 5-1, struggled through the rest of the first half.

Quinn hit Jeff Finn with a 13-yard touchdown pass to cap an 80-yard drive on Nebraska's first possession. Oklahoma State's Ernest Anderson fumbled the ensuing kickoff and Nebraska's Rodney Lewis recovered at the Oklahoma State 26.

Baylor routs A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Halfback Walter Abercrombie broke three tackles in hauling a screen pass 15 yards for a touchdown and sprinted 71 yards with a pitchout for a score as No. 13 Baylor whipped Texas A&M 46-7 in a Southwest Conference clash Saturday.

Baylor, off to its best start in 27 years, marched to a first quarter field goal in a rainstorm, then scored three second-quarter touchdowns on passes by quarterback Jay Jeffrey.

Abercrombie, a 6-foot 203-pound junior, hiked the score to 32-0 early in the third quarter, racing 71 yards with a quick pitch for the longest rushing touchdown in his three-year career.

Abercrombie finished with 138 yards on 23 carries. It was the fifth game this year he has gone over 100 yards.

Baylor, among the nation's leaders in offense and defense, set a school record by scoring its fourth safety of the season when freshman tackle Paul Mergenhausen blocked an A&M punt out of the end zone.

Jeff Gandy partially blocked another A&M punt and Max McGeary partially blocked yet a third A&M punt. It was the 13th time in his career that McGeary has blocked a punt or field goal.

Fighting Irish bomb Army

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Linebacker Mark Zavagnin pounced on a blocked punt for one touchdown and set up another with a pass interception Saturday to lead fifth-ranked and undefeated Notre Dame to a 30-3 victory over Army.

Jim Stone, Blair Kiel and Ty Barber scored on short runs and Harry Oliver booted a 49-yard field goal as the Irish notched their fifth straight victory of the season and left Army with a 2-3-1 record.

Tar Heels keep record perfect

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Steve Streater galloped 37 yards for a touchdown on a fake punt midway through the second period and Rod Elkins flipped a 22-yard scoring pass to Victor Harrison 43 seconds later, triggering eighth-ranked North Carolina to a 28-0 victory over North Carolina State Saturday.

Elkins and Harrison teamed up on another touchdown pass in the final period and the sophomore quarterback scored himself on a 10-yard bootleg early in the third quarter as the unbeaten Tar Heels boosted their record to 6-0. They have a nine-game winning streak dating back to last season and the triumph also kept them atop the ACC at 3-0. State is 3-3 overall, 1-2 in conference play.

Buckeyes run by Indiana

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tailback Calvin Murray's best day as a college football player — 35 rushes for 224 yards — led ninth-ranked Ohio State to a 27-17 victory over Indiana in Big Ten Conference play Saturday.

Murray, a senior from Woodbine, N.J., scored on runs of 3 and 37 yards, helping the Buckeyes remain undefeated in the conference. Ohio State is 5-1 overall and 3-0 in the Big Ten.

Indiana, 4-2 overall and 1-2 in the conference, lost for the 17th straight time to Ohio State before a crowd of 87,957, the 75th straight sellout at Ohio Stadium.

Murray, whose previous personal highs were 19 carries and 135 yards for a single game, had 149 yards by halftime. The Buckeyes led 17-10 at that point.

Mike Harkrader, Indiana's all-time rushing champion, became the seventh player in Big Ten history to surpass 3,000 career yards. Harkrader, playing before his seriously ill father, Jerry Harkrader, ran 18 times for 117 yards.

Georgia freshman Walker gets 283 yards in 41-0 win

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Freshman sensation Herschel Walker exploded for 283 yards — a Georgia single-game rushing record — and scored three times on runs of 60, 48 and 53 yards as the unbeaten and sixth-ranked Bulldogs pounded winless Vanderbilt 41-0 in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday.

The 6-foot-1, 218-pound Walker ran over two defenders in racing 60 yards the first time he touched the ball with only 1:14 gone in the game. He set up Rex Robinson's 30-yard field goal with his next carry, a 38-yard burst later in the opening quarter and then ripped off his 48-yard TD early in the second period.

Walker, who now has 746 yards for the season, snapped the 35-year rushing record set by Charlie Trippi early in the final period when he burst 53 yards up the middle to give Georgia a 34-0 lead.

Walker did not return to the contest after that carry, giving him the 283 yards in 23 attempts, breaking the record of 239 set by Trippi in 1945.

In loss to Ropes

Returns costly to Forsan

ROPES — The Ropes Eagles used two long returns within a span of 25 seconds in the final minute of the first half to subdue the Forsan Buffaloes by a score of 27-14 here Friday night in a District 5-AA contest.

The Ropes team then sealed the contest in the final stanza on a time-consuming 85-yard drive that destroyed any Forsan hopes of winning their first district game.

The Forsan team got on the board first in the initial stanza when Brent Nichols raced in from the 18. The kick was no good, leaving the visiting Buffs with a 6-0 lead with over nine minutes gone in the contest.

Ropes tied the game shortly after that with the aid of a short Forsan punt. Alex Torres got the Ropes TD on a one-yard run on a fourth and one. The PAT failed, leaving the score at 6-6.

With only 40 seconds left in the half, Forsan punted, with Ropes return man Danny Moya scooping the ball off the ground with two Forsan defenders close by and racing 85 yards to paydirt. Moya then ran for the two-point conversion after faking a PAT boot.

Disaster continued for Forsan, as Terry Mayfield intercepted an Ernie Strickland pass just plays later and scooted 40 yards to paydirt and a 20-6 halftime lead for Ropes.

Forsan didn't quit, however, as Ricky Bedwell blocked a Ropes punt in the third stanza, with Lewis Boeker picking up the pigskin and running 22 yards for a touchdown. D.F. Stanley ran for the two-point conversion and the Buffs trailed by only 20-6.

But Ropes then used their time consuming 85-yard drive in the fourth stanza to seal the win. The Ropes team had four successful plays on fourth downs on the drive to keep the march alive, but it was a controversial call that aided the host team just as much.

Strickland intercepted a Ropes pass on a third and 20 in Ropes territory at the 40, but an official ruled that Strickland had interfered by going through the intended receiver.

"That was the key to the game," said Forsan Coach Ron Taylor of the call. "If we get the interception like it was, we have the ball on their end of the field and trail only by six. But it turns out that the next time we get the ball, it's in our end of the field and we trail by 13 with not much time left."

Ropes' touchdown off the lengthy drive was on a one-yard run by Moya. Gene Valentine booted the PAT.

Forsan, now 0-3 in district play and 1-6 on the year, comes home next week to face the always tough Seagraves Eagles. The win was the first for Ropes in district play.

Over Borden County

Grady takes surprise win

LLENORAH — The Grady Wildcats snapped a three-game losing streak here Friday night in taking a 35-16 upset win over the Borden County Coyotes in a District 2-A (six-man) football battle.

The win was the first in three district encounters for the Wildcats, and lifted their season mark at 3-3. Borden County, meanwhile, suffered its first district loss of the year, and now have a 4-2 season record.

Borden County scored first on a one-yard run by Sam Williams, with Junior Benavidez booting the two-point conversion.

But the aroused Grady team scored twice in the first period to regain the lead on a four-yard run by Lynn Key and a three-yard scamper by brother Larry Key. Larry Key added a one-point conversion run after the first TD, and booted a two-point conversion after the second touchdown of the period for a 15-8 advantage.

Borden County retaliated to take the lead once more in the second stanza when Benavidez booted a 42-yard scoring pass to Jim Rinehart. Benavidez kicked the PAT for a 16-15 Coyote lead.

But the Grady team scored again before halftime to regain the lead for good on a four-yard run by Larry Key following a fumble recovery by Alan Wagner on the 32. Key also kicked the two-point conversion.

After a scoreless third stanza, Grady scored twice in the final stanza.

The first came on a pass from Jackie Vining to Ron Deatherage, good for 32 yards, with the second being on a Larry Key pass to Leandro Gonzales from 20 yards out. Both PATs failed, leaving the final score at 35-15.

Coach Richard Gibson praised the defensive efforts of Gonzales, Lynn Key, Larry Key and Alfonso Cortez.

Offensive stars for Grady, which plays at McCauley next week, were Cortez with 57 yards rushing and five receptions, and Larry Key, who completed eight of 11 passes and had 43 yards rushing.

Names have changed, but Mojo's the same

LIKE IT WAS — A swarm of Odessa Permian Panther defenders give an ample description of how difficult it was for Big Spring runners to gain yardage on them consistently in Friday night's Mojo win. On the bottom is Big Spring's Richard Evans, who was stopped for no gain on this play deep in his own territory. Number 17 is Permian's Terry Rice.

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

ODESSA — The names have changed, the faces look different, but the team with the big P on their helmets that their fans that their fans call Mojo looks the same as the one last year, the year before and etc...

Odessa Permian, voted the outstanding football team in the state in the decade of the 70s, continued their perfect ways in the 80s, winning their sixth consecutive contest here Friday night in Barrett Stadium, methodically overpowering the outmanned Big Spring Steers by a score of 42-0.

The win was also the third without a defeat for Permian in District 5-AAAA play, and served as a warm-up for their battle with another undefeated, but once tied, Abilene Cooper team next week.

Big Spring, who nearly surprised both Abilene and Midland in their two previous encounters, fell to 0-3 in district play and 2-4 on the year.

Permian wasted no time in exciting the Homecoming crowd of over 10,000 when Coy Brown returned the opening kickoff 40 yards to the Panther 49-yard line. Only a saving tackle by Big Spring's David Bordéske prevented the Permian return man from going all the way. On the first play from scrimmage, Permian tailback Ken Sager fumbled, but the Mojo recovered, and after fullback Philip Crain rambled for 25 yards, Sager bolted into the end zone from the 12 with 10:12 left in the opening stanza. Roy Dunn booted the PAT.

The Steers, with Bobby Earl Williams, the district's leading rusher on the bench for disciplinary reasons, could not make a first down in the opening stanza, but the Big Spring defense held the Permian offense without any damage for the remainder of the opening quarter.

The Steers were backed up in their own territory, and a great Permian interception by defensive cornerback Terry Rice on a deflected Tracy Spence screen pass set Permian up on the Steers 18 with less than a minute left in the opening period.

After moving for a first down at the Steer three, Permian's peanut sized quarterback, Jerry Hix, passed three yards to Dale Carr in the end zone for a touchdown. Dunn booted the PAT.

The Steers, with the aid of a pass interference and the running of Richard Evans and Danny Stephens, moved for a pair of first downs to the Permian 43-yard line.

At this point, on a fourth and one and trailing by two touchdowns, Big Spring Coach Ralph Harris elected to go for it and try to maintain the drive.

But a swarming Permian defense stopped Evans for a two yard loss, and the game was soon put out of reach by the opportunistic team of Coach John Wilkins.

Permian, with the aid of a questionable pass interference call against Evans on the 26, took eight plays to cover the 55 yards, with Carr getting the final eight yards and a 20-0 Mojo lead. The powerful 240-pound Dunn again converted.

Williams entered the game for Big Spring at this point, but it was too late. He ran hard the remainder of the way, but the quick Permian defense prevented any of his patented breakaway jaunts.

Permian scored their final touchdown of the first half on their next drive, marching 59 yards in seven plays. Big play of the scoring drive just before halftime was a 25-yard completion from Hix to Bobby Carrasco. Sager, who rushed for 126 yards in the contest, bulled over from the 10 with 1:34 left in the half. Dunn converted.

The Steers never quit in the contest, playing the final two stanzas as hard as possible. And although only 11 people can play at once,

"Fifth Permian shutout"

Coahoma warms up for district with big upset of Kermit

By DWIGHT HEINS

COAHOMA — Two Clint Elliot touchdown runs and a staunch Coahoma defense allowed the Bulldogs to pull a 14-6 upset of the state's number 21 ranked team in Class AAA, the Kermit Yellowjackets here Friday night.

Elliot's 13-yard run around left end with 10:05 was the clincher for the Bulldogs, who are now 2-4-1 on the season. They will take next week off before starting District 6-AAA action against Crane.

Kermit, meanwhile, slipped to 5-2 on the year. It was their second straight setback.

Coahoma had a couple of scoring opportunities in the first quarter, but couldn't capitalize.

On Kermit's second possession of the contest, Roger Short fumbled the ball, with alert Bulldog Bruce Walker pouncing on the pigskin, giving Coahoma a fairly good field position at their own 43.

Things looked bright as Bulldog Manuel Martinez scampered downfield 22 yards on a double reverse. But on the next play, another miscue handed the football back to a hungry Yellow Jacket defense at its own 35-yard line.

Another Short fumble would once again give Coahoma fine field position, this time at the Kermit 48.

A 37-yard quick pass from Bulldog quarterback Philip Ritchey to Manuel Martinez advanced the ball to the Kermit 11-yard line. But things turned sour as the drive was halted by a wide Robert Walker field goal attempt.

Coahoma had another shot to score in the first quarter when Martinez sped 25 yards down left end, just 20 yards short of paydirt. But a stingy

Yellow Jacket defense stopped Martinez short of a first down as the ball turned over on downs.

The Bulldogs found the saying "the third time is a charm" was on its third trip.

But on Coahoma's fourth crack into Kermit territory, things began paying off as Elliot took off around right end from the 22 to score with 9:36 left in the half.

A successful Robert Walker kick gave Coahoma a 7-0 lead, which is the way it remained at halftime.

The third stanza of action was a defensive struggle, with neither team generating much of an offensive threat, as the score remained 7-0.

But at the beginning of the fourth quarter, a Yellow Jacket fumble on a punt return was recovered by the Bulldogs at the Kermit 15.

Two plays later, with 10:05 left in the game, Elliot ran 13 yards around left end for a touchdown, with Walker's PAT handing Coahoma a 14-0 lead.

But one possession later, Elliot's fumble gave Kermit the ball at the Bulldog 23. Kermit moved to the 14, but a 15-yard penalty moved the ball back.

But one possession later, Elliot fumbled, giving Kermit the ball at the Bulldog 23.

A penalty stopped the Yellow Jackets for the moment, but Earl Stanley passed 22 yards to Wes Davis with 5:57 remaining for the lone score of the evening for Kermit.

The try for two failed, leaving Coahoma with a 14-6 lead.

Kermit's last threat of the evening diminished when Coahoma's Bruce Walker intercepted a Stanley pass attempt with just under a half a minute, insuring the Bulldog win.

After going five straight weeks without a win, the triumph at this stage of the season was most pleasing to the Bulldogs.

"This is the first game this year that we've gone out and played four quarters," said Coahoma assistant coach Doug Harriman. "We came together as a team, and it couldn't have come at a better time, as our next game begins district."

The Coahoma coaching staff praised the entire defense, with special mention being given to linebackers Robert Walker and Bobby Jackson, and Terry Russell, tackles Tony Uranga and Jay Hall, and safety Bruce Walker.

The Bulldogs made some big changes in the offensive line during the past week, and it seemed to pay off. The newly constructed line of center Faron Phinney, guards Reagan Brooks and Lynn Hinsley, tackles Jeff Thompson and Tracy Van Ness and tight end Randy Clanton did an excellent job of blocking. Clanton also had three pass catches for 27 yards.

Klondike stops Bearkats

GARDEN CITY — The Klondike Cougars continued their assault on District 3-A (West Zone) opponents here Friday night, taking a 48-0 win over the scrappy Garden City Bearkats.

The massive Klondike team used three touchdowns by Marty Trevino in the contest to spark their attack, which netted 380 yards rushing.

The Klondike defense, meanwhile, held the Bearkat offense to only five first downs and four yards rushing. Garden City gained a measure of respect by passing for 107 yards.

Klondike opened the scoring in the first period on a 21 yard run by Lonnie Ferguson, and then added two touchdowns in the second quarter for a 20-0 halftime lead.

The much larger Cougars then stopped the rout in the final half, scoring once in the third stanza and adding three touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Trevino scored once in the second quarter and twice in the fourth period. Mike Arismendez scored once, and James Martin booted four PATs successfully.

Fifth Permian shutout too much for Steers

The Steers held Permian in check in the third stanza, with Mojo helping out by fumbling twice to the Steers. But Big Spring returned the favor on one of their deepest penetrations of the night, as Spence lost the pigskin after a hard hit on the Permian 39.

Permian's regulars got their final touchdown early in the fourth stanza when Hix hooked up with Carrasco on a six-yard scoring toss. Dunn converted with exactly 11 minutes remaining in the game.

Permian's final drive by some fresh reserves was keyed by a 26-yard pass from quarterback Brown to Brett Barham, setting the stage for a 32-yard run by tailback Steve Striffler, who broke right on a sweep, then cut back against the grain and outran the tired Big Spring defenders to paydirt. Dunn tacked on the final point of the night for the Mojo with less than eight minutes to play.

Big Spring moved to the Permian 34 in the latter stages of the game, but Permian saved their fifth shutout win in six triumphs by knocking loose the pigskin, recovering it on their own 27.

The Steers must simply regroup and prepare for the Midland Lee Rebels next week. The Rebels are certainly not Permian, but proved that they have great potential in tying Abilene Cooper 21-21 Friday night.

Williams was the leading rusher for the Steers with 44 yards on 11 carries, while Evans carried 10 times for 43 steps. Williams also had four catches for 20 yards.

FACE MASK DELUXE — An unidentified Big Spring Steer tackler finds one way to stop the Permian attack in Friday night's contest at Barrett Stadium, grabbing the face mask of Permian halfback Steve Striffler. Following the play is Big Spring's Tony Kennedy (83).

Stanton escapes with 14-13 win

STANTON — Richard Parker blocked a Morton extra point attempt early in the fourth quarter, and the Stanton Buffaloes then hung on for a tough 14-13 win over the Morton Indians in a District 5-AA contest here Friday night.

Stanton entered the contest undefeated, and it looked at the first that it would be an easy triumph. Buff tailback Kevin Newman ran over from the two with 53 seconds remaining in the initial quarter, with Craig Eiland's PAT boot giving Stanton an early 7-0 lead.

Lake View passes Lamesa

SAN ANGELO — Quarterback Steve Hernandez completed 12 passes for 201 yards in leading the San Angelo Lake View Chiefs to a 21-0 win over the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes in a District 2-AAAA game here Friday night.

Two of Hernandez's passes were for touchdowns, the first in the second period on a 17 yard pass to Jimmy Marsh and the second on a 17 yard pass to Eddie Sosa in the final period to ice the game.

The Lake View defense was also a major factor in the contest, limiting the Golden Tors to only three first downs and 64 yards total offense. Lake View, meanwhile, piled up 344 yards total offense.

After a scoreless first quarter, Lake View lit the scoreboard on a seven-yard run by Hernandez, and he connected with Marsh shortly after for a 14-0 half-time bulge.

The win gives the Chiefs a district record 2-2 and a season mark of 3-3, while Lamesa fell to 1-4 in league play and 2-5 on the year.

Wylie countered for their only touchdown of the game in the second stanza when Bill Joe Schulle ran over from the one. Schulle then booted the PAT, which proved to be the winning margin. Neither team could score in the final half.

remaining in the half when tailback Lewis Henry dashed over from the 13, with Eiland booting the PAT.

But Morton rallied back, and with 1:27 to go in the half, tailback James Dent scored, with Billy Cadenhead's PAT boot narrowing the Stanton lead to 14-7.

Morton took the opening kickoff of the second half on their own three and marched 91 yards to the Stanton six, only to be shut off on downs by the tough Buff defense at that point.

But the visitors came back, and on the first play of the fourth period, Cadenhead ran in from the eight to cut the Stanton advantage to 14-13.

But Parker came through with his heroics at this time, nixing the attempt at a tie.

Neither team mounted a scoring threat in the remainder of the game, with Stanton's Curtis Williams corraling his second in-

5-AAAAA Roundup Cooper rallies for tie with Lee, 21-21

ABILENE — The aroused Midland Lee Rebels jumped out to an early 21-6 lead, only to see the Lanny Dycus led Abilene Cooper Cougars rally and settle for a 21-21 tie in a District 5-AAAAA encounter here Friday night.

Lee's Darren Williams returned the opening kickoff 85 yards to paydirt, and Rebel defensive back Jesse Fennell intercepted a Dycus pass on the initial Cooper possession to give the visitors a 14-0 lead before their offense had even stepped onto the field.

Cooper came back to score on a Dycus pass to Richard Flores, but Lee's Calvin Riggs ran one yard to increase the Rebel lead to 21-6 early in the second frame.

But Dycus engineered two scoring drives before the half, throwing a touchdown pass to Flores from the 31 and running over once himself. But both of their PAT's failed, and the undefeated Cougars trailed by 21-18 at half.

Cooper tied the game at 21-21 in the third stanza on a 22-yard field goal by Mike Stills.

The hosts drove to the Lee one-yard line in the fourth quarter, but the Rebel defense halted the charge and escaped with a tie.

Cooper is now 2-0-1 in league play and 5-0-1 on the year, while Lee is 1-1-1 in district play and 3-2-1 on the season.

Cooper travels to play Permian next week, while the Rebels are on the road at Big Spring.

Midland passes Abilene with late touchdown, 7-3

MIDLAND — Midland quarterback Michael Feldt passed 15 yard to 250-pound tight end Wade Johnson with 3:31 remaining in the game to propel the Midland Bulldogs to a 7-3 win over the Abilene Eagles in a surprising defensive struggle here Friday night in a district affair.

All of the scoring in the contest came in the final stanza, as Abilene's Ken Hall booted a 25-yard field goal for a 3-0 Eagle lead with over 10 minutes to play.

That score was set up on a 16-yard run on a fake punt by Loyal Proffitt.

After Midland came back to take the lead for good, Abilene made a last gasp attempt at winning, driving to the Bulldog eight.

But Proffitt was stopped on a fourth-and-six situation at the Midland five.

Abilene had 15 first downs to Midland's 13, and the edge in total offense by 241 to 218. Each team had two turnovers.

OHS edges San Angelo

SAN ANGELO — The Odessa Bronchos used the running of Johnny Subia and Dwayne Conklin to take a hard earned 20-13 win over San Angelo and ruin the Bobcats Homecoming festivities.

The win was the second in three 5-AAAAA starts for the OHS crew of Coach Jerry Millsaps, and increased their season mark of 5-1. San Angelo dropped to 0-3 and 0-6.

Subia scored on a 46-yard run in the second stanza, but San Angelo, playing their best game of the year, came back to tie it at 7-7 at the intermission when Kenny Love rambled over from the five.

Conklin put the Bronchos ahead to stay in the third stanza on a 32-yard run, and Greg Adams bulled over from the three to increase the OHS lead to 20-7 in the final stanza.

But San Angelo came back, as former quarterback Kel Crain, in his first start at fullback, ran in from the two to bring the Angry Orange back to within seven at 20-13.

WYLIE — A missed extra point in the first quarter proved to be fatal to the Colorado City Wolves here Friday night, as they suffered a 7-6 loss at the hands of Abilene Wylie in the District 7-AAA opener for both schools.

The win gives Wylie a record of 3-4, while Colorado City fell to 2-4-1 with the loss.

Colorado City's Doug Johnson opened the scoring with a two-yard run with just over five minutes gone in the contest. But the PAT failed.

State has handle on it

Costly consultant fees

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — When state government can't — or won't — do it itself, the usual answer is hire a consultant.

Since January, state agencies have signed consultant contracts worth more than $6.5 million. Millions of additional dollars have been paid for other outside professional services.

In past years, those services have included part-time priests and country singers for the Texas Department of Corrections, dentists and doctors for poor children and special investigators for at least two agencies.

Unlike some states and federal agencies, however, Texas seems to have gotten a handle on the hire-a-consultant syndrome, although there is room for improvement.

"Reports of abuses have dropped off a whole lot," says Sally Watkins, aide to Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin.

Doggett was the chief campaigner for legislation aimed at stopping such abuses as "brother-in-law" contracts without competitive bidding. The governor now has a veto over any consultant contract costing over $10,000, and agencies must issue public invitations to bid.

Consultant contracts got a lot of attention in 1978 when it came to light that Gov. Dolph Briscoe was keeping his payroll down by hiring a firm to staff the Governor's Office of Migrant Affairs. Briscoe also hired a number of his ex-employees as consultants.

State law now requires disclosure if a consultant has worked for a state agency within two years before receiving a contract.

Legislation passed last year authorized a heavy state investment in energy research. The Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council has commissioned 19 studies, ranging from lignite gasification to solar cooking.

The solar cooking contract went to the Oscar Mayer Co. — as in Oscar Mayer wieners — at Sherman.

McGraw-Hill holds this year's biggest consultant contract, $1,975,000 to conduct the statewide Texas Assessment of Basic Skills testing of school children.

Sometimes, a consultant contract offers a way out of a knotty personnel problem.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown wanted to hire Dr. John Hutchison, retired director of Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service and Brown's old boss. But Hutchison couldn't draw both a state paycheck and a state retirement check.

So Brown got Gov. Bill Clements' approval of a $100-a-day consultant contract for Hutchison to "help develop guidelines to make Texas No. 1 in agricultural income and profitability."

Hutchison got an office down the hall from Brown's and advised Brown on such things as gasohol.

"I would say he almost works full time... Somebody is trying to hire him every day from us," Brown said. Within a week, he announced that Texas A&M had hired Hutchison.

An agency may hire consultants only if there is a "substantial need" for their services and the agency cannot do the job with its own people.

When the Texas Rehabilitation Commission wanted to upgrade the training of its employees on their civil rights, it hired ARBEC Inc. for $41,000.

Dr. Maurice Dutton, president of ARBEC, said the commission will get "a total training program," including reference manuals, group exercises, slide shows and trainers' guides.

Dutton said he welcomes the new competitive bidding requirements.

"It has made no difference in our company's success," he said.

Audits of the 10 largest state agencies indicate fairly heavy reliance on outsiders for services not covered by the consultant rules.

The Texas Department of Corrections paid between $1,200 and $1,800 each to three Catholic priests and fees up to $10,000 to country singers Tammy Wynette, Tom T. Hall, Larry Gatlin and Freddy Fender.

TDC spokesman Rick Hartley said the singers were paid from gate receipts for performing at the Prison

Voters face decision

Unusual opportunity

Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas voters have the unusual political opportunity Nov. 4 to help select two of the state's highest judges from opposing parties.

The general election also ends the first political season in which high court candidates have traveled over the state actively seeking votes from everyone, not just lawyers and judges.

The top judicial attraction on the ballot is the hot contest between Associate Justice Will Garwood, 48, of the Texas Supreme Court, the first Republican appointee since Civil War days, and Judge C.L. Ray, also 48, Democrat, of the Texarkana Court of Civil Appeals.

Key elements of deep drilling is talk topic

Erich F. Klementich, vice president and general manager of Great Lakes Engineering, Inc., of Houston, will discuss the key elements for successful deep drilling of oil and natural gas wells at a meeting of the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers to be held Tuesday, at Ranchland Hills Country Club in Midland. A social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a buffet to follow at 6:30 p.m.

According to Klementich, who is on a speaking tour as part of the Society's Distinguished Lecturer

Ausmus talks on smoking

To smoke or not to smoke. That is today's question for many people. "No smoking" signs have sprouted in recent years — invading all areas where groups of people may be found. This controversial subject will be explored Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Tumbleweed Room of the Student Union Building on the Howard College campus.

Paul Ausmus, Head of the Howard College Science Department, will present a program titled "The Biological Aspects of Smoking." Mr. Ausmus will use charts, slides, and visual aids to accompany his discussion. A question-and-answer period will follow the talk.

The Anthony Hunt Library is sponsoring the program as one of the annual Library Lecture series. All residents of the Howard College area are urged to attend. High School students of the surrounding schools are invited. Refreshments will be served.

program, adequate technology exists to successfully drill and complete deep wells. However, too often the hole is lost or fails to meet its objective because of errors in management, engineering, or operations.

Klementich emphasizes organization and management as effective tools to overcoming these problems. Engineering guidelines related to the application of current deep-drilling technology and suggestions for reducing operational problems are also stressed.

Klementich holds a BS degree in mechanical engineering from California State U. in Los Angeles. Before joining Great Lakes Engineering, he worked for Shell Oil Co., where he was engaged in ultradeep drilling in the Gulf Coast, Mid-Continent, and Rocky Mountain areas.

SPE is an international organization of some 40,000 engineers, scientists, and managers engaged in the production of energy resources through wellbores.

Income has exceeded expenses

Harle Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Incumbent Democrat Jim D. Rudd of Brownfield has received more in contributions than he has spent in his campaign against Republican E.L. "Ed" Hicks of Denver City for the District 77 House seat.

In addition to the $12,784 in contributions he noted in his officeholder's report last March, Rudd has reported taking in $6,525 from April 24 through Sept. 25, for total contributions of $19,309, according to campaign finance reports filed with the secretary of state.

Hicks' latest campaign finance report, which should have been mailed no later than Oct. 6, had not been received by the secretary of state as of Wednesday afternoon.

Rudd also has reported spending $1,534 during that same five-month period, and $7,961 for the campaign after expenses in his officeholder's report have been taken into account.

Among the major contributors listed in his latest report to the secretary of state were PACT, a Houston-based organization of conservative businessmen, $750; insurance agents, $600; dentists, $500; life underwriters, Texas Electric Service Co. employees and osteopaths, $300 each; Sport Political Action Committee of Houston, Lubbock truckers and doctors, $250 each; cattle feeders of Amarillo, nursing home administrators and Bell Telephone employees, $200 each; T-Fund Political Committee of Amarillo.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"BUT HE'S BAWLIN' SOMEBODY OUT... AN' I DON'T THINK IT'S ME!"

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TODAY, OCTOBER 19, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A time when you have conflicting views with others. Be sure to accept differences in a philosophical manner. Don't force any issues with family members at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Make certain you handle any responsibilities you have in a most precise manner. Engage in favorite hobby with abundance.

TAURUS (Mar. 21 to May 20): Use diplomacy instead of forcefulness with mate and you get along better. Make long range plans to have more abundance.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Try to please family members and come to a better understanding with them. Take no risks where your reputation is concerned.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Plan how to have greater income in the days ahead. Analyze your aims and gain the support you need from others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Concentrate on how you can be more productive in the future. An intuitive prompting could be erroneous now so don't follow it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Try to enlist the help of loyal friends for a new project you have in mind. Make practical plans for the days ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Make some needed changes at home so that you have more comfort there. Allow time for recreational activities; you enjoy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Good day to engage in activities that most appeal to you. Adopt a philosophy that can be good for you in the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Try to have more harmonious relations with family members. Make plans that can bring advancement in your career.

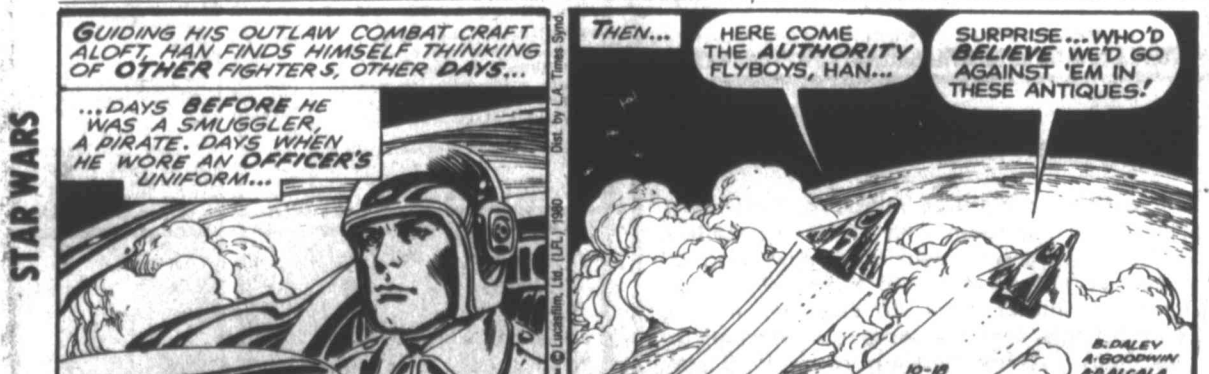

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Outline projects you want to put in operation in the future. A good time to visit good friends and relatives.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Use common sense in handling matters of communication and get excellent results. Make this a worthwhile day.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Enjoy small pleasures you like in the company of congenials. Show more devotion to mate and express happiness together.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be very ambitious to give the best education possible in preparation for a most successful life. Spiritual training is important here and so are sports that teach fair play. A good family life in this chart.

"The Stars Impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

'He knows you're alone'

Macabre film at Cinema

A Lansbury-Beruh Production, MGM's "He Knows You're Alone" was directed by Armand Mastroianni and produced by George Manasse from a screenplay by Scott Parker. Edgar Lansbury and Joseph Beruh were executive producers of the terror tale starring Don Scardino, Caitlin O'Heary, Elizabeth Kemp, Lewis Arlt, Patsy Pease, James Rebhorn, Tom Hanks, Dana Barron and Tom Roling in a cast composed of relatively new faces. It opened Friday at the Cinema Theatre through release United Artists, a Transamerica Company. Set in a small townish New York suburb, "He Knows You're Alone" centers on a young bride-to-be who becomes convinced that someone is watching and following her. She describes him as a tall, gaunt figure, sometimes seen holding a butcher's knife. Her friends assume she is suffering a bad bout of pre-nuptial jitters. And those who can confirm her fears are in no condition to do so—since the stranger has already hacked them to death. In mounting the macabre tale, says Mastroianni, he intentionally chose cheerful surroundings. "When people see a spooky old castle, with lightning flashing around it, they know they're supposed to be scared," he points out. "It's been done, pardon the expression, to death." "But when the scene of the crime is friendly and familiar, they're lulled into a false sense of security." Among the pervasively pleasant environs in "He Knows You're Alone" are a small town amusement park, a cavernous art deco movie theatre, a jogger's path through a sunlit glen, the sanctuary of a church and oddly, most menacing of all, a snug, inviting home on a suburban side street. To conform with the concept of making "common, everyday" locales ominous.

One-person show opens on Friday

Jeannette Cliff George, star of "The Hiding Place," opens "Rachel, Woman of Masada," a one person show by Jewel Gibson, at the Globe of the Great Southwest 8:00 p.m. next Friday, for a two weekend run. Jeannette Cliff George, known by many for her moving portrayal of Corrie in "The Hiding Place," brings "Rachel, Woman of Masada" to the Globe following a successful opening in Houston. A veteran actress and vivacious Christian speaker, Mrs. George's credits are many, having toured with the New York Shakespeare Festival, performed in off-Broadway productions and acted in various regional theatres such as the Dallas Theatre Center and the Alley Theatre in Houston. Most recently, she founded the After Dinner Players, a contemporary Christian touring troupe based in Houston. In "Rachel, Woman of Masada," Mrs. George portrays a Jewish matron struggling to keep her family together while maintaining their faith in God during the Roman siege of Masada. Written by Jewel Gibson, the play is set in a desolate fortress atop the plateau of Masada on the western edge of the Dead Sea. Following the Jewish rebellion against the Roman empire in 66 A.D., a band of nearly 1,000 Jewish zealots retreated to Masada as a final refuge from the Roman troops sent to quell the revolt. Rather than face capture and enslavement by the Romans, most of the defenders of Masada chose to take their own lives the night before Masada fell.

Reference collection excellent at library

By REBECCA TAYLOR
Reference Librarian

Your Howard County Library is a ready source of a wide variety of information. Beside our regular collection, we maintain an extensive and varied reference collection. The type of books kept on Reference are those most often used to give brief answers to questions. Encyclopedias, dictionaries and almanacs come readily to mind as general reference works. Special subject areas also have their 'general' works. There are art encyclopedias, science dictionaries and literary almanacs. In most areas there are also directories such as the Congressional Staff Directory, Encyclopedia of Associations, etc. Biographical information in various areas include Dictionary of Scientific Authors and Who's Who in American Politics. There are books on historic documents, colleges and universities, and many other subjects.

An extensive section is devoted to literature. There are short summaries of the plots of well known works and Book Review Digest is fairly current in the short descriptions of recent books. Bartlett's Familiar Quotations and Survey of Science Fiction Literature are works that help illustrate the diversity of materials. One source of information rarely thought about is the library staff. We have a well educated, well rounded and talented staff. All of the regular, full-time staff members have some college or equivalent experience. A Bachelor's degree and an Associate's degree are sprinkled among us. Each member of the regular staff has his or her own area of special interest which we call upon freely to help answer questions and supply information. The person patrons con-

INDIVIDUALIZED HELP — Through the Title I Compensatory Reading Program, educationally deprived students are given the helpful individualized instruction they need to achieve their reading grade level. Pictured

SPECIAL LEARNING STYLES — Educators realize that certain students have special learning styles. Title I Compensatory Reading presents an eclectic approach to reading. Students may learn differently, therefore, many approaches to reading are utilized. Here, Harlan Huibregtse, right, looks on as Bauer Elementary School Title I teacher Betty Lepard (center) teaches special learning techniques to Mary Barraza and Martin Yanez.

Success attributed to combined efforts

TEA applauds local Title I program

By ROBBICROW
Family News Editor

Walking into a Title I Compensatory Reading classroom is the first step on a magical adventure through the world of words.

Cheerful, highly dedicated teachers with impressive teaching records greet the elementary youngsters each day.

Enthusiastically, these master teachers and their aides lead the students through a unique jungle, inhabited not by wild animals with loud roars, but by friendly letters with pleasing sounds.

The federally-funded program was initiated into the Big Spring Independent School District to give individualized instruction to educationally deprived students.

Program goals are realistically set to help children reach their potential and motivate them to have success in the school setting.

Overseeing the system are Jean Wilder, Title I supervisor, administrator, and Helen Gladden, elementary curriculum coordinator. "The program is built on community commitment and involvement of students, parents, teachers and administrators," revealed Mrs. Wilder.

Over the years, the local program has made consistent gain as shown through student test scores.

An on-site visit from Texas Education Agency Reading Specialists resulted in the nomination of the local program for exemplary validation.

Recently, the TEA Steering Committee for Demonstration Programs for School Improvement informed

Lynn Hise, BSISD superintendent, that the local Title I program has been validated and chosen as an exemplary program in the state of Texas.

The Big Spring program is one of four such programs chosen from an initial set of over 25 nominated during the past year.

"Big Spring was chosen because of exceptional gain on achievement scores in reading due to the expertise demonstrated by reading teachers," the Title I supervisor pointed out.

Educators throughout the state will be visiting the local program in order to gather ideas for the improvement of their reading programs.

Mrs. Wilder and Mrs. Gladden were in El Paso recently presenting a demonstration of Big Spring's program to 250 people seeking ways to better their respective school's program.

"Many school districts don't get the results Big Spring does," stated Mrs. Gladden.

One major uniqueness revealed about Big Spring's Title I set up is the close working relation between the elementary curriculum coordinator and the Title I supervisor in planning meaningful instruction to meet the needs of all children.

"Our success is the result of combined efforts," they both agreed. "We serve the kids."

A student's eligibility for the compensatory reading program is determined by a combination of factors.

Classroom teachers refer children whom they feel could benefit. Then a screening test is given to see if the student actually qualifies.

"A lot of people think the program is for children with learning disabilities," related Karen Adams, primary reading teacher at Moss Elementary School. "But it's not."

"A child only has to be a month or two behind his grade reading level to be eligible for the Title I program," she explained.

Title I teachers then have conferences with classroom teachers. California Achievement Tests taken in the fall are also studied to provide more feedback on the child's over-all learning progress.

"Once a child is in the program," Mrs. Adams said, "he's in for the entire year. We don't take him out as soon as he starts progressing, even if another student comes along later who is more qualified."

Exiting a student prematurely from the program could result in his need for it again in years to come.

At the conclusion of the school year, a post test is given to measure gains made by each student.

"Then next year is a whole new ball game," added Mrs. Adams. "The student may not have to take it again. Kids aren't locked in."

Mrs. Adams also revealed that some students who exit the program advance to the top reading group in their regular class.

The Title I Reading program does not, in any way, replace the regular reading class.

"Title I is only a supplement to what they are learning in the classroom," Mrs. Adams explained. "It just provides reinforcement and extra backup work."

As far as the program participants themselves are concerned, there's no doubt about it, the compensatory reading program is a winner.

"The kids just love it," remarked Mrs. Adams. "You never hear any moans and groans out of them."

Special material, including visual and audio machinery, ear-pleasing tapes and eye-catching booklets, are the main means of magnetism the program possesses.

Tape players vibrate with the various letter sounds to be learned that particular day as the students obey the recorder's command to write the letter "r".

With earnest and diligent expressions beaming from their faces, the young learners resemble miniature artists at work, taking much pride in the construction of each letter.

Soon their wrinkled brows are replaced by self-confident glows as they complete their letter-perfect masterpieces.

Title I Compensatory Reading turns learning into an enchanting experience.

Freda Cushing teaches primary Title I reading at Washington

COMBINED EFFORTS MEAN SUCCESS — Because of the combined efforts of students, parents, teachers and administrators, the Big Spring Title I Compensatory Reading program has become a highly successful program. Just recently, it was validated by the Texas Education Agency Steering Committee for Demonstration Programs for School Improvements and chosen as an exemplary program in the state of Texas. Pictured is Sherry Newton, director Parent Advisory Council President, discussing plans with Washington Elementary School Title I reading teachers, Martha Fielding, and Freda Cushing.

Elementary School and wild horses couldn't drag her away from the position she's held for the past six years.

"I think the compensatory reading program is the best thing that ever happened to the school system," she stated wholeheartedly. "I would never want to do anything but this. I love it."

Mrs. Cushing recalls last year as the most rewarding experience of her six-year involvement with the program.

"A little fourth-grade boy was placed in my reading class. It was his first year in our school. He had never read a word before in his life," she remembered.

Uncertain as to whether or not she would be able to help the youngster,

Mrs. Cushing accepted the challenge. Through the techniques used in the Title I reading program, the child amazingly achieved his fourth grade level by the end of the school year.

"You can't imagine his face when he completed reading his first book," Mrs. Cushing said with pride. "Seeing a child's eyes when it finally comes through, makes it all worthwhile," she concluded.

In addition to student, teacher and administrator cooperation, parental involvement plays a major role in the program's success.

Each school has a Parent Advisor Council. Members are involved in the total regular elementary program in addition to the Title I program.

Thus, the assistant supervisor in charge of curriculum, principals, elementary curriculum coordinator, Title I supervisor, teachers and parents have input in establishing the objectives for student achievement.

"Educators realize that certain students have special learning styles," conveyed Mrs. Wilder. "Title I Compensatory Reading presents an eclectic approach to reading."

Students may learn differently, therefore, many approaches to reading are utilized. The area of self-concept is also a top priority in the program.

Recently, BSISD districts visited the Title I program in Big Spring school year.

"The entire BSISD local area receives visits from many in Title I districts, this school year," the supervisor concluded.

LEARNING THE FUN WAY — Specialized material is a vital part of the Title I Compensatory Reading Program. Ear-pleasing tapes and eye-catching booklets make learning a fun experience. Moss Elementary students

SUPPLEMENT, NOT REPLACEMENT — The Title I Compensatory Reading Program in Big Spring elementary schools is in no way a replacement for regular curriculum reading classes. The program is designed as a supplement to reinforce what students learn in the classroom. College Heights students reinforcing their basics, with the help of primary reading teacher, Carrie Mae Barber, left, are Christopher Puga, Johnny Rodriguez, Alfred Leos, Conrad Galan and Elidia Flores. Assisting is teacher's aide, Mary Dias.

Working women strive to improve their status

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., which sponsors National Business Women's Week annually, has set aside Oct. 19-25 to salute all working women in the nation.

Mayor Clyde Angel has proclaimed this week National Business Women's Week in Big Spring.

The major goals of business and professional women are to help create better working conditions for all women through the study of social, educational, economic and political problems.

The proclaimed week is not only designed to recognize and salute successful women in business and the professions, but also the 80 percent of working women in low paying occupations usually reserved for them.

A ten-year study by women and women's equity organizations documenting discrimination against women was made to force society to acknowledge the problem.

The examination was also intended to build knowledge of programs and projects to improve the status of women.

After ten years, women's equity organizations like the B&PW Foundation, know the problem well.

The foundation is designed by and for the working woman to provide financial assistance and support for the education and training to acquire skills needed in today's work force.

Scholarship and loan awards are available, focusing on training for occupations and career fields with job demands and opportunity.

TWEEN 12 and 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Teachers are human, too

Dr. Wallace: I'm not the world's greatest English student but I try. Last month our teacher gave us an assignment to read a classic and to write a paper telling how we liked the book.

I really enjoyed the book "Moby Dick," and spent several hours writing the paper. When I got the paper back from the teacher, it had a note on it which read, "Excellent paper. Who wrote it?"

I was so upset I tore the paper up. Why are teachers so cruel? — Lora, Nashua, N.H.

Lora: All teachers are not cruel. Teachers are human and make mistakes. Your English teacher made an error.

Make an appointment with the teacher and let her know that the paper was indeed written by you. Make sure you also tell her you enjoyed "Moby Dick." It is a great novel. It has turned on many teens to the classics.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 14 and like this guy, is very much. He is very nice, clean-cut and straight. My problem is that my Mom only allows me to talk to him for five minutes on the telephone when she calls. She has never done this before with other guys. Why now?

She won't let me see him after school or on the weekend. I only get to see him at school. I do sneak and see him, but I hate lying to my Mom. Can you please help me? — Kim, Worland, Wyo.

Kim: It's time for a parent-daughter "heart to heart" talk. Sometime soon after dinner, ask if you can speak to your mother and father together. Tell them what you wrote to me and ask them their reasons. You will get much better results discussing the problem as a family than by talking to each parent individually.

I have no idea why they are acting the way they are, but it must be for a good reason. They owe it to you to tell you what that reason is.

If you would like to be a guest teen writer, please write to TWEEN 12 and 20, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper, stating your sex and age.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen book, let "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent, stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace in care of this newspaper.

Making an insurance claim

From JANET ROGERS, County Extension Agent

Weather damage and insurance claims often go hand-in-hand — and all can go smoothly if you know what to do.

First, contact your insurance agent and report the damage.

Give your name, address, policy number, the date and time of loss.

Take pictures of the damage, if possible, before starting any repairs. If you repair small items, such as TV antennas, window coverings or fences before the adjuster arrives, it may be difficult to prove the damage.

Protect your property from further damage or theft.

Patch roofs temporarily. Cover broken windows with boards or plastic. If household furnishings are exposed to the weather, move them to a safe location for storage.

Dry out water-damaged furnishings and clothing as soon as possible to prevent fading and deterioration. You may wish to take some items to a reliable dry cleaner.

Keep accurate records of all cleaning and repair bills, including materials and equipment.

Also, make a list of all living expenses related to weather damage, including motel and restaurant bills, home rental or car rental.

Make a list of all actual losses, too, of course. Include furniture, appliances, clothing, paintings, food and equipment, regardless of your intent to replace them.

Try to document the value of each object lost. Bills of sale, cancelled checks, charge-account records and insurance evaluations are good evidence.

If you have no such records, estimate the value, and give purchase date and place. Include this information with your list.

Contact a reputable firm to repair the damages. Beware of door-to-door salesmen. Sometimes un dependable workers enter a disaster area, make cheap repairs and leave before residents discover that the repairs are inadequate.

If a local contractor cannot do the work, ask for recommendations from local residents.

Don't be in too big of a hurry to settle your claim. Damages which have been overlooked in an early estimate may show up later.

Fabulous Fashions to reveal look of '80s

Times may be hard, the recession may bring a squeeze on your wardrobe budget, but you'll still want to dress to the nines in quality.

If you want to be a part of this fashion-conscious society you won't want to miss the Fabulous Fashions of the 80's coming Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Hospitality Center, IS 20 West.

The event is being sponsored by the Ever Ready Civic and Arts Club. The master of ceremony will be Milton Aaron Perkins Jr. Models will show you the latest, not only in attire, but the overall appearance.

Also scheduled is a pre-Thanksgiving banquet.

Donations from this affair will benefit various charitable organizations in the community.

At annual reunion Former classmates try to recall 'who was who'

By MICKIE DICKSON

Classes of 1904-1929 were well represented at their reunion coffee, 10 a.m.-12 noon, Oct. 11 in Big Spring High School with 50 guests registered by Helen Earley and Pauline Garrison.

This annual reunion has been at the Loy Acuff residence for the past three years, but Loy was ailing this year. Acuff sent word by Helen, his wife, that they would have it next year if she wasn't ill. Reba Baker graciously offered to hold it in 1981 at her home if the Acuff's can't host it.

Mildred McFall spearheaded the 13 other hosts and hostesses this year. Ruth Rutherford, 1616 Harding, class of 1923, poured coffee. Janice Harris, 1411 Runnels, class of 1922 and our own Joe Pickle's sister, served the punch.

Looking at a 1924 annual and class picture and trying to remember who was who were Alice Dawes (Mrs. Tyree) Hardy of Sonora, Hazel Line Tucker, Austin and Mrs. Berniece (A.A.) Porter, a 1923 grad, 1611 Indian Hills. Lee Porter, 1919 Parkwood, came up when reminded that his picture wasn't in the annual and confessed to playing hockey that day and getting caught at it.

The 1924 exes reported that their class was the first graduating class in Texas to have caps and gowns which were dark gray with black tassels. The girls wore white linen or lace collars. Thirty-five students graduated in 1924 with 28 in the senior class picture. Forty graduated in 1923. Helen Hayden Acuff was senior queen that year.

Dr. and Mrs. Tyree Hardy attended the reunion for the first time. Dr. Hardy is a retired veterinarian. Herbert Whitney, Corpus Christi, attended for the first time with his sister, Virginia Schwanenbauch and her husband, Roland from Kilgore. Mrs. Arthur (Walter) Hawk Rueckart, 107 W. 5, class of 1926, attended.

Holly Shick, 92, class of 1905, made a surprise appearance with daughter, Lillian Shick Dawson and Nell Brown during the last few moments of the reunion.

Pearl Bradshaw brought some early photographs, one of a float featuring Doris Cunningham, daughter of the late C.W. Cunningham and Nell Woodall in ballet costumes and another of an early day Key Club membership.

Eleanor Rix Matheny, 407 Pennsylvania, class of 1934, and of the Rix Furniture and Funeral Home family, came in to fellowship. Frances Gilliam Zant, 507 Edwards, represented the 1929 class.

DECEMBER WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Martin Jr., Ackerly, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Elaine, to Michael Eoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Eoff of Patricia. Wedding vows will be solemnized during an afternoon ceremony on Dec. 7, at the Ackerly Methodist Church.

Dear Abby

Poor Little Pitiful Me

DEAR ABBY: What do you think is the hardest? Being the oldest child, the youngest child or the middle child?
CURIOS

DEAR CURIOS: If you ask the eldest, he'll say, "The eldest, because you're expected to set a good example for the younger ones. And if a fight breaks out, I get blamed because I'm the oldest and should know better."

Ask the middle child, and he'll say, "Being the middle child is the hardest because you get none of the advantages of being the youngest or the oldest."

Ask the youngest child, and he'll tell you that being the youngest is hardest because "your parents try to keep you 'a baby' as long as possible, and you're the one who has to wear all the hand-me-downs."

In other words, it all depends where you're coming from.

DEAR ABBY: Your recent column on statistics is a gold mine for those of us who campaign for causes.

The volunteers with Cincinnati's League for Animal Welfare want people to realize, as you pointed out, that 56,000 pets are turned over daily to the nation's animal shelters, where 36,986 are destroyed!

This year we are again supporting a former stray dog named Lady for president. She ran in 1976 and racked up 140 votes. Lady is campaigning to make the public aware that millions of unwanted animals have been imprisoned and dealt the death sentence without "due process." She is the pet of newspaperman C.E. "Stoney" Jackson of Tulsa, Okla.

Lady's party is PAWS (Political Action for the World's Strays). Her platform is LOVE (Loyalty, Obedience, Valor, Empathy). These are not merely empty campaign promises, but the true benefits of responsible pet ownership.

Lady's campaign slogan is, "It's better for a dog to go to the White House than for the White House to go to the dogs." Go with Lady in 1980!

ELIZABETH LEMLICH, CAMPAIGN CHAIRWOMAN

DEAR ABBY: We hear and read so much about widows whose former friends have deserted them. Perhaps some of them should take a good look at themselves.

We have a friend, in her mid-60s, who has dyed her hair red, wears false eyelashes, tight, shiny pants and the highest heels she can find.

We don't like to include her because she looks like a freak. We love her and would like to see her look like the lovely person she is. How can we tell her without hurting her feelings?

HER FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: False eyelashes, red hair and high heels do not a freak make. Do include her, but let her know in advance that the "women" will be wearing dresses.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I were invited to spend a day with a very dear couple at their summer place. They decided, in lieu of a barbecue at home, to go out for dinner.

Was it obligatory on my part to volunteer to pay for my share? Or should our friends who invited us for the day have picked up the entire bill?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: Since you were invited for the day, dinner (regardless of where it was) should have been provided by your host.

FALL CEREMONY — Mr. and Mrs. William J. White, Dickinson, formerly of Big Spring, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sharon Kay, to Michael Asa Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Graves, Silsbee. The wedding ceremony will be performed Oct. 25 at the Philadelphia Church, Clear Lake City.

Foreign students' needs discussed

The Altrusa Club of Big Spring met Oct. 9 at noon, in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn. There were 18 members and one guest present.

The meeting was called to order by Doris Guy, president. The Altrusa Blessing was led by Ruby Billings and the Pledge of Allegiance was repeated in unison. Mrs. Guy introduced a new member, Elma Martinez, who will be installed Oct. 23. The auction gift was brought by Pat Highley and purchased by Aurora Etheridge.

Mrs. Florence Read will bake 10 dozen cookies for a Halloween party at the Big Spring State Hospital.

A question and answer period followed.

Thornton spoke on the need of community support in helping the international students to adapt to the language and customs of the community.

"We have five international students now and hope to gain several more, but if we are to keep this program successfully, community support is necessary," he said.

Differences of language, food customs, religious customs and lack of transportation are a few of the problems the students face.

Speaker reflects image of America

The 1906 Hyperion Club met Oct. 16, in the home of Mrs. Horace Reagan, with Mrs. Rogers Hefley as co-hostess. Twenty-two members were present.

Mrs. Hayes Stripling, Federation Counsellor, told of the Western District Fall Board Meeting and Workshop to be held in Big Lake Oct. 24-25. Attending from this club will be Mrs. Stripling, Mrs. Reagan and Mrs. Hefley.

Mrs. J.R. Anderson introduced the speaker, Mrs. W.T. Barber, whose program was "The American Image." This was the first program on the theme of this year's study, "Know Thy Neighbor." She presented a paper on how neighbors, Canada and Mexico, visualize the United States. She said that with Canada the U.S. shares a common language and much the same racial and historical background. There are no such direct and simple ties with Mexico.

As a nation, Mexico is younger than the United States, but her distinctive culture is older.

It is essentially an Indian nation, with many customs of Indian descent, though Spanish is the language spoken. There are still bitter memories against the United States since the Mexican War of 1846-48, but since World War II increased friendliness and cooperation has existed to a degree between the two nations.

Canada is a close friend and ally. Ontario has been the traditional power center, with Toronto as the cultural metropolis of the country, and Ottawa as the national capital.

Ontario does more business with the United States than the other eight provinces combined, approximately $8 billion last year.

The western province of Alberta has oil, and Calgary is now the second largest oil industry headquarters after Houston and London. Houston based firms played a large part in the development of Canadian oil and gas, so the United States' image in Canada is wonderful.

The image is negative at home; however, the people of the U.S. are informed, but what are frustrated. Since 1976 unemployment has doubled, inflation has tripled and the nation has passed all previous records for violence.

U.S. citizens must face their obligations, and attempt, as a nation, to correct conditions that three quarters of a century ago were identifiable, but have not been improved by national leaders.

The next meeting will be at Nov. 20, in the home of Mrs. J.R. Anderson.

Foreign students welcomed were Salim Mirza of Karachi, Pakistan; Masayuki Kera, Tokyo Japan; Jamal El-qaisi, Jordan; and Hugo Antonio Gonzalez-Campoy, Mexico City, Mexico; unable to

The flag ceremony will be led by Cub Scout Troop No. 305. The business meeting will include discussion of projects to be funded by Fall Festival earnings.

Glass is a material we take very much for granted, yet it is really a complex substance. Here at Accent Shoppe, we are often asked about blown glassware, the type shaped by air pressure. Off hand blown glass is formed with the mouth blown air of an experienced artisan, without the use of a mold. Hand blown glass is also mouth blown, but it is blown into a mold. Glassware formed by either of these techniques may have tiny irregularities or density variations, making each piece unique — and more specially yours.
